Hundreds Are In Flight As Terrifying Brush Fire Destroys California Homes

(By The Associated Press)

AGOURA, Calif., Nov. 2—Dying winds today brought hope for control of a terrifying brush fire that has destroyed at least ten homes and sent hundreds of residents fleeing in its path.

A north wind with gusts of 25 to 30 miles per hour yesterday whipped the blaze over 10,000 acres. Treacherously shifting, the wind streaked the 100-foot high flames onto houses whose owners had refused to leave until the last minute.

Jack B. McKinley fought the fire with a garden hose and dwingling water pressure until ten minutes before his newly-decorated home burned up like matchsticks.

But with nightfall, the wind died down to less than 15 mph. Asst. Chief O. M. Thurston of the Los Angeles county fire department said he believed control of the major part of the blaze would be possible today if the favorable wind conditions held.

Location of the blaze is in rugged area, straddling the Los Angeles-Ventura county line. It is about 35 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles, where the smoke was clearly seen.

The blaze started last night near Santa Susana Pass, then licked along U. S. highway 101, the Los Angeles-San Francisco route. The area is wrinkled with small canyons, some of them containing costly ranch homes, others modest homes and cabins, and still others uninhabited.

This town of 500 was reported "safe for the time being" by fire-fighters who backfired around it. The fire was burn-

Two Threatening Cold Fronts Dodge South Plains Section

Two threatening cold fronts slipped east of the South Plains area, but today's weather was somewhat cooler as result of high pressure areas that brought cool winds to West Texas.

This afternoons' maximum was expected to be about 70 degrees, as compared with a 78-degree maximum Tuesday afternoon, said Harold Frost, chief meteorologist at the U. S. Weather bureau station.

The first of two cold fronts which bore down on the area slipped eastward, hiting the Wichita Falls area. The second, more severe, was in Northern Iowa, central Illinois and central Nebraska, moving east.

This morning's minimum temperature was 40 degrees. Thursday morning's minimum is expected to hit 32 degrees.

Some October weather statistics were released by the Weather bureau. The month posted an average temperature of 59, or two degrees below the 38-year average of 61. The average maximum was 72,

Seven Others Are Injured In Blaze Today

Victims Trapped In Rooms; Plunge Is Fatal To One

(By The Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, Nov. 2—Six persons died early today in a fire which swept through hallways of a three-story apartment building at the edge of the downtown district and left them trapped in their rooms. Seven others were burned or hurt in leaps from second and third story windows.

Four other persons who lived in the apartment in the 1200-block on Elm street aparently escaped without injury.

Five of the dead were reported to have died of burns while a sixth died in a leap from a window.

Extinguished Quickly

Ironically, the blaze was extinguished in short order by firemen and Fire Marshal Harry McNay estimated the damage at only about $2,000.

One of the dead was a boy about eight years old.

Attaches at General hospital reported none of the injured appeared to be cirtical.

Charles Dean, a taxi driver, who was one of those who turned in the first alarm, said he was attracted to the scene by screams of women.

At General hospital, the identified dead were listed as:

Coy Shelton, Athens, Tenn.; William Hartman, Cincinnati; Mrs. Alma McBeath, Liberty, Ky.; James Alexander, about eight, son of Mrs. McBeath; Goldie Taylor, 53, Cincinnati.

One Is Unidentified

One man was unidentified but hospital attaches believed it might be George Smith, 53, who has a daughter living at Huntington, W. Va.

He still was unreported among the survivors.

McNay expressed belief the fire was started by someone smoking in bed.

So quickly did the flames race through the brick building in the densely populated area that with-

Lubbock county's tuberculosis x-ray survey opened at the American Legion hall in highly successful manner this morning, with 425 persons reporting for examinations by 11 a. m.

School busses from Frenship, Idalou and New Deal transported high school students to the Legion hall to receive examinations.

Busses from Roosevelt, Shallowater and Cooper are to take high school students to the hall for examinations at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Number of persons taking the examinations was swelled by presence of approximately 150 employes of Furr Food stores. Many of the Furr employes were present at 9 a. m. when examinations opened and others reported at intervals during the morning.

Sponsored By Kiwanis

The county survey opened in the downtown location following a survey conducted last week on Texas Technological college campus. Examinations will be given at the Legion hall through Nov. 12 and will be free to all Lubbock county residents 15 years of age or older.

Dr. M. C. Overton, pioneer physician, was the first person to receive the examination in the downtown location. Following quickly behind him were Walter S. Posey, Mayor W. H. Rogers, Dr. H. I. Robinson and Dr. O. R.

Teapot Dome Oil Scandal Marked Closed

Blackmer Is Fined $20,000 For Evasion Of Income Tax

(By The United Press)

DENVER, Nov. 2 — Henry M. Blackmer, gray and bent oil millionaire, today was fined $20,000 for evasion of federal income taxes.

Blackmer, 80, had pleaded guilty to four counts of an Evasion indictment Sept. 26 upon his return to this country after 25 years of self-imposed exile in Europe. He fled this country rather than testify in the Teapot Dome oil investigation in 1924.

Justice Orie L. Phillips of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals announced the fine after telling Blackmer that "I do not believe the ends of justice would be served by sentencing the defendant to jail."

Blackmer stood silently and gazed directly at Justice Phillips as the court briefly reviewed the case. After the sentence was announced Blackmer bowed slightly without changing expression and turned away with his attorney, Harold D. Roberts.

Justice Phillips approved the federal attorney's motion for dismissal of four other indictments, two charging perjury and two income tax evasion. The court announced that investigation showed Blackmer was not in Colorado at the time of these alleged offenses in 1921 and 1922.

Justice Phillips said a report from a Boston clinic disclosed that Blackmer is suffering from heart disease and

CIO Launches Purge

Right-Wingers To Swing Axe At Convention

Communists Will Be Barred From Union Control

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 — The CIO convention's right wing today snowed under all opposition and amended the CIO constitution to bar Communists from top offices and authorized the executive board to expell Communist unions.

The convention also boosted the per capita tax paid by its unions to the CIO from eight cents to 10 cents per member per month—a move which would add one million dollars to the treasury for the big organizing war ahead.

Drive Is Expected

Expulsion of the left wing unions, as contempelated by the convention, is expected to touch off a big drive by the victorious right wing to grab off the rank and file membership of the left wing unions.

Walter P. Reuther's powerful resolutions committee reported to the convention it had approved "by overwhelming vote" the expulsion of the United Electrical workers and the Farm Equipment workers.

The two unions had pulled off a quick merger last week, but it wasn't recognized by the CIO.

Child Screams For Help As Shotgun Blasts Slaughter Four

Newlyweds, Two Others Die

(By The Associated Press)

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Nov. 2 — A newlywed couple, the bride's sister and a ranch hand were slaughtered by shotgun blasts last night, while a five-year-old girl ran screaming down a lonely ranch road for help.

Held in Sonoma county jail was Henry Pio, 37-year-old ranch hand arrested in downtown Santa Rosa an hour after the four killings. He told sheriff's deputies he had come to surrender.

The deputies pieced together this story of the slayings:

Clyde Howard, 23, and his wife of a week, Louise, 27, drove to Pio's cottage on the Russian river ranch of William Peterson. With them were Mrs. Howard's sister, Mrs. Marie Silvas, and the latter's five-year-old daughter Esther.

They left Esther in their car, and walked up the low steps to Pio's cottage, to get a trunk Mrs. Howard had left there before her marriage.

There was an argument; more than a dozen shotgun blasts riddled the three adults, knocking their bodies from the porch. Little Esther scrambled from the car and ran, shrieking, to a neighbor's house.

A few minutes later, Pio appeared at the cabin of ranch hand Tony Abaya, three miles away. Several more shots were fired, and Abaya fell, dying within seconds.

Deputies had no information on why Abaya was killed. They said Mrs. Howard, however, had been staying at Pio's cottage before her marriage to Howard.

Early reports that there had been a fifth slaying were not confirmed. Deputies said later a shot might have been fired at the fleeing little girl, Esther, but she was unhurt.

No charge was filed immediately against Pio.

Hot Tax Row Looms

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—President Truman's forecast that the government will run $5½ billions further into the red this fiscal year set the stage today for a rousing taxes-vs.-spending battle in Congress.

The president now figures:

1. Federal spending will soar to a peacetime record of $43,500,000,000 in this fiscal year, which ends next June 30. This is equivalent to $290 for each man, woman and child in the country, or nearly one-fourth of the national income.

Plunged Into Red

2. The government will be plunged $5,500,000,000 in the red because its income will total only $38,000,000,000 with tax rates what they are now. This would place the federal debt next June 30 at approximotely $260,000,000,000.

Mr. Truman's new spending forecast was made yesterday in a revision of his estimates last January on financial operations in the 12 months ending next June 30.

The forecast anticipates that the 81st Congress will add $4,000,000,000 in spending authorizations between next January and July to supplement the billions it authorized at its recently concluded sessions.

Oppose Tax Boost

The administration figures that Congress practically committed itself to providing the extra funds when it enacted or let stand the program of activities on which the spending would be incurred.

LARGE BUILDING IS DESTROYED

Fire In Business Section Of Valley View 'Under Control'

(By The Associated Press)

VALLEY VIEW, Nov. 2—Fire raged through a large building housing two businesses in this North Texas town today and for a time threatened the whole business section.

Firemen from three nearby cities—Gainesville, Denton and Sanger—brought the blaze under control about 7 a. m. It had started about 3:30 or 4 a. m.

Valley View, a small town in Cooke county, has no fire department. The water supply was endangered when an electric line to a water pump was burned out. However, firemen started pumping water from a nearby lake.

No Estimate Possible

Jack Latham was owner of the building housing a large mercantile and grocery business. Latham said he lost everything but could make no estimate of damage this morning.

Mrs. R. E. Solomon, telephone operator here, said the fire first was noticed about 3:30 or 4 a. m. Its cause was not determined.

No one was reported injured.

Mrs. Solomon said firemen at Gainesville, about 10 miles north; Denton, 22 miles away, and Sanger came to the scene.

At 6:30 a. m., they reported they believed they had the fire under control.

Efforts Are Slowed

However, their shuttle-system of obtaining water from the city water tower slowed their efforts. The trucks were racing to the tower, filling up, going back to the scene and pouring it on the blaze. Then back to the tower.

Valley View is on the Santa Fe railroad, and has a population of

Texas Baptists In Convention

EL PASO, Nov. 2. (AP) — The Baptist general convention of Texas received today a report urging Baptist agencies and institutions to reject all state and federal aid offered them.

The recommendation was in the annual report of the convention's executive board, prepared by Dr. J. Howard Williams of Dallas, executive secretary. After the first session of the annual three-day convention the board met last night and adopted the report.

Convention delegates from 3,000-odd churches, will take the report up tonight for final approval.

Hospital Aid Sought

The board also voted, subject to the convention's endorsement, to guarantee a contribution of $25,000 a year for four years to the Valley Baptist hospital at Harlingen.

Dr. Williams told the board the hospital had accepted a government offer of $274,000 in aid contingent on its raising $500,000—then decided later not to take the offer.

He said $31,000 in debt had been incurred in preparation for a fund raising campaign. The hospital asked the convention to guarantee the $25,000—same amount contributed to it this year—so it could assume the debt and go

Two Suspects In Theft Held

New Mexico authorities were holding two men suspected of felony theft early this month in Big Spring and possibly of an oil station robbery here early Sunday, a radiogram intercepted by Lubbock police said.

It also was learned that Richard Moore, attendant of Ince Oil Co. station at 2803 Ave. H, had gone to Albuquerque, N. M., this morning to determine whether the suspects are the two men who held him up about 2:30 a. m. Sunday and took approximately $100 form the station.

Tied Up And Left

Moore said he was held up by a man who had a pistol, was forced into a wash room, later was made to come out and open the station cash register, then was tied up and left on the floor of the wash room.

He said he saw the second man, masked, in a corner at one stage of the hijacking.

Information of the arrest of two men in a car that had license tags matching those of a suspect car figuring in the Big Spring theft came through broadcasts over the Roswell and Albuquerque short-wave stations, and from the broadcast summary of the Texas state police station at Austin.

Big Spring broadcasts Oct. 8 said four men were wanted in connection with the theft there. One of the men, believed one of the two held by New Mexico authorities,

Waco Fetes Two Horse-And-Buggy Travelers

Teen-Age Chicago Girls Seek Jobs On A Texas Dude Ranch

(By The Associated Press)

OGLESBY, Nov. 2. — Two Teen-age Chicago girls clop-clopped away from here today in their horse-and-buggy, bound for the Texas hill country and a search for jobs on a dude ranch "with plenty of horses."

Before leaving Waco, yesterday, Alice Michaelis, 19, and Ruth Kenyon, 18, who came to the central Texas town "because we liked the sound of Waco," were entertained in the manner of visiting royalty for two weeks.

A civic reception welcomed them to Waco, where they were outfitted in cowgirl regalia, feted at dinners and honored at rodeos.

Jobs were offered them, but they insisted their objective was a south Texas ranch, "any South Texas ranch where we can work with horses."

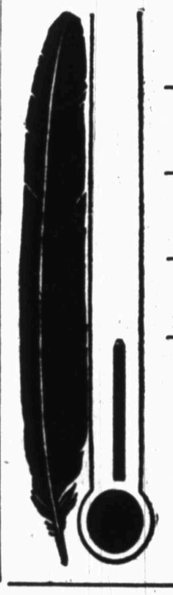

They spent last night in Oglesby, giving themselves and their six-years-old horse, Pancho, a rest. This morning, they headed south for Bandera, more than 200 miles away.

300-YEAR COLONIAL RULE ENDED

Indonesians Given Freedom By Dutch

(By The Associated Press)

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Nov. 2.—The Dutch and Indonesian governments today signed agreements to end Holland's 300-year rule of her rich East Indies colonies.

The long-discussed agreements create a new, independent nation of 70,000,000 Asians, the republic of the United States of Indonesia. The Republic will be linked to the Dutch crown as an equal partner in a new Dutch-Indonesian union, somewhat similar to the British commonwealth.

Dutch, Indonesians and United Nations conciliators hope the pact will end the four years of warfare that have denied the world much of rich Indonesia's rubber, oil, sugar, spices and other raw materials.

Provides Cooperation

In a final plenary session concluding a ten-week round table conference, the Dutch and leaders of two Indonesian groups signed a resolution to transfer sovereignty to the Indonesians.

The resolution must be ratified by the Dutch and Indonisian parliaments.

The Netherlands-Indonesian union—whose legal bonds are tighter than those holding together the British commonwealth—provides for limited Dutch and Indonesian cooperation in foreign relations, defense, economic and cultural matters. It also provides for cooperation, "as far as necessary," in financial matters.

The financial and economic agreement included in today's series of documents gives foreigners of all nations equal rights in Indenesia's trade, economic activity

Former Lubbock Man Sought As Escapee

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 2 (Special) If Lloyd Eddie Burgess, 23, is caught again his jail liberties probably will be curtailed.

Lamb County Sheriff Sid Hopping told newsmen that the former Lubbock resident, who had been jailed here on a charge of felony swindling by check, had sneaked away Monday when allowed to confer in a jail office with a caller.

He was believed to be driving a faded blue 1941 Dodge sedan, license ON 4141, Sheriff Hopping said.

Lubbock, Fort Worth and Hale county also have check warrants naming the man, Sheriff Hopping said he had been informed.

Hobbs Youths Face Charges

Charges of burglary were filed this morning in connection with arrest Tuesday night of two Hobbs, N. M., youths who allegedly were surprised after breaking and entering Carson's Dry Goods store at 3011 Ave. H.

They, identified as James Ira Stevens and Bill Charles Loyd, each 18, waived examining trial in the justice court of C. E. Lynn and were remanded to county jail in lieu of bail binding them over to grand jury action.

Both Were Nabbed

Jack Moore, of Moore's Bonded patrol, and a friend were checking doors and windows on Moore's beat and discovered a broken window. The two persons inside started out the back door, saw Moore and ran out the front. Moore gave chase, overhauling one at a nearby motor court and observed that the other ran into a cabin.

City detectives Lee Rice, jr., and L. W. Forrester, summoned by Moore's friend and the manager of the motor courts, arrested the other suspect.

The youths were giving statements at midmorning, admitting the offenses, A. W. Salyors of the district attorney's office announced.

QUICK PEACE MOVE INDICATED

Lewis Offering To Negotiate Pact In Indiana Coal Strike

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 — John L. Lewis told the governor of Indiana today that he is ready to negotiate a prompt coal peace pact with Indiana mine operators separately from any other state.

The declaration from the United Mine Workers leader was in response to an appeal from Gov. Henry F. Schricker for an "immediate" strike settlement.

State Of Emergency

The governor declared a state of emergency in Indiana as a result of the coal cut-off and advised Lewis that the situation was "acute and tragic."

Lewis replied that his union has been trying to negotiate a peace pact "for months past."

"Our efforts," Lewis wired the Indiana governor, "have been stalemated by major industrial and financial interests.

Washington "Five Percenter" Exposures Wholesomely Effective, Newsman States

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2 (AP) — The "five percenter" exposures in Washington were wholesomely effective, despite administration efforts to "belittle" the accomplishments of investigations that took place, a Washington correspondent said here today.

Bert Andrews, chief correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune in Washington, said the recent investigations caused this question to be asked the country over: "Can a man be five per cent a bad apple?"

Andrews, in an address prepared for delivery before the 16th annual meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors association, named names of men whose careers, he said, were halted or curtailed as a result of the Senate committee probe.

Great Journalistic Job

The term "five percenter" has come to be used to describe commission agents who wanted a fixed fee plus a percentage for their real or fancied influence in helping a client get government contracts.

Jack Steele, assistant chief of the Washington bureau of the New York Herald-Tribune, broke the story—"one of the greatest journalistic jobs I have seen done in 25 years as a reporter."

"And the Associated Press did one of the greatest backstopping jobs ever done," Andrews added, "in immediately recognizing the importance of the story and assigning their best men to it. The AP piled right into the story immediately which is one reason for the national attention it got."

Andrews also discussed the Alger Hiss case.

An estimated 300 managing editors of large and small newspapers are attending the national meeting which will close at noon Saturday. The meeting opened today with a report of the APMEA foreign news committee.

William P. Steven of the Minneapolis Tribune is president of the association.

Last night the association's executive committee members and their wives were dinner guests of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram preceding a meeting of the committee.

Open house will be held in the new building from 6:00 to 10:00 p. m.

A band concert will be presented by Director W. R. Wheeler and his 88-piece Levelland Lobo band from 7:30 to 8 p. m. Mrs. Tom Sappington's Junior High school chorus will sing a number.

The courtesy committee of the Student Council will show guests through the building from 6:00 to 8:00 p. m. The committee includes Clyde Walter, president of the organization, Mary Carolyn Mann, Leonard Harris, Donna Stevens, Bonita Fortner, Eleanor Lincoln, Jim Mac Luker, Langford Sneed, Delmer Hightower, Don Harris, Don Kennedy, Shannon Rutherford, Ruth Drake, Barbara Bowman, Bobbie Wiley and Neil Atchison.

Students Threaten Cafeteria Boycott

OXFORD, Miss., Nov. 2 (U.P.) — Complaining that they have found "worms in the turnips and rocks in the beans," students at the University of Mississippi today threatened to boycott the school's cafeteria.

The mass boycott was set to begin Saturday following a mass meeting of 500 students yesterday. An eight-man committee was named to investigate the situation.

Chancellor J. D. Williams addressed the students and asked them to have patience. "I've had good and bad meals in the cafeteria," he said.

Valley Hung On Labor Problem

LAREDO, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — New labor difficulties faced harassed Laredo area farmers today on the heels of federal notification that most of their "wetback" laborers were illegally at work.

The farmers said they would need at least 5,000 extra field hands later this month for tomato harvesting and onion transplanting. But they did not know where they would obtain them.

Only yesterday, federal authorities notified Laredo-Zapata county growers that four-fifths of their applications for employing "wetback" labor had been disapproved.

C. D. Ochoa, of the Texas Unemployment commission, said the farmers were told they must pay a minimum wage of 40 cents per hour—in cash.

Room And Board Included

Growers had thought the 40-cent minimum could include room and board furnished more than 2,000 alien workers. They, therefore, had included the room and board figures in their applications for federal approval.

The workers, meanwhile, continued to toil in the sun-baked fields as farmers prepared new applications for submission to Washington.

"Wetbacks" labor the year around in the lush Rio Grande area.

They technically are illegal entrants into this nation, but have enjoyed comparative immunity from federal supervision until recently.

The government, in a "crack down" order, ruled that all "wetbacks" must be registered and paid at least a minimum wage of 40 cents per hour.

The order has brought forth a rash of indignant statements from Rio Grande residents.

Worker Finds Cure Worse Than Spirit

SALVADOR, Brazil, Nov. 2 — (AP)—Antonio Felix, a 50-year-old worker, decided an evil spirit had taken over his body and went to see a female witch-doctor to get him out. She tied him to a chair and beat him with a sword of ogum—a tough leathery palm leaf shaped like a sword.

Then she placed a pot full of black powder under his nose and told him to look at a pretty little thing inside. He looked. She dropped a lighted match in the pot to blow the evil spirit back where he came from.

He is now in the hospital seriously burned. She is in jail.

PARENTS ARE NOT DIVORCED

Texas Court Restores Child To Mother In Unusual Case

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—The Texas Supreme court today awarded custody of a Dallas child to its mother in a unique case in which there has been no divorce between the husband and wife.

The court ruling was a victory for Mrs. Mary Worden in her fight for custody of the child from her husband, Ithiel Worden.

"No Texas case exactly like this has been found," the Supreme court said; in an opinion written by the Associate Judge James P. Hart.

