Santa Claus to Make First Stop in Wellington Friday Afternoon

Santa Claus comes to Wellington Friday, December 12, at 3 p.m. and in a fanfare of music, he will distribute candy and gum to the boys and girls of the Wellington area. This is one of a series of visits he will pay to the town during the remainder of the Christmas season.

This is one of the highlights of Wellington's big Christmas program, sponsored by the merchants of the city and the chamber of commerce.

Santa's first stop will be at Wellington high school, where he will join forces with the Skyrocket Band and the Junior High Band, like Santa himself, they will be dressed in their traditional red and white uniforms.

The bands will march ahead of a gaily decorated float on which Santa Claus will ride. This is being prepared especially for him by women of the Wellington Garden Club.

Children will have an opportunity to visit with Santa, telling him what they want for Christmas.

The combined bands, in the meantime, will present a program of Christmas music on the courthouse lawn.

Santa will return to Wellington the next day, Saturday, December 13, and will visit in the stores of the town. His other visits will be Saturday, Dec. 20, and on the two days before Christmas, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 23 and 24.

Wellington merchants opened the Christmas season Saturday, December 6, with the first Trades Day event. Response has been good, and merchants have expressed themselves as pleased with the first week's results.

Christmas buying picked up this week, and local stores should show increased sales over a year ago.

There are other Christmas events, N. M. Higdon, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Henry Sullivan, decorations chairman, remind.

Three evergreen trees, an Arizona Cypress and two junipers, will be planted on the courthouse lawn before Christmas. These are put out by the Commissioners Court as living Christmas trees. They will not be lighted this year, but will be in the future. Lights this year are in the large pecan tree on the northeast corner of the square.

There will be no cash prizes for homes and businesses winning the awards as best decorated, but first, second and third place winners in each category will be named.

The winners will be picked by a panel of impartial out-of-town judges during the week of Christmas.

Eldon Holley

Eldon Holley to Head '59 March of Dimes

Eldon Holley, Lone Star Gas Co. manager, has been appointed Collingsworth County director for the 1959 March of Dimes, it was announced today.

The drive will be held in January.

The polio-fighting organization is expanding into a broad new force that will tackle health problems on a wider front and no longer will confine its activities to a single disease. Initial new goals include arthritis and birth defects (congenital malformations).

"I am confident that the people of Collingsworth County, who helped make possible victory over polio through their contributions to the March of Dimes over the past 20 years, will give even greater support to the National Foundation's expanded program in the future," the county director said.

"We would like to make it clear, as we begin preparations for the 1959 March of Dimes, that the National Foundation will not abandon polio patients," the director declared. "We have a moral obligation to the patients of this county to continue to provide needed care and rehabilitation, and we will fulfill this obligation."

The director stressed that while solution of the problems of arthritis and birth defects are the immediate new goals of the March of Dimes, the organization also will follow leads as they develop in the fields of virus research and studies of the central nervous system.

A local organizational meeting will be held about December 18.

Halving 1959 Deficit in 1960 Good Aim, but Not Good Enough

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER evidently means business on budget cutting.

He is urging cabinet members and agency heads to make efforts to cut fiscal 1959 spending below the $79,200,000,000 currently estimated. More important, he is said to be aiming at reducing the deficit for fiscal 1960 to a figure possibly half the $12,250,000,000 estimated for the current fiscal year.

This will take a deal of doing, but the question remains whether he has set his economy sights as high as he should.

That prospective $12,250,000,000 deficit for this fiscal year is deadly. It is dangerous in itself and even more menacing in the threat it holds for the future. To operate for a few years with any such gap between federal income and outgo would be calamitous.

The recession of the past year was not severe enough to justify any such deficit. Federal receipts are down, to be sure, but it is the increased appropriations that did most of the damage. And little of those swollen appropriations reflected essential increases in military spending. Most of the additions over fiscal 1958 were for ordinary functions of government and for special spending programs, many of them anti-recession measures that won't be needed to stimulate the economy after all. Part of the increases were submitted in the President's own 1959 budget; part were tacked on by Congress.

