South Part Of City Hardest Hit; Homes Are Destroyed

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, May 16—A skipping, whipsawing tornado chewed up a four-square mile area in southern Amarillo last night, killing four people. About 83 were injured.

It was the first destructive tornado in the 62-year-old history of this Panhandle capital.

Dawn found Red Cross and volunteer workers still picking their way through acres of shambles. It looked as if a big kitchen mixer dipped in, stirred everything up, and then spewed it around. Although many sections of Amarillo were hit, the tornado's most destructive blow fell on the southern area dotted largely with new homes of veterans. A near cloudburst—and hailstones as large as a man's fist—added to the damage.

Ambulances and highway patrol units funneled into Amarillo from a 200-mile radius, bringing injured to the crowded hospitals. Red Cross people flew in from St. Louis.

To property damage here may be added heavy loss to crops in the wheat-rich Texas Panhandle—that part of the state which juts up to the north, bordered by New Mexico and Oklahoma. Hail such as fell here would destroy the near-ripe wheat—but smashed communications lines made it difficult to discover the extent of the hailstorm.

The tornadic winds lashed the villages of Nature's Park and Gruver, some 80 miles across the wheatland northeast of here. No injuries were reported in either village.

Three carloads of pigs, smashed free from their freight-car prisons, rooted in the wreckage here. Curious sight seers thronged streets littered with tossed rooftops, smashed cars, shredded lumber and toppled trees. Some rooftops had been blown a mile.

Night Rescue Work Is Carried On

Night rescue work was carried on by the lights of cars, ambulances and trucks. Electric power was out.

The four dead were:

Mrs. Lois Martin, 30.

Eva McPherson, 56.

George McPherson, 67.

Mrs. Charles Maserang, age unknown.

Cars by the hundreds massed at the edge of the storm's handiwork. One person on the edge of the throng was heard to cry:

"Let me in there. I have a home in there."

The twister seemed to hit first on 28th street. It moved south. Roofs left houses in the whirling wind and trees were uprooted and laid on their side.

A record wheat crop is maturing in the Panhandle, and it was feared that accompanying hail and downpour might have caused heavy crop damage.

First reports from an ambulance driver that 25 to 50 persons might have died in the swift blow did not materialize.

Some Of Injured Are Unconscious

One hospital had 34 known injured and another had 29. Most suffered cuts and bruises but some were unconscious.

Louis Nordyke of the Amarillo Globe-News said officials at the Tradewinds airport in Amarillo reported 45 planes were destroyed and that two hangars were flattened. Damage there alone was estimated at $200,000. Nordyke said Massey-Harris, biggest farm implement dealer in the Panhandle, reported another $200,000 damage. Most of it was in badly needed wheat combines and other harvesting equipment.

Tornadoes hit elsewhere in the Panhandle. They knocked out telephone and telegraph lines, but the damage at places except Amarillo was believed light.

State highway patrol units from Lubbock, Plainview, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls came to assist in rescue work. Gov. Beauford Jester's office at Austin called for blood plasma.

South Amarillo was a scene of twisted, grotesque wreckage.

The twister missed the giant U. S. helium plant, located in the direction from which the twister came.

Ten or more cars of a moving Santa Fe freight train were also blown

LOW DEATH TOLL IS A MIRACLE

Amarillo Today Is A City Of Tragedy

By JAY HARRIS and FRED HARRELL
Journal Staff Writers

AMARILLO, May 16—Death and destruction held this Panhandle metropolis of more than 90,000 persons in unbelievable terror for a few brief hours Sunday night.

For moments that seemed forever, Amarillo teetered on the eternity.

A massive tornado—which apparently broke into at least three smaller twisters—thrashed omniously just southwest of the city, then smashed in all its savage fury into blocks of cringing victims' homes.

This morning a dark grey shroud of heavy clouds hung over this tornado-stricken city as rescue workers continued to dig through debris in which at least four persons were killed and 83 injured.

That the death toll was not nearer 100 than four was little less than a miracle.

The utter destruction visited on those dozen blocks in the extreme south portion of Amarillo when those tornadic winds hit leaves one with the feeling of living a horrible nightmare—a nightmare in which what once was modern homes with children playing in the yards were turned into jutting, jagged, splintered hovels almost impossible of description.

Scene One Of Unreality

Against a background of a new cloud which occasionally flashed lightning over the eerie scene of tragedy early this morning, grim-faced firemen, ambulance workers, fully armed National Guard patrols and volunteers continued to look into all that remained of buildings in their weary search for possible additional victims.

The scene before dawn as one walked down darkened streets framed with broken tree limbs, soggy quilts, broken toys and furniture was one of unreality.

Rows of homes lay in ruins or near ruins . . .

Many were torn into splinters. Heavy concrete and rock homes looked as though they had exploded.

Cars Masses Of Wreckage

Cars were rolled into near balls of metal—some of them with heavy pieces of wood shot through their caved in sides. A giant with a sledgehammer couldn't have done a better job.

One new car, with a two-by-four rammed almost completely through it sat near a wrecked home, sogging bedclothing and splintered furniture showing through windows which had completely disappeared.

A few feet away, another heavy auto had in some freakish way been lifted completely off the ground and a mattress neatly slid under its back wheels!

Numerous others were on their sides, and tops, windows smashed, doors gone, tires punctured.

Homes in which families sat and listened to Sunday evening radio

Rent Decontrol Pushed

Texas Senate Receives Bill From House

Quick Approval Is Expected To Send Measure To Jester

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, May 16—State-wide rent control in Texas was approved overwhelmingly today by the House.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Carlton Moore of Houston, was passed by the lower chamber, 93-41, and sent to the Senate.

Opponents of the bill sought to tack on an amendment which would have called for an election in each incorporated city or town in Texas on June 25 to decide the issue on decontrol.

Proposal Ruled Out

However, the amendment was ruled out of order.

Rep. Deno Tufares of Wichita Falls, speaking against the Moore bill, termed it a "bad, bad bill."

Action in the Senate was expected to be swift in sending the bill to Gov. Beauford Jester.

Rents may now be decontrolled by action of city councils and approval of the governor.

Moore said he will ask the Senate state affairs committee for an immediate hearing on the proposal.

The Houston legislator, speaking briefly on the bill, said decontrol would not cause the federal government to take federal housing units off the market.

He said he had been informed

Texas Violence Takes 27 Lives

(By The Associated Press)

The Amarillo tornado may have been the most spectacular killer in Texas over the week end but traffic accidents reaped their usual —and larger—toll.

Altogether, violent death came to at least 27 persons over the week end. Besides the four killed in the Amarillo tornado, there were these totals:

Traffic accidents, 15; drowned, 3; shot, 2; killed in plane crashes, 2; stabbed, 1.

Three men were instantly killed Sunday morning on Bexar county highways in two accidents reported within a five-minute period.

Soldiers Victims

The dead were Cpl. Ben Reagan, jr., 19; and Cpl. Orell Amburgey, 18, both stationed at Randolph field; and Herbert Neukirch, 19, San Antonio.

The two soldiers were killed riding a motor scooter when struck from behind, by a 1934 sedan, county highway Patrolmen Bob Mikesh said.

Neukirch was killed when his stripped down car collided with a truck and semi-trailer. His brother, Carl, 17, was injured.

George A. Thomas, 33, Houston, was killed there in a head-on automobile collision on a downtown street.

Two Magnolia residents, James Andrew Nesby, 34, and Lane Davenport, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davenport, drowned Saturday night when their fishing boat sank at Peavy House Lake near Conroe.

Power Is Disrupted In Part Of Lubbock For Four Hours

Area Swept By Rain And High Winds

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

Lashing rains, driven by high winds and illuminated by a severe electrical storm, laid more water on Lubbock and other South Plains points early this morning without inflicting heavy damage.

A portion of south Lubbock was without city electric power for about four hours after storm winds blew lines together and burned them out, Truman Green, city electrical superintendent, said the damage was repaired by 8 a. m.

The current failure was described as affecting the area south of Nineteenth street and centering on Ave. Q. Southwestern Public Service company lines were not affected.

Skies Are Clearing

The "storm line" moved south and east from Lubbock, leaving South Plains skies placid and clearing. Rains were falling at Big Spring, Abilene and other southeastern points after sunrise this morning.

The Lubbock Weather bureau station said more scattered thundershowers could be expected on the South Plains this afternoon and tonight.

The rainfall, even in Lubbock, varied widely at several measuring stations.

The official measurement at the Weather bureau station was only .17 inch, bring the official fall for the month to 7.07 inches, for the year to 14.05 inches. The only year in which May rainfall has exceeded this total was in 1941, when 12.69 inches fell in May.

However, the rain gauge at Texas Technological college measured .27 inches, the central fire station rain gauge recorded three-eights or approximately .38 inches and the Lubbock experiment station east of the city measured .45 inches.

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station, said he was like everyone else—"I'm ready to see a 'rain-check' on some of this rain so we can get our planting done."

Big Spring had reported 1.24 inches at mid-morning. Clarendon, east of Amarillo, recorded .70 inch. However, to the west, New Mexico skies were clear. Roswell reported clear skies without precipitation all night.

The swiftly moving storm line blanketed the entire area with moisture of varying intensity.

At Littlefield the early-morning storm struck the town and surrounding area at 4 o'clock, bringing showers and hail. A high wind blew for a short time, said Lomer Nelson of the County-Wide News. Nelson said no damage from hail or high wind had been reported.

Brownfield received rain measured at 1.09 inches at about the same time, said Charles Didway, ediotr of the Brownfield News. Some hail and wind were noted at Brownfield.

The moisture in Lamesa was measured at .86 inch between 4 and 5:30 a. m. There was not much wind, but much thunder and lightning. The fall brought Lamesa's total to 1.31 since Friday, 2.01 for May and 7.29 for the year.

Rain Is General

The rain was general over Dawson county, with reports ranging from one-half to one inch. Midway community southeast of Lamesa reported one inch. Toward Ackerley, in the south part of the county, one-half to one inch was reported. Harmony community, in the northeast part of the county, reported one inch fall and to a point about five miles west of Lamesa three-fourths inch was reported.

Post received 1.7 inches in the swift-moving storm, Mrs. Evelyn Boyd of the Post Dispatch said. She had heard reports that some persons were frightened by a brilliant electrical display which accompanied the downpour.

Harold Frost, chief meteorologist at the Weather bureau station at Municipal airport, said wind velocity got as high as 30 miles an hour. There was little indication that strong winds would be received this afternoon or tonight.

At Slaton, the Santa Fe railroad disptacher's office was hampered by damaged communications lines

U. S. Attitude Toward Russia Is Set Out In "Peace Paper"

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 16—Show me you mean it (and it will take you a long time to prove it) and in the meantime I'll get ready for the worst, in case you try any tricks.

That sums up the attitude of this country as it gets ready to sit down and talk with Russia about peace. It's a hardboiled attitude, but it's realistic, and it was made clear in the past few days.

On May 23 this country, Britain, France and Russia will meet in Paris to talk over their problems, which are world problems.

Peace Paper Issued

Over the week-end—a week before the Paris meeting—the State department issued a statement which it called the "peace paper." Briefly, this is what it said:

This country must help arm western Europe. It must start this year and keep on doing it for some years to come. So, in the eyes of the State department, western Europe must stay armed for a fairly long time.

So, no matter what comes of the Paris peace talks, this country is serving notice it won't take any chances on Russia, although Russia wasn't mentioned by name in the "peace paper."

Then there was a talk by William P. Maddox director of the Foreign Service institute of the State department, at New Bedford, Mass. He regards Russia as a threat. He said:

Threat Not Gone

Although the Berlin blockade has been lifted, the threat of Russian aggression has not been lifted and won't be until Russia has made it clear in every way that it wants peace.

And there was a statement by Secretary of State Acheson himself last week at a news conference. Germany and its future, which really means the future of Europe, will be a main point in the Paris talks with Russia.

Acheson will talk for the United States at Paris but he apparently doesn't look for any quick or easy solution for he said the German problem may be worked out over a "long period of time."

So in all three cases—Acheson, Maddox and the State department's "peace paper"—it's clear this government thinks:

1. It will be a long time before we can be sure of peace.
2. Russia will have to prove it wants peace before we believe it.

What's behind the State department's belief that we'll have to help western Europe arm and stay armed for years? It can be stated A-B-C:

The nations of western Europe are our allies if they fall, we'll be practically alone in a "hostile world." We need one another if we're to survive

If we don't help arm them—in the meantime, they'll have to help arm themselves—they may lose confidence in us as allies. In turn, this would weaken their strength and determination to resist aggression.

Sitting idly by, not helping arm them, merely talking of liberating Europe if it's overrun, would disillusion our allies. And trying to liberate our allies, after they were crushed, would be costly to us.

If they're unarmed, they're a pushover for Russia which could pick them off one by one by war or threats of war, just as Hitler did.

But if they're well-armed, their strength will discourage attack and help preserve them, us and peace.

It will cost money to help arm western Europe, but that's a price this country will have to pay to keep peace and stay free.

That sums up in the thinking in the State department's "peace paper."

Basic Science Law 'Confused', Chief Tells Texas Osteopaths

"The Basic Science law is in a great state of confusion, duplicates existing laws and merely adds unnecessary boards and technicalities to the efforts for meeting the public demand for physicians," Dr. L. C. Edwards of San Antonio, president of the Texas Society of Osteopathis Physicians and Surgeons, said in a meeting of district one osteopathis physicians and surgeons meeting in the Hilton hotel Sunday.

"We are concerned only with a fair administration of this unnecessary law," Dr. Edwards said to approximately 50 osteopaths and their wives. "Our greatest concern is in furnishing competent physicians to meet the great doctor shortage and to combat the growing efforts to force socialized medicine upon the people."

History Reviewed

Dr. C. Robert Starks of Denver, past president of the American Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeans, review 75 years of progress in osteopathy. He praised work in the field of education and said the progress was made without benefit of tax money or large foundation grants. Osteopathic physicians, by their contributions, have in a large measure made the progress possible, he said.

Dr. J. Francis Brown of Amarillo, past president of the Texas society, presided at the luncheon meeting, followed by business sessions for the physicians and auxiliary. A technical program led by Dr. Starks was included in the business session.

Dr. J. H. Ballard, Pampa, president of district one, which includes the Panhandle-Plains, presided at the business session. Dr. Ed Whitacre, president and Dr. Horace Emory, secretary of the South Plains society, had charge of the local arrangements.

Auxiliary Heads Named

Mrs. J. Paul Price of Dumas was elected president of the district one auxiliary. She succeeds Mrs. Ed R. Mayer, jr., Amarillo, who presided at Sunday's meeting.

Mrs. Horace Emory, Lubbock, was named president-elect; Mrs. L. K. Cradit, Amarillo, vice-president, and Mrs. R. L. Vick, Tulia, secretary-treasurer.

The auxiliary voted to give $50 to the national scholarship fund for worthy osteopathic students.

A South Plains auxiliary was formed at the meeting with Mrs. Emory elected president; Mrs. G. G. Porter, vice president; Mrs. Richard M. Mayer, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Henry A. Spivey, parliamentarian.

Other members of the auxiliary are Ed Tompson, Ed Davidson, Sam Hitch, Ed Whitacre, D. W. Danks and F. W. Zachary.

Attendance Listed

Attending Sunday's meeting were: Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Maxwell, Dalhart; Dr. E. O. Nelson, Brownfield; Dr. and Mrs. Glen Robinson, Happy; Dr. and Mrs. Bob Vick, Tulia; Dr. and Mrs. Harry Williams, Abernathy; Dr. and Mrs. John Witt, Groom; Dr. and Mrs. Paul Roberts, Panhandle; Dr. and Mrs. R. Soldier Accidentally Shoots His Child In Mother's Arms

LAS VEGAS, Nev. May 16. (AP)—A military policeman who apparently accidentally shot and killed his 10-month-old daughter as she lay in her mother's arms is free pending an inquest today.

Corp. Charlie Dean Allen, 23, of Monroe, La., was released on his own recognizance after being detained for questioning yesterday.

Dist. Atty. Robert Jones said the fatal shooting early Saturday morning apparently was accidental. No charges were filed against Allen, stationed at Las Vegas Air base.

Incident Described

Allen wept as he told Jones what happened. Jones quoted him as saying he and his pretty wife, Agnes, 22, had returned from the Las Vegas helldorado celebration and dismissed a baby sitter.

He told Jones he attempted to put a shell in a .45 caliber automatic which he placed on a stool beside their bed every night for protection. The gun went off, he added.

The bullet struck Carolyn in the forehead, missing Mrs. Allen by inches. The infant was rushed to a hospital, where she died 45 minutes later. Jones said Mrs. Allen corroborated her husband's explanation.

Police Chief Roy K. Perrish said he and military policemen later found Allen under the bed. Perrish said he emerged after being threatened with tear gas, distraught and weeping.

Disabled Navy Veteran Happy After Legion Post Paints House So That He Can Buy It

CHICAGO, May 16. (AP)—Larry Borko was on the verge of tears yesterday as 25 strangers with brushes and buckets of paint swarmed over the little house he wants to buy.

Borko, 27, and his wife, Anna, 29, had saved $1,000 for a down-payment on the property and had talked to the Veterans administration about a loan on the balance. But the VA appraiser said the house first would have to be painted.

That seemed too much for Barko. He could not afford to have the painting done or do it himself because he has no hands. He lost those when he was a Seabee on Okinawa and a Japanese mine exploded in front of him. His only income is the $1,100 a year from the government for total disability.

But word went around at an American Legion post. The painters were legionnaires who brought the paint and brushes. They put on one coat and promised to be back next Sunday to put another on and do the trimming.

"I'm so thankful and happy it hurts," Borko told his new acquaintances.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for any printed diet or for vitamins to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while taking this preparation. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for weight reduction.

Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 56 pounds

Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 86, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us:

"I want to tell you what Barcentrate has done for me. I weighed 268 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212.

"I have taken my dress size down from size 50 to 44 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did.

"I am still taking Barcentrate as I want to set my weight down to 165 or 170 pounds."

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Younger Sister Who Stole Woman's First Husband Now Agitates For Reconciliation

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am married to Phil, a wonderful man who has a good education and a good position. I love him more than anything on earth and our happiness means everything to me. We have a fine little son and live comfortably.

