Levies On Nation's Little Income Taxpayers Wiped Out

Entirely New Tax Bill Is Approved By Senate Group

Measure Goes To Senate Floor Conforming More Closely To Roosevelt's Wealth Distribution Program; Influence Of Administration Is Seen In Startling Upset Of Plans

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. — Suddenly reversing itself under a burst of bi-partisan criticism, the senate finance committee today rejected higher taxes for small-income Americans and approved a completely rewritten "wealth tax" bill.

It goes to the senate floor conforming more closely to President Roosevelt's "wealth distribution" program. Some read in the startling upset during a heated committee session evidences of administration influence in ripping out levies approved Saturday which would hit little incomes, and brought an estimated 1,500,000 more voters into the taxpaying fold.

House Would Refuse

Senator Barkley (D-Ky) who spent the week-end fishing with President Roosevelt, made the motion to reconsider Saturday's approval for the La Follette low-income taxes. Speaker Byrns, after lunching with the president and explaining tax rates were not discussed, had predicted just previously that the house would refuse to go into lower income brackets.

Then after the committee reversal, Senator Robinson the Democratic leader, emerged from the White House to say this action "will materially shorten the session if adhered to." He foresaw possibility of adjournment some time next week.

Substitute Adopted

Not only did the committee eliminate boosts in little incomes, but it adopted a substitute by Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) raising surtaxes only on income over $1,000,000—as Mr. Roosevelt suggested—in place of the house schedule starting the boosts at the $50,000 level.

It also placed a tax on intercorporate dividends as recommended by the president's message and increased the graduated corporation income tax above the figures it approved Saturday and beyond the house rates.

Estate and gift tax increases were left as approved last week, no effort was made to adopt inheritance taxes in line with the house bill and the president's program. Final committee approval of the bill was given without a record vote.

Harrison, who previously announced he would propose an inheritance tax amendment on the floor,

30-Hour Week Plan Is Cast Out By Senate

Senate Votes To Impose NRA Code Wages And Hours On Industries Dealing With The Government

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Shouldering aside the Black 30-hour week bill, the senate today voted to impose NRA code wages and hours on industries dealing with the government.

Amid cries of "discrimination," the Black bill, which would have clamped a 30-hour week on all industries engaging in interstate commerce, went down 61 to 23. The Walsh bill soon after was sped on its way to the house, sponsored in principle by the administration.

Operation Limited

But first an amendment by Senator Clark (D-Mo) was accepted limiting the measure's operation to two years instead of three as originally provided.

Senator Long (D-La) denounced the Walsh measure, declaring it was like the "fascist system" in permitting the president to exempt certain industries or individuals from its provisions.

Senator Black (D-Ala) spoke only briefly in defense of the bill he had sponsored through several sessions of congress.

Smacks Of Boycott

Senator Austin (R-Vt) opened the attack on the 30-hour week measure, declaring it smacked of "boycott and embargo" in its plan

Experiment Said To Be Impossible

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP) — Dr. Iago Gladston, secretary of the New York Academy of Medicine, tonight branded as "preposterous" the proposed human guinea pig freezing experiment by Dr. Ralph S. Willard at Hollywood, Calif.

Commenting on the proposal, which he said "appears to me to be nothing more than a rank publicity stunt," Dr. Gladston said:

"About eight percent of the body tissue is made up of water. When it is frozen, it is thrown out in crystalization form. This results in a disruption of protoplasm, and when that is done you can't reassemble it.

"It's just like scrambling an egg. Once you scramble it, you can't put it back the way it was originally."

Injuries To Eyes Bring Two Out-Of-Town Patients Here

Injuries to eyes brought two out-of-town patients to West Texas hospital late Monday night.

Kenneth Roy King, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. King of Littlefield, was driving a nail with a hammer when the nail flew upward and perforated his right eye.

James Porter, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Porter of Amherst, received a perforation of his right eye when he and a friend were playing with an icepick.

Chromatic cataracts had resulted in both cases and apparently both will lose partial vision. Of the two, the Littlefield boy is more seriously injured.

Woman Is Discovered Critically Wounded In Rocking Chair; Man Found Dying On A Nearby Bed

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Aug. 12.—Mrs. W. B. Sitchler was found critically wounded in a rocking chair at the front window of her apartment, and her husband was found dying on a bed nearby today.

Both had been shot through the right temple with a 32-calibre pistol which lay on the bed near Sitchler. Only two shots had been fired from the gun.

Mrs. Sitchler was not expected to live. Her husband died an hour later in a hospital.

No Eyewitnesses

There were no eyewitnesses to the shooting. Mrs. J. G. Bradford, owner of the apartment, said that Mrs. Sitchler ran into her apartment about five minutes before the shooting and gave Mrs. Bradford a purse. Sitchler followed and took the purse from her, Mrs. Bradford said.

Mrs. Bradford told Detective A. C. Howerton that Sitchler then returned to the apartment with his wife. About five minutes later two shots were fired.

Mrs. Bradford told officers that she believed the couple had been arguing over a beauty parlor operator's permit which Mrs. Sitchler had obtained August 8. Howerton found the permit torn into several pieces on the floor of the apartment.

Only Six Jurors Are Chosen In Murder Trial For Woman

GATESVILLE, Aug. 12. (AP)—Only six jurors were in the box tonight after a full day spent questioning veniremen for the trial of Mrs. Ethel Johnson of Dallas, charged with killing Mrs. Bernice Davenport Blankenship, 19, her daughter-in-law.

The courtroom was crowded to capacity as counsel examined prospective jurors. The state questioned the men closely on their attitude toward circumstantial evidence, but pointedly avoided any reference to capital punishment. Thirty men were questioned out of a venire of 108.

Hopson Is To Appear Today Before House

Chairman O'Connor Announces That Missing Witness Is Served With Subpoena After Days Of Searching

Agreement Fades

Expectations Of Passage For Utilities Legislation This Session Dim; Public Settlement In 1936 Forecast

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—House lobby investigators tonight finally caught up with Howard C. Hopson, elusive master mind of the Associated Gas and Electric system.

Chairman O'Connor (D-NY) of the rules committee, conducting the inquiry, announced that a subpoena had been served and the long-sought witness would go before the committee tomorrow morning for questioning. Still maintaining some of the mystery surrounding the Hopson search, however, his whereabouts tonight were closely guarded.

He'll Be There

"Unless he has a physical collapse or something, he'll be there as a witness," the stocky New Yorker told newspapermen and that was about all he would say.

This development capped a day which brought dwindling expectations of an agreement on the public utilities bill at this session and drew a statement from Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), that a public settlement of that issue in 1936 would find the power companies taking "an overwhelming licking."

O'Connor said he knew none of the details of the successful conclusion of the search for Hopson. To a series of questions as to where he slept tonight, where he was served with a subpoena and who served it, O'Connor gave the same answer: "I don't know."

Senate Also Searching

The senate lobby committee, headed by Senator Black (D-Ala) also has been searching high, low, far and wide for the utilities magnates. Its members indicated that regardless of the questioning by the house group, he will have to undergo a grilling from them as well.

Moreover, through various officials of the company, the senators have brought out that while Hopson holds no official position with the Associated system, he nevertheless is its actual controller through his possession of stock in top-holding companies.

The senate committee has one piece of evidence pointing to Hop-

Warnings Given Of Racial Fight

DURBAN, Union of South Africa, Aug. 12. (AP)—The veteran South African general, Jan Christian Smuts, gave warning to the world today that an Italo-Ethiopian war may strike a spark which will explode the powder keg of relations between blacks and whites throughout Africa.

"I think it will shake the whole system of civilization to its foundations, should the League of Nations fail at this critical moment," Smuts told an interviewer.

The Boer war leader said Italy's adventure in East Africa could not be looked upon as an isolated move, adding: "It will create a serious position in Europe because of the repercussions in adjoining British territories and the intensification of black-against-white feeling."

Statement By Roosevelt Is Now Expected

Capital Speculates Over The Position Of Hoover; Flurry Of Guessing Set Up After He Voices Demand

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. — An early statement by President Roosevelt on how he feels on the chief issues before the country—including possible constitutional changes—was predicted today in inner administration circles.

While the capital speculated over whether Herbert Hoover was after the Republican presidential nomination, friends of the president said he might be expected to discuss constitutional changes as well as a wide variety of other questions in speeches during the western trip he will make after congress adjourns.

Flurry Of Guessing

The demand by the former president for a declaration of administration intentions toward the constitution set up a flurry of guessing in Washington comparable in some ways to the 1927 "I do not choose to run" statement by Calvin Coolidge.

Many called his statement a direct bid for the nomination. Others said he simply was voicing his dislike for the New Deal and that a desire for the presidential nomination did not inspire his statement.

Meanwhile, other political developments of the day included:

Promised Unction Arrives On Schedule To Break Wave In Texas; Clouds And Breezes Break Temperatures

(By The Associated Press)

BLISTERING heat rolled over the Pacific coast from the Canadian border to Mexico yesterday while the sun-baked prairie country was enjoying a respite provided by cooling breezes.

The far west reported seven drownings and a death from prostration. Brawley, in Southern California's Imperial valley, had a maximum temperature of 115 degrees. It was 99 in Portland and in the high eighties at Seattle. Sacramento, Calif., experienced 100.

More Heat Coming

A high pressure area moving out of the northwest brought relief to the prairie country but the weather man warned last night:

"There's more heat right behind it."

The temporary benefits were expected to reach other hot spots, including Oklahoma and Texas, before the sun puts on the pressure again.

The path for the inrush of the breezes was a troughlike low pressure sector which centered Sunday at Winnipeg, Canada, and extended southward. A. M. Hamrick, Kansas City weather bureau chief, explained.

Rains In Some Spots

Wellington, Kas., roasted by a 111 degree temperature Sunday, had rain yesterday. So did Springfield, Mo. It was Springfield's first since July 2.

Dallas, Tex., experienced a 93 yesterday but even that was below the maximums there for the last few days. Texas reported no repetition of the dust clouds which swirled Sunday at Amarillo. Showers fell on the South Texas Plains

Blame For Garment Workers' Strike Put On Manufacturers By Investigators In Trouble

Constructive Labor Legislation, Including Law Similar To Wagner Labor Bill, Is Suggested By Group

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 12.—A commission appointed by Governor Allred today placed responsibility for the Dallas garment workers' strike on the manufacturers.

The committee was composed of Everett L. Looney of Austin, chairman; Mrs. Martin Wright of San Antonio; Dr. William States Jacobs, Houston and George W. Fisher of Fort Worth.

Suggestions Given

A statement by Looney said the commission would recommend: curbing the injunctive power of the courts in labor disputes, reduction of maximum hours of labor for women and constructive labor legislation, including a law similar to the Wagner labor bill.

