Councilman proposes county assistance

Citing increased costs and a declining tax base, Colorado City Council member Bob Reily said the city is faced with cutting services or raising fees and/or taxes unless Mitchell County pitches in to help.

Reily, speaking to the Kiwanis Club last week and scheduled to speak to the Lions Club Friday, said the city is faced with mounting expenses including:

- the water purchased from TU Electric from Lake Colorado City will probably double in price beginning in 1991;
FICA costs and workman's compensation costs are going up;

- landfill fee costs are going up;
attorney fees for the suit filed by LULAC could range anywhere from $30,000 to $100,000;

- the cost of having to dig up or air test five underground gasoline storage tanks could cost up to $10,000;

He said the city needs to start long-range plans concerning paving and water, but those projects will probably have to wait until bonded indebtedness is paid off. He said the city owes principal and interest of $543,000 and $230,000 of that amount will be paid this year. The projects still being paid for include the 1976 water filter plant project, the 1976 paving project, the 1983 waste water disposal project and the 1986 fire station project.

In addition, city employees have not had a raise since 1986.

So, the council is forced to look at ways to trim the $2.4 million budget or ways to bring in additional income.

Reily said that the county could help fund such projects as Ruddick Park, $23,000; the Civic Center, $33,000; the museum, $12,000; and the swimming pool, $5,000 - a total of $50,500 annually. He said the park, swimming pool, museum, and civic center are used by citizens from throughout the county and therefore, the county could help pay the expenses.

Colorado City is faced with special problems because it has no oil wells and no power plant to bring in extra tax dollars, Reily said, adding that the property valuations are decreasing.

He said that services that could be cut include the police force, sanitation and the museum.

School nurse Mary Petty honored during assembly

Colorado ISD school nurse Mary Petty was presented a certificate of appreciation from the school district during an assembly last Wednesday at Kelley Elementary School.

Don Nimmo, assistant superintendent, presented the certificate on behalf of the school district and read a proclamation from Gov. Bill Clements declaring the week of Jan. 22-26 as School Nurse Awareness Week.

The proclamation reads: "The school nurse plays a very important role in the educational process. As well as being dedicated to the prevention of illness in students, the school nurse must focus on early detection and correction of health problems.

"This individual must be especially prepared and qualified in order to practice preventive health measures, assess health and handle referral procedures. The contribution of the school nurse to the educational system is outstanding because of the improvements made in the health status of the children of our state.

"The school nurse also serves as health educator and health counselor to children and families, resource person to classroom teachers and administrators, child advocate in times of crisis and liaison between home, school and community.

"It is fitting that we attempt to increase the public's awareness of professional registered nurses managing and providing school health services and recognize the contributions the school nurses make toward the future of Texas children.

"Therefore, I, William P. Clements Jr., Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the week of January 22 through 26th, 1990, as School Nurse Awareness Week in Texas and urge the appropriate recognition thereof."

Petty serves as school nurse for all the entire school district.

Westbrook student is 1 of 64 finalists

Westbrook High School senior Charles (Scooter) Hines has been named one of 64 finalists for the 1989-90 Fina All-State Scholar-Athlete Team.

Fina Oil and Chemical Company, the main operating subsidiary of American Petrofina, Inc., said Hines is one of 64 hard-working high school seniors who combined athletics with classroom success and active participation in school and community life in order to be named a finalist.

Hines, 17, is the son of Bass and Hontas Hines. He is active in sports and U.I.L. events at Westbrook High School. He placed second in the state in calculator last year and was named most valuable player in district basketball. Besides basketball, he plans to play baseball this year.

Hines said he plans to attend Angelo State University in San Angelo where he will major in physics.

The 64 finalists were selected by a panel of judges from more than 2,000 applicants. Applications were received by Fina from public and private schools across the state. Under the program's challenging eligibility requirements, each qualified applicant had to be a high school senior who had participated in varsity athletics at the interscholastic level, be in the top 10 percent of his or her class, and have a grade average of 90 or above. Although they must have received a varsity letter, athletic ability in itself is not the major determinant in the selection process. In addition to athletic and academic achievement, the candidate was judged on leadership and participation in worthwhile school and community activities.

At the time the applications

were submitted, 39 of the 64 finalists had a class rank of number one, with 14 students ranking second and five ranking third. Most served in student government posts or were class officers. Almost all were active in their churches and involved in their communities and local charities.

