Volunteers, Furnishings Needed

The local drug abuse prevention program, "Get It Together," is in need of furnishings for its 814 Market Street headquarters, and citizen volunteers for four committees. Furnishings needed include desks and chairs, bookcases, cups, glasses, plates, silverware, couches, filing cabinets, and a record player or tape deck. Members are needed for committees dealing with youth activities, community education, counseling and fund-raising. For more information, call program President Donna Price at 729-6304.

Water Quality Planning

The Coastal Bend Council of Governments is compiling information on which to base a water quality plan for Nueces, San Patricio and Aransas Counties. Federal requirements call for fishable, swimmable waters by 1983, and all local plans will stem from the COG version. Your opportunity for input into this planning process is a July 1 meeting at the VFW Hall in Rockport beginning at 2 p.m.

Hurricane Preparedness

City Secretary Herman Johnson has put together a Hurricane Preparedness Seminar for the Rockport area. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. July 13 in the Veterans of Foreign Wars' building on Market Street. Featured speakers include Captain Ira W. Dees, Chairman of District 3A of the Disaster Commission and a Texas Highway Patrol official; Larry P. Mooney, Head Meteorologist for the National Weather Service in Corpus Christi; Rupe Gamble, Liaison officer for Region 10 of the Defense and Civil Preparedness Agency; and Bob Townsend, Manager of the Corpus Christi Area Red Cross. There will also be some chilling footage put together in the wake of Hurricane Camille, showing the before and after effects of a 27-foot storm surge. It's scarier than The Exorcist.

High Rise Request Tabled ; Plans Asked

A request by the Canoe Lake Corporation, developers of the Harbor Oaks subdivision, for a special use permit to build a seven story condominium complex caused a storm of citizen protest at the June 27 City Council meeting, and the Planning and Zoning Commission, empowered to recommend approval or disapproval of the permit, was taking no chances with the potential precedent-setting decision. The Commission members voted to table the request so that Canoe Lake Corporation architect Tom Marshall could prepare more detailed site plans, and provide more information on the project's fire prevention potential, its exterior appearance and elevation. The matter may be ready for consideration again by July 11.

Citizen objections covered a wide range of concerns, all related to the role such a development would play in the city's growth. Henry Bent, a Harbor Oaks homeowner who said he was backed by several other subdivision homeowners, told council the development would be a deviation from the "provincial nature" of Rockport, that the resulting population density would add to already heavy traffic on the Harbor Oaks Bridge, where three traffic accidents have happened in the last two weeks, and weaken the tax base by requiring more services than revenue received.

Mother And Son 'Doing Fine'

Donna Venable of Rockport and her newborn son Jody are reported doing fine in Memorial Medical Center this week after being refused admittance to Lyman-Roberts Hospital--a refusal which has brought about formal complaints by Aransas County Hospital Volunteer crewmembers to the State Health Department and the Joint Committee of Accreditation.

Mrs. Venable, who lives on South Doughty Street in Rockport, delivered her son two months prematurely June 22 at approximately 6:11 a.m. The ACHVI emergency ambulance crew, headed by Paramedic Bill Aston, was dispatched to the scene at that time, and arrived within four minutes. The child was blue from lack of oxygen when Aston entered the home, and he saved the child by clearing its airway and suctioning its nose and mouth. Aston then tied off the umbilical cord and severed it. A quick examination determined that the mother had not yet delivered the placenta, making her condition unstable and leaving her susceptible to dangerous in-

Jim Steelhammer

Steelhammer New V—P For Refugio Savings

Jim Steelhammer is the new Vice-President of Refugio Savings and Loan Association. Steelhammer, manager of the Rockport branch office of the Association since 1974, was elected June 16 at a board of directors' meeting.

In announcing his election, firm President said that the Rockport branch had seen a 62 percent increase in deposits under Steelhammer since its opening, Sept. 4, 1974.

Steelhammer is a Victoria native who holds degrees from Victoria Junior College, the University of Houston and Texas A&I University. He beban his career as a school teacher in Bloomington and Cuero School Districts, but in 1974 joined the staff of Victoria Federal Savings. Later that

Children's Booth Set At Festival

Festival planners, conscious of the needs of families which annually make up most of the art show crowd, have hit upon a master plan to keep the kids happy while the parents are getting culture.

The plan is to have, a "Children's Tent" in the middle of the festival grounds, near both the Hospitality Tent and the Concessions Tent. The children's tent will feature sales of helium inflated balloons emblazoned with the words Rockport Art Festival, and over the counter sales of that old standby, cotton candy. The biggest hit, however, will be the body painting booth. Here, kids can work on themselves or volunteers, weirding out to their heart's content with non-toxic, washable paints.

The children's tent is being organized by Darcy Swetnam, a newcomer to Rockport. She is being helped by Mary Lou Tiner and Jackie Shaw, who will head the cotton candy sales, and by Karen Hugenberg, who is in charge of the body painting booth.

Clinic Planned

Warren and Associates, a group of 125 doctors and business management personnel who provide emergency and specialty medical care to hospitals and communities throughout Texas from headquarters in San Antonio, have announced their intention to build a medical clinic in Rockport.

The group, headed by Dr. Ray Warren of San Antonio, operates facilities in Amarillo, Harlingen, McAllen, Laredo, Bryan and other Texas cities, and plans a modular unit complex which would have emergency care facilities beyond those currently provided by the Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, Incorporated's emergency ambulance system, and all types of outpatient care facilities.

As described by Warren and Associates spokesman Terry Coker, the clinic would be operated by a pool of doctors out of San Antonio, each staying in Rockport for a portion of the clinic hours each week.

As the needs of the area were established, two full-time physicians and specialists as needed would be available on a permanent basis in Rockport.

County Nixes Bridge Pier

Aransas County Commissioners Wednesday, June 22, turned down a proposal by Texas Highway Department Engineer James Johnson to turn the Copano Bay Bridge at Bayside into a fishing pier similar to the Copano Causeway State Park off Highway 35 North.

The Highway Department plans to construct a new 40 foot roadway bridge over the bay beginning in 1979 or 1980, and came to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and the Refugio and Aransas County Commissioners to ask their views on preserving the old bridge for recreational purposes.

The Refugio Court and TP&WD both rejected the proposal because there are other and better fishing spots nearby. The Aransas County Court rejected the proposal on those

Drug Program Plans Training

"Get It Together," the citizens group setting up a drug abuse prevention program for Aransas County, elected co-chairmen for four committees and approved a local volunteer training program Thursday, June 23, in an open meeting at program headquarters at 814 Market Street.

Adults were named to head programs in youth activities, counseling, fund raising and education. Each of the four has a school-age co-chairman. Committee heads are Jim Hatfield, youth activities; N.F. Jackson, Jr., counseling; Sue Stevens, fund raising; and Bobby Jackson, education.

The group also approved a training program for volunteer counselors which will take place in Rockport with local instructors, at no cost to the volunteers. The program will include instruction by Rockport City Police Chief Jim Craigmile, ACHVI Paramedic Bill Aston, operator of the local emergency ambulance service, and a physician to be named later who has assisted in the ongoing ACHVI volunteer

Live Oak Declares Stock Dividend

The Board of Directors of the Live Oak State Bank has announced that a quarterly cash dividend of five cents per share was declared by the Directors of the Bank at the regular Board meeting on June 20, 1977. The first cash dividend of five cents per share was paid in December, 1976.

The Bank will observe its third anniversary on July 31, 1977, and is in an expansion program that will add about 3,000 square feet to the original banking house.

FULTON MANSION. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has set a public hearing at its Austin headquarters to gather citizen input on the restoration and use of the Fulton Mansion, built by a founder of Rockport and the man the town of Fulton is named after, Col. George W. Fulton. The preliminary plans (discussed in an inside story) call for restoration of the first two floors to their appearance in the years between 1876 and 1893. These floors would be open for public tours. The third level would be used for storage and TP&WD office space.

Dilemma

The Canoe Lake Corporation's request for a permit to construct seven-story condominiums in Harbor Oaks has touched off the expected controversy, just as Houston Oil and Minerals Corporation's proposal to build a separation facility near Rockport Cemetery did last year.

Protesters were out in force at the Monday night City Council meeting, many of them residents of Harbor Oaks. Other residents, however, were in support of the facility.

Opponents say it will destroy a desirable status quo and set a precedent for developments which dominate and even defile the environment and the landscape. Proponents say it will afford the most common area for residents, and will represent the best possible use of the 11-acre tract.

Neither side denies that growth will continue, so the question is how and not when. And, more specifically, it is a matter of style. The impact on sewer facilities and fire insurance rates is not prohibitive by itself. Traffic caused by new residents will be a problem as it is city-wide, but it cannot be determined how much is caused by negligence and how much by overcrowding.

With no overwhelming safety factors against it, opponents are citing aesthetic grounds. In some cities, where the damage is done, it would seem petty. But Rockport has the opportunity to promote a coherent architectural image like that of Taos, or other resort areas which have kept their appeal largely by resisting overreaching and overpopulation.

It is possible that a seven-story facility could fit into such an image, but it is unlikely, and once the image is shattered, it can't be reclaimed short of using a wrecking crane and starting over.

City Council can, of course, approve the proposal without setting an insurmountable precedent. And one project does ot an urban sprawl make, but there is so much to lose that it would be better if the project were kept to a size the landscape, which makes Rockport what it is, can live in harmony with.

Shrine Hospitals Help Local Burn Victim, Others

Editor's Note: Shriner Hospitals in Houston and Galveston have helped thousands of Texas children recover from birth defects and burns. The Corpus Christi area temple is represented locally by David C. Gruber, who has arranged treatment for many Rockport children. Two of those stories are included here.

Teresa Tillison was 16 months old when she tripped and fell into a campfire while on an outing with her family. Terror stricken, she tried to roll out of the flames, but rolled in instead. Before she could be rescued, the fire had burned both legs and her stomach severely.

The accident happened on a Sunday, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tillison rushed their daughter to the nearest hospital, Lyman-Roberts in Aransas Pass, for treatment. Teresa was admitted to the emergency room, but when it was discovered the family had no insurance, that was as far as she got. Finally treated as an outpatient despite her age and condition, she was released the same day. Doctors told Mr. and Mrs. Tillison, "It's not that bad."