Such a law would be "calculated to guarantee to the workman the right to be a member and participate in the affairs of a union of his own choosing and the right of collective bargaining."

The commission declared for prevailing wages on all public works and requested the attorney general to investigate the Dallas Open Shop association, bringing suit for its dissolution "if sufficient legal grounds are found."

Must Recognize Union

"The strike can never be settled by this commission or any one else so long as the employers refuse to recognize the union and the right of collective bargaining," Looney said.

"The manufacturers have refused to submit the matter to arbitration

Witnesses of the wedding ceremony were the arresting officers, who insisted on handcuffing the pair before the marriage could proceed.

Garza Youth Shot And Father Found Floating In Lake

Young Farmer Tells Officers That His Father Fired At Him With Shotgun From Ambuscade; Anonymous Letter Carrying Threat Of Death Is Found In Clothing Of Elder Victim

(Special To The Avalanche)

POST, Aug. 12.—Officials, headed by 106th District Attorney G. H. Nelson, of Tahoka, Monday were digging into a mystery here—a tangled skein of events entailing an alleged ambuscade in which a 20-year old farmer was shot, and the later finding of his father's body, floating in a lake.

A secret court of inquiry, conducted in Post Monday, added to the strange and yet clouded chain of events through testimony that in the dead man's clothing was an anonymous letter threatening his death and that citizens of Post and nearby communities had staged a search for the missing man on Saturday, the day before his body was found.

Principals In Case

Principals in the mystery are:

J. W. HUFF, 48, a farmer who lived five miles northeast of Post, whose bruised and scratched corpse was found afloat, arms crossed on chest, in a lake six and one-half miles northeast of here at 3 p. m. Sunday. And JACK HUFF, about 20, a farmer who had been living with his father and who told Garza county officers late Friday night that his father had shot him with a shotgun. He is recovering, in a Post hotel, from a flesh wound under his heart.

Many Witnesses Heard

Twenty-five or 30 witnesses were questioned at the inquiry, said Mr. Nelson. Several theories directed at solving motive for the asserted ambuscade of the son and the subsequent death of the father were advanced, but no verdict was returned after the investigation. Coroner's decision likewise had not been made. The inquiry will be reopened, though not likely Tuesday, said Mr. Nelson.

A letter threatening death to the elder Huff was found in the dead's man's pocket. It had been postmarked recently at Post. It was anonymous, officers said.

No Immediate Arrest

"No immediate arrest is likely," the district attorney said, "but there is a possibility of one next week."

Reconstructed, the privileged testimony at the hearing was:

Jack Huff had been to Post Friday afternoon and was en route by automobile to his father's home. He got out of his car to put up a wire fence. A man he at first identified as his father raised up from behind a bear grass, leveled a 16-gauge shotgun at him and fired a charge that cut in two a pack of cigarets in the breast pocket of his shirt. Then the man rushed out, striking and grappling with young Huff.

Flees To Neighbor's Home

The son threw his father off, testimony resumed, and fled over a hill where lived a neighboring farmer, a Mr. Taylor, and Mr. Taylor's son-in-law and the latter's wife.

Young Huff rushed up to the house and asked that he be immediately taken to Post for medical attention.

"Hurry up, they'll be right after me," Mr. Taylor and his relatives said young Huff gasped.

Heard Two Voices

Taylor's son-in-law and the latter's wife, who live in a tent near the Taylor farmhouse, testified that they heard two voices in the immediate vicinity of the shooting before young Huff made his appearance at the Taylor place. Whether the voices were those of two men, or a man and a woman, they were not certain. They were certain, however, that they heard the voices immediately after the shooting and that one said:

"Did you get him?"

Appeared Frightened

"Hurry up and push the car so it will start quickly," they said young Huff told them. He appeared frightened.

Young Huff, taken to Post, told officers he had been shot by his father. Later he changed his story conditionally, saying he'd hate to swear it was his father who fired on him. His original version, said Mr. Nelson, included a cry that followed him in his flight over the hill. He said his attacker called out, "Jack, come back; if I'd known it was you I wouldn't have shot."

Young Huff also was indefinite in another statement to authorities, said Mr. Nelson. Originally he had said his father the day before the shooting had told him to "go over and shut that gate." He modified his statement by informing that his father had told him to close the gate "that day," the day of the shooting. Still later, he said he was not certain what day his father had spoken to

Convict Slain During Break

Leader Of Plot Is Shot To Death By Prison Guard And Two Companions Recaptured Short Time Later

(By The Associated Press)

ANGLETON, Aug. 12. — Tom Larry, 24, Harrison county convict, was shot to death on the Retrieve prison farm, six miles from here, today in an attempted break by three convicts from a wood squad.

Larry, leader in the attempted break, was shot down by a guard who thwarted the escape attempt by opening fire as the prisoners dropped their axes and fled. The convict, guards said, fell dead as he neared the dense foliage that would have meant freedom.

Others Recaptured

The other two convicts were speedily recaptured by the guard, whose name was not immediately available. Lee Simmons, general manager of the Texas prison system at Huntsville, said the names of Larry's two companions were not available.

"I plan to make an investigation of the trouble," Simmons said. "We regret things of this sort but the guards have been instructed to hold those convicts on the farm and that is what this guard was doing."

Larry, prison records revealed, has been in prison about a year. He was sentenced to serve five years

A BRIGHT BOY

THE story is going around about a football player in a small college who was unusually dumb. To the surprise of everyone he passed all of his work, including the rather stiff chemistry course, thereby becoming eligible for the big game.

One of the instructors asked the professor how it was possible that he passed chemistry. The answer was: "I decided that I would let him pass if he answered 50 per cent of the questions correctly.

"I asked him two questions—one he answered wrong, one he answered right. I let him pass.

"The first question was: 'What color is blue vitriol?' He answered, 'Pink'. That time he was wrong."

"The other question was: 'How do you make sulphuric acid?' He answered that he didn't know. That time he was right."

Hitler Urges Fight Always

Chancellor Stands Forth As Backer Of Housecleaning Of State Enemies; Plans To Smash All Foes

BY GUENTHER O. BEUKERT
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, Aug. 12. — Chancellor Adolf Hitler, whose silent retreat to his Berchtesgaden home led to reports that others were directing recent nazi religious restrictions, stood forth today as the backer of the housecleaning of "state enemies."

Der fuehrer broke his self-imposed silence in a speech at Rosenheim in which he declared that the nazi party would smash its opponents. Other leaders added to the disquiet of the Jews with threats of future strictures.

Plans To Fight

"By fighting we conquered Germany," Hitler said, "and by fighting we shall preserve it. Those standing up against us shall not deceive themselves about us.

"We have never shied from a fight, either in the past or today. We will smash them so they will forget to continue their opposition for the next 15 years."

The chancellor, delivering his first public speech since his defense to the world on May 21 of Germany's armaments, refrained from making a direct reference to current incidents.

To Be Made Harder

"If the hammer blows of fate should strike us," he said, "they will only make us still harder. I am convinced no power on earth can attack us any more.

"We want peace and constructive work, but whoever wants to disturb this peace will discover that we are no longer a people of pacifists but a people of he men.

"We did not capitulate when the conditions were reversed, and we surely will not do it today."

Pleading for loyalty in bad times, he said:

"Always stand to your flag, not only in good days but even more in the bad ones. Keep it up when the storm lashes and clouds the firmament."

Apprehension Felt

Deep apprehension still prevails among Jews as to what the future has in store for them. After Count Von Helldorf, Berlin police president, had forbidden individual action against Jews, Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, announced:

"The Jewish question will slowly but surely be gotten rid of, as the nazi program foresees."

In his address of welcome to der fuehrer at Rosenheim, Adolf Wagner, Bavarian minister of the interior, touched on the Jewish question, saying:

"It is not necessary for the nazi movement to solve this question with 'Brachialgewalt' (physical power)."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Including government wage payments to relief workers in its tabulation, the nation's income in 1934 increased over 1929.

Of the $49,440,000,000 income in 1934, labor got $33,109,000,000, or 67 per cent, as compared with 65 per cent in 1929, it said. The sum of $1,394,000,000 in relief wages was responsible for 2.8 per cent of the 67, so that regularly employed labor received 64.2 per cent as compared to 1928's 65.

The $49,440,000,000 total income for the nation in 1934 compared with $44,431,000,000 in 1933. That year's was the lowest level since 1929, when the figure was $73,576,000,000.

Pirates Steal March By Beating Reds; Joe Louis Predicts Kayo Over Baer

Four Chunkers Nicked For 14 Blows By Bucs

Pittsburgh Takes Series And Gains On Cards In Single Game Played In Big Loops Monday; Win, 7 To 4

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12.—Jumping away in front with a three run attack in the first inning, the Pittsburgh Pirates nicked four Cincinnati hurlers for 14 hits today as they turned back the Reds 7 to 4 in the only game played in the major leagues. The victory gave the Pirates the series, three games to two.

Al Hollingsworth, rookie southpaw who lost a 1 to 0 verdict to Bill Swift on Friday, tried to check the Pirates again but was shelled off the mound in the first inning. Emmett Nelson, another rookie, was called to his rescue and did a fine job for the next five innings, holding the Bucs to one run in the second. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh and the Pirates got to Don Brennan for two more in their half of the same frame. Benny Frey pitched scoreless ball in the eighth.

Jensen And Padden Lead

Forest Jensen and Tom Padden led the Pittsburgh offensive, each getting three hits. Red Lucas started on the mound for the Pirates but gave way to Ralph Birkofer after the fifth when the Reds counted three times, aided by Arky Vaughan's error.

Billy Myers was forced out of the game in the fifth, when he collided with Babe Herman in fielding Gus Suhr's fly in short left field. Both players were hurt, Myers suffering bruises, but Herman remained in the game.

SEATTLE, Aug. 12. (AP) — Helene Madison plans to use the swimming ability she says brought her only "cheers and fair weather friends" in her proposed career as a nurse, she announced today.

New Coach School Staff Gets Hand

Bible, Crisler, Moore And Wolf Please Students With First Lectures; "Baby Jack" Torrance Throws The Shot Away

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

"THE second 'Harry Kipke' of the coaching school."

That's what the boys said yesterday after Raymond "Bear" Wolf, well-informed line coach at Texas Christian university, concluded his first lecture and field demonstration at the Texas Tech school for mentors.

J. B. HEAD
Austin College, Sherman

In plain, country-boy style, plus a lot of humorous side remarks and with considerable pep and ginger, the Frog coach took the situation well in hand. He "clicked" immediately with a clear, understandable discourse on line blocking, technique of which is missed by the masses of football fans but which is one of football's most important fundamentals. Wolf put a load of enthusiasm into his work, and his witty delivery made a hit with the nearly 400 coaches attending.