"Each applicant is outstanding and is to be congratulated for his or her achievements. To be selected as a finalist from such a superior group is, in itself, an honor," said Ron W. Haddock, president and chief executive officer of American Petrofina, Inc. "Fina's intent in sponsoring the team is to accentuate the fact that the talent, dedication and enthusiasm of high school athletes extend far beyond the playing field. We have made a commitment to recognize young people who excel not only in athletics, but also in the classroom and the community, instead of giving all the attention to those few who

Electric refund OK'd

Local TU Electric customers will see a reduction in their February bills thanks to recent action by the Texas Public Utility Commission.

Electric in February will refund to its customers about $64 million, including interest, that was over-collected through September 1989 because of unusually moderate weather.

The company's request to make the refund was approved on Jan. 16 by the Texas Public Utility Commission. It will be made through a credit on February bills, with the residential customer who used 1,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity receiving a credit of about $9.50.

Because of the unseasonably mild weather in the company's

In the first quarter, the Wolves only trailed by 4 points as Crane led 20-16, but in the second quarter, the Golden Cranes began running and gunning to outscore the Wolves 23-10. At the end of the half, the Wolves were trailing by a score of 43-26.

As third quarter action was underway, Crane hadn't changed any of their game plans as they kept wheeling and dealing to up the lead to 69-42. In the final period of the game, the Wolves saw much of the same, as they lost by an overwhelming 93-58.

Dane Hoover led the way for the Wolves with 30 points. Other Wolves scoring in the losing battle were Mark Monroe, 12; Robert Lewis, 7; Wendell Iglehart, 5; and Tracy Ausbie, 4.

In the Junior Varsity game, the Crane Golden Cranes also defeated the Wolves. The final score of the contest was 77-31. Scoring for the Wolves were Jason Blassingame, 14; Kent Shane, 7; James Franco, 4; Ronald Appling and Doug Conner, 3; and Jeremy Lelek, 2.

Dane Hoover, Edward Flores, Jason Lawson
...named to honorable academic all-district team

Wolves make academic all-district

In 7-AAA football, the Colorado City Wolves had three individuals make the honorable Academic All-District team. This award is given to student-athletes who possess a grade point average of 90 or better. The three Wolves who were acknowledged are Dane Hoover, Edward Flores, and Jason Lawson.

Hoover, a senior, was the place kicker for the Wolves during the 1989 season and had 98 points. Flores, also a senior, played linebacker and gathered 54 tackles, 2 interceptions, and 4 fumble recoveries. Lawson, a Junior tight end, had 1 catch for 26 yards, but Lawson was used mainly as a blocking tight end.

Although the Wolves suffered a losing season, these student-athletes gave 110 percent on and off the field to show that academics can be tied in with academics.

Freshmen Ladies beat Coahoma

On Monday night, January 29, the Freshmen Lady Wolves played district rival, the Coahoma Junior Varsity, and defeated the older team by a score of 31-19.

In the first quarter, the Lady Wolves were nursing a narrow lead of 3 to take the early advantage of 4-1. In the second period, the Wolves played much better and took a more comfortable lead of 16-8.

As the second half continued, each team scored 6 points to keep the same point spread, and at the end of the third, the score was 22-14. In the final period of play, the Coahoma J.V. had one last opportunity to save their pride, but as the mighty Wolves always do, they kept the lead and won by a score of 31-19.

Contributing in the winning cause were Tammy Ceballos, 8; Monica Minyard and Shondilyn Ross, 6; Elaine McKnight and Crescent Ross, 4; Tammy Lelek, 2; and Angela Ornelas, 1.

Crane beats Lady Wolves

Last Friday, January 26, the Varsity Lady Wolves also traveled to Crane to resume district play. The Lady Wolves are 2-3 in district action, and due to the defeat against Crane, the Wolves are 0-1 in second half play.

In the first quarter, the Lady Wolves were the early aggressors as they took a 14-2 lead. The second period was also good to the Wolves as they took a half-time lead of 29-23.

As the third quarter began, the Wolves saw their 6 point lead diminish as the Golden Cranes held the Wolves to only 1 point in the entire third quarter. The Cranes seemed have to change places with the Wolves as they became the aggressors, and the Wolves became the prey. The final score of the third was 37-30. As the fourth quarter got underway, the Cranes never led up, and the Wolves couldn't catch up. As the regulation time elapsed, the score was in favor of the Cranes, 48-39.

Scoring for the Wolves in the losing cause were Brittany Bridgford, 12; Tracy Hoover, 10; Angie Piccola, 5; Kendra Ritchey and Cami Redwine, 4; Jennifer Munoz and Melissa Rivera, 2.

