OFFER CITY LOWER GAS

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

By H. N. F.

Representative James P. Rogers of arris county has importuned Gov- nor Neff to submit some additional bjects for legislation, all matters ving been urged by his constitu- ts. The Houston Council of Jew- Women, endorsed by the officers the City Federation of Women's ubs, ask for the enactment of a w which will require that persons arged with insanity be confined hospitals before trial, instead of jails as at present. Citizens of arris county ask for an adequate propriation to fight the "dreadful n disease" which has caused the ath of thousands of head of cattle that section of the state. The sum $50,000 will be asked. The gov- nor and livestock sanitary commis- oners have been furnished a copy the resolution, sent by the Pro- ucers' Protective league. A promin- t Houston lawyer, Texas univer- ty graduate and football star has ked for the passage of a bill mak- it a penitentiary offense for a ite and negro to cohabit. He ys the only punishment now is a grancy charge, which is a misde- eanor. This lawyer says it was cessary for the Ku Klux Klan to ndle violators near Houston and ith the practice stopped the Ku ux Klan would diminish to that tent.

Senator R. H. Dudley and his fel- w members of the upper house ap- propriations, committee looped off ree hundred and fifty thousand dol- rs from the estimates submitted to e joint appropriate committees by tate Health Officer Manton Mer- fie Carrick. Manton, the Im- aculate, said he needed the money r his department for plague offensive d research work. Perhaps Senator udley and his fellow committeemen ere fearful that if they made the ll appropriation and deposited it in bank in Austin the state health of- er might suspect that it was placed ere to bribe him or some of the em- oyes of his department. He had ade a sorry blunder in handling the migating fund and the man in the ack sloach hat disguise appears to ve been gotten the goat of Manton e Immaculate. It was cruel of Sena- r Bob to spoil that story of finance d folly and mystery which appears have evolved from the brain of this ongster who alone made Texas a autiful place to live and who if ven the necessary millions, would d Asia and Africa and America of ubonic plague rats and all other ath carrying rodents. Genius is ever the mercy of Mediocarty but Man- n the Immaculate will come again n the principle that truth crushed earth will rise again.

Wichita Falls draws them from all ints of the compass and from all e chesty cities of Texas. Orus O. oss enjoyed life and the practice of profession in Dallas thirteen years. is sprightly sons are growing up d ranch life appealed to them. At rney Ross knew of the glories of ichita Falls already won, and real- ed that there were many glories yet be won as well as opportunities this city built on faith. His pa- nts own a ranch near Montrose and boys live the outdoor life when va- tion time comes. He moved to ichita Falls, he purchased a home, hung out his shingle and he too edicts for this fastest growing city America a wonderful future for his ys as well as for the head of the mily. Wherever you go they talk ichita Falls. There was a time hen they talked Fort Worth, but e city built on faith has its evange- sts everywhere and its oil fields and empire builders and the news- pers have spread its fame as well as future possibilities, the country er. Publicity is the thing. If you not believe it, do something mean, t arrested for it, let the people read in the newspapers and then go try borrow money at the banks.

Horace Robbins of the Wichita otarians would have made an ideal ublicity agent if he hadn't invaded nother field of endeavor where lau- ls are to be won. He read in the ecord News Harlan Hoover's defi- ition of a Rotarian and Rotaryanism d said: "That's the story. Hoover old it all. He talked in the simple nguage of the people—the language ey understand. When a man has message he should sent it home, send straight home and let it speak for self. Why should he stammer, why ould he flounder, why should he lash, why should he bury the mess- ge in a sea of meaningless words or hrases?" Horace Robbins is some ooster for Wichita Falls. He told a ory the other day of a visit paid to e city by one of the officers of his ompany who came here from Atlanta, a. Now this Georgian had read a t about Wichita Falls and some of at which he had read was over- rawn and highly colored. Wichita alls looked good to him on his ar- val but he was still of the opinion at exaggeration ran Fact a close ace. Horace motored him over the ity. He pointed out to him the pa- tial homes of the very wealthy, the autiful homes of the well to do, the omey homes of the salaried class and e livable homes with their flowers d lawns of the wage earners of the ity. Georgia surrendered. He came om Peachtree street, but he was illing to admit there was something ew under the sun, something beauti- l under the sun, something inviting nder the sun, far, far removed from eachtree street and the red hills of eorgia. "Young man," he said, "You ave shown me. I am not amazed; am just stagered. Command me for ichita Falls. Whatever we can do future we will do it." Object les- ons are both impressive and lasting essons.

SELECTION OF JURY FOR TRIAL DRAGS

Counsel for State and Defense Make No Effort to Hasten Completion of Court to Hear Evidence.

Toussaint's Attorneys Indicate by Questioning Medical Evidence and Insanity to Be Featured.

With neither state or defense attorneys showing any tendency to hasten the selection of the jury by the omission any of the numerous questions asked prospective jurors the trial of Henry J. Toussaint, charged with murder, will open its fourth day this morning with only eight jurors agreed upon and sworn in. It is not expected that the twelfth juror will be selected before this afternoon.

Only three additional jurors were added to the list Friday when the court adjourned at 3 p. m., by Judge H. F. Weldon at the request of the defendant's attorneys to allow them to look over a new list of fifty talesmen obtained Friday afternoon by Sheriff Fred Smith.

The following men were added to the jury list Friday:

C. E. Adams, 34 years old, proprietor of the American Cafe, city, married.

J. S. Owens, 50 years old, married, driller, living in Iowa Park.

J. W. Bradley, 45 years old, married, furniture business, city.

For the first time some friction between state and defense attorneys was evidenced Friday. Taking offense at a remark of a personal nature made by a state attorney while objections were being made as to form of questioning being asked a prospective juror, C. C. McDonald, attorney for the accused jumped to his feet and asked the court that the state attorney be reprimanded for his remark. No action was taken by Judge Weldon.

Defendant's attorneys again made strong objections when at 2:45 p. m., it was suggested by the court that they should be able to look over the new list of 50 talesmen in a few minutes and commence the examination as to their fitness for jury service. The court finally agreed to adjourn until this morning to allow for the examination of the list.

Thirty-four men were examined for jury service during the day. A majority as usual were excused from service when they said that they had conscientous objections to giving the death penalty as a punishment for crime.

After the state had passed him defense attorneys succeeded in getting J. C. Mytinger, local mill owner, excused for cause. Questioned as to his attitude toward insanity as a plea of defense by the defense attorneys, Mr. Mytinger said that he had no general objections to its use adding that he believed that it was used in many cases where "it was a frame up" and that he would be inclined to take a "lot of such evidence with a grain of salt."

The state challenged two during the day without cause making a total of seven with the defense challenging three in a similar manner, also making a total of seven. Each side is allowed fifteen.

W. B. Minnick, farmer, and A. R. Barker, bakery proprietor, were challenged by the state while the defense challenged Frank Johnson, bookkeeper of this city, A. D. Finehold, farmer and A. G. Eads, former officer of Iowa Park.

Should the jury be completed by noon today which is not probable it is expected that the state will rest its case by time of adjournment this evening. With the defense conceding that the accused took the life of his father in the manner and time alleged it is not expected that it will not take more than two or three hours for the state to present its case.

"HITCHY KOO" CAUSED IT, TOO

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, who recently filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, gave evidence today in special claim that he was broke.

He told Referee Townsend that the frolicsome show "Hitchkykoo" caused his downfall, leaving him with only notes, pawn tickets and scenery. The show bogged down at Philadelphia, he explained, and he had to pawn a watch that "Diamond Jim" Brady had given him in order to buy railroad tickets for the chorus girls.

The referee seeking to learn of the comedian's assets which he listed at $125 asked about his town-house, his country place on Long Island and his automobile.

Mr. Hitchcock said his wife owned them all.

NORTHCLIFFE LEAVES CAPITAL WITHOUT BEING ENTERTAINED BY BRITISH DIPLOMATIC ENVOY

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Lord Northcliffe, the most widely known newspaper publisher of the British Isles, left Washington tonight after a two-day visit without having been entertained by the British embassy and without having received from embassy of any of those attentions usually accorded by foreign diplomats to distinguished fellow countrymen.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE

Both embassy officials and Lord Northcliffe maintained silence today with regard to the withdrawal of invitations extended the publisher while in Washington and attend a dinner which was to have been given in his honor there last night.

The viscount, however, was understood still to regard the withdrawal of the invitations as an outgrowth of the controversy now raging in England between the Northcliffe press and Lord Curson, the British foreign minister.

Despite the withdrawal of the dinner invitation, Lord Northcliffe was understood to have met at a dinner given tonight by Mrs. E. B. McLean, wife of the Washington publisher, most of the guests he would have met at the proposed embassy dinner. Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador and a personal friend of the viscount, was understood to have been one of the guests at the McLean dinner. Lord Northcliffe called on Sir Auckland yesterday to pay his respects.

The single new development today in the controversy between Lord Northcliffe and Lord Curzon and also Premier Lloyd-George, was a reply by the publisher to the statement read in the house of commons by Premier Lloyd-George and authorized by King George. The deply made in the form of a cablegram sent to Lord Stamfordham, private secretary of the king, was made public as follows:

"Please convey to his majesty with my humble onty my denial of ever having ascribed to his majesty the word or words stated by the prime minister yesterday. I gave no such interview."

Leaving here tonight after the McLean dinner, Lord Northcliffe will arrive early tomorrow in New York and after spending the day there will depart for VanCouver by way of Toronto. He will board ship at Van Couver for his trip to Australia, New Zealand, China, Japan, the Philippines and India.

CONVICTS RIOT IN OKLAHOMA PENITENTIARY

Shirt Factory Partially Wrecked Before Men Are Subdued by Hastily Summoned Guards.

By Associated Press.

McALESTER, Okla., July 29.—One prisoner is dead, three seriously injured and fifty others are suffering minor injuries tonight, resultant from a 20 minute riot which broke out in the shirt factory of the state penitentiary here today.

The riot was prearranged, according to prison authorities. Broken machines and piles of smashed chairs tonight bear testimony of the intensity of the short struggle.

Officials of both the penitentiary and the reliance manufacturing company, which has a contract with the state for prison labor estimated the loss tonight at about $10,000. They stated the factory would probably be shut down for several weeks.

Mack Whitehead, serving a life term for the murder of a negro, and who was killed, gave the signal for the rioting, prison authorities said. At his shout of "lets go, boys," they said, the convicts rose from their work, smashed their chairs over their machines, and rushed for the guards.

In the fighting which followed every window in the building was smashed and each of the two hundred seventy machines in the factory were damaged. Some were thrown entirely through the windows, crashing to the ground outside. Thousands of shirts were strewn about the room.

Whitehead was shot and killed instantly when he started to attack Deputy Warden Jedlicka, with a piece of broken sewing machine, authorities said. The factory is not equipped with the armed guard system and that shot was the only one fired, according to Fred Dwitzer, warden. It was only through the quick action of prison guards, in conducting a hand to hand battle, that a serious outbreak was avoided, he said.

The prisoners, 250 of them, became disorganized when Whitehead was shot down, and when they formed into small groups, were driven back to their cells by armed guards arriving from more remote parts of the penitentiary.

The prisoners of the shirt factory were the only ones who attempted rioting, and the situation was quiet tonight, Warden Switzer said.

George Parry, the only guard seriously injured, is expected to recover from the blow across the skull, which stunned him.

"They read of the Pittsburgh riot and thought they would try it here" Warden Switzer said.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR BODY OF DR. W. E. STONE

END PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX CHANGE

House Ways and Means Committee Goes Into Executive Session to Consider Revision.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Public hearings on tax revision were closed today by the house ways and means committee which will start drafting the new revenue bill after hearing Secretary Mellon, internal revenue commissioner Blair and other treasury officers in executive session, beginning Monday.

Chairman Fordney said today it probably would take three weeks to get the bill before the house. The majority members of the committee have as yet had no conference to agree upon a revision program and evidence of a difference of opinion among them on certain changes proposed has not been lacking.

All of the Republicans have not yet agreed to the treasury proposal to repeal the excess profits tax and substitute an increase in the normal tax on corporations, but leaders generally believe this program ultimately will prevail. A reduction in the sur tax brackets to a maximum of at least 40 per cent also is forecast with probably some other changes in the present law.

Like the great majority who had gone before, most witnesses before the committee today sought removal of the tax from their particular industries, but as Chairman Fordney repeatedly pointed out, the committee got few suggestions as to how the loss in revenue proposed was to be made up.

WINS RACE BUT DOESN'T GET TROPHY

HAMILTON, Ont., July 29.—Scrapper II of Toronto today won the third and last of the yacht races for the George cup, but was barred from possession of the trophy because of failure to finish the first race last Saturday.

The trophy goes to Nirgwana, who finished second today.

WHACK THIRD OFF SALARIES OF TEACHERS

University, School of Medicine and School of Mines Instructors Must Accept Smaller Pay.

Members of House Petition Neff Not to Submit Kerrville Hospital Bill at Present Session.

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 29.—Reduction in salaries of the instructors and professors of the medical branch of the University of Texas at Galveston and of the School of Mines at El Paso were made in the house of representatives today where consideration of the university budget of the appropriation bill took the entire day.

Representative Bonham of Bee offered an amendment to the medical school budget cutting the salaries from 10 to 33 per cent with a gross total for the next two years of $47,460. It was adopted by a vote of 80 to 33.

When consideration of the school of mines budget came up he offered an amendment slicing $7,960 off the salaries of the instructors and professors for the next two years. Representative Satterwhite moved to table it and the motion lost by a 32 to 80 vote. The amendment was then agreed by a viva voce vote.

Reject Amendments

The opponents of the salary slashing of the main university which took place yesterday brought the affair up again today when Miller of Dallas and Barret of Bell offered an amendment proposing to reduce the salaries stipulated in the original bill over $4,000, twenty per cent and those under that sum and above $2000, ten per cent. It was tabled by a vote of 87 to 42.

Representative Fugler then made a last ditch stand offering an amendment proposing a gross ten per cent cut in all salaries above $1200 stipa-

LEGION CONDEMS PARDONING PRISONERS

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 29.—In promising a fight to a finish if Eugene V. Debs and other war prisoners were pardoned at this time, John G. Emery, national commander of the American Legion, today wired President Harding that such action would be interpreted as a license to disregard law and order. The legion commander assured the president that no action the administration could take would draw the fire of ex-service men more promtly or unjustly than the pardon of Debs.

ARREST TWO FOR GAMING ON GASSERS

SHREVEPORT, La., July 29.—J. M. Collins and Willie Burkett were arrested at Gasser Park this afternoon on a charge of "gambling on a baseball game."

The Weather

East Texas: Saturday and Sunday generally fair, continued warm.

Oklahoma and West Texas: Saturday and Sunday, partly cloudy, somewhat unsettled.

