Odessa Man Elected Head Of Area Group

MORE than 2,000 West Texas teachers are expected to move on Lubbock today for the 14th annual West Texas Teachers association convention, with the first general session slated to get underway at 10 a.m. in the Lubbock Senior High school auditorium.

The preliminary part of the annual convention got underway last night at the high school, as the house of delegates met and named a new slate of officers for the coming year.

W. A. Miller of Odessa was elected president of the WTTA at the session. He will succeed Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education, at Texas Technological college and WTTA head the past year.

Ross Buckner, superintendent of Seagraves schools was elected vice-president, and J. W. Jones, superintendent of Seagraves schools was re-elected to the state executive committee.

Mrs. W. O. Low of Big Spring, secretary, and D. A. Edwards of Crosbyton, treasurer, were elected last year for two-year terms. President-elect Miller is assistant superintendent of Odessa public schools, and will be superintendent there after July 1.

Midland was chosen to be host city for the 15th annual convention next year.

103 Delegates Attend

The meeting was attended by 103 delegates, representing 27 counties in District IV. Those present at the quiet session heard reports from various committees, heard annual reports from the president and treasurer, and named 27 delegates to the Texas State Teachers association convention to be held in Fort Worth next Thanksgiving.

"Education As A Joint Enterprise," with laymen for the first time in the history of the organization serving as main speakers, will keynote the first general session of the convention this morning.

Laymen will be featured on the program at that time, the first time this has been done since the association was started.

Laymen To Be Speakers

Speakers will be Delbert Downing, secretary of Midland Chamber of Commerce, discussing "Education as a Joint Enterprise"; G. C. Dowell, member of the Lubbock board of education, speaking on "A Veterans Viewpoint of Modern Education"; and William B. Deaderick, Odessa attorney, speaking on "The Necessity of Adequate School Plants and How to Acquire Them."

The Midland High school band, directed by Frank Hoffman, will provide music for this morning's meeting. Dr. Jackson will give the official opening address, and Dr. Ralph Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church, will offer the invocation. Dr. Weston A. Pet-

Suspects Face Federal Charge

Federal charges have been filed here against Otis Dwight Simpson and Odis Black, both 26, of Levelland, in connection with burglary Tuesday night of the First State Bank of Morton.

The federal charges, sworn to by Curtis L. Perryman, resident agent of the FBI, and filed with Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy district clerk and U. S. commissioner for the Lubbock division of the Northern Federal district, charge that the two men burglarized the bank in violation of the national bank robbery act.

Warrants had not been executed, it was pointed out, since federal authorities often defer in prosecution to state authorities after both have filed complaints in a given case.

Terry Cases "Broken"

Simpson and Black are held in lieu of bonds totaling $16,000 set in four burglary charges filed Wednesday in the state court at Morton.

Two more burglaries—in Meadow and Brownfield—were laid at the door of four young Lubbock men already incriminated by signed statements of some of them with other burglaries, it was announced here Thursday afternoon.

The announcement followed questioning of two of the four suspects by Dep. Sheriff Buel Powell of Brownfield, Dep. Sheriff Elmer McCutcheon of Meadow, Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton of Lubbock and Texas Ranger Razz Renfrow, of Lubbock.

Chester Wayne Morgan, 17, of 1614 Main, and Robert Lee Davis, 20, of 2411 North Third admitted that they and two other Lubbock

Atlantic Pact Terms To Be Revealed Today

U.S. To Arm Alliance Nations By Mid-'50

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 17—The State department disclosed today that the United States aims to equip western Europe's "existing" air and land forces to full armed strength by mid-1950.

The department announced that the European recovery program will be given "top priority" despite plans to rearm Atlantic pact nations at an estimated cost of one and one-half to two billion dollars in the first year.

Other alliance developments:

1. Secretary of State Acheson prepared to tell the American people about the Atlantic pact in an address to be broadcast tomorrow at 9:30 p. m. CST.

2. Terms of the pact will be made public tomorrow at 10 a.m. CST.

3. Invitations to join the pact were extended to Denmark, Iceland, Italy and Portugal.

4. Icelandic Foreign Minister Bjarni Benediktsson concluded talks with Acheson and prepared to leave for Iceland, presumably to recommend adherence to the pact by his government.

State department spokesman Michael J. McDermott explained that between July 1, 1949, and June 30, 1950, the U. S. will try to make up arms deficiencies only in existing western European military formations.

ERP Gets Priority

His statement made clear that no equipment can be furnished now for new regiments and divisions abroad under the rearmament program.

Top diplomatic and military observers have pointed out that the current armed units of the western European powers are not adequate to repel an invasion.

It was believed, however, that once the existing units are equipped with U. S. materials, new units can be created and equipped under the program later on.

Funds To Be Asked

The original alliance powers—the U. S., Britain, Canada, Norway, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—awaited replies of Denmark, Iceland, Italy and Portugal to join in pact membership.

It was hoped that these governments would agree in time to send their foreign ministers to Washington for the historic signing ceremony the first week in April.

Legislation authorizing funds for rearming western Europe is expected to be asked of Congress by President Truman as soon as the Senate ratifies the pact.

Shocking Details Of Condtions In State Are Bared

Did you know that in one of Texas' mental institutions, rats, filth and fire dangers give the place the appearance of a near junk yard rather than a place to treat mentally ill?

Did you know that in another institution, patients are fed for the sum of 21 cents a day?

Did you know that in another, patients are forced to use flights of stairs inviting disaster should they slip on their unguarded steps and rails?

The background behind these startling facts concerning the shocking conditions now prevailing in Texas' mental institutions will be presented in a series of eight articles by J. P. Porter of Austin, starting in Sunday's Avalanche-Journal, and continuing daily thereafter in The Morning Avalanche.

Two Men Are Nabbed At Pampa On False Imprisonment Charge

CLAUDE, Tex., March 17 (AP)—Two men were arrested at Pampa early today, brought here, and charged with false imprisonment.

Armstrong county Sheriff John Moore said the charge, filed in county court, was not a felony charge.

He said the men were arrested at a Pampa tourist court after Ralph Early, 27, had reported that two men had kidnapped his wife.

Moore quoted Early, a magazine salesman of El Monte, Calif., as saying he and his wife were hitch-hiking from Fort Worth to California when two men in a cattle truck gave them a ride near Memphis, Tex.

Near Claude, Early said, he was forced out of the truck.

The sheriff said a trial had been called for 10 a. m. Saturday in county court before Judge Richard S. Morris.

New Mexico Boy Accidentally Kills Mother With Shotgun

TATUM, N. M., March 17 (AP)—A five-year-old boy accidentally killed his mother yesterday with a shotgun. The victim was Mrs. Wade Travis.

Sheriff Horace Owens said Bill Travis, 5, was playing with the gun in the yard at the Travis home. The gun went off and the charge hit Mrs. Travis in the chest and arm. She died instantly.

Her husband and another child survive.

Reds Launch Campaign To Unify Germany Under Soviet Control

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 17—Soviet-controlled German Communists launched a campaign tonight to woo all of Germany into the Russian orbit.

The keynote of their campaign is a call for a unified Germany under Communist control. The Communists seek to control Germany by creating an eastern German state.

The constitution for this state is scheduled to be rubber stamped by the Communist-led "people's council" of eastern Germany. A vote on the draft constitution may come as soon as Saturday.

While setting up this constitution for eastern Germany, the Communists are charging the western powers with splitting the nation by establishing a west German state.

Speeding Takeover

Apparently the Communists are speeding their takeover in eastern Germany to create a satellite east German state before the western powers can get the west German state functioning.

The Communist call to Germans is baited with strong hints that the Soviet Union will withdraw its occupation troops in this event,

Senate Races To Beat Rent Law Deadline

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 17—The Senate Banking committee, racing against a March 31 deadline, today approved a bill which extends rent controls at least one year, grants a maximum 10 per cent increase in rentals, and permits state decontrol.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), committee chairman, plans to submit the measure to the Senate Friday.

All federal controls expire two weeks hence and the Senate measure differs so radically from the House-passed rent control extension bill thata last-minute rush to beat the expiration date appears certain.

GOP Plan Proposed

The banking committee bill was completed as strong Republican support rallied behind a proposal by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), Senate GOP policy leader, which differs widely from both measures.

Taft would extend controls for six months without any general increase in rentals.

The Senate measure would:

1. Extend controls for one year with a proviso that for an additional three months tenants would be protected against eviction.

2. Give states power to decontrol any portion of their territory by passage of a state law.

Increases Authorized

3. Authorizes a five per cent rent boost on Oct. 1, 1949 and another five per cent on April 1, 1950, where rents have not already been increased more than five per cent since mid-1947. Most rents have been hiked that amount.

4. Protect tenants whose rents have been increased 15 per cent since mid-1947 under "voluntary" lease agreements from any further boost.

5. Permit a state to take over rent control when its governor certifies to the U. S. housing expediter that the state legislature has made "adequate" provision for control.

In cases where tenants agreed to "voluntary" increases authorized in 1947, or where landlords

Uranium Stocks Claimed Secure

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 17 — A hurried investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation revealed today that a small quantity of refined uranium apparently smuggled into Mexico did not come from any stockpile in the United States.

Sen. McMahon (D-Conn) chairman of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy, said the FBI investigation of the Mexican case was undertaken at the request of the Atomic Energy commission.

Mexican Is Held

McMahon took cognizance of a report from Mexico City that a man had been arrested by Mexican highway patrolmen with a small quantity of refined uranium in his possession.

Both the FBI and the Atomic Energy commission were aware of the Mexican incident but declined to comment.

An official indirectly associated with American atomic energy research said the U.S. stockpile of uranium and atomic materials generally are entirely secure. The official said:

"Our control is so good it is certain that no uranium has been taken from the United States. Not an ounce is missing."

The Washington spokesman said the uranium found in the possession of a man arrested by Mexican highway patrolmen "came from some country other than the United States."

This gives rise to speculation pointing toward Canada and other uranium-producing countries.

Both the Atomic Energy com-

Bill To Set Up Radar Screen Okayed By Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—A bill to set up a radar screen to guard against surprise air attacks on the United States was approved today by the Senate Armed Services committee.

The House has already passed the measure but the Senate has yet to act.

Total cost of the network is expected to be $161,000,000 but the bill provides for initial expenditures of only $85,500,000.

Two More Seek Posts On Board

TWO more candidates — both labor union sponsored — filed for positions Thursday in the race for election to the Lubbock Independent School board.

Their action brought to five the total seeking three places to be filled in the election, which has been called for April 2.

The two men filing Thursday were Byron Terrell, 38, of 1921 Dixie drive, a member of the local carpenters union, and James C. Sharp, 25, of 2802 Edna, a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local No. 850.

Three Others In Race

Previously announced for the three positions to be filled were Clyde G. Tatum, present chairman of the board, seeking his second term; Ruel C. Martin, vice president and manager of the Dunlap company, seeking a first term; and Don L. Jones, superintendent of the U. S. Department of Agriculture experiment station, also seeking his first term on the board.

In their announcements almost two weeks ago, the three above said they were running at request of numerous friends in the district.

In announcing their intentions to seek positions on the board, both Terrell and Sharp said they were running with the backing and sponsorship of the Central Labor unions in Lubbock as well as a newly organized group calling itself the Lubbock Labor Legislative Committee on Education. J. B. Cearley, member of the International Typographical Union, Local 888, is president of the group.

Resident Since 1939

Terrell explained that he at present was a construction superintendent with the C. H. Tisdel Construction company. He is the father of a daughter, Eugenia, 13, a student in O. L. Slaton Junior High school, and a son, Bobby, 5, who will start to school next fall.

In his announcement, Terrell said he held a Bachelor of Science Degree from Texas Tech, having completed his work at the college in the summer of 1939.

Lamesa Man Is Assessed $1,000 Fine

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, (Friday) March 18 — A county court jury which had deliberated for more than two and a half hours returned a verdict of guilty about 12:20 o'clock this morning in the aggravated assault trial of R. D. Taylor, 35-year-old Dawson county farmer, and assessed a fine of $1,000 as punishment.

Taylor was accused of three counts of assault upon Ray Culp, Lamesa school principal, on the night of Feb. 18, and the jury, with Fred Flaniken as foreman, found him guilty upon all three counts.

Crowd Of 200 On Hand

The verdict was returned before about 200 spectators in the district court room after a crowd of about 600 had started to dwindle almost an hour before. The tired and trial-weary crowd showed no visible reaction to the jury's report.

Defense attorneys, George and Clyde Thomas of Big Spring, filed an immediate motion for a new trial, County Judge R. W. Herndon said.

The case had gone to the jury about 9:45 p.m. Thursday, after two days of trial.

The court recessed about 2 p.m. after testimony had been completed, and went into session again at 7 p.m. with arguments by prosecutors and attorneys for the defense.

The state, represented by County Attorney Vernon Adcock and District Attorney Stansell Clement, called for the jury to reach a verdict of aggravated assault, and asked that the maximum penalty of two years imprisonment and a $1,000 fine be assessed in the case.

Defense attorneys objected twice during the course of the states argument, bringing the total number of objections to 12 during the trial's course.

Objections were based on Adcock's reference to treatment of students by school officials, and his telling the jury to "make an example of the case." Both were overruled by Judge Herndon.

A total of about 80,000 words of testimony had been recorded by Bill Swain, court reporter, when the jury was sent out to reach a

Spring Weather Seen For Area

The South Plains was assured last night of two more days of spring weather, and the weather bureau station north of town said indications were that mild conditions would continue even longer than the official forecast covers.

Meanwhile the mercury continued to have its ups and downs at the temperature swung from a 32 degree early morning low to a 63 degree high in the afternoon.

Cold Front Hits Area

A mild cold front that swept oevr the Plains during the night caused a sharp slump in the mercury shortly after midnight, but the chill air warmed up rapidly after the noon hour. Some freezing drizzle was reported in the Panhandle as the front drove southward.

Forecasts for today call for partly cloudy skies and temperatures ranging from a low of 35 to a maximum of 70. Saturday will continue partly cloudy, but slightly warmer, the weather forecaster said.

The Associated Press reported that in Central and South Texas, and in most of West Texas outside the Panhandle-Plains area temperatures went up to the high 60's, 70's, and 80's. The warmest spot was Laredo, with 89 degrees.

ARMED SERVICES' PUBLICITY SECTIONS MERGED

'Information Czar' Is Ordered Set Up By U. S. Military Department To Control Flow Of News

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 17—The military department today ordered one-man control clamped on its flow of public information.

Then it hustled this news to congressmen investigating charges that the world—and potential enemies—have been told too much about our vital defense secrets.

The order merges the public information sections of the Army, Navy and Air Force under a single office for the National Military Establishment. Its chief will be William Frye, former Associated Press war correspondent.

The three services now issue their news separately.

The reorganization, effective March 31, actually has been in preparation since last December. But it was learned that the announcement yesterday that the House Armed Services committee was opening an investigation figured in the decision to issue the new central control order at once.

Defense Secretary Forrestal took a copy into a closed session of the committee. This session was called to inquire into the sources of published stories and pictures dealing with Air Force strategic plans and the atomic energy program.

Present at the meeting when Forrestal handed the House members the order were the three secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The inquiry sprang up on the heels of a complaint in the House that information had been "bandied about in the press" about secret talks before the joint chiefs of staff, purported vital targets in Russia, and contents of secret military maps.

Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.) called attention to this, saying the military had denied giving away secrets.

House members also were con-

Administration Given Major Defeat; Civil Rights Plan Claimed Doomed

By ROSE McKEE

WASHINGTON, March 17—A coalition routed administration forces utterly tonight and passed a rule change that will require 64 votes to gag any future filibuster in the Senate.

The vote on substituting the "compromise" resolution was 63 to 23. The Senate then adopted the resolution itself by voice vote, and adjourned at 11:19 p.m. until noon tomorrow.

Thirty-four Republicans and 29 Democrats voted for the compromise. Seven Republicans and 16 Democrats voted against.

The action, which breaks a 17-day legislative deadlock, was taken at the ninth consecutive night session of the chamber.

HST Gathers Ammunition

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

KEY WEST, Fla., March 17. — President Truman gathered ammunition today in the hope of rescuing his "fair deal" program from emasculation by a rebellious Congress.

His decision to break his long silence on repeated rebuffs from Capitol Hill centered national attention on a news conference he called for 8:30 a.m. (CST) tomorrow.

He gave no sign of what counter-moves he may have in mind, however, as he divided his time between preparation for the conference and relaxation at his favorite beach.

Strategy Talks Indicated

Associates totalled up a mounting series of blows which could lead the President to carry out his threat to stump the country by train for the measures for which he campaigned in 1948.

There was no advance indication he would disclose any final decision on that tomorrow without talking over strategy with congressional and party leaders.

Senate majority leader Lucas of Illinois has conceded that a Republican-southern Democratic coalition has made it virtually impossible to pass the President's civil rights proposals in this session. Some of Mr. Truman's advisors are talking of a summer special session devoted to this issue. Prolonged debate at such a time would not hold up vitally-important legislation.

The White House late today released for publication news reel pictures of President Truman and his aides swimming at a beach

Test Is Pledged

It will pave the way for Senate consideration of rent control extension, European recovery, labor and other measures that have logjammed during the long battle—one of the bitterest of modern times.

Before the voting, Senate Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois served notice that he will put civil rights legislation to a test at this session of Congress despite defeat in the gag rule fight.

Lucas pledged that the test will be made on an anti-poll tax bill before July 31, the date set by law for adjournment of Congress—unless both houses by joint action agree to continue in session longer.

A charge that Republicans and southern Democrats have entered into a deal to pass a "face saving" anti-poll tax bill was hurled during heated debate by Sen. Morse (R-Ore).

Morse declared there are "rumors" of such an agreement as a "face saver" so that Republicans can say they secured passage of a major civil rights measure under the coalition rule.

Lucas declared that, under the coalition debate gag plan, civil rights legislation "will not have a Chinaman's chance." But he said he would have a test on gagging a southern filibuster on a civil rights bill later on, if for no other purpose than to put senators on record on the question.

Clashes Feature Session

Republican leaders challenged the contention of Lucas and other Truman backers that the coalition gag plan will kill civil rights measures.

Frequent clashes featured a long day of debate on the debate gag question.

Sen. Neely (D-W Va) who chided Senate minority leader Wherry (R-Neb) for sponsoring the coalition plan, drew laughs when he quipped:

"What would General Lee have said if he could see this general from Yankeeland riding his cornstalk and brandishing his wooden sword?"

Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) said

Cotton Acreage Bill Nearing Completion

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—Action to discourage greater cotton planting neared completion in Congress today.

The Senate agreed to a conference report on a bill providing that 1949 acreage will not be used in computing planting quotas in 1950 in view of an existing cotton surplus.

The bill is designed to discourage cotton farmers from expanding acreage this year as a base for larger future quotas. There is an estimated carry-over of some 5,000,000 bales from the 1948 crop.

The acreage bill passed the House Feb. 2 limited to cotton, but the Senate included other commodities as well. House hearings are expected to be held later on other acreage considerations for such commodities as corn and wheat.

Non-Stop B-36 Flights Of 12,000 Miles Seen

MAXWELL AIR BASE, Ala., March 17 (INS)—A top Air Force official expressed belief today that the new B-36 bomber carrying a full bomb load and crew could fly 12,000 miles non-stop without refueling.

Gen. George Kenny said development of air ranges appears to be limitless. It was pointed out that 12,000 miles is the round-trip distance between New York and Moscow with 3,000 miles left over.

Kenny, former head of the Air Force Strategic command and now chief of the Maxwell air base Air university said recent B-36 and B-50 flights show seemingly impossible obstacles of time and distance can be overcome.

He said the B-36 flew a record 9,600 miles last Saturday on a single gasoline supply—and the crew wasn't even trying to press things. Kenny said:

Solons Protest Admission Of 22 'Iron Curtain' Visitors To U. S. To Attend 'Peace' Conference

By EARLE MARCKRES
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 17—Vigorous protests arose in Congress today against the State department action in issuing visas to 22 delegates from Russia and Communist satellite countries to attend a "world peace" conference in New York.

The legislators objected to the department's plan to permit Soviet composer Dmitri Shostakovich and other "iron curtain" visitors to participate in the cultural and scientific conference for world peace March 25-27.

Capitol Hill Indignant

The department formally announced that 22 delegates have been granted entry. Its initial report last night, however, erroneously listed 23.

This occurred when assistant Secretary George V. Allen read the names of the foreigners and included a Polish writer—who was given a visa—and a Greek Communist newswoman who was condemned to be executed.

The department later corrected Allen's slip-of-the-tongue and pointed out that only the Pole had applied for and received the visa permit.

Participation of Soviet representatives in the meeting, sponsored by the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, was viewed with indignation on Capitol Hill.

Probers To Check Delegates

Chairman Wood (D-Ga.), of the House Un-American Activities committee indicated that the group will send an investigator to the parley to check on American and foreign delegates, including "iron curtain" representatives.

Wood said the committee will consider the matter Friday. Committee probers are understood to have checked the list of foreign delegates to ascertain how many are Communists or have Communist connections.

Some members of Congress pointedly agreed with the State department that the meeting will be manipulated by Communists and used by them as a sounding board for Soviet propaganda.

Others flatly demanded that Soviet Russia hold a similar conference, permit an equal number of Americans to enter and lift its news censorship to provide worldwide coverage of the event.

Three senators—Mundt (R-SD), Vandenberg (R-Mich.), and Ferguson (R-Mich.)—demanded that the issuance of American visas to Russians be placed on a basis of reciprocity.

Ferguson said that he, as a U. S. senator, could not obtain a visa to enter Russia, and added:

"We ought to have with Russia and her satellites a rule on reciprocity. We'll do just what they do and not one scintilla more. In other words, treat them just like they treat us."

Southern Pacific, Affiliates, Report Income Of $43,770,280

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Southern Pacific company and solely controlled affiliates today reported 1948 consolidated net income of $43,700,280 equal to $11.60 a share.

This was an increase of more than 23 per cent from consolidated net of $35,518,969, or $9.41 a share for the previous year.

"Southern Pacific's operating efficiency was improved in 1948," said A. T. Mercier, president, in the report. "The average freight train moved more freight more miles per hour than ever before."

"The brightest aspect of the traffic outlook is the continued rapid growth of population and industry in the West and Southwest. The lines of Southern Pacific and its affiliates . . . serve most of this fast-growing territory and are well situated to share in its present and future development," he said.

Scurry County Test Hits Sulphur Water

Humble Oil & Refining company has found the big water in the Ellenburger of northwest Scurry with its No. 1-B Moore, possible discovery from the deep zone 10 miles northwest of Snyder and 1,980 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 492, block 97, H&TC survey.

A two-hour drillstem test at 8,364-8,405 feet had a good blow of air throughout and recovered 1,750 feet of sulphur water, with no shows of oil or gas.

A Schlumberger survey was being run on last report. Operator will likely run pipe and test the section at 8,190-8,250 feet, which showed the best possibilities of Ellenburger production.

Magnolia Patroleum company has plugged and abandoned its No. 2-11 University, wildcat between the Shafter Lake and Fullerton field of North-Central Andrews county.

The venture drilled to 9,535 feet in unproductive Devonian lime. Discovery possibilities were encountered in the Wolfcamp-Permian at a lesser depth, but were insufficient for commercial production.

The failure is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 11, block 13, University survey.

Half Of Mexico City Children Without Schools, Official Says

MEXICO CITY, March 17 (AP)—Half of Mexico City's children are without schools.

Education Secretary Manuel Gual Vidal in an appeal before a committee of businessmen and bankers, last night said 12,000 new classrooms are needed costing 120,000,000 pesos ($17,000,000). He said they must be built by private subscription—the government cannot afford them.

"OLD ENOUGH TO BE HIS MOTHER"

*That's one of the signs of a Borderline Anemia

We've all met women who seem years older than their husbands—pale, dispirited, no fun to be near.

Yes, and their loss of pep and healthy color may very well come from red blood cells that are faded and weak. They may have a Borderline Anemia—due to a ferro-nutritional deficiency of the blood. Medical studies show that up to 68% of women—many men and children—experience this tiring blood condition.

Weariness and pallor have many causes—always consult your doctor regularly. But if you have this Borderline Anemia, remember: Ironized Yeast Tablets can help you reclaim your vitality and healthy good looks. They are specially formulated to help build up faded, shrunken and fagged-out blood cells. To feel better—to look better—to act more alert and alive—try IRONIZED YEAST TABLETS!

*Due to a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency, a condition for which Ironized Yeast is specially formulated.

'GLASS WAX' HERE TO EASE SPRING CLEAN-UP CHORES

Lasting Gleam for Porcelain, Enamel, Tile

"GLASS WAX," the astonishing Gold Seal pink chemical, is the answer to keeping bathrooms sparkling clean.

Such simple care to restore the glistening beauty of porcelain tubs and basins . . . tile walls and floors . . . enamel, chrome, and stainless steel fixtures! Mirrors and glass shower stalls, too, are cleaned quickly and easily with "GLASS WAX." No more back-breaking scrubbing—just wipe "GLASS WAX" on, wipe it off. No more scarring abrasives . . . "GLASS WAX" is safely gentle.

Invisible Film Guards Lustre

And remember, too, that "GLASS WAX" leaves its crystal-clear protective film on every gleaming surface. This means longer-lasting beauty, easier future cleaning. So be sure to use pink "GLASS WAX," the Gold Seal Co.'s sensational glass and metal cleaner in the pink can.

Brighter Bathrooms

ANOTHER OF 101 USES for "GLASS WAX" around the house. No other cleaner brightens bathroom fixtures so quickly, so effortlessly, so lastingly.

Local Gold Seal Sales Office

The sales office of the Gold Seal Company, makers of "GLASS WAX," is located at 1201 Commerce Street, Houston 14, Texas; Telephone Preston 6127.

Quick, Easy, Neat To Use

Host of Letters Laud "GLASS WAX" As Miracle For All Housecleaning

These unsolicited comments are a few of the hundreds that pour into the Gold Seal Company offices every day. Full name and address of any writer may be had from the Gold Seal Chicago office.

"I have never been as excited about a labor saver as I am about this one. I have 90 windows in my home that sparkle, thanks to 'GLASS WAX.' So easy, and the results are perfect."—Mrs. A. G. B.

"Never in my 35 years of keeping house, has any silver polish equalled 'GLASS WAX' "—Mrs. E. H. H.

"After forty years searching for relief from cloudy windows after taking the trouble to wash them, I've tried 'GLASS WAX' and find it superb. The shine is something unheard of."—Mrs. M. A.

"Let me tell you how thrilled I am about 'GLASS WAX.' I have silver on which I had tried at least five different polishes and cleaners. Never did it look real clean. Now, with 'GLASS WAX,' with one rub or two, it is beautiful."—Mrs. A. T.

"After making my windows and mirrors sparkling clean, my biggest surprise with 'GLASS WAX' was when I used it on a badly soiled toaster. It looks like new."—Mrs. P. S.

"I used your 'GLASS WAX' this morning and I'm wild about it. Chrome, electric utensils, picture glass, mirrors, plastic radio, glass dresser tops, faucets—in fact everything of that nature just glistens in no time at all, and no effort. No damage to my hands and finger nails—and that is important to a secretary who works in an office."—Miss H. F.

"Calling 'GLASS WAX' the miracle cleaner is the understatement of the year. Bought my first can last week and started on my windows and mirrors. Well, you know the usual result. But when I started using it on my sterling flatware that is eighteen years old, and on 'uncleanable' pewterware and saw the sparkling newness return, it was simply amazing."—Mrs. B. R. S.

"When your advertisement on 'GLASS WAX' first appeared I said, 'That's for me'—for I have twenty-two windows, many mirrors, plenty of chromium, enameled surfaces and silverware to polish. Well, right in the can of 'GLASS WAX' I bought is the answer to all that hard work. Believe me, it's marvelous! My windows shine like diamonds and I can wash them (all of them) in less than one-half the time it took me before."—Mrs. I. H.

"Besides making things shine like I've never seen before, 'GLASS WAX' saves me the bother of carrying my mirrors and bric-a-brac to the kitchen when they're dirty. I just clean them all in the living-room or wherever they are, and never have any mess left over."

Mrs. J. B.

Guarantee Backs "GLASS WAX"

Laboratory proof of "GLASS WAX" superior quality and results enables the Gold Seal Company to guarantee satisfaction to the user. If you are dissatisfied for any reason, your dealer will gladly refund the full purchase price upon receipt of the unused portion of "GLASS WAX."

Women Hail Gold Seal Chemical for Ending Housework Drudgery

Silver For 8 Brightened in 20 Minutes

There's a new ease awaiting you in keeping silver bright, for "GLASS WAX" removes the most stubborn tarnish and stain with amazing speed.

Simple as anything, wipe "GLASS WAX" on, wipe it off—you'll marvel at the luxurious, long-lasting sheen that appears.

Safer for Silver

"GLASS WAX" contains no harsh abrasives, requires no tedious burnishing—fast, safe chemical action does the job. That's why so many jewelers recommend "GLASS WAX" for the finest sterling or plate.

Chrome, too, and other metals respond just as easily, just as brilliantly to this astonishing Gold Seal cleaner. And "GLASS WAX" guards against future tarnish and dullness with its crystal-clear protective film.

There's nothing better anywhere for cleaning glass and metalware.

WAFFLE-IRONS, TOASTERS, other chrome appliances gain quick, lasting brilliance.

STORES, OFFICES

Glass, Metal Polished Up in Seconds

It was a great day for store managers when customers came back to tell them the miraculous glass cleaning results obtained with "GLASS WAX."

Store managers, looking around their own stores, saw acres of glass showcases, windows, mirrors, chrome and brass—a terrific cleaning and polishing task (not always too well done).

Inevitably, "GLASS WAX" was used right in their stores where before it had only been sold.

It was found that simply by wiping on the pink "GLASS WAX"—then wiping it off with another cloth—these large glass areas were cleaned quicker and better than ever before. No pressure, no rubbing, no water, no muss—just easy wipe-off.

Offices with their many glass-top desks, glass partitions, doors, and cabinets are kept lustrous bright with easy-to-use "GLASS WAX." Time and money are saved when the one and only "GLASS WAX" is used.

Arthur Godfrey, Gold Seal Radio Feature

"Just Wi-i-ipe It On . . . Wi-i-ipe It Off," says Hilarious Arthur Godfrey

Radio listeners throughout the country are making it a point to hear the Gold Seal Show every weekday morning. Sponsored by the makers of "GLASS WAX," the program features affable Arthur Godfrey, the most popular attraction in daytime radio. Supporting Godfrey on the 167-station CBS Network program are Janette Davis, lovely and talented singer, the Mariners, outstanding male quartet, and Archie Bleyer's orchestra.

Aimed at wide audience appeal, the Gold Seal Show presents Godfrey's inimitable impromptu humor, backed by pleasing popular music. Highlight of the program—if such there be in a consistently amusing routine—is Godfrey's reading of the letters, both humorous and serious, telling of new or unusual uses for "GLASS WAX" discovered by listeners. Everyone's certain to enjoy the hilarious fifteen-minute Gold Seal Show.

Chemists Find 30 Kinds of Dirt on Glass

While developing "GLASS WAX," Gold Seal chemists collected and studied sample window panes from homes in many states. Analysis revealed 30 different kinds of dirt and discoloration.

- Greasy soot streaks and salt water minerals dirtied glass in eastern mill towns.
- Sticky pollens, lime dust and tars dulled midwestern windows.
- Stubborn silica deposits stole the gleam from southern and western panes.

Even minute amounts of certain rare minerals were found killing the sparkle of glass in some areas.

Gold Seal chemists found that "GLASS WAX" removed every one of the stubborn grimy films with one easy, streakless application!

Wipes Glass, Metals Clean; No Scrubbing

Hailed by millions of housewives in other sections of the nation, a new and startling chemical discovery, "GLASS WAX," today became available in this city.

