Ike To Start Campaign With Party Dinner

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower will start his reelection campaign with an address to 800 Republican party leaders at a Washington dinner next Tuesday evening.

The President's vacation headquarters announced this today as White House press secretary James C. Hagerty hit back at former President Truman's charge that Eisenhower has been a "do-nothing president." Truman said further in a Des Moines speech last night that the President has compiled "one of the most amazing records of political betrayal" on farm matters that he (Truman) ever has seen.

"I don't believe that Mr. Truman, by his own standards, can recognize accomplishment when he sees it," Hagerty told newsmen in response to a request for comment.

Truman's criticism and the White House rejoinder came as Eisenhower pondered whether to sign or veto an omnibus farm bill on which Congress completed action last night. The President has let it be known he doesn't think it is a good bill, but Hagerty declined again today to speculate about the possibility of a veto.

The Show Goes On

Nat King Cole, well-known Negro entertainer, continues his performance over the stage microphone under protection of a cordon of police after the singer was attacked during the show in Birmingham, Ala. Four white men were charged with inciting a riot after a white group climbed across the floodlights at Birmingham's municipal auditorium and attacked Cole.

Singer Says Attack Aid To Integration

CHICAGO (AP)—Negro singer Nat (King) Cole, attacked by some white men while performing in Alabama, today said "It will do a lot of good for the cause of integration."

"I was a guinea pig for some hoodlums who thought they could hurt me and frighten me and that way keep other Negro entertainers from the South," Cole said.

"But what they did has backfired on them because those thousands of white people in the audience could see how terrible it is for an innocent man to be subjected to such barbaric treatment."

Cole, one of the nation's most popular vocalists, was singing before a white audience of 4,000 in Birmingham's Municipal auditorium Tuesday night when a group of white man charged on the stage. Cole was hit and fell against a piano stool. He flew to Chicago where a doctor ordered a short rest to recuperate from minor injuries to his back, right arm and left leg.

The 37-year-old Alabama-born singer said "Those men who attacked me were trying to start a riot. I don't think there was any thing personal — that is, that they were against me as Nat Cole I do think that it was meant to be a demonstration against integration."

"When you think about it," Cole said, "there was integration as far as having a mixed group perform on stage. Some people are against that. Well, all the other people on stage with me — Ted Heath and his orchestra and the Four Freshmen and June Christy — are all white."

Asked whether he would continue performing before segregated audiences in the South, Cole said:

"Sure I will. I'm not a political figure or some controversial person. I'm just an entertainer, and it's my job to perform for people. I owe to my Negro fans as well as my white fans to perform for them. If I stop, because of some state law, I'm deserting the people who are important to me. In my way, I may be helping to bring harmonious relations between people through my music.

"As for challenging segregation, it's foolish to think that a performer like me can go into a Southern city and demand that the audiences be integrated. The Supreme Court is having a hard time integrating schools, so what chance do I have to integrate audiences?"

Cole said he plans to open at the auditorium in Raleigh, N.C. tomorrow. He then plans appearances in Norfolk and Richmond, Va., Winston Salem, N.C., Atlanta and Louisville.

Interviewed in bed in his loop hotel suite, Cole said one thing he was proud of was the way many people of the South responded to the Birmingham incident. He showed several telegrams expressing regret.

One, signed by Chief of Police Frank N. H. Littlejohn of Charlotte, N.C., urged Cole to "come on to Charlotte." It also said, "We in Charlotte are heartily ashamed of the indignity to which you were subjected."

In Birmingham, meanwhile, police reported that the attack by a handful of men originally called for more than 100 men to take part.

Detective C. B. Golden and Det. Sgt. M. H. House said they learned the attack was plotted April 7 and that men from Anniston, Piedmont, Bessemer, Tuscaloosa and the Birmingham area were to take part.

Six men have been charged in connection with the affray. Two—W. R. Vinson, 23, and Kenneth Adams, 35, a member of the board of directors of the Anniston Citizens Council — have been charged with assault with intent to murder, which carries a maximum penalty of 2 to 20 years in prison.

Prince Greets Miss Kelly At Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO (AP)—American film star Grace Kelly greeted Monaco's Prince Rainer III with a big smile and "darling" today as they staged a romantic reunion on the blue Mediterranean.

Grace and the man she will marry next week were reunited on Rainer's Yacht Deo Juvante II just offshore from his tiny Riviera principality. The 32-year-old bridegroom-to-be sailed his gleaming white, 133-foot craft out to tie up beside the liner Constitution, which had brought his bride and a shipload of relatives, friends and reporters from America.

The only immediate kissing was a light one Rainer quickly planted on the future princess's slender hand.

Five minutes later, as the yacht steamed toward shore and the couple stood on the bridge, the prince wrapped his arms around the fiancee. Holding her big white hat with one hand, Grace snuggled up and put an arm around Rainer's shoulders.

Then radiantly holding hands they sailed into port to a tumultuous welcome.

With them were Grace's parents Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly of Philadelphia, who had followed her on to the yacht from the liner.

As they neared the big stone entrance to the port, Grace and the Prince embraced again. Then with one arm still around his bride-to-be, aRinier pointed to his palace, high atop the rocky peninsula sheltering the harbor. It is there Grace will make her future home.

Thousands of Monacans and visitors lined the rocky Riviera coast to watch the reunion of tiny Monaco's ruling prince and the blonde American film beauty he will wed in ceremonies next Wednesday and Thursday.

The dockside was thronged with 3,000 tourists, newsmen, photographers and hundreds of Monacan schoolgirls wearing red and white ribbons — the national colors — in their hair.

Arab Commandos Hit School, Kill 4

JERUSALEM (AP)—Warplanes of Egypt and Israel clashed today and Israel claimed first blood.

An Israeli army spokesman announced two Israeli fighters intercepted four Egyptian jets in a noon flight northward over Israeli territory and shot down one —a British-made Vampire jet—on Israel's soil.

"The other three planes escaped," he said. "Our planes returned safely to base."

This announcement of air-to-air combat in the current Arab-Israeli crisis developed on the heels of claims by Israel of five new attacks by Arab commando raiders aground last night, in one of which three Israeli school children and a teacher were killed at prayer.

Angered Israeli security forces pressed a hunt for the raiders and public clamor for retaliations mounted.

Egypt, too, registered a complaint. A military spokesman in Egyptian-held Gaza said Israelis opened automatic fire today on an outpost in the Beit Hanoun area northeast of Gaza City and an Egyptian soldier was wounded. He said the outpost did not return the fire.

The newly established Egyptian Middle East News Agency reported last night that 300 Arab commandos had returned to their base in Gaza after staging a series of 50 raids. Official confirmation was lacking in Cairo, which has disclaimed responsibility for the attacks, but an Egyptian Embassy spokesman in Damascus said the group had headed back after making its retaliations for the Israeli shelling last Thursday of the Gaza Strip, in which 64 Arabs were killed and 102 wounded.

In Cairo, U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold held a three-hour meeting with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, his fourth with Egyptian officials since arriving there Tuesday on his Middle East peace mission. Then another shift in his plans was reported.

An informed source said Hammarskjold will remain in Cairo until Saturday, but spend the rest of today and tomorrow in conferences with his own staff. The original schedule called for a probable second meeting with Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser tomorrow and then Hammarskjold's departure for Beirut, Lebanon, his temporary headquarters.

"The reason is a good one," the informant said.

There was no other elaboration.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman added Israel takes "a grave view of the Egyptian planes' penetration into Israeli territory."

"The incident must be seen against the background of uninterrupted Egyptian aggression which reached a new peak in recent days," he said.

Large forces of police and troops were thrown into the all-out commando hunt. Public clamor mounted for retaliations to avenge the bloody hit-and-run raids that havz killed 13 Israelis and wounded 51 in five days.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman charged the latest attacks spelled Egypt's answer to peace pleas by Hammerskjold.

"The answer has been a vicious and calculated renewal of aggression against Israel," the spokesman declared.

U. S. Ambassador Edward A. Lawson praised the Israeli people for showing "remarkable restraint during the present crisis. . . . in the face of marauding gangs that march by night." Departing from his prepared text at a dedication ceremony at Bar Ilan University near Tel Aviv, Lawson expressed "profound admiration for the courage, patience and fortitude so so clearly exhibited in this hour of trial."

The Middle East News Agency conceded that 10 of the commandos had been killed in action in Israel. Israel says her troops have killed 13 of the guerrillas and captured 6.

The most serious of last night's commando raids was on an agricultural school in Shafir settlement, near Tel Aviv. The guerrillas burst into a prayer room and sprayed bullets at some 40 praying students, fatally wounding three children and a teacher.

Five other students were wounded seriously.

BULLETIN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)— U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold reported to the Security Council today that both Israel and Egypt have agreed to refrain from hostile acts against each other except in self-defense.

The pledges were made, however, before the air clash in which an Egyptian jet plane was reported shot down by Israeli aircraft.

Spring Clean-Up Campaign To Commence On April 23

The city-wide clean-up and beautification campaign has been set for the week of April 23.

Clean-up and beautification committees of the Chamber of Commerce fixed the date and set plans for the annual spring project Wednesday afternoon.

The city of Big Spring will cooperate by providing trucks to remove all trash collected by residents. The Chamber also plans to enlist the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs.

Clara Zack, beautification committee chairmen, and E. L. Powell, clean-up director, named subchairmen for the various phases of the campaign.

M. R. Koger will head the appeal for the clean-up of vacant lots. H. V. Crocker, fire chief, will direct the fire-prevention aspect of the drive. Jack Irons is to be in charge of northside activities, and M. R. Turner will conduct a poster contest in the elementary schools. First and second place cash prizes will be presented for winning posters in each of the six grades.

Notices of the clean-up campaign will be sent to parents through the schools, trailers are planned for theatres and appeals will be made through service clubs as additional promotion efforts.

City Manager H. W. Whitney and Public Works Director R. V. Foresyth will direct the removal of trash placed in the customary garbage collection areas.

Sainburg Due In Court Friday

Dr. Frank Sainburg, formerly of Big Spring, is scheduled for trial on kidnaping, assault and burglary charges in Ithaca, N. Y., Friday.

Sainburg is charged with kidnaping his son from his ex-wife last November. He was a surgeon on the Big Spring VA Hospital staff at the time. The son, Philip Sainburg II, stayed in the Sainburg home here for several weeks last fall.

The surgeon quit his job here and returned to New York voluntarily early this year, after fighting extradition efforts initiated at Ithaca. The burglary and assault charges resulted from an alleged kidnaping incident in Ithaca in January, 1954.

IKE NO LIKE

Farm Bill Passed By Demo Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress last night plunged the farm issue more deeply into the 1956 political campaign by sending President Eisenhower a new farm bill loaded with features he opposes.

In an all-out rebuff for Eisenhower engineered by Democratic leaders, first the House and then the Senate gave final approval to a measure which administration lieutenants predicted Eisenhower will veto.

Key Democrats, declaring it was this bill or nothing, predicted he would sign it.

Eisenhower, vacationing at Augusta, Ga., relayed word that he "still does not think the bill meets the test of a good bill."

Secretary of Agriculture Benson said he was "deeply disappointed."

The bill contains one major provision Eisenhower sought. That is a soil bank program to pay farmers subsidies of as much as $1,200,000,000 a year for not planting cropland to commodities already in surplus.

But it includes a return to higher rigid price supports for this year, as well as other features which also would raise price props.

Eisenhower and Benson have repeatedly opposed such moves, contending they will only aggravate the problem by building up more surpluses.

GOP leaders made a last-ditch effort in the House to refashion the bill more to Eisenhower's liking.

They lost 238-181, losing 27 Republican votes on the test while picking up 14 Democratic ones. The House then passed the bill 237-181, with 48 Republicans and 35 Democrats defecting from party lines.

The Senate promptly took up the bill, agreeing to vote after 3½ hours of debate.

Passage there was on a 50-35 rollcall. Fifteen Republicans joined with 35 Democrats in voting for the measure; against it were 31 Republicans and 4 Democrats.

That put the issue squarely up to Eisenhower. There appeared no chance that Congress would override a veto.

Beyond saying the chief executive does not regard it as a good bill, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty declined to speculate at Augusta on the chances of a veto.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), chief administration farm lieutenant in Congress, said today he is confident Eisenhower will reject the measure "for half a dozen or nore major reasons."

In effect, Eisenhower's choice was whether to:

1. Swallow his oft-stated principles and approve a bill which enthusiastfc sponsors said would provide as much as three billion dollars in added benefits this year for farmers whose income has been declining steadily for five years, or —

2. Veto the bill, with a prospect that Congress will approve no alternate, and thus face the voters in November on the basis of the present farm program.

Eisenhower will have 10 days in which to act from the time the bill reaches him officially.

When that will be was not certain. An exact official copy must be printed, signed by House and Senate officials and delivered to the White House. Normally, this requires several days.

Eisenhower's signature of the measure would cast doubt on Benson's status as the farm Cabinet member. Benson's whole farm program has been keyed to the principle of flexible price supports.

Solicitation Control Plan Gets Strong Endorsement

A new solicitation control program was getting strong support at the Chamber of Commerce today.

More than 40 business firms had signed agreements to purchase no special advertising, tickets or make donations to any cause not approved by the Chamber of Commerce.

The agreement forms were mailed to some 400 business places early in the week and the replies started flooding the C-C today.

Solicitors for other than regular advertising media and for donations of various kinds must secure permits from the Advertising and Solicitation Control Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Otherwise, merchants signing the agreements will refuse to make purchases or donations.

Bodies Of Marine Drowning Victims Sent Home For Burial

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—The bodies of six Marine recruits who drowned on a forced march into a tidal stream here Sunday night were sent home today for burial.

Even as a big plane chartered by the Marine Corps took off carrying five of the six flag-draped coffins to relatives in northern cities, there were indications that investigation of the tragedy might be widened.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee had a scheduled conference with corps commandant Gen. Randolph Pate on the drownings.

Vinson said he would make no statement about the possibility of a committee investigation until after he talks with Pate, who came to the Marine base here Monday to take personal charge of the investigation. Later he flew back to Washington.

A court of inquiry here continued the painstaking work of piecing together details of the drownings today after a warning to the Navy from Sen. Ives (R-NY) that "an inadequate investigation or explanation of the tragedy by the Navy would result in a congressional investigation."

A separate service was scheduled for Thomas Curtis Hardeman, 20, of Vidalia, Ga., conducted by Lt. (J. G.) Robert M. Baxter Jr., a Roman Catholic, assisted by Capt. Irving Sultz, the depot chaplain. Hardeman's body was to be taken to Savannah, Ga., by ambulance.

Set an hour later was a joint memorial for the other dead conducted by Lt. Cmdr. Anthony Bielski, a Roman Catholic.

This service was for Donald Francis O'Shea, 18, of Brooklyn, New York City; Charles Francis Reilly, 18, of Clyde, N. Y.; Jerry Lamont Thomas, 17, of Alexandria Va.; Leroy Thomson, 18, of Brooklyn, and Norman Alfred Wood, 17, of Bay Shore, N. Y.

The court of inquiry that resumed the task of quizzing the 72 survivors of the march is not expected to complete its investigation before the end of the week.

The court will hear the results of a psychiatric examination given the drill sergeant who ordered the 78 recruits to make the march "to teach them discipline."

Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, Parris Island base commander, said he ordered the examination of Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, 31, of Worcester, Mass.

One of the survivors told a reporter that McKeon ordered the march as a "general disciplinary action." He said it was not aimed at any individual and that "no particular punishment was involved."

Both Gen. Pate and Gen. Burger said McKeon had no authority to order such a march or to take disciplinary action.

McKeon said in a statement issued through his counsel that he could not find words to express his grief. He said it was no excuse that he was not familiar with the area and did not realize how deep and treacherous the marshy stream was.

Enters Hearing

Rudder Will Seek Land Post Again

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Land Commissioner Earl Rudder of Brady said yesterday that he would seek reelection to the post.

Rudder was appointed in January, 1955, when Bascom Giles, who had been elected, refused to take the oath.

Giles is in the penitentiary because of irregularities in the veterans land program while he was commissioner.

Bank Figures Show Gains In Past Year

Bank totals today stood almost steady with the year-end figures of 1955 and showed a million and three-quarters gain over deposits of April a year ago.

Calls from the U. S. comptroller of currency for condition as of close of business on April 10 reflected a total resource gain of nearly $2 million dollars for the two banks in Big Spring.

Loans and cash were also up significantly.

The deposit figure was $29,008,216, which was $1,777,559 more than for April 13, 1955, the corresponding call date last year. At the same time, it was only slightly less than the $29,299,156 on deposit as of Dec. 31, 1955. The year-end figure normally is the highest of any year's bank call totals.

Loans and discounts as of April 10 aggregated $9,077,595.91, up half a million from April a year ago and even greater than the $8,930,073 at the end of last year.

In addition, the two banks had a total of $8,192,834.22 in bonds ($5,918,643.30 in U. S. bonds and $2,274,190.91 in county and municipal bonds).

Total resources of the two banks touched $31,122,242, which was $1,916,077 more than April a year ago and barely under the $31,254,569 at the end of last year.

In addition to loans the banks carried $1,972,233.83 in U. S. Cotton Producer notes, and $22,219.59 in bills of exchange.

Outstanding Graduate

1st Lt. Billy G. Dornberger (right) receives recognition from Col. Charles M. Young, Webb Air Force Base commander, as the outstanding member of Webb's Class 56-L. This class was graduated from Webb Thursday morning, with ceremonies marked by an address by the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd.

Coahoma School Staff Re-Elected

COAHOMA (SC)—Teachers were re-elected at the Monday meeting of trustees of the Coahoma Independent School District.

Results of the trustee election last Saturday were canvassed and Ed Carpenter, president of the board, and Smith Cochran were declared elected. Official returns and those reported unofficially in Sunday's Herald were the same.

Reorganization of the board was postponed until the meeting on May 7.

Previously administrators and coaches had been elected, and teachers re-elected at the Monday meeting were G. Creek, Robert E. Van Meter, Mrs. Cormaleta Wyatt, Mrs. Lucille Salling, Mrs. Margie Ann Wheeler and Mrs. Gwen Hansen, all for the high school.

