Fifty Seconds Before Impact

This is how the moon looked as photographed today by camera in Ranger 9—50 seconds and 90 miles before impact. Photo was taken from NBC television screen in New York studio. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Ranger 9 Televises Live Show Of Moon

Craft Then Crashes Into Lunar Crater

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ranger 9 televised live today a dramatic sequence of more than 200 close-ups of the moon as it dove to its death in a lunar crater.

The beautifully illuminated series began by showing three craters in sharp detail from 1,300 miles up, and finished by displaying tiny pock marks on the floor of the crater Alphonsus from but a few miles away.

The live television, relayed to home viewers by commercial TV networks, was a first for the series, which now has three straight successes in returning close shots of the little known lunar surface.

FLASHED ON

The pictures were flashed on the screen for five seconds each for more than 15 minutes preceding Ranger's 8:08 a.m., Big Spring time impact, just four miles from its target in the 60-mile-wide Alphonsus.

FIRST SHOT

The first shot showed crater Albategnius at the top of the screen, with Alphonsus at the lower left and the smaller Ptolemaeus at lower right.

As Ranger 9 plunged moonward, the two other craters disappeared and the camera zeroed in on Alphonsus. Clearly visible was the 3,000-foot peak in the crater's center — almost dwarfed by the steep walls, 10,000 feet high.

Perhaps the most interesting feature was a large crack, or rill, across Alphonsus' floor.

One of the goals in aiming at a crater — the two previous successful Rangers photographed broad plains — was to try to learn if there is volcanic activity on the moon.

There was no immediate indication whether the crack could have been caused volcanically.

AIM STRAIGHT

In a first for the series, Ranger 9 was ordered to make a terminal maneuver about an hour before impact to aim its cameras straight into the crater.

Without the maneuver, consisting of firing small jets to twist the craft around slightly, the cameras would have been pointed to the right of the target.

The shots were made by one of the craft's six cameras as it traveled at about 6,000 miles per hour toward the lunar surface.

Airport Fuss Draws Rebuke In Legislature

AUSTIN (AP) — Fort Worth officials met stiff questioning from an El Paso representative today over the proposed North Central Texas airport authority.

Mayor Bayard Friedman and City Attorney S. G. Johndroe Jr. of Fort Worth appeared before the House Committee on Counties in support of Rep. Tommy Shannon's bill spelling out the proposed board's duties and powers.

ON CALENDAR

A state constitutional amendment is required, however, before any legislation dealing with the authority can become effective. A constitutional amendment permitting two or more counties to join together in such an authority is on the Senate calendar, but Dallas Sen. George Parkhouse says he will try to exempt Dallas and Rockwall counties from the amendment.

Fort Worth and Dallas are embroiled in a squabble over designation of a regional airport serving Dallas and Tarrant counties.

SOLON PROTESTS

"I can't see why if you can't agree among yourselves, why you have to bring this to the legislature," said Rep. Dudley Mann of El Paso.

Friedman said the purpose of the bill is to create a taxing authority to operate all the airports in Tarrant County, including one at Arlington, Greater Southwest International Airport and several others.

"We are not injecting the legislature into any squabble that may exist at the present ime," Friedman said. "The matter of this authority was conceived before this fight with Dallas ever started."

If both the constitutional amendment and the airport bill go on the books, Tarrant County property taxpaying voters could vote on creation of the authority. Any city or county adjoining the authority could join it if local taxpaying voters approved.

Eubank Given Time To Prepare Case

Jack Eubank, 42, fugitive from New Mexico State Penitentiary since 1957, has been granted to April 12 to prepare and file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which possibly could save him from being surrendered to New Mexico authorities.

A request for extradition from the governor of New Mexico has been granted by Gov. John Connally of Texas. The order to surrender the prisoner to the New Mexico officers has been received by Sheriff A. N. Standard.

Standard, in accordance with the law, notified Eubank of the development and then took him before Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, Wednesday morning. Eubank, asked if he wanted an attorney, said that he did, but that he could not pay one. The court then appointed Lanny Hamby to represent the fugitive.

Hamby consulted with his client and requested time for the preparation of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Caton, pointing to a provision of the state law dealing with fugitives, granted the request and gave Eubank until 2 p.m. April 12, to file the petition.

At that time a hearing will be held and should the court feel that Eubank has established a reasonable cause why he should not be returned to the New Mexico prison, the court could grant the writ which would set aside the extradition order. If the case is ruled inadequate by the court, the petition would be denied and Eubank would be surrendered to New Mexico authorities.

EXTRADITION ORDER DELAYED

Meantime, since he is under a conviction for murder and facing a life term, no bond can be set in his case. He has been returned to his cell in the county jail where he has been held since March 5.

Eubank, who has lived in Big Spring for seven years, walked away from the Los Lunas Prison farm near Albuquerque, N. M., in 1957.

He was a carpenter when he was convicted of killing a man in Carlsbad, N. M., and he followed the same work in the prison. When he reached Big Spring, he changed his name to Bob Johnson, and has been working as a carpenter since.

A tip to New Mexico authorities from an unknown source told them that Bob Johnson of Big Spring was, in reality, Jack Eubank, a fugitive from their prison. The New Mexico officers notified Sheriff Aubrey Standard and on the night of March 6, he and two deputies went to the apartment where "Bob Johnson" lived. They told him their errand and he surrendered without protest. He admitted that he was the Eubank wanted, but said he would not waive extradition.

Sheriff Standard notified the Santa Fe authorities. Gov. Campbell of New Mexico filed a formal request with Gov. Connally of Texas to extradite the prisoner. Today's hearing was the next step in the proceedings.

Hamby said he would go over the details of the case against his client, and determine what to lay before the court in the petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Dust, Erosion Loss Persists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wind erosion and at times dust storms continue to damage more farmland in the Great Plains.

The Agriculture Department reports 50 per cent more land was damaged from Nov. 1, 1964, to March 1, 1965, than in the like period last year. The acreage damaged this season was reported at 3,142,000, compared with 2,097,000 a year earlier.

Winds are blamed for destroying thousands of acres of fall-sown winter wheat for this year's harvest. Losses have been heaviest in Texas—1,864,000 acres, compared with only 157,670 a year ago.

Washington Awaits Pair

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will greet Gemini astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young Friday in a White House ceremony to be followed by a motorcade to the Capitol.

Capitol officials have been alerted to the possibility of a joint session of Congress to greet the astronauts, but sources said there has been no final decision.

Vast New Health Care Bill Heads For Vote In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unprecedented package of health benefits and pension increases for the aged, sanctioned by the approval of the House Ways and Means Committee and welcomed by President Johnson, headed today for an early vote in the House.

The committee, altered by Democratic gains in last year's election, cleared Tuesday a $6-billion measure containing Johnson's plan for hospitalization paid for by a payroll tax—and much more:

Hospitalization for all over 65; an optional contributory plan to help pay other health expenses; liberalization of the state-federal system of health care of the indigent and low-income groups; an across-the-board 7 per cent increase in old age payments under Social Security.

In a statement released by the White House Tuesday night, the President hailed the health bill approved by the House committee as "a tremendous step forward for all of our senior citizens." He called it a financially sound bill, and one which will benefit the entire nation.

"It is my hope that many Republicans will join with the Democrats in voting for this very fine bill," he said.

The committee set a meeting today for final formalities and leaders planned to bring the measure to the floor by the first week of April, at the latest.

STIFF SS HIKE

The financing involves a stiff rise in the payroll tax levied for Social Security. Next year's maximum payment by an employe would be up $69.60 from this year's with more to come.

Also, in the first full year of operation, there would be a $1-billion dip into the general Treasury.

THREE SECTIONS

The health benefits of the bill fall into three main sections.

First is a basic hospitalization protection — 60 days per illness plus 20 days in a nursing home for recuperation, or longer in the nursing home if the hospital benefit is not all used. All those over 65 would be eligible, whether or not retired or in need. Each patient would pay the first $40. The plan would go into effect July 1, 1966.

Next there would be a program for which the aged could sign up if they wished. It would cost $3 a month in premiums, and the patient would pay the first $50. Doctors' visits, X-ray and laboratory fees and a variety of other health expenses — but not medicines prescribed for home use — would be covered. The effective date would be the same.

For those cared for by welfare programs and by the existing Kerr-Mills Act for aid to persons so close to the poverty level that medical bills would ruin them, there also would be help. The federal government, which now contributes 50 to 80 per cent of the cost of existing programs in various states, would step up its contributions to 55 to 83 per cent. Eligibility would be eased, especially by substituting a flexible income test for the general means tests now in use in some states.

Marchers Near Alabama Capital; Ranks To Grow

LOWNDESBORO, Ala. (AP) — Civil rights marchers were up early today and began the final major leg of their 50-mile right to vote march from Selma to Montgomery.

The marchers resumed at 7 a.m. National Guard troops assigned to guard them checked out a concrete bridge just off the campsite. Two-man squads were spaced out about every 200 yards for three miles.

The marchers were up about an hour earlier than usual, hoping to cover 14 miles which would put them inside the Montgomery city limits. Their breakfast consisted of oatmeal, toast and coffee.

RANKS TO GROW

Their ranks were expected to increase as they reach the four-lane section of the highway.

There was a warm spring sun in contrast to Tuesday's soaking rain.

The marchers planned to camp tonight in the yard of a Roman Catholic school six miles from the white-domed Alabama Capitol, the goal of their protest march which began last Sunday.

ALL THE WAY

At the head of the column were the Rev. Andrew Young of Atlanta, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; James Orange of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, Atlanta; and Jim Leather, a one-legged white man from Saginaw, Mich., who says he is going all the way with the troup.

Thousands began the 50-mile trek at Selma Sunday on a four-lane portion of busy U.S. 80. The number was cut to 300 on the two-lane sections at the order of U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. who directed the march take place.

SOGGY KNOLL

The 300 spent the night under tents on a soggy knoll near this town in the black belt, a section of rich, black soil.

The sleeping area was covered with freshly cut hay, but much of the field was a quagmire after Tuesday's rains. Dotting the campsite were little mounds of dirt that looked like small graves. On each was a sign with the word "segregation."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leader of the Alabama civil rights drive, left the march to attend a dinner in Cleveland, Ohio, honoring him as the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner.

He planned to rejoin the marchers today.

Snow Flurries Hit Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Flurries of snow and temperatures down to 19 degrees chilled the Texas Panhandle this morning.

At Brownsville, more than 800 miles distant on the southern tip of the state, skies were clear and the temperature started edging back up after hitting a low of 68.

In between a cold front which knifed into Texas on icy winds Tuesday lay nearly stalled along a line from a little south of Lufkin and San Antonio to slightly north of Del Rio.

The mercury dipped to 19 as very light snow fell at Amarillo and Dalhart before daylight.

Winds calmed to around 12 miles per hour, however, in the Panhandle, and it stayed considerably warmer than the 8-degree lows predicted 24 hours earlier.

Most sections of the state were cloudy and it was drizzly in parts of South Central Texas, including Lufkin and College Station.

Space Heroes, Feeling Fine, Get Ready For Big Quizzing

(AP)—Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young, evidently none the worse for a ride through space in an orbit-shifting capsule, woke up refreshed today after a night of sound sleep.

"They look fine and feel fine," said a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration aboard this aircraft carrier which was the landing target of the spacemen after Tuesday's 81,000-mile, three-orbit flight around the world.

Dr. Harold Minners, one of the astronauts' physicians, said there would be no more blood tests, an indication that first tests showed no adverse effects on the blood from space radiation. If they had, more tests would have been required.

Grissom slept from 9:39 p.m. until 6:49 a.m. and Young from 11 p.m. until 6:30 a.m. Then they settled down to the important business of filling in the experts on precisely what happened during their space journey.

RETURN THURSDAY

They are scheduled to return Thursday to Cape Kennedy, Fla., from where a Titan 2 launched their Molly Brown spacecraft into orbit Tuesday and to hold a press conference at 7 p.m.

Grissom was the first on deck this morning. He quickly disappeared into the ship's hospital quarters for his final tilt-table tests to check heartbeat and blood pressure effects.

Young went in later, and then the two breakfasted on apple juice, eggs, sausage, toast, milk and coffee.

Their technical debriefing was to last all day. They will speak to the Intrepid's crewmen on the hangar deck at 6 p.m.

FIRST TEAM

Grissom and Young were the first U.S. astronauts to fly as a team, and they were the first of any nation to maneuver a spacecraft.

Each - flight provides innumerable valuable clues on how to improve the next performance. Today medical and space officials pumped the astronauts steadily for reactions that will eventually aid in hitting Project Gemini's main target: the landing of a man on the moon.

One big question: Why did the astronauts fall short of the carrier Intrepid by from 50 to 60 nautical miles? Space officials puzzled over this Tuesday, and wound up saying they just didn't know.

MIGHTY SUCCESS

Everyone, from President Johnson down, seemed to think Tuesday's flight was a powerful success. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and a large contingent of congressmen were at Cape Kennedy to offer congratulations.

Johnson got the astronauts on the telephone shortly after they were picked up and brought to this carrier.

Speaking from the White House, Johnson said he had followed every moment of the flight.

"We're very proud of you," the President said, "and very grateful for your safe return."

"It was a thrilling and wonderful flight," Grissom said.

"WAS WONDERFUL"

"It was a wonderful flight," Young told the President. "It didn't last long enough."

Grissom told a space official, "I'll be ready to take GT4."

GT4 is the next scheduled flight, a four-day trip this summer with astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White in the capsule. During this flight McDivitt will open the capsule hatch and peer into space.

For the record, Grissom, 38, an Air Force major, and Young, 34, Navy lieutenant commander, traveled 81,000 miles in 4 hours, 54 minutes.

They came down in the Atlantic Ocean at 1:18 p.m., Big Spring time, and bobbed in their capsule — nicknamed the Molly Brown — for 45 minutes before helicopters picked them up.

