COLORADO CITY RECORD, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1971

10 CENTS (Plus Tax) PER COPY -- $5.50 (Includes Tax) YEARLY IN COUNTY

Great Efforts

Colorado City Quarterback Dewain Nix (No. 10) picked up good yardage on the play pictured at top. The run by Nix came in the third quarter as the Wolves started a touchdown drive. At right, Snyder's Jackie Murray (No. 22) stretched to make a pass reception but the ball was just out of reach. Wolf defenders are Dean Brooks (No. 2) and Sonny Edwards (No. 80).

Snyder Breaks Wolf Defense

The Snyder Tigers Friday night did to the Colorado City Wolves what no other team has been able to do thus far this season.

They broke the back of the powerful Wolves' defense and were able to break the long ground gainers and run a kick-off all the way back for a touchdown.

The game signaled the end of an old rivalry as next year, Snyder becomes a AAAA school and will no longer play Colorado City.

The last meeting left a sour taste in the mouths of Wolves fans as the Tigers left Colorado City for the last time with a 41-16 victory.

Snyder appeared to be the best team the Wolves have faced all year and there were many predicting that the Tigers will go on to win the District 3-AAA crown. Snyder is now tied with Dunbar for second place in the conference with three wins and one loss each in district competition.

Lubbock Estacado still leads the district as they are undefeated in district play. Estacado defeated Lamesa Friday night 14-12.

In the Colorado City-Snyder game, the Wolves usually tough defense had what appeared to be its worse game of the year.

Only three defensive men, Bob Benson, Tim Stansel and Scott Hudson, appeared to have a good night.

On offense, the Wolves had their second best game statistically and on the scoreboard. The best game in both categories was against a weak O-dezza Ector team.

The Wolves had 13 first downs with 193 yards rushing and 39 yards passing. Colorado completed two of 16 pass attempts with two interceptions. The Wolves had three lost fumbles and 35 yards in penalties.

Tim Stansel kicked six times for an average of 28 yards.

Snyder gained 198 yards on the ground, making 10 first downs. The Tigers gained 178 yards through the air, 97 of which came on one play. They completed three of six pass attempts and none were intercepted.

Tigers lost one fumble, were penalized 39 yards and punted five times for a 29 yard average.

The game got underway before a disappointingly small crowd at Wolf Stadium with the Wolves receiving. However, four plays later, the Wolves had to punt.

The kick against the stiff wind came up short and Colorado City was penalized 15 yards for piling on. This gave Snyder a big break as they started their first drive from the Wolves end of the field at the 38.

Three plays later, it appeared the Wolves had held the Tigers but on fourth down, Snyder ran for almost 10 yards and a first down.

Then after three more plays, it was again fourth down with long yardage to go for the first down. Snyder quarterback Butch Buchanan ripped off 15 yards to score on the fourth down play. The try for extra point failed.

Then the Wolves started a drive of their own and the fans got their hopes up. Starting from their own 36, the Wolves got to the 29 of Snyder behind the bruising running of full-back Larry Dearen and quarterback Dewain Nix. Then, Nix went back to pass and the three yardline the ball went into the arms of a Snyder defender rather than to the intended target, Wayne Banks.

On the next play, Buchanan hit Gary Patterson with a pass and Patterson, a sprinter, raced 97 yards for the score. See DEFENSE Page 4

Tax Talks Likely

Schools, TESCO Confer

Colorado Independent School District board of trustees has given the official nod for new tax conferences between school and Texas Electric Service Company officials.

In a special meeting Thursday night the board, instructed Supt. Lloyd McKee and Business Manager-Tax Assessor J. S. (Jay) Craddock Jr. to meet with TESCO.

Representatives from TESCO previously have talked with Commissioners Court and also to school officials in relation to the company's overall tax situation.

TESCO is largest property taxpayer on the county and school rolls with its investment at Morgan Creek Power Plant on Lake Colorado City. And TESCO representatives in recent years have voiced serious concern about rising tax costs.

On the opposite side of the tax picture, school officials also have been concerned with soaring costs in school operation which is influenced in no small part by state legislative action which requires higher salaries every year, thus upping budget expense for the local schools.