The problem is my younger sister Sue, now married to my former husband Bob When Bob and I married some years ago, Sue came to live with us; and six months later she packed and left before I knew she was gone, and Bob asked me for a divorce so that he could marry her! Words cannot describe my shock at realizing they had reached this decision behind my back.

I gave Bob a divorce and joined the Wacs. Then Phil came into my life. Until recently no one mentioned Sue to me and I didn't hear from her; but lately my family, especially my mother, keeps insisting that I ought to "make up" with Sue—and I think they have been talking to Phil, for he also has mentioned several times that I ought to let bygones be bygones and make the family happy.

SISTER'S CAMPAIGN BREEDS NEW TROUBLE

ONCE Sue and Bob called at our home, but I shut the door in their face when I saw who was there. Mother says, "Why don't you make up with poor Sue; she is heartbroken because you have put her out of your life,"—but I think she put herself out of my life, and ought to stay away and leave me alone, having destroyed my love and respect for her.

This "poor Sue" campaign is getting on my nerves, and I am afraid that Phil has begun to think I still care for Bob, which I certainly do not—and that he wants us to be friends as a sort of test case. Incidentally, Sue and Bob send gifts to my son occasionally, and this also causes trouble. Phil says "Let him keep the gifts," but I think they should be returned, since we aren't associating. How can I make my position clear, and keep the family from interfering? Please advise.

(Signed) G. P.

COMPULSIVE ENVY GNAWS AGGRESSOR

DEAR G. P.: Once bitten, twice shy, the saying goes. In all probability you are afraid to open the door to Sue, lest she stick a knife in your back a second time. And frankly I think your apprehension is justified.

I have a hunch that Sue can't be trusted to let your happiness alone, and that she would have no compunctions about sabotaging your second marriage, too, if she could undermine unity in a roundabout way.

It occurs to me that she gets afflicted with compulsive envy when your blessings seem to equal or exceed hers; and that she feels an itch, when you're doing well, to tear down to a "dispossessed" status again—so that she may feel superior, rich and complacent in comparison. She had not time for you when making off with your first husband's scalp, thus her "poor Sue" blandishments nowadays leave me cold.

WOMAN'S CAUTION SEEMS JUSTIFIED

HER call at your door with Bob was strictly brassy, and her gifts to your child are sucker-bait. Maybe she kids herself that she wants forgiveness and a chance to atone, but your intuition is perfectly sound—she's no friend of yours.

She wants to get next to your life again and pull more rival play for supremacy, I think; therefore your defensive position seems sound, and I hope I've made clear to the family that her pushy agitation deserves no support. If she were sincerely contrite, she would be humbly quiet about the rift she induced.

Sudan Club Plans Annual Dinner

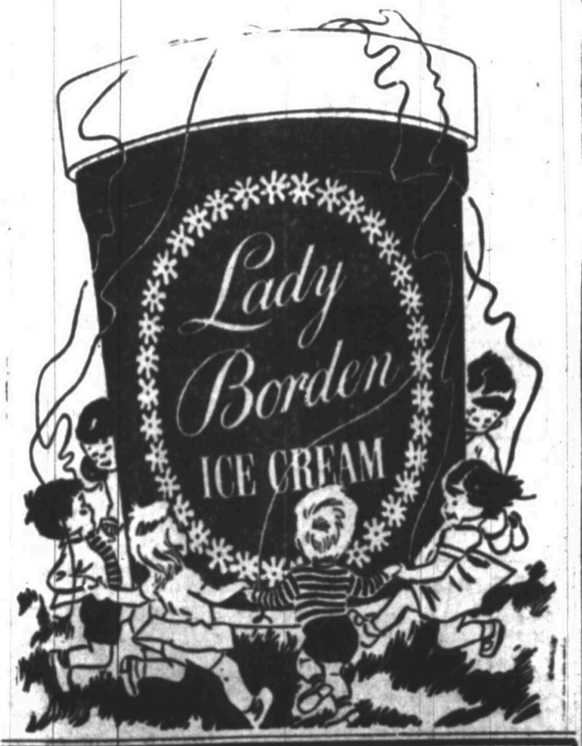

SUDAN, May 16. (Special)—Climaxing a year's activities for community betterment, the Tuesday Study club of Sudan will hold its annual installation dinner Tuesday evening, May 24, at the First Methodist church here.

Outstanding among projects completed by this group during the past year was the installation of a three-way traffic light at the school intersection. Also the club was responsible for purchasing and erecting markers for 32 streets in Sudan. These have proved a considerable convenience for residents and visitors alike.

To prevent unhampered breeding of insects which may carry polio germs later this summer, the Tuesday Study club sponsored a city-wide "Clean-Up Campaign" the first week in May. Along the same lines of civic improvement, the club backed an outdoor home decorating contest last Christmas, and gave cash prizes to the best-decorated residences.

Mrs. C. E. Harris, retiring club president, has charge of the coming installation dinner, assisted by Mrs. Ernest Minyard. Incoming president is Mrs. Nolan Parrish. The club is affiliated with the Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

In a brief order, the court authorized the government to file complaints against the two states. Texas and Louisiana were directed to file answers next Sept. 1.

Attorney General Tom C. Clark asked the court last December for authority to bring a suit to establish federal rights over the submerged oil-lands.

Last Monday the court heard arguments on whether the suit should be authorized in the Supreme court. Then permission was granted today over the strenuous objections of both Texas and Louisiana.

POLICE HOLD MURDER SUSPECT

Youth Refuses To Give Girls To Gunman, Is Shot To Death

PORT COLBORNE, Ontario, May 16 (AP)—A Buffalo, N. Y., youth was killed and another seriously wounded Sunday while trying to defend their girl companions at a moonlight picnic against an armed man.

Police said today they are holding George Szendry, 28, of Humberstone, Ont., in connection with the crime and will charge him with murder.

Investigators tell this story:

A man accosted Harold Snetzky, 18, Richard Joseph, 19, and the two girls as the four were leaving a beach picnic early Sunday.

"I want the girls," he told the four young people from Buffalo.

Shoots Both Boys

Then, without warning, he flashed a gun and shot Snetzky through the head. A second shot pierced Joseph's chest.

The two girls, Lydia Luisi, 16, and Geraldine Fiorito, 18, screamed with terror. But they had been the last of the beach party to leave lonely Pleasant beach on Lake Erie.

While Snetzky lay dying and Joseph writhed in pain, the gunman put the revolver in his belt, sat down in the sand and lit a cigaret. He puffed away paying no attention to the moans of his victims.

The girls helped Joseph to his feet. As they did so, the gunman jumped up, threw away his cigaret and pressed his revolver against Lydia's Luisi's head. He muttered:

"You girls come with me."

Youth Grabs Gun

Joseph, bleeding severely, lurched towards the girls.

"You're not going to take them," he told his assailant. "I'm going with them."

With his strength ebbing, Joseph snatched the gun from the attacker's belt and fired two shots that went wild. He dropped the gun. The assailant fled as Miss Luisi picked it up but the weapon jammed as she tried to fire.

Despite his wounds Joseph drove half a mile to a farmhouse for help. Police and medical aid were summoned. The youths were taken to a hospital where Snetzky died a few hours later.

Police said they found Szendry in an unoccupied summer cottage near the scene of the shooting.

Sports Parade

A scheduled District 1-AA playoff baseball game between the Lubbock High Westerners and the Amarillo Golden Sandies, which was to have been played at 3:30 o'clock this afternoo at the Chapman field diamond, has been postponed until Tuesday, officials announced late this morning. Reason for the postponement—third in four days—was the destructive tornado at Amarillo Sunday night and the wet condition of the diamond here, it was reported.

Gonzales, Stewart Lose Tennis Crown

LOS ANGELES, May 16. (AP)—Davis Cup star Ted Schroeder and Wimbledon champion Bob Falkenburg were a little weary of tennis today, and it was easy to understand.

It took them 135 games to beat Richard (Pancho) Gonzales and High Stewart yesterday for the Southern California doubles championship.

The scores were 36-24, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, 19-17. The match took five hours.

Texas Man Stabbed After Rent Dispute

FORT WORTH, May 16. (AP)—James Edgar Morrison, 48, was fatally stabbed today in a dispute with his landlord over the rent for the single room where Morrison lived with his wife and four children.

The landlord, Silvan J. Stiles, 56, told a Star-Telegram reporter he stabbed Morrison with a five-inch hunting knife after the latter struck him on the shoulder with his fist.

Peace Justice Frank Hurley returned an inquest verdict of murder. Police said Stiles charged Morrison $10 a week rent "plus $5 or $6 a week" for "extras."

Stiles said Morrison threatened to go to the OPA and he advised him to move out.

Rent Decontrol

to that effect by Ralph Foley, director of the Federal Housing administration in Washington.

Rep. Sid Gregory of Gatesville, questioning Tufares, charged that under state-wide decontrol, rents will jump and "we're not going to have enough money to buy a hamburger if this bill passes."

Tufares said that a group of "real estate men of the state have been pushing this bill."

He asked that the House "leave it to the people to decide it."

Wichita Falls, he told the House, "needs rent control and needs it bad," since the re-opening of Sheppard field.

Out On The Streets

"A lot of people," Tufares warned, "are going to be out on the street if rents jump."

Rep. George Parkhouse of Dallas disputed Tufares' contention that federal housing would be removed from the market if rents were decontrolled on a statewide basis.

Parkhouse said he had been informed by attorneys for the Federal Housing administration that "they have no intention of taking back their federal housing."

Action n the rent decontrol bill, pursuant to an act of the 81st Congress leaving the issue up to the states, followed House approval of a $4,200,000 appropriation for junior colleges during the coming biennium.

Hungarian Elections Showing Lead For Communist Regime

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 16. —First official figures on Hungary's parliamentary elections today showed 97.3 percent in favor of a hand-picked government slate of candidates.

The results exceeded forecasts before the polls closed last night of a vote 90 percent favorable to the Communist-dominated regime.

An interior ministry communique showed only 1.9 percent of the first 1,184,000 ballots counted were cast against the government slate—the only one on the ballot.

The official count up to 6 a. m. was 1,123,000 for the government slate, 21,700 against and 9,600 invalid ballots.

Cabinet Shakeup Expected

The elections are expected to be followed by a cabinet shakeup in which Communist Vice-Premier Matyas Rakosi will replace Premier Istvan Dobi, a member of the pro-Communist smallholders party.

They are the first since 1947, when the then right-of-center smallholders won a clear majority and formed a coalition regime, in which the Communists later took over power.

Five million voted in that election for candidates for 411 parliament seats. How many voted yesterday has not been estimated and there was no report of the number eligible. Polling places closed at 8 p. m. and an earlier communique said only that "according to reports more than 90 percent of the voters cast their ballots."

Voters could mark their ballots against the official slate, but a government campaign for "open voting" discouraged use of secret facilities.

That left absenteeism the only safe way of registering protest, in the view of most voters, and official announcements were the only way of gauging that.

The interior ministry gave as a "characteristic result" the count in the factory town of Salgotarian. It said 14,860 voted for the single ticket there, none against, and only one ballot was held invalid.

The number of candidates who will be seated in the new parliament will not be known until Wednesday night. A candidate must receive at least 16,000 votes to be elected.

Rakosi was a candidate in five constituencies, making him virtually certain of election and other government leaders also appeared on several lists.

The vice-premier is chairman of the people's front of independence, the Communist-led government coalition of five parties. Parliament was dissolved April 12 on this group's recommendation, to make way for an election in which the people could register support of the government and its program.

Rakosi has announced plans for a new constitution, presumably modeled along lines of those of Czechoslovakia and other "people's democracies."

Glider Crew Rescues Alaskan College Professor From Island

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 16 (AP)—An Air Force C-54 plucked a glider off a snow-covered central Alaska river island Saturday midnight to rescue a University of Alaska professor whose plane had piled up in a forced landing two days earlier.

The glider thread-needled to a landing on the tiny isle Saturday afternoon and its crew of three—Lts. Robert A. Brims of Phoenix, Ariz., and Walter L. Clatt of Corpus Christi, and medical officer Capt. Charles H. Manlove, Portland, Ore., fround Prof. Bert E. Griffen apparently unharmed. The Seattle, Wash., geology professor said he spent two days in his sleeping bag as he awaited rescue after his plane overturned in a forced landing.

Trampled Runway

The Air Force officers trampled a makeshift runway in four feet of snow and built a pickup frame. By the light of glittering signal flares, Griffen and his three rescuers were snatched into the air moments later by the C-54 tow plane.

Handling the ticklish job of playing out 1,100 feet of nylon tow rope was Sgt. Willie C. Norris, who also took part in a similar rescue of the occupants of a downed C-47 in the Yukon territory last December.

The C-54 was piloted by Capt. George H. Wood of Battle Creek, Mich., and Lt. Richard G. Lind (hometown unavailable).

Griffen's plane was spotted by an Air Force search craft Saturday. It lay upside down on the river island about 250 air miles west of Fairbanks—too far from Ladd field for a helicopter. Air Force officers feared the Innoko river ice was too thin to support even a small rescue plane—hence the glider.

Norway's largest tourist hotel, a 12-story $2,000,000 structure, is now under construction in Oslo, to be known as the Folke Hotel.

How many of these Little Known Facts are

Eye Openers to You?

YOU use your eyes for just about everything . . . Let's see what you know about them!

WHO HAS PERFECT VISION? Only 2 persons in 100. Actually as many as 80 million Americans need assistance in seeing . . . 23% of teen-agers; 42% of 30-year-olds; 78% of 50-year olds.

DOES SEEING AFFECT HEALTH? Yes. One quarter of your bodily energy is used by your eyes in seeing. No wonder that straining-to-see makes people tired . . . causes headaches, nervousness, stomach disorders, other ailments.

DOES GOOD VISION PAY ON-THE-JOB? Good seeing accounts for production gains as high as 20% . . . reduces absenteeism and fatigue. On the other hand, 37% of spoiled work is traceable to eyes which are not adapted or adjusted to the job. Good seeing does pay off.

DOES GOOD SEEING KEEP YOU SAFE? Most assuredly! Especially when driving a motor car. Too many people with nearsightedness, astigmatism or "tunnel vision" cannot see sharply or accurately or quickly enough to avoid accidents.

HOW DOES GOOD SEEING AFFECT READING? In a half hour of reading, the external muscles of the eye flex 113,000 times! Yet fast readers (good see-ers) tire less quickly and absorb more. How fast do you read? An adult should read about 300 to 350 words per minute; a high school student, 260 to 300 words; a 7th grade child, 230 words.

DOES POOR VISION HURT YOUR GOOD LOOKS? Peering and squinting (so unbecoming!) cause crow's-feet and wrinkles. Strain-free eyes are the most attractive!

DO VITAMINS HELP VISION? Vitamins, found in a number of foods and beverages, do help your seeing. Especially Vitamin A, a lack of which can contribute to night blindness. (Trouble finding your seat in the movie?—or driving at night?)

DOES THE 'PHONE BOOK STUMP YOU? Most persons of 45 and over find it difficult to read the names and numbers in the phone book. Many much earlier in life. Neglected vision!

SHOULD MOVIES BOTHER YOU? Not necessarily. Only persons with uncorrected visual errors get "wobbly-eyed," unduly tired or sleepy at movies or with television.

You can't know too much about Your Eyes!

But the most important thing to know is whether those precious, irreplaceable eyes are at their best. Only a professional eye man can tell you that. So Plan for an early check-up! The services and skills of the ophthalmologist and ophthalmic dispenser will assure you of good seeing.

Dukes Down Abilene Club, 7-5

Pioneers Top Lamesa, 16-15

(By The Associated Press)

Albuquerque's Dukes increased their West Texas-New Mexico baseball league lead over Borger to two games over the weekend and pulled up to four games away from third place Abilene.

Albuquerque won a pair at Abilene's expense. Saturday the Dukes edged past the Blue Sox 8-7. Yesterday they downed them 7-5.

The Sox have lost their last three games after Borger snapped their winning streak at 12-straight last week.

Borger Beats Pampa

Borger came back last night to gain a split series with Pampa. Pampa won Saturday 10-9. Sunday Borger was on top, 8-3. The game was errorless, with veteran Vallie Eaves going all the way for the win.

The Clovis Pioneers broke into the win column with a 16-15 win over Lamesa. Saturday Lamesa won 4-3.

Amarillo defeated Lubbock Saturday 18-9, but the two teams were rained out Sunday.

The only change in the league standings found Amarillo replacing Lamesa in fourth place, six games behind Albuquerque.

CLOVIS PIONEERS NOSE LAMESA LOBOES, 16-15

COVIS, May 16 (AP)—The Clovis Pioneers staged a last inning uprising here this afternoon, scoring six times in the ninth to outlast the Lamesa Loboes, 16-15, in a West Texas-New Mexico league pitchers' parade.

Cuban Outfielder Pat Lorenzo's single to center drove in Jess Rogerson from third with the tie breaking run after two were out. Lorenzo's safety was his third hit of the game. He also crashed out a homer and double to drive in five runs.

Lorenzo's last blow was at the expense of southpaw Bill Jones, the last of five Lamesa pitchers. Jones was charged with the loss.

Dean Gets Double

The big blows of the Pioneers's big ninth were struck by Manager Paul Dean, whose pinch-hit double kept the rally alive, and Catcher I. B. Palmer's single which drove in the tieing run and of course, the payoff safety by Lorenzo.

Lamesa staged an 11-run fifth inning to overhaul an eight run deficit. Eddie Mellilo's homer with the bases jammed highlighting the attack on southpaw George Matthews who had relieved starter Mel Kramer in the same canto.

Dan Pinto also walloped a roundtripper for Lamesa. It came with one man aboard in the second.

Rookie Don Smith, who took the firing line the last inning for Clovis, was credited with the win.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

Opinion seems to vary on predictions that the Southern, Southeastern and Southwestern Conferences will secede from the national Intercollegiate Athletic Association's "sanity code" circle. Most observors believe that they will refuse to adopt the group's edet that they must submit a logical plan of athletic scholarships for approval and back it up with "this is what we intend to do." Most observors think that they will tell the NIAA to go jump in a mud puddle, that they'll run their show their way.

