Col. Thos. Montgomery veteran of the Confederacy and rancher and business man is 96 years old today. Since retirement from TM Bar ranch activities a short while ago he has made his home at the Floydada Hospital and clinic. His daughter, Mrs. W. W. The association voted to appoint sponsors in each community of the county to assist in the operation of the work. The following sponsors were named:

South Plains, Walter Wood; Cedar Hill, Johnny Lackey; Fairview, Mrs. E. B. Chesnut; Campbell, Mrs. Wilson Bethel; Baker, Mrs. George Stiles; Dougherty, J. M. Brownlow; Lakeview, Mrs. Ben Willis; Sand Hill, Tom McLain; McCoy, Robert F. Day; Starkey, Efford Parrish; Blanco, Mrs. W. F. Daniel; Floydada, Mrs. C. K. Arnold.

Rat Poisoning Day Wednesday, February 24; Victory Leaders Are Taking Bait Orders Now

Agricultural Victory Leaders have resolved to do something about the serious rat infestation in Floyd county and have been contacting their friends and neighbors taking orders for rat poison bait that will be distributed, Wednesday, February 24.

Poison bait is not effective unless it is properly mixed and carefully distributed on the farm. Victory Leaders have requested the services of the Rodent Control division, fish and wildlife service, to assist in the preparation of the bait.

All orders for bait must reach the county agent's office not later than 5 o'clock, Friday afternoon, February 19. This is necessary, county agent Gordon explains, because of the fact of all materials used in preparing the bait will need to be purchased and the exact number of pounds of bait must be determined in advance.

Cost is 25c Per Pound
Poison will come in pound packages at a cost of 25 cents per package. There will be an equal amount of three kinds of bait in each package, and each type bait should be used in every bait location. The types should be about six inches apart so if the rat does not eat one kind, he will have an opportunity to eat one of the others.

The average farm should require from three to six pounds of bait. A building 20x30 feet ordinarily will require a pound of bait and the average size feed stack will require a pound.

The poison bait will be mixed Wednesday, February 24 and distributed between 3 and 5 o'clock that afternoon.

Instructions For Baiting Rats
1. All baits should be put out the night of Wednesday, February 24 in the late evening so it will be fresh when rats are feeding.

2. A piece of each of the three baits the size of an average pecan should be put out in the same place

With The Armed Forces News Of Floyd County Sons In Service At Home And Abroad

STORY ON 'LOST BATTALION'
MENTIONS 'PVT. HARRISON'
MAY BE FLOYD CO. BOY

In a story carried Monday by the Lubbock Journal a new ray of hope for the health and well-being of J. W. Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Harrison, whose fate has been unknown since the day he went into the last and final battle for Java as a member of the now famous "Lost Battalion."

According to this story Prof. W. F. Helwig, of the electrical engineering department of Texas Tech heard a Japanese broadcast giving information on members of this battalion in Java Friday evening at 6:15 last week. Voices represented as those of Charles Robertson, of Houston, and a man named Woodward, of Wichita Falls, were heard. Both men stated that they were well-clothed and were getting enough to eat.

Privates Woods, Patterson and Harrison were mentioned as being well. However, initials or given names were not given and although the story lends credence to the probability that Private J. W. Harrison of Floyd county is the man meant, there may be other Harrisons among the prisoners on Java.

Last word the family here had of their son was in a letter from a buddy of J. W. who saw him last just before the big battle that raged for possession of Java. They have had no direct word from their son.

LOCKNEY YOUTH IS REPORTED MISSING SOMEWHERE IN AFRICA

A telegram from the War Department received Sunday informed Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hartley, who reside near Lockney, that their son, Staff Sergeant Charles D. Hartley was "missing in action since February 7." Sergeant Hartley was a radio-man on a four-motored bomber in the U. S. Army Air force and was believed to be in Africa, according to his parents.

News reports from Africa on Sunday, February 7, the date Hartley was reported lost, showed an unusually heavy loss of bombers in that section and it is supposed that his plane was one of those lost.

Sergeant Hartley graduated from Lockney High school in 1939 and attended Wayland college at Plainview during the 1940-41 term and re-entered the college in the fall of 1941 when he was called into the army. He was trained as a radio operator and had been in Africa for approximately six months.

RAY SIMS SERGEANT NOW IN AIR GROUND FORCE

Promotion came recently to Ray Sims, Floydada man, who is stationed with the army air ground forces at Casper, Wyoming. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sims, learned of their son's advance in rank last week. He is with the headquarters squadron and has been stationed at Casper practically ever since completing his schooling at Shepard Field and at Denver.

not over 6 inches apart.
3. Place baits in rat runs, rat burrows, behind boxes and other objects around the walls where rats have been observed most.

4. It is important that enough baits be distributed at one time to provide an ample supply for all rats on the premises.

5. BE SURE TO KEEP YOUR DOGS AND CATS in a place where they cannot get out until you have taken up the surplus bait the next morning.

6. If it is necessary that you place bait in and around hog pens, move the hogs to another location until the surplus bait is removed the next morning.