Jimmy Ray Smith, Mrs. Eula Beth Westmoreland, Mrs. Eleanor Garrett, Marie Petty, Mrs. Mary K. Denson, Mrs. Anna Ruth Van Meter, Mrs. Dorothy Spallard, Edna Harris, Mrs. Frankie Fortune, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mrs. Elouise Davis, Mrs. Bonnie Miller and Mrs. Robert T. Mason.

Principals previously named are Fred Salling and W. A. Fishback, and the coaches Dub Behrens and G. W. Walker. H. L. Miller is superintendent. Three other teachers in the faculty are employed on a substitute basis due to lack of degrees, and hence were not considered for regular election.

Nation Built On Integrity, Jet Men Told

Jet Pilot Class 56-L, one of the smallest classes to graduate at Webb, this morning heard the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the Big Spring Presbyterian Church say that integrity and honesty of the men in the Armed Forces can keep America strong and free.

Many years ago France fell to the enemy, and it wasn't because of a shortage of soldiers or equipment, but because the men did not have integrity, loyalty and determination, said the pastor. And if our nation is to survive, the military men should be loyal and honest, and without a price tag, he added.

West Texas never would have developed to what it is now, were it not for the integrity of the pioneers who came here. This nation was built on honesty, he declared.

Following Lloyd's address, Col. Charles M. Young, Wing Commander, presented the 21 American and 4 MDAP students with their diplomas while the instructors pinned on the wings. 1st Lt. Billy G. Dornberger was reocgnized as the outstanding graduate, in the class of 25.

An informal reception was held at Ellis Hall following the ceremonies in the academic auditorium.

Members of Class 56-L were 1st Lts. John W. Moore, John E. Silva, Charles J. Tadlock. 2nd Lts. Tilden M. Angell, William L. Clark, George H. Collins, Ferguson F. Faunce, Robert D. Hanlin, Phillip C. Hanson, William T. Healy, Mark R. Hurd, Jr., William S. Inda, Franklin M. Jackson, Hunter B. Jenkins, Tim T. Magness, William W. Mercer, John A. Okerstrom, Richard H. Sanchez, Donald J. Van Speybroeck and Daniel J. Weston.

Turkish graduates were Kemal Eziler and Oguz Saka. Colombian AF graduates were Manuel Pabon and Francisco H. De Los Rios.

Jess Talkin'

Jack Buchanan is the new manager of the Howard County Farm Association. He replaces Benny Pena who came to Big Spring last fall.

One of the U. S. Department of Labor men at the office last week said the Mexican border had been closed, that no more workers would be allowed to come into this country until certain differences between the two nations are settled.

Oscar Fanning of the Basin Growers Association at Stanton said he had not heard about the border being closed. He said that farmers could no longer get certain men from Mexico, however. From here on, they just put in an order for the number of workers needed, and the Mexican government will send whoever it wants to.

The way it is now, a farmer may send after Juan because he can handle a tractor, but end up with a guy named Pedro who has never driven anything more mechanical than a team of burros.

The jack rabbits eating on the irrigated wheatfields south of Stanton never bother one of Tom Houston's fields. He put chicken wire around it, and thus far the rabbits haven't figured out a way to get through it. The wire is only about waist high, but evidently the jack rabbit for all his long legs doesn't use them for high jumping.

About 20 years ago ranchers in Australia built a net wire fence 1,000 miles long. Somehow, though, the rabbits got behind the fence before it was raised and the fence proved useless.

The irrigation wells in the St. Lawrence area are completely changing community life, says, Doris Blissard. He said several farmers had lived in poor houses for years, but now that they can raise crops by irrigation, they are building nice homes. Also, several new families have moved there from the Lipan Flats east of San Angelo.

Blissard plans to move from Lomax to St. Lawrence as soon as his house is completed, which won't be for several weeks yet.

I've often wondered why an irrigation farmer didn't build a combination fish pond and swimming pool. Then maybe set out trees and bermuda grass on the tank dam to make a recreation spot. It would certainly help the looks of some bare and bleak farmsteads.

Down south of Roscoe, Alvin Smith has done just that. His half acre pond is one of the prettiest sights in Nolan County. He has big shade trees, willows, salt cedar and a bermuda carpet. The water is clear and deep and filled with channel catfish, bass and bream. The catfish reach four pounds, and even the bream are so big that just a few of them will push the lid off a frying pan. He even has big bull frogs in the pond, and says their nightly croaking makes a fellow imagine he is down on some cool, quiet river.

Smith has only a three-inch well, and pumps into the tank once a week during summer, and less often during the cool months. The pond is a recreation spot for the whole community. Kids come over to swim; friends drop by to fish or hold picnic suppers on the tank dam with the Smiths.

"I could probably make a thousand dollars a year from it if I charged people," Smith said. "But it is all free to our friends and neighbors. We enjoy it so much, we like to share it with others."

The recent rain averaged around seven-tenths of an inch on the O. E. Hamlin ranch north of Big Spring, but did little good. Hamlin said it may have brought out a fringe of green but it wasn't enough to make any grazing.

He said it really helped out more on the cultivated land than on range. The ground plowed good for a few days and gave farmers in that area time to get the land put up. That is about all it did, he said, because the moisture will be gone by the end of this week.

Hamlin had some old grass that helped bring his cattle through the winter. He is now feeding five or six sacks of grain cubes a day to 80 or 90 grown cattle and 120 head of yearlings.

G. W. Neill, retired railroader who keeps a flock of hens at his place just east of the city limits, has ordered 300 English White Leghorn chicks. These will be used to replace some Black Astrolops which he had kept for three years.

He culls continually, sells the hens that don't lay, but often keeps one for three years if she produces. He never put in cages but uses the floor plan. There are three poultry houses on his place, two for laying hens, and one for smaller chicks.

The world is filled with odd professions, but did you ever hear of a man selling used beer bottles? I once picked up an elderly man near a large West Texas town who made a meager living gathering beer bottles along the highways and reselling them.

Every morning he would take two feed sacks and catch a ride a few miles out of town. Then he would get out and start walking back toward town, picking up beer bottles thrown away the night before. When he filled both sacks, he'd flag another ride and return to town to dispose of the bottles. In the afternoon he would head out in another direction and come back with both sacks filled.

The man was living in a two room shack with an aged mother who drew a small pension. He wasn't able to hold a job, but he did help out by making a couple of dollars a day.

He was quite worried about the canned beer that was just coming on the market.

"If these cheap skates start drinking beer out of cans," he said, "my business will be ruined in a hurry."

Occasionally, he was lucky enough to find a full bottle that some befuddled driver had thrown out by mistake. When this happened, he uncorked it, (he always carried a bottle opener) sat down beside the road and took a sort of coffee break.

One day he was overjoyed to find a discarded box containing four full bottles. He couldn't remember too clearly what happened after that. From the way he told it, though, I don't think he got much done the rest of the day.

Third Radio Station OK'd For Big Spring

Approval has been given an application by J. Homer McKinley of Big Spring to erect a 1,000-watt daytime radio station in Big Spring.

The station would operate on 1,270 kilocycles.

McKinley could not be reached Thursday for details, but Clyde E. Thomas, his attorney, said that notification had been received Wednesday evening.

Call letters will be KJHM, representing the combination of McKinley's initials. The engineering done at the time the application was filed specified a site on U. S. 80 just east of the city.

Normally, the Federal Communications Commission grants three months in which to commence construction and gives another three months in which to complete. However, in either event extensions may be granted for proper cause.

Thomas said that he understood McKinley had equipment tentatively on order, pending outcome of the application.

Two other radio stations, KBST and KTXC, and a television station, KBST-TV, currently serve the Big Spring area.

The FCC Wednesday authorized these corporate changes:

Condemnation Appeal On Trial

H. E. Heaton, who was awarded $3,000 damages for approximately 2.5 acres of land condemned for highway purposes, is suing on appeal in county court for additional compensation.

Trial of his appeal was under way before a jury today.

The land involved is a part of the U.S. Highway 80 improvement project. It is located in Section 44, Block 31, Township 1-North.

Heaton testified in court that there was a four-room residence on the property taken for highway needs, a water well and other improvements. He contended that the $3,000 awarded by a special commission which acted originally in the case was not adequate compensation. He estimated his damages at $9,000.

It was announced in court that trial of the matter would probably require all of today and most of Friday.

Judge R. H. Weaver excused the remainder of the jury panel after the jurors—four women and two men—had been selected in the case before the court.

Local Car Lots Hit By BB Vandals

The windshield-breaking craze descended on Big Spring proper Wednesday with vandals shooting autos on at least four used car lots.

The police department had calls this morning from four lots that had suffered damage to their vehicles during the night. Tuesday night, two road maintainers near Knott were damaged, and earlier two shots had been fired at the east doors of the court house.

Reports were that 16 cars had been damaged at McEwen Motor Co., nine or 10 at Truman Jones Motor Co., and an undisclosed number at the Rayford Gillihan Used Car Lot at 405 Main. Also, seven cars were damaged at the John Price Car Lot at 911 E. 4th.

Damage to the cars at Truman Jones' used car lot was $500, employes there estimated. Many of the windshields had been hit by more than one shot. Most of the marks did not shatter the glass but only cracked the windshield. All of the damages were to the front windshields except one. The exception was a mark on a side vent window.

City Detective Jack Shaffer said the marks could have been made by pellets or BB guns or possibly by slingshots.

The pellet vs. windshield wave started in south Texas over six weeks ago—mainly in San Antonio—and then spread to the rest of the state. From the south Texas cities, it jumped to the Fort Worth-Dallas area, and then westward. Abilene and Lubbock both have sustained serious damages within the last month.

Vandals who shot the road maintainers near Knott Tuesday night did not stop with just cracking the glass. A total of 19 holes were noted in one glass and six in another of the maintainers.

New C-City School Board Gets Down To Business

By TOM JAY GOSS II

COLORADO CITY—This city's school board settled down to business this week after a brief but hectic campaign that brought out 1,008 voters—an estimated 60 per cent of the eligible voters in the district.

The principal business for the present is the spending of a half million dollars in school bonds voted in November for the construction of a big new gym which will replace one of the system's three gyms, the remodeling of the high school, and the construction of two or more classrooms in the Hutchinson Building.

Supt. Ed W. Williams said the board has set April 17 for the opening bids for the building program.

Williams, a perennial election issue in school campaigns, received solid support at the polls, since three candidates advocating "no changes" in the present school policy or administration were elected, including Warren Costin, 43-year-old businessman and the sole incumbent in the race, Virgil Moser, 51, partner in a produce house; and Willie Landau, 37, owner of a men's shop.

Williams, in Colorado since 1942, was at Loraine for 12 years previously. He had been active in civic affairs here and is chairman of the board of the First Methodist Church, a teacher of men's class. He holds his B. A. degree from McMurry and his M.A. from Hardin-Simmons. Some critics have leveled a charge of lax discipline at the administration, but supporters have denied this, contending that it is not just a local problem, anyhow. Williams has been backed consistently by the school board and was given a $1,200 raise and a two-year contract.

Hold-over members of the board are Thurston Smith, Johnny Moore president, Lon Strain and Dr. Oscar Rhodes.

Tough Thugs Rob Bank Of $10,000

BLOOMBURG, Tex. (AP) — Two tough acting thugs cleaned out the safe and two cash drawers of all the bills in sight yesterday at the First State Bank, then escaped toward Louisiana with their $10,000 loot.

It was the third bank robbery in six days in this vicinity.

Holdup men got $1,600 in Bossier City, La., near Shreveport Thursday. A stickup man got $21,500 Saturday at Gilmer, where the vault still was being used in a bank building being torn down.

One of the holdup men brutally kicked an employe, Raymond Puckett, who was lying on the floor by order of the robbers.

SPAIN TAKES OVER TO LAND ARGENTINA IN WEST TEXAS

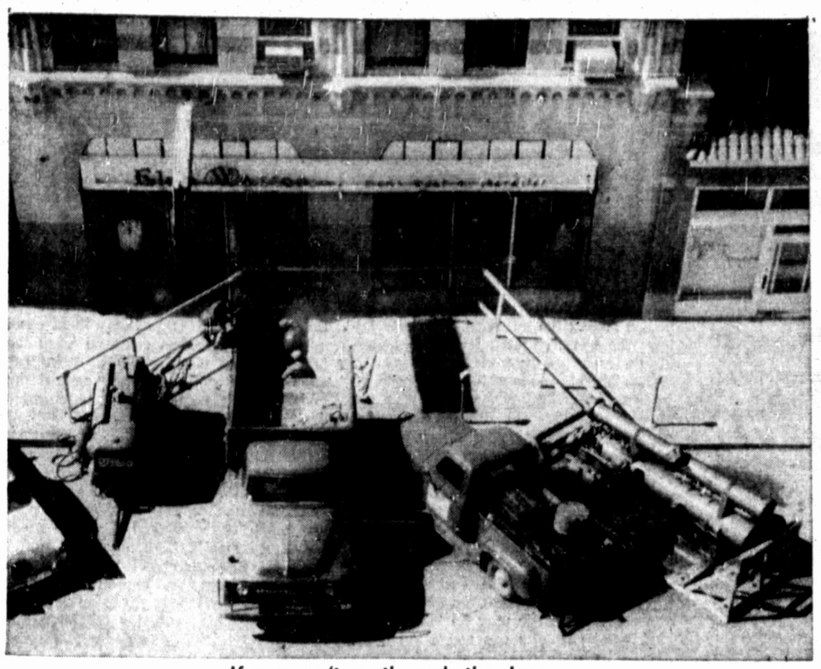

Three nationalities got into the act Wednesday afternoon when a "Spanish-speaking airplane" was reported in the vicinity of Webb Air Force Base—and in need of fuel.

The plane was from Argentina, with 12 Argentine Navy men in this country to ferry some new planes to their homeland. The DC-4 arrived in this country at New York and filed a flight plan to Bowling Green, Ky. After landing there Wednesday morning, the craft left without a new flight plan.

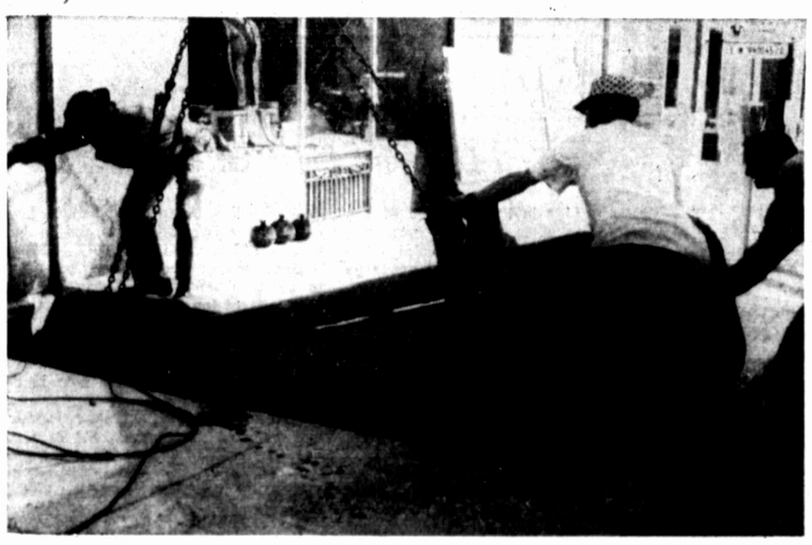

None of the men aboard could speak Spanish, and the AF-CAA Flight Service became alarmed that the Argentine plane might run into difficulty in finding a place for additional fuel. Flight Service calculated that the plane should be near Big Spring and nearly out of fuel by mid-afternoon Wednesday.

Webb AFB was alerted, and Webb authorities recruited Capt. Jorge Mora of Spain, a student here, to attempt to contact the Argentine fliers by radio. Capt. Mora took over the control tower and quickly established contact in Spanish. He provided landing instructions and then welcomed the Argentina airmen to West Texas while their plane was being serviced.

The plane departed Webb for Phoenix, Ariz., en route to Burbank, Calif. A flight plan was filed.

Machine Too Big For Door? Then Go Under

Problem: How to install an air conditioner when it is too big to go through the entrance of a building.

Answer: Go down and under.

Cosden Petroleum Corporation faced this problem in air conditioning the former Petroleum Building which it purchased for headquarters purposes. The big combination compressor-condenser-chiller was too big and heavy to go down either the stariway or the elevator.

So technicians decided the simplest way — although admittedly a hard one — was to dig down beside the foundation wall and then go through it.

In the view at top left, workers toil with jack hammers to chip a hole in the sidewalk on the W. 2nd Street side of the building. Once to the proper depth they pecked away through the thick foundation.

"It was about the toughest piece of concrete you ever saw," said Douglas Orme, vice president in charge of the structure. "They put in heavy steel and knew how to mix that concrete when they built the building."

The unit, shown beside one of the trucks at the curb, is lowered tenderly into the hole in the center view. At bottom left, it is being eased through the hole in the foundation wall into the basement.

Now installed, the unit will be tied into a new system which will deliver cold or hot water to handling coils on each floor. By electronic controls, the proper amount of outside and inside air will be circulated, and the proper amount of heat or cold delivered to the coils so temperature can be controlled automatically to the four zones of each floor.

The building already had two big boilers, one of them as a standby, to adequately heat the structure, but air conditioning was not in vogue when the plant was built 25 years ago. Steam radiators will be removed from the offices soon, and the water circulated to the handling coils on each floor instead.

Cooling equipment has a 100-ton rating, and next step will be the erection of big cooling towers on top of the building. This time the procedure may be simpler although more spectacular. Big cranes will hoist the tower equipment to the roof.

IRS To Assist With Tax Returns Monday

The Big Spring office of the Internal Revenue Service will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to give group assistance to taxpayers who need last-minute help on income tax returns for 1955.

Monday is the deadline for filing the 1955 tax returns.

Sidney Clark of the local IRS office urged taxpayers who have not filed returns to do so immediately. He explained that taxpayers often tun into unexpected problems and delays until the last day might result in late tax reports. Penalties are provided for the late returns.