You may remember that there was a good deal of storm over the so-called "sanity code" when it was adopted. Coach Del Morgan of Texas Tech came back from the New York meeting at which it was accepted and said that he, for one, had not voted for it. And he propounded his reason for this action. First let it be explained that Dell believes some form of code should be employed, but not of the type that currently is employed. At any rate, he said that he had voted against it and he had his reasons.

Dell declared that his biggest objection, outside of the phrasing, was his knowledge of the men connected with it. He declared that there were too many who would raise their right hand and swear solemnly to uphold the code, then use their left hand to feed the boys they wanted. He called many of those voting in favor of the code "hypocrites" and swore that he wanted no part of it. Dell was—and is—concerned about practices currently employed, it is a general situation and no section of the nation is free of it. And don't forget that compared with several of the Border Conference teams, Tech is in a position of power.

But the general picture of college athletics today is muddled. It's a case of spending money to attract talent, either by direct subsidy or by indirect. The powerful can attract the best and the weaker ones take those left over. Tech, with aspirations to enter the Southwest Conference, is in the middle. John Bradberry of the Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution says, "The South has tried the NCAA system for a year now and has found out that it really amounts to an insanity code. It has found that the price of football players has skyrocketed, the competition for them is of cut-throat variety and that financial doom for all but a chosen few of the schools is looming on the horizon." How true, how true.

State Senator Dorsey Hardeman is taking credit for not letting the universal fishing license bill die. Under the terms of the bill, Texas would establish a fishing license to sell for $1.50 each that would allow the holder to fish anywhere in the state. It would repeal all special licenses, but fishermen would not have to pay the license fee to fish in their own counties. Hardeman introduced an amendment to the bill that would allow residents of one county to fish in the waters of all adjacent counties without buying a license, except when they resorted to artificial lures.

Hardeman asserts that the chairman of the committee on game and fish agreed that the amendment was necessary to save the bill. Hardeman was told that 17 senators had stated that they would vote against the bill unless the amendment was added and adopted. For what it is worth, we believe that Texas needs a universal fishing license of two types, one for residents and one for nonresidents. And anyone who fishes should be required to have a license, regardless of whether the stream or lake was located in the county of his residence. It would provide additional and badly needed revenue for the state Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, which is understaffed to do a first class job, especially as regards conservation.

When the Lions hold their big convention here next week end and the following days, not all the arguing will be done in the convention headquarters. A lot of it is apt to be done at the Lubbock Country club, where the Lions will hold a tournament for all local and visiting Lion golfers. Chick Trout, an indefatigable worker, has lined up seven attractive trophies to be given away and the competition should be fierce. Along with the golf will be a good deal of friendly relationship between communities. As a Lion, we're glad to welcome the visiting Lions here and hope that they take home every trophy. Dive in, you guys, and go to work.

THE ROUNDUP: Fortunately, none of the Hubbers apparently was in the tornado zone last night. . . . Gold Sox Park lost about 200 yards of fence, not the entire park as the radio originally announced. . . . Clovis has received help, at long last, as Lamesa found out yesterday. Paul Dean finally was convinced that the league was tougher than any other minor league he had ever seen. . . We're still wondering if the "Cowboy Walker" sold by Louisville to El Paso is the "Jumbo" Walker who caught here last year . . . Joe Fortin recently hit a pair of home runs in one game for Richmond. . . . Paul Hinrichs isn't doing so well with Kansas City. He lost three of his first four starts and they say he's having trouble with his control. And that's what he was showing the most of in spring training.

Bobby Locke Winner Of Goodall Tourney

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—Bland Bobby Locke painfully pointed up the sad truth today that the best active golfer in America is not an American.

The yankee doodle divot diggers winced as they realized it, but the accurate South Afrikander showed his brilliant consistency once again by trimming Uncle Sam's best in the Goodall round-robin tournament. Locke shot his fifth sub-par round of the five-round competition, a six under 66, yesterday to take top honors with a point score of 66

The Goodall round-robin is considered the most severe test of a golfer's lasting ability, so this victory was more than first money in just another golf tournament.

Under the rules of the tourney, each player goes five rounds with five different foursomes. For each stroke he beats each opponent in each foursome, he gets a plus point. For each stroke he loses, he gets a minus point.

And Bobby, with rounds of 71, 67, 68, 68 and 66, came in with 66 plus points, 33 ahead of second-place Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y. Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, Va., was third with a plus 30, Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Tex., fourth was plus 29 and Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., fifth with plus 27.

Big Spring Shuts Out Ballinger, 7-0

(By The Associated Press)

The Big Spring Broncs hold their two-and-a-half-game lead today over the Vernon Dusters in the Longhorn league baseball race.

Yesterday, Big Spring shutout Ballinger, 7-0. Vernon edged Midland, 5-4, in ten innings. Roswell squeezed by Odessa, 11-10. And Sweetwater beat San Angelo, 1-5.

Big Spring's Lefty Ramos limited Ballinger to only three hits in the whitewash victory.

Roswell scored four runs in the fifth inning and five in the seventh to defeat Odessa.

Tonight, Midland plays at Odessa, Sweetwater at Roswell, Vernon at Ballinger and San Angelo at Big Spring.

Dallas Eagles Drub Houston

(By The Associated Press)

The Dallas Eagler lead the Texas league baseball standings by four full games today after defeating the cellar crew from Houston yesterday, 6-3.

The Eagles snapped their four-game losing streak and gained half a game on the second-place Shreveport Sports, idled in Tulsa because of rain.

Missions Beat Cats

Third-place San Antonio defeated the Fort Worth Cats, 2-0, at the fire-wrecked Fort Worth ball park. The main Fort Worth park stands were destroyed by fire early Sunday. The loss dropped Fort with the Oklahoma City Indians. The Indians defeated the Beaumont Exporters, 11-4, extending their winning streak to seven games.

Dallas scored four runs in the first inning to defeat Houston. The victory was Vern Kennedy's sixth of the season.

Indians Stage Rally

Al (Lefty) Gerhauser of San Antonio limited Fort Worth to four hits as the Missions shutout the Cats. The Missions scored one run each in the fourth and ninth innings.

Oklahoma City trailed, 3-2, going into the sixth inning, but scored six runs in that frame to down Beaumont. Herb Conyers of the Indians hit four doubles in five trips, driving in five runs.

Tonight, Fort Worth plays at San Antonio, Houston at Dallas, Beaumont at Oklahoma City and Shreveport at Tulsa.

Henderson Oilers Top Longview, 5-4

(By The Associated Press)

The Henderson Oilers won an East Texas league baseball game.

The Oilers losing-streak ended at 14 straight yesterday. They edged the first-place Longview Texans, 5-4.

The second-place Paris Panthers and Marshall Browns climbed to within half a game of the leader by defeating the Bryan Bombers, 4-3, and the Tyler Trojans, 5-2, respectively.

The fourth-place Gladewater Bears trounced Kilgore, 9-1.

Henderson scored all of its five runs in the sixth inning to defeat Longview.

Paris scored all of its five runs in the seventh, scored on a walk, a passed ball, an error and a balk.

Lefty Jim Upchurch of Marshall limited Tyler to five hits as his mates pounded the Trojan's Trimble for 12 safeties.

Gladewater tallied four runs in the first inning and won as easy victory over Kilgore.

Tonight, Tyler plays at Marshall, Kilgore at Gladewater, Longview at Henderson and Paris at Bryan.

Albuquerque Woman Wins Golf Tourney

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 16 (AP)—Mrs. Jean Bauer Glantz of Albuerque and Providence, R. I., won the Women's Southwestern golf tournament Sunday, defeating the defending champion, Mrs. S. O'Neal of Odessa, Tex., 4 and 3.

Mrs. Glantz led through the 36-hole match, and was 3-up at the end of the first 18 holes with a 78 to Mrs. O'Neal's 81.

The new champion was tourney medalist, having qualified earlier with the low of 86.

In the championship consolation bracket, Mrs. T. C. Wilmoth of Phoenix defeated Mrs. J. R. Turner of El Paso 1-up in 19 holes.

Play in the other line flights of the tournament ended Saturday.

Baseball Park At Fort Worth Razed

FORT WORTH, May 16. (AP)—Officials of the Fort Worth Texas league ball club today sought a place to play out the home schedule while the fire marshal investigated a fire that wiped out three-fourths of the park.

The main stands at La Grave field were devastated early yesterday at a loss of more than $1,000,000. Enough seats were left, however, that an afternoon game between Fort Worth and San Antonio could be played. But the club then transferred to San Antonio for games tonight and tomorrow night and club President John Reeves said games Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday with Houston also may be transferred.

There was a hint of arson but thus far officials say they have no idea how and where the fire started.

It was a bad day all the way around for the Fort Worth club with the stands burning in the morning and the team losing to San Antonio 2-0 in the afternoon. Some 3,000 turned out and occupied box and bleacher seats and grandstand extensions undamaged by the fire.

Reeves was looking into the possibility of using Farrington field, the high school athletic plant, or Rockwood park, where the local amateur teams play. Rockwood park is small but Farrington field seats 18,000. He also said that three steel light standards that collapsed in the fire could be replaced and night ball might be played at the park. Six other standards around the outfield were undamaged.

Chisox Blank Indians

Red Sox Beat Senators, 3-0

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

False alarm! Chalk up another error for the experts who predicted a two-team race between Boston and Cleveland for the American league pennant.

The prognosticators failed to take into consideration the overall improvement of the so-called weaker clubs — particularly the Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators.

First the Nats made the experts squirm by running up a winning streak of nine straight. No sooner had the Senators cooled off than the Chisox began to sizzle. And the cellar-dwelling St. Louis Browns have shown signs of emerging from their coma.

Close Race Seen

With the New York Yankees grabbing an early lead, and Detroit and Philadelphia playing better than .500 ball, it now looks like a dog-eat-dog battle right down to the wire. Only four and a half games separate the first place Yankees and seventh place Red Sox.

The White Sox turned in the eye-lifter of the season yesterday when they shut out the Indians twice at Chicago, 10-0 and 2-0. The double-whitewashing of the world champions was especially pleasing to the Sox because a record crowd of 53,225 was on hand.

Bill Wight and Allen Gettel wielded the white wash brushes for the winners Wight, the ex-Yankee southpaw pitched a five-hitter in the opener for his fourth straight victory He still hasn't tasted defeat Gettel, who once pitched for the Indians as well as the Yankees, doled out four hits in the nightcap.

Rookie Gordon Goldsberry's first major league home run with a runner aboard accounted for Chicago's runs in the nightcap and gave the Sox a sweep of the three-game series. The double success boosted them into third place, two and a half games from the top.

A's Shade Yankees

Coming through with a spectacular seven-run outburst in what proved to be the final inning of the second game, the Athletics overcame a 6-0 deficit to nip the Yankees 7-6 for a sweep of their doubleheader. The A's also fought an uphill battle in the opener, winning 8-7 in 11 innings after trailing 7-3 going in to the seventh.

Jughandle Joe Dobson posted his first victory of the season limiting the Senators to four hits as the Red Sox shut out the Nats 3-0. Dom DiMaggio paced an eight-hit attack on loser Sid Hudson and Dick Welteroth with a double and two singles.

The lowly Browns divided a double header with Detroit to make it five victories in their last seven games. After the Tigers had won the opener 9 3, the Browns came back to combine 11 hits and 14 bases on balls to win the second game, 12-4.

Boston's Braves and the New York Giants continued in their first place National league deadlock for the third straight day. The Braves made it three in a row over the Brooklyn Dodgers with a 4-0 shutout triumph, while the Giants whipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-3, for a sweep of their three-game set.

Vern Bickford pitched the shutout for Boston, permitting the fourth place Dodgers only four singles. The Giants collected only eight hits (no homers) but took advantage of seven bases on balls to hang the second defeat upon young Curt Simmons.

Chuck Diering's two-out double in the ninth drove in the tying run, and Red Schoendienst's single drove in the winning run as the St. Louis Cardinals came up with two runs to nip the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3.

Teams To Tangle At Chapman Field

Lubbock Westerners Slated To Battle Sandstorm Today

For the third time in four days the first game of the District 1-AA baseball playoff between Amarillo's Golden Sandstorms and the Lubbock Westerners is scheduled to be played. Today it is at 3:30 p. m. at Chapman field diamond.

Rain and wet ground caused postponement of the game Friday and Saturday, resulting in the resetting of the game today. Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. the second game is scheduled in Amarillo. If a third game is necessary in the two out of three series it will be played immediately following the game Tuesday in Amarillo.

There is a possibility that today's game may not be played because of the disaster in Amarillo Sunday night.

Lubbock went through the bottom half of the district without a defeat, winning six tilts at the equal expense of Brownfield and Plainview.

The Sandies meanwhile were taking the north bracket with five victories and one setback. Borger loomed as a strong threat early in the top bracket but faded rapidly to end in a tie with Pampa with two victories and four defeats.

The delay will definitely advance the chance of a Sandie victory. Last week at Borger the Amarillo nine was functioning only under difficulty as several players were favoring injured ankles and feet. Among the injured were Darrell LaRue, first base, James Le Neveu, center field, and Warren Spalding, third base. All should be in shape for today's activities. Pitchers—two—with sore arms have had time to get the soreness worked out in the past few days.

It will be hard to predict how the last two week's inactivity will react on the Westerners. Since the last Plainview game, May 3, many days have passed without workouts because of bad weather, and the lack of games and hard training will be apt to cause miscues and slow thinking on the part of the players.

In the last two or three games Lubbock batters had finally begun to find the range and pounded out solid base hits to win the games. Chances are that some of the effect of the last two games will be lost and that batters will have lost their eye for the ball.

But against the better teams this year the Westerners have shown their best form, and in the playoff the boys can be expected to give their all to win the district crown.

Probable starters for Lubbock, except for the pitcher, will be Morris Turner; catcher; Jessie Fullerton, first base; Charles Galey, second base; Powell Hinson, third base; Bob Brown, shortstop; James Burgess or Jimmie Richards, left field; Garnet Reeves, center field; and Jimmy Sexton, right field. Coach Fred Taylor will probably start Left Bennie Day or Right-hander Jimmy Hamilton on the mound.

Admission to the game today will be 30 cents for students and 60 cents for adults. A large crowd is expected to aid the Westerners.

Field For Belmont Remains Uncertain

BALTIMORE, May 16 (U.P.)—The 3-year-old racing spoils are split today and even the Belmont, last gem in the triple crown, may not decide which colt will pick up the 1949 championship marbles.

Besides the two different winners in the Derby and Preakness there at at least a couple of other colts which might have something to say about the New York classic on June 11. Saturday's Preakness closed the Pimlico meeting and most of the starters have headed for other tracks.

Upsets Are Predicted

Ivan Parke, trainer of Olympia, seems to have summed up the wide open status among the turf sophomores when he predicted "they'll go on beating each other."

That was after Calumet's Ponder won the Derby in which Olympia was favored and wound up sixth. Ponder got the same treatment in Saturday's Preakness, going off the favorite and finishing fifth while Greentree's Capot took the honors.

Olympia is likely to return to the struggle in the Belmont, Parke said.

The long layoff between the classics makes it impossible to accurately guess the probable Belmont field. The distance f a mile and a half is going to weigh heavily in the decisions of owners.

Capot Still Favored

The distance brings you back to Ponder. In both the Derby and Preakness he showed he requires a long way to go to make his powerful late drive click. The Derby is a sixteenth of a mile longer than the Preakness at a mile and three-sixteenths and that meant a lot to Ponder.

It did to Capot, too, probably the difference between his second in the Derby and first in Preakness. The longer route also points up the chances of Isidor Bieber's Palestinian.

Palestinian missed catching Cabot in the Preakness by only a head and if the wire had been a couple of yards away might have made it. Noble Impulse was third.

But on the basis of a first and second in the two classics, Capot must rank now as the colt for the others to beat in the Belmont.

Capot has shown he's got both speed and staying power. His 1:56 for the Preakness was a new Pimlico track record.

CHICAGO SHOOTER WINS

DALLAS, May 16 (AP) — Col. Charles Densford of Chicago yesterday won the 23rd annual Southwest open pistol championship. He and J. N. Woody of Stanton, Tex., tied with aggregate scores of 2,278. But Densford replaced Woody as champion on a decision by National Rifle association rules, which gives the title to the person with the best rapid fire score.

Since New Zealand ended hanging seven years ago, murders have increased 60 per cent.

SPORTS IN BRIEF...

(By The Associated Press)

HORSE RACING

BALTIMORE — Greentree stable's Capot ($7.00) set a track record in winning the $75,000 added Preakness stakes at Pimlico. The three-year-old star, second in last week's Kentucky Derby, blazed the mile and three-sixteenths in 1:56 to nip Isidor Bieber's Palestinian by a head. Crispin Oglebay's Noble Impulse ran third. Ponder—Calumet's Derby winner — started slowly and finished fifth.

CAMDEN, N. J. — King ranch's Ocean Brief ($6.80) set a track record of 1:09 3/5 for six furlongs at Garden State park in winning the $15,000 added Camden Handicap.

GOLF

GENERAL

FORT WORTH — Fire destroyed the main stands of the Fort Worth Texas league ball park causing damage estimated at $1,000,000.

SAN FRANCISCO—A surprisingly strong United States polo tem. led by Cecil Smith, defeated the superbly mounted Torcucas club from the Argentine, 14 to 10.

NELSON TO COMPETE

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 16 (U.P.)—Byron Nelson's return to the professional golf circuit took another strike forward today when he said he will enter the National Open tournament in Chicago June 9-11.

Monarchs To Appear Here

Amarillo's Colts, if they can get through the debris, will be in Lubbock tonight to play the famed Kansas City Monarchs in an exhibition game at Rosenthal Field.

The game is scheduled to start at 8 p. m. and admission prices will be 90 cents for adults and 40 cents for children.

While the Colts are not so well known the Monarchs are known the world over. It was from the Monarchs that Satchel Paige went to the Cleveland Indians. And Jackie Robinsn, now with the Brooklyn Dodgers, also played for the Monarchs.

Has Stellar Players

The negro club from Kansas City still has many of the players on its roster that were on it when Paige was doing the hurling. And the outstanding player still with them is "Cool Papa" Bell, an outfielder. Bell is one of the more colorful figures in the negro baseball world and one of its top performers.