Appeals Court Reversed

In ruling in favor of the wife, the Supreme court reversed a judgment of the Dallas court of civil appeals and upheld the decision of the trial court.

The couple was married in 1946, establishing a home at Dallas, where they lived until July 22, 1948, when the wife, without the consent of the husband, took the child to Arlington, Va., with the intention of permanently separating from her husband, the court said.

She kept the child there until Nov. 10, 1948, when the husband seized the child on an Arlington public street and returned to Dallas.

Mary Worden followed her husband to Dallas, filing a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, naming her husband and his mother in the suit.

Custody Is Restored

She charged that her husband had wrongfully taken possession of the child and called on the court to "order restoration of the status quo" as of Nov. 10, 1948 or award her outright custody of the child.

The trial court's judgment restored custody of the child to the mother as it existed prior to the seizure.

But the appeals court ruled in favor of the husband, holding that the lower court erred in its assumption that the child's home was in Virginia and that the Texas court had no jurisdiction to try anything "but the right to possession of the child as distinguished from its custody."

The Supreme court said the fact that the parents have not been divorced and no divorce action is pending was "an unusual feature of this case."

Thus, the court said, "the principal consideration in this case is the welfare of the child rather than the rights of the spouses as against each other."

Two Dallas Men Are Charged In Robbery

LONGVIEW, Nov. 2. (AP)—Two Dallas men were held on charges of robbery with firearms after $1,400 was taken from Mrs. Harley Mullinax at her home near Kilgore Tuesday night.

The pair were Neal Edgar Aeby and Sam Lanthrip. Officers still were looking for a third man. The money had not been recovered.

Lanthrip's arm was almost severed by knife wounds. He was arrested at a Kilgore hospital.

Mrs. Mullinax said she was forced to lie on the floor during the robbery. When the men left, she went for help at a nearby tavern. William Thomas took her in his car and they found three men in a parked car on a nearby road. One of the men was cut by a knife in a fight that followed. The three men escaped on foot. Aeby was arrested in a taxi at the edge of Tyler later.

Settlement Reached In Wichita Strike

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 2. (AP) Labor and management announced today settlement of the 23-day-old strike at the Wilson Manufacturing plant, Wichita Falls' largest individual plant.

Some 300 workers at the plant, which makes heavy oil field equipment, were expected to return to work tomorrow.

Union members at the Wichita Falls Foundry Machinery Co. struck with the Wilson workers. Both groups are members of Lodge 1476, International Association of Machinists, an independent union.

Terms of the agreement were to be announced this afternoon or tomorrow.

The workers originally made four demands: A guaranteed 40-hour minimum work week; a 10 cents per hour wage increase above their present $1 to $1.50 scale; straight time for six holidays if they did not work and double time if they worked; and payment from the company for the difference in their pay when on jury duty.

Pay Hike For Union Officials Rejected

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 2. (AP)—Members of the International Typographical union have defeated proposals to provide salary increases and pensions for officers and employes.

The tabulation was announced yesterday by Don F. Hurd, ITU secretary-treasurer. The totals were 36,371 to 27,993 against the salary increases and 43,423 to 20,898 against the pensions.

The salary proposal would have given $2,000 raises to President Woodruff Randolph and Hurd, who now receive $10,000 a year, and the ITU vice-presidents, who get $7,500.

The pension plan would have provided $10 weekly for each two-year term of service for ITU member employes, up to 50 per cent of their salaries. Employes who are members of the office workers union would have received 50 per cent pensions.

Mary Haworth's Mail

When Visiting Kin, Woman Was Anxious To Return To Mate; Love Has Cooled; Why?

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Last July I went home for a week and could hardly wait until the week was up, so I could see my husband again. I am 23 he is 26, and we have always been very happy together and very much in love, and I know we still are; but I can't understand my feelings lately.

A few weeks ago he was called home by his father's illness, and because of my job I couldn't go; but while he was gone I wasn't lonely and didn't miss him, and I really felt guilty about it. It seemed such a relief not to have to worry about meals and other housewifely duties; and I was sorry when it was time for him to return.

After John had been home a week he felt the change, for he said I seemed unhappy and asked what was wrong. Of course I gave him utmost assurance that I am very happy and much in love with him; but something is wrong and I can't conceal it. I can't feel tender in his ambrace any more, yet I want to love him as I always have, for he is kind and sympathetic and wonderful in every respect.

WOULD CHILDESS SATUS CAUSE IT?

I HAVE thought of discussing the problem with our pastor and his wife, but they are close personal friends and I'd rather not let them know about it; so please rush me some explanation, as I don't want our marriage to go on the rocks. W don't go out much at nights, other than to visit friends, as we can't afford it. We belong to church and don't drink; and I don't smoke. No children.

P. S.: This summer I didn't work and we wanted a baby so badly then, but we didn't feel we could afford it and I have taken another job and haven't been happy since. Would this have anything to do with how I feel toward my husband?

Signed B. R.

WIFE HAS SENSED SOURCE OF VEXATION

DEAR B. R.: The closing paragraph of your letter, tacked on as a postscript, refers to the starting point of your unconscious quarrel with John, I think.

As I get the drift, you feel profoundly frustrated and fiercely irritated (unconsciously) because your love relations with John seem at a dead end, in the sense that the union is kept barren for "practical" reasons that reflect on John's provider capacities, while you remain harnessed to an economic rat-race of getting and spending dollars—with the result that your development as a woman is "arrested" short of what nature intended, and short of what your personality craves as its due.

It seems apparent that despite loving John, you are beginning to feel, even though you haven't spelled out the thoughts in your mind—"What's the use of marriage anyway? . . . Why bother with a man?" etc., if you aren't to produce children under his protectorate and enjoy them in youthful years; and if his only goal or desire, insofar as you can see, is to be maintained in comfort (by your joint efforts) in a honeymoon arrangement for two.

Although you say, "We didn't feel we could afford a baby this year," which indicates that the decision is mutual, it is evident that unconsciously you blame John for his stagnant stage of affairs. But perhaps that is natural.

TRY TO UNITE IN UNDERSTANDING

WHEN a healthy young woman —healthy in body, mind and emotions—warmly loves, respects and admires a man whose life is devotedly joined to hers, she wants instinctively to create a child or children in his image. And in this she differs from the average man, who tends to feel that her care and companionship are all-sufficient for him, even though he may kindly accept children or purposefully include them in his specifications for the good life—as sons, heirs, bearers of the name, etc.

Various times in years of reading I have come upon searching sensitive studies of woman's "depths-psychology" reaction to a mate-love relationship centered on sexual intimacy which rules out child bearing. And the comment indicates that at the primal center of feeling in her reaction to his thwarting is one of outrage, even though consciously, so far as she knows, she may consider the expedient policy wholly acceptable to her.

So, to sum up, I think you've whiffed the trouble. And may advice is to trust John's love as being real and strong enough to welcome a frank admission that something is wrong, when it is; and to help you through a thoughtful discussion of the possibility that "this is it,"—and what to do about it. Very often in matters of the kind, a heart-to-heart talk is all that's necessary to put things right. M. H.

HALLOWE'EN "SPOOKS"

Mr. and Mrs. James Batson entertained a group of their friends with a Hallowe'en party Monday night in their home at 2003 Ave. V. Couples attending the informal get-together were Pat Ausmus and Arthur Rampy, Brentie Sue Thompson and Johnny Stewart, Carolyn Lockhart and James Ratliff, and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Stevenson.

The group played various games, and then the industrious Mrs. Batson served hot dogs, cokes, fudge and popcorn balls.

To add a "spooky" atmosphere, the house was decorated with brightly-colored streamers, and jack-o-lanterns, and dancing shadows were created by candles. The centerpiece was of marigolds.

Hard Cash Swings Deal For A Jeep

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 2 (U.P.)— Such phrases as "Hard cash, brother," are mostly figurative in these days of folding money.

However, to Joaquin Pereira of Huntington, Cal., they still mean what Buffalo Bill took them to mean, "bar-plunking coins."

Pereira went into a dealer's and said he wanted a jeep. It was a real "cash on the barrel head deal," so four hours later at the local bank six tellers told the rather bewildered dealer the sum was correct, $1,105.

Patting his shiny-new jeep on the radiator cap, Pereira said it took him four years to collect the 2,702 quarters and 859 half-dollars in the silver pile.

Jaycees Plan Session Here

Bill McDaniel of Dallas, a national director of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been named general assembly chairman of the annual state Jaycee board meeting to be held here Saturday and Sunday at the Hilton hotel.

Between 300 and 500 Texas Jaycees plus several out-of-state Jaycees will be on hand for the meeting, the first of its kind ever to be held in Lubbock or the South Plains, according to L. D. Whiteley of Lubbock, a national director and general chairman of the meeting.

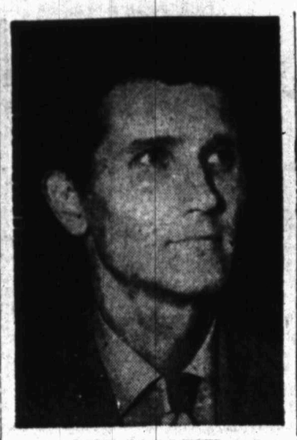

Main item on the agenda is a report on the Hoover commission recommendations, the number one program under sponsorship by the Jaycees for the coming year.

Registration Saturday

Other important programs to be considered include Jaycee leadership training, manpower procurement for membership and extension of Jaycee work.

On hand to accentuate these programs will be Clifford D. Cooper of Alhambra, Calif., national Jaycee president, who will deliver the keynote address at noon Saturday.

Registration for the meeting will begin at 9 a. m. Saturday. After the luncheon, concurrent clinics will be held in conference rooms on the mezzanine of the Hilton until 3 p. m. when the general assembly will commence. A smorgasbord dinner will be served at 7 p. m. and a dance will be held at 9 p. m.

Parent-Child Relationship During First Year Is Stressed By Cornell Professor

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—You can't change nature, a group of nature changers is convinced.

These nature changers are mental health experts who try to help people with bad natures change into good-natured people.

You can't interfere too much with nature's plans for the human race, they told a conference on mental health sponsored by the National Council of Jewish Women.

If you do, bad-natured people result.

For instance, it's part of nature's plan for a child to pass through four different mental phases, Dr. Milton I. Levine, assistant professor of pediatrics at Cornell University, told a roomful of mothers.

Stars In Infancy

"The first is the early years when the child's feeling of security revolves around his parents," Levine said. "A child cries when his mother leaves the room. He wants somebody around to feel secure.

"Second, between the ages of two and three, the child is still an individual, but he learns to play by himself. He doesn't want other children around yet. He isn't ready for group living. He kicks and bites.

"Third, between two and one half and three years, he still does not want to play with other children. But he begins to watch them and imitate them. If they push a block along the carpet and say it's a train, he says his block is a train.

"Then, at about six years, or school age, something suddenly happens. He developese a feeling of co-operation. He has a group feeling. Boys want to be with boys. Girls like girls. From six to 12 this feeling develops, and parents should make every effort to make a child feel important in his own group."

The first year of child's life is the most important, Dr. Levine said.

"The keystone of his life is the parent-child relationship that is developed in the first year," he said.

Dr. Sol Ginsburg, a psychiatrist, said religion played an important part in the child's life.

"No person can have the feeling of security necessary for mental health unless he identifies himself with some group," Ginsburg said. "Of course, religion can be made an instrument of terror. And it can be a very constructive thing."

GEOGRAPHY SCRAMBLED

Bad-Check Artist Will Be Released From Hospital After Delicate Brain Surgery

MIAMI, Nov. 2. (INS)A convicted bad-check artist and car thief, who listed a swank New York address as his residence, will be released from a Coral Gables, Fla., hospital this week after undergoing a delicate brain operation to blot out his criminal tendencies.

Following his release, Charles Hinkley will undergo psychiatric treatment in the hopes of acquiring a new set of standards.

Pattern Is Erased

His former character pattern was erased by the operation, known as a frontal lobotomy, which separated the front section of Hinkley's brain from the other sections.

Arthur Kent, Hinkley's Miami attorney, plans to request that the criminal court release the former forger into his custody. Explaining that the doctors want Hinkley to have "quiet, obscurity and anonymity," he added.

"We will need such an environment for at least a year if Hinkley is to be re-educated intellectually and form a new habit pattern."

If Kent's request is denied, Hinkley will be remanded to a jail cell for his treatment.

Actors Claim Video Is Tough Assignment

NEW YORK, Nov(AP) 2 (AP)—Acting for television is the thespian's toughest assignment yet, say those who have tried such other mediums as stage, screen and radio.

Television is the most, they explain, because an actor must learn a complete script, go through a performance without a stop, and, if he makes a mistake, must work his way out the best he can.

In the movies, only a few lines need be learned at a time as scenes generally are taken section by section. On the stage, the actor learns his part once and then keeps doing it over and over. And on the radio all he need do is to read the script with the proper vocal embellishments.

North Carolina Gold Strike Is Recalled

KANNAPOLIS, N. C., Nov. 2 (U.P.)—The California gold rush 100 years ago helped settle the West, but 50 years earlier there was a North Carolina gold rush which eventually yielded $20,000,000 worth of ore, and for a time was this country's principal source of gold.

Cabarrus county has just celebrated the 150th anniversary of the discovery of gold there.

A 12-year-old boy, Conrad Reed, found an $8,000 gold nugget while shooting fish with a bow and arrow on his father's farm in 1799. He thought it was only a pretty rock, and it served as a doorstep for three years before its value was discovered.

Then the gold rush began. The farm turned into a mine, and hard-bitten men dug gold in North Carolina for half a century.

The mines finally were abandoned when they became unprofitable and the richer western ores were discovered in 1849.

POSTWAR REPAIR JOB IMPROVED

Recapped Tires Back In Style Again With Sales Increasing

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. (AP)—The recapped tire—poor relation in the depressed thirties and about the only thing you could get in the war years—is back in style again. Sales this year are up 20 per cent over last.

Demand for retreads started to revive last year, after the early postwar tumble. The retreated industry says that one reason for the new popularity is that the makers are putting salt, sawdust or nut shells in them. And at least one company punches little holes in recapped tires to increase their sales appeal.

Budgets Factor

Motorists add that a chief reason they are having tires redone is that they have to watch their personal budgets now more than in the first flush postwar years. They note that several leading tire companies have just hiked prices 3½ per cent on new tires and there is talk of further price increases before the end of the year.

But tire makers insist that a leading reason for the jump in demand for retreads is that new processes, materials, and methods have made the rebuilt tire superior to the one you bought ten years ago, or even during the wartime shortage of new tires. The postwar retread, they say, wears longer and holds the road better.

Tiremen say they stumbled upon the use of sawdust in retreads mainly by accident. During the war, when they were trying to make a little rubber go as far as possible, they mixed in a little sawdust. As the tires were driven, the sawdust fell out. The pockmarked tread held the road better. So now, B. F. Goodrich and some others put sawdust in its recap material.

Rock Salt Used

U. S. Rubber, however, uses rock salt for the same purpose. As the salt or sawdust works out of the tire, the holes that are left gives the tire a better grip, the companies say. They scoff at the notion, advanced by some drivers, that the salt melts the ice on the road—it's the hole in the tire that counts.

General Tire and Rubber Co., which says it is retreading more tires these days than at any other time in its 34-year history, employes a new blend of two distinct types of rubber, to get the same porosity effect.

It says one of the rubbers used gives traction and stopping ability on slippery roads. This is the rubber with high porosity. The other rubber used vulcanizes like regular rubber to five long wear from the recapped tread.

Goodyear plugs a tractionizing machine. This punches tiny holes in the recapped tread. The company says this gives good traction right from the start.

Labor Troubles

operators of Indiana," Lewis told the governor, "that the representatives of the United Mine Workers will negotiate with them alone and independent of the operators of any other state if they desire to make an agreement for Indiana.

Suggests Rationing

"If they indicate such a desire, our representatives will promptly meet with them to work out a tentative agreement which will be presented to the policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America for approval when it assembles in Chicago next Monday afternoon, November 7."

Lewis suggested that, meantime, Indiana can take care of emergency coal needs by rationing existing stocks held by steel companies and other manufacturers.

The Lewis offer of negotiations on a single-state basis was one more in a series of indications that the UMW chief might be angling for a quick peace.

Less than a day after CIO President Philip Murray signed a precedent-settling welfare plan with Bethlehem Steel Corp., Lewis made a move. He suddenly called a miner's union policy meeting for next Monday in Chicago.

Would Give Pattern

But why Chicago? The site suggested a possible coal peace pact with Illinois producers. Some of them have been reported impatient for a settlement. An agreement with Illinois producers would give Lewis a possible industry pattern such as Murray hopes he has for steel with the Bethlehem pension-insurance contract.

A denial that Illinois operators were wavering from the stand taken with coal producers from other sections came from Fred S. Wilkey, secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators association. But Wilkey conceded the Lewis meeting in Chicago was "very unusual."

Twice during the last war Illinois operators settled with Lewis on terms later reluctantly accepted by the rest of the soft coal industry.

Others May Sign

Meanwhile, government officials here expected other steel companies soon to sign up with Murray on the same employer-paid $100 monthly pensions and employer-worker financed insurance plan as Bethlehem did.

In fact, the word from Cleveland, where Murray is presiding over his annual CIO convention, was that the steel strike leader has abandoned a presidential steel board's recommended plan and now is insisting that all steelmakers adopt the Bethlehem settlement.

Murray's union figures it got a better deal from Bethlehem than it would have gotten if the board peace plan had been adopted.

MARKET AT YEAR'S HIGH

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP) — A better twist to the labor news helped lift the stock market to a new high for the year today.

Closing prices showed gains of fractions to more than a point and in a few cases more.

The volume of trading hit a rate of 1,600,000 shares for the entire day, one of the best sessions of the year.

Steels, motors and chemicals led the advance. The railroad group was slow in joining in the rise and most of the leaders were up fractions to about a point. Oils also were slow but gained fractions. Air lines and the gold issues were mostly unchanged to lower.

Today's advance came on top of the substantial gains made Tuesday and pushed the Associated Press average to a new peak for the year.

Stocks going higher includes U. S. Steel, National Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Zenith Radio, Allied Chemical, Sedgwick, American Can, International Paper, Coca-Cola, U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil (NJ), and Johns Manville.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady in quiet dealings today. Scattered hedging and liquidation were absorbed through mill buying. There was some switching from December to later months, anticipating first notice day on November 25.

Spot cotton sales continued heavy at the ten primary markets, but found little reflection in the futures market which supported ideas that a large volume of cotton is being carried in second hand on an unhedged basis.

Futures closed unchanged to 60 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Public Library Gets Group Of Rare Books

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2 (AP) — The private rare book collection of the late William M. Elkins has been moved to the Philadelphia public library. The transfer is so complete that the room that housed it in Elkins' home and even the scenes Elkins saw out the windows have been brought along. The scenes are shown by photo murals on the walls.

The book collection includes many rare Goldsmith and Dickens items, many works and papers about the discovery of America and a number of Colonial U. S. items.

Contact Is Source

"The time to find tuberculosis is before it produces symptoms," Dr. Gordon said this morning. The disease should be located before persons know they are sick. "Such early discovery," he explained, "increases their chances for recovery, shortens their period of hospitalization, and prevents spread of tuberculosis to other unsuspecting people.

"The belief that tuberculosis is inherited," he added, "is of course not true. Contact with the disease is the only way by which it may be acquired. If the people of Lubbock county would take advantage of this service each year—a service for which they pay through taxes—tuberculosis virtually could be eliminated in Lubbock county."

The annual chest x-ray program is "the best safeguard against invalidism with tuberculosis," he said.

The highest rate of tuberculosis is found between ages of 15 and 45 years of age.

Not Charity Measure

Invitation to conduct the Lubbock county x-ray survey was given by Lubbock-Crosby County Medical society.

Survey officials have emphasized that the survey is financed by taxes and is not a charity measure.

The process is brief, requiring only that the person give information for a card and stand before teh machine a few seconds.

Examinations will be given from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. through Friday and 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday and on the same schedule next week that examinations will not be given on Armistice day.

Arrangements for clerks were made by Grimes Stewart, manager of Draughon's Business college and president of Lubbock Optimist club and hostesses are being furnished by Lubbock Women's clubs.

Red Purge

vention yesterday, issued a terrific blast at President Philip Murray and Secretary-Treasurer James B. Carey, and announced it would pay no more dues to the CIO.

That was about as defiant as a union could go without being spanked, and Reuther's committee took on the task of dealing out the punishment.

With only Harry Bridges of the Longshoremen, Abram Flaxer of the United Public Workers, and James Durkin of the Office and Professional Workers dissenting, the resolution to revoke UE's charter was adopted in committee.

Given To New Group

The resolution said the UE's certificate of affiliation "has fallen into the control of a group devoted primarily to the principles of the Communist party and opposed to the constitution and democratic objectives of the CIO."

Jurisdiction of the electrical and allied industries would be handed over to a new group, reportedly backed by Carey, UE's first president ousted by the present left-wing leadership.

Even before the CIO acted, at least one right wing UE local went ahead and withdrew from the parent organization.

In Pittsburgh, officers of the 13,700-member local 601 at Westinghouse Electric Corp's big East Pittsburgh plant decided unanimously to get out.

New Federation Seen

The resolution said the FE-UE merger was the first step in a projected new labor federation of leftist unions.

Reuther's committee tonight or tomorrow will act on a resolution dealing with the 10 other unions under fire for what it regards as following Soviet policy more closely than CIO policy.

The third union marked for certain expulsion in the pre-convention speculation was the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

Other unions which may feel the wrath of the right-wing majority are Bridges' longshoremen, Gold's Fur and Leather Workers, the Furniture Workers, American Communications association, public Workers, Office and Professional Workers, Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers, Marine Cooks and Stewards, and Allied Fishermen.

Weather

the average minimum was 46.