Fritz "Tiger" Crisler, the personality kid from Princeton, followed Wolf on the afternoon program at the field, and paid the Southwest conference coach nice tributes by referring frequently to points clearly and cleverly demonstrated in Wolf's class. Crisler, given a big hand as he opened his part of the school Monday morning, carried on in pleasing fashion with a new set of stories and new slants on football, both at the morning lecture and the afternoon field work.

NEW life was injected into the school early yesterday morning when Dana X. Bible, respected coach at Nebraska, delivered his first lecture. He continued on the field last night, demonstrating rudiments of his system, the short punt, with the help of uniformed athletes.

One of Bible's outstanding stars of a decade ago at Texas A. & M. college, the same Joel Hunt you followed through the sports pages and who was followed over Southwest conference gridirons by hopelessly chasing secondary men, is a most attentive observer at Dana's classes. Hunt is assistant coach at Louisiana State.

Speaking of Louisiana State, that school is further well represented by a trio of well known persons. Bernie Moore, track instructor, opened his classes yesterday at the Tech school, and with him, aiding him in demonstrations are two of his most famous proteges, giant Jack Torrance and slender Slats Hardin.

Torrance, world's champion shot putter, "warmed up" by tossing the sixteen-pound leaden ball for a ride of 47 feet. He raised the ante with succeeding puts, passing the fifty-foot mark easily enough. Torrance's work will be watched closely; there's always the possibility he may set a new record anywhere he goes, and it's nice and hot out at the Tech field these days.

BRUMBELOW

SALKELD

Hardin, the famous quarter-miler and hurdle champion, should be of great assistance to Coach Moore as the L. S. U. mentor continues his work. Torrance, who tips the beam at a measley 303 pounds, when "in shape," towering 6 feet, 3 inches above the ground, will take the shot and discus today for more exhibitions. Friendly, healthy, personable chaps, Torrance and Hardin, and well received by the cash customers.

SEVEN late arrivals checked in at the school yesterday, in addition to Joel Hunt. "Bogota" Griffin

MACK SAXON
School of Mines, El Paso

and J. B. Head came in from Sherman, and Mack Saxon from Texas School of Mines at El Paso. Roscoe Minton, well known football official, from Fort Worth; Coach Johnson of Hillsboro, Coach Braden of South Park High school, Beaumont, and Bud Price, former Peacock Military academy coach at Dallas, now a big shot in East Texas civic and promotional life, were other late registrations.

Ex-Texas Christian university boys are fairly noticeable out at the school, all of them pulling around with Matty Bell and Francis Schmidt, until the latter left town. Among the younger generation of ex-Frogs are Madison "Pap" Pruitt, Plainview coach; Dan Salkeld of Quanah and Mike Brumbelow of Lufkin. And in that crowd you'll see Froggie Lovvorn, popular Plainview coach.

AAU Digs Into Income Record Of Jesse Owens

Ohio State's Negro Athlete Status Questioned As Result Receiving Salary As Page In State Legislature

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12. — The amateur standing of Jesse Owens, Ohio State track and field star, remained status quo tonight.

The Northeastern Ohio association of the Amateur Athletic union at a special meeting today discussed acceptance by Owens of $150 from the state of Ohio as salary for services as honorary page in the legislature.

Lou N. Bloom, president of the district A. A. U. issued a statement saying the board of directors was not in possession of sufficient facts to come to a decision.

Legislature Adjourns

Since it was discovered from the state auditor's books that Owens received $150 since the legislature adjourned June 9 as an "honorary" page, Ohio State athletic officials and others have said the receipt of this money in no way jeopardizes his amateur standing because his work for the legislature has no connection with athletics. They contend that other amateur athletes draw salaries on jobs which enable them to get their educations.

The A. A. U.'s investigation, Bloom said, is prompted by an off-hand comment in New York several days ago by Dan Ferris, executive secretary of the National A. A. U. Ferris said he believed that if Owens is receiving money from the legislature "because of his athletic achievement" he might be jeopardizing his amateur standing.

Take Easy Chair And Remain Pure, Advises Amateur

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 12 (AP)—Must tennis amateurs only accept as trophies articles that cannot be of any possible use to them?

The point has been raised by a question which the Victorian Lawn Tennis association has had to decide concerning Australia's two-handed boy tennis star, John Bromwich.

Already the possessor of 40 silver cups, sets of carvers, coffee pots, cuff links and other things which he cannot use, Bromwich decided to buy an armchair for his mother with money he received for two trophies in the Victorian championships.

Immediately it was claimed that Bromwich had lost his amateur status, some delegates of the Victorian Lawn Tennis association holding that, as an easy chair was an article of domestic necessity, it could not be selected as a trophy.

After lengthy debate, however, the majority held that the chair was not an article of domestic necessity —so Mrs. Bromwich will have her chair.

American Davis Cup Quest Not Hopeless, Says Myers

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Wallis Myers, British tennis authority, came to town today and suggested America's quest for the Davis Cup is by no means as hopeless as it might seem.

"England holds the cup," he said, "but America is not so far behind as the score in the challenge round suggested. Thirty years ago I saw America lose five matches to love to England, yet the challenging team contained Larned, Wright and Ward, all champions and all great players. None of those matches were 'romaways,' neither were the matches last month."

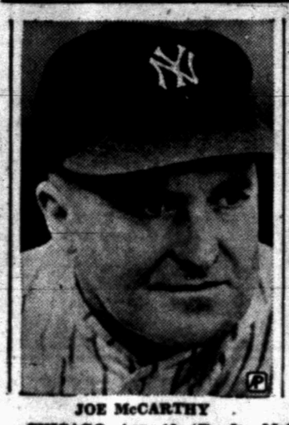

Myers, whose "world's first ten" is recognized as a standard gauge of international tennis talent, paid high tribute to Donald Budge's play abroad and predicted Fred Perry would add the American to his British and French titles.

Baseball Player Loses Arm In Freakish Auto Accident

DUQUOIN, Ill., Aug. 12. (AP) — Charles Lucas, 26, star pitcher of the Anna State hospital team, was recovered today from a freak accident that has ended his baseball career.

Returning from St. Louis, where he had gone to discuss a tryout with the St. Louis Browns, Lucas struck his left arm out of the window of his car to signal. A passing truck clipped it off six inches below the elbow.

They Pay Fines For "Stalling"

JOE McCARTHY

JOE CRONIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees, and Joe Cronin, manager of the Boston Red Sox, today were fined $100 apiece by William Harridge, president of the American League, for allowing "stalling" tactics in the New York - Boston game at Boston August 5.

All Star Wrestling Card Booked Wednesday Night

Clingman, Weaver To Mix In Main Go At Arena

There is wrestling every Wednesday night at Sled Allen's open air arena, and with so much wrestling, all the cards can not be top notch features, because there aren't that many wrestlers.

But the local promoter is putting on an all-star show, promising to be one of the best of the outdoor season if not the very best, tomorrow night.

It's another variety program, jam-packed with potential excitement, heading which is a scheduled three-fall bout between two of the most likeable, popular youths ever to demonstrate in Lubbock. Otis Clingman of Amarillo and Buck Weaver of Terre Haute, Ind.

Head Of The Class

Clingman undoubtedly is the best middleweight grappler this part of the country has ever produced, and the most popular. For nearly a year he has been on the road, vacationing part of the time, wrestling the other part. Most of the time this spring and summer he has spent in Old Mexico, following a tour through the middle west and far west. There is no record of his being defeated during this tour, and he has met a flock of the foremost middleweights and light heavies.

Buck Weaver is the ex-footballer for Indiana university and the professional Portsmouth and Brooklyn teams, and a most healthy specimen. He invaded this circuit on the heels of widespread publicity, and so far he has lived up to all advance notices.

Clean, gentlemanly wrestlers by nature, Weaver and Clingman can wax tough when the occasion demands, but as a rule they stay on the legal side of the game. Exceptionally powerful and rugged, smart as foxes and well equipped with scientific wrestling knowledge, they are due to stage one of those matches that brings the spectators to their feet frequently and nervously.

Sailor Moran Returns

To support this main event, Promoter Allen has lined up two promising preliminaries, providing bullish villainy and torturous battle.

Sailor Moran, an old timer who knows all the tricks, is to oppose slugging Cliff Chambers of Dallas in the semi-final, and Red Michael, pleasing Pampa youth, is up against a demon when he takes on the brutish Gorilla Pogi in the curtain raiser.

Morgan, native of the Arkansas hills, is well known around and about as one of the best showmen in the racket, and one of the most wicked individuals ever to row for the ropes. He'll be up against another ruffian in Chambers, the lad who all but put Buck Weaver away in a hectic main go recently.

Pogi comes back after a successful—until lately—sojourn in the Oil Belt circuit. He won a championship over there, and has been wrestling big league stuff, including Yaqui Joe, the qualified Indian. He lost his championship recently, and struck out for new territory. Well known here for his funny and brazen efforts in the ring, Pogi will hear a lot of familiar catcalls and barnyard imprecations when he climbs through the ropes tomorrow night.

Brown Bomber Not Sure Just In What Round

Negro Heavyweight Sensation Looks Forward To "Hardest Fight," But Is Not Uneasy Over The Result

BY EARL J. HILIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT, Aug. 12.—Joe Louis who says it was "just one of those things" when he missed calling his knockouts of Primo Carnera and King Levinsky by one round each, is going into training before telling the world when he believes he'll put Maxie Baer away next month—but the "brown bomber" is none the less confident he can turn that trick.

"If I can hit him, I'll kayo him—and I know I can hit him," Louis drawled today, announcing that he would start training for the Baer scrap about Aug. 20 at a site not yet determined.

"I'll Take Him"

"It will be my toughest fight yet," continued the 21-year old negro heavyweight sensation. "But I'll take him."

Joe flashed one of his rare grins when reminded he was off slightly in his previous kayo predictions. He'd said he would stop Carnera in the fifth, but finished him in the sixth. He put Levinsky away in the first when he said he would win in the second.

"It's kind of hard to tell, but I try to be close," said Joe, realizing perhaps that the "boys" on Detroit's east side are reported to be baking pets on the round in which "their Joe" will stop his next opponent.

"I'm going to go into training before I say what round I'll stop Baer. I know he's good, and I hope his hands are in shape, so there'll be no excuses. If they ain't in shape, it's his fault. I can't feel sorry for Baer if he ain't right, and I'll start that fight like I start all of them—try to finish it as soon as possible. But it's hard to tell when it'll end. I'll get one punch in and first thing you know it's over."