Loraine Personals

...by Lois Phillips

Remember when I started writing all this nonsense I would make my mistakes right, well here goes. First I want to get a young man's name correct from the stock show report.

His name is Russell, spelled with a-T. In the paper with the stock show bunch, it was spelled Burk. Thanks Russell, for having brought to my attention.

I received a message from Jimmie Hall. He asked his mother who in the world Big John was. He says he can't remember one person by that name and would I please use their correct names. Just for you, Jim I'll try to remember to use correct names.

David Watson was honored with a promotion in the Marines. His mother and grandmother were on hand in California to see him receive the award. His mother will be remembered as Rachel Beights, daughter of Ira and Audrey Beights and of course Audrey is the grandmother.

His father also bears the name David Watson and is also in the Marines.

Young David accompanies his mother back to Oklahoma on leave.

I guess now would be a good time to say hello to A. D. Vasquez in Panama, to Billie Hayes and his buddies who are enjoying a leave. Hello to you Clinton Merket, also to one of the Munoz kids who is in service but I can't remember which one it is. If someone will give me names of those they know from our town school we will be glad to recognize them.

We would like to thank the Record for the nice coverage we were given in the paper for basketball and the stock show. We really do appreciate it.

Debbie, I am sorry someone decided not to print our story of junior high boys. We know at least that they are undefeated and we know who got the honors at the tournaments.

I have been reading about high schools and junior high schools in other towns having so many problems. I sure hope and pray that our kids will try to show everyone that they know what well behaved means and will obey their schools, parents and law enforcement people. No trouble please. I am afraid of it and I hope you are. Think before you act, it's better that way.

I wanted to say I was pleased to see so many Loraine exes helping out at the stock show. It brought back memories of the Merkets, the Hackfelds, the Stewarts and I am sure I have forgotten some. Oh yes, the Finleys showed, also Cornuts and many more and now you come back to help. It tells us you are making good citizens and we know you learned some of this at the shows.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Brad Thompson and Debbie and Wendell Bankhead and family were all in Houston last Monday to attend the funeral service for Spurlin Johnson. He was the half brother of Mrs. Danny Thompson. He will be remembered as the son of Mrs. Doc Givens by a former marriage.

Mrs. Ike Williams and Mrs. Mildred Rose were in Sweetwater to attend the funeral of Mrs. Williams son-in-law's grandmother's funeral last Tuesday afternoon.

Leaving Monday for the Fort Worth Stock Show and hauling the stock were Mike Herrington, Loraine Ag teacher, Linton Ray Webb and Donnie Phillips.

They will be responsible for the steers until the kids arrive. Leaving Wednesday morning will be Lavon Herrington, Justin and Randy, Sandy Phillips and Chris. Also Amaz Webb, Shelli and Sheryl Webb. I have been told that the Webbs may fly down but am not sure.

This group will come home after the show on Thursday to be in school on Friday and will be suited out for the basketball game Friday night.

Junior and Dorothy Green are in Lubbock for a check-up and will visit with the Steve Key family a few days before coming home. I suppose they are mulling over what the doctors have said he could do and what not to do. Then knowing Junior so well, we feel sure he will do as he wants too as long as he can get by with it.

Junior and Dorothy Green are fine people and many of you know that. I would ask either of them for a favor of any kind if I need to and knowing I would not be turned down. Helping people is just built into their make-up. I'll tell you more of my thoughts on the folks later.

Irene Kidd's sister and husband spent the weekend with her. They also visited relatives in Snyder.

Annie Bell Jones is some better now. She has had a hard time so we are glad to report her improvement.

Barbara Long of Savannah, Georgia is here this week visiting her mother and mother-in-law, Annie Bell Jones. Her mother is Irene Kidd.

Hunting lease system: chaos or the future?

Another Texas hunting season is nearly over. Hunting lease operators are preparing to close their books on this year's hunts and make plans for another year.

Lease hunting occurs throughout Texas, but lease operations vary considerably. Many lease operators would like to know how others are providing services and facilities, managing game animals, protecting their operation, pricing their leases and the range of lease charges. How can they obtain this information? Beginning last week, 12,500 hunting lease operators in Texas received a one-page survey that asks for answers to these questions. The survey is easy to complete but of most importance to hunting lease operators will be the results. Finally, they will be able to compare their lease operation with others in the county and state.

This study is a cooperative research effort between the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Extension Service. County agents are helping get an excellent response rate by supporting this study and answering questions their lease operators may have about it. The value of the information to hunting lease operators will be directly related to the number of surveys returned. The Extension Service will provide county/state data results to each county Extension agent for your area of interest. They will receive the results that compare their personal operation with others in the county and state. This information should help operators and landowners improve their hunting lease programs.

