Streams Are Receding In Area Today

Colorado Is Reported Falling At Austin; First Sunshine In Week Smiles On Area

BY RAY NEUMANN
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN SABA, July 26—The first sunshine in a week, smiled on this debris-strewn section today as streams receded and dissipated a flood situation the Texas hill country battled against for six days.

Even at Austin, where the situation was omnous last night the Colorado river, carried at flood stage by raging tributaries in this area, was reported falling.

Has Drop of 2.67 Feet

The stage at the Capital city at 8 a. m. was 30.33 feet, an overnight drop of 2.67 feet. The stream was not expected to be materially affected by flood waters now reported in its upper reaches.

San Saba, the hardest hit, went to work to clear up the wreckage. The San Saba river, which rose to a record high of 45 feet, was back in its small channel, running at 16 feet.

Red Cross Is Active

The Red Cross was caring for 200 refugees. A survey showed 60 residences were flooded, about half of which were washed away. The water works was expected to be operating soon. Highway workers hurried repair on damaged roads.

At the Bend community, on the Colorado 18 miles east of San Saba, the stream was rising no longer. The telephone operator reported the community calm and no one in immediate danger.

Damage Several Million

The state patrol was expected to check out some time today.

The damage was expected to reach several million dollars.

Lowlands around Austin were inundated, with serious damage to feed crops reported immediately below the capital. Austin's one high-

Vote Tests In 6 States Near

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 26—Democratic candidates in six states launched into their final campaigning this week early-August primaries testing President Roosevelt's party leadership as well as their own vote-drawing power.

A week from today—August 2—primary elections will take place in Kansas, Missouri, Virginia and West Virginia. Two days later Tennessee Democrats will pick their candidates, and August 6 will come the bitterly contested Kentucky primary.

Kentucky Is Key Test

In no other intra-party race has the administration so large a stake in prestige as in Kentucky, where Senate Leader Alben W. Barkley is opposed for renomination by Governor A. B. Chandler.

Roosevelt made a direct appeal early in July for Barkley's renomination and reelection.

In Missouri Senator Bennett Champ Clark, who hasn't by any means gone the whole way with Mr. Roosevelt, is up for renomination.

The Kansas Republican primary took on a measure of national importance when Chairman John Hamilton asked party voters not to nominate the Rev. Gerald Winr d for senator. Winrod was accused recently by nine Kansas ministers of nazi and fascist sympathies.

CHANGES POSTPONED

KENTUCKY 'PLOT' PROBED

'Poisoning' Of Chandler Said Attempted

Highway Patrol Investigating Situation; Water Is Said 'Doctored With Poison'

(By The Associated Press)

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 26 — Kentucky's highway patrol proceeded today with an investigation into the asserted "poisoning" of Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

Major Joe Burman, chief of the state bureau of identification, said it was "not the first time such a thing has happened during the campaign" Chandler is waging for the Democratic senatorial nomination against Senator Alben Barkley, senate majority leader.

"Have Our Suspicions"

"We have our suspicious," Major Burman said in promising an investigation "to determine who is responsible for the attempt on the governor's life."

Chandler, ill since Friday when he was stricken in a Louisville hotel, is the victim of water "doctored with poison," Dr. J. W. Bryan, his Louisville physician, said in a statement. Dr. Bryan said he did not know what kind of poison it was but added "if consumed in sufficient quantities would have caused death."

In Louisville Detective Chief Joseph Stewart said:

"It is a publicity stunt. Dr. Bryan told me he would not go into court and swear to anything. As far as I am concerned the investigation is all washed up."

John Malley, chief of police, and former secret service agent, said: "The poison case is a political bedtime story."

Cites Bitter Campaign

Addressing a radio audience from his bedside in the executive mansion last night, Chandler said, "in no campaign in recent years has a campaign been so desperate."

He recalled that he had just finished a broadcast from his Louisville hotel suite Friday when "two of my associates and I were stricken with intestinal poisoning."

Corrigan Changes His Mind On Jobs

LONDON, July 26 (AP)—Douglas G. Corrigan apparently has changed his mind about money-making offers from the United States.

"When I get back," the young trans-Atlantic flier said today, "I am going to take the best job offered—movies, vaudeville, newspapers, anything."

But he is planning a two weeks' tour first.

There will be a couple of days in New York," he said. "Two days, because the boys in Brook n seem to want to have a parade as well as the guys in New York; then Boston, then down south to Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington."

He plans also to visit Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio ("where I was stationed six years"), Norfolk, Virginia ("if I can make it"), Galveston ("where I was born"), then Los Angeles, San Francisco and "on my way back" St. Louis ("where my plane was built").

Capital Wonders Whether Ickes Was Hinting At Third Term Try

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Capital politicians wondered today whether Secretary Ickes was hinting at a third term race for President Roosevelt when he said:

"If the reactionaries in the Democratic party want a real test of President Roosevelt's strength with the people, I suggest that they continue to work for a situation that will result in the people being given an oppotunity to vote for President Roosevelt and his policies.

"There can hardly be any doubt what the answer of the people would be."

O'Daniel And Hill Billies On National Broadcast Today

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, July 26 — The whole country today heard W. Lee O'Daniel and his hill billy orchestra demonstrate in a nationwide broadcast over 108 radio stations the methods they used in a sensational campaign to win the Democratic gubernatorial nomination for the Fort Worth flour merchant.

MAJORITY IS 27,536

DALLAS, July 26 (AP) — The W. Lee O'Daniel vote soared within a few hundred votes of the half million mark in the latest Texas Election Bureau gubernatorial count tabulated today.

The flour broker held a majority of 27,536 over his eleven opponents with an amazing total of 499,092.

Other totals included: Ernest O. Thompson, 195,667; William A. McCraw, 135,964; Tom F. Hunter, 101,559; Karl A. Crowley, 16,196; F. D. Renfro, 7,950; James A. Ferguson, 3,653; Clarence Farmer, 3,431; Marvin McCoy, 1,668; S. T. Breedon, 1,461; Thomas Self, 1,280; Josepa King, 783; Clarence Miller, 434.

Between bits of rollicking campaign songs, which he calls "mountain music" but really isn't, O'Daniel expounded some of his campaign philosophy, told how 54,000 radio fans induced him to enter the race and introduced members of his family.

"I didn't know it was going to happen, and didn't intend to get mixed up in politics," he said. "All my life I had been selling flour. And now look at me!"

He was introduced as a business executive, not a radical, and an American first of all."

O'Daniel was master of ceremonies.

Gives Campaign Songs

First he gave his invisible audidence the campaign song that had tickled all Texas to its toes, "I hate mountain music," containing the famous line, "Please pass the biscuits, pappy." Then came "Out on the Texas Plains," and next "I Want to Be a Cowboy's Sweetheart," sung by Texas Rose, a pretty 17-year-old girl whose real name is Kitty Williamson.

The news of his candidacy spread, he said, because most of the 54,000 were poor folks and "You know if there is anything in the world poor folks have it's relatives."

Corrects Himself

Once he referred to himself as a "candidate," and laughingly corrected himself.

"Why, I'm going to be governor, am I not?" he said.

He introduced Mrs. O'Daniel, a graceful, gray-haired woman, as the brains of his campaign, as well as his sons, Pat, 19, Mike, 18, and Molly, 16. They all said a word of greeting, Pat's being "Hello, girls!"

Puts In Word For Texas

O'Daniel put in a word of advertising for Texas, describing its pos-

Japanese On Major Drive In Yangtze

Chinese Defenses Said To Be Crumbling In Path Of Big Offensive By Nipponese

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, July 26 — The Japanese command announced its army had at last opened a path for a major offensive against Hankow today by occupying Kiukiang and therey breaking the principal Chinese defense line in the Yangtze valley.

Kiukiang is 135 miles down the Yangtze river from Hankow, provisional Chinese capital. The Japanese had tried more than three weeks to force entry into the city.

The army of Nippon entered it this morning, the Japanese announced, after Chinese defenses began to crumble late Monday night.

Chinese claims to the contarry, the Japanese said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's troops were retreating to the west and southwest, presumably hoping later to swing back north to form new defenses for the capital.

While the army completed its occupation of Kiukiang, the Japanese announcement related, Japanese warships advanced slowly through mine fields in the Yangtze and, with army and navy airforces, joined in shelling and bombing the retreating Chinese.

Pittman Cites Trade Threat

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 26—Senator Pittman (D-Nev) said today he believed the course of this country's world trade might be profoundly affected by the controversy with Mexico over property seizures.

Pittman, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, said the United States could not permit the situation to go unchallenged because it would tend to "weaken, if not destroy, the rights of our citizens under treaties of amity and commerce throughout the world."

Notice To Other Governments

For that reason, Pittman said, he regarded Secrptary Hull's note on the land seizures as not only a warning to Mexico, but a notice to all other governments that this country will not permit confiscation of American-owned property abroad.

Farm land owned by Americans, Hull's note said, has been taken over by the Mexican government since 1927. Hull emphasized the principle there should be no expropriation of property without im-

Hog Prices Highest Since Last October

The packers reported slaughtering operations will be resumed in their plants tomorrow.

Sheppard Threatens To Publish Names If No Reports Entered

WASHINGTON, July 26. (AP) — Senator Sheppard (D-Tex) threatened today to make public the names of senatorial candidates who have failed to report their expenses to the campaign expenditures committee.

Third Victim May Die; Accident On College Ave.

BY H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

A man and his young niece met horrifying deaths and a woman, sister of the man and mother of the girl, was critically injured in an automobile-train collision at the College avenue crossing over the Santa Fe railroad tracks here about 9 o'clock this morning.

Victims were:

Bernard Neatherland, 42, storekeeper and filling station operator of San Antonio, N. M.; killed instantly.

Jean Gilmore, 12, of Spur; who died about an hour later at the hospital where she revived from a coma just before death to tell her identity.

Mrs. Lonnie Gilmore, 48, mother of Jean and sister of Neatherland, who is in West Texas hospital suffering from injuries of such seriousness that slight hope was held for her recovery.

Those in the automobile were en route from the Gilmore home in Spur to New Mexico where Neatherland had planned to place his sister in a hospital for treatment of a chronic ailment. Neatherland's home town of San Antonio was described as being between Carrizozo and Socorro, N. M., about 90 miles south of Albuquerque.

Family Known In Area

Mrs. Gilmore is the wife of Lonnie Gilmore, long an employe of the Pitchfork ranch about 30 miles northeast of Spur and son of the late Jime Gilmore. The family was described by W. D. Starcher, editor of the Dickens County Times at Spur, as being one of the most widely known in ranching circles in this section of the state.

Bodies of Neatherland and the child were taken to Sanders Funeral home. Mr. Gilmore and other members from Spur, due to arrive early this afternoon. Mrs. Gilmore's survivors, additional to her husband, include a son, Claude, about 18, who graduated from Spur High school last June, and a daughter, Mrs. Joe Latham, residing east of Spur.

Neatherland also is survived by his widow and several children, reports here this afternoon said.

The automobile was headed north out of Lubbock and the train was No. 79 west bound which had left the Santa Fe station at 8:45 a. m. Ed Tonn was conductor and W. W. Atwood the engineer.

Investigation Is Launched

Police, sheriff's deputies and representatives of the state highway patrol who began an investigation immediately said that statements of witnesses to them indicated that the man, who was driving the car, apparently lost control of the machine, possibly when brakes locked.

John Nugent, member of the Lubbock fire department, whose home at 2504 Third street is only a short distance from the scene, was an eye witness and the first to reach the spot, the officers were informed.

Attracted By Whistling

Nugent, walking between his garage and house, 375 feet south of the railroad crossing, was attracted by whistling of train.

"It looked like the car's right wheels were in the dirt on the right side of the road and that the driver, maybe becoming scared, put on his brakes," Nugent said. "The car whipped around like the brakes might have locked, throwing it into almost a headon collision, the left front of the engine catching the left fender of the automobile.

Turned Over Two Or Three Times

"At the moment of impact, the car was almost at right angles from me—I could see across the spare tire on a direct line.

"The car turned over two or three times and was shoved up against the crossing marker, where it was left leaning.

"I ran over there and the first thing I saw was the little girl in the back seat—standing on her head on the ground, her body extending upward through the crushed window. When I tried to lift her out she just stopped screaming and groaning for a few seconds and her body, evidently broken at the hips, sagged down all over me. Her legs must have been broken all to pieces. They fell every which way.