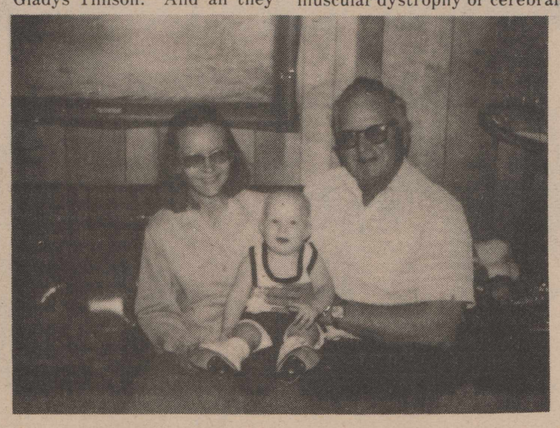

After six weeks, it was plain to the Tillison's that it was worse, and that out-patient care had done nothing. They took her to Driscoll Children's Hospital and were again treated on an out-patient basis until three months after the accident, when they were told there was little more to be done.

Teresa was stoic about the pain from ber burns and never complained. Doctor's later told the couple it was the result of a mental block against the pain, one which later made her learning progress slow. Now, at 11, she attends special education classes in Fulton Elementary, slowly recovering from the nine-year old accident.

Things began to get better for Teresa in 1973, when Al Elliott, a Shriner and, like Robert Tillison, a member of the local V.F.W. chapter, recommended the family to the Corpus Christi Shriner Temple.

Local representative David Gruber took over after the recommendation was accepted, and Teresa made her first trip to Galveston several weeks later. The doctors, armed with photographs of the injuries taken by members of the Corpus Christi Temple before the initial examination, knew what to expect and offered no miracle cures. The family was told that the maturation of scar tissue made plastic surgery impossible. But Teresa was monitored for three years until her release last year. This summer, she'll have corrective surgery to sever the scar tissue that has drawn up behind both knees and a plastic bracing tube will be inserted in the right side of her right leg. The surgery will prevent further drawing and give her total freedom of movement for the first time.

Since the beginning of her treatment, the Shriner organization has taken care of all hospital and related expenses. "We couldn't have afforded it otherwise," says a grateful Gladys Tillison. "And all they asked in payment was that we help another child if we could by referring him to the Temple."

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mills and Son

Melvin Mills, Jr., was born with club feet, but his parents didn't know just how serious the problem might become until five months ago when the couple took the young boy in for a checkup by local physician Frances H. Jansa. Dr. Jansa, Mrs. Mills recalls, "took one look at him and said I want this child treated in the Shriner Hospital in Houston."

Dr. Jansa told Mrs. Mills that waiting any longer could result in permanent damage, and recommended immediate treatment. The doctor filled out the medical recommendation, and Tom Hickman of Rockport made the initial contact for the family with local Shriner David Gruber, in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills took pictures of the child and filled out an application during October and were immediately accepted, but had to wait until January for their first hospital visit because the hospital was full.

The first visit, as were the rest, was arranged and paid for by the Shriners, who picked up the couple the day before, paid all meals and accommodations, and returned them a day later.

Melvin, Jr. got a complete examination with X-Rays and probing and prodding by a team of specialists at the hospital. Because he was from Rockport, the waiting period between the ...al examination was waived and the casting was begun. The boy was put in casts up to both hips to stabilize the movement of his feet. The casts were kept on until early May when they were replaced by a brace which helps turn the twisted toes to a position straight with the foot.

Now, at eight months, Mills stands an excellent chance for total recovery. His feet have straightened, and doctors says his toes are aligning rapidly. Only a stiff ligament in one ankle requires additional therapy by the family, who manipulate it to avoid stiffness on a daily basis.

The Shriners are helping other children in the Rockport-Fulton area. James Ballou, age seven, the son of James Ballou, Sr. of Rockport, was burned in December of 1976 and sent to the Galveston Burn Institute. He's had three successful skin grafts, and been given plastic for rehabilitation purposes. He is awaiting further treatment.

Ballou and the other children are eligible for treatment by the Shriner Hospital staff until they reach 15 years of age. Regardless of the length of the treatment, the family never pays.

Willie Wilcox, a six year old ward of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barker of Holiday Beach for several months, was taken in by the Barkers from the State Hospital in Corpus Christi. Within a few weeks of his move to the Barker home, he was receiving treatment from the Shriner Houston Hospital for muscular dystrophy. The braces Willie was placed in worked, and he walks again with the aid of crutches and braces. He has also been adopted by an Austin family and lives in the capital city now.

Jackie Bobson, the 14 year old son of a local family, has muscular dystrophy or cerebral palsy, no one is sure which, and has an application before the Shriner board now. He is in a wheelchair and has to be carried everywhere. Treatment similar to that given to Willie Wilcox might allow him to walk within a few months or years.

The Corpus Christi Al Amin Temple, which has provided for the children mentioned above, is the youngest of 13 Texas temples, and was chartered in 1972. It is part of a network of temples covering all of North America and boasting a total membership of more than 1,000,000.

The Shriner hospital charity began in 1914, some 47 years after the inauguration of Masonry in 1867 by Walter M. Fleming, a doctor, and actor William J. Florence.

The plans for the first Shriner hospital were finalized in 1920 and the building was dedicated in 1922 in Shreveport, Louisiana. The first hospital treated orthopedic problems, and a total of 19 were constructed nationwide in the next 40 years. In 1962, an idea to aid burn victims gained support, and in 1966 the first of three burn centers, a 30 bed complex in Galveston, was dedicated.

Each of the 22 hospitals is operated solely by Shriner organizations. Each has a surgeon in charge, a full medical staff and many volunteers, most wives of masons or friends of the order.

The hospitals accept patients regardless of race, creed, color, or sex. The motto of the hospital organization is "those who can pay, cannot enter."

Since the beginning of operation since 1922, and through November of 1975, the Shriner hospitals had cured or aided more than 200,000 children, performed almost 290,000 operations, installed 210,000 braces, and received almost 2,000,000 clinic visitations.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Senior League Division of The Aransas County Little League Association would like to extend an invitation to anyone interested in youth baseball in this county to attend the closing ceremonies and all-star festivities to be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. on the Little League Field at Memorial Park.

We wish to publicly thank all of the many adult volunteers who helped make the 1977 Senior League season a very productive one. The season is not quite over, for we will have our all-star teams involved in tournament play with the ultimate goal of making a trip to the championship finals in Williamsport, Pennsylvania. Please support these kids in their post-season play. The more people involved will certainly make the Little League cause a good one.

Dear Editor:

I'm writing this letter in protest to the actions taken by the Navigation Board Wednesday night.

I have always been opposed to making a marina out of the Saltwater Swimming Pool for the following reasons: 1. the Marina will benefit only a small minority of people; 2. it will be an eyesore for those people on Key Allegro as well as the surrounding community; 3. the gasoline and trash from the boats will further pollute the bays; 4. the citizens will lose the only public swimming pool in Rockport, as well as a place of scenic beauty.

I'm not only blaming the Navigation District, but the City as well. Two years ago the Navigation District practically gave the land to the city for a park area which would have included volleyball courts, picnic areas and a concession stand. Citizens strongly supported the idea only to be rejected by a complacent City Council.

If we lose the Saltwater Swimming Pool the tourists and residents of the community will have lost another battle in the fight to serve the people's needs. It is totally unfair for the people of Rockport to have to forfeit their land for the use of a select few.

To protest, call your city officials, Navigation Board and call or write U.S. Corps of Engineers, District Engineer, Colonel Jon Vanden--Bosch, C.E., P.O. Box 1229, Galveston, Texas 77553.

Sincerely,
s/Anita Dingenary

MIDDLE AGE DISABILITY

The statistical figures prove conclusively that in those all-important middle years, the chances of being disabled are greater than those of dying. Not a pleasant thought - but a reality.

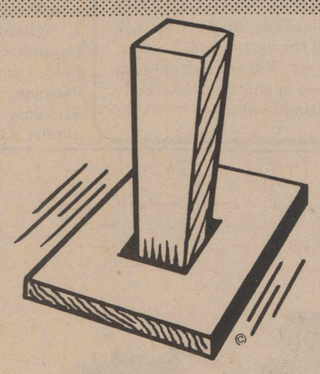

At age 32, the chance of disability is 6½ times greater; at age 42, it's 4 times greater; at age 52, it's 2½ times greater. Does it pay to take this kind of gamble? Ask yourself these questions.

How long can you live if your income stops tomorrow? What's your most important asset? How long is your salary guaranteed if you have to quit and retire tomorrow?

With today's astronomical prices for everything our families need to subsist, maintaining a checkbook balance in the black, even with a regular paycheck, is a problem. The cessation of a regular family income due to sickness or accident is one calamity which can be avoided. The answer? Disability income insurance.

A contribution of $750 to buy training aids needed for the Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) training programs sponsored by the local chapter of American Heart Association was authorized by Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon meeting June 22 at Sandollar Restaurant.

The money will be used to purchase a lifelike adult mannequin and a training film. Both are essential in conducting training programs which qualify students to provide emergency lifesaving CPR to cardiac arrest victims during the critical period following a heart attack, drowning, suffocation, smoke inhalation, electrocution or choking. The procedure is designed to keep the victim alive until skilled emergency medical help, such as the Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, Inc., modulance, arrives with its trained life-saving crew.

Need for the mannequin and training film was stressed in a recent news story in The Pilot which pointed out that progress of the local lifesaving training program has been hampered by lack of these training aids in the Rockport area. In the past it has been necessary to borrow them from Corpus Christi Heart Association headquarters and return them after the course was completed. This situation made it difficult to schedule training programs, it was reported.

The Pilot story also expressed the possibility that Rockport might become the best protected of small communities with reference to emergency medical service with its two ambulances staffed with qualified medical technicians and a growing number of residents who have completed CPR training.

Seattle, Wash., already is recognized as the country's best prepared major city with six modern modulances, back-up ambulances and the highest per capita ratio of adults trained in CPR.

In response to the local newspaper story urging contribution with which to buy the needed training aids, several smaller gifts have been received. This money will be used to purchase an infant mannequin for the training program, Dr. H.H. Lutz, president.

When you save: the money you earn, earns money--and that money earns more money-through the magic of compound INTEREST.

Art Basics Are ACHVI Program

Local artist Steve Russell treated the women's committee to a 45 minute demonstration of some of the basics of landscape painting at the June 15 meeting at Little Bay Club.

On display were several of his paintings including the landscape donated earlier to the ACHVI as a money raising project.

During the business meeting, projects chairman Jo Yarborough expressed appreciation to Mrs. Agnes Reasor who made a wall hanging and to Bobie Brown of the Magic Mirror who displayed the hanging in her shop that resulted in a $60 contribution to the Hospital Fund for their independent efforts.