Ed Willis, Lee Moody, Merle Foster, Albert Cartmill and other players of note will round out the Monarchs, who bring with them a six-man pitching staff consisting of Mickey Stubblefield, Stringbean Wright, Joe Barber, Bill Wooden, Jimmy Bridsong and Norman Keys.

Lineups Are Given

Slated to see action tonight for the Colts will be Aubrey Vaughn, catcher; Foots Parker, first base; Therman Ross, second base; Gervis Fagens, shortstop; Gradie Wylie, third base; Curtis Searcy, leftfield; Tex Anthony, centerfield; and Buddy Stalworth, rightfield.

Colt pitchers will include Lefty Hollingsworth, Johnnie Williams, James Nash and Billie Edward Vinson.

There will be seats for both colored and white fans.

Final SWC Diamond Tilts Set Tuesday

(By The Associated Press)

A couple of games tomorrow officially wind up the Southwest conference baseball season.

But when Texas beat Texas A. and M. Saturday, 6-1, it was really over then. The victory gave the Longhorns their 27th championship in the 36 years of conference baseball. They also had one tie during this period.

Texas A. and M. could have won the championship. They would have had to beat Texas Saturday, then win their remaining games. Now they won't even play one postponed tilt.

Victims Relate Stories Of Terror In Amarillo Tornado

Houses, Cars Tossed About

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

AMARILLO, May 16.—"Our house started spinning through the air and I figured we were all dead ducks."

That's part of the dramatic story told today by I. J. Parks, victim of last night's tornado that blasted through a section of this Panhandle city.

Parks' home—now a part of the great shambled tornado area—actually was blow half a block and he and his wife and three children miraculously lived through the trip.

All Are In Hospital

All were in St. Anthony's hospital here today. Here is Parks' story:

"My wife and my three children were home during the hard rain and hail that came before the tornado. When the hail began battering our roof so hard that it sounded like brickbats I sensed something was coming.

"I had never seen strange weather like this. I got my family together and got them under a bed in the bedroom. I had our youngest child, Mike, 14 months old, huddled up to my stomach. My wife was holding Marilyn, she's three years old. And Mark, who is four, was there with us.

Twirling Through Air

"Then we heard a roar and then I felt the house being lifted up. We were twirling through the air. I don't remember the landing because it knocked me and my wife out.

"We regained consciousness at about the same time. Mark was crying. He had been torn away from us while the house was spinning. It was covered with lumber and boards, so was the rest of my family but I dug myself out. Then I dug them out of the lumber and mud and we got to this hospital.

Mark was the only one of the family with consequential injuries. He was black all over from bruises.

Ed William Gill, 22, hospitalized with a head injury, told of his amazing bout with the tornado:

"I was riding along the highway near Amarillo with two other fellows in the rain and hail when all of a sudden a big burst of wind picked the front wheels of the car up from the road. Then the wind let it down eas easy as a hydraulic jack.

Then It Really Hit

"I pulled over to the side of the road, cut the motor, and pulled on the brake. Then the tornado really hit us.

"I remember the car rolling over once. I was really holding on that steering wheel. But that first roll is all I remember. There were eight more—and they found our car 300 yards off the highway. It knocked us out.

"The other fellows told me that I woke up and started running for the highway and got a ride to the hospital, but I don't remember anything about that. The first thing I do remember was the 'doc' saying "Well, this is the last stitch'."

J. W. Persefield, his wife and five children—Jimmie, 14; Gene, 12; Jane, 11; Sam, 9; and John, 4—huddled in the living room of their home while the house came to pieces.

They escaped after the roof blew off by running out under a tree. Persefield said:

Car Being Blown

"I have never heard such a roar. It was really trrific. After we ran outside I saw a car go up the street and back and tried to hail it, but then I saw that the car was not being driven, it was being blown."

S. M. Daniels, who lived behind Persefield, was at home with his son, Jackie. Daniels ran to the window and saw the tornado coming. He grabbed Jackie and rolled into the back yard just as the house collapsed. The house today was just a pile of lumber.

Daniels and his son received minor injuries from flying debris.

M. D. Arthur, Mrs. Arthur, and their little son, Gary Lee, had just moved into their new home three days ago.

"I heard the awful roar," Arthur, a small, be-spectacled man, said. "It sounded like a big freight train going right over you. My wife and son and I got flat on the floor and crawled for the bed. Then the roof came off and a chiffonier fell across the bed, pinning us to the floor. I was able to get up and get the chiffonier off the bed to release my wife. We weren't hurt."

In 1945 the Arthurs lost an infant son in an accident and another son died a few months ago.

"I know our bad luck will have to change some time," Arthur said.

Essay Prizes Given At Dunbar School

Three prizes were awarded this morning at Dunbar school to winners in an essay contest on "My America."

The prizes were given by the Nancy Anderson chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution. Miss Kathleen Brown, chairman of the Americanism committee of the chapter, awarded the prizes. Mrs. Isabel Garrison, co-chairman of Americanism for the chapter, and Mrs. J. B. Logan, chapter treasurer, also attended.

Prize winners were: First, Mary Ford; second, Charles Watters; third, Ella Ree Gont; honorable mention, R. J. Givens, Octavia Middleton and Essie M. O'Neal. Prizes were $3, $2, and $1.

At the Golden Jubilee state convention of Daughters of the American Revolution held in Galveston in March, the Nancy Anderson chapter of Lubbock was awarded a prize for having the best report on Americanism for chapters in cities of similar size.

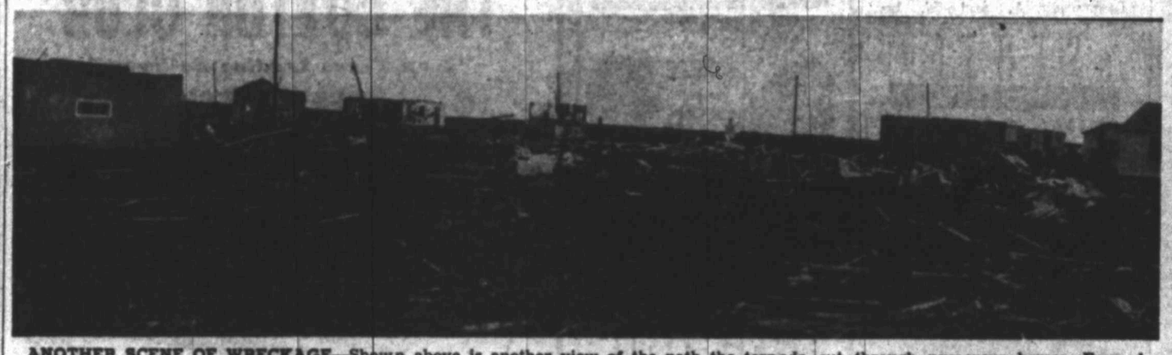

Egypt will celebrate, in 1950, the 100th anniversary of its first railroad—the first built outside of Europe.

A WOMAN DIED HERE—In this bleak scene, where only the foundation stands of what a few hours before was a home, a woman died. Her broken body was found nearby after the winds had completely demolished the structure.—(All photos by Bill Hams, Journal Staff Photographer).

STONE HOME CAVED IN—The picture above shows how the winds didn't stop for anything. The house above located in 4100 Tyler, was heavily damaged and the heavy stone walls caved in, residents barely escaping death. A one and half-ton truck was hurtled completely over the house.

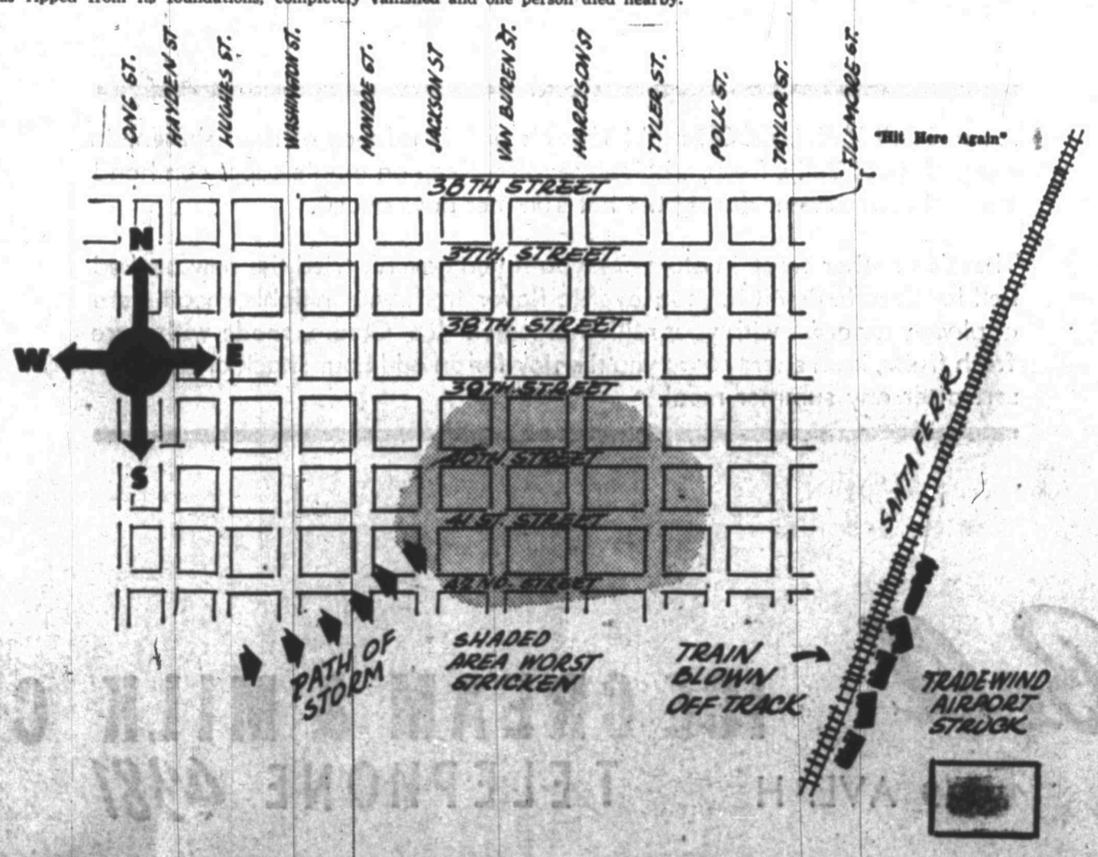

ANOTHER SCENE OF WRECKAGE—Shown above is another view of the path the tornado cut through numerous homes. Framed by some homes which survived the blast of wind although heavily damaged is the rubble of several others levelled.

UTTER DESTRUCTION—This is all that remains of several homes in the south portion of Amarillo early today after Sunday night's savage tornado struck. Piled unbelievably in a 20-yard square area, were splintered beds, chairs, stoves, refrigerators, pieces of homes, soggy clothing and unrecognizable debris. Here in all its fury, the storm expended part of its main strength.

OPEN AIR CONDITIONING—The owners of this home won't have to worry about air conditioning for a few days. The entire side of the house was whisked away by the Amarillo storm, leaving furniture in almost perfect position. Only thirty yards to the south, a home was ripped from its foundations, completely vanished and one person died nearby.

PATH OF TORNADO—Shown above is a map of Amarillo's stricken tornado area. In the lower right corner the artist has sketched a train blown from the Santa Fe tracks. Tradewind airport, where 45 aircraft were smashed, also is located in that vicinity. (Photo courtesy Amarillo News-Globe).

Lubbock Men See Bigger Show Than Planned At Amarillo

"We got a bigger show than we bargained for when we drove to Amarillo for the Hubber ball game yesterday," Henry Tryheart, owner of the Westerner cafe, said this morning. Tryheart was accompanied by Jim Etter, 118 Broadway.

"We got to Amarillo about 2 p. m. to learn that the game had been called off on account of rain," Tryheart said. "We spent the afternoon visiting with some of the ball players and then decided to have supper before returning to Lubbock."

"It was while we were eating that the storm hit," Tryheart continued. "We were having dinner at a place about half way between Amarillo and English airport on Highway 66. It was right on the edge of the big blow.

"We drove over to the Herring hotel and on the way we saw a tin building blow across the street and wrap itself around a telephone pole. There was debris of all kinds blowing around the streets.

"We wanted to get out of town and back to Lubbock but we were stopped at Twenty-Fourth and Fillmore by police, highway patrolmen and members of the fire department. They told us of the disaster in the area ahead of us," Tryheart related.

"Everywhere we looked there were police and volunteer workers going over the wreckage and trying to render aid where ever it was needed. Amarillo looked like it had been bombed by an enemy air force. And adding to the misery was the heavy rain and hail."

"I had a window knocked out of my car by the hail as we started for home," Tryheart stated. "We kept the car radio turned on so that we could get all of the reports of the storm's movement. We wanted to get back to Lubbock quickly to look after our own families.

"After we got out of Amarillo the worst of the blow was over but there was a steady rain until after we passed through Canyon. The highway was choked with traffic. Most of the traffic was going into Amarillo. Patrolmen said that many of the drivers were people who were panicky over the fate of their relatives. For several miles the cars were bumper to bumper."

Tryheart said that the rain let up south of Canyon and it was not until he reached Lubbock that he ran into any more. That was around 1:30 a. m. when the thunderstorm cut loose over this city.

Plane Crashes And Burns Near Roswell

ROSWELL, N. M., May 16 (U.P.) —An Air Force C-47 transport plane crashed and burned near here today, killing some crew members.

Officials at Walker Air Force base here withheld the names of dead pending notification of next of kin.

A C-47 normally carries a crew of seven. A witness said he saw one person parachute from the plane. Officials refused to confirm the witness' report.

British Scheme To Package Train Riders 'Comfortably'

LONDON, May 16 (AP)—Britain's nationalized railways are experimenting with a scheme to pack passengers "tighter but more comfortably." A double-deck passenger coach, which squeezes four passengers into space now occupied by three ,is hailed as a means of overcoming congestion on some short lines.

An experimental eight-car double-deck train is being built and will be put into service this autumn on a notoriously crowded rail line south of London. A difficulty has been that British rail coaches are small—thirteen feet six inches high compared with an American standard of fifteen feet. It wasn't simply a matter of making bigger cars, because British overhead bridges are low and American-sized cars couldn't get through a British tunnel.

Nor could a second floor be built half way up a car. On neither level would there be head room for a tall man. The difficulty was met by "staggering" compartments ,stove-tailing upper and lower so that in effect the passenger above sits on the head of the one below. There's a ceiling between, of course.

Steps "upstairs" lead from a passage along one side of the car. There won't be much room to swing elbows when putting on a coat. But it is argued that a sitting passenger with less space will be more comfortable than a standing traveler trying to keep his balance on a swaying train.

Canadian River Pact Negotiations Okayed

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP) — The House passed today and sent to the Senate a bill granting consent of Congress to the negotiation of a compact between Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico for a division of waters of the Canadian river.

The measure, by Rep. Worley (D-Tex), would give the states until June 30, 1953 to reach an agreement.

Three Tornadoes Are Seen By Area Group

HALE CENTER, May 16. (Special)—A group of Hale Center fishermen who spent part of Sunday at Buffalo lake near Umbarger saw three separate tornadoes forming Sunday afternoon, they reported today.

Walter Struve, Walter Burgess, Ray Dodson and Doyle Faith cut short their fishing trip and left about 5:30 p. m. Sunday to return home after they became alarmed at the unusual weather conditions in the area.

On the way back they saw three tornadoes in different parts of the Panhandle. None was on the ground at the time.

Lubbockite Keeps Bus Jump Ahead Of Wind

Driver Tells How Loaded Bus Outran Tornado To Amarillo

How a loaded bus outraced the tornado which wrecked destruction on Amarillo was described this afternoon by W. C. Perry of 2512 Maple, driver of a Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches bus that rolled into Amarillo just before the twister hit last night.

His bus left Lubbock at 5:30 p. m., arrived in Canyon at 7:45 p. m., and left for Amarillo shortly afterward.

"As I topped the hill just north of Canyon, one of my passengers noticed the tornado over to the left, probably about three or four miles away. After he called out, all the passengers watched it anxiously.

Rose, Fell Like Yo-Yo

"The twister was funnel-shaped and rising and falling like a yo-yo.

"We could see boards and papers and other things being whirled about in the air.

"The passengers all began talking anxiously about whether we should stop or try to outrace the tornado, with opinion being about equally divided.

"One of the Potter county deputy sheriffs happened to be aboard the bus, and he told me he thought we should try to outrace it to Amarillo since tornadoes travel 15 to 25 miles an hour.

"I speeded up the bus and headed into Amarillo."

Had To Wait Turn

Perry said he arrived at the Amarillo bus terminal and had to wait a few minutes to gain entrance to the terminal building. It was not more than five or ten minutes later that all the ambulances, fire trucks and police cars let go with a blast of sirens as the twister struck the south part of the city.

Perry offered his services since he had a lay-over and rode out to the scene of the disaster with a man in a pick-up. The police had barricaded the stricken section and sent them back to town, saying they already had more help than they needed.

Perry started his trip back to Lubbock about 2 o'clock this morning. Amarillo 's Fillmore street highway was closed and he had to make a long detour o na truck route by way of Seventh street.

Amarillo Storm

off the track.

It was suddenly still just before the twister hit, then it was like there was a great explosion.

Maury Teague ,a reporter for the Amarillo Globe-News, said most of the houses were leveled.

Teague's mother and father had their house blown down around them.

"My father was sitting in a chair holding his 16-year-old dog when it hit," said Teague. "My father was not hurt. The dog was killed."

The storm came into Amarillo from the west. It seemed to stand still before turning south and hitting hard. It then turned and headed northeast. Some damage was done in this section and a barn at the Tri-State fair ground was hit.

An area near Stinnett was hit by a tornado. This twister destroyed three granaries on the John Bergner farm, a barn and much equipment.

Towns In Area Isolated

Gruver, Adrian, Dawn, Umbarger and Stinnett, all in the storm area, were isolated for awhile.

A traveler who came from Pampa to Amarillo said he saw cars wrecked along the highway and they looked like they had been blown off the highway.