Had To Move Car

"The woman must have been sitting on the right side of the front seat, because she had been thrown toward the right and under the steering wheel. Before she could be moved help in moving the car had to be given.

"The man was under the car and had been thrown out at the moment of the collision. He had been caught under the car and dragged."

Others Tell Stories

Others who told corroborative stories were Charles McClung, 12, son of J. E. McClung, resident of Arnett addition, who said he also was a witness, and Gordon Sanders, Fred Gentry and Ralph Welch who were among the first to the scene and who assisted in removing the victims from the wreckage.

Gentry took the injured woman to the hospital and Sanders the man and girl. Gentry operates a paint and repair business and was at the golf driving range operated by Joe Bihl about 500 yards south of the crossing when the crash occurred. Welch was employed at a nearby filling station.

Curious Gather At Spot

The accident quickly resulted in traffic jam as hundreds of curious gathered at the spot. Police and highway patrolmen, however, soon cleared passage and kept traffic moving, although an hour later automobiles were parked a distance of approximately half a mile on both sides of the highway near the scene.

The wreckage of the automobile, piled in a ditch at the side of the pavement, bore mute and graphic testimony to the violence of the crash. Front wheels had been snapped off and the smashed engine rested upon the ground. One of the doors had been torn off, and the top and one side caved in. It likewise had been telescoped somewhat from front to rear, explaining the crushed condition of the victims. The car was a 1934 model Ford V-8 coach bearing New Mexico license number 82,956.

Assisting in the investigation were B. L. Woodell of the state highway patrol; Chief Don Reeder, Assistant Chief Bill Mabry and Officers Ralph

Factors Cited In Soil Ills

Erosion control was the subject of a lecture delivered by R. R. Hinde of Amarillo, associate agronomist for the soil conservation service, Monday afternoon before those attending a short course in soil conservation at Texas Technological college.

He named the five factors which influence soil erosion losses as: amount and intensity of rainfall; topography of the land which includes degree, height, and drainage area of slope; erodibility of soil type; land use and management; and vegetative cover.

Clean tilled crops, such as cotton, corn, beans, potatoes, and tobacco are erosion inducing, he said, whereas close-growing, fibrous-rooted crops such as most of the legumes, hay and forage crops are erosion resistant. Small grains are semi-erosion resistant.

Requirements Listed

"Adoption of a control program for a farm depends upon topography, climate, land use, amount and kind of farm unit, need for certain crops, and economic conditions," Hinde said.

"The cropping method and practices must, of course, be coordinated into a unified land use program for each farm unit involved," he said. "By coordinating these cropping methods and practices they should be worked out according to the physical conditions encountered. If only a part of the program, such as terracing, strip cropping or contour farming is carried out on a farm, the program is apt to fail. One phase is as important as the other and for that reason a combination of all work phases, which will control both wind and water erosion, should be adopted.

"If we are to continue the farming and ranching business, there are certain farming practices which must be adopted for agriculture on the Plains; flexible cropping and crop rotations, contour farming, strip cropping, cover crops, buffer strips, border plantings, timely tillage practices; proper tillage practices, and grassed waterways."

Locating 'Lost' Planes May Be Solved By New Distress Signal

PASADENA, July 26 (AP)—One of aviation's most perplexing problems—locating "lost" planes—may be solved, it was indicated today at the California Institute of Technology.

Anthony Easton, youthful caltech research physicist, and a commercial airline executive, Major Daniel E. Ellis, announced they have invented an automatic radio distress signal transmitter.

The set is small, ruggedly-built, wrapped in a small black box and insulated from fire by two inches of asbestos. It is suspended from coil springs within the tail of an airplane, usually the section least damaged in a hard landing.

A sharp jolt will start the set sending distress signals.

Has your aluminum ware become discolored? Try this method of "restoring" it: In the discolored utensil place six lemon halves from which the juice has been removed. Fill it with water and let the water and lemon halves simmer for 25 minutes. Drain, and then wash the utensil in warm water and soap suds. You'll find it will shine like new.

Many Trying Problems To Face O'Daniel When He Becomes Governor

Paying Pension May Be Task

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

FORT WORTH, July 26 — W. Lee O'Daniel will face many trying problems when he becomes governor of Texas.

When he assumes office early in January, his biggest job probably will be to straighten out state finances, something all governors in recent years have been trying to do, with varying results.

Deficit Is $15,000,000

The general fund of the state treasury has a deficit of about $15,000,000. Expenses of the government have been growing by leaps and bounds. If O'Daniel's proposal to pay old age pensions to everyone over 65 should be put into effect, many millions additional outlay would be necessary. The state has never appropriated to make effective constitutional amendments to provide aid to needy blind and dependent children and to set up a retirement fund for school teachers.

Many people, therefore, have asked the question, where will O'Daniel find the money? In his campaign speeches, he usually has replied with another question, where are they getting the money now to pay the $150,000,000 expenses of government?

Said No New Taxes Needed

He has said no new taxes were needed, but that he thought many economies could be effected through consolidation and elimination of unnecessary departments of government. Also he has said there were too many job holders in the state capital and he would go over the payroll with a fine tooth comb and try to cut off all filled by "influence and pull."

Apparently, however, most of the money for his program he expects, judging from his campaign speeches, to obtain through state industrial development and the increased yield from the taxes now levied.

Where Will He Cut?

The question has been asked by his opponents and others as to where he will cut expenses. About 70 per cent of the expenses of government go for operation of the state highway department and maintenance of the school system. The state has a vast highway system and sentiment of the people, as reflected in the legislature, in the past has been strongly in favor of a large highway building and maintenance program. Few ever try to do anything unfavorable to the schools. The state appropriations for schools, including aid to rural schools, are the largest in history, and the school men say they need still more money because of growing demands.

Heavy outlay also is being made for the eleemosynary system, including insane asylumns, but the state board of control, which supervises the system, says its needs have not yet been met. The number of insane in the state is increasing at a faster rate then the population as a whole, and because of inadequate facilities, there are many insane kept in jails because there is no other place to send them.

Rolls Have 113,000 Now

There now are approximately 113,000 on the pension rolls. They are paid, on a basis of need, a total of about $10,000,000 a year. Official estimates are there are about 245,000 persons in Texas over 65 years of age who would be eligible for assistance if the need basis was removed. If they were paid $15 a month by the state, about $34,000,000 a year additional would be needed.

O'Daniel, in proposing $30 a month pensions, figured on the state paying $15 and the federal government $15. But the federal social security act is based on payments to needy. Therefore it might not agree to pay $15 to everyone in Texas, regardless of need, but would match only such state aid as it considered went to the needy. The state constitution limits state old age assistance payments to $15.

Senate Jealous Of Its Power.

O'Daniel has said he expected to get along all right with the legislature because "I know how to get along with all men." Nevertheless, the senate is very jealous of its power, and has had some first class rows with governors.

In his campaign, O'Daniel has denounced "professional politicians" and called on the people to help him drive them out of Austin. The question is being asked, whether he will learn to compromise with the legislature, reconcile divergent views, as past governors have had to do. He admits he knows nothing of politics.

Doesn't Have Much Power

With reference to "cleaning house" among jobholders in Austin, the governor does not have a great amount of power. Some of the heads of the most important departments are elected, for example, the state superintendent of public instruction, the commissioner of the general land office, the attorney general, the comptroller and the treasurer. These men fill the jobs in their own departments. Then, there are many commissions of several members who have overlapping terms, and the governor can appoint only one member every two years.

He does appoint the secretary of state, the labor commissioner and the adjutant general and certain other officials. And, of course, he wields considerable influence with all department heads if he gets along with them.

So far as appeared to the naked eye, O'Daniel has had little support among men who have long been in politics. He has waged war on "professional politicians." Governor Allred has, however, been friendly to him. He does not know many members of the legislature.

Among the population on relief chronic illness occurs 87 per cent more often than in the upper income group.

Mentioned For Seat

Believed to be a possible successor to the late Supreme Court Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo is Dr. Felix Frankfurter, above, of Harvard Law School. Frankfurter was a power in the New Deal during its early days.

Man Is Held In Sioux City For Officers At El Paso

SIOUX CITY, Ia., July 26 (AP)—Chief of Detectives Thomas Farley said today police here were holding a man who gave his name as Christi Merkuri, 45, at the request of El Paso, Tex., officers.

Farley said an agent for the national board of underwriters notified him that Merkuri was wanted in El Paso for questioning on an arson charge in connection with the burning of a safe.

Merkuri refused to waive extradition, Farley said, and he added that he would be arraigned tomorrow on a fugitive from justice charge.

Wage Laws In U.S. Expanding

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 26 — An estimated 1,000,000 women are working under state minimum wage orders which give them pay ranging from $6 to $18 a week.

Officials of the women's bureau of the department of labor said today that states with minimum wage legislation were expanding their coverage, particularly in fields not covered by the federal wage-hour act.

Laws In 25 States

Twenty-five states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia have minimum wage laws. Most of them apply to women and minors, three cover only females, and one, an Oklahoma statute now in the courts, includes men.

All but a few provide for determination of minimum wages by boards which study each industry.

Flat rates were established by law in Puerto Rico, South Dakota and Nevada. Puerto Rico's minimum is $6 a week. Nevada, requiring $18 for a 48-hour week for women, has the country's highest blanket minimum.

Eleven states base minimum wage rates on cost of living. Ten others allow living costs to be taken into consideration.

Studies made on that basis in the retail trade resulted in setting a $16 minimum for a 42 1-2 hour week in Utah and a $17 rate for 40 to 48 hours in the District of Columbia. Colorado set a $15.84 minimum for 48 hours in big city laundries, and $13.86 for 58 hours in the laundry industry for the rest of the state.

Delay In Trial Of Four Men Is Caused By Supporters

DETROIT, July 26 (AP) — Demonstrating supporters of four suspended officers of the United Automobile Workers union forced a day's delay Monday in the quartet's trial amid charges of "frame-up," "irresponsible communists," and "union wreckers."

Prominent also in the tense several hours before the union's international executive board adjourned until tomorrow were a brief fist fight and two visits from police in futile efforts to clear a crowd of demonstrators from union headquarters.

During the average lifetime the heart beats 2,500,000,000 times.

TULSA, Okla., July 26 (AP)—Production of crude oil in the United States increased 22,450 barrels daily for the week ending July 23, bringing daily average production for the week to 3,349,378 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Oklahoma production decreased 8,200 barrels daily to an average of 434,275 barrels daily. East Texas increased 390 barrels daily to an average of 438,915 barrels daily, and the entire state of Texas showed an increase of 16,527 barrels daily to 1,394,759.

Louisiana registered an increase of 1,442 barrels daily to 265,307, but California production decreased 6,800 barrels daily to 663,500, while Kansas' output increased 4,050 barrels daily to 157,725.

Eastern states including Michigan and Illinois had an increase of 5,566 barrels daily to 201,657 and the output of the Rocky Mountain west increased 9,240 barrels daily to an average of 72,360.

County Bond Survey To Be Considered

PLAINVIEW, July 26. (AP)—A special meeting of the Texas County Judges and Commissioners association has been called at Fort Worth Aug. 5 by the president, H. M. LaFont, Hale county judge.

The purpose, Judge LaFont said, is to discuss a proposed county bond survey designed to ascertain possibilities of working out a bond adjustment for Texas counties. A contract for the survey has been made with a New York concern by the state board of county and road district indebtedness.

Members of the state highway commission and other state officials are expected to discuss the project and explain the purposes of the survey. In addition, the state highway program in general will be discussed, Judge LaFont said.

MUST GET MORE CONVICTS

BISMARCK, N. D. (AP)—A "shortage of help" at the state prison is hampering production of twine that thousands of farmers use for sacking grain.

Chairman Jennie Ulsrud of the state board of administration reported that because of this shorthandedness the prison twine plant is running about 1,775,000 pounds under the 8,443,500 pounds contracted for delivery.

Rain Dampens Pennant Hopes Of Indians

Trouble Sure To Come In Home Stay

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Like the crops, the roads and the amusement park business, the pennant hopes of the Cleveland Indians suffered severe damage from last week's prolonged rainy spell in the east. In fact, there's a strong belief in some quarters that the Tribe was rained right out of the American league pennant.

