Driver Killed In Swerving To Avoid Dog

LAMESA (SC)—A truck driver off field worker was killed about noon Thursday, 14 miles northeast of here on FM 1210 when his car overturned apparently swerving to miss a 100-pound German police dog on the highway.

Chief Deputy Sheriff G. B. Therwanger identified the victim as Jerrel Dean Osborn, 38, who resided at the Golithly Hotel in O'Donnell. Therwanger said the man's home was in Matador.

Officers said Osborn apparently met the huge dog at the top of a rise in the road, tried to miss the animal and skidded on rocks along the shoulder of the highway. The auto struck and killed the dog, overturned twice and flipped back up on its wheels.

The vehicle rolled 300 feet after impact and Osborn's body was thrown an additional 65 feet from the point where the car landed. Osborn was pronounced dead on arrival at Medical Arts Hospital. The body was removed from Higginbotham Funeral Home in Lamesa Thursday by Eudy-Seale Funeral Home of Matador when arrangements are pending.

Survivors include the widow and three children, Carlene, Dean and Billie, all of the home at Matador; two sisters, Mrs. Beulah Melton and Mrs. Juanita Panto, both of Afon; three brothers, Earl Osborn, Roaring Springs, Howard Osborn, Dimmitt, and Talmer Osborn, address unknown.

Confessed Slayer Of 2 Is Captured At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Two killings half a day apart set off a manhunt which ended with the meek surrender of the admitted slayer after police pinned him between two patrol cars Thursday night.

A woman in the auto with him seized a pistol and fired one wild shot before officers subdued her. The two identified themselves as Julian Webster, 36, and Joyce Hege, about 31, both of Wichita Falls. They were jailed without immediate charge.

Webster said he shot Mrs. Helen Best, about 35, a divorcee, at her home shortly after 7 a. m. because "she begged me to kill her." More than 14 hours later he walked into the nearby home of Bill Best, her former husband. Best said Webster announced he had killed Mrs. Best and demanded that he be driven to El Paso, Tex. He carried a rifle and a pistol.

Best said Webster looked at Bird Robertson, 44, a visitor from Vernon, Tex., and growled: "What do you have to do with this? I don't like you anyway. I think I'll kill you." One shot dropped Robertson to the floor, Best related, and Webster fired another bullet into the wounded man's head after muttering: "He's breathing too loud." Robertson died shortly after midnight.

Warming Trend Noted In U.S.

By The Associated Press
A warming trend ushered in the month of December today, with temperatures moderating to seasonably cool to mild levels. Freezing weather was reported in only a relatively small part of the country, including New England, the extreme north central Plains and sections of the middle and south Atlantic Coast states.

Russians Tighten Berlin's Lifeline

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Union today halted nine U.S. Army vehicles for an hour and 14 minutes on the autobahn out of isolated Berlin in a tightened inspection of American convoys on the highway lifeline. The Soviets had warned earlier that such troop movements were provocative and could lead to "dangerous consequences."

The U.S. Army has been moving convoys to and from West Berlin in recent weeks in an apparent test of Western rights of access to the disputed city, 110 miles inside East Germany.

The Soviets halted the nine vehicles, forming the last section of a 150-man convoy en route from Berlin to West Germany, on the ground there was an error in the travel documents. The U.S. autobahn operations officer, Capt. Harry Daniels, was called to straighten out the papers and the nine vehicles were then allowed to go on.

The convoy movement then was completed without further incident. The first two sections of the convoy, eight vehicles and then six about an hour apart, had gone through unhindered. The convoy today was made up of Co. C, 2nd Battle Group, 6th Infantry.

Later in the day, the Soviet news agency Tass returned to the attack. It said such movements are not "dictated by any kind of military considerations or requirements" but are "just a dangerous act of military display."

The agency added that a U.S. Army announcement of more movements next week shows that the U.S. command has decided to bring larger units into the operation.

Explaining today's incident, a U.S. Army spokesman said the Soviets stopped the last group in the convoy because the original order listed seven light and two medium vehicles, when actually there were eight light and one medium vehicle.

He explained that trailers are counted as a vehicle on these orders, so a correction was made in a rewritten order.

Normally the Soviet guards make only a routine count of the men and vehicles described in the travel papers handed them, taking only 20 to 25 minutes.

The U.S. Army has been shutting 150-man units from West Germany to West Berlin, and from West Berlin to West Germany, for brief training periods since soon after the crisis created by the Communist wall dividing Berlin.

The U.S. Army says the rotation is necessary because West Berlin is too cramped for extensive training maneuvers and troops in West Germany need experience under Berlin conditions. But the traffic is generally considered a demonstration of U.S. determination to maintain its rights on the autobahn.

In the first Soviet protest against the traffic, the Soviet news agency Tass spoke of the "provocative character of this action." It charged that since U.S. troops in West Germany serve the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, their maneuvering in West Berlin "means the inclusion of West Berlin in the aggressive military block of NATO."

CHEER FUND GETS BOOST

More good friends responded today to the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND appeal, and the total has gone up. Doubtless as the Christmas season progresses, others will join in this goodwill program.

Money to the Cheer Fund—every penny—goes to help poor children. City firemen purchase needed items to repair toys for Christmas distribution. If there is a surplus (and on some years there has been) it is used by the county health nurse through the year to provide medicine and nourishment for families in extreme emergency.

Your check, sent to The Herald and made to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND, will be blessed many times over.

Thugs Attack Newsmen At Race Strife Site

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP) — Four young men attacked three newsmen on the streets here today, sending one crashing into a plate glass window of a store.

The three were Tom Uhrbrock and Don Underwood of Life magazine and Simmons Fentress of Time magazine.

Uhrbrock was knocked into the window and smashed it. Fentress said they were walking toward the McComb Enterprise Journal when they were met by the four who came out of a sporting goods store.

He said one of the men came to him and asked, "Are you from Time magazine?"

Fentress said he replied: "I am here on business."

He said the man prodded him in the chest with his finger, said, "Your business is our business," and then struck him.

The group then attacked Uhrbrock and shoved Underwood.

The attack occurred as McComb braced for new tests of its desegregated bus terminal by "Freedom Riders." Mayor C. H. Douglas had strengthened his police force and vowed an end to violence.

The government could not be Communist," it added.

At the headquarters of the Civic Union, some members censured the United States and claimed it had backed Balaguer against the wishes of the people. Fialo, alluding to this, declared it was "an historic error."

In Washington, the State Department expressed hope "that all men of good will in the Dominican Republic will exercise moderation and responsibility in seeking the political means by which a truly democratic future for the country can be assured."

It said that since the death of Dictator Rafael Trujillo the United States has "supported in every appropriate way a rapid transition toward democratic government and lent sympathetic encouragement and lent sympathetic encouragement to the successful resistance

Syrians Vote New Republic

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—With heavy police and security forces on guard, Syrians today voted on 1,876 candidates for 167 seats in Parliament and passed on a provisional constitution for the new Syrian Arab Republic.

The election came just two months after the army revolt breaking Syria's three-year union with Egypt.

Hershey Upholds Right To Gripe

DETROIT (AP) — "Soldiers have an inherent right to gripe," Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, said Thursday night.

Hershey said any Army unit ever did anything without griping they'd either be lying or mutes."

Hershey, in commenting on complaints by National Guardsmen and reservists about conditions at Ft. Lewis, Wash., said "but you can make too much noise. These men have been getting one day's pay for two hours' work each week and the federal government has a right to expect them to show up when it needs them."

BASE PLANS ATC DRILLS

Col. W. H. AFB Commander. Col. Wilson B. Banks, has announced that between Dec. 1-15, a drill in emergency procedures will be conducted at the base. This drill is a part of an Air Training Command-wide exercise directed by Lt. Gen. James E. Briggs, ATC Commander, to test the adequacy of emergency planning.

If this test results in the base alert system being used, it is no cause for alarm to the citizens of Big Spring, Col. Banks explained.

Regime's Foes Continue Riots

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Troops opened fire today on demonstrators calling for the ouster of President Joaquin Balaguer and wounded three women and a boy.

A man was reported killed, but this could not be confirmed immediately.

Violence in this crisis-torn capital erupted again after the major political opposition group openly defied a military summons to end a four-day strike. One youth was killed in rioting yesterday.

Headquarters of the National Civic Union said sentiment throughout the country was for continuing the strike.

A few shops did reopen in Santo Domingo. Traffic was half normal.

The party decided to continue the strike after rejecting a military proposal to keep Balaguer in office as head of a seven-man ruling junta. The armed forces would have virtually complete power under the proposal.

Balaguer earlier had declared in a radio address that his present government would stay in office unless the opposition accepted the military proposal.

Heavily armed troops and screaming mobs clashed in Santo Domingo Thursday—the third and worst day so far of the general strike—and machine-gun fire killed one youth. A report from Santiago said noise bombs burned 20 women about the legs.

The antigovernment demonstrations included a march on the National Palace in response to false reports that Balaguer had resigned. Troops forced back the angry crowd with tear gas and detonation bombs.

Quiet returned to the capital at dusk as troop patrols enforced the nightly curfew.

The Civic Union, in what it called its final proposal, demanded Thursday that Balaguer step aside for a provisional governing council of five or seven members—excluding Balaguer—who would elect a chairman by simple majority.

The military plan proposed that all legislative powers be vested in the ruling junta until general elections within two years, that Congress (largely made up of members of the old Trujillo Dominican party) be dissolved and that the military budget could not be reduced below the 192 estimate of 24 million pesos.

The government could not be Communist," it added.

At the headquarters of the Civic Union, some members censured the United States and claimed it had backed Balaguer against the wishes of the people. Fialo, alluding to this, declared it was "an historic error."

In Washington, the State Department expressed hope "that all men of good will in the Dominican Republic will exercise moderation and responsibility in seeking the political means by which a truly democratic future for the country can be assured."

It said that since the death of Dictator Rafael Trujillo the United States has "supported in every appropriate way a rapid transition toward democratic government and lent sympathetic encouragement and lent sympathetic encouragement to the successful resistance to the efforts by the brothers of the late dictator to reassert totalitarian domination."

Efforts by Trujillo family members to regain control of the government two weeks ago brought U.S. warships to the Caribbean waters off Santo Domingo. Since then they have patrolled just outside the three-mile limit of Dominican waters.

Arturo Morales Carrion, deputy assistant secretary of state for Latin-American affairs, arrived soon after the Trujillo threats were thwarted and has met with both government and opposition leaders.

Morales Carrion was reported to have visited the presidential palace Thursday, and as a result rumors circulated that the United States was backing Balaguer's bid to remain in power.

District Meet Attracts 600

Some 600 persons were in Big Spring Thursday to attend one of the shortest district Methodist conferences held yet, according to the Rev. H. Clyde Smith, district supervisor of Methodist Churches.

The conference lasted two hours and 15 minutes. Most last all day, he said. The short afternoon session was held at the Wesley Methodist Church and two evening dinner meetings were conducted, one at the Wesley Methodist and the other at the First Methodist Church.

About 200 church members, ministers and delegates from the Big Spring district heard Bishop Paul Galloway, San Antonio, tell of a need to temper passion with reason and intelligence. In the opening message the Bishop pointed out that passion, aimed in the right direction, is a necessity of Christianity and one of its greatest assets.

Reports were made by about a dozen commissions. New memberships in the district churches were placed at 121 new to the faith, 464 persons transferring in from other districts, and 54 infants who were baptized.

The committee on church expenditures reported that since June 1 $66,600 was paid in salaries, $8,341 to conference claimants, $18,608 for World Service and $5,630 for support of Methodist colleges and schools. Other expenses brought the total to $491,088.

Enrollment in church schools was reported as 9,230 persons with an average church attendance of 4,379.

Building of church facilities continued with the district builder's club assisting three churches with more than $20,000 toward their expenses. About 850 persons were listed as members of the club.

Bishop Galloway addressed about 250 men at a 7 p. m. dinner meeting in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church. The women congregated at the Wesley Methodist Church to hear Mrs. Galloway tell of their visit to the World Methodist Council meeting in Oslo, Norway, and of other experiences while on the European tour. About 170 women were present.

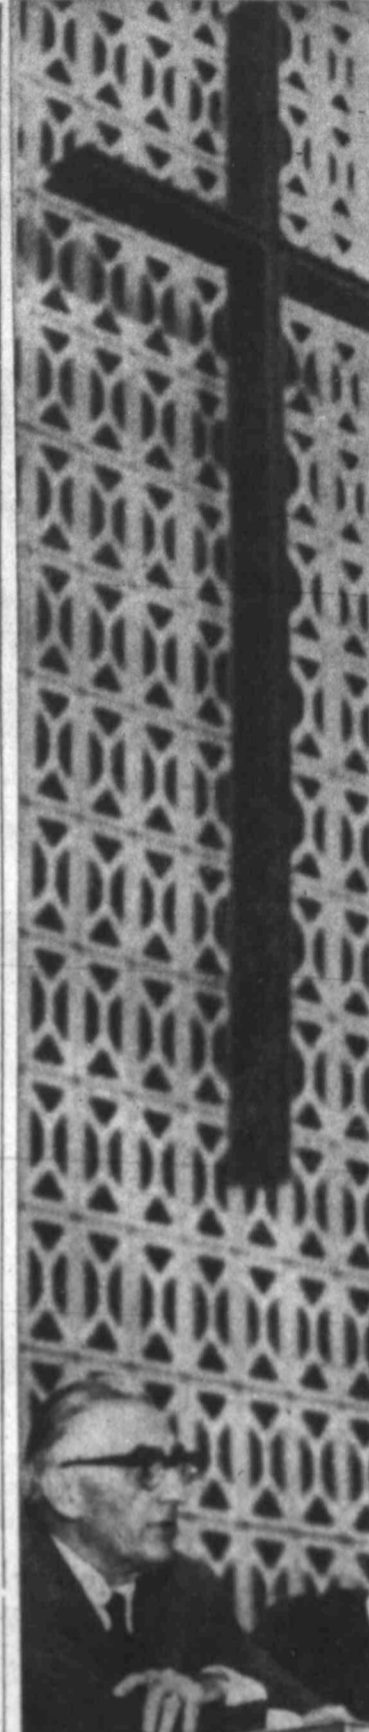

"Christianity is the biggest foe communism has found," Bishop Galloway pointed out in his address. "Wherever Christianity operates strongly, communism has the most difficulty getting a foothold."

