Mindszenty Case Comes Before U. N.

NEW YORK —(AP) —Russia and the Western Powers squared off today for their opening battle over Communist treatment of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and other churchmen in Hungary and Bulgaria.

This fight may serve as a curtain - raiser for the expected East-West clash over the newly signed North Atlantic Pact.

Russia's No. 1 deputy foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, failed to launch his expected blast at the Pact at yesterday's opening session of the General Assembly. Most delegates, however, feel sure he is preparing an attack.

The first round of the fight over Mindszenty and 15 imprisoned Bulgarian Protestant leaders was scheduled to take place in the Assembly's 14-nation Steering Committee at 9:30 a.m. (CST).

Russia is expected to try to keep the committee from recommending assembly debate as requested by Bolivia and Australia. The Hungarian government, although not a member of the U.N., has sent a formal protest to Assembly President Herbert V. Evatt of Australia against U.N. intervention.

Mindszenty and other Hungarians were convicted by a Hungarian court in January of black market activities and of plotting

Worley Seeks Release of Pampa Man

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Worley (D-Tex) urged government officials today to do all possible to obtain release of a Texas soldier who was arrested in Czechoslovakia on espionage charges and sentenced to 12 years at hard labor.

The soldier is Clarence R. Hill, whose wife and two daughters now live in Pampa, Tex., with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hill.

He was arrested in December. His companion, sentenced to 10 years, was George R. Jones, Owensboro, Ky. The pair were seized as they walked along a railroad track near the frontier in Russia-dominated land.

U. S., Britain, France Move To Settle German Politics

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States, Britain and France are undertaking a major effort to iron out their differences over three-power control of Western Germany.

Diplomatic officials agreed today that if the three can get together on basic German policies it will mark another milestone in the growing unity of the non-Communist West.

Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman held preliminary talks on the German problem last week while Atlantic power foreign ministers were gathering here to sign the North Atlantic Treaty.

Having devoted Monday to the treaty signing and yesterday to the opening of the United Nations Assembly in New York, Acheson, Bevin and Schuman now can set to work in earnest. They will try in the next few days to reach basic agreements which they can then pass on to subordinates in London, Paris and Berlin with instructions to work out details.

Diplomatic informants said the preliminary talks had pointed up five issues:

1. The extent of occupation machinery over Western Germany in connection with proposed merger of all three zones. The French are understood to favor creation of three-power control agencies for each German state.
2. Development of an occupation statute. This document would spell out the powers reserved to the occupation governors of Germany and specify those which the German government could exercise. The United States in general has favored broad definitions of authority.
3. How to vote in the three-power control agencies. Many experts consider this the key question. The basic difficulty is whether each of the three powers should have a vote or whether decisions should be reached by an affirmative vote of two of them.
4. Centralization versus decentralization within the proposed new German government system. Essentially the question is whether Germany should have a strong or a weak central government. If the central government is to be sharply restricted in its powers, the German state government will be relatively stronger.
5. Shifts in the zonal boundary area and the French occupation area in order to facilitate administration. This is regarded as a fairly minor though persistent issue.

Fourth Time Offender to Lose License

Fourth time losers in moving traffic violations face an automatic six - months suspension of drivers' license, Chief of Police Louie Allen said yesterday.

Allen revealed he had been notified by the Department of Public Safety that men, or women, coming up with their fourth traffic court conviction for speeding, reckless driving, running stop signs, running red lights, etc., will automatically lose their driver's license for a period of six months.

The state, he added, gets an individual report on each offender every time he, or she, is convicted of a moving traffic violation. When the fourth conviction notice comes in the state automatically lifts the offender's license, the chief said.

Those who are found to be habitual violators may lose their license for an indefinite period, Allen said.

The chief disclosed that close to two dozen drivers in Pampa have three moving traffic convictions against them now. The ruling does not affect parking violations.

At the same time, Allen continued, the Police Department was notified to discontinue issuing courtesy cards to overtime parking violators.

From today on all cars on "violation" will be given tickets regardless of whether they are out of county or out of state. The reason for the new move, Allen said, is because too many local people were going into other counties to register their cars in order to get the courtesy card instead of a parking ticket.

Band Concert To Conclude Clinic Here

An all-city student band concert, in which about 300 students will take part, will be held at the High School Auditorium at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Frank Wilson, High School principal, said.

The concert will climax the annual two-day clinic for all public school band musicians.

Raymond Bynum, director of the McMurry College Band, Abilene, will be the guest conductor at tomorrow's concert. Bynum, a past president of the Texas Music Educator's Association, was director of instrumental music in the Abilene public schools for 20 years, and he is considerably in demand as a director of band clinic work, Orland Butler, music director, said.

A combined band, made up of students from the elementary schools will be under the baton of Charles Meech; Miss Marianna Pierce will direct the Junior High School Band; and Butler will direct the Harvester Band.

The elementary band will play three selections: a march, a waltz, and a hymn — "Diligence," by Bergeim; "Springtime," by Skornicka; and "Abide With Me."

The Junior High band will play a march, "Legionnaires on Parade," by Kleffman; and two overtures, "Silver Talisman," DeLamater, and "On Shawnee Road," Thomas.

The Harvester Band will present, among its selections, Hoagy Carmichael's "Star Dust" done as a concert fantasy with Lowell Stark and Emmett Riggs as soloists; the first movement of Schubert's Symphony in B Minor; and John Frisuf as narrator for "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

DEATH TOLL IN HOSPITAL BLAZE ESTIMATED AT 80

EFFINGHAM, Ill. —(AP) — The death toll in the nation's second most tragic hospital fire mounted to an estimated 80 today.

Forty-six of the victims of the fire which destroyed St. Anthony's hospital early Tuesday have been identified. Thirteen were newborn babies.

As state and city fire officials attempted to determine the cause of the blaze, workers resumed the grim task of searching the ruins for bodies of 34 still reported missing.

Only the naked walls of the three-and-a-half story brick building stood. The hunt for additional bodies was retarded yesterday as fire officials feared the walls might fall upon firemen.

The number of dead in the terrifying midnight fire had been estimated yesterday at 65 by the hospital registrar, Miss Helen Wiseman. However, 15 additional bodies which had been removed to hospitals and undertaking establishments in nearby communities after the blaze, were identified early today.

Records at the hospital, the only one in this South Central Illinois community of 8,600, were lost.

However, the hospital believed there were 124 persons—patients and staff members—in the 62-year-old institution, operated by the Catholic Order of St. Francis, when the fire broke.

The number of survivors was estimated at 55 by the Red Cross. Firemen said most of the survivors suffered in some degree from burns or smoke, but only one was reported in critical condition.

Among the known dead were two nuns, the hospital's chaplain, and three nurses.

Inspectors from the Illinois state fire marshal's office, headed by Chief Pat Kelly, investigated the fire. Fire Chief Fred Wilkins of Effingham, said he would cooperate with inspectors in an attempt to determine cause of the fire.

Fire inspectors, meanwhile, investigated unconfirmed reports that stored paint or an arsonist might have caused the fire. The FBI in Chicago and State Police at Effingham denied a published story that they were investigating an arson report. The mother superior of the hospital said the only stored paint was in the undamaged boiler room.

Construction On 10 New Homes Begun

The Parks & Son Lumber Co. of Amarillo has already begun construction of the first 10 of 20 planned homes in Pampa, Harry V. Gordon, local agent for the project, announced yesterday.

Foundations have been started on three of these houses on N. Sumner and N. Nelson. There will be one in the Wynneles Addition, two in the Buckler Addition, and four in the Fraser Addition to make up the first 10.

These houses are expected to be completed in the next 45 days, Gordon said, "and then we will start right away on the next 10."

They will all be five-room, "efficiency" type, veterans' homes, Gordon explained. They will have two bedrooms, a living room, and a dinette-kitchen, he said. The Gordon Insurance Agency, Duncan Building, is the local selling agent for the houses.

Three weeks ago the S & H Construction Co. announced plans for building 30 homes this summer, and L. L. Sone expects to have 13 houses built by Nov. 1.

During the past month, according to the monthly summary from the city engineer's office, 19 building permits were issued for new residences, and 12 permits were granted for moving houses into town, all of which help greatly to relieve the tight housing situation in Pampa.

Music Groups In Assembly

The Pampa High School A Cappella choir, under the direction of Kenneth W. Baumgardner, the Senior Girls' Sextette, the Senior Boys' Quartet and the Junior Girls' Sextette presented selections at the High School assembly yesterday.

The 63-member choir opened the program by singing the three contest numbers for the Interscholastic Music Contest, which will be held Friday at Canyon. The contest numbers are: "Send Out Thy Spirit," Schuetky; "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," Christy, and "Religion Is a Fortune," Cain.

Patsy Cox and Dick Oden were crowned A Cappella choir Queen and King and each was presented with a gift while the choir sang, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Other numbers presented by the choir were "Beatitudes," "Rain and the River," "Deep River," "Meadow Lands" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The Senior Girls' Sextette sang a modern version of "Rock-A-Bye-Baby" and "Night and Day." The quartet sang "Going Home" and an English hunting song and the Junior Girls' Sextette rendered its version of "April Showers."

Pampa City Commissioners, Mayor Returned to Office

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Voting Light in Most City Elections in Top o' Texas

City Commissioners W. E. "Bill" Ballard and Fred H. Paronto went back into office in yesterday's general city election by swamping their opponents more than two to one.

Ballard in Ward 3 polled 44 votes to his opponent's, H. H. Nichols, 19. Paronto won Ward 4 over E. C. Schaffer 38 to 19.

Of the approximate 250 votes cast in the four wards, Mayor C. A. "Lefty" Huff collared 244 of them. He had no opponents and no writein votes against him. City Commissioner Crawford Atkinson polled all of the 88 votes cast in Ward 1 while Vernon Hobbs polled 41 of the 42 votes cast in Ward 2. One writein vote was cast in Ward 2 for Roy Sullivan.

Devoid of issues, the campaign was quiet from beginning to end.

The only flurry of excitement came long before the deadline for filing of candidacy when the mayor and city commissioners declared they would not seek reelection. Regardless of their declared intentions no one came out to take their places on the commission. Two weeks before the deadline passed a group of 175 citizens from all walks of life descended on the commission during its regular Tuesday meeting vigorously requesting that each of them seek reelection. One by one they yielded to the pressure and filed affidavits declaring themselves candidates. By deadline only Paronto and Ballard had opponents.

A warm sun and clear skies failed to bring out more than the 250 voters in all four wards. The returns were in and released to the public before 7:30 p.m.

Wheeler Reelects Incumbent Aldermen

WHEELER —(Special)— With no printed ballots, Wheeler voters yesterday cast writein ballots to reelect incumbent Aldermen T. M. Bowman and Archer Hibler to two-year terms on the town Board of Aldermen. One writein vote was cast for R. G. Russ. A total of 26 ballots were cast in this city's issueless campaign.

Canadian Mayor Is Returned to Office

CANADIAN —(Special)— Despite a last minute writein campaign against him, Mayor Jess B. Lindley was reelected mayor of Canadian with 282 votes to his opponent, C. H. Hext's, 45 writein ballots.

Troy Newton and Charles Douglas each received one writein vote for mayor.

Incumbent City Commissioners James B. Reid and Claude Jones retained their posts by polling 263 and 231 votes respectively. John Wilkinson, only other candidate on the ballot for commissioner, polled 189. There were no writein votes in the commission race.

The campaign, like most of the neighboring towns' campaigning, was quiet and issueless from the beginning except for the last-minute flurry of writein vote solicitations.

Writein Campaign Makes Banker Mayor

MIAMI —(Special)— An unexpected last minute writein flareup sent R. J. Bean, president of the Miami Bank, into the office of mayor by a vote of 104 to the 69 votes cast for Newton Cox, whose name was printed on the official ballot.

While no reason was given by sources here for the surprise writein campaign it was learned Bean had talked about seeking the post, but had never actually filed.

Incumbent City Aldermen W. E. Foglesong and Wallace L. Locke were reelected for two-year terms with 136 and 147 votes respectively. The last minute writein campaign that swept Bean into the mayoralty also bore seven writein candidates for the two city council spots. The candidates and their votes were: Fred Gordon, 3; Grady Bailey, 1; Frank Gracey, 6; Dan Graham, 3; Sam Bowers, 2; R. J. Bean, 1; and Ellis Locke, 1.

To fill the post of alderman left vacant by W. H. Carr, who resigned when he took office as Roberts County sheriff, only a writein campaign was held. Dan Graham, polling 53 votes won the post over a field of nine other writein candidates. The others and their votes were: R. W. Beck, 31; Frank Gracey, 15; J. P. Pennington, 7; Sam Bowers, 5; W. R. Holland, 1; Newton Cox, 1; John Webster, 1; Ellis Locke, 2; and Jim Reeves, 1.

Mayoralty Race at Panhandle Close

PANHANDLE —(Special)— In one of Panhandle's closest mayoralty races, F. F. Farrell was elected mayor by two votes over Ralph Randel. He received 119 votes to Randel's 117.

In the five-man race for three vacant posts on the City Commission, Richard Orr, Howard Lane, and H. B. Skelton were elected by 203, 184, and 113 votes respectively. The two who lost, Howard Amick and Floyd Hubbard, received 101 and 78 votes each.

There have been two posts vacant in Panhandle's city government for about a year. When A. C. Davis was appointed city manager he left a vacancy on the commission that was filled by Orr yesterday. The mayor's post, vacated when D. M. Smith moved to Amarillo several months ago, has been filled by Acting Mayor Lloyd Miller, one of the holdover commissioners.

Gary Simms is the other holdover commissioner whose term did not expire this year.

Randel, who was defeated so narrowly, has served two terms as mayor of Panhandle and served 12 years on the commission. He has been out of city office a year, however.

Secretary Race Is Best at Shamrock

SHAMROCK —(Special)— In Shamrock's city election yesterday Vernon Brown was elected city secretary by a margin of 32 votes over his nearest opponent.

There was no contest in the race to fill two vacancies on the Board of Aldermen.

In the city secretary's race, Brown received 171 votes, Earl Koger, 139, and Wesley B. Sims, 88. Ode Cain, who had been previously appointed to the post to fill the unexpired term of Euell Rushing, was not a can-

Employers to Hold Session

Porter A. Whaley, president of the Texas Association of Employers, and the first manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will address a meeting of Pampa employers and businessmen at the Schneider Hotel, beginning at 7 p.m., April 15.