The Indians are only a game behind the league-leading New York Yankees as they open at home today after remaining over in Boston an extra day to divide a final doubleheader with the Red Sox. They may eve nregain the lead at home, but when they go east again, there's bound to be trouble.

Were Doing All Right

Cleveland was doing right well when the deluge started. The Indians had beaten the Yanks in the opener of a "crucial" series and were confident they could take the league leaders and Boston as well. As it was they got an even break in ten games in the east, better than any other western team except Chicago could do. But the three games at New York which they figured would put them on top again were rained out and they lost two of three to the Red Sox.

Yesterday's belated windup served to illustrate the troubles ahead for the Tribe.

Johnny Allen and Mel Harder did the pitching—they've been doing practically all the good flinging the Indians have had lately. Allen was beaten, 4-0, when Rookie Emerson Dickman of Boston came through with a three-hitter, but Harder evened things up with five-hit ball to win 3-0.

Feller's Fast Ball Gone

Beyond those two, Cleveland's mound staff consists mostly of Bobby Feller, who hasn't been doing so well and says his fast ball is gone. That's a none too promising list for a hard schedule of doubleheaders.

Allen allowed only five hits as he took his second defeat of the season and saw his 12-game winning streak end, but only one failed to count. The Sox went ahead on Pinky Higgins' double and Bobby Doerr's single in the second, added two runs on a walk, Higgins' single, Ken Keltner's error and a fielder's choice, and finished up with Jimmy Foxx's 27th homer in the sixth.

Held To Six Hits

Bagby held the Tribe to six hits and fanned nine in the nightcap but failed to stop Keltner and Jeff Heath. The former clouted his 17th homer for one run and doubled home another while Heath's triple and single each led to a run.

The New York Giants in the National league find themselves in a spot somewhat like Cleveland, only they're four games behind instead of just one as they return home. They lost nine out of 13 decisions on the road and to make up their deficit they have to check not only Pittsburgh's first place Pirates, but Chicago's threatening Cubs.

Final Brigade Of U. S. Track Stars Off For Europe Today

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — The final brigade of America's track and field army sails for Europe today secure in the knowledge it is in top shape for coming engagements.

The athletes dominated a twilight meet held by the Ancient Order of Hibernians at MacComb's dam park last night, winning each event against starters from the Metropolitan district.

Harley Howells, the smooth-running Ohio State star, captured the 440 in 48.3, remarkable time considering the track's condition. This was a track record, one of the three established. Blaine Rideout of North Texas State Teachers, supplied another with a 4:15.8 mile.

State Semi-Pro Tournament At Waco Is Weeding Out Teams

WACO, July 26 (AP)—The Conroe Oilers whipped the Sun Oilers of Brenham 9-2 here last night in the state semi-pro baseball tournament.

Seven-Up of Austin defeated Cushing All-Stars 12-4, and Alvin Texaco Indians shut out the Continental Oilers 6-0. Wills Point beat Paris Coca Cola 7-1.

NEW YORK, July 26. — If Burgess Whitehead has his way he will be back with the Giants in three weeks. . . . His side feels much better. . . . His mother would rather he would wait another month, but "Rats" (as they call him down in Eastern North Carolina) wants to get back in harness real bad. . . . Hank Wolfe, crack sports writer of the Richmond (Va) News Leader, spent a couple of days in New York press boxes last week and didn't like the way they score hits and errors up here. . . . He says they're too stingy with their errors and too lenient with their hits. . . . We've had the same complaint, Hank, but after all what the official scorer says goes.

Jack Stringham, all Rocky Mountain conference fullback from Brigham Young university in Utah, wore out five headguards smacking the line last season. . . . Since quitting school Jack has tried professional boxing and now has signed with the Brooklyn football Dodgers. . . . Pittsburgh and San Bernardino still deny it, but we say the Pirates have been fooling around with the idea of training in Miami next spring. . . . They may change their minds and stick to California, but there have been things in the air and we doubt that even Bill Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh club, will deny it.

Walter (Big Train) Johnson still is packing 'em in. . . . He's barnstorming around with a Washington semi-pro team and usually tosses 'em up in battle practice. . . . Remember Riley Smith, Cliff Battles and Charlie Malone of professional football fame? . . . Well, they're playing ball for the same soft drink club. . . . Al Schacht packed 'em in at Minneapolis with the greatest crowd there in five years. . . . Al says the majors want him back but that he had to reject all offers this year because he's booked solidly in the minors. . . . Quite a feller, that Schacht and a great "bring 'em in" attraction wherever you pit him.

Unless Lou Gehrig perks up he is unlikely to bat in his customary 100 runs this season. . . . Mrs. Moody, here, flouts reports of any feud with Helen Jacobs. . . . Are you still listening? . . . News item: Terry seeks new talent for Giants. . . . Giants can't agree among themselves if Dizzy Dean's pitching comeback is a complete success. . . . They want to wait and see what Dizzy can do against them in the Polo grounds. . . . One reason why Whizzer White decided not to compete in the charity game at Chicago Aug. 31 is that he is going on the air for eight weeks as a sort of "Major Bowes" in a charity hunt program.

Clovis Park Still Jinx For Hubbers

(Special To The Journal)

CLOVIS, N. M., July 26—Clovis decamped the Lubbock Hubbers again here last night, 11 to 10, to keep the Bell park jinx good that has held true all season.

The Lubbock loss placed the idle Midland Cardinals one game back of the leaders. The Hubbers have yet to win a game on the Clovis field this season.

The Pioneers got one run in each the first, second and fourth innings off Ernest "Big Bill" Terry for a three-run lead, but the league leaders put on the pressure in the first of the fifth to count seven times.

Joe Gedsius opened the session with a single, and Bob Mosel and Mal Stevens loaded the bases with a walk and single, respectively. Frank Nelson, Pioneers starter, then walked Manager Hack Miller to force Gedsius over with the initial Hubber run.

Harrison Socks Home Run

A pair of errors, two bases on balls, and Gedzius' second bingle of the frame, a double, completed the scoring spree, as Mosel went out to retire the side. Eleven men batted during the uprising.

Not to be outdone Clovis came back with three runs when Hack Harrison clouted a home run with two runners perched on base. It was the first ball hit out of the park since installation of the glimmers.

In the seventh Gedzius again started a rally by waiting out a pass. Mosel lashed a triple down the first-base line, counting Gedzius, then scored on Tex Staurt's error on Taylor's bunt. Taylor later scored.

The Pioneers got the winning margin in their half of the seventh, when Gedzius muffed a grounder to allow two runs across. Shorty Beals' double was the payoff blow in that inning. He drove over the tying and winning runs. Beals' hit came off Ralph Marshall who had relieved Terry.

Taylor led hitters with a double and a brace of singles in five journeys to the plate. Stevens and Gedzius for Lubbock and Watson, Stuart, and Beals for the Pioneers each collected two hits.

Christie was the winning twirler, while Marshall was charged with the setback.

Midland and the Barons were idle at Big Spring due to wet grounds.

Swim Of 70 Miles Made By Violinist

SANTA MONICA, Calif., July 26. (AP)—Paul Chotteau, heavy-muscled concert violinist, Monday completed the world's longest swim—something like 70 miles—in such a state of exhaustion that he had to be lifted into his convoy boat.

He was in the water for nearly 45 hours.

The 40-year-old Frenchman was 15 miles short of his goal at Venice when he collapsed. He started swimming Saturday noon at Santa Barbara island, with a pier 56 miles away as his intended stopping place.

His attendants estimated, however, that due to adverse currents he probably had swum 70 miles.

Jacksonville Jax Take Victory From League-Leading Marshall

(By The Associated Press)

Jacksonville's Jax defeated the Marshall Tigers, league leaders, 12-11 last night in a loosely played tilt.

The tying run for the Tigers was thrown out at the plate in the ninth, nipping a rally.

Henderson batsmen slammed offerings of three Texarkana pitchers for twelve hits and trounced the liners 10-6, while Kilgore rallied twice in early stages to down Longview 13-7 in a series opener, and Palestine beat Tyler 8-7.

Jack Lavis pitched six-hit ball to give the Pals their win.

Arizmendi Risks His Hard-Won Prestige In Bout With Vaughn

LOS ANGELES, July 26 (AP)—Alberto Arizmendi, veteran Mexican lightweight, tonight risks his hard-won prestige in a ten-round bout with Jimmy Vaughn of Cleveland, Ohio.

Nicknamed Baby though he fights like a bull, Arizmendi is a 2-to-1 favorite to reverse a decision by Vaughn last year. Since then, the Mexican gave Henry Armstrong a stiff battle for ten rounds and drew with Lou Ambers in a surprising bout.

Formation Of Baseball League In 5 Western States Sought

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, July 26. (AP) — Baseball leaders of five states sought today to revive a class C professional baseball league that produced such major league talent as "Lefty" Gomez, Wally Berger, Ernie Lombardi and Harry Danning.

Representatives of 11 western towns met to attempt formation of an eight-team league composed of clubs from Utah, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and Montana that will start play in 1939. Last professional league in the region was the Utah-Idaho circuit that started more than a score of players on the road to the major leagues.

Borger Hubers Open Card In Denver Post Tourney Today

DENVER, July 26 (AP) — Three games were scheduled today in the Denver Post baseball tourney, with top billing going to the Duncan, Okla. Cementers and Ogallala, Neb. Indians, both undefeated, who come together in a night game.

The Borger, Tex., Hubers open the card today at 2 p. m. (C.S.T.) meeting the Denver City league stars.

Hostak Fights Fred Steele In Title Bout

(By The Associated Press)

SEATTLE, July 26 — The overall kid from Seattle's Georgetown mill district gets his chance tonight at the world's middleweight boxing crown when Al "Hostile" Hostak clashes with Freddie Steele, the champion from Tacoma.

The fight is scheduled for 15 rounds, but may be decided sooner because of the hefty pokes packed by the two principals. Challenger Hostak has scored 15 consecutive knockouts and hopes Steele will be No. 16. Steele is no creampuff hitter himself, having scored 31 knockouts in his career.

Hostak Is Lighter

The fighters are to weigh in today around 2 p. m., with Steele expected to scale about 159 pounds and Hostak a pound lighter.

When the fight was announced, Steele was a 10-7 favorite in the wagering, but the odds have shrunk to 10-9 and indications are it will be an even-money argument by ringtime.

Hostak, 22 years old, started fighting in the 125-pound class, a spindly little blond kid with a terrific wallop. As he grew in size he moved from the preliminary class and began fighting main events in outlying neighborhood arenas.

Exporters Climb To Slender Point Lead

(By The Associated Press)

Beaumont's Exporters climbed to a slender one-point lead in the Texas league last night as they trounced Tulsa a third straight time, 3-2, to sweep a series and displace the Oilers from the top.

Talented hurling by Dizzy Trout as he won his fifteenth straight game of the season paved the way for the Exporter win.

Meanwhile, Paul Dean showed his berth with Dallas was agreeing with his comeback campaign by pitching the Steers to a 7-2 victory over the Houston Buffs. His fast ball was as good as ever through the sixth inning, then he gave up seven of the nine hits he permitted in the last four frames.

The Shreveport Sports shoved the Fort Worth Cats firmly back into eighth place as they tightened their own grip on the seventh position 2-1.

The third place San Antonio Missions dropped the third game of a series with Oklahoma City 4-3, the Indians rallying in the seventh to win. The defeat stopped a Mission streak at six straight.

Moody-Jacobs Tennis Rivalry Is To Continue In U. S. In At Least Two Major Tournaments

NEW YORK, July 26. (AP) — It looks like a banner year for the Moody-Jacobs tennis rivalry, which both participants are anxious to have you believe exists only on the courts.