Bishop Galloway commended the visitors on their attendance, stating that a record attendance may be set at district conferences this year. About 500 persons were expected originally.

Will Knox Edwards Dies At Kerrville

Will Knox Edwards, 65, member of a pioneer West Texas ranching family, died at 3 a. m. today in the Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital at Kerrville after a short illness.

He had entered the hospital a few days ago with a kidney flare-up and apparently was recovering when he suffered a heart involvement.

Services will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday at the Episcopal Church in Kerrville with the pastor, the Rev. William P. Weeks, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Joe N. Routh, Palestine. Graveside rites will be at Rest Haven Cemetery in Menard under the direction of Smith Funeral Home in Kerrville.

Mr. Edwards was born Feb. 1, 1886, at Waxahachie and came here with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Will P. Edwards, two years later. Primarily he was a rancher, interrupting this pursuit to serve in World War I in France.

Upon his return, he resumed ranching and also invented a number of things on which he secured patents. Several of them eventually went into production. Among his major developments were a coin-operated gasoline pump, an oilfield water-bleeder, and a heliograph screw for shallow draft barges, etc. The latter was under consideration by the U.S. Navy at the end of World War II.

About a dozen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Edwards moved their headquarters to Menard, and five years ago he went into virtual retirement on a small ranch near Ingram, not far from Kerrville. He was a member of the Episcopal Church.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Sandra Edwards; a daughter, Mrs. Winston Harper, Big Spring; three sons, W. K. Edwards Jr., Big Spring, J. S. Edwards, Tulsa, Okla., and J. G. Edwards, Topeka, Kan.; a brother, Marion M. Edwards, Big Spring; a step-daughter, Mrs. M. E. McDonnell, Cape Cod, Mass.; two step-sons, C. Brad Gentry, Houston, Lt. Tim P. Gentry, Boston, Mass.; two half-brothers, Will P. Edwards, San Angelo; and five grandchildren.

Bracero Restriction Viewed With Concern

What happens to West Texas farmers when there are no more bracero laborers?

Leon Kinney, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office here, said this was the major question propounded at the Stanton Farm Labor Consultation meeting held Wednesday.

The question was asked but no one had any answer to offer, he said.

The Stanton meeting, at which farmers from Martin, Howard and Midland counties attended, drew 53 persons. It was one of a series of conferences on farm labor needs and problems in West Texas and C. A. Shoemaker, San Angelo, was the principal speaker.

The bulk of the meeting was taken up with a discussion of Public Law No. 78.

This is a statute which gravely restricts the use of Mexican nationals — braceros. The farmers were told that the new bracero restrictions allow Mexican labor for temporary or seasonal employment and do not allow Mexicans to be used in operating or maintaining power-driven or self-propelled farm machinery in planting, harvesting or cultivating. The Secretary of Labor, according to the discussion, has some leeway in determining what is seasonal and also in allowing for hardship cases.

One thing, it was emphasized, is out — Mexican tractor drivers are out of the picture.

Farmers were told that present six-month contracts can be extended between now and Dec. 31 for a period up to six months. No one seems to know what will be the case in such contracts attempted after Jan. 1. The Secretary of Labor has great discretion under the law in deciding what is to happen in that period.

It is estimated that between 14,000 and 20,000 braceros can be classified as year-round labor on Texas farms and ranches. The new law, it was warned, eliminates these workers. What the employer is to do when this develops is the big problem and no one in the TEC or elsewhere, the farmers and ranchers were told, knows exactly what the answer is. There is almost certain to be a transition period in regard to labor and it is agreed this period could be very difficult.

There is a big shortage of domestic agricultural workers in Texas, Shoemaker told the Stanton group. This is no new problem — it has been with Texans for years, he added.

Farmers sometimes object that the current pool of domestic farm labor which TEC sends to the farms comprises workers not worth the current wage paid — much less higher wages. Higher pay to domestic workers apparently, is one possible way to offset loss of the braceros as year-around workers. Some of the domestic hands sent out as farm workers, classified as "tractor drivers," the farmers assert, know nothing of tractors or tractor operation.

TEC officials sadly report there is no ready answer to the problem.

The farmers were told at the Stanton meeting, and at each of the other similar meetings, that the TEC will work diligently to supply laborers for the farms and ranches.

Increased use of mechanical devices to harvest crops in inevitable view of the reduction of available bracero labor. Already there is a growing trend in this part of the state toward wider uses of mechanical cotton pickers and strippers.

Only Germ Here Was The Yeast

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Cheeko, the pet hamster in the L. L. Rozzell household, wasn't feeling well.

His eyes were glazed and bloodshot. He wobbled when he tried to walk.

The family thought about calling a veterinarian until they noticed a pungent odor coming from Cheeko's cage.

Several days ago Cheeko was given part of a fresh coconut. He ate his fill, then carted the leftovers into his cage.

The remains had fermented in a water dish. Cheeko wasn't sick—he was drunk.

Never Too Old

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A judge advised a man to put his son across his knee and "paddle him if he doesn't behave."

The father, J. A. Carraway, complained that his son, Melvin, objected to his plans to remarry.

The father is 81, the son 50, the intended bride 56.

Judge John W. Harris gave Carraway his advice, then fined the son $25 for disorderly conduct instead of placing him under a peace bond as the father had requested.

Final ROW Deal May Be Settled

Final right-of-way easement on US 87 north should be out of the way by next weekend, according to Ed Carpenter, county judge.

The Texas State Hospital Board has sent a letter to the County Commissioners Court in which the requirements previously set up as a requisite to right-of-way easements have been drastically modified.

Carpenter said that the commissioners have sent invitations to all house moving firms to make offers to remove the two residences on the Big Spring State Hospital property. He feels that the state board has dropped many of the expensive stipulations originally demanded and that the county can move the two buildings and stay inside the $7,436 available for the job.

The easement on the state hospital property has been tied up because the county would not agree to move the two residences and replace them as originally demanded by the state. Cost of such removal and restoration would have been more than double the $7,436 which has been earmarked for the job, the county complained.

Now the state has waived many costly details, Carpenter said. He reported that at least one house mover, who had made a bid under the original terms, has reported the job should now be possible for the money available.

The hospital property is all of the right-of-way as yet unobtainable by the county for the project.

When the easements from the state board are at hand, the way will be clear for the Texas Highway Commission to move ahead with its advertisement for bids for the job.

Compression Ratio Sets Fuel Needs

DETROIT (AP)—A few years back the owner's manual in one new model car included this line: "Congratulations! You are now able to use premium gas."

The reaction of many new owners, who knew premium was going to cost them four or five cents a gallon more than regular, was "Thanks for nothing."

What had happened was that the car had added a higher compression engine. Generally, the higher the compression ratio, the higher the octane required.

The octane rating is a measure of the antiknock quality of gasoline. The lower the octane the more readily the fuel tends to explode under pressure and high temperatures. This explosion is the knock you hear in your engine if the gas you are using is below your requirements.

Engines in 1962 model American cars range from an 8-to-1 compression ratio to 11.5-to-1. This means the combustion chamber in one cylinder is 8 to 11.5 times smaller when the fuel-air mixture is ignited than when the piston is at its lowest point. With higher compression, more of the energy in the gasoline is put to useful work.

If compression is doubled, say from 5-to-1 to 10-to-1, power and economy of the engine can be increased 25 to 35 per cent without increasing fuel consumption. This is the main argument for premium fuel engines—that while the cost per gallon of premium fuel is more, the cost per mile may well be less.

The question of whether regular or premium gas is better for your particular car often is a baffling one, especially if the car is one of the popular price makes. Foreign economy cars definitely are in the regular ranks. The upper medium price and luxury brackets automatically require premium.

All the American compacts and low-price standard cars recommend regular for their standard engines. Most of the medium-price lines offer at least one regular gas engine.

However, a recent survey for the Petroleum Chemicals Division of DuPont showed the national average of regular-grade gasoline would satisfy only about 60 per cent of the 1961 model cars for which manufacturers had specified regular gas.

Traffic Death Rate Declines

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths in the first 10 months of this year—30,800—were 2 per cent lower than for a comparable period in 1960, the National Safety Council said today.

The NSC said this year's toll, with an estimated 2 per cent rise in travel, compared with 31,270 for the corresponding period in 1960. The October toll of 3,690 was the same recorded for the month a year ago, the council said.

The mileage death rate for the 10-month period was 5.1—per 100 million vehicle miles—compared with 5.2 for the same period in both 1959 and 1960, the NSC said.

Water Panel Sets Wichita Hearing

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Board of Water Engineers has set for Dec. 18 the resumption of a hearing on a proposal by the City of Wichita Falls to build a dam and reservoir on the Little Wichita River in Clay County.

Board Chairman Joe Carter said this is the first convenient date for opposition factions and the board.

Wichita Falls wants to construct a dam and reservoir to furnish future city water. A controversy over the dam site has been going on for several years.

ONE BODY

By T. H. Tschol, preacher, Church of Christ, 2000 West Highway 80, P.O. Box 1283.

"There is one body . . ." (Eph. 4:4). This one body is the church (Eph. 1:22, 23).

Thus, there is one church. This is not denying that there are various political bodies, social bodies etc. The Bible is dealing with religious matters.

Neither does this deny that there are many religious bodies. The Bible reveals the will of God and shows what He recognizes. He recognizes one body. It is like the Bible teaching on one God. Paul said, ". . . There are gods many, but to us there is but one God . . ." (I Cor. 8:5, 6). In other words, the Bible recognizes only one God, and we must recognize only one. So it is with regard to the "one body". God is not pleased that we should recognize and support just any religious body. We must find and accept the true church. Neither are we to limit the body of Christ to 144,000 in membership, then teach there is another class of God's people. This is in effect teaching there are two bodies. "There is one body" (Eph. 4:4). Plan to be with us Sunday. —adv.

A Devotional for Today

The people who walked in darkness have seen a great light; those who dwell in a land of deep darkness, on them has light shined. (Isaiah 9:2, RSV.)
PRAYER: O Christ, Thou light eternal, shine within my heart today. Bring light to the hidden corners, and cleanse of the dirt and dust that have accumulated there. Show me my own unworthiness that I may learn to turn to Thee, who art the pure light. Grant me these petitions for Thine own most holy name's sake. Amen.

We Must Provide For Growth

Nate White, business and financial editor of the Christian Science Monitor, makes a serious observation about the American economy.

The United States is not increasing its investment for growth fast enough, or in sufficient power for its competitive position in today's world, he concludes.

One of the factors weighing heavily upon this is an analysis which shows that Americans now consign approximately one-fifth of their total output to their various levels of government. In 1949, they gave more than one-eighth to this part of the economy, and by 1955 the total government purchase of goods and services had reached nearly one-sixth.

Current expenditures are at the rate of about $151,300,000 whereas 10 years ago they were $79,400,000. Within a decade the dollar expenditures by government (this includes district, local, state and federal) have doubled. Not all of this has been an economic loss, for it has generated a huge amount of business, but government is not productive within itself. Hence its dollars are largely diverted dollars.

On the other hand gross private domestic investment has bobbed along until there is no really significant change. Similarly, the rate of exports has fluctuated in such a way that it is only up by about 40 per cent over a decade ago. In dollars, the gain has been about a billion, but it is about two billion under the decade's peak. In so many words, little has been done to make our export trade grow.

Mr. White contends that we must invest more in growth. By invest he means not only more funds to replace obsolete machinery and plants, but also to invest more in training of young workers, mechanics, industrial technicians, more in better business and operation methods, also increased industrial research. Ultimate, these reduce themselves to one word—money. Hence, it is wise to look to tax and other policies which will encourage these investments.

Guardsmen Entitled To Sound Care

The inspector general, Maj. Gen. Edward H. McDaniel, has been checking the situation at Ft. Lewis, Wash., where the 32nd Division of the National Guard has been in training since recall to active duty. He is reported to be talking at length with privates as well as with officers and taking a first hand look at conditions in general.

President Kennedy took cognizance of the visit and tied it to the wave of complaints which have been received from this and other units concerning lack of facilities and equipment.

Some of this is to be expected, for it's hardly reasonable to expect men to be uprooted and to be completely happy even under the most favorable of circumstances. Thus the President was correct in underlining again the importance of the contribution these men are making to the prevention of war through preparedness.

Yet, the complaints have been such that a close-hand look is in order at the various facilities. From what we can hear, the situation at Camp Polk, La. may be no better than at Fort Lewis. Our men in the 42nd Armored Division are at Camp Polk, and word from them indicates that they are not adequately clothed and otherwise cared for. No one expects camp life to be a bowl of cherries, but it is only reasonable to expect that Guardsmen being given every bit as good treatment as the regulars. That should be done—must be done—and when it is, all the other can be put down to the traditional right of GIs to beef.

David Lawrence Lack Of Continuity In Government

WASHINGTON—The shift in the staffs of the Department of State and the White House—involving 10 positions that are related to the making of foreign policy—should be an eye opener to the American people.

It is a tragic example of experimentation, lack of system, and the evil effect of partisan politics on the efficient conduct of government.

ALREADY IT IS BEING said that President Kennedy learns well from "experience" and that his latest changes do not involve structure or policies but people. He himself says the shifts in personnel are intended to "provide more effective matching of people with responsibilities."

But these are mere euphemisms that gloss over a palpable defect in the political system. For why must the American people suffer a change of administration in the midst of a world crisis, and when this happens, why must some of the most experienced personnel in the different departments of government be let out because they happen to be Republicans or Democrats, as the case may be? Does the British Foreign Office change its main personnel below the rank of foreign minister every time there's a change of party? Of course not. Continuity is considered essential.

THE MOMENT this example is mentioned hereabouts, however, the politicians immediately say that "career diplomats" are unimaginative or stodgy or lacking in capacity to administer. But who said that all "career diplomats" were capable in the first place? Does the fact that a man got his initial appointment through politics and served 20 years mean that this makes him an efficient member of the foreign staff? The answer is that in government, as well as in private business, there has to be a constant measurement of efficiency, and someone must be allowed to fire the incompetent and hire the competent.