High Tides Churn Up Quickie Flood Along Virginia Coast

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The highest tides in two decades churned up a quickie flood in the Hampton Roads coastal area last night, disrupting communications and transportion and temporarily isolating two communities.

The waters lapped into business sections of Norfolk and Newport News, forced suspension of ferry service linking the two cities and caused the closing of a main bridge across the James River.

The floods struck hardest at the York County community of Poquoson on Chesapeake Bay and the Norfolk-side village of Willoughby. Each was isolated for a while and Army amphibious vehicles were called in to re-establish connections.

The tides were spawned by an Atlantic storm that brought winds up to 70 miles an hour. The tides reached a peak of four to five feet above normal before midnight and began receding.

The weather bureau said the worst of the northeaster was over, but a new threat was posed by high tides due today. The bureau said they were expected to be less than two feet above normal.

Despite a weather bureau forecast the storm would veer out to sea, Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut ordered a standby alert in the event of heavy rains.

A late forecast indicated chances the storm would hit Connecticut has lessened, but tides were expected to run two to three feet above normal.

The Virginia floods topped a one-day springtime weather package that also produced a snowfall of three to five inches in western and southwest portions of the state. There were strong gusts of wind over most of the Old Dominion yesterday, too.

Last night the water seeped into business and waterfront establishments in Norfolk, Newport News, Hampton, Buckroe Beach and Poquoson. The damage was expected to total many thousands of dollars.

Poquoson, with a population of 4,000, was without electricity last night and the Navy dispatched a mobile generating unit to aid the town.

Along the Atlantic Coast, the storm kept the Coast Guard busy.

The tug Dunlap reported heavy seas parted her tow line to the SS Alpha about 130 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras. The Alpha carried a 14-man crew but was not in any danger.

Editorial

Getting To The Very Brink

We Americans are so absorbed in domestic matters — the presidential primaries, the farm bill, the drought, the late spring, the pull and haul of politics — that we either are bored by or disgusted with the daily gist of news from the hottest spot on earth — the Middle East.

The arrival of the U.N. secretary-general bearing proposals for easing the tensions between Arab and Jew was the signal for fresh outbreaks of violence on the border separating Israel from Egypt. At the same time the harassed British lion was getting a tail-twisting from two practically new directions — Aden, at the tip of the Arabian mainland, and the oil-producing island of Bahrein on the Persian Gulf.

These incidents, and many others that have gone before or will follow soon after, add up to but one thing: a determination, backed if not devised by Soviet Russia, to drive the power and influence and the very presence of Western nations from the Middle East.

Our stake there is only less enormous than Britain's. As little as most Americans realize it, all that the West owns in the Middle East trembles in the balance. Take one item: oil. If the Anglo-American community of petroleum interests are driven out — in which case Russia would reap the full benefit — it would be only a matter of time until we ran out of gas. In case of global war that one item might be decisive — against us. In case of war it would be necessary to ration gasoline to absolutely essential uses; nine-tenths of the automobiles in the U. S. would not be merely rationed, they would be immobilized.

And the outbreak of a general shooting war in the Middle East would inevitably lead to global war, later if not sooner.

At this moment we are perilously near an open and widespread war in that area. Matters have gone so far — from neglect, from lack of initiative and imagination, from whatever cause — that pulling this one out of the fire will partake of the miraculous.

At this moment no magicians are visible on the Western front.

Congratulations On Splendid Growth

Big Spring joins in saluting Abilene on the occasion of its diamond jubilee celebration. Abilene actually came into existence along about the same time as the town of Big Spring, because both were tied to the westward push of the Texas & Pacific Railway. We might just as fittingly have celebrated our 75th anniversary in May, when regular rail service was inaugurated back in 1881, but we had our big party back in 1949 when we celebrated the 100th anniversary of the "discovery" of the spring for which this city was named.

From that experience, we learned that it is good to pause occasionally and reflect on these people and factors which have contributed to our great progress, to take inventory of present human and material resources, and to look ahead for a basis of sound progress. All those elements abound in Abilene, which is contributing to the over-all development of West Texas by maintaining its vigorous spirit and unlimited faith as well as growth.

Many leaders and industrialists, commenting in the splendid special edition issued by the Abilene Reporter News in commemoration of the occasion, boldly predicted a population of 150,000 to 200,000 for Abilene within the next generation. We would not scoff at such predictions; rather we sincerely hope that the rate of solid growth continues unabated until the predictions are borne out. Big Spring loves to see its neighbors do well.

It is most fitting that as part of the week-long celebration, Abilene set aside a day to honor Frank Grimes, editor of the Reporter News and a great newspaperman. More than emphasizing the human equation in a city's growth, this has paid tribute to devotion and humility.

New Encroachment Of Federal Power

WASHINGTON — Ever since the founding of the American republic it has been the exclusive right of the states to maintain law and order — to exercise police powers within their own borders— and the federal government has not interfered.

But the Department of Justice now proposes to Congress that laws be enacted giving the federal government the right to police federal elections, determine who shall or shall not vote, and decide also whether citizens are "being subjected to unwarranted economic pressures by reason of their color, race, religion, or national origin."

If the Congress has a right under the Constitution to pass such laws, then the federal government also can ignore the state and local machinery of law enforcement and punish violence at the factory gate.

The labor unions have consistently fought against the use of the federal power to punish coercion or intimidation in labor-union elections. The only penalty today is a "cease and desist" order upon a labor union. This is meaningless. For if violence in strikes occurs or if workers are intimidated, the federal government keeps hands off.

Now, however, under the principle contained in proposed legislation, the Department of Justice could get the power to prosecute such offenders, since civil rights certainly are involved. It will be recalled that a few years ago a number of labor unions entered into a conspiracy to stop the publication of most of the daily newspapers in New York City. The Department of Justice refused to prosecute them, even though the First Amendment to the Constitution was involved. The labor unions themselves had been given legal status by the Taft-Hartley law, and their acts as labor unions were derived from federal authority.

If the legislation now recommended by the Department of Justice to punish persons who exert "unwarranted economic pressure" is passed, it will be a short step to the broadening of the federal power to police all labor-union activities, especially those which up to now have been considered exclusively in the domain of city police departments or the offices of sheriffs in county governments.

The new proposals, of course, are aimed at race friction and are designed to prevent interference with voting by Negroes in the South and to deal with economic measures taken against them. But what is "unwarranted economic pressure?" If the federal government assumes the right to arrest and indict and try persons who use "economic pressure," it will be a difficult thing to keep the same police powers from being exercised also in labor-union elections.

Today a citizen loses his rights under the Constitution — the right to believe as he pleases about labor unions — if he wants to keep a job in a so-called "union shop." Compulsory unionization is the law of the land today, though the Supreme Court of the United States has never specifically ruled on the validity of such compulsion.

It is strange that the Department of Justice doesn't show any interest in protecting the right of a man to keep his job or to get a job unless he is willing to yield to economic pressure and give up the political and economic beliefs guaranteed him by the Constitution.

The proposal to regulate elections for federal offices and let the federal government exercise power to review the work of local election boards is not novel. It has been urged for some time as a means of protecting the rights of minorities. It has been advanced, too, in northern states as a means of regulating employment. It means that an employer who doesn't hire exactly the same number of Swedes, for example, as he does Norwegians could be punished for discrimination on the basis of "national origin." It means the same principles could be extended so that, if an employer who is himself a Protestant wants to hire only Protestants or if a Catholic employer wants to hire only Catholics, he would be subject to penalty under federal laws for discrimination in hiring.

The new proposal opens up a Pandora's Box of troubles for the states and could mark the beginning of the end of state government in America and the building of a strong centralized government with complete control over all matters hitherto believed to be solely in the domain of the state, city and county governments.

Ike Not Headstrong On Mid-East War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nothing this government has said actually pledges it to get into Middle East fighting—in order to stop it—if war breaks out there between Israelis and Arabs. If war starts, the United States may go in.

How would it go about it? In the first place, President Eisenhower almost certainly would seek approval by Congress, just as he got advance approval in 1955 to try to stop any Red Chinese attempt to take Formosa.

He would also almost certainly seek approval by the United Nations, just as President Truman got U.N. approval for sending troops into Korea.

On May 25, 1950—one month to the day before the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea—the United States, Britain and France were concerned with keeping peace in the Middle East.

The Israelis and Arabs had fought a bloody war there. The three big powers on May 25 announced an agreement to take immediate action if either Israelis or Arabs violated the armistice.

They said they would act "both within and outside the United Nations to prevent such violation." They undoubtedly were thinking of the U.N. Security Council, where the Russians were in a good spot to block action in the Middle East.

This is why: Under the U.N. Charter the members — there are 76 now—pledge themselves to take collective action to keep peace and stop acts of aggression.

Under the charter, as originally set up, the 11-member Security Council was supposed to make any such decision for the U.N. to act collectively. But such a decision requires unanimous approval of the five permanent members of the council—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Nationalist China.

If one of the big five vetoed such action, there presumably could be none. And Russia, as it had demonstrated often, might use the veto.

So, by saying they would act within or outside the U.N. to stop any Middle East aggression, the United States, Britain, and France seemed to be saying they'd act if Russia cast a veto.

One month later the Korean War began. By a freak of history, Russia was boycotting the Council meetings.

On June 25, 1950, the day the war began, the Council met. With Russia absent, it approved a cease-fire resolution that paved the way for Truman on June 27 to send American forces into Korea to stop the war.

That same day, June 27, the Council passed an American-authored resolution calling on U.N. members to help South Korea repel the North Korean Communist attack.

That incident made it a cinch Russia wouldn't be absent from the council if such circumstances arose again. If then it cast a veto on U.N. action to stop fighting, the world organization would be paralyzed.

The United States took steps to make that impossible. On Nov. 3, 1950, it got the U.N. general Assembly—all members take part and there is no veto—to approve this plan:

If in the future the Security Council did not make a decision to stop the outbreak of war by throwing U.N. forces into it, the General Assembly could vote by a two-thirds majority for U.N. action.

So if war should break out in the Middle East—and if Eisenhower wants to put American forces into the area to bring peace—he will probably first get congressional approval, then seek Security Council approval. If he fails there, he then could seek approval by the General Assembly where the Communists are outnumbered.

A Child At Sea

ABOARD SS NASSAU At Sea (AP) —What is the proper age to take a child on a cruise?

Many parents ask this question. Homeward bound after a glorious two-week vacation tour of the Bahamas, I am a bit inclined to give this answer:

The proper age to take a child on a cruise is when it is 65 years old — and suffering from fallen arches. Then you can be reasonably sure of where it is.

Not that my wife, Frances, and I haven't been exactly unaware of the location of our young daughter, Tracy Ann.

We have always known exactly where she was. She has always been in one of three places:

1. Under the feet of the waiters in the dining room.

2. Fifteen steps ahead of our outstretched arms — and running in the wrong direction.

3. Trying to ride an upper rail, piggy-back, with a rolling deck beneath one leg and maybe two miles of rolling ocean beneath the other.

This is the third cruise for Tracy. On the first one she was only 8 months old, and it was a breeze to push her around in a carriage, On the second cruise she was 19 months old, and still easy to handle. I put a leather harness on her and told her she was a pony. This more than pleased her, as at that age she would rather have been a horse than a grown-up.

But now she is 2 years and 9 months old and, like a cat settling down in new quarters, she has felt it necessary to explore every cranny of the ship. She has tried to help the chef cook pastry, the engineer to fuel the boilers, the captain to rule his bridge.

With some ships this wouldn't do at all. But this ship has an Italian crew, many of them homesick for their own families far away. Italians generally seem to have a theory that a child can do no wrong, and the crew members have so pampered Tracy that I'm afraid she'll be half way through college before I can unspoil her.

Right now I'm an ex-iron parent with the authority of a rubber band.

Do I sound like an old crank? After all, the fresh air and exercise have caused Tracy to bloom like a lilac bush. And in the interludes between the times I have been frantically keeping her from falling overboard, we have had some unforgettable moments of companionship together.

What is the right age to take a child on a cruise?

The real answer I guess is—any age. The price of parenthood is constant fear. But wherever you go, you will worry less about a child if you take it with you than if you leave it behind. And you'll be a lot less lonesome!

Give The Guy His One Break!

I'm adding my voice to those opposed to putting the basketball goal out of the tall guys' reach.

The cage goal and the gallows are the only things humans ever devised to fit the Long Johns and Slim Jims of the world. And I'm against taking that basketball blessing away from them.

You probably never noticed it, unless you're among the tall ones, but those fellows come up against it (sometimes literally) everywhere they go.

High Pockets has been the butt of enough jokes that you likely know most beds are too short for him. But did you know that chairs, tables, desks, counters, doors, automobiles, grape arbors, and a dozen other things also give him the miseries.

Apparently everything people use was designed for the "average man." The short ones and the tall ones have to get by the best they can. And the long yokels have the roughest go of it.

No one ever heard of a short man banging his head against the top of the average door. The chair may be too high for him, but he usually can reach the floor. If not, he can let his feet dangle.

But not the tall fellow. He's forever ramming his head against one of those hydraulic affairs they hang at the top of doors, if he manages to miss the top of the frame.

And when he goes to sit down, he always finds the chair too short. So he either stretches his legs half way across the room, tripping everyone that moves about, or he folds his legs like a bird's wings. Knees stick up in his face his feet get tangled and he feels generally ill at ease.

The same problems come up when the tall boy tries to approach a desk. The knee joints bump and scrape against the underside of the thing while he arches his back trying to reach the topside.

Automobiles set up a similar situation. If the tall driver scoots back far enough to work the pedals comfortably, he's looking out the windshield from someplace near the back seat. If he doesn't, knees and shins rattle against the instrument panel and steering column.

All these things combine to make the long guy awkward and uncomfortable. The consequences often show up in his personality and his every-day temperament.

To offset this, I'm in favor of leaving things so the Long Legs can find a few moments of satisfaction on the basketball court.

Two Different Lines Of Policy

While nothing in the Middle East has gotten better, it is, I think, becoming clearer what is the funadmental question of high policy which will have to be answered in London and Washington. The question is whether and how they will recognize the fact that the Soviet Union is now present as a great power in the international affairs of the Middle East.

This question is as painful and difficult as is the somewhat similar question in the Far East, that of the recognition of Red China. Both in China and in the Middle East the question is how policy is to come to terms with the hard and unpleasant fact that an unfriendly great power is now present in what has been traditionally a friendly sphere of influence. It is this unanswered question which is at the root of the hesitations and the differences in London and in Washington.

The reason that there are no clear and firm decisions being taken is that every decision involves the question of what the Soviet Union will do about it. We are not genuinely in diplomatic contact with the Soviet Union about the Middle East. We do not know what we are able to do without her, in spite of her, or with her.

* * *

Last week the United States made two important moves in the Middle East. One of them was to go to the U.N. and to ask that the Security Council instruct Mr. Hammarskjold to work on the improvement of the Palestine armistice. This move required the concurrence of the Soviet Union, which could have used its veto, and in the end the concurrence was obtained. Almost simultaneously Washington, under pressure from London, decided to send Mr. Loy Henderson, a high diplomatic officer, to the coming meeting of the members of the Baghdad Pact. This pact, which we have blessed but not joined, does not recognize the Soviet presence in the Middle East. It is in fact designed to exclude the Soviet Union's participation in the affairs of the Middle East.

Here then we have two different lines of policy being followed at the same time.

One aims to induce the Soviet Union to concur in the maintenance of peace and eventually in the arrangement of a settlement. This, one many say, is the line that the Eisenhower administration would like to follow. The other line, that of the Baghdad Pact and also of the 1950 Tripartite Declaration about Palestine, would not recognize the Soviet Union in dealing with the Palestine conflict or with the strategic and economic problems of the Middle East.

* * *

We have to ask ourselves how long we can continue on these two incompatible lines of policy. There exists today a Moscow-Cairo axis which rests on the fact that both the Soviet Union and Egypt have a common interest. They both wish to overturn the policy of the Baghdad Pact and of the Tripartite Declaration—the policy of excluding the Soviet Union and of claiming for the West the ultimate responsibility for the whole area.

Can we expect to succeed both in the U.N. and at Baghdad? Can we have collaboration at the U.N. and non-recognition and exclusion outside the U.N.? Is it not evident that the attempt to follow both lines simultaneously must lead to the frustrations we are experiencing and to the equivocations and indecisions which everyone is complaining about?

* * *

It is, of course, easier to see the dilemma of our incompatible policies than it is to see how the dilemma can be resolved. For we do not know whether the Soviet Union would, if invited, be willing to collaborate.

At the U.N. meeting in New York last week Mr. Sobolev, the Soviet representative, drew a sharp line between stabilizing the Arab-Israeli armistice and attempting to make a settlement. Presumably then, Moscow does not now want war but neither does it want peace. The present situation, with its fierce passions and its high tensions, seems to suit Moscow. Why? Presumably again, because it is an anti-Israel coalition that the Arab states are the most united and at the same time the most dependent upon the Soviet Union.

Egypt, which is the prime mover among the Arabs, depends upon the Soviet Union for something more than arms. It depends on the Soviet Union for its veto in the U.N. and above all for its capacity to interpose military power if Britain and the United States were to resort to force to maintain the status quo. Col. Nasser, one might say, depends on Moscow to keep the green light burning for his advances. The Soviet Union is acting as a protector of Egypt and of Saudi-Arabia in their campaign to subvert the British and American position in Israel, Jordan, Iraq, and the Persian Gulf. The Moscow-Cairo axis is operating to nullify the Baghdad Pact, the Tripartite Declaration, and to frustrate the whole policy of excluding the Soviet Union from the Middle East.

* * *

If there are to be serious discussions when Messrs. Bulganin and Khrushchev visit London next week, nothing would seem to be more important than to find out whether they have any willingness to collaborate in the Middle East, and if so, on what terms.

Case Of Bridegroom Doing The Work

MONTE CARLO — Miss Grace Kelly is arriving in this spectacular slice of paradise just in the nick of time. Her cool, calm presence is needed here; her cool, pale hand needed on the fevered brow of her fiance.