7. In placing baits in and around poultry houses lean a board against the wall and place the bait behind it and then beat the chickens to the surplus bait the next morning.

8. If the poisoning has been carefully carried out, a high mortality can be expected.

Dangerous to Animals

9. All baits must be taken up the next morning if you are to avoid killing some animal, poultry, or pet that you do not want killed. After the second night these baits are not attractive to rats as they become stale. You have done all you can do with this baiting.

Types of rats infesting this area of Texas carry seven distinct kinds of diseases, according to representatives of the U. S. Department of Interior, fish and wildlife service.

These include typhus fever; bubonic plague, otherwise known as the dread Black Death; Cholera; infectious jaundice and trichinosis.

The seven diseases are known to be transmitted from rats to humans by means of mites, lice, fleas, and other parasites which bite the rats, then bite people. The only way known to remove the menace is to destroy the rats, department experts declare.

Fire Record Brings Savings On Insurance

AUSTIN, Feb. 14. — A good fire record credit of 10 per cent will apply to fire insurance premiums on policies written in Floydada for 12-months beginning March 1, it was announced today by Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner. This will result in a direct saving on fire insurance as 10 per cent of the normal premium will be deducted on policies written after the effective date.

The 10 per cent credit will result in an estimated saving of $2076 on fire insurance costs for Floydada policyholders during the next year. The estimate is based on fire insurance premium payments in 1942. A 10 per cent credit has been in effect for the past year.

The fire record for a city or town is determined by a fire ratio between losses and premiums figured on a five-year average. The maximum good fire record credit is 25 per cent. The maximum charge (or penalty) for heavy losses is 15 per cent.

Hall explained that the fire record credit is not to be confused with the key rate for a city or town. The key rate, he pointed out, is determined among other things, by the type and quality of fire fighting equipment and water facilities, as well as the adoption of fire prevention measures.

"Texas is the only state," the Commissioner added, "which has a system for directly rewarding communities for the prevention of fires. When fire losses are kept low during the five-year period, the credits earned mean a direct saving to the individual citizen. Continued low fire losses throughout the state will result in lower premium rates, thus making fire prevention a profitable practice."

"Because fires have been prevented during recent years, thus reducing losses in many classes of insurance risks, the result has been a decrease in rates. A notable example is in dwelling risks. Reductions in insurance rates since 1936 approximate an annual saving of ten million dollars to Texas policyholders."

Directors Believe Dairy Show Vital To War Effort

The sixteenth annual Panhandle Plains Dairy show will be held at Plainview April 13, 14 and 15th, according to an announcement made this week by the directors.

G. M. Witt, manager of the show said, "The dairymen of the United States are being asked to increase production of all dairy products, as well as develop better dairy herds. We know of nothing as vital and important to the war effort today as the dairy cow. Therefore, it is our hope that you will make every effort to attend the 1943 show. The premium list, catalogue and entry blanks will be ready to mail within a short while to anyone interested."

"Due to the difficulty to obtain qualified veterinarians to test the cattle, it has been decided by the directors of the show that a Bangs Disease test will not be required this year."

Thursday, Friday Sat., Feb. 25-27 Days To Register

First step in the program of point rationing processed foods, canned, bottled and in jars, will be taken in Floyd county beginning February 25, when registration begins. February 25, 26 and 27 are the days set for the registration. Schools for registrars have been held and careful instructions given to make the registration work smoothly.

The registration will be simple and quickly accomplished if the householders and individuals will prepare their Consumer declarations before they go to their respective registration sites. W. Edd Brown, chairman of the Ration Board states. These declarations must be filled out in order to obtain War Ration Book No. 2.

Floyd county teachers and other volunteers will assist the board in the registration. It is estimated the registration will require 10 minutes per registrant. Any head of the family may register for all members. Here are the things to do to get ready for the registration, says the county chairman:

What Must Be Counted

"In every household, someone must count the cans, bottles and jars 8 ounce size or larger, of fruits and vegetables, on hand at midnight, Saturday, February 20. That will be a Sunday morning task in some homes. The count must include canned fruits, canned vegetables (including spices) fruit and vegetable juices, soups, chili sauce, and catsup. Take from the total five cans for each member of the family. The new total must be reported on the declaration form, or if there are no more than five cans each, the report will be 'None.'

What Not to Count

"These are not to be counted: Canned olives, canned meat and fish, pickles, relish and jams, jellies and preserves, spaghetti, macaroni and noodles, home-canned food, if not canned for sale.
"Persons who are not living as members of their family group must make their own declarations and get their own ration books. Domestic help is not a part of a family.

"Official declaration forms will be printed in nearly all newspapers and should be clipped and used for making the formal declaration. Be sure to write in all the information asked for on the Declaration.

"Coffee on hand November 28, 1942, must be declared, minus one pound for each person whose age as stated on Book 1 is 14 or over."

Take Book 1 of all persons listed on a Declaration to the registrars when applying for Book 2. No Book 2 can be issued unless Book 1 is presented at the place of registration for "tailoring," it is pointed out.