Rain Below Average

October rainfall was 1.49 inches, or .80 inch below the average of 2.29 of all other Octobers back to 1911.

However, the 1949 rainfall totaled 28.93, far more than the usual figure of 17.70 inches for the first 10 months. Average annual rainfall is 19.15 inches, based on the 38-year record.

The highest temperature in the month was 88 degrees on Oct. 7, and the lowest temperature was 25 degrees on the last day of the month, making a 63-degree range in temperature during the month.

Several frosts spotted the South Plains during October, but the 25-degree temperature Oct. 31 was the first killing freeze of the year. It chopped off the growing season at 216 days after winter's last killing freeze on March 18. Average growing season for the Lubbock area is 212 days, according to records at the Lubbock agricultural experiment station east of the city.

Texas Grocers Expect Rush On Short Stocks Of Coffee

DALLAS, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—Texas grocers today prepared for an expected rush of coffee buyers.

With the price of the national drink already on the increase, there was little or no surplus in reserve, a survey showed.

Most grocers said they expected the big rush early this week, and were surprised when it failed to develop.

An Atlantic & Pacific Tea company spokesman said his stores did not contemplate rationing coffee to the customer until stocks become "much shorter than they are now."

Crop Is Short

The crisis in the coffee supply developed when South American growers announced that dry weather had cut the crop short.

Only the Tom Thumb chain here appeared to show that a crisis in coffee was in existence. Prominently displayed in all its stores were signs saying: "Only one pound of coffee per customer."

Quickest clue to the possible shortage, however, was a price-per-pound raise on all brands. Last Monday, most stores raised the price two cents per pound. They red-penciled the new price over the old tax listing.

Price Hikes Seen

The A&P spokesman said his stores did not have a "large" excess of coffee on hand, but he thought Texas stores "could handle a mild rush of buyers without losing face."

"We don't want a rush," he said. "Coffee business is like the banking business. You can go only so far with supplying buyers in a rush."

A&P stores were selling their best brands for 51 cents today. Other popular brands were going for 10 cents more, up two cents from a week ago.

The spokesman predicted another two cent hike this week.

"Prices go up with a shortage," he said. "There's nothing you can do about it."

a serious gall-bladder ailment and is forced to adhere to a strict diet. He said he submitted this report to two Denver physicians who later told him "imprisonment would be fraught with serious conseqences" and might even cause Blackmer's death.

Blackmer became known as "The Child of the Gods" as he amassed a fortune in mining, oil and railroad ventures. One of these was the Continental Trading company of which he was a director.

That company mad $2,000,000 in oil trading. The profits went into liberty bonds. Some of those bonds were traced to Albert Fall, secretary of the interior in the Harding administration.

When a congressional committee sought to question Blackmer about this in its inquiry of the Teapot Dome scandal in 1924, Blackmer slipped away to Europe.

He already has paid $3,671,064 in taxes and penalties for taxes due in 1916, 1917 and 1919 through 1923. The government said that cleared up his debts.

Fire Kills Six

in two hours firemen were through with their work.

Oddly, however, the fire went through the hallways so quickly that it burned the outer portion of the stairways and halls but there was no damage to their supporting timbers.

After the fire had been extinguished, observers were able to go back and forth through the halls and into the rooms without danger.

Flight Delay Hits Reynolds

LONDON, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — Milton Reynolds of Chicago reached London today on his attempted flight around the world in record time by regularly scheduled commercial air lines.

Reynolds was more than seven hours behind schedule because of a delay at Shannon airport in Ireland while waiting for fog to lift from the London airport.

Second World Trip

Reynolds left Los Angeles yesterday in an attempt to break the record of six days, three hours and 15 minutes set by Edward P. Eagan, chairman of the New York state athletic commission.

It was his second globe-girdling trip but the first via commercial airlines. Reynolds flew around the world before with the late Bill Odom.

He planned to stop at Brussels, Istanbul, Damascus, Karachi, New Delhi, Calcutta, Hong Kong, Guam and Honolulu, among other places.

Reynolds said he would inspect his factories in Europe and Asia.

Hobbs Youths

nounced, meanwhile, that a 26-year-old Lubbock man sought on an armed robbery charge in connection with several hijackings in Amarillo last summer, had been arrested at Crosbyton by Texas Ranger W. E. "Razz" Renfro and Highway Patrolman Robert Nelson.

The suspect, L. R. Moore, of 3508 North Sixth, allegedly aided Earl Leo and Lee Edward Lee Rader, 25-year-old twin brothers, in hijacking two Amarillo markets.

Two Arrested Here

The Rader brothers were taken into custody here Oct. 9, after West Coast police had broadcast an alert in this area. Moore was questioned briefly at that time and released.

Potter County Sheriff Paul Gaither and Chief Dep. Sheriff Murphy Hurd returned the prisoners to Amarillo shortly before midnight Tuesday.

C. M. Fearn, 51, of 1618 Sixth, was arrested by sheriff's deputies on complaint of his wife that he threatened to do her bodily harm. The complaint was filed in the court of Justice of the Peace D. W. Robertson. A peace bond hearing in the case resulted in a $300 bond, Robertson said.

Brush Fire

ing an arc around the town and at some points was within a half mile of the outskirts.

But backfiring—a firefighting method by which new fires are ignited to set flame against flame—halted the spread.

The firemen estimated that ten houses were burned up in Box canyon near where the blaze started last night. There may be others, they added.

Only valiant work by firemen and homeowners saved many other homes in the burned over area as the flames ate around brush-cleared sites.

The fire once was within 400 yards of North American Aviation's rocket-motor test laboratory. This hush-hush aerophysics laboratory is snuggled in a boulder-strewn valley of the Santa Susana mountains. Some 150 employes joined firefighters in keeping the flames away from its brush-cleared area.

Hundreds of firefighters, many of them weary from four days of fighting another blaze in the nearby Angeles national forest, were on the fireline.

Besides the wind hazard, extreme dryness brought on by low humidity made the firefighting job especially tough.

ahead with an attempt to raise $130,000 on its own.

Officers Chosen

The Baptist state brotherhood and the state women's missionary union finished annual meetings before convention sessions began.

Rev. Clifton W. Brannon, evangelist from Longview, was named president of the brotherhood, succeeding Judge Thomas J. Pitts of Odessa. F. Ivy Boggs of Dallas was elected first vice president and T. Gordon Ryan of Fort Worth recording secretary.

Pitts moved to the advisory board. Four others were named to it: A. R. Gatlin of Houston; Lt. Col. Charles L. Gamble of Austin; Dr. A. Hope Owen of Plainview, and Rev. T. J. Watts of Honey Grove.

The women's missionary union elected Mrs. R. L. Mathies of Dallas, president to succeed Mrs. Earl B. Smith of Mart. Mrs. P. A. Patterson of Beaumont was reelected recording secretary and Mrs. Joe Higginbotham, jr., of Dallas, assistant recording secretary.

D. J. Jeffreys, 28-year-old Lovington, N. M., man was admitted to Lubbock Memorial hospital in serious condition at 1:50 p. m. Tuesday following an accident earlier at a cotton gin near Lovington. Hospital attendants said the man suffered a possible skull fracture when his head was caught in a press at the gin. Jeffreys was brought to Lubbock by a Lovington ambulance.

The Wesleyan Service guild of Overton Methodist church met for a dinner and program Tuesday night in the church parsonage, 505 Forty-sixth, with 16 women present. Mrs. S. E. Corum talked on "What Thanksgiving Means," and Mrs. H. E. Poff presided over the business meeting.

Tax Fight

on the Democratic as well as the Republican side gave some show of thinking otherwise when Mr. Truman said raising taxes is the only way he knows to balance the budget.

They said a better way to balance the budget is to cut spending—and Congress, meeting next in an election year, is more likely to reduce taxes than raise them.

The President's revised figures, however, attested to the collapse of 'economy drive" talk that reached a high pitch several times in Congress this year.

Increase In Budget

His new spending figure represented a $1,600,000,000, or nearly four per cent, increase in the budget program — a peacetime record itself at the time—that he asked Congress to approve in January.

While lifting his spending sights, he slashed by $3,000,000,000 the revenue expectations he held in January, when his economic report pictured a boom likely to grow still bigger under inflationary pressures.

Yet the President's new revenue forecast was pessimistic only in comparison with his January attitude. The $38,000,000,000 taxtake he now expects this fiscal year is under one per cent less than was taken in during the preceding year.

The estimate, officials said, was based on an assumption that the economic situation from mid-1949 to mid-1950 will be almost the same as from mid-1948 to mid-1949, which had an unsurpassed dollar-prosperity average.

The $5,500,000,000 deficit the President foresaw in the 'good times" period his figures envisaged would constitute an overspending of income topping anything seen in the 1930s. That was when the policy of "pump priming" by government was introduced by President Roosevelt to combat depression, whereas now the big expense is military and foreign aid items.

Drowning Ruled In Death Of Soldier

FUKUOKA, Japan, Nov. 2 (U.P.) —The body of Pvt. Haskell Brown, jr., 20, of San Saba, Tex., was found in a drainage ditch near Camp Hakata here, the army announced today.

An autopsy report said death was due to drowning.

The soldier is survived by his father, Haskell Brown, sr., San Saba.

KILLED ON ROAD

AMHERST, Nov. 2 (Special) — One of two Mexican boys, Eduardo Doge, was fatally injured and a companion was hurt when struck by a car near Earth early Sunday night. Driver of the car, Ellis Simmons, told investigators of the Lamb county sheriff's department he was blinded by lights of an oncoming car and did not see the youths in ime to avoid striking them. No charge was filed. The other youth was released from a hospital here after treatment. Parents of the victims are field laborers.

Farmer's Threats To Worker Revealed

GAYLORD, Minn., Nov. 2. (U.P.) —Francisco Rodriguez testified that a farmer convicted of holding him in slavery once threatened to "shoot me, kill me and burn me up."

Rodriguez testified for four hours yesterday in his suit for $20,000 in back pay and damages against George Stark, Gibson, Minn., farmer.

Stark was convicted last February of enslaving Rodriguez, a Mexican farm hand, and sentenced to three and one-half years in prison.

The Mexican worker testified that he threatened to leave after the first seven years he worked for Stark without pay.

"I told him I wanted to leave, and he said, if I did, he would give me a bullet in the head," Rodriguez said. "He said he would shoot me, kill me and burn me up."

Texas Child Seeks Cancer Treatments On New York Trip

BRONTE, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—Seven-year-old Belva Karen Rippetoe left her home here today for Dallas to take a plane ride to New York in hopes specialists there will find a cure for her cancer.

Karen, a frail child with three ambitions in life, was accompanied by her druggist father, J. M. Rippetoe, her mother, and Dr. Harry K. Wachtel, of the New York City Cancer institute.

They planned to board an American Airlines plane in Dallas at 4:30 p. m. CST today for the eastward flight.

Realizes Ambitions

Karen left her West Texas hometown with one of her three aims realized. She attended school for a few days this fall, something she has wanted to do "ever since I can remember."

She also thinks her family needs a house. Workmen are busy on that project now.

Her third ambition, to meet cowboy star Roy Rogers and gaze upon his horse Trigger, was still unrealized.

Wachtel was hopeful that cancer institute methods will help the youngster. He said newly-developed treatments may aid Karen.

Mills will join Continental Air Lines employes from 27 other cities throughout six states in the two-day conference at Denver's Albany hotel. The first day's meeting will be attended by operations and flight service personnel, where safety precautions will be reviewed and new developments in weather forecasting will be explained.

The station managers will hear discussions by operations department heads on new navigational and radio aids the pilot now has which assure schedule dependability throughout the winter.

He had suffered a chronic heart ailment for the last several years. However, he had continued active work until the day of his death.

As word of his passing spread, the flag on the state capitol was lowered to half-staff. Gov. Allan Shivers and a score of other high state officials joined in expressing regret at his death.

Burial in Mount Calvary cemetery was preceded by services conducted in St. Mary's cathedral.

Pampa, Scots Picked To Win

Sandie Upset Is Predicted

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

Crucial district games are plentifully scattered throughout this week's 45-game Class AA and City conference schoolboy football card which is predominantly "play-for-keeps."

With 42 of the 45 games title affairs, several of them will have important bearing on the outcome of district races.

Top game will be staged at Grand Prairie where the undefeated, untied Gophers make the supreme bid for a berth in the state playoffs against the once-beaten Highland Park Scots in a game that should decided the 8-AA championship.

Amarillo At Pampa

But, there are others, such as Amarillo at Pampa in the opening 1-AA title game with the winner expected to finish on top; Marshall at Texarkana in a vital 9-AA game; Sunset vs. Adamson in a game destined to determine the Dallas City conference champ, and Arlington Heights vs. Pascal in a contest which may settle the Fort Worth district.

Our choices go against the pregame odds in two of these games as we name Pampa over Amarillo and Texarkana over Marshall.

Otherwise we like Highland Park, Sunset and Arlington Heights.

Despite the close ones last week, we managed to pick 36 out of 49 with two ties for a .755 average, giving us a season record of 301 right and 21 ties out of 419 games —a .743 average.

Schedule Is Listed

This week's schedule, by districts (all games conference affairs unless otherwise noted our picks marked with "W"):

Class AA:

1—Saturday: Amarillo at Pampa (W), day game; Plainview at Borger (W), day game.

2—Friday: Childress (W) at Electra, Quanah at Graham (W).

3—Friday: Odessa (W) at Lamesa, day game, Midland (W) at Brownfield.

4—Thursday: Mesa, Ariz. (W) at El Paso High (non-conference). Friday: Ysleta (W) at El Paso Austin.

6—Friday: Weatherford (W) at Cisco.

7—Friday: Bonham at Greenville (W), Paris (W) at Sherman, Gainesville (W) at Denison.

8—Friday Highland Park (W) at Grand Prairie, McKinney at Denton (W).

9—Friday: Marshall at Texarkana (W), Tyler at Longview (W), Kilgore at Henderson (W).

10—Friday: Palestine at Nacogdoches (W), Bryan at Lufkin (W), Conroe (W) at Jacksonville.

Austin At Victoria

11—Thursday: Orange at Beaumont (W). Friday: Port Arthur (W) at Beaumont South Park.

12—Friday: Galena Park at Baytown (W), Freeport at Galveston (W), Pasadena (W) at Texas City.

13—Friday: Waxahachie at Corsicana (W), Cleburne (W) at Ennis.

14—Friday: Austin (W) at Victoria.

15—Friday: Freer at Alice (W—non-conference), Laredo at Robstown (W).

16—Friday: San Benito at Harlingen (W), Edinburg (W) at Brownsville, Donna at McAllen (W—non-conference).

City Conference:

Fort Worth — Thursday: Fort Worth Tech vs. Polytechnic (W). Friday: Arlington Heights (W) vs. Paschal.

Houston—Thursday: Jeff Davis vs. Reagan (W). Friday: Sam Houston vs. San Jacinto (W). Saturday: S. F. Austin vs. Milby (W).

San Antonio—Thursday: Jefferson (W) vs. Alamo Heights. Friday: Brackenridge (W) vs. Harlandale. Saturday: Lanier vs. Burbank (W).

The cost of living recently declined in Athens, Greece, from 264 to 262 times the 1939 level, as a result of seasonal influences.

TEXAS WESTERN'S HOMECOMING

Miners To Bid For Upset Of Raiders

EL PASO, Nov. 2 (Special) — When the Red Raiders of Texas Tech invade El Paso Saturday, more than just a football victory will be at stake for Texas Western.

Western will need to defeat Tech in order to stay in the running for the Border conference football title. Last week their chances were knocked low by a 33-14 loss to Hardin-Simmons, and a defeat by Tech would all but eliminate Western.

Then too, it is homecoming for a large number of former students of the one-time Texas College of Mines. The exes are expected to fill Kidd field beyond its seating capacity.

The only remaining Miner chance, as local fans envision it, is a win by the Miners over Tech, and a Tech win over Hardin-Simmons Nov. 26, which would throw the title into a three-way tie.

And last, and probably not least so far as many of the Miners are concerned, the game offers a chance for revenge for last year's humiliating defeat in Lubbock. The Raiders handed the Miners their only loss of the regular season, a resounding 46-6 trouncing, on the sod of Jones Stadium.

However, by the lights of local backers, the Miners figure to be underdogs Saturday, for the second straight week. While Tech has been unable to handle any of its Southwest conference foes, it has proved mericless against Border conference competition, and also topped Tulsa university, which in turn defeated Villanova.

Abetting the Miners' underdog condition is the list of cripples on the squad. Four of the Miner regulars have been sidelined — three of them probably for the season—and in addition Jim Bowden, two-year letterman quarterback and one of the leading passers last year, has been unable to play this season because of a knee injury.

H. L. (Sonny) Holderman, diminutive defensive star and punter, and Guard Lee Fogle were injured in the Hardin-Simmons game, while Fullback Cordell McCraw and Guard Herman Foster have been out of action for a week or more.

Raiders Drill For Loop Tilt

Texas Western is drawing the undivided attention of players at Texas Tech football practices this week, and the squad is eyeing the El Paso contest with enthusiasm.

The Saturday night game will be the third conference start for the Raiders, who defeated West Texas State and Arizona in previous Border conference tilts. Last week Western lost to Hardin-Simmons by a wide margin and are needing a victory to stay in the conference race.

Concentration in practice yesterday was on defensive patterns against Texas Western plays as run by freshmen and other players.

There was no heavy scrimmaging as Coach Dell Morgan directed the defense against a "half-hard" offense. Over on the other field the offensive team went through a rough workout, with real head-knocking being accomplished.

After completion of the practice on the field a skull practice was held for the players, with the board work expected to further familiarize the Tech players with possible Texas Western plays.

Injuries on the squad include Ike Stuver, who was injured against Rice last week, and he may see action this week, a knee injury limiting his service this week. Dick Pirtle is still lame, and Jack Davis is limping.

Working again at quarterback was Albert Salem, who may see action this week at that position after working at halfback most of the season.

20 Teams In Class A Grid Race Unbeaten

(By The United Press)

Twenty of the state's 200-odd Class A schoolboy football teams remained unbeaten today, but seven of them had been tied, a United Press survey disclosed.

Mount Vernon, an East Texas power, and New Braunfels of Central Texas were setting a terrific, point-a-minute pace to boast the best offensive showings of the select group.

Kaufman, third ranked offensively, had the best defensive mark, having allowed only one touchdown in eight games, while Uvalde and Nederland had allowed two in six games.

Mount Vernon had scored 359 points, New Braunfels 355 in seven games.

Meet Winners Given Awards

Participants in the recent City Open Golf tournament last night attended a presentation dinner at Lubbock Country club at which Chick Trout, sr., received the tourney's championship award.

Merchandise prizes were given to winners in all three flights of the tournament at the dinner, attended by approximately 60 participants and guests.

Trout was presented the premanent tournament trophy, which is to remain at his home club, Lubbock Country club, for the next year. This huge trophy, donated by Johnny Powers of Powers Sporting Goods company, each year will go to the home club of the tournament titlist.

Trout, along with nine other prize winners, also received a merchandise award donated by Hemphill-Wells company. Merchandise awards also went to Dick Jennings, medalist, Jimmy Goldman, runnerup, and P. N. Burton, consolation winner, all in the championship flight; E. A. Hindman, winner, Dick Wilbanks, runnerup, and Houston Trammel, consolation winner, all in the first flight; and A. C. Jackson, winner, Jack Cole, runnerup, and Dean Cole, consolation winner, all in the second flight.

Kenneth Leslie represented Hemphill-Wells at the presentation. Awards were made by Wayne Henly, past president of the Lions club, sponsor of the 1949 tourney.

Trout, who also served as tournament chairman, presided at the dinner, and turned over a check for $167 — representing net profits from the tourney — to Groves Denman, Lions club president. The money is to go into the fund for maintenance of the Lions-sponsored Girl Scout recreation camp at Buffalo lakes.

City Open champions in previous years were Jimmy Goldman, 1946; Lofton Burnette, 1947; and Lindsey Telford 1948.

Golf Tournament To Get Underway Today

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 2 (AP) Set back 24 hours by the weather man, the 47th North and South Open golf tournament got off to a fresh start today.

Its 36-hole windup now shifted to Friday, the 72-hole, $7,500 highlight of this resort village's fall season began anew today what was washed out yesterday.

It was all rather embarrassing to Pinehurst officialdom, which has for its principal commodity sunshine and good golfing weather. Here in the self-proclaimed "winter golf capital" rain has forced postponement of play two successive years.

Thursday Deadline On Tickets Slated

With only 130-150 envelopes remaining with reserved tickets for the Odessa-Lubbock football clash, E. J. Lowrey, athletic business manager at the high school, set Thursday noon as the deadline for picking up the ducats.

A final check of tickets received disclosed that 5,615 adult tickets were received from Odessa to be sold to be sold to Lubbock fans, and the 1,500 student tickets added to this give Westerner followers a total of 7,115 seats, almost one-third of the capacity for the game.

With bleachers added in the end sones and along the cinder track, total capacity of the stadium that day will be 21,662 persons. And all the tickets for the contest are being sold early.

Tickets remaining after the deadline is passed will be sold to the general public on a first come basis, Lowrey further said, and no refunds will be made on tickets already sold.

Parks To Test Mask Tonight

Herb Parks and the Grey Mask meet in the final main event of a double-bill tonight at Sled Allen's arena, and activities get underway at 8 o'clock.

Appearing in the first main bout will be Alex Kasaboski and Al Getz.

Last week Kasaboski fell before the Mask in a rugged match, and Parks was the winner over Getz. So it was figured that the matching of the winners and losers would please fans greatly. In fact Parks issued a challenge to the Grey Mask, and Promoter Allen was quick to get the two signatures on contracts.

The Masked Man seems to be in perfect physical condition and is an experienced, scientific and smart opponent.