LOCAL OPERATORS WITH DUNCAN POOL HOLDINGS CALL HAND OF COMPANY

Instead of gas rates in Wichita Falls being forced up to a dollar, on account of the demands of the Lone Star Gas company, they can be lowered from their present price as far as this city is concerned, through acceptance of a proposal that has been made by local people, owners of large gas production in the Duncan pool, and interested with other parties who are owners of pipe through which it can be brought to Wichita Falls, it became known here Friday morning.

The offer has been tentatively made to the company through W. M. Priddy, who has been active in working out the project during the several days, in connection with other Wichita Falls operators having gas holdings in the Duncan pool, amounting to some 25,000,000 feet per day.

Calls Their Hand

The project attracted considerable local interest Friday through the fact that the opportunity offered in a measure "calls the hand" of the two gas companies, and the subsequent attitude of the distributing company toward the offer will in a large measure determine in the minds of the Wichitans whether the litigation in progress between the Lone Star and North Texas gas companies is in reality a break in the relations of the companies, or simply a play to obtain an increased gas rate.

Considerable speculation has been indulged in throughout the cities and towns of North and Northwest Texas affected by the litigation as to whether or not the present suit was friendly or unfriendly.

Handling of Suit

How the matter could be handled, in case the local distributing company saw fit to accept the proposal advanced, has not been gone into, so far as could be learned Friday. However, it is possible that a withdrawal of the North Texas Gas company's objection to the cancellation of their contract, asked by the Lone Star, in so far as Wichita Falls is concerned, might solve the problem.

The fact that he had made the offer referred to was confirmed by Mr. Priddy when he was seen by a representative of the Record News who had learned of the situation, and of the tentative offer.

"We have the gas all right—an assured supply for a long time, and from a big field which has not yet hardly been scratched. And there is no reason why it should not—owned as it is here—be utilized for Wichita Falls, and afford this city lower gas as well as affording the operators a market for their product.

Says Entirely Feasible

"The plan is entirely feasible, and can be easily worked out. In addition to our holdings, which assures the supply, another group of operators here has fully sufficient pipe lineage, which can be purchased for 25 per cent of what it could have been a number of months ago, and relaid at a cost which would not bring the total cost, I believe, over 50 per cent of that of existing lines. We may even be able to utilize lines which are even now laid, and expedite the matter.

"Right now, we have a production of 25,000,000 feet of gas per day in this pool. We have one well which is blowing off five and a half or six million feet into the air. And Wich-

U. S. OPPOSES PRELIMINARY CONFERENCES

Officials Refrain From Expressing Attitude but Nevertheless Look Askance at Proposals.

View Advanced That Pre-Disarmament Meetings Will Defeat Real Purpose of Proposed Gathering.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Proposals for preliminary meetings of representatives of all powers and any separate group of them prior to the disarmament conference are receiving no encouragement from the American government.

Although officials decline to comment formally, it is apparent belief here that all of the various schemes suggested for preliminary sessions are impracticable and might lead to defeat of the purpose of the conference itself.

That feeling is understood to apply with particular force to any proposal that certain questions be taken up beforehand in separate conferences where only certain members of the main conference are represented. It is held that such a plan not only would have the undesirable result of creating groups within the main group, but might open such avenues of discussion that would leave the participants further from solution than they were in the beginning.

It is also increasingly apparent that the United States is doing what it can to discourage suggestions for a preliminary conference among all nations that are to be represented in the principal conference.

It is also understood that this government holds to its original suggestion that the conference assemble here on armistice day, November 11, though some of the other invited nations have urged that a later date be selected.

Meantime, officials are working steadily in preparation of details, and although it is said actual choice of the personnel of the American delegation is yet to be made President Harding is known to have given the question some serious thought. It is expected generally that the president himself will not sit at the conference table, but that Secretary Hughes will act as head of the American delegates.

It has been intimated that serious conditions might be given to suggestions that at least one of the places on the delegates go to a woman.

YANKS FRANTIC AS SHIP WAITS AUGUST FIRST

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Some 100 Americans tonight were bobbing on the mile limit somewhere off Sandy Hook bemoaning the fact that the steamer Magli Hellas on which they had taken passage from Greek ports carried an excess immigration quota of Greeks. Several days ago it was announced that Greece had sent into this country in July all the immigrants to which she was entitled under the new restrictive laws. So when the Megali Hellas—the first of several ships in like quandry—thrust her bow up to the theoretical three-mile mark, her skipper tossed over his anchor to wait for August to roll around.

Wireless wails came warbling ashore, from the Americans, complaining to the Ellis Island immigration station. But Ellis Island did nothing and N. Galons, ships agent, who said he had heard nothing about the protest, announced the craft would stay where shew as until Monday.

DEPUTY KILLED

ACQUIT JUDGE ON CHARGE OF TAKING BRIBE

Justice Dismisses Action Against Judge Lucien B. Wright in Sapulpa, Oklahoma, Court.

Magistrate Rules Witnesses Fail to Produce Evidence Tending to Incriminate Jurist.

By Associated Press.

SAPULPA, Okla., July 29.—The fourth chapter in the two million dollar Tommy Atkins oil lands litigation, was closed today, when District Judge Lucien B. Wright, of Creek county, was not held for trial on charges of having accepted a $10,000 bribe for deciding the case, March 31 favorably to the Sallie Atkins interests. Sallie was one of three women who claimed mothership of Tommy Atkins, heir to Creek oil lands.

Justice A. A. Piltz, before whom the case was heard, said orally in dismissing the case, that "not an ounce of testimony tending to substantiate the charges as filed in the information, has been introduced, and that not a witness testified directly concerning the charge, in a manner to substantiate it."

Attorney General S. P. Freeling would not say tonight whether he believed a grand jury would be called at Sapulpa August 8, the date Judge H. C. Fullerton will start a two weeks' assignment on the Creek county bench.

Reports that a grand jury had been called for August 8, are false, according to Acting Chief Justice John H. Pitchford. It is possible that such action may be taken by Judge Fullerton, however, he said.

Evidence already taken in the preliminary hearing of Judge Wright could be reviewed, he said, but no new evidence submitted.

NEFF REVERSES SELF IN GRAFT CHARGE PROBE

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 29.—Late today Governor Neff wrote a letter to Representative Cox, chairman of the graft and extravagance investigating committee, before which the chief executive appeared today, informing him that in his testimony he was mistaken when he said that none of the $15,000 embezzled from the treasury department had been made good to the treasury by the bondsmen of the embezzler.

ROB DALLAS HOME OF JEWELS AND CLOTHES

DALAS, July 29.—Clothing, pistols and other property valued at $300 were stolen last night from the home of John E. Morris. The burglars entered the home while members of the family were absent.

"I Thought They Had Him—and New York Thought They Had Him But He Slipped Through and Won"

A prominent Wichitan, who keeps closely in touch with financial affairs in the East was talking—and he was talking of the wonderful and resourceful victory which Henry Ford adroitly won over the powers of Wall Street.

"His financial statement showed his concern badly in need of money. The bankers had delivered their ultimatum, and he had defied them. They considered that he could not get away. I was told in New York that he could not get away. The Wall Street Journal sent a correspondent to Detroit, and they pushed him as hard as they could, without violating the libel laws.

"The fellow—I never admired him—is an independent and original thinker. His most able associates, four or five of them—differed and quarreled with him over his plan, and got out. They thought he would be done for.

"It looked like he could not escape.

BUT HE WON OUT."

SCHOOL OF POLITICS IS ORGANIZED

Institution for Study of International Politics Dedicated by Chief Justice Taft.

By Associated Press.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., July 29.—The Institute of Politics, a forum and a school for the consideration of international problems and relations was opened at Williams College today, William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States presided.

Statesmen of his standing, among them Viscount Bryce were present as members of the faculty. In the chairs as auditors and students were the executives and faculty members of many American colleges.

To determine the means by which international relations may be so adjusted that the strength of each may be developed for the welfare of all, was advanced as the fundamental object of the institute by Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College.

Chief Justice Taft, Governor Channing H. Cox, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University and Mayor Andrew J. Peters of Boston, were other speakers.

"Never before has it been so clear" said Chief Justice Taft, "that our prosperity is dependent on our relations to other countries.

"The greatest obstruction to the world's maintaining harmony among its members is the misunderstanding between them and the lack of accurate information which one nation may have of the exact situation of the other.

"Progress made in any field of human activity is dependent upon reliable and accurate relevant facts. By as much as that evidence falls in accuracy or extent, the deficiencies of progress are measured. This institute is to help perfect the evidence as to the facts bearing upon the international relations between countries.

"This institute was conceived before the war came on, but its organization had to be postponed because of the war. The war made its usefulness clearer. We are likely to indulge in a pessimistic estimate of the good that the war has done because of the failure to realize the enthusiastic hopes of the noble men and women of all the nation who offered up their great sacrifices in the confidence that the defeat of the Germans and the victory of the rest of the world over the German ambition would end war forever and lead to an abiding peace and prosperity under peace.

"Such an end as this is not achieved all at once. The elimination of Germany's destructive ambition is a great step forward, but it is not everything. A huge task confronts the world now that victory has been won. The war has done much to change the international mind and the psychology of peoples and has impressed the whole world, as never before with the inevitable interdependence of peoples and countries, and the necessity for recognizing and acting upon it if prosperity is to be restored, if the world is to progress at all, and if it is to be worth living in."

GARMENT INDUSTRY HOUSED TOGETHER

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The greater part of the women's garment industry of New York is now housed in the largest combined manufacturing and exhibition buildings in the world—the Garment Center Capitol.

Under this arrangements, through co-operative buying of materials, lower cost of floor space and other economics, the manufacturers claim the cost of women's apparel will be considerably reduced.

The new garment center—erected by a co-operative movement to improve manufacturing conditions in the industry—is located several blocks south of Times Square in Seventh Avenue. It consists of two towering skyscrapers covering two city blocks, which represent an investment of $20,000,000.

Fifty-eight separate manufacturing concerns with upward of 20,000 employes are concentrating their factories in these buildings. Practically all of these firms are from the Madison Square and lower Fifth Avenue district, where the garment industry was formerly scattered in numerous buildings.

The new building, which is one of architectural beauty, has been in course of erection for many months, there being more than 1,000 workmen employed in its construction.

All of the "sweatshops" arrangements of the past have been completely eliminated and instead every factory is equipped with the most modern appliances and the ventilation system is one of the finest in the world.

Provision has been made for the welfare of employes by the fully equipped club-house on-the-top of one of the skyscrapers. This is equipped with a modern gymnasium, swimming pool and roof garden. There has also been installed a fully equipped hospital and a system of restaurants have been installed throughout the buildings.

In the war between France and Holland in 1793-1795, Pichegru led the French soldiers into Amsterdam in mid winter, and was met by the citizens shouting, "Vive la Republique Francaise!" As the Dutch fleet was at that time ice bound in the Zuyder Zee—the harbor of Amsterdam—Pichegru surrounded it with his cavalry and forced it to surrender. Thus was witnessed the unique spectacle in war of a fleet of warships surrendering to a land force.

GIRLS STAGE FAREWELL APPEARANCE IN BATHING SUITS

Summer is no time for a bathing suit. At least that is the general idea around the Sennett lot. Most of the beauties have already parked their bathing suits and are rapidly acquiring a heavier wardrobe so that they may engage in drama. Behold Harriet Hammond as she makes her final bathing suit appearance. From now on Miss Hammond will appear in Lasky dramas. Mildred June will exhibit her beauty under the Selig banner and both will pack their bathing suits away and begin eating pies instead of throwing them.

WEALTHY COP KILLS ATTORNEY

Millionaire Policeman Terrorizes Crowded Courtroom by Shooting.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Before the eyes of a terrorized throng in a court room today Henry D. Kellogg, known as the "millionaire policeman," shot and fatally wounded Lemuel O. Ackley, an attorney, and then sent a bullet through his own head. Ackley died while being taken to a hospital and Kellogg is not expected to live.

The tragedy resulted from a court battle between the two men over a farm, both claiming title to the property through the purchase of tax claims. Kellogg had been summoned into court to answer a charge of contempt in disobeying an order awarding the farm to Ackley. Judge Charles A. McDonald, of criminal court sentenced him to fifteen days in jail for refusing to obey an order dispossessing him of the property.

As the judge delivered the sentence Kellogg, who was in full uniform, rose from his seat and drawing his heavy service pistol stepped toward Ackley, who was standing at the bar. He fired six shots. Four of them went wild, one crashing into the bench, one smashing a window and two spattering the wall. Ackley fell to the floor with a bullet through his body and an instant later his assailant fell beside him with another bullet through his head.

The court room was in a turmoil in an instant. Shrieking women ran in panic toward the exits and fell fainting on the way. Men rose from their seats and knocked one another down in an attempt to get out. Police were called to restore order and clear the hall. Kellogg, who joined the police force in 1897, was reputed to be worth between $200,000 and $300,000 and known as the wealthiest member of the department.

Ackley was widely known throughout the state.

Bar Paint and Powder on Hospital Patients

By Associated Press.

DALLAS July 29—Women patients, whose faces are thickly covered with paint and powder will be forced to go under the sponge in at least one Dallas hospital, it was announced today.

A special nurse, at this hospital, is equipped with a sponge to swab off the paint from female patients should it be found necessary.

"In many instances where women patients are brought to the operating room," she said, "we can not tell the color of their lips while under the influence of an anaesthetic and this hinders our work."

DOLLAR DAY SUCCESSFUL IN WICHITA

A good day's business as a result of dollar day was generally reported Monday by local merchants, who expressed themselves as being satisfied, and as feeling sure that their patrons were satisfied with the many real bargains they were able to offer them.

"The best day's business we have had in a long time, and the best that we have yet enjoyed on these dollar days which you have inaugurated," was substantially the comment of the manager of one of the large department stores.

CHARGE ONE WITH SEIZURE OF WHISKEY

Alleged by officers to have been implicated in the unlawful seizure of liquor some time Thursday night from a man on a county road near Wichita Falls, H. T. Scott, better known as "Scotty" was taken into custody late Friday night by Patrolmen Howell and Miller. He was immediately transferred to the county jail.

A short time later D. M. Parrick, at one time a member of the city police force and later a member of Constable Frank Morgan's force was taken into custody by Sheriff Fred Smith, Constable Morgan and Deputy Constable Art Blasingame. Officers said that he was arrested for alleged impersonation of an officer.

Immediately following the arrest of Scott, the arresting officers left for a trip to points in the surrounding oil fields. Jailer Cass Tarver declared another arrest was expected as a result of the trip.

OLD MEN ENJOY VACATION WORK

By Associated Press.