Women's Committee chairman Gladys McMillian stated that there would be no July Meeting due to the large number of people on vacation, but they would resume the third Friday in August, the location to be announced.

Each member is requested to bring something made or purchased that could be copied for a "Show and Tell" to supply new ideas of things that can be made at the workshop.

AARP Founder's Day A Success

Charter members who founded the Rockport Chapter 1536 celebrated a birthday party Wednesday, June 22, at Paws and Taws Building, Fulton Beach Road. More than 100 persons attended "The Founder's Day," commemorating June 15, 1973.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Mary B. Haynes of Austin, ex-officio National Board AARP, who assisted in organizing the Chapter. She related its beginning and continued growth to an ideal chapter in the United States.

Margarett Gill, program chairman, gave a recitation of her unique poem, "Recipe for a Chapter."

After the potluck dinner, when everyone forgot their calorie counting, they were served a piece of the birthday cake, the centerpiece for the Charter members' gaily decorated (with fern and yellow daisies) table. Due to the efforts of President Pat Works and her committee, Founders' Day was a fine success.

Announcement was made that the Chapter will again have its "Trash and Treasure" booth at the SeaFair in October; in addition there will be an "Old Fashioned Cake Walk" and a raffle. Future announcements will be made.

PLEASE NOTE: During July and August, the Chapter will hold only one meeting and that will be on second Wednesday of each of these months.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, July 13, at 9:30 a.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

Lamar Women Hold Monthly Luncheon

The Lamar Women's Club held its monthly luncheon meeting June 15 at the Sandollar Restaurant. Hostesses Mrs. Al (Peggy) Hagy and Mrs. Bob (Alma) Johnson had created an atmosphere of inquisitiveness with drawing for seating arrangements, decorative question marks on the tables, and a large "Guess What" door prize, with the lucky number hidden under the dinner mints in each member's strawbasket. After Mrs. L.C. (Clara Belle) Conner led the invocation, members and guests enjoyed a buffet luncheon.

President Mrs. Otis (Linda) Stubbs presided over the business meeting, which included a report by club Vice-President Mrs. R.W. (Patsy) Blair on the successful chicken supper held on board the SeaGun Resort's "Whooping Crane".

Mrs. A.P. (Gladys) Hilbrich of Goliad was then named the door prize winner, and Mrs. George D. (Jessie) James and Mrs. Paul (Margie) Jackson revealed members' "Secret Pals". Gifts were exchanged among pals, and new "Secret Pals" drawn.

One guest, Miss Jennifer Heldenfels, was present, along with 22 members.

Considering the divorce rate, too many misinterpret the meaning of a wedding "license."

Helping Hands Cluster To Help Mission

The Helping Hands Cluster met June 21 with eight present and Mrs. Wesley Muecke presiding.

Mrs. Jack Horton opened the meeting with prayer, then gave the devotional based on "Faith."

Adams Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. E.N. Adams, 1141 Ruby, were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church.

Hosts for the affair were their children, Mr. and Mrs. E.N. Adams, Jr. and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. D.R. Adams and children, all of Rockport.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams were married June 18, 1927 in Wharton.

For the occasion, Mrs. Adams was presented a yellow throated white orchid corsage and Mr. Adams a yellow rose boutonniere.

Throughout the hall were potted palms in yellow containers. The serving table was skirted with a gold floor length cloth and centered with a three-tiered cake detailed with yellow flowers. On each side of the cake were tall silver candelabra topped with clusters of yellow daisies, yellow roses, baby's breath and greenery, holding white candles. The silver coffee service and punch bowl completed the table appointments.

Greta Adams served the cake, Nancy Adams the punch, and Danielle Adams the coffee. All are granddaughters of the Adamses.

Registering the guests was Danny Adams II.

Others assisting in the house party were the couple's nieces. They were Mrs. Vollie Williams of Rockport; Mrs. John O. Coppedge and Mrs. Weldon Goebel of Cuero; Mrs. Dan C. Martin of Victoria; Mrs. Lewis Williams of Houston; and Mrs. Leroy Cobb of Austin.

One hundred fifty guests attended from 6 until 8 p.m. from Rockport, Cuero, Victoria, San Antonio, Houston, Austin, and Aransas Pass.

State Of The Region

Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council Governments

The number of people living in each area, how they earn their livelihood, and how they use the land surfaces are the basic determinations in a water quality study. Existing conditions are documented. Trends are applied to project those figures into the foreseeable future. This has been done in a preliminary report for three counties of the Coastal Bend and the information compiled is up for public hearing. Work is now getting underway at the COG on compiling the same information for the other nine counties of the region.

The three counties included in the first report are Nueces, San Patricio and Aransas. The report projects some growth for all urban and rural areas. The estimated population in 1977 is 297,100 and the projected population in 1995 is 425,450.

The greatest growth indicated is the Rockport-Live Oak Peninsula area, from 10,000 population today to 30,000 permanent residents in 1995. Explosive growth is also seen for Port Aransas and Mustang Island, from 4,622 to 30,000 residents, including tourist population. The other strongest growth area is shown as Portland, with a 9,932 to 20,700 increase.

Other population projections include: Corpus Christi-Padre Island, 222,374 to 285,000; Robstown-San Pedro, 16,160 to 19,225; Aransas Pass, 6,709 to 8,544; Gregory, 2,540 to 3,400; Ingleside, 4,309 to 5,714; Portland, 9,932 to 20,700; Odem, 2,389 to 2,650; Sinton, 6,219 to 6,850; and Taft, 5,650 to 6,550. Such cities as Kingsville, Beeville, Refugio and Three Rivers will be in the next report.

Economically, the outlook is for steady development, following established trends, while recognizing that unpredictable occurrances can drastically alter any pattern.

From 1950 to 1960, the growth in jobs was 1,753 or a 2.62% increase, and from 1960 to 1970 the increase was 1,458 jobs or 1.73%. Employment is projected with four sets of figures, each based on an unemployment rate of from 5 to 7% of the work force. Total employment now is shown as 109,400. It is projected, depending on unemployment, to a total ranging from 148,150 to 151,300.

Personal income today is $948,218,000 and is projected to total $1,733,355,000 in 1995. These totals are figured in 1967 dollars.

Greatest growth in employment is forecast in professions, clerical work, craft, service jobs, and jobs related to these categories. By 1977, clerical and related workers are predicted to hold the largest number of jobs and maintain that position through 1995. Craftsmen and related workers will reach their highest percentage of the employment force between 1977 and 1995 but will remain in second place in number of jobs held through 1995. Service and professional workers will show slight growth throughout the 18 year period, with service workers as the third largest block of employment and professional workers the fourth.

Farmers, farm managers and workers will show a slight decline as a percentage of the work force, but a slight numerical increase. Other categories of work will remain relatively stable, with the actual number of jobs increasing but the percentage of the total employment force showing little change.

The report shows existing use of land on a series of maps prepared by the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology. One series of maps shows environmental characteristics, flood plains; aquifer recharge areas; marshlands; soil which is not suitable for septic tanks and that suitable and unsuitable for solid waste disposal; bodies of water; and areas easily inundated. Another series shows such uses as residential, commercial, industrial, airports, sand and gravel operations, urban open spaces, crop lands, pasture and spoil areas. Usage of land is projected in total acres through 1995.

Comments and projections on these figures and projections and on water quality and water problems will be heard from the public at the following hearings: July 1 at 2 p.m. at the VFW Hall in Rockport; July 5 at 10:30 a.m. at Sinton City Council Chambers; July 12 at 7 p.m. at Aransas Pass City Council Chambers; and July 14 at 7 p.m. at Corpus Christi City Council Chambers.

This is the first of four series of hearings to be held during the next year in these three counties of the region during what is known as the "208 Water Quality Study" being made by the COG. A series of hearings in the other counties will begin later this year.

Local Art Highlights

PAINTER. Estelle Stair was one of the original organizers of the annual Art Festival, and has entered each year. This year she will have a selection of area scenes, all in oil. Mrs. Stair has been a Rockport resident for 14 years, and has managed the 104 S. Austin gallery for 11 years, 10 years for the Rockport Art Association, and since November for herself, when the Association showplace became the Estelle Stair Gallery. She's been a student and painter for 12 years.