Whaley, it was announced from San Antonio, will discuss pending state and national legislation, particularly unemployment compensation, labor relations, the federal wage and hour law, and oil and gas taxation.

A former resident of West Texas for 20 years, he was at one time manager of the Pecos and later the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

The speaker will fly directly from Austin to Pampa, it was said.

Plans Made For Affairs Clinic Here

Tom V. Watson, national affairs adviser of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce regional office, Dallas, arrived in Pampa today to arrange a national affairs clinic, which will be held the night of April 21 in the Palm Room, City Hall.

The clinic will be jointly sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce and the Dallas U. S. Regional Chamber. The meeting originally was scheduled for April 18, but was changed to the later date because of conflicting events.

The purpose of the meeting will be to draw together representative groups of business men from towns of this area to study and discuss national affairs and stimulate action on matters affecting business and welfare.

J. E. Cunningham, president of the Southwestern Public Service Company, Amarillo, will deliver the keynote address and H. J. Dolinger, assistant manager of the Southwestern division of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, will serve as moderator of the forum.

Watson will discuss, "You and the 81st Congress," analyzing major issues before Congress. Also he will give a roundup of legislative trends.

All towns in this area have been invited to send delegates to the national affairs clinic.

TO FIGHT BEETLE

LONDON—(AP)—Western Europe banded together today in an aggressive pact—against the Colorado beetle.

Canadian Doubles Red Cross Quota

CANADIAN —(AP)— The local chapter of the American Red Cross will more than double its quota as set by the National organization, according to Chairman L. A. McAdams.

"Our quota was set at $546. We already have $1140, and two more community workers have yet to report" McAdams said. Tom's Cabin."

United States Pays Tribute to Her Army

By The Associated Press

The United States paid tribute to her Army today as Gen. Omar Bradley, the Army's commander, called for moves to strengthen Europe immediately against possible aggression.

In an address at New York on the eve of Army Day last night the Army chief of staff asserted:

"Strategically, the North Atlantic Pact would enable free nations of the Old World and the New to funnel the great strength of our New World to the ramparts of the Old, and thus challenge an enemy where he would transgress."

The Army chief rejected any idea that, in case of an attack, European ground forces should bear the brunt, while the United States devoted its initial efforts to air strikes.

Behind Bradley's words were his own experience in European warfare. The general was Army Ground Force commander in the Normandy invasion, and later led the million and a half combat troops which crashed through the German lines.

Other speakers and other celebrations today in dozens of cities proclaimed the achievements of the Army and explained its many missions.

The other services joined in to pay tribute, with scheduled talks by Secretary of the Navy Sullivan at Syracuse, N.Y., Secretary of Air Symington at Montgomery, Ala., and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, at Baltimore, Md.

The Army's civilian chief, Secretary Royall, went to Chicago to make an Army Day address there, with Assistant Secretary Gray listed for a talk at Milwaukee. And the Army deputy chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, was due for another in Philadelphia.

In his prepared talk, Wedemeyer went a step further than Bradley in cautioning against over-confidence in the ability of the Air Force to deal with an attacking nation.

"The undisputed control of ground is the conclusive and decisive factor in determining victory or defeat. Obviously, ground, naval and air forces, operating as a team, must perform this task."

Vandenberg, in his Baltimore talk, promised Air Force cooperation in any such situation, as well as in peacetime planning.

Flags Displayed For Army Day

Downtown Pampa and many of the residential sections showed a waving blaze of color as nearly all merchants and many citizens displayed American flags today in connection with Pampa's annual Army Day celebrations.

Two dances are to be held tonight as part of the festivities. An old-fashioned dance with Slim Gibson and his string band will be held at the American Legion-VFW Hall, and a ballroom dance with Ken Bennett and his orchestra will be held at the Terrace Grill. Both dances will start at 7:30 p.m. and last — 'til.

A sprinkling of khakis, blues, and pinks was seen today as veterans shook out the mothballs in their old uniforms. M-Sgt Davis A. Brown, local recruiter, had urged all veterans to wear "as much of the uniform as will still fit."

According to Mayor C. A. Huff's recent proclamation designating this day as Army Day, all citizens were called upon "to be mindful of the fact that our Army can accomplish its mission, both at home and abroad, only with the constant awareness and generous support of our people."

State Highway Car Recovered

Oklahoma Highway Patrolman sometime yesterday recovered the 1942 Ford sedan, belonging to the State Highway Department, that was stolen Monday afternoon from the west side of the Court House.

City Police were notified by radio at 10:40 p.m. yesterday of the car's recovery. Oklahoma authorities stored the car in Sparling's Garage at Purcell, Okla. The report did not include whether there were any apprehensions or the time and location of the recovery.

didate. He did receive three writein votes, however.

In the aldermanic race, Wallace Fields and Jack Martin, who received 355 and 354 votes, respectively, were elected to the posts formerly filled by Bob Douglas, and B. F. Risinger who did not seek reelection.

A total of 402 votes were cast at the City Hall, Shamrock's only polling place.

Higgins Officials Are All Reelected

HIGGINS —(Special)— In a fairly heavy vote, considering the fact that there was no contest, Warren Jenkins was reelected mayor of Higgins yesterday by garnering 69 of the 74 votes cast.

Ray Carmichael, an aldermanic candidate for reelection, received two writein votes for mayor.

In the aldermanic race there were four candidates for three posts on Higgins' five-man Board of Aldermen. E. O. Roberts, making the race for the first time, received 22 votes, but lost to the three incumbents, all of whom were reelected.

The three aldermen reelected are J. B. Weis, who received 69 votes; Carmichael, 58; and Alex Laubhan, Jr., 68.

One writein vote was cast for E. S. Wynn.

The terms of Aldermen Jake Sell and Lee Maltsberger and City Clerk H. S. Jamison did not expire this year.

Harris King Is Mayor of McLean

McLEAN — Harris King was elected mayor of McLean in yesterday's city election by a wide margin of more than three to one. King received 246 votes, Guy Hibler received 78, and J. M. Payne, only six.

A much closer race took place in the city secretary's contest between D. A. Davis, incumbent, and W. E. Bogan. Davis won reelection to the post by 169 votes to Bogan's 162.

A spirited contest developed in the aldermanic race with five men on the ticket for two places open on the Board of Aldermen.

W. L. Copeland, with 148 votes, and Guy Beasley, with 171, were elected to the posts formerly held by R. T. Dickinson and Roger Powers who did not seek reelection.

The other three men in the race were Dr. J. H. Kritzler, with 132 votes; Lester H. Campbell, 83; and George Graham, 88.

City Marshal J. A. Sparks lost his campaign for reelection by 20 votes to J. A. Braley. Sparks garnered 142 votes to Braley's 182.

A total of 335 votes were cast.

Voting Is Light At White Deer

WHITE DEER — (Special) — With no contest in yesterday's city election in White Deer, the voting was very light.

Dalton Ford and Eugene Richardson were reelected to succeed themselves on the Board of Aldermen, and W. W. Wells was elected to succeed Clint Freeman who did not seek reelection.

The terms of Mayor B. R. Weeks and Aldermen Alvin Williams and E. E. Foose did not expire this year.

There were no writein votes among the 22 votes cast.

Incumbent Loses Post at Lefors

LEFORS — Three men sought election to two places on the Lefors Board of Aldermen yesterday and the incumbent lost by only two votes.

Alderman Arlie Carpenter, who received 21 votes, lost to John Carpenter's 23 and Fred Blackwell's 30 votes. The two Carpenters are not related.

One post on the Board of Aldermen has been vacant since September when Alderman John D. Fonburg moved from Lefors and no one was appointed in his place.

The terms of the board are staggered so that there are always some holdover councilmen. The terms of Mayor W. R. Combs and Aldermen J. R. Sparkman, Ed Brock, and F. C. Jones will expire next year.

The United States and other Western powers already have protested against the trials as violations of the peace treaty provisions which guarantee the respect of religious freedom.

Assembly activities for the day were limited to the Steering Committee deliberations which were expected to continue through morning and afternoon sessions.

In addition to the Bulgarian and Hungarian issues, the committee had to decide whether to recommend Assembly discussion on these other questions: the Dutch-Indonesian conflict, Israel's bid for U.N. membership and Russia's veto of Ceylon's membership application.

What is a crappie? Hank Bradshaw, sportsman and writer, calls him the Babe Ruth of the pan fish for when a crappie takes a fly, it hits with every ounce of power he's got just like the Babe used to sock a baseball.

The crappie is found in waters east of the Rockies, and when an angler seeks a substitute for larger fish, he looks for crappies. They'll fight with reckless abandon until licked to a gasping frazzle — and this fish doesn't often pull the scales down much over one pound!

Throughout the country the crappie is called by many other names: calico bass, speckled perch, speckled bass. It bites the year around on anything that squirms, artifical or allve. It likes a clean, hard bottom, comfortably pillowed with vegetation or brush, but it will also do well over mud.

Crappies may be distinguished from other sunfishes by general appearance, as well as by the long dorsal and anal fins, which are nearly equal in size. No one has much difficulty making this differentation. Where the trouble comes is in distinguishing between the two crappies—the black and the white.

For the record, the black crappie has a dorsal fin with seven or eight spines. The white crappie usually has six.

The black crappie's mouth is strongly oblique; that of the white is only moderately so. The color of the black crappie is olive, the shade varying, covered with dark green or blackish spots and without distinct pattern. Silvery olive is the color of the white crappie, and it is mottled with dark green. There are several faint vertical bars on the flat sides which aren't on the adult black crappies.

Both varieties have white, flaky meat, and are delicious to eat.

Crappies stock well in most ponds and lakes. It is often recommended as the best fish to stock in artifical lakes. They make good running mates with bass and northern pike.

Try night fly-fishing for crappies if you want some new thrills. They usually move into the shores to feed as the sun goes down. But when a school of crappies quits biting, there's no use arguing. You might as well quit too.

Sports Round-Up

ATLANTA, Ga. — (AP) — Georgia Tech's football team was scrimmaging on Rose Bowl Field —and getting right rough for this comparatively early stage of spring practice. . . On the other side of a high board fence, the baseball team was drilling and that's what led to conversation about a kid named Dick Harvin . . . It seems Harvin ought to be right on top of that fence, but Coach Robert Lee Dodd hauled him and a couple of others over on the football side, just about ruining Tech's baseball prospects . . . Harvin, in his first play as a college footballer, scored a touchdown against Vanderbilt. In his first track meet, the Carolina Relays, he won the shot put, and in his first college baseball game he socked a homer to beat Rollins College. . . The baseball scouts are the ones who really are on his trail.

DALLAS —(AP)— The Texas Sports Writers Association can expect some acrid letters from the women who work on newspaper sports desks. The TSWA showed courage if not diplomacy in its annual meeting held in connection with the Texas Relays at Austin by voting not to accept memberships from the so-called fair sex. The crisis was projected when several lady sports editors sent in applications. But the male scribes were not afraid—besides there were no ladies there to urge their cause.

The major objection to gals in the association was that it would mean they would have to be accorded press box privileges, which gives them freedom they do not know elsewhere.

However, the woman angle in sports writing is something the association will have to face again, and probably soon. The other school when that athlete has already registered and been writers just staved off the question for the time being.

Anderson favors this rule in all sports.

Some of the college track coaches are threatening to pull their teams out of the annual Southwestern Recreation Meet at Fort Worth because of the bad condition of the track that has prevailed for several years.

It is to be hoped that the Southwestern Recreation officials fix the track adequately. It would be a shame to have this fine meet hurt by wholesale withdrawals as now appear likely.

Speaking of the Texas Relays, here's the low-down on an incident which undoubtedly puzzled the crowd:

In the mile relay, Don Mitchell, Texas Aggie runner, was seen to put his hand in the back of Costin Bufkin, Texas Tech runner, during the first lap. Some wondered why there was not a disqualification. The reason was that meet officials decided Bufkin had cut in front of Mitchell too quickly and therefore did not blame Mitchell for the shove. "It was held that he had put his hand out to protect himself," explained Coach Clyde Littlefield of Texas, director of the Relays. "Bufkin would have been disqualified had Tech placed in the relay." A&M won the event.

The crowd got a kick out of the incident. When Mitchell put his hand into Bufkin's back he pushed the latter ahead by four yards instead of the bare one that prevailed before the shove.

Coach Frank Anderson of the Texas A&M track team is doing some missionary work toward cutting down the strong and sometimes unethical rivalry among Southwest Conference schools in going after athletes. Anderson has reached an agreement with Texas and Baylor like this: Neither will take an athlete from the granted an athletic scholarship. Anderson hopes to reach an agreement with other members of the conference.

The Texas Aggie track coach also favors a player limit in the Southwest Conference. "It is bankrupting the schools to bring in 100 boys for football," he says

Drugless Health!

NO MATTER how long you have been suffering from stomach, kidney and rheumatic distress, and what drugs you have tried before, you can, now, hope for relief if you take GEO-MINERAL. With your eyes SEE the results seven days after you start taking it.

DRUGGISTS, Chemists cannot make GEO-MINERAL. It comes from the earth—Nature's laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

Wonder Minerals

FOR THOUSANDS of years sufferers, on advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to get cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there regularly twice a year.

WE HAVE all heard of the miraculous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece, where, according to legend Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results

WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

GEO-MINERAL is not a physic, and does not interfere with the foods in the intestines. It gets down to the root, cleaning and purifying, throwing away poisons — gas, toxins and bloating. Not like physics, oils and cathartics do, but in a Natural, harmless, safe way.

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE you to try GEO-MINERAL. Go to your drug store NOW and get one bottle. Use it seven days. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money in full.

TRY IT! It may be the remedy you NEED! . . . and making the best investment for your health. It may do wonders for you—make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

See the new DESOTO before you decide on any other car at any price!

Compare the others with "The Car Designed with YOU in Mind"

You cannot compare the new cars merely by looking at pictures . . . or by watching them on the highway. You've got to get behind the wheel yourself.

That's why we urge you to come and see this new De Soto before you decide on any other car.

You notice the difference right away. De Soto's doors are wide. You walk in . . . and keep your hat on. The steering wheel doesn't hit your knees. You're on chair-high seats, so that you get all the benefit of the larger windows and windshield.

You've got full stretch-out leg room, front and back. And you've got more luggage space in that flush-floor trunk than you ever dreamed of before.