TOPEKA, July 29.—The vacation period of life—years well along towards the horizon—has brought pleasant occupations to three aged Kansas men. Having retired from active pursuits, each today is following the bend of his inclinations and declares he is enjoying his pastime immensely—one writing and printing a book, another collecting insects, and the third a sculptor of stone.

Dr. A. N. See, 80, a retired Methodist preacher who with his wife lives in the Methodist Home for the Aged in Topeka, has just completed a history of the Northwest Kansas conference. He not only gathered the historical data and wrote the manuscript for a 200-page book, but also printed the pages on a little hand press and bound the volumes. Dr. See was a pioneer circuit rider in the big Northwest Kansas conference and later for many years was superintendent of the district.

Karl Stecher, 90, of Wichita, artist and educator, chose to pursue what he claims always has been his hobby—collecting insects. An extensive collection of caterpillars, gathered and mounted by Mr. Stecher, recently was displayed in the show window of a Wichita bank. It includes specimens obtained by him on his travels through six countries—Switzerland, France, Italy, Turkey, Canada and the United States. Mr. Stecher was born in Oberkich, Germany. He gained most of his education in Paris where he resided twenty years, making art his specialty. His paintings are confined largely to scenes of nature in the various countries he has visited, including one of Mt. Blanc, and several of New York. By his brush he gained considerable recognition, both in Europe and America. He still paints, having several canvasses under way at present. Several of his paintings are dated 1920. Mr. Stecher came to America 48 years ago.

Having made a comfortable fortune farming since he came to this country with his father 56 years ago from his native Belgium, Charles DeLeye of Emmet—long since made famous as the town and making unique stone decorations for his house and lawn. Some of these, which include a large stone gate arch, a decorative wall, a huge basin surmounting a stone base ten feet in diameter, are of mosiac design of vari-colored stones set in concrete and decorated with the sculptor's chisel. The decorative wall is 127 feet long and inlaid with more than 200 kinds of rocks.

"In fact the most difficult job of all was the gathering of the many kinds of stones," said Mr. DeLeye. "I have been gathering them for twenty-two years. Most of them came from within seventy-five miles of my home, but some came from Colorado, numerous other states and even from Belgium.

NEW YORK IN THEORY DESTROYED

City Theoretically Wiped Out as Result "Surprise" Attack by 17 Planes.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 29.—New York today was theoretically destroyed by seventeen bombing airplanes in a "surprise" attack.

An aerial squadron commanded by Brigadier General William Mitchell, buzzed over the city and after the maneuvers, General Mitchell declared that—again theoretically—New York had been completely eliminated as a military factor. He asserted that had bombs been dropped skyscrapers would have been wrecked and their occupants now waiting for the undertaker.

Actually the machines did wreck the city's business for perspiring clerks flocked to the roofs to watch the airmen cavort.

The financial district, with the subtreasury, was the airmen's pet target. One plan wirelessed which buildings were to be bombed and the airmen theoretically bombed away.

General Mitchell explained that today's attack was part of a big war problem which the army air force had been working out since the destruction of the former German ships off the Virginia Capes.

"BEEFSTEAK PIE" PASTOR'S SUBJECT

"The tenderest memories that a man has," said the Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker, "are often clustered around some special dish that mother used to make as a token of tender love to her boy. One of the most pathetic and dramatic and powerful stories of the war is called, 'The Sacrament of the Beefsteak Pie.' I will use this Sunday night to illustrate my subject, which is 'The Heart of Heaven and the Heart of Hell.'

"At this season of the year, hot kitchens, hot offices, heat everywhere produce an environment where peace and tranquility find it hard to stay. My subject then Sunday morning at the church, which is 'The Philosophy of Peace,' will be very timely. It is intended to help everybody from the cook over the stove to the big financier with his troubles multiplied by the conditions of the day.

"At 9:30 the men's class at the Olympic Theater. They pulled off a big and most successful watermelon feast Wednesday night, and they are going to pull off other stunts during the summer time. A special surprise and treat is in store for them on Sunday morning.

"The Sunday School is out to double the record of last year in attendance. It has almost accomplished that up to now. If attendance can be kept above the 700 mark up to September first, we will double this year the attendance of last year in the Sunday School. This we are going to do.

"Special solos, duets and quartettes will enliven the musical program of the day."

LEBENSON ACQUIRES STOCK AT M'DOWELLS

The McDowell store stock of ladies' ready-to-wear has been purchased by Saul Lebenson and has been moved to Saul's where it will be placed on sale in connection with his removal sale, to start at an early date, according to a Friday announcement.

The stock, which was purchased for 20 cents on the dollar, includes ladies' suits, cloaks, skirts and other items of a ready-to-wear stock.

Valuable deposits of kaolin have been discovered in Australia and it is expected that the Australian pottery works, which have been languishing, will profit by the new find. The clay is very white and plastic, suitable for making the best porcelain.

CARSON MEETS MR. EINSTEIN HALF WAY

It's hard to say what put the idea in the boss's mind. Dan Talmadge said it was Thomas Edison and his hundred and more "Do you knows" while Sammy Hunter insisted it was the impossible 110 score that the Lord High Executioner took over his country club links the Saturday before. Anyway, the head of a large Kansas City engineering firm called his junior assistants into his office on a recent Monday morning and there was blood in his eye and anger in his voice.

"We're getting in a rut here," he said brusquely. "Not only in the kind of work we're doing, but in our information on things any college graduated engineer should know. Richards, what is feldspar?"

"A mineral," the luckless young man hazarded.

"Oh, it's a mineral, is it?" the boss snorted. "So is gold and so is iron, but there's a litle difference between them, somehow or other. Franklin, what is the fourth dimension?"

"Well, that takes a long time to explain," the second sufferer began sketchily.

"Yes, and you don't know how to explain it," his employer cut him off. "Carson, what is relativity?"

"A new idea of Professor Goldstein's.

"Einstein, Mr. Carson, not Goldstein. That caps the climax. You boys look up some of these common every-day matters. Get posted on something besides Babe Ruth's batting average. Each one take the question I've asked you for a starter and if it embodies a theory tell me what you think of the idea's soundness. Now go to it."

Carson hurried up to the library the first moment he had to spare and asked for all the information available on the Einstein theory. The first article was headed "And This is Relativity," and was columns long.

"The first of the three chief points of the Einstein theory is that absolute motion has no existence so far as we are concerned," the piece began snappily. "All motions of every kind that we see or of which we perceive the effects are only relative to one another and can be measured in a relative sense."

Carson dived farther into the Einsten material and found the rest of the clippings made the first one sound as simple as the love letters of an Indian soldier.

"Blah-blah-blah," he said at last, rising and stretching. "I could read that stuff for years and not understand it. George Chase, uptown, will know as much about this mystery as anybody. I'll see what the esteemed George has to say on the subject."

Now George Chase, and of course his name isn't George Chase, is as sweet a scientist as there is in Kansas City, and, in addition, can tell a person things without speaking learnedly of Euclid and paranolas and physicts and the bionomial factor. Add to this the fact that George's office door and pocket are always open to his friends, that he has a "Hello-you-big-ham. I'll-give-you-ten-minutes-don't-take-more-than-two-hours" type of conversation and that he keeps more than his hat in his locker, and it's easy to see why George bats 1,000 per cent in the popularity standings of Kansas City.

"I'm pouring you one, Jimmie," he grinned. "You make this with a cake of yeast, five raisins and two ounces of arnica. The first drop kisses you, the second kicks you, the third kills you. I'm making yours a half pint."

After the fire department had left Carson told Chase his business. The scientist scratched his head in perplexity.

"It's a hard one to explain to a dumbbell like you," he said at last. "Now watch me while I illustrate. The quantity G used by physicists and astronomers is represented by the figures thirty-two feet a second. The Einstein results, if interpreted by the ordinary law of gravitation ——"

"Hold it, George, hold it." Carson interrupted. "You're worse than the clippings I read in the library. Tell me in words of one-syllable what it's all about."

"See that?" he asked.

"Yes."

Another whack.

"And that?"

"Well, that is relativity."

Carson wrung his handkerchief in water and applied it to Chase's head.

"Yeast, raisins, arnica—and dynamite," he said. "I'm sorry, George, will St. Mary's hospital be all right?"

"Take your hands off me." Chase objected. "I'm telling you the truth, you poor simp. That stunt I showed you is an exact illustration of relativity."

"What do you mean?"

"Well, how much time was there between the two times I hit the desk?"

"A split second."

"Did you see my hand move the slightest between the blows?"

"No."

"Do you think I hit the desk in the same place the two times?"

"I know darned well you did."

"That's where you and Einstein differ. He says I didn't."

"Why didn't you?"

"Because the earth moved between the blows. My hand and the desk had both moved by the time I struck it again."

Carson argued the matter with Chase, but he didn't get even to first base.

"There are many other illustrations Jimmie, and many other phases of the idea," the scientist said. "But erally remembered to bring Bill a lolly-pop.

"Bill, did you ever hear of Professor Einstein?" Jimmie asked, regarding the youngster who already had inserted the lolly-pop in his mouth and looked as though he had a fine case of the mumps.

"Gloo?" managed Bill, with difficulty.

"Einstein, Professor Einstein?"

"Glo," Bill shook his head.

"Well, I'm going to explain his idea to you," Carson said. "Take that thing out of your mouth."

The lolly-pop was extracted after some prying and was still clutched tightly in Bill's left hand, dripping sticky drops over the fresh bloomers that Mrs. Clayton had ironed for Bill that afternoon.

"Does mamma ever spank you?" Carson asked.

Bill's eyes became wide and he nodded his head troubled.

"Where does she spank you?"

"Wherever she catches me."

"No," Carson choked. "Where else does she spank you."

Bill waved the unlolly-popped hand vaguely behind him.

"Well listen, Bill. This Professor Einstein is a wise man, see? A very wise man. He says when mammas spank little boys, one-two-three-four, like that they may think they're spanking the boys in the same place, but they aren't. What do you think about it?"

Bill restored the lolly-pop to his mouth and pondered the subject deeply. At last the conclusion arr'ved.

"Has the wise man a mamma?" he asked.

"I suppose so, Bill."

"Does she ever spank him?"

"Well, not that we know of."

"That's why he's wrong," I 'spect" satisfiedly.

"Oh, hes' wrong, is he?"

"Yes. Maybe mamma doesn't spank in the same place, but it hurts in the same place."

Carson just had time to take Bill by the hand and lead him in quest of another lolly-pop before date time was due at Peggy Martin's.

Peggy's house looked cool and restful, hidden deep in the trees of its corner lot, and Peggy, white-clothed from head to oxfords, looked more so as she wished Carson a good evening from the corner of a comfortable porch swing.

"Margaret, light of my life, I'm tired and worn. Do we just have to 'step' somewhere tonight?" Jimmie asked, relapsing with a sigh into the other corner of the swing.

"We do not," Peggy replied. "The moon's nice enough, for once, and I'll bring you out something cool to drink after a while, if you're a dutiful child."

"What could be sweeter?" sighed the happy young man.

Now Peggy and Jimmie had known each other quite some months, in fact, years, and what are corners in a porch swing for, anyway, except to hang it to the roof by?

A slender georgetted shoulder had accumulated a Palm-beached arm some way or other when Jimmie thought of relativity and his day's investigation.

"Peggy, does the name Einstein mean anything to you?" he asked.

A blonde head shook negatively against the shoulder.

"Dizzy youngster," he murmured. "Now concentrate. Did you ever hear of Professor Einstein?"

"He invented something—or discovered something—or something—"

"Bravo. I'm going to tell you all about it."

"I don't want to know."

"Your desires have little to do with the case, young lady. Now listen—Einstein says if I slap you once, then slap you again, I'd never slap you twice in the same place, no matter how fast the blows came together."

"Why not?"

"The earth would move between the two slaps."

"If the earth wouldn't, I would," Peggy announced firmly. "Let's talk about something else."

"We'll talk about nothing else. I've puzzled over this thing all day and I'm going to settle it now. Now here's where I illustrate the Einstein theory," raising the arm that didn't have a shoulder inside it.

"You'll do nothing of the kind," in violent protest. "No, you won't illustrate it that way, either. Suppose mamma would come out. Don't p-l-e-a-s-e, J-i-m-m-i-e——"

But, though mamma didn't come out the two in the porch swing, after a very thorough test of the Einstein theory didn't yet know whether it was the truth.

"We'll have to try it again, Jimmie decided. "Peggy, dear, you know I care for you, don't you?"

Eleven o'clock came and Jimmie who, despite his searchings after knowledge, respected correct leaving hours above all men, put his arm around Peggy for the last time and, wonder of wonders, felt her hand vaguely searching for his shoulder at the same minute. Once again the theory of relativity was tried out very earnestly, very searchingly, very completely.

"Jimmie," a trembly little voice came up to him at last.

"Yes?"

"Professor Einstein was wrong."

"Why, dear?"

"The world stopped for that kiss."

FIXED FEE IS ATTACKED BY SURGEONS

Prominent Chicago Physician Says Hard and Fast Rule Impossible.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Chicago physicians declared today that the arbitrary fixing of fee limits on operations would place them in the category of trade unionism, following the announcement yesterday that the board of directors at Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, had limited operation fees to $1000.

"No board of directors can decide what adoctor's services are worth," declared Dr. Franklin Martin, secretary-general of the American College of Surgeons today. "Do you know that nine-tenths of the operations performed by the best surgeons in Chicago are for the poor without charge?"

Dr. Max Thore, surgeon-in-chief of the American hospital, said that if a wealthy man brought his wife to him and he saved her life, he charged the limit. "If he can buy a $100,000 yacht he can pay generously for his wife's life," Dr. Thore said.

BULLET MISSES OBJECT BUT HITS BEDROOM WALL

Alleged to have been fired at Sw... Jarrett a pistol bullet Saturday night at about 10 o'clock crashed through a second story window of the St. James hotel, lodging in the wall of a room. The shot was said to have been fired from about the middle of the street.

According to the reports of proprietors of nearby businesses no one is thought to have witnessed the firing of the shot.

The proprietor of a business near the St. James hotel, is alleged to have fired the shot, according to reports given the police by Jarrett. No arrests were made.

FROCKS FOR LATE SUMMER AN D EARLY FALL SHOW VARIETY

Here are three new frocks which show what is good for late summer and early fall wear. The late summer frock is pictured in the center. It is a dainty voile of orchid shade trimmed with many tucks on the long waist and a cluster of purple flowers instead of a belt. Lace trims the neck and sleeves.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

MOTHER-IN-LAW COMPLAINS

In spite of her mother-in-law's remarks about Beth Wilders, Cherry and she were very good friends. And Beth often told this new pal of hers that she "had made Wellsburg a different place for her to live in."

Besides Beth, there were two or three other of the younger women of the town who gravitated towards Cherry, and soon a goodly chummy, little crowd were seeing much of each other from day to day.