Demand Match

The first main is a natural bout, as well as being a demand match. Two weeks ago the two contestants wrestled to a draw and neither was satisfied with the outcome. This week Getz and Kasaboski fell naturally into the semi-finals event, both losing last week.

Both are well versed in the wrestling game, and in their previous go the fans witnessed all types of holds as the pair brought forth the tricks and knowledge they have accumulated over years of wrestling. Both went all out for a win, but time ran out.

Flores Meets Overhull

Salvador Flores, the rough-and-ready lad from Mexico City, made an impressive appearance last week in his match with Charlie Carr, wrestling 20 minutes to a draw.

Returning to the area for a match with Flores is George Overhull, youthful product of Amarillo, who began wrestling in this area early in the year.

In the past few months Overhull has been getting plenty of seasoning and wrestling practice with bouts in and around Toledo, Columbus and Chicago.

Tickets are on sale during the day at the arena, and reservations may be made by phoning 2-8665.

Employees of Tata Steel Works, Jamshedpur, India, will divide a $1,650,00 profit-sharing bonus this year agomng 40,000 workers.

Sox Dominate Team All-Star Nine Is Announced

BY JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 — The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, rivals in the last World Series each gained two berths on the Associated Press' 1949 major league all-star team.

Both, however, were forced to play second fiddle to the Boston Red Sox who led all clubs with three representatives — Outfielder Ted Williams and Pitchers Mel Parnell and Ellis Kinder.

The remainder of the dream squad picked by a poll of 116 members of the Baseball Writers' association of America is composed of one player each from the Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburg Pirates.

Henrich, Rizzuto Listed

Tommy Henrich, a converted first baseman, and Shortstop Phil Rizzuto are the world champion Yankees on the squad. Second Baseman Jackie Robinson and Catcher Roy Campanella are the Dodgers' representatives.

Third Baseman George Kell, only Tiger on the team, received the most votes. He was named on 113 of the 116 ballots cast. Williams was next with 112. Others to hit the century figure were Robinson, 108, and Stan Musial, Cardinals' star flychaser, 100. Campanella just missed with 99.

Henrich got 97 votes for first and five in the outfield. Musial got three additional votes, all for first base. The smallest number of votes for a winner went to Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's home run slugger, whose 68 votes won the right field post.

Parnell Tops Vote

Rizzuto won with 83 votes. Only one vote separated the Red Sox pitching twins. The lefthanded Parnell, who won 25 games and lost only eight, drew 78 votes, one more than the righthanded Kinder, who led all American league pitchers with a 23-6 won and lost record.

Of the ten men selected, only two are holdovers from the 1948 team. The incumbents are Williams and Musial. Williams, in fact, has been named on all four Associated Press teams starting in 1946.

Those missing from last year's squad include Johnny Mize, first base; Joe Gordon, second base; Lou Boudreau, shortstop; Bob Elliott, third base; Joe DiMaggio, center field; Birdie Tebbetts, catcher; and Johnny Sain and Harry Brecheen, pitchers.

BLOCKING STRESSED IN DRILLS

Hard Workout For Lubbock Team Set

A renewal of hard workouts is expected today at Chapman field following yesterday's short drill.

Tuesday the squad left the practice field shortly after 6 p. m. after a session of hard scrimmaging by all three teams.

Emphasis this week has been on blocking assignments and protection for the passer, and line Coach Bill Floyd has sent the linemen through offensive and defensive drills at the field.

In an effort to simulate game conditions, the ball was snapped after the play was called, and the offensive "team" went about its blocking assignments. Guard Bob Newell was hard to stop by the offensive team, and he repeatedly broke into the backfield.

Polish Passing Attack

On the other end of the field the backs and ends went through other play practices, with different teams alternating on offense. Running and passing plays were run and re-run, with Coach Pattison and End Coach Fred Taylor watching from the sidelines.

All types of passing were employed, from the short one to the long ones, and his type of attack may figure prominently in the Odessa tilt which is 10 days off.

All three members of the coaching staff are expecting the toughest battle of the season against the Bronchos, and the winner will be behind the steering wheel as far as the district championship is concerned.

If Lubbock wins it will have only Brownfield and Midland remaining in loop play. If the Bronchos should upset the Westerners, they will need only one win over Brownfield. Thus far the Cubs have gone down in every game, and Midland has won one and lost five.

An ankle injury suffered in tackling practice Monday kept reserve Fullback Don Rawls on the sidelines yesterday. Rawls has a badly swollen ankle and will not see much action all week. Otherwise the squad seems to be in top shape.

All three teams put plenty of spirit into the scrimmage, and Curtis Roberts, Newell, Ross Craig, Jerry Van Pelt, Billy Tooke and Dean White were standouts against the offensive team.

THEY REDUCE SPEED

Barnacles, if allowed to collect in great numbers on the hull of a ship will create such a drag that the vessel's speed may be cut 50 per cent.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

Granland Rice comes out with a piece in this month's issue of Sports magazine that will lead to a lot of controversy. Not that controversy is foreign to Rice. Granny didn't get that way by going along with the crowd. Much of his fame came from the fact that he picked them as he saw them and wrote them that way. And the same goes for his selections of all-time greats, All-American nominations and similar things. So that this new article by Granny Rice comes as no surprise. He presents "The Eleven Greatest Football Players Of All Time." That's a large order for one man, considering the vast number of players the game has seen.

So you want to know who the choices are? Okay, that's what will follow. Quarterback—Sammy Baugh. Fullback—Bronko Nagurski. Halfbacks—Red Grange and Jim Thorpe. Ends—Don Hutson and Bennie Costerbaan. Tackles—Cal Hubbard and Wilbur "Fats" Henry. Guards—Pudge Heffelfinger and Herman Hickman. Center—Germany Schulz. Yep, that's it and Granny goes on to tell you why he selected those men. Rice probably is the peer and dean of current sportswriters. He's been calling shots for over 50 years, during which time he has seen them come and go. It's possible that time will mellow current stars to such an extent that, say 30 or 40 years from now, they'll replace some of the ones mentioned above. After all, athletic history and vividness, like wine, improves with age and re-telling of tales.

Pudge Heffelfinger, nominated for guard, has always been to us one of the game's most astounding men. Here, as told by Rice, is why: "Heffelfinger, six feet two, playing weight around 212, was faster than most backs. Heff was a running guard back in 1889, an All-America entry that same year. He was a star football player around 1914 or 1915, at the age of 43, when he almost wrecked a strong Yale line. He was still a great guard at the age of 53 when he played in a pro grame at Columbus with Bo McMillin. Pudge threw his shoulder out of joint before the game started, threw it back in, then played 56 minutes. 'He was unbelievable,' McMillin tells me. 'He came out of the line like a thunderbolt and he was 53 years old.' Heffelfinger played his last game in Minneapolis at the age of 65 in a pro charity benefit. There will never be another Heffelfinger."

While baseball is deader than the proverbial dodo, according to the season, it isn't if you read The Sporting News. You have to, in fact, to keep up with trading gossip and other info not gleaned on press wires. For instance, on one page is the conjecture that the Yanks' Snuffy Stirweiss may be headed to Washington, while another story on the same page has him going to Philadelphia. Johnny Lindell also is on the block and so are many other players on all the teams. The stoves will be burning brightly this winter with conjecture and before March rolls around and spring training is with us, new names and old faces will be on a lot of rosters. For that matter, the WT-NM League also has been busy, according to a recent release from Milton E. Price, president. Here is the up to date information on various players on the league's teams.

Abilene: conditionally assigned Roberto Fernandez to Havana (Florida International). Hayden Greer released outright (don't get excited; he'll be back. Conditionally assigned Gilberto Guerra to Havana . . . Albuquerque: Oakland (Pacific Coast League) recalled these players: Tom Breisinger, Don Ferrarese, Jim Fiscalini, Ray Hamrick and Allan Maul. The Dukes released Dick Gyselman and Tommy Fox and conditionally assigned Frank Shone to Hartford (Eastern League) . . . Amarillo: John Joslin and Steve Lagomarsino were recalled by Denver and Doug Lewis by Little Rock. Eddie Jacome was assigned outright to Texarkana and Ray Faust was conditionally assigned to Little Rock.

Borger: Released Elton Davis. Mario Errante and Verdon Gilchrist. Clovis: Released Ray Bauer, had John Hellendrung recalled by Los Angeles. Assigned Wilcy Moore and John Waselchuk outright to Des Moines and Springfield, respectively. Lamesa: Released J. B. Gibbs, had Glenn Selbo and Bob Upton recalled by Dallas and assigned Jim Sinovick to Gainesville. Pampa: Oscar Engel was recalled by Anniston. Tooter Harper was recalled by Alexandria and Jim Martin was recalled by Kilgore. Roy Parker was assigned outright to Shreveport.

This may be a weekend of revenge for a sheik (we ain't kiddin') who plays football. If you don't believe that he's a sheik, ask him to show you that photograph, which definitely wasn't taken in a penny arcade. The lad in question just so happens to be capable of playing some good football and being, in the estimation of many, one of the better passers at Tech this year. He also is a quarterback, which also helps him in the line of forward passing. He came to Tech last year as a transfer student and was ineligible. That didn't stop him from working out daily with the freshmen. This year he has been moved around in the backfield, but now he's back at the signal calling spot. Albert Salem is longing for a crack at Texas Western—and he may get it. The Miners, you see, were the ones who thought that he would be of no help to them in football.

Nine Points, 12 Seconds Cost Longhorns Defeats By Three Major Gridiron Powers

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—Telescoped into 12 seconds was a season of broken dreams for Texas. Nine points kept the Longhorns out of the nation's football elite — nine points lost them games to three of the top teams of the country.

Two missed passes, a point after touchdown and a field goal pitched them into bitter reverie of what might have been.

Texas, starting the season with bright thoughs, rolled over three foes without getting up a sweat. Then came Oklahoma. The Longhorns bowed to the Sooners 14-20 when Ben Procter, great Texas wingman, dropped a pass thrown squartely to him in the end zone.

Next, Texas put on a stirring last-half drive to beat Arkansas 27-14.

Field Goal Wins

Then came Rice. The Owls battled back to win 17-15 in the last 10 seconds of play on a field goal by Froggie Williams.

And last week there was Southern Methodist. In the last quarter Doak Walker came off the bench to kick the point after touchdown that beat Texas 7-6. Again Procter dropped a pass in the end zone as the big clock showed two seconds to go. Eight times Texas was in scoring territory and couldn't make it, once fumbling on the three-yard line.

In each of these three games they lost, the Longhorns held the edge in first downs and total offense. Texas made 46 first downs and 899 yards rushing and passing to 32 first downs and 656 yards for the opposition.

Too Much Inexperience

Why are the Longhorns able to rampage from one end of the field to the other, yet unable to outscore their foes? The Monday morning quarterbacks have hundreds of answers, but Coach Blair Cherry probably gave the best answer at the start of the season—before Texas ever lost one:

"We will have to rely too much on sphomores. We will face several veteran teams with a big edge in experienced reserve strength."

This is not the complete answer, of course, for Texas could have own any one of the three thrillers with a bit more luck.

In both the Rice and SMU contests, Texas obviously tired in the final frame of play. Sophomore reserves could not hold the line while Cherry tried to rest his regulars.

Texas faces another rugged eleven, unbeaten, untied Baylor, Saturday. What now brown cow—er Longhorn?

Lookabaugh Quits Oklahoma Ag Post

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 2. (U.P.)—The annual parade of college football coaches to the showers was officially underway to day with the resignation of Jim Lookabaugh of Oklahoma A&M.

Lookabaugh resigned yesterday, thus becoming the first major college coaching casualty of the 1949 season.

The A&M athletic council announced that Lookabaugh will complete the season, his 11th with the Aggies. No immediate action was taken to name a successor.

Swamped By Kansas

Oklahoma A&M, a, one-time powerhouse, had faltered this year. It had notched two victories and battled favored Texas Christian to a 33-33 tie, but then was swamped, 55-14, by underdog Kansas university. The defeat was the worst suffered by the Aggies since losing 73-12 to the University of Oklahoma in 1946.

In 1945, Lookabaugh's Aggies galloped to an undefeated season behind All-American Bob Fenimore. They capped the record by whipping St. Mary's at the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

Oklahoma A&M also boasted an 8 and 1 record in 1944, plus a Cotton Bowl conquest. But after the great 1945 season, hard times set in for Lookabaugh and company.

Fenimore Not Surprised

Halfback Fenimore, who now lives in Oklahoma City, said he was not greatly surprised at Lookabaugh's resignation.

Fenimore said the tall, grey-haired mentor had hinted he might quit after Detroit university upset the Aggies last Friday night, 13-7.

The first rumors of dissension among A&M alumni came last year when the Aggies won six games, lost three and then fell, 20-0, before William & Mary at the Delta Bowl.

Lookabaugh came to A&M in 1939 after posting an enviable record at Oklahoma City's Capitol Hill High school.

Won Loop Titles

At A&M, he won the Missouri Valley conference title in 1944, 45 and 48. His record to date is 56 victories, 41 defeats and 5 ties.

Lookabaugh announced no future plans but said he will keep his home in Stillwater.

He added:

"For the good of A&M college, which I've served as student, alumnus and coach for more than a quarter of a century, I have tendered my resignation and it has been accepted."

Dr. Henry Iba, director of athletics, said, "Jim's move is made wholly for what he feels are the best interests of the school. Lookabaugh and his staff never worked harder than in the past three years. The cabinet . . . accepts the end of his tenure . . . with regret."

Famous Race Horse Stymie Is Retired

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—Gallant old Stymie, who rose from the claiming ranks to become the world's greatest money-winning thoroughbred, was retired today to a bluegrass life of ease.

And thus was written the climax of a lusty saga of the turf.

Bred on the sprawling King ranch in Texas, Stymie was just an obscure selling plater when he was purchased by Hirsch Jacobs in 1943 for $1,500. He was two years old then.

Now eight years old—and still under the guidance of Jacobs—Stymie leaves the racing scene with an amazing, almost unbelievable bankroll of $918,485.

A sore right foreleg forced Stymie's retirement. He will remain in New York until the end of the racing season in two weeks and then will be shipped to a farm at Lexington, Ky., where he will stand at stud.

Disappearance Of Injured Man And Gunmen Mystifying Police

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2 (AP) — The case of a critically wounded restaurant patron and the two gunmen who shot him still mystified Philadelphia police today.

The victim, with what appeared to be a gaping hole in his head, pursued his assailants from a mid-city restaurant yesterday and vanished. A day-long check of hospitals and doctors' offices failed to produce any lead.

The wounded man's assailants disappeared, too. And to complicate matters further four companions of the wounded man and an attractive woman companion of the gunman were not to be found.

Eyewitnesses said the woman and her two companions stepped into the restaurant where she pointed out a man of 50 dressed in a grey suit as the man who had insulted her.

After the shooting, the eyewitnesses told police, the woman and her companions sped off in a dark convertible. The wounded man, blood streaming from his head, pursued them to the street and disappeared after the trio drove off.

Joseph Valonis, manager of the restaurant, told police the diner was struck in the head by a bullet fired by one of the two gunmen.

First Movies For Isolated Mexican Town Well-Earned

By ROBERT PRESCOTT
United Press Staff Writer

SAN BERNABE, Mexico, Nov. 2 The Indians in this tiny and isolated Mexican village have just seen their first movie, and they earned it.

Although San Bernabe is only 14 miles from Mexico City, it has no electricity, no town water supply and no roads. Most of its inhabitants never have been more than a few miles from home.

Only one automobile, a jeep, ever had penetrated through the black lava beds and rocky ridges encircling San Bernabe.

The villagers were curious about the "outside world". When they heard that U. S. embassy sound and camera trucks were showing free motion pictures to Mexicans living in semi-frontier areas, they asked to be counted in, too.

The embassy was willing. But its technicians couldn't drive a truckload of delicate sound movie equip ment across the lava "badlands."

"Then," announced the village mayor, "we'll build a road."

He ordered his townspeople to drop all other work. For three weeks 200 men, women and children chipped and dug rocks and cleared brush. When the embassy truck headed for San Menabe with the U. S. State Department version of a double-bill program, a well-graded road, hewn in many places out of solid rock, was ready.

A guard of honor met the American projectionists at the beginning of the road and escorted them to the village square, where every villager and Indian from miles around had been waiting patiently for hours.

The coming of the motion picture to San Bernabe was part of a U. S. State Department educational program which is showing Spanish-language sound films to some 900,000 Mexicans every month. Started by the United States during the war, the project now is being carried out by the Mexican, British and U. S. governments, but most of the films are American.

The programs, lasting from one to two hours each, generally include a short film of an educational or sanitary subject, another about the United States and another that is pure entertainment. For a large percentage of ehe Mexicans in the wilderness audiences, it is the first glimpse of a movie, and most are completely awed.

In one town, after the showing of a health film featuring care of the teeth, every tube of toothpaste in the stores was bought by morning. Most of the purchasers never before had used a toothbrush.

The embassy uses trucks, jeeps, motor launches and mules to oring motion pictures to thousands of Mexicans who otherwise never would see them.

Collection Of Old Menus Carries Odd Selection Of Food

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—If you own a set of bathroom scales or count your calories, for heaven's sake stay away from the New York historical society.

For any one on a diet, it's a chamber of horrors.

Here's one example — entree "America's greatest game dinner" at Chicago's Grand Pacific hotel in 1881:

Loin of bufalo, saddle of black bear, coot, laughing goose, cedar hen, pintail grouse, dimlin sandpiper, curlew, snipes and plover.

Humor Was Light

They weren't pikers up in New England, either, and they knew how to kid the guests. The Sea View house at Rye Beach, N. H., offered you this:

Mock herring, ox ear and whalebone soups; cross-eyed perch broied iceberg, billy goat with beard on, tight-boot corns and shingle nail pudding.

And if the food was heavy, the humor was light.

In those days, hotel kitchens did something beside just cooking. They heated flat irons for lady guests who wanted to keep their ruffles straight. This little notice was tacked onto one menu—

"Any lady giving the order 'put me on a flat iron' shall be put on one at any hour, day or night."

Wartime Inflation Aids Country Banks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — War time inflation funneled a lot of money into "grass roots" banks —country banks patronized by farmers. That's the conclusion of Fred L. Garlock, economist for the United States Department of Agriculture.

Garlock says the more industrialization and commercialization there was in an area, the smaller was the gain in bank deposits.

He points to the one-time dust bowl country as his top example. In that region, where farmers are the mainstay, bank deposits are five times what they were before the war.

Garlock studied U. S. bank deposits for the years 1940-'48. He found that by 1948 bank deposits in the farming communities were almost four times what they were before the war. But in the large industrial centers they were only about 2 1-3 times the pre-war total. In New York City, the largest financial center, they were only 1½ times the 1940 total.

He gives these reasons, among others, for the gain in country bank deposits:

1. Farm income increased relatively more during the war than did national income as a whole.

2. Farmers' holdings of liquid financial assets (currency, bank deposits and United States savings bonds) increased relatively more than did the holdings of all individuals and businesses.

But now he says conditions are changing and the inflationary period appears near an end.

He adds that in years of "recession," after the first World War, deposits flowed in large volume from agricultural areas to financial centers.

Such an effect can be cushioned by moving more industries to the country communities, he says, giving smaller towns and cities a greater share of the gains from industrialization.

Garlock says the country banks appear to be in good condition and that a substantial part of their assets could be converted quickly into cash.

This means that unless a very serious emergency arises the banks won't have to call upon their borrowers to pay up loans, Garlock says. In past depressions the sudden call for payment of farm loans has increased the trouble.

Again he points to the former dust bowl as an example. He says the farmers of the Great Plains not only have built up their bank level but also have been among the largest buyers of government savings bonds.

North Texas Leader In Loop Statistics

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 (AP) — How come North Texas isn't cleaning up in the Gulf coast conference?

The Eagles from Denton have played but a single conference game, and lost it 17-20 to Hardin college Indians. But those beefy Eagles are certainly cleaning up in the statistics race.

Statistics released Wednesday by Bill Mahan, Gulf coast secretary, show a North Texas man atop the individual rushing tabulations, the individual passing, a North Texan second in punting and the Eagles only 57 yards behind the Hardin eleven in total team offense.

Passing the rushing figures for the second straight week is Ned McNeill, a 190-pound North Texas fullback from Denton. McNeill, a powerful and swift runner, has picked up 404 yards in 82 trips, a 4.9 average.

The passing leader is Cecil (Zeke) Martin, another Eagle. Martin, completing 6 out of 8 heaves in the North Texas victory over the San Marcos Bobcats, added 168 yards to his seasonal mark and shot his percentage of completion to .432.

Officials To Crack Down On Vandalism

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — District of Columbia commissioners are considering a proposal for a law that may cut down on vandalism in vacant buildings. The commissioner's regulations advisory committee, upset at police reports of teen-age boys' entering and damaging vacant buildings, and "sometimes throwing rough drinking parties", recommended the law.

For one thing they propose it be made illegal to enter a vacant building. There's nothing against it in present law.

Potomac River Is Combed For Bodies Missing In Air Crash

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Boatmen combed the bed of the Potomac river today for the missing among the 55 men, women and children hurtled to death from the air yesterday in history's worst airplane tragedy.

Many hours following the collision of an Eastern Airlines passenger transport and a Bolivian fighter plane, the search went on under the glare of floodlights for the 11 passengers whose bodies had not yet been recovered.

Shocked members of Congress, stunned by the loss of one of their own number, promised a complete air safety investigaion. The Civil aeronautics board said its hearings into the cause of the crash will start in a few days. The airline scheduled a probe of its own.

Warning Given

The disaster occurred as the big DC-4 transport headed into the national airport for a landing shortly before noon, flying at about 300 feet.