Aero Eight's Plane Home After 90 Days

Aero Eight Flying club's Aerona plane is at home, after a hectic 90 days, from a repair shop at Fort Worth, where it was practically rebuilt during mid-winter.

Haskell Redd and Robin Byars went down to the North Texas city last Friday to receive the plane and flew it home. Club members have been giving it plenty of hours in the air this week after being grounded for lack of a ship for many weeks.

The ship was damaged at is taxied into port here on November 11, when a gust of wind caught it and slammed a wing and the propeller into the ground. After the ship reached the repair shop it was caught in a fire that damaged it still more, that it is practically a new ship as re-finished and approved by authorities for flight again.

EDITORIALS

The big talk this week is about manpower and how it will be distributed in the nation to get best results in the war effort. The first reaction of the average citizen, perhaps, is to become panicky and possibly make a hurried change to be early and avoid the rush. Not that a man with dependents is particularly alarmed about the possibility of going to war. With millions of men already under arms and others going by the thousands every week none think of themselves as being too important to submerge in the war effort when it is liberty or death that faces us. Nor is it a matter of being afraid. The fear only is for the hostages one leaves behind or the dread of making a change from one occupation to another, or of changing from one part of the country to another with the upset of old ties, financial arrangements, customs and habits. The fact is, it can safely be assumed that nobody is going to be jerked up and shipped off somewhere without due consideration, and the individual is going to have some time to take appeal, or to make arrangements otherwise in his personal affairs. Truth is, when you come down to it, as one gathers from reading the press, mighty few people in Floyd county but are doing essential jobs now.

Another think to keep in mind in connection with the flood of talk about manpower. We have done and will do a lot of talking before we actually do anything. Congress will have its say. The Manpower authority will have its say. The president will do some talking. And all of it, at first at least, in the form of kites to see which way the wind of public sentiment is blowing. It may be taken for granted that Washington, when the barrel scraping starts, is not going to do anything that doesn't have the support of a majority of the people. Also, this to think about: In this country our talkers talk in superlatives. It is the most this or the most that. It is super or super-super; the greatest calamity, the mightiest outpouring, the most tremendous or stupendous whatever it is. Apparently, the level-headed people just have to put up with that. It is a habit of our writers and speech-makers. If soap is the subject, you can count the superlative adjectives by the dozen. Or if it is manpower shortage or sheet loading or milk prices or—just choose the subject—listen for the adjectival and adverbial bombs to begin bursting, all just alike as peas in a pod. So, if you really feel you are due for a change of some kind, maintain your equilibrium the same as you do in your other affairs, the same as you would after listening to a burble about soap or liverpills. Something will be done but it will be after the adverbs and adjectives and exclamation points have been used up and sober thinking takes their place.

Beginning next week, when everybody registers again, this time for War Ration Book No. 2, we will learn something of the point rationing system that is practiced in England. Picked up practically in toto from the system used in that tight little country, battered down for war, our system is supposed ed to work in a country with its wide open spaces and far-flung areas. If it does it will be because the people submit with patience to being made to do something under penalty they would be glad to do voluntarily if allowed to, if you get the difference. Under point rationing of the canned foods, you'll get information next week, after stocks are frozen in the grocers' shelves, how many "units" from your ration book will be required to purchase the various types of food respectively. You will want to do some figuring when the time comes. Meanwhile, when you go to register, take along your "Sugar book." It will not be taken up but you need it for proof, to check by, or something of the kind. The teachers and Ration board members are making elaborate preparations to take care of the registration in the most efficient manner and with the least delay.

Supplies of tires and tubes for the operation of essential vehicles on the highways is being restricted on a somewhat more careful basis this first part of 1943 than even in the latter part of 1942. Allowing for the bad judgment in picking up millions of pretty fair usable tires off of private owners and paying 20 cents apiece for them, and likewise for the probability that a good many people are asking for tires they could get along without, the people must keep in mind that the rubber people and the authorities have been and are a bit panicky over the situation. They feel a responsibility which would not weigh nearly so heavy if they would let the people shoulder a part of it. Somehow Washington just can't realize the people are literally "raring to go." The authorities are hell-bent on making us do a lot of the things instead of letting us do them.

Speaking of tattooing and its advantages—there may be some disadvantages we do not know about—reminds us that small herds in Floyd county, including milk cows, are practically at the mercy of cattle thieves. And thievery has been on the increase to some extent in recent months. A few instances of missing milk cattle in recent weeks almost have to be thefts. The evidence is too plain. Others doubtful, might also be the same. It begins to appear as though the man who milks a small herd is going to have to spend his sleeping hours with one ear cocked for any unusual noises among his animals in the night.

Spread the butter. That is a corollary of the share the meat program of this war. It is said the authorities would have started the rationing of butter already had there been a sufficient supply in the country to ration. As spring comes on and the volume of butterfat increases it seems altogether probable we can anticipate the government putting on butter rationing. But as the story goes, such could not be undertaken right now.