Mickey Walker In Knockout Victory

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12. (AP) — Mickey Walker, the Rimson, N. J., bulldog, made good tonight in his second comeback start by knocking out Lou Foster, of Pottstown, Pa., in the second round of their scheduled ten-round bout at the arena.

A typical old-time Walker left hook smashed the Pennsylvanian down for the count 28 seconds after the second round started. Walker opened the session by buckling Foster's knees with a pair of stiff right hands.

Then he whipped the left over and the Pottstown battler fell face forward, not moving as Referee Tommy O'Keefe tolled the count.

Walker, outweighed 173 to 183 pounds, had promised State Athletic Commission Secretary Jules Aronson that he would hang up his gloves if he lost tonight's fight.

J. L. MacWilliam, Former Army Football Star, Dies

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Aug. 12 (AP)—Word was received here today of the death of Lieut. Joseph Lockwood MacWilliam, quarterback of the Army football team in 1931, 1932 and 1933.

A telegram to his father, Charles M. MacWilliam, Middlesex county probation officer, said MacWilliam, stationed at Fort Warren, Cheyenne, Wyo., died after an operation for a ruptured appendix.

Class C Grid Leaders Meet

Representatives Of Smaller Schools Of District Meet Here Wednesday To Discuss Plan For Organization

Definite step toward the organization of a Class C interscholastic football league for this district will be taken Wednesday when representatives of smaller schools over the area meet in Lubbock.

Joseph G. Potter, new superintendent at Anton High school, has taken the initiative in the project, which was brought up last year by several coaches and superintendents of the section. Potter has mailed invitations to some 21 schools over the area and expects a representative gathering here Wednesday.

The meeting is to be conducted at the Texas Tech gymnasium at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Want Is Own Class

For two years there has been agitation for a Class C organization comprising schools with enrollments too small for Class A competition and smaller than the larger Class B schools.

It is planned to submit a tentative schedule at the meeting here. If the organization goes through, it probably will result in a two-way division of the Class B district, which is District No. 5 under the new numbering, with schedules for each division. Winners of each half will meet on Thanksgiving for the district Class C championship, according to the plan.

All superintendents and coaches of small schools interested in becoming affiliated with a Class C organization are invited to attend the confab.

Ten-Ton Bell To Ring At Olympics

BERLIN, Aug. 12. (AP)—A 10-ton bell, whose model has now been finished, will ring in the 1936 Olympic games here.

Its main part is more than 7½ feet high, its diameter at the lower edge is 9 feet, and its total height 14 feet. The clapper alone weighs 1,200 pounds. The sculptor, Walter E. Lemcke of Berlin, used two and one half tons of clay for the model.

Around its base, in German, are the words, "I call the youth of the world." It is to be cast of steel, the work lasting four or five months.

Work is rapidly going forward, meanwhile, on other parts of extensive preparations for the games.

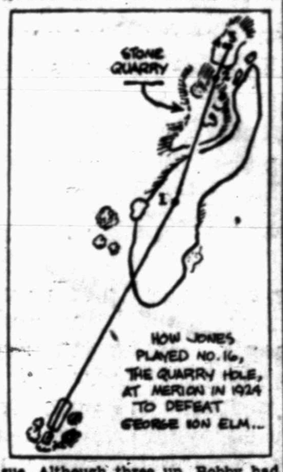

Construction has been started on a swimming stadium at the Olympic field—called the Reich sport field. Accommodations will be available for 12,000 spectators.

Three series of flights will be arranged, to East Prussia, south Germany, and to the Rhine. Among places to be visited are Koenigsberg, Nurnberg, Munich, Bonn, and Cologne.

GREAT GOLF
By Art Krenz

Eight years after he first attempted to gain national honors at Merion, Bobby Jones administered a thorough shellacking to George Von Elm to win his first National Amateur title. His victory came in 1924, and resulted in a 9 and 8 decision.

It was on the sixteenth, or quarry, hole, that Jones decided the issue. Although three up, Bobby had not enough margin to coast to victory with this hole confronting him. The sixteenth is a 435-yard, par four layout, well trapped, and calling for a second shot across the quarry to score a four.

Both contestants hit good drives down the middle. Von Elm approached beautifully to within 40 feet of the cup. Jones' approach was short, and just cleared the quarry, leaving him 100 feet from the pin.

He then played the shot that won the hole—the runup that ended two feet from the pin. Bobby sank his putt for a four. Von Elm was nine feet short with his approach putt, missed his second effort to get down, and had to be content with a five.

School Days Are Here Again!

Good Grades For Your Girl Or Boy Depend On A Well Balanced Visual Apparatus

By
Dr. Millard F. Swart

When the Optometrist says "visual apparatus" he is talking of a great deal more than EYES! He is talking about all the complex nervous system that supply the eyes, the great number of muscles used in all the functions of the eyes—the whole sensory system that carries light-impress to the brain—and to all the marvelous brain system which allows us to see—for we see with the conscious thinking mind.

Realize that in using the eyes—to get a focus (that there may be clear sight) and to turn the eyes to see singly—there are two nervous systems used—the same in one instance that controls the arms and hands and legs—the other that moves the blood, that supplies the heart and all the other "inward parts."

In the visual apparatus they are linked together in a learned association that the boy or girl has had to learn as he or she grew. It is individual to that child—normal only to him—and if he uses the eyes for a period at near—and the resulting fatigues in the two nervous systems bring about an interference—then the conscious mind behind the eyes cannot utilize the information the nerves are bringing—the child sees the page but cannot comprehend the meaning of that which he sees. That is visual ineffectiveness—he sees perfectly, but the mind can not absorb.

The Optometrist graphs the effect of the interference—learns just the type of interference and then re-adapts the whole, marvelous, intricate nervous system supply to allow that child to not only see but to absorb knowledge when he does see.

So in modern Optometry, as we know it today, the examination is made to find where this interference lies. The Optometrist does not examine to find a "defect" as once men thought they did. The youngster has no defect in the sense of something structurally wrong.

Nobody knows better than I do that the eye is the window of the mind. That is why I am so deeply interested in keeping the light in your boy or girl's eyes. Sight is very important in their lives. Most of what we learn—most of the memories we cherish—come to us through the eye.

When a child loses his sight, he loses many beautiful things. He cannot run freely or go wherever he pleases. There is no more bright colors in the world for him, no flash of bird wings. His movements, once so quick and eager, will become slow and timid. His hands will often miss what they seek. He will be lonely because other children will not know how to play with him.

Eyes are still the most remarkable mechanism even in this day and age of scientific marvels. And that's saying a lot. But not so remarkable that it is able to adapt itself in the short space of a few seconds on our six hundred thousand year clock to the severe change we have imposed upon it. Perhaps that is why so much eye trouble is prevalent today. Man developed a visual apparatus and a "brain pattern" of using it according to the needs of the primitive hunting animal he was until a few short generations ago.

Even now we are but two generations away from the pioneer. The mechanization of our environment has placed a wholly new burden on this age-old faculty.

Man does not see with his eyes. He sees with his conscious, thinking mind. Any interference in these higher nervous centers makes visual absorption impossible, for vision is not a muscular function but a brain function.

Man's progress to date has come largely through his eyes—eyes glued to microscopes—eyes fixed on machines and other delicate instruments—eyes watching form and movement and color—eyes scanning the pages of past-gained knowledge—eyes guiding skilled fingers, directing strong hands—eyes delving into the depths of the unknown and digging out secrets that have made this present-day world of ours what would have seemed a paradise to the people who lived even fifty years ago.

LIGHT, that second great element of vision I want to tell you about.

Light, you know, enters the eyes, is focussed by the lense and casts an inverted image of whatever you're looking at on the retina of the eye. So you see, light is the very beginning of seeing. Without light the best eye in the world can't see. Better sight plus better light equals better life. Optometrists have long known the close interdependence of better sight and better light.

Now, capping years of tireless effort, equipment has been invented (that we have in our office) and a precedure established which enables the Optometrist to prescribe the exact intensities of light his patient's eyes individually require.

Just as he prescribes lens or orthoptic training for visual ineffectiveness the Optometrist can now prescribe the intensities of light in which the patient's eyes function with greatest ease and efficiency.

Better vision resulting from a well-balanced visual apparatus and right light will bring new realms of happiness to millions of people. Better vision means better play; better work, with its results of increased income and success; keener fun. It means freedom from the fatigue of straining eyes; more enjoyment from leisure hours of reading; greater safety. In short, better vision—which is the sum of better sight plus better light—means better life.

Parents give your boy or girl an even chance with his classmates. Arrange now for an adequate eye examination.

Can you realize what a ray of sunshine that would be to some mother grieving over a poor report card? Will you take pride that ONLY the Optometrist working in MODERN Optometry is able to do this — and will you aid us in the great and THRILLING work of spreading this word of hope to the mothers of the Nation?

Testing The Tariff Law

FARMERS of the South Plains, majority of whom approve of the Agricultural Adjustment act at least as a step in the right direction toward orderly production and marketing of farm products, will watch with interest a new trend in the AAA-Processing Tax fight which recently bobbed up in Sioux City, Iowa.

Farmers from Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska met in Sioux City at the call of the Sioux City Tribune and turned their guns against AAA opponents who are attacking the constitutionality of the act.

"The AAA is merely the farmer's protective tariff," said the Sioux City gathering, "and if the farmer's tariff is not constitutional, neither is that of the manufacturer."

So they set in motion a plan which they say will result on a suit against the constitutionality of the protective tariff law.

That is nothing short of interesting and important.

Further, from a common-sense and not a legal angle, it will appear to the Average American that the farmers are right in their contention.

"If 'big business' has a right to protection," that Average American will say, "so have the farmers. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander!"

Most South Plains farmers with whom the Editor of The Morning Avalanche has talked, do not accept the AAA in its entirety and point out that "it's just a start. In another few years, and with some more experimenting, we expect it to become nearly 100 per cent workable." They are for it in principle and are solidly behind many of its points.

The action in Sioux City doubtless will start the ball rolling and farmers all over the United States will be called to rally behind the test of the tariff law's constitutionality. If the tariff law is upheld and the AAA thumbed down, look for serious political consequences in 1936.

Farmers, aroused as never before and with more of an organization than they have ever had, are going to be in a position to get something more than talk out of the politicians.

WITH OUR CONTEMPORARIES

"And now—quilt chain letters," Hon. Victor Lamb, pilot of the Abernathy Review, reports in his paper.

"Our opinion is, that the poorest boss is he who tries to exhibit the greatest authority," W. D. Starcher voices in the Dickens County Times.

"Gov. O. B. Colquitt has a lead of 40,000 for re-election," Mrs. Oran McClure reports in her "23 years ago" column in the Texas Spur. "Morris Sheppard has a plurality of 26,000 over three opponents for re-election to the senate."