It was a routine stop on the Boston-New York - Atlanta - New Orleans run. Fifty-one passengers and a crew of four were aboard. Visibility was 15 miles. The ceiling was 6,500 feet.

Into the traffic pattern, calling for landing instructions, came a P-38 fighter piloted by Bolivia's top airman, Erick Rios Bridoux. Bridoux was testing the twin-engine craft which his government had purchased from the United States.

An airport tower operator a bare half-mile away saw the P-38 bear down on the transport. He cried a radio warning to the 28-year-old Bolivian. The P-38 kept coming.

Then the tower frantically signalled the transport. The pilot swerved the big ship from its path, but too late.

Congressman Victim

The fighter ripped into it from above and from the side. The airliner split in half. Bodies and wreckage fell into the water and along the bank of the Potomac.

The sole survivor was the Bolivian. He was dragged from the water with a possible broken back and other injuries. He mumbled to questioners that his "power"—presumably his radio power—had failed in the critical moments.

The tragedy struck into many towns and cities across the nation. Among the dead were:

Rep. George J. Bates (R-Mass), 58, father of seven children, former mayor of Salem, Mass., and a member of the House armed services committee. Late last night, Bates body still was missing, according to House Sergeant-at-Arms Joseph H. Callahan.

Others Named

Miss Helen Hokinson, a native of Mendota, Ill., who poked fun at plump suburban clubwomen in cartoons for the New Yorker magazine.

Gardner W. Taylor, 60, president of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of New York.

Theodore Martin Riehle, 58, whose firm is the New York general agent for the Equitable Life Assurance society.

Michael Kennedy, 52, former leader in the New York Tammany hall Democratic political organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCusky and their 18-months-old daughter, Maureen, who were leaving Boston to make a new home in Washington. McCusky had just succeeded in passing a civil service examination making him eligible for a government job.

Glen D. Tigner, 21-year-old airport traffic controller, told reporters "there just didn't seem to be any danger of an accident until the very last minute."

Called Airliner

He gave the Bolivian landing instructions, he said, and for a moment thought no more about it. "Then he was coming in steep and fast," related Tigner. He said he tried twice to order Rios out of the way of the bigger plane, but without success. Then he called the DC-4.

"The airliner was swinging to the left when it happened. The fighter tore into the airliner's fuselage near the tail section on the right side. The DC-4 broke in two and debris began falling.

"They fell into the lagoon. I hit the crash siren."

The disaster stirred demands in Congress for new curbs on military plane flights.

Senator Johnson (D-Colo) said the Senate commerce committee has asked the Civil Aeronautics administration for a full report on the crash. He said some way must be foun dto keep military planes out of the commercial air lanes.

Rep. Hinshaw (R-Calif), a member of the House subcommittee on aviation, said military aircraft should be moved from the national airport area to nearby military fields. He proposed a congressional inquiry into air traffic hazards in the Washington area.

The airport's administrator, Bennett H. Griffin, said the P-38 was in process of being transferred to the Bolivian government and had been classified as a commercial craft.

Inquiries Planned

Chairman Crosser (D-Ohio) of the House interstate commerce committee said his group will launch an inquiry in January "to see if anything further can be done to assure air safety."

Eastern airlines president Eddie Rickenbacker announced he will conduct an investigation of his own.

Witnesses who saw the crash were horrified. Captain Joe Anderson of American airlines said "it was an awful thing to watch."

Anderson said he could see both the fighter plane and the transport as they came in for a landing. "The fighter took a dive into the airliner's tail," he said. "The tail section fluttered slowly to the ground and both planes crashed."

P. M. Clifford, a business agent for the American Federation of Labor, was driving past the airport when "I saw a ball of fire and a trail of smoke about 300 feet above the ground and one plane falling.

"I ran to the river bank. I saw them bring a woman out of the wreckage, and then some men. They were terribly battered. I couldn't watch any more."

J. Donald Mayor, manager of a Washington upholstery company, also was driving past the area when the crash occurred.

"I saw the plane break up and three or four big pieces falling," he said. "There were hundreds of little pieces like paper falling onto the road. I drove right over those little pieces of metal before I could jam on the brakes.

"I jumped out of the car and ran to a 50 or 60 foot section of fuselage that crashed to the mud only a foot or two from the water's edge. I saw six legs with trousers on, probably the pilot's cabin. There was no noise, no groans of shouts.

"Then I heard a terrific knocking coming from a part of the plane about 100 feet out in the water. I thought it was people knocking on the inside for help.

"I waded into the water up to my hips when I saw that part of the plane do down. It occurs to me now that must have been the motor and the knocking was from the roaring hot engines hitting that cold water."

The worst commercial airline disaster in previous years was the crash of an Eastern airlines plane on May 30, 1947, near Port Deposit, Md. A total of 53 died in that crash.

History's only air disaster greater than yesterday's occurred in 1933, when the dirigible Akron fell into the sea during a storm off the New Jersey coast, carrying 73 men to their death.

First Presbyterian Group To Meet Today

Members of the big gifts committee of First Presbyterian church will meet at a breakfast in the church basement at 7:30 p. m. today to sign pledge cards and map a financial campaign toward construction of a new sanctuary and remodeling of the present building into badly needed educational facilities.

Robert W. Wright, chairman of the committee, will preside at the breakfast this morning. Attendance of 30 to 40 members of the church is expected.

Plans for the building project are in progress by Henry Steinbomer, San Antonio architect. Construction is expected to begin when financing is completed.

Building Permits Pass $13 Million

October building permits amounting to $1,954,441 brought Lubbock's 1949 building total over the $13,000,000 mark and virtually assured that all previous building records will be broken this year, records at the office of Lloyd Ross, building inspector, revealed Tuesday afternon.

The total for the year now stands at $13,067,246, and a permit for $2,000,000 for Highland Place duplex project in southwest Lubbock alone would raise the total nearly to last year's record total of $15,171,373, the records indicated.

By months, building permits have been as follows this year: January, $328,209; February $833,110; March, $1,112,869; April, $831,012; April, $855,761; May, $1,834,158; June, $720,327; July, $1,110,102; August, $976,257; and September, $1,954,441.

Soviet Charges U. S. Setting Up Spy Ring

MOSCOW, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass in a dispatch from Paris today said the United States planned to set up in Belgrade an intelligence and propaganda center directed against the Eastern European countries.

The dispatch said the center, to be directed by the U. S. embassy in Belgrade, was discussed at the recent meeting of American envoys from Eastern European countries.

"The Belgrade center will have representatives especially instructed by the (U. S.) Federal Bureau of Investigation," the Tass dispatch said. "The representatives will be named to attache posts in United States embassies."

(U. S. envoys to the Iron Curtain countries met last week in London for the announced purpose of exchanging views on the Communist countries in which they represent the United States).

DAMAGE ESTIMATED AT $150,000

Probes Of Fire And Explosion In Capital Building Started

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — Twin investigations were launched today into a fire and explosions that tore through the two top floors of the $11,000,000 postoffice department building yesterday.

The blasts injured 14 persons, most of them firemen, and with the blaze caused damage estimated by one official at $150,000.

The public building administration set up a board of inquiry in an effort to determine the cause of the fire and explosions. The District of Columbia fire marshal also organized an investigation.

Most Workers Clear

Most of the 3,000 government workers had fled when a fire alarm sounded, and were clear of the building when the blasts occurred. Several firemen answering the fire call were hurt by the explosions or were overcome by smoke.

For some hours Wayne Coy, chairman of the Federal Communications commission, feared that two women employes were buried by the debris. But when firemen got under the debris last night they found no bodies, and Coy said he was satisfied no one was missing. The FCC shares a part of the postoffice building.

The fire was discovered about 10 a. m. yesterday in an electrical transformer room on the top floor of the eight-story building, located on Pennsylvania avenue about four blocks from the White House.

One government engineer said a short-circulit probably caused the oil, in which a transformer was immersed, to become overheated and explode.

A series of blasts occurred in quick succession. Valuable files of the communications commission were blown out the windows into the streets. A hole some 200 feet long was torn in a double wall of concrete and bricks between the transformer room and a corridor. Concrete and plaster ceilings in the commission offices on the seventh floor were torn away.

Undamaged, one floor below, was the $50,000,000 postoffice department's stamp collection.

Among the injured persons was Robert Farrington, an Associated Press reporter. He was on the seventh floor telephoning his office information on the fire when one of the explosions occurred. A glass door was blown in behind him, and flying glass cut his shoulder.

Two Women Hurt In Lubbock Collisions

Two women were injured slightly and two others taken to hospitals for observation as the result of three collisions here Tuesday.

The injured were Mrs. Morris Cranford, 20, of 808 Ave. S, treated at West Texas hospital for bruises of the nose and left knee; and Mrs. N. B. Cook, 41, of 907 Ave. O, also taken to West Texas hospital, where she was treated for shock and a strained neck.

Mary Louise Hancock, 19, of 1607 Main, and Joyce Manuel, 22, were taken to hospitals here for examination.

Mrs. Cranford was injured about 4:50 p. m. when she reportedly drove her car into a parked vehicle owned by T. J. Morgan, of 2215 Fifteenth in front of Morgan's residence.

Mrs. Cook's 1947 Chevrolet was in collision about 12:55 p. m. with a car driven by David Newton Dixon, 32, of 2706 North Fourth at Fourth and Ave. P, police records showed. The accident occurred, officers said when Dixon's car, traveling west on Fourth, struck the other vehicle in the rear as Mrs. Cook was preparing to make a turn.

Both women held for observation were involved in a minor crash at Fourth and Jackson about 4:28 p. m.

Cars involved in the mishap were driven by Mrs. Clara Freeman, 44, of 1807 Main, and Mrs. Geneva Shea, 20, of 2400-block Arnett.

NO. 2 OF A FOUR-PART SERIES

Explanation Of Amendments In Nov. 8 Election Offered

By H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

THIS continues a series of brief explanations of and the principal arguments for and against 10 proposed amendments to the state constitution upon which Texans will vote next Tuesday.

NO. 3

An amendment authorizing the legislature to provide for the establishment and creation of hospital districts.

THIS proposal, if approved, would allow counties, or parts of counties, to form hospital districts and to levy taxes and bonds for the building and maintenance of hospitals. This might be done jointly by counties, cities and/or school districts. But, before it could be done, it would have to be approved by a vote of the qualified residents of the areas affected.

Better Hospitalization Seen

The argument for it is that it would open the way for more hospitalization for a great many people; and that the requirement of a vote of approval by the people affected is protection against abuses.

The amendment has been criticized as loosely drawn and possibly as containing "gimmicks." But the consensus of those who have studied seems well in agreement that it couldn't do much harm and might do some good. Of course, the creation of hospital districts would mean additional taxes upon property owners residing within them.

NO. 4

An amendment eliminating the payment of a poll tax as a requirement for voting, and providing for a general registration law.

THIS is, perhaps, the most controversial of the amendments.

It would eliminate the present poll tax of $1.75 a year. But it would require all persons wishing to vote during the succeeding year to register, and counties would be allowed to levy a registration fee of any amount set by the legislature, to be divided between the county and the state.

The arguments for the amendment are centered around the contention that it is unfair and improper to require anyone to pay any sort of fee for exercising the privilege of voting. No informed person can argue that the poll tax in Texas is discriminatory. Any person otherwise qualified to vote can pay a poll tax, regardless of race, color or creed. And it is manifestly absurd to argue that any negligible number of people are so poor that the $1.75 a year for the poll tax works a serious hardship upon them. And it must be remembered that nearly all of this money goes to the support of schools and for roads.

Another argument for it is that, if the individual states don't abolish the tax, the federal government will sooner or later. Some Texans have said they would prefer to attend to the job themselves.

But the objections to this amendment are many and serious.

Most people still would have to pay for the privilege of voting. They would pay at the time of registration instead of when they get their poll tax. It would involve more time, trouble and inconvenience to register than to get a poll tax receipt. And no one knows how high the registration fee eventually might be raised.

AT the present time, people over 60 and those suffering from certain disabilities are not required to pay a poll tax. They are given exemption certificates free. In most cases, one exemption certificate will be sufficient for a lifetime. They don't have to get a new one every year.

Under the amendment as proposed, these people would have to pay a registration fee; and they would have to register every year—a burden for elderly and handicapped people.

Party Affiliation Essential

Then, too, at the time of registration the individual would have to declare his political party affiliation. He would have to say whether he was a Democrat, Republican or what not, and he would be excluded from the primaries of any other party during the year.

This is widely regarded as a maneuver by the professional Democrat big shots to insure their continuance in power by reducing the possibility there might be a voter rebellion after registration time which might overthrow them.

This is a vicious amendment which would correct no evils; which would create the possibility of new ones; and which would make it more difficult, instead of less difficult, to qualify to vote.

NO. 5

An amendment authorizing the Legislature to pass laws for the creation and operation of city-county health units and to vote a tax in support thereof.

THIS amendment is closely related to No. 2, and the arguments for and against that proposition apply to this one. Cities and counties could pitch in together and, by a vote of the affected people, levy a

JACK TATUM SURRENDERS MEEKLY TO FBI AGENTS

Desperado, Unarmed And Broke, Is Captured At El Paso; Facing Return To Phoenix Jail

EL PASO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Jack Tatum, 28, wavy-haired desperado who dodged a storm of bullets and broke jail at Phoenix, Ariz., faced a trip back today to the same barred lodgings.

Unarmed and broke, he surrendered meekly late yesterday to FBI men who spotted him on a little-traveled downtown street.

Tatum and four other prisoners started the break in the Maricopa county jail early the morning of Oct. 22. Only Tatum finished it.

Two of his buddies, Charles Edward Corcoran, 33, and Edward McEwen, 32, died on a stairway. They were shot by a cripled watchman, Tom Stowe. The other two, Dinzel McDonald and John Bridges, staggered out of a cloud of tear gas with their hands up.

A shot from a pistol seized by the jail breakers pierced Deputy Sheriff O. Z. Alford's mouth in the melee.

The five men got loose in the five-story court house building by jumping Jailer W. A. Millett as he entered their top-floor cell with aspirin. They locked him up.

Tatum made it to the ground floor and slid out a window.

Then, he told FBI Agent D. K. Brown, he fled to a citrus grove near Phoenix and hid there four days, living off oranges and grape-

Bitterness In Ranks Noted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—A shake-up springing from the military row and aiming at harmony in the high command put Vice Admiral Forrest P. Sherman in as top officer of the navy today.

It was too early to tell whether the replacement by Sherman of the ousted Admiral Louis E. Denfeld would bring a smooth and easy teamwork to the top level job of working out the strategy for war.

It wasn't until late yesterday that the White House announced President Truman had tapped Sherman to become, at 53, the youngest chief of naval operations in history. And the formal commissioning was held over until today.

Expects No Difficulty

But Sherman was one of the original architects for the armed services unification plan. And he told reporters after his new appointment came through:

He still is 100 per cent for unification, expects no difficulty in getting along with other members of the policy-making join chiefs of staff and is "sure the navy will give me the support and loyalty they have given all my predecessors."

Yet within the navy and Congress there still is a certain bitter-

JOAN PROUTY

THE QUESTION
Do you think that women gossip more than men do?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. BERTHA STEADMAN, 1802 Ave. O, private nurse: "No I don't. Being a woman, I wouldn't think so. Men may gossip about the same things as women, but I think women are more vicious."

C. E. BOLTON, 2010 Eighteenth, telephone repeaterman: "I think women are much more vicious in their gossip than men are. Women seem to stress a point more than men do. A man will say what he has to say about a person to his face while a woman won't. A woman can find a remark about anyone—maybe good or maybe bad."

DOROTHEA ROBERTSON, 1924 Ave. O, secretary at Royal Finance Co.: "Yes, I think they gossip more. Living in a small town most of my life, I know what these women will do. They can just see someone walk by and they have a comment to make. I don't think men are vicious in their gossip."

H. D FRAME, 2803 Edna, central office repairman for Telephone Co.: "Sure, I'd say. I sit and listen to them gossip all day long, and they can think of more to gossip about. I don't think men are quite as bad."

BILL McKERLEY, 1810 Ave. V, radio dispatcher for Yellow Cab Co.: "I think it's according to where they are. There's really not too much difference. I think they both gossip to a certain extent."

MRS. DOROTHY NULTY, 2220 Twenty-eighth, waitress at Jack-O Lantern Cafe: "It's more or less according to what they're talking about. They could be talking about the same thing, and the women would probably be more vicious than the men."

Canada's Navy Brass Warned

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (AP) — Canada's naval officers have been told to lose their English accents and treat their enlisted men better.

A three-man commission investigating conditions aboard Canadian warships reported the Canadian officers need instruction "far more frequently and intensively" in how to be leaders.

The 27,000-word report, made public last night, has already gone to all ships and senior officers. Five thousand more copies are being printed for the enlisted men.

The investigators, headed by Canada's chief naval officer on the Atlantic coast, Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, said among enlisted personnel there was a broad demand for "Canadianization" of the naval force.

Two Different Types

Canadian officers trained by the British, the report explained, sometimes try to handle the local sailor like his British cousin. And Canada's gob, the report said, "is not the same kind of man" as the British tar.

At Halifax, one of Canada's leading seaports, navy officers and ratings agreed British-trained Canadian officers should drop their "phony English accents."

One rating put it this way:

"Joe Blow and I come from the same town in Saskatchewan. We're below decks for a couple of years together. Then he gets to be an officer. Before you know it, I can't understand what he's saying. In fact, he hardly knows me."

TO HONOR CLARK

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (AP)—A dinner planned for Dec. 30 by a group of Dallas civic leaders will honor Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark. A committee is to complete arrangements.

JUDGE DOUBLES SAM ENGEL'S BAIL

Lover Of A Thousand Women Faces Swindle Prison Term

CHICAGO, Nov. 2. (AP)—Sigmund (Sam) Engel, the self-styled lover of 1,001 women, and internationally known confidence man, was back in jail today. He faces a one to 10 year prison sentence for a love swindle.

Engel, 74, dapper and usually talkative, was silent after a criminal court jury yesterday convicted him of bilking a red-haired Chicago widow out of $8,700, after promising to marry her.

His accuser, Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39, fainted after the verdict came in.

Judge George M. Fisher doubled Engel's $7,500 bail, delayed sentencing, and set Nov. 9 for hearing on a motion for a new trial.

The sentence for operating a confidence game—the charge on which the jury of six women and six men convicted Engel—is one to 10 years.

Appeals Planned

His attorneys indicated they will appeal the verdict to the Illinois state supreme court.

A packed courtroom was prevented from surging to the front of the room as women bailiffs revived Mrs. Corrigan.

"I'm sorry to have caused all this bother," Mrs. Corrigan said.

"But that man's going to jail, where he should be, and I'm happy. I'm grateful to everybody."

It was only a few minutes later that Engel was in jail. Earlier he had predicted that he would be acquitted and that he never spend another day in jail.

The jury decided the case in one hour and seven minutes.

The white-haired, pint-sized Engel, police say, has a 50-year police record of swindling women in the United States and Europe, and has spent many years in prison.

Other Charges Made

He was released from jail about 10 days ago on $37,500 bond on the Corrigan charge and five others. He also is accused of swindling other women in other cities.

In addition to Mrs. Corrigan, four other women testified during Engel's six-day trial that he had wooed them and swindled them out of money or jewels.

One witness was Mrs. Pauline Langton, a New York widow and described by Engel as "my real wife." She was reunited with him after his recent release from jail.

She once said Engel swindled her of jewels she valued at $50,000 while he was being sought last June on the Corrigan charge.

Mrs. Langton, who said later her jewels were returned, said she would stay in Chicago until after next week's court hearing.

Police Baited Trap

Before she parted from Engel at the jail door, they embraced and kissed.

Mrs. Corrigan testified that Engel, posing as a wealthy movie producer, disappeared with her $8,700 on the eve of his proposed marriage last June.

He was seized in Chicago two weeks later in a woman-baited police trap. On the following day he returned $5,000 to Mrs. Corrigan.

Mrs. Corrigan was led from the courtroom because of her outburst of protests during yesterday's closing arguments by Engel's attorneys.

They had described her as chiefly interested in "an early, wealthy widowhood." Engel was a "boasting, bragging old man," they said.

State prosecutors pictured Mrs. Corrigan as a trusting widow who wanted only security. They termed Engel a swindler who "squeezed every cent he could get" out of her.

Suspect Eliminated In Holdup Shooting

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 2 (AP) — Police have eliminated from investigation of a filling station holdup slaying an itinerant worker now held in Seguin, Tex., County Attorney Daniel C. McDonald said last night.

Mitchell A. Berube, 50, was shot to death and robbed of about $109 in a North Deering gas station Oct. 19.

McDonald said police confirmed George A. Mills' story that he was in New Orleans, La., on that date.

Mills is being held in Texas on a charge of armed robbery there, McDonald said.

Mills claimed he was in Portland on Oct. 11, after working in Aroostock county as a potato picker, and went to Boston the next day. This, too, was confirmed, McDonald said.

Steel Walkout Hurts License Tag Output

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2 (AP)—The steel strike has hit Maryland motorists in the front and rear — where they display their license plates.

Arthur H. Brice, commissioner of motor vehicles, announced yesterday no new license plates will be issued next year. He said the strike has held up steel deliveries to the state penitentiary, where the plates are manufactured.

Only enough metal is on hand to make little tags which can be attached to the same old plates, and that's what will be issued to automobile owners in 1950, Brice added.

Solon Says Imports Hurting U. S. Oilmen

ABILENE, Nov. 2 (AP)—Rep. Ed Gossett says a steadily rising flood of foreign oil seriously threatens America's oil industry.

The Wichita Falls congressman spoke yesterday to directors of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners association at a meeting here.

Gossett said the State department is pursuing an oil import policy which "if long continued, will be seriously detrimental to the national welfare."