Most men devote a lot of their spare time to trying to find a match.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Spikes

With a great huffing and a puffing, February blows the weeks by fast. She is not only imitating March, but going her one better when it comes to a dirt-raising, face-chapping and hair-tousling west wind. Both hot and cold, she blows, giving now and then a day of such peace and beauty that one endures the rest.

Shoes rationed? Yes. See our boys marching to victory on the shoe leather we can do without. Magazines falling apart for lack of enough wire staples? Can't we hold them together long enough to read them while the staples go to war? The daily papers tear as we read? Thank God they contain good news. Why does it hurt us so to do without the things our fathers and mothers never knew? Are we forgetting our faith in God? "Consider the lilies of the field." We will be clothed, perhaps not as fine as we like, we shall be fed. Did not the Lord feed the children of Israel in the desert? And did not the hoarded food spoil? "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee, is mighty."

I remember my Grandfather Witt laughing and telling about how poor they were during the Civil war. One pair of shoes was all he had and the girl he went with had the same. They were kept for Sunday. As they neared the church in their bare feet, carrying the precious shoes in their hands, they sat down on a log and put on the shoes. Grandpa said, "Em don't you ever tell this about our going barefoot saving our shoes for the walk to church." She said, "I will not, Si, I am as ashamed of it as you are."

For a week my mind has been turning to the first years I lived here. I can see the two rooms so well that at times it seems that I must enter and put them to rights again. That I must take my blue-eyed baby boy from his cushioned bed in the rocking chair, and bathe him and sing and croon to him again. There on the north wall of the kitchen the home-made folding bed has been raised to hang on the wall and the flowered cover let down over it. A square of window curtain lace over yellow sateen makes a dolly to hang over the center, on which a clock ticks . . . time will not pass too soon, you have plenty of time . . . you are young . . . tick, tick . . . you are young . . . In the center of the east wall the kitchen range stood, the only heat in winter for the two room house that looked like a piece of yellow cheese in the sunshine. There my little son played, making marks in the ashes that fell on the hearth, learning to read the letters of iron, near it my little twin girls slept in a wooden box, which groceries came in. I heard the swish of the windmill as it went round and round, the sound of cool water pouring in a wooden barrel, the braying of the mules, Callies and Fidy as they stood in the wire lot waiting to be harnessed. The tea kettle bubbled on the stove, the sun came in the south window and made a yellow splash on the scrubbed pine floor. Beans boiled in the pot, a smell of a baking dried apple pie filled the room with that of the fragrance of salt-rising bread, tick-tick—plenty of time, plenty of time. I see the white daisies bending and bowing to the new mesquite grass, hear the sound of the churn dash going swishing through the creamy milk, see the children playing, making mud pies, feel the delicious softness of baby heads against my breast, tick-tick, take your time, plenty of time, you are young. But with the swiftness of an arrow this was all gone, a change from one scene to another. No I am not unhappy, life was good to me then, it still is. Families will be united again, war will cease and peace will reign. Old, tried and tested values will come again, truth will rise the crushed to earth by tyrannical despotism. Clocks will tick for a husband mother again waiting for a husband to come in from his work, beans will boil and pies will bake, but we must not be content that our own babies are well and fed and that food is cooking on the stove. We must think of babies of other lands not so well blessed as ours and of hungry people that need food boiling in their pots that have been empty so long.

A man is filling the butane tank while he listens to the radio in his car. Makes one think of the old rhyme, "Rings on her fingers, bells on her toes, she shall have music wherever she goes."

Joe Ellis thinks he can talk Spanish to the Mexican cotton pickers. He can say, "Muchach!" Makes me wonder if I know much more than that about lots of things.

Just a Long Country Boy

He was just a long country gink. From where the toads wink. He was six foot six in brown sock feet. And kept getting thinner the more he'd eat. But he was brave as he was thin. When the war broke out he went right in—

Unhitched his mule, put the plow away. And the old folks heard their long boy say:

Chorus: "Goodbye Pa, goodbye Ma. Goodbye old mule with your old he-haw."

I may not know what this war's about. But I bet, by gosh, I'll soon find out O my sweetheart don't you fear I'll give you a king for a souvenir. I'll get you a Turk and the Kaiser too.

And that's about all one fellow can do. A pair of socks was his only load. When he struck for town by the old dirt road, He marched right down to the public square.

And joined the soldiers drilling there. The sergeant put him in uniform. And his girl knit mitts to keep him warm.

They drilled him hard and they drilled him long. But he kept on singing the same old song:

Goodbye, pa, etc. Sent in by Shontie Patterson, Rt. 3, Floydada, Texas.

Maintain Beautiful Lawns And Gardens To Cheer Soldiers Upon Their Return Says Mrs. Chapman

(Ed. Note: Speaking to the Garden club members at the re-assembly coffee held Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Conner Oden, Mrs. Alton B. Chapman president, gave the inspirational message below to the members.)