An effort to cut the fiscal 1960 deficit to half of 1959's is not enough. If it were accomplished the deficit for the two years still would be above $18,000,000,000. And if then the government should attain a surplus of say $3,000,000,000 a year in fiscal 1961 and thereafter, it would take six years to bring the national debt back to where it was several months ago.

The President's intention to cut spending is encouraging but he should bear down harder than aiming at reducing the monumental 1959 deficit by half in 1960.—The Houston Chronicle.

Gentlemen Hunters

The call of the fields has been answered this year by the usual army of hunters and the constant struggle between the hunter and the farmer as to who is to hunt where has been resumed.

It is too bad that this annual tussle has to erupt the way that it does, and there is no one to blame but the hunters themselves. As a general rule, hunters are also good sportsmen, but there are always a few thoughtless, devil-may-care gun toters who treat the land they hunt on as their own. In fact, if they behaved as they do on land of their own, it would be a surprise to us.

Last year a neighboring farmer called up on the phone and asked if we could come out and see something. We did, and do you know what we saw? The trail of a group of hunters straight across the farm, littered with beer cans and cut fences wherever a barbed wire strand got in the way. Apparently this group carried a wire snip with them, as all the cuts were neat and clean.

If hunters would only take the trouble to stop at the farmhouse and ask permission, so much hard feeling could be avoided. If this were done, the farmer would know who was on the land and could in some small way control what took place on his property. We are sure that few farmers would object to hunting on their property, if the hunters just hunt, and do not destroy property. It is the destructive, thoughtless hunter who gets everyone into trouble, and if you have been one of these, resolve this year to mend your ways.

Be a sportsman in every sense of the word, and you will be welcome wherever you go. Next time you head for the woods and fields, remember this.—Hartford (Wis.) Times-Press.

The Air Force has developed an infra-red camera which can reach backward into time for a picture, says the Miami Herald.

The Infra-Red Camera a Menace?

A copyrighted story from Elgin Air Force Base said a reconnaissance plane took a picture late at night of an empty parking lot and came up with a picture of cars which had been parked on the lot hours previously.

"Test officials . . . explained that the camera absorbs heat rays, emitted by solid objects, instead of light rays."

We hope the use of such a camera will be strictly controlled. Police, of course, could use it to see who broke into the safe and who was responsible for the automobile accident.

In private life, however, use of the camera would be catastrophic. With it, erring soul mates could check on one another and, with a picture worth a thousand words, what kind of rebuttal could the accused offer?—Harrington (Del.) Journal.

REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where an 8-year-old Los Angeles boy got a $5 bank loan here the other day and will pay back same at 40 cents a month out of his 60-cent allowance.

My scrupled neighbor says there ought to be a law against this, on account of introducing a boy to debt at this early age is a pretty lowdown trick.

Says they jail people for selling dope to children, but the newspapers play it up big when some banker starts an 8-year-old on the road to debt addiction.

I see where Minnesota's home-skipper Congresswoman charges that the voters or somebody conspired against her so she didn't get re-elected this year.

My worried neighbor says it seems like the politicians all over are getting disgusted with us voters, like Vice President Nixon chewing out Arkansas folks for replacing Congressman Hays.

Says, though, he will give up that there is principle in politics if he ever hears a winning candidate calling attention to voter stupidity and crooked elections.

My disrespectful neighbor says he notes that our not so goodwill ambassador Nixon forgot his other pair of pants when he went over to England to see the Queen.

But says this was likely less embarrassing than getting rocks thrown at you like he did in South America, and is just one of the draw-backs to having more than one pair of pants.

Says, too, a Vice President in borrowed pants is some relief to us taxpayers after ten years of seeing VIPs come back from world tours without our shirts.

I see where Mr. Tito over in Yugoslavia is making some more nasty remarks about Krushchey & Co.