Hunting lease operators that have multiple permits will be sent a survey for each permitted area. Each area under permit is described on the survey by acres and/or name - exactly the way it was described in the permit application. Some operators or landowners may receive from two to 22 surveys in one day. It is important that each survey for each permitted area be completed as a separate acreage. All hunting lease operators that have our or more permitted areas have been contacted about the study and that they would be receiving a lot of mail the third week in January.

The Texas hunting lease system has been in operation since 1929. There has never been a statewide study of how lease hunting contributes to wise management of the wildlife resource. Other states are beginning to consider lease hunting as an alternative to traditional agricultural land uses. The results of this study may demonstrate that lease hunting on private land is a practical and sensible alternative.

Carriker proposes dismantling ladder

AUSTIN - 30th District Sen. Steve Carriker filed a bill Monday that would enable dismantling of the controversial career ladder with equal distribution of the money to teachers.

"Educators overwhelmingly agree that the career ladder serves no purpose but to inject more politics into our educational system and lower teacher morale," said Carriker, a Democrat from Roby.

Also, Carriker said, since the state usually does not fund the ladder sufficiently enough to place all teachers on it, the result is either an increased burden on local tax bases or teachers being denied a promised reward.

"This bill is a permissive measure, providing that individual school districts may choose not to implement the career ladder program on a local option basis. If the district chooses to get out of the program, the funds allocated to the career ladder would be distributed equally among the district's teachers as a general pay raise," he said.

Carriker's bill, Senate Bill 3, was filed on the first day of bill filing for the special session which will begin Feb. 27.

Lehrman, Piland exchange wedding vows here Dec. 31

Tina Lehrman and Mark Piland, both of Sweetwater, exchanged wedding vows Sunday, Dec. 31, 1989 at the home of the groom's father.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Lehrman of Sweetwater.

The groom is the son of Eddie Piland of Colorado City and the late Joy Piland.

Rev. Mike Haley performed the double ring ceremony in front of the fireplace. Greenery with black and ivory bows and candleabra with ivory candles adorned the mantle.

Music was rendered by Diane Haley, and the bride's mother sang Each for the Other.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a tea-length gown of ivory satin with lace overlay, slightly flared at the bottom. The dress featured a high neck with ivory pearls, sequins and seed pearls. The short, puffed sleeves were accented with ivory seed pearls. The lace accented back featured 48 satin covered buttons.

For something old, the bride wore a ring belonging to her late grandmother. Her something new was her wedding dress. Something borrowed was a diamond watch belonging to the groom's late mother. Something blue was a beaded and lace garter made by Betty Shawn of Colorado City.

The bride carried a bouquet of ivory roses, accented with baby's breath, with long black and ivory streamers tied in love knots.

Matron of honor was Sheila Montalvo of Snyder. Bridesmaid was Liz Lehrman of Abilene, sister-in-law of the bride. They wore suits of black knit accented with large ivory collars and cuffs. They each carried a long-stem ivory rose with ivory and black bows and streamers.

Flower girls were Chelsea Lehrman, niece of the bride, and Amy Haley. They wore black taffeta, double ruffled dresses accented with wide ivory lace collars made by the mother of the bride. They carried ivory, lace covered baskets filled with baby's breath.

Best man was Sam Houston of Houston. Groomsman was Jay Piland, brother of the groom.

The groom wore a ivory rose accented with ivory and black picot ribbon. The groomsmen wore ivory rose boutonnières accented with baby's breath.

The mother of the bride wore an ivory rose corsage.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. The table was covered with an ivory cloth and held a three-tiered ivory cake accented with ivory roses and leaves and topped with a Precious Moments wedding figurine. The cake was made by Bea Polnack. Strawberry/banana slush punch was served from a silver bowl.

The bride's traveling costume was a black and peach southwest design jumpsuit with black turtleneck shirt.

Mainstream of agriculture focus of TDA promotions

(DALLAS)—"At the Texas Department of Agriculture, we've worked since 1983 to widen and deepen the mainstream of agriculture in this state," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said here.

"Our job at TDA is not just to serve what is--after all, a lot of producers are drowning in today's mainstream. Therefore, we at TDA are helping farmers and ranchers diversify their crops. We also help them in marketing their crops directly, in increasing their food processing and in implementing low-input, sustainable agriculture practices. We're helping farmers and ranchers find new ways to increase their profits in the production of cotton, wheat, rice and livestock. We're also assisting enterprising farmers in their efforts to develop new crops, like pinto beans and blueberries, that will be part of tomorrow's mainstream," Hightower said.