His Not So Serene Highness, Prince Rainier III, has the familiar look — tired, drawn and a bit jittery — of a man suffering from pre-nuptial nerves.

There are circles under his eyes, too, and no wonder! Eight hundred guests already have accepted invitations to attend a wedding in a cathedral that seats, at best, 415 persons. Blue blood could run in the streets.

The sovereign of Monaco is in the unique and terrible position of a man who has to arrange his own wedding. The only duty of every other bridegroom in the world is to show up, in a hard collar, at the fixed time and place. The world around, it is the bride and her parents who must support the moil, toil and expense of the wedding.

Other bridegrooms get in on a brass ring, but not Prince Rainier. He has made all the arrangements, both for the civil ceremony in the throne room of the Palace next Wednesday and for the religious service in the Cathedral the following day.

No wonder the Prince looks peaked! The only absolute monarch left in the Western world, he is not a man to delegate authority. He has kept a tight and very personal rein on all arrangements. The calm and soothing presence of Miss Kelly may banish the furrows from his royal brow.

His Serene Highness has seen to fresh paint on the palace, fresh uniforms on the guard and fresh carpet in the cathedral, to name only a few.

Ordinarily, a wedding leaves the father of the bride spent and broke. But in this instance it is estimated that the nuptials will nick the bridegroom to the tune of $250,000, not including a like sum voted by Monaco's National Council for street decorations and incidentals.

The council also has peeled $12,000 off the principality's bankroll to buy the Price a new Rolls-Royce and another $70,000 for a ruby and diamond necklace for the bride.

But the thrifty Monagasques are not prone to count the cost, since they figure Miss Kelly is bringing a $20,000,000 dowry with her.

This is not a dowry in the old-fashioned sense, to be sure. The Kellys aren't paying anyone to marry their daughter! But increased tourist trade, souvenir sales and the sweet symphony of galloping dominoes, whirring slot machines and purring roulette wheels in the casino add up to the new Golconda.

One of Miss Kelly's first pleasant duties here will be to inspect the presents pouring into the palace she will soon call home. Prince Rainier has attempted to lighten the problem of gift-giving for his friends by visiting his favorite jeweler here and — should any guest drop in and need guidance — indicating which bibelots would be nearest his heart's desire.

No detail of the forthcoming nuptials has been too small to escape the Prince's attention. No wonder he's pooped. This is really woman's work and Miss Kelly can't get here too soon.

Forum Leaders And Guest

All ready for the luncheon given Wednesday by members of the Forums are these presidents and the guest speaker, Eudora Hawkins of Abilene. From left to right, they are Mrs. John Hill, president of the Spoudazio Fora, Mrs. Joe Pickle of The Woman's Forum, Mrs. Johnny Johnson, who heads the Junior Woman's Forum, Miss Hawkins and Mrs. J. P. Dodge, president of the Modern Woman's Forum.

Miss Hawkins Of Abilene Is Speaker For Forum Luncheon

"You women of federated clubs belong to a most important organization," members of the Forums were told Wednesday.

Eudora Hawkins of Abilene, state conservation chairman of the Texas Federated Clubs, was guest speaker at a luncheon for the Woman's Forum, The Woman's Forum, the Junior Woman's Forum and the Spoudazio Fora.

The affair was held at Cosden Country Club, with guests received by the four club presidents: Mrs. Joe Pickle, Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. J. P. Dodge and Mrs. Johnny Johnson.

Mrs. Pickle, acting as mistress of ceremonies, introduced each president who, in turn presented her club members. Mrs. Harwood Keith, past president of Eighth District, and Mrs. Bob Eubanks, former district and state board member, were recognized.

FEDERATED CLUBS

Miss Hawkins expressed appreciation of club women who are making their towns better places to live. The federation is the agency, members were told, which will influence women to think and to improve the extra time that a "push button world" gives them.

The speaker told of the history of women's clubs and of the reforms made because the federation has worked so diligently. Some of the changes are uniform labor laws, an eight-hour day, conservation of natural resources, better hygiene and pure food and drug laws.

"The prestige of the Federation of Women's Clubs is not an accident," Miss Hawkins reminded the group. "It has been gained through hard work and through being on the right side of problems."

She stressed the importance of worthwhile projects, such as are included in the promotion of the state clubs. Some of the statewide projects are helping the Indians in East Texas, the establishment of a scholarship for the education of Indian boys and girls, the contests on community achievement and leadership development, the Americanism and Texas heritage programs and the driver education campaign.

RESOLUTIONS

In speaking of the meeting of clubs to be held in Dallas in May, the speaker discussed three important resolutions to be presented. They are the resolutions backing the increase in personnel and pay in the highway patrol; the reserving of the state's control over natural resources and the support of a litterbug campaign.

The women were advised to study the immigration laws, to keep up to date on legislation to be acted on and to take the responsibility of following up the resolutions passed by their groups.

Miss Hawkins gave a discussion of the various programs which might be included in club yearbooks.

A spring theme was used in the decorations, with places marked by cards bearing bluebirds, flowers and parasols. The speakers' table featured a parasol of orchid net over an arrangement of stock, iris, snapdragons and daisies. Vari-colored ribbons tied the parasol.

Guests were seated at tables using arrangements of the same kinds of flowers in combination with tiny paper parasols. About 70 attended the luncheon.

Club Has Program On Mental Health

Chaplain C. E. Thiele was speaker for members of the Child Study Club Wednesday afternoon when they met in the home of Mrs. T. H. McCann Jr. Mrs. Akin Simpson was cohostess.

The speaker chose as his subject, "Are You Mentally Mature?" He distributed questionnaires to the group for testing themselves. The fact was brought out that each person should have a sense of his or her own value.

Members were told that the State Hospital has 1,211 patients on the rolls; this includes those on furloughs. The women were urged to visit the hospital for guided tours. A question and answer period was held.

During a business meeting, Mrs. Simpson reported on the last meeting of the City Federation. She told the club that it is time to pay the dues for that organization.

Mrs. Raymond Moore announced that cookies are to be made for the Service Men's Center some time in May. Members will be notified of the date.

Mrs. R. C. Thomas, Mrs. Conny Wade and Mrs. LeRoy Hollingshead were appointed on a nominating committee. Plans were made for the club luncheon to be held May 9. It will be in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith, 900 Birdwell. Assisting will be Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Wade and Mrs. F. D. Williams.

It was decided that members will have as their luncheon guests former members of the study club. Two new members were introduced, Mrs. Wayne Bartlett and Mrs. Louis Stallings. Guests were Mrs. R. M. Dean and Mrs. Hayden Harrell. Thirteen were present.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

The Perfect Fit Makes Difference In Clothes

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD-When Paramount flew a Hollywood group to San Diego for a premiere of a picture, I met Marla English for the first time. Since San Diego is Marla's home town, she was royally received. The gown that she appeared in that night was delicately embroidered with pearls. Marla told me with filial pride that her mother had made it.

Now that Marla has climbed the ladder of success a bit further her mother still helps with her wardrobe.

"I have been sewing since I was five," Marla told me on the set of "The Three Bad Sisters."

"It was a wonderful way to have clothes that I couldn't otherwise have afforded. All during school I picked up fabrics at bargains and had smartly attractive dresses for an extremely low price."

Marla mentioned how much she had learned from Edith Head, Paramount designer, who makes her clothes.

"She taught me a great deal about fit. I was wearing my clothes too tight. 'Emphasize your bust line by a well placed tuck underneath,' she told me, 'it is much more flattering.'

"She taught me to be very careful when wearing straight skirts not to have anything bulging over the stomach area. 'You have a flat stomach. So show it,' she said.

"She selected my most flattering hemline area and told me to wear my skirts at that length regardless of fashion changes. It is strange," Marla reflected. "She shortened my skirt only a half an inch but it was so much more becoming.

"I am scarcely five feet four so the style of a dress can make me look shorter if I am not careful.

"Edith also helped me choose my most flattering colors. Since I have blue eyes and black hair she felt that white and pastels compliment me more than blacks and browns."

"Thank you," I told Marla in parting. "These are points with which any girl can check herself."

GROOMING NOTES

The same sort of ideas which helped Marla learn about fashion are available in leaflet M-4, "Easy Seven-Point Routine for Good Grooming." Added at no extra cost are sections on care of complexion, hair and nails. To get your copy simply send 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane Hollywood Beauty, care of the Big Spring Herald. Remember to ask for leaflet M-4.

Some Advice On Clothes

Dark beauty Marla English, currently being seen in "Three Bad Sisters," learned all about fashion from Designer Edith Head. She shares some of the secrets with Hollywood Beauty readers today.

Site Of 1956 Exhibits

The map shows the two routes to the Big Spring National Guard Armory, site of this year's Manufacturers and Processors Exhibit. The armory (circled) is on FM 700, which may be reached from Gregg in front of the VA Hospital or from U.S. 80 near the Webb Air Force Base entrance west of the city. Residents also may go to the armory by way of West Seventeenth Street, which intersects FM 700 near the Park Hill School. Plenty of parking space is available.

More Elaborate Displays Planned

Last year's manufacturers exhibit may have been a little larger than this year's show, but more elaborate individual displays are being planned by exhibitors in the 1956 event which opens Friday.

For one thing, Cabot Carbon Company will have a room all to itself. This will permit projection of a motion picture showing production and use of carbon black such as is produced at Cabot's plant here.

Other manufacturers and processors also plan larger displays this year.

The 1955 show could be considered larger only because it had more exhibitors and extended over three days, instead of two.

More than 1,500 viewed the displays of 16 local concerns last year. The attendance record probably will be broken this year, even though the exhibits will be staged but two days.

Last year's exhibits were presented at Fourth and Gregg. This year they will be staged at the National Guard Armory, which features plenty of parking space as well as ample display room.

The show last year represented Big Spring concerns with a gross annual production far in excess of $50,000,000. The 16 firms reported employment of approximately 1,000 persons with an annual payroll of more than $5,000,000.

The exhibitors, some of which failed to return this year but whose places were taken by other local industries, were Coca Cola Bottling Company, Cosden Petroleum Corporation, Big Spring Glass and Mirror Company, Big Spring Mattress Company, Christensen Boot Shop, Jordan Printing Company, Cabot Carbon Company, Phillips Tire Company, Neel Transfer and Storage Company, Hall Shade and Awning Company, R&M Iron Works, Cactus Paint Company, Al Stevenson Sign Works, Clyde McMahon Concrete Company, Mead's Bakery, and Pederson Battery Works.

Texans Can Get Cigars In Chosen Shape And Color

There's evidence that Texans, individualistic in many matters, prefer their own type of cigar, a characteristic "blunt" shape. The saying is that this preference dates 'way back to Jim Bowie, who used that famous Bowie knife to trim his cigars just to make himself a "blunt."

"Texas Special" has been produced by the makers of Lovera cigars to meet this Texas preference. This is the cigar that boasts the light Lovera wrapper, and is that blunt shape.

It's a sales-established fact, too, that Texans go for a cigar that is lighter in color than that favored by smokers elsewhere. So, Lovera has catered to Texas tastes with the "light" Lovera. And the brand has proved popular that it's practically a mark of Texans. The demand is expected to be more than ever with Lovera's light color in the new blunt shape — the "Texas Special."

Cotton Growers Plan Dawson Member Drive

LAMESA — Directors of the Lamesa Cotton Growers last night made plans for a complete canvass of the county to enlist members.

The organization is asking for 10 cents per bale of cotton produced in 1955 by farmer members.

Businessmen and ginners also are to be given an opportunity to be members. The recommended minimum for ginners is one cent per bale ginned last year.

The directors also voted to contribute $250 more to the cotton acreage fight being waged in federal courts.

Dawson County has already contributed $500 through the Dawson County Farm Bureau in an effort to regain cotton acreage lost to East Texas this year.

E. D. David and Ben Dopson, Dawson representatives on the directorate of the Plains Cotton Growers, reported on that organization's activities. David said the group discussed the acreage fight and will contribute to it.

Another of the directors, Ferd King, said he has been informed that Labor Department in Dallas says the action to collect 20 cents per 100 pounds of cotton pulled by braceros between Oct. 20 and Nov. 6 is now up to Washington officials.

According to King, a group of West Texans are now trying to arrange meeting with the Undersecretary of Labor. If the meeting can be scheduled, a Farm Bureau representative and a labor contractor from Dawson County will attend.

Many, Varied Products To Be Seen At Armory

From boots to black, from bottles to benzene, from signs to sashes — these are only some of the things to be on exhibit Friday and Saturday in the second annual manufacturers show at the National Guard Armory.

Fourteen local firms — by no means the total of those processing and manufacturing goods in Big Spring — have signed for the show.

Included in the list are Cactus Paint, Cabot Carbon, Christensen Boot, Coca Cola, Cosden Petroleum, Curley Construction Company, Engle Mill and Supply, Western Service Company, Hall Shade & Awning, Clyde McMahon Concrete, Phillips Tire Company, R&M Iron Works, Seven Up Bottling, and Al Stevenson Signs.

Last year Cactus had a representative line of its paints, together with the materials which goes into their production. There was descriptive matter, too, to tell of the processes by which paints are made here for precisely the climate in which they will be used.

Cabot Carbon had one of the larger displays, showing the many uses to which carbon black is put. Jimmie McCune, who came from Pampa last year to assist in the operation, is due to be back again.

Christensen Boot Shop is to repeat with its layout which shows the various steps by which custom made cowboy boots and other leather goods are fashioned.

Coca Cola and Seven Up will have their customary large and colorful spreads.

Curley Construction Company is a newcomer to the show, and examples of the meticulous cabinet work turned out by the concern will be on display.

Sashes and frames, doors and screens, etc., will be exhibited by Engle Mill & Supply Company. Hall Shade and Awning Company, a repeat exhibitor, will have examples of how awnings are fabricated and erected.

Clyde McMahon Concrete will exhibit samples of concrete work, blocks, as well as grades of special materials. Phillips Tire Company will show how seat covers are made to customer specifications, out of latest types of materials, and also the steps followed in recapping of automobile, truck and tractor tires.

Al Stevenson, who last year gave examples of shadow box sign techniques, will have on display other examples reflecting trends in sign design and fabrication.

R&M Iron Works will have an array of ornamental iron from supports to railings and decorative work, along with examples of iron work for barbecue pits and other outdoor accoutrements.

Western Service Company will have displays of aluminum shade screening, storm and other windows. The frames and the shade screen, with louvres so tiny that not even small insects can penetrate, are fashioned to meet any size or shape specified by the customer.

Students Urged To See Exhibits

All students in Howard County have been invited to view the manufacturers' and processors' displays at the Manufacturers Exhibit in the National Guard Armory Friday and Saturday.

Letters inviting the students were sent to all schools in the county by Dewey Mark, member of E. B. McCormick's exhibit committee.

"It is felt that such an exhibit presents an excellent opportunity for students to observe and study the various kinds of products and materials actually manufactured and processed in Howard County," Mark wrote.

He pointed out that the displays would be of special benefit to students of science courses. He suggested that examination of the exhibits be planned as a sort of field trip for science students.

The exhibits committee also has been urging other citizens of the county and area to attend for the same reasons.

Other officers of the new organization are Jolette Rogers, vice president; Bob Van Meter, secretary; Gerry Hoover, treasurer; A. B. Mason, program chairman; A. K. Turner, membership chairman; F. M. Holley, devotional chairman; Burton Mason, assistant membership chairman; James Barr, project chairman; J. W. Wood, public relations; Richard Bartlett, charge lay leader; L. W. Tucker, pastor; and R. D. Cramer, reporter.

Others present for the first meeting of the group Monday evening were Jim J. Meador and E. Leon Stearns. The women of the church served a buffet dinner.

Charter members will be accepted by the Men for another month. Regular meeting of the organization will be the first Monday evening of each month.

Trustees Abolish Campus Pregnancy

Pregnancy of students will be banned in the Big Spring schools as a result of policy established by the school board.

Trustees ordered school administrators to ask the withdrawal from classes of any student "on the discovery of pregnancy." The policy was made effective immediately.

Supt. W. C. Blankenship said the pregnancy of some married high school girls has created considerable comment on the campus. He estimated three or four per cent of high school students are married.

Marine Tells Story

Compromise Hopes For Demos Fades

AUSTIN (AP)—The possibility of compromise between feuding factions of Texas Democrats apparently has vanished.

Gov. Shivers said yesterday Sen. Lyndon Johnson had lined up with Speaker Sam Rayburn and therefore with "the minority radical wing of the Democratic party of Texas."

State Executive Committee Chairman George Sandlin said he didn't see how anyone could doubt that Johnson "has aligned himself with the left wing of the Democratic Party in Texas."

The Shivers and Sandlin statements presaged a running exchange for at least six weeks between the Shivers-led conservatives and the liberal-loyalist side led by Rayburn.

Both sides are intent on winning control of the State Democratic convention at Dallas May 22 and the 56-member Texas delegation to the national convention.

Shivers and Sandlin spoke out about Johnson after the senator said Tuesday night he would accept both chairmanship of the delegation and the role of favorite son for the presidential nomination if a majority at the state convention so desired.

Rayburn first suggested Johnson for these roles. Sandlin has proposed that Shivers lead the Texas delegation. The governor has said he would do so if the majority so desired.

Commenting on Johnson's speech, Shivers said the issue in the convention fight next month at Dallas "is not personalities but important principles, such as this: Should the leader of Texas' national Democratic delegation represent the views of a majority of Texas Democrats."

"I am sincerely sorry that Sen. Johnson has chosen to identify himself so closely with Speaker Sam Rayburn, whose affiliations with the minority radical wing of the Democratic party of Texas are well known to all," Shivers continued.

"It is difficult to see how a moderate, middle-of-the-road delegation could come out of such a one-sided alignment."

Shivers said again he "will not indulge in a campaign of personalities against my good friend Lyndon Johnson."

"Only if the Rayburn-DAC-PAC elements sponsoring Sen. Johnson insist upon exchanging personalities will I do anything other than stand firm upon the conservative principles of local government which I have supported all my life," said the governor.