As we meet for the first time in 1943 let us pause for a moment to pay tribute to our Great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln. Let us realize more fully how thankful we should be that we are Americans. In this month's Reader's Digest Harold J. Laski, who is one of England's best known political scientists speaks of Lincoln as America. He goes on to say that America is democracy. His statement is a prophecy but it is also a warning, for the America Lincoln means—the democracy he preserved does not maintain itself. It has to be safeguarded always; it has to be fought for always. For America, like every other land, has no clue to its freedom other than the willingness of men to give their lives for the dream just as Lincoln gave his life. What makes Lincoln more decisively America than any other figure is his understanding that the price of freedom can never be too high.

Just as Lincoln called upon Americans to dedicate themselves to the great task to which he dedicated his own life—our nation today is calling upon the men of America to dedicate themselves for the same purpose. So, more than ever before it is up to you and it is up to me to boost the nation's spiritual defense. When our men and boys come home from the barrenness of the African desert and the jungles and entanglements of the tropics let's have something for them to come home to—something beautiful, something comfortable—and an atmosphere of happiness that will help them to realize "our American way of life" is worth fighting for.

Get Down to Earth

We are going to let our yards grow up in weeds because of labor shortage or are we going to get down to earth and meet our problems as men? Some one has said, "there are two great aids to the Victory Program in America today—the man with the gun and the woman with the hoe."

This brings us to our main thought for today. Too often we fail to get the full benefit from our blessings because we fail to share them as we should. Of course we have our own little flower exchange once a year and among our garden club groups, and I always look forward to that occasion with much enthusiasm. But I am wondering if we share our flowers with as great a number of people as we should. The opportunity is ours—we can reach peoples' hearts and soften their bitter hours with just a mere small flower. Let us have the town of Floydada awaken to the fact that we have an organization that is anxious to spread more sunshine along each gloomy path. I don't know of anything else of us enjoys more than the beautiful, artistic and original flower arrangements we have at our club meetings. Let's share that beauty by passing those arrangements to some friend, some neighbor or the local hospital.

Garden Pilgrimage Stands Out

To me our Garden Pilgrimage last July stands out as one of the outstanding events of our year's programs. I hope we may be able to go on another pilgrimage this year and have that as one of our guest days. I think it would be nice for each club member to carry a lunch for herself and for her guests and then we would not feel rushed to get back home by the noon hour. We could take all day if necessary to study different plants and garden arrangements; and just live that day with nature. Too often we hesitate to open our gardens to visitors because we feel they are not as well kept as gardens should be. I dare say some of our neighbors have admired our flowers and have longed to come into our gardens and look around. Let's help our friends and neighbors to feel that they are welcome. In sharing the beautiful things of nature we give much pleasure. Quiet hours spent in a beautiful garden will strengthen when everything else fails.

This drafting of our men has left many lonely women—some in their own empty houses and some who have followed their men to unfamiliar surroundings. If you know of any women like these invite them to our club meetings—help them to plan and plant around their own homes.

One of the main things I should like for us to bear in mind this year is our motto, "We Strive to Beautify." Let us be on the alert for ways to clean up and beautify our town.

Yanks Arrive in Fiji Islands—When a contingent of American troops recently landed at the Fiji Islands in the Southwest Pacific they were greeted by friendly natives instead of the cannibals the boys had read about in their school books. Pictures of landing scenes by the U. S. Signal Corps disclose the touch of civilization among the one-time eaters of "long pig." Left, Pfc. Benjamin H. Burton with good reason admires the abundance of crisp hair on this Fijian's head. Some natives bleach their hair with lime and go in for elaborate head-dress. Right, Sgt. Charles Auski, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., checks supplies loaded on a train on an island railroad.

INCREASE YOUR MEAT SHARE WITH TONGUE

Tongue dishes are favorites in many households. Fresh, pickled, corned or smoked tongue are not restricted and may be purchased in addition to your weekly share of muscle meat. Pork and lamb tongues are small and usually are sold ready to serve, while beef and veal tongues are larger and usually require additional preparation.

The smoked or pickled tongue should be soaked for several hours before cooking. Tongue is usually simmered in water until tender. Then it is skinned and trimmed and served whole or sliced. Often it is served in a spicy sauce. Jessie Alice Cline, home economist, suggests Tongue Rolls Florentine as a recipe that fills the bill for a special dinner.

Tongue Rolls Florentine
16 slices boiled tongue
2 pounds spinach
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon flour
4 tablespoons grated horseradish
1 cup top milk

The tongue slices should be one-eighth-inch thick and unbroken. Carefully wash spinach. Remove stems and cook covered with only the water which clings to the leaves. Cook only until leaves wilt. Drain well. Chop fine. Add melted butter and seasonings. Place a spoonful of spinach on each side of tongue. Roll and fasten with a wooden pick. Place in greased casserole. Combine flour, horseradish and milk and pour over tongue. Cover. Cook in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Serves 8.

Parried potato balls, jellied line fruit mold and chocolate cream cake served with the tongue rolls provide a menu fit for any occasion and any group of guests.

"MOTHER NATURE" PRODUCTS PERFECT SPECIMEN OF RATIONED FRUIT

Old Mother Nature in Texas has a way all her own of how to feature in the rationing program. Now she's designing grapefruit half pink and half white so that members of the family need only to open one grapefruit at the time to serve the taste of two instead of one.