Heads Brewers

Glenn T. Smith, plant general manager of Falstaff Brewing Corporation's Galveston plant, has been elected president of the Texas Brewers' Institute. He was named at the organization's recent annual meeting held in Austin. Smith, 47, has been with Falstaff at Galveston since 1961, and has held various offices in the Texas Brewers' Institute. He is a director of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and recently was named "man of the month" by that organization. He is active in many civic affairs in Galveston.

Coverage Of Space Flight Handled Well

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It is one of the ironies of the space age that the greatest apparent discomfort suffered by those associated with the magnificent exploit of the Molly Brown and her pilots Tuesday was the painful sunburn suffered by NBC's field reporter, Merrill Mueller, under the hot Cape Kennedy sun.

From early morning until astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young were welcomed aboard the carrier Intrepid, the three major networks' news staffs did a smooth and well-organized job of covering with cameras everything that was visible and of demonstrating by mock-ups, graphics and interviews the things that were not.

SLIGHT CONFUSION

The only point when things became slightly mixed up was immediately after the splash down when broadcast pool reporter Dallas Townsend of CBS made a radio report from the carrier Intrepid about the location of the capsule which differed from Paul Haney's report from the Gemini control center. It turned out Townsend's report was the more accurate.

SPLIT EQUALLY

CBS reported with elation that a national Arbitron rating between 7 a.m. and noon EST Tuesday indicated that it tied with NBC in audience popularity — the two networks splitting equally 70 per cent of the estimated sets in use.

Space shots may be getting common place, but the launching of a giant missile with human cargo is still an awesome, heart-stirring sight, and the suspense that builds during the descent beats anything in manufactured drama.

Plaintiff Wins Damage Suit

A jury in 118th District Court returned a verdict at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday in favor of the plaintiff in the damage suit which has been on trial in the court since Monday afternoon. The case was styled T. A. Welch et al vs. Wilford White.

The case, which resulted from a traffic accident in 1957, turned out to be the only case which will be tried this week in the court. Judge Ralph Caton announced Tuesday afternoon that no other case would be ready and instructed Fern Cox, district court clerk, to contact other members of the jury panel and inform them they need not report today for duty.

Cox said that all but one or two of the panel had been reached.

There had been four cases announced ready when court opened Monday. It was indicated agreements were being reached or had been reached in some of these which led to their being continued for the term.

Wozencraft To Attend Coin Meet

W. E. Wozencraft, 1100 Stadium, presently District 3 governor for the Texas Numismatic Association, will leave Thursday for Corpus Christi, to attend the annual Texas convention.

He is chairman of the elections committee and he and his fellow committeemen met last Sunday at San Angelo and counted the votes. He will report the results of the election at the state meeting which will be March 26, 27 and 28.

Two Texas Fugitives Sentenced In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two men who broke jail at Canton, Tex., in February have been sentenced to prison for a California bank robbery.

Jerry Gillinham, 25, an ex-convict from Dallas, drew 15 years for his part in the holdup. James Daugherty, 21, of Canton was assessed eight years by U. S. Dist. Judge Oliver Carter.

RAN FROM BANK

Six policemen surrounded the pair Feb. 17 when they ran out of the bank with a canvas bag containing $27,312. They had held employes of the Bank of American branch in South San Francisco at gunpoint for an hour waiting for the vault time lock to go off.

A 19-year-old teller whispered "robbery" to another teller phoning in sick and the ailing teller called police.

Judge Carter advised Daugherty to complete his education and learn a trade while in prison. He was sentenced under the Youth Offenders Act, which allows early parole and expungement of his prison record if he behaves in prison.

"SO IMPULSIVE"

Of Gillingham the Jurist said: "If he is not at war with society, he is so impulsive or lacking in judgment that he will commit offenses at the point of a gun."

The two Texans escaped at Canton 10 days before the California robbery by strong-arming the Van Zandt County sheriff.

Elks Elect Officers, Honor Award Is Made

Election of new officers for the new lodge year beginning April 1 and an Elk of the Year Award were highlights of last night's meeting of B. O. P. Elks Lodge 1386.

Dudley Jenkins was elevated to Exalted Ruler, replacing Hanson Lawhon. In recognition of outstanding work on behalf of the lodge in seeing personally that as many local children as possible could receive treatment at the Elks Crippled Childrens Hospital, and, for his work with the youth in the Lodge Scout and Explorer Troops, the Elk Of The Year Award was presented to Elmer Lee Mulkey.

Besides Jenkins, other new officers elected or re-elected to serve additional terms included: Jack Kimble, leading knight; Joe D. Herbert, loyal knight; Ben Wiggington, lecturing knight; Oliver Cofer, secretary; D. M. Penn, treasurer; R. H. Snyder, tiler, and Hanson Lawhon, 5-year trustee and alternate to Grand Lodge which will be held in Miami Beach in mid-July.

The newly elected officers will be installed at the first meeting in April by members of the Midland Elks Lodge.

Other business conducted during the session included the authorization by the lodge for the building committee to secure a contour map of its property on US 87 and Hearn Street and to seek an architect to begin drawing plans for the proposed new Elks Lodge.

Scout Leaders To Attend Meet

Fourteen Scout leaders from the Big Spring area will join others from the Buffalo Trails Council to number around 50 men attending the annual Region 9 meeting, Boy Scouts of America, in San Antonio Friday and Saturday.

Bill McRee, Scout executive who will be with the group, said the Big Spring leaders would fly to the meeting. They will include committee chairmen and operating members of the council.

DEAR ABBY

The Age Of Maturity

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been arguing for six months over how old a girl should be to go out with boys alone at night. The girl is 14 and I say she's boy-crazy, but her mother says she is normal. Any help you can give me along this line will be appreciated. Thank you.

A FATHER

DEAR FATHER: If the girl makes good grades in school and is mature in her behavior, there is no reason why she shouldn't date on weekends. By "mature" I mean:

1. Can she be trusted to respect a curfew when one is set for her?

2. Does she keep her room tidy (and do any other tasks her mother assigns to her) without having to be nagged?

3. Is she a respectufl and honest child? Or does she talk back and do things on the sneak?

If she can pass the above requirements, I'd say she is mature enough to date.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our son, who is in the service overseas, sent us a beautiful diamond engagement and wedding ring set and asked us please to give the engagement ring to his girl, and to hold the wedding ring until he gets home next fall. My husband and friends think that we should keep both the rings, wait until our son returns from overseas and let him give the girl the rings himself. I don't know what we should do in a case like this and would very much appreciate your advice.

MIDWEST MOM

DEAR MOM: Follow your son's instructions and give his girl the engagement ring. Of course, she'll miss the kiss that usually goes with it. But I am sure she'd rather have a kissless engagement than none at all.

DEAR ABBY: Recently we went out and left our 13-year-old son and 11-year-old daughter alone in our home for the evening. It was the first time we had ever left them without a sitter. We gave them instructions on what to do in case of fire. We also told them not to answer the door if anyone rang the bell. And we left the telephone unmber of the place where we would be in case they wanted to call us for any reason. We have been criticized so much by relatives for leaving those children alone that I feel terrible. I would appreciate an answer in the column. Thank you.

Parent Liability Hike Sought

AUSTIN (AP) — Nine years ago he legislature came up with a new theory of making parents pay when their children destroyed someone else's property, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr recalled Tuesday.

"Today that law needs strengthening," he said, citing Texas' rising juvenile crime rate.

Carr testified for a bill to remove a $300 liability limit for parents whose children between 10 and 18 years old "maliciously and willfully damage or destroy" another's property.

SCHOOLS DESTROYED

The sponsor of the measure, Rep. Willis Whatley of Houston, said: "Why, entire schools are destroyed in some urban areas by kids running rampant."

"My only criticism of this bill is that it's 50 years too late, and the age should be lowered to 8," said Rep. Billy Williamson of Tyler.

Another member of the House Judiciary Committee, Rep. Rayford Price of Frankston, also suggested dropping the age limit.

"If a parent doesn't have control of a child before he's 10, it's out of the parents' hands," Price said.

NEW THEORY

Carr, House speaker in 1956 when the $300 limit was set, said that figure was used "simply to get the necessary votes for passage—it was a brand new theory then."

"Now we're asking you to remove that figure to help us slow down the great increase in juvenile crime in this state," he said. "We want to get at the delinquent parent and make him more responsible for the action of his kid.

"The parent is more responsible for juvenile crime than the child."

The Senate has ready for floor debate a measure by Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon to make the liability limit $5,000.

"At least that's better than $300," Carr said. "We feel it would have a good effect if we could reach the pocketbook of the parent."

The bill was referred to a subcommittee.

Big Business Gets Larger

NEW YORK (AP) — Big business is getting bigger fast. The traditional American uneasiness about it is showing both at the government and the public levels.

The rush of annual reports show how successful corporations grew last year — both in sales and profits, and also in plants and other assets.

The number of billion-dollar corporations is swelling. Often the measurements of the largest companies in individual industries are changing as fast as those of a growing boy.

GOVERNMENT CHARY

A spate of mergers through many industries is accenting the corporate growth. The increased number of inquiries into mergers by government agencies, and antimerger suits in the courts, is seen by many business executives as evidence that government is still very chary of bigness in business.

Mergers aren't the only reason for the latest growth of the big fellows. But prosperity always swells the number of mergers and they're on the rise now. Stock prices near record highs make it easier for companies to marry through exchange of stocks. If it is outright purchase, the jump in profits last year gives corporate management the needed cash.

The business upswing of the last four years also lured many companies into fields they found too tough — and the way out often is merger with the successful competitor — or with a cash-rich outsider looking for diversification.

MERGER TREND

Here is the merger trend: In 1958 there were around 900; in 1960 just over 1,000; by 1963 prosperity swelled the figure to around 1,500; and last year to 1,800.

The Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission filed 12 court suits in 1963 to block or undo mergers; in 1964 it filed 21; and in the first two months of 1965 filed 6. Investigations of corporate mergers are under way in such industries as oil, chemicals, iron and steel, foods and in banking.

U.S. Curbs Wheat Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has stopped selling surplus wheat on the domestic market in an attempt to help strengthen winter wheat prices.

Winter wheat prices declined from one to 5 cents a bushel last week, reflecting conservative buying by both mills and exporters and the availability of liberal supplies.

Since July 1, the Agriculture Department had sold about 52 million bushels from its stocks for unrestricted domestic use. During the same period it had sold 181 million bushels for export.

Heads Brewers

Glenn T. Smith, plant general manager of Falstaff Brewing Corporation's Galveston plant, has been elected president of the Texas Brewers' Institute. He was named at the organization's recent annual meeting held in Austin. Smith, 47, has been with Falstaff at Galveston since 1961, and has held various offices in the Texas Brewers' Institute. He is a director of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and recently was named "man of the month" by that organization. He is active in many civic affairs in Galveston.

Plaintiff Wins Damage Suit

A jury in 118th District Court returned a verdict at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday in favor of the plaintiff in the damage suit which has been on trial in the court since Monday afternoon. The case was styled T. A. Welch et al vs. Wilford White.

The case, which resulted from a traffic accident in 1957, turned out to be the only case which will be tried this week in the court. Judge Ralph Caton announced Tuesday afternoon that no other case would be ready and instructed Fern Cox, district court clerk, to contact other members of the jury panel and inform them they need not report today for duty.

Cox said that all but one or two of the panel had been reached.

There had been four cases announced ready when court opened Monday. It was indicated agreements were being reached or had been reached in some of these which led to their being continued for the term.

Two Texas Fugitives Sentenced In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two men who broke jail at Canton, Tex., in February have been sentenced to prison for a California bank robbery.

Jerry Gillinham, 25, an ex-convict from Dallas, drew 15 years for his part in the holdup. James Daugherty, 21, of Canton was assessed eight years by U. S. Dist. Judge Oliver Carter.

RAN FROM BANK

Six policemen surrounded the pair Feb. 17 when they ran out of the bank with a canvas bag containing $27,312. They had held employes of the Bank of American branch in South San Francisco at gunpoint for an hour waiting for the vault time lock to go off.

A 19-year-old teller whispered "robbery" to another teller phoning in sick and the ailing teller called police.

Judge Carter advised Daugherty to complete his education and learn a trade while in prison. He was sentenced under the Youth Offenders Act, which allows early parole and expungement of his prison record if he behaves in prison.

"SO IMPULSIVE"

Of Gillingham the Jurist said: "If he is not at war with society, he is so impulsive or lacking in judgment that he will commit offenses at the point of a gun."

The two Texans escaped at Canton 10 days before the California robbery by strong-arming the Van Zandt County sheriff.

Elks Elect Officers, Honor Award Is Made

Election of new officers for the new lodge year beginning April 1 and an Elk of the Year Award were highlights of last night's meeting of B. O. P. Elks Lodge 1386.

Dudley Jenkins was elevated to Exalted Ruler, replacing Hanson Lawhon. In recognition of outstanding work on behalf of the lodge in seeing personally that as many local children as possible could receive treatment at the Elks Crippled Childrens Hospital, and, for his work with the youth in the Lodge Scout and Explorer Troops, the Elk Of The Year Award was presented to Elmer Lee Mulkey.

Besides Jenkins, other new officers elected or re-elected to serve additional terms included: Jack Kimble, leading knight; Joe D. Herbert, loyal knight; Ben Wiggington, lecturing knight; Oliver Cofer, secretary; D. M. Penn, treasurer; R. H. Snyder, tiler, and Hanson Lawhon, 5-year trustee and alternate to Grand Lodge which will be held in Miami Beach in mid-July.

The newly elected officers will be installed at the first meeting in April by members of the Midland Elks Lodge.

Other business conducted during the session included the authorization by the lodge for the building committee to secure a contour map of its property on US 87 and Hearn Street and to seek an architect to begin drawing plans for the proposed new Elks Lodge.