This new Gold Seal cleaner for glass and metal surfaces has been widely acclaimed for its amazing ability to remove quickly and easily all dirt and grime, and to add gleaming sparkle to windows, mirrors, tabletops, silverware, porcelain, and all metal surfaces.

Homemakers in this city who want to buy this new product will find it at leading grocery, drug, hardware, variety and department stores.

This safe new chemical discovery saves hours of time, because it instantly removes smudges, stains, and tarnish without back-breaking scrubbing and buffing.

Quick, Easy—Wipe On, Wipe Off

"GLASS WAX" cleaning is tops in simplicity. All that's needed are two dry cloths and "GLASS WAX." Pour a small amount of this sensational chemical on one cloth, wipe on surface to be cleaned, wipe off with the other cloth. All dirt and stain disappear—only glistening brilliance remains. No water, no hard rubbing, no streaks.

"GLASS WAX" cleans 30 kinds of dirt in 30 seconds. Nothing like this amazing speed and ease of cleaning to sparkling brightness was ever known before.

"GLASS WAX" was introduced less than a year ago by the Gold Seal Co. Now millions call it "a cleaning miracle."

New Uses Discovered

Day after day, letters pour in about new and wonderful uses for "GLASS WAX." Millions now benefit through its quick, easy, safe and inexpensive use—cleaning and polishing windows, mirrors, silver, nickle, tile, chrome, brass, copper, pewter, porcelain—all glass, metal, and baked-on enamels.

REMEMBER—There is only one "GLASS WAX," a product of the Gold Seal Co.

Crystal-Clear Film Protects Lustre

After safely dissolving blemishing grime, "GLASS WAX" leaves a transparent protective film that resists new fingerprints, spatters and stains.

A secret chemical in "GLASS WAX" leaves this dirt and moisture resisting film. It cannot be seen, but it is there, automatically making any cleaned surface less attractive to lustre-killing grime.

Next Cleaning Easier

That means once you start cleaning with "GLASS WAX" you'll find surfaces less soiled, easier to restore to sparkling radiance. The crystal-clear film left by "GLASS WAX" helps keep your windows and metal surfaces gleaming bright longer.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

GIRLS are forever getting and giving beauty and grooming tips from the boys. People quote the young men at great length as to their opinions on the girls' flats, bobby-sox hairdos and there was a time when they spouted high and lustily on the subject of sloppy sweaters and dungarees.

Nobody ever seems to care what the girls think about the boys, though. A consensus by a group of girls, however, is that the boys could use a shot of beauty in the arm. Such things as dirty fingernails or nails that have been chewed down to the quick incur the girls' wrath more than anything else. No excuse, they say, for not taking advantage of soap and water.

DISCUSSION DITHERS

EVERYONE who holds membership in an organization gets an opportunity now and then to preside at a conference and cheers to the woman who knows how it is done.

We are thinking of one enchanting woman who presided at a large meeting in one of the most confusing, spasmodic, muscle-jerking and mind-blurring fashions it's ever been my embarrassment to encounter. She had the entire audience fighting feathers. We felt like extending sympathy to her.

IT SEEMS to us that someone should prepare a brief on what to remember when you find yourself standing before a room of people with a thought to carry through! If no one else will, we'll volunteer. Here goes:

Don't talk too much about yourself. Outline the discussion in three minutes.

Don't demand an opinion from a specific individual. She may not have one!

Kill off digressions from the subject. Suppress the "too talkative" member. That is, break in when she pauses for breath and restate the progress of the discussion so far.

Keep the discussion interesting.

Learn how to ask, not leading questions, but follow-up questions —such as, "Why?" and "How?"

Plan your conference in advance—notes, questions, blackboards, mimeos.

Introduce the light touch when possible. A sense of humor is important and relieves the tension of controversy.

Sum up progress three or four times and once again before a showing of hands decides the question.

Then, you are ready to slide neatly into the next question.

CAN YOU HELP?

A LUBBOCK negro family who lost everything they had in the world when a fir destroyed their home, has been given clothes and a house is being built. The family, however, has no furniture, such as beds, tables, chairs; in fact no necessary accessories such as stoves, etc.

Mrs. C. C. Mansell has been wondering if there are not pieces of furniture in storage spaces in Lubbock homes that residents might like to donate to the negro family. Dr. Mansell, who is clever at mending furniture, as well as in making wooden objects, will mend the furniture, if necessary. If you can help and will, telephone Mrs. Mansell at 2-2727, she will send after the furniture.

O'Neals Host Tea

A Thursday afternoon tea given in the Sim O'Neal home, Levelland road, continued a series of pre-bridal parties honoring Miss Martha Bucy, bride-to-be of Julius Hegyi. Hostess with Mrs. O'Neal was Mrs. Sim R. O'Neal.

The tea table was centered with a violin shaped container filled with talisman roses. Heart shaped cakes embossed with flowers were served with punch. Party rooms were decorated with spring flowers.

Mrs. J. A. Pressley greeted guests and presented them to the two hostesses, the honoree, her mother, Mrs. R. T. Bucy, Mrs. Don Davis of Midland and Mrs. J. Fred Bucy of Brownfield who were in the receiving line. Others in the houseparty were Mrs. Robert W. Baumgardner of Brownfield, Mrs. Clint Walker of Tahoka, Mrs. Johnny Pugh, Mrs. Rufus Rush and Mrs. George Ed O'Neal. Fifty guests called.

The honoree was presented a gift of pottery by the hostesses.

Supper Is For Guild

Fidelis class of First Methodist church served a buffet supper for the church's Wesleyan Service guild Wednesday night in the Friendship classroom. St. Patrick's decorations included bouquets of forsythia and green candles arranged on green and white covered tables.

The guild presented Mrs. A. F. Rasor, district guild secretary, a life membership; the presentation speech was by Mrs. H. I. Robinson.

The first of a series of three lessons on the book, "Newness of Life," was taught by Mrs. A. W. Hall. Dr. H. I. Robinson offered the incovation and Miss Ann Kelly presided at a business session during which plans were made for the annual Northwest guild conference which is to be hostes by the First Methodist guild April 23-24.

Mrs. R. A. Metcalfe was program chairman and Misses Maud Dee Skeen and Lola Thompson were in charge of decorations. Thirty-nine members and six guests attended.

Devotion On Prayer By Rev. George Dale

Rev. George Dale brought a devotion on "Prayer" and Mrs. Dale led the invocation at a luncheon meeting attended by First Baptist Mary Martha class Thursday at the church annex. Decorations were in the St. Patrick theme and members of Group 6 were hostesses.

Guests were Rev. and Mrs. George, and Mesdames J. E. Ward, W. S. Spears and Wesley Red. Members present were Mesdames J. C. Owens, W. B. Chiles, W. D. Biggers, A. S. Veazey, Walter Herrin, W. M. Mrs. Nichols presided.

Smyer Club Members Sew For Hostess

Smyer Sunshine club members were guests of Mrs. Ola Whitley Tuesday afternoon. Those sewing for the hostess were Mesdames Ruby Burleson, Howard Spence, Hugh Belew, J. P. Pace, Geneva Burford, O. Daniel, Virgie Dyess and Farnces Hilley. Mrs. Pace will be club hostess April 5 at 2 p.m.

Today's Town Talk

MESDAMES Hub Jones, 2114 Thirteenth, and Retha R. Martin, 2701 Nineteenth, entertained at the Lubbock Country club Tuesday for 10 Amarillo friends.

Amarilloians attending were Mesdames Jeff Neely, Beaumont Stinnett, J. L. Hyden, J. P. Patton, J. C. Paul, Otis Williams, Charles Keffer and Misses Janie Eslick and Flo Neely.

Several Lubbock women were also guests.

As a further courtesy to the out-of-town guests, Mesdames Neil H. Wright, sr., 1634 Main, and J. B. Crisler, 2112 Fourteenth, were hostesses at a dinner party at the Club the same night.

Covers were laid for approximately 15 guests.

Mrs. Fenner Tubbs, 2205 Twenty-eighth, will be hostess for a bridge luncheon today at Hector's during the fashion show hour.

Covers will be laid for Mesdames Robert Howard, Turner Adams, Robert Prothro, James H. Milam, Conway Clingan, Wright Kerr, Edwin E. Merriman, Noel D. Stalnaker, T. C. Ingram, Durwood Mahon and Wayne Henly.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fain, 2712 Twenty-first, returned home Wednesday night from St. Louis, Mo., where they have been visiting their daughter, Miss Pat Fain.

Pat is employed by the Mallinckrodt Chemical works in St. Louis.

Mrs. Vera Salmon of 3016 Twenty-second will honor Barbara Yates and Berald Collier, who will be married Saturday in the First Christian church, with a rehearsal dinner at 5 o'clock preceding their wedding rehearsal today.

Since the bridegroom is from a ranch, the turkey supper will be served ranch style and the ranch theme will be carried out in decorations. Tables will be laid with checked cloths.

Attending will be the honored couple, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Yates, parents of the bride-elect; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Collier of Ralls, parents of the prospective bridegroom; Rev. and Mrs. Travis White, Mrs. Ernest Wilpitz; Truman Hutson, Del Poulton, Eloise Cooper of Roscoe, Dorothy Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Don Austin, Bill Babb, Bill Lewis, Earl Abell of Kress, Fred Salmon, Harriet Henderson and Marjorie Prewitt.

Mrs. Tom Simmons of Quanah returned home Wednesday morning after being the houseguest of Mrs. Jack Henry, 2517 Nineteenth, for several days.

Family night will be observed at the Lubbock Country club tonight, and a club square dance will be staged Saturday night. Only members of the club may attend both events.

Dean James G. Allen will be guest reviewer at Drane Hall tonight following dinner at the dormitory. He has chosen "The Heat of the Day," (Elizabeth Bowen) as his book subject, and will be introduced by Hal McElya.

This is the second in a series of after-dinner speakers for the dormitory. Dr. Agnes True and Dean and Mrs. Allen will be dinner guests.

Country Club Lunch Held On Ladies Day

Hostesses at Ladies Day at Lubbock Country club Wednesday were Mrs. Randolph Rampy and Mrs. Sterling Forsythe.

In games of bridge which were played after a luncheon, Mrs. H. L. McCauley made high score and Mrs. Forsythe made second high.

Breakfast Served For Amiga Club

Eleven members of Amiga club who were guests of Mrs. C. W. Marsh, 2206 Twenty-fifth, Thursday morning were served breakfast.

Plans were made to meet April 7 at 3 p.m. with Mrs. S. A. Beard, 2522 Twenty-first.

Cook Expert Is Fond Of Area Women

On her first trip to Texas, Mrs. Marion Roberts, a home economist and food consultant from Northport, Long Island, finds West Texas audiences to be among the nicest, friendliest, and most cooperative she has encountered while conducting cooking schools.

The five-day cooking school she is holding at Clifton theater for Furr Food stores will be concluded at the 10 to 12 class to be held today. Mrs. Roberts has announced the following features for the final part of the school: she will demonstrate the making of baked Alaska which is baked ice cream, banana chiffon cake, summer moonshine dessert which is made with lime gelatine, chocolate cream pie with whipped cream, Texas salads with blue bonnet dressing and mixed grill which consists of chicken, sausage, bacon, broiled tomatoes, apples and sweet potatoes. The cooking expert plans also to show her audience how to start from scratch and make hot buttermilk biscuit in two minutes.

Mrs. Roberts spent several hours Thursday and will spend more time this morning baking white cakes in order that each of the 1500 guests at the morning class may have a piece. The New Yorker, who writes in her spare time, says that she has become so fond of Texas that she plans to write an article on the state when she returns home. She has published articles in The New Yorker, Readers Digest and Atlantic Monthly, but has never written a cook book.

At the Thursday morning class Mrs. Roberts told her audience about her grandmother's potato bread recipe which she gives only to people she likes. There were so many requests for the recipe that it is printed below:

4 potatoes
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 cups scalded milk
2 packages dry yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
1 table spoon salt
10 to 12 cups of all purpose flour

Boil potatoes, drain, mash, add sugar, shortening, four well beaten eggs. Dissolve yeast in ½ cup lukewarm water, pour the yeast into milk which has been cooled to lukewarm. Add to potato mixture. Sift in eight cups flour with one tablespoon salt. Continue adding flour until of desired consistency. Knead. Grease top, let rise until double in bulk. Shape as desired ,grease top again, let rise until double in bulk. Bake at 425 F. for 20 minutes.

MOVE MAY INCREASE COLD WAR TENSION

Bolivia Requests UN Consideration Of Hungarian Cardinal's Case In Next General Assembly Session

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 17. — The Bolivian government asked the United Nations today to take up the case of Hungary's imprisoned Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty in the April session of the General Assembly.

The move, which foreshadows similar action in the UN by other members on behalf of Protestant church leaders sentenced in Bulgaria, was taken in the form of a letter from the Bolivian ambassador, Eduardo A. Matienzo to Secretary General Trygve Lie. The Bolivian invoked article one of the charter.

Subsequently, the Bolivian ambassador subtituted article fifty-five for the sake of clearer procedure. The article deals with the promotion of peaceful relations among nations based on the principle of equal rights.

The applicable part of the article invoked specifies that the UN shall promote "universal respect for, and observance of, human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, sex, language, or religion."

Lie is obligated to place the item on the Assembly's agenda, leaving it to the "steering" committee and a plenary session to accept or reject it. All indications are that the Mindszenty case will rapidly receive U. S. and majority approval on the agenda. The session opens at Flushing Meadows, N. Y., April 5.

Although the Assembly is limited in the scope of any positive action, the 58-nation body has demonstrated it is capable of mobilizing tremendous influence through world public opinion. It is uncertain, however, whether sufficient pressure can be developed to compel the Hungarian and Bulgarian governments to relent in the imprisonment of Cardinal Mindszenty and the Bulgarian churchmen.

The Bolivian move evidently does not conflict with Cuba's intention of raising in the United Nations the entire group of trials in Hungary and Bulgaria against leading church dignitaries.

Further Tension Seen

UN officials and delegates are aware that raising the Mindszenty issue in the Assembly will produce further tension in the cold war. Soviet spokesmen at Lake Success in past weeks have violently denounced diplomats and governments expressing sympathy for the convicted cardinal.

U. S. sources indicate that the State department still is considering whether steps on behalf of the cardinal should be taken through diplomatic channels or in the UN.

The Assembly itself is expected to refer the case either to the political or social committee for preliminary discussion. The committee has the right to decide for itself whether outside witnesses should be granted a hearing.

But it is agreed generally at Lake Success that if Cardinal Spellman of New York on behalf of the Vatican requests the floor during committee discussions, he will be permitted to speak despite objections of the Soviet bloc.

Frank Godbey Found Guilty Of Slaying

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 17 (AP)—A district court jury today found Roy Frank Godbey guilty of the murder of Oklahoma City Attorney Earl Pruet and fixed his sentence at life imprisonment.

The state had asked death for the former convict.

The trial began Monday.

Godbey admitted the killing in Pruet's law office here Jan. 11. The defense based its case on insanity.

His attorneys sought to prove the 53-year-old Godbey shot the Oklahoma City lawyer after brooding over a conviction on an armed robbery charge at Waurika, Okla., 18 years ago. The defense contended that brooding caused him to become mentally unbalanced.

Pruet was the prosecuting attorney in the earlier trial. Godbey told arresting officers in El Paso, he killed the lawyer in revenge for his conviction and imprisonment.

Godbey was arrested a week after the shooting in a downtown skyscraper. He shot the lawyer, rode an elevator to the street floor, and then escaped in a downtown snowstorm.

Twice yesterday the defense unsuccessfully asked for a mistrial.

Second Youth Is Sentenced To Prison In Attack Case

DENTON, March 17 (AP)—Bobby G. Vinsonn 19, today pleaded guilty to a sex charge made by a college coed and was sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary.

Yesterday, Farrell Petty, 19, was convicted on a similar charge growing out of the same case and his punishment was set at four years.

They were accused of forcing an 18-year-old Texas State College for Women student into their car last December, driving her to the country and attacking her.

Both boys, who live in Fort Worth, were also indicted on charges of assault with intent to rape.

Nevada Legislature Passes Bill Legalizing Red Light Districts

CARSON CITY, Nev., March 17 (AP) — On the final day of the session, with major financial problems still unsolved, the Nevada legislature today passed a bill to legalize red light districts.

The surprise measure, introduced only yesterday, passed both houses on an emergency basis.

The action caught anti-prostitution forces flat-footed.

It apparently was the legislature's answer to a Supreme court decision last week classifying houses of prostitution as public nuisances.

Dr. Byron Caples, state director of veneral disease control and leader of a nine-month fight to outlaw prostitution, had hailed the high court ruling as meaning "the end of commercialized prostitution in Nevada."

Today he telegraphed Gov. Vail Pittman urging a veto.

The legislature's action exempts houses of prostitution from the public nuisance law if they have been licensed by local communities. This provides local option on the matter.

GI RELEASED IN BERLIN

U. S. Soldier Held By Soviets Says He Was Offered Job As Spy

BERLIN, March 17 (INS)—An American soldier held captive for four days by the Russians said today that the Soviets tried to enlist him as a spy.

Col. Thomas F. Lancer, U. S. provost marshal in Berlin, said that the offer reported by Pvt. Fred Jacobson, of Birmingham, Ala., is merely the latest of Russian attempts to solicit spies among both American soldiers and civilians.

Jacobson, attached to the photo section of the Signal corps, was picked up Sunday by the Russians at a cafe in the Soviet occupation sector near Spandau while visiting with a German girl friend.

He said he was held at various headquarters and subjected to frequent questioning but otherwise treated well. He said the Russians several times proposed that he supply information to them starting after he was released early today.

Col. Lancer said the Russians now are treating Americans well when they pick them up, in contrast to previous rough handling, and offering payment for information in currency.

A report that the Russians threatened to harm Jacobson's family in America was termed "absolute fabrication" by Col. Lancer, who added:

"Jacobson was well treated and the Soviets obviously attempted to win him over, not to bully him."

Lancer said that three other American soldiers, Privates Leonard G. Zembruske and E. J. Cartlidge of Detroit, and Kenneth Whipple, of Tonawanda, N. Y., were picked up by the Russians Saturday and released after five hours of questioning. These soldiers are part of the airlift personnel.

Lancer said three civilians also were picked up Friday and questioned by the Russians.

SHIP IS NAMED FOR LAMESA HERO—A Texas infantryman, posthumously awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism in Italy, has been honored in the renaming of an Army transport as the Sgt. George D. Keathley. Mrs. Geneva Keathley of Lamesa, the widow of the heroic soldier, presented a photograph of him and a copy of the Medal of Honor citation to Capt. Robert Morgan, skipper of the ship. Left to right: Capt. Morgan; Mrs. W. F. Keathley, the sergeant's mother; Mrs. Geneva Keathley, and Major General J. A. Lester, port of San Francisco commander.

Solon Hits Action On Aide In Virginia Court

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP) Conviction of his secretary for failing to file a Virginia income tax return was criticised today by a Texas congressman.

Mrs. Stella Merrill, secretary to Rep. Gossett (D-Tex), was convicted in Arlington, Va., Circuit court yesterday. She was fined $50 for failing to file a 1947 tax return. She lived in Arlington that year.

Gossett said in a statement:

Solon Scores Tactics

"The state of Virginia has fallen a long way since the days of her competence and prestige. She is now financially and spiritually impoverished.

"In fining my secretary, Arlington county officials seek to serve both their pocketbook and their ego. Texas would never treat a Virginian in such a manner.

"We gladly offer asylum to Virginians who seek better land and better neighbors.

"Even a Virginian who may travel or sojourn in Texas will not be abused."

Secretary Ignores Case

Mrs. Merrill, who now resides in Washington, told a reporter she is ignoring the case.

She was tried by a five-man jury. She was not present nor represented by an attorney. Court officials said this is permissible in Virginia misdemeanor cases.

Court officials said the fine probably will not be collected so long as Mrs. Merrill stays out of Virginia. At the time the case was brought against her, she contended she was a legal resident of Texas and, therefore, not subject to Virginia's income tax.

Mrs. Merrill said she pays taxes in Texas and "I have never considered myself anything but a Texan."

New Chemicals Being Used By Millers To Age White Flour

MINNEAPOLIS, March 17 (AP) — Most large flour mills are installing new machinery to aid the aging process of white bread flour.

A new chemical—chlorine dioxide—is used to age the flour. It replaces agene, used the past 25 years. Agene, a gas, occasionally gave cats and dogs running fits, although it apparently never harmed humans.

To be on the safe side, however, the millers and the federal food and drug administration agreed on the use of chlorine dioxide. This chemical, physiologists report, does not tend to make the human nervous, as may be the case with agene.

Burma hopes to have its first cotton spinning mill in operation by April.

80,000 Sons Of Ireland Take Part In Gala New York Parade

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—As bright a sun as ever bathed the green of old Ireland beamed down today on one of New York's biggest St. Patrick's day parades.

An estimated 1,750,000 persons lined Fifth avenue to watch the hours-long procession.

62 Battalions March

A cold south wind whipped up the avenue. But it only made the green pennants snap more briskly above the heads of the marchers.

There were 62 battalions in the parade, most of them formed by members of Irish-American societies.

Nearly every battalion had a band and they sent up wave after wave of noisy music as they moved up the avenue from 44th to 96th streets.

It took the vanguard of the parade slightly more than an hour to cover the route. Hours after the noon (CST) starting time, rear battalions still were moving along Fifth avenue.

Spellman Reviews Parade

Francis Cardinal Spellman, spiritual leader of the hundreds of thousands of New York area Irish-Catholics, reviewed the parade from the steps of St. Patrick's cathedral.

Further north at 65th street, Mayor William O'Dwyer, born and raised on the emerald isle, headed a list of notables in the official reviewing stand.

There were 2,800 uniformed policemen posted along Fifth avenue to keep the crowd in hand.

Officially, this year's parade was an Irish-Catholic protest against the recent imprisonment of Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary. Some marchers carried signs protesting his treatment.

THE NEW Plymouth-now on display

Now there's more difference than over in low-priced cars . . . and the great New Plymouth makes the difference!

New Beauty
There's beauty in every sweeping new low line of it—and throughout its brilliant new interior. And this beauty that's built on advanced engineering . . . to give you a great new automobile that handles easier, rides smoother, performs better—the greatest in a long line of great Plymouths!

New Vision
The greatly increased glass area is exactly where you need it—in the windshield and rear window. And the new design of the hood and the entire body gives the driver a clear, undistorted view of the road—in all directions—day or night—rain or shine! Blind spots are practically eliminated.

New Features
You just turn the ignition key and the engine starts! No buttons to push, no choke to pull. You save on oil and get longer engine life with new oil control piston rings and the brand-new chrome compression ring. These are just two of the great new features in the great New Plymouth.

New Comfort
Talk about room for comfort—the New Plymouth has it! Those famous chair-height seats are now even wider, and deeper from front to back. Long legs can stretch out and hats stay put. Diagonally mounted rear shock absorbers reduce sidesway. You drive for hours without fatigue.

The Beautiful New Plymouth Special De Luxe 4-Door Sedan with Longer 118" Wheelbase

New Safety
Safety has always been first with Plymouth—and this new car is safer than ever! It has a lower center of gravity. It hugs the road better. A completely new body construction makes it a sturdier automobile. Body and frame are 23% more rigid. You drive with a great new sense of security.

New Convenience
Because of less overhang, the New Plymouth is easy to park, easy to put in the garage. Fenders flow into the body but they're separate and detachable—and it doesn't cost a fortune to repair them! Windows lift and lower easier. Doors open wide—you get in and out of this car with ease!

New Performance
There's greater power in the New Plymouth engine. This comes from a newly designed cylinder head, a higher compression ratio and a new intake manifold. When you step on it, you'll instantly feel this new surge of power. Here's the best performer of all the great performing Plymouths!

Greatest New Value
The only way to discover all of the great new things in the great New Plymouth is to see it—to sit in it—to drive it. Do this and you'll be convinced that—feature for feature—dollar for dollar—here's the greatest value of all! Compare it to any car at any price. See it NOW!

Westerner Cindermen Leave

Eight-Man Squad In Eleven Events

Preliminaries in the high school division of the Southwestern Track and Field meet will begin at 1 o'clock today, and the Westerners have an eight-man squad entered in 11 events.

The track team left Thursday morning at 9. Accompanying the boys were Coaches Fred Brown and Pat Ferris, and manager Davis Hopper. On the squad are Charlie Williams, Malcom Young, Donald Decker, Danny Boone, Donnie Rawls, Eddie Goetze, Douglas Ross, and Alfred Adair.

The illness of Wayne Stroud and an injury to Williams' leg will be a limiting factor to the chances for Westerner victories in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, and 440-yard relay. Both boys have turned in good times in the two dashes and have bolstered the relay team. In practice Monday the relay team turned in a :45 performance with Danny Boone replacing Stroud. Williams, Boone, Decker, and Young will compose the relay team at Fort Worth.

Decker has been showing up well in the 220-yard low hurdles, and Goetze was not pushed Monday running the 880-yard run in 2:09 against a Tech freshman.

The events entered and persons in the events follow:

220-yard dash: Williams, Young and Boone.
440-yard relay: Williams, Boone, Decker, and Young.

1,622 ATHLETES GATHER FOR SOUTHWEST TOURNEY

FORT WORTH, March 17 (AP)—The greatest outpouring of athletes in the history of track and field in the Southwest starts battering at the records tomorrow in the twenty-sixth annual Southwestern Recreation meet.

More than 900 school boys swing into preliminaries that will take up the entire afternoon. Saturday morning the collegians hold their trials and Saturday afternoon five divisions run off finals.

There will be 1525 track contestants from 129 schools along with 137 from 27 schools in a golf meet. The total number of athletes is 1662 compared to 1557 last year when the record was set.

At least 20 records are likely to fall, including some of the oldest in the books—marks that date back as far as 1931.

Texas A. and M., the defending champion, and Texas are put down for another of their gripping duels for the university class title while North Texas State is expected to repeat in the college division. New champions are due in the other classes. The college freshmen won't run with the junior colleges this year and the 1948 winner—Texas A. and M.—will be picked to take the title of the college freshman division with Brownsville or San Antonio winning the top award in the junior college class. Corpus Christi is expected to dethrone Austin for the high school division crown.

There are 10 schools in the university class — Arkansas, Baylor, Hardin - Simmons, Oklahoma A. and M., Southern Methodist, Texas A. and M., Texas Christian, Texas Tech, Texas and Tulane. Seventeen schools will vie in the college division.

Competing in the college freshman class will be 12 schools—Baylor, East Texas State, Hardin-Simmons, McMurry, North Texas State, Oklahoma A. and M., Southern Methodist, Texas A. and M., Texas Christian, Texas Mines, Texas Tech and Texas.

The high school class draws 80 schools with 926 contestants.

Wholesale wrecking of records looms in the university class. John Rowland of Southern Methodist is due to smash the hurdle marks of 14.3 for the highs and 23.8 for the lows; J. D. Hampton of Texas A. and M. probably will wipe out the marks of 4:24.5 in the mile and 9:52.3 in the two-mile; the Texas or Texas A. and M. 440-yard relay teams each can better the record of 42.5; Ray Holbrook of Texas A. and M. appears certain to crack the 440-yard record of 48.8; Charley Parker, Texas speedster, should lower the 220-yard dash record of 21.0; Hal Tarrant of Oklahoma A. and M. appears ready to lower the 880-yard record of 1:57.1; Bob Walters of Texas will be aiming at the pole vault mark of 13 feet; John Robertson of Texas might better the broad jump record of 24 feet 5½ inches; George Kadera of Texas A. and M. could break his own mark of 160 feet 7 inches in the discus throw, and Texas A. and M. ought to easily take care of the mile relay record of 3:21.3.

BRADLEY FALLS BY WAYSIDE, 55-50

San Francisco, Loyola Advance To Finals In NIT Court Meet

NEW YORK, March 17 (INS)—San Francisco and Loyola of Chicago — two top notch "control" teams—fought their way into the National Invitation tournament finals tonight.

San Francisco crushed favored Bowling Green, 49 to 39, after Loyola romped from 11 points behind to whip Bradley, 55 to 50.

It was the gallant Frisco, first west coast team to appear in the Invitation, that completely captivated the fancy of 18,301 Madison Square Garden fans.

The Dons were a truly magnificent ball club. They outplayed and outfought the huge Falcons every inch of the way, taking the lead early and never losing it.

Most important factor of all was Don Lofgran, a string-bean forward, who made first 6'6" Mac Otten and then 6'11" Charley Share look like a pair of dubs.

It was Lofgran who carried the load the last 15 minutes after Rene Herrerias, the midget play-making guard, had fouled out.

Lofgran scored 24 points and battled the tall Falcons to a standstill under both baskets. And if they carried him off the floor at the end, it was as much because he was exhausted as because he was the greatest thing this tournament has seen all week.

Taking the lead at 4-3, by half time Frisco had stretched it to 31-22, ominously the same midway figure that Bradley had and lost in the first game.

This time, Bowling Green came creeping back to within three points at 36-33 with 11 minutes to play. A pair of foul shots by Frank Kuzara, the hero of the Dons' quarter-final victory over Utah, opened it up to 38-33.

Then three straight baskets by Lofgran virtually clinched the game.

Loyola, the only favorite to win since the quarter finals saw four straight upsets, had to take charge in the second half to gain its triumph.

The Ramblers, who trailed 31-20 at one point and 31-22 at half time, finally shook loose their big center, Jack Kerris, after the intermission.

Lubbock Holds Drill In Fielding, Batting

Fielding and batting drills were the main points of the Westerner baseball drill Thursday, and after practice the team was shown a short newsreel, "Keystone Combinations," featuring some of the top big-league infield stars.

A cool north wind took some of the fire out of the practice, but extensive infield practice was held. Tomorrow the boys have a holiday, and workouts will continue Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

In an effort to get a stronger throwing arm behind the plate, Coach Fred Taylor had Morris Turner working as catcher yesterday. Turner has been playing a third base-pitcher role for the Westerners, and Coach Taylor hopes he can work into the backstop position.

Next week the high school nine will play practice games with Boys Club and a team from Texas Tech; one with Slaton will be worked in if contacts can be made with that squad. Taylor has been trying to get games with teams in the area, but so far he has met with little success. He hopes to get two games with Hobbs, New Mexico.

Arrangements for three games with Altus, Oklahoma, have been made, and the Westerners will play there Friday night, April 15, and the afternoon and night of April 16. A schedule that calls for good pitching, and Taylor hopes to be able to produce such pitching by then.

Raiders Head For Fort Worth Event

Coach Maxey McKnight and 16 trackmen from Texas Tech — 11 varsity cindermen and five freshmen—were scheduled to leave this morning by bus for Fort Worth and the Twenty-Sixth Annual Southwestern Recreation Track and Field Meet in Fort Worth.

The Raiders, untried so far in track competition, will attempt to better their fourth place finish last year. The Raiders wound up with 10½ points, trailing Texas A. & M., Texas and Oklahoma A. & M. across the finish line. Arkansas was behind Tech.

All those unversities will be back again this week; and all with stronger teams. Texas apparently has more strength than last year, as the Longhorns demonstrated in winning the Border Olympics. The Aggies, who won last year's Forth Worth meet, either do not have as strong a team this year, or else Texas has improved immensely, for the Steers upset the Aggies at the Border Olympics.

For that matter, Texas Tech may have a stronger squad than it has had in the past. Coach McKnight frankly doesn't know what his men can do under competition, for they have had none this spring. But all of the runners are experienced.

The spotty weather hasn't made track training successful and not one of the runners has had a good race against time. That is shown clearly by the 10.1 mark in the 100-yard dash and the 22.5 in the 220 - yard dash. Neither time should come close to winning at Fort Worth and whether the Raider runners can do better is somewhat of a question.

Coach McKnight, convinced that the squad needs a lot of seasoning, hopes that the men he is taking to Fort Worth will come back more advanced than when they left. Comprising the squad will be Moon Mullins, Seth Murphey and Charley Reynolds, 100 and 220 yar ddashes; Coston Bufkin and Joe and Ed Wilson, quarter mile and, with Reynolds, the mile relay team; Edgar Hawkins, mile run; Ed Clepper and Charlie Pinnell, hurdles and high jump; Harold Barber, half-mile; and Jim Elliott, javelin.