"The same puff of wind that blew me in, swept the high boss out and I've had the office to hold down, or maybe it is hold up in this case, since my arrival from the University of Missouri." Jean Suits chats in the Lockney Beacon after an absence of several weeks.

"About the time I assume the management of an idea and develop it to the stage of being valuable to some one, I find that I have been anywhere from a day to a thousand years too slow in offering it to the world." Douglas Meador says in the Matador Tribune.

"Federal operatives are making a big mistake in the attitude they take towards local officers," Homer Steen says in the Floyd County Hesperian. "They probably do not realize it and the higher ups may not even know about it, although it is the suspicion of those in the know that it is a studied and planned attitude of the department of justice."

"State governments may need the money—may need new revenue, but they can get it without transferring the tax burden from the rich into the lap of the poor," John A. Price says in the County-Wide News at Littlefield.

"The most popular form of autograph collecting now is to get somebody's signature on a check," says H. H. Weimhold in the Sudan News.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful.

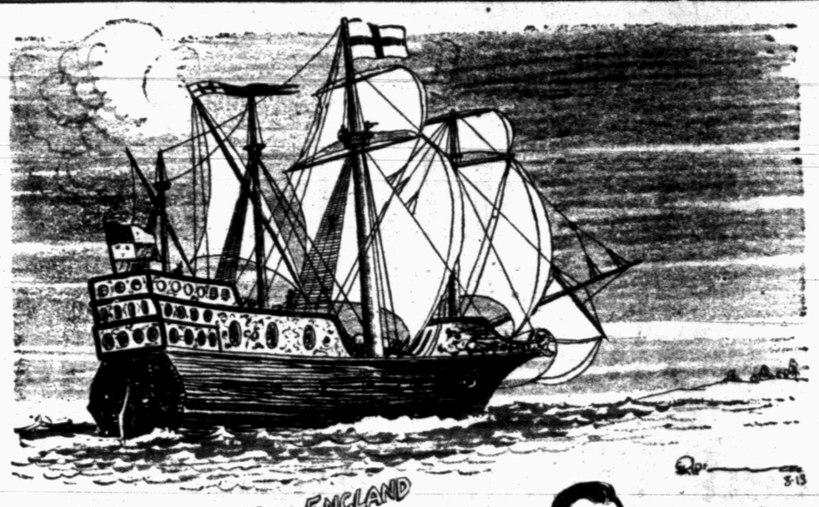

"But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in His law doth he meditate day and night.

"And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper."—Psalm 1: 1-4.

A $11,767.50 ROOSTER

During the World War when Liberty Loan, Red Cross and other drives for funds brought untold riches from the pockets of the American public, Mark Dunkerson of Fontanelle, Iowa, donated an ordinary rooster to be sold on the Red Cross auction block to the highest bidder.

There were 2,730 bids, the winner paying $11,767.50 for the bird. At a similar auction in Storm Lake, a goose brought $4,500.

KATHARINE STRYKHURST, 20 and beautiful, allows her emotions to rule when she marries MICHAEL HEATHEROE, young riding instructor who comes into a title and fortune. Katharine's father is rich and her stepmother is snobbish.

The night following his marriage Michael is injured in a traffic accident and when he regains his consciousness his memory is impaired. He forgets the marriage. Katharine, heart-broken, believes he has deserted her. She goes to New Mexico to forget. Wandering off for an early morning stroll, Katharine becomes lost in the desert.

Michael arrives to explain and beg forgiveness. He hires a plane to search for Katharine. After a long hunt she is rescued. Michael takes her, ill from shock and fatigue, to a ranch house and a doctor is summoned. FRANK MILLARD, new friend of Katharine's, refuses to believe Michael is her husband. The two men fight.

Back home DR. JOHN KAYE, in love with Katharine, learns of her marriage from ZOE PARKER who tries to comfort him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVI

Katharine was struggling out of a dream. It was not a pleasant one. Michael was in danger — horrible danger—and she was calling him, calling—

When she awoke there was a lamp lighted in the room and beside the narrow bed a nurse sat, her shadow silhouetted against the far wall.

"Well, hello, you're better, dear!" the nurse said.

Katharine felt her brow; it was cool. She was in one of her own thin gowns. Her hair had been brushed. There was a thick tumbler, half-filled with water, on the table beside the bed. She closed her eyes, remembering with a shudder the blank sky and the desert sand under her feet and a bird wheeling . . .

"Now, my dear, you're safe and sound, and the young man clean out of his head about you," said the nurse in a gentle murmur. "It isn't every day a young lady is rescued from death in that way. I think it's so romantic," my dear. But you must rest now and not talk, and tomorrow you'll be fine."

"What young man?" Katharine's lips were cracked and parched, but she could form the words. Frank Millard, probably. It would be hard to be unkind to Frank Millard if he saved her from the jaws of death.

She was thinking this when the nurse said in a sprightly tone, "Why, Mr. Heatheroe, of course. Your husband."

Katharine thought the dream must be going on and on and that the nurse and this conversation were part of it. But she felt of the coarse, clean sheet; that was real.

Her gown was real, too, and so was the nurse's broad, kindly face.

"Mr.—Mr. Heatheroe?" Katharine said dimly.

"Why yes, dear, your husband — come on from the east to see you, and finding an airplane and all, and swooping down from the sky to rescue you. I declare, if it isn't just like the talkies!" bubbled the nurse who enjoyed the films and had her favorite stars and cut their pictures out of the magazines.

Michael was here, then. Katharine had dreams of him, as she almost always did; and he was here somewhere—close enough so that she might reach out her hand and touch him.

But she was tired suddenly and closed her eyes again. There was so much that Michael had to explain before things could be straight. She couldn't bear to think of it now.

Once more she slept . . .

Behind the ranch house two young men faced each other angrily. Michael said, "So I'm a liar, eh?"

"You are," said Frank, almost affably. Now that there was immediate prospect of a conflict, he was enjoying himself. Fighting — any physical activity—was what he loved most. And he was furiously angry at this man.

There was the slap of sole-leather on the hard packed ground. There were the sounds of blows. Michael feinted. Frank drove a terrific blow to his adversary's chin. Blood began to trickle in a little stream from the cut.

Mrs. Darragh came to the kitchen door and watched them a little fearfully. She was used to fighting. All the "boys" around here fought, early and often. But this was a little different. She sensed that.

"Dad, maybe you and Dossy better go and stop them," she said anxiously. Hobe Darragh grunted, packed the tobacco down into his pipe.

"Do 'em good," he grunted. "Get it out of their systems. Never saw woman trouble yet but could be settled that way."

Dad was smart, thought his wife proudly. He knew, straight off, this fight meant woman trouble. Nobody'd told him; still he knew. It was one of the things you felt in your bones. That young girl in the bedroom was sure a pretty piece of goods. Quality, all through. Mrs. Darragh had seen the pigskin case, packed with tortoise backed toilet things, that the Millards had brought in their car. It must have cost a small fortune. Still and all, even a high-toned girl like this had her love troubles. Two fighting over her, eh? Well, Ma Darragh had known the thrill of that, too, in her own tempestuous youth. She was gray now, and fat and shapeless, but she hadn't forgotten.

She went back to the table with the blue and white checked cloth and sat down and tried to eat, but she couldn't somehow. 'Twould be a pity if that young fellow who looked like Gary Cooper got all mussed up, and his wife just coming to, like. Maybe she'd better do something about it . . . .

She looked up and put her hand over her mouth to stifle an instinctive scream. Because the young lady who'd been lost in the desert was standing in the doorway. She had a blue robe on over her nightthings, and her feet were bare. She was staring out of the open door in a frightened way. In the light of the yard you could see the two wary figures moving to and fro.

Where was that dratted nurse, thought Mrs. Darragh angrily, moving as swiftly as her bulk would allow toward the slim figure. But the girl was quicker. For all her weakness, Katharine was at the door in an instant, and one of the battling men saw her. He turned and the other closed in, delivering a body blow, and the man who had looked at the girl went down like a stone.

Mrs. Darragh ran after the girl, panting as she went. She was at her side as Katharine bent over the man, crying in the tone of a lost soul, "Oh, Michael, my darling, speak to me!"

When he heard that the other man lifted his head and stared at the girl hungrily, and a look of shame blotted out all the fury his blond face had been distorted with. He made a move toward Katharine, but Mrs. Darragh was before him. Michael had struggled to his feet. The girl swayed against him.

"He's not hurt a mite, dearie," crooned the old ranch woman pityingly. "You'll catch your death in the night air. Come back to bed, dearie."

Michael lifted Katharine again, as he had earlier that day. In spite of his dizziness, he carried her safely to the house.

"Michael, darling, I didn't believe it was you. And then I heard the noise, and I looked out of the window . . ."

The nurse interrupted then. She was dreadfully upset, she said. To think that her patient . . . and she had only stepped out for a minute. You never knew where you were. . . .

Michael and Katharine ignored the nurse. Michael was kneeling by the bed now. Katharine's head was resting on his arm.

"Darling, your poor face! Did he hurt you?"

He laughed at her.

"Darling," Katharine went on, "we seem to have such violent things happen to us. Do you think our lives will always be like this? Thunder and accidents and now fist fights . . ."

"Our lives!" She had actually said that. Without asking explanations or demanding excuses, she had admitted him to the inner court of her existence.

"I hope not, Katharine dear." His deep, strong, well-remembered voice.

"The gentleman will have to go now," trembled the nurse. "I have to take your temperature. Doctor will scold when he hears of this."

"You're so beautiful, Katharine," Michael said, humbly. It was as if the nurse did not exist. She stood there, scolding at them softly, and they did not hear her. Katharine,

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

CERTAIN anti-Nazi Congressmen are quietly investigating reports that Herr Hitler will house and feed American competitors in the Olympic games at Berlin next year. They will holler against this form of propaganda if the reports are verified.

They have heard that the War Ministry, and not Germany's athletic organizations, will look after foreign entries. Herr Hitler's military men are understood to have charge of construction of the Olympic village near Loeberitz. When certain foreign military attaches expressed surprise on a recent inspection visit, it was explained that to the German mind the soldier and the athlete are identical.

This coincides with reports that Germany's groups are really army training squads. And several House members think they detect a deep, dark design in the arrangement for taking care of our milers, sprinters and high-jumpers.

OVERSIGHT: Toward the end of every session Congress gets an object lesson in the need for a "watchdog of the Treasury" like Comptroller General John R. McCarl.

The calendar at this period is cluttered with private bills for the reimbursement and relief of government officials who paid out funds later held to be illegal or unwarranted by the comptroller general. Unless Congress authorized reimbursement, the money would have to be taken from the men's salaries or their bonding companies. Right now there are pending from only two departments—Treasury and War—measures requiring a $400,000 appropriation to square these accounts.