In other action at the special meeting, school board voted 7-0 to award a contract for electrical renovations to Bullock Electric of Sweetwater providing the contractor meets all requirements.

Bullock, a firm that was electrical contractor for the new Sweetwater High School, submitted a low bid of $3,450 for addition of electrical circuits and renovation at Colorado High, Wallace, Hutchinson and Kelley Elementary schools.

The Bullock bid included $1,226 for the high school (mostly to upgrade the system to provide for shop lathes, planers, grinders, etc), $1,222 for Kelley and the remainder for Wallace and Hutchinson.

Smith Smith of Sweetwater proposed $3,710.42 for the contract--$751 at high school, $795 at Wallace, $674.90 at Hutchinson and $1,489 at Kelley.

The third bidder was Colorado City Electric with a total of $4,690.28--$1,730.16 for high school, $735.42 for Wallace, $648.74 for Hutchinson and $1,575 for Kelley.

McKee will confer with architects, electrical engineers and performance records of bidders before making a decision under school board instructions.

Contract Proposal For Rural Calls

Commissioners Court and City Council will gather around the conference table Monday night to discuss a new fire fighting contract.

The county is proposing a new 5-year pact that will bring more financial support to the city for its fire fighting in the rural areas.

It is a reply to a request by Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department submitted in July for more funding to rural fire-fighting.

The county is offering to pay $75 per rural fire call to Colorado City, an increase of $15 per call under the current contract which guarantees a minimum of $1,500 per year to the city.

In addition, the county is offering a $5,000 lump sum during the first year of the new contract.

The proposal to Colorado City is one portion of a three-part fire-fighting package. Commissioners Court is offering to all three county towns--

Colorado City, Loraine and Westbrook.

However, the county did not get acceptance from Loraine when the plan was discussed with Loraine city officials recently. Despite objections voiced in the recent meeting, Commissioners Court and Loraine will talk again Nov. 9 in the Courthouse.

Five-year contracts are proposed also for Loraine and Westbrook. But at lower payment figures than Colorado City.

The offer to Loraine is $40 per call, plus a $2,500 lump payment the first year of the contract. This is up $15 per call from a current contract that pays $25 per call with a $750 yearly minimum.

For Westbrook the offer is $25 per call--up $15--with a $2,500 lump payment the first year. Westbrook's current contract is for $10 per call with a $325 yearly guarantee.

What the first year lump payments amount to is the county dividing $10,000 cash on a 2-1-1 basis between the 3 cities which can be used immediately for new equipment.

The county proposal meets a big portion of the rural fire-fighting plan listed as necessary in July by Pat McKinney, Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department chief.

Then, McKinney said firemen should be paid $2 each for every 2 hours of rural fire-fighting.

He also mentioned a $60 per fire tab plus a $1,500 yearly guarantee. Also suggested by the fire chief was $200 each of a 2-year contract period for fire department materials, $500 for maintenance and operation of fire truck and replacement of present truck with 350-gallon permanent rotary pump and radio.

Loraine In 2nd District Triumph

The Loraine Bulldogs remained undefeated in district 5-B Competition Friday night as they rolled over Sands 26-0.

The Bulldogs completely dominated the game with Sands coming up with minus rushing yardage.

Sands only made one serious threat and that came early in the first quarter after Loraine attempted to make a first down on fourth down from about their own 30 and came up short.

Sands preceded to get the ball to the 2 and had a first down there but four plays later the ball was still on the 2 and Loraine took over.

Robert Darnell scored three times for Loraine, once in the first quarter on a 25 yard run, again in the second quarter on a 40 yard run and then again in the third quarter on a 30 yard run.

Gilbert Galvan scored the Bulldogs final touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 20 yard run.

Michael Jones ran for two points on one of the four attempts for points after touchdowns.

T&P Files New Appeal To Close Station Here

Texas & Pacific Railway Company is appealing a Railroad Commission decision that order T&P to continue its railroad station in Colorado City.

Copies of the railroad's application for reconsideration was received here this week by County Judge Bill F. Carter and Tom Rees, attorney representing local interests at the Railroad Commission hearing here last Dec. 10.

T&P's new action keeps the future of the local station hanging in the balance until the application can be considered --along with additional appeal by Colorado City interests--by the Railroad Commission in Austin.