Gunman Kills Ex-Friend Of Bugsy Siegel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A gunman yesterday killed a 61-year - old man described by police as a one-time associate of the late underworld figure Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel and gambler Tony Cornero. Detectives called it a gangland slaying.

Elmer Perry died from two bullets through the head and one through the neck as he sat in the front seat of a parked car owned by a woman friend. Officers expressed belief the killer fired from the back seat.

The shooting was similar to the 1951 gang killing of Tony Trombino and Tony Broncato, gambling figures, on a Hollywood street. They were slain sitting in a parked car.

Police sought Ted Lewin, 48, for questioning. They described him as a gambling casino operator and boxing promoter with interests in the Philippines and Japan.

Perry was found slumped on the passenger side in a 1950 sedan.

A maid from a nearby house discovered the body in late afternoon.

Siegel was killed by a sniper's bullets nearly 10 years ago as he sat in the Beverly Hills home of a friend, Virginia Hill.

Cigar Store Indians Bring $500 Apiece

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of people went shopping yesterday — for wooden Indians.

Customers made like bargain-basement enthusiasts in paying an average of more than $500 apiece for the old cigar store statues.

"I've never known a sale to generate as much interest as this one," said Louis J. Marion, veteran auctioneer for Parke-Bernet Galleries.

"People love those wooden Indians."

A hundred of the rare figures, once familiar landmarks of the tobacco store in America, sold for $54,700.

"I'm very satisfied," said Carl W. Haffenreffer, of Providence, R.I., whose father accumulated the redskins.

What did the buyers want with them?

Well, some plan to put them in their living rooms or hallways, or stand them in front yards, set them in lobbies of business buildings or showrooms, display them in museums or for sale in antique shops.

More than 400 people crowded the auction room.

"Don't use my name," said one purchaser, admiring his $850, life-size wooden brave, holding a bundle of cigars and a plug of chewing tobacco. "This is going to be a surprise for my wife."

Highest price — $2,050 — went for a tall Indian chief, carved in thin silhouette, with long hair, feathered helmet and black tunic. It was bought for a "Southern museum."

Texas Congressmen Vote For Farm Bill

Police Grimly Silent About Slaying Of Society Matron

CINCINNATI (AP) — The body of an attractive 34-year-old society matron, clad only in a robe and pajama tops, was found yesterday in the doorway of her home in the fashionable Hyde Park district. She had been stabbed to death.

The victim was Mrs. Audrey Evers Pugh, the wife of William W. Pugh, 34, a printing company executive. He found the body when he came home from his office.

If police had any clues to the slayer they were keeping a tight silence. Police Chief Stanley F. Schrotel had a police guard at the ranch house home during the night to protect any possible evidence.

Dr. Herbert P. Lyle, Hamilton County coroner, said details of an autopsy would be withheld because they might give an idea of the course of the investigation.

Coroner Lyle said, however, there was no immediate indication of attempted rape. Police also said the only blood found was in the doorway area.

Lt. Charles Martin of the homicide squad, said Mrs. Pugh had suffered at least 14 stab wounds in her neck and upper chest as well as lesser wounds on her arms. The wounds on the arms were believed to have been inflicted as she sought to ward off her attacker.

Neighbors described Mrs. Pugh as quiet and deeply religious.

Wife Claims Mate Held Party Over Coming Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A psychiatrist's wife says that when he left home he called in the neighbors, served them drinks and proposed a toast for the occasion.

Mrs. Dorothy K. Thompson was awarded a divorce from Dr. George N. Thompson, who agreed to give her property worth $180,000 and $1,200 a month for her support and their five children.

Mrs. Thompson testified that when her husband called in the neighbors to drink on "the forthcoming divorce" it was the first she knew of his plan to leave. She said he was a specialist in marital relations.

The psychiatrist, Mrs. Thompson testified, told her he didn't like married life and wanted to live a life of his own.

Ike Looks Forward To Golfing With Son, Farm Bill Decision

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) —President Eisenhower looked forward today to a golf date with his son — and to a decision on whether to sign or veto a farm bill he doesn't like. Congress dealt the President one of his worst legislative defeats in completing action on the farm measure last night.

Overriding vigorous administration objections to the election year measure, the Senate sent it to Eisenhower's desk by a vote of 50 to 35 after the House had approved the bill 237 to 181.

The President, here for a week's working vacation which started Monday, is against a major provision which would scrap the administration's flexible farm price support program in favor of a return to high, rigid supports for basic farm commodities.

James C. Hagerty, White House Press Secretary, told newsmen Eisenhower "still does not believe the bill meets the test of a good bill." But Hagerty declined to speculate on whether the President might veto the measure.

The press secretary did say he thinks Eisenhower will wait until he returns to Washington next wek before announcing his decision.

The President's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, is scheduled to arrive here during the day for a weekend of relaxation with the chief executive. Young Eisenhower is on leave from his post at Ft. Belvoir, near Washington.

The President kept in close touch with White House aides by telephone while the Senate and House were voting on the farm bill. He also checked by phone with Secretary of State Dulles again yesterday on the critical situation in the Middle East.

Eisenhower and Dulles conferred, too, regarding the major foreign policy address which the President will make in Washington April 21 at the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Hagerty told reporters that speech will deal in part with the Mid-East and U.S. efforts to halt Israeli-Arab strife in that area.

Vision Phones For Hospitals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Now it's possible to "visit" hospital patients with communicable diseases without making direct contact with the patients.

"Visit-vision"—a new electronic gadget which permits this—was displayed today at the annual convention of the Ohio Hospital Assn. It was first introduced at Morristown, N.J., earlier this month.

Here's how it works:

In the patient's room is a miniature television camera with a viewing screen and a special telephone. The hospital lobby would have the same equipment.

The visitor, from the lobby, dials the channel tuned to the patient's room. Visitor and patient then have a full view of each other and may carry on a telephone conversation without fear of germ transmittal.

PUZZLED FROWNS

Both Parties Beaming Over Results Of Illinois Primary

CHICAGO (AP)—For the record, both Democrats and Republicans are beaming about the results of the Illinois primary election.

Just among themselves, there are some puzzled frowns. Just what did it mean? And who won?

These are the figures:

President Eisenhower drew 753,267 votes from Republicans in nearly complete unofficial returns from Tuesday's preference test. Democrats gave Adlai Stevenson 703,291 votes.

Stevenson's tally was in 104 fewer precincts than were counted for Eisenhower. This is because a handful of the state's 9,511 precincts decline to give out unofficial counts. Some precincts gave unofficial returns for only one party.

On the Republican ballot there were 32,685 votes for Sen. William F. Knowland of California, who is backing Eisenhower for a second term, and 9,099 for Lar Daly of Chicago, a frequent office seeker.

Stevenson was unopposed on the Democratic ballot but there were scattered write-ins for Sen. Estes Kefauver and Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio. They won't be fully counted until the official canvass.

It appeared, though, that Kefauver's write-in total would be about 4 per cent of Stevenson's vote. Supporters of the Tennessee senator, who did not campaign in Illinois, had hoped for at least 10 per cent.

Thus the close race between Eisenhower and Stevenson drew most attention. It was strictly a popularity contest, and did not bind delegates to the national conventions.

The vote was light — some 1,600,000 voters, compared to almost 2,300,000 in the 1952 primary.

The state itself is considered Republican, although on occasion heavily Democratic Cook County (Chicago) can swing it to the other column.

Downstate Illinois is normally Republican. But it is largely agricultural, too. The Democrats thought downstate voters were ready for a change because of farm price unrest.

Instead, President Eisenhower ran better downstate against Stevenson in Tuesday's primary than he did in the 1952 general election. In returns from downstate, Eisenhower received 467,256 votes to Stevenson's 226,343—a ratio of better than 2 to 1.

Four years ago, Eisenhower polled 1,268,354 votes downstate to 841,466 for Stevenson, under 1½ to 1.

Stevenson topped Eisenhower in the Democratic citadel, Cook County (Chicago) 476,948 to 256,011 Tuesday. Four years ago Eisenhower won the big industrial center 1,188,973 to 1,172,454.

Although the Democratic organization has tightened its grip in many Chicago precincts, the GOP had expected today's booming factories to sway some industrial workers toward the administration.

In the 1952 presidential election, when Eisenhower defeated Stevenson, he carried Illinois with nearly 55 per cent of the vote.

A sidelight to the voting in Chicago: three almost entirely Negro wards voted 4 to 1 for Stevenson Tuesday, as compared to the less than 2 to 1 trend in the entire county.

In farm areas downstate, some counties that preferred Eisenhower in 1952 switched to Stevenson this week. St. Clair County across the Mississippi River from St. Louis gave Stevenson a whopping preference in both elections.

Pooch Runs In School Meet

Steerettes Play Plainview Friday

Coach Arah Phillips takes her Big Spring High School girls' volleyball team, the District 1-AAA champion, to Lubbock tomorrow for the Regional Tournament.

The meet, along with that for three other area classifications, will begin the Texas Tech Gymnasium on Friday and continue through Saturday.

The Steerettes will face Plainview in the opening round. The game is carded for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Big Spring takes an impressive record to the tournament, having won seven of eight districts contests played. Their only loss was at the hands of the defending champion, Lamesa, in Lamesa.

The Steerettes' overall record is 21-10. They have outscored the opposition, 837-633.

Previous to 1954, Texas Interscholastic League play in girls' volleyball ended at the district level. The TIL extended play to Regional that year and the Steerettes proceeded to capture the Regional crown.

Lamesa prevailed as Regional champion last year.

Spikers heavily counted upon by Coach Phillips tomorrow include Eunice Freeman, Freda Donica, Barbara Hale and Jean Peters. Set-ups who will see action include Carolyn Miller, Elaine Russell, Lynda Glenn and Nita Farquhar.

Vets To Take Hill Tuesday

By JOE REICHER

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the emergence of an unusually large number of rookie pitching prospects, it's a cinch the opening day major league games next Tuesday will be monopolized by tried and true veterans of the mound.

The most promising freshmen hurlers uncovered in the spring training camps include Cincinnati's Pat Scantlebury, Brooklyn's Don Drysdale, the Chicago White Sox' Bill Fischer, Boston's Dave Sisler, Philadelphia's Jim Owens, Kansas City's Bill Herriage and Washington's Hal Griggs and Connie Grob. None of these, however, has a chance to receive an opening day assignment.

The managers are keeping their opening day choices a deep, dark secret but it's a safe bet that when the curtain is raised, the likes of Robin Roberts, Bob Lemon, Whitey Ford, Johnny Antonelli, Don Newcombe and Bob Rush will be out op the hill sizing up the hitters.

A most exciting mound duel is in prospect in Brooklyn where Roberts (23-14), Philadelphia's great righthander, and Newcombe (20-5) of the Dodgers probably will renew their personal rivalry. Roberts had a 4-4 record against Brooklyn last year but two of his victories were dramatic 3-2 decisions over Newcombe. Those were the only losses charged to big Newk in seven decisions against the Phillies.

Here are the probable opening day pitching assignments based on the pitchers' past performances, reputations, their showing in the spring and their previous records against the opposing clubs (last year's records in parentheses):

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Philadelphia at Brooklyn—Roberts (23-14) vs. Newcombe (20-5)

Pittsburgh at New York—Friend (14-9) vs. Antonelli (14-16)

St. Louis at Cincinnati—Haddix (12-16) vs. Nuxhall (17-12)

Chicago at Milwaukee — Rush (13-11) vs. Buhl (13-11)

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Baltimore at Boston—Wilson (12-18) or Wight (6-8) vs. Sullivan (18-13)

New York at Washington —Ford (18-7) vs. Stone (6-13)

Kansas City at Detroit—Kellner (11-8) vs. Garver (12-16)

Cleveland at Chicago — Lemon (18-10) vs. Donovan (15-9)

Powder Bowl Tilt Scheduled Today

LAMESA—The first annual Powder Bowl football classic will be unreeled at 8 p.m. today at the Golden Tornado stadium, with boys taking over as coaches and cheer leaders.

Church League Meets Tonight

The Church Athletic Association will meet at 7 o'clock this evening in the YMCA to discuss plans for the coming softball season.

At the present time, there are five churches that have become affiliated with the association. All churches have an open invitation to compete in the league, Truett Mobley of the Y has announced.

Deadline for entry is Saturday, April 14, however, Mobley stated.

Softball play will get under way officially May 1 and games will be played each Tuesday and Thursday nights. The schedule will consist of a double round-robin, plus the playoffs.

Wide Open Tourney Begins April 24

FORT WORTH (AP) — The seventh annual Wide Open Golf Tournament, one of the world's most unique sporting events, will be held here April 24, heralding the $25,000 Colonial National Invitation.

This tournament is for press, radio and TV, pays nothing so it won't impair anybody's amateur standings, and gives prizes for the worst score as well as the best. A look at the records indicates there's difficuly in determining which is the best and the worst.

After the tournament the press folks will be guests of Colonial for dinner at which time all information on the Colonial National Invitation, scheduled May 3-6, will be given.

Houston Bowling Palace Destroyed

HOUSTON (AP) — A three alarm fire destroyed the Recreation Bowling Palace, widely known among devotees of the sport in the Southwest, early today, and causing an estimated loss of $250,000.

The building housing the 20 alley establishment was owned by Dr. Ralph Cloud of Austin. Fred Magee, owner of a bowling syndicate, operated the place.

Pitchers May Take Over In Big Show

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

After a hitters' year in which there were only two 20-game winners among major league pitchers in 1955, there are signs this spring that the hurlers are back from exile.

Detroit and Milwaukee spotlighted the evidence as six pitchers breezed through 14 scoreless inninge before the managers called it quits at Terre Haute, Ind., yesterday. There were 16 hits — all singles — but nary a runner got past second base.

Virgil Trucks, Dick Marlowe and Pete Wojey checked the free-swinging Braves on six hits. The Tigers got 10 from Lew Burdette, Red Murff and Humberto Robinson.

At Washington the Senators' Camilo Pascual and Pete Ramos dueled the Brooklyn Dodgers' Carl Erskine and Don Newcombe on even terms for eight innings before Pete Runnels lashed one of Newk's fast ones for an inside-the-park home run in the ninth to edge the world champs, 2-1.

Newcombe, who paired with Philadelphia's Robin Roberts as the only 20-game winners in the majors last season, gave up only one other hit in his 3⅓ innings and fanned the side in order in the eighth. The pitching foursome struck out 15 despite 48-degree temperatures.

Elsewhere, Johnny Antonelli, bidding to return to the 20-wins group after a 14-16 disappointment in '55, struck out eight while scattering five hits and walking three in his seven innings as the New York Giants whacked the Cleveland Indians 5-1. Bob Lennon and Gail Harris made homers off Early Wynn and Mike Garcia.

Baltimore's Orioles beat the Chicago Cubs 5-4, shutting out the Bruins until the ninth when Monte Irvin opened with a homer and Jim King came through with a three-run clout. Jim Wilson, the Birds' starter and winner, and Dave Pope homered off loser Russ Meyer.

The St. Louis Cardinals provided the big hitting of the day with Wally Moon, Stan Musial and Hank Sauer tagging Jack Harshman for homers to overhaul a three-run Chicago lead and beat the White Sox 5-3.

Dale Long drove in three runs, two on a homer off Art Ditmar, as Pittsburgh beat Kansas City 5-3. Bob Friend gave the A's a scattered seven hits and struck out Gus Zernial four times.

The New York Yankees and Cincinnati hooked up in a shabby, eight-error scuffle won by the Redlegs 7-5 with the benefit of five unearned runs on five Yank errors—three by rookie shortstop Jerry Lumpe. Bill Skowron and Al Silvera homered for New York.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

E. J. Holub, Tom S. Lubbock High School's fine footballer-shot putter, is only a junior.

* * * *

Big Spring's Bobby Fuller has been frustrated throughout his track career by Lamesa's R. D. Ross, who manages to beat the local boy a stride or two in every race he enters.

Ross returns for another season of competition but chances are he'll be outmatched next year by a long-striding Odessa boy named Tommy Wall, who matched Ross and Fuller almost stride for stride in last weekend's meet in Odessa.

A blanket could have been thrown over the three front-runners, so close was the finish.

Odessa observers were saying that Wall ran his best race in competition with Ross and Fuller. He seems to have all the equipment necessary to improve, however, and should get home ahead of Ross consistently next year.

* * * *

Don Suman, the Rice basketball mentor, has been quoted as saying that the new "no funnel" rule adopted in basketball will cost his team's Temple Tucker an average of four baskets a game. The regulation will probably hurt Texas' Raymond Downs less than any other Southwestern Conference standout because he can consistently hit from outside.

* * * *

Odessa will open its second high school a year from September 1 and it will enter AAA competition but the addition will not hurt athletics at the present high school.

The school, so I was told, will be located in the south part of Odessa, in a Latin-American section.

Odessa is planning a third high school, however, and is shooting for a 1960 opening date.

That one will neutralize the athletic strength of the present high school. It will be situated in the northeast section of Odessa.

The No. 2 school will be identified as Ector High School.

* * * *

Joey Lee, who will probably play baseball for the San Antonio Missions this year, was the foster son of the late boxing promoter, Mike Jacobs.

* * * *

Bobby Dykes, the Texan who now lives in Miami, has returned to serious training in Florida and will probably make another serious bid for Middleweight boxing honors.

* * * *

Obviously, Midland baseball promoters think the Southwestern League is a very temporary thing.

They're planning toward 1957, when they think another re-alignment of Texas professional baseball leagues will take place.

They expect Midland to be doing baseball business with such teams as Lubbock and Abilene, at that time. Lubbock and Abilene both belong to the Big State League.

Ed Price, the University of Texas coach, figures he and his aides traveled 750 miles a week this spring, seeking football material for the Longhorns.

Arcaro Has Major Decision To Make

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)— Eddie Arcaro is in a quandary. But it is a pleasant problem that confronts the nation's best known jockey.

He must decide sometime before May 5 whether to ride Nashua, America's glamor horse, in the $50,000 added Grey Lag Handicap at Jamaica or Head Man in the $125,000 Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. Both will be run in the same day.