Coverage Of Space Flight Handled Well

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It is one of the ironies of the space age that the greatest apparent discomfort suffered by those associated with the magnificent exploit of the Molly Brown and her pilots Tuesday was the painful sunburn suffered by NBC's field reporter, Merrill Mueller, under the hot Cape Kennedy sun.

From early morning until astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young were welcomed aboard the carrier Intrepid, the three major networks' news staffs did a smooth and well-organized job of covering with cameras everything that was visible and of demonstrating by mock-ups, graphics and interviews the things that were not.

SLIGHT CONFUSION

The only point when things became slightly mixed up was immediately after the splash down when broadcast pool reporter Dallas Townsend of CBS made a radio report from the carrier Intrepid about the location of the capsule which differed from Paul Haney's report from the Gemini control center. It turned out Townsend's report was the more accurate.

SPLIT EQUALLY

CBS reported with elation that a national Arbitron rating between 7 a.m. and noon EST Tuesday indicated that it tied with NBC in audience popularity — the two networks splitting equally 70 per cent of the estimated sets in use.

Space shots may be getting common place, but the launching of a giant missile with human cargo is still an awesome, heart-stirring sight, and the suspense that builds during the descent beats anything in manufactured drama.

Wozencraft To Attend Coin Meet

W. E. Wozencraft, 1100 Stadium, presently District 3 governor for the Texas Numismatic Association, will leave Thursday for Corpus Christi, to attend the annual Texas convention.

He is chairman of the elections committee and he and his fellow committeemen met last Sunday at San Angelo and counted the votes. He will report the results of the election at the state meeting which will be March 26, 27 and 28.

Scout Leaders To Attend Meet

Fourteen Scout leaders from the Big Spring area will join others from the Buffalo Trails Council to number around 50 men attending the annual Region 9 meeting, Boy Scouts of America, in San Antonio Friday and Saturday.

Bill McRee, Scout executive who will be with the group, said the Big Spring leaders would fly to the meeting. They will include committee chairmen and operating members of the council.

DEAR ABBY

The Age Of Maturity

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been arguing for six months over how old a girl should be to go out with boys alone at night. The girl is 14 and I say she's boy-crazy, but her mother says she is normal. Any help you can give me along this line will be appreciated. Thank you.

A FATHER

DEAR FATHER: If the girl makes good grades in school and is mature in her behavior, there is no reason why she shouldn't date on weekends. By "mature" I mean:

1. Can she be trusted to respect a curfew when one is set for her?

2. Does she keep her room tidy (and do any other tasks her mother assigns to her) without having to be nagged?

3. Is she a respectful and honest child? Or does she talk back and do things on the sneak?

If she can pass the above requirements, I'd say she is mature enough to date.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our son, who is in the service overseas, sent us a beautiful diamond engagement and wedding ring set and asked us please to give the engagement ring to his girl, and to hold the wedding ring until he gets home next fall. My husband and friends think that we should keep both the rings, wait until our son returns from overseas and let him give the girl the rings himself. I don't know what we should do in a case like this and would very much appreciate your advice.

MIDWEST MOM

DEAR MOM: Follow your son's instructions and give his girl the engagement ring. Of course, she'll miss the kiss that usually goes with it. But I am sure she'd rather have a kissless engagement than none at all.

U.S. Curbs Wheat Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has stopped selling surplus wheat on the domestic market in an attempt to help strengthen winter wheat prices.

Since July 1, the Agriculture Department had sold about 52 million bushels from its stocks for unrestricted domestic use. During the same period it had sold 181 million bushels for export.

High-Rise Job In Capitol Area Fought

AUSTIN (AP)—Today's luxury apartment building could be tomorrow's boarding house and the proud Texas Capitol deserves a better neighbor, Rep. Henry Grover of Houston says.

He wants to stop construction of a $2.7 million apartment-office building across the street from the 77-year-old Capitol. It would be 24 stories tall, towering within 70 feet of the top of the Capitol's famous dome.

Within 25 years, Grover predicted, the apartment building would end its better years and be subject to decline.

HAS SUPPORT

To help plead his case, he presented former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, who was a member of the State Building Commission when that agency sought to prevent any high-rise private buildings in the Capitol area.

"A 24-story building is entirely unreasonable," Wilson said. "The state has restricted the height of its buildings, when it could have built them higher at a lower cost per square foot, to prevent the very thing these people are going to do."

BUILDERS AWED

Builders of the edifice, Lumberman's Investment Corp., expressed "surprise and confusion that a legislator would oppose completion of the building," named Westgate.

The State Land Office Building, one of the original structures on the Capitol campus, could be placed atop Westgate and the two still wouldn't be taller than the Capitol, said a Lumberman's lawyer, Richard Baker.

'All's Different' For Space Wives When Anxiety Over

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — After it was over everything was different.

Betty Grissom blushed and smiled triumphantly.

Barbara Young's tight, infectious grin lighted her pretty face.

The day began gloomily, with an iron gray overcast and mist drifting through the beams of television floodlights in front of their homes.

"GREAT DAY"

Now the sun shone hotly after Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young were safely recovered from the Atlantic.

Spidery white clouds rode a fast breeze across the tops of tall pines in front of the Grissom home.

"I think it's been a great day," Mrs. Grissom told a score of newsmen.

Several of the wives of her Timber Cove neighborhood stood bunched across the street, dressed mainly in capris and shirt blouses.

Mrs. Grissom wore a simple, green dress. She said she didn't paste trading stamps as she had planned.

"HELD MY BREATH"

"I was too busy watching television," she laughed.

She wasn't as anxious at liftoff this time, she said, as on the 1961 sub-orbital flight by her husband.

But she held her breath on the return of his Gemini spacecraft Tuesday.

"I was waiting for the flotation ring to be placed around the capsule," she said.

Sons Scott, 14, and Mark, 11, stood beside her. Scott, revealing the braces on his teeth, put his worry more succinctly: "I was just hoping it was floating."

Would Mrs. Grissom like to see her husband participate in another flight?

"Not any way soon," she replied.

The same question was put to Mrs. Young at her news conference in neighboring El Lago. It brought this response:

"Heavens, yes. I'd like to take part again and I know John is ready to start training."

BOUT WITH POX

With her were daughter Sandra, 7, and son John Jr., 6. John, still bearing telltale dots from a recent bout with chicken pox, had to go back indoors after a brief appearance.

Happy Outcome

Mrs. Betty Grissom, left, wife of Astronaut Virgil Grissom, sits beside Mrs. Barbara Young, wife of Spaceman John Young, at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston. Both beam happiness over the successful outcome of their husbands' historical space orbiting Tuesday. Today the women said the anxious hours of waiting turned quickly into a bright atmosphere of sunshine upon word of safe recovery of the capsule at sea. The men today faced the task of filling in experts of what actually happened during the flight which made space history when they took control of guiding the craft in orbit. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Gates Now Open For Flood Of U.S. Space Launchings

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With the flight of the Molly Brown, the United States gained a little ground on the Russians in the man-in-space race and opened the gates to a flood of astronaut launchings in the years ahead.

Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young took the Gemini spacecraft up for a trial run Tuesday. They flew it backward, forward and upside down and executed the first orbital changes ever made by a manned spacecraft.

There were a few minor difficulties. But project officials pronounced the two-seat craft ready to begin operational missions on the next flight. Nine more Gemini flights are scheduled in the next two years.

Grissom and Young were up for a three-orbit spin lasting less than five hours. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration termed it a "truly historic" mission and said it demonstrated the readiness of the craft for future long-duration and rendezvous missions.

4-DAY FLIGHT

In June, astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White are to zoom into space for four days to further evaluate the capsule and to gather medical and scientific data.

McDivitt is to become the first U.S. astronaut to go at least partially out of his orbiting ship. Plans call for him to open his hatch and poke his head into space. However, some thought is being given to having him leave the craft on the end of a tether — just as cosmonaut Alexei Leonov did during a spectacular two-man Soviet shot last week.

Development of this extra-vehicular capability as well as an orbit-changing steerable spacecraft are requirements before either Americans or Russians travel to the moon. The Russians pioneered the out-of-capsule operation last week. Tuesday Grissom and Young put a trump on their ace by doing some steering.

U.S. officials have conceded that this nation trails the Soviet Union by about two years in the man-in-space sweepstakes. The major reason is that the Russians started earlier in the development of a big booster capable of hurling large payloads into orbit.

SENT TRIO UP

With the same basic rocket, the Russians launched the world's first spaceman, sent the first woman into orbit and last fall sent three cosmonauts aloft in Voskhod 1. The launching last week was their second flight with more than one passenger.

But on none of their flights have they been able to change orbit and shift over the sky as the Molly Brown did.

After McDivitt and White take their four-day flight, astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. are to make a seven-day flight which should provide valuable data on how man is affected by prolonged exposure to weightlessness.

RENDEZVOUS SHOT

After that will come the vital rendezvous shot in which a two-man team will attempt to catch up and join with another orbiting satellite. This space docking maneuver must be developed before man ventures to the moon and planets.

Six Gemini rendezvous flights are planned.

Dr. George E. Mueller, NASA associate administrator for manned space flight, said Gemini flights will occur at two-to-three month intervals. He predicted a total of 25 manned space shots from Cape Kennedy in the next four to five years, including the first Apollo manned lunar landings.

He said that following the completion of Gemini, manned space flight emphasis will shift to earth orbit flights of the three-man Apollo moonship. He said these will begin in 1967.

"In 1968," he said, "we expect to begin manned flights of the Saturn 5 — and some time in 1969 we expect to be ready for the historic flight that will take the first Americans to the surface of the moon and back."

NASA Administrator James E. Webb said the United States is counting heavily on the Saturn 5 — a 40-story tall rocket with 7.5 million pounds of thrust — to overtake the Soviet lead.

Impact Area

This map pinpoints the site where the Gemini spaceship landed at sea after three successful orbits Tuesday. The recovery carrier Intrepid and other sea and air craft sped to the scene to pick up the two astronauts shortly afterward. Today spacemen Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young settled down to prosaic but important business: Filling the experts in on what happened during their flight that proved a ship can be maneuvered in space. They did their own steering at times and "cut capers" that made history with the craft in orbit. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Stocks Show Irregular Hike

NEW YORK (AP) — Airlines and selected issues advanced in an irregularly higher stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Gains of fractions to about a point among key stocks outnumbered losers.

The slight gain on average was enough to put the Dow Jones Industrial average slightly above the significant level of 900 at noon.

Although the general background of economic and business news was good, there was no strong buying drive in the stock market.

The trend was mostly higher among steels, rails, utilities, chemicals and electronics. Rubbers were lower. Motors, oils, tobaccos, drugs and building materials were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.1 at 336.7 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .8 and utilities up .6.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.11 at 900.80.

Eastern Air Lines, up about a point, was one of the larger gainers in its group. Others rose fractionally as the airlines resumed their rebound from recent selling.

Gains exceeding a point were made by Eastman Kodak, Du Pont, Control Data and Douglas Aircraft.

Ford, up nearly a point, put on a strong performance.

Prices were generally higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Rotarians Hear Dr. Roos, See Eagle Award Made

Rotarians of Big Spring held two meetings Tuesday. The regular meeting at noon saw the Eagle Scout award presented to Phil Richey of Explorer Post No. 1, sponsored by the club, and the Ladies' Night program featured Dr. Phillip Roos, head of the Austin State School.

C. W. Blankenship, in charge of the regular program Tuesday, introduced the young Explorer who was a former member of Scout Troop 136 at Sand Springs. Present were his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Richey, and his leader, Sgt. Robert K. Nobles of Webb Air Force Base.

Rotary's Explorer Post Committee is headed by Bill Schlech with Leroy Hollingshead and Paul Hathaway.

The Big Spring club sponsors Scout Troop No. 1. The new charter for this troop was presented by Scout Executive Bill McRee to Committee Chairman Lowell Jones and then to club President Jerry Worthy. Other members of the committee are W. O. McMeans, Ken Clark and Robert Nicholson, with Worthy as institutional representative.

Some 100 Rotarians and their wives attended the Ladies Night meeting at Big Spring Country Club when Dr. Roos spoke on human relations. Title of his talk was "The World Is A Jungle." He used examples in a talk on actions of human beings.

Dr. Roos said "we have a world of infants who think the world is centered around them. These infants later become teenagers whose parents begin to think they are not quite so smart as formerly, and then both parents and youngsters become confused." He was introduced by Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of Big Spring State Hospital.

NEW TELETYPE SERVICE FOR SHERIFF'S OFFICE
Sheriff Aubrey Standard, left, and Deputy Joan Blake

Sheriff Puts New Teletype Service In Immediate Use

Sheriff Aubrey Standard put his brand new teletype tie-up with West Texas law enforcement agencies to prompt use Wednesday.

He punched out a message to the Department of Public Safety to be relayed to the New Mexico State Penitentiary authorities.

The message advised New Mexico not to hurry to Big Spring to take custody of Jack Eubank, a fugitive from their prison. Eubank, the sheriff wired the New Mexicans, had won a delay in his case to April 12.

The new teletype, which Standard had asked the county commissioners court to approve, was installed Tuesday. It connects the sheriff's office with sheriff and police offices in all of the principal towns and counties in West Texas, as well as with the DPS office in Midland. Through this network, messages can be relayed to all parts of the country.

Sheriff Standard said that the service will cost the county only $42 per month.

"We will be able, we believe," he said, "to save more than that each month in telephone fees. Further, it will give us a mass of information of great value to our department which we have not been getting.

He pointed to the listing of stolen cars on today's run and to the number of tips on worthless checkwriters and forgers. The network also sends numerous weather bulletins and road condition reports each day.

"Our long distance phone calls," said the sheriff, "amount to much more than the $42 a month the teletype will cost us. Better than that, though, is the constant availability of this service for communicating with other law enforcement agencies on unimportant matters which we would have been reluctant to discuss by long distance."