Examiner Frank Youngblood, who conducted the original commission hearing here last December with little more than a week's notice for local interests, recommended last May 25 that T&P be granted authority to close, discontinue and dismantle its agency station here.

But the Railroad Commission Oct. 6 reversed and overruled Youngblood's finding. This denied T&P's request and ordered the railroad to continue operating the station here.

In its reversal, the commission specified it differed with the applicants contention that

T&P could properly and efficiently serve Colorado City from Abilene, 69.2 miles away, and that T&P "failed to establish by substantial evidence that public convenience and necessity will best be served by granting the application."

Seeking reconsideration by the commission, T&P now claims the Railroad Commission reversed the hearing examiner "without any exceptions have been filed."

T&P also states, in its appeal, that there was an "unexplained delay of more than 5 months" before Examiner Youngblood issued his findings and recommendations. And, also, that the commission followed with "another unexplained delay of more than 4 months" before making its decision.

The railroad claims the commission broke one of its own rules (No. 43) in this delay and by reason of the T&P's contention that the reversal was ordered without any exceptions being filed.

"This mistake would prevent the petition from being filed within 20 days of the service date (May 25, 1971), if not corrected," T&P contends.

T&P's petition for reconsideration points to carload shipment leaving Colorado City, to the cost of maintaining its station here and that T&P could maintain service by closing its station here and having local customers handle all their business with T&P through the railroad's Abilene office.

It emphasizes that cost of maintaining the station in Colorado City amounts to $10,584.48 annually. However, using the railroad's own figures presented at the hearing last December, Attorney Rees pointed out that T&P still had a net earning of $16,821.08 for the period of April 1968 to March 1969 and netted (above costs) $4,439.39 for the period of April 1969 to March 1970.

The railroad company makes an issue of the fact that a time element is involved in the commission's decision and is a reason for reconsideration.

However, Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, city and county officials and civic leaders pointed out last December that T&P -- by its own statement of evidence at the hearing -- had been gathering data in support of its closing-dismantling request for 2 years while local interests had less than 2 weeks notice to prepare opposition (one week of that granted by appeals to the commission).

Mexican Deputy In Job Funding

County Judge Bill Carter already has signed a contract for government funding to hire an additional deputy sheriff and Colorado City Supt. Lloyd McKee expects a contract for funding an additional maintenance worker for the schools.

Sheriff Lewis Claxton and Commissioners Court will seek a Mexican-American for the deputy's post.

"Our law enforcement program is in serious need of a deputy who can speak Spanish," said Judge Carter.

"Often it is necessary to obtain interpreters before proper assistance or investigation can be made."

Commissioners Court applied for a total of $4,695.65 to fund the deputy sheriff's position. This would amount to $447.23 per month with the county paying 10 per cent.

Like the school grant, it will come from Employment Under Emergency Employment Act through the West Central Texas Council of Governments in Abilene.

The WTCOG has notified the schools that their contract would be ready this week. It will be for $3,558.01--$464.08 per month--with the school paying 10 per cent.

Colorado City schools also requested $3,856.91 for a librarian clerk, but was turned down. Only 31 positions are included for the entire WTCOG area in this initial funding.

The program is aimed to reduce employment and also to provide financing for services needed by the public.

Specialists To Check Plants

Two plant specialists will be here Wednesday to inspect diseased cotton in Mitchell County fields.

Coming from Lubbock will be Dr. Jerry Quisenberry, cotton genetist of U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Dr. Earl Minton, plant pathologist with Extension Service.

In addition to diseased cotton the pair will also check response to late rainfall by certain cotton varieties.

Their appearance comes two days after Mitchell County's beef and range committee meets to reschedule its annual tour.

The committee will meet Monday at a 7:15 a.m. breakfast in Villa Inn Restaurant, according to County Agent Bobby Lemons.

Lemons said the 2 plant specialists will be especially interested in verticillium and fusarium damaged plants, plus boll rot. They will attempt to culture and identify the boll rots, the agent said.

Several persons representing Mitchell County cotton production and allied industry will travel to Lubbock Thursday for a Cotton Inc. meeting at 1 p.m. in Red Raider Inn.