City Group To Take Park Reservations

Reservations for use of the Party House in Mackenzie State park during 1950 will be taken beginning Dec. 1, according to announcement Tuesday by the City Recreation department.

There are no open dates for the Party House between now and Jan. 1, 1950, the department said.

Recreation department officials have made the announcement concerning Dec. 1 as the date for taking reservations after numerous calls came into the department Tuesday from persons attempting to make 1950 reservations. The department said there apparently was an impression on the part of numbers of local residents that the department would begin taking reservations for next year on Tuesday, Nov. 1, and that as a result numerous inquiries and calls have been made.

Clubs Offered Old Dates

Clubs and organizations having used the building on a regular schedule during the past year will be given opportunity to use the same dates again in 1950, if not in excess of once per month, provided authorized representatives or heads of such organizations contact the City Recreation department.

Preference also will be given other organized groups in making reservations. Individuals will then be given any open dates remaining.

The building housing the barbecue pit at the Party House has been enclosed and is available for use by clubs and other groups. Reservations are being taken at the offices of the City Recreation department, located in City hall. A few open dates remain between the present time and the first of the year.

TITO EXPECTING A BETTER DEAL

Slavs Trading With West To Avoid Russian Exploitation

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 2. (AP)—Premier Mrshal Tito expects to get a better deal for Yugoslavia on the world trading markets as a result of his political split with Russia.

The communist leader in Belgrade has found that prices quoted by western capitalist countries are less than those he once paid to Russia and the Moscow satellites of eastern Europe.

The Yugoslav view as expressed in United Nations quarters is this: the west makes a deal, sets the price, and you pay it. It's been a different story. Moscow exploited Yugoslavia prior to the cominform split of June, 1948, and Tito got little in return.

That, as Yugoslavs here acknowledge, was an example of a new form of imperialism which the Soviet Union imposes on neighbor states.

Voted With Russia

When Yugoslavs here are asked whether they, as communists, anticipate any future difficulties as a result of trade pacts with the capitalist west, they reply: thus far the Americans and British have asked us to make no concessions. Until they do we shall have no hesitation about concluding commercial agreements with them.

They do not say, however, what Yugoslavia's attitude will be if the western powers should insist on certain political commitments from Tito in return for economic assistance.

At the Paris assembly session a year ago the Yugoslav delegation, although frozen out of consultations with the Soviet bloc countries, continued voting along with the Russians on all major issues. Their first breakaway from the Moscow line in U. N. debates came this fall.

Idea Now Independent

Yugoslavs here will tell you Tito has forsaken the idea of international communism. His communism now is independent, or nationalistic. It rejects the idea of an international communist force. They add that Tito's communism will succeed while the Moscow brand will fail, and they reason it this way:

Only those socialist movements which develop from within a country can be successful. The old comintern, through which Russia imposed her will on all foreign communist parties, was a failure. By the same token, the present-day cominform will fail.

To support their claim that the cominform already is failing, Yugoslavs here contend Tito's government is being considered in a more favorable light by peoples all over the world since the Belgrade regime fought off Moscow domination. They also contend that no matter what type of action the Kremlin might initiate against Tito, Russia never will be able to impose its will on Yugoslavia.

New Type Imperialism

Tito adherents, charging Russia exploited Yugoslavia before the cominform split 17 months ago, label such exploitation as a Kremlin policy which the common man of the world will categorically reject as a new type of imperialism—a Russian socialist imperialism.

Yugoslavs here also tell you Tito fully anticipates possible military action from outside Yugoslavia's borders.

They claim the attack, when and if it comes, will be in the form of organized guerrilla activity rather than a direct military assault by Russia or the armies of Tito's Moscow-led neighbor states.

These spokesmen say non-communists in Yugoslavia now are strongly behind Tito on the premise that if they must have communism they'll take their own brand, not somebody else's.

Son's Urge To Fly Gets Mother Hurt

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 (AP) Sometimes a kid's whim can give parents a big pain in the neck, as Mrs. Juanita Masters of Carrizo Springs can testify. Her little Jimmy, 6, just wanted to take an airplane ride.

Billy cried, Mrs. Masters said, so she stopped at the small airport they were passon a drive from here to Carrizo Springs.

Mrs. Masters, Billy, a nephew, Gary Ray Cox; Mrs. Pat Owens, and a pilot listed as Frang Rogers took off in a light plane.

The plane supttered as it left the ground, Mrs. Masters said. Less than a mile from the airport it ran out of gas and crashed into some mesquite trees.

Mrs. Masters was the only one hurt. She suffered a sprained back.

Lubbock Banks Buy Courthouse Bonds

The remaining $250,000 block of the $1,500,000 Lubbock county courthouse bond issue was purchased Tuesday in a joint action by the Lubbock National bank and the Citizen's National bank, county officials announced.

The bonds, earmarked for construction of another floor on the county jail building, are the first to be sold directly to local buyers, county Auditor J. W. Boyd said. The balance of the bonds, issued for construction of the main courthouse building between Main and Broadway on Texas, were handled by out-of-town brokerage houses.

By terms of Tuesday's sale, $89,000 in bonds will draw interest of 2 1/4 per cent for four years beginning Nov. 10, 1951, and 2 1/2 per cent thereafter until maturity in 1961. The balance of the bonds will draw a straight 2 1/2 per cent for the 10-year-period, Boyd said.

Two Fort Worth brokerage firms had entered bids for the bonds sold Tuesday, it was revealed. Interest on the bonds sold previously averaged slightly less than two per cent, Boyd said.

U. S. Power Rests With Women, He States

Writer Says Men Foolish For Opposing Female Presidents

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK.—There is a hubbub on the horizon over whether America should elect a lady president.

The mere suggestion of an elected female boss in the White House has stirred a lot of anguished male yawping, but a "Madam President" is as inevitable for the United States as the return of short skirts.

This is because power tends to move in a single direction, unless changed by rebellion or revolution. And for 100 years real power in this country has moved steadily from men to women—in every field. This trend could be reversed only by a mass male revolt — and today there isn't enough insurrection of this kind left in American men to quell a girls' basketball team from Guatemala.

Gallup Poll Cited

Today women own most of America, and therefore it is high time they took over the responsibility of running it. They have ducked their duty long enough.

It is for that reason that this poor man's philosopher pledges himself to cast a ballot for the first lady to head a national major party ticket. Be she Democrat or Republican, she gets my vote—and as many more as I can stuff in the box.

A recent Gallup poll showed public sentiment has changed sharply on the question. It found 48 per cent of the voters were willing to support a qualified lady presidential candidate, whereas in 1937 only 33 per cent would pledge themselves to such a precedent-shattering step.

Men are fools to oppose the idea of a woman president. Instead of opposing it, they should demand it. Once and for all it would end the feminine delusion that the mess the world's in is strictly man-made. Let's dwell a while in a political stew stirred by the dainty hand of woman.

I wouldn't mind if my own wife were the first winning candidate. This is not so much because I could latch on to part of her $100,000 salary—or that she would have $50,000 a year in tax-free pin money.

No, it's because of this possibility: When an acquaintance said, "Who was that lady I saw you out with last night?" I could reply:

"That wasn't no lady—that was your president!"

Texas Oil Suit Verdict Given

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (AP)—A verdict for the plaintiffs in an 18-year-old lawsuit involving more than $1,000,000 was returned yesterday by a district court jury.

Attorneys had built up such a stock of papers they had to be carried into the courtroom in steamer trunks and were cross-indexed for reference.

The jury, after hearing six weeks of testimony, had to answer 63 questions. The answers favored H. C. Mauldin, who had brought suit against the American Liberty Pipeline Co. and 25 other defendants.

Mauldin was represented in the hearing by his adopted son, Ben Mauldin, and Mrs. Suda Mauldin.

The case involved a quantity of East Texas oil in which the Mauldins claimed an interest. Production of four wells in Gregg county was impounded in 1931, pending a decision in suit. Oil and property are now worth over $1,000,000.

Judge Dick Dixon said formal judgment will not be entered for several days. He said attorneys first must file motions for judgment, and may argue the case.

Firm Offers Coal To Keep Schools Going

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 2 (AP) — A strike-bound steel company today offered to supply coal to keep Joliet's 17 public schools open.

The schools, short on coal because of the United Mine Workers strike, were scheduled to close Friday, giving 5,000 pupils an enforced vacation.

CHICAGOAN CAUGHT IN EL PASO

Spending Spree Results In Break In Counterfeit Case

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — A taste for good clothes and a need for a tie clasp led a 23-year-old Ohioan and his companion to jail where they were unable to meet their bonds today as material witnesses in a counterfeiting case.

After Stanley Vaughn Nogal, Hubbard, O., and Ray Conrad, 24, Tampa, Fla., were arraigned yesterday in U. S. Commissioners court, Secret Service Agent Forrest Sorrels declared, "It's one of the most fantastic stories I've ever heard involving counterfeit money."

He said Nogal and Conrad, hitchhiking last Friday at Texarkana, Ark., were offered a ride by a Chicago pool hall operator who said he was going to El Paso, Tex.

Money Is Found

Riding in the back seat by himself, Nogal said he found $2,000 in $10 and $20 bills in the man's suitcase. He said he pocketed the money, which proved to be counterfeit, and he and Conrad left the Chicagoan in Dallas.

Nogal told Conrad to wait at a bus station for him but didn't inform his friend of his new-found wealth. He embarked on a spending spree, buying a $140 suit and accessories and renting a suite at a downtown hotel.

Man Is Arrested

Then, he said, he returned to a shop and offered a $20 bill from his remaining sum of $1,800 for a tie pin. The clerk became suspicious and summoned officers who arrested Nogal.

Conrad was picked up by officers at the bus station, still unaware of his companion's actions.

He told the Secret Service that the Chicagoan said he expected to be in El Paso last Saturday. El Paso agents arrested the man as he was starting his return trip to Chicago Saturday afternoon.

In his possession was $4,000 in genuine money, $60 in counterfeit bills and a small amount of marijuana. He was held today at El Paso as authorities prepared charges against him.

Nogal was jailed under $1,500 bond, Conrad under $500 bond.

Video Programs Lack Good Music, Famous Composer Contends

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—Composer - conductor Sigmund Romberg contends there is no good music on television programs, despite a popular demand for the classics.

"It is almost unbelievable that television has no music," he said. "You just see girls jumping up and down."

Romberg 61, composer of many operettas and conductor of his own orchestra, is observing his 40th year in music. He said he is not in a mood to celebrate the occasion, however, because he can't watch and hear a symphony program on TV.

There have been only one or two experimental concerts on video, he said, and no such program has been planned for the fall. Radio stations still present the classics, he added, but unless TV starts presenting them too, a lot of people just will listen to phonograph records of their own choosing instead of buying TV sets.

Technical Obstacles

Romberg said technical obstacles had to be surmounted before music no longer will be "television's fifth wheel." The Federal Communicattions Commission has ruled, he explained, that cameras must move throughout all programs.

The variety of action which can be shown during a symphony concert is limited to flashes of the conductor, the musicians and the audience, which isn't considered sufficient.

"The FCC probably is right," Romberg added. "Something should be shown to enhance your liking of the music. Television needs someone who loves music sincerely."

Planning Needed

Perhaps, he suggested, the printed score could be shown as the orchestra plays and an arrow pointed at the passage. Or comments on the music could be printed and the audience could read and learn while it listens, he said.

Right now the problem is not too acute, Romberg added, because television is not yet on a nationwide basis, but the industry should plan ahead for that time.

"People certainly must like music" he added. "But how long will people go on, switching their television sets from vaudeville to variety to vaudeville to a comedian to a trained dog? What will happen to the education of children?

"They have got to find a way to bring good music on, or both music and television will be retarded."

Recording Weddings Is Not Easy Work

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 2 (AP) —Art Foy figures wedding pictures are o.k. as far as they go, but they don't go far enough. So he has gone into the business of recording the words and music of the rites on a tape recorder. He calls them "portraits in sound". Sometimes, of course, there are difficulties.

"Once," he says, "I had the mikes in place, the music started and the bride came down the aisle. It was a perfect ceremony until a barking dog interrupted the soloist. Then an airplane buzzed the church and a fire siren drowned out the couple in the midst of their vows."

Israel is subsidizing wheat growing.

IT'S NOT UNFAIR, IT JUST SMELLS—If these pickets outside a varnish factory in Los Angeles win their battle it will be by a nose. Their complaint is that "this joint stinks." The teamsters' union members donned gas masks and took up picket signs to demand that the smog control board "do something" about the stench created by the plant.

Lubbock Roofers Go Back To Jobs Today

Lubbock roofers who walked off their jobs Friday in a protest walkout when their demand for a wage boost was turned down, returned to work today.

The announcement was made Tuesday night by C. J. Lightholder, business manager for the Building Construction and Trades council there, shortly after a meeting of Roofer's union members Tuesday night.

Lightholder said the roofers had voted to accept an agreement between union leaders and roofing contractors which was negotiated in a special meeting earlier in the day.

The agreement calls for a 12½-cent per hour wage boost for journeymen roofers, with a proportionate raise for apprentices, effective Dec. 2. The salary increase will give the journeymen a wage of $1.75 per hour.

Rollin Smith, International Roofer's association representative from Fort Worth, participated in the negotiations. He arrived by plane Tuesday morning, and was scheduled to return to Fort Worth today.

New Yorker Traveled 1,240 Miles To Work

FRANKFORT, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP) Joseph Camarata has traveled about 1,160,000 miles in the last 18 years between his job in Indiana and his home here.

Camarata retired last week after 32 years with the New York Central railroad. He started "commuting" in 1931 when the railroad moved its Frankfort foundry, near Utica, to Elkhart, Ind., a disance of 620 miles.

He didn't want to give up his job as a molder's helper nor did he want to move his family. So he made the round trip of 1,240 miles every weekend.

Philippine City Is Damaged By Typhoon

MANILA, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Red Cross reported today 60 per cent of the homes in Cebu City, with a population of 140,000, were damaged or destroyed today by a typhoon with winds up to 100 miles an hour.

There were two known deaths. Damage was estimated unofficially at above $10,000,000.

Harris County Chest Drive Sadly Lagging

HOUSTON, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—A last minute drive by all hands will be needed to push Harris county's $2,045,606 community chest goal over the top, the campaign chairman said today.

Jolley said contributions still were $774,723 short. The deadline, originally set for today, has been moved back to Friday.

Air Force Reserve Meeting Thursday

Air Force Reserve members of the 9172nd VART group will attend a semi-monthly meeting at 7 p. m. Thursday in building X-9 in the Tech military science area, Lt. Colonel Harlan A. Hodges, group commander has announced.

Two 12th Air Force officers, Major Lester Weaver and Capt. James Ackley, will be on the program and will answer questions concerning any individual's status.

The group includes members of the 9827th VART (Voluntary Air Training) squadron and the 9828th squadron and A, B, and C flights of each squadron. All reservists of these units, both officers and enlisted men, are urged to attend these meetings, the group commander emphasized. Forty-six new men were present at the last session.

Members will be given every opportunity to make up the year's required number of points to maintain reserve status.

Huge Kent Estate Is Sold For $113,000

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2 (AP)—The 12-acre hilltop estate of the late Atwater Kent, scene of Hollywood's most lavish party giving, went at auction for $113,000—a fraction of what it cost the pioneer radio set maker.

Milton Wershow, an auctioneer and friend of Kent, bought the estate and its furnishings yesterday. Excluded in the purchase price was the fabulous art collection, silver and bric-a-brac. These go on sale today.

Cyanide Ruled Cause Of Salesman's Death

HOUSTON, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—A 40-year-old salesman swallowed cyanide in his hotel room here and died from the effects, a coroner has ruled.

The body of Lee R. Bart was found yesterday by police after a maid tried to enter the room but found the door barred.

Justice W. C. Ragan said Bart died sometime Monday from potassium cyanide poisoning.

A note near the body said, "I alone am responsible."

Strangulation Death Of Girl Is Accident

COMMERCE, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — The death of little Susie Sweat, 11, today was adjudged as accidental by Justice of the Peace N. C. Anders.

An autopsy failed to reveal any signs of foul play and Judge Anders ruled the death by strangulation as accidental.

It was believed the child used a screen to climb to a small opening above the door of an abandoned smokehouse yesterday. She poked her head in the opening and when the screen collapsed under her weight she was unable to move.

Couple Questioned In Sadistic Murder Of 58-Year-Old Woman

CASPER, Wyo., Nov. 2 (INS) — A Mills, Wyo., couple was being questioned by Casper detectives today in connection with the death of a 58-year-old Mills woman.

Police identified the dead woman as Miss Pearl Lewis.

Her half-nude body was found early Tuesday near Casper's Garfield school by a group of children who were walking to school. The children thought the body was a "Hallowe'en dummy" at first, but called police shortly after discovering it.

Disturbance Reported

Authorities arrested Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brumbly of Mills, for investigation.

Police said sheriff's officers had been called to the Brumbly apartment by Miss Lewis, who told them the Brumblys apparently were having a "drunken brawl" next door to her apartment. She had placed the first call to police at approximately 10:30 p. m. Monday.

The victim called police a second time — at 1 a. m. Tuesday to complain of the "noise and profanity," at the party.

Casper detectives said they had found a blood-stained blanket and other evidence in Brumbly's apartment, but added Brumbly had not admitted the crime.

Beaten Badly

The woman had been so violently beaten about the head and body, that positive identification was established only by the aid of Miss Lewis' sister, Mrs. Lewis Bell, of Mills, and by an old operation scar.

Criminal laboratory technicians were checking blood stains, tire tracks near the school and a clutch of hair which Miss Lewis had in her hand when found.

Brumbly is an employe of the Fred M. Manning Drilling Co.

Area Couple Lose Race With Stork

This is a story of the race with the stork. And this time the stork won.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Carey, who reside in the Gordon community some 14 miles south of Slaton, last Thursday morning were racing to a Lubbock hospital where by prearranged plans Mrs. Carey was to have her baby.

Sir Stork had a different idea, however, and Mrs. Carey gave birth to Alvin Wayne, a plump 7 pound 12 ounce boy, even before the couple had reached Slaton.

Mother and son were taken on to Mercy hospital in Slaton, and were released Monday. Both were reported "doing fine."

THE CHAPEL YOUTH BUILT—Ten years old Tuesday, the Little Chapel-in-the-Woods at Texas State College for Women has been the scene of 691 weddings, a number of baptisms, and weekly interdenominational worship services. Built primarily as a place of individual prayer and meditation, the Chapel is constructed of native limestone. Art work, including the stained glass windows, was done by more than 500 TSCW students. From its plain Celtic cross to its multi-colored stained glass windows, the Chapel is not only of the twentieth century but of the Texas landscape. It was the first true stone masonry building of any moment to be built in Texas since 1870.

Plans For New Music Building Presented

Preliminary sketches for a new music building on the Texas Technological college campus were presented Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president, Tuesday afternoon.

Prepared by Russell Hedrick, college architect, the plans show a one-story structure with basement. Cost of the proposed building has not been relested. The Board of Directors is expected to take action on the music building at a meeting here next month, when they will consider several building projects.

As drawn by Hedrick, the music building would contain four faculty offices, a large choir practice room and a band room, three library rooms, and 19 individual practice rooms. Architecture would be of the same Spanish type as other buildings on the Tech campus.

Russell Hedrick is the brother of Wyatt Hedrick, who has been architect on several Tech buildings.

Two Men Victims Of Asphyxiation In Car

OZONA, Nov. 2. (AP)—Officers found two men dead in a tightly closed car beside the highway near here yesterday.

They were identified as Robert Larry Bennett, about 50, of San Angelo, and Ferris E. James, who had been working at San Angelo but whose parents live at Florence, Texas.

Justice of the Peace Bill Donhigan returned an inquest verdict of death by carbon monoxide asphyxiation.

Donhigan and Sheriff V. O. Earnest said the men apparently went to sleep after parking the car and leaving the motor running.

Saar Gets 2,500,000 Tons Of French Ore

SAARBRUECKEN, Nov. 2 (AP) —Nearly 2,500,000 tons of iron-ore, representing more than nine per cent of Fance's annual production, was sent to the Saar (which is economically united with France) during 1948.

According to the yearly report of the French iron-ore syndicate, total production of the French mines in 1948 was 25.2 million tons, showing a sharp recovery from the post-war low of 5.3 million tons to which it had fallen in 1945. Even so, 1948 production was only about half of that chalked up for 1929 (48 million tons).

New machinery of American and French origin is being used to boost production further and the amount of available labor has been increased as result of the unions in Eastern France withdrawing their objection to the men working more than 40-hour week. Many now work 48 hours.

TEXAS TECH'S decision to expand its graduate school and grant doctors degrees is as great a step forward, academically, as acceptance into the Southwest conference would be athletically, And, after all, the academic side of an educational institution is important, even though a great many people lose sight of that fact when the stands yell rah-rah-rah.

On the day that Texas Tech grants its first doctorate, that day the college will have grown to full stature; that day it will have fulfilled its mission as a major educational institution of the highest rank.

As pointed out by Dr. Edward N. Jones, Tech's vice president, expansion of the graduate school means more than granting degrees of doctor of philosophy. The step means, too, an academic reawakening and improvement all along the line.

Decision of Texas Tech to confer doctorates is pleasing to a great many people, but naturally will be more pleasing to Dr. Robert Cabaniss Goodwin and Dr. William Curry Holden than to anyone else. Doctor Holden is currently dean of the Graduate division and Doctor Goodwin, now Liberal arts dean, earlier was dean of the Graduate division. These two men have worked long, and hard to build the Graduate division.

That they also have worked well is attested to by the expansion.

YOUNG men and young women of Texas Technological college —in fact, young men and young women everywhere in the U.S.— will do well to ponder the results of recent poll by Dr. George Gallup and associates. The poll was based on the question: "Will you tell me what you consider to be the biggest mistake of your life thus far?"