Freshmen making the trip will be Norman McNeil, Charlie Ritchie and John Shinn, all of whom will run the 440 and, with Earl Hutcherson, will form the mile relay team; and Albert Stanford, high hurdles.

SAM HOUSTON, TCU TO MEET

HUNTSVILLE, March 17. (AP)—Sam Houston State and Texas Christian open a two-game baseball series here tomorrow night.

Fights Slated At Boys Club

The second fight night of the season will be unreeled at Boys Club beginning at 7:30 tonight with nine bouts on the card.

Last week 10 bouts were fought, and the fans really enjoyed them. Indications are that the matches will be as good or better tonight, and Coach Glen White has put in another hard week training the boys for the fights.

A highlight of the night's activities will be the presentation of basketball letters to members of the four Boys Club teams the past season. Forty boys will receive the "L" for their services, 10 from each of the teams.

Open To Public

The bouts are open to the public and will be fought at the club at 2323 Avenue K. Special guests will be members of the Exchange club, and members will serve as judges, timekeepers, and announcers. Judges will be Dr. Jim Reynolds, Horace Humphries, and Wynn Buck. Marvin McLarty will serve as announcer, and timekeepers are Bill Bartlett and Charles Cathey. O. J. "Bo" Sexton will be the third man in the ring.

One of the matches will be strictly a family affair when Carl Noland, 132, meets his brother Wayne, 140. James Williams, 99, will spot Joe Williams, 112, 13 pounds in their fight, but the going will not be easy for the heavier boy. Last week James was outweighed 25 pounds and punched out a unanimous decision. The Williams boys are not brothers.

A return match between Ray Thornton, 114, and Jack Godfrey, 118, will be on the card. Last week Thornton won a split 2-1 decision, and the fight tonight should clarify the picture.

Other matches are Donald Gaither, 89, vs. Clinton Hicks, 91; Gene Calvert, 67, vs. Robert Warren, 74; Fritz Stanley, 115, vs. Buddy Neal, 110; Jimmy Godfrey, 77, vs. Tinker Carlen, 83; James Pritchard, 78, vs. Darrell Odorizzi, 79; and Bobby Fowler, 67, vs. Lloyd Owens, 64.

White Sox Drop Cleveland, 15-4

TUCSON, Ariz., March 17. (AP)—The so-called lowly Chicago White Sox tipped Randolph Park over on the world champion Cleveland Indians to the tune of 15 runs, 16 hits, and 13 bases on balls today. The score was 15 to 4.

CINCINNATI REDS DROP CHAMPION BRAVES, 9-4

BRADENTON, Fla., March 17. (AP)—With considerable help from Boston Braves pitchers the Cincinnati Reds trounced the National league champions 9-4 today.

Pirates Picked For Third Spot

Dodgers National League Favorites

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 17 — Yearly about this time we advance to the semi-finals of our selections concerning the probable order of finish of the major league races.

They are based on a careful perusal of news from the training camps, combined with our sketchy knowledge of the abilities of the players and a few jiggers of pure guessing. The concoction knocks us a little silly, which may account for some of the choices.

Anyway, here they are, subject to change before the finals around April 17:

National league—Brooklyn, Boston, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Cincinnati.

American league — Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Washington, Chicago.

The Dodgers at this writing appear to have everything, including the exuberance of youth and platoons of reserves.

The Braves won last year, but some of the guys are just a year older at an age when an added year doesn't help. They will be a threat, though, particularly if Pete Reiser can regain his old form.

The Pirates, with Ralph Kiner and some fine pitching, should be better than they were last year, and that was good enough for fourth place. They would take it all.

Eddie Dyer of the Cardinals is one of the finest gentlemen we ever met, but we are afraid he has to count too much on aging brittle ball players.

It looks like the same old dance and patter for the Giants—oodles of power and not one cent for defense. The pitching still is the woeful part of the club, and guys like Johnny Mize and Walker Cooper just can't go on forever.

The Phils steadily seem to be improving, but they were 25½ games out of first place at the close of last season.

The Red Sox tied for the American league flag last year despite a dismal start and ragged pitching all season. If they could do that under the circumstances, you just have to figure them as better this year.

The Indians are, on paper, stronger also, but they had better pitching than Boston last year, and still were forced into a playoff.

We think Detroit's pitching will be better, so are shoving them into the third slot ahead of the Yankees, who are counting too much on the health of erstwhile cripples, particularly Joe DiMaggio.

Connie Mack's Athletics would do well if he had one consistent long-ball hitter.

As for the Browns, Senators and White Sox, they are just the Browns, Senators and White Sox, the poor relations who will scramble for the last three places.

Bob Rooker Named To All-Star Eleven In North-South Tilt

End Bob Rooker of the Western football team has been selected to appear on the all-star team in the fifteenth annual North and South game August 5, Coach Pat Pattison announced Thursday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rooker, 2611 Thirty-first

Only senior players are selected to play in the game, and 48 players are picked from the districts of the Interscholastic league by a selection committee, headed this year by Paul Snow of North Side High school, Fort Worth. Twenty-four players are on each of the two teams.

The game is the highlight of the annual coaching school in Texas, which will be held in Beaumont this year, and top college coaches in the country appear at the school and coach the teams. Last year Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech piloted the northern team to a 4-0 victory over the team coached by Matty Bell of Southern Methodist university.

In high school Rooker lettered at end in football and was selected on the all-district second team and was given all-state honorable mention. He lettered twice in basketball, being a member of the team this year that placed third in the state, and has two baseball letters.

Talbert, Gonzales Pace Indoor Tourney

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Defending champion Billy Talbert and the man most likely to succeed him, Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, breezed through the opening round of the National Indoor Tennis tournament today with a mininum of exertion.

There wasn't a break in the seeded ranks as the 46th annual board court tourney got under way.

Nearest thing to an upset came when Frank Bowden of Madison, N. J., a three-time finalist in prewar years, took a marathon first set from seventh-seeded Fred Kovaleski, William and Mary college star, from Detroit, 16-14.

But the youth and stamina of his opponent and a blister that developed on his foot proved too much for Bowden. Kovaleski pulled out the next two sets, 6-4, 6-1.

Ed McGrath of Brooklyn, the eastern indoor champion and eithth-seeded player, also had his hands full in turning back Andy Paton, University of Michigan ace, 6-4, 6-4.

Gonzales, the 20-year-old Los Angeles youngster, humbled big Ed De Graz of New York, 6-0, 6-2.

Talbert, seeded second behind Gonzales and ranked fourth in the country, eliminated a fellow New Yorker, Bradley Drowne, 6-1, 6-3.

Bell Calls Off SMU Spring Grid Drills

DALLAS, March 17. (AP)—Eyebrows were raised at Southern Methodist university today when the coaches called off spring football practice.

Spring training ended as of yesterday—a day short of the regular month allowed under Southwest Conference rules.

The surprise was that Coach Matty Bell would miss a day of football. "They must be slowing down," said one old-timer of the coaching staff.

O'Donnell Is First In Meet

O'DONNELL, March 17 (Special) — In a five school track meet here today, O'Donnell won first place with 57 points and Seagraves came in second with 52 points. Other schools were Post, Slaton, and Tahoka.

Individual honors were won by Buddy Brock of O'Donnell with 17 and three-fourths points. Maurice Fluitt of Post was second with 15 and one-half, and Joe Palmer of O'Donnell placed third with 13 and three-fourth points.

First place in three events was won by Brock. He ran the 120-yard high hurdles in :16.2, the 200-yard low hurdles in :26.1, and threw the discus 108 feet, 2 inches. Stafford, Jackson, and Bennett of Seagraves placed second respectively in each of these events.

Fluitt won the 100-yard dash in :10.3 with Palmer second, the broadjump at 17 feet, 6 and one-half inches, and the shot-put with a heave of 36 feet, 6 inches. Hearne was second in broad jump, and Jackson was second in the shot-put. Both are from Seagraves.

In the 440-yard dash, Roundtree of Seagraves finished first in :55.5 with Bill Layne of O'Donnell second.

Palmer won the 220-yard dash in :23.3. Hearne was second.

O'Donnell took the 440-yard relay in a time of :47, with Seagraves, Post and Slaton finishing in that order.

Crotwell of Tahoka ran the 880-yard run in 2:14.8 to finish ahead of Lampp of Seagraves.

The mile run was won by Jimmy Melton, O'Donnell, in 5:20, with Hill of Tahoka finishing second, and O'Donnell also won the mile relay with a 3:58 performance with, you guessed it, Seagraves finishing second.

Jackson vaulted 9 feet, 8 inches, to take the event, and Palmer placed second. Tahoka's Carter high jumped 6 feet for the winning leap. Jones finished second for O'Donnell.

Oklahoma Aggies Favored To Capture Western NCAA Playoff

Oregon State Five Is Strong Threat

KANSAS CITY, March 17 (AP) — Henry (Hank) Iba doesn't like it, but just the same his Oklahoma A. and M. Aggies occupy one of basketball's hot seats.

Rival coaches agree that the Aggies, rated second nationally, are most likely to win the western play-off of the National Collegiate Athletic Association here tomorrow and Saturday.

To win the right to represent the west in the N.C.A.A. finals at Seattle, Wash., next week, the Aggies have to beat a field that also includes Oregon State, Wyoming and Arkansas.

The eastern section opens play Monday at Madison Square Garden, New York. Kentucky, NCAA defending champion, meets Villanova with Yale facing Illinois in the second game.

Amory (Slats) Gill, coach of the Pacific Coast champion Oregon State Beavers, and Everett Shelton of Wyoming, sat in while the Oklahomans won the fifth district play-off 52-35 over Nebraska Wednesday night.

Coach Gene Lambert of Arkansas, which shared the Southwest Conference crown with Rice and Baylor, had an assistant charting the Aggie play. The Razorbacks qualified for the western meet in a play-off at Dallas.

The Aggies will meet Wyoming's Cowboys, champions of the Rocky Mountains and national titlist in 1948, in the first game starting at 8 p.m. (CST). Oregon State and Arkansas meet at 9:30.

Oregon State, Pacific Coast champion with a 11-9 season, appears as another strong threat.

Arkansas, which did everything wrong early in the season, finished with the fury of a tropical hurricane to win a piece of the Southwest crown. The Razorbacks won 12, lost 10, with Bob Ambler, who averaged 19.5 points leading the late surge.

Each of the teams got a workout in municipal auditorium today.

—PHOENIX, Ariz., March 17. (AP) —The New York Giants rallied for three runs in the last of the ninth inning today to whip the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 5.

HOPEFULS WORKING ON OFFENSE

Brawner And May Among Better Red Raider Gridiron Prospects

Two football players are very much in the limelight at Texas Tech this spring, even though they are not taking any part in the rough scrimmage sessions.

Judson Brawner of Alabama, former all-state back, and Ralph May of Sudan, a Class A star, are receiving a good deal of attention from Coach Dell Morgan and his staff. The embryo Red Raider backs both are under scrutiny following knee operations.

Brawner, a good looking, stocky halfback, is one of the better prospects at the Raider institution and coaches are taking no chance with him. He injured a knee in a freshman game last fall and spent the remainder of the season limping.

The Alabama boy is eager to make good next fall and the coaches are willing to give him every chance. As a result, he trots around the football practice field, treating his knee gingerly, but trying to strengthen it. He thinks that next fall will find it fully mended and ready to carry him for a full season.

May is in the same boat. He ripped up a knee in a game last fall and hasn't been the same. Like Brawner, May went under the knife this winter in an effort to correct the damage done when the joint twisted.

The big fullback from Sudan is one of Tech's brighter prospects to replace Earl Jackson, Bud Conley and J. W. Thompson when they slow up. He originally enrolled at Hardin-Simmons, but didn't like it there and transferred here. He's entirely satisfied with Tech and as eager as Brawner to make good.

When both boys are back in the kind of condition that will make it possible for them to run at full speed, as well as twist, turn and pivot, they will be given every opportunity to make the varsity. With the spirit they're showing, they may be hard to keep off—which doesn't make the coaches unhappy.

Meanwhile Tech's big varsity squad continues to go through daily spring practice drills, now in the second week. The backs are spending most of the time passing at one end of the field under the scrutiny of Coaches Tipp Mooney and Bobby Layne. They are working on offensive plays that next fall will be the backbone of the Raider attack.

At the other end of the field, Coaches Morgan and G. B. Morris are trying to whip the linemen into shape. The high-spirited group is going through daily scrimmage, while the coaches pick out mistakes and correct them. From this transfers and freshmen are getting valuable lessons in what they are supposed to do and in what is expected of them.

So far spring training has been a complete success.

Indians Sign Up Last Of Holdouts

TUCSON, Ariz., March 17 (INS) —Holdout problems of the world champion Cleveland Indians came to an end today with the signing of catcher Hank Ruszkowski.

Manager Lou Boudreau, happy as a kid on Christmas morning, declared:

"That fixes up our roster.

"We're all set now. The team this year already is at least five days ahead of any other team I have managed."

So far in training games the Tribe has won three and lost one.

In the tilt with the Chicago White Sox Wednesday Boudreau used his poney infield of Al Rosen, 3b; Artie Wilson, ss; Bob Wilson, 2b; and Herman Reich at first.

Another wheel in the making is Orestes Minoso, who has six hits in eight trips to the plate in exhibition games and looks like a comer in the hot corner.

Boudreau said that his infield for the coming flag fight is pretty well set with Mickie Vernon at first base.

Vernon was acquired last winter in Bill Veeck's deal with the Senators.

"Vernon is an established first baseman," Boudreau said, "and should have a good season with us. He is really coming along."

The rest of the infield will be the same as last year. Joe Gordon, the RBI expert and homerun hitter at second; Boudreau, who finished second in hitting only to Ted Williams, at short; and Kenny Keltner, who bashed 31 home runs last year and had a great year in the field, at third.

WHAT ABOUT SPRING TRAINING—That might be the question Coach C. R. "Pat" Pattison, left, of Lubbock High school, is asking J. Rodney Kidd, director of the Texas Interscholastic League. Kidd stopped in Lubbock this week on a swing of the state, during which time he conferred with athletic directors on plans for approaching regional track and field meets. He did not comment on spring football or the City Conference's affect on Texas schoolboy athletics. (Staff Photo.)

Kielty And Zaharias Spark Golf Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 17 (INS) —Dot Kielty of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Mildred Babe Zaharias of Denver shot 73's today to take the lead in the opening round of the 10th annual Titleholders Golf tournament in Augusta.

One stroke behind the two leaders was Marjorie Lindsay, a Decatur, Ill. amateur.

Defending champion Patty Berg of Minneapolis was deadlocked with Eileen Stulb and Helen Siegel on the 77 level.

Among the other leaders were Peggy Kirk, of Findlay, Ohio, with a 76, and Claire Doran of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mary Agnes Wall, Menominee, Mich., with 78's.

Vernon Washington Farmed Out To Gladewater's Club

DALLAS, March 17. (U.P.)—Vernon (George) Washington, veteran minor league hitting star bought by the Dallas Texas league club late last season, will get his wish to play near his home and the fishing holes.

Washington, who led the Big State league in batting last season, has been farmed out to Gladewater of the East Texas league, Dallas business manager Bobby Goff said, on Washington's request.

The venerable outfielder did not report for the Eagles' spring training at New Braunfels.

Mackmen Good On Defense, But Still Can't Hit

Connie Mack Optimistic About Athletics' '49 Pennant Chances

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 17 (AP) — At the age of 86 when most men are wheel chair cases, Connie Mack sits in the Philadelphia Athletics' dugout and talks about one more pennant.

If an Irishman can't be optimistic on St. Patrick's day then life isn't worth living. Mr. Mack is both Irish and optimistic starting his 49th season as manager of the A's.

"At first I thought Cleveland had it clinched but I think we have a chance along with New York and Boston. Cleveland has to win again to prove that it's a good team.

"Our club is about the same. Good defense but we don't hit. Our pitching is fine. I never saw an infield that could throw as good as ours.

"The main change is reserves. Injuries hurt us last year when we surprised you fellows. Sam Chapman was out a month. Elmer Valo was out two different times. Then when Eddie Joost hurt his hand in August we were done for. Now we have Wally Moses and Taft Wright to fill in as outfield reserves and pinch hitters."

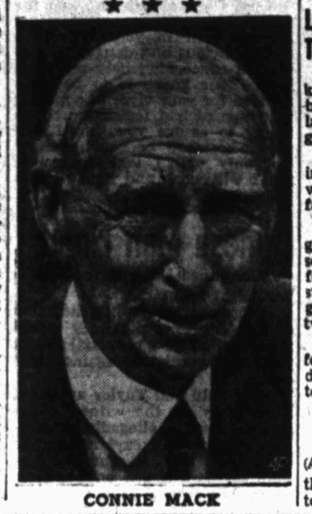

The A's were generally overlooked last spring. Many experts' faces were red when they climbed into the American league race and remained there until late August. On paper they didn't rate but they were there all the way until Joost was injured. They finished fourth.

Darkhorse of 1949 is a shopworn but suitable tag for the Mackmen. Mr. Mack said the other day he was going to let his son Earl take active charge of the field work of the A's while he would sit on the bench and score.

"I'm not going to open my mouth," he said. Nobody believed him, Earl least of all.

If the A's are standing pat on players they did add a new coach, Jimmy Dykes is back with his old boss again. He'll help Al Simmons on the lines.

Lubbock's Colored All-Stars Tangle With Dunbar Tonight

Lubbock's colored All-Star basketball team will meet the Dunbar Panthers Friday night in the last game of the season at Dunbar gym.

In the preliminary game, starting at 8 o'clock, the Dunbar girls will play a team composed of faculty members.

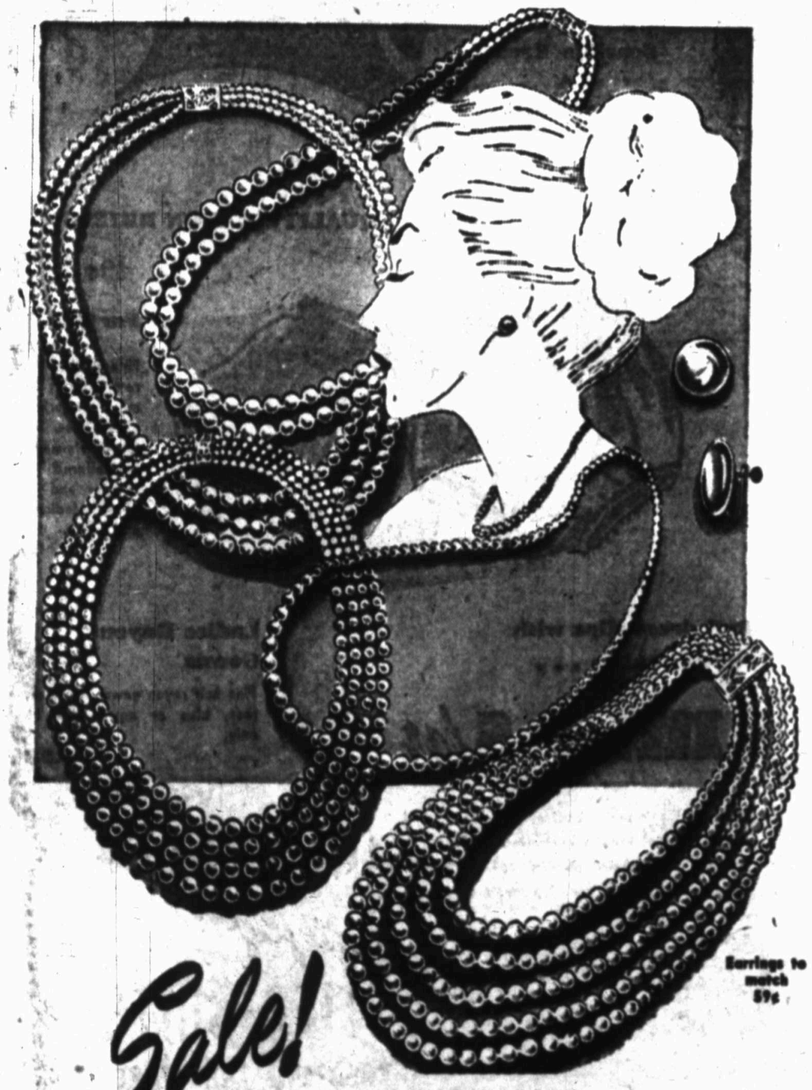

The All-Stars have won four games and lost two over the season, and Dunbar has won 10 of fourteen contests. Pre-game dopesters figure this to be the best game of the season between the two local teams.

Admission prices are 40 cents for adults and 20 cents for children. Whites are cordially invited to attend the game.

ty, chairman of the Lubbock School Improvement association, will preside.

The second general session will be held in the high school auditorium at 1:15 p. m. today, to be followed by section meetings from 3 to 5 p. m. Third general session, closing the convention, will convene at 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Among the featured speakers at the night session will be Dr. Henry H. Hill, president of George Peabody college of Nashville, Tenn.

Banquet Is Slated

A talk by Joe C. Humphrey, TSTA president, will be featured at an administrator's banquet scheduled for 5:30 p. m. today at the Hilton hotel, with Fred Miller, superintendent of Abernathy schools, in charge.

Classroom Teachers will have a luncheon at noon at the Lubbock hotel, with Miss Jewell York, state president of Texas Classroom Teachers association, making the principal address.

Miss York will be honored at a Classroom Teachers tea scheduled from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. today in the high school homemaking department living room.

Jackson Gives Report

WTTA this year has attained almost 100 per cent membership, Dr. Jackson told assembled delegates last night in his annual report. He commended I. T. Graves, superintendent of Floydada schools, for his work as membership chairman; Ishmael Hill, assistant superintendent of Lubbock public schools, for his coordination of the 24 section meetings to be held during this convention; and Floyd A. Honey, Lubbock High school principal, for his activities as house manager for the sessions.

The treasurer reported that the association has $1387.57 on hand, with expenses for this year's program paid.

Donald McDonald of Lubbock, in a teacher welfare committee report, recommended that the group favor teacher participation in forming general school policy and that sick leave be provided.

Americanism Teaching Urged

The committee on improving educational services recommended that the group favor teaching Americanism, emphasis on teacher recruitment, educational program evaluation, and greater use of available health and safety services.

R. E. Garlin presented the resolutions committee report, approving basic principals of the Gilmer-Aikin bill, supporting federal aid to education without federal control, urging passage of teacher tenure law based on indefinite tenure, favoring a retirement law increasing prior benefits, favoring adoption of multiple textbook laws for elementary schools, favoring efforts to get more elementary tearchers, urging expansion of audio-visual programs, and thanking various individuals and organizations cooperating with convention planners.

All committee recommendations were approved without debate.

State Delegates Chosen

Delegates chosen for the state convention were Ray Vetito, abernathy; Joe Hutchinson, Littlefield; Mrs. Opal Barrington, Ralls; R. A. Mills, Homer Milliken, Sam Leifeste, A. B. Ruse and Mrs. Daliah Terrell, all of Lubbock; Nathan Tubbs, Whiteface; Foster Cook, Spur; G. C. Clapp, Levelland; Vernon Brewer, Tahoka; Mrs. Groa P. Wood, Brownfield; G. R. Day, Post; Ray Culp, Lamesa; Dean Bennett, Big Spring; Jack Rodgers and W. T. Barrett, Odessa; Tom Hamilton, Andrews; Ted Edwards; Seminole; Miss Minnie Jackson and Mrs. T. B. Kingon, Midland; Mr. Baker, Floydada; Mr. Mason, Plainview; Mr. Owens, Muleshoe; Mr. Goolsby, Stanton.

Music for the second general session will be furnished by the Girls' chorus of Big Spring High school. Invocation will be given by Rev. Travis A. White, pastor of First Christian church.

Main speaker will be Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological college.

A. B. Reese, teacher in Lubbock Senior High school, will give the welcome. A response will be given by Joe C. Hutchinson, superintendent of Littlefield public schools, after which Murry H. Fly, president of Odessa Junior college and long-time superintendent of the Odessa public schools, will present briefs on N.E.A.

Dr. Hill Will Speak

Announcements will be made at the close of the session by Ishmael Hill, assistant superintendent of Lubbock public schools.

Section meetings are to be held in the high school and at nearby Asbury Methodist church.

Dr. Henry C. Hill, president of George Peabody college, Nashville, Tenn., will discuss "Artists in the Classroom" when he delivers the main address at the third general session.

Lamesa High school A Cappella choir, directed by Joe Landreth, will provide music. W. A. Miller, vice-president of WTTA, will preside. Rev. E. H. Crandall, associate pastor of the Lubbock First Methodist church, will offer the invocation.

TSTA President Humphrey will bring greetings to delegates and Graves will present a statement on membership at this time. Introduction of new officers will conclude the convention.

Local Groups Oppose Beer, Pool Hall Bill

Telegrams were dispatched to Austin by local groups and churches this week asking Senator Kilmer B. Corbin of Lamesa and Rep. Preston E. Smith or Lubbock to oppose House Bill No. 16 pertaining to the sale of beer and legalizing pool halls.

Mrs. C. M. Kaigler, president of the local chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance union, was a leader in the movement.

Mrs. Kaigler said Thursday she had received the following reply from Senator Corbin:

"I am indeed happy to have your telegram in opposition to House Bill 16. I agree with you and the membership of your organization 100 per cent in your opposition to this vicious and dangerous legislation concerning beer and pool halls. Your group is to be commended for your vigor in opposing this type of bad legislation. I am happy to assure you that I will oppose passage of this measure. Not only will I vote against it but I will work and fight against its passage."

Lamesa Man Fined

verdict at 9:45 p.m.

Defense attorney's had indicated earlier Thursday that they would file a motion for a new trial should the jury's verdict be against their client.

Both Culp and Taylor appeared Wednesday on the witness stand and Culp, who allegedly was severely beaten by Taylor after the school principal had whipped Taylor's 15-year-old son with a piece of rubber tubing as a matter of school discipline, was called back to the stand today.

In Wednesday's testimony, Culp said that difficulty arose after he struck Denver Taylor, the defendant's son, five times with the tubing to punish the boy for running through the hall of the school.

Was Called To Porch

On the night of Feb. 18, the date of Culp's alleged beating at the hands of Taylor, Culp said that Taylor and Taylor's brother-in-law, Jack Allredge, named in a companion case, came to his home and called him to the porch, where Taylor beat him while Allredge held Mrs. Culp.

Culp said he suffered several broken ribs, a cut over one eye and multiple bruises in the beating. Dr. Sam Frazier, another state witness, was called to corroborate the testimony regarding Culp's injuries.

Taylor said Wednesday afternoon from the stand that Mr. and Mrs. Culp attacked him the night of Feb. 18 when he went to their house. He said he was pulled into the house by Culp where Mr. and Mrs. Culp went after him "like two tigers." He said Mrs. Culp struck him near the left ear with what he "thought was a flat iron," causing serious damage to his hearing. He also alleged other injuries in the incident.

Hearing Was Damaged

Earlier today, the defense introducel Dr. J. C. Loveless, Lamesa physician, who testified that Taylor's hearing had been damaged by an injury, allegedly that suffered during the Feb. 18 altercation.

Two character witnesses, Carl Marshall and J. J. Kemper, both of Lamesa, also were called today by the defense.

G. B. Wadzeck, Lamesa school superintendent called to the stand by the state, testified that Denver Taylor, son of the defendant, told him on Feb. 21, three days after he was disciplined by Culp, that he (young Taylor) bore no evidence of the whipping on his body.

The instrument allegedly used by Culp to whip the boy, a piece of small black rubber tubing several feet long, was introduced by the state. Wadzeck, in answer to questions by the defense, said that in 16 years as a teacher and school official he had seen "paddles, leather straps and rubber hose" used for whipping students, and added that he had never seen "anything this small used," referring to the tubing said to have been used by Culp.

Sheriff Is Called

He said that he understood that the use of large rubber hose than the instrument had been an approved method of punishment in Lamesa schools for about 25 years.

Roy King, Dawson county sheriff, was called to the stand by the state, and his testimony was heard after Judge Herndon overruled an objection by the defense.

Garland Trice, Lamesa elementary school principal, was called to the stand by the state and corroborated Wadzeck's testimony regarding the Feb. 21 conversation with Denver Taylor.

Dr. L. E. Standifer, Lamesa physician called to the stand by the defense, said Taylor came to him for treatment Feb. 21, and told him that he was troubled by his hearing, and that he had headaches and pain in his left shin. Standifer said x-rays showed Taylor's left ear and ear drum to be "perfectly normal."

Culp Returned To Stand

Culp prior to Standifer's testimony had been returned to the stand, where he testified that he weighed about 140 to 146 pounds and stood 6 feet tall in shoes.

Earlier in the trial, the defendant, Taylor, had given his own weight as about 180 to 185 pounds, and his height as five feet 11 inches.

After Standifer's testimony, Culp was returned to the stand once more, and the pajamas he allegedly was wearing the night of the incident with the elder Taylor were admitted as evidence, despite objections. The pajamas were blood-stained and torn.

Later, Denver Taylor's school record was introduced by the state, after defense objections had been overruled by Judge Herndon.

The last three motions for mistrial were made in rapid fire order. The first was based, the defense said, on the grounds that County Attorney Vernon Adcock kept asking, and immediately withdrawing, inadmissible questions. The last two motions for mistrial were based on what the defense said was Adcock's making adverse statements as to the rights of the defense. They were made immediately before today's noon recess.

"I feel that I am qualified for the position," Terrell said in his announcement, "having taught schools in this area for seven years.

"I am in favor of acquiring more facilities and other improvements for the Lubbock public schools. I feel we need more stress on vocational work—teaching a practical approach to life in order that students may better earn a living.

"I feel teachers need more money for preparation for their tasks and for their labor."

Former Lamesa Resident

Terrell said he served as principal with schools at New Home, and Gordon communities, and as superintendent at Grassland. He also served as a grade school principal at New Deal two years. His father was a teacher for 29 years, he stated.

Sharp is the father of two children, James C., jr., three, and Susan Annette, 2. He has been a resident of Lubbock the past four years. Prior to that time he served four years in the Navy and was a resident of Lamesa for 17 years. He is a graduate of Lamesa High school and attended Draughon's Business college in San Antonio one year.

"Since there is considerable construction underway in the Lubbock Public school system, I feel that men acquainted with construction problems should be represented on the board," Sharp said in his announcement. At present he is a foreman with Lowrey Electric Co.

Tatum has served the past three years as chairman of the board, during a period when some of the most extensive building in the history of the school system got underway or was completed.

Martin moved to Lubbock in 1943. Mr. and Mrs. Martin reside at 1718 Thirty-third. They have two daughters, who attend high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones live east of the city. They have three children in school. Jones moved to this area in 1917.

Warmer Weather

Cold Moves South

Colder weather was in prospect in northwest and east central Texas and in West Texas outside the Panhandle-Plains. A minimum in the middle 30's was forecast for the Dallas-Fort Worth area early today.

Amarillo, which had a Thursday minimum of 26 degrees, expected a low of 31 this morning.

Dallas had a maximum of 66 degrees and Fort Worth of 65. Readings at both points dropped off to 46 at 6:30 p. m. At the same hour Tyler's reading was 49, down from a maximum of 68.

Further south there was less change.

Maximum temperatures for the day included Abilene 61, Austin 76, Big Spring 70, Brownsville 83, El Paso 72, Houston 79, San Antonio 75, Waco 74, Beaumont 78, Corpus Christi 71, Fort Worth 65, Lufkin 76, Del Rio 84, Galveston 75, Wichita Falls 50, Childress 50, Texarkana 67, Clarendon 50, Midland 72.

New Charges Filed

persons, Ferion Dwain McCreary, 20, of Slaton Highway, and J. B. Jackson, 19, of Myrtle drive, had broken into Dep. Sheriff McCutcheon's Cosden service station at Meadow the night of March 9 and taken a $70 .22 pistol. They went on to Brownfield and burglarized the International Harvester agency, they said, cutting into a safe with an oxy-acetylene torch.