He said that he planned to train three or more of his office force to operate the machine so that it would be manned at all times of the day.

Standard said that he was appreciative of the cooperative attitude of the county board in approving his request for this service.

"I think we will be able to show them," he said, "that the $42 will be money well invested in the matter of law enforcement."

W. R. Yates Rites Pending

William (Bill) Raford Yates, 74, of 705 Johnson, died about 7:15 a.m. today in a local hospital. He had been in failing health for several years.

Services are pending at River-Welch Funeral Home.

Mr. Yates was born Jan. 24, 1891, in Bosque County. He moved to Big Spring in 1923 from Cisco. He married Lavenia McNeese June 8, 1914, in Merkel.

Mr. Yates was a brakeman with the Texas & Pacific Railway Co., and retired in 1952 after 30 years service. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the First Methodist Church.

Survivors include the widow; two sons, W. R. Yates Jr., McCamey, George Yates, Lakeland, Fla.; three daughters, Mrs. L. L. Miller and Mrs. Bill Read, both of Big Spring, Mrs. Bennett Petty, Midland; three sisters, Mrs. H. T. Moore, Big Spring, Mrs. Oral Cotton, Winters, and Mrs. Bud Witty, Abilene; five brothers, P. G. Yates, Stanton, Hardin Yates, Abilene, Elmer Yates, Winters, Lela Yates, Dimmitt, and Jim Yates, Baytown; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Assault Charged

George Thomas, attorney, posted $500 bond Tuesday afternoon for an aggravated assault charge filed against him, and was released from custody. Thomas was charged by his wife, Mrs. Cleo Thomas, with having struck her. The Thomases were in court most of last week presenting their divorce case to Judge Sterling Williams. The alleged assault occurred last Friday night, Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, said.

Ruby Sanity Trial Delayed

DALLAS (AP)— Dist. Judge Joe Brown ordered a sanity trial of Jack Ruby, due to start Monday, postponed Tuesday until a federal court rules on a motion by defense lawyer William Kuntsvler.

Kuntsvler asked the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans to stay the sanity hearing until that court rules on an appeal of a federal judge's ruling returning the Ruby case to state courts.

The Dallas district attorney's office told the circuit court that if the stay is granted, there could be no state action on any aspect of the case for almost two years.

Kuntsvler, a New Yorker, is working with lawyers Sam Clinton Jr. of Austin, Elmer Gertz of Chicago and Sol Dann of Detroit.

In the new motion Kuntsvler complained that Brown had denied motions for a change of venue, for Brown to disqualify himself and to oust Joe Tonahill as a defense lawyer during a March 8 pre-trial hearing.

He also claimed that U.S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson erred in returning jurisdiction to the state after a hearing last Friday.

The state's answer contended these defense motions were premature, insufficient in law and untimely at the pre-trial hearing.

Mrs. McDaniel Dies Today

Mrs. Mary Florence McDaniel, 72, of 2609 Cheyenne Drive, died about 5:30 a.m. today in a local hospital after a short illness.

Services are pending at River-Welch Funeral Home.

Mrs. McDaniel was born April 14, 1892, in Howe. She married William R. McDaniel Jan. 21, 1911, in Oklahoma, and they moved to Big Spring in 1919. He preceded her in death May 27, 1961. She was a member of the Baptist church.

Survivors include two sons, Willie McDaniel, Big Spring, Roy McDaniel El Paso; four daughters, Mrs. Aaron Goolsby, Mrs. Cecil Thixton, and Mrs. George C. Coots, all of Big Spring, Mrs. Jeff Hamilton, Odessa; 20 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Weather Forecast

Rain is expected Wednesday night from the southern Plains through the southern Gulf Coast and snow in the Rockies and central Plains. Colder temperatures are likely in the southern Plains and from the Mississippi through the Ohio valley into the mid-Atlantic states. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Cold Air Hits East

By The Associated Press

Winter weather extended its prolonged stay in many sections in the eastern two-thirds of the nation today with not much relief in sight.

Cold air and northerly winds swept snow-covered areas from the Rockies across the Midwest into the Northeast, with temperatures again dipping as low as 25 below zero in northern Minnesota.

Temperatures were as much as 35 degrees below seasonal levels in some parts of the north-central region and generally were below normal in many other sections of the nation.

The subzero belt covered areas in Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois. One of the lowest marks was -25 at Hibbing, Minn.

Heavy snow fell in the Midwest and into sections of the Northeast earlier, the second major snowstorm in many areas since near the end of the winter season last Friday. Snow has ended in most of the Midwest and has tapered off to flurries in New England and western New York.

Kennedy Climb Is Under Way

WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory (AP) — Clouds, wind and a threat of snow descended on Mt. Kennedy today as Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, guided by expert mountaineers, prepared for his assault on the summit of the 13,900-foot peak.

It was not believed the weather would endanger the success of the climb, but did mean the New York Democratic senator might be pinned down at the base camp for a day or more after the descent.

SUMMIT FLAG

Kennedy has with him what is described as a furled black flag. It is believed he will place it at the summit as a memorial to his late brother, President John F. Kennedy, for whom the Canadian government named the mountain.

Kennedy and four other climbers left the 7,500-foot base camp about 9 a.m. Tuesday and were presumed to have spent the night at a second camp 4,000 feet farther up the mountain.

There is no radio contact with the climbers or the base camp. Newsmen who flew to the area Tuesday observed the climbers from the air. Kennedy and the others waved at a plane flying overhead.

NO DIFFICULTY

Monte Alford, a seasoned Whitehorse mountaineer who followed the five climbers part of the way, said Kennedy was experiencing no difficulty on the climb. The senator was tied by a rope to two veterans of the 1963 American assault on Mt. Everest, James W. Whittaker of Seattle, Wash., and Barry Prather of Ellensburg, Wash.

Snow showers which hit Whitehorse late Tuesday were expected to continue today.

Pilots reported to the weather office late in the day that there was blowing snow high on Mt. Kennedy, indicating the winds had picked up in velocity. Forecasters said the cloud cover on the mountain, 150 miles west of here, could produce snowfall.

Dr. Bradford Washburn, who organized the expedition said the final ascent to the summit should take about five hours.

Dr. Washburn is the director of the Boston Museum of Science, which is cosponsoring the expedition with the National Geographic Society.

Buying Power Emphasized At 'Infocade'

"West Texas has, with its vast areas of capabilities in grain production, cotton production, cattle raising and oil production, a potential buying power of more than $6 billion."

These were the words of Charles Heidrick, general attorney for Sun Oil Co. Southwest Production Division, at the first session of Infocade '65 at Midland this morning, as he talked to the more than 400 present. Representatives from chambers of commerce all over West Texas, including 14 from Big Spring, were present.

Beeman Fisher, of Fort Worth, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, gave the keynote address. He said he believed that West Texas has a future in resources that is unbounded.

Chester Polson, also of Fort Worth, said the welfare of the farmer is directly related to the welfare of every industry in the area.

Gerald Thomas, dean of the school of agriculture at Texas Tech, said water means more to the welfare and progress of farming and industry in West Texas than any other factor. He told the assembly that every one should keep a sharp eye on legislation relating to water resources and conservation.

D. C. Prince of Lubbock pointed out that West Texas farmers are using less than half of their allotted acreage for cotton. He also said a ready-made market is waiting for production of all cotton farmers could produce on the allotted acreage.

The meeting continued this afternoon, and will be continued in Plainview Thursday, and in Fort Worth Friday.

Infocade '65 is a new project sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for businessmen, farmers and ranchmen, who are interested in the economy, growth and progress of West Texas.

Jacoby Bridge Team Winner

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The team led by Oswald Jacoby of Dallas emerged today as winner of the Vanderbilt Cup, a top prize in the American Contract Bridge League's spring national tournament.

One hand decided the final match. Jacoby and his partners won by four international match points over a team captained by Robert Jordan of Philadelphia. The Jordan team defeated the eventual champions Tuesday evening and forced a post-midnight playoff.

Both teams qualified for the international team trials next November in San Francisco.

With Jacoby's team were his son James of Richardson, Tex., Dr. John Fisher of Dallas, Ira Rubin of Fair Law, N. J., Albert Weiss of Chicago and Phil Feldesman of New York City.

Postmen Hail Dog Repellant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The postman's best friend, a dog repellant, has increased by 40 per cent the likelihood that he will swiftly complete his appointed rounds in one piece.

That's the progress report Asst. Postmaster General Richard J. Murphy recently gave the House Appropriations Committee.

Dogs sank their teeth into postmen 7,000 times last year, costing them more than $1 million in sick leave and doctor bills, Murphy said. But over the last five months — since the carriers began carrying a repellant which keeps Fido at a distance — disabling dog bites were reduced 40 per cent, Murphy told the committee.

STANTON (SC)—Samuel Mell has been appointed city sanitation officer, according to Mayor S. W. Wheeler. He has already assumed his new duties following his appointent at the last meeting of the city council.

All 10 Gemini Missions Will Be Sea Landings

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — When first announced, Gemini spacecraft were to make ground landings, but now all 10 missions are scheduled for sea landings.

The spacecraft was designed for ground landing with skids to unfold on the side and nose. The astronauts would be in a sitting position looking down the nose of the spaceship out the windows, much like a motorist driving a car.

Original plans called for the spacecraft to be guided to a landing using a bat-like wing, which would bubble from the nose and inflate at about 50,000 feet.

The astronaut could then fly the capsule to the ground just as a pilot of a glider.

PROBLEMS ARISE

Problems popped up in developing the wing-like device, called a paraglider.

More than $30 million was pumped into the four-year program without one workable model emerging. In fact, the two times the paraglider was flown by men, it sent both test pilots to hospitals.

It was after the second accident that the Manned Spacecraft Center gave up on the plan.

Engineers, spending thousands instead of millions, started a development program of their own on a device called a parasail with retro-firing rockets.

The parachute is controllable by allowing specific amounts of air to spill from vents in the chute. Sky divers use the same type parachute on a smaller scale.

"SOFT" LANDING

The rockets fire upward about 10 feet from the ground, giving the capsule a "soft" landing. This program has reached a point of trying a landing for the first time over the rocky soil near Ft. Hood, Tex., next month.

If the parasail can be developed, the device could be used to bring some of the later manned Gemini flights to a firm landing before the program ends in 1968.

Otherwise, all will make sea landings.

Landing capability was one of the Gemini program's prime objectives before the paraglider problems proved to be insurmountable.

It is believed the Russians used a landing device much like the parasail-retro-firing rockets in bringing their three men back to earth last October. All Soviet space pilots have come back on land.

Pro-West Bloc Leads Election

COLOMBO (AP) — Pro-Western conservatives held a comfortable lead today in their election fight to oust Ceylon's leftist prime minister, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike.

Final results from 79 of the nation's 151 electoral districts gave the world's only woman prime minister and her leftist allies 26 parliamentary seats. Opposition parties had 49. Independents had 4.

Dallas Denies Agreement On Airport Site

FORT WORTH (AP) — Fort Worth Mayor Bayard Friedman said Tuesday that his city and Dallas had agreed on a site for a regional airport adjacent to Fort Worth's Greater Southwest International Airport.

Dallas authorities quickly disagreed with reports of an agreement.

Chairman Robert Cullum of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce aviation committee said: "For my own part, I don't read the record the way the mayor is reading it."

"OUT OF CONTEXT"

Cullum said statements attributed to Dallas officials were taken out of context and "simply were not firm agreements."

Friedman said the proposed regional air center would cover 5,000 to 10,000 acres, encompassing the present Fort Worth airport and extending north and south.

His remarks were made at a meeting of the Fort Worth city council, the city aviation board, the chamber of commerce aviation committee and mayors of other Tarrant County towns.

LENGTHY TALKS

The Fort Worth mayor delivered what he called a "full disclosure" of what has transpired in lengthy negotiations between Dallas and Fort Worth leaders to resolve their regional airport controversy.

He said the two cities agreed on the site and size of the airport and ruled out Dallas' Love Field.

Friedman said that if the Civil Aeronautics Board designates Greater Southwest as the regional airport, Fort Worth will go ahead with its expansion "with or without the help of Dallas."

By Jan. 1, 1967, he said, Fort Worth can provide air service superior to that now provided by Love Field.

CONCERNS DIFFERENT

"Dallas is concerned with the economies of Love Field, but we are primarily concerned with the convenience and safety of the airport to air passengers," Friedman said.

"The fact is Love Field is outdated."

He sees no possibility of working out with Dallas the matter of timing for bringing the regional air terminal into operation, Friedman said.

He explained that Fort Worth wants the big airport in operation in four to seven years while Dallas wants to keep Love Field in operation for 10 years.

A Dallas delegation plans a plea Friday to the CAB for more time to work out agreement on airport plans.

Mae Murray Symbolic Of Roaring 20s Gaiety

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mae Murray, the silent screen's blonde with the bee-stung lips who made $3 million and spent every penny, is dead at 75.

Miss Murray, who married four times, was a symbol of roaring 20s gaiety who never ceased regarding herself as a celebrity although her career did not extend into the era of talking pictures.

She succumbed Tuesday at the Motion Picture Country Home to a long illness that followed a stroke and a heart ailment.

"You don't have to keep making movies to remain a star," she said several years ago. "Once you become a star, you are always a star."

"MERRY WIDOW"

Her most famous film was "The Merry Widow," in which she starred with John Gilbert, with Erich von Stroheim as director.

At her peak, she earned $10,000 a week and was one of Hollywood's highest-paid stars. She maintained lavish homes and entertained extravagantly.

As her glittering era passed, her income declined. In 1926, she estimated her fortune at $3 million.

RICHES WENT FAST

Ten years later, she said, she sat penniless for three days on a bench in New York's Central Park.

In the mid 50s she wrote her memoirs, "The Self-Enchanted."