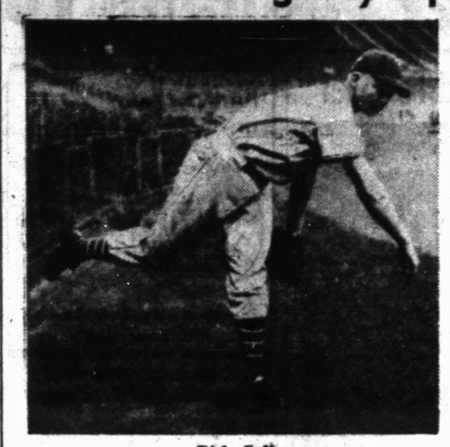

It has been going on since the days when Helen Jacobs, now 30, still was a junior; includes 20-odd meetings, counting minor tournaments, had its last renewal in a 6-4, 6-0 "walk-over" for 33-year-old Helen Wills Moody at Wimbledon this year after Miss Jacobs turned her ankle in the second set, and is likely to have two more engagements before the season ends.

The first should be in the Essex county invitation at Manchester, Mass., which starts August 15, and the second in the National singles at Forest Hills September 8-17.

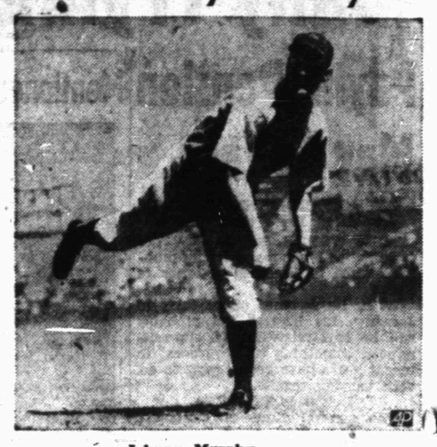

On their return from Europe, Miss Jacobs ten days ago and Mrs. Moody yesterday, each announced that Manchester would be her first tournament and each said she would play at Forest Hills, Miss Jacobs in quest of her fifth title, Mrs. Moody her eighth.

Granted that "Jake" recovers from her angle injury and "Poker Face" from a slight back strain, their Wimbledon showings indicate there should be little to stop them from reaching both finals.

Problem Of Relief Is Acute In Baseball, And The Emergency Squad Is Always Ready

Dick Coffman

Johnny Murphy

By Associated Press Feature Service

NEW YORK, July 26. — One of baseball's axioms says a pennant-winning team must have a crack relief hurler.

That's about as true as the requisite of strength on the catcher-second base-center field axis.

And the front-running teams of both major leagues are up there partly because they have competent trouble-shooters — stout-hearted, strong-armed guys who march in from the bull pen to stem uprisings against starting hurlers.

The Yankees bank on Jonny Murphy. When the cannonading begins the Pirates yelp for Mace Brown. Bill Terry of the Giants thumbs Dick Coffman to the mound when opposing batters get fresh with the offerings of Hubbell or Melton or Schumacher. And the Indians rely largely on Rookie Johnny Humphries.

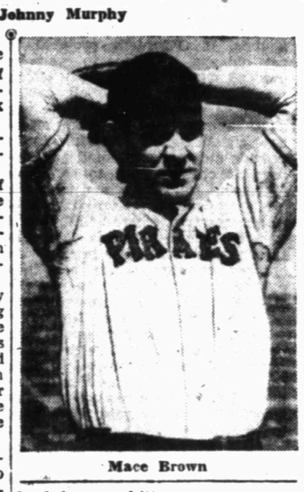

That quartet, along with the veteran Charley Root of the Chicago Cubs and Pete Appleton of Washington, has enjoyed most success among the relief twirlers this season.

Let's take a look at these aces of the succor squad:

Mace Stanley Brown of the Pirates — As the pennant races approached the August stretch he'd won 12 games, saved several others and lost three. His record was so good Terry used him in the All-Star game. He is 6 feet 1, weighs 190 pounds, 28 years old. He has been coming to the aid of Pittsburgh pitchers for three seasons.

John Joseph Murphy of the Yankees—With the season more than half finished, Irish Johnny had not been beaten, boasted a 6-0 record. In addition to his half dozen triumphs, Murphy has saved 10 games for such aces as Lefty Gomez and Charles Ruffing. Johnny is 6 feet 2, 194 pounds, 30 years old. This is his fifth campaign as a reliefman. His major-league record shows 52 victories as against 21 setbacks. Joe McCarthy figures he is too good a trouble-shooter to be given starting assignments.

John William Humphries of the Indians — He's a rookie who has won six and lost two. He is 6 feet 2, 185 pounds, 23 years old. He was the only Southern association pitcher to win 20 games last year. He pitched a no-hit game for New Orleans and in his next time out hurled a one-hitter.

Mace Brown

Samuel Richard Coffman of the Giants — Dick came to the Giants after bouncing around the American league for many seasons. He is 6 feet 1, 170 pounds, 32 years old. He won eight and lost three for the Giants last year. His record for the first half of this season is four victories and one defeat. He's saved eight games.

And there's not a southpaw among these leading relief artists. They're all right handers.

"CAN'T BEAT IT FOR VALUE!"
Says O. H. Deans about the big, 2-ounce red tin of this popular "makin's" tobacco
THE Deans brothers (O. H., left, and Bruce, right) interrupt Bill Tew (center—selling a plow) long enough to get in some praise for their "makin's" tobacco. Says "O. H.": "You sure get full value with Prince Albert!" "Suits me just fine," adds Bruce. Prince Albert twirls up in a jiffy into swell cigarettes. They burn slower, cooler—and you get around 70 of 'em from every 2-ounce tin. Just open a tin—smell Prince Albert's fragrant aroma—you'll know why P. O. H. DEANS (he's the one on the left) says: "There's a heap of smooth rich taste and good body to a P. A. 'makin's' smoke—and no harshness! For 'makin's' tobacco, that extra-mild Prince Albert just can't be beat." (Nothing like mild, mellow P. A. for pipes, either!)

Barkham Rites Are Conducted

Funeral services for William H. Barkham, 26, who was fatally injured in a truck-automobile collision near Tulia Sunday morning, were conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Sanders Funeral chapel. Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated.

Barkham lived at 1630 Tenth street. Four other persons of that address were injured in the collision.

Active pallbearers were Clent Clutter, Weldon George, Paul Love, Ed Martin, Jimmie Kilpatrick, and John McClain. Honorary pallbearers were Dr. Otis Taylor, Charles Gunn, Ed D. Allen, M. L. Shepherd, and Frank McPherson.

Brother Comes By Air

The accident victim is survived by his mother, Mrs. L. H. Barkham, and sister, Miss Jorga Barkham, who were injured in the accident; and a brother, Edward Barkham, who is associated with an engineering concern in Brooklyn and who came by airplane to attend funeral services.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Mrs. Barkham was considered in serious condition this morning at Lubbock sanitarium and was not to be dismissed to attend funeral services. She suffered fracture of a chest bone and her right arm, bruises and severe shock. Others injured in the accident are considered in satisfactory condition.

way outlet to the south remained opened.

Farmers on the lower reaches of the Colorado especially in the La Grange and Columbus sectors, nevertheless were apprehensive as the river rose steadily with the crest of waters from West Texas still to arrive.

At LaGrange the river was rising six inches an hour and the stage was 32 feet. The river was over a considerable acreage in the lowlands but widespread crop damage was not expected until a stage of at least 40 feet was reached.

Highway Under Water

Highway three at Columbus was under water and traffic between Houston and San Antonio was being detoured. Farmers of this sector feared widespread losses if the stream goes much higher. A bale of cotton to the acre already is made in the fields in the bottom lands and the best corn crop in 15 years faces inundation. The river already is over many acres in the lowlands and a few more feet rise would destroy thousands of acres of crops. The river was still rising after reaching a stage of 35 feet early today. The rate of the rise was at three or four inches an hour.

Many insurgent units had been pulled out of the long-quiet area to aid the drive of Valencia to the south, and the government's surprise offensive gave the insurgents a taste of the tactics they used so effectively in the Estremadura region in southwestern Spain near the Portuguese frontier, where government lines had been weakened to defend Valencia.

The government reported the advance was general all the way from the Ebro delta at Amposta, at the mouth of the Ebro, along the curving course of the stream to Mequinenza, about midway between Gandesa and Lerida.

The Ebro has been the frontier between insurgent territory and government-held Catalonia since Insurgent Generalissimo Franco's Easter campaign drove a wedge between Catalonia and the rest of Spain.

A song of his own composition, which is sung by school children and grownups all over the state, "Beautiful Texas," concluded the broadcast.

O'Daniel Congratulated And Sons Asked To Enter Tech

Congratulations on the result of his campaign for governor and invitation that his sons enroll in Texas Technological college have been telegraphed to W. Lee O'Daniel.

"Texas Technological college extends to you its heartiest congratulations upon the marvelous results of your interesting campaign. As one of the larger state schools in Texas we felicitate you and your good family and extend a very cordial invitation to your sons now ready for college to enroll in Texas Technological college."

The telegram was signed by Dr. James M. Gordon, dean of the arts and sciences division and chairman of the executive committee.

Thompson Pledges Cooperation To O'Daniel; May Run Again

AUSTIN, July 26. (AP)—Ernest O. Thompson, runner-up to W. Lee O'Daniel in the governor's race, today pledged his full cooperation to the victor and at the same time strongly hinted he again might seek the office some time in the future.

"I went through a good qualifying course," the 46-year-old head of the Interstate Oil Compact commission said. "I left no scars anywhere because I talked about no man.

"I hope Mr. O'Daniel makes a good governor and I shall help him every way I can. I really mean that. A person who wins like he did deserves the cooperation of everyone."

Thompson jokingly said he was having difficulty resuming his duties as railroad commissioner because his eyes were filled with "hillbilly flour."

"I wasn't running against O'Daniel," Thompson said. "I didn't even see him. He ran by me and left a cloud of hillbilly flour in my eyes.

Extends Congratulations

"I extend my congratulations to him. He really knew how to run."

Thompson said he was proud of the vote he received—that it was within about 35,000 of what he had expected and ordinarily would have been sufficient to put him into the run-off.

"No one ever complains against the builder of a house which is wrecked by a cyclone," he remarked.

The railroad commissioner said the campaign convinced him the voters were primarily interested in caring for the downtrodden and underprivileged, in helping the aged, the blind, the dependent children and the insane.

"Economy in government," he continued, "doesn't seem to be ringing a lot of bells."

Franco Building Totalitarian State Behind Him As He Fights To Take Rest Of Spain

A wrecked and suffering Spain is only two-thirds his, yet Francisco Franco already is building upon its ruins Europe's newest totalitarian state As the frightful civil war enters its third year, Milton Bronner writes for The Evening Journal the story of this would-be dictator, in a three-part series beginning today.

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

With the bitterest civil war in modern history now in its third year, Rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco finds himself the master of two-thirds of torn and bleeding Spain.

Behind the fronts where 850,000 troops still are locked in struggle, this warrior son of a warrior father is erecting a state patterned after fascism in the 30 of the 47 provinces which the rebels have conquered. Rich farm lands, mines, industrial sections and seaports are under Franco's domination, giving him an opportunity to run them as he hopes some day to run all Spain.

With a million lives already lost in battles and air raids, and with untold billions of dollars of property damage in all the great cities, Franco's biggest job is winning peace in the territory which he already rules. For unlike Hitler and Mussolini, whose Fascist revolutions were comparatively bloodless, Franco is achieving his dictatorship only at a great price.

There is probably not a family in Spain that does not mourn the loss of some male member. There is probably not a family that has not suffered pecuniary loss. A country which was never among the progressive states of Europe has been so wrecked from end to end that it will take decades to repair the damage and bring it back to normal.

Franco has to overcome the bitter hatred of thousands. He has to redeem the promises he has made to all and sundry. The soldier now must show that he is a statesman. And up to the time that he became the head of the rebel movement, he had never performed anything but soldierly tasks.

Had Three Sons

Fancisco Franco was born in the northwest Spanish province of Galicia where his father was commander of the naval base at Ferrol. The senior Franco had three sons and from their babyhood he determined their careers. Nicolas, the eldest, was to go into the navy like himself. Francisco was to be a soldier and Ramon, the youngest, was to be an airman. What he decreed, duly took place. But for a time at least Ramon was the most celebrated of the brothers. His solo flight across the south Atlantic made him a Spanish hero.

When the Spanish republic was proclaimed in 1931, Ramon was made Minister for Air. At the time it was widely reported that his ambition was to be the Spanish Lenin. In that same 1931, talking to this writer, Ramon vigorously denied any such ambition and proclaimed his loyalty to the republic. But, later, blood proved thicker than water. Ramon went over to his brother's cause, as did Nicolas.