My rat smeller neighbor says you can always tell when the Yugoslav treasury needs a refill; Tito commences damning the Kremlin and the U. S. starts paying him for it at about $1 million per damn.

Says it seems like Tito's trade on this present go-round is more polished than usual, and it may be that Krushchey is helping him write his speeches for a cut of the take.

I see where a fact-tracker took a poll of teen-agers and found only 15 per cent of them think the churches have any influence for good in their lives.

Which my fogbound neighbor says from looking around, 15 per cent of all the youngsters would likely add up to anyhow 90 per cent of the ones whose parents give the churches a fair crack at them. Says this proves religion is very potent if it takes on nine out of ten who get exposed to same, and is fully as catching as measles.

I see where Agriculture Secretary Benson won't put price support on spotty grades of cotton on account of he don't want to encourage farmers to plant spotted cotton.

My city neighbor says he is glad to note that Mr. Benson has a mission not only to see that farmers work for less money, but also that they put out a higher quality product.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER

Says now he has just come from the movie and he hopes the Agriculture Secretary will put on some pressure to make the farmers quit planting wormy goobers and cold pop corn.

Still Jobs for Home Gardener

College Station — There are still a few jobs which the home gardener can do now. And doing them will help make the gardening job easier next spring and will add useful life to needed equipment, says B. G. Hancock, extension horticulturist.

The garden site can be cleared of old plant growth including weeds and grass and if the plants were not diseased the material should go into the compost pile, says the specialist. The compost can be used next year for mulching and adding organic matter to the soil. The plant residue may also be plowed under as another method for clearing the garden area.

Dusters and sprayers should be given a thorough cleaning and stored for the winter. Sprayers should be washed out to remove all spray residues and a weak vinegar solution will help. After the cleaning job, Hancock suggests coating the tank and other metal parts with a thin covering of oil.

The duster should be cleaned with a stiff brush. The outside metal parts may be oiled but oil on the inside of the duster will tend to cake the dust that will be used next season.

Most gardeners have left-over chemicals which can be used next season if they are properly stored.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, December 11, 1958

Hancock advise storage in a dry place and in air-tight containers. All should be carefully labeled and placed out of reach of children.

Left-over seed of many varieties may also be stored for future use if they are placed in tight containers and kept dry. They should be labeled to avoid mistakes on varieties next spring.

Salt Fork Farmers Plan '59 Conservation

Co-operators of Salt Fork Soil Conservation District are getting their crops out and turning their attention to soil conservation practices.

Terraces have been built recently, or will be started soon, on the farms of Roy Thomason, Temple Slay, Spurgeon Morgan, Jim Wood, J. W. Messer, Mrs. John Coleman and Tommy Tate and several others.

To date farmers of Salt Fork SCD have, in 1958, constructed 135 miles of new terraces and enlarged about 185 miles of terrace systems, covering approximately 10,500 acres of cropland. Ninety-one farmers have terraced land so far this year.

More Tanks

More tanks have been constructed this year than usual. So far, there have been 28 for livestock water, and too, these have been larger than usual. Ponds are now being built on the farms of Palo Cummings of Buck Creek and S. S. Coleman at Swearingen.

Handle Grass Seed

The Salt Fork SCD will again handle grass seed for co-operators wishing to buy them for planting.

Dodson Sweeps Double Header from Arnett

High school cage teams from Arnett and Dodson met in combat in the Dodson gym. It was the second time these two schools have faced each other this year, and Dodson won the other two games, also.

In a close game that was finally in the last second of play, the Dodson girls slipped by their opponents with a 54-56 victory. Zenith Swift fired a shot from the top of the circle that was in the when the final whistle sounded. Her shot broke a 54 point deadlock.

Zenith scored 15 points other than the shot that won the game, although Eldmire Hernandez was top scorer with 20 points, Melva Miller scored 18.

Officials were Jimmy Heat-ack Ford.