Born Marie Adrienne Koenig May 10, 1889, in Portsmouth, Va., she danced in New York shows as a teen-ager. Florenz Ziegfeld featured her in his Follies of 1908, 1909 and 1915.

Her marriages were to William Schwencker Jr., a gateman; Jay O'Brien, a Pasadena broker; film director Robert Z. Leonard, and Prince David M'divani.

A son by M'divani, Daniel M. Cunning, is her only living relative. He operates a shoe store in Troy, N.Y.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday in a mortuary chapel.

Nervousness can often be traced to an eye condition,

"Guard against eye disease, eyestrain and poor vision with an annual, professional eye examination by a Doctor of Optometry," advises Dr. S. J. Rogers of Texas State Optical.

Model Boats In Bank Vault

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It took Harold Stiers 40 years to acquire his $2-million collection of model boats. Now he's had to put them in a bank vault where he can't enjoy them.

The boats, made of jade, ivory and silver, were the objects of one of the most quixotic burglaries in the memory of St. Louis police.

Eighty-two of the 200 models were stolen from Stiers' mansion last October. After a comedy of errors by the burglars, the models were found in the trunk of the St. Louis district attorney's car.

One man, Wyvonne Hornburg, St. Louis, has been charged with the theft and detective Sgt. Ernest Alexander says more may be arrested.

Alexander said a New York man hired a ring of 12 St. Louis thieves to grab the boats. The crooks got them to Chicago, then the New Yorker decided he didn't want them, the officer said.

The burglars, left holding the bag, negotiated with police and the district attorney, then the district attorney found the boats in his car.

Premium voiceways for out-of-the-way places

This year, Southwestern Bell is going the extra mile, literally, to make rural telephone service even better than it is. And the difference for most customers will be immediately noticeable.

For example, in many exchanges, suburban telephone service boundaries are being extended miles farther into the countryside to make higher quality phone service available to more people. And hundreds of miles of new telephone cables will go into service replacing "open wire" lines. Airtight and impervious to moisture, these new cables provide hi-fi clarity plus greater dependability (phone wires inside them are safer from weathering and storm damage).

Undertaken at a cost of nearly half a million dollars, these rural service improvements are part of this year's massive construction effort (our biggest ever). An intensified program to further improve the quality of the fine telephone service you now have, whether you live in town or on a farm or ranch. You might call it a communications bonus from Southwestern Bell.

City Budget Gets Prompt Approval

City commissioners approved a $2½ million budget for the city's operation in the 12 months beginning April 1, following a public hearing at city hall Tuesday night.

The $2,561,680 budget was okayed after no opposition was voiced at the hearing. Several persons attended the hearing and one, W. H. Wharton, a local accountant, asked several questions concerning the budget.

Wharton asked about fire and police protection, noting a possible rise in costs of fire insurance this year and the reported increased crime rate. Mayor George Zachariah said the city's fire department was properly supported and the insurance rate changes are not fully preventable, particularly in such cases as may involve fires set by transients or other persons.

Assistant Police Chief Leo Hull pointed out that statewide crime activity had increased about 20 per cent, but in Big Spring the rate of increase was about 4.7 per cent.

BIGGER BALANCE

In presenting the budget, City Manager Larry Crow said it was based on conservative estimates and that the 1965-66 estimated balance might prove somewhat in excess of that anticipated in the budget. The budget predicts a surplus of about $450,000 at the end of the coming fiscal year. In addition, he said the general fund may go forward from the current fiscal year about $4,000 above estimated surplus and the water and sewer revenue fund about $7,000 to $10,000 above the balance predicted previously.

Commissioner Paul Kasch said he wanted to compliment city department heads for staying within their estimated budget amounts.

Mayor Zachariah said the city now had not had a tax increase since 1958, even though the city's activities were expanding. The 1965-66 budget does not call for a tax increase.

DEPOSITORY

In other action, the commission approved the State National Bank as depository for another year. The State National and Security State Bank submitted similar bids on the depository and commissioners chose to continue with the first bank rather than make a change, noting that both banks offered equally accptable services.

An on-premises beer consumption permit was approved for Pat's Lounge, 1710 W. 3rd, requested by Mrs. Pat Walker.

Commissioners took no specific action on a recommendation from the parks and recreation board on purchase of 3.8 acres of property near the Lakeview School, part of a planned city-school park development.

However, commissioners expressed favorable consideration of the plans for joint development of the property and commented the purchase would be considered at the next session.

A request for authority to distribute a new type of litter container in the city was turned down by the commissioners. Commissioners discussed the proposed containers, but pointed out that the city now has a considerable supply of downtown litter containers installed.

OIL, GREASE BIDS

The commission endorsed but took no other action, on a proposed child welfare department in Howard County, noting that such an operation was normally a county-state function.

Low bids were accepted on lubricating oils and grease for city equipment. Those accepted were Humble Oil & Refining Co., .479 cents, engine lube oil; Gulf Oil Corp., .72 cents, engine lube oil, type B; Continental Oil Co., .12 cents, transmission oil, .38 cents, hydraulic oil, and .11 cents kerosene; Mobil Oil Co., .1024 cents, diesel fuel; and Standard Oil Co. of Texas, .9917 cents, transmission oil for automatics, and .131 cents, lube grease.

Second reading approval was given for one on-premise beer and wine consumption permit, for the Old Lamplighter, Inc., IS 20 West.

Senator Hits College Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, the Texas Democrat who usually backs administration measures, criticized President Johnson's $250 million higher education bill.

Yarborough charged before a Senate education subcommittee the legislation would discriminate against war veterans.

The senator said he would oppose the bill unless amendments are accepted to give specific help to young men leaving military service.

Yarborough especially criticized a section providing $70 million in the first year to set up a college scholarship program to aid 140,000 children of low income families. He said an age limit of 21 on those scholarships means the majority of young veterans could not take advantage of it.

Wage Suits Filed On Treasure Hunt Company

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Bureau of Labor Statistics has filed three suits alleging non - payment of wages against a company digging for buried Spanish treasure near Salado.

Bell County Atty. John Cox filed the suits Tuesday against International Explorers, Inc., in justice court. No hearing date has been set. The suits name John Wilson of Houston as president of International Explorers.

They were filed on behalf of Daniel Dominques, who says the company owes him $134, David Dominguez, who seeks $144, and Joe Ortiz, who claims $30 is due him. All are from Belton.

The search has been going on for several months. Backers say the treasure was hidden in the cliffs along Salado Creek by Spanish conquistadores and may amount to $200 million.

Panel Okays Car Property Tax Measure

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislation aimed at enforcing payment of property taxes on automobiles won House Tax Committee approval Tuesday and moved to the calendar for debate.

The bill by Rep. John Traeger of Seguin was backed at a hearing by 30 county tax assessors-collectors.

"We have long needed legislation that would facilitate collection of auto taxes," said Pete Chennauer of Grand Prairie, president of the Texas Association of Assessing Officers.

Traeger's bill would require county tax collectors to receive proof that a car owner has paid his automobile property taxes before issuing him license plates.

"If the (auto) tax is not collected, the tax on other properties would have to be increased to make up the difference," said Norman Register, assessor-collector for the city of Dallas and the Dallas school district.

"BIGGEST HEADACHE"

He said collecting property taxes on automobiles is "the biggest headache a tax collector has to face."

Dallas automobiles are worth $4.6 million a year in taxes, Register said, but only $3.27 million is actually collected. Chennauer said Dallas has the best record for collecting the tax.

The committee also heard and sent to a subcommittee a bill by Rep. Pat Cain of Austin aimed at giving the state comptroller more power over cigarette distributor licenses.

Cain said the bill would help curb counterfeiting of cigarette tax stamps and meter impressions, which he said costs the state at least $4 million in revenue annually.

DENY LICENSE

The measure would allow the comptroller to deny a license if an applicant is found to be a poor tax risk because of his background or other factors.

It also would permit a hearing and license suspension if a distributor has violated conditions of his permit or violated the cigarette tax laws. No hearing is authorized by present law.

Senators have approved three proposed changes in the Texas Constitution this week and House members three, on topics ranging from judical and senatorial redistricting to four-year terms for state officials and an industrial loan program.

Opening lead: King of ◇ An alert bit of collaboration by East and West upset South's four heart contract and, tho declarer might have taken steps to protect himself, the defense deserves full credit for their shrewd teamwork.

West opened the king of diamonds. With the appearance of a singleton in dummy, East deemed it wise to overtake the king in order to make a club play thru the declarer. Inasmuch as it appeared probable that West held a high card in that suit as part of his opening bid, East shifted to the ten of clubs.

Declarer put up the king of clubs which held the trick, and West signaled with the queen. The ten of hearts was led from the closed hand, but West was not caught off guard. He rose with the ace and returned the jack of clubs. East overtook with the ace and returned the suit. West was able to overruff the dummy with the nine of hearts for the setting trick.

Perhaps South should have inferred from West's violent signal in clubs that the latter was short in that suit. If the declarer had correctly diagnosed the distribution, he could have foiled the neat defensive footwork by cashing three rounds of spades in order to discard a club from his hand before trumps were led.

When West gets in with the ace of hearts and returns a club to East's ace, South can ruff in with the ten of hearts from his hand to shut out his opponent and then pick up the remaining trump. The dummy is now high.

Cold Brings Light Mist

A trace of moisture was recorded in Big Spring last night following the entry of a new cold front. The experiment station thermometer registered a low of 26 degrees, and at 10:30 a.m. today the temperature had managed to creep up to 28 degrees.

A fine mist was falling early this morning, but there was no forecast of rain. Some strong winds Tuesday failed to bring forecast dust, but last night dropped the mercury from a high of 63 to the low 26. No ice was reported except in isolated spots.

The cold weather is expected to continue through tonight with a low of from 30 to 35 degrees, but a warming trend is expected Thursday afternoon with a high between 65 and 70 degrees.

Last night's cold weather was not expected to add to the damage done by last week's unseasonal low of 15 degrees on trees and plants, because of the moisture in the atmosphere.

Woman, Headed For Wake, Killed

RENSSELAER, N.Y., (AP) — Muriel Balsan, 64, was struck and killed by an automobile driven by her son-in-law Tuesday as he prepared to take her to a wake for his mother.

Police said Merlin Stone, 48, of Schodack Landing had gone to Mrs. Balsan's home. She was crossing in front of the car, police said, when it accidentally lurched forward.

Red Facility Hit, Ships Sunk In Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Eight South Vietnamese fighter-bombers destroyed a North Vietnamese radar station at Dong Hoi today and sank four Communist ships that fired on them off Quang Khe, a Vietnamese spokesman announced.

U.S. jets — their number unannounced — again flew as escorts. They shot up antiaircraft installations to suppress what was described as heavy hostile fire.

The radar station was the fourth reported knocked out of Hanoi's warning network by aerial raiders this month. The raid was the 11th in the series launched Feb. 7.

45 MILES NORTH

Dong Hoi is on the South China Sea about 45 miles north of the border. Quang Khe is 20 miles farther north.

The radar target consisted of "many two-storied buildings divided into the radar station, the antenna center and the command post," the spokesman said.

The Communists defended the installation with 100 antiaircraft cannon and machine guns, "but these were rapidly silenced and heavy damage was done to them," he said. One plane developed engine trouble, but limped back to Da Nang.

The ships were encountered as the Skyraiders flew north from Dong Hoi "in continuance of their reconnaissance mission."

RETURN SAFELY

The spokesman said the attack was launched at 4 p.m. and all the aircraft were safely back at their base at 5:15 p.m.

Communist agencies claimed some of the planes were downed. The New China News Agency said antiaircraft fire felled two. The Soviet news agency Tass said three were shot to earth.

Couple Recites Vows In Church Ceremony

Airman 2.C. and Mrs. Ronald E. Carter are at home at 1405 Wood following their marriage March 17 in the First Assembly of God Church. The double ring ceremony was performed at 6 p.m. by the Rev. Homer Rich, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Bowen, 1405 Wood, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Don Carter, Lorado, W. Va.

Nuptial organ music was provided by Mrs. Homer Rich who played and sang "Savior Like A Shepherd Lead Us."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length wedding dress of white brocade satin. The molded bodice featured a square neckline and long fitted sleeves ending in petal points over the wrists. Her small white hat was briefly veiled, and she wore a pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bridal bouquet was a cresent arrangement of white carnations and stephanotis backed with tulle and showered with white and mint green satin picot streamers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Mary Frances Grimsley. She was gowned in iridescent orchid and green taffeta and carried a nosegay of white carnations tied with satin ribbon.

The best man was Mike Cole of Webb Air Force Base.

The bride's parents joined the honored couple in greeting guests at a reception held in their home. Members of the house party were Mrs. Olen Grimsley, Mrs. J. D. Thomas and Miss Carol Ann Grimsley.

The refreshment table was covered with an ecru lace cloth, over mint green linen and the bride's bouquet was used as the centerpiece. The traditional cake was frosted with white and decorated with pink hearts and roses and green leaves. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

The bride attended Big Spring High School, and the bridegroom is stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for a wedding trip to Austin.

Surprise Anniversary Dinner Held For Merrill Creightons

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Creighton, 208 Washington, were the honorees for a surprise party Saturday evening in the banquet room at Coker's Restaurant. The occasion was the couple's silver wedding anniversary, and hosting the affair were their daughter, Sharon, of Dallas, and their sons, Cliff and Chris.

Twenty-five family members and close friends attended the dinner where Mrs. Creighton was presented a corsage of white orchids and her husband received a carnation boutonniere. To mark the date, the couple was presented a large silver tray.

White roses and pink carnations, interspersed with silver leaves, were placed in a silver bowl to form the centerpiece for the dining table. Accenting the arrangement were the numerals "25," and placed at intervals along the table were silver candelabra holding white tapers decorated with white lily of the valley.