A victory aboard Nashua would give him the distinction of being astride the world's leading money winning horse on the day he passed Citation's earnings of $1,085,760. A triumph with C. V. Whitney's Head Man would be Eddie's sixth Kentucky Derby success. No other jockey has more than three.

"I would rather win the Derby," said Arcaro. "There are not too many shots left for me at it." Eddie is 40 years old and has been riding for a quarter century.

"Actually I have not made up my mind," Arcaro added. "First I want to talk to Mr. Fitz (Trainer James Fitzsimmons of Nashua)."

Earlier, Mr. Fitz said "Arcaro is Nashua's jockey and I expect him ride my horse in the Grey Lag." But the 81-year-old trainer added "It is a matter that Eddie will have to decide himself."

Syl Veitch, trainer of Head Man, said he was going ahead on the assumption that Eddie will be on his horse, who is expected to be one-third of the powerful Whitney entry which also includes Career Boy and Born Mighty.

Arcaro himself is high on Head Man even after seeing Career Boy come from last place to win the mile and a sixteenth of the Gotham Stakes by 3 lengths at Jamaica yesterday.

"My horse never has been over a distance of ground," said Eddie, "but at a shorter distance he looked as good to me as Career Boy."

Head Man came from off the pace to beat Nail, Mrs. A. A. Bigelow's Derby hopeful, by a neck in the 6 furlongs of the Experimental Handicap 10 days ago. Yesterday, over the longer route, Nail was third as Career Boy put on his great stretch drive under Eric Guerin.

Schedule Drawn For Cage Play

Conference basketball play in 2-AAAA next year begins on Jan. 11 and continues through Feb. 11, during which time each team will play a double round-robin schedule.

Big Spring has drawn byes on Jan. 15 and Feb. 1.

The schedule:

Jan. 11—BIG SPRING at Midland; Odessa at San Angelo; Abilene open.
Jan. 15—San Angelo at Abilene; Midland at Odessa; BIG SPRING open.
Jan. 18—Odessa at BIG SPRING; Abilene at Midland; San Angelo open.
Jan. 22—Midland at San Angelo; BIG SPRING at Abilene; Odessa open.
Jan. 25—Abilene at Odessa; San Angelo at BIG SPRING; Midland open.
Jan. 29—Midland at BIG SPRING; San Angelo at Odessa; Abilene open.
Feb. 1—Abilene at San Angelo; Odessa at Midland; BIG SPRING open.
Feb. 5—BIG SPRING at Odessa; Midland at Abilene; San Angelo open.
Feb. 8—San Angelo at Midland; Abilene at SAN ANGELO; Odessa open.
Feb. 11—Odessa at Abilene; BIG SPRING at San Angelo; Midland open.

Bowers Handcuffs Old Teammates

By The Associated Press

The Southern Methodist Mustangs went to bat against one of their former star pitchers, Tommy Bowers, Wednesday and lost a 5-1 decision to the Dallas Eagles of the Texas League.

Bowers, who graduated from SMU last season, held the Mustangs to three hits although George Moore, on the mound for the Mustangs, allowed the Eagles only six hits and four runs in his seven innings. He struck out five Eagles in the Dallas game.

At Seguin, the Rice Owls bowed 2-1 to the Texas Lutheran Bulldogs.

The Wednesday games were among those being played this week by Southwest Conference teams against outside foes.

Friday and Saturday the loop members resume conference play with SMU engaging Rice at Houston, Baylor traveling to College Station for games with Texas A&M, and Texas host to Texas Christian University at Austin.

Chuck Spieser Wins Despite Early Blow

DETROIT (AP) — Referee Lou Handler, a veteran Detroit ring official, said today he was afraid for a moment that he had helped set up a punch that might have cost Chuck Spieser his fight with Joe Rowan here last night.

As it was Spieser won handily, chopping away at Rowan's left eye until it closed completely in the fifth round. Dr. Joseph Cahalan stopped it between rounds but under Michigan rules it was classed as a sixth round technical knockout.

"He (Rowan) hurt me just that once," Spieser admitted, "back in the second round. We'd been in close and I thought the ref was going to break us.

"I dropped my hands and wham! He caught me with a left hook and then pushed me into the ropes."

Handler said he actually shouted to the fighters "fight out of it."

"But the minute I said it and saw Spieser drop his hands I knew he thought I was going to say 'break.' I felt awful."

Rowan followed the sharp punch by pushing Spieser into the ropes. It was no knockdown and the Detroiter came back fast to win the round on every scorecard. In fact, he won every round on every official scorecard and the referee had him ahead by 10 points under Michigan's "10-must" scoring system when the fight ended.

Rowan, from Philadelphia, weighed 180¼, a loss for him of almost 15 pounds in two weeks. Spieser, fourth ranked challenger among the light heavies, scaled 173¾ for the televised (ABC) bout. The surprisingly good crowd paid a gross of $7,839.40.

Hawks Entered At Arlington

Coach George McAlister and nine members of the Howard County Junior College track and field team leave Friday morning for Arlington, where on Saturday they compete in a seven-team track and field meet.

The Jayhawks will headquarter in Grand Prairie.

Other schools entered at Arlington include, besides the host school and HCJC, Tarleton, Paris, Navarro, Cisco and Cameron, Okla.

Preliminaries in the meet get under way 10 a.m. Finals are from 2:30 to 4:30.

Those making the trip with McAlister include John Dale Curtis, Freddy Stuart, Jim Blassingame, Charles Brown, Harold Hicks, Jimmy Robinson, Tommy Black, Max McCulloch and Harold Baker.

Baker, a miler, has been ill lately and it was doubtful this morning he would be of much service to the Hawks.

Five Linksters Given Letters

Five boys, all of whom are seniors, have won golf letters at the local high school, Coach Dan Lewis has announced.

They are Eddie Don Harris, Stormy Edwards, Roland McKenzie, Charles Johnson and Richard Pachall.

Pachall is eligible to compete in the Regional Tournament, which takes place in Lubbock Friday and Saturday, April 20-21. Richard recently finished second in medal play in the district tournament at Odessa to Ed Moore.

Morrison Nudges West Ward, 3-2

Kate Morrison nosed out West Ward, 3-2, in a Ward School Softball League game here Wednesday to remain in the running for first place in the standings.

The Maroons have yet to be defeated after six starts.

West Ward picked up two runs in the second inning. Joe Ramirez crossed the plate for Morrison in the third while Tony Dutchover and Domingo Rubio counted for the Maroons in the sixth.

Rubion scored what proved to be the winning run on a passed ball with one out.

James Found An Easier Way To Get Cash Than Robbing

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Frank James, brother of Jesse, bet $5,000 with a bookmaker at Churchill Downs May 9, 1889. He got 10 to 1 on a chesnut colt named Spokane, and it was easier than robbing banks.

The citizens of Spokane Falls, later the city of Spokane, presented a blanket of gold brocade to Noah Armstrong, owner of Spokane, commemorating his victory in the Kentucky Derby. Spokane was foaled in the Northwest Territory, in the area which later became the State of Montana.

Now the citizens of Washington State, particularly Seattle, have another rooting interest in the 1956 Derby. So does California. He is Count Chic, a California-bred colt who carries the silks and hopes of Dino A. Lozzi, Seattle restaurant owner.

Lozzi can collect a blanket of roses, and about $100,000 if Count Chic comes up with the right answer at Louisville May 5.

The brown son of Count Speed-Chicella was bred by Betty Rehers, secretary to Hollywood Park Racing Secretary John Maluvius. Count Chic was foaled at Mrs. John D. Hertz's Amarillo Ranch, Canoga Park, Calif. His granddaddy, Reigh Count, won the 1928 Derby for Mrs. Hertz. Roy Swenson of Oregon bought Count Chic was $4,500 in January, 1955.

After racing nine times for Swenson, Count Chic was obtained by Lozzi for $6,500 in a claiming race at Bay Meadows last Sept. 27. The colt won the San Miguel, his first stakes victory, at Santa Anita Jan. 18. Caught in a jam in the 18-horse field in the Santa Anita Derby, Count Chic finally managed to finish fifth. At that, he was less than 3 lengths back of Terrang, the winner.

Count Chic then was flown to Gulfstream for the Florida Derby, finishing second, three-quarters of a length behind Needles, the Kentucky Derby favorite. Needles carried 117 pounds, Count Chic, 119, and jockey Bill Boland said he believed that with equal weights the Count would have won.

Snead Seeking Sixth Crown

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Sam Snead's annual spring golfing tonic, the $12,500 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament, opened today with the White Sulphur Spring, W. Va., pro the "people's choice."

Sam won the inaugural in 1938 and came back to win the event for the fifth time last spring. Regardless of how he has fared during the winter, Sam's game suddenly begins to click when he hits Greensboro.

In the last seven years he never has finished worse than third.

Sam played only a few winter tournaments before finishing in a tie for fourth in the Masters Sunday. He hustled here from Augusta to begin practice over the par 71 Starmount course, a 6,723 yarder.

Professional golf's youth movement, which made major advances during the winter tour, was represented by Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill.; Mike Fetchick of Mahopac, N.Y.; Gardner Dickinson of Panama City, Fla.; and Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., all tournament winners in the last month.

Other major money winners this year who are in the field of 150 are Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio; Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.; Art Wall of Honesdale, Pa., who was a stroke behind Snead last year; Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla., George Bayer, Cincinnati, and Doug Ford, Mahopac, N. Y., the 1954 Greensboro winner.

The Starmount course opens with four rugged holes, which Snead describes as "among the meanest anywhere."

The sluggers like Snead and Bayer get their chance on the 600-yard seventh hole, the first par five on the narrow, well-trapped layout.

One 18-hole round will be played daily, with the field cut about in half for Saturday and Sunday.

Big State Set To Open Play

By The Associated Press

The Class B Big State League, one of the most drastically changed circuits in professional baseball, opens its tenth season Thursday night.

It's virtually unrecognizable from the league that was organized in 1947. Only two clubs that were in it then—Waco and Wichita Falls—are in the circuit this season.

Only three that were in it last year are back. They are Waco, Port Arthur and Corpus Christi. New members are Victoria, Lubbock, Abilene, Wichita Falls and Beaumont.

Opening the race Thursday night will be this schedule:

Corpus Christi at Victoria.
Lubbock at Abilene.
Wichita Falls at Waco.
Beaumont at Port Arthur.

Hal Sayles, the new league president, predicts a marked attendance increase over last year when the circuit hit its all-time low with 415,211.

Corpus Christi is anticipating 150,000 for the season. Lubbock and Abilene think they'll draw better than 100,000.

It's the maiden voyage of Victoria in professional baseball. And this city is being picked as the one to beat in the battle for the pennant.

Officials Named For Two Games

EDNA, Tex., (AP) — Officials for the all-star football and basketball games at the Texas Coaching School in Lubbock Aug. 5-10 were announced today.

All of the officials are being furnished by the South Plains Officials and Coaches Association at Lubbock, L. W. McConachie, executive vice-president of the Texas High School Coaches Association, said.

In football the officials will be Quinn Connelley, referee; Ed Haley, head linesman; George Philbrick, field judge, and Curtis Barrett, back judge.

In basketball they will be: Ed Haley, referee; Phil Price, umpire, and George Philbrick, timer.

Connelly will discuss the football rules and Barrett the basketball rules at the coaching school.

Seixas Is Rated Tops At Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Country Club Invitation Tennis Tournament opens today with Vic Seixas, rated No. 2 in the nation, seeded tops.

Seixas opens his bid for the championship against Billy Talbert, United States Davis Cup captain.

Herbie Flam is seeded No. 2, Ham Richardson No. 3 and Dick Savitt No. 4.

Others entered in the tournament are Don Platt, Gil Shea, Ulf Schmidt, Eddie Moylan, Sidney Schwartz, Grant Golden, Tom Brown, Armand Vieira, Gene Land, John Been and Oscar Furlong.

Tony Trabert, who won the championship last year, now is a professional.

The tournament runs through Sunday.

Janak Will Not Run Saturday

Johnny Janak, Big Spring High School's star sprinter, will not take part in the Brady Meet this week, his coach, Harold Bentley, has announced.

Janak won first first places in the District 2-AA meet at Odessa last week despite the fact that he was competing under a tremendous handicap. Johnny has experienced a groin injury the previous week.

Bentley said he would take no chances with Janak, hoping to have him ready for the Regional Meet in Lubbock a week from Saturday.

Bentley said he would take about 11 boys to Brady.

The meet gets under way at 10 a.m. and will not be concluded until 9 p.m.

Eastern Coast Gets Deluge, Flash Floods

By The Associated Press

Rain and wind storms which hammered the mid-Atlantic coast, causing flash floods in sections of Virginia, diminished over most areas today.

However, moderate to heavy rain pelted coastal sections of North Carolina and Virginia. Light rain fell in other parts of the storm belt.

Wind gusts up to 70 m.p.h. lashed sections of Virginia last night, causing the highest tides in 20 years and resulting in floods in the Hampton Roads Coastal area.

Communications and transportation were disrupted. Flood waters overflowed into business and waterfront sections of Norfolk and Newport News, halting ferry service linking the two cities and closing a main bridge across the James River. The tides reached a peak of four to five feet above normal before midnight and then began receding. Some flooding also was reported in Hampton, Buckroe Beach and Poquoson.

The Carolinas also were hammered by the stormy weather. More than two inches of rain fell in many areas, as well as in Virginia. Snow fell in western and southwestern parts of Virginia, measuring from 3 to 5 inches.

Most of the middle part of the country reported dry and fairly pleasant spring weather.

Snow fell in Wyoming and western South Dakota while rain doused a wide area of California.

It was cooler over the western half of the country with temperatures in the 30s and 40s. More warm air spread from Texas into the Midwest with readings from the 50s in Texas to the 30s and 40s in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Clear skies brought a little cooling to the eastern states and New England with early morning marks in the 20s and low 30s.

Early morning readings ranged from 26 at Jamestown, N.D., to 70 at Key West, Fla.

Fire Hazards

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—So far, Albuquerque firemen aren't joining other local males in raising beards for the city's 250th anniversary celebration this summer. Asst. Fire Chief Simon Seligman says his men consider the chin foliage fire hazards.

Plans for Clean Up Day (May 2), Kids' Day (April 27), and the annual spring social (April 20) were discussed.

Kenda McGibbon, social chairman, announced students to be in charge of various Kids' Day activities. These include Gary Tidwell, publicity; Jerry Graves, marble games; Valjean LaCroix, jacks; Randall Hamby, jump rope; and Charles Johnson, hop-scotch.

Benny Compton reported that plans are being made for each class to clean its room and equipment, the Key Club will be responsible for the trophy case, the council members will take care of halls and bulletin board.

Lou Ann White said decorations have arrived for the spring social, a semi-formal affair to be held in the gym from 8 p.m. to midnight April 20. A Dixieland band from Midland will furnish music. Janet Hogan will be in charge of publicity for the event.

Petitions are now being circulated for student council representatives and must be in by Friday. The election of representatives and cheer leaders will be held next Tuesday.

The student council will have its annual party May 18.

MEN IN SERVICE

Two young men, cousins, have enlisted in the United States Navy, at the Big Spring recruiting office, in the past week.

They are:

James Robert Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Roberts, Coahoma, and Gary Wayne Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Roberts, Woodson.

James Roberts attended Ranger Junior College for two years before entering the Navy.

Both were enlisted together and will remain together. After completion of recruit training at San Diego, Calif., they will be given 14 days leave before being assigned to their duty station or ship.

No Mexican nationals are being brought across the border now. There is some kind of new demand being made by the Mexican government, and until this is settled, the workers will be kept in their native land. The nationals already over here will not be affected in any way.

Pfc. Ralph W. Winterrowd, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Winterrowd, 805 Runnels, came in for his share of editorial praise in a base publication following the recent SEATO exercise in Thailand, his parents have been advised.

Young Winterrowd, a member of the 508th Airborne Regimental Combat team, took part in the SEATO exercise and was one of the men who made the exciting "jumps" which were part of the operation.

In an editorial, a journal published by the ARCT commented:

"Members of the 508th ARCT have good reason to throw out their chests and point with pride at some of the members of almost all of the units of the Red Devils.

"With every opportunity in the world to misbehave the troopers of the Second Battalion Combat Team established an enviable record for outstanding good behavior during the recent SEATO exercise Operation Firm-Link in Bangkok, Thailand."

Winterrowd is regularly stationed in Japan as a senior wireman in Battery B of the team's 320th Field Artillery Battalion. He entered the service in September 1954 and trained at Fort Bliss.

He attended high school at Big Spring and was formerly employed by the Equipment Service Company at Aztec, N. M.

Typewriting contestants will be Betty Guthrie, Sammie McComb, Jacqueline Smith, Harlen Thornton and Charlie McCarty.

Spellers are to be Janice Williamson and Patsy Grant.

Ready writers will be China Carroll and Marilyn Morris. Clara Freman and Don Shore are contestants to be in the poetry reading event.

Shorthand entrants will be Leta Sampson and Janice Williamson. Bennie Compton will represent the school in extemporaneous speech.

Truman Accuses Ike Of 'Betraying' U. S. Farmers

DES MOINES (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman last night accused President Eisenhower of betraying the farmers and then said Eisenhower may sign the controversial farm bill "in an effort to get re-elected."

He called Eisenhower a "do-nothing President" and said Eisenhower has been putting "road blocks in the way" of adequate farm legislation.

While the Senate in Washington completed action on the congressional farm legislation, Truman, unaware that the bill had been voted on, addressed an Iowa Democratic fund-raising dinner.

"The Democrats have led the fight (for high price supports) and I hope they lay a bill to help the farmer right on the President's desk," he said.

"I don't know what Ike is going to do with that bill. He could veto it, of course, because it is directly contrary to his philosophy of reducing farm prices.

"However, this is an election year, and he may well decide that it's the better part of valor to sign this bill in an effort to get reelected . . ."

"Gen. Eisenhower has personally been doing all he could to keep Congress from raising the support prices farmers get," Truman said.

"This is one of the most amazing records of political betrayal I have ever seen in all my years of public life."