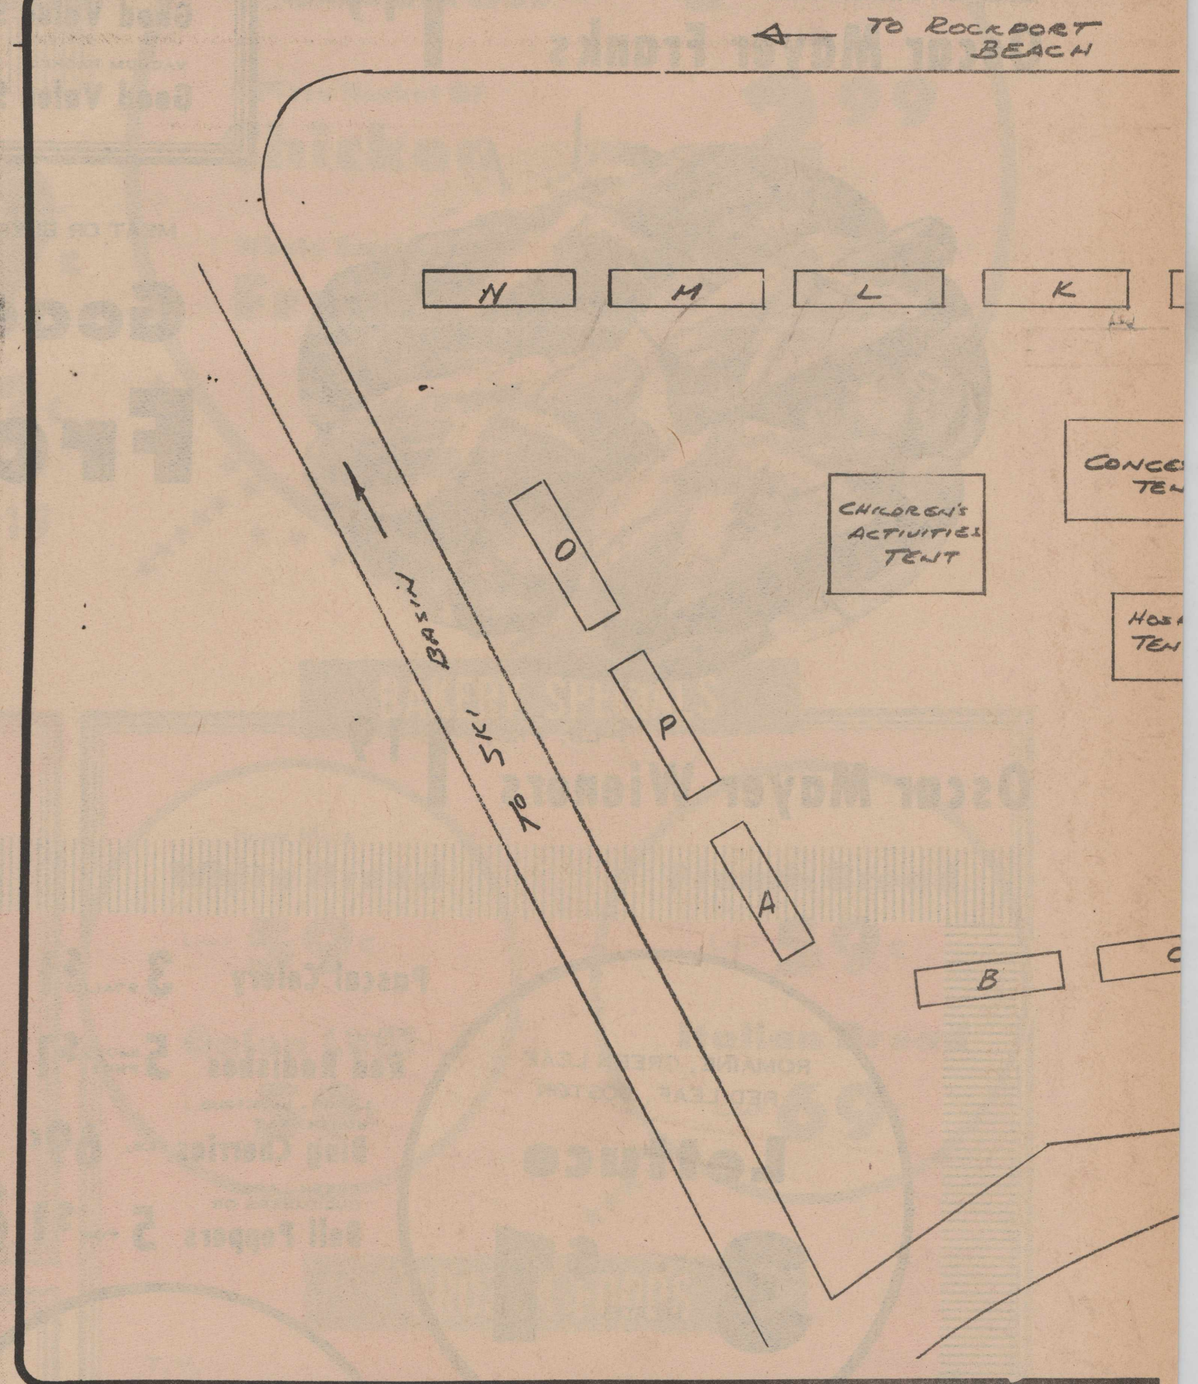

POTTER. Nancy Barnes, one of eight Rockport artists entering the eighth annual Rockport Art Festival, makes highfired, ovenproof stoneware covered in her own tin-calcium (non-leaded) glazes. She's pictured with two spouted Mexican madgas, which are meant for lemonade or sangrias, and two pair of stands. The covered dishes in the foreground are casserole dishes. Mrs. Barnes, the wife of Meredith Long artist Al Barnes, has been a "serious" professional potter for three years, a devotee for seven. She, her husband and family moved to Rockport in 1976.

PHOTOGRAPHER. Jane Butler, one of the top family portrait photographers in Texas, will have 25 of her works at the eighth annual Rockport Art Festival. She's pictured with a portrait of the Patrick and Lucy Johnson Nugent family. Ms. Butler operates a downtown photography shop with Keith Carter in Rockport, as well as the local gallery, Helga's, and this will be her sixth year at the Festival.

PAINTER. Esther Lonquist moved to Rockport in 1962 and began painting five years ago after attending an art class with a friend. She's studied oils under local artists Steve Russell, Robert Garden, William Brighl and Clinton Berman, and is making her third entry in the Rockport Art Festival. She'll have approximately 20 paintings on display, mostly seascapes like those she has hanging in the Estelle Stair Gallery and El Barrio's, both in downtown Rockport.

Eighth Annual Festival

PAINTER. Rip Harrison of Fulton moved to the Rockport area in 1970, and has shown his works in four of the eight Art Festivals. Harrison is an oil industry retiree, and he and his wife travel at least half of the year, but he sticks with works spotlighting marine scenes in the work he shows at the local El Barrio's Gallery and Artists' Workshop.

PAINTER. Kristan Yates has just returned from Honolulu, Hawaii, where she spent one and one-half years while her husband was on assignment there with Rockport Yacht and Supply Company. Before the stay in Hawaii, she taught art at Rockport Junior High School for two years. She's been painting professionally for several years, and has works hanging in Helga's and The Moonshell downtown. This is her first entry in the Art Festival, and she will have some 20 paintings for sale, all of shells, and all in pen and ink or watercolors.

City Council

Gene Urban were on hand with information on the development's effect of city services. Johnson told the Council that the highrise if approved would add one cent to the city's 30 cent fire insurance key rate, a rise that would not affect residential rates, but would push commercial rates up one cent, or $5 per $50,000 value.

At present the city volunteer fire department does not have a ladder truck capable of fighting a seventh story fire, although oxygen packs and other equipment for isolation fire in such structures has been purchased.

Urban said the development, which would add a maximum of approximately 200 units would leave the city's sewer lift station with a margin of 100 gallons per minute capacity, but would require stepped up planning for additions to the sewer capacity of lines serving Key Allegro and other areas. He noted that Canoe Lake developers had installed sewer lines capable of handling full development on their property, and that the strain would be coming from other residential areas being accepted by the city piecemeal. The strain will not be immediate in any case, since developers project a three to five year development lag.

Canoe Lake spokesmen noted that both the fire equipment and any additional expense for sewer facilities would be offset by the almost immediate gain in tax valuation of $3.5 to $4 million, with a potential project and valuation price tag of $15 million in the future. They also said the high rise concept represented the best use of the available land, allowing more open spaces than lower structures of the same density.

After hearing citizens and developers in the Council chambers, the Planning and Zoning Commission withdrew to City Hall offices to consider the request in a session open to the public. The argument continued, and the request for more information was finally passed. The Commission, mindful that it is playing "a new game with old rules," as one citizen put it, also voted to hold a workshop session on revision of zoning restrictions and definitions which simplify and update the present code.

The Commission had no problems with two other zoning requests, and City Council went along with their recommendations to approve. Floyd E. Appling, Jr., was granted his request for the rezoning of Lots 1 through 6, Block 26, Denver Heights, from R-1 Residential to B-2 Business, to allow additions to an existing Robo Wash facility.

George K. Taggart's request for the rezoning of Lots 5 and 6, Block 10, D&M, from R-3 Duplex and Apartments to B-2 Business, was also granted. Aransas Natural Gas Company will erect a one-story frame office building on the land, which is immediately behind the present ANGC office.

In other business, the Council:

--Annexed 17.06 acres of Harbor Oaks, proposed Unit 6, after hearing a petition for annexation in a public hearing.

--Appointed Vernon Kleypas as Election Judge for the August 13 City Election in Ward One. Mrs. Elbert Mundine was appointed Assistant Presiding Judge, and Andrea Martinez and Rachel Garcia were named clerks.

--Approved an ordinance designating the center line of North Street as the border between Wards One and Two.

--Approved the drawing up of specifications for the advertisement for bids on a backhoe for the City Road Crew.

--Set July 6 at 5 p.m. as the date for the first workshop on the 1978 budget.

--Approved expenses for Fire Chief Elva Mullinax and two firemen to attend a Firemen's Training School at Texas A&M University July 24-29.

Little League Plans Closing Ceremonies

The Aransas County Little League Association kicked off its 1977 season May 2, and competition has been close in all leagues all the way.

The Dolphins played their way into first place in the boys' Senior League, and the Indians edged the Dodgers 4-3 June 23 to take the title in the Little League division.

In the Minor League division, the Angels and the Orioles ended the season in a tie for first place.

The girls' softball league has yet to find a winner. The Super D Darlings and the Raggedy Anns are still battling things out and have another week to go. Both were tied for the lead at press time with identical 9-4 records.

The Little League Association was headed this year by President James Jennings, and the organization as a whole extends its thanks to League officials, umpires, managers, coaches, and assistants who worked with the teams involved. Special thanks go out to Mikki Deason, who headed the concession stand work crews that brought in the majority of the Association's summer revenue. A thank you is also extended to the local businesses who sponsored teams and purchased advertising billboard space on the Little League field fence.

Closing ceremonies and All-Star awards will be held by the Association Saturday, July 2, at 1:30 p.m. on the Little League field at Rockport Memorial Park.

ACLL Pirates Honored

The parents of the Pirates Minor League baseball team held a party and awards presentation honoring the players and their coach, Mr. Denis Lancaster. The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Ponton, Friday, June 24.

Pirates attending were Randy Blankenship, Duece Huffmeyer, Shawn Hutchinson, Larry Martinez, Brian Otto, Chuck Ponton, William Stark, John Solis, Rene Vega, David White and Mike Wolf. Other Pirates unable to attend were Eddie Lancaster and Harold Newberry.

Amidst loud cheers and applause from parents, brothers and sisters, each player was presented with a folder with the team name and player's name inscribed on the front. Inside was a picture of the entire team and coach, and on the back of the folder, the American flag and the Little League pledge.

All players were awarded small trophies for their participation in the 1977 Little League season. The Pirates had a three win, six losses, and one no-game record in 1977.

If you see a young boy running around with a smile on his face and a gleam in his eye, he is probably a Pirate, and if you ask him, he'll probably tell you he loves baseball, hot dogs, apple pie and Little League, and that he is looking forward to next season.

Dolphins Win Senior League

The Dolphins won twice last week to take the second half title and the Senior League championship.

The Dolphins finished the second half of summer play with a 7-1 record, giving them a 15-1 mark for the season.

Finishing second for the year was Jackson Seafood, which compiled a 7-8 record with one game ending in a tie. Dairy Queen was third with a 7-9 record, and George Miller came in fourth in the league with a record of 2-13, with one tie.

Mc Millen Takes Board Boat Race; Leads In Series

Andy McMillen took a first and second place in the June 16 board boat races for first place honors. Because of light wind only two races were held. The win also places McMillen in the lead in the summer series of races which are sponsored by the Rockport Sailing Club.