Hightower made the comments in his address to the Texas Farmers Union annual convention in Dallas.

"You can just look at the Santa Gertrudis or the Valley citrus industry to see that what's mainstream today started out as the product of individual farmers' willingness to experiment," Hightower said.

"People probably thought Charles Volz had been in the sun too long when he planted the first commercially successful citrus crop in the Valley in 1908, but his efforts helped launch the citrus industry in the area. When T. C. Nye brought back onions from Bermuda in 1907 and produced the state's first onion crop, his neighbors probably didn't dream that less than a century later Texas would be the nation's biggest onion producer. Grain sorghum, the second largest cash crop in the state, was a little-known exotic grain until West Texas farmers in the 1880s started using it to bolster their meager corn crops. When Valley ranchers Earl Thomas and Fred Turner imported two Charolais bulls from France in the 1940s, their fellow ranchers demanded a money-back guarantee before they would have anything to do with these strange specimens. Today Charolais is a fairly common breed in Texas.

"At TDA we're promoting this kind of ingenuity so that, in 50 years, farmers making big profits from pinto beans and blueberries will look back to the 1990s, when these crops were considered strange," Hightower said.

"Some people have accused TDA of not representing mainstream agricultural interests in this state, but just take a look at what we do. The overwhelming majority of our efforts go to serving the state's cotton, wheat, and rice farmers, the ranchers, the citrus growers."

"Our international marketing division has worked to open new markets for Texas farmers and ranchers in Mexico, the Middle East, the Far East and Europe.

"For example, just last year, we put Texas Ranger pitcher and rancher Nolan Ryan in contact with a beef buyer in Guadalajara, resulting in a $47,500 sale.

"TDA's cooperative agreement with Mexico, signed in 1985, has resulted in a major increase in our state's agricultural exports to Mexico. Southwest Grain of Edinburg has experienced a ten-fold increase of its exports of grain sorghum to Mexico."

'One Texan, One Tree' goal of 'Trees for Texas' project

(AUSTIN)—Celebrating his 47th birthday, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower planted a tree on the grounds of the State Capitol to launch a broad-based statewide effort to plant 17 million trees in Texas during the 1990s.

"What better birthday present can there be than to put both beauty and function into the good Texas earth?" Hightower asked, urging all Texans to make their own birthday pledges to plant trees.

"There are some 17 million people in our state, and the Trees for Texas Task Force is calling on everyone to join in achieving the goal of One Texan, One Tree by the end of this decade. A tree is a thing of beauty, but it also happens to be the most efficient environmental purification technology the world has ever known. If we plant 17 million new trees across our state, one for every Texan, we will be planting a healthy environment for future generations," Hightower said.

Joining Hightower for the planting of the Texas mountain laurel in the south approach to the Texas Capitol were members of the Trees for Texas Task Force, organized by Hightower in 1989 to develop a statewide tree-planting project. They included Joe Tew, president of the Texas Association of Nurserymen; Susie Azar, mayor of El Paso; Renee Blaschke, president-elect of Texas Garden Clubs; Larry Schaaupveld, urban forester with the Texas Forest Service; Richard Kouri, vice president of the Texas State Teachers Association; and Walter Hinojosa of the Texas Federation of Teachers. Also present were Chevo, Randy and Ted Lopez, owners of Wholesale Trees of Texas, who donated the tree.

"I am planting this tree today and calling upon all Texans to join me by planting at least one tree during this decade, so that by the year 2000 we will have over 17 million new trees soaking up the sweet Texas sunshine. A healthy tree can also absorb from 13 to 26 pounds of carbon dioxide a year as it breathes in carbon dioxide and breathes out oxygen. An acre of trees absorbs about as much carbon dioxide in a year as the average car releases into the atmosphere. Planting 17 million trees could offset greenhouse gas emissions by three million tons per year. Who says nobody does anything about the weather? Trees also help to cool urban 'heat islands.' Three properly planted trees around a house can reduce air conditioning bills by as much as 50 percent, thereby reducing carbon dioxide emissions from power plants.

"This mountain laurel we are planting today is important because it can help us remember what is happening to trees. Our tree replaces a mountain laurel that once stood here but could not reproduce itself because the lawn is carefully managed. For every tree planted in any urban area, four die or are killed, and many are never allowed to grow. In rural areas, many windbreaks have been removed, and timberland is being cut faster than it is being replanted. In the Eastern U.S., tree growth has actually slowed in some areas.