The Mustangs edged by the Arnette boys 45-38. Kenneth Hunt took over the post position and led scoring with 15 points. The boys came from behind in the second half to score their victory.

Accounts may be paid, and minor repairs made at Bratten Jewelry.

Dr. Chester L. Harrison
OPTOMETRIST

M. L. Burks and Frank Kennedy will handle the seed, as in the past. Most of the grass Drills have been reworked and new tires put on.

Cover Program

Cudd Brothers, who own a farm in the Swearingen community, have established an excellent cover in which to sow grass this coming spring. Hiram and Wayne are sowing a lot of their cropland back to grass. They also plan to construct a waterway to carry outside water through their farm without erosion. To establish the cover, they drilled sorghums last summer on land that was to be seeded back to grass.

Norwood Drops Dodson Twice

Dodson High School Basketball teams dropped a double-header to the Samnorwood Eagles and Eaglettes, Thursday night, November 27.

Dodson's girls lost their first conference game of the season to the Eaglettes 56-42. It was the first defeat of the season for the Dodson girls who now have a 5 won—1 lost record. Zenith Swift set the scoring pace for the losers by scoring 21 points—15 of them on free throws.

In the second game the Eagles downed the Mustangs 48-44. It was the first conference game for the Mustangs who have a 3-3 record. John Alexander led the scoring in the boys' game with 20 points, while Joe Lennon led the Mustangs with 15 points.

Three Make All Tournament Teams

The Quail Quails and Bobwhites participated in the Sunray Tournament Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, December 4, 5, and 6, where both teams ranked fourth.

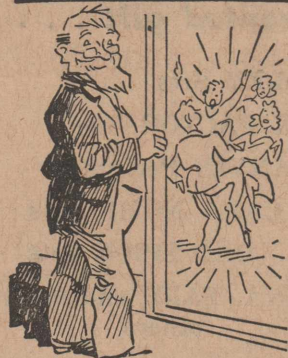

Danny Wheeler made the All boys' team. The Quails won over Stratford and lost to Sunray and Hartley.

The Bobwhites won over Stratford and lost to Sunray and Balko, Oklahoma. Lynda McGill and Annette Lacy made the All Tournament girls' team.

Cleta Kennedy received an ankle injury and was expected to miss a game or two.

The area of the flight deck on the Navy's newest aircraft carrier is equivalent to about four acres. The SS United States and SS America could be placed on it with room to spare.

Falling Leaves Can Be Valuable

College Station — Leaves which are now falling and cluttering yards and gardens can give a boost to next year's flower or vegetable garden if property handled, says County Agent Bob Lynch.

Burning the leaves may be eas- ier but the extra time required to put them in a compost pile will return big dividends, explains Ben- nett. The compost can be used next year to increase soil organic mat- ter or for mulching flowers, shrubs or vegetables.

Making a compost pile is a sim- ple operation, points out the chem- ist. Scrap lumber or a few feet of net wire and four posts will take care of the enclosure. Then start with a six inch layer of leaves, or every four square feet of enclosure, dissolve a cup of commercial fertilizer, such as 8-8-8 or 6-2-6, in water and sprin- kle the solution over the layer of leaves. In areas where soils are acid, Bennett suggests adding a cup of lime to the fertilizer.

Continue adding layers until the pile reaches the desired height. Leave the top layer somewhat saucer shaped as a water-holding aid and cover it with a shallow layer of soil. Decomposition of the leaves will be speeded up if the material is turned and water add- ed at regular intervals.

PEASANTS TO FEED 335 MILLION BY END OF THE CENTURY

In a letter addressed to the supervisors of Salt Fork SCD recently, Nolan Fuqua, president of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts said: "We face the prospect of twice as many people to support from our land by the end of the century. The U. S. Census Bureau reports the population of the United States will reach 175 million during October. This is a growth of 23 1/2 million since 1950. The current rate of growth is nearly 8,000 each day. The projected estimate for 1975 is still 228 million and 335 million for the year 2000. The United Nations has predicted-ed that the world population, too, will double in 40 years. The world population today is 2.8 billion. The official U. N. prediction is for a world population of 6.3 billion by the year 2000. This outlook is reported in an official study of the world's population by the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs. Projections for the years ahead are based on statistics of the past century.