TAKE THE CASE of Chester Bowles. He came out of Madison Avenue's advertising world to enter politics. He was in the Office of Price Administration during World War II, serving as price administrator from 1943 to 1946. He was later elected governor of Connecticut and served as ambassador to India for two years during the Truman administration. While a member of Congress, he had the foresight in 1959 to come out for the nomination of John F. Kennedy as the Democratic presidential candidate, long before many of the other politicians did. This helped the Kennedy cause. When convention time arrived, the Kennedy forces were able to name Mr. Bowles to be chairman of the all-important platform committee. It was a reward for his energetic service in behalf of the Kennedy candidacy in the pre-convention months. He campaigned effectively later on, too.

WHEN MR. KENNEDY was elected President, it was natural for the politicians generally to feel that Mr. Bowles should be given a real plum, perhaps in the Cabinet. He himself wanted to be Secretary of State. He was plainly disappointed when he had to be satisfied with the post of Under Secretary of State. At that time nobody argued whether Mr. Bowles could fill that job efficiently. Everything was in a tizzy anyway. The "New Frontier" was being outlined as the new Utopia and "bold and imaginative" people were being extolled as prospective members of the new administration.

THEN ALL of a sudden something strange happened. It was announced at inauguration time that a staff of advisers on foreign policy would surround the President at the White House even though Dean Rusk was designated to be Secretary of State. The speculation began as to whether Mr. Rusk or the White House staff would be the boss of the State Department and foreign policy. The glib answer given was that nobody but the President could be boss anyway and that everybody would listen to everybody else's advice, and things would go all right.

Then came the Cuban "invasion" fiasco. It so happens Mr. Bowles was one of the opponents of the adventure, so he seemed later to be vindicated. It now is being said apologetically that, because of all this, it wasn't politic or expedient to demote him at that time. Now it is being asserted that, while he is a man of imagination and ability, he is not an administrator. If true, it seems strange this wasn't known earlier. He now has been appointed "The President's special representative and adviser on African, Asian and Latin-American affairs."

IT IS ALSO being announced that some of those who have been on the White House staff will occupy positions at the State Department now, and that all this has the approval of Secretary Rusk. One wonders why it took more than 10 months to find out that the Secretary of State either must be the boss or he becomes just one of a dozen advisers sitting around the President, who makes the final decision on foreign policy.

SOONER OR LATER the American people will insist on continuity of government at the departmental level at least, and someday also they will sanction elections only at times when the national interest will not be imperiled. They will favor a system that doesn't permit nine months of campaigning to interrupt public business but one that permits an instant change at the helm if desired. Such a selection would be made—as in Britain and Canada—by the duly elected representatives of the people in the national legislature. They would choose as the nation's leader someone from the group of legislators who had already had leadership experience.

MORRIS

TWO WRONGS DON'T MAKE A RIGHT

James Marlow Trying To Read K's Mind

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev, despite all the heat over Berlin, have kept their own personal relationship as restrained as a minut.

Nevertheless, the No. 1 mystery is why Khrushchev has quieted down.

The meeting between the two men in Vienna last June 2-4 was, on the surface, a pleasant session in which they sought to know each other. Underneath it was about as tough as a meeting can be.

It was there, face to face with Kennedy, that Khrushchev began the Berlin crisis by demanding the city be henceforth "free." He predicted the eventual triumph of communism through wars of "liberation."

FOR MONTHS afterward Khrushchev worked overtime to force Kennedy back on his heels with speeches, talks, bomb-warnings, building the Berlin wall and, finally, resuming nuclear tests.

Kennedy, reporting on his meeting when he returned home, said the United States would stand firm. He added that Khrushchev should not be blamed for all the world's troubles, outlined a program to resist communism everywhere, and began a military buildup.

Since then Kennedy has talked repeatedly of his determination not to let Khrushchev get away with Berlin.

But never, in all this long-range and often long-winded dialogue has either man said an unfriendly or derogatory word about the other. This has left the door open for future reasonable dealings.

Khrushchev even sent his newspaperman son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, over here to interview Kennedy at White House request, giving the President a chance to state his position in full in the Russian government newspaper, Izvestia.

KHRUSHCHEV had the same relationship with President Eisenhower until the American U2 spy plane, brought down over Russia, embarrassed him. Then he belittled Eisenhower and broke up the 1960 summit meeting.

In the current situation, this is the big puzzle:

Why Khrushchev, from about the time the 22nd Communist party congress met in Moscow last October, suddenly quieted down on Berlin and even postponed indefinitely the deadline for a settlement which he wanted by year's end.

There have been suggestions he did it because he was having so much trouble at home.

That makes no sense. He was master of the congress, got endorsement for humiliating old diehard Bolsheviks like Molotov, and so thoroughly discredited the image of Stalin that the old dictator's body was removed from its tomb.

NOR COULD his troubles with Red China and Tibet Albania, which seem to think he's not aggressive enough, look like a factor in cooling off his ardor on Berlin. He's not about to have war with Red China. Albania hardly counts.

It would be more reasonable to think Kennedy's show of determination persuaded Khrushchev not to push the Berlin business to an explosion.

Any suggestion about Khrushchev's motive for quieting down on Berlin is sheer guessing.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sounds that always precede Christmas:

"You just get finished paying for one Christmas—and then the next one comes along."

"Who invented Santa Claus anyway?"

"I hope you saved the cards we got last year, Myrtle. Otherwise, how will we know who to send cards to this year?"

"Dickie, I've already taken you to see the Santa Claus at Macy's. Why do you have to see the Santa Claus at Gimbel's, too? When you've seen one Santa Claus, you've seen them all."

"I love this time of year. Everybody is so sentimental and gay."

"I hate this season. Somehow, it always makes me feel blue."

"Don't you think it's time you sat down and wrote your annual letter to Aunt Martha, Susie? After all, it's just before Christmas, and if you let Aunt Martha know what you want—"

"All right, all right—so you didn't like the Christmas tree I picked out last year? So this year you pick one out—and lug it home yourself?"

"Well, it only comes once a year—thank heavens!"

"Yeah, I read her letter to Santa Claus. It don't make sense to me. She's got 10 dolls already. What does she want four more for?"

"Could you fit me out with a pair of arch supports, doctor? I sell in a department store—and it's pure murder on the feet from now until the end of the year."

"I'd like to exchange this sweater I bought for my husband last Christmas. He's finally decided he doesn't really like it."

"Look, Maude, for the last time I tell you—I don't want nothing for Christmas except some little peace and quiet. Now can I please finish reading my newspaper?"

"Every time you wife hears the sound of 'Jingle Bells' she seems to go crazy. She tries to buy out every store in town."

"George has already bought me a milk stool for Christmas, but he doesn't know it. I haven't told him yet."

"If your cousin likes unusual neckties, how about this one? It's made from the skin of a cobra."

"Bobby, you come out of that closet this very minute. No, mommy isn't trying to hide those packages. She's just—just keeping them for a friend. They're no concern of yours."

"You mean your boss only gives you a box of chocolates? My boss gives me a $25 gift certificate, a bottle of scotch—and a kiss. If there's nobody else in the office."

"Could I please have a one-way ticket to Timbuktu or Bali—or anyplace else where they don't play Christmas tunes on the radio?"

To Your Good Health Bath Therapy Helped Strained Back Muscles

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
A little incident—but not such a "little" one to the man involved—came to my attention the other day. It involves a person who periodically has trouble with his back, because of strained muscles.

People who have this particular form of back trouble will sympathize thoroughly. However, there isn't much that can be done actively to correct it. The muscles simply have to take the time necessary to repair themselves.

The longer the patient can keep from repeating a strain on them, the more thoroughly the muscles can regain strength. Braces or special corsets are, in some instances, necessary, sometimes, taping, as a temporary support, is useful. The purpose is the same: To afford rest and prevent further damage while Nature does the healing.

Despite what can be done in this direction, some casual act of lifting, or turning, or moving too suddenly can bring back the strain and the pain—again, those who have experienced it, know how miserable this can make one. To get to the point of today's remarks, the patient in this case was utterly unable to find any comfortable position for sitting or lying or standing. In whatever position he took, the injured muscles were under stress, and the back hurt!

The answer? So simple that it makes one wonder why it isn't used oftener. He just filled the bath tub quite full, and lay in it, totally submerged except for his face.

The buoyancy of the water carried his weight as he floated there, relieving the back muscles of any strain.

The pain vanished as long as he stayed in the tub—and all the while the muscles were mending at maximum speed.

He spent most of his waking hours in the tub for several days, but at the end of that time he was able to go back to work in comfort. (He rigged a rack across the tub and caught up on a lot of reading, by the way.)

We should remember, of course, that all back pains are NOT muscle strains. The full bathtub is no cure-all. Careful diagnosis is a basic necessity.

But where the problem is to take the strain off back muscles for a time, what better way is there than to let the water do all the work?

"Dear Dr. Molner: Your comments, please, on the enclosed article on seat belts for automobiles. Which type is best?—D. B."

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is the difference between Negro and white blood?—Mrs. J."

Given two samples of blood, a laboratory expert can't detect which blood came from which color of person. They are the same. Blood is just a useful (and necessary) fluid. It doesn't determine what a person is. Does a blood transfusion from a red-head to a blonde make the blonde grow red hair? Of course not!

As long as a person is healthy, he can give blood to a blood bank and the blood will be useful to any patient who needs a transfusion. It isn't blood that determines race: it's heredity—in few germ cells.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim The Birth And Death Of Carla

Once upon a time, in the far regions of the Equator, Father Sun shined his glory upon Mother Ocean.

Mother Ocean in due time gave birth to a cloud of vapor, which rose gently into the hot tropical air above. It was not a big cloud, as Mother Ocean would have deemed it, merely a baby. Yet, there were creatures, tiny beings unnoticed by Sun, Ocean or Cloud, who would have called the baby a giant.

The Earth continued to spin on her axis, and this sent the baby wafting softly northward, away from the Equator. She had a slight spin, not enough to be noticeable.

ONE OF THE TINY creatures had figured, mathematically what the spin of Earth would do to giant clouds of vapor, as well as to water pouring down drains. The force he discovered was named after him, the Coriolis force.

It is a simple study in solid geometry. Earth spins fastest at the Equator, barely turns at the poles. And at any two points between, there will be a differential in velocity. Molecules of water vapor drifting eastward will be re-inforced by the earth's spin; those drifting westward will be slowed.

Those molecules nearest the Equator will receive a greater boost; those on the northern rim will receive less.

AND SO THE BABY began to spin into a deadly dance. As Earth's rotation threw her further northward, the Coriolis forces threw her spinning dance into a frenzy.

But these were not the only sources of the Cloud's strength. Water vapor contains energy drawn from the Sun, and it is to condense once more into water, that energy must be given up. The Cloud's strength was inborn, in the bouncing speeding molecules of which she was made.

Soon, the tiny creatures took note of the Cloud, and gave her a name of their own choosing. They called her Carla.

AND CARLA STILL moved, impelled by the blind forces of nature, growing in fury as she crept over the waters. Some of her strength rained out from under her, but the drainage was not enough to halt the growth of Carla's strength, for she was now in the middle regions between Pole and Equator, where the Coriolis forces are strongest.

Soon, Carla struck something she had never known before—Land. There were rocks and trees and houses and hills, and these cut into Carla's strength, into her very body. Now she was forced to give up her inborn strength, and the rains fell as never before.

CARLA GROUND HERSELF to death against the roughness of Land, giving birth to small storms which scattered over Land and soon died also.

Carla died without knowing why she died nor why she was born—and without knowing that she had taken some of the tiny creatures with her.

Interview With 'Richest' Man

The title, "Richest Man in the World," is always up for grabs. In my lifetime it has been pinned on John D. Rockefeller Sr., Henry Ford, the Sultan of Kuwait, the kings of Saudi Arabia, the Nizam of Hyderabad, and more recently on another American entry, Paul Getty.

A MAN WITH a legitimate claim to the title, although he always modestly claimed that Henry Ford was really richer, died recently in Stockholm. He was Axel Wenner-Gren, Swedish billionaire, almost unknown to the postwar generation but much in the limelight, against his will, during World War II.

From the beginning of that war, he had been looked at askance by American authorities for alleged business dealings with the Nazis. But it was not until Jan. 14, 1942, that Wenner-Gren, despite powerful friends in this country, was blacklisted by the United States government.

ALTHOUGH Wenner-Gren was still persona grata in the United States in December, 1940, it is only fair to record that there was a good bit of surprise in this country when the Duke of Windsor, then governor of the Bahamas, and his Duchess sailed from Nassau to Miami Beach in the Wenner-Gren yacht, Southern Cross.

The purpose of the trip was the extraction of an abscessed and impacted tooth in the Duchess's right lower jaw. A farsighted editor sent me flying south to record this epochal event. Half of Florida turned out to greet the Southern Cross on its arrival, not only because it was the Duchess's first trip to her native land since her marriage, but because it is not every day that one can hope to see a duchess with a toothache, even as you and I.

OF COURSE, Mr. and Mrs. Wenner-Gren accompanied their distinguished guests to Miami Beach. Since Wenner-Gren was much in the public eye at the time and there were all sorts of rumors as to his position vis-a-vis Hitler, it seemed obvious to a reporter that while the tooth might be a story, an interview with Wenner-Gren would be a real coup.

WENNER-GREN was a tall, exceptionally handsome man, crowned even then with a thatch of white hair. He was a man of charm as well as of acute intelligence. With sweet reasonableness he answered all of my tough questions about his association with the Hitler government and his dealings with the Nazis and the Fascists. In short, he vehemently denied everything.

However, he insisted that I write the interview on board the yacht and that he be permitted to read it. This was a bitter pill for a reporter. But I wrote the interview, which, with great firmness, he slashed to pieces. That is, he removed all the strong denunciations of Nazism and Fascism that I had recorded in his exact words.

I LEFT THE YACHT with a good interview, all right, but not with the first-rate piece of copy it had been in the original. Wenner-Gren had cleverly deleted everything that might have offended the Axis powers.

When I went to leave the Southern Cross, Wenner-Gren asked me if I had transportation. As it turned out I did. The yacht-basin was in an out-of-the-way place and I had engaged a taxi, by the hour, to stand by. At this intelligence, Wenner-Gren asked if I would drop him off in Miami.