Very often Cherry ran into Beth's place for luncheon instead of going all the way home. Then, again, there were evenings when Beth came over to spend an hour or two on the Randalls' comfortable front porch. "Joe's so often busy evenings, lately," she would complain, "and I get so lonely sitting over at my place."

"So the 'Disgruntled Wives' Club' has formed after all, eh?" asked Ned, humorously, one evening after a gathering of Cherry's friends had disbanded. "Such a chatter as went on beneath my basement window, lady-bird, I could hardly keep my mind on my figures."

"Well, dear, you'd hardly call it that," answered Cherry, thoughtfully. "True, we meet to discuss topics of the day, books and things, hundreds of things, and, yes, one of them is ways and means for the help and advancement of modern wives, if you must know. But why not? Wives are most interesting persons, Neddy, and they have a million problems which only wives can understand. It's fine to be able to get together with other sympathetic souls and talk about them sanely, and try to help each other along."

"The trouble with most young wives nowadays," from Mrs. Randall, Sr. "is that their husbands are far too indulgent. Wives are allowed to get away from them and rule the ranch. It's ridiculous. And they most of them haven't enough to keep them busy. If they had they'd find that they had surprisingly little time for problem discussing. I never did, I can tell you."

"Now, mother, mine," said her son, "you know well enough who ran this ranch, always. And all of us, as well. Be honest."

"Yes, but in my case I had an impractical husband, and three children to care for. Conditions are not the same with Beth Williams, a childless woman, and the rest of the 'disgruntled wives.' "

"Yes, and, mother, you did not have all the modern inventions with which we are blessed nowadays to help you with your housework when you first started in, and the many modern interests which are now a part of every intelligent woman's life. Why, in your time, you scarcely had one club. Clubs and time-saving devices have done away with the necessity for lingering all day over one's housework, thank goodness," said Cherry. "And when Ned and I get into our own home I intend to have every convenience possible, so that I may have plenty of time to think and develop my mind as well. That is every woman's privilege."

"And, oh, mother, would you mind very much if we had a little party here next Sunday evening, please?" she finished eagerly.

SAY GREAT RANGES BORN OF GLACIERS

YOSEMITE, Cal., July 29.—In the hope of finding glacial records which will enable scientists to read the history of the West in much more ancient days than they have been able to do hitherto, F. E. Matthes of the United States geological survey has left here, equipped with a large pack train, to explore the crest of the Sierra Nevada as far south as Kong's river canyon.

So far, scientists have been able to determine only that the Rocky mountain and Sierra Nevada country was invaded twice by ice. In the Mississippi Valley, the Eastern states and Canada, there are distinct records of at least five glacial floods. One result of Dr. Matthes' trip may be the discoverey of data which will prove that the earlier ice invasion in the west in reality was two or more invasions, thereby establishing the contemporaneous character of the glacial epochs over the entire North American continent.

"I wish to look for evidence of still earlier ice invasions in the West than have been determined by science up to now," Dr. Matthes said. "We know of two invasions. The later one left a record which is plain and unmistakable. The autograph of the earlier one is mived, confused. It may be that the first record is the work of two glaciers instead of one, perhaps more than two, and that they were contemporaneous with the glacial invasions of the other portions of the continent, of which we know of five. The last glacial invasion was comparatively recent, only about 25,000 years ago.

Birth of Yosemite.

"I don't know what records we are going to find, of course, but if we can establish the existence of more than two glacial floods in the West, it opens many possibilities for reading the geological history of this part of the world. For instance, it might enable us to determine the approximate epoch, when the last upward thrust of the Sierra Nevada rangs gave us the magnificent peaks in Yosemite and along the Muir Trail. That thrust rased Mt. Lyell from a mere hll of 5,000 feet to one of the world's finest spires with an altitude of 13,000 feet. It is believed the thrust occurred less than a million years ago and that belief will be confirmed if we discover the existence of more than two glacial floods in the West, for Lyell bears no traces of late glacial erosion and must have been thrust upward after the earlier glacial epochs."

Dr. Matthes and his party headed for the little used Fernandez Pass, in the southeast corner of Yosemite National Park, from where they will swing northward to the Devil's Post Pile, thence southeastward along the famous John Muir Trail on the crest of the range. Returning in late September, the party will take a lower route via Tehepite Valley and Huntington Lake, not following a trail, but fighting their way over virgin country.

INDIANS PAY HUGE AMOUNT ON INCOMES

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 29—Two hundred and fifty restricted Indians of the Five Cilivilzed Tribes paid an income tax to the United States for the year 1920, of $514,386.25, according to the annual report of the superintendent of the five tribes, which was sent to Washington today.

OPEN DOORS IN BUSINESS

The Stock Girl

The department stores are large employers of girl labor. A position in one of them is probably best obtained by appiying at the superintendent's office. The girl wishing such a position should be cleanly in person; wear plain, neat clothes, usually dark blue or black, good shoes, preferably with low heels as she will be on her feet a great deal, and must do her hair in a tidy manner.

The position of stock girl is one of the first positions a new department store girl is likely to occupy, the next higher step is saleswoman. However a high school graduate may become a saleswoman immediately.

The stock girl's duties are to keep the stock, or goods in her department in order and in place. She will learn here differences in materials, differences in qualities of the same materials, names of various articles, the styles, where things belong, and how they are classified, and, if she is a careful observer of clerks around her, she will learn how to sell goods over the counter. She should study people and learn to manage different types.

The usual wage for a stock girl is about $12.50 per week.

RUSSIA RAIL PROBLEMS EFFECT WHOLE COUNTRY

By Associated Press.

WARSAW, July 29.—Russia's transportation difficulties, because of the general deterioration of the railroads under the Bolshevik regime, according to Moscow reports, have brought about an odd situation. While Southern Russia has a surplus of corn and has been endeavoring to export it to Italy, northern Russia has been buying the same kind of grain from foreign countries.

The railroad situation is said to be particularly bad in central Russia and only recently it was reported that the service between Moscow and Kiev had been reduced to an average of one train a week for freight and passengers.

Russia's metal production is reported to have reached but two percent of the pre-war figure, the coal production about 20 per cent and the oil production 40 per cent.

STANDARD SUBSIDIARY CUTS WORKERS' WAGES

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 29.—Wage reductions of approximately nine and one half per cent will go into effect August 1 for employes of the Carter Oil company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company, according to a decision reached here yesterday by representatives of managers and the employes.

ASK ME

Mrs. H. O. O.—You are mistaken about the two pictures of Charlie Chaplin, "Vanity Fair," and "The Idle Class", are the same picture. Of course you thought that the latter named picture followed "Vanity Fair." Frequently, a title is used merely for working purposes. When the picture is edited and cut the permanent title is then given.

Mollie—"Sticks and Stones" is the title of Katherine MacDonald's next picture. The cast has been selected and will include Charles Meredith, Kate Lester, Wilfred Lucas and Joseph Dowling. "Peachie" and "Her Social Value" have not yet been released.

Garry—Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven have two children. I do not happen to know the ages of the youngsters.

Pearl W.—Eddie Polo is 43. He has a daughter who has recently made her debut in "Foolish Wives." Pola Negri's latest picture is "The Desert Dancer," which will be released through First National. I am unable to give you her address as she is in Europe. The latest play of Josephine Hill is "Let Me Explain. Texas Guinan is not making a picture just at present. The addresses you request will be forthcoming in the next issue.

Beulah—"The Dancin' Fool" is one of Wallace Reid's old pictures. Bebe Daniels has the feminine lead. Agnes Ayres is Wallie's leading lady in "The Love Special."

Cayuga—Irene Castle's new picture will be called "The Broadway Bride."

Mrs. H. C.—The winner of the first prize in the $5000 motion picture contest is Mrs. Frances White Elijah, a Chicago society woman. The story is entitled "The One Man Woman." The contest was nearly six months in operation.

Geraldine—Constance Talmadge is at work on "Good for Nothing," an original story by John Emerson and Anita Loos. The picture will be directed by John Emerson. The cast includes George Fawcett, Frank Lalor, Nita Naldi, Thresa Maxwell Conover and Thomas Carr.

Shelton—Pearl White has severed her matrimonial bonds. She is no longer Mrs. Wallace McCutcheon. The well known author, Gertrude Atherton, has written a screen story which is entitled "Don't Neglect Your Wife." Lewis Stone and Mabel Julienne Scott have prominent roles.

Dalir—No, William S. Hart is not married. Although "they do say" that he and Eva Novak are engaged. At last Charlie Chaplin and May Collins have let the fans in on their secret. Their engagement was suspected and reported some time ago, but only recently has it been announced.

Duzz—Louise Huff has not been making pictures lately. However, she will return to the screen in George Arliss's famous "Disraeli." Speaking of "Disraeli" this play was written specially for and at the suggestion of Mr. Arliss.

JAPS HAVE KINDLY FEELING FOR U. S.

HONOLULU, T. H., July 29.—That the Japanese people as a whole have only the kindest feeling toward America and that heads of the Buddhist faith in Japan are continually preaching a doctrine of peace, opposed militarism, violence and strife of all kinds were the statements made by Right Rev. Sukuzen Arai, abbot of Sojiji and chief of the monastary of the Soto sect at Tsurumi, Japan, who arrived here recently at the head of a party of Buddhist priests for a month's stay in the islands. The abbot said:

"Despite misunderstandings that arise from time to time, the Japanese people in general have the kindest feelings towards the American people. They wish only the warmest and most enduring friendship between the United States and Japan.

"Buddhism is commonly misunderstood by Americans," the abbot continued. "The American people do not seem to know that the Buddhist teachings constantly are exerting a pacifying influence in Japan. Our religion is a religion of peace, opposed to militarism, violence and strife of all kinds."

While here the party will dedicate the new Soto sect mission in Honolulu. The monastery of which Abbot Sukuzen Arai is chief is one of the two principal monasteries of the Soto sect in Japan and is said to have been founded in 1310, A. D. The sect, which first began its teachings in Hawaii, 16 years ago, now has 5,000 adherents in the islands, the abbot said.

With the Women of Today

Miss Kate Wagon.

Miss Kate Wagon of Bartlesville, Okla., has the distinction of being the only full-blooded American girl secretary of a cahmber of commerce. Miss Wagon, whose real name is Qua-Tyste, Indian for little girl, is a full-blooded, one hundred per cent American. Her father, Joe Wagon, was a Delaware Indian, who emigrated with his tribe from Texas into Kansas, then to Oklahoma, where he met and married Anna Daniels, an educated Cherokee Indian maid.

Miss Wagon herself is a well educated, soft spoken, sweet-faced little girl of twenty-two. She tells in a most delightful and naive manner how her father could neither read nor write nor could he speak English. His grandfather, who is still living, also speaks nothing but his native language. Her mother, however, taught school. Miss Wagon attended both high school and business college and took a position in a bank. Later she was given a position with the Bartlesville chamber of commerce and has since been promoted until she is now assistant secretary of that body, a position which is unusual for a woman, and doubly so for a full-blooded Indian miss.

It was her ambition to go through college, but she had to give up her dream and instead is sending younger sisters through school. Like other Indians, Miss Wagon has her allotment of 130 acres and she has purchased 170 in addition, giving her a good sized farm of her own. She made her first trip east of the Mississippi river when Bartlesville business women sent her as one of their delegates to represent them at the convention of the national federation of business and professional women's clubs recently held in Cleveland, O.

NO WAGE CUT IN JAPAN, VISITOR SAYS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 29.—"Japan from an economic and industrial standpoint, is a little better off than this country," said Hirosi Araki, representing the Japanese government railways, here on a trip to purchase steel rails for his government. Mr. Araki placed a large order with a local company for rails.

"We are developing all of our resources and transportation facilities. We are extending railways over Japan and into Korea. In the latter country which is now a province, we are still having considerable trouble with the natives, but order is gradually being brought out of the old conditions and that country is now on the road to prosperity.

CHAMBERLAIN'S EXPLOITS UNIQUE IN NAVY ANNALS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—Unique among the stories of individual exploits in the world war was that told by Captain Edmund G. Chamberlain, a young marine corps aviator from San Antonio, Texas. It was cabled to the United States by the official committee on public information late in August, 1918, and carried to the American people a new thrill in a time of daily thrills when Allied arms everywhere on the western front were demonstrating supremacy over the forces of the Central powers. On the basis of the aviator's story the navy department recommended that the highest honor for gallantry and courage—the Congressional Medal of Honor—be bestowed upon him.

The story which was of a sensational air duel on a British sector of the western front on July 28, 1918, however, remained unchallenged for but a short while and before a year had passed the San Antonio aviator and Princeton and University of Texas graduate stood convicted by court martial of "scandalous conduct detrimental to good morals and falsehood." Review of the court-martial proceedings by Secretary of Navy Daniels upheld the findings of the court and dismissed from service followed for Captain Chamberlain.

Chamberlain's story was that while on furlough he visited a British sector, secured permission of the officer in command to accompany an aerial expedition which was to escort a bombing party over the German lines. While on this expedition, according to his story, he became separated from his comrades and was engaged by a number of German planes. In the resulting battle, Chamberlain was reported as relating, he shot down five of the German planes, damaged two others, and sweeping earthward in his own damaged plane scattered a small detachment of German soldiers. He said that after landing he took a German prisoner by pretending that the compass from his plane was a bomb and with the aid of his prisoner carried a wounded French colonel back to safety.

Denial of the exploit by British officers after wide publicity had been given it in English newspapers as well as in the American press led to inquiry at the instance of Rear Admiral Sims, the then commander-in-chief of American naval forces in European waters. On the basis of the inquiry the court martial was ordered.

The proceeding of the court martial, held in London and Paris, were quite lengthy and were bitterly contested. British as well as American officers submitted testimony. The findings of the court martial which recommended dismissal from service were forwarded to Secretary Daniels and Captain Chamberlain was ordered home. He remained under arrest in the District of Columbia for a number of months and on December 8, 1919, Secretary Daniels formally approved the findings and ordered his dismissal from service. The action of the secretary was approved by President Wilson nearly two years later.

Immediately upon President Wilson's action in the matter Senator Shepherd, democrat, Texas, proposed a senate investigation of the case with special reference as to the fairness of the court martial. The resolution directing the inquiry was NOT acted on and in June of this year the Texas senator again offered his resolution. The senate naval affairs committee this time reported it unanimously and it was adopted by the senate. The inquiry was conducted by a sub-committee of the naval affairs committee consisting of Senator R. Ball, republican, Delaware, chairman; Nicholson, republican, Colorado and Walsh democrat, Montana.

STILL OWNER, HOLY STILL.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., July 29.—Bosa Golden, Garland county mountaineer, can now attend Sunday school with his mind at rest. Following his apprehension by Federal officers for alleged "moonshining," Golden gave the illuminating information that he was forced to absent himself from Sunday school in order to guard his booze-making paraphernalia.