Lemons and Dr. Bob Metzger of Lubbock, Extension Service area agronomist, have been named to a special task force for planning an economic program for the Rolling Plains area. They are to meet with the executive board of Rolling Plains Cotton Growers in Abilene Nov. 11 to initiate the program's planning.

A member of that executive board is Lindon Solomon, Mitchell County producer.

CONVERSATION CORNER

BACKWARD, turn backward,
O time in thy flight Daylight Saving ended in the middle of last night
It maketh the heart feel like singing a song Let the bells chime and the clocks ring ding-dong!

LEARNED a long time ago that to hate anything or anybody is such a fearful waste of time and energy. To hate just keeps you mad all time and diminishes the capacity for joy. It belittles you. It can even make you sick.

So the list of things I bother to have would have to be very short. Heading the list if there were one would have to be "I hate Daylight Saving Time." Partly because just about the time you get used to it's being nine o'clock when it's really only eight a.m., here we go again fixing clocks and watches to tell the truth for a season.

EVERYBODY is supposed to acquire one extra hour either late last night or early this morning.

What did you do with yours or what do you intend to do with your extra hour today when you get around to it?

Did you lie in bed wide awake feeling inside that it was time for breakfast and that trying to be lazy when you're hungry is not much fun?

The possibilities are endless and mostly annoying because it's hard to decide just exactly what to do with that extra hour you inherited through no fault of your own.

It's a great temptation just to sit the whole hour out being glad.

THERE are so many things just to be glad about. You can start off with just being glad Central Standard Time has come to your house to stay a while.

It's good to be glad because the trees are turning gold and just as surely will turn green again when winter is gone and spring has come once more.

It's fine to be glad for friends here, there, and yonder, and for beloved voices at the other end of the long distance line.

It's sweet to remember and be glad you can remember. It is almost equally sweet to be able to forget, sometimes.

BE GLAD for the blessing of time itself. Time, like a patient old family doctor, can help heal.

No normal human heart that beats is without its scars, some of them very deep. There is no heart alive without its hours of bitter grief.

Be glad you can feel. People who are capable of great happiness, too. They can hurt, bear a mortal wound, and still go on. They can also rejoice when it's time to rejoice because they were born to feel-- not just for themselves but for other people, too.

Such people are rarely the ones who weep hardest or laugh loudest. They are the courageous ones, the ones with faith and hope and love in their hearts. They are the ones who care.

Be glad you can care. How awful, how tragic, and how lonely it must be not to care about anything!

COME TO THINK of it, part of my extra hour is going to be spent reading again the third chapter of Ecclesiastes.

The one which begins "To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under heaven" and reminds us all "A time to weep and a time to laugh... a time to keep silence, and a time to speak."

And be glad because every word is so utterly beautiful and true.

Jack is recuperating well from that recent heart attack. Son Geary, senior linebacker at Stephen F. Austin in Nacogdoches, had his kicking leg hurt in the game against Mc-Murry but expects to play again after missing a couple of games. He told his parents it was "great" to see Kenny Lightfoot and Truman Nix, in spite of pulled ligaments and a flight back to college via private plane.

Jordan son Danny is a soph
on athletic scholarship at Lou-

She adds that the C-City Re-

Martins live only a few Big D blocks apart. How 'bout that?

First Methodist Children To "Trick Or Treat" For UNICEF

Children in elementary grades of First United Methodist Church will be "trick or treating" for UNICEF this afternoon (Sunday).

The youths, identified by their orange UNICEF cartons, will be making door-to-door appeals for treats of coins for children of developing countries.

The local effect, being staged here jointly this year by Junior Chapter of Future Homemakers of America and First Methodist children and their friends, is in conjunction with the Presidential Proclamation of Sunday as National UNICEF Day.

"Halloween and UNICEF have become synonymous in the United States," said Mrs. Corky Houston, children's director.

"Millions of children, parents, educators and clergymen devote their energies to UNICEF during the month of October.

"For most supporters this activity centers around the trick or treat for UNICEF program on Halloween."

Nearly one billion children of developing countries are helped by the United Nations Children's Fund, Mrs. Houston explained.

"The majority are victims of poverty. Hunger or malnutrition, lack of health care, lack of education - these conditions are the lot of most, not just a few children.