Charges had been filed late yesterday in Brownfield against Morgan and Davis in connection with the Meadow and Brownfield burglaries, Terry County Sheriff Ocie Murray said last night.

McCreary admitted in a statement to Horton late Thursday that he had participated in the two burglaries, and Jackson indicated he would make a similar statement today, Horton said last night.

The four already are under charge of burglary in the March 10 breaking and entering of Haskin's store at Wolfforth, and admissions of some of them place the four, or some of them, in the recent burglary of a Big Spring liquor store and the Black grocery store in Lubbock, as well as theft of a car at Big Spring and one at Amarillo.

Horton had recovered McCutcheon's pistol here Wednesday, and restored it to its owner Thursday.

The suspects denied responsibility for any of seven burglaries reported Saturday night in Morton, Cochran county. Approximately $1,000 in money was taken in those burglaries.

A battered safe discovered Thursday afternoon south of Buffalo lakes has been identified as that taken in a Feb. 24 burglary of Hilton Supply company on East Broadway, the sheriff's department said.

The safe, found along with a quantity of tools which apparently had been used to open it, was empty when discovered.

On the night of the supply company burglary, the place was entered after a hasp had been pried off a door. The safe, containing approximately $68 in currency, had been rolled outside and loaded in a vehicle to be carried away.

Liquor Suspect Posts Bond

Samuel DeVon Ray Calloway, 32, Silverton man, posted $5,000 bond Thursday on a charge of receiving and concealing 14 cases of whisky valued at $766, the sheriff's office announced. He also posted $600 bond on a liquor law violation charge.

Calloway was returned here Wednesday from Dallas, where he had been arrested by the Dallas county sheriff's office. The whisky referred to in the receiving and concealing complaint was taken by force from two men here last Friday, the state charges. Three men are charged with robbery with firearms in connection with the case.

A charge of forgery was filed by A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney, this morning against John Henry Bigbie, jr., in the court of C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, and the sheriff's department subsequently announced that the defendant is in custody at Odessa.

The charge accused Bigbie of having passed a forged $47.50 check Sept. 11 to Dunlap's store here. The check was signed "Johnny R. Rand."

Arthur B. Watkins swore to the complaint. A car license number had been scribbled on the check by Watkins, officials said.

Thefts reported to the police department Thursday included: Mechanic tools valued at $100 from John Chuncey of 2522 Ave. H; a bike from Arthur Quiett of 616 Ave. E; and two chrome "flipper type" hub caps from the car of Buddy Van Beekum of 2223 Seventh.

mission and the Federal Bureau of Investigation declined comment on the Mexican incident, but it was learned that the two agencies, as well as the State department, are being kept informed of developments.

Mexico City reports suggested that discovery of the contraband uranium, described as a slug weighing 220 grams (approximately seven ounces) and about two and one-half inches long, may be connected with operations of a smuggling ring dealing in the source material for the atomic bomb.

However, the Atomic Energy commission said it knew of no such ring and emphasized that security measures now in force are believed to guarantee full protection against any such activities, as far as the United States is concerned have been granted boosts in "hardship" cases, those increases would be credited against the Oct. 1, 1949 and April 1, 1950 boosts—provided they were more than five per cent. June 30, 1947, would be used as a base date.

For example, if a tenant's rent has been upped 10 per cent since June 30, 1947, he would be liable only for one more five per cent boost.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) took violent exception to reports that the runaway, anti-Truman coalition which has gained control of the Senate dictated terms of the bill. Sparkman told newsmen that the rent increase formula was worked out by Sens. Douglas (D-Ill) and Flanders (R-Vt). He added:

"I make the prediction that the administration will be well pleased with what we have done."

Snags In Path

In the Senate the rent control bill will receive priority attention as soon as the rapidly-resolving gag rule fight is settled.

Meanwhile there were mounting signs that the Senate subcommittee's rent-increase plan, if approved, will run into trouble in conference with the House. One House Democrat influential in shaping the lower chambers' bill said of the Senate plan:

"It's a crazy amendment. It will never work or be adopted."

The House included in its bill a "fair return" provision directing the federal housing expediter in fixing rent ceilings to assure landlords a just income on the "reasonable value" of their property.

Taft, as Senate Republican policy chieftain, leads a consistently-faithful bloc of from 20 to 25 senators.

While favoring a six-months rent control extension without any general rent increase, Taft disputed claims that the House "fair return" formula is too complicated to work.

He pointed out that the return-on-investment yardstick is used in the case of public utilities.

Suspect Indicted In New Orleans Killing

NEW ORLEANS, March 17 (AP) Burly Louis Eugene Hoover was indicted tonight in the French Quarter slaying of Virginia millionaire James Mahoney.

The 25-year-old former Louisville, Ky., parking lot attendant was not in court when the Orleans parich (county) grand jury returned a true bill.

The grand jury questioned 27 of 32 summoned witnesses in a six hour session. Four witnesses were dismissed and one could not be located.

Hoover was arrested Feb. 28, six days after Mahoney's body, the head battered and the neck broken, was found sprawled nude across his French Quarter hotel bed.

Hoover had just left the Veterans Administration hospital where he had gone for treatment as a mental patient.

Acting Police Supt. Joseph Scherering said Hoover at first told officers he could remember nothing of the night of Feb. 21 when Mahoney was slain. Later Scherering said, the man said he recalled having dinner with Mahoney but could recall nothing else.

Eben Ayers, assistant presidential press secretary; Rear Admiral Robert L. Dennison, naval aide and James J. Rowley, chief of the White House Secret Service detail, censored out only a fraction of the air shots taken from the photographers Monday.

Ayers said the footage objected to showed enough of surrounding territory to pinpoint the location of the winter White House.

The White House asked the news reel and television news reel companies concerned to make available clips for still shots to the Associated Press, Acme News Pictures and International News Photos.

Photographers for these organizations destroyed their own films Monday when they were told that beach and vacation White House scenes could never be published.

German Communists

leaving Germany "free."

The Communist drive is expected to win few adherents in western Germany except among members of the minority Communist party there.

May Sign "Peace Treaty"

The economic committee of the "people's council" held its opening session today. The eastern German constitution is scheduled to come up tomorrow at a full scale council meeting.

According to Communist claims, the Russians presumably would be willing to sign a peace treaty with a "people's democracy" of eastern Germany. In Communist terminology, "people's democracy" means a Communist-run regime.

The Communist drive to set up a Sovietized state in eastern Germany before the west adopts a constitution echoes their tactics in Soviet-blockaded Berlin.

They handpicked a city "government" and claimed jurisdiction over the whole city without an election. While setting up this government, they charged the western powers with dividing the city and then boycotted the regular city elections.

India was the second largest tea exporter to the United States last year, selling 31,095,376 pounds.

Compromise Voted

he is "morally certain" that a civil rights bill will "come up for a vote" for the first time in Senate history under the "compromise" proposal sponsored by the 52-man Republican-Democrat coalition.

Vandenberg urged a test within the next month to prove that civil rights legislation can pass the Senate under the proposed new rule, and suggested that an anti-lynching bill be used as the "guinea pig" measure.

Senate GOP policy leader Taft (R-Ohio) and Wherry supported Vandenberg's position.

GOP chiefs challenge the administration contention that it will be impossible to get 64 Senate votes in favor of a cloture, or gag, motion, to shut off a southern filibuster against civil rights bills.

Surrender Try Fails

Backing the coalition plan are 18 southerners, 22 Republicans and 12 Democrats usually regarded as in the Truman camp.

Sen. Lucas announced meanwhile that if he had been permitted to call off the fight, as he attempted to do Monday, he would have sought a summer-fall special session of Congress to act on civil rights measures. He said:

"I would have been willing to ask President Truman to call a special session to come back after July 31 and sit down and fight it out if necessary all summer long and up to Christmas in order to get a civil rights program."

Lucas tried to surrender by withdrawing an administration gag rule proposal, but southern Democrats and their coalition partners turned the tables on him and insisted on a showdown.

Applies To All Debate

Republicans based their contention that civil rights legislation could be passed under the coalition plan on the fact that it will apply to debate on all business before the Senate, whereas the present cloture rule applies to debate only on legislation already called up.

The southerners, with GOP help, blocked action on the administration filibuster gag proposal. This occurred during a 15-day filibuster against the plan.

The administration proposed a cloture, or gag, on debate on both legislation and motions to call up measures by two-thirds majority of the Senate. This rule now applies to debate on legislation only.

CONFERENCE REPORT PLANNED

Groups To Study Environments Affecting Children In Lubbock

Committees to gather information about conditions in Lubbock as they affect children were appointed at the first meeting of the Lubbock County organization, Texas Committee for Children and Youth.

Information gathered, to concern all phases of physical, mental and moral environments of Lubbock children, will be submitted to the White House Conference of 1950.

Presidents of the United States have, each ten years since 1900, called a White House conference to discuss matters pertaining to children and youth welfare in the United States. In the past, information had been gathered on a statewide basis by state committees.

Committeemen Named

Each county this year has its own committee, and information should be much more complete for the 1950 conference, according to Capt. W. Thomas Gregory, secretary of the local group.

Committee chairmen named at the Thursday meeting by Mrs. H. F. Godeke, chairman of the Lubbock county group, included: John W. Wilson, child care and protection; A. Rasor, child and youth employment; Roy Boyd, education; Jerald E. Jarvis, health; Mrs. Josephine Ballenger, handicapped children; J. A. Maynard, committee on housing; Mrs. J. A. Humphries, library service; A. C. Hamilton, recreation; and Rev. Paul Mason, religion.

Others who will serve on the committees are: Judge G. V. Pardue, Leo Healer, Mrs. Nancy Green, Judge J. H. Goodman, Mrs. J. H. Stiles, Judge Walter Davies, Mrs. Robert Allen and Captain Gregory.

Mrs. Allen is vice-chairman of the county organization.

'IRISH' FESTIVAL

City Of St. Patrick Marks Holiday

ST. PATRICK, Mo., March 17 (INS) — The tiny northeast Missouri community of St. Patrick went all out today in paying homage to the saint for whom it was named.

Schools were closed, there were gala parties, and the festivities were topped with a parade and the crowning of the queen of the annual St. Patrick's Day ball.

The aroma of corn beef and cabbage was in the air and the traditionally Irish dish was the main item on everybody's menu.

Imported Altar Used

At St. Patrick's church, Rev. Francis O'Duignan celebrated mass on an old altar stone imported from Ireland some years ago especially for St. Patrick's Day services.

Mrs. Laveta Logsdon, postmistress of St. Patrick, reported a rush business during the past few weeks. She estimated the postoffice received more than 25,000 pieces of mail.

Each letter or package was stamped with a shamrock in green ink. The postmark reads:

"St. Patrick, Mo.—The only one in the world."

Mrs. Logsdon said:

"Mail came from about every country in the world—all except Russia."

Famed German Field Marshal's Son Called Nazi 'Follower'

UELZEN, Germany, March 17 (INS) — Oscar Von Hindenburg, son of the late Field Marshal Paul Von Hindenburg, Germany's first world war commander and president of the Weimar republic, was classified today in the minor category of Nazi "follower."

LONDON, March 17 (INS) The Soviet Monitor announced that Premier Stalin played host to a visiting North Korean delegation at a dinner tonight.

The North Koreans at present are top attractions on Russia's Vodka and caviar circuit.

Texas Bar Examinations Slated On T. U. Campus March 21-23

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP)—State examinations for admissions to the Texas bar will be held at the University of Texas March 21-23, the Board of Examiners announced today.

Exams will be given in Hogg Memorial auditorium on the campus. The meeting of the legislature required the change in site for the exams, customarily in the House of Representatives.

Bodies Of Plains Vets Aboard Ship

Two Panhandle and South Plains veterans who lost their lives in World War II are being returned to this country aboard the United States transport Haiti Victory at the request of next of kin, the Department of the Army announced today.

The two are Pfc. Phillip G. Taylor, jr., whose next of kin is Phillip G. Taylor, sr., of Floydada, and Pfc. Robert G. Hester whose next of kin is Mrs. Alice T. Hester, Amarillo.

There are 43 veterans aboard the transport who will be returned to Texas for final burial. The Army stated that each next of kin would be notified in advance of the arrival of the vessel, and again after arrival of the body at the regional distribution center of the American Graves Registration service.

Television Unflattering To Most Platform Orators, Teacher Says

LOS ANGELES, March 17. (U.P.) Television will make most present platform orators look and sound sour, says a speech instructor, Henry Kingston.

"The first casualty will be the stuffed shirt who is so impressed with himself that he doesn't bother to think of his audience," Kingston said.

"Television calls for a new type of speaker, a person who can talk to you as though he were in your own living room," the Los Angeles State college instructor pointed out.

American Hobo Group Adopts Broken Wheel As Official Badge

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 17. (U.P.) The Hoboes of America, inc., whose membership now totals more than 1,000,000, has a new official emblem.

Jeff Davis, king of the hoboes, revealed the emblem as a wooden wheel with four good spokes and eight broken ones. The letters "HI BO" are printed across the four good spokes.

"The broken spokes indicate signs of wear but still rolling," according to Davis.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Results Of Tomato Growing Tests At Tech Announced; 'Porter's Triumph' Tops Yield

During the 1948 growing season the plant industry department at Texas Tech tested 10 varieties of tomatoes according to Dr. A. W. Young, head of the department.

The varieties chosen for testing included the old stand-bys, Marglobe, Rutgers and Break-O-Day. New plants tested were Firesteel, Gotham's Globe, Matchless, Pan-American, Porter's Pride, Porter's Triumph, and Sioux. All of these varieties have more or less resistance to tomato wilt and were chosen for this reason.

Season Unfavorable

The 1948 growing season was very hot and dry. It was very unfavorable to best growth and production of tomatoes. Tomato wilt is much more prevalent under such conditions and caused a great deal of loss, even on the Pan Americans which are reputed to be the most wilt resistant tomato yet produced. The wilt disease was most serious on the Gotham's Globe and Break-O-Day varities, and the loss of vines to wilt caused very low yields from these plants.

Four of the varities were outstanding both in early production and in total production. They were the Sioux with an average yield of 7,336 pounds per acre on the three replications used and Porter's Triumph with an average yield of 6,681 pounds per acre.

The Firesteel plant had an output of 5,816 pounds and Porter's Pride made 5,764 pounds to the acre. The variety, Break-O-Day averaged 5,554 pounds.

Porter's Triumph began production about two weeks earlier than the others and by September 1 had produced a total of 769 pounds per acre as compared with 218 and 202 pounds per acre for the Firesteel and Sioux. By October 1 production had reached 2,786 pounds per acre for Porter's Triumph; 2,513 pounds for Firesteel; 2,349 for Sioux and 1,205 pounds for Porter's Pride.

The other five varieties used in this test are late tomatoes. They were seriously curtailed in production by the hot, dry weather which caused their flowers to drop without setting any fruit until late in the year. Practically no fruit was harvested from any of these five varieties before September 1.

Bass Fiddlers Envy Piccolo Players—Except On Road Trips

BOSTON, March 17 (AP)—The bass players in the Boston Symphony Orchestra envy the piccolo players when it comes to toting instruments from place to place, but they come into their own when the orchestra is on tour.

Then, all musicians but the bass players have to get their suitcase-creased evening clothes pressed before the performance. The bass players have no such problem. While traveling, they hang their evening clothes inside the big wooden boxes used to protect their instruments.

Fate Of Jerusalem Creates New Issue For UN Conciliation Group

RHODES, March 17 (AP)—One of the most delicate problems confronting the United Nations in its efforts to bring peace to the Middle East is the future of Jerusalem.

The Jews want it to become the capital of Israel.

The Arabs insist on it remaining Arab.

Christians demand that the Holy Places be free of both Jews and Arabs.

The United Nations have suggested internationalization.

The United Nations Conciliation commission has been asked to tackle the question of Jerusalem but the Israelis are trying to present the conciliators with an accomplished fact by taking it for granted that the new city of Jerusalem at least will be entirely Jewish. This attitude and recent statements by responsible Israeli leaders brought an indignant protest from the conciliation commission.

Arabs Protest

Immediate Arab reaction was not slow in coming from Trans-Jordan, Where King Abdullah's government raised an outcry about any Jewish attempts to consider the fate of Jerusalem as settled in their favor. Ramallah Radio, which is run by the Trans-Jordan government, bitterly attacked the Jews. It muttered veiled threats against the Israelis if they continued their current actions of calmly taking over Jerusalem as their capital.

High Israeli officials say the Jews are determined to prevent the internationalization of any part of Jerusalem. They are trying to get the Arabs to agree to dividing the Holy City with them, with the Israelis holding the new city and the Arabs the old.

The Jews argue that most of the Moslem and Christian holy places are within the walled old city, and that they are sure that Jews and Palestine Arabs can get along together at least in Jerusalem.

"I am sure that we can get together and draw up a working agreement for the Jerusalem area," stated a senior official of the Israeli government. "But an international administration in Jerusalem or any part of it and the surrounded area would be a continual source of intrigue and trouble. No matter who would be running this international zone, agents of interested foreign powers are sure to infiltrate and start trouble now or later."

Vatican In Picture

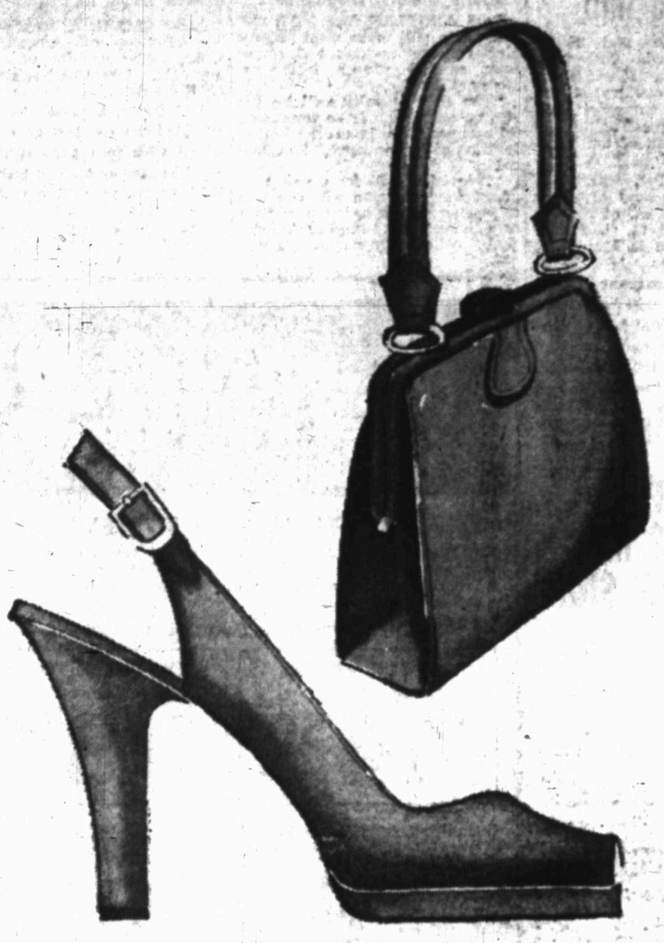

The Israelis are conscious of the fact that they have to consider not merely the opinions of the Moslem world in this matter, but the Christians, and particularly the Vatican.

The Jews also realize that their main support comes from the United States, and that there are millions of Catholics there who might resent any Jewish city—unless Jews and Arabs, both Christian and Moslem, can agree and get the whole thing settled peacefully.

"We would be willing to give up various parts of Jerusalem to Arab rule if we see that the only other alternative would be internationalization," stated this official. "Of course any area which we consider essentially Jewish or completely vital to our state and security must remain in our hands, but we are prepared to make considerable concessions to make the Arabs supporting the internationalization of Jerusalem or any part of it."

Supreme Court Ponders Stand On Search And Seizure Legislation

By RUTH GMEINER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The Bill of Rights says Americans shall be free from "unreasonable" search and seizure in their homes and of their personal possessions.

Search can be made only upon "probable cause" and with a warrant describing precisely the items looked for.

If you think this guarantee applies to you, you may be wrong.

At the moment, the fourth amendment to the Constitution applies on to the federal government. Historically, the courts have held that states are not bound by the Constitution's ban on illegal search and seizure.

Evidence turned up by the FBI and other federal agents cannot be used in court against you unless seized within the standards of the fourth amendment.

High Court May Act

But in a majority of the states, evidence seized by local or state police can be produced in court even if your home was ransacked without a warrant to get it.

The Supreme court may change all that with decisions on cases now before it. The tribunal has been asked to reinterpret the fourth amendment to blanket states, too, under its guarantees.

Persons convicted, who applied to the Supreme court, contend that immunity from unreasonable search is a "basic civil liberty" of all citizens, and states should be compelled to observe it.

The justices have been battling out a precise interpretation of the amendment for the last three terms. Cases involving its guarantees are now before the court from Newark, N. J., Seattle, Wash., Joplin, Mo., Denver and Camden, N. J.

The tribunal in these cases, is expected to clear up other questions on the rights of citizens when the police are on the search for evidence to pin down crime. Some of them are:

How thorough a search can be made of a suspect's home, when the officers have only an arrest warrant, and no search warrant? What about a search that produces evidence of a crime which the police didn't know had happened?

Can federal agents search an automobile for contraband when there was not "probable cause" to stop the car in the first place? Can evidence seized illegally by state officers be introduced at a trial for a federal offense.

The court has veered in wide circles on search-and-seizure cases of the last few terms.

In May, 1946, a 5 to 4 decision gave federal agents broad leeway to rifle private belongings of a suspect. The 1947 term produced decisions showing a gradually shifting view. And in a 6 to 3 ruling last November, the court gave considerable immunity—in federal court cases—to citizens whose homes are searched by officers who failed to get a search warrant.

Justices Divided

Still favoring strict interpretation in favor of the police are Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson and Justices Stanley F. Reed and Harold H. Burton.

Justices Felix Frankfurter, Robert H. Jackson, Frank Murphy and Wiley B. Rutledge have voted consistently in favor of a citizen's right to privacy.

Justice William O. Douglas joined the latter group last term. Justice Hugo L. Black switched over to that side in the one case so far this term.

All states include in their state constitutions prohibitions on unreasonable search and seizures. But, 30 states permit evidence seized illegally to be introduced at the trial of the accused person.

In 1914, the Supreme court, established the rule for all federal cases. It said:

"If letters and private documents can thus be seized and used in evidence . . . the protection of the fourth amendment . . . might as well be stricken from the Constitution."

BURGLARY IS REPORTED

Adolphe Menjou, Other Top Stars To Aid In Opening Of Oak Ridge Atom Energy Museum

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 17 — Very flattering to Hollywood that our stars have been invited to take part in the momentous historical opening of the Atomic Energy museum at Oakridge, Tenn., on March 19.

Flying out Thursday are Adolphe Menjou, Marie McDonald, Rod Cameron, Lee Bowman, Adele Jergens, and Jack Bailey. Adolphe and Marie will keynote the broadcast, and Marie will throw the switch which opens the gate of the closely guarded tract.

Vice President Alben Barkley, 16 governors, and brass hats galore, will be present to assist in this unique event.

Doris Day Makes Hit

Doris Day, like television, seems here to stay, so you might as well get on the bandwagon and like her. I changed my mind about her after I saw her in "Your Dream Is Mine," for she is really good.

She has been put into "Young Man With A Horn," which we told you a few days ago, will also star Kirk Douglas and Lauren Bacall. I suppose Doris will do the musical end.

I was surprised that Kirk signed a contract for seven years at Warners because when he was talking about "The Champion," he said he would never have had the chance to make it if he had been under contract. But with all the fine material and good actors Jack Warner is getting, Kirk should be content to stay right at the Burbank studio.

Actress Has Role

Sally Eilers, who doesn't make enough pictures for a girl who is as good an actress as she, gets the benefit of Robert Milton's wonderful direction in "The Winslow Boy." She has the lead with Edward Ashley and others at the Pasadena Playhouse on March 23.

"After that I am going on to see my son, Harry Joe Brown, jr., who is in school at Exeter," said Sally. "I don't want him to be alone for his Easter vacation."

I asked her again if she were going to marry Harley Morse, the assistant director.

"I am not going to marry anyone," was her reply.

Gloria De Haven Steps Out

Gloria De Haven's first date since she separated from John Payne was with Howard Duff.

John Fontaine, who has carried a torch for Barbara Lawrence ever since their separation, dining at Ciro's with Mrs. Dean Martin, who is also lonely.

Linda Christian and Tyrone Power, still at Kitzbuehel, postcard that they are skiing every day and loving it.

Greta Garbo was entranced with Ann Warner's granddaughter, as we all were. The baby, five months old, and with enormous dark eyes like her grandmother's and attractive mother, Mrs. William Orr, kept smiling at the Garbo. In turn, Greta gave Miss Orr one of her own rare smiles.

Ann is leaving in a week to spend the Easter holidays with her daughter, Barbara, in Switzerland. She says she is coming right back and does not plan to return to Europe this summer.

I was very glad to see Neysa McMein, who came with Clifton Webb, her Hollywood host. Neysa went back to New York after what she termed the most exciting time of her life. I made a date to see her in New York.

You'll find only the tender, better-flavored meat of the small tuna in this can.

Mine Operators' Dispute With Lewis Brings Steel Industry Prediction Of More Trouble By Summer

By J. ROBERT SHUBERT
United Press Staff Writer

PITTSBURG, March 17 — A contract dispute between John L. Lewis and mine operators strengthened steel industry predictions today of more trouble in the nation's coal fields by summer.

Lewis and the operators were embroiled in a dispute over the legality of a two-week "memorial" walkout of 463,000 coal miners, which already has seriously whittled fuel supplies in homes, hospitals and schools in eastern Pennsylvania.

The operators told Lewis the four-day-old walkout was a "clear" violation of their contract with the United Mine workers. Lewis retorted that the intimation was "gratuitously offensive and untrue."

Commenting on the walkout, Iron Age, authorative steel industry weekly, took the view that "Lewis is laying the groundwork for more surprises in July." The UMW chief and the coal operators are scheduled to open negotiations for a new contract in May. The current agreement expires in June.

Although there was ample coal above the ground to protect dependent industries for the two-week mourning period, Iron Age said a one or two-week extension of the walkout would destroy "all self-confidence" over the huge 70,000,000 ton stockpile.

This, the magazine added, would be followed by "anxiety" as to whether a second coal strike in July might deplete stocks to the danger point.

The bitter dispute over the clause in the present coal contract which requires miners to work only when they are "able and willing," almost certainly will be a major issue in the forthcoming negotiations.

Ralph E. Taggert of Philadelphia, spokesman for a group of anthacite operators who protested the walkout to Lewis, said the provision did not give the union the right to "cause a concerted stoppage of work."

He said it was included in the contract merely to relieve the international union of responsibility for wildcat strikes. Furthermore, he claimed, both operators and the UMW gave indications of intentions to drop the "able and willing" clause.

To this, Lewis replied that the clause "was intended to make the mine worker and his organization free like other Americans to cease

Sears Roebuck Company Orders Substantial Cut in Denim Wear

CHICAGO, March 17 (INS)—Sears Roebuck & Company today announced an average price reduction of nine per cent on all denim wear in both its retail and mail order divisions.

Sears officials termed the price cut "the most significant . . . since the end of the war." It covers most basic cotton garments "worn by every man, woman and child in America."

Poultry Experts Promote Record Growth In Chickens By 'Needling' Eggs With Vitamin

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 17—You can argue until you're blue about which comes first — the chicken or the egg.

But as of now, I'm here to report, the egg and the chicken are running neck and neck.

At Beltsville, Md., where the Department of Agriculture experiments with parsnips, sows, cows and hens, they are "souping up" chicks long before they peck through the shell and start to scratch for a living.

Agricultural specialists are giving the eggs a hypo of a millionth of a gram of crystalline B-12, which is a form of the well-konwn vitamin B.

H. L. Shrader, who calls himself the world's champion carver of poultry and eyes everything from egg to white meat with anticipation, explained that this B-12 stuff is full of "animal protein."

"It helps to produce growth," he said.

It's part of the program to grow bigger chickens quicker. To give the housewife a break, and at the same time help the man who runs the hen house to make a decent living.

"It all ties in with the chicken-of-tomorrow program," Shrader said.

That program was started at a meeting of the chickenyard set in St. Louis a few weeks ago. The A. & P. food stores put up something like $8,000 in prizes.

Record Growth Shown

The climax came at Georgetown, Del., last spring when the Department of Agriculture and others proudly put on parade a flock of flocks that had grown to four pounds in 12 weeks. The normal time for that sort of performance in a chicken is 16 weeks.

In the 12 weeks, these prize chickens, with eight slices of white meat to the breast and drumsticks as big as a young turkey, ate three pounds of food per pound gained since birth.

"The going rate used to be twice that — and it took 16 weeks to get 'em up to four pounds," Shrader said. "It's like a man doing two days' work in a week and saving the money he would have spent on transportation to and from the job."

The eggs for the 1949 chicken-of-tomorrow contest will be placed in the incubators or under the feathers on March 30 in 23 states.

"Needled" Chicks Gain Fast

The ag men at Beltsville already are giving hatchable eggs a pin point dose of the magic B-12.

According to Shrader and Dr. H. R. Bird, of the USDA poultry husbandry department, by the time the chicks are five weeks old they have perked up. They are already — at that tender age — one-fourth of a pound heavier than the poor chick which didn't get a needle when it was just a poor egg.

By six weeks, the super-chick has gained a little more, and by the time it is seven weeks old it is nearly one-third of a pound heavier. A chicken eater can lick his chops at this point by just looking through the wire.

I asked Shrader, the carver, and Dr. Bird, the head man, how big a chicken can get.

They reported in unision that that isn't the point. It's how fast can we raise 'em? And how potent is this new B-12?

I may do one of two things. Go into the poultry business, or start taking B-12 myself.

Enjoy Lighter... Richer... Moister Cakes—because SNOWDRIFT is Emulsorized

MOCHA GOLD CAKE

Sift together into one bowl:
2 cups sifted cake flour
3 tsp. double action baking powder (4 tsp. single action)
1 tsp. salt
1½ cups sugar

Add:
½ cup Snowdrift (Emulsorized—quick-blending)
½ cup milk

Mix until flour is dampened. Beat 2 min. If you beat by hand, count beating time only. With electric mixer, use "low speed"; scrape bowl frequently. Scrape beaters after 2 min.

Add:
4 egg yolks, ½ cup milk, 1 tsp. vanilla

Beat 1 min. for Snowdrift-smooth batter. Turn into 2 greased 9" layer pans lined with paper. Bake in mod. oven (375° F.) about 35 min. Cool and frost with—

MOCHA FROSTING. Combine 4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar (firmly packed) with ½ cup Snowdrift; add 1 sq. unsweetened chocolate melted, add about ½ cup extra strong coffee. (Cool and use as much needed to make a creamy-smooth mixture.) Add ¼ tsp. salt and 1 tsp. vanilla. Spread on cooled cake. For Almond Clusters, dip rounded ends of blanched almonds in melted chocolate.

Treat your family to "Dream cakes"! It's so easy. Just use new Emulsorized Snowdrift and one of these modern "quick-method" recipes. You'll see how thoroughly, how smoothly, Snowdrift blends with all the sugar and liquid. Only an emulsorized shortening gives you this special blending aid. Let Emulsorized Snowdrift give you lighter, richer, moister cakes now!

Snowdrift works wonderfully in any cake recipe—modern "quick-method" or old favorite. So make this luscious Mocha Gold Cake or use your own most successful recipe. You'll be delighted!

Atomic Secrets Dispute Centers On Official News, Not 'Leaks'

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The big argument in Congress over the publication of atomic information seems to center around the wisdom of certain official statements rather than on so-called "leaks."

On some occasions it has appeared that people "in the know" have made slips in public. But most discussion has concerned formal statements which one or another lawmaker thinks should have been kept secret.