"I 'lowed it'd be better for me to stay hum and kinder watch the house," the picturesque mountaineer declared reflectively. "I was afeared the 'revenooers' would grab my family licker. Since they poured it out I guess I can go to Sunday school next Sunday."

ABLE TO DO HER WORK

After Long Suffering Mrs. Siefert Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pottsville, Pa.—"I suffered with female trouble for four or five years and was very irregular. I was not fit to do my work at times and took medicine from a doctor and got no benefit. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and took it and got all right. I gained twenty pounds or more and am now able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. SALLIE SIEFERT, 313 W. Fourth Street, Pottsville, Pa.

The everyday life of many housewives is a continual struggle with weakness and pain. There is nothing more wearing than the ceaseless round of household duties and they become doubly hard when some female trouble makes every bone and muscle ache, and nerves all on edge.

If you are one of these women do not suffer for four or five years as Mrs. Siefert did, but profit by her experience and be restored to health.

CHEER FOR COTTON MEN.

A cotton sheet in Paris costs twelve dollars. A good linen sheet costs about fourteen. Usually linen is worth twice as much as cotton. The cotton comes from America; the linen is home-grown. There is absurdity in the fact that our cotton warehouses are bursting while cotton is so scarce in France that the average person can not afford to buy it.

On a certain morning recently the writer sat in a police court in Berlin and saw a number of vagrants brought before the judge. Every one was well clothed, except for shirts and socks. Almost anybody can afford to buy a suit of woolen clothes in Germany, but when it comes to buying cotton shirts, cotton underwear, or cotton socks, the prices are prohibitive.

Cotton goods in England are extremely high-priced. Irish linen is almost as cheap.

The world wants and direfully needs American cotton; it will buy American cotton, ravenously, as soon as it can get credit or money.

The War Finance Corporation at Washington can not do anything better than grant some of its billion-dollar credit for cotton sales. The need in the world-at-large is piling up behind the dam and we ought to see a pleasing overflow before many months have passed.—August Hearst's International.

There are two million Southern families interested in cotton culture. There are millions of families indirectly interested.

Texas is the banner cotton producing state. Texas bankers and merchants and business men of all descriptions are vitally interested. There was a July forecast of eight million three hundred thousand bales of American cotton and the August forecast may cut this estimate to eight million bales. It is safe to predict that Texas will produce this year, more than two million five hundred thousand bales.

When the spinners of the world get busy again there is going to be a strong demand for American cotton. When the shippers and jobbers of cotton goods of the world get busy, the bears and the gamblers of the world are going to hunt tall timber.

There is going to be a minimum supply of cotton in the face of a maximum demand. Cotton is the garment of democracy and ninety per cent of the population of the world who wear covering, buy the garment of democracy when they have the money or the credit.

Hope is said to spring eternal in the human breast. There is a reason for it. This old world has jogged along regardless of bloody wars and commercial upheavals for ten thousand years. It will continue to jog along in future as in the past for thousands of years to come. All peoples and all nations will work out their own salvation in future as in the past.

There will be tides of prosperity and periods of depression in future as in the past but the trend is ever upward; the movement is ever onward and so it is written in the Book of Destiny.

NEFF AND HIS RECOMMENDATIONS.

Governor Pat Morris Neff has sent in another message. He said in the message that the money of the people is being wasted; he charged that state funds are spent recklessly by perambulating agents and he reminded the leigslators of his recommendation for enonomy. To quote from the vocabulary of the late Col. W. L. Crawford, the governor "specified." He declared that we have too many boards, bureaus and commissions; too many governmental agencies; too much machinery and consequently too much overlead expense; too much duplication and triplication of work; too many clerks and stenographers and employes generally on the payroll of the state. It goes without saying that the tax payers of Texas are in sympathy with the recommendations made by the governor and they are looking to their lawmakers to use the pruning knife. Cut to the bone.

WHY WORRY?

By a vote of sixty-nine to fifty-four the lower house of the Texas legislature has decided not to molest the Ku Klux Klan. "What good would it do for us to pass such a resolution," querried a member and then the resolution was tabled If they destroy life or property, the governor and the rangers should get busy. What would be the use of the lawmakers resoluting against an invisible empire or its pillars? This Klan will have its run as all invisible Klans have had their run in other years. Then it will droop and die, so why worry?

ORGANIZED FARMERS AND THEIR DEMANDS.

Now the American Farm Bureau Federation which claims to represent a million and a quarter American farmers demand a readjustment of railway freight rates. John Knott had a cartoon in the Dallas News of Wednesday which must have been very amusing to the freight payers of the country but not so appealing to the railway managers of the country. It carries this caption: "Henry's Dust." Of course it had reference to that forty per cent reduction in freight rates and the freight carrier on Henry's road with Henry at the throttle was leaving far behind the trains of other rail magnates. These American farmers might make their demand on Henry. Organized orange growers of California by wire invited President Harding to place the railways of the country in the hands and under the directorship of the manufacturer of Tin Lizzies.

GIVE HIM A PLACE.

Japan is governed by a Divine right ruler. Japan is the last of the military autocracies. The Mikado of Japan is "God Anointed" and rules by divine right alone, according to his own opinion and the opinion of his subjects.

Japan is not a limited monarchy. There the emperor is absolute. There the militaristic power is almost invincible. Regardless of this, the Nipponese government has decided to participate in the proposed Harding conference on reduction or disarmament of nations.

There is a saying that he travels fastest who travels alone. This is supposed to apply to nations as well as individuals. Japan has traveled faster in seventy years than any nation Time has known has traveled in a thousand.

Japan adapted many of the essentials of fundamentals of the civilization of the Occident while it retained the all-amazing and all mysterious fundamentals of the ancient civilizations of Far Eastern lands.

Japan today is the third great power. First comes the United States, then Great Britain and then Japan.

A most prolific people are the Japanese. Every year the birth rate exceeds the death rate by more than a million. Japanese have been barred from the United States, from Canada, from New Zealand, from Australia.

They were given Shantung and now the demand is that they return it to China.

They captured Korea and there are land grabbers in Europe who denounce the Nipponese for the grabbing.

Manchuria is a vast Chinese province, sparsely settled. East Siberia is another vast territory without inhabitants.

Europeans and Americans say the Japs should be kept out of Manchuria and East Siberia. If so, where will the surplus millions of Japan find a place where they may toil for the bread they eat.

Regardless of what men may say in America and Europe, the Jap has a right to a place in the sun and an opportunity to work out his own salvation and to shape his own destiny.

Great Britain has India. Great Britain has Egypt. Great Britain has two-thirds of South Africa. France has imperial foreign possessions in Asia and Africa. Belgium has the Congo.

Now why not give the Japs at least a breathing place in Shantung or Manchuria or Eastern Siberia?

"We" are Christians; the Japs are "Heathens." That's the way the story is told. If this be true, shouldn't the Christian be willing to dole out a modicum of justice to the heathen?

THERE ARE THREE VIEWPOINTS.

Railroads are receiving fifty per cent of the total value of cattle shipped to market from Kansas ranches. John A. Edwards, president of the Kansas Live Stock Association, is responsible for the allegation. He presented a petition to the state railway commission of the state of Kansas and demanded reduced freight rates on Kansas shipments. Judge Sam Houston Cowan of Fort Worth represented the shippers in the presentation of their case. Judge Cowan is responsible for the statement, and he made it long ago that the Esch-Cummins Transportation act is both confiscatory and revolutionary in its nature and will bankrupt the shippers of the country. Of course Judge Cowan is a lawyer and he is expected to do the best he can for his clients. Railroad magnates, with the exception of Magnate Henry Ford, say that their revenues are appalling in their scantiness and they are fearful that the future may be disasterous. Of course railway magnates are speaking for their stockholders and bondholders and when it comes to freight and passenger tariff, they are expected to put the worst foot forward. And both sides blame it on the high cost of labor and when not on the high cost of labor, on the inefficiency of labor.

WHAT THE LAWMAKERS SHOULD DO.

There is no reason why the Johnson bill for the elimination of the mileage tax on motor trucks should not be given the favorable consideration of the lawmakers of the state. Truck building is in its infancy in Texas. Manufacturing of all description is in its infancy in Texas. Texas should be made the greatest of all manufacturing states, for the reason that Texas has all the raw materials, the Panama canal is at its very door and there are more than seventy millions of possible patrons in Mexico and the American countries. If Texas would give more heed to the open door in Mexico and Pan-America and less to the open door in China, four thousand miles away they would be opening up a far richer trade territory for themselves. Liberal legislation encourages manufacturing. Liberal legislation makes for prosperity. Liberal legislation invites the investment of capital from abroad and reduces the number of idle workmen in a community or commonwealth.

THERE ARE TRUTHS CALLED BRUTAL.

Texas wheat is selling at one dollar and five cents a bushel. Just before the coming of the World War, Texas wheat sold at sixty cents per bushel. There may be men who are unable to read the signs of the times, but regardless of this, the purchasing power of the American dollar is returning to its hundred per cent basis and all the products are finding themselves. There may be isolated cities or places where retail prices for certain articles have not kept pace or rather made the decline that wholesale prices have registered, but it is coming to pass in the near future. There are truths called brutal. There comes a time when they must be told.

A GRAND OLD JUDGE.

Governor Len Small of Illinois is innocent until he has been found guilty by a jury of his peers but that was a grand old judge who ruled that a governor of Illinois was not a king, that he was not immune from arrest, that he must bow to the law and make bond just like a ditch digger accused of crime and that the order of the court would be obeyed regardless of consequences. WONDERING WHY.

Men send their autos roaring along the midnight street, disturbing people snoring, destroying slumbers sweet; with cutouts madly coughing, and pistons whanging loud, we hear them in the offing, the foolish, fathead crowd. There is no sense, beshrew it, in racketing along; I wonder why they do it, when they must know it's wrong. Speed fiends, in all the papers, read tales of death and wrecks; because of speed, fiend capers, men carry broken necks; and to the boneyard, daily, dead men in hearses go, because the speed fiends gayly refuse to travel slow. Cops run them down and pinch them, the while some victim groans, and Justice, which should cinch them, just fines them seven bones. Such leniency's a blunder—they pay without a tear, then scorch again like thunder, and kill an auctioneer. 'Tis wicked to pursue it; this vicious course and vain; I wonder why they do it—why not be safe and sane? I drive my fiery auto, a thing of brutal power, by fen and weir and grotto, at fifteen miles an hour. And although for years I've driven my bus along the pave, I've sent no guy unshriven to fill an early grave. I've caused no sore confusion with fender or with hood—but, haply, in conclusion, I'd better knock on wood.—Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

You say the world cares nothing for our lays,
Reserving for old Omar all your praise.
That may be true. But, when the winter's sting
At last is tamed, and when the joyous spring
Returns to earth, long desolate and cold,
And bids the lilies, bursting from the mold,
Proclaim that beauty lives—then do you fling
Your heartless jibes at those who hear the song,
Who see the gleam, who trust the springtime hope?
Let those who will, in faithless silence groupe—
And let those sing whose hearts with faith are strong!

Breakfast Stories

"And why did you let the thief get away?" asked the police lieutenant.

"He took unfair advantage of me," replied the policeman. "He ran into the park and across the grass."

"Why didn't you follow him?" asked the lieutenant, more puzzled than ever.

"Why, there was a notice, 'Keep off the grass,'" returned the policeman.

"Ah know dat, too, boss."

"Then what are you fishing there for?"

"Well, it's like dis, boss. I'se jes showing my old woman dat Ah ain't got no time to tu'n de wringeh."

Who's Who

ARTHUR GRIFFITH.

Aside from President de Valera himself, the most prominent figure in the Sinn Fein delegation to the English-Irish peace conference is Arthur Griffith, the founder of Sinn Fein.

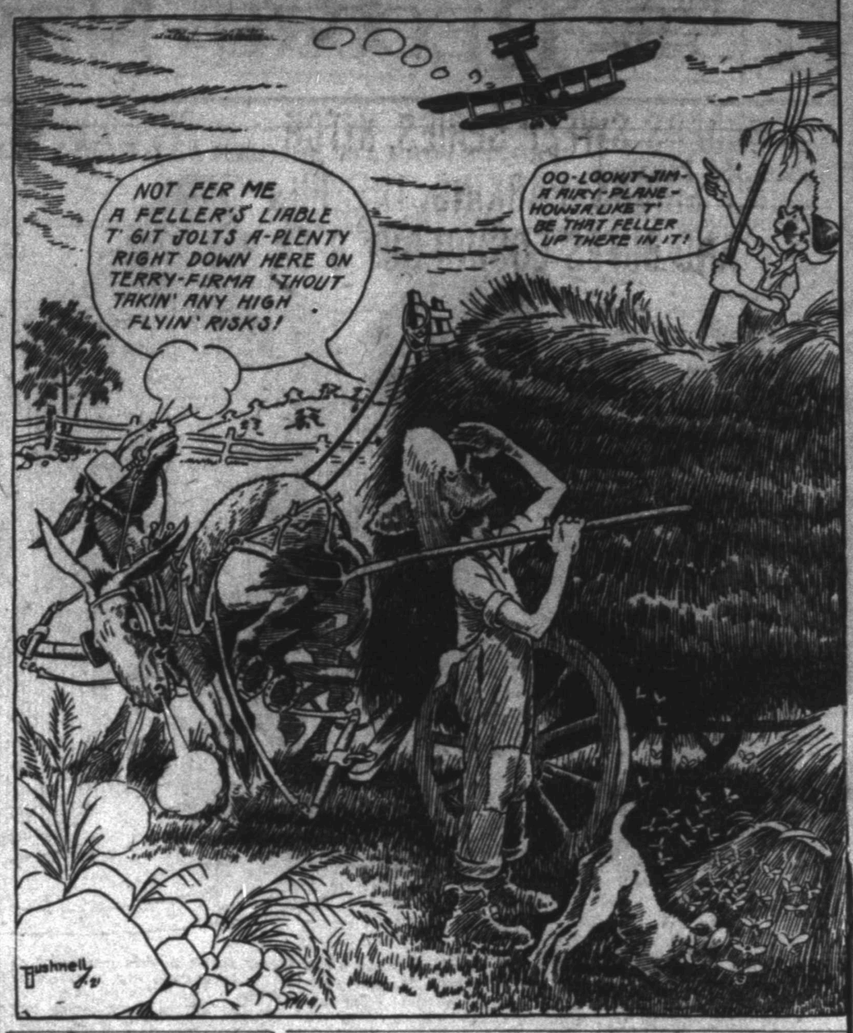

Author of the "Resurrection of Hungary" and other works, Griffith is regarded today as a conservative Sinn Feiner, although when in 1905 he propounded the Sinn Fein doctrine it startled Ireland as the most revolutionary movement in history. The policy of non resistance to the British in Ireland, as proposed by Griffith in 1905, is now being worked by Gandhi in India.