A highlight of the evening was a mock wedding ceremony presented by Sharon, Cliff, Chris and Gloria Coker with the girls wearing the original dresses which Mrs. Creighton and her sister, Mrs. Chester Cathey, wore 25 years ago at the actual wedding. Bledsoe O'Brien read the "ceremony" as guests spoke up to reveal reasons the couple should not be married. In doing so, they cited humorous events which have occurred in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Creighton since their marriage March 24, 1940.

Following the skit, there was a reception where the table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a bride and groom. To one side were newspaper clippings concerning the wedding which was held in Big Spring. Mr. and Mrs. Creighton met while both were students at Big Spring High School.

Mrs. Creighton was attired in a blouson-style wool crepe dress of Paris pink.

A Devotional For The Day

Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. (Isaiah 53:4)

PRAYER: O most just and gracious Creator, we thank Thee that even suffering can be the means of victorious living for those who love Thee. Help us to attune our hearts to Thy will that we may inherit the rich blessings Thou hast in store for us. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Satisfying Results

Results of the first Gemini flight are more than satisfactory. Perhaps the balance of the program can be moved on schedule, even expedited.

Two things have been demonstrated clearly by this venture—that we can maneuver a vehicle in space, and that the United States has the thrust capable of lifting whatever pay loads are necessary for the completion of its immediate space goals.

While the capsule which carried two men aloft in an U. S. space vehicle for the first time was some two tons lighter than the reported weight of Russian capsules, the available thrust could have lifted the Russian payload.

By maneuvering in a modest manner, the two astronauts gave substance to a theory and opened a new phase of space exploration. Space craft undoubtedly will have the ability to rendezvous in space. This is, of course, an essential ingredient of plans to land on the moon, for those in the landing pod must be able to get back into the delivery capsule orbiting above the moon.

Although some seem to want to whisper about this, the larger and more immediate implication of this manueverability is to give space capsules a certain degree of military flexibility. For observation or other purposes, a space vehicle could be given capability to move over all areas of the globe. In time, it may be possible for astronauts to jockey a capsule so that it would hover in one spot for so long as operators chose to stay there.

Tremendous Task

The Texas Legislature, now grappling with congressional redistricting, should anticipate that the unaffected U. S. Senate soon will approve the U. S. House of Representatives' bill to set standards for the revised districts.

The U. S. Supreme Court has set no precise standards in ruling that congressional districts must have equal population representation. Last year the court called for a "practicable" degree of equality in Wesberry vs. Sanders, and in Reynolds vs. Sims for "substantial" equality.

Widespread speculation has been that the court will be stricter on congressional than on state legislative redistricting, that it may allow no more than 5 per cent variation either way. The U. S. House has just passed a bill that would allow 15 per cent variation either way from the average. It is believed in Congress that the court will accept that. Having such a fixed margin to shoot at, and that much leeway, should make the Texas Legislature's congressional redistricting task somewhat easier, though only three Texas districts now come within the House bill's allowed variation.

However, another provision of the U.S. House-passed bill will make that task more difficult. It would restore an earlier requirement that a congressional district must be as compact as practical. The intent of that is to eliminate, or minimize, gerrymandering, that is, the laying out of curiously shaped districts to gain partisan or other political advantage.

In Texas, "compact" districts will be difficult to achieve even where there is no gerrymandering or other political calculation involved. This is a state of great urban centers and wide-open spaces, and it is virtually impossible to lay out 23 congressional districts of equal population that are also compact. The task is tremendous.

This Time, Federal Troops Legal

WASHINGTON—For the first time since federal troops were mobilized in connection with racial disorders — in Arkansas in 1957, in Mississippi in 1962, and in Alabama in 1963—the President of the United States has acted in full conformity with the Constitution. For in the present instance the governor of a state has made a formal request for the help of federal forces—something which was absent on all previous occasions.

THE CONSTITUTION is explicit on the point. It says that federal troops are to be supplied as protection "against domestic violence" only when the governor or the legislature of a state requests military force. Oddly enough, Governor Wallace of Alabama in May 1963 specifically called this to the attention of the White House and later sought a ruling from the Supreme Court of the United States, pointing out that neither he nor the legislature had made any request for the use of federal troops to deal with the racial disturbances or to carry out school-desegregation orders in his state.

MOST AMERICANS are unfamiliar with the fact that in 1957—and in 1962 and in 1963 and today—the chief executive has been forbidden by law to use federal troops even to enforce a federal court order. For Congress in August of 1957, by unanimous vote, repealed the statute which had authorized a president to use federal troops "in the execution of judicial process."

The erroneous belief that federal troops can legally be used to enforce a court order has long prevailed, but the President of the United States is obligated to utilize only federal marshals to "execute the judicial process." U.S. marshals can arrest anyone interfering with the carrying out of a court order. If arrests are resisted and "domestic violence" results, even if a state is then unwilling or unable to give immediate protection to the marshals, it is nevertheless deemed necessary that reliance on the processes of the court be continued—namely, contempt proceedings and jail sentences.

UNDER THE Constitution, the federal government can send whatever military forces may be needed into any of the states to "protect each of them against invasion." Whenever there is "domestic violence," the Constitution authorizes the President also to provide protection—which could include the calling out of the state militia or use of federal forces—but this applies only "on application of the legislature, or the executive when the legislature cannot be convened."

GOVERNOR WALLACE last week wisely transferred to the federal government responsibility for maintenance of public order in Alabama in the present circumstances. He was acting in accordance with the federal Constitution in doing so. President Johnson plainly didn't like the transfer and showed his irritation over it at his Saturday press conference. But the fact is that the Alabama governor was taking a course which he believed would avert a possible loss of life or injury to citizens. For as long as the Alabama authorities were using their own police, the chances of incitement to violence and of disorder that could get out of hand were greater than would be the case with federal forces in charge.

Past experience has shown that there were possibilities of serious disturbances arising out of the march from Selma to Montgomery. However much the governor of Alabama or the President of the United States may dislike the fact that troops have had to be mobilized, it was the only solution in the circumstances.

Billy Graham

Please explain what you meant when you said we are saved by God's grace. Don't we have to believe in Christ to be saved? K.G.

We are saved both by God's grace and our faith in Christ. They are not two ways of being saved but two aspects of the same thing. Grace means "unmerited favor." It means that we receive something we do not deserve. God saved us, not because of something we have done or can do, but rather because of something he has done for us. That is His grace. But God does not force this salvation on us. He offers it to us and we either reject it or we receive it, by faith. Grace is God's giving, faith is man's receiving. When your employer pays you your wages, or salary, that is not grace because you have earned what you receive. But if something is given you as a present, when you deserved punishment or censure, that could be likened to grace. That is what God has done for us, giving us His Son as our Saviour from sin. The Bible says: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God, not of works, lest any man should boast."

Viet War Ugliness To Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Vietnamese war, shoved out of much of the American mind by space shots and civil rights excitement, will be back, uglier and perhaps bigger.

This country intensified the war against the Communists to make them back up and seek a truce. They haven't backed up, they haven't sought a truce, and they're fighting harder.

Six weeks ago, after they attacked an American air base in South Viet Nam, the United States stepped up the conflict with a bombing raid on North Viet Nam.

"We want no wider war," President Johnson said, although the bombing widened it. The bombing raids continued until now they are almost commonplace but the Communists show no signs of yielding. On the contrary.

THIS WEEK Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, said the Red guerrillas there are beginning an all-out drive for victory. "Now one senses we may be arriving at a decisive point," he said. He said more.

He startled and worried this country's British ally, even though it had approved the stepped-up U.S. efforts, when he said there are no limits on how much the war may be intensified.

And then he indicated this country may have changed its mind if it thought bombing raids could make the Communists see the light. Now he says the United States may get into the ground fighting in South Viet Nam.

THE IRONY in the American effort to save the South Vietnamese from being overwhelmed is that they have far more than enough men to do their own fighting, if they had the will and the training. Taylor acknowledged this obliquely.

He said sufficient military, paramilitary and police manpower must be trained to outman the Red guerrillas. Yet, this war has been going on for years and through the administrations of three presidents.

Thinking of where all this may be heading, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson said Tuesday he wants an explanation of Taylor's statement that there are no limits on how much the war may be stepped up.

This came on top of news from Saigon that the U.S. and South Vietnamese forces are experimenting with nonlethal gas warfare against the Reds.

Signposts To Middle Age

NEW YORK (AP) — What is middle age?

According to the dictionary, it is "the period of life between the ages of about 40 and about 60."

Like most dictionary definitions, this one is crass, unimaginative and downright unhelpful. For it clearly implies that, if middle age ends at "about 60," then old age must begin at about 61.

This is rampant nonsense. Call a woman of 61 an old lady, and she'll scratch your freckles out; call a man of 61 an old man, and you'd better duck fast.

THE GOVERNMENT starts doling out financial lollipops at 65, but does that necessarily mean we're really old? Hardly. Even at 70 an individual hates to admit he's old at last. He may admit he's elderly, but he'd probably rather just say he's getting on in years."

Age isn't altogether a matter of either the calendar or how you look. Many skinny little babies at two weeks look more antique when they yawn than does a man at 75.

Middle age is determined by your attitude toward life — by how you feel and what you do — as much as it is by the number of your birthdays.

Here are a few signposts that let you know you are middle-aged:

Instead of playing singles at tennis you always play doubles.

Every time the stock market goes up a few points you start figuring how rich you'd be if you'd only bought a few shares back at the end of the second World War.

YOU'VE TRIED all the new wonder drugs and find that none of them work in your case.

When you meet an old fraternity friend from college days and he gives you the secret grip, you forget how to return it.

They don't have winters like they did in the old days, but it does seem to rain more often now.

On Saturday afternoons in spring you'd rather sit in the back yard and watch a bird feed its young than go all the way out to the ball park to see a game.

You mail more get-well cards to friends than greeting cards.

Shoes feel heavier than they used to. So do snow shovels. So do you.

At the seashore you'd rather lie on the beach or go for a walk than plunge in and battle the waves. They get rougher every year.

You get more critical of women. When you see a pretty girl, your admiration is tempered by a cautious suspicion that her paint job probably hides a bad disposition.

When you see a group of noisy teenage youths approaching, you consider crossing to the other side of the street. No telling what kids will do these days.

To Your Good Health

General Practitioners Study Psychiatric Techniques

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of six consecutive articles dealing with new hope for increasing mental health, and the significant changes that are taking place in the treatment of emotional illness.)

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

There are at least three main benefits from the increasing tide of physicians who are adding basic psychiatry to their skills.

First, there aren't enough psychiatrists to meet the need. It takes time and money to train a psychiatrist. After a man has finished medical school, has served his internship and has finally become a fully-licensed physician, psychiatry still requires several more years of training.

The U. S. Government provides funds to train more psychiatrists. For instance, a physician with two or more years of practice can apply for as much as $12,000 to finance his study of psychiatry as a resident at a hospital or accredited teaching clinic.

This gives him a living wage, or "residency salary," while he engages in the long study. But despite this financial encouragement, there is still an acute shortage of psychiatrists.

Hence the alternative, training of practicing physicians to care for the less severe emotional problems, can relieve the shortage to some further extent.

Second, such training provides enough skill to recognize some cases early enough to prevent them from becoming serious. For years it has been recognized that early diagnosis is the key to averting a great deal of severe mental illness. The question has been how to find these early cases. We now are taking a step forward in that direction.

And third, vast numbers of people have emotional problems which, while they may never reach advanced stage, still cause much misery, physical as well as mental.

The chronic tension headache, thousands of cases of ulcers and probably millions of stomach distress, backache, muscular pains resulting from unrelieved tension—these are some of the commoner types of psychosomatic illnesses. They stem, so very often, from emotional stress, and they are going to be corrected only by relieving that stress. Physical treatment or medicine won't do it because physical factors aren't what caused the trouble.

Severe itching, hives, infertility, colitis, chronic fatigue, flatulence, cramps, palpitation and some kinds of difficulty in breathing are other conditions which, while they may stem from physical causes, may also come from purely emotional ones. And we've only scratched the surface of the list.

I grant that not all doctors—far from even a majority—have taken these special courses in psychiatric techniques. In some communities it may be only a handful. But more are doing so now.

I might add a fourth important benefit from this program, although it is not limited to doctors with this special training. I asked a specialist what advice he would offer to readers who, more and more often these days, are asking such questions as, "Where can I go in my particular city for psychiatric treatment?"

His answer was, without qualification, "They should ALWAYS go to their own physician first!"

Why? Several reasons. Important as emotional problems are, we shouldn't go overboard. An assessment of possible physical factors should always go hand in hand with a search for emotional ones.

Furthermore, there's a world of difference between the person who merely needs some support, encouragement and perhaps temporary sedation, and the one who is in urgent need of deep psychiatric therapy. The "sorting out" can save time and money for everyone.

Around The Rim

Delivering On Its Promises

Personally, I got a lot of satisfaction out of the robust approval which voters gave the junior college bond issue Saturday. The 8-1 margin represents, after nearly two decades of operation, some increase in support because the establishment of the college district and the original bond issue rated a 7-1 majority.

THE IDEA of a college in Big Spring goes back to the early 30's, and before that decade was out there had been some serious effort to crystalize the proposal. About that time, however, the war clouds were gathering, and then the storm broke. By the latter part of 1945 the war was ending.

Community leaders agreed that if a college ever was to be created here and if it was to fulfill its immediate opportunity, it had to be done in time to provide for young men coming back from military service.

THE HERALD joined hands with the Chamber of Commerce and with other agencies and community leaders in pushing for a college. In the fall, the State Board of Education gave its blessing.

The arguments then were pretty much the same as last week when voters were asked to provide more money for more buildings.

"THE QUESTION is whether it (the college) will contribute to the community and area in an educational way, and to such an extent that it will be justified," The Herald observed. Then brushing aside the talk that it would be nondescript sort of institution, the paper added: "We cannot conceive that a people would vote for its establishment, pay for its support, and then demand anything less than a real institution of service."

VIRTUALLY ALL community leaders and businessmen go on record favoring establishment of the college.