Some people take the view that, beyond the necessary exchange of information between American scientists and technicians, nothing should be published. Their view is that you can never tell what bit of information may provide a missing link in the research of possible enemies.

Others fear the "atomic age" will be slowed unless all possible information is made available to researchers everywhere. There is also some argument for publication of atomic progress as notice of America's strength, for the benefit of anyone who might be contemplating war. Thursday's report on an airplane engine project might fall into this class.

Howard Blakslee, science editor of the Associated Press and a lay expert on atomic energy, says only the Atomic Energy commission and the military experts have sufficient information to decide whether or when publication affects military security. Several recent announcements have been criticized.

Florida 'Bouncer' Is Fined In Shooting Of Ejected Patron

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. March 17 (INS) — "You can throw the man out but you don't have to shoot him."

Judge Edwin Jones told this to night club bouncer W. W. Stanfield in Jacksonville today and then fined him $350.

Littlefield Drill Team Takes Part In WOW Parade In Laredo

LAREDO, March 17 (AP)—Five hundred delegates opened the Woodmen of the World state convention here today with a parade, the presentation of a flag and a business session.

About 1,000 persons took part in the parade, including a WOW drum and bugle corps and WOW drill teams from Beaumont, Littlefield, and Houston.

SERVICES SET — Services will be held for Pvt. Charlie Tom Terry, above, in the First Baptist church of Lubbock, at 2 p. m. today with Rev. H. V. Fields of Hereford officiating. Pvt. Terry was killed in action while serving with the United States Army May 23, 1945, on Okinawa in the South Pacific. He was 27 years of age. Interment will be in the Idalou Cemetery under the direction of Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home. Survivors include the father, Walter W. Terry of Lubbock; four brothers, W. D. of Lubbock, J. E. of New Castle, E. O. of Smyer and H. H. of Odessa; four sisters, Mrs. C. W. McCollough of Wilson; Mrs. Arch O'Neil of Muleshoe; Mrs. C. G. Blackman of Fort Worth and Mrs. C. J. Wooldrige of New Castle.

Population May Become Static

HOUSTON, March 17 (AP)—A University of Chicago dean today said the United States has reached a point where its population will become stationary or even decline by the close of this century.

Phillip Morris Hauser, associate dean of the university's division of social science and a former deputy director of the Federal Census bureau, said such population trends will have important implications on the nation's economy.

He spoke before the eighty-first annual convention of the American Institute of Architects.

Trends Are Studied

"The prospect is definitely for greatly decelerated rates of total growth," Hauser said. "The baby boom which has accompanied war and prosperity since 1940 has resulted in a considerable population increase but it is a temporary spurt."

He said these population trends are of great importance to architects and homebuilders:

In 1790 only five percent of the popuation lived in cities. By 1940 the proportion had risen to about 57 percent. About 140 metropolitan districts contained almost half of the population in 1940.

"Many of our cities must prepare for stationary or even declining populations in the coming years," Hauser predicted.

Hauser estimated that from 1930 to 1948 that 6.9 million new non-farm dwelling units were constructed. During a period which registered a net increase of 10.6 million new non-farm households.

"There was a cumulative deficit of 3.5 million non-farm dwelling units," he said. "From a social standpoint, the United States will need about 12 million non-farm dwelling units and about 2 million new farm units between now and 1960."

PIONEER LAREDO MAN DIES

LAREDO, March 17 (AP)—Francisco Farias, 70, member of a pioneer daredo family, died at his home here yesteray after a brief illness. Farias, a retired ranchman and vegetable grower, was a brother of Gonzalo P. Farias, tax collector for the city of Laredo.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Allensworth, sr., of 1906 Sixteenth, left Lubbock yesterday afternoon for Dallas to attend burial services for an infant daughter which was born to their son and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. John C. Allensworth, in Baylor hospital Saturday. Definite arrangements were not known here, but it was thought the infant would be buried in Mineral Wells either Saturday or Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. John C. Allensworth, sr., last week had attended funeral services at Ballinger for Mrs. Allensworth's brother, Dr. O. R. Lassiter, prominent Ballinger physician who died unexpectedly.

Date for formal opening of the First Baptist church of Wilson, postponed from next Sunday, will be announced later, Rev. Emmett Brooks, pastor announced yesterday. The date has been postponed indefinitely because of illness in the community, Rev. Brooks explained.

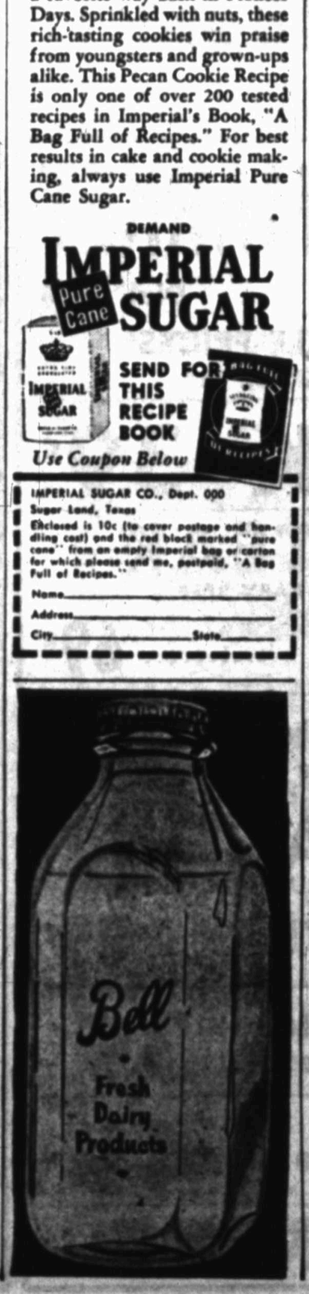

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Parnell and Mrs. H. P. Baker attended the funeral of Jerry Holcombe, 15, in Midland Wednesday. The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Holcombe of Midland, died in a San Angelo hospital Tuesday.

Prof. L. E. Parsons, head of the Texas Tech textile engineering department, will leave today for Charlottesville, Va., where he will attend the spring semi-annual meeting of the National Council of Textile school deans. Parsons is immediate past president of the organization.

Miss Martye Poindexter, head of the Applied Arts department at Texas Tech, will attend the annual meeting of the Western Arts association to be held in Dallas beginning Tuesday. She will return March 28.

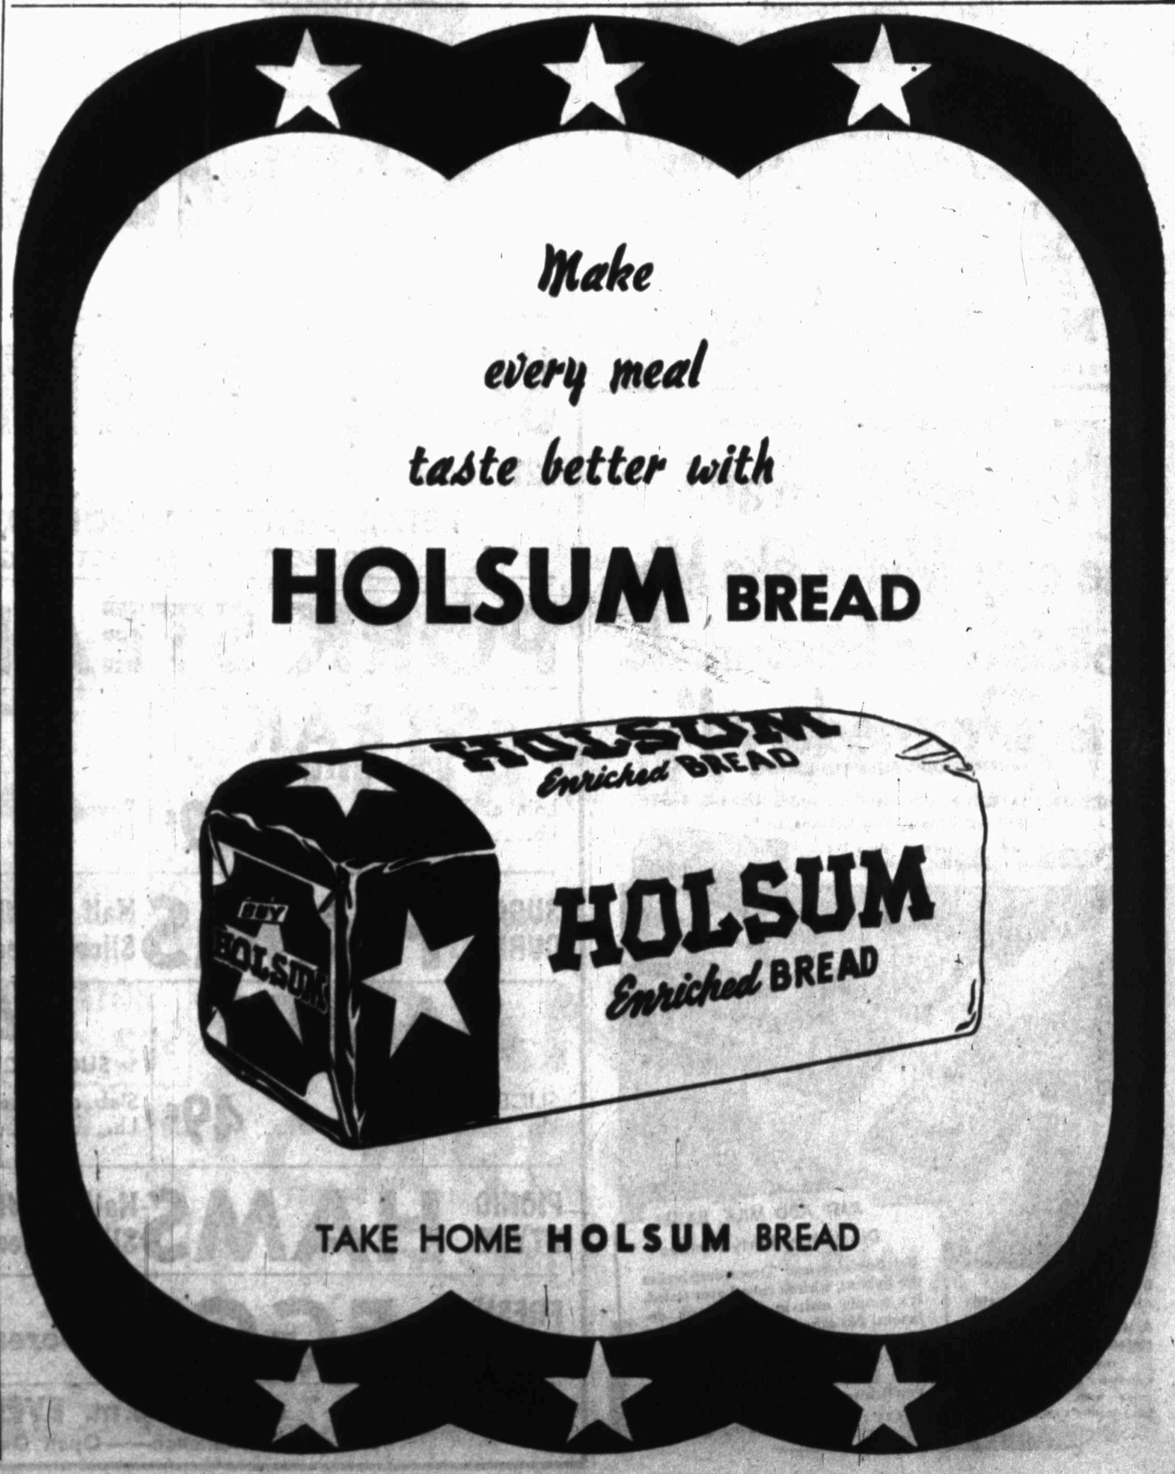

$25 Million Shamrock Hotel Is Opened By Houston Millionaire

By HELEN CHRISTMAN
INS Staff Correspondent

HOUSTON, March 17 — Multi-millionaire Glenn McCarthy opened his $20,000,000 Shamrock hotel in Houston tonight with a touch of Texas, a touch of Hollywood and a touch of ol' Erin.

The green in his billfold that enabled McCarthy to buy 15 acres for the hotel started growing in his native Texas with his first oil strike — at the age of 25.

The name of the hotel brought a bit of Erin into his native Lone Star state. And McCarthy appropriately chose St. Patrick's day for the grand opening which had all the makings of a Hollywood premiere, with hundreds of notables — including 160 stars and writers from the film colony.

Film Stars Present

Nearly a hundred policemen were on duty inside and outside the hotel to see that nothing marred the gala occasion — which shared honors with the premiere of McCarthy's first motion picture, "The Green Promise."

The list of film stars attending the extravaganza read like a "who's who" of film land. Just to mention a few there were MacDonald Cary, Joan Davis, Virginia Grey, Dorothy Lamour, Pat O'Brien, Dennis O'Keefe, Hugh Herbert, and Robert Ryan.

And also there were Edgar Bergen, Gale Storm, Leo Carrillo, Kirk Douglas, Ed (Archie) Gardener, Buddy Rogers, Cobina Wright, jr., and Walter Brennan.

None could overshadow the enterpreneur himself, however.

Dedicates Hotel To State

McCarthy modestly dedicated the mammoth hotel to the state where he rose from an oil field worker to a wealthy oilman, banker, movie producer, newspaper and radio station owner and aviation enthusiast.

The 18-story hotel is bheathtaking in looks and in prices, too. Tonight in the grecian, emerald and shamrock room, dinner cost $42 per person. Dining in the pine grill cost $33 per person.

The hotel, four miles from downtown Houston, is a community in itself. Its ground floor has shops of all kinds — including a bank and a $100,000 medical clinic. It is flanked by a combination five-story garage, an exhibition building and a 165-foot swimming pool.

Each of the 1100 rooms is equipped with a television set plus individually controlled air-conditioning units and a four-way control loudspeaker for radio shows.

Bellhops do a military drill in the lobby at the change in each shift.

Non-English speaking visitors will feel at home. The Shamrock has established a department with linguists for more than 25 languages to serve as interpreters, guides and secretaries for the guests.

Billfold, 'Mailed' By Mistake, Returned To St. Louis Girl

ST. LOUIS, March 17 (U.P.) — Shirley Michel, a 23-year-old stenographer, was exasperated after walking through sleet and icy rain to mail a bundle of letters.

So exasperated, in fact, that she dropped her billfold into the mail box instead of the letters.

The carrier who picked up the mail found this note attached to the box:

"Postman—I mailed my billfold by mistake. Please leave it at the fountain pen counter of S. G. Adams."

The carrier did.

ST. PATRICK'S TRADITION OBSERVED—Honoring the patron saint of all engineers—St. Patrick students in mechanical engineering along with other engineering students at Texas Technological college paused in their classwork long enough Thursday to honor St. Patrick and carry out a 14-year tradition of the group. A copper plaque bearing a shamrock and the date was laid into the walk of the archway of the Engineering building by the group. Approximately 300 students, many of them wearing the traditional Irish green, participated in the ceremony of unveiling of the plaque. A band played and Irish songs were sung. In the picture, left to right, are: John McMenamin, master of ceremonies, Amarillo; Boyd Bell, Spur, student president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; Donald J. Helmers, instructor in mechanical engineering and faculty sponsor; and Larry Johnson, also of Amarillo, who did the unveiling. The plaque was the 14th to be imbedded in the archway walk. Kerrville Man Urged For Liquor Board

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP) — The committee on governor's nominations yesterday recommended Leonard B. Brown of Kerrville for Senate confirmation as chairman of the Liquor Control board.

Brown would succeed Fred Minor of Denton, resigned. He was also recommended to serve a term ending Nov. 15, 1953. J. Gordon (Obie) Bristow of Big Spring was recommended for Senate approval to fill Minor's unexpired term as a member to Nov. 15, 1949.

Senator Gus Strauss of Hallettsville, chairman, reported the following nominees of Gov. Beauford H. Jester also received favorable recommendations:

Dr. A. W. Rogers, Corsicana; Dr. T. C. Terrell, Fort Worth; and Dr. John H. Mitchell, Tyler, to be members of the State Board of Health to June 12, 1953.

Sister Catherine Elizabeth, Fort Worth, to fill the unexpired term of Sister Antonia O'Donahue on the board of Nurse Examiners to April 9, 1949; Laura Cole, Temple, to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Eloween Mesch on the same board to April 9, 1949; and Maurine Bridewell, San Angelo, to fill the unexpired term of Blanche Thompson to April 9, 1951.

Dr. L. H. Denman, Lufkin, to fill the unexpired term of Dr. H. F. Connolly, deceased, on the State Board of Medical Examiners to April 13, 1953.

Gene Howe, Amarillo, and V. V. (Doc) Neuhaus, McAllen, to serve on the Game, Fish and Oyster commission to Sept. 1, 1953.

TO CERTIFY HONEYMOONS

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (U.P.)—The greater Niagara travel and publicity committee is working out a plan whereby newlywed visitors would receive a "honeymoon certificate." The certificate would bear the signatures of the mayor and the chamber of commerce president and the date of the couple's visit.

A-Energy To Produce 'Full Scale' Electrical Power, Scientist Says

WELLESLEY, Mass., March 17 (U.P.) — Atomic Commissioner Robert F. Bacher said today that nuclear power developments have entered "a new era of accomplishment."

He predicted that the explosive energy of splitting atoms will be harnessed for "full-scale" production of electrical power "in quantity" within eight to 10 years.

New Methods Discussed

And if revolutionary self-fueling reactors now being built fulfill their scietific promise, he said, the world's potential atomic power supply years hence will be boosted 100-fold.

In forecasting operation of a full-scale atomic power generator within eight to 10 years, Bacher was talking about "technical feasibility." Whether production of electrical power from atomic energy will be "economically feasible," Bacher said, remains to be seen.

In a speech at Wellesley college, Bacher also predicted that atomic research some day will enable man to make fuller use of "the greatest source of energy available to us" — the sun. Referring to research with radioisotopes into the processes by means of which plants use solar energy to manufacture food, he said:

"We may be standing on the threshhold of a series of discoveries which will have tremendous effect upon the ability of people to produce and fuel by means of solar energy."

Bacher's forecasts of power production were based on a multi-million-dollar product which the Atomic Energy commission has launched.

Missionaries To Talk At Church Meet Here

Rev. George S. Constance, missionary to Columbia, South America, and Mrs. H. L. Pierson, missionary to Gabon, West Africa, will be featured speakers at the annual missionary convention which begins at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Christian and Missionary alliance, 1901 Twenty-first, according to announcement by Rev. Floyd L. Martin, minister.

Also to participate in the convention will be Rev. R. Mills Gray, superintendent of the Southwestern district of the Christian and Missionary alliance.

Rev. Constance will show a number of moving pictures describing the missionary work being carried on among the natives of Columbia and among the Indian tribes at the headwaters of the Amazon.

Mrs. Pierson is to address the gathering at 7:30 p. m. Saturday. Her talk will concern the missionary work among the tribes of Gabon, West Africa. She will also show numbers of curios and artifacts from the region.

Rev. Gray will deliver the Bible messages at the gatherings. Three services, at 11 a. m. and 2:30 and 7:30 p. m., are planned for Sunday.

Unrest Reported In South Sea Island

SUVA, Fiji, March 17 (U.P.)—Isolated unrest has spread to South Sea islanders, perhaps following ideas picked up from American troops in the war, the Oceania Daily News reports.

"Marching Rule," native corruption of Marzist Rule, is smoldering again in the Solomon Islands, where natives rebelled against the local government as recently as December last, according to latest reports released by the police, the paper said. It continued:

"Natives built stockades and watch towers and refused admittance to the village of anyone not a member of the movement. In October, armed police raided the villages, broke down the stockades and arrested 63 natives. In December, police carried out a similar raid and arrested a further 70 natives."

The paper traced how since September, 1947, the Western Pacific high commission has combatted the native uprisings, with H.M.A.S. Warramunga, H.M.S. Contest, the submarine Amphion, the aircraft carrier H.M.S. Theseus and destroyer H.M.S. Cockade visiting the islands in turns on flag-waving missions.

"Another theory on the origin of the movement is that the natives educated abroad returned with their own ideas of forming a system of government," the paper commented.

Antarctic Expedition Carries Ultra-Violet Lamps For 'Sunlight'

PITTSBURGH, March 17, (U.P.) —Tubular lamps that emit ultra-violet radiations found in natural sunlight are being carried for the first time on an expedition to Antarctica.

Two powerful ultra-modern 20-watt fluorescent lamps developed by Western Electric corp. were carried by a French expedition, which sailed from Australia to confirm territorial claims in the polar land. The lamps, only two feet long, will insure members of the expedition of the vitamin and other physical benefits of sunshine during the long polar winter.

Road traffic organizations are opposing imposition of any speed limit, in cities and towns of Dublin County, Eire.

Services For Mrs. M. E. Black Slated Saturday At Wellington

Final rites for Mrs. M. E. Black, 57, who died in Lubbock Memorial hospital at 6 a. m. Thursday, will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday in Wellington.

Mrs. Black, longtime resident of Wellington, had made her home with a niece, Mrs. R. J. Jeffers of 1625 Eighteenth, since September. Her death followed an extended illness.

The body was taken overland from Sanders Funeral home to Ellis Funeral home in Wellington Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Black will be buried beside her husband in Wellington cemetery.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. J. H. Hager of Marlow, Okla., and Mrs. F. A. Wade of Floydada; two brothers, W. R. Smith of Elk City, Okla., and J. T. Smith of California; and two nieces, Mrs. Jeffers of Lubbock and Mrs. R. L. Brown of Santa Fe, N. M.

Church-State Negotiations Fail In Czechoslovakia; Priests Held

By IRVING R. LEVINE
INS Staff Correspondent

PRAGUE, March 17 — Archbishop Josef Beran, primate of Czechoslovakia, revealed tonight that negotiations between the Catholic church and the Communist controlled state have broken down and he estimated 120 priests have been arrested.

Archbishop Beran, in an exclusive interview in Prague with International News service, declared emphatically:

Catholic Priests Arrested

Non-Catholic official quarters estimate that 200 Catholic priests have been arrested since February, 1948, when the Communists seized power.

The archbishop, whom the Nazis imprisoned at Dachau for three years, was interviewed in his private quarters in the ancient palace on Hradcany hill overlooking Prague.

Not far away is the residence of Communist President Klement Gottwald, where a flag flew to indicate Gottwald was at home.

The primate is a short, stout man. He was clothed in the dark robes of his church, with a skull cap atop his close-cropped white hair.

Factors In Friction Outlined

Through his interpreter, Father Felix Mikula, a divinity teacher, these points were listed as the reasons for the collapse of church-state negotiations:

1. The Communist government's demand that the church issue a statement of loyalty to the regime.
2. A demand that the church remove a suspension order which the archbishop directed last spring against Father Josef Plojhar, minister of health in the Communist regime, and against two other priests in the Slovakian cabinet. The suspension order bars them from church functions.
3. A demand for further nationalization of church property.

The church representatives argued that nationalization to the extent demanded by the government must be referred to the Vatican for a decision, but the government officials absolutely refused to recognize the role of the Vatican.

The church-state negotiations were the second in a series. The first talks failed last summer.

The government has not announced the status of the talks which the archbishop said have failed.

But a government spokesman only yesterday told International News service that "only minor differences" barred a settlement. The spokesman gave no hint that the talks have failed.

Desperate 13-Year-Old Father Waits For Solution To Troubles

PAW PAW, Mich., March 17. (AP) — In a two-room tarpaper shack behind the city dump, an increasingly desperate 13-year-old father waited today for something—anything—to happen.

Crowded into the tiny house are Carl Harvey Blake, jr., his wife Winifred, 16, their three-week-old son and eight in-laws.

Carl is jobless. There is no prospect of work despite all his efforts.

Icy March winds seep through the cardboard-lined walls. The main diet for all the family is bread and potatoes.

"We eat 30 loaves a week," said Leo Singleton, 43, the father-in-law. His $20 weekly earnings from a junkyard job buy little more.

But in spite of everything Carl and his wife want above all else to remain together.

Carl quit the sixth grade last year, prior to his marriage, and doesn't want to return.

But even though his plight had gained nationwide publicity, his chances of getting a job were dim because Michigan law forbids issuance of a child labor permit to youths under 14.

TOOTHBRUSHES GO BEGGING

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The untapped market for toothbrushes in the United States apparently is almost unbounded. Dr. Edward L. Ball, Cincinnati dentist, told the Minnesota state dental convention here that only about 25 per cent of the nation's population uses toothbrushes. He added that about 90 per cent of the 25 per cent fail to do a proper job of brushing.

ANTI-EATING INJUNCTION FOUGHT

Actress Takes 'Right' To Cook In Apartment To New York Courts

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 17 — Will Ruth Chatterton, the actress, become the first American ever ordered by a Supreme court to stop eating garlic, onions, snails, octopi and aromatic cheeses in her costly hotel apartment?

Be patient. This is not the stentorian final question on a soap opera program. It is a question now before that August body, the Supreme court of the state of New York. On the court's weighty decision ride the hopes and despairs of thousands of New Yorkers.

Cooking Rights Denied

Many New Yorkers lived in a curious bondage. In management of their towers in Manhattan, or their bedrooms in the Bronx, haughtily deny them their constitutional right to whip up, say, a fragrant Welsh rarebit, or even to assemble a Dagwood special if the odor of the nourishment wafts beyond the confines of the apartment.

This has led to a great deal of furtiveness which, unless bridled, may make many New Yorkers of the next generation unprincipled. Since the kitchenettes of such apartments are purposely not equipped with stoves, the cliff-dwellers have long since smuggled countless little electric burners and hot-plates past the field marshal who is the doorman, or the sniffing superintendent.

Driven 'Underground'

The ancient urge to eat something of one's own preparation has not been bred out of the New Yorker, though it is admittedly now but a feeble flame. Years of persecution at the hands of flare-nostriled apartment-hotel managers and neighbors possessed of supersensitive olfactory glands, have made such cooking as clandestine as counterfeiting.

We have become a cunning and ferret-eyed breed as we sought means and ways of killing the odors of sub rosa dishes. There is heart-throbbing tension to the stewing of, say, a nice mess of corned beef and cabbage, with a child or trusted member of the conspiracy standing guard at the barely open door to warn of the approach of the enemy, the smeller.

New Science Developed

We have experimented with the quelling of odors until we have developed what amounts to a science. But it is not an exact science, even though you season your carefully concealed omlet with a liberal dash of air-wick.

Witness, therefore, the case of La Chatterton, who now stands accused of the heinous crime of cooking dinner for herself and husband (radio actor Barry Thompson) when he comes home after a tough day of facing Life With Portia.

Miss Chatterton, on her way to her man's heart, uses the staunch vehicles of garlic, onions, snails, octopi and heady cheese. She contends that this is her right under the constitutional clause relating to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, or was that in the Declaration of Independence?

Manager 'Attacks'

But her tastes, or rather the effluvium that cascaded out of the cracks in the front door of their lush three room and kitchenette suite at a plushy Park avenue tower, offended a neighboring cliff-dweller named Walter Strauss. Not only that but friends visiting him were offended, perhaps by the octopi. Mr. Strauss, as is his right, protested to the management.

The management had already concerned itself with the matter. It had flung a battery of hissing deodorizers against the entrenched position held by the Thompsons. But the defense, spearheaded by a garlic task force, had driven back the invaders.

So it has gone to court.

Limits Listed

Such kitchenettes are meant only for the making of ice and the serving of hors d'oeuvers and drinks, a communique from the management's office states. In a pinch, it adds, a ham will be tolerated in such apartments—a statement which both Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, being true artists, consider libelous. Beyond those particulars, any use made of the Thompson kitchenette constitutes a fire hazard and must be stopped, the prosecution asserts, not without the shaking of an indignant jowl.

It's a stirring test case for a great bloc of New Yorkers, ranging from those who heat their can of beans over the open flame of their hall bedrooms to those who live among the clouds, like the Thompsons. If La Chatterton loses this one many thousands of New Yorkers in search of a quiet meal at home will have to take it intravenously.

Airline May Re-Open Non-Stop Houston To New York Service

HOUSTON, March 17 (U.P.)—Eastern airlines may re-open non-stop service between Houston and New York next fall, airline President Eddie Rickenbacker said here today after a directors' meeting.

Twelve of the firm's 13 directors flew here yesterday to meet with Glenn H. McCarthy, the thirteenth.

Rickenbacker, famed aerial ace of World War I, said Eastern has five new four-engine Constellations ordered and the non-stop service might be resumed if they are delivered by next fall.

The through flights were started last year, but a plane shortage forced its cancellation.

Elton M. Hyder, Assistant States' Attorney Resigns Post

AUSTIN, March 17. (AP)—Attorney General Price Daniel today announced the resignation of Assistant Attorney General Elton M. Hyder, jr., of Fort Worth.

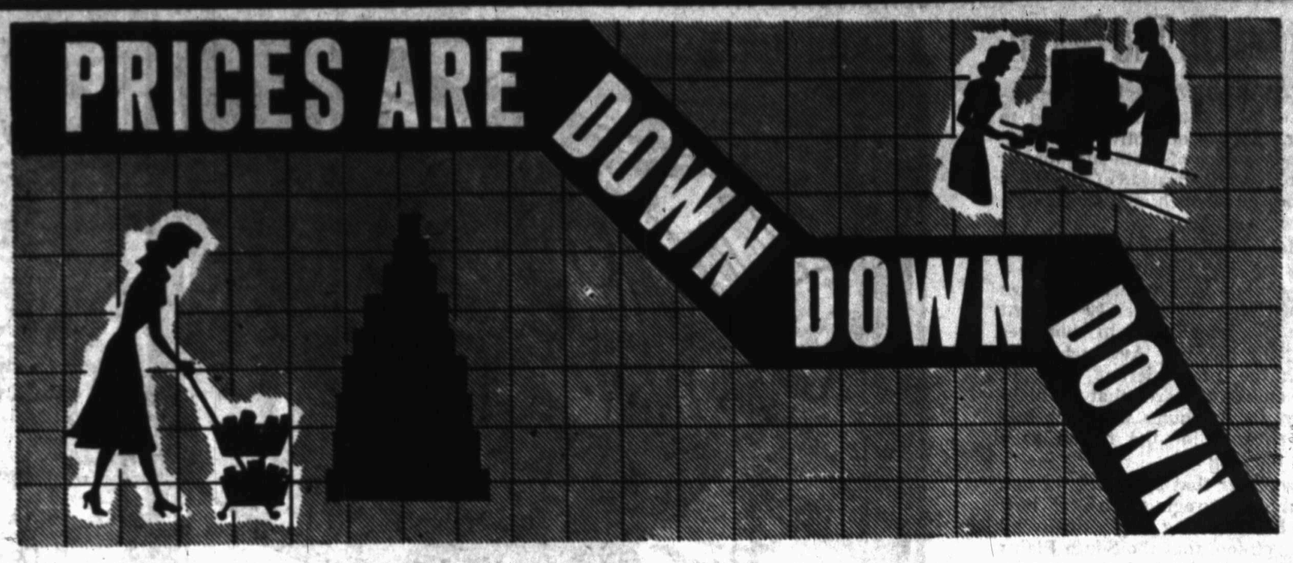

Hyder was in charge of oil and gas litigation and has been with the department five years.

He will return to private law practice in Fort Worth, Daniel said.

Food prices are lower. Yes—food prices ARE lower at SAVEWAY because we follow the wholesale prices down . . . down . . . down in our own pricing—and that's why your savings go up . . . Up . . . UP when you buy all your food needs here. We don't wait until we sell present stocks, but put price reductions into effect immediately. So, if you're looking for lower food prices, you'll find them here first. And here's first-hand proof of that statement.

PARITY ON GRAIN

Cotton On The Boom

POLICY-MAKERS of the U. S. Department of Agriculture are entitled to credit for sincerity of motive in setting 1949 support prices of grain sorghum at 70 per cent of parity instead of the 90 per cent advocated by such men as our own Cong. George Mahon.