WHEN I LET HIM out of the cab, I at least got a clue as to what made him the richest man in the world even if I still failed to comprehend what made him tick. Because the richest man in the world stepped out of the cab, took my hand and said "thank you" without even offering to pay his share of the fare! Ah, well, that's why swindle sheets were born. Marquis Childs Modernizing The State Department

WASHINGTON — While the dust settles, to use a classic phrase employed by an earlier Secretary of State in quite a different context, it is hard to see the significance of the reconstituted State Department in terms other than the President's own tightened grip on the formulation of foreign policy.

CHESTER BOWLES is in a sense a victim; caught in the switches of an over-blown machine that carries into the jet age much of the apparatus of the horse-and-buggy era. Adding to the irony of Bowles' removal from the No. 2 spot is the fact that, according to his associates, he had recommended many of the changes now ordered by the White House.

Nowhere is the dilemma of a revolutionary age — an old world lingering on in desuetude, a new world struggling to be born — more sharply illustrated than in the Department of State. The uses of traditional diplomacy, many of them going back to the Congress of Vienna and the early years of the last century, are like the frosting on a cake when the cake no longer exists.

THIS THE Kennedy administration quickly discovered. Traditional diplomats in untraditional posts, such as those in Africa where the struggle with communism and chaos is waged by highly unconventional means, were handicapped. Part of Bowles' effort was to replace these men with either younger professionals or with outsiders who would begin with a hard new look at the grim facts of life.

HE PUSHED the appointment of Edwin O. Reischauer, a foremost American scholar in Japanese history and language, to be Ambassador to Japan. In so doing he increased the enmity of the traditionalists who felt that Bowles was intruding on their sphere, since this post had always gone to a professional diplomat.

The spokesman for the professionals was a greatly admired former Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, who emerged bloody but unbowed from the grave crisis precipitated by the collapse of Chiang Kai-shek on mainland China. It was Acheson who said in a historic speech with something less than his customary felicity that the dust would have to settle before China policy could be determined.

ACHESON BECAME one of the principal critics of Bowles, and Bowles's associates do not pretend that it was merely the direction of the department which was at issue. Bowles believes that Acheson was responsible for squelching a proposal he put forward in February for the West to take the initiative on West Berlin in the hope the Soviet Union could for a change be made to say no. Acheson was chief consultant to the President on Germany.

Temperaments and personalities, political rivalries, are surely involved. But the problem in the State Department goes much deeper. Whether it is resolved by the changes just announced is an open question. George W. Ball named to the No. 2 spot, is proving an able and dedicated public servant with a sense of mission on the question looming ever more important — the trade relations between the United States and a unified Europe. He was Adlai Stevenson's faithful lieutenant in his political campaigns.

THE CHARGE most frequently brought against Bowles was that he was no administrator and that the No. 2 job called for administration. The fact is, of course, that Bowles has had more administrative experience than most officials brought into the department in recent years. This was first in building up a large and successful advertising business and then in directing the wartime Office of Price Administration and as Governor of Connecticut.

ACHESON is a brilliant lawyer, as was the late John Foster Dulles. Ball is a lawyer. More often than not the department has been run by lawyers. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was a teacher before he began his career in government. Administrator or no, Bowles has a voice, an eloquence, that speaks to the great and troubling issues. It is a voice heard at home and abroad and there will be many to feel its loss if it is to be muted. (Copyright, 1961, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Methodist Women Hear Talk By Mrs. Paul V. Galloway

An attentive audience of some 125 women heard Mrs. Paul Galloway Thursday night, when she spoke at Wesley Methodist Church. The wife of Bishop Galloway, she gave an outlined report of their tour in England, Scotland and Scandinavian countries, when she and her husband attended the 10th World Methodist Conference, Oslo, Norway. Speaking informally, Mrs. Galloway also told of personal impressions and highlights of the conference. Methodists being a minority group in Norway, the presence of the king was most impressive, according to the visitor.

Galloway said. In relation to this she quoted a conference speaker who said, "Pessimism in a citizen is like cowardice in a soldier." During their stay in Oslo, Mrs. Galloway also attended sessions of the conference held by the World Federation of Methodist Women. She told briefly of the women's assembly, having as its theme, "Jesus Christ A Significant Power."

Alpha Chi To Assist Cheer Fund

At a meeting of the Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, members voted to donate $10 to the Christmas Cheer Fund as an immediate project.

She reported that there was some criticism in which the conference was said to be tremendously theological, however the whole meeting was one of optimism, Mrs. Galloway pointed out. Theme of the event was "New Life In The Spirit." Stressed in the speaker's report was "Each individual is important, and all mankind is of the family of God, in God's world."

Prior to the talk, given in the sanctuary of the church, Mrs. Galloway was honored guest for a dinner, served in Fellowship Hall by women of the church. Introduced by Mrs. Bill Watson, Mrs. Cletis Bates gave the invocation.

ADVISES NEWLYWEDS

Dr. Robert W. Burns Is Cupid's Counselor

By KATHRYN JOHNSON ATLANTA (AP)—Dr. Robert W. Burns is a man who knows how to tie a cupid's bow tightly.

to see a physician to be told all about the physical side of marriage," the minister explains.

As pastor of the non-denominational Peachtree Christian Church, he gives newlyweds advice on everything from lovemaking to budgeting. He does it, he says, because he's seen "thousands of couples change from a state of holy wedlock to unholy deadlock."

"They all think they know everything about sex. The truth is, they're plumb ignorant."

Dr. Burns has married more than 3,400 couples. He knows of only a few who have been divorced. "It's impossible to keep an exact account, since couples have scattered throughout the world," he says.

NO CHARGE ACCOUNTS Dr. Burns urges them to tell the truth to each other about any debts they may have, to draw up a workable financial budget—and to cancel all charge accounts.

HE HEARS COMPLAINTS It's been said that Dr. Burns does everything for the couples he marries except teach the bride how to cook.

"I recommend that every couple spend an hour one night a week talking about nothing except money. I tell them: 'No television, no radio, no company for the hour. Don't even answer the doorbell. Write your checks and budget, then you won't have to yak-yak about money for the rest of the week.'"

HE EXACTS A PROMISE that if a couple ever thinks of getting a divorce, they'll see him before they see a lawyer.

"I've an exclusive franchise in the complaint department," Dr. Burns says. "Of the couples who have come back, I've been able to keep them all married but one. 'I have the prospective bride and groom come to see me for a premarital conference. I ask them

Secret pals were revealed at a meeting of the Forsan Home Demonstration Club Tuesday afternoon in the Forsan Clubhouse.

And he tells them how to quarrel if they simply have to disagree. 'He's no saint out of heaven and neither are you,' Burns tells the bride. 'There are rules of quarreling. You've got to fight fair. It's not fair to accuse your wife of not cooking like your mother. Or for her to say her husband doesn't make the money her father does. 'Too many couples spend time trying to make each other unhappy. Immature selfishness is the biggest cause of divorce.' Dr. Burns says. 'I've seen a few individuals that an angel couldn't live with.'"

Shows Samples

Bill Jay, owner and manager of the Carpet Store, 1307 Gregg Street, shows samples of the new carpet, "Bright Dream" by Lees. The shop deals exclusively in carpeting and rugs featuring only brand name products. Stop by the store at your leisure and examine these samples. If more convenient, Jay will display them in your home and help figure the amount of carpet you will need. Free estimates are gladly given on request.

New Pattern Makes Carpet Store Debut

"Bright Dream" is the newest pattern in the family of heavenly carpets by Lees. Carpet Store owners Bill and Loucille Jay are the newly authorized Lees carpet dealers in Big Spring and already have the new pattern in stock. "Bright Dream," like all other Lees patterns, is registered for customer protection. "We are very proud of the comments we hear about Lees carpet," said Jay. "It is proving that it can take real wear, clean easily and still look lovely. That's what you want when you invest in carpet." Jay says that the colors in Lees carpet are in to stay so you need not worry about fading. Lees craftsmen use the finest dyes on the market to obtain their enviable richness and clarity in carpet colors. Using fine wools and tested nylons, Lees has created colors, textures and patterns suitable for every type room. Lees carpet can look at home in anything from the nursery to a formal dining room," say its makers. "We are Big Spring's only carpet specialists dealing exclusively with carpeting," explained Jay, "so I feel that we are well-qualified to answer any question or solve any problem our customers might have with carpeting."

Jay does not consider a sale final until his customer is completely satisfied. He urges carpet buyers to take their time in examining the hundreds of samples on display in the store at 1307 Gregg Street. Comparing quality and price before the purchase will save headaches later, he says.

Bill and Loucille invite you to consult with them before carpeting a new home or replacing worn floor covering. They will be glad to figure your space and estimate your costs before one dime is spent. For courteous service and quality products, dial AM 3-4611.

Good Tires Help Driver Become A Safer Motorist

Whether it's on the highway or city streets, driving is never safe without an alert driver behind the wheel and good tires on the automobile. Creighton Tire Company believes you are safer with Seiberling. The name Seiberling is respected not only by motorists, but by the thousands of ranchers and farmers who use their products from year to year. They know that Seiberling truck and tractor tires take rough terrain in stride and give you every nickle's worth of wear you expect of them. West Texas is sometimes rough and rocky; "sissy" tires won't stand up long under actual working conditions—but Seiberling will. Back in town, the paved streets may seem easier on tires but here, too, they really take a testing. Controlled traffic means many starts and stops. A pedestrian jay-walking or child darting into the street means instant danger where tires must grab the concrete and really hold. That's when you need Seiberling, with their built-in safety features. Why worry about blowouts, too, with old-fashioned tires when you can easily have the peace of mind that comes with Seiberling puncture proof tires?

DEAR ABBY

Broke Her Own Home

DEAR ABBY: I have been seeing a married man for three years. I was married and had children when this started. He led me to believe that he was happiest when he was with me, and was miserable with his wife. I took trips with him, and spent time in motels with him. My husband found out about us and divorced me and took the children. I didn't fight it because I thought this man would divorce his wife and marry me, but everything changed overnight. His wife forgave him, and he dropped me without explanation. Now he seems happy with his wife. How can any self-respecting wife forgive a man for something like that? Also, how can I make him see what he owes me? He broke up my home. HIGH AND DRY

DEAR HIGH AND DRY: It is easy for a "self-respecting wife" to forgive a man for something like this. All it takes is common sense and a determination to keep one's family together. He owes you nothing. You broke up your own home—he merely helped.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound silly, but I would like your opinion. What do you think of a guy who writes you a letter with 36 personal pronouns referring to himself and only 10 to you? We are both 17. TERRY

DEAR TERRY: Your boy has "I-strain." Perhaps his condition will improve with age.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is not unique. It's that age-old in-law problem. My in-laws couldn't be nicer, but I am getting sick and tired of seeing them. They come over every night of the week and all day Sunday. My husband and I both work, and when we get home at night we spend the entire evening entertaining his folks. Every Sunday I have to cook dinner for four. If we tell them we are having company, they come anyway, and share our guests. I really have nothing against them, but how can I let them know that too much is too much? DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

DEAR DAUGHTER-IN-LAW: This is a "job" for your husband. He should tell them, in a nice way, that their visits should be less frequent. It's a touchy business which can result in serious problems later if it isn't corrected now.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CHARLES IN S. F.: Silence is often guilt instead of golden.

Birth Control Pill Is Tested

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Researchers at UCLA say a new oral contraceptive has shown these results in a four-year test: Only six unplanned pregnancies among 570 women who took the drug, and five of the pregnancies followed incorrect usage of the contraceptive pills.

The drug "can be prescribed for at least two years with assurance as to its probable safety," Dr. Edward T. Tyler and Dr. Henry J. Olson of the UCLA Planned Parenthood Center said. Fifty-six of the women reported some nausea, 151 said they had menstrual irregularities. But the doctors said these effects tended to disappear after the first few cycles.

Weight gain was reported by 120, weight loss by 37. Many had weight problems before they started taking the drugs.

The researchers said pregnancy was readily achieved after discontinuance of the drug.

Sheltered Life Leads To Disaster

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—John Rowe is back at work after spending 19 days recovering from a fall into his fallout shelter.

The 12 x 36-foot underground shelter he built brought lavish praise from civil defense engineers. Such crowds came to see the model shelter that Rowe bought a $10,000 insurance policy as protection in case anyone got hurt around it.

He discovered a hitch in the policy after he fell through the escape hatch, cracking several ribs. He wasn't covered.

A contract totaling $42,279 for repair of steam lines at Webb AFB was awarded this week to the William Sheet Metal Company, Big Spring. Capt. Harry C. Hon, AF Contracting Officer, said that 25 bids were invited and six were received.

Bartram To Run

AUSTIN (AP)—State Rep. Ray Bartram of New Braunfels says he will run for state senator from the 19th District. Bartram said State Sen. R. A. Weinert of Seguin, who has held the post for 26 years, plans to retire.

Red Gives JFK Interview Praise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov gave President Kennedy top marks for his performance in the interview with Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei. At a Yugoslav Embassy reception Menshikov said he thought both Adzhubei and the President had done very well in the interview.

"But the President was exceptionally good," Menshikov said, "in presenting the American point of view."

San Angelo Gets Roadway Assurance

State highway commissioners Thursday gave San Angelo representatives assurance that the re-routing of US 87 through San Angelo would be expedited. The commission went on record pledging up to $700,000 for right of way on the 9.1 mile section. Of this amount $50,000 will be made available immediately and the remainder as needed. San Angelo is on Oct. 28 provided $850,000 as the city's share toward expense of opening a modern traffic artery through the municipality. The project is due to begin south of San Angelo and move northward. Plans call for a 4-lane divided section from loop No. 306 northward to Red Arroyo; a 6-lane divided section from Red Arroyo to Avenue J; a 3-lane (1-way) section on Ave and on Koenigheim from Avenue J to 5th Street; a 6-lane divided section from 5th to 19th Street; 4-lane divided section from 19th to intersection with US 87 at Crawley Lane. Five new bridges will be installed.

It Was Brother Against Brother

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Staff Writer

The battle report from Percival Drayton, commander United States Navy, was laconic and formal.