Geo. W. Finkner has proof of the perfected product and is keeping it for display at his office this week. Seven sections of a delicious white with large, juicy globules and at the exact half-way mark, as if to keep from showing preference, another seven sections with the same well-formed juicy product.

The argument of whether Texas or California grapefruit is best seems to be settled unless proven otherwise. The fruit, bought on the local market, is a product of Texas Produce company at Pharr, Texas.

NEW CUSTARD FOR UNITED NATIONS FIGHTING MEN

Newest of the concentrated foods being prepared specifically to send to the United Nations is a special type of custard powder that has a delicious flavor and will keep long in all climates without becoming rancid or sour. The Food Distribution administration has just arranged for purchase of 356,000 pounds.

The product is a mixture of dried egg yolks, dried skim milk, vegetable shortening, artificial vanilla and salt. All that is needed to prepare the custard is to make a paste from 8 ounces of the powder and one-fourth pint of water; then add a fourth pint of water; then add a pint and a half of water; and boil for two minutes. The result is a tasty pudding which is more than a dessert—with enough food value to sustain a person for many hours.

Custard powder may not seem important to the average American who thinks of it mainly in terms of custard pie and an easy-to-make dessert for Junior. In wartime, however, it takes on new importance, especially to undernourished nations which are finding it difficult, because of shipping, to get many foods required for a well-balanced diet.

The new pudding—higher in nutritive value and capable of being kept longer than anything of the type previously known—was especially developed to meet the urgent energy needs of the nations helping this country to win the war. It is high in mineral salts and sugars, and contains vitamins A, B1, B2 and C. Each pound supplies about 1950 calories and has a protein content of more than 11 percent.

For these reasons and because custard is widely popular, the product probably will be an important item in shipments to the United Nations. The new powder meets all of the department's rigid tests for texture, flavor and ease of preparation.

SMALL WORLD DEPARTMENT BOBS UP IN LONDON

LONDON — All were from Cuba but they couldn't speak Spanish. Their home was at Cuba, New York, population 1,500.

Private James L. Morris loafed in the Red Cross Washington Club in London. Someone slapped him on the back. It was Gerald N. Mabey, boyhood chum, sergeant on leave from Northern Ireland.

Their reminiscences had taken them to lower main street in Cuba near the old blacksmith shop when they were interrupted.

But they didn't mind. The chap who did it was Sergeant John C. Holden, another boyhood playmate. They looked on a big map in the club rooms. Yes, Cuba, N. Y., was still there.

LEGITIMATE EXCUSE

PITTSBURG — The Red Cross Volunteer Nurse's Aide class was proud of its perfect attendance record. Then one evening, one of the girls was missing. When she returned the following night, accusing fingers were pointed.

"Don't scold," she said. "I flew to Philadelphia and was married yesterday. I returned as soon as I could. I won't be absent again."

So. Western Life Has Continued Growth In 1942

Despite turbulent world conditions affecting all business, continued growth over previous years is recounted in the 40th annual report to policyowners of Southwestern Life Insurance company, made public here today by C. F. O'Donnell of Dallas, president.

O'Donnell expressed satisfaction with the exceptionally good production of the Floydada agency, which he said had made an important contribution to the company's record for the past year.

The report covers the calendar year 1942, during which insurance in force was increased by $16,579,325, bringing the company's total to more than $421,000,000.

Assets Above $88 Million

Assets of the company now total $88,428,972, a gain of more than $7,800,000 over 1941, and the company's surplus account advanced from $4,350,000 to $4,750,000 for the year.

The Southwestern Life Insurance company has its home office in Dallas, and confines its business to the state of Texas. Exclusive of United States government bonds, practically all of its investments are in Texas. Since its incorporation in 1903, the company has returned from a life insurance institution with $1,773,000 of insurance in force to take its place among the leading legal reserve life companies of the nation.

Mrs. Maud Hollums and Mrs. Jno. Hammonds returned Friday from Marlin where they spent the past three weeks resting and vacationing.

Mrs. Al Edwards and baby son, Al Jr., were brought home Sunday from the Lubbock hospital. The baby was born January 29.

Fighting Front in Africa—Additional news from North Africa makes more impressive the success of operations against the enemy. One well executed landing and occupation was at Fedala, French Morocco. Above, landing anti-tank batteries on the beach near Fedala. Below, first U. S. flag over the beach head at Fedala Harbor in token of a successful operation. SERVICE MEN FIND EROS THOUGH HE'S SHUT-IN LONDON — American servicemen are up on the historic facts of London and can quickly identify all the places of interest, says Alfred Danby, lecturer and guide who, with the cooperation of the American Red Cross Washington Club, has escorted nearly 5,000 Americans and Canadians about the city.

One group, says Danby, was particularly interested in the status of Eros, now surrounded by sandbags and placards reading: "Can I Do Without It?" or "Less Shopping, More shipping." Eros, who once watched the world go by, now waits for victory in darkness.