ARTHUR GRIFFITH

Arthur Griffith did not believe that bloodshed was a necessary part of revolution and that a boycott of England and her institutions would bring the same results. He insisted that if England, her laws and institutions were ignored in Ireland the British government must automatically cease to exist. In the earlier days of Sinn Fein his demand was a return to the "Kings, Lords and Commons," which was in fact a demand for a repeal of the act of union of 1800 which deprived Ireland of her parliament and her last vestige of legislative government. Since 1916 he has joined his colleagues in the establishment of the republic.

Griffith is one of the most brilliant members of the Dail Eireann. He was a great traveler in his youth, and at one time worked in the South African mines. He has a deep knowledge of international questions, and is a student of world problems. He is known among his followers in Ireland as the "silent statesman," a man of few words and strong personality.

BOY SCOUTS ARE ACTIVE AT BYERS

Assistance of the Wichita Falls scout executive and local organization to help start a boy scout movement in Byers was asked in a letter from H. B. Burton, who had been suggested as scout master there, to H. E. Taylor, local executive.

Interest in the boy scout work in Byers, Mr. Burton said, is reaching the point where organization of the boys is the only thing that is needed to secure a full troop. Mr. Taylor has replied that the services of the local scout body and scouts would be at his disposal any time he desired. It is considered likely that the scout executive and several of the members of the local troops will go to Byers soon and help them start a scout troop.

No site for the proposed week-end camps to be taken by the local boy scouts has been selected so far, H. E. Taylor scout executive says, although a number of excellent locations are being considered. The qualifications for a good week-end camp, Mr. Taylor says, are: Nearness to the city, good drinking water supply, swimming hole and shade trees.

As soon as a site, or several sites are picked, the boy scouts will start taking their weekly hikes to designated spots in this section.

Activtes of the Wchita Falls Boy Scouts on Friday night included two all night hikes and camps and a swimming party at Downings pool. Troop one went to a camp south of Lake Wichita where they remained all night. Troop Six cooked supper and held a "campfire" at Cannon Park and Troop Four had a swimming party at Downings pool.

SPUDDERS SWEEP SERIES, KITCH AND GRIGGS PARKING THE PILL AND BUFFS LOSING OUT 6 TO 8

By C. F. CARTER

Frank Kitchens made it four straight over the Houston Buffs yesterday afternoon; Frank and his new yellow bat. Why, certainly the rest of the Spudders took a hand in the proceedings, especially 'Gene Leopold's lad, Cecil Griggs—but had you seen Frank Kitchens send 'at old ball riding on a line over the left field wall twice in succession, you would appreciate what a mighty part Frank played in an 8 to 6 victory for the home brew.

The Buffs came to life, after their miserable showing of the past three days, and fought hard to grab the final battle. They forced Skipper Salm to use three twirlers, Marshall, Sewell and Hollingsworth; they overcame a two-run lead, lost it again and once more tied the score—and in general conducted themselves as worthy foemen should.

The Spudders started working on "Iron Man" Eddie Donalds in the second inning, touching him for three safeties and two runs. Jake Miller was thrown out by Doyle as a starter to the frame, but Cecil Griggs startled the fans with a mighty home run wallop over the Bert Bean sign in left center. It was Griggs' first circuit blow of the season, and the fans gave him a big hand when he crossed the plate. Works walked, and Kitchens fanned. Rube Marshall also shocked the grandstand gang by singling to left, Works taking second. Bob Bescher hit to Blades at deep second, and all hands were safe when Darringer delayed in covering the bag for the force-out on Marshall. Works scored, Darringer making a futile attempt to get him at home. Tanner was out at first unassisted.

Buffs Take Lead

Rube was hit hard in the third stanza, and the Buffs went into the lead by scoring three runs. Blades walked and went to third when Eiffert doubled to left. Donalds was thrown out by Tanner. Baggan hit a sacrifice fly to Bescher, Blades scoring. Darringer singled through short, and Eiffert crossed the plate. Bailey singled to right, Darringer going to third. On Bailey's attempted steal, Kitch pegged to Buddy, who lost Bailey while watching Darringer; Buddy finally made a bad peg to Clark, and Darringer scored. Bailey attempted to reach third, but was thrown out, Clark to McDonald.

In the next inning, however, after the Rube had turned Houston back scoreless, the Spudders continued their onslaught on Donalds and regained the lead. Griggs led off with a single to center and went to second while Whiteman was juggling the ball. Works came through with a left field single that scored Cecil, and went to second on the throw to the plate. Kitchens sacrificed Works to third, and Salm sent George Bischoff in to bat for Marshall. George sent one to left on a line that took a wicked hop off Baggan's shins and went for a triple, Works walking home. Bescher flied to short center, and Buddy Tanner drove Johnny Baggan against the left field fence before he hauled in Buddy's long wallop for the third out.

The Spudders increased their lead in the fifth scoring two more on solid hitting, Clark, Griggs and Works doing the dirty work. But the Buffs tied the count in the sixth when with two men on the sacks, Blades lifted one of Jim Sewell's spitters over the left field fence. Salm rushed Holly into the breach, and Tanner threw out Eiffert, ending the scoring.

Frank Unties It

Frank Kitchens proceeded to untie the struggle in the Spudders' half of the sixth, when he hit a wicked homer over the Frear furniture sign in left, and in the eighth Frank made the game a little safer for the home brew by duplicating his own feat. Both homers were unusually hard hit balls, and sailed over the fence on a line, going strong.

Holly held the Buffs in check for the rest of the game, some fast fielding helping his efforts. Jake Miller pulled a beautiful shoe-string catch in the seventh on Darringer, while a double play started by Buddy Tanner cut off a Houston rally in the ninth. Buddy had a great day in the field, handling eleven chances and figuring in three double killings.

The Exporters are with us today for a three-game series. Regardless of where they stand in the percentage column, there is hardly a more dangerous team in the loop right now than Beaumont, and we expect some tough battles during the next three days. Salm will probably shoot the Rube back in this afternoon.

NORWEGIAN OARSMEN BEAT OXFORD ON PICTURESQUE COURSE

The annual Henley regatta on the Thames river is one of the most picturesque sporting events of the year. This view of the finish of the race between the Christiania college of Norway and the Corpus Christi (Oxford) team shows the colorful surroundings. The Norwegian team defeated the British crew in the finals for the challenge cup, one of the trophies of the meet.

EASTERN RAILROADS CUT FREIGHT RATES

WASHINGTON, July 29.—A rate reduction of five cents a hundred pounds on export wheat, rye and corn and three cents per hundred on barley and oats from Buffalo, Erie and Fairport, to ocean terminals, was announced today by traffic officials of eastern railroads in conference here.

The relations of the colors of flowers to the seasons has attracted the attention of a Canadian professor, who finds that, of 539 flowering plants in the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, about one-third have white flowers. Yellow flowers come next and comprise about one-quarter of the total. Purples and blues form aboue one-ninth or tenth. White flowers are commonest in April, May and June, whereas yellow are frequent in July, August and September. One can not help noticing that the spring flowers have delicate colors as a rule, whites or pale pinks, yellows and blues, whereas the autumn flowers have much stronger shades of yellow, blue and purple.

The Rookie Utility Man

BY C. F. C.

I'm the guy that sits on the bench, I am,
While them other dubs plays ball;
Dubs, you heard me, that's what I said,
Not menshunin' names a-tall.

When some bird gets hurt they shoves me in,
It don't make no difference where;
They know I can dig 'em out o' the dirt
Or drag 'em out o' the air.

They use me to warm them pitchers up,
And to hit to them outfield bums
Who drops about half of the balls I hit
'Cause their fingers is mostly thumbs.

I been hittin' three hundred in the pinch,
An' that's what gets my goat;
A star like me has to sit on the bench—
Now ain't that a heluva note?

They calls me "The Kid," them wise one does,
Them vets with their wooden slats;
And after the game they carries their shoes
And leave me to carry them bats.

I says to the Manager: "Lissen, Boss,
How d'ya get that way?
I been wearin' my pants out on this bench
Since I joined the club last May."

But he hits me a wallop in the back,
And says: "Come out of it, Kid,
You're goin' to star for me some day
Like all o' them old birds did.

You're gettin' experience on this bench,
And you gotta take it slow;
I've sent young fellas in before
And seen 'em flash—and blow."

Each day it's the same old stuff for me;
I works like a roustabout,
And in battin' practice I shags long hits
'Till my tongue is hangin' out.

I warm up the pitchers, that's part o' my job,
And the fungo hittin' is mine,
And I runs to the club when some guy's spiked,
And reports with the iodine.

Utility man, that's me, all right,
And each month I draws my pay,
For hittin' them mighty fungo flies
And standin' 'round in the way.

All I gotta say is, some o' them guys
Got sawdust for brains instead,
And they may be splinters in my PANTS—
But they ain't none in my HEAD!

OLD SOUPER STILL MAKES 'EM FAN AIR

CLEVELAND, July 29.—Old time professional baseball players, some of whom played with Cleveland as far back as 1879 today defeated a team of veteran Sand Lotters by a 11 to 6 score, the event beipg one of the features of Cleveland's 125th anniversary celebration. Cy Young, the only pitcher who ever won 500 major league games, went to the box at the outset of the contest with Chief Zimmer, his old catcher, behind the bat. Each is well over 50 years of age. The famous old battery worked two innings, being followed by younger pitchers and catchers, including Nick Altrock, the comedian of the Washington American League club who was an added feature.

Only two hits were made off Young. He struck out two batters and gave one base on balls.

The old timers infield was the same that played for Cleveland in 1902, 1903 and 1905, Charlie Hickman on first, Nap Lajoie on second, Terry Turner at short and Bill Bradley on third. Not an error did it make. In the outfield such famous old stars as Jess Burkett, now coach for the New York Giants; Harry Bay, Elmer Flick, Ollie Pickering, Larry Twitchell and Bunk Congalton.

Others who participated were Neale Ball, who alternated at shortstop; Fred Gatch, Paddy Livingston and Rosenbach, catchers, and Earl Moore, Albert Nelson and Heinie Berger, pitchrs.

BUSINESS MEN ARE "THE EARTH'S RULERS"

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 29.—"The business executive is, in a peculiar sense, the heir of the modern age," declared the Rev. James L. Mursell, pastor of First Congregational church here, discussing "The Business Executive; a Study of Spiritual Values."

"The business man has to deal with the manfold perplexities of the modern age in their most cogent form," continued the Rev. Mr. Mursell.

"Although he is a ruler he has not yet as a class, developed the psychology of the ruler. This lack of psychological development is due to the rapidity with which the business man has been thrust into the saddle.

"The business man, also has not perceived that, as a ruler of men, he also is a servant of men. This state of affairs is unfortunate for society.

"The American business man seldom has been deaf to appeals for justice and fair dealing for the highest and best things in life. This is an augury that the future may look to him to use his great powers as a ruler to bring about a better and happier world.

"It's up to him."

BEGIN FINAL ARGUMENT IN "SOX" TRIAL

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Final arguments in the baseball trial were begun today with the state directing a two hour attack on the defendants in which the former White Sox players were pictured as "traitors who for $100,000 of dirty money sold their souls, betrayed their comrades and the public and conspired to make the only truly American pleasure and sport—baseball—a confidence game."

Edward Prindiville directed the prosecution's first fire in the final pleas, after the defense had won a battle of strategy from the state by keeping out of the record a statement "Happy" Felsch, former Sox center fielder, is alleged to have made to a newspaper reporter that he was paid $5,000 to throw games.

Mr. Prindiville expects to finish his argument in a special session of court tomorrow. The defense pleas will take up Monday and possibly part of Tuesday. The case is expected to be in the jury's hands late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Mr. Prindiville directed his words mainly against Eddie Cicotte, Chick Gandil, Joe Jackson, Claude Williams and David Zelser, the latter identified by two state's witnesses as a man who under the name of Bennett helped organize the alleged conspiracy for the throwing of the 1919 series.

He was particularly bitter in speaking of Cicotte.

"This man, by his own confession, sat in his room at the Warner hotel here and arranged to receive $10,000 for the dirty work he planned," said Mr. Prindiville. "Then Judas like, he went down stairs to hobnob with his innocent teammates and in his own words to allay the suspicion of the men he had just betrayed.

"He said he'd throw the ball over the fence if necessary to lose the first game. He confessed to Judge Charles A. McDonald and then he went to the jury and confessed. And what happened in the first game? Cicotte, the American League's greatest pitcher, hurling with a heavy heart—by his own confession—and a pocket made heavy by $10,000 in graft, was beaten nine to 1.

"No wonder he lost. The pocket loaded with the filth for which he sold his soul and friends was too much. It overbalanced him and he lost."

ARNOLD'S MANAGER SEEKING RETURN MATCH WITH COLE

Mal McGilvery, manager of Jack Arnold, claimant of the featherweight championship of Texas, has dropped a note to the sporting editor of The Record News voicing a gentle protest against the newspaper decision that gave Kid Cole of Burkburnett, a victory over Arnold in ten rounds last Thursday. Mal is as good a sport as there is in Texas, and The Record News is glad to print his protest, as follows:

"Please tell the sports public that I am dissatisfied with the newspaper decision returned at the conclusion of the ten-round bout between Jack Arnold, Dallas, and Kid Cole, Burkburnett.

"I have no alibis to offer for the Dallas boy. He was in great physical shape and worked in each round according to signals from the corner.

"I am prepared to send Arnold against Cole in a fifteen-round bout at any date conventient to the Liberty Athletic club of Burkburnett and to show my positiveness in the ability of Arnold to whip Cole, same as he did at Drumright, Okla., July 4th when the first named won by a knockout in the twelfth round of a fifteen-round bout, I will cancel other engagements in order to have the Dallas featherweight in the best possible condition."

NEW YORK SUGAR.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 29.—There was no change in raw sugar today with the committee quoting Cubas at 3¼c cost and freight equal to 4.86 for centrifugal and with uncontrolled sugars at the same level.

Raw sugar futures were firm early but after advancing two to five points on covering and buying by Wall street interests prices eased off under scattered liquidation with final quotations unchanged to 2 points net higher. September closed at 3.19; December at 2.96; March at 2.76, all bid.

In refined another refiner has withdrawn leaving only three in the market with all quoting fine granulated on the basis of six cents for fine granulated. There was only a moderate inquiry reported.

There was only a small trade in refined futures but the undertone was firm and closing prices showed net gains of five to fifteen points on scattered commission house covering. September closed at 6.15; December at 6.04 and March 5.75, all bid.