At 14 Francisco entered the Spanish Military Academy. Finished with school, he saw his chance for rapid promotion in Spanish Morocco. The Riffs were as always, in rebellion. General Berenguer was organizing native troops to fight them. Spanish troops were also employed.

Young Franco's decision proved his wisdom. He became the youngest Lieutenant, the youngest Captain and the youngest General in the recent history of the Spanish army. In Morocco he took part in numerous engagements, one time being seriously woundeed by a bullet which penetrateed his stomach and just grazed his lungs. During this part of his service, he had charge of Moroccan regulars. Lateer, when Colonel Millan Astray formed a Spanish Foreign Legion, Franco offered his services and was appointed to a command.

Won Military Medals

Back then the Legion and the Moroccans were always used by Spain as shock troops in quelling native rebellions. Franco was with them when they recaptured the Melilla zone and won the Military Medal for himself.

In 1923 he became Lieeutenant Colonel and shortly afterwards Colonel of the Foreign Legion. Under Dictator Rivera's orders, he directed occupation of the Bay of Alhucemas, Spanish Morocco was now pacified. Franco got his reward by being made a Brigadier General in 1928.

In view of his future career as a rebel leader, his biggest asset was the genuine liking and admiration the Moroccan troops and the Foreign Legion had for him. They said they would follow him anywhere. Ten years later they did.

Friend Of Black Fails To Get Withdrawal Of Bar Resolution

CLEVELAND, July 26 (AP) — A "personal friend" of Hugo L. Black—attempted unsuccessfully today to obtain withdrawal of a proposed resolution to have the American Bar association ask the U. S. supreme court for information concerning "eligibility" of its Associate Justice Black.

Edward T. Lee, dean of John Marshall Law school at Chicago, refused today at a public hearing of the association's resolutions committee to withdraw his resolution. The committee will go into executive session later to decide whether the measure should be reported to the convention floor for a vote.

"I am a personal friend of Hugo L. Black and I want to take the floor against this," said Judge Richard D. Evans of Birmingham, Ala. He said the supreme court had once refused to rule on Black's eligibility and there was no reason for the association to press the matter.

Rainfall Heavy Over Territory

Widely scattered places over the South Plains late Monday afternoon received moisture ranging from light showers to as much as six inches, to add to the already greatly subnormal season.

Moisture at the state experiment sub-station here was recorded as .16 of an inch, to bring the total to above 4 inches for July.

Possibility of plant lice and of boll worms on cotton was seen by Don L. Jones, superintendent, because of the excess moisture on growing crops.

No Rain At Airport

No rain fell at municipal airport north of town; downtown Lubbock had a heavy shower, with more in some parts of the residential sections. Rain extended west of town eight or ten miles. No rain fell in Hockley county.

Fort Worth and Denver dispatchers said no rains were reported by agents on the South Plains division.

Heaviest fall was reported in the Plains area. It was reported at Brownfield that six inches of moisture fell between there and Plains, although none fell at Brownfield. Heavy rains, the precipitation being measured in inches, also were reported in the Seagraves and Post areas.

More than half an inch was reported by authorities at Lamesa where intermittent showers fell throughout the day. Crosbyton reported three and one-half inches of rain in the late afternoon. A shower had fallen that morning.

Only fog and mist was reported at Spur and Levelland had "just a sprinkle." Littlefield received no rain.

Detours Are Reported Over Area By Highway Department

Yellowhouse fork of the Brazos river, in Garza county near Justiceburg has a detour and the crossing is impassible if the stream is flowing, said a report of detours from the state highway division office here. No other crossing is available. The highway is No. 380.

A 19-mile detour in Hockley county from Levelland to the Hockley-Cochran county line is reported on No. 24; a 19.8 mile detour in Hale county on No. 19 from four miles northwest of Plainview to the Castro-Swisher line is reported and a 14-mile detour in Swisher county on No. 86 from Tulia west of the Castro-Swisher line.

Two Brothers Are Wounded In Duel

TISHOMINGO, Okla., July 26. (AP)—Brothers Nick and Ike McDonald were wounded critically today in what Sheriff L. W. Hamilton described as a duel with shotguns climaxing years of quarrels.

The brothers, both in their 40's, were found by their families in a pasture shortly after day-break. Nick McDonald had shotgun wounds in the stomach, Ike McDonald had wounds near the heart.

Hamilton said the shotguns of both men were nearby. Both had been fired.

The brothers lived on adjacent farms one mile west of here, Hamilton said, and had quarreled for years. Latest bone of contention was an argument over some calves of Ike McDonald which apparently had strayed over on to the land of Nick McDonald, the sheriff said.

Nick McDonald penned the calves up in a lot and kept them there. This morning, the sheriff said, Ike McDonald came after them and the duel followed.

L. B. Wallace Is Injured In Unique Mishap ear Lubbock

In an unique mishap at 10 o'clock this morning six miles southeast of Lubbock, L. B. Wallace, about 30, suffered a broken left elbow, severe laceration that required approximately 15 sutures, and body bruises and lacerations.

Wallace was in a 1927 coupe that was being towed by another machine driven by C. B. Young, 19. At intervals he leaned out to watch the motor of his machine, witnesses said.

A truck driven by A. L. Parrish, 31, of Dallas, was in collision with the car operated by Wallace, when, he said, it swerved out in front of him when he was abreast of the car driven by Young. He said he did not see it in time to avoid it. The edge of his truck bed sideswiped the other car, he said.

A charge of operating an automobile without a driver's license was filed against Young and a fine of $13.15 assessed by Walter Davies, justice of peace.

Pitcairn Island Is Reported To Be Isolated; Appeal Is Made

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — Pitcairn island today was isolated from the world—the isolation Fletcher Christian and his mutinous band from H. M. S. Bounty sought in 1789, but which now threatens the island's food supply.

Two failures to establish radio communication with the island plus the seeming disinclination of trading ships to call at the tiny British possession presumably because of false rumors of typhoid, have convinced Mrs. Dorothy Hall, Springfield Gardens, Queens, housewife, that the radio equipment of station BR6AY, has failed.

Mrs. Hall, who has regularly communicated with the island, attempted to "speak" the station again this morning after a power failure yesterday. She succeeded in hearing the call letters of the island station, then silence.

As a result she cabled Neville Chamberlain, British prime minister:

"Pitcairn island radio crippled. Urge you rush immediate aid, medicine and supplies, also investigate two month trade boycott."

Arkansas Candidate Proposes To O'Daniel That He Put On Same Campaign In His State

(By The Associated Press)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 26—Gubernatorial Candidate W. S. McNutt today proposed to bring the W. Lee O'Daniel political show to Arkansas for a whirlwind campaign in his behalf.

The 46-year-old Batesville college professor wired the Lone Star state gubernatorial nominee that "you can spread Texas benefits to Arkansas by spending the next two weeks before the primary in this state waging the same kind of battle you have just won."

O'Daniel Doesn't Comment

No comment was forthcoming immediately from the Fort Worth flour jobber who crashed the governorship with hillbilly music and Ten Commandments platform.

Arkansas hasn't seen anything like the O'Daniel bandwagon since 1932 when the late Huey P. Long whirled into the state with his sound trucks for an eight-day run that sent Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway to the U. S. senate.

McNutt is opposing Governor Carl E. Bailey, who is asking a second term on his record, and former udge R. A. Cook, who proposes a business-like administration. The Democratic primary is scheduled August 9.

O'Daniel And His 'Hill Billy' Orchestra Deluged With Offers

FORT WORTH, July 26 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel and his "hill billy" orchestra have been deluged with offers of theater and hotel dance engagements.

The offers have come by telephone, telegraph, mail and personal representation, but they haven't gotten anywhere. O'Daniel has turned them all down.

"My job is going to be governor of Texas," he said.

The "hill billy boys," a seven-member orchestra which includes his two sons, Pat and Mike, travelled with O'Danield on his sensation campaign for the governorship.

To Friends of Rural Education in Lubbock County:

I wish to thank you for the lead you gave me in the Primary Election Saturday. Our County is recognized the State over for its educational opportunities. 92 per cent of the land in the rural schools is valued no higher than $15 per acre for school purposes and the remaining 8 per cent is valued no higher than $20. We invite you to compare these low tax values with any other accredited school on the South Plains. We believe in rural education and understand rural school finances. I promise to continue to direct the school affairs in such a manner that these taxes will not be raised. I invite you to investigate my record for efficiency in this office, and if you deem me worthy, please let me complete the program we have under way; and I assure you that you will be proud of our rural school system. I will ever be grateful for your support.

Sincerely yours,

mediate payment of compensation to the owner.

Failure to maintain this principle in Mexico's seizure of oil and farm properties belonging to American citizens, Pittman said, would make such holdings the prey of unscrupulous governments in all portions of the world. The result, he predicted, would be severe crippling of this country's world trade.

Recounting Hull's statement of the difficulties encountered in attempting unsuccessfully to obtain arbitration of claims for Mexican property seizures dating back to 1915, Pittman said:

"It is evident that unless just compensation is made for such confiscation without further avoidance of the issue, that the good neighbor policy which our government has made such strenuous efforts to maintain will be destroyed.

"That would be very unfortunate for both countries, particularly Mexico, which has been receiving our financial aid."

Final Meeting Of Committee Called

Final meeting of the hospital committee of the chamber of commerce was called this morning by Chairman George P. Kuykendall for 4 o'clock this afternoon to complete preparations for the reception Wednesday of C. H. Stratton, of Washington, D. C., engineer for the Veterans administration.

Stratton is visiting cities in Texas for the purpose of inspecting possible sites for a $1,435,000 Veterans hospital for which provision was made by recent congressional enactment. The bill provides that the hospital is to be located in Texas.

No information had been received at the chamber of commerce as to the probable time of his arrival. His stay here, however, is to be brief and no elaborate entertainment is planned.

His business here, according to information to officials, will be solely to inspect possible sites, of which 10 to 15 probably will be available. Any persons having property they think might be suitable was invited to submit them to Glen Hess, chairman of the hospital site subcommittee, this afternoon or early Wednesday.

After 163 Years Americans Still Can't Address Letters

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 26. (AP)—The United States postal service — which is 163 years old today — has one problem as old as itself — poorly-addressed letters.

The same horror harassed Benjamin Franklin when in 1775 the Continental congress established the continental post office and made him postmaster general.

He predicted hopefully that the colonials some day would learn to write names more plainly, but — they didn't and their descendants have not yet learned.

A postal official estimated today that poor and careless handwriting costs the government about $1,500,000 a year. There is no telling what the people pay for it individually, he added.

The main offenders are:

1. Character handwriters — people who try to pen their personalities on the outside of a letter.

2. Careless abbreviaters—folks who write "Mo." and let the postal clerks decide whether it's Missouri or Montana.

3. Just plain bad writing.

The similarity of city names is another thing that almost drives the clerks out of their cages. Take Cleveland, for instance. The nation has 26 besides the one in Ohio. And there are 28 Troys, and 12 Birminghams.

It's hard to believe, but:

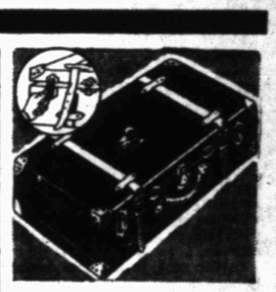

More than 100,000 Americans didn't put any address on letters last year. They didn't, in fact, write anything on the envelopes—just mailed them blank.

A recent survey shows that the average American room has 2.5 windows.

That .5 window would be the one with the top sash that sticks.

* * *

NOW THAT the hoo-rah of the campaign is over, and the individual's feeling of either shock, delight or disappointment has had its edge worn off, it is a good time to take a searching look at the situation and its possibilities.

This much undoubtedly is true:

When an overwhelming majority of our citizens Saturday gave the amazing Mr. O'Daniel the "go" sign, they also gave to him an opportunity for service unequalled in modern Texas times.

If ever a man can go into the gaunt statehouse at Austin free and unfettered, it will be Wilbert Lee O'Daniel.

If it can be possible for a governor to "write his own ticket," that opportunity will go to the Ft. Worth man.

And if ever the people have said to a man: "Here's a new slate and a box of chalk; Make your own mark," they have said it to O'Daniel.