There is no practical means in sight for getting our food supply any place except to grow it on our productive land. And the amount of good productive land in agriculture continues to shrink as new highway, factories, urban growth and other living demands of the growing population.

By the year 2000, there will be one-half fewer acres of cropland per person in the United States. Therefore, to conserve and improve our soil resources is urgent business. It is common sense to speed up the soil and water conservation Program now.

All District Supervisors should help their neighbors see this problem now and muster the support and resources to advance conservation faster in each Soil Conservation District in America."

Traffic Safety Leaders Draft 9-Point Program

More than 160 traffic safety leaders from all parts of Texas approved a 9-points resolution calling for increased and improved traffic regulations at the close of the first annual conference of Governor Price Daniel's Highway Safety Commission.

Governor Daniel presided at both morning and afternoon sessions, and Governor and Mrs. Daniel were hosts at a noon luncheon at the Commodore Perry Hotel.

Delegates to the conference represented every section of the State, and during a question-and-answer session which closed the meeting, brought up numerous questions concerning traffic laws, regulations and proposed legislation.

The Conference Resolutions Committee was headed by John H. Winters of Austin, Commissioner of the Texas Department of Public Welfare and member of the Texas Traffic Safety Council.

The resolutions approved by the state-wide group included the following:

1.—That the Legislature be urged to provide funds for driver education teachers in public schools and that, in the meantime, the Texas Education Agency urge all schools to increase present driver education and traffic safety programs.

2.—That the Legislature be urged to pass an enabling act allowing counties to create traffic courts of record if they so desired.

3.—That the Legislature be urged to enact a law allowing police officers to use medically-accepted chemical tests in traffic cases involving driving while drinking.

4.—That the Legislature be urged to strengthen the Texas drivers' license law to bring it into conformity with the national Uniform Vehicle Code.

5.—That the Legislature be urged ed to adopt the Uniform Vehicle Code in order to remove any possible doubt about constitutionality of the present traffic law.

6.—That the Legislature be urged to increase salaries for the Texas Highway Patrol, that its strength be increased by 100 men per year until it has 1,600 officers, and that other personnel be increased to minimum standards.

7.—That the Texas Highway Department be urged to increase the number of warning signs at no-passing zones and other danger spots.

The first fire regulation in America was enacted in 1631, outlawing combustible chimneys and thatched roofs.

100-YEAR CLOCK—London's Big Ben, perhaps the most famous clock in the world, has ticked off just about 100 years. It was on April 10, 1858, at eight o'clock at night, that workmen poured 17 tons of metal into a giant mold. It took two weeks for the metal of the huge bell to cool and it wasn't until November 18, 1858, that Big Ben tolled the hours for the first time.

Trio Admits Car Theft

Three boys, from Chickasha, Okla., all juveniles, were jailed here Tuesday, December 9, on charges of car theft, after attempting to outrace three Wellington officers.

Sheriff John Rainey stopped the boys approximately 6 miles west of town on the Quail highway, after driving his own car at speed up to 105 miles per hour.

The boys, two of them 15 years old and the third 16, admitted to officers that they took the black and white 1956 Chevrolet 4-door sedan belonging to Mrs. Vernon McCray, 1629 Park Avenue, Chickasha, from her home about midnight Monday night. The keys were in the car, they said.

The youths drove to Lawton, Okla., before coming here. They sold the spare tire for $2 to David Peters, salvage company owner, who was suspicious and notified officers.

Rainey spotted the boys near Cudd Brothers Trucking Co. and by the time he could turn his car around, they were to the flats, where they turned west and raced to Haskell Street. Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Hodge and Police Chief Jack Brislin joined the chase.