In the first race last week Montana Dedman with Coleen Sayer as crew was the winner. McMillen was second with Bobby McMillen as crew. Jimmy Booth, Herb Booth, crew, placed third.

The McMillens were first in the second race. Tom Harrison, Carl Holley, crew, was second. Jon Shaw placed third.

In series standing Harrison is in second place and Dedman third. Races are held each Wednesday in Little Bay at 5 p.m. Non-club members are invited to participate.

25 Water Related Deaths Predicted During Holiday

Based on experiences of past July Fourth holidays, water safety officials at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department are predicting some 25 Texans will die in water-related accidents during the coming three-day holiday.

Last year, even with inclement weather over most of the state, 23 persons died on Texas waterways. In 1975, 31 people drowned.

During the first four months of 1977, 144 people have died in the water, up nearly 40 percent from the 103 deaths for the same period last year.

Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens will be out in full strength over the long holiday weekend, enforcing laws of the Texas Water Safety Act.

Most common violation is failure to have a life preserver on board for each boat passenger. Children 12 years of age and under, when passengers of motorboats up to 26 feet in length, must wear preservers while the boat is underway.

Dondineau Leads Way In Club 55 Bowling

Jerry Dondineau rolled a 222-622 series last week in the Club 55 league to lead all bowlers. Clay Samberson rolled a high game of 255 on his way to a 613 series, and Irene Verbeck finished with a 203 game and a 586 series.

Ed Crowley's 214 game paved the way for a 577 series, and Ada Hill ran up a 210 game on her way to a series total of 563. Hazel Hubbard finished with a 203 game and a 584 series. Avis Howery had a strong 234 game on her way to a 607 series.

Outdoors 'n Things

By L.D. Nuckles
Information Officer, TP&WD

At one time sailors, shepherds and other outdoor types had to know how to predict the weather. They had no weather bureau to do it for them and they needed to know what the weather would be like--at least for the next 24 hours.

They did this in a number of ways and devised little rhymes that are still in use today: "Evenings red and mornings gray, help the sailor on his way; evenings gray and mornings red, bring down rain upon his head," or -- "Red in the morning, shepherds take warning. Red at night, shepherds delight."

There are several variations of these sayings, all of which tell us that by watching the colors of the sky at sunrise and sunset it is possible to predict the weather reasonably well for the next 24 hours. How much of this is fancy and how much is based on scientific fact?

Weather men will tell you that a surprising number of these maxims are actually very good indications of what the weather is going to do. The ones quoted here, for example, are based on the colors of the sun shining through moisture in the air. Weather normally moves from west to east or, to pin it down more closely for this latitude, from southwest to northeast.

When the sun is shining red through clear atmosphere that contains very little moisture in the east and shines gray through moisture laden air in the west then we can expect the wet air to move into our area--hence rain. If the reverse is true and the gray, moisture laden air is in the east and there is very little moisture in the west, we can expect someone further east of us to get the rain while we enjoy clear weather.

Another interesting method of predicting the weather is not so easily proven. This involves watching a spider to see if he builds a web.

Most spiders build a web in the evening to catch night-flying insects. If you tear his web down and he immediately starts to rebuild it, the story goes, you can expect no rain before morning. If, however, the spider doesn't start rebuilding right away then he knows that it will soon rain and tear it down again. He's waiting for the rain to pass before he rebuilds.

Indications of fair weather in the near future are high, stationary clouds; smoke rising straight up; heavy dew on the grass in the morning; a misty, foggy sunrise, and a red sunset. Stormy weather can be expected if the atmosphere is muggy, there is no morning dew, there are dark clouds in the west, the sunrise is red and the sunset is dull.

All this is very good to know, but I still recommend that boaters and fishermen in salt water and on large lakes have a radio that will tune to the weather bands and let the Weather Bureau tell you exactly what to expect, and when. It could save your life.

Shrimpers Can Lead To Fishing Bonanza

Shrimp boats can provide a bonanza for offshore fishermen. An article in the June issue of TEXAS PARKS & WILDLIFE Magazine tells how to find fish concentrations in the Gulf and how anchored shrimp boats attract the most schooling species.

Oil rig platforms, rocks or irregularities in the Gulf bottom can be the cause of fishing hot spots. However, shrimp boats offer the most varied action, since they are an easy food source for the fish.

Shrimpers anchor about sunrise after dragging their nets during the night. When the catch is culled, usually during the early daylight hours, small trash fish, crabs, squid and shrimp heads are thrown back into the water. Fish of all sizes make a beeline for the bountiful handout.

Even the drama of a food chain can be witnessed, the author says, as larger predatory species devour the smaller fish attracted to the chum.

At such times, according to the fishing method and bait used, almost anything might be caught.

For a day of fishing excitement, the place to head for on the Gulf is where the shrimpers are, anywhere from nine to 15 miles offshore.

WATER SAFETY PATROLMAN. The Rockport Water Safety Patrol went into action two weeks ago, and has made steady progress toward regulating traffic and illegal swimming in the Ski Basin and other water areas within the city limits. Patrolman Tom Force, pictured, will be putting in a minimum of 40 hours a week on the water throughout the summer, including all day on weekends and holidays. He patrols the Key Allegro and Harbor Oaks areas, the Ski Basin, Rockport Beach and other areas as needed.

Clinic

Warren and Associates had made the decision to build a Rockport clinic several weeks ago, and had consulted with local physicians and members of the ACHVI board about the community's most pressing needs. At that time, the group worked out an oral agreement to provide 24 hour service from Thursday noon until Monday noon, which would allow practicing local physicians free time and protect citizens during the peak accident periods.

But last week, the situation was complicated by the offer of a federal grant to the company by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. HEW offered Warren and Assoicates approximately $275,000 to build a clinic in the area as part of an experimental federal program to determine the value of clinic services in medically "underserved" areas.

The HEW deadline gave Warren and Associates just one week to complete a lengthy application--too little time, Coker said, to properly gauge community reaction to a federally funded operation.

The deadline also recommended a five and one-half day week with 60 operation hours. Warren and Associates personnel complied with the HEW suggestion in filling out the application, despite the fact that a verbal agreement had been reached between local physicians and group spokesmen earlier for a weekend opeation.

The application was taken before last week's meeting of the Coastal Bend Council of Governments, and caused a storm of protest--most of it over the short lead time for study of the application by board members, and the lack of apparent input by the communities to be affected. Beeville and Mathis, two towns in running for such facilities, withdrew, leaving only Rockport to draw from the proposed $1.3 million grant maximum.

Rockport's case was argued by Mayor Walter Falk, who noted that the area lacked any medical care with the exception of a few resident physicians, only one who accepts Medicare and Medicaid patients, and none who operate consistently outside of office hours in a clinic facility.

The COG was swayed by Falk's arguments, and passed a resolution okaying the grant application for Rockport alone.

Locally, the misunderstanding about operating hours caused the ACHVI Board of Directors to vote against the proposal, a move which in effect withheld the land recently donated to the organization by Emory M. Spencer for a hospital site.

The Board was to reconvene late Tuesday after further consultations with Coker and Warren and Associates spokesmen.

Safety Patrol Aids Boaters

The Rockport Water Safety Patrol reports the following calls for the week of June 21 through June 27:

--Patrolman Tom Force came to the aid of three San Antonio tourists whose sailboat had capsized in Little Bay, helping them right the boat, then giving them a tow home.

--A youngster whose skiff motor had died and then refused to start, drifted to the other side of Little Bay and was rescued by Force, who towed the sailor home to a grateful father.

--A boy out on his own with a powerboat found himself in trouble when the throttle stuck at full bore. The boat went out of control and ran up on the bank. The boat didn't get too far inland, and Force was able to extend the boy a rope and a tow home.

--A cabin cruiser ran aground in the shallow waters of the Ski Basin and had to be pulled from the mud.

Force said the Patrol was making progress in routing the skiing traffic in a counter-clockwise rotation around the Ski Basin islands, but that fishermen using the Basin should take extra care to avoid motoring into the flow when entering or leaving fishing areas. Additional signs are going up this week to route the traffic expected for the weekend of the fourth.

Force also noted that he will be monitoring Channel 9 whenever he is on patrol. In addition, the Patrol boat will be equipped with a police walkie-talkie on weekends so that it can be in immediate contact with Sheriff's Department dispatchers in the event of an accident out of CB range.

Extension Notes

By Ralph Rayburn
County Extension
Marine Agent

If you have ever thought that farming the sea is where the action will be in food production, you should be interested in gazing into the future on a tour this Friday, July 1, at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center on Highway 44 between Clarkwood and Robstown. This is the headquarters for researchers studying the prospects of farming shrimp with the hope of establishing commercial shrimp farms.

The tour, arranged by Ralph Rayburn, County Extension Marine Agent, will begin at 10 a.m. and last about two and one-half or three hours. A slide presentation on shrimp farming research will begin the program, followed by a tour of the shrimp farm ponds at CP&L's Barney Davis Power Generating Plant on the Southwest side of Corpus Christi.

The tour is free and open to the public. Those individuals wishing to participate should call either Ralph Rayburn in Rockport at 729-1211 or Dr. Fred Conte in Corpus Christi at 265-9201 so that a list of attendees can be prepared and sent to CP&L's Security officers.

If you want to learn a valuable skill which plays a vital role in the multimillion dollar shrimp industry, this could be a golden opportunity, according to Ralph Rayburn, County Extension Marine Agent for Aransas and San Patricio Counties. The Texas Education Agency, through an agent of the Texas Industrial Start-Up Commission, has served notice that they have approved the proposed shrimp trawl construction course to begin July 5 at 6:30 p.m. at the Aransas Pass Junior High grounds and others, as well.

The Refugio-Aransas county line cuts down the middle of the bridge, and the Highway Department, according to Johnson, would have expected the counties to share the cost of operating the facility. The costs would have included an operator's salary as well as maintenance and construction, all more than Aransas County's strained finances could support.

With the pier idea rejected, Johnson said the Highway Department would construct the new bridge on the north or Refugio side and then tear the old bridge down.

Johnson also notified the court that the THD is making plans to replace the Port Bay Bridge on Highway 881. The bridge is a shortcut from Sinton to Rockport. Johson said construction could start at the same location within a year if environmental clearances are obtained.