The area hit by the storm included a large housing project.

"They look heartsick," said Teague. "They're just poking around in what used to be their homes, looking for something they can save."

An automobile was blown up against the wall of one house.

"There was a chicken running around in the back yard of Dad's house," said Teague. "The thing didn't have a feather on it."

Norton Spayde, Amarillo Globe-News reporter, said:

"There's an area of four square miles just literally strewn with corrugated tin, lumber, shingles, doors, screens.

"Parts of the airport building have been found a mile and a half away ,in the general direction the twister traveled. Roofs from houses in one area were found a mile away.

"The people are out there now, looking for their possessions, just for their more valuable pieces.

"Houses were lifted up, broken up, exploded out. Cars were found blocks from where they were when the tornado struck. Trees were driven into houses.

"The older houses—those built 20 years or more ago, stood up better then the new ones."

The Reconstruction Finance corporation's designation of the stricken area as a disaster area means that those suffering damage are eligible for loans from RFC's disaster loan agency.

Capt. Ivy of the state highway patrol was designated state liaison officer in the disaster area. He said 31 units of the patrol and Texas rangers have been assigned to the area.

At Austin, Colonel Homer Garrison, jr., director, and Chief Joe Fletcher, assistant director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, manned the public safety radio station throughout the night directing operations.

Seventy-two units of Red Cross blood plasma were flown in from Bergstrom field, Austin. Runways here were lighted with smudge pots to permit the plane to land. H. D. Carmichael, state relations officer of the American Red Cross, said whole blood also was flown in from Wichita, Kans., and that additional blood plasma and tetanus units were being sent from midwest area headquarters of the Red Cross at St. Louis.

Government To Seek Strike Settlement

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP) — The federal government stepped into the Ford strike today in an effort to get a settlement.

Walter Reuther, president of the CIO auto workers, visited Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching and talked with him about the strike.

Coming out of Ching's office, Reuther told a reporter, in reply to a question, that Ching's agency conciliation service plans to "have a man there today"—meaning at the strike negotiations in Detroit.

The union had asked the mediation service to intervene in the strike.

An average farm will use about 2,000 board feet of lumber each year.

City Of Tragedy

programs or read as the sudden storm struck almost without warning appeared as though someone had taken a huge baseball bat and systematically smashed in roofs, bashed in windows, picked up furniture and hurled it in every direction and finally in one last desperate blow ripped the very walls from their foundations.

One entire block of homes had sides ripped from them, only the background walls standing. Shingle type homes were left in bold relief, jagged edges jutting skyward. Heavy steel girders were bent like matchsticks. A freight train was toppled over on its side.

Pigs, which escaped from the train, wandered in the area, one even nuzzling through the heavy layer of mud and water which covered everything in the tornado area.

Residents Are Heartbroken

Heartbroken residents of the area and their friends attempted to go back in this morning.

One woman, upon returning to her completely demolished home, stood beside two smashed cars with mud up to her ankles, raised her hands to her face in anguish and cried:

"Oh my God . . . my home . . . my home."

Walking on up the debris littered yards she stopped again on the porch and burst into uncontrolled tears.

Finally walking into the torn living room, she shoved portions of furniture off what the day before had been a rose-colored sofa and slumped down in desperation, her blonde head falling into her hands, tears pouring down her cheeks.

Freak Incidents Numerous

"My home," she sobbed, "my furniture . . . everything we had. Ruined . . . Completely ruined..."

In that brief moment, all the tragedy of these savage tricks of nature came home to those standing nearby. It was a scene never to be forgotten.

One of the more freakish pranks of the storm was the way in which wood was rammed into the ground, cars and homes.

At the Marvin L. Dick residence, 4118 South Tyler, two different sets of five pieces of lumber each —apparently sides of the house— were ripped from the home and driven with unearthly force into the ground—in two rows of five each! The wood protruded about two feet above the ground and could not be budged!

Family Hid Under Bed

The Dick family took refuge under a bed during the storm—until the bed collapsed. Marvin, 32, his wife and two sons, Ronald Eugene, 5, and Marvin L., jr., 6, began crawling under a bed when the huge hailstones began pounding the roof of their home. After the bed collapsed they took refuge in a closet. Their home was not demolished but practically every window was broken, and the structure otherwise was severely damaged.

It was in 4100 Tyler, only a few yards away from where two persons were killed, that the full impact of the tornado was seen.

Roy E. Mitchell, jr., 31, of 4114 Tyler, one of the hardest-hit sections, told a story of horror and escape:

"The kids already were in bed when the storm approached.

"It was raining and hailing so hard you could hardly hear above the roar.

Gathered Up Kids

"I just barely had time to get my wife into the kitchen then gather up the kids," Mitchell said.

Mitchell has three young girls —Darlena Lou, six years old, Sharon Kay, who observed a fifth birthday she will never forget Sunday, and Sandra Jean, three years old.

"I gathered up the kids," Mitchell continued, "rushed into the southwest corner of the house and then it hit."

When it was over, Mitchell and his family crouched in a corner where a heavy rock wall careened in dangerously. The north side of the home also sagged in. The roof was gone and heavy pieces of the stone house lay scattered about the yard.

And to climax it all, a ton and one-half truck which had been setting in the front yard was picked up by the winds, hurled completely over the house some forty yards away and landed upright in the Mitchell backyard! It was almost a complete wreck—only the sign "Roy E. 'Smokey' Mitchell—The Singing Bricklayer—Masonery Contractor" standing in bold relief on the door.

"I don't have much to sing about now," Mitchell said as he looked over the scene at 3:40 a. m. this morning. Mitchell built the house himself three years ago after he got out of service.

But at that Mitchell considered himself lucky—after all only a few yards away, only a foundation remained of a home in which death struck.

DEVICE DESIGNED TO PREVENT EROSION—Homer K. Shonts (left), a Washington state wheat farmer, displays his invention which is designed to save land in plains states from erosion by punching pores into it. Shots, who calls his machine the "H. K. S. Land Saver," says the device will dig 28,000 holes in an acre of land. The holes are intended to absorb rainfall and keep the rain from carrying off topsoil in runoffs to lakes and rivers. Evidence Starts In Ivey Murder Trial

State evidence was commenced at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Arthur Lee Ivey murder case.

A jury was completed just before 99th district Judge G. V. Pardue declared a noon recess.

Ivey, 50, is charged in connection with the fatal stabbing about 3 a. m. Feb. 27 of Leonard Bailey, in the course of a gambling game in a Myrtle drive dugout.

The jury: Henry T. Young, Gerald Jarvis, A. W. Hawkinson, Roy E. Wheeler, R. J. Ledbetter, M. T. Gibson, W. E. Moren, A. D. McCullough, S. D. Kelley, Lelton Hilton. Aubrey Pounds, and O. L. Miller.

Ivey is represented by the law firm of Davison and Irvin. Prosecution is by E. G. Pharr and A. W. Salyars, the district attorney's staff.

Plains Rains

in the Clovis and Canyon areas.

Rains varying from one-half to inch were reported along the railroad from Lubbock to Texico, N. M., and rains, widely variable, were reported from one-fourth to one and one-half inches between Slaton and Lamesa.

On the Seagraves-Lubbock line the fall varied from one-half to one inch. From Lubbock to Amarillo the fall varied from one-half to three-fourths inch.

"A good hard shower" at Hale Center was accompanied by a startling electrical display about 4:30 o'clock this morning.

"The whole town was up waiting to go to storm sellars. There are a lot of people here this morning thinking about digging storm cellars today," remarked Vic Lamb, owner of an office supply business there.

Lamb said a small area five miles east of Hale Center was struck by a vicious hailstorm which reportedly saw stones as large as tennis balls. One farmer was reported to have received 100 per cent damage.

Jaycees Name New Officers

Russell S. (Curly) Wilkinson today was elected president of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce for the coming year.

The annual election, held at the regular Jaycee luncheon in the Hilton hotel, saw more than 100 votes cast in races for five club officers and 15 positions on the board of directors.

Other officers elected today included Weldon Gibbs, first vice-president; Joe Baldridge, second vice-president; Rufus Rush, secretary; and Harry Frank Woody, treasurer.

Elected to directors' posts were Waggoner Carr, Harold Chapman, Arles Graham, Arvol Hays, Clifton Haynie, Homer Hensley, Bill Linn, Linley Millsap, Jimmy Morris, Gordon Sanders, Rolan Simpson, Barney Stagner, Asher Thompson, Bill Tinney and A. C. White. In addition, all incoming officers automatically become board members.

A poll to determine the "Jaycee of the Year" also was conducted, with Asher Thompson, Gordon Sanders, Pat Wiman and Cliff Haynie as candidates. The winner's name will not be revealed until the annual installation banquet, scheduled for late June.

Today's election was held after club members had voted unanimosly to amend their constitution to provide for election of officers by majority, rather than plurality, vote.

In the three-way presidential race among Wilkinson, and Harold Chapman and Barney Stager, a runoff between Wilkinson and Chapman was necessary.

All other officers were named on the first ballot.

Prior to the vote for each office, brief speeches were made for the candidates.

President Horace Gearhart, who presided at the luncheon, reminded members that next week's Jaycee meeting will be held in the Cactus Inn. The regular Jaycee meeting place in the Hilton hotel will be the site of a Lions club convention at that time.

Invocation at today's program was by Bill Tinney.

Dallas Building Is Damaged By Blaze

HOUSTON, May 16 (U.P.)—Fire broke out at noon today in an incompleted air conditioning shaft in the cotton exchange building, sending hundreds of office workers into the streets.

A column of black smoke descended from the top of the shaft down to the sixteenth floor. The building was emptied of all personnel before the blaze was brought under control 30 minutes later.

There were no injuries, and damage to the building was slight.

Origin of the fire remained a mystery, and the flames were first noticed in the cork lining of a flue at the sixteenth floor level.

D. E. Japhet, president of the cotton exchange, said the air conditioning system was to have been ready by June 1 and that workmen had power turned on today to test blower units.

Nationalists Still Holding Shanghai

Evacuation Of Hankow Is On

SHANGHAI, May 16 (AP) — Nationalist defenders today still held Shanghai's sea and air gateways despite heavy Communist attacks. In far away central China, the Hankow area was left open to the Reds.

A Shanghai garrison communique said the Communists had been beaten back around Woosung, fortress guardian of the Whangpoo river outlet to the sea. It also said Red jabs had been blunted on the other side of Shanghai where the airfields are threatened

This afternoon an uneasy quiet had settled over the entire battleground perimeter of this largest Asian city.

Hankow Evacuated

Nationalist evacuation of industrial Hankow, the "Chicago" of China, and neighboring Wuchang was announced by the government's Central News agency. Hankow is on the Yangtze's north bank, Wuchang on the south more than 400 air miles west-southwest of Shanghai.

This withdrawal would seem to clear the way for the Communist fourth field army of crack Manchurian troops to cross the river and roll south along the Central China railway toward Canton, the Nationalist refugee capital.

Evacuation of the Hankow area had been expected for some time. Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, Nationalist central China commander, had appeared to be pulling his main forces south for the defense of Nanchang and Changsha.

Reds Shell City

The Reds have been driving toward Nanchang through Kiangsi province and were last reported 25 miles southeast of that provincial capital.

Nanchang is 150 air miles southeast of Hankow. Changsha is on the Canton-Hankow railway 180 miles south-southwest of Hankow and almost the same distance west and slightly south of Nanchang.

(A Canton dispatch said there still was telephone communication with Hankow this morning. It reported demolition blasts among piers and river craft the Reds might use in crossing. There was no report that Communist troops had entered Hankow).

In the Shanghai area, Red artillery hammered Woosung all last night. But at daybreak the Nationalists still held the vital waterway. By 8 a. m., three small steamers had passed through to the sea.

Red Thrusts Repulsed

Beaten back at Woosun, the Reds jabbed at Shanghai's defenses at points several miles south near the Hung Jao airfield used by Civil Air transport, the Chinese air line operated by Ret. U. S. Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault. The garrison said these thrusts also were

Murderer Gets Death In Guam

GUAM, May 16. (AP)—A 20th Air Force court martial today convicted Pvt. Herman P. Dennis, jr., of the rape murder of Miss Ruth Farnsworth and sentenced him to death.

The 20-year-old negro airman saluted smartly when the president of the court, Lt. Col. Gerry L. Mason of Las Vegas, Nev., pronounced sentence. The verdict is subject to review by the commanding officer of the 20th Air Force, the Air Force board of review in Washington and President Truman.

If the verdict is upheld, the manner in which Dennis will be put to death will be determined later.

Defense Overruled

Dennis, his half brother, Pvt. Calvert Dennis and another negro, Staff Sgt. Robert W. Burns of Spokane, Wash., are accused of beating and raping the San Francisco girl last Dec. 11. Calvert Dennis of Seguin, Tex., is scheduled to be tried next.

The court deliberated one hour and 26 minutes.

The airman's counsel asked the court not to announce the sentence but was overruled. The defense argued publication of the sentence might affect the subsequent trials.

The convicted man, if he chooses, may testify against his half brother and Burns. The prosecution possibly will need Denis' testimony in the Burns case.

Miss Farnsworth, a Navy employe seized in a souvenir shop where she worked after hours, was dragged into the jungle and raped and beaten. She died several days later in a Guam hospital.

Wichita Falls Rally Is Planned By Demos

CORSICANA, May 16. (AP) — Texas Democrats were invited today to a rally in Wichita Falls June 9-11 to discuss "how democracy can be improved and perfected" in the Lone Star state.

State Chairman John C. Calhoun, who announced the "educational" rally, said it will attract the majority of the state Democratic executive members.

He said speeches will be made and party plans discussed, but it will not be a money-raising affair.

Officers Probe Five Robberies In Evant

EVANT, May 16 (AP)—Officers were still searching today for robbers who took an estimated $5,000 in loot from five business houses and the post office here.

The looters had an easy time of it Saturday night since no nightwatchman was on duty. They pried open two safes, blew up another, and found a fourth conveniently left open by the owner.

Robbed were the Burney Hardware, the Evant Drug Co., the Broyles-Arnold grocery, the Elmer Brooks dry goods firm and the post office. The Bell Price warehouse and the storage firm was also entered.

Eisler Faces Hearing Today

SOUTHAMPTON, May 16. (AP)—Fugitive Communist Gerhart Eisler was ordered today to show cause why Britain should not deport him to America.

A Southampton magistrate's court ordered that he be remanded immediately to London's Bow street court—the only court in Britain empowered to deal with extradition cases.

The greying, bespectacled Red leader left the court in custody.

If he arrives before the court adjourns, Eisler will enter the Bow street dock this afternoon. Otherwise he will appear tomorrow.

Protest Is Planned

In London, meanwhile, Polish Ambassador Jerzy Michalowski arranged to see Foreign Secretary Bevin this afternoon to deliver an oral protest because Scotland Yard men lugged Eisler off the Batory Saturday.

Eisler stowed away on the ship and paid his passage when he was discovered.

A labor member of Parliament, Reginald Paget, served notice he would ask Home Secretary James Chuter Ede in Commons today why Britain—which traditionally has given asylum to political refugees—has taken a hand in the proceedings against Eisler.

Eisler sat quietly in the dock during today's proceedings.

His forehead wrinkled slightly as he watched. Eisler, described on the charge sheet as a 52-year-old journalist, wore a light brown suit, a blue shirt and brown tie and had a brown scarf draped around his neck.

Charge Is Denied

Detective Inspector W. E. Bray, who led the Scotland Yard men who arrested Eisler aboard the Batory, asked the court of four men and two women to bind Eisler over for a hearing at Bow street next Monday.

Eisler's lawyer, Dudley Collard, won a counter argument for immediate commitment to Bow street on the grounds that only that court could rule on an application for bail. The Bow street court is the only one in England empowered to deal wit hextradition cases.

Collard was in Moscow during the 1937 purge trials and wrote a book entitled "Soviet Justice."

After Bray had completed his statement to the court, Collard said Eisler had been described as America's number one Communist.

"He is not America's number one Communist," Collard said. "He is not even an American."

Driving his car into the driveway of a kinsman's house, Mr. Fariss got out and, absent-mindedly, left his keys in the ignition lock.

"You got 25 bucks you want to throw away?" The Fariss kinsman asked.

"What do you mean?" returned Mr. Fariss.

"Well," said the Terrible Hotyan, "if your car gets swiped in this town and you left the keys in the lock, it costs you $25 fine—whether or not the cops find the car. There's a law on it."

Mr. Fariss got to thinking about the matter and decided that the law is a good, sound one. He thought it even better when he later heard that an amazing number of stolen cars in the U. S. are "easy pickings" because drivers leave them set up for thieves by leaving the keys in the lock.

The New York Legislature currently is considering a state law which would subject car owners to prosecution and fine for leaving a car with the keys in it.

Probably other state lawmaking bodies will follow suit if the New York legislation is passed.

What prompted the actions taken in Terre Haute, and discussed in New York, goes on all over the country. It goes on right here in Lubbock.

Capt. Bill Lamb of the Lubbock Police department, says at least 75 per cent of the car thefts stem from people leaving their keys in their cars and going off and leaving them. "The percentage," he added, after a moment's contemplation, "might even run as high as 80 per cent."

But if they don't want to protect themselves and their property, they should put their keys in their pockets (1) to keep from overburdening the police with unnecessary work; and (2) to keep from placing temptation before persons who might not become thieves if it weren't made so easy to steal a car.

There have been cases in Lubbock of cars being stolen from driveways right off kitchen doors with owners in their own houses. There have been other cases of young kids "borrowing" cars for "joy-rides," thus getting into trouble they otherwise would have avoided if keys in a car hadn't been an invitation to them to take the vehicle.

Keep your keys with you when you leave your car parked!

Over at the courthouse the other day a jury serving in a relatively simple case had been out for two hours. The judge wondered what had happened, but since it was noon, he went out for lunch.

When he came back an hour and a half later, the jury still hadn't reported.

"What's the matter with that jury?" the judge asked the deputy acting as bailiff. "Are they having trouble getting in agreement?"

"No, Your Honor," returned the bailiff, "they haven't started their deliberations yet. They're still making nomination speeches for candidates for foreman!"