The youngsters ignored the siren from Rainey's car until he pulled to within 50 yards of them. The Sheriff's department at Chickasha was due to pick up the boys.

The 1954 Study Club in a recent meeting set aside money to buy one banquet table for the community building, becoming the first club to join individuals in the current drive for community building tables.

Mrs. John Coleman said that $104 in cash was on hand before the study club vote.

The total cost of the 12 tables sought will be $400.05, delivered here. In The Good Old Days—

When it came to heating, Grandpa had no great problem. Just keep the old pot-belly stove roaring—no worries about steam pressure, or explosions! But, as a house warmer the old fashioned stove was a flop. Ten feet away from it you were in a deep-freeze.

Modern heating plants keep the whole place snug and warm but they do sometimes explode and can cause extensive damage. Steam boiler insurance not only indemnifies in case of loss—but the inspection service that goes with it guards against such loss occurring.

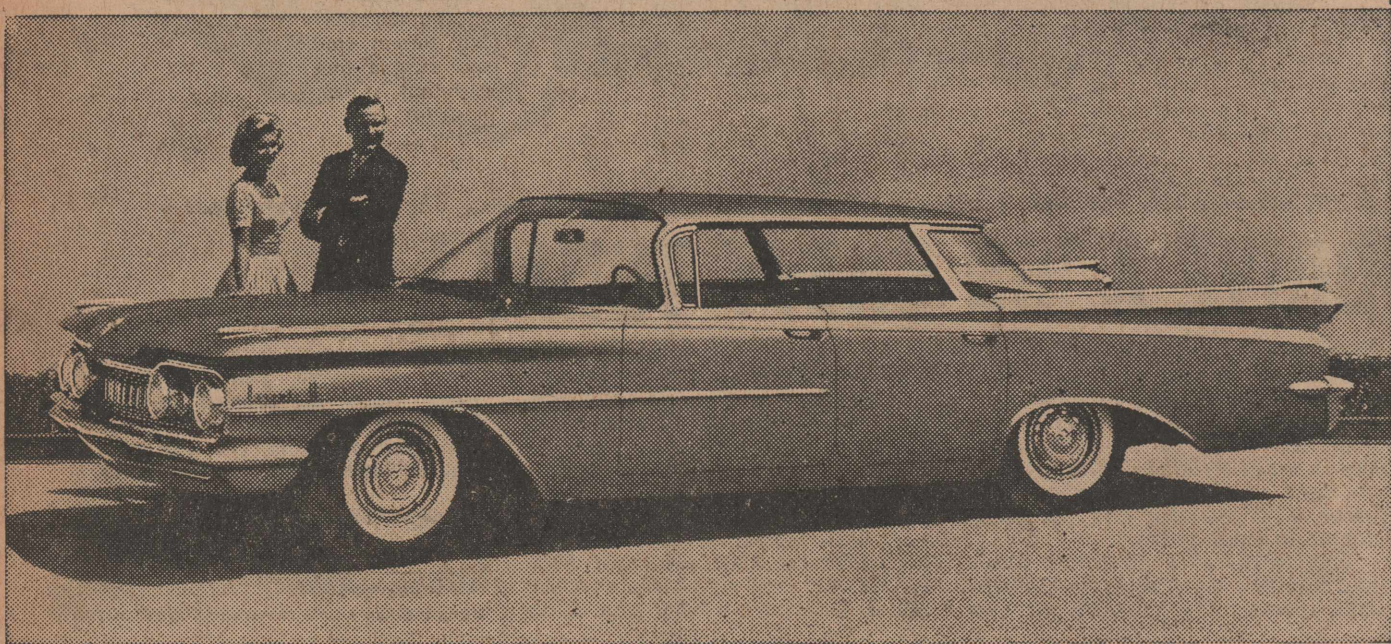

Let us tell you more about this protection.