Mail Delivery On Purdue Is Started

Mounted mail delivery has been started on Purdue Street, one of the avenues in east Big Spring for which the delivery has been authorized.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said Purdue residents are the only ones to qualify for the service by installing rural-type mail boxes at the curbs. Delivery along other streets in the area will be started when at least 50 per cent of the residents qualify.

The postmaster suggested that Purdue patrons turn in change of address cards if they have been receiving mail through general delivery, post office boxes or at other addresses.

Sen. Daniel Endorsed For Governor By Houston Post

HOUSTON (AP) — Sen. Price Daniel was endorsed as a candidate for governor by the Houston Post today.

A front page editorial said:

"We reached this conclusion by measuring the aspirants by the yardstick of their experience, their past records, their ability, their aims, and their qualities of leadership. Sen. Daniel scores an excellent grade in all these categories. . .

"All his public service—as state representative, speaker of the house, attorney general, and United States senator—has been performed with vigor, sincerity and good results. He knows Texas problems and is capable and desirous of solving them as governor."

Ackerly Man Finds Small Well Pays Off

STEADY IRRIGATOR
Well steady since 1951

By JESS BLAIR

Farmers drilling irrigation wells seldom put a pump on one as small as the E. G. Murphy well, located about three miles northwest of Ackerly. This one puts out only 40 gallons a minute, which is very little more than a windmill pumps in a stiff breeze. Yet the tiny well has been watering from 10 to 15 acres every year since 1951.

Murphy drilled the well with the hope of getting more water. He was disappointed with such a weak stream and thought about plugging it. Finally, though, he decided to use it in irrigating an acre or so of vegetables.

One year he raised enough vegetables to have supplied the whole neighborhood, and almost did. Instead of selling them, he let people come to the field and pick all they wanted. Several men said Murphy could have sold $1,000 worth of garden stuff that year had he wanted to market it.

Since then he grows a small garden and about 10 acres of cotton by irrigation. The last two winters he has had a small irrigated pasture for livestock during the winter. Ordinarily the cotton makes from a bale to a bale and a half per acre and this is done without any kind of fertilizer.

The first water was pumped through a small three-inch pipe and then run down the rows. The stream was so small, though, that much of the water soaked into the ground before reaching the other end.

About two years ago he built a small surface tank and now pumps water into this for 24 hours a day. When the tank is filled, he irrigates out of it for two hours a day. With a good head of water, he can fill the rows in a short time.

The well is 150 feet deep and cost approximately $2,000. He uses a three-horsepower motor that is extremely cheap to operate. The electric bill usually runs $35 a month, and this is for day and night use for a full 30 days.

Murphy has drilled other wells, hoping to get enough water to cover a larger acreage. However, the water sands are thin in that area, and he has decided to just keep using the well he now has. Sometimes he can pre-irrigate 20 acres, but during the growing season must cut back to the same 10 acres.

He keeps a regular hired hand, but hires no extra labor for the irrigation. The profit from the well has not always been kept separate from other farming income, but it has paid for itself several times over.

Thus far the water supply has not dwindled. It started out pumping 40 gallons a minute, and after five years it still puts out the same size stream. That is one consolation, the Murphys say. No matter how dry the summers are, they can be sure of making that 10 to 15 bales of cotton every year. It may be a pygmy in size, but in performance and profit-making, it continues to outstrip many wells three times as large.

Cubs To Meet For Train Excursion

Cub Scouts and their leaders have been asked to be present at the T&P passenger terminal at 9:15 a.m. Saturday for their train excursion to Abilene.

Capt. R. O. Franz, who is heading up the special event, asked that one representative from each unit meet with him at that time in front of the passenger station.

Cubs are to bring a sack lunch to eat in the park adjoining the Abilene station. Departure will be about 9:40 a.m. and return here at 3:50 p.m. Fare will be 55 cents, plus six cents tax.

Dirty Hands, Faces Burglars' Undoing

DENVER (AP)—Dirty hands and faces tripped up three youthful burglars yesterday.

They admitted entering a dressing room in a nearby building after suspicious police arrested them on a street corner.

The youths said they climbed to the roof and entered the building by sliding down a sooty air duct. They were all held for juvenile authorities.

Conscience Fund Gets New Donor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service has received $3,900 from Chicago, apparently mailed by a taxpayer with a troubled conscience.

The money, 30 bank notes of $100 each, was in a plain brown manila envelope, with no accompanying note. On the back of the envelope was a return address reading:

I. O. Thismuch
935 Clybourne Ave.
Chicago.

The revenue service said there was no such address in Chicago.

The money was sent to the Treasury's conscience fund.

FOR SUPERSTITIOUS

Friday, Thirteen Hold Bad Omens; Coincide This Week

By SAM BLACKBURN

Three times in 1956, folk with a shuddery fear of hoodoos and jinxes must pass through days of extreme ill-omen and bad repute.

For there are three Fridays in 1956 which fall on the 13th day of a month.

One of these jinx days has already passed. It was allotted to January.

April produces the second.

Again in July, hag-ridden citizens will have to face a third bad luck day.

If the world ever adopts the revised 13-month calendar which has so long been proposed, there will be a Friday 13 in each month. Under our present somewhat archaic calendar the hoodoo days crop up irregularly.

Come on now! 'Fess up — did anything really bad ever happen to you on a Friday the 13th that never happened to anyone on any other day in any month?

Why smear poor old Friday as a black day and why belabor it particularly on those occasions when it happens to fall on the 13th?

There are reasons.

The story has it there were 13 present a certain ill-starred supper some 2,000 years ago and soon after that dinner there befell certain dreadful tragedies and wonders which literally reshaped the world.

That dinner, too, was on a Friday.

In olden days when the courts of the land took a more ruthless and realistic approach in dealing with crime, the gallows was kept creaking steadily. The hangman was a busy individual and it was a custom to decree that the felons (or those unfortunates who were classified by the brutal age as felons) to be hanged on Friday.

Humankind, for some strange reason has always had a dislike for numerals which cannot be equally divided. A sort of unholy reverence was somehow accorded such numbers.

Thus, for some strange reason, seven became a lucky number and for an equally obtuse cause, 13 rated as unlucky.

Because the gibbet was overworked on Fridays in the bloody middle-ages, because there were 13 at the Last Supper and because of the inherited distrust for "odd" numbers, Friday when it is ill-starred enough to fall on the 13th day of the month is regarded as a black and gloomy date.

Modern folk pooh-pooh at superstitions which left their grandparents quivering with fear.

Ask today's alert citizen:

"What superstitions do you have?"

He will look at you with a sneer on his face.

"Superstitions?" he repeats. "Why, I have no superstitions. I am intelligent. I have reasoning power. I know that an event that occurs can be explained by logic and traced to a natural and understandable cause. I have no superstitions."

But is he telling the truth?

What does he do when Friday falls on the 13th day of the month? Does he go blithely ahead with a program of business as usual or does it seem better, perhaps, to delay important deals for an extra day?

When he clumsily reaches for the shaker and tumbles a spoonful of salt out on the table, doe he calmly proceed with his meal? Or, more likely does he look around quickly to see if he is unobserved and surreptitously throw a pinch of the spilled salt over his shoulder?

And when a black cat, out on feline business, ambles casually across his path, what happens? Does he stride steadily ahead on his way?

He may do so but can you say for sure that back in his mind an uneasiness does not build up—a fear as old as humanity that black cats somehow are omens of evil.

Some men even make a superstition of not being superstitious. They walk under ladders, they court black cats across their paths, they ignore spilled salt.

They even go out of their way to use Friday the 13th as a starting day for important projects.

These things they do, they tell you, prove they are free of superstition. Actually, they prove no such thing. In their effort to convince associates they are free of foolishes, followers of this school become a slave to an inverted form and are, actually, more steeped in superstition than their fellows.

Local Trucker's Operations Stopped

DALLAS (AP) — A temporary order to enjoin T. A. Welch of Big Spring from operating a fleet of trucks in alleged violation of state laws was granted yesterday by Judge Dallas Blankenship. A hearing was set for Monday.

The suit was filed by Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd and Dist. Atty. Henry Wade. It alleged that Welch on numerous occasions has operated trucks without obtaining a certificate of convenience and other papers.

Plane Found, Pilot Missing

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—Found—single engine airplane sitting in the middle of a farm.

Lost—one pilot. An unidentified man says he found the pilot unconscious. When the pilot last was seen he was conscious and being taken to a hotel by a farmer.

A check of hotels failed to turn up the pilot.

Sheriff Russell Turpin says he wouldn't believe the story if he had not seen the plane late yesterday. Turpin said a paper in the plane listed the name of James A. Bell, 36, Stark, Fla.

Ordeals Were Used To Judge Prisoners

By RAMON COFFMAN

At the present time we have law courts, and there is a constant effort in all good courts to promote the cause of justice. A man has the right to ask a lawyer to defend him against any charge which is brought to court.

If the prisoner desires a trial by jury, this can be done. In the past it was common to speak of a jury as being made up of "12 good men and true," but that hardly applies at the present time. A modern jury often is made up of women as well as men.

At the start of the Middle Ages in Europe, the people were without any sort of trial by jury. Instead there was an effort to find out whether a person was guilty by making him go through an ordeal.

The ordeal was a form of torture. A prisoner might be ordered to put his hand in a fire for a short time. If he drew his hand back within a split second, he might escape burning.

In other ordeals, the prisoner walked through fire or plunged one hand into boiling water. In still other cases he walked on pieces of iron which had been heated in fire.

After such tests, the hands or feet were studdied to see how much burning there had been. Often there was a wait of from one to three days before the injured parts were examined. If any sign of burning remained, there might be a verdict of guilty.

Prisoner being tested on hot irons.

With passing time, some judges became less harsh. They judged a prisoner by observing whether the healing had been as good as could be expected.

"God will save the innocent from harm," some persons said, and in that way they kept themselves from worrying about the torture. Others felt that the ordeal was the wrong way to decide whether a prisoner was guilty.

Jail Doesn't Hold Water

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—Harlan County jail may hold prisoners but it doesn't hold water.

Six prisoners flooded portions of the jail to protest their confinement to cells for attempting a break.

The water seeped through the second floor, down to the first floor lobby and into the office of the circuit court clerk.

The prisoners stopped the drains in their lavatories and turned on the water full force, after being denied freedom of the lockup area.

Deputy Believes In Santa Claus

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Robert Tice received $5,412 yesterday to pay his hospital and medical bills.

"I've always believed in Santa Claus and now I know that he really does exist," said Tice who is still recovering from critical injuries received in an automobile wreck shortly before Christmas.

For many years Tice has played Santa for handicapped and shut-in children. The money was contributed by residents of the area.

Girls Frost Sandwich Loaf For Area Food Demonstrations

Still dishwashers and tablesetters to their mothers, Jean Stallcup and Ilameta Carr are poised cooks to area women who have seen their 4-H demonstration.

The girls, Gay Hill seventh graders, picked a frosted sandwich loaf because they thought it would be simple to prepare.

"We couldn't fix it if it weren't," says Ilameta, who is the spokesman for the team. Jean puts the loaf together.

Jean and Ilameta chose each other as partners because they are neighbors and could get in the necessary practice together. They also made posters to illustrate the nutritional values of the loaf.

They think the loaf is ideal for parties with only a beverage accompaniment. Here is their recipe:

FROSTED SANDWICH LOAF

First layer:
6-ounce can tuna
3 tablespoons tartar sauce or sandwich spread
Dash salt and pepper
Second layer:
1 cup grated processed American cheese
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Dash salt and pepper
Third Layer:
2 hard cooked eggs, finely chopped
6 olives, finely chopped
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Dash salt and pepper
Frosting:
Cream cheese
Top milk or light cream
Bread:
1 day-old loaf unsliced bread

Drain oil from tuna and turn into a mixing bowl. Add tartar sauce. Blend and season to taste. Combine cheese, pimiento and mayonnaise in a bowl and blend. Season to taste. Put eggs, olives, mustard and mayonnaise in another bowl and mix. Season. Soften cream cheese with milk.

With a very sharp knife trim the top, side and bottom crusts from the bread. Slice lengthwise into four even slices. Spread layers with fillings. Frost sides and top with softened cheese. Leave a little cheese to tint for decoration if desired.

Practice Session

Many hours of preparation were put in by Jean Stallcup, left, and Ilameta Carr on their 4-H food demonstration. The girls will compete in a county contest with other individuals and teams for district elimination. Elizabeth Pace, county home demonstration agent, is assisting contestants. Rosalie DeVaney Adds 'Foods' To 4-H Activities

Cooking is a new sidelight this year in 4-H work for 14-year-old Rosalie DeVaney, Coahoma eighth grader.

Always able to "take care of daddy" when mother, Mrs. C. H. DeVaney, is busy at mealtime. Rosalie has previously specialized in the sewing angle. Last year her skirt and blouse won first place in the county dress revue. During her five years of 4-H work she also won second and third place ratings with her sewing.

At the county Fun Festival, a 4-H talent show, Rosalie won another first with a monologue.

But her big project this season is her dairy foods demonstration on stuffed pickles. Here is her recipe.

STUFFED PICKLES

1 tablespoon cream cheese
½ pimento
1 large dill pickle
Dash pepper

Cream together cheese and pimiento. Cut ends off pickle and hollow out the middle. Stuff the pickle with cheese mixture. Chill overnight and slice. Rosalie suggests these as appetizers or salad garnishes.

When cooking for her family, Rosalie likes this fruit salad which is good as a dessert or as an accompaniment to ham.

FRUIT SALAD

1 large can drained chunk pineapple
1 small bottle maraschino cherries
24 diced marshmallows
1 cup whipped cream

Versatile Tuna Used For Souffle

Tuna is so versatile that it can be used in souffle, even. This recipe, using tapioca, is a fool-proof souffle.

TUNA AND CELERY SOUFFLE

6 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 cup chopped celery
1½ cups milk
1¼ cup (7-ounce can) flaked tuna fish
1 to 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
3 egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Combine tapioca, salt, pepper, onion, celery and milk in saucepan. Place over medium heat and cook until mixture comes to a full boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add fish and pimiento. Cool slightly while beating eggs. Add egg yolks and mix well. Add very gradually to egg whites, folding in thoroughly. Turn into greased 2-quart baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) one hour or until souffle is firm. Makes six servings.

Japan Inspires Cook

Wonderful first course: Deep-fat fried shrimp with a light crispy batter served with a dunk of soy sauce, sugar and grated white turnip or radish. Inspired by the Japanese cuisine!

Fix Orange Syrup

Heat membrane-free orange sections in a spicy sugar syrup and serve with poultry or meat. Whole cloves and stick cinnamon may be used for spicing the syrup.

Elbow Team Whips Milk For 'Fatties'

A "whipped cream" topping for dieters is the specialty of an Elbow 4-H demonstration team.

Cleta Joe Newsom, seventh grade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Newsom and Sue Dunagan, sixth grade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Dunagan, also use this topping for entertaining their own guests:

CALORIE-WATCHERS' WHIPPED CREAM

Sprinkle ½ cup nonfat dried milk over ½ cup ice water in a chilled bowl. Beat with an egg beater or electric mixer until stiff. Add ½ cup sugar and 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Chill. This makes 2½ cups of topping for desserts or a base for salad dressing or chiffon pie.

The girls tell their audiences that the half cup of milk contains about three-fourths of an adult's minimum daily calcium requirement.

Both are learning cooking, sewing and personal grooming in their 4-H work. Sue likes to fill the family cooky jar with these:

BROWN SUGAR COOKIES

½ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon soda
2 cups flour
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup walnuts, chopped fine
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter; add sugar and blend. Add egg and beat well. Combine soda, flour and salt. Add to first mixture and stir in vanilla and walnuts. Mix thoroughly. Roll in wax paper and chill overnight or freeze until ready to bake. Slice thin and bake on buttered sheet in moderate oven 12-15 minutes. The recipe makes about four or five dozen.

Reconsider Use Of Mushrooms

Don't bypass fresh mushrooms if they are dark in color or if the cups are open underneath. Slice them thin and cook them in butter with thin strips of onion; they'll have fine flavor. Serve these with scrambled eggs, broiled fish or chicken, steak or hamburgers.

You may like to remove the stems from mushrooms and cook the caps, on both sides, in butter. Then mince the stems and cook them, along with minced onion, in cracker crumbs and mix them with the chopped mushroom mixture and more butter. Use the crumb mixture as a filling for the caps. If you are having company, you can prepare these ahead of time. When you are ready to serve, they may be reheated in the oven or under the broiler.

Soy Seasons Fowl

A small amount of turkey, chicken, duck, roast pork or ham left over from Sunday dinner can make Monday's lunch or supper. Team the diced cooked meat with cooked rice, salad oil, finely diced onion, strips of green pepper or pimiento and heat in a large skillet. Season with soy sauce.

CEREAL STRAWBERRY CHIFFON FLAKE PIE

Cereal Forms Crust For Strawberry Pie

April is the month breakfast cereal and dairy industries sponsor the Third Annual Spring Cereal and Milk Festival to promote the food value of cereal and milk. Few foods can equal the nutritional contribution of the cereal and milk serving at such low cost.

Rarely is so much nutritional goodness, taste appeal, and glamour so readily available to the homemaker. Strawberry Chiffon Pie with Cereal Flake Crust is easy to make. The directions are carefully explained in the recipe below. This pie is only one of the many ways of combining cereal and milk in food preparation. You never outgrow your need for cereal and milk.

STRAWBERRY CHIFFON PIE WITH CEREAL FLAKE CRUST

Cereal Flake Crust:

4 cups whole wheat flakes
5 tablespoons sugar
½ cup melted butter or margarine

Crush whole wheat flakes very fine. Add sugar. Mix in melted butter or margarine thoroughly. Press mixture evenly into 9-inch pie pan, making the bottom slightly thicker than the sides. Chill thoroughly before adding filling.

Chiffon Filling:

1 envelope plain gelatin
¼ cup water
1¾ cups milk
1 package vanilla pudding mix
2 eggs, separated
¼ cup sugar

Combine gelatin and ¼ cup water. Let stand 5 minutes. Add milk to pudding mix. Blend. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Beat egg yolks. Mix ¼ cup hot pudding mix into egg yolks. Return to pudding mixture, blend. Cook over low heat 1 additional minute. Add softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Cool until mixture sets around edge of pan.