NEW YORK COFFEE.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Coffee futures were influenced by further improvement in spot coffee today and after a steady start with prices two to three points higher, advanced on trade buying and local covering until September reached 6.57 and December 7.01 or 14 to 15 points over previous close.

While there were no official cables because of the holiday in Brazil yesterday, private cables reported today's market firmer partly on rumors of an European loan to Brazil. Scattered realizing weakened the late market six or seven points from the top but it closed steady, at a net advance of seven to twelve points. September, 6.50; December, 6.95; March, 7.30; May, 7.50.

Spot coffee firm with a fair demand especially for new crop Santos. Rio 7s, 6⅜; Santos 4s, 9½ to 10.

TRADE SLOW IN CATTLE ON TEXAS MARKET

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 29.—Cattle buyers were in need of nothing for early slaughter today and with liberal receipts available the trade was slow. Steers sold about steady, the best going at $6.65, cows were a shade weaker and yearlings were slightly lower. Calves sold mostly steady. Receipts amounted to 2000 head of cattle and 2000 calves.

Steady prices were paid for the supply of 1500 hogs. One car of choice quality sold to a packer at $11.40. Most of the run cleared at $11 to $11.25. As a rule good pigs sold at $9 to $9.25, but a few choice butchers brought $9.50.

Sheep and yearlings sold at steady prices and lambs gained 25c. With 1500 head here the market was active. Good range lambs brought $8, wethers sold at $4.85 and $4.75, and some wethers and yearlings brought $4.80. Quotations:

Cattle: Beeves, $3.00@7.25; stockers, $3.00@5.00; cows, $2.00@4.50; canners, $1.00@2.00; heifers, $3.00@6.00; bulls, $2.00@4.00; calves, $2.00@6.50; yearlings, $3.00@8.00.

Hogs: Light, $11.25@11.40; medium, $11.00@11.25; mixed, $10.50@11.00; common, $9.50@10.50; heavy, $10.50@10.85; rough heavy, $8.50@10.00; pigs, $8.00@9.50.

Hogs, 2000; better grades active and steady; others, 5@10c lower; one load lights to shippers, $11.30; prime weights, $11.00; bulk of sales, $10.75@11.20; packer top, $11.20; pigs, stronger to2 5c higher; $10.50 paid.

Sheep, 2500; receipts, mostly direct to packers; few sales native sheep and lambs steady; best lambs, $9.00.

A projection lantern which photographs directly from the object itself, dispensing with slides altogether, has been invented by a French physicist, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A remarkable feature of the apparatus is that it operates in broad daylight, no luminous cone and darkened room being necessary, as in the case of the ordinary magic lantern. Any object of suitable size may be introduced into the lantern—an open book, a stone, a set of beads, or a text, rolled and unrolled on a couple of spools. By means of a set of condensers of one or more lenses and reflectors at the back of the source of light, the object is photographed on the screen with microscopic accuracy, it is claimed, the whole force of the light pouring on the object and reflecting through the lenses to the screen, or any place in the room, from a mirror which swings on an axis.

The potato was a native of Chile and Peru, generally thought to have been taken to England from America by Sir John Hawkins in 1565. Others ascribe its introduction to Sir Francis Drake in 1586; its general introduction in 1592. Its first culture in Ireland is referred to Sir Walter Raleigh, who had large estates in that country, about Youghal, in the county of Cork. Although it now constitutes so large a part of the food of mankind, it was scarcely known prior to the seventeenth century and was not generally cultivated until the middle of the eighteenth, its culture not becoming general even in England until after 1765.—Boston Globe.

COTTON GOES UP AS SHORTS RUN TO COVER

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, July 29.—Shorts covered in the cotton market and put the price to higher levels after losses of five to seven points around the opening. Supplementing the demand from shorts after the middle of the session was new buying on bullish private conditions reports and cablegrams from Liverpool stating that short time had ended in the spinning section of the Lancashire cotton trade and that mills were free to choose their own running time. This was regarded as an important development and highest prices were reached on the strength it gave them arket.

Trading months rose to levels fifteen to seventeen points higher than the close of yesterday, October trading up to 11.59. The close was at net gains of 11 to 13 points with October 11.53.

Early losses were due to spot sales of only 3000 bales in the Liverpool market but they did not last long owing to demand that sprang up among shorts who appeared to be covering preparatory to going over the peniding bureau reports. During the greater part of the session the ring was partly supplied with contracts.

Weather over the belt was dry with temperatures somewhat above seasonal average and was considered favorable but led to no fresh selling, which was set down by most brokers as being due to the influence of reports from the interior claiming rather extensive shedding.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Enough bullish news developed in the cotton market today to give prices an upward trend which at one time resulted in advances of 17 to 20 points over last night carrying October at 12.12 and December to 12.60. Part of this advance yielded to later realizing but the close was steady at a net rise of seven to ten points.

At the opening selling pressure from New Orleans and foreign interests weakened prics partially four points and later offerings sent October to 11.88, or seven points under the previous close but further decline was prevented by increasing reports of a bullish nature from Texas, where temperatures have been high and crop deterioration more extensive, according to a number of private advices received here. The upward movemnt received later impetus through favorable advices from the dry goods district, and cables reporting that organized short time in the spinning sections at Manchester had been ended, affecting nearly forty million spindles which use American cotton. This was in such direct contrast to the gloomy reports previously received from the quarter that it inspired quite active covering on which prices advances to highest levels of the day. One of the two private chop reports received today was the first to indicate a decline in condition in excess of the normal for the period.

The fact that new cotton is reported to be moving freely in south Texas, had little depressing effect on the market because of belief that edaquate government and other financing will be provided to prevent any early flood of cotton.

SHIPS TAKE REFUGEES FROM BURNING FORESTS

HALIFAX, N. S., July 29.—Steaming through dense clouds of smoke from the forest fire raging on the northeastern Cape Breton coast, three steamers have reached the wharves at New Haven and Neil's Harbor and carried to places of safety hundreds of refugees whose lives were endangered.

Danger of loss of life has been virtually removed by the presence of these vessels, although the fire is believed to have wiped out the two villages.

Volcanic explosions are commonly regarded as the release of stores of energy kept confined by external pressure, and boiled explosions and geyser eruptions are typical of this class of outbreaks. An expert of the United States geophysical laboratory finds that another class of explosions, that of explosive mixtures like gunpowder, are not likely to occur in volcanoes. But a third class, that of explosive compounds brought into contact with oxygen or water, is more probably the usual source of volcanic explosions, and is illustrated by aluminum sesquioxide—finely divided—brought into such relation with water in the electric furnace that mechanical detonation causes violent explosion. The dust of Mont Pelee may have been analogous to the aluminum sesquioxide.

Certain species of birds which inhabit Eastern Africa posess the largest and strongest beaks known to ornithologists. One of these is the open-bill or shell bits. It is a long-legged, storklike bird, which has a beak like a nutcracker. The parts of the bill can not be closed in the middle. It eats frogs and fishes, but its favorite food is fresh water mollusks, the shells of which it can crush with its powerful beak.

DEPRESSION RULES AGAIN IN WHEAT PIT

CHICAGO, July 29.—Accumulating stocks and diminishing outlet contended as depressing factors in wheat today. Prices closed unsettled 1 to 5 cents net lower with September 1.23 3-4 to 1.24 and December 1.26 1-4 to 1.26½. Corn lost 1-4 to 7-8 and oats 3-8 to 3-4. Provisions closed unchanged to 35c lower.

With receipts here totalling nearly seven hundred cars and with even heavier arivals at Kansas City, the market soon gave evidence of feeling an apparnt almost complete stoppage of export demand. Bears pointed out in three weeks Chicago had received thirteen million bushels whereas shipments from here had been only three million bushels. Bullish reports as to the probable size of the domestic spring crop and as to drought in Germany rallied the market during the middle of the session. The finish was about at lowest level of the day.

Beneficial rains put the corn market under constant pressure. Oats reflected action of other grain.

Provisions had a general downward slant due more or less to assertions that the forthcoming monthly warehouse statement would be a bearish one.

EUROPEAN DEMAND FOR WHEAT SEEN AS HOPEFUL SIGN

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Bradstreets tomorrow will say:

Heat and holiday influences have ruled and distributive trade and manufacturing are quieter than for some time past with unemployment complained of more at several cities.

Reflection of these conditions is had in reports of less active buying from wholesalers in secondary markets and of holding off by country merchants pending a clearer view of admittedly rather mixed crop conditions.

These conditions hold true too despite the fact that most activity continued to be manifest in the apparel and kindred trades and in face of increasing talk of retailers stocks of seasonable goods being almost uniformly light.

The situation, however, finds quite a few redeemable featuresp resent, most of these having to do with the further future.

Most immediately helpful of all these is the continued strength of buying of our grain particularly wheat by Europe which still reports drought affecting crops.

Weekly bank clearings are $5,628,180,000.

The commercial side of Chinese love is emphasized in this translation of a Chinese girl inserted in a Shanghai daily: "I have several ten-acre of fertile land and am quite well-to-do. I have no son, but only a daughter who is now just in her teens. Her rosy cheeks are like peach blossoms and her dainty feet resemble three-inch golden lilies. It is my desire to have a good son-in-law, who, after being adopted by me, shall become entitled to all my property. Any young man under twenty years of age, who has a face like a water lily, and is versed in Chinese classics, is qualified to apply."—Columbus Dispatch.

STOCKS ARE UNSETTLED BY PRESSURE

NEW YORK, July 29.—A further unsettlement was manifested by the stock market today on renewal of liqudaton and short selling of speculative issues. Rails and the more seasoned industrials were immune from pressure, but eased in the general reversal of the last hour.

The more stable equipments made partial recoveries from mid-week reactions and further advances in prices of raw and refined rubbers infused firmness to the tire group, but a heavy tone ruled at the close.

Call money held at 4½ per cent. More time funds were available at 5 3-4 per cent.

All leadng foreign exchanges were lower, demand sterling falling a fraction under $3.56, with concurrent weakness in French and Belgian francs.

The bond market made further upward progress on enlarged operations with foreign issues the chief features. The new French 7½s were especially strong, also Swiss and Japanese flotations. Liberties closed mostly at substantial gains.

GAS EXPLOSION WRECKS DERRICK

ORANGE, Texas, July 29.—A gas blowout in an oil well in the Orange field today completely demolished the derrick, wrecked the machinery and hurled three pound rocks hundreds of feet into the air. The drilling crew had narrow escapes. The roar of the escaping gas can be heard seven miles, according to reports here. Strenuous efforts are being made to prevent giving way of the casing and to avoid fire.

GRAVE WORK IN FRANCE TO BE ENDED

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Secretary Weeks approved today orders directing the graves registration service in France to begin closing up its work August 15. Shipment of the last of the dead now designated for return will be made by October 3.

Bank of North America was the name of the first bank of a national character incorporated in this country. It had a charter for ten years, from 1781, from the confederation, but doubt as to its legality led the bank to seek and obtain a charter from the state of Pennsylvania in 1783. In 1785 this latter charter was revoked, but in 1787 it was renewed. It was located at Philadelphia.

EXPLORERS TAKE DEHYDRATED FOODS ON ARCTIC TRIPS

NEW YORK, July 29.—When Captain Donald E. MacMillan and his six adventurous companions sailed down the Sheepscot River, Maine, a few days ago headed for Baffin Land and the uncharted regions of the frozen north they carried with them what will be the first fresh fruits and vegetables ever to penetrate to that barren land. The foodstuffs, which included raspberries and cabbages, both to be eaten raw; fresh spinach, green corn and new rhubarb, in the stalk, for rhubarb pies, were packed simply in paper bags and cardboard boxes and were so compact that they will be sufficient to last six months.

The food was in dehydrated form, by which chemical process of removing the water without destroying the cell walls a bushel reduces to a pound or two, will keep indefinitely in that form and yet may be restored to its original bulk, color and taste by a few hours' soaking in water. Not the least interesting items on the list of dehydrated foods carried on the Arctic expedition was a quantity of roast beef hash, complete, which in its dehydrated form is a mass of dry, withered kernels. A little water will so restore it that it can be cooked just as if entirely new. Enough dehydrated grass to last the dogs of the expedition for six months at the rate of two portions a week was included, and a bunch of catnip for the ship's cat. A small quantity of eggs and fish was also furnished.

The foods were prepared at 24 hours' notice by scientists and food experts who have been experimenting with the dehydration process as affecting every fruit and vegetable grown on the North American continent, and with meats, fish and eggs. The process, which takes from half an hour to four or five hours, according to the water content of the article, is claimed by scientists to be far superior to drying or canning, since the volatiles, flavoring essences, colorings and nutritive properties are preserved intact. The great decrease in bulk under dehydration is due to the fact, little appreciated, that fresh foods average 90 per cent water and that in paying for such the consumer is actually paying for water he does not want or need.

Will Consider Inventions

The dehydration process is one of the inventions sponsored by the Association of Scientists, Engineers, Inventors and Financiers, headed by Dr. Miller Reese Hutchison, former chief engineer to Thomas A. Edison.

Dr. Hutchison is the inventor of the acousticon for the deaf, the Klaxon horn and several hundred other devices. Associated with him in his new enterprise are Hudson Maxim, Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, Paymaster General U. S. Navy, retired; William M. Williams, former commissioner of internal revenue, and Sir Edgar Rees Jones, M. P., head of the priorities division of the British ministry of munitions during the war and European director of the association. An invention will be considered by the association only when it comes with the endorsement of an engineer in good standing, but once accepted the inventor will be aided step by step in the development of his idea and its thorough testing out.

Bavarian Burghers Preparing for Parts in Historic Passion Play

By Associated Press.

OBERAMMERGAU, Bavaria, July 9.—Thirty performances of the Passion Play have been scheduled for 1922 by the committee of 21 which is directing the spectacle, but this number will be increased if the attendance demands, as was the case both in 1900 and 1910.

It will require an outlay of 1,500,000 marks to stage the Oberammergau play and the villagers are extremely anxious about the German political situation, lest conditions be such that foreigners will not attend.

The 360 burghers, who constitute the descendants of the original peasants who made the vow to produce the play decennially, personally assume the responsibility for this expenditure, and the failure to attract sufficient visitors to meet the cost would result in the bankruptcy of practically the entire village, as the Oberammergau folk have slight resources.

Most of the burghers are woodcarvers, potters, painters, farmers, merchants and small shopkeepers. Only the descendants of the villagers who were saved from the plague in 1633 take part in the Passion Play and assume responsibility for its production.

Next October will be a fateful month for then the names of the villagers who are to have the leading roles in the spectacle will be announced.

To be selected to enact the role of Jesus Christ or one of the apostles is a far greater honor to an Oberammergau man than election to the presidency of Germany or any other office within the gift of the entire German people.

And any woman of Oberammergau would far rather be chosen to play the role of Mary or Martha or Mary Magdalene than to be in the position of Frau Ebert as mistress of the president's palace in Berlin.