"In passing," he wrote, "I engaged the batteries on Boy Point and Hilton Head, but soon getting out of range of the former, I directed my fire on the latter until signal was made about 2:30 to cease firing."

Cmdr. Drayton's report omitted a personal note: The commander of the enemy forces at Hilton Head was his brother, Thomas F. Drayton, brigadier general, Confederate States Army.

It was one of several occasions during the American Civil War when brother actually fired on brother.

Both Drayton boys were born in South Carolina, sons of an old aristocratic Southern family with roots deep in Beaufort County, the scene of their wartime meeting in November, 1861.

Their paths diverged early. Thomas went to West Point, then left the Army to become a plantation owner and railroad president in South Carolina. Percival joined the Navy as a midshipman at 16.

When war came, Percival was an ordnance officer at the Philadelphia Navy Yard with such strong Union sympathies that he insisted his Navy Register be changed to read "citizen of Philadelphia."

For this, the legislature of South Carolina officially declared him "infamous," to which the Union's Drayton retorted:

"I am for crushing the rebellion if we come down to the original three million (people) of the first Revolution in doing so, and I am quite willing that I should not be one of the survivors."

Percival Drayton commanded the sloop Pocahontas in Flag Officer Samuel F. Du Pont's fleet that set out to capture Port Royal, S.C. in the fall of '61. He, and everyone else in the fleet, was well aware that his brother Thomas led the Confederate defenders.

Although it cannot be said for certain, it is entirely probable that sometime between noon and 12:30 p.m. on Nov. 7 Thomas Drayton was dodging shells fired from his brother's ship. Neither Drayton was injured.

Pocahontas, arriving late on the scene, went into action against the fort on Hilton Head at noon. A half hour later, Gen. Drayton left the fort to muster his reserves—and still later to direct the Confederate evacuation.

Percival Drayton, who died shortly after the war ended, never mentioned the affair for the record. Neither did Thomas Drayton, who took up farming in Georgia after the war and later became an insurance man in Charlotte, N.C.

But, the story goes, their aged mother, Ann, mortally ill not far from the Port Royal battleground, heard of the engagement on her deathbed.

"Percy fired at Tom," she murmured. "Tom fired at Percy."

And the words sounded incredulous.

Sen. Thurmond Puts Blame On State Dept.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. J. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., says communism is advancing throughout the world because of what he terms "policies of paralysis" of the U.S. State Department.

Speaking to the First Congregational Church's Freedom Club, the senator Thursday night characterized the State Department as espousing the view, as he put it, "that we should not have won in Korea."

"We should have won in Korea," Thurmond told an estimated 1,000 persons at the Hollywood Palladium. "If we had, we would not be facing the big Communist menace today."

Thurmond, 1948 presidential candidate of the States' Rights Party, told an anti-Communist rally Wednesday that the U.S. military now is a primary target in the Communist propaganda offensive. He declared it was determined at a Moscow meeting nearly a year ago that something had to be done to stop anti-Communist talks by American military leaders.

The senator said a 1958 Defense Department directive — since countermanded — asked military leaders to conduct seminars on the dangers of communism.

He said the reason for this request was that "the military people are supposed to know the enemy... and they do know the enemy better than any other segment of our population."

"But what happened?"

"There was a meeting in Moscow last December at which it was determined something had to be done to stop it.

"Who was doing the most devilment to the Communists? Who was doing the most harm to the Communists?"

"It must have been the military. For Mr. Gus Hall, an official of the Communist party and a writer for the 'Worker,' an organ of the Communist party, came out and made this statement: He said a primary target was the military and its anti-Communist statements and seminars."

Truman Hits Ike Public Relations

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says President Eisenhower's administration put public relations above public service.

Speaking Thursday night at a St. Louis County Democratic committee dinner in his honor, Truman said Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon excelled in public relations.

"They lived by it, and they were good at it," he said. "They exalted form above substance, appearance above reality, and public relations above public service. In other words, they regarded the label as more important than the contents of the package."

His attack on Eisenhower came less than three weeks after a cordial meeting between the two former presidents at the Truman Library in Independence, Mo.

Daniel Asks Bankers For Escheat Ideas

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Bankers Association has been asked by Gov. Price Daniel to make a proposal to protect owners of inactive bank accounts.

Under state law, abandoned property escheats to the state after seven years, but Daniel said there is no way to collect it. The legislature passed a law requiring all individuals and firms holding such property to report it, but banks were not included in the law.

Daniel made the proposal in a letter to Lawrence Goforth of Comfort, president of the association, stating he would submit escheat legislation to a special session of the legislature "very soon."

Daniel's letter said he would accept any proposal which included three minimum provisions:

1. That no deposits of lost owners or missing heirs shall be transferred to the profits or capital of any bank or otherwise be reduced by charges or assessments while in a dormant condition.
2. That after depositors have been lost or unknown for more than seven years, reasonable diligence should be exercised to locate them, including advertising their names at least once in a local newspaper.
3. That any remaining deposits whose owners cannot be located for more than seven years shall be reported to the state and conserved by the state, still subject to delivery to owners or missing heirs who may be located any time thereafter.

Daniel has testified before a House committee that many national banks have transferred dormant accounts to bank profits.

Body Not That Of Missing Girl

MIAMI, Okla. (AP)—A fingerprint report shows a slaying victim whose nude body was found here Nov. 22 was not a missing Tahlequah, Okla., girl.

Sheriff Jim Cunningham said Thursday night fingerprints of the missing girl and those of the victim did not match.

Cunningham said it had been thought the missing girl might have been a companion of Glenn Woodall, 34, of Muskogee, who is held for questioning.

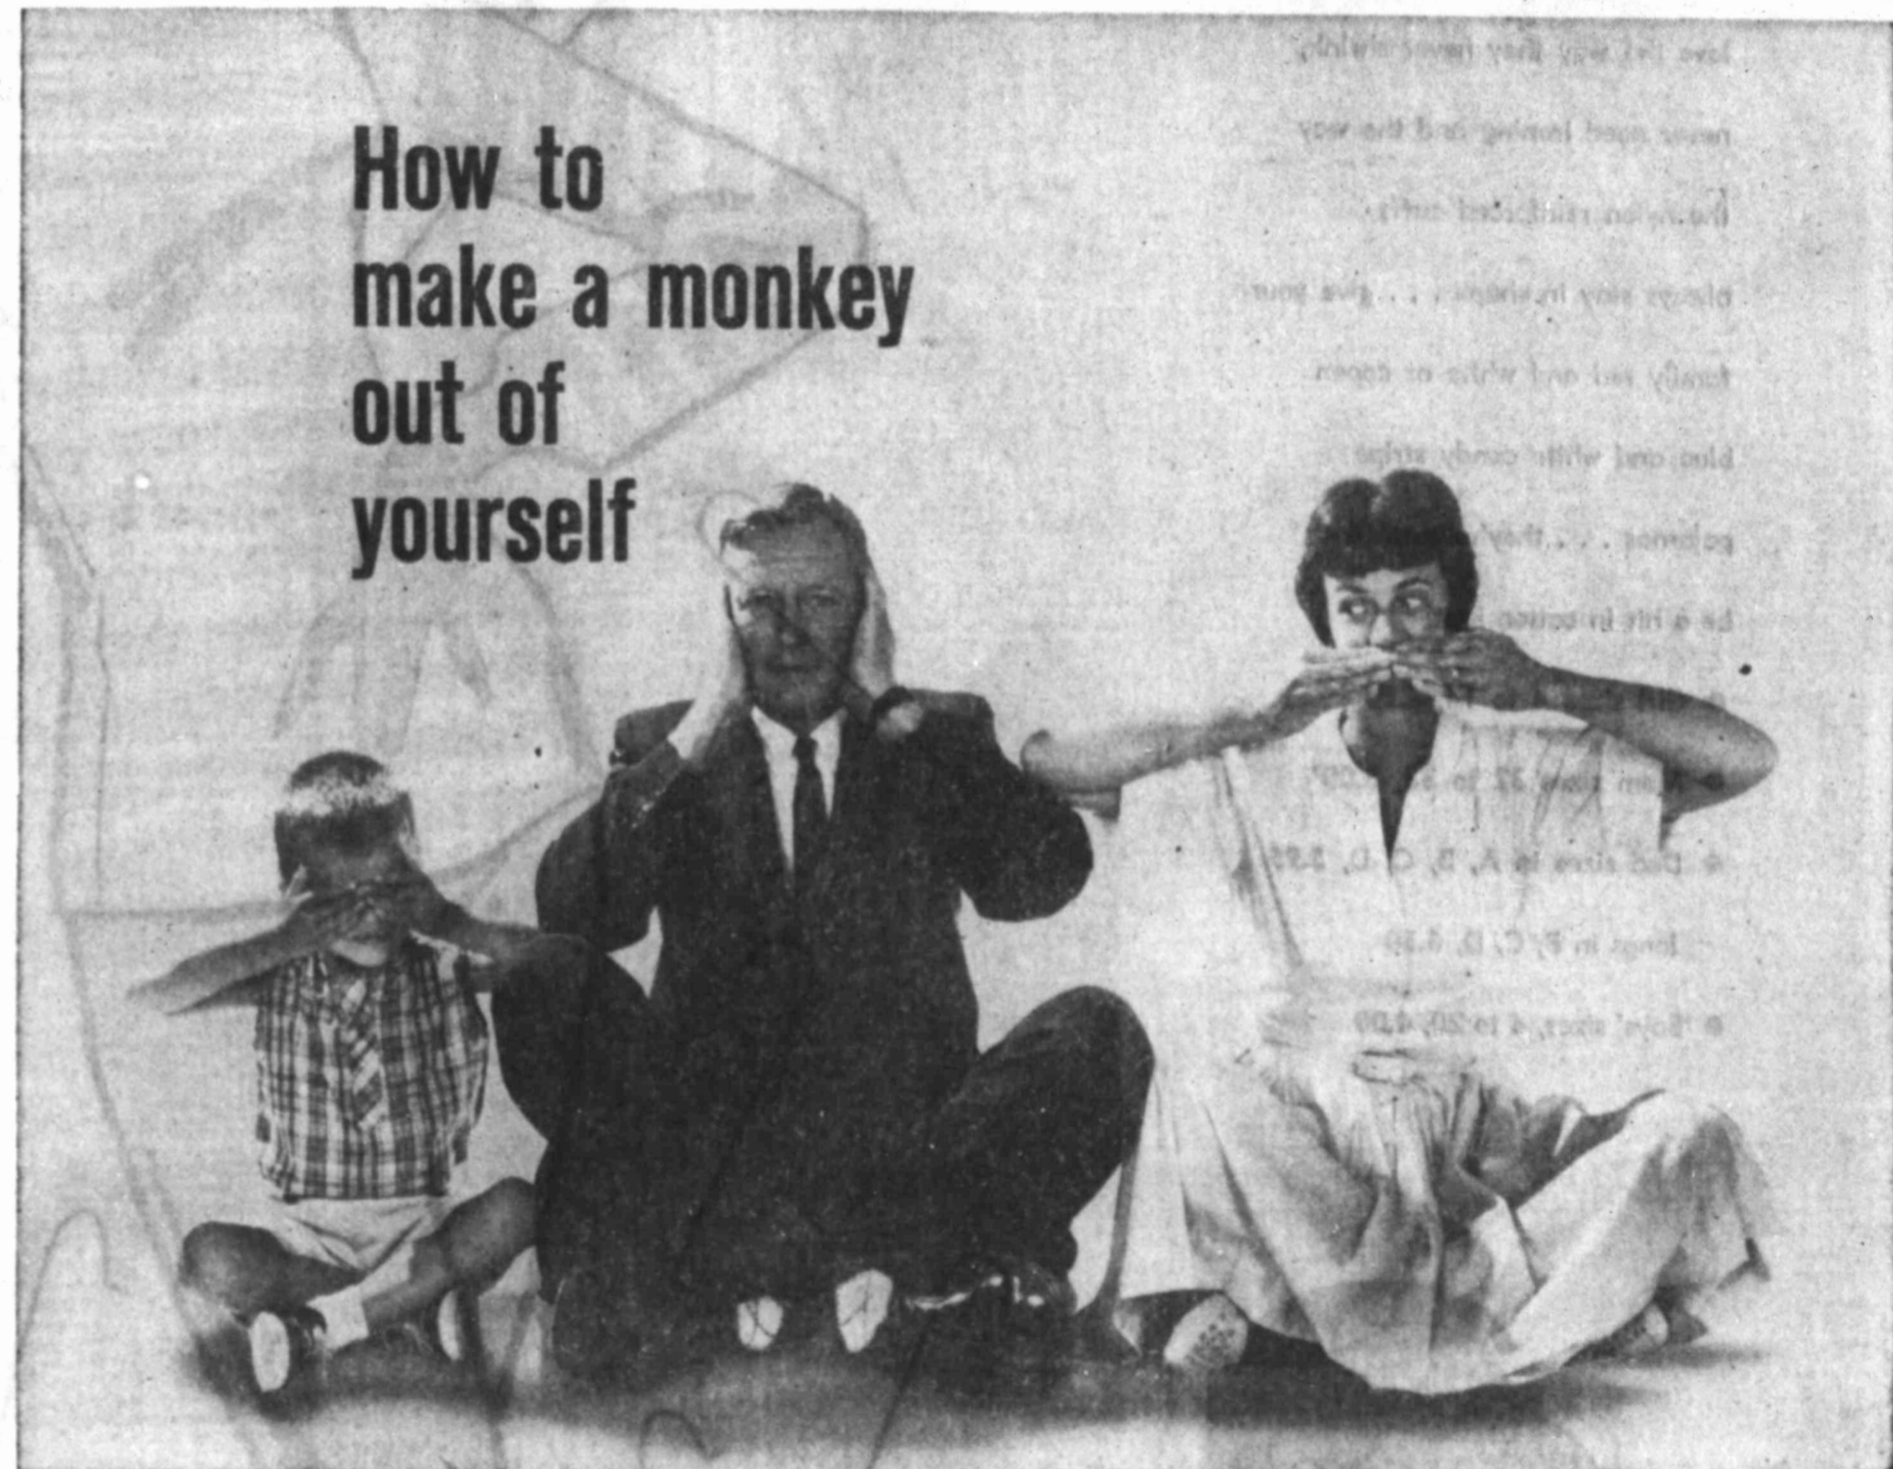

Cunningham said it had been thought the missing girl might have been a companion of Glenn Woodall, 34, of Muskogee, who is held for questioning.