Mr. Mahon and many other authorities think the low sorghum parity is a mistake—that it may result in a huge surplus of cotton, for which 90 per cent parity is guaranteed, and to shortages of grain. The Morning Avalanche concurs with the preponderant view of qualified men in this area that the higher support for sorghums would be better and cheaper for the nation as a whole in the long run.

But, whether that be correct or not, the highly encouraging prospect now seems to be, according to practically all qualified opinion, that the South Plains isn't likely to be hurt much one way or the other. The typical South Plains farmer is in the exceedingly fortunate position of being able to choose between optional planting programs. Naturally he will plant with the view of making the most money per acre from his land, and the indications now are that most of them will boost cotton acreage and cut down on sorghum.

Present prospects for the South Plains farmer, therefore, seem exceedingly bright, regardless of the sorghum support price. Prospects could be changed radically for the worse due to conditions beyond human control—but it would be pointless to worry about such things now.

South Plains residents cannot complain because of the 1949 farm prospects. They merely can hope that their predominant fear is groundless that the Agriculture department's sorghum support program will be detrimental to the national welfare. We can hope, in short, that we are wrong and the Agriculture department is right about sorghum parities.

Welcome, Teachers!

MOST Lubbock residents experience special and added pleasures when they are privileged to entertain conventions like that of the West Texas Teachers association, which will close today.

It seems peculiarly appropriate that the meeting, which is of considerably more than ordinary importance this year, should be held here, and that the convention should come back to Lubbock from time to time.

Lubbock enjoys the high privilege, with its attendant obligations and responsibilities of being one of the most important of Southwestern cultural centers chiefly because of Texas Technological college, but for numerous other reasons. Because of environment and associations, the interest of and understanding of teachers and the teaching profession goes deeper than could be expected in communities with fewer educational advantages and less intimacy of contact with those engaged in one of civilization's greatest callings.

There are, in short, very definite and obvious reasons for Lubbock's interest in and understanding for teachers, and for the interest of teachers—especially West Texas Teachers—in the advantages Lubbock offers to ambitious youth. The boys and girls of West Texas stand to benefit most from a better understanding and an increasing intimacy of personal relationship between West Texas Teachers and Lubbock.

It is a delightful pleasure to this entire community to be host to the association again. Lubbock hopes and expects to entertain the organization's conventions many more times in the future—and hopes, also, that the teachers as individuals will visit us as often as they can.

Then there is the type of man who doesn't think it is a good idea unless he originated it.

Nowadays the man who is sound as a dollar is in need of medical attention.

If the tax bill gets any larger, many folks will be ready for the meek to inherit the earth.

Utopia must be the place where the inhabitants never try to push each other around.

Some men would figure out a way to commercialize Judgment Day if given a little time to do some thinking.

One-Minute Sermon

Pop Goes The Queen

By BOB WADE and BILL MILLER
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Assigned to Cottage 15 at a de luxe resort, John Henry and Sin Conover, quiz show winners, receive an unexplained visit from an armed man, Homer Anglin, soon after their arrival. While dining later, a Queen of Diamonds on which is written "Your deal," is given to Johnny. Anglin appears, fatally wounded, and tells Johnny "You already got it," before he dies. Returning to the cottage, the Conovers find it occupied by Faye Jordan and their luggage moved to Cottage 14, next door, and searched. Mr. Trim, representative of the quiz show sponsor, gave permission to move the luggage. Johnny also learns the resort is owned by Mr. Barselou, who also owns the cafe where the murder occurred.)

XI

"NO!" The other two jumped at John Henry's outburst and he flushed. "I mean, no. Maybe now that Barselou's search our stuff he's convinced we haven't got what he's after. Besides, I'd feel like a dope telling all this extra stuff to that police lieutenant now."

"Mr. Lay didn't like us particularly at the time."

"I'd feel like a dope. I thought I was smart keeping some of this to myself—he'd give me life if I changed stories now."

The Bry-Ter representative got out his ivory toothpick and worked on his teeth while he considered. "Say, that's obstructing justice. But that's not my department. If you just want to forget it . . ."

A little while after that he retrieved his straw hat, took quite a while bidding both the Conovers good night and finally left. Sin and John Henry undressed in silence.

"You know, Sin," John Henry mused as he buttoned his pajama top absently, "I was thinking about what you said earlier tonight. Who are we?"

She giggled. "Gee, we know, don't we?"

We don't know who Barselou thinks we are. Sin, he's fighting somebody he's never seen—or he'd never have mistaken us for them."

Rolling back the sleeves of her robe contemplatively, Sin said, "But poor Anglin knew we were wrong—after he saw you. What was he trying to deliver?"

"That's over our heads." He folded back the bedcovers in a neat triangle on each side. "But first Anglin tries to drop off his 'it' here and no luck. Then he tries to give it to Barselou—and gets stopped right at his back door—bang! He gets delirious and thinks he's given something to me. Why me?"

"MAYBE he thought you were Barselou," his wife said. "You've been putting on weight lately."

"No," said John Henry, pointedly ignoring her, "it was probably a mistake. But, mistake or not, Anglin decided to give it to me instead of Barselou."

"That'd be swell—except that you didn't get anything, you don't know what you didn't get and you don't know where it is now." She started for the bathroom. "We'll leave well enough alone. You were the guy who said that."

"Okay, okay. But I notice you've been thinking about it too."

Sin paused with one hand on the doorknob. "Suppose Anglin came up the canyon counting the cottages instead of reading the numbers. That's what I've been thinking."

"Suppose he did. It's dark and it'd be easier than walking up on every front porch."

"You know how some buildings and hotels don't have any thirteenth floor? 'Cause people are superstitious? So they just skip that number."

"Wait a minute—I see what you mean, Sin—"

"Uh-huh. I'll bet there's no Cottage 13."

"Sure, that's it! Clever girl, honey. That means if Anglin came along counting cottages—and got our old Cottage 15—he was one number over."

"See, Johnny? Anglin came into the fourteenth cottage. But he wanted Cottage 14. Now let's drop it."

JOHN HENRY swung his legs off the bed and sat up excitedly. "Hey, maybe Anglin was going to meet the girl here in 14. Anglin makes a mistake and comes to 15, instead. As soon as she finds it out—wait a minute! How'd she find it out?"

Sin sighed "Does it matter?"

"Sure. After Anglin left you had me turn the porch light on, Sin. She could have seen the blood next to the door where he put his hand. So she guesses her man has been there and insists on having the cottage he visited. Make sense?"

"I guess so."

"She figures that Anglin left whatever he was to deliver in 15. So she wants to have the cottage and a good chance to look for it. Just in case, our stuff is searched, too."

"Well, which side do you have your Miss Jordan on?" Sin asked. "Did she mess up our clothes or did Barselou's Mr. Gayner? I'm lost." She opened the bathroom door.

"You know, Sin," said John Henry, pleasantly thoughtful, "I think it would be a smart thing if I tried to get chummy with the Jordan girl tomorrow and—"

Sin stopped right where she was. "Oh, you do!"

"Well, I just thought that she could probably clear things up for me in about two minutes. That's all."

"I don't doubt it. She looks like it, all right."

"You jealous?" John Henry asked in pleased tones.

"Well, maybe just a little bit."

"Don't be a dope. You don't have a thing to be jealous about and you know it."

"Oh, I don't know," said his wife grudgingly. "Maybe you like that slinky type."

"I like my women redheaded. With green eyes. And . . ." With both hands he traced a symmetrical outline in the air.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

I met a fellow last night whom I used to know more than thirty years ago but of whom I had lost track during the busy years of making a living and living the life for which one tries to make a living.

I had almost forgotten him.

BRANDEIS

But what a change he made in me after we had become reacquainted and revived old memories!

I'll tell you how it happened.

We were having company at home and after a heavy dinner we were sitting around the fireplace listening to the news on the radio.

The broadcaster told of a bunch of young "desperadoes" in New Jersey who lie in ambush and then come popping out of doorways with guns pointed at their victims.

The guns are only waterpistols, but they certainly do scare the very insides out of people, and several have fainted and had to be taken to hospitals.

"How terrible!" I exclaimed and delivered a little sermon on modern youth and juvenile delinquency and how awful the present age is and all that sort of rot that you hear so much nowadays.

Since I was the host and the dinner, thanks to my wife's cooking, had been very good, all the guests but one agreed with me.

That one, an awfully nice young lady of 62, asked me very calmly: "Weren't you ever a kid?"

We didn't pursue the conversation any further, because the card tables were set by now, and we played Canasta until it was time for the guests to go home and for me to go to bed.

While the wife was busy cleaning up the house and I was lying in bed waiting for her to come upstairs, with my eyes shut, a young fellow came into the room.

He looked vaguely familiar, but I couldn't quite place him.

He was a rather handsome young kid, a swaggering young kid, a bit on the fresh side, and you could see that he was nobody's angel.

"Who are you?" I said to him.

"Don't you know me?" he replied in wonder. "I am YOU when you were twenty."

THEN we started to reminisce.

And, believe you me, I was glad that my wife could not hear us.

I was glad that my mother and father and my sister and brother weren't in the room.

I was glad there were no policemen around and no teachers and no ministers.

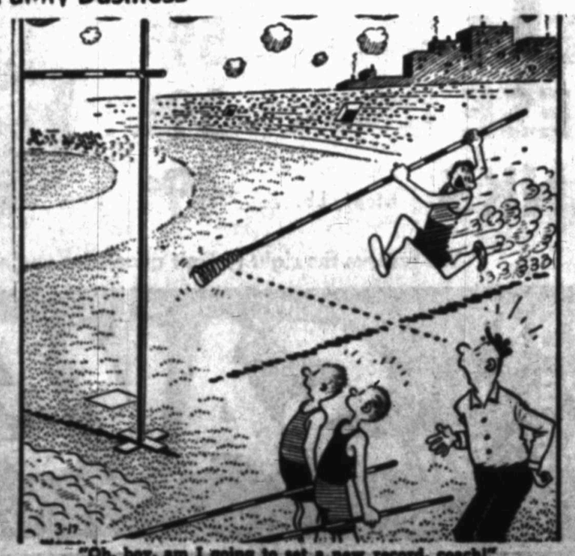

We talked and we talked and we laughed and we blushed and we agreed that if I were twenty again, I'd probably be no better than I was when I was twenty.

My wife came upstairs then, and I said sleepily:

"There isn't really anything so terribly bad about shooting waterpistols at people, is there?"

I don't know her answer, because I was asleep by the time it came.

HST Misses Censure

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Truman would have been severely censured by unanimous vote of the House of Representatives if he had uttered such an expression as "S.O.B." in that body of honorable he-men in the more mid-Victorian and innocent days of the early 1920's. In fact, he would have barely escaped expulsion.

The culprit at the time was an erascible and obnoxious member from Texas by the name of Tom Blanton. On October 4, 1921, he asked and was granted permission to extend his remarks in the Congressional Record: he did not read them on the floor.

TUCKER

When his church-going colleagues read their favorite literary work a few days later, they blushed in shame. Mr. Blanton had not used the presidential initials himself. He had merely inserted a letter from a constituent in which they appeared. Therefore, unlike Mr. Truman, he was guilty only by proxy, and he contended that he was rendering a public service.

SAVED: Finis Garrett of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, immediately introduced a resolution demanding that the offending Texan be expelled from the House for befouling the parliamentary atmosphere. Not a single member arose to defend Mr. Blanton.

The expulsion demand received 204 votes, with 113 in the negative. Since it requires a two-thirds vote to expell, Mr. Blanton was spared that disgrace.

He was saved this shame by the vote of the Tammany Democrats. Although they hated the Texan because of his prohibition sentiments, his remarks apparently did not offend their ears. Another ironic feature was that two of the most bitter Blanton critics were the finest back-room story tellers ever to sit in the chamber—Mr. Garrett himself and the late Nicholas Longworth.

REPRIMANDED: When the expulsion motion failed, Mr. Garrett moved that Mr. Blanton be reprimanded publicly. It carried unanimously, and the Texan had to stand in the well while the late Frederick H. Gillett, a prim Yankee from Massachusetts and then Speaker, said among other things:

"You inserted in the Congressional Record foul and obscene matter, which you knew you could not have spoken on this floor; and that disgusting matter, which could not have been circulated through the mails in any other publication without violating the law, was transmitted as part of the proceedings of the House to thousands of homes and libraries throughout the country, to be read by men and women, and worst of all, by children, whose prurient curiosity it will excite and corrupt."

The resolution of censure described the condemned remarks as "indecent, obscene, vulgar and vile."

Mr. Gillett never did explain where he got the impression that the Congressional Record had such a large circulation, or that it was read by "children."

MAILS: The Solicitor General of the Post Office Department, who has jurisdiction over what may and may not be sent through the mails, declines to say whether he would bar matter containing the letters used by President Truman.

The S. G. says that it would depend altogether on how they were used, and on their connection with the full content of the material in which they appeared. Thus, if they were applied as a term of endearment or in a rough but complimentary fashion to an old member of Missouri's Battery B, they would be held harmless.

Since the President did not utter the initials with a "smile," his speech on this occasion could not be franked through the mails if a cautious White House stenographer had not cleaned up his language in the official release.

CREDIT: Mrs. Howell Moorhead, a prominent Washingtonian associated with a civic-minded organization dealing with national and international affairs, gets credit from Narcotic Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger for inspiring the breakup of several of the world's most dangerous and successful smuggling rings. A year ago, she bobbed up in the office of Representative Gordon Canfield of New Jersey, who then headed the Appropriations Subcommittee handling Treasury Department funds.

"Do you know what Commissioner Anslinger could do," she asked, "if you gave him only an additional $16,000 in his appropriations?"

As a result of her visit, he questioned Mr. Anslinger on the latter's appearance before the subcommittee. Unused to such generosity, the narcotics chief almost fell out his chair. But he got the money because he had won a reputation of never asking for more funds than he could use legitimately.

AGENT: The $16,000 enabled Commissioner Anslinger to assign a special agent to the world's worst centers of the opium smuggling trade—Turkey, Italy, Marseilles and Iran. His representative had been a star O. S. S. man during the war.

At Istanbul he worked himself into the confidence of a gang which processed the drug in a supposedly closed factory. When he collected his evidence, he laid it before the Turkish chief of police. The place was raided, thousands of dollars' worth of dope seized and thirty went to jail.

At Trieste he tracked down a group of exporters engaged in shipping the illicit product to New York. He tried to link "Lucky" Luciano, ex-New York vice czar, with the trade, but obtained no proof on that score.

At Marseilles he worked with the French Surete to smash another gang of opium operators. In Iran, seat of exports to the Far East, he persuaded the government to ban future shipments to India and China.

SEN. ELLENDER SETS RECORD

Louisiana Solon's Action Hit

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON,—It is a comfort to turn our eyes for a moment away from all the trouble in the world and divert ourselves with a feat of plain human endurance in which we can take great pride, for it was by one of our own.

So, without further ado, a big round cheer for Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana who now holds the undisputed record for the longest continuous speech in the Senate completely on his own. He did not have the help of quorum calls and other respites that usually keep a filibuster going and helped a couple of other senators many years ago to hold the floor longer than his 12 hours and 21 minutes.

STOKES

It is something, indeed, of which to be very proud. So, too, are some bits of rhetoric in which the senator indulged, which are very reminiscent if you know anything of his past career.

Threat Is Seen

With brow furrowed ominously, the senator drew a fearsome picture of what might happen if the administration won its way with a rule to check filibusters. It might then proceed from a two-thirds vote rule to limit debate to a majority vote rule, and then it could dictate to Congress, could reorganize the courts, including the Supreme court, and Democratic government would be destroyed and the constitution "be merely a piece of paper." Just like that, to hear the senator tell it.

His gloomy forecast of coming doom was so horrendous and graphic that it seemed to come almost from personal experience.

Most vivid was his conclusion which he said might look "fantastic," but wasn't, to-wit:

"The bureaucrats will have a slate of legislation all ready for Congress. The assembly line will go to work immediately, and before the end of the week the Senate can start grinding out bills. This new-found majority power can probably do everything by the first of February, and then all of us can go home. When we get home we may find some soldiers in our back yard to make sure that nobody harms the efficient senators, but that will be all right. It will be in the interest of efficiency."

He gave an almost exact description of what happened in Louisiana under the late Huey Long. The senator should know. He was the Louisiana dictator's right-hand lieutenant in the legislature, first as floor leader, then as speaker of the House.

He sat in the speaker's chair the night in November, 1934, when Huey stomed in, took the rostrum and read to the House a list of 44 bills he wanted passed post-haste. His orders were carried out in 24 hours. As the legislature supinely voted his pleasure, Huey would whisper a humorous quip into the speaker's ear, then cavort about the floor, cracking jokes and cracking the whip. It was all hilarious and so much fun and done quickly so everybody could go back home. Huey had been elected United States senator, but he stayed in the state to fix things up to his liking before he went to Washington, leaving a hand-picked dupe in the governor's chair which he vacated.

Put State In Chains

By that series of bills he took over the state completely, down to sheriff's offices. He was king. Allen Ellender took his orders, carried them out, and also took his share of the abuse that Huey poured, disdainfully, on his stooges.

The present apostle of slow motion in the Senate, or no motion at all, was literally a legislative speed demon then as Huey's man. He was really efficient. This reporter was in the state in that era. It took the newspapers three or four days to go through the bills Huey had literally stuffed down the throats of his legislature and find out just what they meant, to learn how tightly he had wrapped the chains about the state.

Naturally, after all that, nothing more could seem "fantastic" to Senator Ellender.

But the United States Senate is not the Louisiana legislature. Senator Ellender is unduly frightened over his own past. Huey Long came here and was a nuisance at times; but he never got anywhere with running the Senate, no more than his lieutenant of those days. Huey was quite a filibusterer himself, doing one stretch of 15 hours, the second longest on record. But he had the help of quorum calls and other restful interludes. His successor did it all by himself.

Thereby, we assume, saving the constitution and preserving Democratic government.

Woman Uses Scholarship Won At Virginia Fair 28 Years Ago

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. March 17 (AP) — Turis Rinehart won a scholarship for her exhibit at Charleston State Fair but waited 28 years to use it.

Other studies, marriage and sundry activities took up all her time during the past quarter century but she finally got around to enrolling in West Virginia University's extension course. Turis (now Mrs. King) will use the scholarship to complete work for a bachelor's degree in education.

Rent Increases Foreseen If Controls Abolished

Lubbock Official Fears 'Gouging'

"If rent controls are abolished in the Lubbock area we can expect some rents to be increased as much as 100 to 200 per cent," Roy B. Carnes, director of the Lubbock office of the housing expediter said Thursday.

Carnes made this statement in answer to a question as to what the effects would be on rental properties in this area if the present bill approved by the House of Representatives should be approved by the Senate in its present form.

Plans Are Unknown

"Of course we don't know yet just what the congressmen propose to set up in the nature of the suggested 'home rule' plan," Carnes admitted. "There is no telling at this time whether areas would be controlled through a state, county, city or regional administration. Then too, there is the possibility that there will be no control whatsoever."

In clarifying his statement on some anticipated exorbitant increases, Carnes explained that he felt sure that a majority of the landlords would stay in line. Any increases they might make would be small and would be enough to allow a fair return on their property. In these cases they would be entirely justified, he said.

Some Profits Are Excessive

On the other hand, Carnes pointed out, there are some property owners who are already getting excessive returns and profits from their rentals. A number of these persons have expressed their intentions of getting still more, if and when the controls are lifted.

"It is the gougers that hurt the rest of the property owners," Carnes stated. "The few that practice these tactics have given a black eye to landlords as a whole and have aroused the public against them."

In general Carnes felt that the average landlord in the Lubbock area was getting a nice return on his investment. Those who feel they are not getting a proper and fair rent return have only to make application to the office of the housing expediter here and it their argument has merit they can expect a fair readjustment.

Increases Here Granted

Carnes said that 34 such petitions had been filed since January 1, 1949. Of this number more than 80 per cent of the requested increases were granted. The rent boosts averaged $4 per month per unit.

"It's rather remarkable," Carnes continued, "that so few applications have been filed. We hear complaints all the time. In fact at a recent public meeting a number of

Legislature Quits Work For Weekend

House Group Okays School Reform Bills

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 17—The legislature met briefly today, then quit work for the weekend.

The House will resume work at 10 a.m. Monday morning and the Senate at 10:30 a.m.

On Monday's schedule for the Senate is an executive session at 11:30 a.m. to consider nominations of the governor.

Eighty-seven bills were introduced in the House today before adjournment.

Quarterly Reports Urged

One measure, by Rep. H. A. Hull of Ft. Worth, would require quarterly reports from the state comptroller on the state's financial condition. Hull said he hoped to work out a plan which would allow legislative appropriations to be slashed in proportion to the state's financial status at the end of each period.

Another bill, by Rep. Pearce Johnson of Austin, would set up a state youth development council to curb juvenile delinquency. A bill presented by Rep. O. E. Latimer of San Antonio would prohibit high school fraternities or sororities.

The Senate today set two bills for special consideration. A bill to set up a three-man real estate commission was scheduled for March 28. A bill amending the firemen and policemen civil service act was set for March 29.

The House session today followed an all-night meeting of the Education committee over the controversial Gilmer-Aikin school reorganization bills. The three bills, already passed by the Senate, were recommended by the committee for House passage after 10 hours and 10 minutes of discussion.

The lengthy session ended at 5:40 a.m. today with about 400 of the original 3,000 spectators on hand for the final vote.

Opponents of the bills promised to carry their fight to the House floor.

The committee voted 16 to 5 in favor of an amended version of Senator Jim Taylor's central education agency bill that would drastically reorganize the state's direction of public schools. The bill, as rewritten by Rep. George Nokes of Corsicana, would set up a 21-member elective state board of education instead of the nine-member group as first proposed. Nokes said his version of the bill was in answer to opponents who argued a nine-member board

Student Groups To Meet Today

Seeking to improve relations among schools in the new District 3AA, representatives of students councils of the five member schools will meet here today for a luncheon and discussion of their problems, it has been announced.

Representatives of high schools in Odessa, Midland, Brownfield, Lamesa and Lubbock will have dinner together at Chicken Village at noon. M. C. McCabe, sponsor of the Lubbock High school student council and dean of boys, is making arrangements for the meeting.

Lubbock students who will attend the meeting are Charles Galey, student council president; Sammy Dunn, student council secretary; Joyce Worrell, head cheer leader; J. C. Chambers, vice president of the student council; Garnet Reeves, president of the junior class; Rossi Stiles, secretary of the junior class; and Mona Powell, junior cheer leader; and Don Hancock, junior class vice-president.

WOODWARD, Okla., (U.P.)—Death prevented fulfillment of the dying wish of 72-year-old V. E. Bailey, who had wanted the Rev. C. A. Kurtz to preach his funeral sermon. Forty-five minutes after Bailey died, the minister suffered a fatal heart attack.

Man Acquitted In Grain Case

MCKINNEY, March 17 (AP) —A district court jury this afternoon acquitted C. K. Denison, 32, on charges of illegal grain dealings.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberating about 15 minutes.

Denison was charged with theft by false pretext of $171.02 from the Burrus feed mill at McKinney The state accused him of placing a weight on the end of grain-weighing scales, thereby causing the scales to register excess weight on a load of grain belonging to Sherman trucker M. A. Hudgeon.

18 Men Under Indictment

Hudgeon and 17 other Grayson county men are under indictment in grain cases. Denison denied in testimony that he had put a weight on the scale, and said he "never saw anyone else put a weight on the scale."

District Judge V. M. Johnston charged the jury today not to convict Denison on the testimony of M. B. Jernigan of Bells, Tex., unless it found that Jernigan's testimony was corroborated by that of other witnesses.

He called Jernigan's testimony circumstantial.

Jernigan, a state witness, said he heard Denison and Hudgeon make a deal to falsify weights, and later saw Hudgeon give Denison a check for $85.

The judge also told the jury that to convict Denison it must decide that the state proved that a load of milo maize delivered Oct. 25, 1947 at the Burrus mill was the identical load bought by Hudgeon at Edmonson, Tex., the day before.

The judge said the jury must also feel the state had proved that no maize was added to Hudgeon's load at the Shelton Mitchell farm

Square Dancing Gains Popularity With All Age Levels In Lubbock

If you don't learn to square dance, you're going to be out of step in Lubbock in the future.

For the sound of shuffling feet may be heard nearly everywhere a group of people of all ages get together in Lubbock these days. The square dance craze, smouldering for the last several years, has flamed to a high pitch this week with several hundred persons taking instructions in the school conducted nightly at the Texas Tech gymnasium by Jimmy Clossin of El Paso, noted square dance caller.

Two classes, the beginners and the advanced, have been learning the intricacies of the various dances until many of them have become adept at tripping the light fantastic.

Clossin, who has published a book on square dance calls, added five new calls to his repertoire last night. For the benefit of those attending the classes and readers of The Avalanche-Journal, the calls are reproduced below:

Man Sentenced Here On Check Violations

Thirty days in county jail and court costs were assessed Thursday against N. D. Emery, 28, in each of two cases charging violation of state check laws, the county attorney's office announced. A plea of guilty was entered in each case.

W. T. Bridges, about 36, was fined $100 and court costs on a plea of guilty of liquor law violation, and J. D. Cook pleaded guilty of check law violation and was fined $5 and costs, officials said.