Yes, De Soto is lower. It's got a longer wheelbase (all passengers ride between the axles). But there's no penalty for these advantages. Overall length and breadth are not increased. You needn't rebuild your garage. You can still change a tire. And a dented fender doesn't mean an expensive body repair job.

Let us show you all the new features of the car that lets you drive without shifting. Compare it for beauty, comfort, safety and value. Then decide.

Rain Hinders Golfers at Masters Meet

AUGUSTA, Ga. —(AP)— The best of the soggy ground golfers will have their day in the first round of the Masters tomorrow at the trenched Augusta National Course. Weekend rains held off Monday but came back strong yesterday.

A long playing course such as National gives long, high ball hitters like Sammy Snead, Chick Harbert, Byron Nelson, Jimmy Demaret and Lawson Little an advantage. Snead has climbed from about seventh or eighth favorite up on a level with Cary Middlecoff, Nelson, Lloyd Mangrum and Demaret.

Owen In Court Over Mexican League Jump

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. —(AP)— The well-aged squabble between Mickey Owen, former major league catcher, and Jorge Pasquel, ex-promoter of baseball in Mexico, entered its second day in Federal Court today.

Owen, who jumped to the Mexican League, organized by Pasquel in 1946, is being sued by Pasquel for breach of contract. Amount of the suit is $127,500.

The former Brooklyn Dodger catcher has a counter suit charging breach of contract against Pasquel totaling $93,000.

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Hasse---News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What was the correct name of the fighter who bore the ring title of "Young Corbett?"

OILERS: The Oilers really looked good yesterday afternoon in their opening exhibition game of the year. The fine weather, the first in a week, enabled the boys to get loosened up. They looked much better than this writer expected them to appear after the lack of practice.

Best surprise of all was the fine pitching that the young pitchers did. Lockwood hurled three hitless innings, though he was wild. This fault can be corrected, and undoubtedly will be as soon as Manager Grover Seitz can show him what he is doing wrong. L. H. "Buster" Hall threw three frames, allowing only one hit while pitching to ten men. Charles Bodine ran into a bad third inning, one that wasn't aided any by two errors in his defense, but he had control of the situation up to that point.

The infield appeared excellent for so early in the year. The addition of a regular third baseman completes the starting infield, although another may be obtained yet. The keystone combination of Ernie Velasquez and Charles Ridgeway came up with a hard double-play that they made look easy. Richardson, of course, has no trouble while working around that initial sack. Velasquez came up with a couple of fine plays in the game, and you can mark Warmup's words that he will be the outstanding shortstop in the league this summer.

The outfield is all that needs help. At present only one gardner is on hand, Dave Teyema. Another will be forthcoming from Shreveport in the very near future. It is expected that either Ken Peacock or a lad named Engle will be sent to Pampa. Peacock has been absent from Shreveport for the past week due to the death of his baby and the serious illness of his wife. After one of those two boys arrives it will still leave one outfield post vacant. Who will fill it is unknown, unless Rice returns when school is out this spring.

The catching department is ably handled by Mike Faduniak. Another receiver will have to be obtained to aid Mike, and to use in case of emergency. Faduniak rang the bell with two doubles yesterday afternoon to give an idea of his power at the plate. In addition he picked a runner off of third base with a perfect peg to that bag.

So the way things stack up the Oilers will be in for a good year, barring any injuries or accidents.

The Gold Sox, on the other hand, didn't show anything that would cause any uproar. At least not yesterday. It appears that there is a lot of work ahead for owners Seeds and Faucett and Manager Landrum.

ANSWER: Three fighters went under the name of "Young Corbett." They were George Green, Ralph Giordano and William Rothwell.

DOTS AND DASHES: The Oilers are travelling this year in two station wagons. . .One of the first foul balls to leave the park yesterday christened one of them . . .The drivers this year are Grover Seitz and Virgil Richardson——Four more lights are going to be added to increase the candlepower at Oiler Park. . .The field is already the best lighted in the league——A complete repaint job is being done on the outside of the park and on the grandstand inside. . .The bright green surely makes the place look wide-awake——The parking area around the park has been graded and will soon be covered with gravel to insure against fans having to wade through muck and mud——The fans at Amarillo all know Grover. . .The cry went out when he appeared upon the scene. . .They all like to get on him, but he always gets the last word——The flyball that Parker dropped in the third inning, that cost three runs, didn't even hit his glove. . .He tried to catch it with his elbow —— Richardson fouled a pitch off that hit his foot, keeping him out of the batter's box while he tried to shake it off. . .He proceeded to rap the next pitch against the right field wall. . .The right fielder said the ball sounded like a flock of geese as it sailed over his head.

Longhorns Dump Rice Two Games

By The Associated Press

All six Southwest Conference baseball teams swing into league play Friday and Saturday.

The Friday schedule puts Rice in Dallas for a diamond duel with Southern Methodist University. The same day Texas will be in Fort Worth for a bingle battle with Texas Christian University, and Texas A&M invades the home lair of Baylor University at Waco.

The same teams take the same stand in return engagements Saturday.

Arkansas, the seventh member of the Southwest Conference, does not compete in baseball.

Tuesday the University of Texas dumped Rice twice in Austin. The Longhorns won the first game 15-7 and the second 5-0.

Baylor was the only other Conference team in action. It split a double-header with the touring Nebraska Cornhuskers. Nebraska won the first game in Waco 7-5. Baylor came back to take the last 4-3.

Homer by Parker Breaks 7-7 Tie In Ninth Inning

The Pampa Oilers started off the 1949 baseball season in good fashion at Amarillo yesterday with booming bats and stellar hurling. The lack of practice didn't appear to bother the boys as they came from behind with a three-run eighth inning rally to tie the game at 7-7. Then little Roy Parker, playing centerfield, opened the ninth with a game-winning home run over the rightfield wall.

Big gun in the Oiler attack was Virgil Richardson, slugging first sacker, who slammed one over the 360-foot centerfield fence his first trip to the plate, singled his second, singled his fourth, to start the tying rally and then knocked two boards loose in the right field fence with a line drive double in the ninth. Dave Teyema also lashed one out of the park, over the right-centerfield wall.

Richardson's homer sent the Oilers into a one-run lead in the second inning, and a walk, an error and Rich's single in the third made the count 3-0.

But the Gold Sox bounced back with six runs in the third, on only four hits. McKay opened with a single and went to second on Folkman's single. When Roy Parker dropped a long fly both runners scored, and the batter, Howard, went to second. Clawitter bounced out, second to first. Stumborg drove the runner home with a sharp single, and went to second on a hard hit ball that rolled between the third baseman's legs for an error. Then both runners scored when Pryor slammed one over the centerfield wall, making the score 6-3, where it remained until the fifth inning.

Both teams scored a run in that inning. The Oilers on a hit batsman, a single and a long fly by Rich. The Gold Sox tallied on a walk, an error and an infield out. That was the last run for the Sox.

The three-run eighth was opened by a single off the bat of Richardson. Teyema then topped the fence with his homer. The next two batters fanned. Faduniak bounced one off the rightfield wall for two bases, moved to third on an infield error, and then scored the tying run on a misjudged flyball, setting the stage for the game-winning clout by Parker.

The pitching was shared by Bodine, Lockwood and Hall. Bodine suffered the disastrous six-run third. Lockwood gave up no hits, but one run, while Hall shut out the Sox on only one hit in this three inning stint. Hall was the winning pitcher.

A new face has been added to the infield. Ed Brawley has taken over the third base spot. He arrived in town Monday night and started his first game yesterday. He looked good, both afield and at bat. He comes from Enid, Okla., and has no experience. The rest of the infield looked very good, too. They pulled off a snappy double-play to snuff out what apeared to be the start of a rally in the seventh. The infield handled 29 chances, committing only two errors, in this opening game.

The Oilers played at Weatherford, Okla., this afternoon, and will open their home season Saturday afternoon against the same Weatherford team. Then on Monday they meet Clovis here, and on Wednesday afternoon Vernon comes to Pampa. The Oilers then go to Clovis and Lubbock before playing Borger at Borger on Easter Sunday. Amarillo will play a return game here on the 18th, with the season opening April 20.

New Cage Coach

HOUSTON —(AP)— Athletic Director Jess Neely of Rice Institute yesterday announced appointment of Don Suman as head basketball coach.

Suman succeeds Joe Davis who will devote full time to his assistant football coaching duties.

Suman, a Rice graduate in 1944, has been Freshman basketball coach two years.

Congress Introduces Bill To Protect Organized Ball

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Congress may take the role of umpire in professional baseball's "reserve clause" controversy.

Without ruling directly on that issue, it may get a chance soon to determine whether baseball and other organized sports are subject to interstate commerce restrictions and can be sued in federal courts.

The Supreme Court held some years ago that baseball is not interstate commerce.

But since then a federal district court said it could rule on a suit against baseball by Danny Gardella, former New York Giant outfielder, because radio broadcasts and television now carry ball games across state lines.

Gardella is seeking a court order to end his suspension from Organized Baseball for jumping to the Mexican League in 1946. He also has filed a $300,000 anti-trust suit against baseball.

The Gardella case and other suits now pending in federal courts would not be affected by any congressional action.

But bills to exempt organized professional sports from anti-trust prosecution were introduced yesterday in the House by Reps. Mills (D-Ark) and Herlong (D-Fla), the latter a former president of the Florida State Baseball League.

Chairman Crosser (D-Ohio) disclosed today that some of the big names of the sports world may be called to testify at a House Commerce Committee hearing tentatively set for April 14.

The reserve clause, in effect, says that a team holding a player contract may, as it pleases, renew, amend or drop it from year to year. It prevents a player from making a deal for his own services without the consent of the team holding his contract.

Some players claim this amounts to peonage and prevents them from negotiating to their best advantage.

Derby Favorite Out

NEW YORK —(AP)—Blue Peter, 3 to 1 favorite for the 1949 Kentucky Derby, will not run in the Louisville event, owner Joseph M. Roebling said yesterday.

Roebling said that his star three-year old is suffering from an impacted caecum, a malady resembling appendicitis in human beings.

With Blue Peter sidelined until after the May 7 Derby, it is likely that Olympia and Capot will move into the favorite's role.

BETTER BOWLING

By BILLY SIXTY

PALM SERVE: Continuing the danger detail check-up; no matter which stance you choose, upright or crouched, make very sure you are holding the ball in the palm of the left hand. That's the way you're going to keep the body relaxed. Handling the ball is made work, brings on tenseness and pressure, when you hold the ball on the outside. So you can see the fundamental is important.

Starting footwork into motion, or going into stride, is accompanied by the push-away. Just push the ball forward and away from the body. It's that simple—but only if you hold the ball in the palm of the left hand. With the left hand on the side of the ball this "serving" motion is difficult. The pushaway "serve" should be easy and long and should put the ball into a uniform and grooved swing. Very often when good bowlers lose the "touch," it is the left hand and the push-away that aren't being used properly.

With the pushaway, of course, you start the first step, and that is the next item to check. The first step and pushaway must be in unison, using either a three or four step delivery (see illustration). The pushaway is delayed with the five step delivery.

Move into your stride slowly in order to get first-step timing with the push-away. Hurrying the pushaway and shortening it results from the rushed first step. If you should find yourself off-balancing at the foul line, there's a good chance that the rushed pushaway is the culprit.

Softball League Organized Last Monday Night

Six teams were represented at the Industrial Softball League meeting Monday night. They were Cities Service, Skelly, Phillips, Knights of Pythias, Stanolind and J. C. Daniels.

It was voted and approved that the roster of each team will be turned in the night of May 2 at the City Court Room or at the Pampa Hardware before that date.

The league will start play officially on Monday night, May 16. It was also voted and approved that a collection would be taken at each ballgame to assist in paying the umpires. The games will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights only. Make-up games will be decided by the managers of each team involved. There will be only six teams in the league. The scores will be sent to the Pampa Hardware before 9 a. m. each morning.

The team leading at the halfway point of the season will be in the playoff regardless of how the team stands at the end of the season.

Otto Mangold was elected president of the league and Charles W. Beard was made secretary-treasurer.

Natives of Bikini, who moved to permit the bomb test, have finally found a permanent home on the island of Kili, 500 miles southwest of Bikini.

Wayside HD Club Hears Letter From French Family

At a called meeting of the Wayside Home Demonstration Club last Thursday, Mrs. J. L. Chase read a letter of thanks from the "adopted" French family to whom the club sends a box of goods each month.

Each member answered the roll call by naming a work habit she had changed. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Council report was read by Mrs. Lowell Osborne.

Mrs. J. T. Rogers gave a ten-minute demonstration on how to file home demonstration papers and material.

Mrs. Alvin Reeves had charge of the main program which was on "Work Simplification." She pointed out that material should be stored where it is used, and that shelves should be properly spaced and placed at comfortable working heights.

Members present, in addition to those mentioned above, were Mesdames: Ed Barnes, J. S Fuqua, H. C. Graham, Harold Osborne, H. B. Taylor, Jr., Homer Taylor, Felix Stalls, Skeet Roberts, and W. A. Greene.

The next meeting will be an all day meeting starting at 10 a. m., Friday, April 8, in the home of Mrs. Clint Caylor. Members are asked to bring thimble, thread, razor blade, tape measure, needles, scissors, and card table. The program will be on glove making. Each member is to bring a sack lunch. Last year's yearbook should also be brought to this meeting.

Fidelis Class Installs Officers

The Fidelis Class of the First Baptist Church met Friday in the Church dining room for luncheon and installation of new officers.

The Easter theme was carried out in the decorations and table arrangements.

Mrs. H. M. Stokes led the invocation and Mrs. Tom Tipps, outgoing president, presented the welcome. Mrs. Everett Butler gave a short history of the class and displayed the class scrap book. Other reports were made by Mrs. Owen Johnson and Mrs. Ray Lewis.

Mrs. R. W. Tucker installed the following officers: Mrs. Fred Thompson, president; Mrs. Scotty Rockwell, membership vice president; Mrs. James Winters, class ministries; Mrs. D. A. Brown and Mrs. E. R. Haskins, fellowship; Mrs. Frank Howard, recording secretary; Mrs. Everett Butler, corresponding secretary; Mmes. Fred Carver, Roy Lewis, H. B. Taylor, Jr., Mark Fahle, and V. G. Frazier, group captains; Mmes. P. C. Wynne, Tom Tipps, and William Ballard, co-captains.