"UNICEF aid enables countries to help themselves.

"The assisted countries share in the projects investing an average of two and a half times as much as they receive from UNICEF."

Local FHA girls made their appeal in parts of Colorado City

Thursday afternoon after school hours. Church youths are to go into other areas of the city today between 2-4:30 p.m.

Concluding announcement of the afternoon charity drive, Mrs. Houston encouraged local residents to "help the children of our town to help other children."

Painting Demonstration Marks Meeting Of Brush And Palette

A demonstration of using oil glaze over acrylic underpainting Monday evening by Mrs. Charles Walker highlighted a meeting of Colorado City Brush and Palette Club.

Mrs. Walker first drew a landscape subject using eye structure and a movement with Conte pastels then painted in light shades of acrylic, first step in the relatively new method of painting.

With a second painting, previously prepared to allow drying time, the local art teacher demonstrated the use of lighter glaze of transparent gold Ochre oil and a black glaze.

Mrs. Walker's entry in Big Country Art Association Show this month in Abilene was judged fifth. The painting of a broken window in a deserted building, done in an oil glaze over acrylic as in her Monday night demonstration, is displayed with other winning pictures in Abilene's Art Center.

In business session Brush and Palette members began plans for the club's annual art show set for Nov. 14 in Hesperian Room of Mitchell County Public Library.

The upcoming event will include paintings by all members of the local art organization which will be on display during library opening hours through the week of Nov. 14.

Members and guests taking part in the question and answer demonstration and business meet in club building on East Highway 80 were Mr. and Mrs. Walker and Mark, Mrs. R. H. Ratliff, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Bob May, Mrs. Lynn Halbert, Mrs. Warren Costin.

Buchanan passed Jackie Murray to give Snyder a 14-0 lead with 1:36 left in the first quarter.

Then the defenses of both teams stiffed until almost midway through the second quarter when Jimmy Dyess broke through the Colorado City defensive line and raced 65 yards for the score. Sandy Land kicked the extra point and the Wolves fell seven more points behind.

Then the defensive battle was resumed and then late in the second quarter, Snyder punted to the Wolves but the Colorado City punt returned fumbled the ball at the Snyder 40 and the Tigers got the ball.

Snyder then began a 60 yard drive, capped by a three yard run by fullback Mike Glasscock with 15 seconds left in the half. The run came on a fourth down. The kick for extra point was blocked by Larry Kinard.

Travis Bunch opened the second half for the Snyder Tigers by taking the Wolves kick-off and racing 83 yards for another Snyder score. Glasscock ran for two extra points.

The remaining portion of the third quarter was exciting for Colorado City fans as Bob Benson took a kick-off and did some fancy running to save the Wolves good field position. However, the Wolves couldn't move the ball and had to kick and then Colorado City got a break and the Snyder punt receiver fumbled the ball. However, the Wolves fumbled right back.

Then midway through the third quarter, the Wolves started a drive from their own 24. Behind the running of I-back Rickey Parks, fullback Dearen, quarterback Nix and substitute quarterback David Matthews, the Wolves advanced to the Snyder 35. Then, Wayne Banks got the ball on a counterplay and by the time Snyder realized what was happening, Banks was in for the score. Parks ran for two extra points.

A short time later, the left-handed Buchanan threw a pass and a Wolf defensive man attempted to make an interception. The defender missed the ball, the intended receiver, Gary Patterson, caught it and raced 60 yards for the score.

The try for PAT was no good.

Then midway through the fourth quarter, the Wolves mounted another drive, sustained by a pass to Banks and a screen pass to Bob Benson, who brought the crowd to its feet as he zigged and zagged for 26 yards.

Then Parks made a good run and a long penalty gave the Wolves help and finally with 4:19 left in the game, David Matthews rolled around left end for four yards and the score.

Banks ran for the two extra points.

Next week Colorado City travels to Sweetwater.

posing the contract increases, County Judge Bill Carter has checked with federal wage "freeze" officials. If there is no change in the "freeze", then there cannot be any increase in the rural fire formula.

County officials readily admit that the formula proposes more money to Colorado City. But Colorado City also covers the largest area and it is responsible for fire fighting for 80 per cent of all the population and 75 per cent of all structures.