The Claims committees have straightened out this situation only up to December, 1933. Confidential advices are that the sums will run into the millions when the accounts of the New Dealers are scrutinized. During their first year they forgot that Mr. McCarl was alive.

DISCOVERIES: Mr. McCarl watches every penny. It makes no difference to him whether the amount involved is 53 cents or $135,000. "The principle is the same" he replies when you point out that he often collects less than he spends on collecting.

Perhaps the most unusual case involved legalization of $63,000 payment resulting from a system of padded payrolls and forged checks on a Department of Agriculture job at Tallulah, La. It was eight years before the Treasury discovered that a field official had been certifying the salaries of fictitious employes and forging their signatures. In that time 3,900 checks were made out to the fakers.

Another strange arrangement was the payment of 100 pension checks to the daughter of an old soldier after he had died. The pensioner died in 1911 but his little gal collected $2,048 through 1932. She explained that she thought she was entitled to it as next of kin to the deceased warrior. That happens lots of times.

SCHEME: Administration experts don't favor the O'Mahoney bill for setting up a new NRA through federal incorporation of industries. They have studied that possibility carefully but have discarded it because it presents too many administrative difficulties.

They have what they think is a smarter scheme. The idea is to persuade states to require corporations doing business within their boundaries to take out a charter. These would provide for acceptance of code prices, wages, hours and working conditions. There would, of course, be many conflicts and discrepancies to harass the incorporated industries.

Then, if the scheme works out as planned, corporations would beg for a uniform, federal incorporation statute. The administration would, of course, graciously acquiesce.

NOTES: California shipping concerns are trying to carry mail, so as to obtain federal protection against strikers. . . . The Guffey bill has been revised but its doubtful provisions remain. . . . Some Democrats blame Ickes for the Rhode Island defeat. . . . "Cotton Ed" Smith, Senator from South Carolina, makes a ripping state's right speech, reminding his state that increased federal power means anti-lynching legislation. . . . Jack Garner wants Roosevelt to swing through Texas this fall.

Subbing for James McMullin

INTERNATIONAL money brokers continue worried about the weakening European gold bloc. Fact that the tense Holland situation had been relieved is not regarded as of sustaining nature. The move for devaluation of the guilder is strong and continues to grow. It has the sponsorship of wealthy Amsterdam interests. Even the colonies are kicking.

Should Holland devalue it would unsettle other gold bloc countries. Earlier this year Switzerland barely missed devaluation. The vote was almost even. France is in a precarious monetary condition as is. Trouble could break out most any time. October has been set as the deadline.

It is estimated that about $7,000,000,000 of American securities are held in foreign countries. According to international security brokers devaluation would result in a selling movement in domestic markets. This will be done so that cash could "go home." Foreign money is now in America equities only as a protection against possible losses through devaluation.

WINNER: Al Smith is particularly interested in the squabble between New York City Park Commissioner Moses and General Johnson. Works Progress administrator for New York City, Mr. Moses was in the limelight when he refused to adhere to one of the orders handed down by Secretary Ickes on the Tri-Borough Bridge project. Moses will not take guff from anybody. In that matter he came a clean winner.

Tammany leaders are certain Moses will again be a winner—and Tammany Hall does not like Roosevelt by a long shot. Al Smith would like to see Moses put FDR in his place no matter how it is done. It would be used for American Liberty League circular material.

BELIE: Some financial men say there has been no inflation of any kind. It is pointed out that currency circulation has declined in the last two years. Other interests disagree. They cite the following as an example: In the 12 months ended August 1st the value of listed New York Stock Exchange securities increased over $8,100,000,000 while brokers' loans declined $155,000,000. "In the realm of money, surface appearances are not always to be trusted for they belie the real facts." Only Secretary Morgenthau can answer this one.

DISTURBED: The threatened strike of moving picture operators in New York City is potential dynamic. The Moving Picture Operators' Union Local 306 is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It is highly regarded by the A. F. of L. All theatrical A. F. of L. units are closely banded. As a group it is one of the most powerful labor organizations in the country.

There is an unwritten law that if one unit goes on strike all do likewise in sympathy. That is one reason why theatrical labor trouble isn't ever witnessed. This time Loew's, R-K-O and a few others are taking a chance on a showdown. A strike in New York would not only darken moving picture houses throughout the nation but would put a stop to all the motion picture industry—this includes production as well.

Theatrically informed interests say the government receives millions of dollars in taxes out of the picture industry. A shutdown for even a few days would hurt—in money figures. Secretary of Labor Perkins has not as yet shown any interest in the situation. It isn't a bit unlikely that she will be very much on the job should the strike become an actuality.

TARZAN AND THE LION MAN, No. 104

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"What did you discover?" Tarzan asked anxiously as he lowered Rhonda to the floor. "The opening is about two feet by three," she answered. "It seems to extend inward over the top of the wall at one side — I could feet a ledge. But I can't get on it to explore higher."

"We'll try again," the ape-man said cheerfully. "Step into my hands. Keep rigid; steady yourself against the wall; and I'll lift you about a foot and a half higher than you were before." Then the mighty Tarzan raised her easily but slowly to the full extent of his arms.

For a moment he held her thus. Then, first from one of Tarzan's hands and then from the other, her weight was lifted. He waited anxiously. Presently he caught a low whisper from above: "Toss me your rope!" He took the grass rope and threw a loop up into the dark.

Rhonda caught it on the second attempt. Tarzan heard her working with it and soon she called down: "Try it!" But as he started up the rope the thought occurred to him: Was their monstrous captor amusing himself by giving them hope of escape, only to trap them?

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 12. (AP)—Cotton reacted to favorable weather reports today and after holding under the previous close for the entire session; ended from 5 to 16 points lower.

The cotton growing region had excellent climatic conditions for the crop over the week end and the map today showed that they were being carried over into the new week. East of the river needed rains were falling in Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas while in Texas and Oklahoma it was hot and dry. Some reports from Oklahoma were received that rains were needed, but for the most part conditions continued good for growing.

Lower cables also induced light offerings in the early trading as reports from Liverpool indicated that light offerings were meeting few takers.

Near months were subjected to the most pressure and closed within a point or so of the lows for the day as Oct. ended at 11.03, Dec. at 10.91 and Jan. at 10.88. The more distant options staged a better performance, coming up from early low points to close off from 5 to 8 points. March finished at 10.89, May at 10.89 and July at 10.88.

Exports are getting off to a bad start this season. Currently they are running about 55,000 bales under a year ago and approximately 190,000 bales under the total at this time two years ago. The movement of the new crop is just about keeping pace with last season, receipts so far this season being but 2,000 bales ahead of last year.

Port receipts 10,313; week 18,610; season 92,479; last season 90,427. Exports 2,691; week 3,791; season 56,900; last season 112,611. Port stocks 1,092,079. Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston were 28,395; last year 36,306. Spot sales at southern markets were 5,862; last year 4,349.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under a little more southern selling in near months and scattered liquidation promoted by easy cables. October sold off to 11.06 and closed at 11.07 with the general market barely steady 5 to 15 points lower.

Most of the pressure was against the fall and winter months while there was some buying of later deliveries by near month sellers. At the close October was only 13 points above May. Exports today 2,691 making 57,803 so far this season. Port receipts 10,313. U. S. port stocks 1,092,386.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 12. (AP)—Estimated receipts were: Wheat 75 acres, corn 2, oats 11, and sorghums 5.

Wheat No. 1 red winter 1.10 1-2 to 11 1-2
Wheat No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing 1.13 1-2 to 23 1-2. Barley No. 2 nom. 51 to 53; Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. nom. 1.05 to 18; No. 2 white kafir nom. 1.00 to 10.

Corn (shelled) No. 2 white, Texas billing 88 to 90; nom. 94 to 96. Oats No. 2 red 37 to 39.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Brilliant prospects for the nation's 1935 corn crop brought about sharp breaks in prices of all grains today, with corn pitching downward 3 5-8 cents maximum.

Season low price records were smashed by corn, and by oats and rye as well. Scantiness of livestock on farms, a circumstance implying greatly curtailed use of corn, acted as a persistent weight on values, and so too did indications of a large amount of low grade wheat available for feeding.

Corn closed nervous, 1-2 to 3 1-4 cents under Saturday's finish, Dec. 55 7-8 to 56, wheat 7-8 to 2 cents down, Dec. 89 3-4 to 7-8, oats 1 1 3-8 off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 20 cents.

Local Markets

The prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock; Grain—A. E. Cone Grain and Seed company following prices being bid by Lubbock grain dealers; Cotton—Blocker Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 12. (AP)—Midwestern markets received a total of 82,000 cattle compared with 51,893 last Monday and 88,471 the corresponding day a year ago. At Chicago best fed steers reached $12.50 and outstanding fed heifers 11.60. Heavy fed Texas steers at the same market made 10.50 and 11.50, while at river points common and medium westerns ranged from 5.50 to 8.50.

The hog run numbered 37,000 against 69,734 a year ago. The recent upturn which was temporarily halted on closing sessions last week continued today with gains of 10 to 25 cents. Some extreme sales show further advances. A top of 12.15 at Chicago was the circuit's best price.

Fat lambs sold generally weak to 25 below last Friday's quotations. Other classes brought steady prices. Closely sorted natives topped at 9.00, while choice Idahos and Washingtons realized 8.75 and 8.90 at Chicago. Choice feeding lambs sold up to 8.00 at Omaha.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Shares changed hands in the stock market today in the greatest volume in more than a year. Rails had a brisk upturn, seconded by a number of the utilities, but the industrial group lagged behind under profit taking.

The tone was steady to firm at the close but most prices were off a bit from the best levels of the day. The market's performance appeared best classed as of the churning variety, with hesitation clearly apparent in a good many recent leaders.

Turnover in the stock exchange, at 2,434,630 shares, was the most active since July 26, 1934. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .1 of a point at 48.7 to a new high for 1935, replacing the 48.6 peak made Saturday.

The 15 rails used in the compilation rose .8 of a point to 26.3, while the industrials were even and the utilities a shade better.

Bonds tended to follow the stock market pattern closely.

Most Wall street observers appeared to feel the market's behavior evidenced some internal weariness, especially in view of the evidences of realizing in many of the recently active industrials. They point out that the news background remained encouraging.

Operations in the steel industry were estimated for the current week at 48.1 per cent of capacity by the steel institute, up 3.1 points from the previous week, continuing the uninterrupted climb since the July 4 period.

Highest Reading For State Is 100 Degrees

(By The Associated Press)

The weatherman's promised unction arrived on schedule Monday to break the Texas heat wave.