All women between the ages of 29-32 who are not in Sunday School anywhere else are cordially invited to meet with this class each Sunday morning for Sunday School. Mrs. Owen Johnson is class teacher.

Besides those mentioned, the following were present: Mmes. Harold Osborne, M. McDaniel, A. B. McPherson, Jeff D. Bearden, Don Egerton, and Austin.

Skellytown HD Club Holds Meeting

Th Skellytown Home Demonstration Club met April 1 in the home of Mrs. E. E. Crawford. A report was given by the Council and THDA representatives.

Mrs. Virginia Harris donated several feed sacks that are to be made into tea towels for Girltown.

Arrangements were made for the members to attend the THDA meeting at Canyon, April 14.

After the business meeting an Easter egg hunt was held. Mrs. Burba won the prize. Chicken-shaped sandwiches, strawberry short cake, and punch were served. Plate favors were a bunny, nest and Easter eggs.

There were eight members present and secret pal gifts were received.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Burba on April 15.

Hopkins School Seventh Grade Class To Give Three-Act Comedy April 8

The seventh grade class of Hopkins School is presenting a three-act play, "Mamma's Angel Child," at 8 p.m. Friday, April 8, at the Community Building in Hopkins. The play is being given in order to raise money for the annual seventh grade trip to Carlsbad Caverns.

The comedy, written by Mildred Grahm, takes place in a summer resort hotel where Mrs. Charmer, played by Yvonne Guthrie, takes her attractive young daughter, Daphne, played by Marva Su Stone, with the hope that some rich man will marry her. The plans are rebuked by the daughter, and the family maid, portrayed by Betty Mills, sides in with the daughter and decides that the widow herself should be the one to catch Horace Bagley, a millionaire, played by Bill Rice.

Mr. Bagley has come to the hotel to escape from designing young women who are out to capture his wealth. His stepson, played by Monte Phillips, turns out to be a football star for whom Daphne has had a secret longing ever since she saw him play in the New Year's game.

Mrs. Charmer decides that she will stand a better chance with Mr. Bagley if she can appear to be 30 instead of 45. To add to the madness of her scheme, she persuades Daphne to dress as a six year old child.

The most interesting romance is that of Willoughby, played by Walker Bird, who is the Bagley man-servant, and his two admirers, Miss Kreech, an old maid tutor hired as Daphne's governess, played by Alice Seawright, and Ellen. These two are in shameless pursuit until, in self defense, Willoughby tells them a false story about being married and having three children.

It is a hilarious climax when Daphne trys to prove her real identity in order to catch Dick, and all the others try to straighten out the confusion.

Student director is Donald Jay Phillips and the technical director is Leon Martin. The play is under the direction of Miss Phyllis Perkins, speech teacher.

Birthday Party Held For Bobby Dahlgren

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

Written for NEA Service

Good bridge hands are not always easy to find. I like to get hands from my readers, but many that I receive are not the type of hands that can be used in the column. I can always depend, however, on the hands given to me by Mrs. Augusta Cantor of New York City, who played today's hand in a rubber bridge game.

Don't you like the way that Mrs. Cantor, who held the North cards, got into six no trump? Cue-bids, Blackwood bids and other conventions come in handy once in awhile, but it is refreshing to see a player take a good old-fashioned plunge.

East opened the king of hearts. Some players might decide to win this trick in dummy and hope to get a break in the spade suit, but not Mrs. Cantor. With the thought that she might have to get a squeeze on the hand to make her contract, and that she could not afford to lose another trick, she let East hold the first heart trick.

East continued with a small heart which Mrs. Cantor won in dummy with the ace. Now she ran off her four good diamond tricks. On the fourth diamond West had to discard a club or a spade, and he elected to discard the deuce of clubs. East had discarded a small heart.

Mrs. Cantor then cashed her three top spade stricks and East found himself squeezed. He could not let go his high heard or dummy's heart would be good, so he discarded a club. Mrs. Cantor then cashed four good club tricks.

By squeezing first one and then the other of the opponents, she made the 12th trick. However, if she had taken the first heart trick there would have been no squeeze.

Lilies Glorify Easter Table

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Lilies are always ideal for the Easter table. They are the symbol of Easter and should be arranged between white candle tapers. Repeat the lily motif with eggshell translucent Lenox china in Fairfield pattern with golden lilies on it. And to carry out the spring feeling, spread the table with pastel blue linen damask and arrange tiny pink rosebuds at each place.

Speaking of spring, how about a rhubarb upside down gingerbread? It's certainly different, is packed with nutrients and presents a beautiful appearance—all this and heavenly taste, too.

RHUBARB UPSIDE DOWN GINGERBREAD
(Serves 9)

Three tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, 2 tablespoons unsulphured molasses, 1-2 cup sugar, 2 1-4 cups raw, diced rhubarb, 1 3-4 cups sifted enriched flour, 1-2 teaspoon ginger, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-8 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 cup shortening, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-2 cup more molasses, 1 egg, unbeaten, 1-2 cup hot water.

Melt butter or margarine in 9 x 9 x 2-inch pan. Add 2 tablespoons molasses and stir in 1-2 cup sugar until dissolved. Spread rhubarb uniformly over the mixture. Sift together flour, spices, salt, soda, and baking powder. Cream together shortening, sugar and molasses. Add 1-2 cup dry ingredients. Beat in egg.

Add remaining dry ingredients alternately with hot water. Pour batter over rhubarb. Bake 1 hour in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Cool cake 15 minutes before removing from pan. Serve with chilled whipped cream, if desired.

CURRIED HAM CASSEROLE

Three medium potatoes, 1 cup whole kernel corn, 2 slices boiled or baked ham cut 1-4 inch thick, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon flour.

Peel and slice potatoes. Brown ham lightly. Place layer of potatoes on bottom of greased casserole. Top with slice of ham. Cover with corn and other slice of ham. Top with remaining potatoes. Mix milk, seasonings and flour. Pour over top. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour.

Russia Preys on Soft Border Areas

Map shows five delicate areas of contact between the East and West where Western diplomats are awaiting the next move in Soviet strategy. With the North Atlantic Treaty now a reality, the Russians have already stepped up propaganda attacks, set up diplomatic blocks or stirred up further opposition to the West in each of these places, all bordering on the Iron Curtain.

Lensman Gets What He Asks for, But Runs From It

GONZALES — (AP) — A singing cowboy riding a stallion and a tiny Hindu mounted on the smallest elephant in captivity quieted a frantic elephant herd stampeding across Texas hill country near here.

That's right—stampeding elephants in Texas—cow country.

The elephants stampeded while being filmed in a movie jungle scene.

It was like the old cattle stampedes — when a herd could be sent thundering by a few pistol shots. Pistol shots—blank ones—started the elephant scramble here Tuesday. They were part of a herd of 25 belonging to Daily Brother Circus, in winter quarters here.

Cowboys and handlers hazed the elephants by Jack Orr's newsreel camera once. Orr, from Dallas, said the fake stampede was unrealistic.

Circus owner Ben Davenport told his cowboys to fire some blanks.

Dudley Autry, brother of screen cowboy Gene Autry, and Chuck Carson, Hollywood stunt man, obliged. Both are circus performers.

The elephants were frightened into a real stampede. The mountainous beasts shook the Texas prairie sod. The porch from one house was brushed aside. Sections of fence were laid flat.

Cameraman Orr had to run for safety. "I haven't seen Orr since he got out of the way," Davenport said. "But we found part of his trousers he lost getting away."

Handlers fled.

But not Autry and the little Hindu, Singh, from India.

"Autry picked up Singh on the horse and rode into the herd," Davenport said.

"Singh found Butch—that's the smallest baby elephant in captivity—and hopped astraddle his neck. Butch, 2 1-2 years old and Singh managed to mill the baby elephants."

Davenport explained that the baby elephants could not keep up with their larger relatives.

Autry spurred to the head of the running elephants. Shouting and waving his hat, he started the herd milling. Others joined him and kept the animals circling "just outside the city limits" of Gonzales, the circus owner said. "They ran four or five miles."

Davenport estimated a crowd of 2,000 gathered at a distance to watch the milling herd. "The best thing is that nobody was hurt seriously," he said. "The animals stopped just short of a school house."

Two circus men were shaken up. Rex Williams, 26, former Marine, was knocked down and cut slightly. Raymond Freivogal, 30, utility man, stumbled and fell between some logs. He was bruised, but the logs—part of the scenery—saved his life.

Orr and Davenport had draped a wooded ravine with scenery to imitate a jungle. The camera was set up near some logs which the elephants had to jump over.

The camera, set automatically, photographed most of the stampede. It was finally buried by the charging beasts. But the film was undamaged.

CAN'T SIT!
PIN-WORMS cause Fidgeting and that awful ITCH!

Losing sleep, almost going mad because of a tormenting, embarrassing rectal itch? This may well be a warning sign of Pin-Worms, ugly creatures that live and grow inside the human body. And this common condition can cause more serious trouble ...even internal inflammation and bleeding.

There's no need to take chances with this nasty pest. A new, scientific treatment — Jayne's P-W Vermifuge — now offers real relief from Pin-Worms. P-W contains a tested, medically-approved drug that destroys Pin-Worms in the intestine and removes them from the body.

So don't gamble with Pin-Worms. At the first sign of infection, ask your druggist for P-W, the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by the famous Jayne Co., specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Relieve that itch! P-W for Pin-Worms!

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bleat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

10 pounds lost in 10 days

Mrs. M. C. Britton, 306 W. Wildwood, San Antonio, Texas, writes us as follows: "I am a faithful user of Barcentrate. I had dieted for weeks without your product and needed so badly to lose 10 pounds, so I started using Barcentrate and my worry was over for I lost the 10 pounds in 10 days. I now weigh 135 pounds.

Pact Only Paper Unless Congress Puts Life in It

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The diplomats' striped pants are back in their traveling bags, their speeches are finished, their signatures are just about dry on the Atlantic Pact, and now we get down to cases.

All the ceremony Monday about signing the pact won't mean any more than an exercise in penmanship unless Congress breathes the breath of life into it. It's all in the hands of Congress now.

The foreign ministers of 12 nations — including our own Secretary of State Acheson — signed the agreement under flood lights in a jam-packed auditorium where senators and representatives had to squeeze in.

The pact was a solemn declaration, binding all 12, that they'd stand solidly in a military alliance, a wall of steel, to stop any push by Russia or communism.

It's supposed to jolt Russia into minding her business, but the agreement, after all, is a treaty.

The United States is the key member. And this country can't take part in a treaty unless the U.S. Senate approves by a two-thirds vote of its 96 members present at voting time.

Some weeks from now the Senate is expected to approve, although this is certainly not positive.

But then comes something else: that part of the agreement in which the 12 nations say they will arm themselves and help one another arm just in case—in case Russia should attack.

Since we're the biggest and richest country, and the one best able to do the helping, President Truman is going to ask Congress to vote $1,000,000,000 or so to help our new allies equip themselves against attack.

And Congress may vote only a little of the money, or none at all, even though that might make the other pact-signers feel we're letting them down.

In despair, if they felt that way, they'd be a soft touch for Russia. They might crumble, one by one, leaving us high and dry and alone on a limb, surrounded in a Communist world.

Lake Stone Bodes Bad Times Ahead

ROLLE, Switzerland —(AP)— The level of Lake Geneva has fallen so low that a stone on the lake bed has been uncovered and the following inscription brought to light:

"When you see me, cry."

Old Swiss residents say the sign refers to the bad times endured during dry spells.

New Member Of Jaycees Introduced

Fred H. Myers, 1017 Duncan, of the parts department of Pursley Motor Co., was introduced as the newest member of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce at the club's luncheon meeting in the Palm Room of the City Hall yesterday.

President Floyd Watson, who returned Monday from the state Jaycee convention in Galveston over the weekend, announced that the cattle guard the club made for Boy's Ranch will be delivered next Sunday.

Making the guard was a club project that was begun last year but halted for lack of material. The guard is now completed and Watson urged all members and their families to go along next Sunday for an all-day picnic at Boy's Ranch. He asked all who go to pack picnic baskets and contact Jim Arndt for directions and departure time.

Delivery of the guard, originally set for last Sunday, was postponed because of the weather.

The club's Board of Directors and the program and carnival committees will meet at the home of Frank F. Fata, 1212 Williston, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Watson said.

Joe Fischer, Elmer Francis, and Watson, who attended the state Jaycee convention as Pampa delegates, said that the Amarillo delegation sponsored a resolution suggesting that each of the 12 Jaycee state regions invite a young European to Texas for a few weeks to learn American ways and methods.

Such a project, it was said, would help toward cementing international relations.

E. M. Kirkpatrick, Jr., of Baytown was elected state president, and Charley Woodburn of Amarillo was elected vice president for Region One, which includes Pampa. During the convention, Watson served on the Nominating Committee.

Melvin Evans, retiring state president, is campaigning actively for the national vice presidency, they said.

Following the meeting yesterday, movies of the Baylor-Wake Forest football game were shown. The game, which Baylor won, 20-7, was played in the Dixie Bowl on New Year's Day.

NEW McLELLAN STORE WILL OPEN TOMORROW

The new McLellan store in the 200 block N. Cuyler, which has been under construction for the past six months, is now complete and will open its doors at 9 a.m. tomorrow, Gayle Childress, manager, said this morning.

Pampa's McLellan store is the 228th store of the chain operating in 29 of the 48 states.

New streamlined type lighting, air conditioning, clear-vision front and a centralized heating system are the assets of the new McLellan store. It has 802 feet of counter space, with wide ailes to make shopping convenient. There are 27 complete departments in the store which employes approximately 60 sales girls, four girls in the office and two in the stockroom. The color scheme of the new store is blue and white.

The merchandise in the McLellan store is selected by 15 alert, experienced merchandisers. Items selected are shipped by the quickest and most convenient means of transportation. Upon arrival at the McLellan stores, they are then checked, put on display and sold.

In 1916, McLellan's acquired a controling interest in a nine-store group in North Carolina. This was the small beginning of a chain which the founders visualized to fill the public need for department stores selling quality goods at low prices.

A. J. Braun, district superintendent, Oklahoma City, and R. H. Reimers, general superintendent, Dallas, are in Pampa to attend the tomorrow's opening.

Childress, formerly of Ada, Okla., now resides at 405 N. Nelson with his wife, Yvonne.