A man who identified himself as Woodall called the sheriff's office here the night the body was found and said it was that of his wife, officers reported. They said he had reported his wife missing Nov. 17 in Joplin, Mo., but cancelled the report the next day.

Woodall was picked up in Fort Smith, Ark., Tuesday and brought here for questioning and a lie detector test.

SEE NO ADVERTISING

Don't read this ad. It's a defense of an important part of our American economy. Don't read the rest of the ads in this paper. The department store news. Supermarket specials. Apartments for rent. Help wanted. Don't look at the commercials on TV; the ads in your favorite magazine. If you get a headache, ignore it. If you catch cold, grin and bear it. If you suffer from irregularity, isn't sulfur and molasses good enough?

HEAR NO ADVERTISING

Don't listen to those funny radio commercials, those toe-tapping jingles. Wouldn't you rather hear: "Consumers, the State has just released a supply of standard-grade peaches in the plain No. 10 cans. Check to see if your store has been assigned a quota of these. Next, 1-pound loaves of white bread are..."

Don't listen when your neighbor tells you about that wonderful new washday product. With the built-in bleach that gets clothes shades whiter than grandma ever could by slaving over a hot wash tub. Your neighbor probably heard about it through advertising, you know.

SPEAK NO ADVERTISING

Don't tell anybody anything. Where you got that good looking suit. About the dishes they're giving away at the gas station. How much to pay for electric trains.

When anybody asks you, "What's new?", you'll be able to answer truthfully, "I don't know."

Don't get us wrong. We don't think advertising is perfect. How could it be? Advertising is not one man, or one company — it's thousands of products, thousands of ideas. There are bound to be errors in fact, judgment and taste. This isn't offered as an excuse for the small percent of bad ads. It is our promise to do everything we can to make it smaller. TGP

Red Party Leaders Making Selves Scarce

By JAMES DEVLIN
NEW YORK (AP)—The government drive against the Communist party in the United States leads to a nondescript three-story, red-brick building in midtown Manhattan.

This is the party's national headquarters, seven short blocks south of the Empire State building and a few steps off Fifth Avenue, at 23 W. 26th St.

The government set a deadline of midnight Thursday night for the party leaders to register as arms of the Soviet Union. They have refused on the ground they will not "lend their signatures to such a lie."

They are faced with what "The Worker," the Communist newspaper, calls "monstrous penalties"—five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for each day of violation.

One of the party's first reactions was to slash the number of its officers to three.

NAMES GIVEN
The party declines to identify them publicly, but Claude Lightfoot, a former party official, told Chicago's American they are: Gus Hall, general secretary, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, chairman; and Benjamin Davis, national secretary.

A party spokesman declined to say how many officers the party had previously.

Lightfoot said his posts as national vice chairman and Illinois chairman of the party were among those abolished at a meeting of the party's national executive committee in New York several weeks ago.

The Justice Department has promised "prompt action" for failure of the leaders to register, but no date has been announced.

There is yet another deadline. The government has specified that if the leaders did not register, each party member must register by Dec. 20.

Hall, actual leader of the party under his title of general secretary, and the party's other leaders are keeping themselves scarce as their crisis approaches.

NO INTERVIEWS
A reporter visiting the headquarters Thursday found none of them available for interviews.

The exterior of the building bears no mention of the word "Communist." A red, white and black sign near the door reads: "The Worker, founded 1924 — working people's paper."

The building houses not only the national headquarters of the party, but also its New York state headquarters and the offices of "The Worker."

Its black front door has no outside handle, but only keyholes to two locks. It bore a simple hand-lettered sign: "ring bell."

A ring of the bell brought a young Negro woman who laughed.

ingly remarked: "That sign is only for Saturdays. We always forget to take it down." As it turned out, neither of the locks was locked. Anybody could walk in.

A request to the young woman, an employe of The Worker, to see the party leaders, drew the reply: "The party is on the third floor. Take the elevator if you wish."

She returned to her desk behind a glass partition.

NO ONE IN
The door of the self-service elevator opened on the third floor into a reception room with light gray walls and utilitarian wooden furniture. An electric coffee pot simmered on one of the tables, which were covered for the most part with pamphlets.

A young woman, dark-haired and dark-eyed, wearing a light tan knit dress, sat at the reception desk outside Hall's office at the rear of the building.

"May I help you?" she asked. The reporter stated his mission—he would like to see Hall, Miss Flynn or Davis. She shook her head and said they were not in.

"No interviews," she added. "If we have any statement we will send it to you."

On the way downstairs, the reporter stopped at the second floor and asked a young woman, whose desk had several copies of "The Worker," how to obtain a copy.

"The Worker" is on the first floor," she said briskly.

Outside the building's entrance, a rack with copies of "The Worker" had said, "Free, take one." But they were last week's. This week's, 15 cents.

HEADLINE
"CP heads say 'no' to illegal registration," said the chief headline of the latest edition. Another said "Kennedy's interview with Izvestia."

A note below the latter headline said: "The first installment of the interview, which was read in its entirety by millions of Soviet citizens last Tuesday is printed below. The rest will appear in the next Sunday edition of the Worker."

A faded sign inside the front door of the building bore a message perhaps ironic in view of the government's announcement it will enforce the registration law. It asked "the last one out" to "please lock door."

The Justice Department estimates current Communist party membership in the United States at about 10,000. Its peak was around 70,000 just after World War II when the Soviet Union was being hailed as an ally who had helped bring down Adolf Hitler.

The party ran Earl Browder for the presidency in 1940, but has had no candidate since.

ON DECLINE
Since then it has been on the decline coincident with the rise of the "cold war" and intraparty strife over the party's relation to the Soviet Union.

The party, in a bitter convention here in 1957, adopted a resolution saying the nation would find its own road to socialism, considered a break from the rigid Kremlin line. But the old-line forces later regained control of the party.

Hall, 50, a stocky, blond former Cleveland of Finnish descent, became general secretary in 1959, succeeding Eugene Dennis.

Hall was one of the 11 Communist leaders convicted in 1949 of conspiracy to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government. He failed to show up as scheduled in 1951 to start serving his five-year sentence. He was seized in hiding several months later and given an additional three years.

MCCARRAN ACT
The Internal Security Act, which U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has promised will be enforced, was adopted by Congress in 1950 and is commonly known as the McCarran Act. Its registration provisions, after lengthy litigation, were upheld by the Supreme Court last June.

How "The Worker" may be affected by the act was not immediately clear.

Some of the names on its masthead, such as Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, are the same as those of party leaders, but the party never has labeled it as a party publication.

The best Justice Department information at the moment is that "The Worker" would not be directly affected by the act at least until it was proven in court that it actually is a publication of the party. It is printed twice a week.

Paddlin' Parson

Chaplain Lewis H. Dunlap makes a vigorous return during the AFB table tennis championship matches, Friday, at the John H. Lees Service Club. The "Paddlin' Parson" took Airman S.C. Moses David, 21-13, 21-14; and Airman S.C. Wilbert Whipple 22-20, 21-17. He later lost to other airmen.

12,000 Hear Rome Legate

DALLAS (AP)—Roman Catholic lay teachers must "bring true Christian audacity, skill and cheerfulness into efforts to bring to men the pure doctrine of Jesus Christ," the apostolic delegate to the United States said Thursday night.

More than 12,000 persons heard the sermon by Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi at the Inter-American Congress of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine.

He spoke after the Vatican secretary of state, Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, celebrated a pontifical mass. The cardinal delivered a special blessing from Pope John XXIII.

The mass was a high point of the four-day congress, attended by more than 10,000 Roman Catholic leaders from throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Archbishop Vagnozzi urged Roman Catholics to keep before them "the truth that there is no opposition between knowledge and love."

He said there are three elements to bring about "the formation of Christ in the Christian: Knowledge of Christ, observance of the commandments and the love of God."

Den Makes Tour

Members of Den 1, Pack 14 took a tour through the Coca Cola plant Thursday afternoon with W. M. King explaining how the plant operates. Later they were treated to Cokes. Returning to the home of the den mother, Mrs. John Moore, they discussed plans for the pack meeting. A farewell was bade to Johnny Moore who left the den to become a Webleo.

Projects Started

Cub Den 4, Pack 63, met Wednesday afternoon and observed the Christmas theme for December. The Den project, Starchy Santas, was begun and plans were made for making other Christmas gifts. Present were Terry Mitchell, Gary Holly, Douglas Grantham, Knox Earhart, Arlis Walker, and Kenny and Jimmy Blanton.

Club To Launch Annual Tree Sale

The Optimist Club has a big weekend scheduled as it prepares the location of its annual Christmas tree sale for arrival of the trees.

Optimist members will be at the parking lot across the street from the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home at Tenth and Gregg Saturday to move in equipment and stands, according to T. A. Thigpen, president. The trees are expected to arrive Wednesday.

Once the stand has been opened, it will not close down until all the trees are sold. All 48 active Optimists will work in two-hour shifts, two to a shift, and the lot will remain open around the clock. They have ordered 1,000 trees and must sell all of them or give them away.

Last year the group sold almost 750 trees and expects to do even better this year, Thigpen said. Christmas tree cards have been sold by Optimists for more than two weeks to get a head start on the sale. The cards are sold for $1 and can be redeemed at face

Nevada Checking Gaming Receipts

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Nevada is double-checking to see who gets the first count on the more than $200 million annual winnings from its legal casino industry.

Chairman Ed Olsen of the State Gaming Control Board told an interim legislative finance committee Thursday a new program is designed to reveal for the first time whether state tax collectors are getting a true count of gross gambling revenues.

He noted several articles in national publications have alleged some Nevada gamblers are taking profits "off the top" to finance underworld activities.

"We contend this is not true," Olsen said, "and we should be able to prove it in a year or so."

Party Sponsored

Den 5 of Pack 137 honored Harvey Jones with a birthday party during the Thursday meeting. The members met in the home of Mrs. Doyle Hale, 2610 Carol. Several of the boys told den stories, others led in the singing, and Denner Rodney Hale helped serve.

value on the purchase of any tree on the Optimist lot.

The trees will come in all sizes and almost any price range. No minimum or maximum price has been established yet. This will be done when the trees can be evaluated.

"The price will depend on the quality of the tree," Thigpen said. "We want to be sure every person who buys a tree from us knows he is getting his money's worth as well as helping to raise funds for worthy local projects."

The sale will continue until Christmas Eve if that much time is required to sell the stock. Should the supply be exhausted before that time, more trees are available.

Proceeds from the sale go to financing Optimist sponsored causes such as the supervised playground on the North Side, the Pony League Baseball team, the Boy Oratorical Contest, Bike Safety Week and Youth Appreciation Week.

ingly remarked: "That sign is only for Saturdays. We always forget to take it down." As it turned out, neither of the locks was locked. Anybody could walk in.

A request to the young woman, an employe of The Worker, to see the party leaders, drew the reply: "The party is on the third floor. Take the elevator if you wish."

She returned to her desk behind a glass partition.

NO ONE IN
The door of the self-service elevator opened on the third floor into a reception room with light gray walls and utilitarian wooden furniture. An electric coffee pot simmered on one of the tables, which were covered for the most part with pamphlets.

A young woman, dark-haired and dark-eyed, wearing a light tan knit dress, sat at the reception desk outside Hall's office at the rear of the building.

"May I help you?" she asked. The reporter stated his mission—he would like to see Hall, Miss Flynn or Davis. She shook her head and said they were not in.

"No interviews," she added. "If we have any statement we will send it to you."

On the way downstairs, the reporter stopped at the second floor and asked a young woman, whose desk had several copies of "The Worker," how to obtain a copy.

"The Worker" is on the first floor," she said briskly.

Outside the building's entrance, a rack with copies of "The Worker" had said, "Free, take one." But they were last week's. This week's, 15 cents.

HEADLINE
"CP heads say 'no' to illegal registration," said the chief headline of the latest edition. Another said "Kennedy's interview with Izvestia."

A note below the latter headline said: "The first installment of the interview, which was read in its entirety by millions of Soviet citizens last Tuesday is printed below. The rest will appear in the next Sunday edition of the Worker."

A faded sign inside the front door of the building bore a message perhaps ironic in view of the government's announcement it will enforce the registration law. It asked "the last one out" to "please lock door."

The Justice Department estimates current Communist party membership in the United States at about 10,000. Its peak was around 70,000 just after World War II when the Soviet Union was being hailed as an ally who had helped bring down Adolf Hitler.

The party ran Earl Browder for the presidency in 1940, but has had no candidate since.

ON DECLINE
Since then it has been on the decline coincident with the rise of the "cold war" and intraparty strife over the party's relation to the Soviet Union.

The party, in a bitter convention here in 1957, adopted a resolution saying the nation would find its own road to socialism, considered a break from the rigid Kremlin line. But the old-line forces later regained control of the party.

Hall, 50, a stocky, blond former Cleveland of Finnish descent, became general secretary in 1959, succeeding Eugene Dennis.

Hall was one of the 11 Communist leaders convicted in 1949 of conspiracy to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government. He failed to show up as scheduled in 1951 to start serving his five-year sentence. He was seized in hiding several months later and given an additional three years.

What Do Lutherans Really Believe About The Lord's Supper?

Just this: That it is the Lord's Supper.

He comes all the way. He is present — personally. He gives — His Body and Blood. He says to each individually, "... give and shed for you for the forgiveness of sins."

You may not be interested in history's complex theological arguments about the Holy Sacrament.

But nonetheless, the questions that lie beneath all controversies do concern you:

- Is the Supper merely a human ceremony? — Or is Christ really present?
- Has the God of the Manger and Cross now contradicted Himself and demanded that you try to mount up to Him? — Or does He continue to come down to you?
- Is the Holy Communion man at work appeasing God? — Or is it GOD in action redeeming man?

If He is absent, if He no longer comes down to us, if He requires appeasing, then the end result is the same — whether men teach the Sacrament to be a repetition of Christ's sacrifice, or merely a "memorial" honoring His sacrifice. The Lord's Supper has become man's supper, something offered to God from man.