INMATES OF SAN QUENTIN ARE BLOOD DONORS

SAN FRANCISCO — San Quentin prisoners donated 238 pints of blood when the American Red Cross Blood Procurement units visited the penitentiary recently.

The inmates donated 148 pints some weeks ago and hundreds of others volunteered, but at that time laboratory facilities were limited and transusion offers couldn't be accepted. The situation has been remedied and the blood unit will make more visits to the prison.

Realizing that loose war talk may upset employees in the plant, one war factory devised a rumor board and placed it in the shop. Now, when a worker repeats a rumor, his fellow workers tell him to write it on the Rumor Board and sign his name. In most cases that ends the rumor.

BC Gas Coupons May Be Renewed Thru The Mails

Motorists holding supplemental "B" and "C" gasoline rations may obtain renewals by mail rather than by appearing personally before the County War Price and Rationing board, Mark Martin, chairman of the gas panel, has announced. The simplified method for renewing rations for essential mileage will apply also for renewals for non-highway rations, such as gasoline-powered farm equipment and industrial machinery. This procedure is authorized under a new amendment to the mileage rationing regulations and became effective Monday.

"Renewal application forms can be obtained from most filling stations," Martin explained. "This is a new form taking the place of the original renewal certificate, which was attached to the first application for a supplemental ration. On this form an applicant should restate his driving needs for the next period. Then he should mail the application form, together with his tire inspection record, to the rationing board.

"Each motorist obtained a tire inspection record from the local board at the time of registration for mileage rationing, when it began last December 1. While motorists must send this record to the board in applying for a renewal of

"B" or "C" rations, they are not required to have their first tire inspection until the previously established deadline for "B" and "C" ration holders, on February 28."

Use of Tire Record

"The board in considering an application will use the tire record in two ways. First, it will know that proper tire inspections have been made, and second, the board will write on the tire record the number identifying the new ration book. Thus the tire record in the future will be a record of both tire inspections and ration books issued to the holder." Previously, the regulation required that the ration book number be written on the car registration card.

When the board renews a ration, it may mail the coupon book to the applicant, and the tire inspection record will be sent back at the same time.

Be Reasonable and Fair

The new plan simplifies the procedure for renewing supplemental rations, but it will not affect the policy of the board to exercise the utmost care in granting new or renewed rations. While the plan is designed to obviate the necessity for a personal appearance, the board may call upon the applicant to explain in person any mileage request that may not appear justified on the written application.

Applicants for basic, special or transport rations must continue to apply directly to the board for coupon books, as previously.

Tempting Trays Demonstrated To Dougherty Club

The Dougherty Home Demonstration club met February 3 at 2 o'clock with Mrs. C. A. Caffee. Thirteen members answered to roll call, including two new members, Mrs. Woodson and Mrs. Orland Howard.

After the routine of business was carried out, two programs were taken up. In the first one Mrs. O. G. Glassmeyer presented the subject "Tempting Trays," showing the type of food to serve for very ill patients and a tray for the convalescent.

Miss Edith Wilson, Home Demonstration agent, gave two demonstrations, one on "Arranging Shrubs" and the other "New Foods and How to Use Them."

Mrs. Will Poole presented "Shrubs Suitable for the Yard." She displayed numerous samples of shrubs and flowering plants from the lawn of her new home, giving the name of each plant.

McMurry Head To Visit M. E. Church Sunday

Sunday, February 21, should be a great day with us. You hear so much these days about "vitamins" A-B-C-D-E-G and etc. Well if you will look them up you will find that they are essential to good health, give abundant energy, good appetite, steady nerves. Think about vitamin G—stands for growth-promoting factor. Well then vitamin G could stand for God—Gospel, and these are very essential to one's life.

—If we grow spiritually we must have God and His gospel.

Dr. Harold G. Cooke, new president of McMurry college will be with us for the Sunday morning service. Dr. Cooke is new in this part of Texas, and not many people in this section of Texas have heard him before. So we urge that you come and hear him.

Sunday night at 8 o'clock we will have the Laymen's Day program on the subject of "Methodist Men in world reconstruction" or we could say, "The Methodist church in world reconstruction." Let me urge that you attend this service. It is your service, it is given by laymen of the church, and you should attend. Let's have a full house.

A great contribution was made to the Victory Garden program by Floyd county people in 1942, but a much greater contribution must be made in 1943, if the national goal is to be reached. The national goal is to bring the number of urban gardens up to 12,000,000, and the number of farm gardens up to 6,000,000.

A total of 18,000,000 gardens will feed many American people if correct planning is followed in the selection of adapted varieties of seeds, proper cultivation and most important of all the preservation of the products raised.

Free bulletins on gardening may be secured at the Extension agents office. Ask for a copy of the memorized bulletin of recommended varieties of vegetables best adapted in this county.

Do not criticize yourself for not keeping a Farm record book in 1942, just resolve to keep an accurate account in 1943. After you have filed the income tax return this year you will have a better idea of the items you need to have definite information, and can make the record easy to complete each month.

Fred Hage of Lockney community says it takes him an average of three minutes daily to keep a complete set of books. He has a system whereby the bank keeps the record of income and expense.