From stockman to manager, the McLellan employes are offered the following important advantages: good starting salary, opportunity to meet people, vacations with pay, holidays with pay, Christmas bonus, free life insurance, sales education, retirement pay plan and healthful surroundings.

Local Delegations To Attend Meets

Delegations from the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will attend annual banquets Friday night of Borger and Memphis Chambers of Commerce, Fred Thompson, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, said this morning.

The Borger meeting will be held at the Junior College and High School Cafeteria. Dr. Arthur A. Smith, professor of economics at Southern Methodist University at Dallas, will be the main spaker.

The Memphis Chamber of Commerce banquet-meeting will be staged in the High School Gymnasium.

Airfields To Receive Federal Aid

By The Associated Press

Airfields at McLean, Spearman, Amarillo, and Lubbock are among the 28 in Texas to share in a program recommended yesterday by the House Appropriations Commitee.

The airport projects would be constructed from $1,981,780 in federal funds and $2,234,380 in locally sponsored funds.

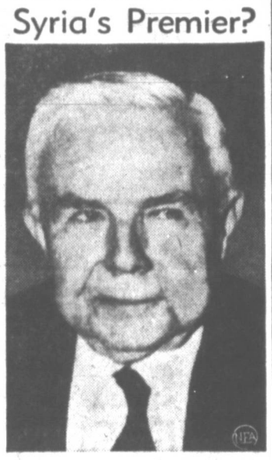

Congress will approve the entire program, Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.) predicted after recommending all of them as "especially worthy."

The Greater Fort Worth (Midway) International Airport takes $540,000 in federal money to be matched by $640,000 from sponsors.

Amarillo's English Field will receive $100,000 each from federal and sponsors' funds; Lubbock Municipal Airport will get $50,000 and $50,000; McLean Municipal Airport will get $10,000 from federal funds and $14,000 from sponsors; and the Spearman Municipal Airport will receive $14,200 of government money and $24,200 of sponsors' funds.

The name "blimp" comes from the fact that English non-rigid ballons were known as "class B-limp."

Syria's Premier?

Seventy-year-old Faris El-Khoury, Syria's former premier and delegate to the UN, may head a temporary government there, following the bloodless coup in which the Syrian army seized power. El-Khoury is said to sympathize with the army's determination not to yield to Israel in armistice negotiations.

Personal Feelings Best Way To Tell When Inflation Ends

NEW YORK — (AP) — How can you tell when inflation stops and deflation begins? How can you know when business is normal, or if it ever was, or will be?

Maybe economists can point out the exact spots on their charts where inflation started, but it usually is only after these things have occurred. As with most of us, their hindsight is pretty good.

Right now things are confused. The boom stopped for some industries a year or more ago. Most other industries think it certainly has now. Only a few are still going strong.

In this jig-saw businss pattern, just where is the point that the nation's economic picture as a whole changed?

Look at it personally. If you have your old job, aren't worried too much about losing it or having your pay cut, you may not have noticed whether inflation has gone and deflation come. You may spend a little less for groceries, but not much. And you are paying more for the new car than you expected when you got on the list months ago. Your rent may be higher.

But if you have been laid off at the mill, work fewer days a week, or know some one in a job like yours who was laid off, the present situation may look like more than deflation to you — it may look like a real depression.

Perhaps the way you feel about it is the best way to judge.

It's inflation — if you yourself always seem to be getting a little more money but also spending more than expected for what you want and need, you jingle coins, but you have no more left at the end of the week.

Does it still seem that way to you now?

It's deflation — if you pay a little less for goods than you did, find the stores overstocked with everything you need, but at the same time find that: as a worker you have less take home pay than you did and therefore can't buy as much any way; as a merchant, you have less profit, or none at all left after you meet your expenses; as a manufacturer or farmer or miner, you have more and more unsold goods piling up on your hands, and losing value as they grow.

That's the personal way to judge whether it's inflation or deflation.

Economists will tell you that inflation means there is more money around than goods, forcing prices up and buying power of money down. They say deflation comes when there are goods all over the place and people don't have money to buy as fast as they did.

Chances are, though, you'll never know at the time just when business is "normal." You have a wide choice just now: President Truman says inflation is still a threat. His chief economic adviser says what we have leaves us pretty confused, as usual.

is "disinflation." Most businessmen say deflation is a fact. That

Hopes High for Polio Vaccine

DALLAS —(AP)— Hope for a vaccine against polio is offered by medical science, said Dr. Kenneth S. Landauer. Dr. Landauer, of New York, is director of medical care for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

He met with a group of Dallas physicians and public health officials this week.

In an interview he said science has good evidence a vaccine can be developed to prevent polio in humans.

Sen. William Langer, above, North Dakota Republican, called Winston Churchill "a cunning foreign propagandist" who is here to persuade the U. S. to underwrite the British Empire. He also renewed his charge that the former British prime minister fought against the U. S. in the Spanish-American War in Cuba. Churchill stated Langer's charge was "devoid of truth."

Mistake Almost Sends Two to Jail

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — "Ooops," two Philadelphia doctors said. "Undoubtedly we made a mistake."

That observation, reported Detective Lieutenant Joseph Summerscale, saved three men from the Southwest from an "almost certain prison sentence" for crimes they didn't commit.

This is the story, as told by Summerscale:

Three men beat and robbed Doctors Irving Rosenberg and Stanley F. Boc three weeks ago.

Shortly afterwards, Kermit Harris, 32, and his brother Henry, 37, of Quinton, Okla., and John J. Lennington, 30, El Paso, Tex., were arrested in nearby Quakertown, Pa., on charges of disorderly conduct. The charges were never pressed against them.

They were brought here because their description was similar to that of the thugs who robbed the two doctors.

Placed in a police lineup, they were identified postively as the assailants.

For three weeks they were jailed on charges of robbery and assault and battery and held without bail.

Then police in Camden (N. J.) arrested Benjamin Lingo, 44, and his son, David, 16, on robbery charges. They went through their rooms and found loot of more than 50 burglaries.

Then Lingo admitted the Philadelphia robberies.

The doctors were called in. Both admitted quickly their previous identifications were wrong. . . ."Amazingly close resemblance," said Dr. Rosenberg.

Summerscale said he'll go to the district attorney and ask the charges be withdrawn immediately.

The trio from the Southwest had denied the charges.

Supply House Damage Heavy

Heavy damage resulted from a fire of unknown origin at 5:07 p. m. yesterday when a barber supply house at 1313 E. Frederic became ignited.

The storage house was owned by Jess and Bill Hulsey, owners of the Hulsey Barber Shop. When firemen arrived at the house, bottles of hair oil, hair tonic and shampoo were exploding. One fireman, after his "hot oil treatment" said the fire was one of the sweetest smelling fires he ever attended.

Only one room of the supply house was damaged but much of the barber materials stored in the house were demolished.

Abortion Charge Filed on Two

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Two San Antonio women were held here today on charges of abortion.

The charged women are Roberta Jarquin, 40, and Margie Solis Olivares, 25. The former was held in lieu of bond set at $10,000 by Justice of the Peace John N. Ogden. The latter's bond was not set because she did not appear at a preliminary hearing.

Officers accuse the women of operating an abortion mill in a shanty 10 miles south of San Antonio.

Mama Cow Gives Milk; Has Calf And Wooden Leg

UNION, Ia. — (AP) — A cow with a wooden leg is one of the highest producers in the blooded Brown Swiss heard of Howard Martin near here.

The wooden leg was the outgrowth of a fall in which the cow, "Crip" suffered a broken leg almost two years ago.

Because "Crip" represented one of the best blood lines in the heard, Martin wanted to save her unborn calf. When veterinarians had to amputate her right rear leg at the hock, Martin fashioned an artificial leg for "Crip."

She gave birth to a bull calf two months later and became a high producer.

All-Out Warfare Declared On Hemphill Range Pests

CANADIAN — (Special) — A full-scale predator control experiment is being watched with interest in this area.

P. D. Moseley, resident game supervisor of the Texas Game, Fish, and Oyster Commission, says that three trappers in the employ of the commission had destroyed 91 coyotes and 3 lynx cats (commonly known as bob cats) during March.

Action, at present, is mostly in an area approximately 10 miles wide and 20 miles long on the north side of the Canadian River. The experiment in the control of predators is to be conducted in three areas of approximately 100,000 acres each, in Hemphill and Roberts Counties.

Moseley pointed out that full cognizance is given the fact that predators destructive to game — coyotes, lynx cats, hawks, crows, — also destroy some rodents, such as rats and gophers. If all predators were killed, these rodents would become a menace. Therefore, the trappers are poisoning the rats and gophers in an effort to maintain the balance of nature and leave the field clear for desirable game.

Many fawns have been born to the herd of antelope in Hemphill County in the last few years, but not one has survived the attacks of these predators.

Less Glamor, More Thrill in First Night Than Premieres

By BOB THOMAS

NEW YORK — (AP) — How does a Broadway first night compare with a Hollywood premiere?

Now I've seen both. I attended the opening of Thomas Mitchell and Walter Abel in "Biggest Thief in Town," which seemed to be a slow-starting but amusing comedy. The other show on the theater side of the footlights was just as interesting to me.

A Broadway opening seems less frenzied than filmtown blowouts. I counted but four cops outside the Mansfield Theater and less than 50 rubbernecks. A delicatessen opening draws more than that in Hollywood.

Of course, there were no searchlights; they don't seem to be used in New York at all. I saw only one autograph seeker and one amateur photographer. They found little game. The only names I spied were Boris Karloff and Roland Young.

The audience dressed better than those at Hollywood premieres, but there were fewer beauties. Only a few showed up in formal attire. At least there were no leisure jackets and moccasins.

For what it lacks in glamor, the New York opeing makes up in excitement. There's a thrill about a first night, the sport of watching whether a show will be a hit or flop. There doesn't seem to be an in-between.

The critics occupy the center of attention. Their grins or frowns can make or break a show. Their counterparts in Hollywood have less importance. A picture can be a success without critical acclaim. A play usually can't.

And now back to Hollywood, that suburb of the tropics, where everything can be put off till manana. Hollywood, a great place to live, but I wouldn't want to visit there.

Churchill, Master Showman Leads Singing Marine Hymn

BOSTON — (AP) — Winston Churchill, a dealer in drama, was remembered today for a show-smashing performance which he ended by singing the United States Marine Hymn.

He started it with a "thank you" speech for honors awarded him by Massachusetts Institute of Technology at its mid-century convocation.

It wasn't a long performance. But in it the bulky British wartime leader was at his stage best.

One minute he had a distinguished audience of nearly 14,000 roaring over his sly comedy.

Next he brought them to a quick hush with bold and brave words like this wish for America and Britain:

"That we may continue to march shoulder to shoulder along the path of truth, of justice and of honor."

The unexpected Churchill show came just after a solemn hour-long address by Harold E. Stassen.

Gone was the grim phrasing of Churchill's "13 men in the Kremlin" blast of the night before. He started the laughter with his first words—"I am off duty tonight."

He kept it going by saying now he would look on the Boston Tea Party "in a totally different light."

As long applause swelled at the end of his talk, Churchill held up his hand. He told the conductor of the U. S. Marine Band that he "couldn't leave" without hearing the Marine Hymn.

The eloquent Churchill's lips opened wide over the words which boast that the streets of Heaven are guarded by United States Marines.

Gulf Gas Well Burns Self Out

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — A tidelands gas well which had blazed for three weeks in the Gulf of Mexico burned itself out yesterday.

The end of the blazer came while Shell Oil Company, its owners, was preparing to drill a directional well in order to pump mud into the gasser and choke the fire off.

An adjacent oil well caught fire but it was soon shut off.

The gasser cratered under the water as it continued to spend its force. It drew into the crater a drilling barge and several other boats.

Company officials estimated the damage at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

United States Army: Front and Center

Throughout the country and at U. S. installations abroad, Americans observe annual Army Day on April 6. Theme of this year's celebration is preparedness and security with an "on-the-alert" streamlined Army.

The artillery range at an Oklahoma training camp . . . the occupation of Germany, Austria, Japan and Korea . . . the experiment station in the Arctic . . . the lonely outpost on the Alaskan coast . . . escorting the bodies of war heroes to their final resting place . . . reserves training at state camps—all integrate operations of today's United States Army. In the center is the official Army Day poster.

Rope Burns 'n' Saddle Sores

By H. B. TAYLOR, JR.

Hi, Neighbor. Light and rest your saddle for a spell. I know all you old-timers and you coffee-loving cowboys have heard the old saying "There's a new man at the pot." Well, I'm new all right; so try not ride me too hard.

I am going to attempt to bring you each week in this space all the latest rodeo news. I expect that you may even hear a little bit about the Pampa Roping Club before the column runs too long. In fact, I expect that you will hear a lot. You see, they do a lot that might be of some interest to a lot of you.

The big tri-state roping match to be held in Amarillo last Saturday, was rained out, but Mr. Leonard Stroud isn't going to give the boys a chance to cool off. He has re-set the dates for April 16. The contest is being held as a benefit for the Potter County Junior Deputy Sheriffs. There will be four ropers from Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico roping five calves each. The ropers are considered to be the best that each state has to offer. It will be well worth your time, if you like to see good calf-roping, to drive over to Amarillo on the 16th of April. Roping to be held at the Fair Grounds.

I have word from H. E. "Strawberry" McCauley over at Spearman that The Spearman Rodeo Association is planning on having the biggest rodeo in the history of Spearman, on April 22-23. Pat Wartman from Manter, Kans., is furnishing the stock for the show. By the way, Pat is furnishing the stock for the Pampa Roping Club's third annual rodeo here in Pampa on June 10-12 also. You could get a preview of what we will have by driving over.

The American Legion over at McLean are also planning on pulling a big one long about April 29-30, and also on the 1st of May. I have not heard who is furnishing the stock for their rodeo, but I expect Tom Harlan, a local rancher, will have his rough string there. Tom has been furnishing stock for rodeos in this part of the country for quite a spell, and has really built up a string of rough ones.

I have already missed the chuck call this spring. They had a rodeo all prepared for Paducah this past weekend, and I missed it. The way the weather was I don't care much. I sure would have liked to give you the results of that show but just did not get them in time. I won't miss too many more.