Clouds, rain and beneficent breezes visited most of the state, bringing along reduced temperatures.

The highest mark reported was 100 degrees, at Temple. This figure was more than offset by the sharp drops of the mercury elsewhere.

Temperature Stopped

Cool winds and clouds stopped the Corsicana temperature after it reached a 98-degree reading. The day before Corsicana had sweltered with 105.

San Antonio reported 97; Dallas, 96, with comparatively milder weather forecast; Austin, 95; Houston, 90, brought by a thundershower; Galveston, 89, with a trace of rain, and Beaumont, 83, with an early morning rainfall.

Amarillo's mild dust storm of Sunday was followed by overcast skies. Plainview reported light showers fell over its area.

son's direct interest in the campaign against the utilities bill, a telegram to another utility official immediately after the house vote rejecting the abolition provision for holding companies, expressing confidence the whole bill could be defeated.

Opinions Are Varied

From more than one congressional quarter came private expressions today that congress might adjourn before the utility bill is finally passed. Some disagreed with this view, however.

"We may be able to work out a bill yet," said Wheeler, chairman of the senate conferees. "But if we don't the issue will be taken to the public and we'll probably get a much more drastic measure than this one."

His assertion was prompted by a statement by Philip H. Gadsden, chairman of the committee of public utility executives, challenging the administration to take the power issue to the people in connection with the 1936 campaign.

Texas Centennial Visitors May See Latest Thing In Native Building Stone

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Aug. 12. (AP) — Persons who visit the Texas Centennial at Dallas next year may find something new in native building stone.

The state board of control, supervising agency for all buildings constructed with aid of state funds, has brought to light a new type of stone that is being investigated further. It is light grey and is springled with myriads of thining particles, believed to be granite.

Sample Catches Eye

The sample caught the board's eye immediately.

"That would make a beautiful building with the sun bringing out the richness of the colors," Claude Teer, chairman, commented.

The board will determine if the stone can be found in commercial quantities and easily worked. If it is not too expensive it likely will be used extensively. If it is found to be impractical for major construction it will, in all probability, be used on a small scale.

Found Near Llano

The stone is found near Llano but the board has not been advised of the quantity or workability and its properties. Several samples are being tested at the University of Texas laboratories to ascertain its tensile strength.

Teer said Texas materials would be used where possible in all state Centennial buildings in conformity with the board's policy to use Texas products in all construction, price and other considerations being approximately equal. Some rumors reached Austin that the board planned to use stone and other materials from other states in the Centennial structures.

Hidalgo Man Appeals To The Supreme Court On Tax Count

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—William D. Chadick of Hidalgo county, has appealed to the Supreme court from a sentence of two years and a fine of $2,500 on a charge that he evaded federal taxes for 1929.

The United States charged that Chadick in his tax return filed at Austin for 1929, attempted to evade payment of taxes of about $9,000, pointing out three deposits which had been made in the Edinburg State Bank and Trust company in January and February, 1929, in the name of Chadick. Two were for $4,000 each and one for $3,696.

Chadick contended A. Y. Baker, president of the Edinburg bank, had deposited money in the bank in Chadick's name and had withdrawn it without his knowledge or consent. He further contended the government had failed to show that these deposits had been made by him or with his knowledge and consent.

of denying entry of interstate commerce to any commodity produced in violation of the five-day week, six-hour day schedule.

While the Walsh bill, which was passed without a record vote, seeks to set up NRA standards of hours and pay within the scope of government dealings with industry, the president was given wide authority to modify requirements or, to exempt industry entirely.

Specifically the bill required that employes of any organization contracting to furnish supplies or resources to the government or to any agency using federal funds "will be paid not less than such minimum rates of pay and employed not to exceed such maximum hours as shall be designated specifically or by reference in the invitation to bid." The invitation also would require a statement of the employer "that no person under 16 years of age and no convict labor" has been employed.

Hoover Is Unmindful

Hoover, apparently unmindful of the stir his statement had caused, arrived in New York for an insurance meeting, refusing to talk politics. He had issued the statement in Chicago yesterday.

Most of the Washington comment concerned itself with whether he was or was not a candidate for the nomination.

The nearest thing to a reply to the Hoover statement from Democratic sources was from the senate majority leader, Robinson of Arkansas:

"Roosevelt objectives have been clear from the beginning. One has been to overcome the drastic effects of the Hoover policies; another to improve permanently living conditions and opportunities for the people generally."

Alternates May Be Selected For Austin Federal Building

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP) — Selection of alternates apparently will determine award of a contract for construction of a new federal court house at Austin, Texas, on the basis of bids opened at the treasury.

The base bid of Algernon Blair of Montgomery, Ala., for $364,632 was low for a proposal which would use cream colored limestone for exterior facing. On a proposal to use light grey limestone facing, the low bid was $369,000 offered by Blair and also by R. E. McKee of El Paso, Tex. Their bids on five minor alterations varied and thus might affect the result.

Two Men Arrested Saturday Fail To Make Bond In Case

Two men arrested Saturday night in a series of beer raids conducted by the sheriff's office and city police remained in jail Monday night in lieu of $1,000 bond. They were L. L. (Red) Ford and his brother, Haskell Ford. Welch Bailey was released Monday on posting of $1,000 bond, and Mrs. Amanda Brown, charged Sunday with ownership of beer, was released upon posting of $500 bond. Bill Pollard, operator of Bill's cafe, and John Zournas of the Tech cafe had made bond of $1,000 each.

Chemists had not reported on beer being analyzed from a downtown cafe and an out-lying sandwich stand. It was labeled as having one-half of one per cent of alcohol.

Manhunt Is Started

The father did not appear at his home Saturday, the morning after the son had been shot, and many residents of Post began a manhunt, their search radiating in every direction from the town. The hunt was given up Saturday night. About 11:30 a. m. Sunday the elder Huff's horse was found riderless, the owner's hat and lariat rope and the horse's bridle missing. Continued search led to the tank where the body was found at 3 p. m., but Sheriff W. F. Cato found no evidence of a body there at the time.

The body was buried at 9 p. m. and plans immediately laid for the court of inquiry. Officers examined the ground where the shooting took place and found an exploded 16-gauge shotgun shell and a pack of cigarets blown in half.

No Water In Stomach

Asked is there were any indication the elder Huff had drowned, Mr. Nelson answered in the negative. No water was found in the man's stomach, doctors had found. An early afternoon report that his skull had been bashed in was not confirmed. He had scratches on his body, however. Evidence tended to show the body had been in the water since Friday.

Additional witnesses will be summoned, Mr. Nelson indicated.

Other officials at the court of inquiry were: Sheriff Cato, H. G. Smith, county attorney, and J. P. Morris, justice of the peace who conducted the inquest into the death.

"With other officers, I expect to continue this investigation with my best endeavor until the entire case is made clear," said Mr. Nelson, who is serving his second elective term.

Polish Count Sues Town For Running A Municipal Ferry

GRUDZIANDZ, Poland, Aug. 12. (AP)—Count Erik Wilhelm Schwanfeld Schwerin, son-in-law of Lord Mayor Sahm of Berlin and former president of the Danzig senate, is suing this town for $20,000 as compensation for losses through the operation of a municipal ferry across the Vistula river.

The count, who owns the Sartowice estate in Pomorze, claims that a royal grant in the 16th century gave the owner of the estate the right to transport persons and goods from his side to the right bank, while the town is entitled to revenues for ferrying only in the opposite direction.

New Tax Plan Gets Approval

Taxes On Little Incomes Are Wiped Out By Senate Group Monday; Program Conforms To FDR's Wishes

said he was not certain he would do so now.

Both Democrats and Republicans had questioned whether the bill would become law while containing the little-income amendment.

Experts roughly estimated the bill would raise around $250,000,000 or more, about the same as the house bill.

By increasing the graduated corporation tax, the committee changed every schedule in the house bill. Also, the taxes it voted on intercorporate dividends and the increase in the existing capital stock levy were not included by the house.

Eliminated By 8 to 7

The La Follette amendment was reconsidered and eliminated by an official vote of 8 to 7 and the Harrison substitute was adopted 11 to 3.

The Harrison rates would start at 60 per cent as compared with the present maximum of 59 per cent on that part of individual surtax net income over $1,000,000, while the existing excess over $1,000,000 is taxed flatly at 59 per cent, the Harrison rates would tax the excess between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 by 60 per cent and carry on the graduation to 75 per cent on that taxable portion over $10,000,000.

The amendment of Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis.) would have lowered from $2,500 to $2,000 and from $1,000 to 800, respectively, existing married and single persons exemption, and started surtaxes at 4 per cent on the bracket between $3,000 and $4,000 with a maximum of 75 per cent on that over $10,000,000.

Raises Are Approved

The committee reconsidered its Saturday action in approving the house rates of 13 1-4 per cent on corporation net income of $15,000 and under, and 14 1-4 per cent on all over $15,000 and approved the following raises:

12 1-2 per cent on income up to $15,000; 14 per cent on that between $15,000 and $40,000; 15 per cent on that between $40,000 and $100,000, and 15 1-2 per cent on all over $100,000. The present corporation rate is a flat 12 3-4 per cent.

Under the intercorporate tax approved, a corporation could deduct from gross income only 85 per cent, instead of 100 per cent as at present, income received from dividends from other corporations. In other words, 15 per cent of dividend income would be subjected to the corporation income tax.

Some Are Undisturbed

Saturday's action left undisturbed were the increases in existing estate taxes, ranging from 2 per cent on the first taxable $10,000 to 70 per cent on that part of net estates over $50,000,000 and the increase in the capital stock tax from $1 to $1.50 per $1,000 of declared value.

Also unchanged were the excess profits rates. These remained at 6 per cent on profits between 10 and 15 per cent and 15 per cent on that portion of profits exceeding 15 per cent. The house bill provides rates ranging from 5 to 20 per cent.

The committee, however, rescinded another Saturday vote by eliminating the Costigan amendment which would have required husbands and wives in eight community property states to file joint income tax returns, bringing many new taxpayers into the surtax fold.

This was eliminated on motion of Senator Connally (D-Tex) and the committee went back to existing law permitting husbands and wives in Texas, Nevada, California, New Mexico, Arizona, Washington, Idaho and Louisiana to file separate returns.

The new graduated corporation levies, more in line with the president's suggested scale of 10 3-4 to 16 3-4 per cent, were approved 10 to 4.

The vote for an intercorporate dividend tax was 8 to 4.

"Am I?" It was heaven to be like this, together after all the heartbreak and exhaustion and the troubled dreaming. Later Michael could tell her why it had taken him so long to find her; he could explain the whole wretched weeks. For the present it was enough to lie there, her eyes on his lean face with its undeniable look of race about it, his lean brown hand gripping her own slim one.