The Court was also told that the THD had finally taken action at the "killer corner" at the intersection of Highway 881 and Farm Road 1069. A flashing light type of stop sign will be installed at the intersection, making a two-way stop. Motorists coming from Sinton will have to continue on to the intersection and turn left after a stop instead of rounding a curve feeding into 881. Motorists from Rockport can continue to use the curve.

The intersection was the site of the last traffic fatality in Aransas County, and has been the scene for other fatalities in the past. The Court was gratified at the news of the THD's move, and thanked Johnson for his help in the matter.

In other business, the Court:

--Approved the installation of new phone lines in the County Clerk's and Tax Assessor-Collector's offices to handle the increased volumne of incoming and outgoing calls. County Clerk Ruby Hart told the Court she had rearranged her office recently to accomodate crews from local title companies looking over old county records for transcription. One company, Surety Title Company of Sinton, is planning to open a local branch office.

--Heard a letter from Sheriff Bob Hewes stating that medical decisions are due soon on former Chief Deputy E.A. Stautzenbergar's potential for recovery and possible return to the department. Stautzenbergar was injured in a car wreck while on duty, and had been paid a portion of his salary by the court for three months, subject to review. After hearing the letter, the Court approved an additional three months of payments.

--Tabled for more information a request by the Texas Department of Public Welfare to pay $11.25 in drug expenses incurred by Lyman-Roberts Hospital in the treatment of a three year-old girl described as an indigent. County Attorney James Anderson asked that the Court obtain written clanfication of what constitutes an indigent, and the extent of the county's responsibility financially and jurisdictionally, and that it follow the impact of legislation now before the governor which would provide for dual responsibility for counties sending and receiving indigent patients. The sending county currently assumes responsiblity for the cases.

--Heard a report by THD Engineer Johnson on the Key Allegro Bridge. Johnson told the court that the approach would have to be raised at least six feet in order for it to safely accommodate traffic at a speed limit of 30 miles per hour. Johnson noted that with the amount of traffic, an alternate bridge, perhaps on a barge assembly, would have to be installed in order for the work to progress. He said that a 20 miles per hour speed limit would reduce the approach fill to two feet, and might be accomplished by blocking off one lane at a time.

Commissioner Raymond Owens said he felt the work could not be begun before the winter season because of the volume of traffic using the bridge daily. Interim possibilities are a lowering of the speed limit and placing of plastic markers on the road to keep traffic properly laned on approach.

Volunteers

ternal bleeding.

Volunteers Patty Palmer, Betty Kelley and Walter Clark prepared the mother and child, and the pair was loaded into the Modulance for transportation to Aransas Pass. En route the crew gave the information about the premature child and the mother's incomplete delivery and the condition to the Lyman-Roberts' monitor.

Upon arrival, they were told to put the mother and child in the emergency room, then were stopped a few moments later by Head Nurse Dorothy Dupnik and told to take the pair to another hospital.

Nurse Dupnik allegedly told the crew the hospital could not accept the patients because the family had not posted a $300 bond with the hospital prior to the birth, and because the family was not under the care of a staff physician.

Crewmembers say they tried to explain the potentially dangerous condition of the mother and child, but were told repeatedly to go elsewhere, that they could not be admitted.

At an impasse, Aston withdrew the mother and child and loaded them into the Modulance again. Away from Lyman-Roberts, the crew made contact with Memorial Medical Center in Corpus Christi and were told to bypass the emergency room and go directly into the delivery suite.

The Modulance was given a security escort into Corpus Christi, and Memorial staff personnel took over at the door.

The incident angered the volunteers involved, and led to the filing of formal complaints with the THD and the JCA.

The Lyman-Roberts Hospital Administrator told The Pilot Friday he felt Nurse Dupnik did the correct thing, that the infant's condition was critical and it was important that he be taken to a hospital which had incubators and other facilities necessary to give both mother and child proper care. He said the bond and the requirement that the family have a staff doctor were not the issue, that it was the lack of facilities at his hospital that prompted the refusal.

He added that if the hospital had accepted the mother and child it would have had to call for an ambulance from Corpus Christi to assure specialized care, and that it was the shorter route to send the ACHVI crew ahead to Corpus Christi.

Volunteers contacted by The Pilot were openly skeptical of the Administrator's claims that the hospital could not have handled the case, and have not withdrawn their complaints.

Boy Scouts At Camp Karankawa

The boys and leaders of Rockport Boy Scout Troops 49, 280 and 281 are at Camp Karankawa June 26 through July 2.

Camp Karankawa, owned and operated by the Gulf Coast Boy Scout Council, consists of 115 acres of land along the shores of Lake Corpus Christi, three miles southwest of Mathis on the west side of the State Park.

The summer camp experience is the highlight of the Scouting year for the boys who helped pay their way by selling tickets to their annual Memorial Day Barbecue.

Parents are reminded that they are urged to visit the camp Thursday night and attend the Indian Campfire ceremony. Ladies are asked not to enter the camp before 7 p.m. to allow the boys time to change for dinner, but everyone is invited after that deadline to join their sons in the evening meal and the special ceremony.

Parents may bring a picnic lunch or have dinner with their sons from camp kitchens at $1.75 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

Dinner will last from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., and the Indian Campfire ceremony will begin at 9 p.m.

Volunteer Profile

Volunteer Couple Young, Healthy, Helping Out

This is the sixth in a series of articles on the ACHVI emergency ambulance system volunteers.

Sally and Reverend Walter Clark had gotten basic lifesaving training from a state instructor (to Emergency Care Attendant level) before the ACHVI system began operation Jan. 15. "I took the course originally because I have two small boys and several tall trees," Mrs. Clark recalled. "And I thought it would be best to have a working knowledge of how to handle emergencies."

When the ACHVI system went recruiting, letters went out to the ECA's. "There were many who lived outside the city limits and couldn't work," recalls Reverend Clark. And adds later, "...and we are relatively young, still healthy, so we're doing something that will help out those who've been stricken in one way or another."

Reverend Clark has run mostly cardiac cases, and been on a call to the house of a parishoner. Neither felt strange. "It did nothing to disturb the relationship," he says. "In fact it may have strengthened it."

Both say that the system runs remarkably well, with gratifying results. "The atmosphere on a run is cool, calm and collected," says Reverend Clark. "Everyone is reassuring, because they know what they're doing...And the families have been very cooperative, very pleasant. They've risen to the occasion. This contributes, I think, to the overall professional feeling about the operation."

The couple feels, as others in this series have noted, that the volunteer group is one with drive, rather than social goals in common. "They share a great concern for people and their welfare," Mrs. Clark says. "They put other people before themselves."

Socially speaking," Rev. Clark adds, "there's not that much contact, although no one avoids it."

That attitude came through best from the couple in a thought they had about the service's potential to add help for relatives of the patient in the crisis period.

"I don't want to phrase this as a request, but one thing I've thought might be good to have is someone working with the family on crisis calls. One example is a heart attack in a family. Say the man has a coronary. The wife is left on her own and that can be a problem, especially if they are winter tourists. In times of crisis it's important to reach out to a family, and if there isn't anybody near...Sometimes I've felt like I'd be better off with the family than the patient.

"I know the Paramedic, Bill Aston, follows up on every call, calls them back to see how they're doing, but sometimes you need ongoing support, and that may last three or four days."

WINNER. Local hairstylist Maxine Martinez won third place last week in the annual Local 672 Barber's Spectacular, a statewide competition-seminar for men and women professional stylists. Ms. Martinez competed in the Ladies' Student category with Anna Solis as her model. The duo took home third place and the trophy Mrs. Martinez is holding.

Heart Association Benefits Planned

A series of monthly benefit events for the Aransas Chapter of The American Heart Association extending into the fall was announced by Dr. H.H. Lutz, president of the association, at a membership meeting in the county courthouse June 22. Dr. Lutz also announced that Rockport Rotary Club had pledged $750 to purchase an adult mannequin and a training film, both essential in Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation training courses conducted under auspices of the Heart Association.

In addition to a benefit bowling tournament during the past weekend, there will be golf and tennis tournaments and a bingo party as well as participation in the third annual SeaFair in October. The association's annual fund-raising campaign will be in February under direction of Connie Garcia, past president of the association.

Money raised through these events will be used by the Heart Association to extend its educational program and to provide funds for training of more local residents in Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation courses. It was pointed out that a majority of people fail to recognize signs of possible approaching heart attacks and the need for good health habits to ward off such attacks.

A report from Mr. and Mrs. Roy Olbrich, who recently attended a state American Heart Association conference and training session in Dallas, indicated that the state organization is planning to make more educational material on the danger of heart attacks available to the public. They also reported there was little public knowledge of importance of high blood pressure as a possible indication of heart problems. The local chapter is planning to make blood pressure testing readily available in this area.

It was reported that approximately 200 individuals in this community have completed CPR training in recent months under the auspices of the Heart Association. There are six qualified CPR instructors available in the community to conduct this training. They are Iris Jenkins, Pat and Ray Blair, Louise Hughes and Patty Johnson. In addition, Mrs. Jenkins is qualified as an instructor trainer. Dr. Lutz said it is planned to conduct at least one CPR training class a month starting in September.

In addition to Dr. Lutz, officers of the Aransas Chapter, American Heart Association, are Roy Olbrich, vice president; Rose Taylor, treasurer; and Betty Verret, secretary. Joyce Brown and Jackie Taylor are recording secretaries for the board of directors and the general membership, respectively. In charge of committees are Mrs. Garcia, fund campaign; Lawrence Reasor, promotion; Ken Clark, program; and Virginia Shivers, greeting.

Homemakers Hear Local Speakers

Skill is required to make a house a home. High school homemaking education focuses on many aspects of life and living. Included in its realm of instruction are the study of child growth and development, home and family living, consumer education, and home management, housing and home furnishings, foods and nutrition, clothing and textiles; and safety and home care of the sick.

Guests from the community are invited to speak to homemaking students during the school year. This year students' insights were developed as a result of the following presentations.

Mr. Troy True, local pharmacist, informed Homemaking III students of various aspects of consumerism in regard to prescription and over-the-counter drugs. He addressed general health care and pharmacy in general.

Mrs. Linda Johns, local homemakers and wage-earner, told Homemaking I students that a positive self-image was important and that their general health and outlook in life was affected by their diet and would be reflected in their grooming and poise.

Mr. Butch Stephens and Mr. Jerry Iles, local hair stylists, emphasized daily hair care as an aspect of health and cleanliness.

Mrs. Linda Arthur and Mrs. Jane Jordan demonstrated the art of cake decorating to members of the Future Homemakers of America. Members then tried their hand at decorating.