The Pampa Roping Club had their regular monthly meeting Monday night, and had as their guests Mr. George Pulley, who is associated with Maddox Western Leathercraft Co. in Amarillo, and Mr. Ed Johnston from Tulsa, Okla. Mr. Pulley had a few samples of the Trophy Buckles that the Roping Club will give away as prizes in their coming rodeo, to show the members. Even Jess Reeves said, after viewing the beautiful buckles, "I sure wish I was 20 years younger. I would enter that rodeo and try to win one of those." The buckles are something the boys will really work to win. Wish I was a rodeo cowboy.

The season is still just a little young, so I do not have much information to pass on to you readers as yet. Just wait till these drug store cowboys get their ropes out. Boy! Will I tell on them!

See you next week. Drop me a card if you think this column is worth keeping in the paper. How else will I know if you can read?

Cottontail Snores; Ruins Experiment

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Dr. Roy G. Williams of the University of Pennsylvania wishes his brown rabbit would stop snoring in the middle of cancer experiments.

The rabbit has become so used to his examinations, Dr. Williams said, that as soon as the microscope is moved into position, the cottontail dozes off and starts to snore, throwing the professor's instruments out of adjustment.

Bradley Says U. S. Has Finest Army

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — The tall gaunt man said America today has the finest Army in its peacetime history.

And there were 38 years in his service record and five rows of ribbons across his chest — battle star-studded ribbons — to back his judgment.

"The average capacity of our soldiers today is much above that of 20 or 30 years ago," said Omar Nelson Bradley.

As chief-of-staff he is proud of the fact that a man no longer can just wade into his outfit — he has to have what the Army wants. You have to stand in line now to enlist.

I talked to the general as he waited in his hotel room last night before he went out to pitch the hotest ball in the current international crisis.

He was to pitch that ball in a speech to the Jewish War Veterans Convention. The ball bore this appeal:

"Give American military supplies to back up the Atlantic Pact."

And he pitched it with this hope that his country, which had gone into two wars unprepared, might prevent a possible third world war. He though it could be so by being prepared itself, and by furnishing muscle to its allies.

It was no accident that Bradley, at the invitation of the State Department, was picked to do the pitching. To many men in Congress, to millions of Europeans liberated by his armies, he is a man of weighed words and honest judgment — seeking peace. There is faith behind him. And much experience.

I served as a war reporter with his troops in three campaigns.

I asked the general a question that had been in my mind for years:

"What was the biggest single defect of the American soldier in the last war?"

"I think," said Bradley, "it was the inability of many soldiers to regard the war as anything but a magnified athletic contest. I think they often unconsciously thought of it in terms of a sporting event."

When the American soldier lost the illusion that war was a strange new game, Bradley said, he rose to anger — and victory.

C. W. Atkins of Panhandle Dies

PANHANDLE — (Special) — Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow for C. W. Atkins, 68, who died at 11 p. m. yesterday of a heart attack while visiting his son in Pottsboro, Tex.

The Rev. George York will officiate at the services in the Panhandle Methodist Church, where Atkins served on the Board of Stewards and was a trustee, and burial will be in the Panhandle Cemetery beside a daughter, Flo, who died in 1934.

Atkins retired Jan. 1, 1947, after 20 years with the Gulf Oil Co. Sixteen of those years were spent at Panhandle. Prior to entering the oil company, Atkins had been with the Katy railroad for 18 years.

In addition to his church activities, Atkins was also a member of Carson Lodge No. 1167, AF & AM, and a member of the Panhandle Rotary Club.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harold Knapp of Panhandle; by a son, Jack, of Pottsboro; and by four grandsons, Clayton and Joe Knapp of Panhandle, and David and Tommy Atkins of Pottsboro.

Camp Hood Gets Its First Jewish Rabbi

CAMP HOOD —(AP)— The first Jewish chaplain has been assigned to Camp Hood since it became a permanent post.

He is Chaplain Benjamin Krasnow of Brooklyn.

Jewish soldiers have been ministered to heretofore by an associate chaplain, Rabbi Wolf Macht of Waco.

Turtle oil from Mexico is used as an ingredient in some beauty preparations.

Gets 180 Days

Sen. Glen Taylor, Idaho Democrat, said he would appeal all the way to the Supreme Court, if necessary, after a Birmingham, Ala., circuit court sentenced him to 180 days at hard labor and fined him $50 for his brush with Jim Crow laws last year. Taylor said he was "pleased" with the verdict because he hopes to have Birmingham segregation laws declared unconstitutional.

Texans Split in Response to Liberal Stock Market Credit

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texans split last week in their response to more liberal credit in the stock market.

In Dallas and Austin many hit the easier road to investing, brokers reported. There were a few in Houston, Fort Worth hesitated.

But to every Texan—investor credit held significance, according to Dr. John R. Stockton, University of Texas Bureau of Business Research statistician.

He said the easing of credit is a "temporary business stimulant"—sort of "stopper" to keep the air from coming out of the inflation balloon too fast.

When prices were going up, we put on controls to slow down or halt them, he said. Now with prices starting downward, the government is using "encouragement" devices to try to prevent a quick flop.

The first device was easier credit on merchandise buying—refrigerators, furniture, appliances and the like. It was released several weeks ago. Easier investment credit is the second device. The Federal Reserve Board decided on it Monday. Securities can now be bought for 50 percent cash instead of 75 percent.

Dr. Stockton said the easier credit itself doesn't affect prices—it just encourages money circulating, to keep merchandise moving, to keep people on jobs. That, of course, in turn has a stabilizing influence on prices.

But if people are convinced that prices—on merchandise stocks, or what have — are going still lower, they'll hold their credit the same way they hold their cash, and the device's effect becomes quite temporary. If they think prices are going up, they buy, he said.

Texans were apparently thinking both ways.

In Dallas, the effect—temporary or not—was reported "very pronounced." E. O. Cartwright, resident partner of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane, one of the nation's largest investment houses, said business volume there had increased 200 to 300 percent.

Franklyn Halsell, manager of the same investment office at Fort Worth, reported no apparent increase in buying there yet. He expected business to pick up.

W. D. Cooper, manager of the investment branch at Austin, said that office participated in its share of increased business early in this week, but business had slowed somewhat at week's end.

C. R. McLean of Houston's Harris Upham investment firm said the new credit ruling "automatically increased the volume of business and created a certain amount of margin buying, which though relatively small, indicates a healthy trading sign."

Meanwhile, Texas construction recovered from last week's slump. Total awards climbed back to $23,276,567 for the week, slightly more than twice the total for the previous week, Texas Contractor, trade publication reported. Residential construction accounted for $6,720,300 of the total, almost double the previous week's.

Third Phase of Graze Experiment To Begin May 1

LUBBOCK — The third and final phase of a grazing experiment at Texas Technological College for comparative results on feeding Hereford cattle on irrigated pastures of alfalfa, mixed brome and rye grasses and alfalfa and mixed grasses will begin May 1.

Ten Hereford yearlings, picked at random from last spring's calf crop on Texas Tech property at Pantex ordnance plant, are to be used for the last test. These same Herefords have been used in a calf feeding experiment and were shown at the Junior Livestock show in Lubbock recently, W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture, explains. Results of the second test will be completed and published in May. Each phase of grazing experiment is for one year.

The 10 calves weighed 418 pounds average in November. March 12 their weight was 605 pounds average. The pasture feeding of the calves has been started to demonstrate that calves can be satisfactorily fattened without nurse cows and gain cheaply and profitably. This practice can be followed by 4-H and Future Farmers of America members provided their calf entries receive dry lot classification in shows, Dean Stangel explained.

O Pioneers!

In Harlan County, Kentucky, scene of many bloody labor battles in past years, there is a town which has had five police chiefs since August. One was killed, another was wounded, two resigned and the fifth was convicted of manslaughter. Yet the town's mayor has received a couple hundred applications for the hazardous job from all parts of the country.

In New York City a tavern keeper has set out to restore an institution of the nostalgic past—the nickel beer. Competitors and suppliers got together and boycotted him. He had to buy "black market" beer at high prices. The bartenders' union picketed his place. But he's still selling beer for a nickel.

We present this as evidence to refute the frequent charge that the effete civilization of modern America has sapped the courage that pushed back the frontier, and the mournful and equally frequent complaint that the pioneering spirit is dead.

Vernal Modesty

Three left-wing Europeans will accompany Henry Wallace on his forthcoming "peace tour." He says he invited them over "to help find an answer to the most important question of our time: How can we bridge the dangerously widening gap between East and West?

It must be the spring season that has turned Mr. Wallace as modest as a shrinking violet. We seem to recall that in the political heat of last summer he was asking to be elected president on the strength that he already knew the answer to that question.

Artists, Scientists Must Toe the Line in Russia

By JOHN FISHER

Easy marks may be taken in by the dove-feathered propaganda of the recent Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace held in New York.

As usual the Russophiles managed to inveigle a number of liberal push-overs to front for them. But behind the facade of olive branches, Stalin's local stooges used the confab as the American sound-off of a world drive for thought control.

The New York rally was part of a synchronized movement, now operating at high speed in Europe and Asia, to ensnare writers, scientists and artists and to compel them to serve as Moscow mouthpieces.

Recent resistance to Stalin's program in satellite nations is one of the reasons for dragooning the intelligentsia. Their influence on public opinion is needed by local bosses in forcing the masses to accept nationalized industry, collectivist farming and other Soviet patterns.

NEEDS BRAINS

Although subject peoples, to save their skins, may go through the motions of a Marxist economy, they remain anti-Communist at heart so long as their minds are free.

Hence Stalin seeks first to win intellectuals to his cause and through them the common folk who read articles, see plays and listen to music. In addition to routine propaganda blurbs and broadcasts he wants all cultural streams tinted red.

The Kremlin blames us for the drastic measures it is taking. In a set of instructions sent to Cominform agents, it charges that American imperialists are responsible for a "new outbreak of terror against freedom of thought" and proclaims that this must be stopped by a counter-crusade.

"Following in Hitler's footsteps," says the warning to the faithful, "and acting in exactly the same way—organizing pogroms and violence, purging teaching staffs of colleges, throwing people into jail the ruling circles of the United States, steadily introducing fascism into the cultural life of the country, have outstripped the German fascists.

STAGES OWN SHOW

"International reaction, headed by American imperialists, is pouring money into the recruitment of its troubadours among bourgeois philosophers, poets and writers. The threat of annihilation is hanging over the national cultures of many lands."

To thwart this American "plot," Stalin held the World Congress of Culture for the Defense of Peace in Wroclaw, Poland, last summer, attended by delegates from all over the globe, ranging from screwball idealists to outright Communists.

There in a country whose own free writers have been sent to jail or to Siberia, these brazen hypocrites boasted of the intellectual liberty behind the Iron Curtain.

A plan was approved for enticing liberal brains into the Soviet camp. Commissars were told to deal gently at first with potential converts.

"Of course," said the manual of instruction," intellectuals coming into the Communist Party naturally bring with them a certain burden of bourgeois prejudice. It is necessary in every way to help them to overcome the survivals of bourgeois ideology. Work among intellectuals calls for discretion."

MADE TO TOE LINE

But if in their creative work the novices continue to claim "independence and non-partisanship," the commissars are ordered to crack down on them.

Apparently most of the intelligentsia failed to measure up to high Marxist standards because right now all over the Communist world Red rulers are criticizing, purging and punishing writers, artists and scientists and are making them toe the straight party line.

The Romanian government has announced that ration cards will be withheld from lawyers, scientists and journalists who fail to support Communist institutions. This means they must buy in state stores or in the black market where food prices are several times higher than prices of rationed goods.

In China the Communists have issued orders to artists and writers that hereafter "workers, peasants and soldiers must be the heroes in our literature. No literature can be divorced from politics. All works must deal with the war, land reform" and other Communist programs.

A short while ago the faculty of the Leningrad University put on the carpet several of its most prominent professors of literature because they did not inject sufficient Marxism in the teaching of letters.

OBEY — OR ELSE

After dressing down the offending professors, the faculty solemnly voted that hereafter, its staff should: "1. Combat any depraved tendencies in literature. 2. Utilize literature and folklore in the Communist education of the people. 3. Strain all its forces to criticize the ideological and scientific degeneration characteristic of imperialist America."

Several hundred writers and authors were recently summoned to a conference in Stettin, Poland, at which they were harangued by former trade union boss Sokorski, who is now vice minister of culture. "Nothing can be non-party any more," he shouted, "not even the works of artists and writers."

Representative authors from Russia and Bulgaria explained how they had accepted the party line and urged their hosts to remember it was their duty to do likewise. The worst tactics to use on Poles is for an outsider to tell them what to do. Hence the remarks angered the writers.

But they are trapped. The government has a monopoly on paper and all books must be printed in state-owned printing plants. And there no longer are any free newspapers or magazines.

Americans, in keeping with our free speech principles, allowed visitors at the New York cultural rally to sneer at our country. But over there not only are Americans barred but their own writers are muzzled.

Texans Learning The Hybrid Way

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A surplus of canned meat accumulated in connection with the foot and mouth disease control program could be used for foreign aid, Jay Taylor of Amarillo, Texas, believes. Taylor is the Texas member of the National Livestock and Meat Advisory Board.

Taylor urged use of foreign aid funds to purchase this meat. He endorsed a proposal by Rep. Worley (D-Texas) to amend pending Economic Cooperation Administration legislation.

Worley said yesterday he plans to offer an amendment, unless such action is taken by the Foreign Affairs Committee, to forbid use of any ECA funds for purchase of foreign meats until the Mexican meat surplus is liquidated.

Taylor said $28,000,000 worth of canned beef produced in the slaughter of cattle in Northern Mexico is held in warehouses in Mexico and Texas.

Exposed but non-infected Mexican cattle were slaughtered and processed for human consumption in the hoof and mouth disease program.

INCREASED BY SEPARATION

Twenty blood donations used as whole blood will treat at most 20 patients. But 20 blood donations separated into red cells can be used to treat from 75 to 350 patients.

HELPFUL HELICOPTERS

Helicopters can be towed in the air hundreds, or even thousands, of miles for use in rescue operations at a remote disaster, such as a plane crash.

Washington.....by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Forthcoming sale of the $185,000 Hope diamond and other jewelry belonging to the late Evalyn Walsh McLean, famed Washington hostess, has brought to light an untold story of how this historic bad luck gem was once lost. This was before the war, when the McLeans lived at their original, big old estate, Friendship.