Many of the actors in the Passion Play next year will doubtless be the same as those in the cast when the play was last produced in 1910. Anton Lang, who enacted the role of Jesus Christ in 1900 and 1910, will probably be chosen for the part again, as he is still young enough to undertake the arduous task and looks the part so well that younger aspirants are not likely to displace him.

Ottilie Zwink, who played the role of Mary in 1910, has married since that time. No married woman can play a role. Consequently all the young women of Obersammergau with ability and experience as actors are eagerly trying to qualify for the highly important part. Paula Rendl, daughter of Peter Rendl, the sculptor, who was Joseph of Arimathea in the play of 1910 and enacted the role of St. John 21 years ago, is one of the most promising candidates for the role of Mary. Fraulein Rendl has shown great ability in minor religious plays which are produced constantly by the Oberammergau folk as a means of training actors for the Passion Play.

Marie Mayr, who played the role of Mary Magdalene in the 1910 production, has also married and is living in Chicago. Marie Schmid, who was the Veronica in the last production, has also married.

Eighty-two of the Oberammergau men died during the war and many of the older actors of the last production will be disqualified by age for important roles. Consequently there are scores of places in the cast to which young men with ability as actors may aspire. They have begun to let their hair grow. Wigs and makeup are not permitted by the directors of the Passion Play.

Practically all the older men who had important parts in the last production have never cut their hair. Many of them have retained their long beards and pride themselves on their resemblance to the biblical character they have depicted.

AUTO EXCHANGE OPENED AT 1008 SCOTT STREET

The opening of an automobile exchange at 1008 Scott street where used or new cars may be bought, traded or sold, is announced by C. E. Frandeson.

The new automobile business will be known as the Central Auto exchange and will deal entirely in a good grade of cars, according to the announcement of Mr. Frandeson.

Mr. Frandeson has been a resident of Wichita Falls for about two years, during which time he has been engaged in real estate and garage business.

MUSEUM OF HUDSON BAY COMPANY'S "EMPIRE"

WINNIPEG, Man., July 29.—The Hudson's Bay Company has purchased the collection of Eskimo relics and Indian curious owned by Dr. W. E. Anderson, of Portage in Prairie. The collection consists of more than 500 pieces of the handiwork of many tribes, including Crees, Blood, Piegan, Sacres, Sioux, Chippewan, Lochheux and the Eskimos of the Western Arctic Coast.

The acquisition of these relics by the company, with the Dagg collection of Calgary, which was purchased last fall, and the specimens gathered by F. D. Wilson at old fur posts of the interior in 1920 will become the nucleus of a museum to be established by the Hudson's Bay company in Winnipeg.

For 200 years the history of the Hudson's Bay company was the history of Western Canada. Under its charter granted in 1670 by King Charles II, the company until 1870, when it surrendered its rights to the government, owned in fee simple practically all Western Canada. When it closes out to farm settlers all the lands remaining to it south of the North Saskatchewan river, in the prairie provinces—some 3,600,000 acres—the last vestiges of its old empire will have passed out of its possession. The Hudson's Bay company's museum, as illustrating every phase of the pioneer past, is expected in time to become the largest and most representative in Canada.

Important Announcement
For owners of production located in the northwest and Electra fields.
I have completed arrangements whereby an almost unlimited amount of money will be invested in production located in the northwest fields and Electra fields. I assure you that this arrangement does not refer to the "So-called New York concerns" that have pretended to buy production here for the past two years. These purchasers are real oil people and your production will be inspected by experienced oil men.
You will not be asked to sell for part cash and balance in part of the production, but an outright purchase will be made without an option or a tieup of any kind. If you really want to sell and willing to sell at a price which would be in line with present conditions, either call, phone or wire me at

AVIS SHOWS OIL SAND AT 1800 DEPTH

A showing of oil sand, around 1940 feet, after several good showings of gas had been encountered since the 1900 foot level was reached, has made the test of the Montana Oil and ... on the J. D. Avis, farm, a short distance southeast of Wichita Falls, unusually interesting this past week. The test is now drilling slightly below 1950 feet, in grey lime, according to reports from the president of the company, W. A. Patterson, who is actively superintending field operations.

Resumption of operations in the test of William Champion on the Hatfield, just north of the Montana test, also spurs up interest in this section, which has had several flings at the limelight in the past several years. The Champion test has been shut down for at year, at a depth of 1490 feet, the derrick being blown down recently. Now the derrick has been rebuilt, and work begun. This is Champion's second test for this section, one being drilled down around 1800 feet, with two good sands reported at the time, which were not tested, and the hole was finally junked around the 1800 foot depth.

The General Oil company's test on the George eKith ranch was next the center of excitement, about two years ago, with the reports of an oil saud strike a tvarious depths, but nothing materialized and a new hole started, a part of the derrick collapsed, and several other mishaps occurred to delay operations, and the test was finally shut down some distance below 2,000 feet, largely, it is believed, on account of the litigation in which the General Oil company was involved. The test had stood idle for several months.

AMERICAN TARIFF NOT TO AFFECT CANADIAN WHEAT

By Associated Press.

REGINA, Sask., July 28.—Wheat prices in the Canadian west will not be affected by the new American tariff, except insofar as this interference with free shipment to the United States may be exploited by market manipulators, according to J. M. Musselman, central secretary for the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' association.

"So long as the United States requires Western Canadian hard wheat for blending with her own winter wheat, it would seem that her own people will have to pay the import duty on it, besides its competitive world value. The United States millers mill be under a handicap in competition with Canadian millers when it is considered that imported wheat is used for blending in making flour for export to Europe," Mr. Musselman said.

"The Canadian meat industry, however, Mr. Musselman believes, will be hard hit by this new tariff.

"The effect of this tariff on our great industry is likely to be very much more detrimental to the farmers of this country, especially as Canada has practically no other market for live cattle," he said.

HEAT MAKES ROADS EXPLODE

Whether or not the approach of the Fourth of July had anything to do with it, or whether, after all, there may be a popular demand for changes in the field of excitement, are, of course, unknown—but sections of the country, including the metropolitan district, lately have been experiencing something entirely new in the way of explosions. The new pyrotechnics seem to have developed with America's road building program.

Occasionally a gas main, a manhole or a water main beneath a street lets go in New York, but for a road or a street pavement to explode is indeed a novelty.

The explosion of the pavement in a Brooklyn street a short while ago was a new experience for the borough, but it has at least brought it up to date. Brooklyn, however, has nothing on other parts of the country.

Maywood, Ill., has now come into the limelight by reason of the explosion of a road pavement just outside her limits and Seattle, Wash., reports one that has led to litigation for damages against the county. On the Roosevelt road near Maywood a concrete pavement ten inches thick blew up directly in front of the Fred Millies roadhouse, where a few of the thirsty who may have been indulging in prohibition drinks, but not in hallucinations, were violently shaken up and were rushed from a building that rocked and threatened to collapse.

Highway engineers declared that the extraordinary heat and a lack of sufficient space between the joints of the pavement to care for the expansion of the concrete, as well as the creeping of the heavy roadway caused the joints to fill, as frequently happens in sidewalks. The result was that the roadway, which was ten inches thick and of solid cement, buckled at the lowest point and burst, throwing pieces of heavy pavement several feet into the air and tearing a hole nearly fifty feet square.

The explosion near Seattle occurred on the Des Moines road, a part of the "high line" route between Seattle and Tacoma. The road was built with a concrete base and a monolithic brick surface. During a period of unusually hot weather thirty explosions took place in various parts of this highway.

Near Sunnydale a truck had just passed the crown of a bulge in the pavement when the roadway let go with a roar, showering brick in all directions. The truck was thrown from the road into a ditch and badly damaged. The occupants were injured and the county now faces damage suits for personal injuries and the loss of the truck.

NO. 5 GOSE SWABS SHOW 400 BARRELS

Cleaning out the bridge in the hole, caused by the flows made on Thursday bringing up the bottom plug, the Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 5 Gose, in the new Archer county pool, was swabbed for some time Friday, and showed even better than the 300 to 400 barrels estimate placed on the production when the well was first drilled in, according to reports verified by field officials of the company. The Friday swabbing was at the rate of 500 to 600 barrels a day.

The Staley No. 2, Coffman, which this new well offsets, has had water trouble since it was first drilled in, but even with the water trouble has been producing at the rate of 400 to 500 barrels daily, according to reports.

lated in the original bill. His amendment was also tabled by a vote of 80 to 37.

Representative Pope of Nueces offered an amendment late today proposing that the salaries and expenditures for the university budget as prepared by the appropriations committee shall be used for no other purpose than stipulated in the bill; that no instructor or professor shall receive additional salary from an appropriation for another position that is not filled and that such sums or portions thereof unexpended shall be returned to the stae treasury.

Stick to Steam Roller.

On this amendment Representatives Baldwin and Stevenson announced that "they had stuck to the steam roller clear through," but they thought this was going too far and pleaded for the defeat of the amendment. However, it was adopted by viva voce vote after a motion to table by Mr. Stevenson was defeated 38 to 71.

Representative Curtis of Tarrant, joint leader of the salary slashing move, introduced a resolution extending the courtesies of the house to the presidents of all state educational institutions. This was brought about when a point of order was raised yesterday by Perkins of Lamar which forced the courtesies extended to President Vinson of the university to be revoked and his expulsion from the floor. No action was taken on the resolution as time for considering resolutions had passed. It was read and referred to the committee on rules. Representative Perkins later said that he would insist on his point of order and fight adoption of the resolution.

The Texas A. and M. budget of the educational appropriation bill comes up in the house tomorrow.

Ask Neff Defer Bill.

A petition, signed by 93 members of the house, was presented to Governor Neff today requesting that he do not submit the Kerrville hospital appropriation of the regular session for consideration for reduction until the American Legion members of the house have had time to fully investigate conditions and the status of the hospital. The governor was requested some time ago by a petition signed by 74 members to present the hospital appropriation for consideration by the special session.

The senate did little work today, remaining in session but a short time and adjourning over to tomorrow.

The eleemosynary institution's appropriations for the next two years was engrossed and passed finally. It carries $2,965,820 for the first year and $2,782,535 for the second year.

A resolution was introduced by Senator Doyle proposing that a committee of three senators be appointed to investigate the various departments to ascertain if there is overlapping or duplication of work. It was referred to the finance committee.

The joint appropriation committee passed an appropriation of $7500 to the governor to be used in making an audit of any of the state departments where he may deem necessary.

EDITH KELLY GOULD DIVORCE DISMISSED

NEW YORK, July 29.—The suit for divorce brought by Edith Kelly Gould against Frank Jay Gould, was dismissed today by state Supreme Court Justice Mullan. The court upheld Mr. Gould's contention that he had already obtained a divorce in Paris.

JUDGE ENDS DOG TRIAL ABRUPTLY

"I don't want any more evidence in this case and you lawyers can argue for five minutes each if you want to but I warn you that it won't do you any good," declared Justice of the Peace Gwinn Friday as he brought a "dog" trial to an abrupt ending. Attorneys agreed to pass up the five minute privilege and the justice immediately rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The suit involved the ownership of a bird dog bearing the name of "Joe" with an alias or two alleged in the petition to be owned by the plaintiff O. J. Stalling. The latter claimed to have purchased the dog which was on exhibition last fall and produced a bill of sale showing the purchase.

The defendant, Marvin McDaniels, claimed that he had owned the dog up to last fall when it disappeared. He produced photographs of the dog which he said had been taken while in his possession.

MAYBE HE DREAMED HE WAS IN FRISCO

Firemen Friday expressed themselves as worried about the general condition of Captain Smiley Turner of the central station.

According to their version of Smiley's conduct, he spent two months of the early summer planning an extensive trip through California when his vacation time came. They declare he had his locker well filled with literature describing in loquacious and minute detail the many attractions of various California resorts and left the station some two weeks ago, apparently bound for San Francisco.

On Wednesday Smiley was again back at his duties. The firemen declare that no evidence can be obtained to show that he ever got out of Texas and further assert that he spent most of his vacation time at Mineral Wells.

LOCAL OPERATORS CALL COMPANY'S HAND

ita Falls at this time of the year is not burning much over a million feet per day.

"While we are still figuring on the lines, we have gone pretty thoroughly over the ground as it is, and have the approval of a competent engineer on the entire project. It looks to me as if it were in mighty good shape and as if the Wichita Falls operators, if the gas company sees fit to come to terms with us, could do both Wichita Falls and themselves a good turn."

PREPARE TO INTERVENE IN INJUNCTION SUIT

To be filed in the name of a citizen of Wichita Falls, who is a patron of the North Texas Gas company, a petition for intervention in the suit between the North Texas and Lone Star Gas companies is being prepared, it was announced Friday by City Attorney E. M. Mann. Mr. Mann is a member of the committee of lawyers from North Texas cities, selected to intervene in the suit, should any citizen so desire, at a meeting of representatives from the 21 towns and cities affected by litigation between the con... The other members of the con... Hamp P. Abney, city ... Sherman and Mayor Chance ... Bowie.

The petition being prepared by Mann will ask a mandatory order to prevent either company from raising the rates of consumers, and will refer to an agreement made last fall with the North Texas people, in which a raise was permitted. It will state that the Lone Star people were a party to the agreement, according to the announcement, and will maintain that they have received an advanced rate through their percentage share from the monthy payments of consumers.

Mr. Mann declared that although it was believed that there is a real legal battle in progress between the two companies that it is believed that an effort to increase rates as a result of the suit will likely be made, unless consumers take steps to protect themselves.

FILE CHARGE AGAINST MEN FROM YOUNG

J. A. Jackson, W. C. Shipper, Marcelle McDonnell and Chick Garard, arrested near South Bend in Young county by federal prohibition officers Thursday, were brought to this city Friday where complaints of selling beer and whisky were filed against them by the federal officers.

At a preliminary hearing Friday before United States Commissioner Lantz, the charges were dismissed against the two women Marcelle McDonnell and Chick Garard with Shipper being held under $750 bond to await the action of the grand jury.

Jackson waived preliminary hearing and was also placed under $750 to wait the action of the grand jury. The McDonnell woman was placed under $200 bond as a witness.

According to the officers making the arrest the whisky and beer was being sold from soft drink stand and dance hall owned by Jackson. The officers said that the whisky was being stored in a false partition in the building to which access was obtained by removing a base board.

DELAY GARBAGE BOND PERFECTION

Some delay in perfecting bonds for successful bidders for garbage hauling contracts because of the necessity of forwarding the bonds to Dallas for approval by the bonding companies is expected, it was announced Friday by Dr. A. H. Douglass, city sanitary officer.

It was expected to put the new city garbage ordinance in effect on August 1, according to Dr. Douglass, but it is now expected the date will be several days later.