And that, by gosh, is the first good reason we've heard for the law which prohibits lawyers from serving on juries!

WE GOT a letter the other day that set us to thinking. It was a letter from young John K. Kallas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Kallas, of Lubbock, who currently is serving in the Army in Japan.

In his letter, young John—whom we have known since infancy—outlined his journeys since he left Lubbock in October, 1948. Almost casually he reported having been in Manila, Guam, Okinawa and his experiences thus far in Japan. He mentioned those far-away places very much as if he were talking about a vacation trip which took him to Denver, Omaha, Kansas City and Chicago.

Young John Kallas, who can't be more than 18 years old, is simply one of thousands of young Americans who is following the flag from one end of the world to the other in these troubled times of uneasy peace.

What will be the result, nationally, of their travels and their experiences, in the days to come when they are adult citizens of almost every crossroads community in the land?

Will young John Kallas and his innumerable counterparts bring back from the East a few ideas of living which will enrich human existence in this Occidental part of the world?

Will other young soldiers, sailors and fliers bring contributions from Iraq and Iraan, from Africa, England and Continental Europe?

Or will they come home, settle down to their work-a-day existence and into all the ways of the generations which peopled this country before them?

Will they come home with a desire to make no alterations of their homeland and its ways, or will they exert influence which will cause us to make beneficial changes in our philosophy?

THESE QUESTIONS cannot be answered, of course, until Time writes the record.

But it is logical to suspect, we think, that these young men returning from the far places will have a far keener, far more encompassing idea of life than if they had stayed at home, in more prosaic pursuits, as the fathers and grandfathers of most of them did.

We Americans know that overall, our way of life and our method of government are the best the world knows.

But where we make our mistake is in thinking that everything we have here is better than its counterpart elsewhere in the world.

As good as our American civilization is, it can be improved.

As superior as our standard of living is in comparison with similar standards in other parts of the world, there are spots here and there which can be improved by innovations from other lands.

Let us hope that our John Kallases—those from Portland and from San Diego, from Macon, Ga., and Pocatello, Idaho, as well as those from Lubbock—come back home prepared to enlighten us stay-at-homes about whatever improvements they have found in their travels.

Let us hope that, in their adult years, they will furnish the yeast which will generate a rising in our national living-level; and that by so doing, they will make the U.S.A. even better than it is as a place for all to live.

BY DREW PEARSON: CONGRESSMEN GET SOCIALIZED MEDICINE THEY DENY TO OTHERS

Army Secretary Candidate Was Utility Lobbyist

WASHINGTON — They don't want it advertised, but the same senators and congressmen who balk at voting a health program for others are accepting "socialized medicine" for themselves.

Their aches and pains are treated by a government doctor whose fees are paid by the taxpayers. He is Dr. George W. Calver of the Navy, who guards over the health of the nation's lawmakers.

PEARSON

Ever since two congressmen died of heart attack in 1938, Dr. Calver not only has kept an office on Capitol Hill, but serves as "family doctor" to members of Congress.

Twice a year, he also sends congressmen out to Bethesda naval hospital for complete laboratory tests. All the bills, except prescriptions for medicine are charged to the taxpayers—though the laborstory fees alone would cost $150 at a private hospital.

In case of serious illness, members of Congress are admitted to Army and Navy hospitals. They pay $9.75 per day — slightly more than it would cost them to stay home, and about one-third what it would cost at a private hospital. Yet this small fee covers doctor bills, nurse service and even surgery.

Dr. Calver also keeps a special watch for heart trouble which used to kill 28 victims in Congress in a single year. By running his celebrated patients through his own heart clinic, he has cut down on congressional deaths by 7 per cent.

Meanwhile the senators and congressmen who receive all this medical pampering have bottled up the President's health program which would offer similar benefits to the American people.

For anyone except congressmen, the doctors' lobby would call this "socialized medicine."

Not only the lawmakers but their staffs can go to Dr. Calver for treatment. His office handles approximately 60,000 patient-visits each year—a full-time job not only for Dr. Calver but also an assistant doctor, nine nurses and three Navy enlisted men.

Note—though no longer with the Navy, Dr. Calver still draws a rear admiral's pay.

Rayburn's Alleged Friend

President Truman is still waiting to learn whether handsome Curtis Calder, chairman of the giant Electric Bond & Share Holding corporation, is going to accept the post of secretary of the Army. Meanwhile, congressmen recall Calder as a friendly lobbyist seen around Capitol hill during the days of the holding corporation fight, but who actually didn't know the big shots as well as he imagined.

Calder was fond of telling people how he and Speaker Sam Rayburn were bosom pals.

"I just dropped in on Sam," Calder told Ganson Purcell, chairman of the Secuzities and Exchange commission. "We've been friends for years. You know, I am from Texas, too."

A day or so later Chairman Purcell bumped into Speaker Rayburn himself.

"Say," said Rayburn, "who is that fellow from Electric Bond & Share? He was around to see me the other day. What's his name? He claims to be from Texas—though, as a matter of fact, he comes from Kansas. I never can remember his name."

"Do you mean Calder?" prompted Purcell.

"Oh, yes, that's it," replied Rayburn. "He claims we knew ach other back in Texas."

A few weeks later Chairman Pudcell happened to meet Rayburn again and once again the speaker asked the name of his alleged friend from Texas. Again Purcell told him, and this time Rayburn wrote Calder's name down on a piece of paper.

But the third time Purcell bumped into Rayburn, once again the speaker had forgotten the name of his supposedly intimate pal from Texas. Apparently they weren't such good friends after all.

Note—Rayburn took the position that the people of Texas should have a chance to own and operate their own utility companies. Calder, as head of Texas Power and Light, took exactly the opposite position.

AS THE A. F. of L. executive committee meets in Cleveland today, a total of five locals of the pressmen's union have demanded a thorough investigation of the manner in which the late George Berry gutted the treasury of the union he was supposed to protect.

Many rank and file members of the union have petitioned AFL officials to protect their interests. Unless they get AFL aid they fear their hard-earned pension benefits will be lost, for it is extremely difficult to hold an election and throw out present union officials.

The last time such an election was held, according to Lewis W. Thomas, sr., chairman of the 1926 recall committee, it got nowhere. The ballots against president Berry were taken by car to Rogersville, Tenn., the union's headquarters, by a union member named Dooley.

"However," recalls Thomas, "the road to Rogersville is through the Tennessee mountains and on the way, Berry's men waylaid the car and shot the tires off it. Dooley arrived at Rogersville on foot the next day.

"When he got there, Berry welcomed him in a very sorrowful voice. 'Why, brother Dooley,' he said, 'you are late. We counted the ballots yesterday. I am terribly sorry but we can't count yours—under the by-laws'."

Members of the union claim they probably wouldn't have much more luck today holding a recall action against the present leaders of the union.

The modern man is growing taller, says an authority. And so are many of the stories he relates.

Corpus Christi Man Shot In Dance Hall

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 16. (AP) Israel Medina, 24, of Corpus Christi was shot twice and seriously injured in a dance hall scuffle last night.

Medina allegedly tried to fight when asked for his ticket. He reportedly knocked another police officer, Tom W. Lowrance, down and took the officer's gun.

Williamson fired after Medina had pointed his gun at Lowrance and said, "I'm taking over here."

The Feminine Viewpoint

INDIVIDUALLY and in small groups women are pretty nice people. But something seems to happen to them when they lose their individuality in a crowd.

Watch the women next time you go shopping and see if you don't find them, in general, a pretty unattractive lot. Look closely and you'll spot all of these types, and in numbers, too.

MILLETT

The Stoney-faced Sisters, who, if they happen to catch another woman's eye, give her a freezing, haughty stare.

The Shovers who elbow their way through crowds, are always impatient to be served, and don't care how they get what they want just as long as they get it in a hurry.

The Suspicious Sadies who are certain everybody is trying to outsmart them, and are determined not to be outsmarted.

The Messy Mamies who may be good housekeepers at home but who leave public powder rooms looking like pig pens.

The Lookers who will take up a half hour of a clerk's time when they have no intention of buying. Such women use "shopping" as a means of killing time. But they don't hesitate to kill a clerk's time and the time of waiting customers while they are killing their own.

COMPLAINERS PREVALENT

THE Complainers who are never satisfied in restaurants, are forever asking for substitutes on a fixed menu, or sending things back because they aren't right.

The Grim Girls who hurry along the streets with their heads thrust forward and the corners of their mouths turned down. A Grim Girl can't buy a 10-cent gadget without turning it into a major decision.

The Haughty Hannahs who get some sort of satisfaction out of ritzing salesgirls and looking down their uncharming noses at any woman who isn't putting on the same act.

The Mean Mamas who yank their small children along as though the kids' arms were made of rubber and who meet juvenile protests with belligerent threats.

At home or among friends most of these women probably have more pleasing personalities. But when they are unknown members of a crowd, something happens to them. Whatever it is, it isn't pretty. They're not pretty either, are they?

"Try And Stop Me"

WHEN Kansas voted to abolish prohibition in the 1948 election, it ended a dry era of almost seventy years, startled the natives more than the victory of Harry Truman, and left Oklahoma and Mississippi the only states in the Union to cling doggedly to their prohibition laws.

Kansas and prohibition had become synonymous in the country's eyes through the strenuous activities of Carrie Nation, who personally demolished over a thousand saloons with a hatchet and a gang of strong-armed accomplices. On her deathbed she crowed, "I have destroyed the liquor interests forever in Kansas." What she had succeeded in doing, of course, was merely to send them underground. "My fellow Kansans," pointed out William Allan White in his Emporia Gazette, "can always be depended upon to stagger to the polls and vote dry."

In November, 1948, however, the younger citizens finally rebelled and repealed prohibition in Kansas by a majority of over 60,000. There is a fly in the ointment, however. "Now that we've settled the liquor question," reported a gentleman from Wichita, "we've been deprived of our most provocative subject of conversation. I guess we'll have to concentrate on the weather. Rain in Kansas, you know, is like shaking getchup out of a bottle: for a long time you don't get anything and then all of a sudden you get too darn much."

Naming Of Reserve Officer To Top Navy Post Is Urged

NEW YORK, May 16.—Some of us ex-Navy boys were hoping Jonathan Daniels would accept the secretaryship of the Navy. We figured it would give the son a fine and poetic opportunity to right a great wrong. Mr. Daniels' pappy, Josephus, was the secretary who cut off the grog ration for the fleet, making it a crime against regulations to take so much as a seagoing snifter.

RUARK

The late, great Secretary Daniels was cussed heartily throughout the last war, for it was such a war as could have been leavened considerably by a small ration of rum or an odd bottle of beer. What happened was that the prohibitive ordinance created one of the greatest bootlegging operations of history.

Officers and men who got away with it smuggled store-bought booze abroad ship. They stole from cargos of whisky and beer which were being freighted to foreign bases. They cooked up some of the most unusual concoctions ever to sear a palate.

Drink Native Liquers

Torpedoes were tapped for their alcoholic juice. Medicinal alcohol disappeared from sick-bays. Odd fermentations were produced from potatoes and shoe polish, raisins and dried plums.

When the men went ashore, they swigged anything they could lay hand to, including various native poisons which bred boxing gloves and temporary insanity. Denied the moderate balm of beer of a small noggin of rationed whisky, they steeped themselves in such questionable essences of sheepdip as cheap marshala, African eau de vie, and that Pacific island scourge known as "aggie."

Aggie was short for aguardiente, the vicious end-product of fermented palm sap, or tuba. Aggie, when absorbed in quantity, was one of the most raucous beverages man ever devised. Its only competitor was either Australian whisky or Tunisian eau de vie. Either would gag a goat, and invested the drinker with delusions of John L. Sullivan.

THE low-grade marsala that wrecked the digestions of our troops in Sicily and Italy was one of the fiercer firewaters, too. It was thick and sweet and it stole away the brain. The famous shoreleave scene in "Mister Roberts" is no exaggeration. I once had to lend-lease a jail from the British in Bari, Italy, in which to house a normally tractable gun crew. They had the marsala fantods, and came home intent on murdering each other.

This did not start as a dissertation on war-time drinking. It began really, as a belated suggestion to the President to choose himself a Navy secretary who knows something about the Navy. Not from a standpoint of admirals and press conferences and appropriations, but somebody who knows the Navy from a lower level.

There were about 330,000 officers in the Navy of World war II. About 13,000 wore academy rings. The rest were civilians who quit their civil chores to learn a new trade in a blue suit. They must have learned the trade, since we did not lose the war.

Reserve Officer Favored

I would like to have seen the President choose a reserve officer for the secretary's job, and thereby set a pattern for the appointment of basic know how people into political plumships. I'd like to have seen a guy in there who had started a naval career as a lieutenant or a jaygee, and who knows something of men and ships and islands, of gunfire and booze and boredom.

We have not been unhesitant about appointing military men to delicate diplomatic missions—we had Marshall as the head of state, Bedell-Smith in Russia and Clay in Berlin. There seems no good argument to bar a man who knows something about the Navy from being appointed to the job of running it.

I suppose such a thing is improbable, since it would set a dangerous pattern of competency in high political office. But I hope the fellow who got the job repeals the 18th amendment at sea. It'll make the next war so much easier on the innards.

Navy Airplane Makes Rocket-Jet Flight

EL SEGUNDO, Calif., May 16. Skyrocket has made what is believed to be one of the first flights ever attempted under dual rocket and jet power.

The research aircraft, designed for the Navy, made the test flight recently from the Air Force Muroc base on the desert. Performance figures were not disclosed.

However, Douglas Aircraft Co. reported the plane flew on rocket power until the rocket fuel was exhausted, then she continued under turbo-jet power.

The Skyrocket has made numerous jet flights, but this was her first rocket test.

Douglas test pilot Gene May declared the Skyrocket's flying qualities "are without parallel."

OUR EXCEPTIONAL CITY

Lt. Col. N. F. Stradleigh, recently assigned here as project officer in the reactivation of Lubbock Air Force Base, took in a lot of territory recently in paying residents of this city one of the highest compliments to civic spirit we ever have heard.

He said he never has seen people of any community get behind any undertaking as enthusiastically as the residents here have gone after LAFB. That was a broad statement, considering that Colonel Stradleigh has been around quite a lot since he first donned uniform in 1924.

Frankly, we were surprised. We had not realized that Lubbock had done or was doing any more than most residents here took for granted in trying to get something the community wants very much. If such a spirit is exceptional for cities considered as a whole, Colonel Stradleigh can rest assured it is typical of Lubbock.

Nationalists Still Holding Shanghai

Evacuation Of Hankow Is On

SHANGHAI, May 16 (AP) — Nationalist defenders today still held Shanghai's sea and air gateways despite heavy Communist attacks. In far away central China, the Hankow area was left open to the Reds.

A Shanghai garrison communique said the Communists had been beaten back around Woosung, fortress guardian of the Whangpoo river outlet to the sea. It also said Red jabs had been blunted on the other side of Shanghai where the airfields are threatened

This afternoon an uneasy quiet had settled over the entire battleground perimeter of this largest Asian city.

Hankow Evacuated

Nationalist evacuation of industrial Hankow, the "Chicago" of China, and neighboring Wuchang was announced by the government's Central News agency. Hankow is on the Yangtze's north bank, Wuchang on the south more than 400 air miles west-southwest of Shanghai.

This withdrawal would seem to clear the way for the Communist fourth field army of crack Manchurian troops to cross the river and roll south along the Central China railway toward Canton, the Nationalist refugee capital.

Evacuation of the Hankow area had been expected for some time. Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, Nationalist central China commander, had appeared to be pulling his main forces south for the defense of Nanchang and Changsha.

Reds Shell City

The Reds have been driving toward Nanchang through Kiangsi province and were last reported 25 miles southeast of that provincial capital.

Nanchang is 150 air miles southeast of Hankow. Changsha is on the Canton-Hankow railway 180 miles south-southwest of Hankow and almost the same distance west and slightly south of Nanchang.

(A Canton dispatch said there still was telephone communication with Hankow this morning. It reported demolition blasts among piers and river craft the Reds might use in crossing. There was no report that Communist troops had entered Hankow).

In the Shanghai area, Red artillery hammered Woosung all last night. But at daybreak the Nationalists still held the vital waterway. By 8 a. m., three small steamers had passed through to the sea.

Red Thrusts Repulsed

Beaten back at Woosun, the Reds jabbed at Shanghai's defenses at points several miles south near the Hung Jao airfield used by Civil Air transport, the Chinese air line operated by Ret. U. S. Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault. The garrison said these thrusts also were

Murderer Gets Death In Guam

GUAM, May 16. (AP)—A 20th Air Force court martial today convicted Pvt. Herman P. Dennis, jr., of the rape murder of Miss Ruth Farnsworth and sentenced him to death.

The 20-year-old negro airman saluted smartly when the president of the court, Lt. Col. Gerry L. Mason of Las Vegas, Nev., pronounced sentence. The verdict is subject to review by the commanding officer of the 20th Air Force, the Air Force board of review in Washington and President Truman.

If the verdict is upheld, the manner in which Dennis will be put to death will be determined later.

Defense Overruled

Dennis, his half brother, Pvt. Calvert Dennis and another negro, Staff Sgt. Robert W. Burns of Spokane, Wash., are accused of beating and raping the San Francisco girl last Dec. 11. Calvert Dennis of Seguin, Tex., is scheduled to be tried next.

The court deliberated one hour and 20 minutes.

The airman's counsel asked the court not to announce the sentence but was overruled. The defense argued publication of the sentence might affect the subsequent trials.

The convicted man, if he chooses, may testify against his half brother and Burns. The prosecution possibly will need Denis' testimony in the Burns case.

Miss Farnsworth, a Navy employe seized in a souvenir shop where she worked after hours, was dragged into the jungle and raped and beaten. She died several days later in a Guam hospital.

Wichita Falls Rally Is Planned By Demos

CORSICANA, May 16. (AP) — Texas Democrats were invited today to a rally in Wichita Falls June 9-11 to discuss "how democracy can be improved and perfected" in the Lone Star state.

State Chairman John C. Calhoun, who announced the "educational" rally, said it will attract the majority of the state Democratic executive members.

He said speeches will be made and party plans discussed, but it will not be a money-raising affair.