Mrs. McLean was temporarily pressed for ready cash and was trying to borrow money on the Hope diamond. A money lender willing to take the ice cube as security was to call at Friendship and close the deal. Mrs. McLean sent her maid to fetch the stone, nearly an inch in diameter.

When the maid didn't return promptly, a member of the family was sent to find her. Back came the news that the Hope diamond was not in its accustomed place. Mrs. McLean's room was bing searched high and low, but no trace had been found.

At about the exact moment when the searchers were ready to give up, a big, long-haired dog sauntered in. Mrs. McLean let out a gasp. She had forgotten. Some time before she had been playing with the dog. She called it and felt around its neck. And there, sure enough, buried in the dog's fur was the missing Hope diamond, just where she had hung it by its chain.

ALMOST WRONG ADDRESS

Shortly before the text of the North Atlantic Pact was announced, the Spanish Embassy in Washington got ready to send a letter to Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The letter was to say that Spain would like to receive an invitation to join the pact.

Just in time, this move was discovered by the embassy's newly-retained counsel on cultural relations, attorney Charles Patrick Clark, who told them this was the wrong approach. U. S. foreign policy is made by the President and the State Department. So the letter to Connally wasn't sent.

Latest sizeup of recent changes in Russian leadership is that the Moscow government has not demoted Molotov, Miloyan and other members of the all-powerful Politburo. Instead, the Politburo seems to have down-graded the jobs they formerly held by appointing lesser men. Vishinsky and Menshikov have not been held in high repute by the Russian hierarchy. Vishinsky has been regarded as something of a "hatchet man" to do Moscow's dirty work. Menshikov was in Washington as an UNRRA official for a time, and never knew what it was all about. One explanation of why Moscow gave the ministries of foreign affairs and trade to these second-line officials is that the Russians do not want their top officials dealing with foreign governments. This is interpreted as a misguided attempt at a rebuff to the U. S., Britain and France becuase they have not been sending their top officials to Moscow for negotiations on current disputes.

LOADED THE OTHER WAY

Congressmen are in for another deluge of mail on the Taft-Hartley law. Replies to General Electric's 19 loaded questions on labor relations swamped most congressmen's desks. The questions were so phrased that they produced answers favoring retention of the T-H law. But now the International Association of Machinists has taken the 19 G. E. questions and framed them the other way, so that answers will come out favoring T-H repeal. The Machinists' Union idea is to start another mail barrage to hit the congressmen just as they're getting ready to vote on labor legislation changes.

Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota is being boomed as a Republican candidate for president in 1952 by — of all people — Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce. Mrs. Luce, Mr. Luce and Congressman Judd are strong backers of more U. S. aid to Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government in China. Modestly, Congressman Judd says he doesn't want to be president, wants only to return to China some day as a medical missionary, which he once was. If he had wanted to be president, he says, he would have run for the Senate in 1948.

One of ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman's greatest battles right now is fighting off the American business firms that want Marshall Plan millions used to take up the slack in U. S. economy. There are now 124 industires that want ECA to buy up their surpluses at the taxpayers' expense to dump in Europe. Included are such European essentials as are supplied by the popcorn, pretzel, candy, horsefly netting, glue, honey, cookie, ice cream mix and spaghetti industries.

What Things Are Immoral for The Individual to Do That Are Moral for the State to Do?

I asked a critic of mine to name one solitary thing that was immoral for an individual to do that was moral for the state or a subdivision of the state to do. He will not name a single act. Yet, he parrot-like repeats that there are many things that are morally right for the state to do that would be immoral for the individual to do. He writes:

"Most any high school child could think of half a dozen instances in which it is right and proper for governments—I didn't say groups of individuals, ——to do things not morally right for individuals to do." Of course any immature mind could name a lot of things that are commonly accepted that the state has a moral right to do that an individual does not have a right to do but he could not defend his position.

Since most of our trouble comes from that belief and since no one will name a single solitary thing that is morally right for the state to do that is immoral for an individual to do and attempt to defend his position, I want to set forth some things that are usually believed to be right for the state to do that are immoral for an individual to do. And I want to show that it is either moral for an individual to do it or immoral for the state to do it.

Let's start with the Commandment "Thou shalt not kill." It is usually agreed that the army has a right to kill. In civilized countries it is regarded very barbaric even for the army to kill if the individual will surrender. If he will not surrender, and it is necessary to kill in self-defense, then the army is doing nothing but what each and every individual has a moral right to do—to kill in self defense.

Another thing that is usually believed to be right for the state to do that is immoral for an individual to do is to coin money. The Constitution gave Congress the right to coin money. Probably there has been nothing in all the history of the world that has caused more misery, poverty and suffering than the exclusive right of the government to coin money, and by coining money we use it as it is commonly used as printing pieces of paper that are orders to pay or promises to pay. This monopoly of issuing money is usually the way individuals become slaves of the state. The fight in Berlin is over which country—either Russia or the United States—will have the exclusive right to print paper money. If it were not a crime to own gold and gold was used, or anything else, as money, then the government couldn't continue to bribe the public into keeping them into office by printing irredeemable paper money.

And why shouldn't any man or corporation have the right to issue due bills payable on demand in a certain amount of gold or a certain amount of lead or coal or silver or anything else he wanted to give a due bill for? There would be nothing immoral about it. It is immoral, however, for the government to claim an exclusive right to coin money. It leads to statism and socialism and communism and to tyranny and to despotism. So the idea that governments should have the moral right to exclusively coin or print money is a falsehood. The government has no more right to do it exclusively than an individual would have the exclusive right to issue due bills payable on demand or payable at a definite time. Note due word "exclusive".

Another belief is that the state has a right to take something from an individual against his will while an individual does not have that right. If that be true, then the statements in the Declaration of Independence and the Ten Commandments are all in error. The Declaration of Independence says: "Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed". And if that be true, then the government has no right to coerce a man to buy something or pay for something that he doesn't want or use.

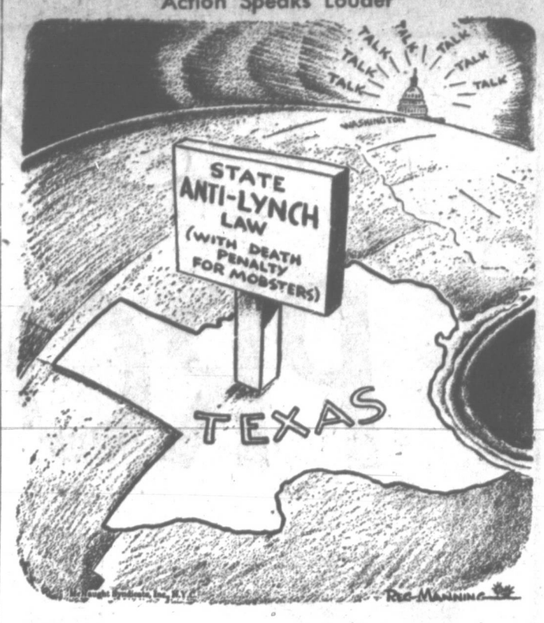

One of the most common illustrations of the government having a right to do something that no individual has a right to do is that the government has the right to regulate speed on the highway. There is no question about the government having such a right because the government owns the highways. On a toll road, however, the man who owns the toll road would have the same right to regulate the traffic as the government does on its roads. So the government has no right to do something than an individual does not have the right to do. Both have a right to regulate traffic on their property.

Lots of people claim that the state has a right to stop the manufacture of alcoholic liquors. Yet they deny that an individual would have the right to stop alcoholic manufacturing. Some will even claim that an individual has a right to manufacture alcoholic liquors if he doesn't sell them. But that is just an evasive way of accomplishing the same thing. If men cannot exchange goods and services they will soon starve to death. If true that the majority has the right to interfere to prevent a man from manufacturing and selling alcoholic liquors because the majority might think it is harmful, then it follows that the majority would have equal right to stop anybody from writing or reading anything that the majority thought would be harmful to society. If that be the case, then the individual must be the slave of the majority. He cannot be responsible directly to God. He cannot be a steward of all his life energy. All he can be is a tool of the majority. Since there is no question that alcoholic beverages in certain cases are good and beneficial, it is immoral for the state to prevent manufacturing and selling of alcoholic beverages. In fact, they have never even claimed that they had that right. They lways gave doctors the right to give prescriptions to buy alcoholic beverages. But that is too much power to give to any man or group. It is a form of slavery. It is a denial of the principle that men ought to be equal before madmade laws as they are before God's Laws.

I will not have room for more examples in this article, but will follow it up in the next issue.

news behind the news

Once a week this veteran Washington correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Readers from all sections have sent in letters asking for a bread-and-butter explanation of Marshall Plan operations. Here is what most want to know:

Do foreign companies and individuals receive money from us? Do they know that the U. S. is their benefactor? Do we get any goodwill from the program? Do we get our money back when these countries recover? What publicity do we get to make friends through this generosity?

CREDIT — Answer: First, it is doubtful if the U.S. derives full and general credit from this experiment, except in Britain. It is equally doubtful about repayment except in the indirect form of building a more stable and peaceful world in which revival of commerce would benefit all.

There is also the need for strengthening our political, economic and, if the North Atlantic Treaty becomes effective, our military allies against Russian expansion and terrorization. A Marshall Plan in the early thirties, for instance, might have stopped Hitler before he erupted outside Germany. He might never have gotten farther than his basement beer hall in Munich.

PIERRE — Let us simplify this primer by taking the case of a small tradesman in Chateauneuf-sur-Cher, who needs a truck for maintenance or expansion of his business. We shall call him Pierre. But he might be a great industry, a railroad, a soap plant, and he might live in any of the countries covered by the program. Also, his want might be Easter clothing for his family, fertilizer or seed for his farm, a pair of mules or a tractor.

Pierre is no mendicant. He is a reputable and well-known business man with money in the sock or bank, but his money consists of francs. He has had an order for a truck with an American firm since shortly after the end of the war. He has submitted his application to the French agricultural agency charged with allocating these vehicles to individuals or corporations.

NATIONALISTIC — Pierre cannot turn those francs into dollars because no foreign firm, such as the American truck manufacturer, wants them. In normal times, the domestic company would accept those francs in payment, and use them, through a complicated exchange system, to pay for French goods of equal value which it or some other firm had bought.

At the moment, however, none of these foreign countries has reached the stage of export production where they are selling abroad even a small percentage of the amount they buy or need. Money is no longer internationalistic; it is highly nationalistic. It is this blockade of free exchange which necessitates such machinery as the Marshall Plan.

DOLLARS — When Pierre gets notice from the French allocation agency that he has been held deserving of a truck, he pays his francs to the Paris representative of the American firm or to a designated agent, as he would in normal days. The truck's agent then turns the francs over to the French government, which gives him the equivalent in dollars.

These are Marshall Plan dollars contributed by American taxpayers. We will not get them back as in an ordinary selling or lending transaction. A certain percentage of Marshall Plan funds has been set aside for actual loans, to be repaid, but there has been small demand for them.

Pierre's francs now become the property of the French government. Paris financiers may use them only for internal reconstruction and capital investment. They cannot be used for payment of ordinary government expenses because they would then exaggerate the evil of inflation, making present conditions even worse. They must be spent on power plants, railroads, roads, waterways, etc., thus placing France on her economic feet again.

TIRED — In a general way, of course, Washington has tried to make good will through this venture in enlightened selfishness. Foreign officials and top executives know of the part we play and the sacrifices we endure in the way of high taxes, material scarcities, and possibly building up eventual competitors.

But I doubt if Pierre does. Except in England, listening to the Voice of America on the radio or reading newspaper accounts of our contribution are not widespread outside the larger cities. When Pierre gets through his day, he is too tired to listen or read.

We cannot emblazon all these goods with the Stars and Stripes, for that would be rubbing it in—"a gift without the giver is bare" sort of thing. Pierre simply knows that he has paid his cash, as he always has.

Thus we roll up treasure in some future economic heaven—and, maybe, in Moscow!

The Nation's Press

THE WEAK BASTION

(The Wall Street Journal)

The Dane can look over a short stretch of the Baltic Sea to the mass of the Soviet Union. The Norwegian lacks even that comfort; he has a common land frontier with Russia.

The Belgian, the Dutchman and the Frenchman have a few hundred miles of western German territory between them and the red army. They do not think it is much security.

It is reasonable they should all want to fortify their weak positions. It is natural, with such precedents as the Marshall Plan, that that should expect the United States to do a good deal of the fortifying for them.

All this is understandable. It is not necessarily right, militarily or economically.

The North Atlantic treaty does not specifically call for an American-financed arms program. It does it by indirection; the signatory nations, "by means of continuous and effective selfhelp and mutual aid, will maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack."

The Marshall Plan has taught us the definition of "self-help and mutual aid." It is in any case no secret that a $1.5 billion to $2 billion arms program is already being worked out. Denmark and Norway, not yet pact participants, made no bones about setting their price for joining.

We suggest there is a basic confusion of purposes here. The virtue of the Atlantic pact is that it serves notice on the Soviet Union that armed aggression beyond the present dividing line in Europe will involve the United States.

Stalin cannot, therefore, indulge Hitler's delusion; he cannot assume American neutrality while wreaking his will in Europe. That is a sizable dose of security for western Europe, but western Europe finds it wanting: "We prefer defense to liberation after Russian occupation."

If that were a correct assessment of the situation, the argument could be made that the Atlantic pact is only a scrap of paper if not backed up by an arms program. In fact, this plea rests on an assumption supported by no evidence whatever.

The Soviet Union has made its conquests in Europe largely by subversion rather than armed aggression. If it had wanted to conquer western Europe or any part of it by arms, it would have done so before now, while the nations were economically weak, before there was a Brussels pact, certainly before there was an Atlantic pact. Yet it has hesitated to use arms even against the erring member of its own flock, though the United States has made no commitment to defend Tito's Yugoslavia in case of armed attack by Russia.

Everything in the post-war history of Europe shows that, on the contrary, the Soviet Union has expressly avoided armed entanglements with western powers. What it cannot do by subversion it does not do. To suppose that it will reverse that policy at the very moment when doing so would bring crashing upon it the armed power of the United States is to credit the men in the Kremlin with very little intelligence indeed.

The Atlantic pact will be a powerful deterrent to Soviet aggression without American-financed arms program. An arms program will not make it more powerful. It is highly doubtful if $1 billion or $5 billion worth of arms could defend the eastern frontier of western Europe if the Soviet Union should reverse its policy and attack.