* * *

The next two years are going to be interesting to behold.

Mr. O'Daniel had a lot to say in his campaign about "professional politicians" and the way things have been carried on in high places of our state. Now it falls to his lot either to blaze a new trail in filling the high office, or admit that his cry against the politicians was only another political trick in itself.

Further, Mr. O'Daniel was more than generous with the taxpayer's money in promising, without strings, if, and or buts, a $30 per month pension to every Texan over 65, regardless of his financial condition. Now he faces two big problems—the first concerning how and where he's going to get the money; the second, how he's going to get the federal government to furnish $15 of the $30 each month for people who can show no need for it.

* * *

IN HIS campaign, Mr. O'Daniel told thousands of listeners that if he were elected he would set up an advisory board of business men and women from all over Texas who would have a big voice in mapping out his program. Now he faces the problem of making that plan stick with the legislature which will work with him, or against him, as the case may be.

In the past, legislatures frequently have balked at carrying out campaign promises of governors. Whether the legislature will accept dictation not only from the governor, but from his far-flung aides as well, is a big question mark.

And its solution may either make or break the O'Daniel administration.

* * *

The whole situation, as we see it, revolves largely around whether or not Mr. O'Daniel is a sincere man; whether or not he really means to try to fulfil his promises both hinted at and frankly made, or whether, like so many of his predecessors, he merely told the people what he thought they wanted to hear in order to get their support.

If he is sincere, Texas cannot help but benefit from its experiment, if only in the knowledge the experiment may give the people as a whole.

If he is insincere, the next two years are going to be the stormiest and the most futile since the days of the Ferguson impeachment strife—or perhaps in the whole history of Texas.

* * *

WHILE The Plainsman personally voted with the minority last Saturday, he has no hesitancy in agreeing fully with the O'Daniel statements that politics in Texas are and have been for many years thoroughly "gang-ridden."

It is true that to get political pie in Texas you've "had to be a lover of the landlady's daughter."

It is true that you've had to "know the right people."

Now, with a new deal and a new deck, it remains to be seen whether or not Mr. O'Daniel will steer clear of "closed corporation" operations at Austin, or whether he will merely set up his own gang—or permit his friends to do it.

If he can give us an administration in which political favoritism will be held to the minimum, there's no limit to the heights he can climb and there's no limit to the record and reputation he can make.

But if, on the other hand, an O'Daniel political organization, set up on the present and past pie counter system, takes the place of the one we already have and have had for so long, we can't see where there will be any improvement.

It will only be the same, old game, with new players.

* * *

As we said before, we didn't vote for W. Lee O'Daniel.

But we'll be for him if and when he shows us that he really has what it takes to make a good governor and that his campaign was really something more than sounding brass and clashing cymbals.

And since he's the choice of the overwhelming majority of our friends and neighbors, we go into the O'Daniel administration with an open mind and with the sincere hope that he can and will do what he has said he will do.

The Plainsman is fiercely ambitious for Texas and Texans as a whole and not ambitious for any individual as opposed to the good of the state. For that reason, no one will rejoice more than we if Mr. O'Daniel comes through in great style and as a wise and just chief executive.

* * *

CERTAINLY Mr. O'Daniel must be a little humble in the face of the great wave of confidence which enveloped his candidacy and swept him into office in unprecedented style.

Certainly he must be saying to himself, in chastened tones, "The people believe in me. I must make good for them."

If he embarks upon his tenure of office in that frame of mind, sincerely dedicated to the principles of good, clean, fair and intelligent government, he'll find thousands of Texans ready to help uphold his right arm. And they'll be Texans who opposed him Saturday, as well as those who were for him.

No man ever had a greater opportunity, or a freer hand.

We hope our next governor can and will take advantage of it.

Interne Trouble

BY ELINORE C. STONE
Copyright, 1938, NEA Service

CAST OF CHARACTERS

TRAN DEARBORN—heroine, student nurse. She ran into love and trouble when she met

DR. BOB BENCHLEY — hero, handsome young interne. He had trouble, too, keeping up with brilliant

DR. STEPHEN SARGENT—head surgeon. Dr. Sargent's problem was something else again.

* * *

Yesterday: Opportunity comes to Tran when she acts as interpreter for an Italian patient. She does not notice that someone enters the room as she quiets the injured man.

CHAPTER VII

Tran did not notice that when Dr. Benchley was about to interrupt with a swift question, someone who stood in the background stopped him with a quick, low word.

She only knew that the eyes of the man on the table clung to hers for reassurance, and that under her hand the quivering in his arm lessened, the tense muscles relaxed. . . And for the first time in her life, Tran felt power.

It was something entirely apart from the quickness of mind that made it so easy for her to learn from books, or the deftness that made play of manual tasks. It was the sense of power that comes from having strength to lend to another in need of strength.

She did not know how long she stood so without looking up—feeling quivering muscles relax under her fingers and the calm assurance of her voice—before a whiteclad nurse came with an orderly and wheeled the patient away.

It was only then that Dr. Benchley said with the irony of a patience too long strained, "If it isn't too much to ask, it might be interesting to get some idea just what that was all about."

Tran lifted her head and answered absently out of the uplift of that newly discovered sense of power, "He thought he was dying. I told him it was gonig to be all right."

"As simple as that, eh?" commented Dr. Benchley dryly.

Tran did not answer. Instead she turned and walked like a woman in a trance, straight out of the room—without even seeing that the terrible Dr. Stephen Sargent stood just inside the door, watching her with a thought fulfrown between the arrogant sweep of his brows.

Once outside, Tran found that her knees were shaking so helplessly that she had to cling to the wall as she went along the corridor.

So that was what Miss Philbin meant when she talked about "giving to the patient."

There was another thing about that evening that Tran never knew.

* * *

Late that night, Dr. Sargent, coming from the operating room gray with fatigue, halted in the corridor outside Miss Armstrong's office at sight of light framed by the transom, knocked, and went inside.

Miss Armstrong, her cap slightly askew, was brooding over a sheaf of reports. At this time of year Miss Armstrong often brooded well into the morning over the reports of her students.

"Hm!" grunted Dr. Sargent. "And so on—far into the night, I suppose. And this is the hard-boiled lady who sends her girls to bed at 10:30."

"I might say, 'And this is the head-surgeon who rides his subordinates for turning up red-eyed for want of sleep, and then piles a midnight charity operation on top of a full schedule'." . . . Well, how did it go, Stephen?"

Miss Armstrong had been supervisor of surgical nursing at Saint Vincent's when Stephen Sargent had been the rawest of young internes.

"Ruptured before I could get to it," he said, sliding down in his chair and thrusting his hands into his pockets, his long legs stretched out before him. "The poor devil had a wife and three children, and couldn't make up his mind to take a chance till, this evening, the thing hit him like a bomb shell."

He took a silver case from his pocket, extracted a cigaret, and lighted it.

"You really smoke too much, Stephen." Miss Armstrong said as if from force of habit; but her mind was obviously not on her words.

"Just what I was telling young Benchley about himself not two hours ago," he agreed with a wry grin.

"'Young Benchley,'" the white-haired woman echoed musingly. "And not so many years ago you were 'young Sargent.' . . . How old are you, Stephen? Thirty-six, isn't it? . . . Pretty young for a man to have taken the hurdles you have."

"Tell young Benchley that," he grinned. "He thinks I have one foot in the grave already. And do you know, Armstrong, I'm not so sure he isn't right. I've reached the stage where all this flaming youth underfoot around here gets me down sometimes. . . . But what I came about is one of your probationers."

"Ah?" said Miss Armstrong, and glanced with a sigh at the pile of reports under her folded hands.

* * *

"By a strange coincidence," Dr. Sargent went on, staring at the ceiling, and luxuriously wreathing his head in smoke, "it's the one who was up in court — together with young Benchley—a month or so ago—the one with the eyes like saucers and the tongue-in-the-cheek look who goes around deviling everyone with questions. . . . What is it they call her?"

"At various stages of her career 'Utility' and 'Agility.' . . . Lately, I believe, it's been 'the Elephant's Child' because, as you suggest, she goes around asking questions. . . . I suppose she's been asking you some?"

Stephen Sargent chuckled.

"Far from it. She takes on the lam if she sees me coming a half mile down the corridor. Somebody's told her that I eat little girls alive."

"So you've noticed it," murmured Miss Armstrong with a little secret smile. "Well, what is your complaint?"

"What would your guess be?" he countered quizzically.

"Well, the general opinion among her seniors seems to be that she is temperamentally unfitted for nursing."

"More interne trouble?" he asked, watching a smoke wreath curl to the ceiling without meeting her eyes.

"There have been rumors." She eyed him steadily and asked with resignation, "Something new, I suppose?"

"What else seems to be wrong with the gal?" Dr. Sargent countered.

"An overdeveloped sense of humor for one thing. . . . 'The tongue-in-the-cheek look,' I think you called it. Some of her instructors complain of that. There seems to be an amazing difference of opinion. Miss Philbin, who has her in demonstration, says she has seldom seen such concentration and such deft, sure workmanship. . . . Miss Miller, under whose supervision she had sometimes worked in the wards, confirms that, but tells me that she is emotionally unstable."

* * *

"Hm! I doubt if Katherine Miller would recognize an honest emotion if she met it naked in broad daylight," Stephen Sargent said with a sudden flatness of tone that made the director of nursing glance at him sharply.

"I shouldn't be so sure of that," she said, a dry smile in her shrewd dark eyes. "Even so, it is pretty well known that the unemotional Miss Miller is your first choice for the operating room."

"Naturally," he agreed. "She has the quickest eye, the coolest intelligence, the deftest hands of all the nurses I have ever worked with. She'd have made a damned good surgeon if you ask me. But do you know, Armstrong, I've sometimes wondered, if I were down and out and hurting like the devil and scared within an inch of my life, the way we get them every day—whether a quick eye, a cool intelligence and deft hands would be all I'd need. Katherine Miller might mean, of course—if she'd put one more ingredient into her work."

"Well, I'm still listening," Miss Armstrong prompted.

"Herself," he finished.

She thought, perhaps she would if you weer the patient, Stephen, my lad. Aloud, she said, "After all, it was poor little Utility we were talking about, wasn't it? . . . Whose chief fault seems to be that she puts a devastating amount of herself into everything she does. . . . Well, I believe you had a complaint?"

"I didn't know I'd said anything about a complaint. But," Dr. Sargent added slowly, "I have had something forced upon my attention which I think might interest you."

COMPETITIVE BIDDING GOOD SAFEGUARD

Squabble within the Abilene City commission recently concerning competitive bidding for city purchases related to one of the greatest safeguards a municipality may have against extravagance or graft within government.

There the criticism was offered that certain expensive pieces of machinery had been bought without competitive bidding. The statement brought from some of the commission the declaration that all future buying should be done on the bidding basis.

The Lubbock City commission has—most wisely—held closely to the competitive bidding system, at least for several years in the past. However, the recent independent auditor's report on city books was accompanied by the statement that two instances, boh of relatively small sums, had been discovered in which the competitive bidding plan had not been followed. Neither instance, the report suggested further, would justify criticism except for the fact it departed from principle.

The Evening Journal agrees that competitive bidding for small amounts often would be very poor business. When a purchase amounting to a few dollars is of immediate need, a call for bids might be ridiculous. But the City commission will show good judgment if it "leans backward" in this regard and gives every dealer, seller or contractor a chance at the city's business wherever possible. If a commission does otherwise—even if its judgment and honesty is wholly beyond question—it may establish a precedent upon which a future commission with questional motives might seize.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 25.—There is a good market for screenable stories now, because many of the studios fired scores of writers during the recent panic and now find themselves facing a scenario famine in the midst of an unprecedented boom in production.

You'd think that a story suitable for a movie would have a fairly predictable value based on its own quality, its adaptability for certain stars, its authorship and the current demand for yarns. But it does not work out that way, and here is an example of the sort of judgment that makes Hollywood a gilded booby-hatch:

An agent was handling a batch of stories by I. A. R. Wylie. Most of them were pretty old; some were trivial tales retrieved from the bottom of the trunk; several were obviously unsuitable for screen adaptation. So the agent lumped all 18 of them and tried to peddle the portfolio for a paltry $25,000.