Mrs. Gayna Harrell spoke to Future Homemaker of America members about floral arrangements. Various techniques of flower arranging were demonstrated. For Halloween and Christmas festivities Future Homemakers Karen Olenick, Stacy Shipman, Betsy Gorton, Jennifer Stafford and Donna Janota applied their learnings as they assembled arrangements for the occasions.

Homemaking III students Emma Ortiz, Hilda Riojas and Ida Gonzales demonstrated to their Homemaking III class the skill of preparing flour tortillas. Members of the class then took turns shaping and rolling tortillas.

Summer homemaking students Diana Gilliam, Betsy Gorton, Janet Truelove and Patty Niessen studied housing accommodations, floor plans and floor, window and wall treatments, as well as accessories as they toured local condominiums.

A tour by interior decorator Mrs. Harry Cole enlightened and intrigued students about responsibilities in the career of decorating.

Miss Mary Strange and Miss Frances Mutscher, local homemaking teachers, coordinate homemaking, FHA and summer activities.

Club Histories Needed By Pilot

The Pilot is preparing a "Progress Edition" for publication July 27. Similar to The Pilot's 1969 Centennial Edition, but broader in scope, the issue will touch on many facets of Rockport's recent growth as a community and a resort of national reknown.

To reveal the scope and size of community involvement, we would like to present a short article on each of the many local civic and church organizations.

This information is best prepared by the historian of the club, official or unofficial, and for this reason, we are soliciting short histories of local organizations, their founding, evolution, and a short listing of their services to the community. We would also, in the next weeks, like to take a picture of the president only, of each local organization which submits the requested historical copy. Appointments for picture-taking sessions (studio pictures are usable in most cases) can be made by calling Mark Simmons, editor at The Pilot office, 729-2357.

Many local organizations were covered in The Pilot's Centennial Edition, and in those cases, the groups should simply bring the community up to date on their activities since 1969, except in such cases where grievous errors have been made in chronology or attribution.

These organizations are: Rockport Chamber of Commerce, Rockport Fire Department and Auxiliary, Rotary Club, Fulton Fire Department and Auxiliary, Rebekah Lodge, Lamar Women's Club, Lamar Fire Department, Lions Club, Aransas County Riding Association, IOOF, Peace Lutheran Church, Masonic Lodge, Rockport School of Fine Arts, Calvary Baptist Church, Troop 49, First Methodist Church, Fulton Baptist Church, St. Peter's Episcopal Church, First Baptist Church, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and Lamar All Faiths Church.

Those organizations who submitted no information in 1969 or were not yet formed are of course welcome to begin at the beginning.

Short Takes

We've yet to see a women's liberationist who objects to having the man of the house take out the trash.

The fellow who says it costs nothing to dream obviously hasn't been consulting a shrink lately.

A fellow can kid himself about not losing his hair until he faces the fact that a bottle of hair goop lasts six months.

Keep On Going

They were marching down Main Street, and right at the height of the parade the tuba player blew a sour note. A really sour note.

People snickered. Some burst out laughing. But, regardless, they had to hand it to the tuba player . . . he kept right on blowing, right on going.

Makes you stop and think. Sure, it's natural to laugh at someone else's sour note. But how about our own mistakes? No one can get through life without them — that's sure.

The question is, do you stop or do you keep on trying, keep on going? If you've been in church lately, you'll know the answer to that one.

Father Pictin Pastoral Counselor

Thomas D. Pictin, formerly of Rockport, received a certificate in pastoral counseling from the Institutes of Religion and Health at graduation ceremonies held June 16 at the Harvard Club in New York City.

Representing three years of intense study in psychotherapy, counseling and the behavioral sciences, receipt of the certificate also qualifies Father Pictin for membership in the American Association of Pastoral Counselors, the professional organization of clergy involved in counseling. According to the AAPC a Pastoral Counselor is a "member of the clergy or another religious profession who through academic and clinical training has integrated religious resources with the insights of the behavioral sciences."

Father Pictin will return to the academic environment as pastoral psychotherapist and chairman of field education at Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary in Esopus, New York. He received Master of Divinity and Master of Religious Education degrees from that institution graduating summa cum laude in both programs. Ordained in 1971 as a Roman Catholic priest with the Redemptorist Fathers, Fr. Pictin was graduated from St. Mary's University of Texas in San Antonio with a BA in philosophy.

Schwartz Named To Best List

TEXAS MONTHLY, which describes itself as an "award-winning general interest magazine with almost 1,000,000 readers a month," has named State Senator A.R. Schwartz of Galveston one of the "Ten Best" Texas legislators for the third consecutive time.

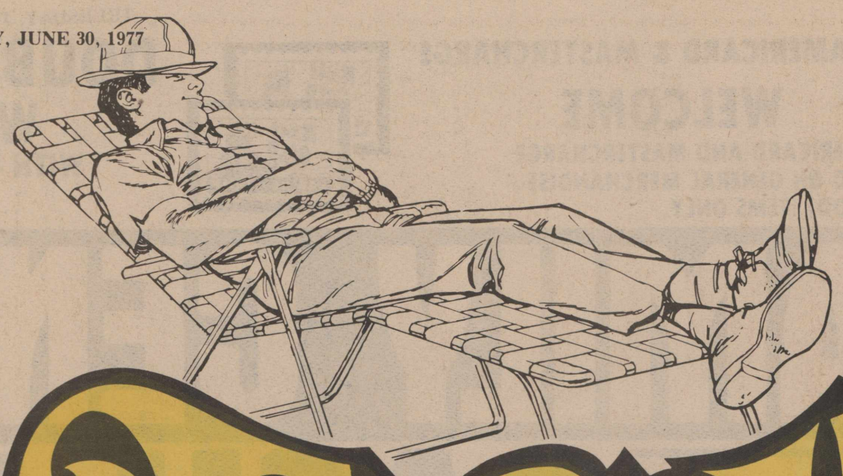

State Representative Leroy Wieting of Portland ended up at the other end of the TEXAS MONTHLY list. He was listed as "furniture."

Schwartz, whose 17th Senatorial District includes Aransas County, was one of two senators to repeat on the "Ten Best" list. The other was Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo.

Writers Paul Burka and Richard West, who covered the legislature for TEXAS MONTHLY, said Schwartz was the same as always: "a scholar on the rules, a master at the fine art of passing bills and a connoisseur of when to put his hand in the appropriations cookie jar."

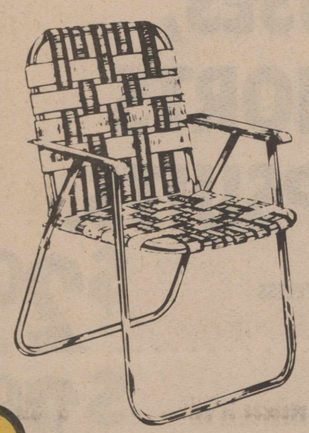

work in the passage of an adult probation bill and "shock" probation legislation, as well as his work on coastal legislation such as the Redfish Conservation Act, and coastal management program which included provisions for wetlands acquisition.

Wieting, an eight term legislator and also a Democrat, restricted himself to work on others' legislation during the session and carried few bills of his own. It is significant to note that Wieting worked on what TEXAS MONTHLY called the "best bill" in the session--property tax reform--with Rep. Wayne Peveto. That bill was not passed by the Legislature.

Sales Tax Collections Up 18.5%

Comptroller Bob Bullock reported Friday that Texas recorded the largest increase of any state in sales tax collections last year, except for those states that increased their tax or broadened its base.

Spurred by increased consumer spending and intensified collection efforts, Texas sales tax collections totaled $1.5 billion in calendar 1976, an 18.3 percent increase over 1975, Bullock said.

Bullock's report, which is contained in the Comptroller's June Financial Statement, is based on a nationwide study of consumer taxes by the Federal Tax Administration.

"This points up to what we've been saying all along--that the Texas economy is as strong as an acre of wild onions," he said.

Texas ranked sixth among the 50 states in increased tobacco products tax collections last year and 19th in motor fuel revenue collections, the Federation study shows.

Tobacco products tax collections for 1976 totaled $281.7 million, up seven percent over the previous year. Motor fuel tax revenues also were up seven percent for a total of $420.7 million in 1976.

The Financial Report shows that state spending reached $531 million in April, raising current fiscal year expenditures to $4.48 billion. This is two percent ahead of last year.

State revenues for April were $582.8 million, bringing the fiscal year-to-date total to $4.4 billion--up ten percent over the same period a year ago.

Two Offshore Wells Fail

Oil companies operating in Aransas County struck out twice last week, but another company gained location for a wildcat well, preventing a shutout.

Houston Oil and Mineral Corporation plugged and abandoned a 12,570 foot well in State Tract 190 (No. 1), located two miles south-southeast of Rockport in offshore Aransas County.

Cities Service Oil Company No. 3 OCS-G-3070, a wildcat approximately 56 miles southeast of Port Aransas in the Mustang Island area, was a failure at 7,800 feet.

Wainoco Oil and Gas Company, Houston, gained location for a 9,000 foot wildcat three miles northwest of Rockport.

Drillsite of the No. 1 B.J. Harralson and others spot 6,450 feet from the east line and 22.5 feet from the south line of J. Hollis Survey, A-76. Also 175 feet south of Salt Lake.

Rotary Hears Water Safety Patrolman

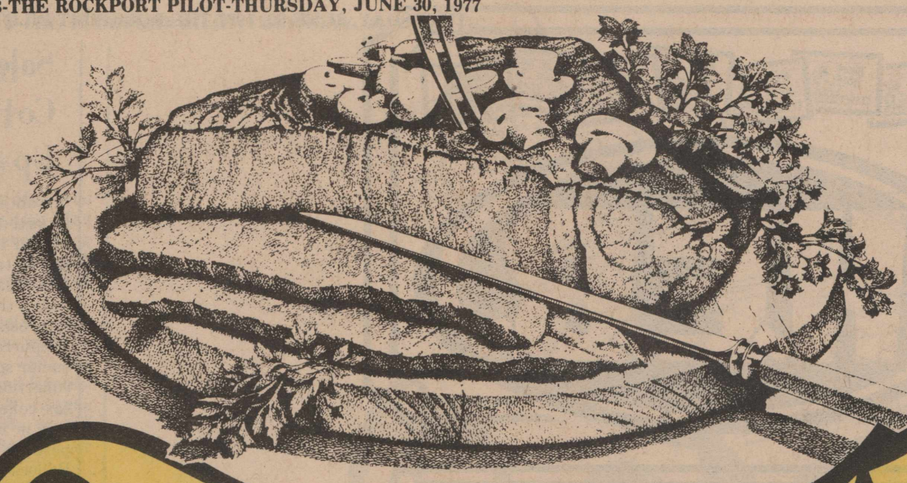

Tom Force, recently appointed safety patrolman and a member of the Rockport police force, described plans for the community's newest safety program at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club June 22 at Sandollar Restaurant.