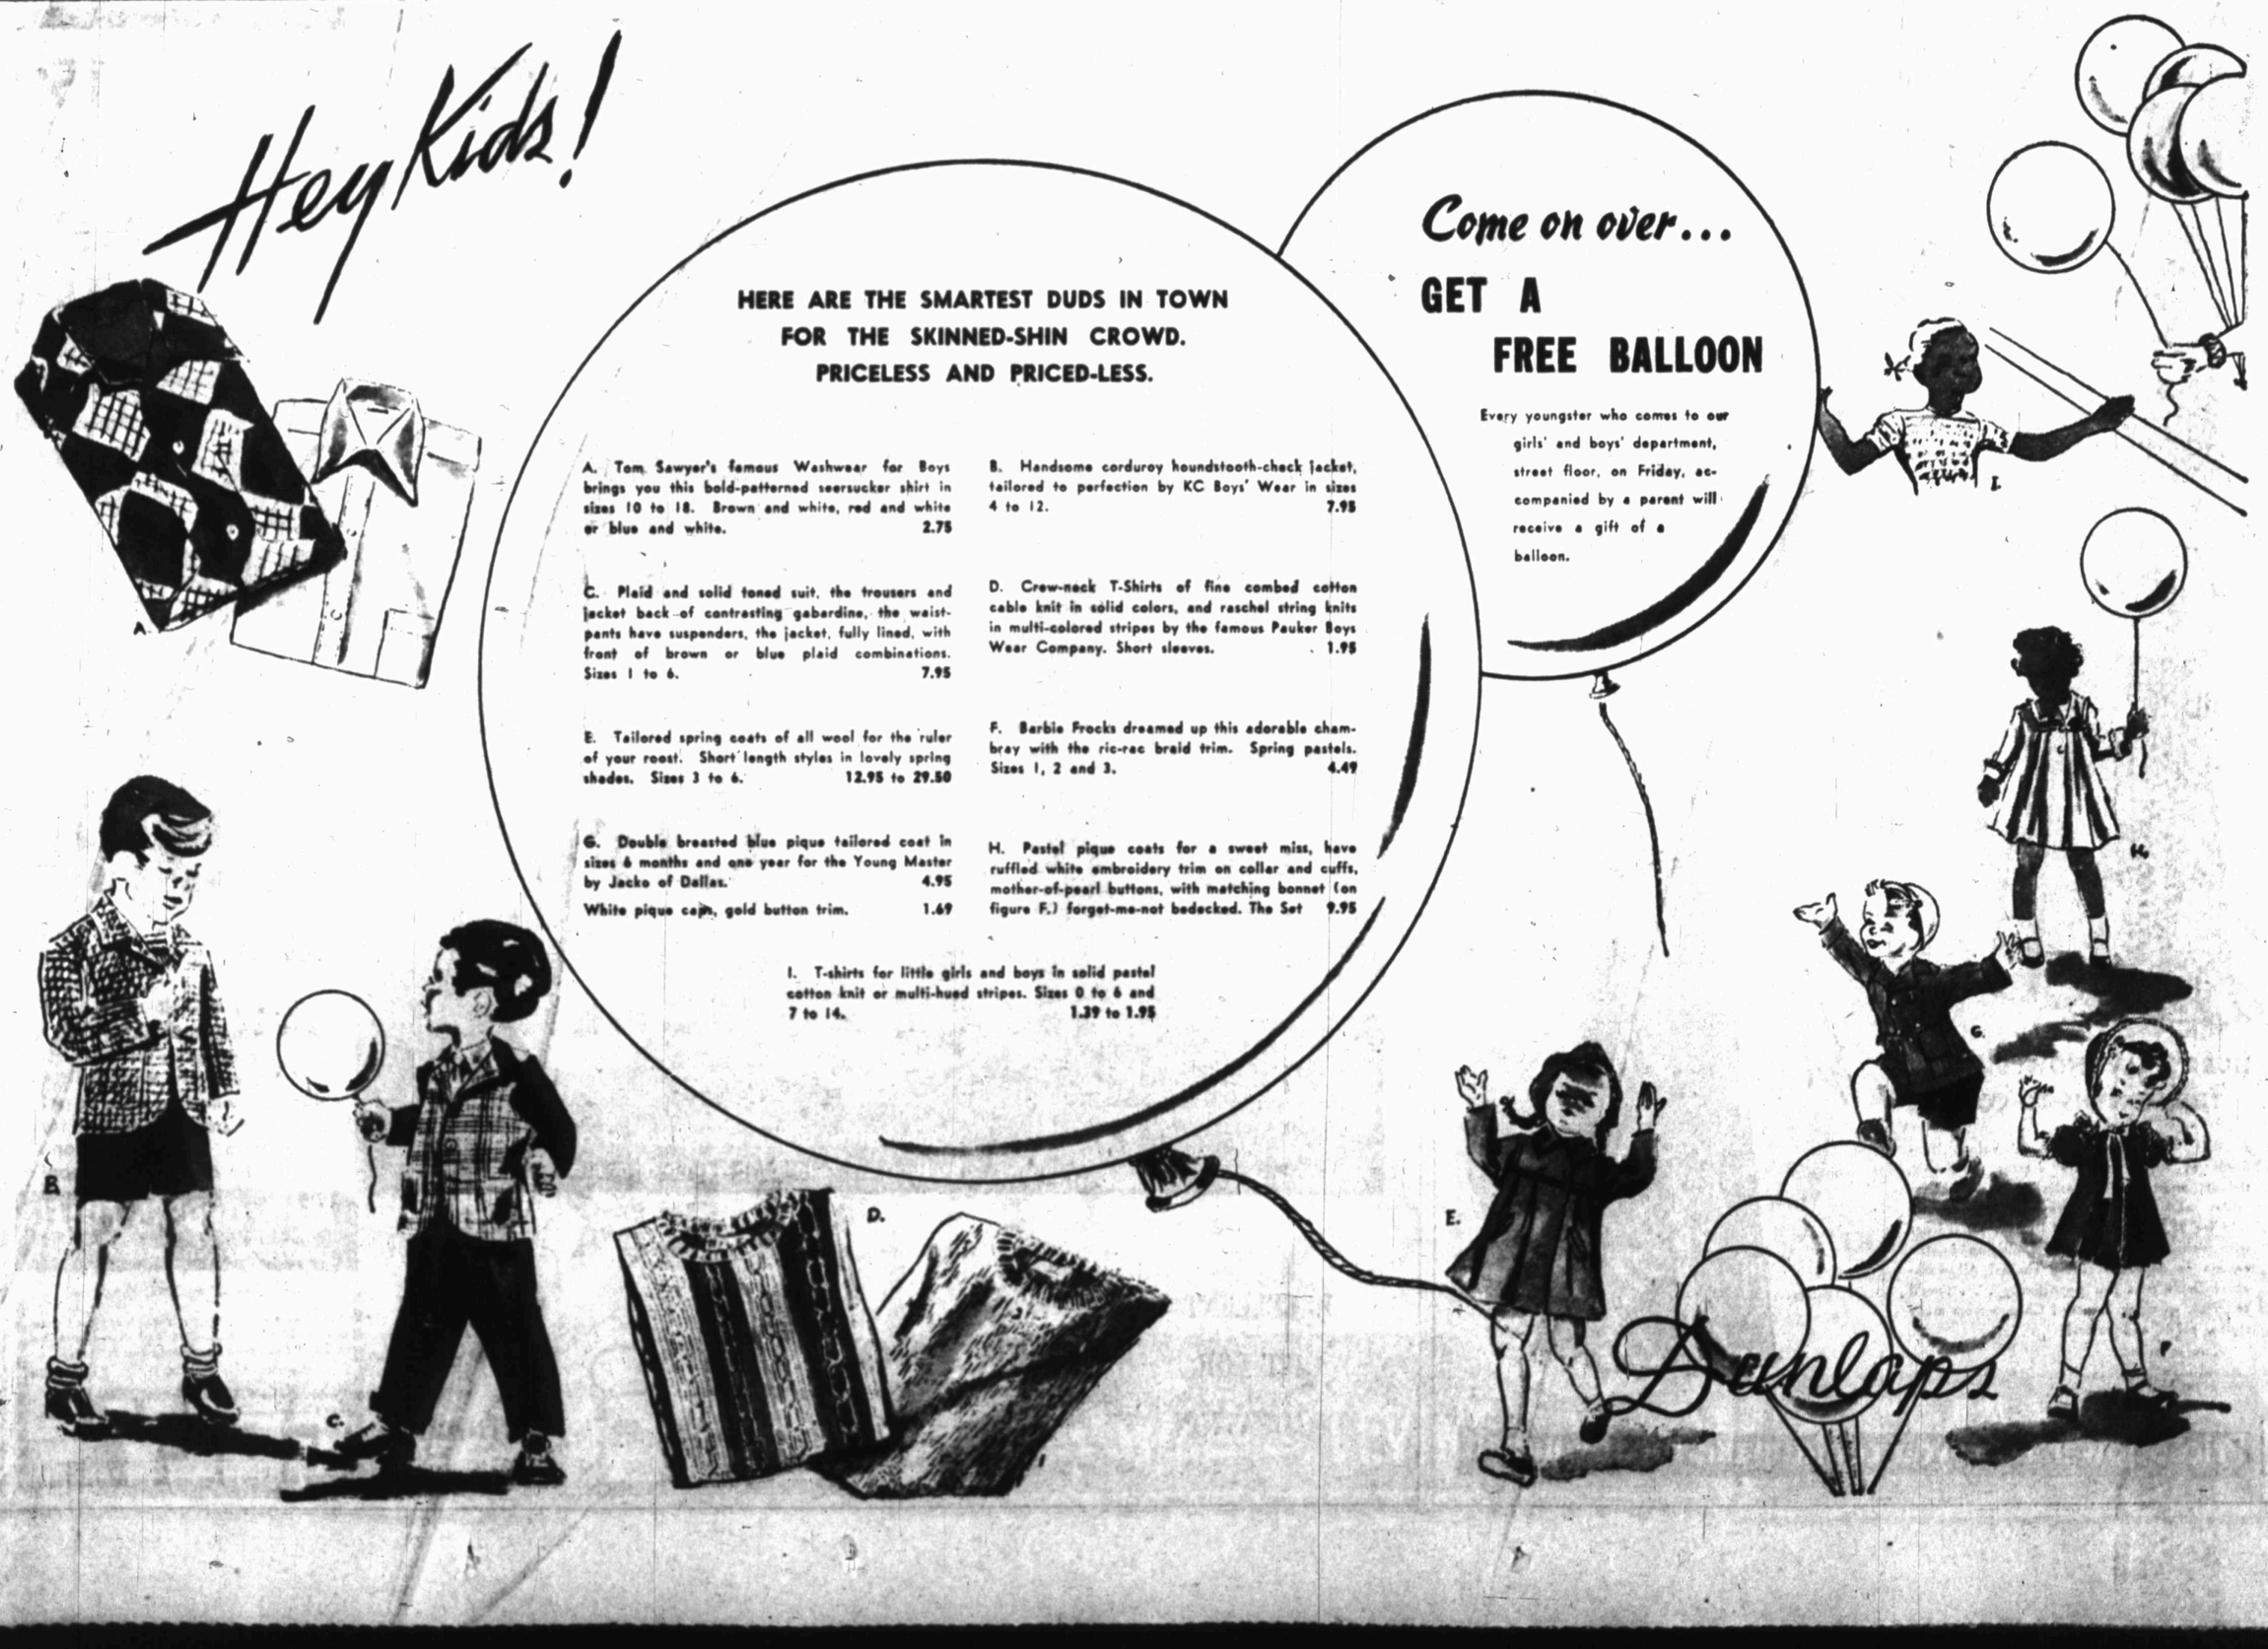

Welford Hooper, 27-year-old negro of 1601 Ave. A, was placed under a peace bond of $250 Thursday afternoon by Justice of the Peace D. W. Robertson.

The peace bond hearing resulted from an affidavit of Frances Marie Hooper, Robertson said.

NOT ALL SOVIETS PLEASED WITH RECENT CHANGES

Russian UN Official Now In U.S. 'Indisposed' On Learning Of Gromyko's Promotion In Red Shakeup

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 17—Not all Russians cheered when V. M. Molotov was succeeded as Soviet foreign minister by Andrei Vishinsky.

Take big-bodied, round-faced Jacob A. Malik.

Diplomats and other workers at Lake Success are talking about the visible disappointment of the Soviet delegate who came to Lake Success less than a year ago to pickup the duties of Andrei Gromyko.

The announcement that Molotov had left the foreign office and that Vishinsky was taking his place is believed to have touched off the highest hopes and fears in Malik's breast.

Long ago, hints and leaks from sources among iron curtain delegations pointed to the fact that Malik was waiting for "something big" and that they considered him a man worth watching inside the Soviet hierarchy.

Then came the announcement that former Russian U. N. delegate Gromyko had been promoted into Vishinsky's shoes, thus becoming Malik's immediate chief and the Kremlin spokesman who can be expected to appear in New York next month for the second part of the General Assembly's session.

Apparently, that was too much for Malik. The next morning he sent word to Lake Success that he was "indisposed" and later claimed that a severe cold kept him abed. Sessions of the Security Council and the Atomic Energy commission were cancelled for several days.

Arrest Causes Speculation

Some said Malik wanted to keep out of sight until the excitement of the F.B.I. arrest of UN staffer Valentin Gubitchev had passed off. But those "in the know" winked and let it go at that.

Malik has enough of a thick skin to take the Gubitchev incident in stride. But the appointment of Gromyko over his own head to a key post in the Kremlin—that was something else again.

Malik arrived in the spring, full of vigor and vitality. Gromyko looked tired, old and obviously worried. Malik gave the correspondents a civil greeting and even answered a few harmless questions. In the official roster of Moscow diplomacy, he rated fairly high and his background as former ambassador in Tokyo bestowed on him the classification of a Soviet expert for the Far East.

Tension Noted

In actuality, Malik outranked Gromyko although the latter caught up with a promotion some months later. Nevertheless, observers at Lake Success were quick to note — and sense — that there was no love lost between the two chief Russian diplomats at the UN.

For one thing, Gromyko continued to live his own life, conduct his own affairs, eat by himself in the diplomat's restaurant and in general to treat Malik with casual indifference. Sometimes, when photographers insisted, the two stood together for a photograph but in the diplomat's lounge each preferred to look the other way and avoid conversation.

After Gromyko got on a Swedish boat with a farewell remark that he hoped never to set foot on U. S. soil again, Malik displayed his own prowess as a Soviet diplomat and propagandist. In comparision to Gromyko, he was soft-spoken and undramatic.

Malik Lacks 'Glamor'

There was one asset which Malik lacked. That was the "glamor voice" and the personal attraction which Gromyko played to good effect over his three years as Russian UN representative. It was not unusual for Gromyko to speak before a packed house.

In the past year, Malik more than once showed that he did not approve Gromyko's popularity. Questioned on occasion by correspondents as to Gromyko's whereabouts and whether he would return to Lake Success, Malik was apt to lose his smile and turn a baleful eye on the inquisitive one.

"I am too busy to worry about the affairs of others," he would retort. Then he'd walk away.

Brushes Off Reporters

In Paris, where Vishinsky was head boss during the Assembly, the word got around that Gromyko was coming from Moscow to be second man. Malik brushed off questions so abruptly that he was not approached again.

Vishinsky was cagey. He told inquiring correspondents that Gromyko was hard at work in the Moscow foreign office. Previously, during Assembly sessions at Flushing Meadows in New York, Vishinsky and Gromyko appeared to have much in common. They were frequently seen going and coming together. In Paris, Vishinsky and Malik seemed to stick to the formality of official relations. Vishinsky never posed with Malik, or took him by the arm as he might do with a foreign delegate he had attacked a few minutes previously.

But maybe the coolness between Vishinsky and Malik was just imaginary — from the European standpoint. Maybe Malik just bet on the wrong horse.

Rites For Mrs. J. D. Henly's Father Are Scheduled Saturday

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. Saturday in Greenville for C. B. Fleet, 80, father of Mrs. J. D. Henly of 1509 Twenty-fifth.

Mr. Henly died early Thursday in St. John's hospital in Fort Worth after suffering a heart attack. He had lived in Fort Worth since 1927, and prior to that time had lived in Greenville.

The body was carried to Greenville by Gray-Sorrels Funeral home of that city for final rites. Burial will follow in the family plot in a Greenville cemetery.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. C. B. Fleet of Fort Worth; the daughter, Mrs. Henly; two grandsons, Wayne Henly, display advertising manager for The Avalanche-Journal, and Grady Henly of Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Henly left this morning for Fort Worth after receiving word of her father's death. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Henly and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Henly left Friday afternoon for Greenville to attend the services.

Truck-Bus Collision Hurts 31 In Florida

SARASOTA, Fla., March 17 (INS)—Thirty-one persons were injured today, seven seriously, in a bus-milk truck collision on a narrow bridge four miles south of Sarasota.

The Florida Highway patrol reported the impact of the collision sent the truck tumbling down an incline.

The milk truck and the St. Petersburg-to-Miami bus were headed in opposite directions when the accident occurred shortly before noon.

Thirty passengers and the truck driver, Felix B. Wellman, of Sarasota, were taken to the Sarasota hospital for check-ups and treatment.

Wellman and six of the passengers were admitted to the hospital. The others were released.

In addition to Wellman, the following were hospitalized:

Mrs. Margaret Lane, of Staten Island, N. Y.; Mrs. Ida Dibble, of Fort Myers, Fla.; Mrs. Sadie Weaver, of Simpson, Kan.; Mrs. Jennie Robinson, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Simpson Myer, of Lake Placid, N. Y., George H. Jones, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Cancer Research Aid Developed By Two California Scientists

LOS ANGELES, March 17 (AP) An aid to cancer research which also should permit the study of the polio virus inside nerve cells is disclosed by a University of Southern California scientist.

The aid is a new process of slicing cell tissues as thin as 1/250,000th of an inch, ten times thinner than previous methods.

It was developed by Dr. Daniel G. Pease, assistant professor of anatomy at USC and Dr. Richard F. Baker, assistant professor of experimental medicine.

Dr. Pease said yesterday the new process permits detailed observation under the electron microscope. Under the old system, he explained, tissue slices were too thick to see through.

"Polio virus has been seen before under the electron microscope," he added, "but only after it was isolated, or extracted, from cells.

"It is reasonable to believe now that the virus can be studied inside nerve cells where it reproduces and destroys the nerves so that paralysis occurs."

Snow made headlines recently when there was a light fall of it in Paris.

SMASH AT NANKING FORESEEN

Strengthening Of Red Armies North Of Yangtze Reported

By PETER LIU
INS Staff Correspondent

NANKING, March 17 — Reinforcement of Chinese Communist armies north of the Yangtze river for a possible smash to isolate Nanking from Shanghai was reported today by a government spokesman in Nanking.

The spokesman, Gen. Teng Wen-Yi, told a news conference that five red armies containing 100,000 troops have been moved southward into position to join two big Communist army groups ready for a drive across the Yangtze barrier.

To Shift Southward

The five armies, he said, are part of the command of Gen. Lin Piao, Red commander in Manchuria. Teng said they were shifted to Communist-held Suchow, 220 miles northwest of Nanking on the railroad running from Tientsin to Pukow on the north bank of the Yangtze opposite the capital.

Gen. Teng predicted they would soon be moved farther south to join the two large army groups under Red generals Chen Yi and Liu Po-Cheng on the northern rim of the Yangtze valley.

He reported that assault units of the two army groups have been making attacks for the past week on government bridgeheads on the north bank of the Yangtze 100 miles east of Nanking preliminary to a drive in force to cross the river and isolate the capital.

Gen. Teng admitted that the Nationalist government fears the government's navy cruiser Chungking has fallen into Communist hands but added that a search by government planes has failed to locate the vessel.

WOULD BAN VISIT

HOLLYWOOD, March 17 (INS) The State department was asked by the Labor League of Hollywood voters today to bar the pending visit of Russian composer Dmitri Shostakovitch to the United States. The league, claiming a member ship of 20,000, said in its telegram to Secretary Dean Acheson that the composer's visit was to "undermine our national security."

New Argentine Constitution Permits Peron To Succeed Self

BUENOS AIRES, March 17 (U.P.) —President Juan D. Peron ruled Argentina today under a new constitution which permits him to succeed himself and places capital "at the service of the nation's economy."

Thousands of persons pushed their way into Congress square yesterday to hear the Argentine strong man utter "I swear" when asked to uphold the new charter adopted last week.

Stores, restaurants, cafes, bars, theaters and other places of business were closed for the ceremonies on the national holiday.

As Peron took the oath of allegiance to the constitution in the vast hall of the Chamber of Deputies, a 21-gun salute was fired and army bands played the national anthem. Loud speakers mounted on corner lamp posts sent his words echoing up and down the Aveniada De Mayo leading to the Congress building.

Loading Mexican Comic Plans Television Project For Country

MEXICO CITY, March 17 (AP)—Mexico's leading comic, Mario Moreno "Tantinflas," plans to pioneer television in Mexico.

He has formed two companies, one to build a 6,000,000 peso ($850,000) transmitter in Mexico City, and the other to import and sell 20,000 receivers costing 56,000,000 pesos ($8,000,000).

Assassins Kill U. S. Missionary In Korea

SEOUL, March 17 (INS) —Two masked assassins shot and killed Mrs. Ethel Underwood, 60, a Presbyterian missionary, during a tea party at her home in Seoul today.

Authorities described the slaying as "political," pointing out there was no attempt at robbery and that Mrs. Underwood was known to be sympathetic to the conservative cause in Korea.

Mrs. Underwood, a missionary in Korea since 1917, was shot when she went to the front door of her home to investigate the noise of a scuffle between a houseboy and one of the assassins. The second gunman fired at another woman attending the party but missed.

The gunmen escaped while Mrs. Underwood was being rushed to a hospital. She was pronounced dead upon arrival at the hospital.

Mrs. Underwood was the former Ethel Van Wagoner of Kingston, Mich.

She was associated with her husband, Horace, at the Chosen Christian university in Korea, which he headed for some years and of which he is now president emeritus.

The couple was married in the United States Dec. 16, 1916 and sailed for Korea May 9, 1917. Two sons, Horace, jr., and Rev. John Underwood are missionaries in Korea.

ACTOR IS BOOKED

HOLLYWOOD, March 17 (INS) Actor Jack Bentel was booked on suspicion of drunk driving today after highway patrolmen reported that he was speeding on the wrong side of a street, without lights and without a driver's license.

Signal System To Warn Pilots Of Approaching Planes Invented

BALTIMORE, March 17 (INS)— Charles Adler, jr., a Baltimore lighting engineer, has designed a signal system to warn pilots of approaching aircraft and prevent collisions.

The transmitter sends out irregular, micro-wave impluses in all directions within a 20-mile radius. When another plane comes within range of the transmitter, the signal lights up the nose receiver on the side from which it is approaching. If the plane is dead ahead, both receivers light up.

Norwegian Faces Russians Daily On Far Northern 'Frontline' Farm

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ON THE RUSSIAN-NORWEGIAN FRONTIER, March 18—Grandpa Hans Hildonen has a frontline farm. But he didn't plan it that way when he went into the Arctic wilderness nearly a generation ago and cleared his rocky land.

When he was younger, wrestling a living for his 11 children, he never dreamed he would see men kill other men on his peaceful 400 acres.

He lives on the left bank of the Pasvik river. On the other side is Russia. You can't see any curtain, of course. But there is a slender watchtower of the Soviet army, rising above the misty silhouette of the Kolosjoki Nickel works.

Friends Are Gone

The Finnish farmers, whom Hildonen used to know across the river, are gone. The distant nickel works has the guarded air of a concentration camp. The rest of the eastern horizon looks devoid of life. It is what the Russians call a security belt. In other words, reserved exclusively for the Soviet army.

Grandpa Hildonen is a wiry, baldish, pipe-smoking, story-telling, Social Democrat (by nature and politics), who says he never felt better than he does at 67.

While the Germans were scorching the Norwegian earth in 1944, Hildonen hid out for four nights. When he trudged back to the farm, his house and barn were ashes.

Rebuilds Farm

He nailed together a little hut and started to do over twenty years of work. The commander of the Russian battalion in the neighborhood gave strict orders that no soldier was to help himself to any of Grandpa Hildonen's surviving worldly goods.

In 1945, when it came time for the Red army to leave, the commander dropped in for a farewell cup of coffee. He and Grandpa ate sweet cakes and held tiny cubes of sugar between their teeth as they sipped their coffee. Hildonen says he talked of many things, but before the visit was over, he got one thing off his chest that had been bothering him particularly.

Wonders About Troops

"Your army, Kamerat Major," Hildonen said, "makes a great business of the frontier, this Pasvik river. In the old days, we and the Finns used to go across it as much as anybody wanted. No nonsense. But your army would arrest me if I did it today, just an old man, looking for a strayed milk cow or a bit of talk with neighbors.

"Excuse me, Kamerat Major, but why must Russia keep her frontiers locked, now, when she is at peace, when it is only Norwegian farmers who knock at the door?"

Hildonen says the Russian weighed his answer, and while it wasn't exactly to the point, it had a ring of honesty:

"Good times will come in Russia one day. I can't say when, but they will come. When they do, the frontiers will open. Be patient, Gospodin Hildonen."

Grandpa's Class Dangerous

Grandpa is well aware that in the rigid nomenclature of Moscow Communism he is obviously a kulak—a dangerously rich peasant, whose 400 acres automatically make him suspected as an enemy of the proletariat.

To other Norwegians, he is merely one of innumerable pioneers who have built up homesteads in the north into decent livings. He turned to the land, because as an unemployed miner in Kirkenes, he couldn't support his wife and 11 children on a dole of 21 kroner ($4.20) a week.

Earning came naturally to Hildonen. His father was a farmer before him. When he had to start over in 1945, the Norwegian labor government granted him 23,000 kroner ($4,600) for his war losses.

He has stretched that modest sum to the limit. It has supplied the materials for a new house, a new red barn, and several other outbuildings. The labor was mostly Hildonen.

Hay Grows On Farm

He has five cows, a horse, and a half dozen sheep. He harvests 20 metric tons of hay each summer from his craggy land, and grows his own garden truck.

Marie, his 56-year-old spouse, spins as well as sews, cooks and keeps house. A daughter, Telma, 21, and a son, Otto, 24, are still on the farm. Another son is in the Norwegian army. Another is married to an English girl and works in Kirkenes. Other children are scattered over the North Cape country.

The farmhouse has a battery radio, but no electricity or running water. Grandpa isn't sure when he can save enough to afford them, but he says he won't feel right until they're installed.

Winters Are Long

He doesn't mind working in the Arctic—"three months cold, nine months winter"—because he says it keeps a person from "getting overripe."

Since he can see Russia any time he looks eastward beyond his own fields, he is frequently reminded of the Russian problem. Because his is a frontline farm, you might expect him to worry. But he doBesn't.

"Nobody around here seems to agree with me now," he exclaims, rubbing his white-stubbled chin with a calloused palm, "but I say it—we'er going to have peace!

"You can't tell me that men, and the Russians are men, are always going to bow to a dictator's whip. I'm counting on men like the major."

Head Of Evangelistic Work In Methodist Church To Speak Here

Dr. Harry Denman of Nashville, Tenn., head of evangelistic work in the Methodist church, will speak in evangelistic services which will open Sunday and continue through next week at Asbury Methodist church.

Four services will be conducted Sunday. One will be held for the youth division at 10 a.m., one at regular worship time at 11 a.m., one at 3 p.m. for men from Methodist churches of this area, and one at the regular evening service time at 7:30 p.m.

Approximately 50 churches are expected to send delegations to the men's rally at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Residents Of Northwest Tell Tales For Sea Serpents, Giants

RUMY LAKE, B. C., March 17. (AP)—Sasquatch and Cadborosaurus, each of whom would be the "catch of the year" for any zoo in the country, remain allergic to the 20th century.

Cadborosaurus, in fact, hasn't been heard from in many months. Previously, natives and fishermen claimed to have obtained frequent, although momentary, glimpses of "Caddie" the sea serpent as he glided along the western Canadian coastline.

Then there's Sasquatch. Ten feet tall and covered with shaggy brown hair. He completes the other half of British Columbia's prize pair of primeval relics.

Sasquatch supposedly emerged from the forests a short time ago. Indians long had claimed the existence of a tribe of hairy giants not far from the Washington State border. The native word for giant is "Sasquatch."

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and to aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

New Plymouth To Be Displayed In Lubbock Showrooms Today; New Features Emphasized

The new line of Plymouth automobiles, with outstanding mechanical improvements and up-to-the-minute styling, make their appearance in three dealer showrooms here and throughout the nation today.

Rub Motor company, 901 Ave. H; Fenner Tubbs, 1302 Tenth; and Dickinson Motor company, 1413 Ave. J, will show various models of the new cars starting this morning.

Completely Redesigned

Completely redesigned and streamlined, the new Plymouth contains a 97-horsepower engine which is smoother, livelier, and more economical. Other changes make notable contributions to beauty, safety, and passenger comfort.

Wheelbase has been increased for a better ride and more road stability but at the same time the over-all length has been reduced for ease of handling. Although lower and narrower, the new bodies provide greater interior room for passengers. The car's appearance reflects a complete change from last year's models.

"Common Sense" Streamlining

Designers have achieved a "common sense" streamlining in which ease of handling, safety and comfort have received strong consideration. Fenders which blend perfectly into body lines are nevertheless separate and detachable, thus avoiding sheet metal masses so costly to repair or replace.

Increased visibility is provided in the windshield which is 37 per cent larger and the rear window which is 35.4 percent larger. Windshield wipers clear 61.5 percent greater area.

Seats Are Wider

Sedan seats are wider and deeper, both in front and rear. The width of both cushions has been increased (5" in front, 6" in rear —front seat width 56," rear seat width 57") with panels and arm rests so located as to take maximum advantage of the interior space. Rear seat room in the Club Coupe has been increased to the equivalent of the sedan. There is more head and leg room in the sedan rear seat.

The new Plymouth line includes nine distinct automobiles. There are four special deluxe and two deluxe types on a 118-inch wheelbase, one inch longer than last year's. In addition, Plymouth will build three deluxe models on a brand new 111-inch wheelbase. This wheelbase group consists of a two-door sedan, a three-passenger coupe, and a new body type, the Suburban.

Engine Performance Improved

Available on the 118-inch wheelbase will be a club coupe and a four-door sedan in the deluxe series, while the special deluxe group will include both the club coupe and four-door sedan in addition to the convertible club coupe and the station wagon.

Engine performance and efficiency has been improved with a new design cylinder head which increases compression ratio to 7-to-1. A new chrome plated compression piston ring reduces cylinder wear and provides greater protection during the break-in period. There are improved oil rings for greater oil economy, while a newly-designed intake manifold induces quicker, smoother engine warm-up and produces faster response to throttle opening.

"Cradle Ride" Provided

The longer wheelbase allows a "cradle ride," as passengers are more nearly centered between the axles. Another contribution toward smooth riding qualities is the addition of diagonally-mounted shock absorbers at the rear of the car, greater rebound control in the front shock absorbers, and the newly designed rubber limit bumpers. The new shock absorbers also allow greater road clearance and reduce sidesway.

Interior design of the Plymouth provides many driver and passenger comforts and conveniences. Sedans have the rear door hinged from the center post for easy entrance and exit. The seats, front and rear, have a three-pillow cushion while seat backs have a full pillow on each side and three vertical pipes in the center. Imitation leather kick pads are carried around the seat bases and on the door base. New, more rugged window regulators close or open windows with half the number of turns formerly required. Instrument panels with a new grain finish have been redesigned and relocated for ease in reading gauges. A new, easily operated vent window lock has been designed to reduce theft of articles from parked cars, and the ignition cable has been heavily armored from the ignition switch through to the engine compartment as a safeguard against car theft.

New Electric Choke

A new automatic electric choke, of the same type used on other Chrysler Corporation cars, has been added. Among the outstanding innovations is the combination ignition and starter switch which completely eliminates the starter button. The car starts by turning the ignition key slightly beyond the "ignition on" position. When released, the key automatically returns to "ignition on" position. The device is not only a driver convenience, but makes it impossible for children to move cars which are parked and left in gear by accidentally pushing the starter button.

A new fresh air car heater, which steps up defrosting and more readily removes window fog, is available in three models. Located under the hood, the new heater operates quietly and is easily installed. It may be used in warm weather as a fresh air circulator.

There are numerous improvements in the new Plymouth's electrical and lighting system. Headlights equipped with a bullseye lens in the center of the sealedbeam lens provide substantially increased light output. Plastic lenses have been installed in the stop, tail, and parking lights. The lenses are more resistant to breakage, and provide better sealing at points where dust and dirt might enter. A new enclosed circuit breaker, interchangeable with those used on other Chrysler Corporation cars, eliminates the need for replacing lighting system fuses.

The addition of a 10,000 ohm suppressor permits the use of a larger initial spark plug gap, resulting in improved idling and low speed, light load performance. The push-pull type of switch for headlights, panel lights and heater has been replaced with rotary-action, dust-proof switches, and a new magnetic-type fuel gauge gives immediate reading when the ignition switch is turned on.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Reports Lowest Profit Since 1935

ST. LOUIS, March 17 (AP)—The Southwestern Bell Telephone company said today in its annual report that revenue, operating expense, plant investment and debts reached new highs last year but that profits were the lowest since 1935.

Total income available for interest and dividends was $18,974,000 compared with $15,780,000 in 1947, the report stated, and the company earned $5.23 a share compared with $5.43 the previous year. The company paid dividens of $5 a share compared with $5.75 the year before. All the stock is owned by the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Total operating revenues increased 20 per cent in 1948 to $226,753,000, the company reported. Operating expenses, excluding taxes, rose 21 per cent to $185,048,000.

Rate increases authorized through last January amount to $16,200,000 on an annual basis in the company's five-state area, but the adjustments were based principally on the company's situation in the summer and fall of 1947, the report said.

The company reported costs have increased substantially since then, and added: "It will be necessary, therefore, to apply for additional rate increases shortly."

TRAIN SCATTERS TRUCK

FORT WORTH, March 17 (AP)—A Fort Worth & Denver City freight train plowed into a six-wheel gasoline trailer truck here today, scattering truck parts and engine fragments for 700 feet. The truck driver, Grady Burroughs, 20, of Fort Worth, was unhurt.

Tennessee Doctor Saves Time On Trips With Two-Way Radio

CAMDEN, Tenn., March 17 (U.P.)—It's a far cry from the horse-and-buggy days the way young Dr. Robert L. Horton covers the countryside administering to his patients in West Tennessee.

The 26-year-old physician gets cases via radio.

Not long ago Horton visited a patient some 14 miles from his home. As soon as he returned home he found another call for him almost next door to the other patient.

Horton applied for a two-way radio permit. He's got the radio installed in his automobile. During the past months Horton received five emergency calls "while on the road."

"And when things quiet down I can go fishing," Horton said. "My home can always find me via the radio."

Hijacking Complaint 'Misunderstanding'

W. L. Sharpe, of 2822 Twenty-second, told newsmen late Thursday that "a misunderstanding" had contributed to his lodging of an informal complaint that he and a companion had been hijacked early Thursday morning.

One of two men who halted him and a companion and took two cases of beer from Sharpe's car "stopped us legitimately," Sharpe later explained.

"The man, a nightwatchman who was deputized a week ago in Hale county but had not yet received a badge, was under impression we had run a red light about 2:30 o'clock this morning at Abernathy. When he halted us to inform us we had run the light, he apparently felt we were in violation of another law by virtue of having a case of beer each." Sharpe reported the incident under impression false representation had been practiced upon him, he said.

Sharpe said after talking with Lubbock and Hale county officials that no formal charge of any character was filed and that he was willing to "let the matter pass as just a mistake." His beer will be returned to him, it was expected.

Military Outlook For Anti-Red Forces In Greece Is Improved

WASHINGTON, March 17 (U.P.) —President Truman told Congress today that the military outlook for anti-Communist forces in Greece is "more promising than it has been for sometime."

In a quarterly report on the progress of the Greek-Turkish aid program, Mr. Truman said that U. S. aid to Greek government forces apparently has shifted the balance against the Communist guerrillas.

But he warned that this does not necessarily mean a "quick and easy victory" over the Reds. He said the Moscow - trained rebel leaders would willingly "ruin Greece in order to dominate her."

Dissolusion Is Seen

Mr. Truman told Congress that U. S. aid is a tough non-Communist military force in Greece and Turkey which may play an important part in stabilizing world peace in the Mediterranean area.

He said that under new command, the Greeks had shown "increased efficiency in combat," particularly the commando group. U. S. military strategists, he said, feel the present Greek army is big enough to wipe out the guerrillas. The report said government casualties during the year were 20,000 against 32,000 for the guerrillas.

Mr. Truman said there was "growing evidence of discouragement and dissension" in the guerrilla ranks. Moscow-trained men, he said, have now seized control, apparently realizing that "only the iron discipline of Communism will hold together an army of disillusioned, terror-stricken men whose misery and hopes they have exploited."

Training In U. S.

The President said the Greek navy now has 115 vessels, including destroyers, and that in Army support operations during the October-December period it transported 143,000 men, 10,000 vehicles and 58,000 tons of supplies.

The Greek air force, despite bad weather, flew an average of about 18 sorties per day during the period, the President's report said.

It said that an undisclosed number of Greek air cadets are training in the United States.

Two U. S. destroyers, transferred to the Turkish navy, are being reconditioned, and Turkish crews are being trained in this country. Turkish crews have already taken over four U. S. submarines transferred last June. The report said it had been recommended tha tan increased number of Turkish naval cadets be trained in the U. S.

It said that under the program so far expenditure of $280,500,000 has been authorized for goods and services for the Greek armed forces. During 1948, U. S. military assistance to Turkey totaled $76,304,258, it said.

Communist Party Secretary Is Granted Right As Own Attorney

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 17—Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the American Communist party, requested today and was granted the right to act as his own attorney at the conspiracy trial of 11 Communist leaders.

Dennis told presiding Judge Harold R. Medina that he could best defend "the principles and practices of the Communist party, my honor, my principles and the whole meaning of life" by acting as his own lawyer.

Was Surprise Move

The action by the tall, greying Communist leader took the court by surprise. Louis F. McCabe, Philadelphia attorney, has acted for Dennis since the court proceedings began nine weeks ago.

U.S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey termed the action "most unusual" and suggested the court make an immediate inquiry into the defendant's motives.

The jury of seven women and five men—selected late yesterday—was excused from the courtroom while Dennis' request was discussed.

Judge Medina asked Dennis to stand during the discussion and asked him whether his request had been given careful study and if he realized the "full import" of the decision.