Several purchased quarter page ads to hammer for an institution which would provide an opportunity for more students to get higher education, which would offer vocational and terminal training, pre-professional training, guidance, adult education, more economical college education. What was more pressing, they hit steadily at the need for a place where veterans could go to school before or while they were getting reestablished.

VOTERS APPROVED the district 614-90, the original tax levy by 614-94 and issuance of the original $200,000 by 609-97. The original board composed of Dr. P. W. Malone (who alone still serves on the board), R. T. Piner, Mrs. J. E. Brigham, L. H. Thomas, A. J. Stallings, Leroy Echols, and Otis Grafa didn't waste any time. Members hired the late E. C. Dodd as the first president, and secured the hospital area of the old bombardier school as a plant. Somehow, a faculty and some equipment were marshaled in time for registration on Sept. 30, 1946. Sure enough, for the first few years, the overwhelming percentage registering was from ranks of veterans.

BY THE TIME the force of this tide subsided, high school graduates were coming on in in increasing numbers. There were a few years in which enrollment dipped, but by and large, there has been a steady climb. In 1952 a permanent home was built on 100 acres which later was surrounded by residential area, and veterans who had been befriended by the college had a big hand in swinging this. Later voters provided an industrial arts building, an enlarged gymnasium, new wing for science and library, and a music building. Last week they came through again in a wonderful way. It made me feel that the college is delivering on what it promised.

Preparing For Jobs

EDISON, New Jersey — It was a Tuesday afternoon here at the Kilmer Job Corps Center, but there weren't any job corpsmen on the job.

This reporter walked through empty classrooms, training shops and barracks, and except for a couple of boys in the sick bay — nobody was home. The 80-odd corpsmen had been bussed into nearby New Jersey towns to spend $75 apiece on a shopping trip. It seemed a funny way to wage War on Poverty.

BUT REPORTERS live and learn. There may be frill courses in other job corps centers, but not at Kilmer. This one is run on an $11 million contract by a private enterprise firm, the Federal Electric Corporation, a subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. The whole idea is to turn out-of-school, out-of-work youngsters, aged 16 to 21, into productive members of society. The shopping tour is part of the curriculum. It was preceded by group discussions, led by merchants from the towns, on the purchase of durable, modest, good-taste clothing. It has a lot to do with how-to-get-a-job.

LATE IN THE afternoon, the reporter interviewed a random panel of corpsmen at the recreation building. Paul was here from West Virginia. He wanted to finish his schooling and become a phys. ed. instructor. Tony, from New Jersey, wanted to become a repairman of business machinery, and maybe go on into electronics. He said he didn't understand mathematics and couldn't read a blueprint, but he'd come here to learn. Two Mexican-extracted boys from San Antonio hoped to work up to jobs in service stations or garages, but they spoke poor English. They were taking instruction in remedial speaking. Part of the course was reading aloud with a teacher; part of it was mechanized by the aid of a sound simulator called the Language Master manufactured by Bell and Howell.

THE REPORTER who had expected to find "slush stories" and to hear gutter talk didn't experience this, either. Most of the trainees come from broken homes, usually fatherless and always poverty-ridden. But seriousmindedness is the rule and self-pity is almost non-existent. After several weeks of association with the skilled professionals in charge of training, the corpsmen have found the element that was missing at school — an interest in their work.

THERE HAVE been dropouts among the dropouts. Ten of the 96 enlistees who reported to Kilmer since February have quit. The main reason seems to have been no deep or uncommon maladjustment, but plain homesickness.

Except for being poor and disadvantaged, the Kilmer corpsmen don't appear to be any different from the rest of their generation. They go to dances on Saturday night and to churches of their faiths on Sunday. By far the majority of them hope to find that job — back home.

The Truth About Viet Nam

WASHINGTON — Scarcely a month ago as the truth - seeking hindsight flies, U Thant stirred up the conditioned reflexes that lurk in all editorial pages when he said the American people "if they know the true facts, will feel that further bloodshed is unnecessary and that negotiations alone can create conditions which would enable the United States to withdraw gracefully" from Viet Nam.

A LOT OF chronically short fuses sputtered angrily at the suggestion the American people are not being told the score in Viet Nam, and poor Uncle T. was compelled to issue a statement that appeared to disavow what he'd said the day before.

Now we find that U Thant was uttering prophetic truth of a high order.

The American people are not being told the truth about the clandestine war that is being carried out against North Viet Nam. American reporters have been arrested by U. S. troops and they have been denied access to news at its source in Viet Nam.

REPORTERS HAVE been forbidden access to officers' clubs and mess facilities at the Da Nang airbase and in the city of Da Nang.

This sort of totalitarian abuse never occurred in the blackest days of World War II. The theory in that war was that the people who were paying for it and sending their sons to die in it were entitled to know about it. Rump-sprung old correspondents flew combat missions, landed on beaches, shared the dangers with the tough young kids who did the fighting. Ray Clapper and Ernie Pyle, to name just two of a gallant and tragic company, died in combat — armed with nothing but their determination to see the truth and write it.

THERE IS NO security consideration in the news controversy in Viet Nam. War reporters all exercise built-in pre-censorship; indeed all willingly submit to more formal censorship when circumstances demand it. But pruning potentially harmful facts from copy and choking news off at the source are two vastly different things. In the first instance, the enemy is properly deprived of information that might help him. In the second, it is the American people who are kept in shameful ignorance.

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, who once shuttled between Saigon and Washington like an optimistic yo-yo, has long been displeased by the nature of the reporting from Viet Nam. He should have been, of course, because accounts by the press corps seldom jibed with the Defense Department's own rosy estimate that the war was being won.

SOME WEEKS ago Mr. McNamara instituted a dangerous innovation by offering selected stateside journalists free 10-day junkets to Saigon, where they were to be met by military shepherds.

These circumstances bring into sharp question the reliability of the accounts of the war that are being made available to the American people. Many air raids against North Vietnamese targets are now recounted only by Radio Hanoi — a bitter commentary on the present Pentagonian view of the people's right to know.

Dick Stuart Sees Problems For Sox

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Stuart, whose long-distance home runs are exceeded only by the enormity of his immodesty, was talking about the winter trade that sent him from Boston to Philadelphia for pitcher Dennis Bennett.

"Wouldn't it be something if Bennett came up with a sore arm this season?" asked Stuart, who feels Boston didn't receive enough in exchange for him. "Do you think the Red Sox brass would get jumped on a little?"

The Red Sox brass might be pondering that very thought today following Bennett's departure from an exhibition baseball game with a sore left shoulder.

The painful exit came during the fourth inning Tuesday, just after the Los Angeles Angels scored the run that eventually gave them a 1-0 victory.

After allowing only one hit in 3 1-3 innings, Bennett was rocked for a double by Jim Fregosi and a triple by Lou Clinton. The southpaw threw three balls to Costen Shockley, then signaled Manager Billy Herman to the mound.

"My arm hurt like a toothache from the time I started warming up," Bennett explained afterward. "I was gradually losing my stuff so I felt why force it?

The situation, though, could have Boston officials worrying about the value of the 25-year-old hurler, who was plagued with arm trouble last season and finished with a 12-14 record for the Phillies.

Stuart, incidentally, singled across the winning run in the ninth inning Tuesday night in Philadelphia's 5-4 victory over St. Louis.

In other games, Houston defeated Washington 7-5, Kansas City whipped the New York Yankees 6-5, San Francisco stopped the Chicago Cubs 7-3, Cincinnati dropped Detroit 9-1, the New York Mets knocked off Baltimore 5-2, Cleveland turned back another Angel squad 10-3, and the Chicago White Sox beat Minnesota 3-1.

Star Quarter-Miler

Pictured above is Steve Langham of Dallas, who has proved almost unbeatable in the 440-yard race for Howard County Junior College the past two seasons. Langham, Border Olympics champion in his specialty the past two years, is conditioning himself for a dual meet with the ACC freshmen in Abilene Friday.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Husky Jeff Brown, accompanied by his wife, left last weekend for Florida to begin conditioning for his third season of professional baseball.

Jeff shouldn't have very far to go to attain the ideal shape for the rigors and the demands of the diamond sport, since he ran countless miles up and down the basketball court the past season as an official in the Arlington area.

BROWN

The fence-socking Big Springer attended the fall term of school at Arlington State College, where someday he hopes to qualify for a classroom teacher's certificate.

In all, he officiated about 120 basketball games. He is registered in the 100-member Fort Worth chapter of the SBOA, has designs on piling up enough experience to qualify as a whistle-tooter in collegiate circles.

Brown and other farm hands of the New York Mets will do their conditioning at Homestead, starting March 26. That's about 30 miles closer to the equator than Miami. Last year Brown trained at Sanford, which is up around Orlando.

The West Texan, who set an all-time Big Spring High School record two springs ago by clubbing 13 home runs, is now on the Auburn, N.Y., roster of the New York-Pennsylvania league. He opened at Auburn last year but saw no action until after July 7, at which time he was sent to Williamsport of the Eastern league.

The Eastern league season will open about April 20, the NYP about a week after that

The 205-pound 20-year-old hit about .210 for Williamsport last year. He figures to improve upon that considerably this season. He's never regretted having taken a bonus from the Mets, relishes the life and the opportunity baseball offers.

Down at the University of Houston, they're calling the fabulous San Antonio Negro football player, Warren McVea, "Mack The Knife."

They're hoping to build McVea into the biggest gate attraction in the state and take some of the gloss off Rice's appeal to the college football buffs in that city.

Officials of the National Little League have decided not to book Wednesday night games this season.

Apparently, all the other small fry circuits in town will schedule games for that night.

The National circuit will solve the problem of working in enough games by scheduling two contests each Saturday.

None of the Western Conference schools apparently has enough over-all strength to hold off HCJC in track this season, although the Hawks are not as strong as usual.

Several of the schools have outstanding individuals, however. Odessa College boasts a fine distance runner in Julio Leon, who will score a flock of points for the Wranglers.

Lubbock Christian has an outstanding half-miler named Bobby Nelson (of Quanah). His coach, Hugh Rhodes, reasons his boy can run a 1:51.0 before the year is over.

Arthur Rodriquez won the event in 1:55.5 in the National Juco meet here last May.

If you saw Joe Namath of Alabama perform in the last Orange Bowl game, you'll be able to spot him right away in telecasts involving the New York Jets this fall.

He'll be wearing the same number (12) he sported in college.

Connie Mills In Charge As Lamesa Triumphs, 6-4

COLORADO CITY — Lamesa took a 6-4 victory here Tuesday over the Colorado City Wolves.

The Wolves were looking for their first win in four starts at the outset of the game. Lamesa is now 5-2 for the season.

Colorado City started off with a bang, scoring two unearned runs in the opening inning, but Lamesa kept fighting back and finally went ahead by counting twice in the fourth.

Connie Mills, a nifty little righthander, set the Wolves down with only three hits. He fanned six and walked as many.

Skipper Warren started on the mound for Colorado City and worked until the fifth, when the Tornadoes erupted for three runs.

David McKay came on in relief and had no trouble with the visitors.

Colorado City returns to play Saturday, meeting Odessa Ector in a doubleheader in Odessa.

DICK SISLER

Sisler Must Make Ripple On His Own

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Dick Sisler is on his own this year. Make no mistake about it. The Cincinnati Reds will bear the imprint of Sisler, who was acting manager last year when Fred Hutchinson, stricken with the cancer that was to claim his life, no longer was able to continue.

Sisler and his coaching staff know it is up to them to carry on. They are in the midst of the tough job of making the decisions that could turn a pennant contender into a championship team.

"I think we have the best pitching staff in the league," said Sisler. "But we have got to try to score some more runs."

Sisler's most important move has been the shift of Deron Johnson to third base and the use of Gordy Coleman at the first base job he surrendered to Johnson last year.

The Reds are fortunate in having a fine crop of young infielders from the San Diego farm club that won the Pacific Coast League pennant. Foremost among them is Tommy Helms, a .309-hitting shortstop, who is giving Leo Cardenas a scramble for his job.

FINE PROMISE

Gus Gil at second and Tony Perez at first are other San Diego graduates who show great promise for the future. However, Pete Rose appears firmly established at second base, with handy Chico Ruiz to back him up.

"The key to our offense is the hitting of Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson," said Sisler. "Robinson can be a great leader. He is an outstanding ball player. He had a good year last year but he wasn't satisfied. He wants more home runs and runs batted in. Pinson had an off year at .266 but don't forget he drove in 84 runs and hit 23 homers. If we're going to do better, those two are the boys who have to do it."

Tommy Harper, slow to bloom after great promise in the minors, probably will be the left fielder although Sisler also has ex-Cardinal Charlie James, Marty Keough, Mel Queen and Art Shamsky.

John Edwards, an outstanding catcher with a steadily climbing batting average, does all the heavy work, Jim Coker was a big help late last season in the drive that finally ended in a second-place tie with Philadelphia.

Reagan, Ford Tops In Shoot

H. B. Reagan and Roy Ford emerged as first place winners in last Sunday's shoot held at the Mesquite Gun Club northeast of town, an event that attracted 20 entries.

Reagan won in light varmint shooting, using a 9.5 pound weapon and firing 10 shots at a distance of 100 yards.

Jimmy Medford finished second and Skeeter Davidson third in that division.

Ford was tops in the heavy varmint shooting, making use of a 10.5 weapon and firing 10 shots at 100 yards.

Harold Broughton was second and Delbert Stanley third in that class.

The next round of activity takes place April 4, at which time competition will be held in pistol (10 shots at 25 yards), offhand and rimfire and centerfire for score.

Members of the club will hold a business meeting in the Gay Hill school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m., April 26.

Clay Goes On Stage When Press Is Near

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "Let Cassius see a few guys with pencils in their hands and he changes completely," says Angelo Dundee, manager and trainer of the world heavyweight boxing champion. "He suddenly goes on stage."