The program is being financed for three months on an experimental basis by contributions from individuals, the Navigation District and the City of Rockport. Sponsors also are hoping to receive financial support from the county. A motor boat has been provided for patrolling. Also, improved communication facilities have been provided to facilitate immediate contact in emergencies with the communications center in the sheriff's office, according to Force.

The new safety patrolman said traffic conditions in the Ski Basin often becomes quite congested on weekends. He said 18 boats were active in the basin on a recent Saturday and many of them were towing skiers. Force added that water traffic is required to move in a counter-clockwise direction around the basin and that boats are not permitted to cut across the established pattern.

Three new members of Rotary were inducted at the weekly meeting of the club under direction of Jack Horton, veteran Rotarian who has had this responsibility for many years.

New members are Robert Martin, William Kester and Bruce McMahon.

Youths Bring 20's Game Back To Rockport Area

By "Uncle John" Leslie

Yes, mumblety-peg, a sport enjoyed by youth in the 1910's, has been found at #2 Mazatlan in Key Allegro, Rockport, Texas, U.S.A.

As I drove by this address on Saturday morning I saw two boys, Ashley, age 13, and Jim, age 11, sitting in the grass in front of #2 Mazatlan playing mumblety-peg.

Now, to anyone who grew up in the 20's, they never heard of it. But to us boys who grew up between 1900 and 1920, this was our "do-it-yourself entertainment." A game for boys--a long blade knife and a spot of grass.

In amazement, I stopped and watched these boys going through this game. It consists of flipping the knife with its open blade from various positions on the hands, arms and body in such a way that it would land on the point and stick in the ground. Each operation had a specific name such as "pick the chicken," "shell the corn," "shave the pig," "over the mountain," "chin-chopper" (Say, old-timers have got to help me). I can't remember the names that these boys went through to play this game. To win you must complete more of the throws than the other boy.

It was a real treat to see two boys entertaining themselves in clean fun by the hour. I saw Ashley and Jim Ashmore doing this and it made me real happy and reminded me of the time that I spent many hours doing the same.

These boys are two of four children who, with their parents, are vacationing in Rockport for a few weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Ferris H. Wheat live in Joshua, Texas, a community near or just out of Fort Worth. They all indicate they are having a real ball on their Rockport vacation.

Please come back next year with these fine boys--I like you. It's revealing to see boys that can entertain themselves without having to resort to television or other man-made things.

Hunt Oil Asks Corps Well Permit

Hunt Oil Company of Dallas has requested an Army Corps of Engineers permit to erect and maintain structures and perform work for drilling a single well for producing oil and gas in Aransas Bay in State Tract 81 appoximately 3.5 miles north from Fulton.

Plans of the proposed work may be seen at the office of the District Engineer in the Essayons Building, 400 Barracuda, Galveston, or at the Corpus Christi Area office, 2000 North Shoreline, Corpus Christi.

Comments on the proposed plans must be submitted to the office of the District Engineer, POB 1229, Galveston, on or before July 11, 1977.

Future Bright For Whooping Cranes

The endangered whooping crane may be on the road to recovery as a species, according to reports released last week by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The spring breeding season just ended produced 29 cranes, bringing the total existing in the wild and in captivity to 126, almost four times the number which existed when the bird was added to the endangered species list in the 1930's.

The largest whooper flock, which winters at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, produced 34 eggs, two of which were eaten immediately by predators.

Sixteen of the remaining 32 were taken to Grays Lake National Wildlife Refuge in Idaho and placed under greater sandhill cranes. Of these 16, 12 have survived. The survival rate was slightly worse in the traditional crane nesting ground in Wood Buffalo National Park in Canada, where 11 chicks survived.

Six more from a brood of 22 hatched in the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center in Laurel, Maryland, by a flock of 28 birds account for the rest of the 1977 increase. The total surviving the crucial first year won't be known until this fall when the whoopers migrate from Idaho to the Bosque del Apach National Wildlife Refuge in New Mexico, and from Canada to Aransas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas.

Public Hearing Set On Mansion

A hearing has been set for July 7 at 2:30 p.m. in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department headquarters in Austin to receive public comment on the restoration of Fulton Mansion.

The TP&WD Commission last week accepted a preliminary plan drawn up by architect Jim Bigger which calls for restoration of the building, interior refurnishing, adapted use of several rooms and site development.

The restoration will match the mansion's appearance between 1876 and 1893, and selected first and second floor rooms will display period furnishings and furniture.

The basement and the furnished rooms will be open for tours by TP&WD guides. TP&WD will reserve the third floor of the home for office space and storage.

Officials said the widow's walk at the top could be open for tours on special occasions, although the entrance will be through the planned office areas.

The cost of restoration is expected to run from $300,000 to $500,000. Much of the building's woodwork has eroded due to drainage problems on the site, which had been used as a trailer park in the late 1960's and early 1970's before the TP&WD bought it for restoration.

Construction is still at least a year away for the mansion, with final plans yet to be approved, and citizen input just beginning.

Fishery Council Sets Hearings

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council will hold seven public hearings in the Gulf area to obtain public comments, criticisms and suggested changes for a fishery management plan for billfish. The plan will contain suggested management measures and procedures for regulating domestic and foreign fisheries for billfish stocks in the Atlantic Ocean and Gulf of Mexico. The plan is being developed jointly by the five Councils bordering the Atlantic, Gulf and Caribbean seas with the South Atlantic Council acting as lead Council.

Public hearings in the Gulf area will be held in the following locations: August 9, Ft. Walton, Beach, Florida; August 18, Corpus Christi, Texas; August 19, Galveston, Texas; August 23, Mobile, Alabama; August 24, New Orleans, Louisiana; August 30, St. Petersburg, Florida; and August 31, Marathon, Florida.

The meetings will start at 7 p.m. Subsequent news releases will identify the specific location in each city for the public hearings. Fishermen interested in the billfish stocks and their management are encouraged to attend.

The Council also requested that the Secretary of Commerce immediately implement a preliminary management plan (PMP) for billfish during the interim while the fishery management plan (FMP) is completed. A preliminary management plan controls only foreign fishing and is a temporary measure which will be replaced by the fishery management plan.

The National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) enforcement agents reported that the foreign longlining fleet consisted of 37 vessels which were fishing within 200 miles in the Gulf during May. Recently all but three of these vessels have left U.S. waters and have apparently followed the tuna stocks into Mexican waters.

Selected Council members will meet with Japanese officials in Washington along with State Department and NMFS personnel in July to discuss the billfish catches by the Japanese fleet.

The Gulf Council reviewed applications submitted by the Republic of China to fish for shrimp in the Gulf. The Council requested that these permits be denied until the Council has completed its shrimp management plan. The plan will determine if the domestic fleet is utilizing all the available shrimp or whether any surplus is available for foreign allocation. This plan will be completed in 1978 or 1979.

The Gulf Council heard a report on the status of the Cuban Governing International Fisheries Agreement (GIFA). A GIFA is a treaty by which a foreign nation agrees to recognize our 200-mile limit and to abide by the U.S. fisheries regulations for each fishery. The Cuban GIFA is presently before Congress for its consideration. State Department officials indicated that the Cubans would likely request the right to fish for grouper/snapper, shrimp and sharks in the Gulf of Mexico. The State Department indicated that they had requested that Cuba outline the procedures for U.S. recreational and commercial vessels to fish in Cuban waters.

In addition to the shrimp, groundfish, reef fish and mackeral plans the Council is developing, the Council plans to initiate the development of plans for (1) coastal herring, (2) pelagic sharks/swordfish, (3) calico scallops and (4) squid or spiny lobster during 1978. Spiny lobster is being considered by the South Atlantic and Caribbean Councils also.

The Council selected the Tampa area for its meeting August 2-4, 1977.

SeaFair Planning More Advertising

Satisfactory progress on plans for the third annual SeaFair community celebration Oct. 8 and 9 was reported at a meeting of committee chairmen and a number of committee members at Little Bay Club June 21. Bill Christian, general chairman and originator of the SeaFair concept, presided.

Promotion of the affair throughout the Coastal Bend area and to major Texas cities including Dallas, Houston and San Antonio will be handled through pictures and stories to newspapers and television and radio stations. A number of roadside billboards also are planned to be located in nearby areas from which most of the visitors are expected.

An appeal was made for volunteers to assist in the work of the various committees. Volunteers are asked to telephone the local Chamber of Commerce office where a SeaFair information desk will be set up.

It was reported that the entertainment program will be similar to the successful programs featured in the past two years. Included will be a parade through downtown streets with floats, marching units and bands. The parade will move past a reviewing stand where visiting dignitaries will be seated. The parade will disperse at the SeaFair grounds just south of the Ski Basin.

The popular gumbo cook-off with appropriate awards will be repeated, but this year there will be in effect two contests - one Saturday and the other Sunday to accommodate the many contestants expected.

Again, there will be a crab race with awards for the fastest and the best decorated racers. It is believed the 1975 SeaFair crab race was the first held anywhere.

As in past years, entertainment activities will center around a band stand, which may be placed in the ski basin, a short distance offshore, to provide a more centralized location.

Negotiations are underway but not yet completed for a ski show which proved to be very popular in past years.

This year food booths, sponsored by various local organizations, will be arranged in a semicircle to make them more readily accessible to the public. A booth from which food tickets will be sold is planned for a central location adjacent to the booths. It was reported four food booths are still available.

There also will be 20 art booths and 40 devoted to crafts. In addition, there will be a group of commercial booths and general exhibits, some of them by state and federal agencies.

At the meeting it was suggested that several SeaFair souvenirs be developed, possibly including tee shirts and toys in addition to the SeaFair caps sold last year. The committee responsible for this aspect of the celebration will investigate possibilities.

In keeping with the marine-oriented nature of SeaFair, it was urged that an antique marine exhibit be set up to include such objects as old anchors, sextants, cordage and steering wheels from sailing vessels.

As was the case last year, provisions will be made for activities of interest to children to intrigue their attention and to relieve parents of their care during a portion of their visit to SeaFair. Included will be an arts and crafts contest for children with awards for winners.

If they ever organize hula dancers, there'll undoubtedly be a request for fringe benefits.