The Communist leader replied: "Yes. I have not taken the matter lightly."

When Dennis said he understood the legal complications involved, Judge Medina granted him the right to defend himself.

Another complication arose when Judge Medina announced that Richard Gladstein of San Francisco, a member of the defense battery, telephoned him he was ill and would not be present in court.

Four women were selected late today as alternate jurors to try the eleven Communist party leaders.

The entire jury, as selected, seemed to represent a cross section of the public. It includes three negroes—two of them women, including Mrs. Thelma Dial, the foreman.

Judge Medina instructed the jurors to report at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The government will make its opening statement on Monday.

The epidemic of "blister blight" now threatening extinction of Ceylon's tea industry does not seriously threaten the Assam and Darjeeling gardens of India, the Indian Government reported at New Delhi.

Rites Set Sunday For Cpl. Bobby Taylor

Final rites for Cpl. Bobby Ray Taylor, son of Mrs. Ermine Taylor, 1811 Seventh, who was killed in action in Italy Feb. 22, 1945, will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday at Bethel Tabernacle.

Rev. Floyd Dawson and Rev. Boyd McSpadden will officiate. The American Legion and VFW will conduct military graveside rites at Lubbock Memorial park cemetery.

CPL. TAYLOR

The body of Cpl. Taylor, which arrived in Lubbock Tuesday, will be at Sanders Funeral home until the services. Members of the Boy Scout troop of which he was an active member, will be pallbearers.

Cpl. Taylor was born at Lueders on Sept. 4, 1924, and was graduated from Lubbock Senior High school in 1942. He was employed in war work in Richmond, Calif., until he was inducted into the Air Force in July, 1943. He received his basic training at Amarillo Air field, and advanced training at Lowrey field, Colo, and Florence, S. C. He was sent to Italy in November, 1944, where he was stationed with the 97th Bombardment squadron, 47th Bombardment group, 12th Air force.

Survivors, in addition to his mother, include his father, T. J. Taylor of Phoenix, Ariz., three brothers, W. M. of Paradise, Calif., Milton of Lubbock and Wilbur, who is stationed with the occupation forces in Frankfurt, Germany; and a sister, Mrs. Melba Rogers of Woodland Hills, Calif.

California Stunt Pilot Gives 'Unintended Circus' In Heavy Fog

VALLEJO, Cal., March 17 (U.P.)—A 51-year-old self-styled stunt pilot put on an unintentional aerial circus here in the fog and luckily escaped with his life.

Percy Kinney ran into fog 200 feet after his takeoff, apparently lost contact with the ground and became confused.

Witnesses saw the plane dive behind a levee on the nearby Napa river and waited for the sound of the crash. Then the plane appeared again, this time hedge-hopping trees and skimming houses. Kinney finally located the runway again and made a landing wrecking the propeller and undercarriage in his attempt.

The wheels were still dripping from a near dip into the river. Kinney escaped with minor injuries and a vow to ground himself in bad flying weather hereafter.

They found the tablet inside a banana.

Tulsa Symphony Group May Sign Director For Full Time Job

TULSA, March 17 (AP)—H. Arthur Brown is expected to stop dividing his time between El Paso and Tulsa and become the full-time conductor of the Tulsa symphony orchestra.

The 42-year-old conductor now commutes between El Paso, where he is conductor of the El Paso symphony orchestra, and Tulsa.

Spokesmen for the Tulsa Philharmonic Symphony society said no contract has been signed but they are certain Brown will spend all of his time here.

They said Brown will move his family to Tulsa in the next few months, in time to begin rehearsals for next season's winter concert series.

Rep. Poage Denounces Jester's Whitney Dam Power Proposal

WASHINGTON, March 17 (INS)—Proposals of Gov. Beauford H. Jester of Texas to allocate power from the Whitney dam to the Brazos River district drew a sharp reply yesterday from Rep. Poage (D-Tex) in Washington.

In a letter to Governor Jester, Poage said, "It would be a definite refutation of our national policy of making public power available to the public through public agencies at the lowest cost possible."

In the letter he made public, Poage said Jester suggested the federal government turn power from the Whitney dam over to the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district and let the agency sell the power without regard to present preferences.

Poage also said Jester suggested letting the district sell the power at higher rates than those fixed by the Federal Power commission.

"You (Jester) further suggested," the letter continues, "that the anticipated profit be retained by the Brazos district for expenditure free of any federal control.

"This in spite of the fact the federal government is making an investment of more than 40 million dollars in Whitney dam and that no state money and no Brazos district money is being invested therein."

The Whitney dam is on the Brazos river.

Virginians Baffled By Import Of Coal In Producing Region

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 17 (U.P.) — Barges of coal moving up the Kanawha river into the heart of one of the world's richest coal fields caused the natives to wonder. The Kanawha usually is used as an export route for coal.

However, a power company explained that the "wrong-way" barges were headed to its plant at Cabin Creek. Since valley coal is high-grade and expensive and low-grade coal produces just as much steam, the power company imports a cheaper coal from Steubenville, O.

NAVAJO ECONOMY UPSET

Livestock Losses Heavy On Indian Lands During Storms

GALLUP, N. M., March 17 (INS)—The heavy snowfall and long periods of extreme cold of the past winter were disastrous to the Indians of the New Mexico-Arizona Navajo reservation and will effect their tribal economy for many months to come.

This was the conclusion today of James M. Stewart, general superintendent of the Navajo agency. He estimated only 25 percent of the normal lamb crop will be available for marketing in the stricken area.

Stewart admitted storm losses of livestock on the western reservation cannot be determined accurately until June, when all the sheep are brought to district tanks for dipping and counting.

Newborn Lambs Die

On inspection trips following the bad weather, he said, "we saw heaps of newborn lambs, dead either from premature birth or from starvation."

Losses did not end with clearing skies, he explained. "Many of the ewes and other mature stock were so weakened they could not keep up with the bands moving to new forage areas. Mud and other poor grazing conditions added to the difficulties."

Stewart said, "we may safely hazard an estimate not less than 10 percent of the surviving mature ewes may ultimately succumb from direct or indirect results of the blizzards."

Stock Loss Estimated

"The lamb crop," he declared, "will be reduced by 30 percent. About 40 percent of the total lambs and kids on the reservation usually are sold. If we subtract the storm losses, there would remain 75 percent fewer lambs and kids than normally are marketed."

Stewart said, "this is tantamount to stating only 10 percent of the total lamb and kid crop will be available for market. The figure will again be reduced as stock owners decide to retain a greater than usual number of this year's lambs to replace the excessive loss of mature stock."

The superintendent said the hay-lift operations had been "a potent factor in keeping loses to a minimum," and probably saved the livestock industry, which is the chief source of revenue for the Indians, from "utter annihilation."

Some of the sheep owners were ingenious in improvising ways to save their animals, Stewart said. One Indian in the Shonto area clambered through the deep snow to gather branches for his two range cows, and then milked them to feed the young lambs.

Federal Aid In Fight Against Mexican Black Fly Is Seen

ALAMO, March 17 (AP)—A federal spearhead for the fight against the dread Mexican black fly, deadly enemy of citrus, loomed closer today.

Charles A. Rogers, Alamo shipper, returned from Washington yesterday with word that Rep. Lloyd M. Bentsen, jr., will introduce a bill in Congress to provide some $250,000 for the battle against the fruit fly, which is now only some 300 miles from the Texas border.

The Texas congressman's bill is now before the Bureau of Budgets and will be introduced in the House shortly.

Rogers, chairman of the National Citrus Merchandising committee, said an additional $85,000, left over from a deficiency fund, is expected to be turned over to the war fund against the fly.

INDIGNANT COW REMOVED FROM HAY LOFT—Hot Shot, the temperamental Jersey cow who bolted up a flight of narrow stairs to the barn hayloft when owner Ray Kaufman of Halstead, Kans., approached her with new milking machine, comes down via block and tackle. Kaufman, who holds to one horn, is aided by three unidentified neighbors. Hot Shot currently is being milked by hand. (AP Wire Photo.)

Kiwanis Club Awards $25 Savings Bond To Frenship FFA Boy

The Kiwanis club Thursday made its annual presentation of a $25 savings bond to an outstanding future farmer of Lubbock county. The boy receiving the award was Donald Edwards of Frenship school.

Donald won his award for having had the grand champion barrow at the recent Lubbock County stock show at Slaton. Donald is a member of the FFA and a senior in high school. Although a consistent winner at shows, it was Donald's first grand champion.

Following the presentation of the Kiwanis award, the club was entertained by a varied musical program. Accordian numbers were played by Ned Hardin, junior at Lubbock high school; violin and piano selections were offered by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pipkin and the "Notesables," a barbershop quartet sang several harmony numbers.

Guests Attend Meeting

More than 150 members and guests were present at the meeting which was held in the Lubbock hotel. Two new members, Joe W. Jones and Kenneth H. Woods, were introduced to the club. There were five visiting Kiwanians; J. H. Posey, Austin; Polly Parrott, Amarillo; Joe Long, Amarillo; R. A. Coverdale, Long Beach, Cal., and F. E. Yeager, Lynwood, Calif.

Guests include, J. C. Groves, J. H. Galey, B. B. Williams, Howard Munson, Edward Welsh, J. E. Vickers, R. D. Ford, V. E. Wilson, Clay Turner and O. R. Hawkins. The entire Lubbock high school basketball team were guests along with their coach, Roy Morris.

President Fred Sparks presided over the meeting.

NO LAUGHING MATTER

FORT WORTH (AP)—L. D. Johnson laughed when two shabbily-dressed men approached him on a Fort Worth street and asked for 25 cents. Then the pair knocked him down, kicked him and took $35.

Reynosa, Mexico, Tourist Trade Slumps During Smallpox 'Scare'

REYNOSA, Mexico, March 17 (AP)—Night life of rowdy Reynosa, Mexico, a border town across the Rio Grande from McAllen, is in a slump, reports today indicated.

Reynosa is famed for its wild game dinners, and offers the usual tourist attractions including curio shops, night clubs and an occasional bullfight. But business dropped off this week because of smallpox.

There is not a case of smallpox in town but Mexican authorities decided to take measures against the disease, six cases of which have been found on the Texas side of the border.

Mexican officials now require proof of vaccination before permitting tourists to cross the border. Previously, vaccination had been required for persons going into the interior of Mexico, but not for a nightclub visit to Reynosa.

The sixth case of smallpox was discovered yesterday in Brownsville where a middle-aged Latin-American man was found to have the disease. Previous cases had been reported in Elsa, Tex.

Mass vaccinations are underway in Hidalgo and Cameron counties. In Hidalgo county alone 28,000 have been vaccinated through the county health unit, and private physicians report a boom business in immunizations too. Clinics are now set up in most communities to handle vaccinations.

Many Mexican mines have quit operating because of the 15 per cent export tax.

'National Council' Meet Slated In New York Has Mark Of Communist Front, Writer Says

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 17 — Behind sculptor Jo Davidson's bushy whiskers looms again today the familiar outline of what remarkably resembles a Communist party front.

Also seen over Davidson's shoulder is Dr. Harlow Shapley, head of the Harvard observatory. Shapley is chairman and Davidson is honorary chairman of the outfit which has just persuaded the State department to okay visas for some Russian Communists and their sympathizers to come here and help out American foreign policy on the spot. Davidson and his whiskers are well remembered props on the Communist front stage.

Not Necessarily Reds

That doesn't mean Davidson and Shapley are Communists. It means that they are associating with some Communists who are all out to do a job for Uncle Joe Stalin.

The organization which Davidson and Shapley head is called the National Council of Arts, Sciences and Professions. The let's-all-love-Russia clam bake now to be sponsored by Shapley, Davidson and their "council" will take place next week in New York. It is billed as "The Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace." In announcing grant of the visas, the State department conceded the close relationship of the meeting sponsored by Davidson and Shapley with the "World Congress of Intellectuals" which met last August in Poland. The department said our commitment to free speech warranted the visas.

Kremlin Plot Recalled

The "World Congress" meeting was a Communist propaganda plot by the Kremlin to discredit the foreign policy of the Western democracies of which the United States is the principal material support.

The policy program of Shapley's "council" makes point No. 1 an attack on the Marshall Plan and the Truman Plan for Greece and Turkey. It follows the Communist party line in general pattern and uses some of the peculiar slang with which the comrades dress up their pamphlets and party documents.

And if there is any adverse criticism of Soviet Russian foreign policy at all a lot of people here will be surprised.

Moreover, the Davidson-Shapley "council" appears to be the direct descendent of a defunct outfit known as the "Independent Citizens Committee for the Arts, Sciences and Professions." The independent committee was set up in 1944 with Davidson as front man and ultimately baited Harold L. Ickes with a substantial salary to become its executive director.

Ickes served for eight months in 1946. He quit in protest against the committee's Communist party line allegiance, specifically because it followed Moscow instead of Washington on international control of the atom bomb.

Hoover Group Recommends Broader Control For Interior Setup

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—Congress should hand over to the interior department all major public works projects, the Hoover commission said today. But it split wide open over its report.

Calling for a vast expansion of the agency, the commission declared reorganization is a "complete necessity." It proposed to switch to interior:

1. The Army Engineers' huge civilian program on rivers and harbors, (2). The federal works agency's public building construction and community services, (3). Hospital buildings for Veterans and the Armed services, and (4). Building of civilian airports for a proposed Bureau of civil aviation of the Commerce department.

Congress already is a quarter century late, the majority observed. A similar program was laid out by a reorganization study in 1924. It would, if put into effect, already have saved hundreds of millions of dollars, the report said.

The 12-man commission, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, is making a bipartisan survey of the government, looking for ways to improve and save. Its reports to Congress are about finished.

A three-man minority, headed by the commission's vice chairman, Secretary of State Dean Acheson, wanted to set up a new "department of natural resources."

Acheson was joined by Jack K. Pollock and James H. Rowe, jr., in a separate report proposing to turn over to the department the river development job of the Army engineers, as the majority suggested.

They favored, however, excluding construction agencies and would combine the Forest service, Bureau of Land management and the research functions of the Agriculture department under a forest and range service.

Two members, Senator McClellan (D-Ark) and former House member Manasco (D-Ala), said the plan to place flood control and river and Harbor Improvements in Interior would emasculate the Engineers corps — "A crippling blow of serious consequences to our national defense establishment."

Another member, Defense Secretary Forrestal, abstained from recommendations regarding the engineers because of his cabinet position.

And Mr. Hoover himself couldn't go along with the majority in its recommendation of "a board of impartial analysis for engineering and architectural projects" to be placed under the President.

Divisions Are Suggested

The chairman said the President should not be burndened with more duties; that there should be two boards, one for engineering and one for architectural projects, both in the Interior department.

Forrestal opposed, for one thing, making Interior responsible for construction of all public buildings. He said Interior's job should be development and conservation of natural resources.

The majority, in proposing to switch the duties of the Army engineers to Interior, called attention to the findings of a commission study group which said there had been expensive conflict between the engineers, the Reclamation Bureau and the Federal Power commission.

The Commission recommended these major divisions in the reorganized department:

1. Water development and use services, adding rivers and harbors improvements and flood control to present duties.
2. Building construction services. Interior would step aside after construction was completed.
3. Mineral resources services, taking in a number of functions of other departments.
4. Recreation services.
5. Territories and island possessions, until Congress sets a policy for administering overseas area.

The majority plan would trim off some interior functions, including Indian affairs of land management (except minerals), and commercial fisheries.

Lamb Prices Climb; Other Meats Steady

Retail lamb prices climbed two to 10 cents a pound in many cities across the country this week, but most other meats were unchanged.

Lettuce and cabbage were the only major vegetables generally a little higher. Butter eased a penny or two a pound in several marketing centers. And the highlight in the crop weather news was the midweek frost damage to peach crops in the Carolinas.

Lambs Hit Peak

Fed lambs this week reached an all-time peak price on the Chicago livestock market. Choice Colorado fed lambs sold for $29.25 a hundred pounds on Tuesday. Five weeks before, the top lamb price was $22.75.

Although beef and pork were generally steady this week, trade spokesmen noted that wholesale prices were working upward slightly.

Cauliflower, broccoli, string beans, cucumbers and eggplant all were lower this week. Spinach, which has been a slow seller, was moving upward in price by midweek.

The first large shipments of strawberries from Louisiana arrived in eastern consuming centers as the Florida crop tappered off.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week declined two cents from a week ago to $5.79, as compared with $6.70 a year ago. The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 general use foods.

Geologist Introduces Theory In Predicting Extinction Of Animals

ST. LOUIS, March 17 (INS) — A Northwestern university geology professor today introduced a new theory of "systematic, predictable evolution" by which extinction of animal species may be forecast.

Prof. Laurence L. Sloss explained his theory to the association of petroleum geologists in St. Louis.

Sloss said the theory refutes the assumption that animal types, such as the Dinosaur, were wiped out suddenly by an earthquake, volcano, glazier or other catastrophic event.

Fossils Studied

By counting the numbers of kinds of animals present in each succeeding period of geologic time he found each group began with a small number of types, rose to a very large number, and then gradually declined to eventual extinction.

Prof. Sloss explained:

"By studying the life span of animals whose entire history is in the geologic past and applying the same geologic principles we can predict the eventual pattern of rise, decline and extinction of animals living today.

Prof. Sloss said man's fossil record is fragmentary, because early evidence is lacking.

Prof. Sloss said some contempory creatures which are passing out of existence are snakes and crocodiles. He said they reached their revolutionary peak 70 to 120 billion years ago and have been on the decline since.

He said the horse has the bulk of its life span behind it and will die out within 10 or 20 million years—a mere instant when compared with the billions of years recorded in the rocks."

Soap Box Derby

trip to the big race at Akron. Karl Dockray's motion picture of last year's race will be shown along with the big All-American film.

In addition to the big show, refreshments will be served to the crowd attending. All boys between the ages of 11 and 16 years are invited to attend.

Rules Are Changed

Boys are cautioned not to start building their racers until they have fully studied the new rules, as there are several important changes over those of last year.

The principal change in the rules is the elimination of power tools in the construction or finishing of a racing car. As very few boys have access to power tools this rule was inserted to give every boy the same opportunity in building his car.

Another important change is the new weight allowance. Heretofore, a car and driver could not weight more than 250 pounds while the car itself could not weight more than 150 pounds. In the new rule the overall weight of 250 pounds for car and driver still holds, but the limit of the car was dropped.

This rule was changed to give the lighter boy an opportunity to bring the weight of his car to approximate the overall weight of 250.

Rent Hikes Feared

landlords stated that they were operating their properties at a loss but to date they have failed to make claims for readjustments.

For some time, Carnes said, the public has been led to believe that rent controls have been a detriment to new construction. Actually, he explained, new housing does not come under rent control and as far as he could see no group in Congress had expressed any intention to place new construction under controls. Such claims are entirely groundless, Carnes said.

Construction Increases

In the Lubbock area, decontrolled new construction and conversion units have already increased as much as 200 per cent, records of the rent control office show. Further decontrol or the abolition of controls would, in many cases, cause these figures to go even higher, Carnes believes.

"Fortunately we do have a lot of public spirited people here in Lubbock who are capable of viewing the problem from all angles and who can understand the difficult position of the tenant," Carnes added. He cited the case of one man who was going to place his home on the rental market at a fair and reasonable rental and then expect the tenant to be fair enough to maintain the property in its original good condition. In this way he felt that a mutually satisfactory and more permanent arrangement could be made.

Other Cases Cited

Carnes named a few other cases where exhorbitant rents had been charged. In many of these instances the tenant sought other less costly quarters at the first opportunity and usually left the high cost unit in a bad state of repair. Having paid a large rent he felt that he automatically paid for the damage that had been incurred. If the landlord had to redecorate his property once or twice a year he stood to lose any of the excess profit he hoped to gain from the higher rent, Carnes said.

"We would like to see the landlords and tenants both use the services of the housing expediter rather than try to take matters in their own hands. In most all cases we have been able to work out some satisfactory agreements if the parties involved are reasonable," Carnes said.

Grounds Are Listed

Some of the grounds available to landlords for readjustment include:

1. Increased number of persons occupying the property;
2. Additional services provided to tenants;
3. Major capital improvements over and beyond maintenance and repair;
4. Circumstances which cause the landlord to charge less than the prevailing market rate when the maximum rates were set here on March 1, 1942.

"Just what the outcome of the rent situation will be cannot be fully determined until after Congress approves some concrete form of legislation or abolishes that legislation already existing," Carnes said.

"We can only hope that people will keep level heads and not destroy the present healthy growth of Lubbock by keeping new and desirable families and businesses from locating here," he added.

MARKETS IN SLIGHT RALLY

NEW YORK, March 17. (AP)—Strength in a hand-picked group of stocks dominated an improved market today.

Most gains were fractional. A favored few, though, advanced 1 to around 3 points, most of them larger turnover than usual and some establishing new 1949 highs.

Several issues were tripping up by unfavorable corporate news, including Bendix Home appliances and Magnavox.

Turnover of 760,000 shares was some improvement over yesterday's 670,000 but still not enough to allow brokers to plan for early retirement.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .3 of one point to 63.4. The industrial component showed the widest swing, with rails and utilities trailing along.

Stocks which reached new highs for the year included Bigelow-Sanford at 30¾, Foster Wheeler 26⅛, N. Y. Shipbuilding 19⅛.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—Cotton futures moved lower in trading dominated by the nearby March delivery which expired at noon today. There was a total of 61 March transferable notices issued which induced considerable switching from March to later months. A leading spot firm switch an estimated 30,000 bales of March contracts into the May 1949 delivery.

Active mill buying and commission house demand carried prices to new highs for the day in the final hour. Prices closed around the best levels.

Ex-Dallas Policeman Testifies In Slaying

DALLAS, March 17 (AP)—Robert L. Jones, 52, one-time Dallas police chief, testified here today that he shot his son-in-law because "I was afraid he was going to shoot me with the gun he had."

Jones is on trial on charges of murder. His son-in-law, George A. Vadere, a private detective, was shot Jan. 7, 1948, in a Dallas jewelry store.

"We wrestled all the way around the room. When he swung on me I knew it was a death struggle, that whoever got loose first would shoot," Jones said.

Shooting Described

He said that he finally got separated from Vadere. "He was turned partially sideways and I shot."

Jones said he went to the jewelry store, where Vadere was exchanging some purchases, to talk to him. "I walked up and put my hand on his shoulder," Jones said, "and told him to give me that gun, that I wanted to talk to him."

"Vadere wheeled and grabbed my right wrist and we wrestled all the way around the store." Jones testified.

The former police chief said to police soon after the shooting that Vadere "ruined" his daughter. There was testimony that Vadere was married to Jones' daughter although he had not obtained a divorce from a previous wife.

Kansas Legislative Commission Proposes Bonus For Veterans

TOPEKA, Kan., March 17 (INS) A special Kansas legislative commission recommended today that World War II veterans be paid a bonus totaling an estimated $50 million.

Under the proposal, $10 per month would be paid for domestic service and $15 for each month served overseas. A limit of $425 would be set for the maximum paid to any veteran.

The plan would be placed before voters in the general election of 1950 if the legislature approves the proposal.

The committee voted 17 to 2 in favor of a bill by Senator Ottis Lock of Lufkin providing a minimum foundation program of education.

By the same vote the committee recommended passage of a bill by Senator A. M. Aikin, jr., of Paris to finance the program.

Opponents showed their greatest strength when they got the committee, by a 11 to 9 vote, to consider the three bills separately instead of as a group.

Pennsylvania Youth Gets Life Sentence In Slaying Of Boy

PHILADELPHIA, March 17 (AP) — A frightened, nail-chewing youth of 17 was sentenced to life imprisonment today for the "perverted sexual lust" killing of a 12-year-old boy.

"I'm scared," Seymour Levin whispered to his attorney a moment before sentence was pronounced.

Levin pleaded guilty to a charge of murder. Three judges who heard testimony two weeks ago, fixed his guilt at first degree murder.

Claims He "Blacked Out"

They said that Levin "enticed into his home 12-year-old Ellis Simons . . . and there committed . . . an act of perverted sexual lust."

Levin, who was the only defense witness, denied sex played any part in the killing. He said he "blacked out" and couldn't remember what happened after he and the Simons boy argued about a chemistry set.

Young Simons was slain Jan. 8. His mutilated and nearly nude body, bearing more than 50 knife and scissors wounds, was found the following day behind the Levin garage.

Before final sentence was imposed, Levin was asked if he had anything to say.

Declared Sane

Pennsylvania law provides that a first degree murder conviction requires a sentence of life imprisonment or death in the electric chair.

Judge James G. Gordon, jr., told Levin that only his youth, the sudden and impulsive character of the killing, and his psychiatric status save him from the electric chair.

Three psychiatrists testified Levin is a "constitutional psychopathic inferior" but not insane.

STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF LUBBOCK
NOTICE OF RE-SALE OF LAND STRUCK OFF TO THE STATE OF TEXAS FOR TAXES

WHEREAS, on April 14, 1926, in Cause No. 1502 styled "The State of Texas vs. J. W. Reeves," the District Court for the 72nd Judicial District of Texas rendered judgment against the Defendant for delinquent taxes on the following described property, to wit:

Lot Five (5) in Block Seventy-Six (76) of the Original Town of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas; and for foreclosure of the State's tax lien against said property; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to an Order of Sale issued out of said Court on June 2, 1926, the Sheriff of Lubbock County did on June 12, 1926 levy on said property and did properly advertise that a sale of said property would be made on July 6, 1926; and

WHEREAS, the sale was held as advertised, and, there being no other bidder, the property was on July 6, 1926, struck off to the State of Texas for the sum of $83.37, being the amount of the judgment, interest and costs in the above mentioned Cause; and

WHEREAS, by deed dated July 6, 1926, duly recorded in the office of the County Clerk of Lubbock County, Texas, on July 28, 1926, at 3:15 p. m. (bearing file number 3386) the Sheriff of Lubbock County did convey to the State of Texas the above described property; and

WHEREAS, the said property was never redeemed in accordance with the laws of Texas within the time provided therefor and has never been sold by the State in the proper manner as outlined by Article 7328, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, and by the Supreme Court of Texas in the case of Little vs. Dennis, 187 SW 2nd 76;

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given in accordance with Article 7328, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, and Rule 647, Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, that the above described property will be sold at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash on the fifth day of April, 1949 (the same being the first Tuesday of the month), between the hours of ten o'clock a. m. and four o'clock p. m., at the West Door of the Court House of Lubbock County, Texas, situated in the City of Lubbock.

Dated at Lubbock, Texas, this 19th day of February, 1949.

Texas Solon Charges Monopolies Trying To Bring Back Old Setup

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—Rep. Patman (D-Tex) said today that monopolistic interests are trying to bring back the basing point freight rate system which he said violates anti-trust laws.

He told the House that big steel concerns using the system had discriminated against all states except those actually producing steel or which were near large steel producing centers.

Quoting from data obtained by a congressional committee, Patman said production of hot-rolled steel sheets for domestic use increased 19 per cent between 1940 and 1947 but that the entire increase had gone to but eight states.

Under the basing point system, a manufacturer averages out freight costs so the delivered price of his product is the same everywhere, regardless of distance from point of production.

The Federal Trade Commission ordered the cement industry to quit using the system, charging that the way it was being used violated anti-trust laws. The case was taken to the Supreme court, where the F.T.C. was upheld.

The question arose in industry as a whole whether the ruling applied to all, or just the cement industry.

However, since mid-1948 the cement industry and steel industry have abandoned the basing point system and use the FOB (free on board) plan. In this the buyer pays the freight from the point of shipment. Those at distant points thus pay more for products than those nearby.

"Whenever local business interests have endeavored to establish their own mills to serve their territories, the steel industry has threatened and coerced them into abandoning the projects," Patman said.

He cited specifically a situation in his own state.

"The only things done for Texas by the steel industry," he continued, "have been, first, to retard our progress with high prices for steel; second, to kill off every attempt that local capital has made to develop our own steel-making resources; and finally, after keeping us dependent upon them for steel, they now divert scarce steel items to their local markets and starve out our own industry in these crucial times of shortages.

"Several years ago, when a group of Texas businessmen formed a company expecting to produce steel rails, they were told by eastern steel interests that if they did not cancel their plans for constructing a mill, they would find rails made in the East being sold in Texas for less than the cost of production."

He said the basing point system throughout the years has been "the most pernicious obstacle" to the development of a steel industry in Texas.

"No matter how low . . . a local mill may have reduced its price, the giant eastern mills could have, and by the rules of the system, would have, absorbed freight to meet this low price until, finally, the local mill would be forced to raise its price again."

Ever since the Supreme court decision handed down in April, 1948, Patman said, "one of the most vicious, skillful, and determined lobbies the country has ever seen" has been trying to get the high court ruling nullified.

"The clarion call of the lobby has been 'confusion' and the need for 'clarification of the law,'" Patman said.

"But the fact of the matter is that despite all the efforts to create confusion, the law is clear . . . Nevertheless, the strength of the lobby is so great that I have no doubt that we shall soon be asked to pass a bill to unclarify the law under the guise, of course, that we are really clarifying it."

Los Angeles Lifts Rabies Stigma From Hungry Squirrels

LOS ANGELES, March 17 (INS)—City officials said today that they no longer worried about the squirrels in Los Angeles' parks.

A representative number of the squirrels were captured after three adults reported that they had been bitten by the creatures. Suspecting rabies, the squirrels were examined. The city humane department announced the results:

"There is nothing to be worried about. None of the squirrels was rabid. They were looking for nuts."

Boston Pastor Conducts Music School For Maladjusted Persons

The proponent of musical therapy is Dr. A. Flagler Fultz, director of the Musical Guidance center. Dr. Fultz, who also serves as consulting psychologist and is an accomplished musician, emphasizes functional music in his rehabilitation work.

"By functional music," he says, "I mean that which will serve predetermined ends other than entertainment on pleasure."

Dr. Fultz has a staff of seven including four doctors at the guidance center. Most of his pupils have been sent to him by doctors who feel that musical therapy may stimulate a cure.

"I must emphasize," he says, "that our work in musical therapy is always subordinate to the psychiatric or medical treatment which a patient is receiving.

"Our claim is only that music is a form of expression, and if a person can express himself in music, he may in time come to express himself quite normally in other areas."

JATO SPURS JET BOMBER TAKE-OFF—Spurred by a Jato under each wing, an Air Force B-45 four-jet bomber makes a spectacular take-off in tests at Muroc Air Force Base in California. The Jato units add 8000 pounds of thrust to the 20,000 pounds provided by the four jet engines. The plane is in the 550 mph class.

Sanitation Complaints Drawn Up Against 45 Houston Restaurants

HOUSTON, March 17 (U.P.)—The City Health department said today it had drawn up sixty-five complaints against 45 Houston restaurants, charging violation of sanitation regulations.

Woody Fife, chief city health inspector, made the announcement after eight complaints against Houston eating establishments were filed yesterday in Corporation court.

Fife said his department had "just started," and that other complaints are in the process of being converted in formal charges.

Judge Says Husbands Know Less About Women Than Bachelors

ST. LOUIS, March 17 (U.P.) — Circuit Judge James E. McLaughlin handed down the opinion that bachelors know more about women than married men.

His decision came during the selection of a jury for a murder trial in which a man was charged with killing his wife. A prospective juror sought to disqualify himself with the statement. "I'm single and don't know much about marriage or women."

"The court didn't marry until he was 39," the judge said. "The court though he knew something about women before he got married, but has learned he knows less since he got married than he did before, so don't let that worry you."

Judge Laments Lack Of Respect For Bench In 'Changing Times'

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 17 (U.P.)—Superior Judge Joseph E. Warner thinks judicial respect is waning.

When a case came before him a continuance was asked because the defending lawyer was building a house and was unable to appear in court.

"Now I've heard everything," said Judge Warner. "I don't know what's the matter with the lawyers of today. When I was practicing, every attorney was afraid of the judge. When a judge issued a command or request we jumped to do his bidding. Nowadays no one seems to care what the judge says."