But Lutherans have always experienced the Blessed Sacrament to be in harmony with the Gospel: Christ offers Himself to man in Communion — just as throughout the Gospel God gives and man receives.

The Communion is "the closest that Heaven ever comes to earth," it has been said. A Pastor's Class will help you understand why this is so. Come, listen, discuss — and grow in faith and knowledge.

Communion will be Sunday, Dec. 3. The First Sunday of Advent.

Over 3,000 Episcopalians To Attend Lubbock Service

More than 3,000 Episcopalians from Northwest Texas will gather in Lubbock Sunday, for a "service of witnesses" at the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

The 11 a.m. service, which will be a celebration of the Holy Communion, will mark the 15th anniversary of the consecration of the Bishop of Northwest Texas, the Rt. Rev. George H. Quarterman.

The Rt. Rev. Gordon Smith, of Iowa and a seminary classmate of Bishop Quarterman, will be the preacher for the service. The Rt. Rev. C. Avery Mason, Bishop of Dallas, will read the Gospel, and the Rt. Rev. Chilton Powell, Bishop of Oklahoma, will read the Epistle.

The Rev. Donald N. Hungerford, rector of St. Mary's Parish, reports that over 100 people from Big Spring plan to attend the service. Fifteen members of the choir from St. Mary's will be included in the 150 voice choir of all churches of the Diocese.

Within a week of each other in 1906, two paths of life began that have crossed many times and will meet again in Lubbock at the Episcopal service. The paths are those of Bishop Quarterman and Bishop Smith. The two men met first in 1920 at the General Theological Seminary in New York City when both were candidates for Holy Orders.

Bishop Quarterman was born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on Aug. 13, 1906 and went to the seminary after graduation from St. Stephens College. Bishop Smith was born in Kalamazoo on Aug. 6, 1906 and graduated from Kalamazoo College.

The two men began a close relationship. Bishop Quarterman enlisted his new friend as a worker with underprivileged young people in New York City. Both were staff members at the Chapel of the Incarnation on New York's east side.

After 1821 graduations from the seminary and subsequent ordinations to deacon and priest, Bishop Quarterman went to Oklahoma to be Rector of St. Philip's Church in Ardmore while Bishop Smith became Rector in Albion, Mich. In 1935 Bishop Smith joined his classmate in the Sooner State when he accepted a call to Grace Church in Ponca City.

Bishop Quarterman, after going to Amarillo to be rector of St. Andrew's Church, was elected in 1946 as bishop of the then Missionary District of North Texas. He was consecrated as bishop on Dec. 3 of that year, so the "service of witnesses" to be held in Lubbock this year will mark the 15th anniversary of his consecration.

Meanwhile, Bishop Smith had gone back to Iowa in 1943, and in 1950, he was elected Bishop of Iowa. Since that time the two bishops have been co-workers in the House of Bishops of the Episcopal Church.

Last spring, when the Diocese of Northwest Texas voted to hold the Diocesan Day of Witness honoring Bishop Quarterman's 15th anniversary of consecration, he invited Bishop Smith to be the preacher on that occasion. The Rev. George Quarterman Jr. of California will also be present to serve as his father's chaplain.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

KEYS... TO UNDERSTANDING

Suppose you were given keys that would unlock the mysteries of the universe. With them, you could answer the "whys" that plague all of us. You'd know what was going to happen to you and those around you tomorrow—next month—next year.

Would you use them?

Of course, you say! Think again. And, once you've thought, you might shake your head, hand them back, and say, "No thank you."

Common sense tells us that man was not meant to understand every mystery of life. The reasons "why" remain as they are because our Creator in His wisdom thoroughly knows just how much man can both stand and understand.

God has a greater gift for you than these, or any other keys... the gift of Faith. You will find it by going to church regularly.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Don Schwall Named Rookie Of The Year

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Don Schwall, who came up to the Boston Red Sox from Seattle in late May to pitch his way into an assignment in the All-Star game, Rookie of the Year for the 1961 season today.

The 6-foot-6 right-hander edged Dick Howser, Kansas City shortstop, by one vote in the closest competition since the award was officially instituted by the Baseball Writers' Association in 1949. Billy Williams, Chicago Cubs' outfielder, gained the rookie award in the National League, which was announced Thursday.

Schwall received seven and Howser six of the 20 votes cast as six players, the most in any year, were given consideration. Lee Thomas, hard-hitting outfielder of the Los Angeles Angels, drew two votes as did outfielder Floyd Robinson of Chicago, and second baseman Chuck Schilling of the Red Sox. Jake Wood, Detroit second baseman, had one vote.

Schwall, who was better known at Oklahoma University for his prowess in basketball, won 15 games for the Red Sox although he did not make his first major league appearance until May 25. He lost only seven and had a 3.27 earned run average.

The big fellow appeared in 25 games, all starts, completed 10, walked 110 and struck out 91. He pitched three innings for the American League in the second All-Star game and was charged with one run in a game that ended in a 1-1 tie.

However, a speedy, aggressive youngster, brought up for inspection from Saratoga Springs of the Southern Association, played in 158 games, batted .280 and stole 37 bases.

Thomas, a young left-handed slugger acquired from the Yankees, batted .285 for the Angels, slammed 24 home runs and drove in 70 runs.

Robinson led the White Sox in hitting with a .310 batting average in 132 games. Schilling equaled the major league record for second basemen by committing only seven errors in 154 games. He batted .250.

Wood batted .258, playing in 162 games for the Tigers. He stole 39 bases and led the American League in triples with 14.

Hawks, Rams Win In Tourney

ODESSA — San Angelo College erased all doubts about its potential as a Western Conference championship contender by defeating New Mexico Military Institute, the defending champion, in the first round of the Odessa Basketball tournament here Thursday night, 67-63.

HCJC, the pre-tournament favorite, coached by Clarendon College, 81-55, in a game which saw the Jayhawk reserves play more than the regulars.

In other first round games, South Plains of Levelland staged a mild upset in turning back Lubbock Christian College, 54-41; and host Odessa flogged Frank Phillips of Borger, 86-74.

In tonight's play, HCJC takes on Odessa at 7:30 o'clock while San Angelo challenges South Plains at 9 p. m.

HCJC gave the Clarendon team only 16 points in the first half, at which time the Hawks hit 42 per cent of their shots from the field.

In the last half, the Big Springs' shooters tallied off to a 31 per cent shooting average. Clarendon hit 22 per cent the first half and 47 the last half.

Walter Carter led the Hawks in scoring 18 points while Lou Balenton had 12 and Earnest Turner ten. Coach Buddy Travis used 13 players in all and each scored two or more points.

Ray DeBord pushed 16 points through the hoop for Clarendon while Kenneth Martindale followed with 15.

NMMI led at half time in its game with San Angelo, 46-44, but Bill Ramsey and David Watson led a second half Ram offensive that brought the San Angelo club from behind.

Ramses would up with 22 points while Watson followed with 19.

Odessa led Frank Phillips by as much as 20 points in its night game. Nick Berzac counted 23 points and Bobby Green 20 for Odessa.

Tracy Cox of Frank Phillips would up with 27 points while Jim Norton followed with 14.

South Plains was led in its game by Noel Carter, who counted 25 points. Richard Lundy was tops for Lubbock Christian with 12. Bob Burke followed with 11.

In consolation round games today, NMMI meets South Plains at 2:30 p. m. while Frank Phillips squares off with Clarendon at 4 p. m.

The tournament extends through Saturday night, San Angelo is the defending champion in the meet.

Half time score—HCJC at Clarendon 16-10.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

The consensus in the Texas Panhandle is that Wichita Falls has looked none too potent all season and that San Angelo will measure the Coyotes in their Class AAAA quarterfinal football game tomorrow in San Angelo.

Joe Golden, the Wichita Falls mentor, may fire his team to the skies, however, since this may be his last big chance to win a state championship. He must share talent with a third high school next fall.

South Plains was led in its game by Noel Carter, who counted 25 points. Richard Lundy was tops for Lubbock Christian with 12. Bob Burke followed with 11.

In consolation round games today, NMMI meets South Plains at 2:30 p. m. while Frank Phillips squares off with Clarendon at 4 p. m.

The tournament extends through Saturday night, San Angelo is the defending champion in the meet.

Cook succeeded Elwood Kettler as the Nederland coach after Elwood joined the University of Alabama grid staff. Kettler had stepped up to the head post when Emmett McKenzie quit to come to Big Spring.

The argument over the ruling on that final play in the recent Notre Dame-Syracuse game may linger for a long, long time but the big league gamblers have already paid off bets on the basis that the Irish won.

One bookie explained it this way: "The end of the game is official. It's like the 'official' sign being flashed at a horse race, and being paid. If, two days later, you learn the horse was drugged and disqualified, you can't call all the bets back."

Red Lewis, the HCJC track and field mentor, will take his Jayhawks to as many indoor meets next year as he can. Right now, the Hawks are committed to appear in only two indoor shows, however—one at Houston and the other at San Antonio.

HCJC could stage an indoor meet of its own if the proposed coliseum here ever becomes a reality.

Vernon Runnestrand, who has competed in several Big Spring Invitational Golf tournaments during the past years, is the new manager of the Shamrock Bowling Lanes in Midland.

Runnestrand isn't giving up his job as assistant district manager of the Screw and Bolt Corporation in Midland, however.

Angie Makris, formerly of Big Spring, has been serving as boss of the Midland keging palace.

With 28 of the 47-day Sunland Park race season completed over the Thanksgiving Holiday weekend, the pari-mutuel handle at the horse track soared past the $5,000,000 mark.

Over the Turkey Day weekend (four days of racing), 13,093 fans turned out to watch the programs and wager nearly three-quarters of a million dollars.

Few are the coaches who can resist the temptation to holler instructions to players on the field during the course of battle.

Marvin Bass, the South Carolina mentor, has resisted it quite successfully since he was head mentor at William and Mary back in 1951, however.

During a key game with VMI, Marv yelled out impulsively on one defensive play, "Ed, move over."

Trouble was there were two Eds on the field. They both moved over and a VMI back barreled through a gaping vacancy toward a touchdown that cost Bass' team the Southern Conference championship.

Gene Gibson starts career as Raider coach Monday

Lubbock—Gene Gibson, who launches his career as a head college coach with the Texas Tech-Colorado game here Monday night, isn't a stranger to challenges presented by his employer, athletic director Polk Robinson.

In 1949, Robinson, then Texas Tech basketball coach, told Gibson, Red Raider captain and a forward:

"For the past two seasons we had an all-Border Conference center, but Don Grove now has graduated. We want another. If you think you can do the job, we'll move you to center."

Gibson, a comparative shorty for a center at 6-4, made the switch in great shape to earn the all-conference nod in position. Five years later, when Robinson hired his first full-time freshman coach, he turned to the man who made such a response to the challenge of the 1949-50 season.

Gibson's ability to tackle the difficulty during four years of high school coaching and six as a college assistant made him the logical successor when Robinson last September relinquished the coaching job to concentrate on his combined duties as athletic director and business manager.

A graduate of Lakeview High School in the Panhandle, Gibson played four years of varsity basketball at Texas Tech following Army duty in the South Pacific. He coached the 1950-51 and 1951-52 seasons at Levert's Chapel before going to Snyder High School, returning to Texas Tech after Snyder tied for the district title in 1953-54.

Lakeview's Ninth Trims Sweetwater

Lakeview of Big Spring defeated Sweetwater in a junior high school basketball game here Thursday night, 27-21. The Rockets were opening their 1961-62 season.

Lakeview's eight graders lost the preliminary contest, 16-10. James Easley counted all but two of the Rockets' points in that contest.

Curtis Flawellen led the Lakeview attack in the ninth grade engagement, scoring 13 points.

The Rockets return to action here Friday, at which time they engage Carver of Midland.

NINTH GRADERS: BS KEVIEW (27)—Flawellen 6-13; Johnson 1-3; Sammy Evans 1-3; Green 4-4; Larry 3-3. Total 21-27. SWEETWATER (16)—Washington 2-5; Davis 2-4; Wilson 2-1; Garrett 1-3; Sterling 1-2. Total 16-10.

Score by quarters: Lakeview 7-10-10-6; Sweetwater 6-12-10-3.

Women Keglers Plan Meeting

The Big Spring Women's Bowling Association will hold an important meeting at the American Legion at 1 p. m. Saturday. All women have an open invitation to be on hand, league officials have announced.

Rademacher Wins Over B. Turman

DALLAS (AP) — Buddy Turman's return to boxing from semi-retirement lacked much of success Thursday night. He took a beating from Pete Rademacher, who found out what that means himself when he met champion Floyd Patterson not so long ago.

Rademacher hammered Turman into a technical knockout after eight rounds. Turman, a Dallas heavyweight, was down twice in the eighth and was saved from a knockout only by the bell.

He didn't come out for the ninth. A look at his smashed nose and cuts around the eyes instantly revealed why. The result went into the books as a technical knockout in the ninth round.

Upstart Angelo Hosts Coyotes On Saturday

Sixteen games this weekend bring the Texas schoolboy football race to its semifinals with the spotlight on Class AAAA, where Wichita Falls, favored for the championship from the start, takes on tough, upsurging San Angelo.

This game is expected to produce an eventual finalist. One in the Deep South—Corpus Christi Ray vs. San Antonio Jefferson—is due to bring out the other.

Lumbering Mike Taber, a mighty 214-pounder, leads San Angelo in its biggest bid for a title since 1943, when it won the crown. Larry Shields, perhaps the best high school player in the state, and tailback Mike Kelly pace the Coyotes.

Both games are scheduled Saturday afternoon. Friday night Houston Milby is host to Galena Park and Fort Worth Paschal journeys to Denison.

Tremendous power struggles are in store in Class AAA as undefeated, untied San Benito collides with Del Rio Saturday night at Del Rio and Dumas rolls against former champion Breckenridge at Childress.

In other AAA games, Gainesville plays Corsican in Dallas Friday night and Angleton travels to Nederland.

All three of the unbeaten, untied Class AA teams—Quannah, Jacksboro and Donna—are favored to win their games and gain the semifinals. Quannah takes on Dalhart Friday at Canyon, Jacksboro clashes with Hooks at Commerce Friday night and Sweeny meets Donna at Freeport Saturday night.