Throughout the nation, more people—men and women alike—said their mistake of not securing enough education was, and remains, their biggest error. The answer was given by 20 per cent of the women and 23 per cent of the men— which would figure, of course, 21.5 per cent of all persons regardless of sex.

That is amazing, especially when compared with runners-up in the mistake derby.

In second place with the men was the mistake of choosing the wrong career—with 11 per cent calling that their gravest error. In second place with the women was a mistake relating to marriage—given by 13 per cent as their gravest error.

For as long as most of us can remember, we have been told of the value of education.

But we haven't paid too much attention to the advice —especially during the years when we were supposed to be giving our major thought to becoming educated.

However, the testimony as gathered by Gallup & Co. came from men and women past the school age; from men and women who have finally learned, the hard way, that getting an education should be the individual's No. 1 concern, especially during his formative years.

When more people call failure to secure sufficient education a greater mistake than choice of a career, choice of a life partner, failure to seize opportunities when presented —and all the other mistakes and failures the human being is subject to making—then even the dullest individual begins to understand the value of learning.

That's why we say that all young people should ponder results of the Gallup poll—and then do whatever is necessary to keep them from saying, 10 or 20 years hence, that their biggest mistake was failure to get sufficient education to keep up with the world.

R. L. WILLIS, salesman for a Lubbock wholesale grocery house, lodges with us a complaint about the difficulties confronting the citizen who seeks to mail a letter at the postoffice and can't find a parking space anywhere nearby. The complaint is not a new one. We've heard it many times before. But in addition to calling attention to an unsatisfactory condition, Mr. Willis suggests a cure. And a cure for an ailment of any kind always is worth consideration.

Mr. Willis suggests a "drive-in" mailbox on the corner of Broadway and Ave G—in other words, a mailbox set on the corner so a driver could stop momentarily, drop his letter in the slot, and then go on his way. He says Austin has a setup like that and it works fine.

He points out that there is a box, located west of the postoffice on Broadway, just where the east driveway off Avenue H cuts north through the courthouse square. He says there's always room for a guy to park there momentarily, mail his letter and then get back in his car and drive off. Mr. Howard says it's all but impossible to arrange a "drive-in" box, because such a box is so exposed that motorists are always busting into it with the fenders and bumpers.

Mr. Howard thinks traffic is so thick at Broadway and G that a box located on that corner would stack traffic up no end. However, he says he's for anything that will help solve the parking problem in the vicinity of the postoffice—including more effort on the part of the police to enforce the regulations. Mr. Howard says if I can figure anyway to make a "drive-in" box work, he'll go for the idea.

BY DREW PEARSON: U. S. NAVY HAS BEEN BUILDING UP TO BIG LET DOWN FOR 50 YEARS

Admirals Have Long Resented Any Interference

WASHINGTON—To understand why Secretary of the Navy Matthews had to discipline Adm. Louis Denfeld—who this column has consistently praised — you have to understand what has gone on in the navy for a long period of time.

PEARSON

Over the 50-year period beginning with Teddy Roosevelt, the admirals have led almost a charmed life. They had behind them the personal glamour and publicity that radiated from those two dynamic presidents—Teddy and FDR—plus the secret but powerful support of Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse Electric and other big corporations whose business flourished from building battleships.

The only two presidents who bucked the navy in that period—Coolidge and Hoover—faced an admirals' revolt not unlike that of today, aided and abetted by the big steel and ship-building companies.

Greatest heydey of the admirals came under Franklin Roosevelt. They have never got over this, and Secretary Matthews is reaping the consequences.

FDR appointed as his secretary of the navy Claude Swanson, a delightful and aging ex-senator from Virginia who knew little about the navy. Swanson died in office after letting Roosevelt and the admirals run the show. His successor was Charles Edison, son of the late great inventor, Thomas A. Edison.

Edison Knew The Navy

The new secretary had operated a big industrial firm, understood construction technicalities, and immediately got in the armirals' hair.

By this time, FDR had diverted a good many hundreds of millions from public works administration funds to build warships. And, although Congress howled, this was probably a good thing—in view of impending war. Certainly it would have been a good thing if the admirals had not insisted on building so many battleships but had built a few more escort vessels and antisubmarine craft.

This was where Secretary Edison and the top navy brass had their first big clash. Edison went out to Pearl Harbor and dared to criticize. He told the admirals that duty at Pearl Harbor did not mean spending all the time on the beach at Waikiki, and that the first thing they had to do was get their fuel-oil tanks underground. He reminded them that Pearl Harbor might be attacked and these tanks made beautiful targets.

Even more important, Edison told the admirals to clear off the superstructures of their battleships. The next war, he said, would be an air war; and battleships would have to fire straight up in the air, not broadside. Therefore, they couldn't be in the position of firing at their own crow's nests. The superstructures would have to come down.

ABOUT THIS time, Edison also caught the admirals lousing up the new destroyers built with PWA funds. He found that out of 28 new destroyers, 20 were so top-heavy that extra weight had to be added to the keels to keep them from turning turtle in the water. In addition, the deck plates on three destroyers buckled in only a "moderately rolling sea." Furthermore, because the navy still insisted on using rivets, millions of defective rivets had to be replaced.

Edison not only discovered these facts but also learned that three of the private shipyards building the destroyers feared the center of gravity was too high and warned the admirals in advance. They even offered to submit the center-of-gravity test to Gibbs and Cox, expert ship-design agents. But the admirals refused.

Secretary Edison also discovered that these errors were chiefly due to the fact that the chief of naval construction, Adm. William G. DuBose, was at loggersheads with Adm. Harold G. Bowen, the chief of naval engineering. So he shifted them both.

Edison Eased Out

By this time the top brass who had been running the navy department in the past were really seething. And they took their complaint to their best friend—Franklin D. Roosevelt, who, ever since he had been assistant secretary of the navy, believed the admirals could do no wrong.

So FDR called in Charley Edison, told him the Democratic party needed a good man to run for governor of New Jersey and that he, Edison, was just the man. Furthermore, Roosevelt said he needed a Republican in the cabinet to further his bipartisan war policy.

That was how Edison got out of the admirals' hair to become governor of New Jersey, and how Frank Knox, former G.O.P. candidate for vice president, became secretary of the navy.

FRANK KNOX was an easygoing ex-newspaper publisher who loved the navy, enjoyed the polish and precision of things nautical, but who also was dead serious about his contribution toward winning the war.

At first Knox and the admirals got along beautifully. The new secretary didn't know too much about the navy, let the admirals have free rein. But gradually, as Knox began to learn what it was al about, he began to realize that it was Franklin D. Roosevelt and the admirals who really ran things.

Adm. Ernest King, then chief of naval operations, did not hesitate to go over Knox's head to reverse his civilian chief.

Finally, Knox found that a wing of the navy department had been roped off, with a marine sentry at the door from which all civilians, including himself, were barred. This was where all war orders and naval strategy were drafted.

Knox, a good sport, used to complain half humorously to his friends about the fact that he couldn't walk into all parts of the navy department. But he never rowed publicly with either the admirals or FDR. However, when, still in office, he died, he knew he was no more secretary of the navy in actual fact than had been Claude Swanson, who died in office before him.

Easier To Hook A Ride On Slow-Moving Cars

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

THEIR MARRIAGE has lasted more than 25 years. Now the wife finds out that her husband is seeing another woman on his regular business trips to another city.

MILLETT

Her pride may tell her to threaten to leave him and show him that he can't treat her like that and get away with it.

But if she'll listen to her head she'll get better advice.

Her head will say: "I've put 25 years into this marriage, why should I pull out of it now and turn over my long-term investment to another woman?"

Her head will say: "Pride is a fine thing and the young may be able to afford it. But what is it going to get me, except the momentary satisfaction of making a fine, dramatic gesture?"

WHY GIVE UP NOW?

HER HEAD will ask the question: "Just what will the years from now on out be like if I give up the security and companionship of marriage and the place in the community it offers me?"

Her head will say: "Surely a marriage that has been mostly good for a quarter of a century can't be entirely ruined, even if right now it seems to be."

There's no time in a marriage when it is as important for a woman to kepe her head as when her husband has lost his.

And the longer the marriage has lasted the greater the woman's investment in it—and, therefore, the more important it is for her to use her head when it is threatened.

The woman who remembers that can figure out a way to handle almost any marriage problem. The danger is in listening to pride rather than to hard, common sense.

Flattering Stories On South Will Cut Incomes Of Writers

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—A most unusual thing has happened in the field of journalism, an event so staggering as almost to defy belief. Life magazine last week ran an article which portrayed the South in a flattering light.

RUARK

It is well known in journalistic and political and literary circles that an easy road to riches is to holler in print or on the platform that below the Mason-Dixon there dwells a race of subhumans who either wear pantalettes and flog slaves or else eat clay and lynch negroes for fun. Oh, sing a song of sorghum, pockets full of pickaninnies. Yas suh, marse cap'n cuhnel massa boss, suh.

I have done my share of kidding the South, but mostly it was fairly gentle, as befits a native son who has run off north to live with the carpetbaggers. But never did I make a career of projecting it as 100 per cent Tobacco Road or "Streetcar Named Desire." At a very early age I recognized that some people did not plant cotton, some negroes went unhung, and some white folk did not belong to the Ku Klux Klan.

Conceptions Are Blasted

Even when I was a bit of a boy we did not subsist wholly on cowpeas and shortnin' bread, nor did grandpa spend his nights tinkling a banjo in the moonlight. What grandpa did was sit in his room, chew tobacco, drink corn whisky and play hell out of a fiddle. I suppose this made heretics of us all, and certainly spoiled me for a future writing career dealing with popular conceptions of my native heath.

Life's point, illustrated by Margaret Bourke - White's camera, is that the land of the sandspur has come a fur piece industrially, economically, and socially. This could be a delayed revenge by Miss Bourke-White, whose former husband, Erskine Caldwell, wrote the Jeeter Lester brand of literature which became so popular.

When Marse Henry Wallace was playing Abraham Lincoln down in Alabam' last year, and collecting eggs for a shoddy performance as emancipator, it occurred to me that the South might possibly be interested in emancipating itself. It is silly to be emancipated by a man who, like Henry, promises to give you two bales of cotton to the acre if elected. At least, it's silly to promise it in a neighborhood which is already averaging three.

WHEN you read of the riots in Detroit and walk through the hate-filled streets of Harlem and see the conditions under which negroes live in this citadel of cultural tolerance, I sometimes wonder if the emancipating ain't going on in the wrong neighborhood. Certainly some sections of the South have made vast strides in the betterment of both its white and negro living, which should cause Vito Marcantonio to ship his latest slave-load of Puerto Ricans down to Bumminham, Ala., for enlightenment in democracy.

I shudder when I think of what this onward-and-upward operation down in Dixie is going to do to the careers of Messrs. William Faulkner, Caldwell, and Tennessee Williams. Mr. Faulkner has been writing the seamier side for years, and Caldwell has been doing the same piece for at least 20. Mr. Williams' theme is that everybody except Polish imports is corroded by time and bitten by decadence, and it's a shame to jar him loose from his psychopathic little Evas.

Will Cut Incomes

This also will grievously cut into the incomes of white gentlemen who put end-man burnt cork on their faces and head South in search of a lynching party, in order to write inside pieces on what it feels like to be a negro. It will be pure misery on the touring politicos who seek to buy northern votes by stumping the South and sneering at the locals for publication.

I expect, finally, that Life has done us a disservice in printing its revelation, and we better go back to the mocking birds and the magnolia school of thought, with sowbelly on the side and a hooded mask under every white pillow. Yes, suh, son, mah old daddy rode and fit with Wade Hampton and ah'd shoot a Yankee quicker'n ah'd stomp a snake.

WHO'S PAYING THE FREIGHT?

The reasons stated by some of the Lubbock plumbers and plumbing contractors for opposing a new plumbing code now in process of enactment by the City commission are not convincing.

They are objecting particularly to portions of the new code which would authorize the use of copper fittings in certain types of installations, contending the metal would be hazardous to health.

But there is one fact to remember in considering the proposed code: It does not require anyone to use copper. It merely allows the fellow who pays for his plumbing a wider choice in selecting the metal he prefers. He could order copper installations if he wished. He has no such choice under the existing code.

The new code does not tell anyone that he must use copper, or any other metal, for any particular installations. It does tell him that he can use it, if he wishes. It is difficult to see how anyone can justify opposition to a code which allows the man who pays for the job a broader choice in choosing materials to be used.

National Fraternity Chapter Will Be Established At Tech

Gamma chapter of Pi Epsilon Tau, national honorary petroleum engineering fraternity, will be established at Texas Tech within the near future Paul S. Johnston, faculty sponsor, announced Tuesday.

Established at the University of Oklahoma in 1947, Pi Epsilon Tau was given a national ranking last fall with the addition of a chapter at Tulsa university. Johnston was one of the leaders in establishing the fraternity while a student at Oklahoma and was its first president.

Members of Pi Epsilon Tau are students within the upper 25 per cent of the senior class in petroleum engineering and the upper 17 per cent of the juniors. Bill Killingsworth, Dumas, is the Tech chapter president.

Tech could be the third college to be admitted into the fraternity, although both Louisiana State and the University of California have made formal applications for membership.

Formal initiation of the chapter will take place at a time to be announced later, according to Killingsworth. An initiation team from Oklahoma University will come to Lubbock for the ceremonies.

There are 32 members in the Tech petitioning chapter, but honorary members from the leading oilmen of this area will be added to that number, according to Johnston. Pledges of the fraternity are referred to as "Roustabouts" and must wear tin hats with a derrick painted on one side and their name and "Roustabout" on the other.

The fraternity pin is an oil derrick superimposed over a triangle.

Other members of the Tech chapter include H. E. Bean, Robert J. Boren, Aubrey Brooks, Wesley Buice, John E. Bunch, Roy Butler, Jack Burke, Riley Carlton, Robert Cope as executive vice-president, Cleo Dunlap, Edgar Gossett, Billy Griffin, Tom P. Hart, J. B. Henry, J. D. Horne, Harold Inman, Walter C. Kennedy, Billy C. Key, Don Losher, Doyle W. McClennen as secretary-treasurer, Willis Phillips, Mark Poulain, Tom J. Ross, Charles Sanders, Royce Schneider, George Self, Edward Sessions, R. E. Statton, Matthew E. Sweeney, Bill Tibbets, and J. Spencer Winn.

Finally, he caught a freight train to Tucson, Ariz., and lived four days in a hobo jungle. He arrived in El Paso early last Sunday on a bus from Tucson.

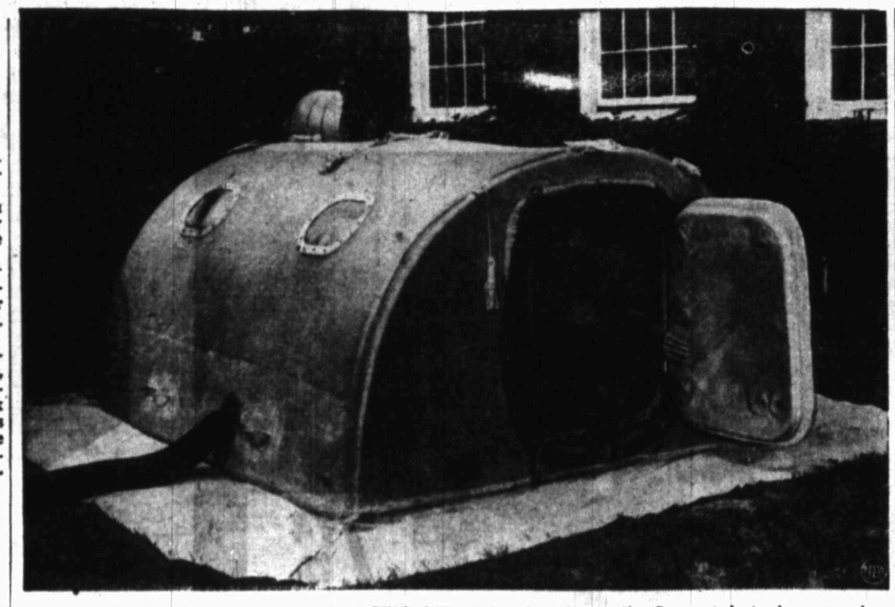

Tatum said he registered in a small hotel as Joe Parker. Yesterday, with only 20 cents left in his pocket, he was walking on the nearly deserted street, which runs close to railroad tracks, trying to figure a way to get to Tulsa.

The FBI agents—unidentified by their office—spotted him from his description: tall, slender, wavy brown hair, borwn eyes, thick lips. On his arms they found the decisive marks: a tattooed pirate girl in shorts and a scar.

Brown said Tatum would be returned to Phoenix today after arraignment at 9 a. m. (MST) before U. S. Commissioner Henry C. Clifton.

Tatum broke out of the Douglas county jail at Minden, Nev., where he was held on a grand larceny charge, on Aug. 13. He was recaptured at Florence Junction, Ariz., Sept. 20 and jailed at Phoenix.

He is one of three brother-badmen. Frank Tatum is in the California penitentiary, Joe in the Arizona pen.

DREAM HOUSE FOR STRANDED ARCTIC AIRMEN—The pneumatic Quonset hut above, made of cotton fabric coated with a low-temperature neoprene compound to withstand extreme cold, is expected to help save the lives of airmen forced down in the Arctic. The hut is draftproof, snow-proof, waterproof, compact and easy to carry. It houses four men comfortably and can withstand 100-mile-an-hour glales. It is bright orange in color, making it easy to spot from the air. A 10-foot-long air duct on the sidewall and a four-foot canvas, igloo-like entrance keep out icy blasts, but allow for ventilation. The quaint Quonset was developed by the Air Material Command and U. S. Rubber Corp. at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O.

ness over the ousting of Denfeld and over the way the whole defense set up is working.

Denfeld was given the boot after summing up navy complaints when the House armed services committee gave them an airing. The navy, he said, doesn't have a "full partnership" in defense planning.

Others On His Side

And before the denials were recorded by Secretary of Defense Johnson and the top men of the army and air force, other top admirals stood up and were counted on Denfeld's side.

Now Sherman is vaulting over the heads of all of them, and over some vice admirals with longer service. Sherman told a news conference yesterday he was making the jump under orders. To do so, he gave up the command of the sixth task fleet in the Mediterranean.

"I didn't seek this appointment," he said. "I have been happy while I was at sea.

"I have been assigned to this duty and feel sure the navy will give me the support and loyalty they have given all my predecessors."

Met With Truman

The conference was held in the Pentagon suite of Secretary of the Navy Matthews. The two had just come from a meeting with President Truman at the White House.

All day long around the Pentagon there had been an air of mystery.

Matthews wasn't available. Sherman flew in from Europe, stopped short in Baltimore and drove on to Washington.

Sherman was dropped off a block from Matthews' hotel. He and the secretary hustled secretly to the White House and saw the President for half an hour. And just as the navy finally got around to ending some of the hush-hush, the White House came through with the announcement of Sherman's new job.

There wasn't any special reason for all the secrecy, Matthews said, except to "expedite and facilitate" things and "bring this matter to a conclusion."

As for Denfeld, there had been no clear indication whether he would retire or take a new assignment. Matthews has offered him a new job.

tax up to 20 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation to create and support health units.

The argument for it is that it would mean better health protection. The chief argument against it is a question as to its necessity and the fact that the authortiy to levy new taxes is the temptation to levy them.

It is a matter of opinion as to which is best. From this viewpoint, it looks all right. But those who vote for, or against, No. 3 should vote the same way on No. 5. They go together and, in the opinion of many legislators, should have been submitted as one amendment.

Kissed Daughter Goodbye And Dashed Out

Police Seeking Prisoner Who Fled From Pennsylvania Jail

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—State police today hunted a 26-year-old prisoner who fled through the front door of the Clinton county jail after kissing his four-year-old daughter goodbye in the corridor.

Sheriff George A. Hickoff said he was standing near Robert Hamm, Lock Haven, last night as the prisoner was saying goodbye to his wife, two-month old son and the daughter.

"Suddenly he darted out the front door and made off down a side alley," Hickoff said. "I've been ill the past few days and couldn't catch him."

Convicted Of Auto Theft

"I have always taken the human viewpoint when it comes to prisoners, so I was giving Hamm an opportunity to say goodbye to his family. He stooped down to kiss the little girl and then suddenly darted out the door."

Mrs. Hamm, holding the baby, shouted after her husband, "Don't do it."

Turning to the sheriff she screamed "Call the Police. Catch him. It will only mean a longer term."

Hickoff said Hamm was last seen running along a railroad track. The prisoner was to begin an 18 month-to-three year sentence today in the Pittsburgh institution for sealing an automobile.

Three-Time Escapee Captured By Guards

ANGLETON, Tex., Nov. 2 (AP)—Roy Lee Auten was in close custody at Retrieve prison farm today, thinking over what went wrong in his third escape from prison in six years.

He escaped the Oklahoma state penitentiary at McAlester in 1943. Last year he got away from the Harris county jail at Houston while awaiting trial on robbery charges.

He was missing yesterday from the Retrieve cotton detail when guards made a noon check. Nine hours later the 33-year-old Oklahoman was found cowering in a thicket scarcely three miles from the farm.

Dallas Alters Ballot Method

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—Beginning with the 1951 municipal elections, Dallasites will elect a mayor of their own choice rather than have the city council elect one of its own members to the post.

In a special election attracting more than the usual off-season interest yesterday, Dallas citizens voted 7,626 to 6,216 for a proposal to permit them to vote for one of the council candidates for the mayor's job as well as voting on the council.

The proposition, calling for a city charter amendment, was hotly contested and all but one member of the present council expressed opposition to the change.

Wishes Ignored

The issue arose after the present council, ignoring its supporting organization's generally understood wishes that councilman J. B. Adoue, jr., be named mayor, voted to name Wallace H. Savage to the post.