Officers Probe Five Robberies In Evant

EVANT, May 16 (AP)—Officers were still searching today for robbers who took an estimated $5,000 in loot from five business houses and the post office here.

The looters had an easy time of it Saturday night since no nightwatchman was on duty. They pried open two safes, blew up another, and found a fourth conveniently left open by the owner.

Robbed were the Burney Hardware, the Evant Drug Co., the Broyles-Arnold grocery, the Elmer Brooks dry goods firm and the post office. The Bell Price warehouse and the storage firm was also entered.

Eisler Faces Hearing Today

SOUTHAMPTON, May 16. (AP)—Fugitive Communist Gerhart Eisler was ordered today to show cause why Britain should not deport him to America.

A Southampton magistrate's court ordered that he be remanded immediately to London's Bow street court—the only court in Britain empowered to deal with extradition cases.

The greying, bespectacled Red leader left the court in custody.

If he arrives before the court adjourns, Eisler will enter the Bow street dock this afternoon. Otherwise he will appear tomorrow.

Protest Is Planned

In London, meanwhile, Polish Ambassador Jerzy Michalowski arranged to see Foreign Secretary Bevin this afternoon to deliver an oral protest because Scotland Yard men lugged Eisler off the Batory Saturday.

Eisler stowed away on the ship and paid his passage when he was discovered.

A labor member of Parliament, Reginald Paget, served notice he would ask Home Secretary James Chuter Ede in Commons today why Britain—which traditionally has given asylum to political refugees—has taken a hand in the proceedings against Eisler.

Eisler sat quietly in the dock during today's proceedings.

His forehead wrinkled slightly as he watched. Eisler, described on the charge sheet as a 52-year-old journalist, wore a light brown suit, a blue shirt and brown tie and had a brown scarf draped around his neck.

Charge Is Denied

Detective Inspector W. E. Bray, who led the Scotland Yard men who arrested Eisler aboard the Batory, asked the court of four men and two women to bind Eisler over for a hearing at Bow street next Monday.

Eisler's lawyer, Dudley Collard, won a counter argument for immediate commitment to Bow street on the grounds that only that court could rule on an application for bail. The Bow street court is the only one in England empowered to deal wit hextradition cases.

After Bray had completed his statement to the court, Collard said Eisler had been described as America's number one Communist.

"He is not America's number one Communist," Collard said. "He is not even an American."

Driving his car into the driveway of a kinsman's house, Mr. Fariss got out and, absent-mindedly, left his keys in the ignition lock.

"You got 25 bucks you want to throw away?" The Fariss kinsman asked.

"What do you mean?" returned Mr. Fariss.

"Well," said the Terrible Hoty-an, "if your car gets swiped in this town and you left the keys in the lock, it costs you $25 fine—whether or not the cops find the car. There's a law on it."

Mr. Fariss got to thinking about the matter and decided that the law is a good, sound one. He thought it even better when he later heard that an amazing number of stolen cars in the U. S. are "easy pickings" because drivers leave them set up for thieves by leaving the keys in the lock.

The New York Legislature currently is considering a state law which would subject car owners to prosecution and fine for leaving a car with the keys in it.

Probably other state lawmaking bodies will follow suit if the New York legislation is passed.

What prompted the actions taken in Terre Haute, and discussed in New York, goes on all over the country. It goes on right here in Lubbock.

Capt. Bill Lamb of the Lubbock Police department, says at least 75 per cent of the car thefts stem from people leaving their keys in their cars and going off and leaving them. "The percentage," he added, after a moment's contemplation, "might even run as high as 80 per cent."

IF LOOKS like people would, for their own good, take their car keys out of their ignition locks when leaving the vehicles.

But if they don't want to protect themselves and their property, they should put their keys in their pockets (1) to keep from overburdening the police with unnecessary work; and (2) to keep from placing temptation before persons who might not become thieves if it weren't made so easy to steal a car.

There have been cases in Lubbock of cars being stolen from driveways right off kitchen doors with owners in their own houses. There have been other cases of young kids "borrowing" cars for "joy-rides," thus getting into trouble they otherwise would have avoided if keys in a car hadn't been an invitation to them to take the vehicle.

Keep your keys with you when you leave your car parked!

Over at the courthouse the other day a jury serving in a relatively simple case had been out for two hours. The judge wondered what had happened, but since it was noon, he went out for lunch.

When he came back an hour and a half later, the jury still hadn't reported.

"What's the matter with that jury?" the judge asked the deputy acting as bailiff. "Are they having trouble getting in agreement?"

"No, Your Honor," returned the bailiff, "they haven't started their deliberations yet. They're still making nomination speeches for candidates for foreman!"

And that, by gosh, is the first good reason we've heard for the law which prohibits lawyers from serving on juries!

WE GOT a letter the other day that set us to thinking. It was a letter from young John K. Kallas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Kallas, of Lubbock, who currently is serving in the Army in Japan.

In his letter, young John—whom we have known since infancy—outlined his journeys since he left Lubbock in October, 1948. Almost casually he reported having been in Manila, Guam, Okinawa and his experiences thus far in Japan. He mentioned those far-away places very much as if he were talking about a vacation trip which took him to Denver, Omaha, Kansas City and Chicago.

Young John Kallas, who can't be more than 18 years old, is simply one of thousands of young Americans who is following the flag from one end of the world to the other in these troubled times of uneasy peace.

What will be the result, nationally, of their travels and their experiences, in the days to come when they are adult citizens of almost every crossroads community in the land?

Will young John Kallas and his innumerable counterparts bring back from the East a few ideas of living which will enrich human existence in this Occidental part of the world?

Will other young soldiers, sailors and fliers bring contributions from Iraq and Iraan, from Africa, England and Continental Europe?

Or will they come home, settle down to their work-a-day existence and into all the ways of the generations which peopled this country before them?

Will they come home with a desire to make no alterations of their homeland and its ways, or will they exert influence which will cause us to make beneficial changes in our philosophy?

THESE QUESTIONS cannot be answered, of course, until Time writes the record.

But it is logical to suspect, we think, that these young men returning from the far places will have a far keener, far more encompassing idea of life than if they had stayed at home, in more prosaic pursuits, as the fathers and grandfathers of most of them did.

We Americans know that overall, our way of life and our method of government are the best the world knows.

But where we make our mistake is in thinking that everything we have here is better than its counterpart elsewhere in the world.

As good as our American civilization is, it can be improved.

As superior as our standard of living is in comparison with similar standards in other parts of the world, there are spots here and there which can be improved by innovations from other lands.

Let us hope that our John Kallases—those from Portland and from San Diego, from Macon, Ga., and Pocatello, Idaho, as well as those from Lubbock—come back home prepared to enlighten us stay-at-homes about whatever improvements they have found in their travels.

Let us hope that, in their adult years, they will furnish the yeast which will generate a rising in our national living-level; and that by so doing, they will make the U.S.A. even better than it is as a place for all to live.

BY DREW PEARSON: CONGRESSMEN GET SOCIALIZED MEDICINE THEY DENY TO OTHERS

Army Secretary Candidate Was Utility Lobbyist

WASHINGTON — They don't want it advertised, but the same senators and congressmen who balk at voting a health program for others are accepting "socialized medicine" for themselves.

Their aches and pains are treated by a government doctor whose fees are paid by the taxpayers. He is Dr. George W. Calver of the Navy, who guards over the health of the nation's lawmakers.

PEARSON

Ever since two congressmen died of heart attack in 1938, Dr. Calver not only has kept an office on Capitol Hill, but serves as "family doctor" to members of Congress.

Twice a year, he also sends congressmen out to Bethesda naval hospital for complete laboratory tests. All the bills, except prescriptions for medicine are charged to the taxpayers—though the laboratory fees alone would cost $150 at a private hospital.

In case of serious illness, members of Congress are admitted to Army and Navy hospitals. They pay $8.75 per day — slightly more than it would cost them to stay home, and about one-third what it would cost at a private hospital. Yet this small fee covers doctor bills, nurse service and even surgery.

Dr. Calver also keeps a special watch for heart trouble which used to kill 28 victims in Congress in a single year. By running his celebrated patients through his own heart clinic, he has cut down on congressional deaths by 7 per cent.

Meanwhile the senators and congressmen who receive all this medical pampering have bottled up the President's health program which would offer similar benefits to the American people.

Not only the lawmakers but their staffs can go to Dr. Calver for treatment. His office handles approximately 60,000 patient-visits each year—a full-time job not only for Dr. Calver but also an assistant doctor, nine nurses and three Navy enlisted men.

Note—though no longer with the Navy, Dr. Calver still draws a rear admiral's pay.

Rayburn's Alleged Friend

President Truman is still waiting to learn whether handsome Curtis Calder, chairman of the giant Electric Bond & Share Holding corporation, is going to accept the post of secretary of the Army. Meanwhile, congressmen recall Calder as a friendly lobbyist seen around Capitol hill during the days of the holding corporation fight, but who actually didn't know the big shots as well as he imagined.

Calder was fond of telling people how he and Speaker Sam Rayburn were bosom pals.

"I just dropped in on Sam," Calder told Ganson Purcell, chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission. "We've been friends for years. You know, I am from Texas, too."

A day or so later Chairman Purcell bumped into Speaker Rayburn himself.

"Say," said Rayburn, "who is that fellow from Electric Bond & Share? He was around to see me the other day. What's his name? He claims to be from Texas—though, as a matter of fact, he comes from Kansas. I never can remember his name."

"Do you mean Calder?" prompted Purcell.

"Oh, yes, that's it," replied Rayburn. "He claims we knew each other back in Texas."

A few weeks later Chairman Pudcell happened to meet Rayburn again and once again the speaker asked the name of his alleged friend from Texas. Again Purcell told him, and this time Rayburn wrote Calder's name down on a piece of paper.

But the third time Purcell bumped into Rayburn, once again the speaker had forgotten the name of his supposedly intimate pal from Texas. Apparently they weren't such good friends after all.

Note—Rayburn took the position that the people of Texas should have a chance to own and operate their own utility companies. Calder, as head of Texas Power and Light, took exactly the opposite position.

AS THE A. F. of L. executive committee meets in Cleveland today, a total of five locals of the pressmen's union have demanded a thorough investigation of the manner in which the late George Berry gutted the treasury of the union he was supposed to protect.

Many rank and file members of the union have petitioned AFL officials to protect their interests. Unless they get AFL aid they fear their hard-earned pension benefits will be lost, for it is extremely difficult to hold an election and throw out present union officials.

The last time such an election was held, according to Lewis W. Thomas, sr., chairman of the 1936 recall committee, it got nowhere. The ballots against president Berry were taken by car to Rogersville, Tenn., the union's headquarters, by a union member named Dooley.

"However," recalls Thomas, "the road to Rogersville is through the Tennessee mountains and on the way, Berry's men waylaid the car and shot the tires off it. Dooley arrived at Rogersville on foot the next day.

"When he got there, Berry welcomed him in a very sorrowful voice. 'Why, brother Dooley,' he said, 'you are late. We counted the ballots yesterday. I am terribly sorry but we can't count yours—under the by-laws'."

Members of the union claim they probably wouldn't have much more luck today holding a recall action against the present leaders of the union.

The modern man is growing taller, says an authority. And so are many of the stories he relates.

Corpus Christi Man Shot In Dance Hall

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 16. (AP) Israel Medina, 24, of Corpus Christi was shot twice and seriously injured in a dance hall scuffle last night.

Medina allegedly tried to fight when asked for his ticket. He reportedly knocked another police officer, Tom W. Lowrance, down and took the officer's gun.

Williamson fired after Medina had pointed his gun at Lowrance and said, "I'm taking over here."

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

INDIVIDUALLY and in small groups women are pretty nice people. But something seems to happen to them when they lose their individuality in a crowd.

Watch the women next time you go shopping and see if you don't find them, in general, a pretty unattractive lot. Look closely and you'll spot all of these types, and in numbers, too.

MILLETT

The Stoney-faced Sisters, who, if they happen to catch another woman's eye, give her a freezing, haughty stare.

The Shovers who elbow their way through crowds, are always impatient to be served, and don't care how they get what they want just as long as they get it in a hurry.

The Suspicious Sadies who are certain everybody is trying to outsmart them, and are determined not to be outsmarted.

The Messy Mamies who may be good housekeepers at home but who leave public powder rooms looking like pig pens.

The Lookers who will take up a half hour of a clerk's time when they have no intention of buying. Such women use "shopping" as a means of killing time. But they don't hesitate to kill a clerk's time and the time of waiting customers while they are killing their own.

COMPLAINERS PREVALENT

THE Complainers who are never satisfied in restaurants, are forever asking for substitutes on a fixed menu, or sending things back because they aren't right.

The Grim Girls who hurry along the streets with their heads thrust forward and the corners of their mouths turned down. A Grim Girl can't buy a 10-cent gadget without turning it into a major decision.

The Haughty Hannahs who get some sort of satisfaction out of ritzing salesgirls and looking down their uncharming noses at any woman who isn't putting on the same act.

The Mean Mamas who yank their small children along as though the kids' arms were made of rubber ,and who meet juvenile protests with belligerent threats.

At home or among friends most of these women probably have more pleasing personalities. But when they are unknown members of a crowd, something happens to them. Whatever it is, it isn't pretty. They're not pretty either, are they?

"Try And Stop Me"

WHEN Kansas voted to abolish prohibition in the 1948 election, it ended a dry era of almost seventy years, startled the natives more than the victory of Harry Truman, and left Oklahoma and Mississippi the only states in the Union to cling doggedly to their prohibition laws.

Kansas and prohibition had become synonymous in the country's eyes through the strenuous activities of Carrie Nation, who personally demolished over a thousand saloons with a hatchet and a gang of strong-armed accomplices. On her deathbed she crowed, "I have destroyed the liquor interests forever in Kansas." What she had succeeded in doing, of course, was merely to send them underground. "My fellow Kansans," pointed out William Allen White in his Emporia Gazette, "can always be depended upon to stagger to the polls and vote dry."

In November, 1948, however, the younger citizens finally rebelled and repealed prohibition in Kansas by a majority of over 60,000. There is a fly in the ointment, however. "Now that we've settled the liquor question," reported a gentleman from Wichita, "we've been deprived of our most provocative subject of conversation. I guess we'll have to concentrate on the weather. Rain in Kansas, you know, is like shaking getchup out of a bottle: for a long time you don't get anything and then all of a sudden you get too darn much."

Naming Of Reserve Officer To Top Navy Post Is Urged

NEW YORK, May 16.—Some of us ex-Navy boys were hoping Jonathan Daniels would accept the secretaryship of the Navy. We figured it would give the son a fine and poetic opportunity to right a great wrong. Mr. Daniels' pappy, Josephus, was the secretary who cut off the grog ration for the fleet, making it a crime against regulations to take so much as a seagoing sniffter.

RUARK

The late, great Secretary Daniels was cussed heartily throughout the last war, for it was such a war as could have been leavened considerably by a small ration of rum or an odd bottle of beer. What happened was that the prohibitive ordinance created one of the greatest bootlegging operations of history.

Officers and men who got away with it smuggled store-bought booze abroad ship. They stole from cargos of whisky and beer which were being freighted to foreign bases. They cooked up some of the most unusual concoctions ever to sear a palate.

Drink Native Liquers

Torpedoes were tapped for their alcoholic juice. Medicinal alcohol disappeared from sick-bays. Odd fermentations were produced from potatoes and shoe polish, raisins and dried plums.

When the men went ashore, they swigged anything they could lay hand to, including various native poisons which bred boxing gloves and temporary insanity. Denied the moderate balm of beer of a small noggin of rationed whisky, they steeped themselves in such questionable essences of sheepdip as cheap marshala, African eau de vie, and that Pacific island scourge known as "aggie."

Aggie was short for aguardiente, the vicious end-product of fermented palm sap, or tuba. Aggie, when absorbed in quantity, was one of the most raucous beverages man ever devised. Its only competitor was either Australian whisky or Tunisian eau de vie. Either would gag a goat, and invested the drinker with delusions of John L. Sullivan.

THE low-grade marsala that wrecked the digestions of our troops in Sicily and Italy was one of the fiercer firewaters, too. It was thick and sweet and it stole away the brain. The famous shore-leave scene in "Mister Roberts" is no exaggeration. I once had to lend-lease a jail from the British in Bari, Italy, in which to house a normally tractable gun crew. They had the marsala fantods, and came home intent on murdering each other.

This did not start as a dissertation on war-time drinking. It began really, as a belated suggestion to the President to choose himself a Navy secretary who knows something about the Navy. Not from a standpoint of admirals and press conferences and appropriations, but somebody who knows the Navy from a lower level.

There were about 350,000 officers in the Navy of World war II. About 13,000 wore academy rings. The rest were civilians who quit their civil chores to learn a new trade in a blue suit. They must have learned the trade, since we did not lose the war.

Reserve Officer Favored

I would like to have seen the President choose a reserve officer for the secretary's job, and thereby set a pattern for the appointment of basic know how people into political plumships. I'd like to have seen a guy in there who had started a naval career as a lieutenant or a jaygee, and who knows something of men and ships and islands, of gunfire and booze and boredom.

We have not been unhesitant about appointing military men to delicate diplomatic missions—we had Marshall as the head of state, Bedell-Smith in Russia and Clay in Berlin. There seems no good argument to bar a man who knows something about the Navy from being appointed to the job of running it.

I suppose such a thing is improbable, since it would set a dangerous pattern of competency in high political office. But I hope the fellow who got the job repeals the 18th amendment at sea. It'll make the next war so much easier on the innards.

Navy Airplane Makes Rocket-Jet Flight

EL SEGUNDO, Calif., May 16, Skyrocket has made what is believed to be one of the first flights ever attempted under dual rocket and jet power.

The research aircraft, designed for the Navy, made the test flight recently from the Air Force Muroc base on the desert. Performance figures were not disclosed.

However, Douglas Aircraft Co. reported the plane flew on rocket power until the rocket fuel was exhausted, then she continued under turbo-jet power.

The Skyrocket has made numerous jet flights, but this was her first rocket test.

Douglas test pilot Gene May declared the Skyrocket's flying qualities "are without parallel."