There is no best record book for any farming operation. We have samples of record books and are always happy to assist in the selection of the book best adapted to a particular farm.

It is much easier to record transactions as they happen instead of waiting until March 13 of the following year to remember what happened. Be honest with yourself and keep a record of the items and time you spend trying to get the information ready for your return, then keep a record book in 1943 and see for yourself which method takes the most time.

The germination percentage of all planting seed should be determined as early as possible. This free service is available to farmers.

One pound samples of seeds may be mailed to Early J. Peltier, Seed Analyst, Box 236, Tech Branch, Lubbock, Texas. Samples sent in early should return within ten days. Before very long this laboratory will be receiving many samples which will require a much longer time for the test to be run.

It is good business to have this test run so the planting rate can be determined according to the quality of seed available.

Floyd county 4-H club boys will adopt the production slogan "I'll try to feed and clothe a fighter and myself."

The Victory demonstrators' pledge

There will be an officers training meeting Saturday, February 20, beginning at 10:30 at the county court room. This will include presidents, vice presidents, secretaries, reporters, parliamentarians and recreation leaders and council representatives. These groups will meet in sections after the general assembly. Mrs. George Stiles will have charge of the presidents, vice presidents and council representatives, Mrs. Everett Miller will direct the recreation leaders; Mrs. P. F. Bertrand the reporters and Mrs. Charles B. Smith will have charge of the parliamentarians. A covered dish luncheon will be served in the kitchen at noon. The council committees will meet at 1 o'clock and adjourn in time for the regular council meeting at 2:30.

Garden plants such as tomatos, cabbage, pepper and egg plants can be started in a plant bed and then transplanted into the garden. This practice gives slow growing plants a "head start" in the early spring so they will be ready by garden planting time six to eight weeks later.

For starting such plants as cabbage, tomatos, peppers and egg plants small beds will prove helpful. A wooden box 4 or 5 inches deep and 19 to 20 inches long is a convenient size. A discarded wash tub or dish pan may be used. It is wise to use a small container so it can be picked up and brought into the kitchen on cold days and nights and put outside on warm days. Mr. Rosborough, Extension Horticulturist, says a mixture of 1/4 rotten manure, 1/4 sand and 1/2 top soil may be used for growing plants. Make a layer 2 or 3 inches thick of this material and put a layer of coarse sand one inch thick over it. Mark off rows in the sand 2 inches apart, plant the seed and cover 1/2 inch deep. Then scatter a thick layer of pea-sized gravel over the surface after planting, sprinkle freely with water. The gravel is used to help prevent dampening of the small plants.

will be the streamlined 4-H club program in 1943. This pledge gives the member greater opportunity for service than the selections of a single project. The pledge also enables the member to make a greater contribution to the war effort.

4-H club members will study methods of cattle grub damage to livestock which is estimated to cost American farmers and ranchmen $50,000,000 annually. This demonstration will be conducted by Extension agents during the last week in this month, and club members will be asked to treat one animal as his contribution to the war effort.

Cleaning, Pressing and Alterations

Oneways, Auto Rims Ruining Of Shoulders On 207

During the past three months there has been a noticeable increase in the damage to asphalt pavements due to cuts made in the surface by truck and trailer rims and by lugs on farm machinery. Such cuts made in the surface allow water to soak through into the base and then freezing and thawing action cause failure of the surface and holes in the base.

Recently a number of trucks have been stopped and the owners asked why they were operating their vehicles without tires and whether they realized the damage they were causing. In most cases, they said they had no idea they were damaging the road and immediately arranged to drive so that their rims or lugs would not be on the asphalt surface. When one man was convinced that his lugs were digging into the asphalt, he stopped and took them off, says state highway officials.

It is with the belief that most operators fail to realize the damage they are doing, that this information is given and it is hoped that a greater effort will be made by all vehicle operators to keep their unprotected rims and lugs off of the asphalt surfaces.

"Asphalt for patching is hard to get because of the shortage of tank cars, and chug holes in roads cause undue wear on tires and vehicles, so do your part by keeping your rims and lugs on the earth shoulders and save the pavement," urges the department.

Damage to asphalt surfaced shoulders adjacent to the concrete pavement on Highway 207, approaching Floydada can readily be seen and if this damage continues to increase these improvements may be lost.

Mrs. Jennie Bishop went to Dalhart Thursday where she will spend a week with her son, Ed Bishop and family.

Thank you...

Your response to this company's appeal to conserve telephone service—your sacrifices of peacetime telephone convenience—have helped keep war calls flowing over the wires in ever-increasing volume. Thank you!

Under the handicap of stringent material shortages, the telephone problem during 1942 was somehow to add more telephones than in any two years before the war...while handling 67 million long distance calls—15% more than in 1941—40% more than in 1939.

During the present year, 1943, even more war calls must be handled. They must and shall get through. But your help will be needed...every day and every evening...in making...

Fewer and briefer telephone calls, please, and...

Only vital long distance calls to busy war centers.

Again...thank you!