The nurse, recovering herself at long last, spoke in tones of firmness not to be denied, and Michael went reluctantly away. He would see in the morning. . . .

South Plains Sheriff Asked If He Will Keep Prisoners

Federal authorities have contacted at least one South Plains sheriff concerning keeping of federal prisoners, since the Lubbock county jail was removed from the list of approved jails for federal prisoners.

Sheriff V. A. Johnston of Crosbyton said he had received an application blank to fill out if he wished to keep federal prisoners. He said he did not care to handle the prisoners "for what they offered."

Because a federal prisoner received trusty privileges while serving a sentence here the Lubbock county jail was removed from the approved list. There is no approved jail between Amarillo and Abilene at this time although Lubbock has a deputy United States marshal, Elmer Reed, former Crosby county sheriff.

Sheriff Tom Abel said he received 50 cents the day for boarding and 15 the day for keeping federal prisoners.

Jap Military Leader Killed

Lieutenant General Nagata Is Dead As Result Of Wounds Inflicted In A Fight In His Rooms With Sword

TOKYO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Lieutenant General Tetsuzan Nagata, director general of Japanese military affairs, died today of sword wounds, which the war office stated, were inflicted by Lieutenant Colonel Aizawa during a fight in Nagata's rooms.

The incident was said to have grown out of recent transfers of army officers.

Resignation Prepared

Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, minister of war, was said to have prepared his resignation as a result. General Nagata was one of his strongest supporters.

The director general was wounded in his rooms in the war office where Aizawa called on him this morning. There was a fierce argument during which the lesser officer drew his sword, the war office said, and inflicted the wound.

The war office, after reporting the incident, immediately imposed a strict censorship on details.

There has been a growing discontent among many officers since July 16 when General Hayashi forced the ouster of Gen Jinzaburo Mazaki as director general of military education and gave his own faction complete administration of war affairs.

Shakeups Seen

Mazaki's ouster was accompanied by widespread shakeups among divisional commanders and other high officers.

Nagata, 52, one of the strongest factors in the Hayashi forces, was made virtual administrative head of the army.

Hayashi, when advised of the mortal wounding of his friend, immediately prepared to resign and assume responsibility of all the events leading up to today's outbreak. It was said that the resignation probably would not be accepted.

Aizawa was promptly arrested.

The minister of war, vice minister of war and other high military officials were summoned to an emergency meeting.

Aggie Teachers In Session Here

Forty vocational agriculture teachers registered Monday at Texas Technological college for the annual conference of the Edwards Plateau and High Plains areas.

Committees To Meet

Meetings of committees appointed Monday to arrange next year's work in the two areas will follow until noon.

It was decided Monday afternoon to have no evening sessions.

Skills will be studied each afternoon, beginning at 1 o'clock. Ray C. Mowery, acting head of the college animal husbandry department, was in charge of the poultry skills demonstration Monday afternoon, and K. M. Renner, head of the dairy manufacturing department, gave a cream grading program.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, college president, gave the welcome address, and R. D. Maltby, supervisor of the Southern vocational agriculture region, spoke Monday morning.

Gamblers Quizzed In Man's Slaying

DALLAS, Aug. 12. (AP)—Fourteen players and "sweaters" in a poker game yesterday in a wooded section near the Denton-Dallas county line just off the main highway were questioned today by Sheriff Smoot Schmid in an attempt to learn the identity of three men who held up the game and killed Robert Williams, 40, of Lewisville, one of the players.

Four of the players were held in jail, but Chief Deputy Bill Decker expressed the opinion they were innocent victims of the robbers. The four were Fort Worth men.

Three deputy sheriffs left here today for Denton to try to locate a coupe in which the robbers fled.

Williams was killed, Sheriff Schmid quoted G. T. Swor, a bystander, as saying, when he was slow in holding up his hands.

Before the holdup another game was held up by three men near Bolivar in Denton county, several miles north of the same road.

"Drummer Boy Of Shiloh" Today Will Observe Birthday; Stories Are Told

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP).—Deep in the Southland, against which he fought as a youngster, the "drummer boy of Shiloh," now Brig. Gen. John Lincoln Clem, U. S. A., retired, tomorrow will observe his 84th birthday.

Idolized for decades as a childhood hero, General Clem is now in retirement at San Antonio, Tex., war department records say.

Ran Away From Home

The events which will keep him probably "forever on the pages of American history began when the 10-year old youngster ran away from his Newark, O., home to enlist.

Union army recruiting officers laughed at the earnest-faced boy and more than once his irate father marched him home. Undiscouraged, Johnny ran away again, attached himself to the 22 Michigan regiment and refused to leave.

Amused soldiers admired his "spunk" and fed him until the regiment's colonel agreed in May, 1862, to enroll him as a drummer boy, the youngest in the Union army.

Was a Born Fighter

Johnny was a born fighter.

At Shiloh, the records say, he was in the thick of battle drumming a charge when a bursting shell wrecked his drum and knocked him flat. Johnny leaped to his feet, seized a musket and blazed away at the enemy.

At Chicamauga he again distinguished himself. Union forces were retreating and Johnny, hampered by short legs and his drum, dropped behind.

A confederate colonel overtook him, stared in amazement at the impish figure before him, then laughed. His chuckle was short-lived. Johnny raised his sawed-off rifle and shot him through the chest. For that feat he was made a sergeant.

The remainder of Johnny's war days were far from quiet. He was wounded at Atlanta while carrying dispatches and was held prisoner for two months after his company was captured. After the war he went to school again and later returned to the army.

A work order was received for the Refugio municipal building, cost $36,495, with construction due to start August 17.

Spotted Showers Reported In Area

Spotted light showers Sunday night and Monday morning reduced blistering temperatures that have assailed the South Plains recently. Monday's high was 10 degrees lower than Sunday's maximum of 104 degrees.

Precipitation of .02 inch was reported Monday morning at the state experiment station. Clouds and northerly breezes that attained a velocity of 12 miles an hour caused late afternoon coolness. The thermometer at 6 p. m. at the experiment farm was 87 degrees, seven lower than the day's maximum. The same high was established at Municipal airport.

Fort Worth and Denver reported a half inch rain Sunday afternoon at Dimmitt and a light shower at Hart. Monday morning a half inch fell at Sterley and at Silverton and a quarter inch at Lockney.

Santa Fe reports said "showers" fell all the way from Muleshoe to Lubbock, with Sudan receiving the heaviest. The Plainview district received a good shower and light falls were reported from Brownfield, Seagraves and Levelland sections.

A heavy mist was reported from Tulia south of Monroe Monday morning. In the Plainview area a shower fell Sunday afternoon, another Sunday night and still another Monday morning. Fall in that area, according to one report, was nearly an inch.

Consensus was that the fall was not of sufficient quantity to either hurt or improve crop conditions, aside from cooling off the atmosphere and lessening damage from excessive heat.

Distinguished Flying Cross Is Recommended For Aviator

MARCH FIELD, Riverside, Calif., Aug. 12. (AP)—Brigadier General Henry H. Arnold, commander of the first wing, G. H. Q. air force, announced today that Flying Cadet Francis H. McDuff, Brooks Field, Texas, had been recommended for the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Budget Plans Are Brighter

Chairman Buchanan Believes That Nation's Budget Will Be Balanced Next Session; Income Increasing

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Hope that the budget will be balanced next year was expressed today by the one Democratic member of congress who has more to do with the budget than any other legislator.

Already this session, with one other money bill yet to pass, congress has appropriated $8,153,000,000—twice as much as the ordinary budget. A total of $4,880,000,000 of that was in the big work relief fund.

Looking over the session, Chairman Buchanan (D-Tex) of the house appropriations committee, which starts all appropriations bills through congress, remarked:

Sees Good Chance

"I think there's a good chance of a balanced budget next session."

Asked about reports that $2,000,000,000 would be asked next session for relief, which might throw the budget out of balance again, Buchanan replied:

"Asking for that and getting it are two different things. Of course, I think we could scrape up $1,750,000,000 or $2,000,000,000 and still have a balanced budget.

"I figure that the country has recovered so much that we won't have to spend so much next year and that we can stop lending and begin to collect some of the loans we've made. Our income is increasing too, of course, but I'm not figuring that in on the budget balancing."

Local Lady's Entire System Regulated By New Gly-Cas

Rheumatic Pains Conquered, Stomach And Kidneys In Fine Condition; Eats And Sleeps Good, Like A New Person.

"Gly-Cas is the first and only medicine I have ever found that did just what it claimed to do," said Mrs. H. L. Weems, R. F. D. No. 5, Lubbock, well known and highly respected local lady, recently in talking with the Gly-Cas Man who is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, and receiving much praise and comment on the seemingly accomplishments of this new Gly-Cas in many of the most stubborn cases.

MRS. H. L. WEEMS

"For the past four years I had been miserable with a bad case of stomach trouble," continued Mrs. Weems," after each meal I would suffer dreadfully with gas and bloating regardless of my diet. There were many foods I did not dare eat such as cabbage, pie, cake, eggs, meat and most rich foods. I soon lost my appetite for everything for to eat meant only suffering for me. I would have dizzy spells too, and was badly constipated and it seemed my entire system was clogged with poisons and try as I did, nothing would help me. Rheumatism finally settled over my body, hands swelled and my limbs felt as if they had 'gone to sleep.' I was continually worn-out too, for my kidneys disturbed me at all hours of the night and a good night's sleep was impossible. But all these years of poor health were soon to end when I gave Gly-Cas a fair trial—for it took hold of my case as if it was made for me alone."

"For the first time in years I can now sit down to a meal and enjoy it," said Mrs. Weems, "and never have any fear of the distress it will cause me afterwards for that dreadful gas and bloating and those awful pains in my stomach are now in the past. I now have a good appetite and enjoy the foods I didn't dare touch before. Even my bowels are now regulated, dizzy spells are over and all those poisons have been eliminated from my system. That rheumatism has gone too, nerves quieted and I sleep fine the entire night through. It is wonderful what a wonderful change a single medicine can make in ones health and it is a blessing to feel so well again since I have been taking Gly-Cas."

The Gly-Cas Man is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, where he is introducing and explaining the action of this new medical discovery.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c. © 1935, C. M. CO.

Students Return To Lubbock After An Educational Tour

Miss Ruth Pirtle and a group of students who went on a three weeks educational tour to New York, Washington and other cities returned here Sunday evening.

Twelve of the group who live in this area returned to Lubbock and about 10 stopped at their homes enroute here. They saw five plays, a picture and French follies, Miss Pirtle said. Miss Pirtle is head of the college speech department.