Whip egg whites to soft peak. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating well after each addition. Whip cooled pudding until smooth. Fold egg whites into pudding mixture. Pour filling into pie shell. Chill until firm. Cover with Strawberry topping.

Strawberry Topping:

Add 1 cup fresh strawberry halves to 1 cup of strawberry flavored gelatin, chilled to sirupy consistency. Pour over cooled pie. Chill until firm, garnish top, if desired, with whipped cream and sliced berries.

Mash Leftover Fish

Leftover white fish in the refrigerator? Mash it with a beaten egg and shape into patties; fry lightly on both sides in butter or margarine.

Spice Banana Bread

Want new flavor for your standard loaf of banana bread? Add a half teaspoon each of cinnamon and nutmeg.

CORN BEEF HASH

Anne, Joyce Try Out Desserts On Families

Old hands at cooking, Anne Ulmer and Joyce Robinson try out new dishes and plan menus for their families in dress rehearsals.

For the real thing, they chose an elegant strawberry parfait to demonstrate before area groups.

The two Knott eighth-graders have won awards in canning and freezing. In 4-H work five years, they are both first place winners in county dress reviews.

Parents of the girls are Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Ulmer and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Robinson.

Their parfait is a simple recipe — three layers of ice cream separated by layers of strawberries and topped with whipped cream and chopped nuts, all this in each dessert dish.

Anne likes to whip up a one-bowl white layer cake. She makes it fancy by putting it together with crushed pineapple hidden under a seven-minute frosting. Here is the way she makes this dessert:

LAYER CAKE

Sift together:
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 1-3 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
Dash salt
Mix in:
1-3 cup shortening
Combine together:
1 cup minus 2 tablespoons milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla.

Put 2-3 of liquid in flour mixture and beat 200 strokes. Add 2 eggs and the rest of the liquid. Pour into two 9-inch greased layer pans and bake in preheated 350-degree oven.

For the filling, Anne spreads crushed pineapple (with juice) on the cake plate, between the layers and on top of the cake before she frosts it.

Here is Joyce's favorite dessert:

GINGERBREAD

2 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
1½ teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons ginger
½ cup butter or other shortening
½ cup sifted brown sugar firmly packed
2 eggs
¾ cup molasses
1 cup boiling water

Sift, then measure flour; sift three times with baking soda, salt, and spices. Cream the butter until light and lemon colored. Add sugar gradually beating after each addition until light and fluffy. Gradually add the eggs which have been beaten until it is almost as stiff as whipped cream.

Add ¼ of the dry ingredients, blend well. Add the molasses and beat until smooth. Then add remaining dry ingredients, beating very well. Add boiling water; stir until blended. Pour into a greased loaf pan, bake in moderate oven. Serve hot. Time, 45 minutes.

Jelly Colors Cakes

Top cupcakes with this pink frosting: Melt one-third cup currant jelly over hot water; add an egg white and three tablespoons of sugar plus a dash of salt. Beat over hot water until frosting stands in peaks. Remove from hot water and continue to beat until good spreading consistency.

Carrot Ringers

Slice rounds of carrot and cut away the centers. Thrust small sprigs of water cress through the carrot rings and serve as an appetizer or use as a garnish.

Court Shunts Aside Dispute On Power

AUSTIN (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to review a dispute between the town of Baird and the West Texas Utility Co. over power distribution.

The refusal to grant a review sought by both sides leaves in effect the judgment of the 11th Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland, which held in part for the town and in part for the utility concern.

The appeals court ruled on a trial court judgment in favor of Baird, permanently enjoining the utility company from selling power after May 5, 1955. The utility company's franchise at Baird expired March 19, 1955.

West Texas Utility Co.'s action in continuing to operate its business in the town after its franchise expired by selling power to customers through lines that tunnel under the city streets "is an interference with the right and power of the city in the control of its streets and alleys."

The right of franchise is a property right and Baird was entitled to an injunction restraining West Texas Utility's "unwarranted attempts to exercise such right," the court said.

The Court of Civil Appeals affirmed the trial court insofar as it restrained the utility company from selling power within the town when its lines involved city property.

Unnatural Calm In Jerusalem Like Lull Before The Storm

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP)—Here on the edge of the volcano there is an unnatural calm like the lull before the summer storm.

"Israel has humiliated the Arabs again," leading Arabs are saying, "but we must wait. We are not strong enough yet."

There is clearly a feeling among leading Jordanians that time is running out for Israel.

"Why did they attack in the Gaza Strip?" one Arab leader asked me. "It was because Israel is desperate. She knows we are getting stronger every day. She must provoke us to action that will bring Western intervention and freeze the status quo so she will be safe. But we will not fall for this trick."

Yet the situation here is full of danger. In stone huts, tin shacks and tents on the Jebels (hills) around Amman there is far less calm.

Passions among the half million Arab refugees in Jordan run higher with each report of an Israeli attack.

This confused little nation has been thrust suddenly to the forefront of Middle East power politics. The entire Western defense position is linked up with its future. That is why pressures bear down so heavily on the shoulders of the young king who would rather think about dual carburetors, jet planes and thrills than politics. But the threat to Hussein's throne is implicit in today's situation.

Jordan has become the prize of the political tug of war between Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and Iraq's Premier Nuri said.

Since the September Czech arms deal, Nasser has been the hero here. Suddenly, overnight, there was a drop in his stock among the refugees—who are a powerful political force in this country. Palestinians were killed in the latest attacks and there was wrath among fellow Palestinian refugees here. They are asking loudly why Nasser is not using his shiny new Communist arms.

Jordan today has a million and a half people. A third of these are refugees from Israel. Another third are of that part of Palestine annexed by Jordanian King Abdullah in the Arab-Israel war and what was the poorest part of Palestine became the richest part of Jordan. The rest are "east bank" Transjordanians of whom three - quarters are nomad Bedouins whose way of life is virtually unchanged from Bible times.

From a nation which was hardly more than an unsinkable British aircraft carrier in the Middle East, it is developing into a country with a split personality. It is under terrific pressure from other Arab states to break all ties with Britain and the West.

Today this kingdom—dependent on Britain for its economic and military survival—typifies the ferment of the whole Arab world.

Young King Hussein considers he has a mission. He still hopes he can help lay the foundation of Arab unity and is making earnest gestures toward Syria. But circumstances are against him.

The price for even a semblance of unity with the Syrians and Egyptians is to break with Britain. Hussein is Western-oriented and educated.

Britain is connected with the Baghdad Pact, Jordan is linked in a pact with Iraq—thus Jordan willy - nilly has a link with the Baghdad treaty, the target of immense propaganda by the Egypt-Saudi Arabian-Syria bloc.

The influence of Egypt's Nasser complicates the situation here. He has been a hero since the arms deal. Informed opinion here is that Israeli attacks are aimed at calling Nasser's bluff and shooting him off his white horse as Arab liberator.

Trimming Nasser down will not help Hussein. It is bound to breed disillusionment and anger among Palestinian refugees. Inaction in face of Israeli attacks carries for Jordan a threat that mobs will be turned out on the streets of Amman with outraged Palestinians shouting that the time has arrived for "fire and iron."

Ferment of this sort, such as that stirred up the time Britain tried to force this country into the Baghdad Pact, poses a threat to the throne itself. Hussein has been enjoying a wave of popularity since he dismissed Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb, but the influence and example of Nasser is a heady influence, even in the Arab Legion.

There even is talk of a possible rise here of a strong man from the Legion ranks. One of those mentioned in this respect is Lt. Col. Ali Abu Nawar, a young officer who was the king's aide-de-camp. The so-called Free Officers' group reminds an observer of Nasser's revolutionary committee. But the king remains friendly with Nawar and apparently feels things are under control since he bowed to demands for the Arabization of the Legion.

The danger to the West here lies in the Nuri-Nasser struggle for Jordan. If Cairo wins and Jordan becomes "liberated," Iraq will be isolated and her position will deteriorate. Iraq is no stronger than 68-year-old Nuri, whose health is beginning to fade. It is unlikely Iraq could long withstand the terrific pressure to pull out of the Baghdad Pact.

In the light of British withdrawals and troubles elsewhere, Jordan is the last real toehold in the Middle East. Pressure on Hussein from Saudi Arabian money and Egyptian strategy is constant for a complete break with Britain.

There are some possible breaks in the generally gloomy outlook.

First, the Arabs are unready for war and do not want war at this moment, though they can be forced into it by an Israeli attack.

Second, there is some feeling the Soviet Union might have outsmarted itself in upsetting the arms balance, making it an urgent matter of Western economic survival for positive action to keep the situation from exploding into a full war.

Cafe Race Issue Sets Off Fight

HOUSTON (AP) — The Harris County courthouse cafeteria was closed abruptly Wednesday after a brief flurry of violence erupted when several Negroes sought to be served.

A bystander started swinging when representatives of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People appeared at the basement cafeteria.

Federal Judge Ben Connally signed an order Wednesday directing that the cafeteria be made available to Negroes.

Dee Derrington, operator of the cafeteria, ordered the closing. His order received quick approval from the County Commissioners Court.

Commissioner Kyle Chapman said that when the cafeteria is reopened it may be limited to use only by county employes and members of juries. It has been opened to the public since the new 10 million dollar court house opened three years ago.

Francis Williams, an attorney and president of the Houston NAACP Chapter, was among the delegation appearing at the cafeteria. He and others in the group said federal contempt proceedings against Derrington would be filed.

A white oil operator, J. M. Wren, swung several punches at a Negro attorney, M. W. Plummer, who was with Williams. An unidentified spectator intervened. Plummer was not injured, warding off the blows.

Wren cried out as the six Negroes approached the cafeteria:

"If the court won't stop you, we will. I'm a citizen of Houston, and I'm opposed to this."

Wren, a husky six-footer, had been at the entrance to the cafeteria about 30 minutes when the Negroes appeared.

Plummer filed a charge of simple assault against Wren.

Wren told the Negroes trying to enter the cafe:

"We don't want Negroes in the cafeteria. If we've got to have a riot, let's have it. I'm not going to have Negroes here."

An unidentified man added: "That's right. That's what we're going to do."

As the situation grew tense, Derrington said:

"I'm closing the cafeteria. I don't want any trouble. I'm not a party to this and I didn't know it was coming."

Derrington said he would have refused to serve the Negroes had they entered the cafeteria.

Fire Was Loaded

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The dice weren't loaded but the fire was.

Three boys built a fire to keep warm while they were shooting dice for bottle caps.

They were badly peppered when metal from detonation caps exploded in the flames, spraying their bodies.

The boys were treated at a hospital where their condition was described as not serious.

'Rare' Seeds On Desk Of County Farm Agent

Seven 10-pound bags of "rare" seeds are on the desk of Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent.

The seeds are from the Lubbock Experiment station and are the new and extremely unusual hybrid grain sorghum developed in the Lubbock area.

Taylor said there are only two sources for these new hybrid seeds at this time. One is the experiment station and the other the DeKalb Seed Co., also of Lubbock.

The seven 10-pound consignments on hand, he said, would be distributed to seven selected Howard County farmers.

The sorghum will be planted at the proper time and it is planned to plant the new hybrid variety alongside an identical tract planted with the customary type of seed. At the end of the year, a comparasion will be made of the two plots to determine how effective the new variety is compared with the standard heretofore used.

Taylor explained that the new hybrid grain sorghum represents what agriculturists regard as a most important innovation in sorghum production. Developed primarily for irrigated areas, the seven samples sent here will provide an excellent trial of the new variety as a dry farm product.

The new seed are extremely scarce, he said. DeKalb is marketing some of it in 25 pound bags this year for the first time. Seeds from the experiment station are being distributed for test planting in various parts of the state.

The experiment station and other agencies believe that the new seed may play the same important role in grain sorghum that the hybrid corns have played in the production of corn.

The seeds are grayish in color and large in size as compared to ordinary sorghums.

He said the seven test farms will be selected soon and the seeds distributed to the farmers named to conduct the tests.

Land Listing In Full Swing

Recent rains which averaged from half an inch to slightly more than an inch over the county have made it possible for farmers to begin listing land, Jimmy Taylor, county agent, said.

Most of the plowing activity is now confined to the southeast and southwest portions of the county, he said. Rains were generally much heavier in these sections than elsewhere. An average of three-quarters of an inch of moisture fell on most of the farms in about half of the county, Taylor estimated.

In the northeast and northwest sections, some farmers are going ahead with their plowing but as a rule most are waiting and hoping for additional moisture soon.

In a few places, Taylor said that cotton planting has already started but the bulk of the cotton will be sowed much later.

The rains were of great benefit to the farmers and stockmen but will soon lose their force if additional precipitation does not occur.

Another rain or two, Taylor said, and planting will get under way on a major scale.

Sweetness, Light In Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sweetness and light marked the divorce hearing of actor Tony di Milo and Joan di Milo, and although they they say they're still the best of friends.

"We bring out the neurotic tendencies in each other," Mrs. di Milo told Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle. "I make Tony cranky when he wakes up in the morning."

"We do much better when we're apart," said the husband. "We have dates and I visit the baby. We really think a divorce will make things more harmonious both for us and the baby."

Di Milo said they'll continue to have dates after they're divorced.

Golden Gate Choir Sets Concert Here

The chapel choir of the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary, San Francisco, has scheduled a concert at the First Baptist Church here May 11.

With the choir will be two former Big Springers, Mrs. Orine Suffern, accompanist, and Wayne Nance. The concert will be presented in the evening.

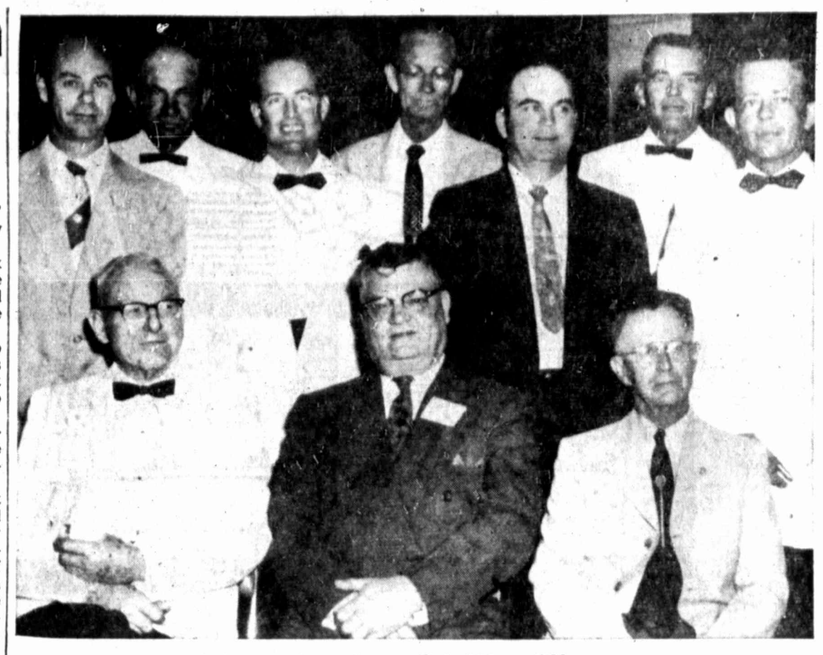

The singers will be on a spring tour that will carry them through California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Indiana, Kentucky, and Arkansas. Other appearances in this area will be at Abilene, Tahoka, and Lubbock.

Helton Opening Insurance Office

Tom Helton is announcing the opening of an insurance office in Big Spring, located in room 208 of the Elmo Wasson building at Third and Main.

Helton has been a resident here for many years, is a former Texas & Pacific Railway employe, and in recent years has been active in the insurance and investment fields.

He said he will handle general insurance, including fire, casualty, liability, comprehensive, and similar insurance service.

New Leaders Of The Elks

Big Spring Elks installed new officers and presented Oliver Cofer with a past-exalted ruler's pin at their meeting Tuesday evening. New officers shown are C. C. Ryan Jr., exalted ruler; M. T. Kuykendall, leading knight; Jack Taylor, loyal knight; J. W. Atkins, lecturing knight; R. L. Heith, secretary; Bart Wilkinson, treasurer; J. W. Smith, inner guard; R. H. Snyder, tiler; L. D. Cobb, esquire; and Joe Bunch, chaplain. Abilene and Midland Elks were here for the installation, conducted by the Abilene officers.

Big Springers Still Prefer Evaporative Air Coolers

Home appliance dealers of Big Spring are well stocked with the superduper model refrigerated air conditioning units, but they are confident the bulk of the buyers in this area will choose the ever-popular evaporative type.

"We sell 25 evaporative type coolers for each refrigerated air unit sold," said one dealer.

"Recently we received an order for 10 refrigerated air units — it is one of the biggest orders for this type of cooler we have had in a long, long time. It will boost our sales of this type of cooler higher than usual but we are all stocked and ready for the inevitable rush for the old reliable evaporative types."

Why is the evaporative type so much in demand?

The dealers say that the explanation is simple.

West Texas in general, and Big Spring in particular, is dry. That means the humidity content of the air is extremely low. In fact, one veteran resident said, there just "ain't no humidity" in the peak of the hot summer months.

The standard evaporative type coolers draw the hot arid air through filters which are kept soaked with cool water. The passage of the air through the damp filters causes some of the water to turn into vapor, cooling the air.

Refrigerated air conditioners also cool down the air inside the house. They operate just as an electric refrigerator operates. Air is dragged across coils and through filters which are kept at frigid temperatures by compressor units identical to those in refrigerators.

"We'll sell some of the refrigerated air models — perhaps more than usual — this summer," said a dealer, "but we anticipate that the heavy demand will still be for the old favorites — the evaporative type of air conditioner."

Agent To Attend Livestock Clinic

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, will go to Fort Worth Sunday to attend a three-day livestock marketing clinic.

He said he had not been advised as to all the matters to be considered at the clinic but that he anticipates a survey of the number of cattle, hogs and sheep likely to be available, will be made and an estimate drawn on possible market conditions later in the year.

The study session continues from April 15 through April 19.