But, today, six members of the council—including one who voted for Adoue previously—said they did not regard the election as a mandate to replace Savage with Adoue.

Another controversial issue, that of increasing the city's bonded debt limit from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000, also carried—8,739 to 4,102.

Three other propositions embodying minor changes in the city charter also carried by similar margins.

Contract For Paving Program Is Let Here

Contract for paving of streets in the Highland Place addition, where 123 duplexes will be built for rent, was awarded to Kerr and Middleton, Lubbock contractors, on a bid of $38,846.77, it was announced Tuesday afternoon.

Lubbock Engineering company was engineer for the project. Sewer, water and drainage will be provided by the city.

The paving includes 1.55 miles of paving, 13,290 linear feet of curb and gutter, 37,260 gallons of quadruple asphaltic surfacing, 6,030 cubic yards of caliche base and 24,127.5 square yards of shaping and compact flexible base.

San Antonio Factory Is Damaged By Blaze

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—A fire spread through Wheatley's mayonnaise factory and warehouse in downtown San Antonio last night, causing damages amounting to $25,000, police said today.

Firemen coped with the blaze about 30 minutes while several hundred spectators watched.

Police said the major part of the damage was to mayonnaise and spaghetti jars.

Dropped Knife Leads Police To Robbers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — Two youths displayed a pistol and a hunting knife and robbed Charles Gregg of $7. Fleeing, they dropped their weapons. Police found the pistol was a toy. On the knife's leather sheath they observed blurred writing. Infrared light disclosed this as a name and address.

Checking the address, they learned the person named had not lived there for seven years. Eventually locating him, a 14-year-old boy, they were told he had sold the knife two weeks earlier. Finally officers located the home of the youth who had bought the knife. He and a pal turned out to be the robbers.

Tech Students To Leave Friday For Dallas Baptist Convention.

Nearly 100 Tech students will leave Friday morning for Dallas to attend the Texas Baptist Student convention.

Late Tuesday 97 students had registered, and registrations for the convention were still being received, Ardelle Hallock, Tech Baptist student secretary, reported.

Theme of the convention is "Because Christ Loved." Speakers from throughout the Southern Baptist convention will be present for the gathering which will meet in the auditorium of the First Baptist church in Dallas.

Physicist To Speak

Among the speakers will be Dr. Raymond J. Seeger, nuclear physicist who worked in making the atomic bomb. He will give the principal address Saturday morning.

The keynote message of the opening session Friday night will be given by Jack Robinson, former Baylor university basketball player and a member of the 1949 championship Olympic basketball team. He is president of the Texas Baptist Student union and a student at Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary in Fort Worth.

Jan Berry, Tech junior from Lamesa, will assist in presiding at the Friday night session.

Other Speakers Named

Other speakers on the convention program include Dr. J. Howard Williams, Texas Baptist convention secretary; Dr. Hugh A. Brimm of the Southern Baptist inter-racial commission and Charles Wellborn, Southwestern seminary student.

Also on program are six choirs, from Baylor, Southwestern seminary, Hardin-Simmons university, Wayland college, East Texas Baptist college, and a negro choir from the Phillis Wheatley High school in Houston.

Dick Baker of Baylor university will direct song services at the convention.

To Convene Seminars

Gordon Mays and George Morris, Tech students, will convene seminars at the convention.

Among those directing seminar discussions will be Dr. Roy Crouch, professor of psychology at the University of Houston, Dr. Seeger, Dr. R. Lofton Hudson, psychiatrist of Shawnee, Okla., and members of the faculties of Southwestern seminary and Southern seminary in Louisville, Ky.

Sunday morning the group will attend regular church services at the First Baptist church in Dallas, when Dr. W. A. Criswell, pastor, will speak.

The Tech group leaves at 6 a. m. Friday on two chartered motor coaches and in automobiles. The group will return Sunday afternoon. While in Dallas the group will stay at the Adolphus and Travis hotels.

Austin Man May Get City Manager's Post

DALLAS, Nov. 2. (AP)—The Dallas city council, looking for a successor to City Manager Roderic B. Thomas, interviewed Guiton Morgan of Austin.

Morgan is a native of Dallas who has been city manager at Austin since 1933. He was the first candidate for the job here to be interviewed by the council.

"I appreciate the fact the Dallas city councilmen invited me to talk with them," Morgan said after the interview yesterday. "I am not sure they are interested in me, and I am not sure yet that I would want to come to Dallas."

Mayor Wallace Savage of Dallas said "no commitments have been made and the matter of selection of a city manager is under consideration." Thomas has resigned to go into private business.

Dallas Clubwomen Hit Indecency On State Fair Midway

DALLAS, Nov. 2 (AP) — Those scantily clad girls on the state fair midway—well! And, my dear, what those barkers said was a caution!

In effect, that's what members of the Dallas Federation of Women's clubs said yesterday.

They protested the scantily clad performers and what they called suggestive talk of the midway barkers.

They voted to have a committee write Mayor Wallace Savage and other city council members about it. The members want the city's public amusements committee to preview any state fair show and see that it's not objectionable.

The fair ended its 1949 run Oct. 23.

Legionnaires Asking Repeal Of Poll Tax

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (U.P.) — Texas Legionnaires today backed a "repeal the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting" movement for the Nov. 8 election.

State Commander Joe Spurlock of Fort Worth said a campaign to get out the vote was being directed by chairmen in each of the 31 state senatorial districts.

COURAGEOUS SCOUT—Scout Don Lee, 18, who has had no legs since he was nine months old, beams with pride as his foster mother pins an Eagle Scout badge on his chest. The Salt Lake City youth, who lost both legs in an accident 17 years ago, completed all the tough physical requirements for the badge, including a 14-mile hike. Don is saving his money for the trip to the next Scout jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa.

Community Chest In Dallas Passes Goal

DALLAS, Nov. 2. (U.P.)—The Dallas county community chest announced today it had collected $94,073 in excess of its 1949 goal of $1,407,810.

Ben H. Wooten, campaign chairman, said that $1,501,883 had been contributed by workers in all walks of life in Dallas county.

He said the Dallas unit had taken in 107 per cent of quota and that it apparently was the largest excess subscription in the nation in the million dollar class.

The campaign ended in Dallas county at noon yesterday, seven days ahead of schedule.

Orangutan Survives Cleansing Powder

BROOKFIELD, Ill., Nov. 2 (AP)—A two-year-old orangutang at the Brookfield Zoo survived a night of freedom to eat all she wanted.

Tia, the ape, sat on a long director's table eating a banana when Director Robert Bean entered the room the next morning. It, as well as his office, was a mess. Ink spotted a rug. Paper littered the floor and drawers were pulled from a desk. The icebox was raided.

Hea menu had consisted of five bananas, a half dozen chocolate bars, and several apples. She topped it off with a double helping of cleansing powder. She even downed a powerful emetic administered by Bean. Tia didn't even burp.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple, it's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Mrs. M. C. Britton, 306 W. Wildwood, San Antonio, Texas, writes us as follows: "I am a faithful user of Barcentrate. I had dieted for weeks without your product and needed so badly to lose 10 pounds, so I started using Barcentrate and my worry was over for I lost the 10 pounds in 10 days. I now weigh 135 pounds.

"I eat most anything I want and hold my same weight."

Houston Officials Still Hope For Agreement In Bus Dispute

HOUSTON, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—Optimism flowed from all corners today despite failure of tense negotiations to settle a threatened city-wide bus strike at midnight tonight.

The walkout of 1,190 CIO drivers and mechanics would hamstring Houston industry and commerce, and would force 300,000 daily bus passengers to use private transportation.

The union employes voted to strike last Friday, after demanding contract concessions including a 30-cent hourly wage boost.

The Houston Transit Co. agreed to a 10-cent raise, but said even that was contingent upon hiking bus fares.

Federal Labor Conciliator James O. Hubbard had no comment concerning previous negotiations. He said he would meet with labor and management up to the midnight deadline.

Hopes For Settlement

"I am hopeful that a settlement can be reached," he stated.

Meantime, Mayor Oscar Holcombe planned to intervene if no agreement was forthcoming by noon today. He did not say just what form the intervention would take, but ruled out his personal arbitration of the deadlock.

The mayor said Carl Frazer, transit company president, had voiced optimism for a setlement, and that the outlook was not hopeless.

The bus company has no plans for serving the city if the strike is called. Inexperienced drivers cannot be used, Frazer pointed out, because they would not be familiar with the routes.

Invalid's Problems Eased By Utilitable

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 2 (U.P.) — When Daniel C. Robbins was confined to bed for several months he had trouble reaching all the things he wanted.

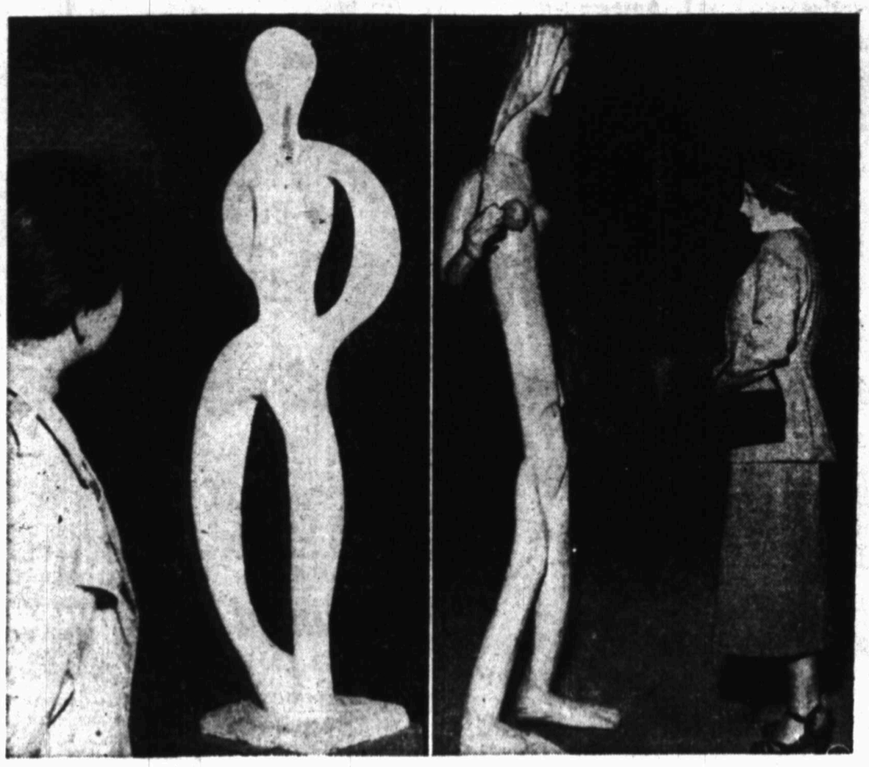

So Robbins designed what he calls the "utilitable."

It is a handsome, sturdy piece of furniture which acts as a table and will raise to fit any hospital bed, and lower to any couch. All three of its handy shelves can be used at the same time and the top, equipped with a mirror for shaving or primping, tilts to any angle. The unit can be dismantled in a minute, folded and packed in a case.

Italians Need Home For Coin Collection

ROME, Nov. 2 (AP) — The Italian Ministry of Education has inherited one of the world's most valuable collections of coins. But says it cannot find a home for it. It is the 120,000-piece collection of the late King Victor Emmanuel III, who left it behind when he abdicated in 1944. He began collecting coins when he was a boy, and became a leading authority on numismatics.

Right now it is closed up in 28 steel cabinets and 12 cases in the cellars of the Quirinale, Former royal palace and home of the Popes which is now occupied by the president of Italy.

Professors Devise Test For Children With Voice Defects

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—Tulane University psychologists have devised a picture vocabulary to test the measure of intelligence of children who are vocally or muscularly handicapped.

The test is simple and requires only 10 or 15 minutes. It is believed to be the only test that will determine reliably the learning capacity of all children, except the deaf and blind.

Dr. Robert Ammons, assistant professor of psychology at Tulane, and his wife, a candidate for a doctor's degree in clinical psychology, devised the test. It will determine the capacity of a two-year-old child or a mentally superior adult.

Matches Words

The test is composed of 16 plates, each with four line drawings, picturing a wide variety of subject matter. The child or adult being tested need only to indicate in some way which of the drawings best illustrates a given word.

A child with a speech impediment, for example, may point to the right picture-answer. If a child has trouble pointing, he may nod, wink his eye, grunt or indicate in some other way.

Words on a card are read until three are passed consecutively or failed, and until all 16 plates have been covered. Questions are scaled accordingly.

Checks Against Norm

Thus a child might respond to a picture of a head-on collision when he heard the word "accident." An adult might respond to the word "negligence." Similarly, a child would indicate the picture of another child in tears at the word "crying." An adult might respond to the word "lacrymation."

Test scores are determined by a master "norm key." The passes from all cards are totalled and the equivalent mental age is read from the list of norms based on 589 representative testing cases, ranging in age from two years to adult.

Dr. Ammons said 29 would be a normal grade for a child of seven. The perfect score for an adult would be 85, which would occur with one adult out of 200 or 300.

Last Young Escapee Caught In Arizona

FLORENCE, Ariz., Nov. 2 (U.P.)—Dan Robertson, 19, the last of six young escapees from a state prison annex, was recaptured last night by a 60-man posse.

The six men fled Sunday from a rehabilitation camp for first offenders here, and all were taken into custody without a struggle by prison guards, sheriff's deputies and highway patrolmen. The youths were convicted burglars.

Apple Chips May Hit Market, Expert Says

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 2 (AP) —Apple chips may some day hit the market in plastic bags.

Food expert Dr. W. V. Cruess of the University of California says the lowly dried apple ring can be glamorized if the apple is cut into shoestring stripes before dehydration. That way, he says, it looks better, sooks more quickly, and makes a fine apple pie or sauce.

The munching possibility of apple chips opens up a new field for selling apples, he hopes.

Club At Tech Hears Lubbock Attorney

Casey Charness, Lubbock attorney, made a "big hit" with members of Cosmopolitan club when he spoke at a meeting at Texas Technological college Tuesday night, members reported today.

The club members, foreign students at the college, heard Charness welcome each of them in their own language. Charness extended greetings in Spanish, Greek, Arabic and other languages.

Thirty-five members, including students from Spain, Portugal, Hawaii, Arabia, Greece, Lebanon, Belgian Congo, Palestine, Burma, Panama, China, India and other countries, were present, said Guillermo Perrera of Venezuela, the club's social program director.

Charness conducted a question and answer forum, answering questions about international law, life in Texas, political philosophy and other topics.

The members voted to ask Mr. and Mrs. Charness to be chaperones at the club's dance early in December.

Amendment Is Backed By Hygiene Council

The executive council of the Lubbock County Mental Hygiene society will meet at 7:30 p. m. today in the study of Dr. Travis White in the First Christian church.

The group will make plans for the coming year's work and for a campaign supporting the proposed Texas constitutional amendment that would make it possible for a person to enter mental hospitals without jury trial.

Plans for the Nov. 15 meeting of the society also will be made. Dr. D. M. Wiggins is scheduled to speak at that meeting.

Jamaica streets are too narrow for United States-built buses, so British models are being bought.

French Harbor Pilot On Forced U. S. Trip

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—A Le Havre harbor pilot was seeing the sights of New York City today because of rough weather in his home harbor.

Jean Rolland, 58, takes the big liners in and out through the familiar waters of the French port.

When the liner Caronia sailed from Le Havre, he prepared to leave her five miles out at sea and go back home.

But the seas were so heavy he couldn't launch his small boat.

So he came along to New York on the Caronia, which arrived last night.

He will go back with her later today.

Hunter Bags Rabbit But Wounds Brother

INDIANA, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP) — William Clawson, 26, fired at a rabbit and bagged the animal with one shot. The same charge wounded his Brother Merle, 25.

Some of the pellets from Clawson's 12-gauge shotgun bounced off a rock and hit Merle in both legs. The freak accident happened yesterday as the small game season opened in Pennsylvania.

Old-Style Religion Sweeping "Un-Godliest City In West"

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2. (AP) — Old-style religion is sweeping the city of the Angels with an evangelistic show overshadowing even Billy Sunday.

Since it started six weeks ago, more than 200,000 from the city's 2,000,000 population have filed into a circus ten on the fringe of down town Los Angeles, and they're still pouring in at the rate of 10,000 every night.

They come to hear the preachments of a dynamic, handsome young college president named Billy Graham. Churchmen say he's started the greatest religious revival in the history of southern California.

Crooner Converted

Graham's oratory is eloquent; his doctrines are home-spun. From the singing, shouting multitudes, thousands have hit the sawdust trail and announced publicly their decision to return to Christ.

One of them was a brilliant track star at the University of Southern California before the war. His name is Lou Zamperini. An air force captain, he crashed in the Pacific, spent 47 days on a raft, then lived through months in a Japanese prison camp.

"It is difficult for anyone who came through the things I did to forget God, but I did," Zamperini testified.

Another convert is Stuart Hamblen, popular cowboy crooner and sportsman, son of a Methodist minister. He stepped to the pulpit to announce that he'll sell his racing stable.

"I will keep El Lobo, but only for sentimental reasons," Hamblen said. "I will never race him again." El Lobo, dubbed "The People's Choice," won the $50,000 San Antonio stakes at Santa Anita in 1947.

Nephew Of Senator

Hamblen's sentiments are typical: "I've done practically everything everybody else has done. I've been a sinner."

Graham is 30, nephew of North Carolina's Senator Frank Graham and president of little Northwestern College in Indianapolis. He wears garish ties, argyle socks and an irresistible grin. He has tourned this country and England, once drew 75,000 to Soldier Field, Chicago. He plans to visit Boston next, but isn't sure when his mission here will be completed.

He says his greatest response has been here—in a city sometimes called the most unGodly west of the Hudson. To bring them down the aisle, he mixes sermons with stories of salvation from misery, misfortune and sorrow by those who have reaffirmed their faith in Jesus.

One is a businessman who, through irreligious habits lost his family, his self-respect and his standing in the community. He was beaten.

He was led to a small tent, where an attendant said:

"We will have someone assist you in prayer."

The someone was the wife he hadn't seen since their divorce 10 years before. They plan to remarry soon.

Last Aztec Ruler Is Found Entombed In Mexican Vault

IXCATEOPAN, Mexico, Nov. 2 (U.P.)—Archaeologists have discovered the remains of Cuauhtemoc, the last emperor of the Aztecs, under the Church of Nuestra Senora Santa Maria de la Asuncion here.

Cuauhtemoc, hanged by the Spaniards in 1525, ruled the Aztecs for a brief period after Hernan Cortes arrived here in 1519. He succeeded Moctezuma (Montezuma), the Aztec emperor Cortes defeated to conquer New Spain.

Cuauhtemoc had lain in the tiny vault under the main altar of the Church of Our Lady, Holy Mary of the Assumption, for more than four centuries.

Indians Rescue Body

The Indians, however, rescued it, after almost two weeks on the gallows, and secretly reburied their emperor here. Most Spanish historians thought Cuauhtemoc's body was in the southeastern part of the country. They had not even been able to make up their minds as to whether it was in Campeche, Tabasco or Chiapas states.

Buried here probably in 1529 by the ancestors of Salvador Rodriguez Juarez, whose family has lived here at least since early in the 16th century, the location of the final resting place of the Aztec emperor never might have been known outside of the Juarez family had not old Salvador gone to the village priest with his secret.

He learned it only about six years ago when Micaela Laguna de Arroyo, dying of old age, confided it to him. Early this year, Salvador went to Father David Salgado Estrada, pastor of the village church. Father Estrada advised Salvador to tell it to the whole world.

Called Authentic

At first the report was greeted with incredulity but when Salvador produced centuries-old manuscripts written by Father Motolinia, one of the first and greatest Mexican historians, 20th century scientists flocked to Ixcateopan.

They examined the manuscripts and pronounced them authentic. At length, "it being the 27th day of September of 1949, at 13 hours and 50 minutes, (the remains) of Rey E. S. Coatemo II (King and Lord Cuauhtemoc) were found here."

Numerous Mexican archaeologists, most prominent of whom is Eulalia Guzman, have pronounced the remains genuine.

Before the find is officially recognized, nowever, a group of scientists appointed by the government will have to pass on it.

RUBBING IT IN

CHICAGO.(U.P.)—Gilbert Marino has a low opinion of burglars who broke into his tavern. After stealing $125 in cash, four cases of whiskey and the cash register, the burglars heaved a brick through a front plate glass window.

Man's Wife Goes To Classes For Him So He Can Work On A Master's Degree

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Lee Nelson Hon has a honey of a wife.

She's going to college classes and taking notes for him so he can get a master's degree.

Hon, an assistant program director at a Chicago radio station, is working for a degree in international relations at the University of Chicago.

But he's too busy working during hours when classes are held. So with university approval, Mrs. Marjorie Hon does this:

She goes to hour-long lectures three times a week, toting a 15 pound recording machine. She puts a microphone on the teacher's desk and flips a switch.

Hon says the machine gives him a record of the lecture and of student discussion that helps him more than hastily scribbled notes would.

Raw Meat Keeps Cat Active For 20 Years

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—(AP)—Is your cat listless, grouchy, bored with life? If so, you might try on your kitty the diet Daniel A. Sattler feeds his pet. Sattler's cat joined his family as a kitten. That was 20 years ago. And she has amazed the family by remaining frisky despite her old age.

The venerable feline, a centenariian by human standards, "never comes into the house," Satler says. "She's restless, almost wild. Spends most of her time roaming the neighborhood looking for excitement." Sattler thinks maybe the rugged diet she gets might explain her spryness and longevity. He feeds her regularly: raw beef, raw fish, raw liver, cottage cheese and occasionally floats an egg or two in her milk bowl.