A fourth game pits Brady vs. Dayton at Taylor Friday night. Brady is the only former champion among the eight Class AA quarter-finalists.

Jacksboro, the Class AA favorite, has such top-notch players as Steve Wheelis, a great passer, and Robert Leach, an equally good runner.

Johnny Agan and Roy Hogan and end Rocky Hill are expected to lead defending Class A champion Albany to a victory over Pockney at Weatherford Friday night. Both teams are unbeaten and untied.

Two other unbeaten, untied teams, Kress and Wink, clash at Plainview Saturday night. Wink is the only other former champion in the Class A quarterfinals.

Three "Rivers" quarterbacks, Eddie Kotzar will direct his team against a strong Hull-Daisetta outfit at El Campo Friday night, and Waco Connally squares off with Groveton at Bryan the same evening in Class A.

Lamesa Sweeps 3-Game Series

LAMESA — Basketball teams representing Lamesa Junior High swept three games from Big Spring Goliad contingents here Thursday night.

On the ninth grade level, Lamesa defeated Goliad 33-29. The Big Spring team played a fine second half but had too far to go. Lamesa won the eighth grade contest, 36-23. Van Tom Whatley counted ten points for Big Spring.

Lamesa started off on the right foot by winning the seventh grade engagement, 42-28, after building up a nine-point lead at half time. Kirby Horton paced the Mavericks in that game with seven points.

New Co-Captains Of QB

Ce-captains of the Big Spring Quarterback Club, who will serve during the 1962 football season, are pictured above. They are Winston Wrinkle (left) and Carlisle (Frosty) Robison. Wrinkle is manager and owner of radio station KBST here.

Robison, a former football great here, is employed by Cosden Petroleum Corp. The two succeeded Jimmy Felts and Roy Bennett. Lefty Don Reynolds is the new secretary-treasurer of the club.

McKenzie, Aides Rewarded For Work

Some say it with music, some with words, some with flowers, other football fans said it with coin of the realm at an appreciation banquet Thursday evening.

The affair at Cosden Country Club honored the coaching staff and the squad members of the Big Spring High School football team, a combination that produced a drought-breaking 7-3 record for the season.

To each of the six assistant coaches were gift certificates of $75 from the appreciation fund raised by the Quarterback Club in recent weeks, and to Emmett McKenzie, head coach and athletic director, went a bag jingling Christmas cheer with 500 silver dollars.

These were tokens, said Roy Bennett and Jimmy Felts, co-captains of the QBC, of the gratitude of fans not so much for a winning season as for the spirit and type of accomplishment.

McKenzie earlier had expressed his personal thanks to the squad, staff, school and community.

"The boys gave their best, and so did the coaching staff," he said. "We had wonderful backing from the school and the fans, and the support from the Quarterback Club couldn't have been better."

What has been accomplished, he added, was the result of desire and effort on the part of boys, their parents, the school and community.

Don Robbins, assistant football coach, Joe Sibley, R. C. Moore, Roy Baird, Leon Fuller, assistant coaches, all responded in enthusiastic praise of the spirit and effort of the boys.

"I hope," said Moore, "that the town is as proud as we are of being associated with as fine a bunch of boys."

Bennett, Felts and Bill Read, who served as secretary of the QBC this year, were lauded for their outstanding leadership, and officers of previous years were given a tribute by Joe Pickle, master of ceremonies.

Carlisle (Frosty) Robison and Winston Wrinkle, co-captains, and Don (Lefty) Reynolds, were introduced as the incoming officers of the club. Invocation for the program was worded by George Melear.

At the conclusion, the QBC was awarded a check for $44 by the Herald as half of the residue from the special train operated to Abilene. The other half goes to the Band Boosters.

McKenzie revealed that the permanent tri-captains of the 1961 team had been named by the squad. They are Jack Irons, Dexter Pate and Jerry Tucker.

Morrow, Sitton Head Class AA All-State

By The Associated Press
Billy Morrow, Hooks' great guard, and Jim Sitton, the mighty man of Cisco, led the way on the Class AA schoolboy football all-state team selected by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Morrow polled 119 of a possible 140 points while Sitton, the 102-pound guard making the all-state his second season in a row, dragged down only four points less.

Jacksboro and Brady, two of the favored playoff teams, were the only schools to land more than one player on the all-star aggregation. Ed Breeding, the 190-pound end, and Robert Leach, the hard-running back, were Jacksboro's contributions.

Danny Williams, Brady's fine tackle, and Charles Reynolds, its versatile back, equalled Jacksboro's attainment.

George Curtis of Denver City was on the other end, Dennis Callaway of Sweeny and Darrell Barnes of Quannah tied for the other tackle post; Ronnie Romlike, 212-pounder from Sintou, got

Y's Men Club Elects Officers

The Big Spring Y's Men Club, newest city service organization, elected first year officers and set a regular meeting time, during the meeting Thursday evening at the YMCA.

John Hogg was elected president and will take over the post at the next regular meeting. Other officers include John Rudesevic, president; and Wade Choate, secretary-treasurer.

Directors will be Don Ford, Clyde McMahon Jr., Arlen Sturdivant, Luther McDaniell, Granville Hahn, and Glenn Cook.

The members decided to meet each Thursday at the YMCA, beginning at 7 a.m. This decision followed weekly trial meetings in the morning, at noon, and in the evening. It was decided that the morning meeting would result in the fewest conflicts.

In other business Thursday, the club voted to help in manning the Salvation Army Christmas kettles downtown during the holiday season. The Y's Men will be on duty Dec. 19. Also, members will sponsor and produce the annual Christmas Pageant at the Y.

The members delayed taking action on the constitution and by-laws of the new organization until more study had been given.

Five Plead Guilty, Get Jail Terms

Five of seven Negroes arrested earlier this week, and charged with theft in a complaint filed in Howard County Court, pleaded guilty before Judge Ed Carpenter Thursday afternoon.

Eddie Blue, Ruth Gray, J. V. Gray, and Dilworth Forrest were each sentenced to serve 60 days in Howard County jail. Carl A. King, another of the group, was fined $50 and costs.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, said that King was not as deeply involved in the theft as the others which led to his being fined rather than jailed.

The two others who were not in court were Geraldine Bush and Earlee King. The Bush woman earlier Thursday had pleaded guilty in 118th District Court to a felony theft indictment and is now under three year sentence for the offense. The King woman had been released on bond.

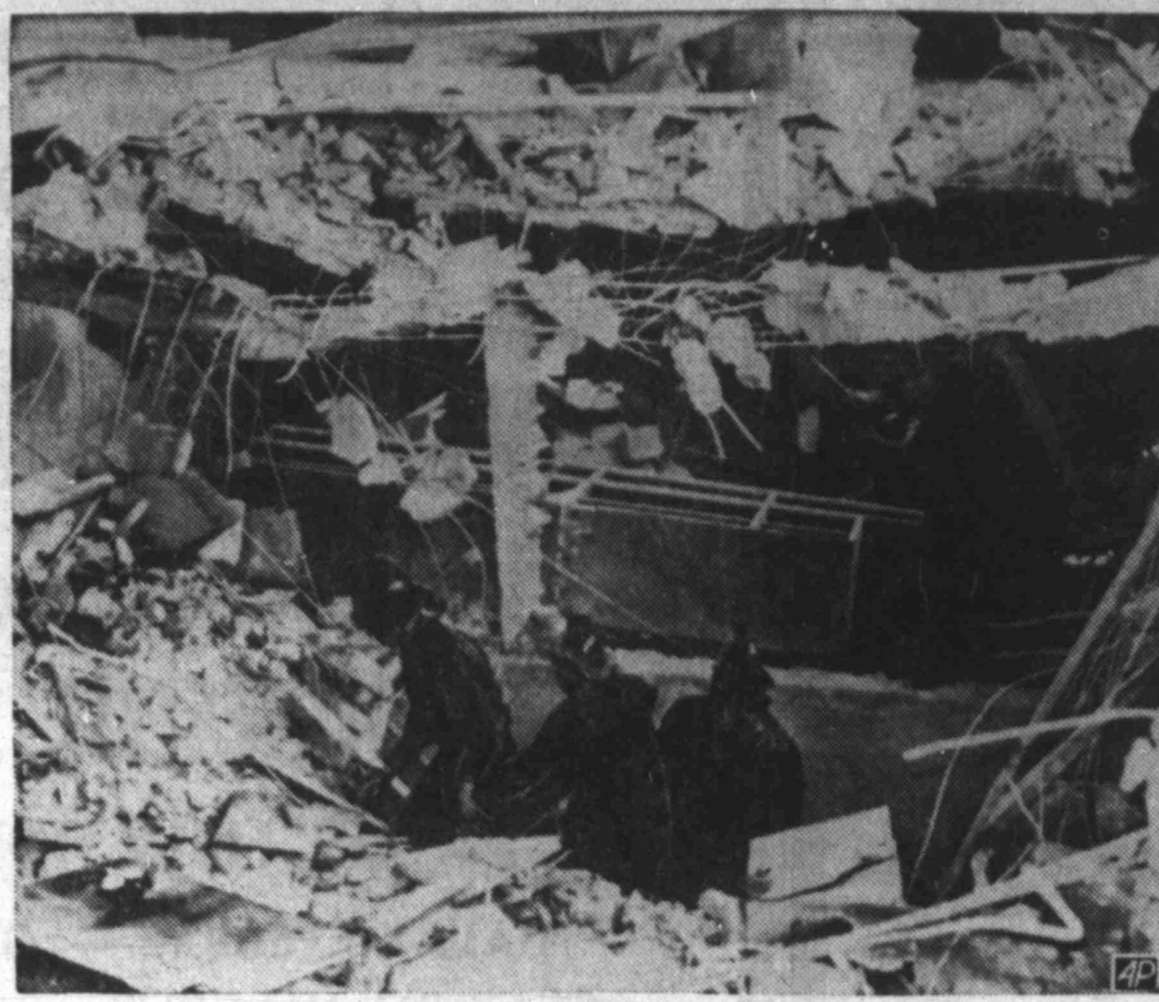

All of the defendants are wanted in Lamesa when their cases have been disposed of here.

The seven are alleged to have stolen several bottles of whisky from Vernon Smith, operator of Vernon's Liquor Store.

Another plea of guilty heard in the court Thursday involved Earl Knight, charged with DWI. He was fined $50 and sentenced to serve three days in the county jail.

No Survivors

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Wreckage and several mutilated bodies but no survivors were found today in shallow water of Botany Bay after the crash of a local Australian airliner with 15 persons aboard.

Seek Explosion Victims

Firemen dig for bodies in the ruins of a Community Center building in Mexico City which was wrecked in an explosion. Thirteen persons were killed and 54 injured in the blast which firemen said was apparently caused by gas escaping in the basement. The Community Center is operated by the government's Social Security department.

Silver Issue To Bare World Money Troubles

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Silver and gold—paper money and credit—the seaway relationship of the U.S. dollar to the British pound and the Canadian dollar and the German mark and the Swiss franc.

These are all parts—and often confusing parts—of the big international monetary problem that the central bankers of the Western world are trying to solve.

Their aim is to achieve some stability in world currencies and world trade, to halt or minimize the spasmodic runs on the dollar or pound with an accompanying rush to buy and hoard gold, to keep trade between nations in better balance and thus promote the economic growth of all.

The parts often confuse, even hide, the whole.

Right now the headlines center on these items:

1. The proposed U.S. move away from silver as a backing for part of its currency. The first result is a big upward push in silver prices on the commodity market, with much fluctuation expected to follow.

2. Fresh losses of gold by the U.S. Treasury as Britain buys the metal with spare dollars to bolster Bank of England reserves and protect the pound, recently under attack because of its foreign trade deficit.
3. The drop of the Canadian dollar below 96 American cents for the first time in 10 years.

All of these are expected to have political repercussions here and abroad.

President Kennedy's proposal to demonetize silver entirely, except for coins, by substituting Federal Reserve notes for some $2 billion in paper money now backed by silver seems sure to stir up the embers of historic monetary disputes in Congress.

The loss of gold by the U.S. Treasury is linked to our balance of payment deficit. We are spending more dollars overseas than we are getting back. And efforts to remedy this are stirring up one of the biggest fights in years in Congress over tariffs. Should they be lowered in return for concessions abroad on American exports? Should they be raised to protect domestic industries from foreign imports?

Some experts are suggesting that a solution to the many financial problems can be found in establishing an international monetary unit—whether as currency or as central bank credit—to handle exchange procedures, bolster any temporarily threatened national currency, and keep all on as even a keel as possible in this changing world.

But through all these problems there run strong threads of nationalism and national pride.

The chances are the immediate troubles will be thrashed out in the upcoming session of the U.S. Congress, in the British House of Commons, in the capitals of the Western European trading bloc.

And all the while you'll be hearing a lot about gold and silver, about tariffs and trade deficits, about possible devaluations of this or that monetary unit, about the flow of short-term investment money from one trading center to another, about spurts of buying or selling of monetary metals in world markets.

Guam Governor Accused Of Misrepresenting Isle

AGANA, Guam (AP) — The Guam Daily News has accused Gov. William Daniel of giving a distorted image of Guam during a recent trip to the United States.

The newspaper quoted Daniel, a Texan from Liberty, as saying in Vallejo, Calif., that only 14 head of cattle were in Guam when Daniel became governor six months ago. Daniel told a Vallejo News Chronicle reporter, Ruth Montgomery, that he began increasing the breed through contributions from "rich Texas friends," the Guam newspaper said.

Daniel, a brother of Gov. Price Daniel of Texas, was also quoted as saying that too many Americans had to be recruited for teaching and for work on projects. He said he therefore persuaded the Guam legislature to change the territorial college from a two to a four-year school, the newspaper here reported.

The Daily News said in an editorial that "There were considerably more than 14 head of cattle when Mr. Daniel arrived. The U.S. census last year had it at nearly 6,000."

"Surely Mr. Daniel should know he came in at the tail end of the four-year college idea, an executive order promulgated before he arrived. And the island legislature over the years had long recognized that this is the goal that must be attained to fill the lack of trained personnel."

The newspaper said the governor apparently was "trying to give a good account of himself to statesiders and otherwise means well. But he regrettably has been giving a distorted image of Guam."