But producers weren't interested. They pointed out that although Miss Wylie had written several money-makers, she hadn't been doing much lately. The price dwindled until the stories finally were offered for $9,000, only $500 apiece. Still no takers.

Eventually RKO's Pandro Berman selected one of the stories and offered to buy it alone. The deal was made and the yarn became the hit, "Vivacious Lady." Now the remaining 17 stories are being sold separately, for from $10,000 to $25,000 each. Going like hotcakes, too; three Wylie originals already are in production at other studios.

* * *

It Seems Mr. Ludwig Did His Practicing

Quite often a studio will spend a fortune for a story, and another fortune for its preparation into a screen play, and the result will be box office poison. Numerous scenarios are labored over by so many high-priced writers that the studios refuse to reveal the ludicrous lists.

A young man named William Ludwig is a junior writer at Metro. A junior writer is a sort of apprentice, and such beginners are paid $35 a week because they are not supposed to be very bright. Well, this Ludwig was handed an old story that was kicking around the lot and was told to practice writing a scenario.

He practiced for three weeks, at a total cost to his studio of $105, and the result was the finished script of "Love Finds Andy Hardy," a fine, human, medium-priced picture which will make more money than some epics I could name.

* * *

Mr. Pokrass Composes A Kind Of Opus

Anybody who finds such incidents too confusing can sympathize with Sam Pokrass, a Russian composer who has had a hard time understanding Hollywood's language and customs. After arriving here he was installed in a bungalow office and left there for months without anybody coming near him. He felt sure that somebody was aware of his existence because each week there was a handsome paycheck at the cashier's cage.

One day the lonely composer was delighted to see a young man, sprinting down the walk with a briefcase, turn in at his door. The caller slapped down a script, panted, "Gag it up—the boss has got to have it in a week!" and dashed out again.

Pokrass let the script lie there. He could find no place in it to write any music. Ten days later the fleet secretary, still on the run, came in again. He saw the script on the desk and said, "Now listen! — the old man says he has positively got to have this gagged up by one more week, or the picture will be held up and we'll all get fired and—"

"But thees ees not—I am not—" sputtered Pokrass. But the fellow was gone again, muttering about alibis.

The musician now had something to compose. He composed a speech and a plan of action, and went over and over them. A week later, when the galloping secretary came in, Pokrass beat him to the punch. He leaped up, held out the script, and screamed, "Vait!" The visitor looked startled, but he vaited. "I—am—not—words—writer," said the composer. "I—write—moosic."

"My God!" wailed the young man. "I'm in the wrong bungalow!"

Chicken Little

Atlanta Wants To End Big-Hunk Portions

ATLANTA, July 26—You may try chicken to a melt-in-your-mouth golden brown. But if you serve half a bird in one piece you're not putting out Southern fried chicken; you're creating hard labor.

Mayor William B. Hartsfield of Atlanta, has raised the complaint. Governor E. D. Rivers, Mrs. Frank Inmann, jr., and other social and civic leaders have rallied to his cause.

The mayor gets around to lots of banquets. He's tired of trying to dissect half a chicken while the chicken slides all over his plate and he gets jabbed on both sides by fellow guests wedged shoulder to shoulder, struggling with their own half-birds.

The South is famous for fried chicken, says His Honor. Go back to the old Southern style of serving it in finger-length pieces for pleasurable consumption.

Miss Zoe Barrow of Quinlan.

Talbert feels that legislation is serious business and believes two heads will be better than one.

WON DOUBLE VICTORY

TYLER, July 26 (AP)—Eugene Talbert believes he chalked up a double victory the past week-end.

Not only did he win his race for re-election as Smith county's state legislator, but Monday he married Miss Zoe Barrow of Quinlan.

Other States Look Toward August Primaries With Many Hot Races In Prospect--Dutcher

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 26. — The political primary season gets started in a big way during the first week of August and thereafter the withered aspirations of New Deal and anti-New Deal candidates will be found dotting the landscape from coast to coast.

Kansas, Missouri, Virginia, and West Virginia nominate congressional and other party candidates Aug. 2. Tennessee Democrats pick equivalent-to-election candidates for senator and governor Aug. 4. The week ends Aug. 6 with the great Democratic classic in Kentucky between the New Deal's "Dear Alben" Barkley and Gov. "Happy" Chandler. Here are the high spots:

* * *

Clark Sure Shot

Missouri: Senator Bennett Champ Clark, sturdy New Deal foe and 1940 presidential possibility, has been conceded Democratic renomination and election for many weeks. Roosevelt left this one alone.

Dutcher

Former Speaker Willis Meredith of the Missouri House, "proud to be a Roosevelt stamp," and Joe Davis, St. Louis lawyer, may poll a big pro-Roosevelt protest vote against Clark.

But Clark has all the organized political support in the state, including that of the Pendergast machine. He profits from friendship of Jim Farley, who made public appearances with Champ when the latter stumped the state after leading the anti-court plan fight in the Senate last year. New Dealers could find no candidate to take Clark's measure after popular Charlie Hay, railroad labor lawyer and one of his 1932 opponents, refused to try.

Branded by opponents a "renegade Democratic," Clark tells voters he won't be bossed but approves most New Deal policies.

Republicans, many of whom will vote for Clark both in August and November, are nominating former Gov. Henry Caulfield. Meanwhile, Democratic Gov. Stark and Boss Tom Pendergast fight for control of the state in a contest over a Supreme court judgeship, with Stark charging WPA is taking sides with the Pendergast machine.

* * *

Dodd, Jr., Seeks Office

Virginia: Congressman Howard Smith of the Eighth district, adjacent to Washington, is first of three members of the House Rules committee — which tried to bury the wage-hour bill—marked for defeat by New Dealers and labor leaders.

His opponent is young William E. Dodd, jr., son of the former ambassador to Germany, running on a 100 per cent Roosevelt platform and accusing Smith of opposing Roosevelt measures persistently. Farley has indicated preference for Dodd. Smith, backed by the Byrd machine, talks of "Communism." Result may hinge on extent of support administration gives Dodd in last few days.

Kansas: Senator George McGill, loyal New Dealer, and Democratic Gov. W. A. Huxman will be renominated. Big fight is for Republican senatorial nomination between former Gov. Clyde Reed, a progressive at odds with the Landon-John Hamilton group, and Clergyman Gerald Winrod of Wichita, who seems well financed.

Prominent Kansas pastors have urged congressional investigation of Winrod as a Hitler-Mussolini propagandist. Huxman will be opposed for election by former Gov. Jonathan Davis, independent, and probably former Lieut.-Gov. Charles W. Thompson, the likely G. O. P. choice.

West Virginia: Six House members are up for renomination.

* * *

Berry Defeat Forecast

Tennessee: Senator George L. Berry and Gov. Gordon Browning, political buddies, are teamed up against Attorney General Tom Stewart and Prentice Cooper, lawyer, veteran, and former state senator. Berry and Browning are backed by the state machine; Stewart and Cooper by Ed Crump's Memphis machine, the New Deal, and partisans of TVA. A Browning commission is purging registration lists in Crump territory with alleged sensational disclosures. Berry, who attacks New Deal spending and other policies, is doomed, according to most reports here.

Kentucky: Newspapers have been full of the Barkley-Chandler fight and will continue to be. Barkley is the favorite because of Roosevelt's whole-hearted public endorsement, but some of his friends fear the size of the Chandler campaign chest, piled high by levies on state employes and alleged contributions from eastern anti-Roosevelt sources.

Governor Chandler campaigns furiously, with support of a powerful state machine as opposed to the federal machine, and refuses to accept the Barkley challenge to criticize the New Deal. One of the greatest hand-shakers and most prolific speech-makers in politics Chandler probably would defeat the ponderous Barkley if it were not for Roosevelt support. A Chandler victory would be the worst political defeat Roosevelt ever suffered.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Help

TIPTON, Ga. — J. S. Harris, Tipton merchant, likes to extend a helping hand—even to a burglar.

After his home was broken into two week-ends in succession, the following ad appeared in the local paper:

"If the party or parties who broke into my house on two successive Saturday nights and did not find what they are looking for will see me at my store on Main street, I will try to accommodate them by giving them what they are looking for."

Simple Funeral

SAN FRANCISCO.—Influential in life, Chin Lain, 69-year-old merchant was unable to persuade friends to heed his dying request.

He asked for a simple American funeral so the money saved could be donated to China's war chest.

Chinatown gave him a Chinese service with Buddhist mourners, 50 automobiles and one band larger than the funeral procession of his wife three months ago. Hers had been regarded as one of the most lavish in the history of the Chinese colony.

Service Always

TOPEKA, Kas.—Archie Sonley, pestered with mice, appeared at the public library. He asked for, and received, the library cat and her six kittens to aid in routing the rodents.

Catch Catches Her

ROCHESTER, Ind.—The machine age caught up with Jean Kinder, 12.

Bending over to close the front of her zipper blouse, she caught her lip in the fastener.

A doctor freed her.

Neckties To Stop-ons

CHICAGO.—When congressmen's neckties are worn out, they haven't necessarily lost their usefulness.

Mrs. Henry J. Kramer has collected 250 cast-off shirt-front adornments from members of the 75th congress which she made into a rug. An old tie of House Speaker William B. Bankhead has the place of honor—in the middle of the rug.

The active life of the old-time cowboy averaged only about seven years, before he was shelved by injuries.

I wish to thank the friends of my wife, daughter and myself for their support in the recent election. Handicapped as I was by lack of proper financing in making the race for District Clerk, I received a splendid vote. I did not spend a penny for advertising other than cards, and in the announcement columns of the newspapers. Not having a car, I made no canvass of Lubbock county. My friends are invited to attend the initiation ceremonies of defeated candidates on Arkansas day at Mackenzie Park on August 12th. To my farmer friends who have bespoken for my services as boll puller, wish to state that I have a job as Justice of the Peace until the first of January.
B. E. McMILLAN, Late Candidate for District Clerk. Pd. Pol. Ad.

Political Statement of Appreciation

I, Royal Furgeson, candidate for District Clerk, am truly thankful that I continue to have the chance to work for the opportunity to serve the citizenship of Lubbock county. To my supporters, I say thanks from my heart, to the friends of my opponents I make a simple solicitation for your support. To my opponents I say thanks for campaigning as gentlemen.
Pd. Pol. Adv.

THANKS

I want to thank my friends who voted for me in Saturday's Primary. Your support is as deeply appreciated as if I had led the ticket. Believing that many who voted for my honorable opponents are my friends, I sincerely ask a continuation of your friendship and I will be 100% for the one who is finally elected.

Board Plans To Keep Up Fight

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 26 — The National Labor Relations board gave every indication today of fighting to uphold its contention that an employer has no right to discharge a sit-down striker for union affiliation.

Officials expressed freely the opinion the board would appeal to the supreme court from a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals at Chicago, which set aside a board order requiring reinstatement of 92 men discharged by the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation during a sit-down strike last year.

Circuit Court Contrary

The circuit court held that an employer is warranted in discharging "when they take and retain exclusive possession of his property against his will."

The board examiner had ruled previously that, since all employes who participated in the sit-down were not discharged, the real reason for the dismissals was not taking part in the strike but "continuing sympathy with the union and its activities."

Forbids Discrimination

The Wagner act, which the board administers, forbids discrimination against workers for union activity.

Lee Pressman, general counsel for John L. Lewis' CIO, announced his organization would ask the board to appeal. The union affected in the strike was the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, a CIO affiliate.

How They're Trying To Get W. Lee To Run For President

FORT WORTH, July 26 (AP) — W. Lee O'Daniel has received a number of messages suggesting he run for president.

One Monday was from Ed Melcher company of Port Lavaca. It said:

"Congratulations on your success. How about running for president in 1940."

Rev. J. Frank Norris, Fundamentalist Baptist pastor of Detroit and formerly of Fort Worth, previously had wired to say the nation's eyes were on O'Daniel and Texas ought to furnish the next president.

Strike At Oklahoma Refinery Is Settled Through Agreement

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 26 (AP) — Warren Woods, National Labor Relations board attorney, announced today settlement of a strike at the Pure Oil company refinery here had been effected through a compromise between the company and the Oil Workers International Union.

Union officials said the agreement goes into effect August 1 and provides for reemployment of 43 union men, including 23 who were not reemployed when the plant reopened May 2, and 20 men who were reemployed but who struck May 26.