Cassius Clay, alias Muhammad Ali, is the first to acknowledge that he is a big ham, although ham or any form of pork is an obscene word to his Black Muslim religion.

"It's just a gimmick," the champ confides when he escapes from the hurly-burly and relaxes in the steamy broom closet that serves as his dressing room at the Fifth Street Gym.

"I yell and I rant. I bang my cane. I run off my big mouth. People think I'm crazy until I make good my boasts—like last year against that big ugly bear, Sonny Liston.

SOME OFFENDED

"Some people get offended by my bragging. But they talk about me, and they come out hoping to see me get my head knocked off. It helps boxing and brings bigger crowds."

Cassius still chortles over the wild demonstration he staged at the weigh-in before his title fight with Liston here last Feb. 25. With a glassy look in his eye, he stormed around the ring, brandishing his fists and bellowing loud threats.

He was a man gone berserk. His friends couldn't restrain him. Observers thought he was crazed by fear of facing Liston. Psychiatric tests were called for and experts said he'd never answer the bell. The boxing commission fined him $2,500.

That evening Clay, a 7-1 underdog, entered the ring relaxed and determined, and proceeded to chop the cumbersome Liston into a hamburger state before Sonny declined to answer the bell for the seventh round.

"I sure fooled you guys that time," the champion said with a mischievous wink.

NEW GIMMICK

Clay contends he will have a brand new gimmick—a startling one—for his return engagement with Liston at Boston May 25.

"I'm working on it and it will be earth-shaking," he said, the gleam returning to his wide brown eyes. "I may fly to another country and stay until the day of the fight. I may do something even more sensational."

Somebody noted that the champion hadn't come with any poetic gems lately—you know, such as:

"You can believe this jive, I'll win in five."

"I'll win in eight, to prove I'm great."

"I got a few poems left in my system," Cassius said, "but I'm trying to change my image."

The new image apparently will not alter Clay's love for the spotlight and his sense of majesty in his role as the best fighter in the world.

He commutes between his Miami home—a stucco bungalow on 15th Court in a Negro section of Miami to the Miami Beach gym above a drug store—in a bright red Cadillac, with his three-man entourage.

As crowds swarm around him, he raises his hand in a kingly gesture and yells:

"I am the greatest. I am the prettiest. I am the purest. I am the most popular champion in all the world."

The champion likes to tell of his universal popularity—the palace they gave him in Pakistan, the holy mountain they presented him in Ghana with a house on top with air-conditioning and hot running water—and the little people that idolize him throughout the world.

"I am a living legend, the most popular athlete who ever lived," he boasts. "A hundred billion people think I am the greatest."

Then another crowd will gather.

"Who's the champ—who's the greatest?" Cassius bellows.

"You, Cassius," comes the echo.

Local Girls Clinch Title

Pat Drake's Steerettes of Big Spring High School sewed up first place in District 2-AAAA girls' volleyball standings by belting Abilene, 15-11, 15-7, here Tuesday night.

Now 5-0 in conference, the local girls close out with San Angelo here next Tuesday evening.

Sue Burns led the Big Spring scoring in the first game last night with seven points, at which time Sheila Powell, Rita Bragg and Jan Worthan were at the net.

Powell paced the point-getting in the afterpiece with five points, at which time Worthan, Bragg and Lucy Thornton were up front.

In B team action, Big Spring also won, 15-12, 15-8. Carol Strum led Big Spring in the first game with nine points while Donna Cobb tallied seven in the second go.

The Steerettes return to competition in two games with Lamesa here Thursday night. B team play opens at 6.30 p.m. In an added attraction, the Goliad ninth graders oppose the Lamesa ninth grade contingent at 5:30 p.m.

Simmons Looking For Catcher

Players Ante Up Little Of Fund

NEW YORK (AP) — The Major League Players Pension Fund has paid out almost $4.5 million in pensions, life insurance and health care to baseball players, former players and their families since 1947.

Commissioner Ford Frick said Monday $33 million had been contributed to the fund, with less than 10 per cent — about $2.9 million — coming from the players. Television revenue from World Series and All-Star games has made up the bulk of contributions.

Frick said 785 players and former players are eligible for benefits by virtue of having played in the majors for five years or more. Of the total membership, 239 are still active in the big leagues.

D'Amato Device Interests Fans

HILLSDALE, N.J. (AP) — It was a great day for scientific progress. First, Gemini at Cape Kennedy. Then, Cus D'Amato's "apparatus" at Jose Torres' fight camp here.

D'Amato's invention doesn't rank with the two-man space flight in the great scheme of things, perhaps. But he obviously considers it the biggest thing since they took prizefights off barges.

D'Amato, training Torres for his title bout with light-heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano at Madison Square Garden March 30, unveiled the contraption Tuesday. It got mixed reviews.

The apparatus, with sound accompaniment, is designed to develop combination punching. It is a mattress rolled around a heavy punching bag placed in a heavy wooden frame on the wall. Painted on the mattress is the outline of a head and torso, labeled "Willie," with numbers 1 through 10 at strategic spots —7 on the face, 1 and 2 on either side of the chin, and so on.

With his own voice barking out a series of numbers from a tape recorder, Torres responds by throwing a sequence of punches to the designated points. The 28-year-old Puerto Rican has worked with the apparatus for some weeks, off and on, and is quite proficient.

"6-5-2-1-2," commanded the recorder — and Torres just as quickly ripped two punches to the body and three to the chin. "1-2-5-6-1" — two to the chin, two to the body, another to the chin.

D'Amato claims Torres can unleash a sequence of five punches in two-fifths of a second, which is fast indeed. But the skeptics wanted to know if Pastrano, a remarkably quick man, would oblige by standing stilllong enough for the combinations to work, and if punches that fast and short had any steam.

D'Amato said he was sure there'd be time enough, and power enough.

Brundage Plans Trip To Mexico

Police Check Two Burglaries

Two burglaries were being investigated by police here this morning, both reported during the night, at the Reed Oil Co. service station at 1628 E. 3rd and the Dale White Music Co., 1903 Gregg.

At the service station, officers said entry was gained through the front door and a safe in the floor broken open. Coy Turner, manager, reported about $285 in checks, silver and currency missing.

The music store was apparently entered through the rear door, police said. Two guitars, two amplifiers and about $5 in change was reported missing.

Machines For Teaching Demonstrated For Trustees

Larger classes, less paper grading, less copying or cheating, less time for calling roll, and fewer school dropouts could result for schools if a machine, demonstrated to the Big Spring school board last night, could be used in classrooms, according to its sponsors. It is the Math-Master EDEX, a classroom communicator - grading system demonstrated by George McAlister and two assistants, Harold Davis and Derle Everette.

Two models were used in the demonstrations. The first may be used as a multi-media teaching system in which tape recorded programs may be used in connection with film, slides, film strips, or overhead projectors, all automatically controlled through magnetic impulses on the tape. The smaller model is for the use of an overhead projector. Student response is registered on the machine through student-stations.

PUSH BUTTON

Each system is equipped to handle from 20 to 60 students, with a panel of lights on the base. Each light is connected to a student station and, when the button is pressed, the light goes on. If a question is asked, every student in the room answers by pressing one of the ABCD buttons on his response station instead of a single answer under the present "raise your hand" or "teacher selects the student to answer" method. Counters connected with the response station records and registers correct responses which the teacher may grade through a dial system.

A seating chart for each class is prepared by the teacher, with student names placed over the light panel. As each student comes in, he presses a button to record his attendance. If one is absent the teacher places a quick mark by the name and can record absentees in her register later.

"With the use of the EDEX in teaching mathematics," McAlister said, "the teacher may use as many as four optional answers, only one of which is right. The student presses the button to indicate his answer. If a student fails to answer it is recorded on the light panel and the teacher can determine which students need individual instructions. Complicated geometry problems may be worked with figures marked with the four ABCD letters on the response stations.

PERCENTAGE

"The four dials on the panel also show the percentage of students answering A, B, C, or D. In fact, other courses may be taught with the use of the machine and true or false questions asked to get the students' response," McAlister continued. "All buttons on the student responders are recessed so that Johnny can't see what Mary is punching. If a student begins to watch finger positions on responders the buttons may be changed to different combinations to eliminate "same position' watching."

He pointed out the time saved in roll calling, in paper grading, and the advantage of the teacher's being able to tell how many students are participating in answering questions.

McAlister said the large machines were not recommended for single classrooms because of the cost and unneeded multi-media aids used with it, but said the smaller machine would make students "response conscious" and could lead to elimination of dropouts of students who would not respond audibly.

"Few students would feel embarrassed in punching a button in class, but many have a hesitancy in giving oral answers. If the teacher knows which students need individual attention on certain subjects, he can arrange conferences or "aid sessions" to give this attention and raise the student's interest," he said.

In pointing out the uses of the two models, McAlister said many large businesses are adopting them for training employes. These include airlines, the air force, trucking companies and business schools, along with vocational training sections of large corporations.

HIGH COST

Cost of the small models, with grading systems for multiples of 10 students, from 20 to 60 will run from $3,350 to over $6,000, he said, with 50 per cent available through state-administrated federal education funds. Student response stations may be portable and placed on each desk or may be made permanent fixtures.

Dr. C. L. Ainsworth, director of educational services for the school system, followed the demonstrations with a brief explanation of how modern math methods differed from the old methods, and how it is to be used in the school when new books go into use next September.

Brochure For Tourist Gets Committee OK

A brochure, pointing out places of interest in the Big Spring area for tourists, was approved by members of the petroleum committee of the chamber of commerce Tuesday afternoon. The brochures will be placed in service staitons for distribution to tourists, and in other places of business where tourists may stop.

The committee, headed by Jerry Worthy, set the night of April 26 for a Service Station Appreciation dinner sponsored by wholesalers and jobbers of petroleum products. This will precede a school to be held later for service station operators and attendants when they will be trained in giving information to tourists. Place for the dinner will be announced later. Operators and their wives will be the honor guests.

Freeland Austin, chairman; L. G. King and George Oldham, make up the committee on arrangements for the dinner. Speaker, already chosen, will be George Jordan, head of the tourist department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Some 29 points of interest in the Big Spring area, from ranches to oil wells, to the big spring, were suggested by the 13 members present. These will be screened for use in the brochure which is scheduled for printing within a month.

George Oldham and Pat Boatler were appointed as a committee to make contacts for the dinner April 26.

Concert Series To Close Thursday

Lois Hunt and Earl Wrightson will climax the current series of the Big Spring Concert Association when they are presented at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in the Municipal Auditorium.

The duo appeared Tuesday evening at Abilene and were warmly received as Wrightson and Miss Hunt spun a musical history of New York stage music.

"Wrightson reached way back to begin with Victor Herbert's 'Everyday Is Ladies Day with Me' . . . and he and Miss Hunt sang Rodgers and Hart's 'On a Desert Isle with Thee' for a humorous night . . . Their biggest hand was probably for 'Showboat' perennials . . . Both Wrightson and Miss Hunt have pleasant stage personalities which complement their magnificent voices. It made a good show with a bit of spring . . ." wrote the reviewer for the Abilene newspaper.

Both Wrightson and Miss Hunt are veterans of concert stage, television and other media, and long before they appeared together, each was a star. While they possess a perfect tonal blend, they also do many selections solo, adding to the variety of the program. The repertoire consists of songs which are all-time favorites and range from pop tunes to light opera.

Concert officials are anxious for a large turnout to close out the season. For one thing, they plan to make a survey at the concert on whether patrons would like to have reserve seats (at an extra fee) for next year. One tentative plan is to reserve a large portion downstairs, using additional revenues to add to program offerings. Unreserved seats still would be available.

Funds Sought For Screwworm Fight

Howard County ranchers and farmers are being asked to contribute a proportionate share of the $300,000 Texas must raise to carry on the screwworm eradication program this summer.

A meeting is being held this afternoon in the office of Herb Helbig, county farm agent, to discuss the method by which the local contributions can be collected and expedited.

It is pointed out that in 1964, cattlemen and sheepmen of Howard County had no loss from screwworm infection. Not a single case of screwworms was found in the county during the season.

The screwworm eradication program was launched in 1961. At that time, farmers and ranchers were asked to contribute on the basis of 50 cents for each head of cattle owned and 10 cents per head for each adult sheep.

In 1962, the program got in action and a sharp drop in screwworm infection was shown. In 1963 only a handful of confirmed cases were reported in the county and in each instance the screwworm program immediately flew in shipments of impotent male flies and dropped them in the area. As a result of this program of saturation, there were no cases at all in 1964.

Under the new plan which is being discussed, it is tentatively suggested that each rancher pay in 10 cents per animal unit. A unit under this plan is a cow or five sheep. The $300,000 needed will supplement state funds of $250,000 to carry on the sterilization program through July. At that time, USDA funds, already requested, will be provided to carry on the work.

Helbig estimated there are approximately 9,000 head of cattle in the county and between 5,000 and 6,000 head of sheep.

The contribution to be asked of local stockmen, he pointed out, will not be large. The grand total would be approximately $1,200.

The meeting today is to determine how to collect the funds and to designate banks or other agencies to receive payments. It is urgent that the program be put in action without loss of time, the county agent said.

Police Get 3 New Cars

Three new police cars are scheduled to be delivered to the city today, Director of Public Works Ernest Lillard reported. The new vehicles will receive radio and siren equipment before being put into service.

The units were ordered recently from the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant at Arlington.

Two lift stations for the Beals Branch trunk sewer line have been shipped from the Davco Corporation plant in Thomasville, Ga., Lillard said. Total cost of the two lift stations is about $37,000. Lillard said installation of the stations on the Beals Branch line will probably begin next week.

Some 28 garbage containers which arrived at the city warehouse last week are being painted, prior to distribution in the city. Included are 20 three-cubic-yard and eight four-cubic-yard containers, from a San Antonio plant.