Development of synthetic perfume fixatives is being blamed by Ethiopian exporters for decline in the 1948 demand in the United States and other countries, for civet, a substance taken from the bodies of civet cats and once an important export item.

OUR EXCEPTIONAL CITY

Lt. Col. N. F. Stradleigh, recently assigned here as project officer in the reactivation of Lubbock Air Force Base, took in a lot of territory recently in paying residents of this city one of the highest compliments to civic spirit we ever have heard.

He said he never has seen people of any community get behind any undertaking as enthusiastically as the residents here have gone after LAFB. That was a broad statement, considering that Colonel Stradleigh has been around quite a lot since he first donned uniform in 1924.

Frankly, we were surprised. We had not realized that Lubbock had done or was doing any more than most residents here took for granted in trying to get something the community wants very much. If such a spirit is exceptional for cities considered as a whole, Colonel Stradleigh can rest assured it is typical of Lubbock.

Mrs. Willkie, Son Injured In Wreck

CAMBRIDGE, O., May 16 (AP)—Mrs. Edith Willkie, 58, and her son, Phillip, 19, were injured yesterday when their car overturned on a slippery road during a rainstorm. They were cared for here today at St. Francis hospital.

Hospital attendants said the condition of Mrs. Willkie was "very satisfactory." She suffered internal injuries and severe shock. Phillip, who was driving the car, suffered severe bruises about the throat. Neither was listed as critically hurt.

The accident occurred 22 miles east of here on U. S. route 40. The Willkies were driving from Washington, D. C., to their home in Rushville, Ind.

Mrs. Willkie is the widow of Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 GOP presidential nominee.

Joe E. Brown Leaves Ohio Hospital Today

TOLEDO, O., May 16 (AP)—Physicians said actor Joe E. Brown would be released from Toledo hospital today following treatment for a back injury.

The comedian had a fall on a local stage Saturday night. He slipped during a pantomime of "Elmer The Great," one of his Hollywood laugh successes, and reinjured his back which was fractured in an auto accident in 1939. Brown was making a curtain call for "Harvey." He plans to move on to Buffalo with the show today.

Holland Tunnel Tube Opened; New Jersey Plans Investigation

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—The New York-bound tube of the Holland tunnel, blasted and seared by explosion and fire, has been reopened to vehicular traffic, but repair work is far from finished.

The first automobile started through the damaged tube at 4 p. m. (EST) Sunday after the two-mile tunnel under the Hudson river had been pronounced structurally sound.

The eastbound tube will be closed, however, from 7 p. m. (EST) to 5 a. m. Monday through Friday nights until repairs are completed. The westbound tube will handle traffic in both directions during those hours. The tunnel is one of the principal vehicular links between New York City and New Jersey.

Debris Removed

Workmen have removed all debris left by Friday morning's fire, set off by the explosion of a big truck loaded with carbon disulphide. Sixty-six persons, mostly firemen and tunnel workers, were treated for injuries resulting from the accident.

In New Jersey, Assistan Hudson County Prosecutor Abraham Sepenuk said Sunday night that Jersey City police had given the driver of the truck a "whitewash" with a political angle.

The assistant prosecutor said the police in Jersey City "have no right to exonerate any one," and that a Hudson county grand jury will be asked Friday to determine whether criminal negligence was involved in the tunnel accident.

Red Zone Berlin Communists Beat Drums For 'Yes' Ballot

BERLIN, May 16 (AP)—Eastern zone Communists were reported rolling up a huge "Ja" vote to give Russia a German "government" at its back before the Paris Big Four conference.

Communist controlled news agencies said there was a 60 per cent vote turnout Sunday, first day of two-day balloting for a "people's congress."

The percentage presumably will be much higher by the end of voting tonight—and virtually solid "Yes" for a single list of nominees carefully chosen by Eastern zone Communist front organizations.

Fast Work Seen

The "people's congress" is expected to set up a government for Germany with great speed.

The Soviet Union thus will be able to go to the council of foreign ministers on German problems, due to open in Paris May 23, with a "government" balancing that now being formed in western Germany.

The Russians are expected to claim the regime represents all Germany.

The United States, Britain and France banned voting for the "people's congress" in their zones.

However, Communist committees have selected about 500 delegates to represent the Western zones in the congress, which will have about 2,000 members in all.

Nationalism Stressed

The ballots for candidates in the east played on German nationalism for support.

Each carried the statement: "I am for the unity of Germany and a just peace treaty. I therefore vote for the following list of candidates:"

The Soviet-controlled German agency reported 58.3 per cent of the citizens of East Berlin went to the Polls Sunday and gave figures as high as 75 per cent for areas in the East zone.

There were reports here of threats against those who might vote "No," as Communist-led political groups drove hard for a big turnout.

The Soviet-controlled German pres splashed election news across the tops of today's editions. It was largely ignored by Western Berlin papers.

New Plane Which Can Land On Tennis Court Is Developed

BOSTON, May 16 (AP)—A small plane which can fly as slow as 27 miles an hour and land on a field the size of a tennis court has been developed by two college instructors.

Otto O Koppen, professor of aeronautical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Lynn Bollinger, a Harvard business school instructor, announced yesterday that they have been working on the craft for three years.

Tested For Month

They call it a "helioplane" because it combines the appearance of a conventional plane with the advantages of a helicopter.

The helioplane, which has been undergoing tests for the past month, makes little more noise than an automobile.

The two developers of the craft said it won't stall or spin and will clear a five-story building only 100 yards from a take-off point. They also claimed it will descend at a slower vertical rate than a parachute—with a forward speed of only 27 miles an hour.

The first model of the craft was described as a two-passenger, high-wing monoplane equipped with a large, two-bladed propellor and an 85-horsepower engine.

Professor Koppen said the large wing spread and large propeller enables the plane to stay aloft and descend at such slow speed.

He said the wing gives the plane twice the lift and stalling angle of an ordinary wing. The propeller gives twice the thrust of an ordinary one, thus increasing the angle of climb

The craft was designed by Koppen according to specifications of Bollinger, a former airline pilot.

Hurlwood Phone Case To Be Tried June 7

The case of a group of Hurlwood citizens versus the Southwestern Associated Telephone company will be tried on its merits June 7 in Judge G. V. Pardue's 99th district court.

In the meantime Judge Pardue has issued a temporary injunction in lieu of the temporary restraining order to prevent the telephone company from erecting poles, lines or other equipment on the property of th plantiffs.

In issuing the injunction Judge Pardue made it clear that it did not prevent the utility company from erecting poles and lines along the county roads or easements adjoining the properties of the plantiffs.

In their plea to the court the plaintiffs claim that throughout the years the Southwestern Associated Telephone company has provided inadequate service to their community and that such service has been on a toll basis. Calls to Lubbock, they allege, have to be routed through Littlefield. The plaintiffs contend that if this company erects more of such toll lines in their community it will prevent another company coming into the area and making more and direct connections with Lubbock.

Truman Talk Begins Saving Bond Drive

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—This is the starting day of a government drive to sell $1,040,000,000 in savings bonds to the public. President Truman will make a five minute radio speech tonight at 10:23 p. m. EST as part of an hour-long program signalizing the start of the campaign.

The bond drive will run until June 30. An estimated 3,000,000 volunteer workers will include 250,000 newspaper carriers who will distribute literature and order forms.

These bonds, or the series E type, pay off $4 for each $3 invested if held for the ten years before they mature. They can be cashed

Convicted Slayer Stabs Death Cell Prison Guard Six Times

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 16. (AP)—Laszlo Varga, convicted rape-murderer of a minister's wife, stabbed a death cell prison guard six times in sudden fury yesterday.

Louis Schneider, captain of guards at Nevada penitentiary, said Varga suddenly reached through his cell bars and attacked Jack Parker, 50.

Schneider did not speculate on a motive. But he recalled that Varga has been a frequent trouble-maker since captured in California—and was considered so dangerous he was brought to Nevada in a straight jacket.

Parker, a veteran guard, was expected to recover. He was stooping to pick up luncheon dishes outside Barga's cell when attacked.

Schneider said he had not learned where Varga got the sharp kitchen knife used in the attack. Prisoners are limited to spoons only for their meals.

Varga was convicted of the rape murder of Mrs. Billie Rahe Morning, 22, March 22, 1948, in Wells, Nev., and sentenced to death. The supreme court turned down Varga's appeal two weeks ago. He prepared a request for a rehearing Saturday.

Chinese War

beaten back.

Lunghwa international airport at the vulnerable southwest edge of Shanghai was quiet this morning. Nevertheless, Northwest Air lines and Pan American World airways announced service from Shanghai would halt after today.

Northwest had two planes in and out today — one from Manila, one from Tokyo. Pan American's last plane left this morning for the United States via Hong Kong.

All three Chinese air lines said they will continue to operate to Hong Kong, Canton and Formosa.

But they warned service might stop at any time.

Communications Cut

(Commercial radio communication with the U. S. was broken off abruptly. At San Francisco, both press wireless and the Associated Press listening post reported the Shanghai transmitter handling traffic to the U. S. went off the air at 12:42 a. m., EST. Press wireless said the signal went out as though the power supply had been cut off. All Shanghai radio is handled through the Chinese government radio administration.)

The Nationalists' continued claim of success in the fighting around Woosung seemed borne out by the sound of battle. Artillery firing last night was at a greater distance than the night before when at one time the fighting seemed to have penetrated into the environs of Shanghai around Kiangwan airfield, a half-dozen miles away.

Jet Pilot Is Killed In Pampa Plane Wreck

PAMPA, May 16 (AP)—One man was killed in a plane crash six miles south of here this morning.

An oil worker who was near the scene of the crash said the plane was an Air Force jet type. The flier's name was not available.

Deficit Report Splits Solons On Economy, Taxation Issues

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 16 — A week-end estimate that the government will go $3,000,000,000 into the red next year stirred up conflicting cries today for more economy and more taxes.

The estimate was made for the Senate-House tax committee by its staff of experts.

They forecast a "moderate" business slump. They figured that in the fiscal year starting July 1 it would result in cutting the government's income by $2,100,000,000 and adding that much to the $900,000,000 deficit predicted in President Truman's budget.

"That," said House Democratic leader McCormack (Mass), "is all the more reason for increasing taxes by $4,000,000,000, as President Truman repeatedly has suggested."

Spending Cut Favored

In the Senate, however, Senator Russell (D-Ga) announced that he and some other Democratic members of the appropriations committee are drafting a bill to slice about $3,000,000,000 off federal spending. Russell said their plans were started even before the report of the tax experts was issued. Senator Maybank (D-SC) suggested the $5,580,000,000 European aid program as a good place to cut.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), chairman of the appropriations committee, said he would "rather cut government expenditures than raise taxes."

He would not say definitely that he would support any overall reduction if it appears later than appropriations will exceed revenue, but said in an interview he is giving it "some thought."

Rep. Woodruff (R-Mich) told a reporter:

"The President ought to take some cognizance of the situation and forget some of his ambitions along the lines of new and widespread social security.

"The people already are taxed about to the limit. I'd like to know what legerdemain he feels he could use to reach out and grab $4,000,000,000 more out of their pockets."

Woodruff is a member of the House Ways and Means committee, where tax bills get their start in Congress. He said he was sure enough Democrats on the committee would go along with Republicans to prevent a tax hike.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) said he doesn't want to be put in the position of warring with the President. And he wouldn't forecast what his committee will do. But he said his own position is well known.

There are three courses open, Doughton said:

1. Cut appropriations; 2. boost taxes; 3. resort to "deficit financing," which means going deeper into debt to pay for government expenses.

Arguments Amusing

And, he said, the responsibility for the choice rests on all the members of Congress, "not on Bob Doughton and not on Harry Truman."

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate finance committee, an economy advocate, said the figures from the congressional tax experts speaks for themselves.

But McCormack told a reporter:

"The ones I hear hollering loudest for economy are crying loudest for bills appropriating hundreds of millions that will benefit their states and sections through pet measures. It's really amusing to listen to them.

"The tax reduction last year was most unfortunate. Instead of tax reductions we ought to have debt reductions."

Rites For Levelland Judge Still Pending

LEVELLAND, May 16 (Special) City Judge Frank Badgett, 67 years old, who took office in December when Levelland changed to a four-man council form of government, died shortly after noon Sunday of a heart attack.

He had been a resident here for the past 25 years. Prior to his election to the judge's bench, Judge Badgett had been a nightwatchman for the Consumer's Cooperative Refinery, and before that had been a member of the Levelland police force for several years.

Survivors include his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Clarence Williams and Mrs. Marvin Conatser, all of Levelland, and a brother in Borger.

Funeral services are pending completion of arrangements, but will probably be held in the First Methodist Church either today or Tuesday, with burial in Levelland Cemetery.

Solons Expected To Remain In Session

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn said today he expects Congress to remain in session for "another three or four months."

His statement was made after congressional Democratic leaders held their regular Monday conference with President Truman at the White House.

The Texas Democrat thus indicated that the Congress might still be in session in September.

Sicily Bandit Bands Rout Police Troops

PALERMO, Sicily, May 16. (AP)—Eight of the 5,000 policemen tracking down bandit king Salvatore Giuliano were hit by outlaw machine guns Sunday. None was killed.

For three days the vast police forces have been on a "shoot to kill" manhunt for the robber chieftain who has "declared war" on the Italian government.

Whether the lightning "commando raids" on the police were staged by his men or by one of the less publicized outlaw bands which infest Sicily is not known.

The first ambush Sunday came three miles west of Palermo when a jeepload of police ran into a burst of machine gun bullets. Two were wounded—one critically.

Reinforcements rushed to the scene but the attackers had disappeared when they got there. On the way back to Palermo the reinforcements were hit—and this time six were wounded.

The government has reported that Giuliano is often supported by sympathizers among Sicilian peasants. Sunday the Communist newspaper in Rome charged that he is the agent of Sicilian landlords.

The paper, L'Unita, further called for the resignation of interior minister Mario Scelba, a Sicilian, because of his failure to capture the bandit.

Police Hunting Banana Thief

A burglar-vandal with a yen for bananas and candy was sought here this morning after he raided the Chas. Whitacre residence at 1905 Twenty-ninth.

Police detectives said the burglar took a toy pistol and broke the glass in a rear door so he could reach in and unfasten a door lock.

Inside the house, he ransacked the kitchen and stole bananas and candy. He took down an old rifle and a Jap saber, and, with the saber, he cut up a camera. With the butt of the rifle he battered the face of a mantel clock.

Several Thefts Studied

A series of thefts also was under investigation, officials said.

J. T. Russell of Hereford said his 1946 Ford two-door black car, license AA 5711, was stolen here. He said he loaned it to a man who accompanied him here from Amarillo.

A tire and wheel valued at $12 were reported stolen from Hiram Parks, of 2826 Twenty-second.

A .22 rifle valued at $15 was reported stolen from Bob Church of 1518 Thirty-first.

Shoots At Brother

Phillip Rosen of 1515 Ave. H said a $42.50 watch was stolen from a show case.

Simon Miller, 39, a negro, gave himself up at the sheriff's office Sunday, after witnesses said he fired three times with a pistol at his brother James. Simon told sheriff's deputies he had been having trouble lately with his brother's wife. He said she had cut him recently with a knife.

Mrs. Strange, who had lived here about 20 years, died at 12:30 p. m. Sunday in Lubbock Memorial hospital. She had been in ill health some time.

Wind Victim Sweats Out Damage To Fido

FORT WORTH, May 16—Mrs. Leon Banner, whose house in Amarillo was wrecked by last night's tornado, is worried most about her dog.

"I know my husband is all right," she said. "I don't care about the house, but I'd hate for our dog to get killed. He's a valuable bird dog, and I don't know what happened to him."

Mrs. Banner is visiting friends here. She said she didn't know about the tornado that damaged a wide area, killing four people and injuring 65, until she read this morning's paper.

"I haven't been able to get a line through to Amarillo," she said.

"A girl in Dallas whose relatives have a house next door to ours called and told me about the damage to our home," she said. "She talked to my husband and he told her the garage was demolished, and the entire west wall of the house was torn off. Our dog house was on that side.

"The girl's last name is Dandy. I'm sorry I can't remember her first name . . . I'm just too upset."

Test Against B-36 Talked

WASHINGTON, May 15. (AP)—The military high commend is discussing a possible test of Navy fighter and radar interception against Air Force giant high-flying B-36 bombers. It might give both services some vital new air defense facts.

Asked if there was any plan for an impartial test conducted by direction of either the national military establishment or the joint chiefs of staff, Defense Secretary Johnson's office made this reply:

"There has been some discussions recently between the Air Force and the Navy, and among the joint chiefs of staff, for a test of Navy radar and interceptor capabilities against B-36 bombers but no formal consideration has been given the subject yet."

Problems Stated

Among the problems Johnson inherited was the question of actual capabilities of the biggest bomber ever built—the six-engined Consolidated-Vultee B-36, designed for a 10,000-mile range and operation at altitudes above 40,000 feet. In its simplest form, the question reduced to this:

Can the B-36, because of its reciprocating engines and big wing area, fly so high and maneuver so well in thin, upper air that jet fighters can't reach and "kill" it?

Involved is the related question: Does the power produced by a jet engine fall off so fast as extremely high altitudes are penetrated that the jet fighter can't make the tight turns and climbs required to close in to shooting range of a B-36?

The only guidance presently available to the defense secretary presumably are the claims made by individual services or the respective camps of fighter and bomber experts within a service—and one test conducted by the Air Force alone.

Sunday Services Are Attended By Classes

Baccalaureate sermons were delivered Sunday to graduating classes at three South Plains high schools.

At Crosbyton, Rev. Lloyd Hamilton, pastor of Crosbyton Methodist church, was the featured speaker before a class of 27 seniors. Graduation exercises are to be held Wednesday night with Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of Texas Tech, as guest speaker.

Carl Spain, Texas Tech Bible instructor and Church of Christ minister, delivered the Sunday sermon to the Shallowater High school graduating class. Commencement exercises are scheduled for Friday night, with Dr. Doyle Jackson, professor of education at Tech, as speaker.

Lamesa High school seniors Sunday heard Dr. Julian Atwood, Baptist pastor. Graduation ceremonies at Lamesa will be held at 10 a. m. Tuesday in the school auditorium.