The agreement also provides that the 23 men who were not reemployed when the plant reopened after the three-month shutdown will share $11,500 in back wages, due from May 2 to August 1.

Ticket To Paris?

(By Associated Press Feature Service)

NEXT summer you may be able to step up to your travel agent and get an airplane ticket to Europe. Because long before Howard Hughes proved how fast you can get there, aviation companies were planning trans-Atlantic hops on a paying basis.

Fifty or more survey flights are scheduled this summer and four countries are lining up contenders for the North Atlantic business. Here are some of the planes they are entering:

BRITAINS ENTRY is this famed pick-a-back combination of the Imperial Airways. The little plane, Mercury, is launched in midair from the big plane, Maia. Such a scheme lessens the danger a heavily-loaded plane faces on the take-off. The Mercury is designed to carry 2,500 pounds of mail or freight.

THE FRENCH are counting on this 64-passenger seaplane, Lieutenant de Vaisseau Paris. This is the ship that turned over in a quall off Florida two years ago, but its been rebuilt. France, the only interested country that made no survey flights last year, has ordered two 66-ton seaplanes (the Lieutenant weighs 40) for passenger service to New York in 1940.

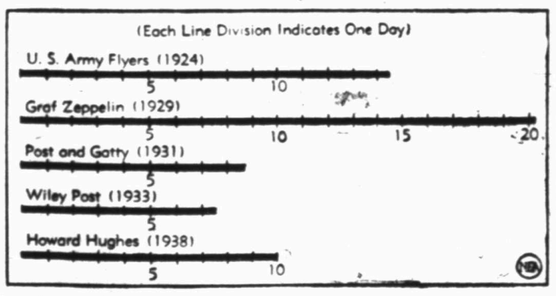

GERMANY usually launches its transatlantic boats by catapult. This is the 16-ton Nordwind, one of the planes with which the Lufthansa expects to conduct weekly experimental flights from Portugal to New York by way of the Azores.

THE UNITED STATES is likely to be less busy over the Atlantic this summer than other nations. For Pan American Airways completed survey flights last summer and is awaiting its new superclippers, being built in Seattle. They'll be ready in the fall. Here's one of them during a test—it weighs 41 tons, has a maximum speed of 200 miles an hour, can fly 4,000 miles with a payload.

* * *

How Round-World Flights Compare

How Howard Hughes' round-the-world speed flight compares with other globe-girdling records is geographically portrayed in the chart above. The record shown for the U. S. Army flyers is actual flying time. Their elapsed time was more than 175 days. The others are indicated in elapsed time from start to finish.

Four Prisoners Escape From Sherman Jail Last Night

SHERMAN, July 26 (AP) — Four prisoners escaped the Grayson county jail last night after slugging the jailer, Charlie Cannon.

Cannon was not badly hurt. The men took his keys, then fled down stairs and escaped. They made the break at 11:30 p. m.

All four were awaiting trial.

Brewer Named Legion Head

Holden, historian, re-elected; Benjamin Kucera, service officer, re-elected; Alex McDonald, mess officer, re-elected; and H. L. Allen, liaison officer.

Retiring Officials

Retiring officers were: A. C. Jackson, commander; George A. Meiser, first-vice commander; Chester A. Hubbard, second vice-commander; K. L. Riggs, third vice-commander; Brewer, adjutant; and O. B. Conley, sergeant-at-arms.

Two Suspects Held In Man's Slaying

BIG SPRING, July 26 (AP) — Sheriff Jess Slaughter said his office was holding a man and a woman here today for questioning in connection with the slaying of Francis M. Walker at Moriarty, N. M., Sunday.

George Givens, railroad officer, took the two into custody on suspicion when they dismounted from an incoming freight. The man and woman are about 21 years of age, Slaughter said, and added that the two resembled descriptions of persons wanted in the case.

Slaughter said the two were being quizzed.

Walker, 60-year-old cattle buyer, was fatally shot near a Moriarty tavern, his body being found early Sunday. New Mexico officers sought a hitch-hiking couple he had befriended.

Body Of A. J. Huckabee Sent To Goldthwaite For Burial

Body of A. J. Huckabee, 52, furniture dealer, Monday afternoon was sent to Goldthwaite, after rites read at the 1410 Avenue G residence by Rev. J. M. Denton.

Death, attributed to pneumonia following surgery for ruptured gall bladder and peritonitis, was Sunday noon. Huckabee had lived in Lubbock since 1921.

The family came to Lubbock from Goldthwaite. Huckabee had been in business here since.

He is survived by his wife and mother, of Lubbock; three brothers, D. W. Huckabee, of Woodrow, J. B. Huckabee and T. W. Huckabee of Caradan; four sisters, Mrs. Al Littlefield of Coryell county, Mrs. W. L. Livingston of Alexander, Mrs. Bob Black of Star, and Mrs. A. H. Gearhart of Lubbock.

Aid Of State Public Safety Department Asked In Hunt

HUNTSVILLE, July 26 (AP)—Aid of the state public safety department has been asked by the state prison authorities in a search for two escaped convicts.

Johnie Bowman, 35, of Blackwell, Okla., and Tighlman Van Acker, about 35, of Decatur, Wise county, were sought. The former was serving 99 years for robbery, the latter 35 years for a similar offense.

Both were trusties. Bowman, driving an automobile belonging to a prison farm captain near here, picked up Van Acker. Authorities said no trace had been found of the pair.

No portion of the earth's surface is wholly without earthquakes.

Dumb Cop

Meet Patrolman Wood, pictured above on fixed post. Though a rookie, he's considered one of the sturdy oaks of the Verona, N. J., force. Made of three-ply timber, Woodie is six feet two and wears a blue-painted uniform with glass buttons that serve as reflectors at night. A hidden motor moves his arms as he directs traffic at an important crossroads. He's reported a success, and Mayor David H. Slayback plans to install six more like him.

Texas' Next Governor Will Get Full Demo Support

FORT WORTH, July 26 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, Democratic nominee for governor of Texas, will have the full support of the national Democratic organization, L. W. Robert, secretary and treasurer of the Democratic national committee, told O'Daniel at the latter's home here today.

"He is my kind of a Democrat," Robert said after conferring with the flour salesman nominee.

"O'Daniel's vote is a complete, conclusive expression of the will of the people of Texas," Robert said.

He invited the nominee to visit in Washington. Robert was to leave this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — The National Park Service issued its annual warning today that bears do not know where the hot dog ends and human hand begins.

Band Training May Be Given

Students of the second grade through high school may receive band training under a new program to be set up next scholastic year in Lubbock public schools. Joe Haddon, Junior High school director, said Monday afternoon.

Previously, only students as far advanced as the sixth grade have received free training in the public school curriculum. The training will be offered in each school and arrangement will be made that students of grammar school who are sufficiently advanced may rehearse with the Junior High school band.

Details Not Worked Out

The program will be under general direction of H. A. Anderson, Senior High school director, and Haddon. Details have not been worked out.

Simultaneously with announcement of the new program, plans were announced for a band school that will open next week. Directors Anderson and Haddon will have charge of the school and D. O. Wiley, Texas Technological college band conductor, will direct rehearsals of the advanced band the last two weeks. The school will last four and possibly five weeks.

Its purpose is to make preparations for the fall term. Both Junior and Senior High school band members are to attend and a beginners' band will be opened, its membership to be comprised of any student from the second grade through high school without previous band training.

First Meeting Monday

The first meeting will be conducted at 10 o'clock Monday morning. Place at which the school will be conducted likely will be announced today.

If students anticipate band work next school term, it is almost necessary that they attend the school, said Haddon. Instruction will be comprised mostly of band theory and training for the marching band. Much of the time at the opening of the school ordinarily is taken up with preliminary arrangements and setting up of the program, and students enrolling late sometimes find it difficult to obtain band training.

Students below the sixth grade who cannot enter the beginners' band must make arrangements sometime during the school to receive training this fall, so that directors may gain an idea of the size of the new program.

New Deal FFA Boys Are Back From Recent Meet In El Paso

Six boys from New Deal rural high school have returned from a meeting of Future Farmers of America in El Paso.

Lawrence Shipman, vocational agriculture teacher, Mrs. Shipman and their daughter Patricia Ruth, were in the party. Others included Macon James, president of the alumni FFA chapter and Warren Haddock, a member; John Neil Harral and W. J. Pearce of the New Deal chapter as delegates and Orland Wages and Alton McNelley, members.

Enroute the party visited Carlsbad caverns and Signal peak, Texas highest point in the state. Near there they saw a huge 32-passenger plane that had been forced down. They climbed Mount Franklin, 8,000 feet high, enjoyed a barbecue by the El Paso chamber of commerce in a canyon and visited Juarez where they saw a Mexican prison, the city jail and other points.

Heading north from El Paso they visited at La Tuna, the New Mexico state college at Las Cruces, Fort Seldon where old adobe walls are still seen, Hot Springs and the Elephant Butte dam, the white sands near Alamogordo, the Mondo valley, bottomless lakes and a gold mine near Vera Cruze.

Shipman was given an honorary Lone Star farmer award for his work with the local group. James and Harral were recommended for the American Farmer degree and they will attend the national meeting in Kansas City, Mo., in the fall to receive the honors.

School Bonds Recently Voted At Sligo Are Not Approved

PLAINS, July 26 — School bonds recently voted by the Sligo school district in this county were not approved by the attorney general's office, R. P. Moreland and J. W. O. Alldredge said in their return from Austin where they conferred on the bonds.

Bonds were voted after the county school board had abolished the Crown Point district and the district apportioned to adjoining districts, Sligo receiving a number of sections. The abolishment should have been authorized by voters, the attorney general ruled.

Residents of the district plan to call another election soon to settle the situation.

Support Is Launched For O'Daniel Here

If all counties will follow the lead of Lubbock W. Lee O'Daniel will be assured of plenty support during his administration as governor, it was indicated by advocates.

A Lubbock county O'Daniel-for-Governor club will continue regular meetings throughout his regime in the governor's chair, said K. L. Riggs, one of the first organizers of the association.

Chairman of the group, W. W. Campbell, Lubbock attorney, and Riggs, issued a blanket invitation for more members.

"Mr. O'Daniel will be our next governor. Those who voted for him invite those who did not to join with us in supporting him as our public leader. Obligation to party principles would dictate this, from the outset," said Riggs.

Riggs, who appointed Campbell chairman of the group, said:

"Election of Mr. O'Daniel stamps a new era in the will of the people. This election year was the first in which the people of Texas, in restricted use of the term, actually had a chance to do what they wanted."

O'Daniel supporters conducted a meeting Sunday, said Riggs.

Albert B. Fall Faces Suit In El Paso On Delinquent Taxes

EL PASO, July 26 (AP) — Albert B. Fall, aging and broken former secretary of the interior, faced suit here today for $3,145, alleged due in delinquent taxes to the City of El Paso.

The suit naming the Harding administration cabinet officer and his wife, charged that taxes on the Fall home here and other property have not been paid since 1933.

The action was the latest of many moves against Fall, now bed-ridden by a muscular affliction, since he was convicted of accepting a $100,000 oil bribe while a member of the cabinet.

Georgian Not In Market For Burglar Alarms As Long As Mother Nature Provides

DUBLIN, Ga., July 26 (AP) — W. R. Kent is not in the market for any burgler alarms as long as mother nature is on his side.

Thieves started digging under the wall of Kent's smokehouse but they terminated the raid abruptly when their shovels uncovered — and irritated — a family of seven skunks.

And there was only one piece of meat in the smokehouse anyway.

Big Pipe Line Is Announced

(By The Associated Press)

PONCA CITY, Okla., July 26 — The Continental Oil company announced today plans for a $2,000,000 pipe line construction program were completed.

The announcement followed awarding of contracts on a pipe line from Lance Creek, Wyo., to Denver, Colo., a major phase of the program.

It was also announced that contracts will be signed shortly on another pipe line from Lance Creek to the company's Glen Rock, Wyo., refinery.

To Spend $350,000

Dan Moran, president of the company, said, "This is the largest pipe line construction project announced this year. . . . Approximately $350,000 will be spent for labor and local labor will be employed. More than 15,000 tons of pipe will be used in building these lines.