The experts admit western Europe could not for some years be made adequately defendable. What becomes of the "defense rather than liberation" plea if the red army starts rolling in the meantime?

In that meantime, of course, the United States would be steadily draining its resources. Its economy would be weakened by the non-productive manufacture of arms. On top of the burden of the Marshall Plan, this could weaken it to the point of breaking—sooner than the policy-makers realize or are willing to admit.

It is not good sense to weaken the bastion by vainly striving to strengthen the outposts.

INSIDE YOUR CONGRESS

SOCIALISM — AMe... VARIETY

What ails America?

Why do more and more of our citizens feel unable to take care of themselves? Why should we feel helpless and inadequate even in the midst of the greatest income we have ever known? Could we be, as other nations are, in the grip of the very malady which we fight abroad? Have we, while acting as good Samaritans abroad caught that mortal malady ourselves? Is it possible we are losing American freedom too?

To avoid the awful consequences of wishful thinking on these questions, we must answer them from the recorded facts. We know that our American goverenment has, in recent years, changed its character. It has become an overwhelming and omnipresent machine of controls and compulsions. It manages our money, credit, farming rents and housing, foreign trade, social security, production and education. This Federal Government management and control —of us—costs us about $50,000,000,000 out of our total income of about $200,000,000,000.

The Federal, State and local governments, combined, take one-third of everything we produce. That means that we, as a people, work for ourselves only two out of every three days. With a 40-hour work week we have less than 27 hours, or about 3½ days per week to produce our feed, clothing and shelter, and to maintain our health and education. It is not being done. It cannot be done. The people cry out in increasing millions for the Government to do for them what they are incapable in 3½rd days' work per week of doing for themselves. So, the Government proposes to increase the extent of its management, add more taxes, and reduce further the number of days in which the people can work for themselves, in the management of themselves, their property and their happiness.

Many enlightened scholars have expressed doubt as to whether any government can take more than one day in ten from the people, or 10% of the nation's income, and have a people still able to take care of themselves. We must remember that as recently as 1930 London and Paris managed only 21% of their national economy; Berlin managed 22%, and brought on national socialism three years later. Moscow, after thirteen years of socialism, managed only 29% of the Russian economy. After 1930, all of the European people were soon reduced to absolute dependence on the central governments. Can we be excused if we fail to know these facts and govern ourselves accordingly?

The present impact of this concentration of power in our Government and the burden it imposes on our American production is unbearable. It is crushing the people. The weight of this government burden becomes more apparent when we realize that we pay out more to Washington, annually, than we do to all of our six million farmers for the food we eat. We pay, in taxes, two and one-half times more to Washington to manage us than we pay in net income to all American corporations for all of their services to us.

The United States Government already owns one fourth of all the land in the continental United States. It demands local services of the states and counties and claims its right to exemption from all local taxation. Any future severe depression might make the Government become the owner or mortgagor of half of all real estate. The President, in 1946, considered long and seriously the seizure of all privately-owned cattle for the hungry in the cities.

The logical sequence in all socialist management is to add an army of government employees, or party workers, in each step of socialization. Our government has already become the biggest employer in the world. It now has more than 2,000,000 civilian employees. They receive a cold half billion dollars per month, and they, with their wives, parents, relatives and dependents, are naturally interested in seeing the payroll receipts continued by keeping one and the same party in power. Since, by conservative estimate, each government employee guides or controls at least four votes, our citizens fight for freedom against a monstrous central government having 8,000,000 voters, with a direct monetary interest in keeping one party continually entrenched in power.

This is not the whole story. Many, many more millions have become dependent upon payments, benefits and handouts. Already, one out of every six adult Americans receives checks regularly from Washington. A United Press dispatch sets the figure at 15,830,899. If each check went to a different family, it would mean that "2.7% of our families now balance their budgets with money from Washington. Each year, our tax burdens increase. Each year, others join the ever-increasing ranks of the 15,830,899 who are directly dependent on the management by our central government of their lives, in whole or in part.

The challenge is crystal clear. Shall we reduce the burdens of taxes and the tyranny of Big Government so as to be able to manage ourselves?

SIN finally found a tremulous portion of her voice. "Then you're not really a G-man, at all?"

Trim smiled sparingly and shook his head. "Let's say that I'm really—" he touched the cocked hat with a flourish of his weapon "—a pirate."

"Just one thing I want to know," said John Henry. He sagged wearily in his saddle. "Then I'll shut up. Where did you have that combination? We searched you."

"Not very thoroughly," said the shadow. "You missed the pistol, for one thing. But the combination wasn't there. The combination was here."

"Where's he pointing?" asked John Henry, straining forward.

"His mouth!" cried Sin.

"That's right," chuckled Trim. "My dentures are false. No one thinks of that. Whoever heard of owning a set of false teeth that look worse than real ones? But they're as false as that story about Mr. Robottom, which I consider pretty adequate for the spur of the moment." He peered to see the extent of the Conovers' chagrin and drew back satisfied. "Enjoy the sweep of the joke," he commanded. "Others among my foes have been fooled and appreciated it."

"Mr. Trim," said John Henry earnestly. "We are not your foes."

"Nonsense. You've been a complication since Saturday night—although a curious one. It was an accident that Barselou learned we were in the game at all. But then to have you gullible innocents mistaken for us—I call that highly amusing."

"We? Us?" questioned John Henry tentatively.

"My daughter Faye and I," replied Trim blandly. "My name is Jordan—if names mean anything. But don't break the habit of a week end, I beg you."

"Oh!" gasped Sin. "Then she—then we—"

"Haven't you noticed the family resemblance—the Jordan nose? It's turned up at the world—pushed into that position by generations of well-applied thumbs. Yes, it was Faye who insisted the cottages be switched so she could go through your belongings for this precious combination while they were being moved. Gayner, poor fumbler, didn't suspect a thing—he was that eager to search your stuff himself. But he searched the clothes after Faye had finished and it was he who mussed them so deplorably."

Sin trembled with rage. "You killed him!"

"Relax, honey," said John Henry uneasily. He sensed that his wife was shivering, although the dark of the new day was not chilly between the protective canyon walls. He edged his horse closer to hers so that their legs touched comfortingly. "Let's move on," said John Henry and his voice was tired. "Let's get it all over with."

• • •

THERE was enough light for him to see Trim raise the short fat revolver menacingly. "No rush," was the amiable reply. "I prefer to board the Queen by daylight. Barselou is an excellent shot." He settled back on his steed luxuriously. His proud voice said, "Faye's taking you to the Bar C in the first place was impromptu, Conover—but it shows her flair. That way she was able to separate you from your wife and go through the only clothes of yours she hadn't inspected—the clothes you were wearing the night before."

"Then it was Faye, after all. I thought Barselou—"

"Barselou wasn't even aware that you were at his ranch at all." The chuckle out of the darkness was malignant. "Yes, Faye is adept. She went to the Bar C Ranch tonight to discover the starting point for the route I gained from Gayner. It was no error—her releasing you two. We didn't suspect you knew Walking Skull was the point and we were through with you."

"Just how," asked John Henry, "did you know Anglin had wandered into our cottage in the first place?"

"Careless Anglin," clucked the man with the gun commiseratingly, "baffled by so little. Faye was waiting for

Shamrock Legion Home to Be Dedicated During 18th District Spring Convention

CHARLES C. GIBSON

G. WARD MOODY

WILLIAM (BILL) McCRAW

SHAMROCK — One of the finest American Legion Homes in Texas, that of the local DeShazo-Garza Post No. 68, will be dedicated with one of the most outstanding two-day programs in the history of the 18th District at its annual spring convention here Saturday and Sunday, April 9-10.

Charles C. Gibson, Amarillo newspaperman and commander of the 18th District, has announced that William "Bill" McCraw, Dallas, department commander of the American Legion and G. Ward Moody of Austin, department adjutant, will be convention speakers. Commander McCraw, former attorney general of Texas, will address a joint session of the American Legion and Auxiliary Sunday morning. Adjutant Moody will address the business session Sunday afternoon, Commander Gibson states.

Both convention days will be jam-packed with American Legion business and recreational activities. Registration will start Saturday morning, April 9, at 9 o'clock, for the American Legion, the Auxiliary and the 40 and 8.

At 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the 46 American Legion posts of the 18th District will parade with their post colors. Stratford will lead the parade of posts because it was the first to make its 1949 membership quota. Other posts in the district will be placed in the parade behind Department Commander Bill McCraw's automobile in the order in which they have attained their quota.

The parade promises plenty of color and glamor with a number of bands, headed by the Army band from Fort Sill to participate. Adding gaiety to the parade will be 35 "poor goofs," or initiates, into the 40 and 8. The 40 and 8 annual district "wreck" will begin at 5 o'clock. At 6 o'clock the Auxiliary delegates and guests will enjoy a formal tea.

Saturday evening Legionnaires of the 18th District and their guests will enjoy a dance in the ballroom of the magnificent new American Legion home here. It is large enough to accommodate 1,600 couples and is expected to be filled to capacity.

Sunday morning, April 10, District Commander Gibson has arranged a full day of American Legion business activities. Starting at 9 o'clock, a breakfast for all post, district, division and department officers will be enjoyed. A similar breakfast for officers of the Auxiliary is scheduled. At 10 o'clock, Sunday morning, a joint meeting of the American Legion and Auxiliary will be called to order. Shamrock churches have been asked to dismiss their congregations and meet with the American Legion and participate in the formal dedication of the new American Legion home and the annual Memorial service. State Commander McCraw will be dedication and memorial speaker.

At 12:15 o'clock a mass initiation under the direction of B. F. Shepherd of Amarillo will be held. Dinner will be served at 12:45 o'clock. Vern Blodgett, Kerrville, fifth division commander, will be among distinguished Legion dignitaries attending the convention.

At 2 p.m., separate meetings of the American Legion and Auxiliary will be held. Adjutant Moody will address the afternoon business session. This will be followed by a business session at which delegates to the national convention will be elected.

Scouters to Take Course

The fulfillment of one of the goals in the 40th Anniversary Crusade will take place Saturday and Sunday at Lake McClellan, the Rev. E. Douglas Carver, president of the Adobe Walls Area Council, said today.

One of the targets of the 40th Anniversary Crusade, which Scouters will emphasize during the next two years, is that each Scout unit should have two leaders who have had basic training.

A basic Scout leaders training course will be staged at the lake starting at 2 p.m. Saturday and continuing through Sunday. The council has planned two basic training courses to be held this year. They will be open to all Scoutmasters, assistant Scoutmasters, troop committeemen and district Scouters of the council.

Reservations for 50 men have already been made and it is anticipated there will be more before the course gets underway.

Subjects to be covered include patrol organization, out-door skills, camping and hiking. Major emphasis will be placed on out-door skills.

Flaudie Gallman, Scoutmaster of Troop 80, will have charge of the cooking at the two-day camp. Paul Beisenherz, council executive, and Tom Cochran, field executive from Borger, will instruct the course.

Men planning to take the course should bring sleeping gear and good utensils. All food will be furnished by the council.

Yezzir—Giveaway Programs Are Real Educational Today

NEW YORK — (AP) — It is welcome news indeed that a radio giveaway show is offering a live elephant as a prize.

This is a milestone in the field of education. Wait and see.

To win the elephant all you have to do is answer a phone call and identify a certain tune played on a certain program. This requires no Toscanini knowledge of music. It requires no long hours of library research.

The correct answers to these radio quiz contests now are printed in $1 tip sheets, hawked on the streets around Broadway's neon temples. They are much more accurate than the four-bit tout cards peddled at most racetracks.

The offer of a free elephant is a sure sign that at last the radio giveaway programs are growing up. The industry is maturing. For too long they have competed to see which could give away the oddest assortment of zany prizes. A typical package might include a trip to the South Pole, four brassieres, a motor car, 200 used pogo sticks, a sow complete with litter, a refrigerator, a stove, a motor car and a leaky Liberty ship.

But an elephant — there's something really practical. It points up anew, how barren have been the rewards of higher learning in America up till now. In its 336 years Harvard University has never seen fit to offer its graduates an elephant. No, it gives nothing but a broad-"A" accent and a paltry sheepskin. They even remove the wool from the sheepskin — wool with which a handy Harvard man could easily weave himself a suit.

An elephant — white or gray, not pink—would be a real economic asset in any American home today. Elephants make wonderful baby sitters, and all they ask is hay. As any parent knows, what baby sitters ask nowadays certainly ain't hay.

Elephants also are more handy around the home than a husband. They will move heavy furniture about all day long without complaining. They can be taught to sweep, spray dirty dishes, dust rooms. They are loyal and won't gossip about your household affairs, as some maids have been known to do.

Pig No. 311, Bikini Hero, Sent to Zoo

WASHINGTON — (AP) — First they lock you in a washroom. Then they throw an atom bomb at you. Then the ship sinks. And now they're going to put you in the zoo.

It shouldn't happen to a pig.

But it did.

The Navy announced that "Pig No. 311" — survivor of atomic blast, radiation and residual radioactivity at the Bikini a-bomb experiments — is being turned over to the National Zoological Park here. Dr. William M. Mann, zoo director, asked for Miss 311 when he learned she no longer was wanted by the Navy's Medical Department.

The Navy made only one request: when 311 dies they want her back for an autopsy.

No. 311 never will be able to tell her grandchildren about the time she survived an atomic attack and the sinking of a cruiser. She won't have any grandchildren. For this porker, the only permanent result of the a-bomb blast was sterility.

According to slide-rule calculation, No. 311 never should have lived beyond the morning of July 1, 1946.

With other pigs, goats and other assorted livestock this 50-pound gilt was aboard the former Japanese cruiser Sakawa. She was locked in a washroom on the main deck.

The a-bomb went off, the cruiser went down, and No. 311 went swimming in the lagoon. They never did find how she got out of the washroom.

Atomic no longer, she will be transferred to the zoo Monday.

Even murder was invoked to protect the secret of glass manufacturing in the days when Venice was at the height of its glory.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — News item: "Science produces hybrid trees that grow two to three times at fast as ordinary trees."

When Gilbert and Millicent Warb moved into their newly built home, they decided they wanted two trees in the front yard.

So they called in Jonathan Spray, a professional landscaper, and explained their problem.

Jonathan planted two hybrid trees in front of the Warbs' home, one on each side of the flagstone walk.

Two years later one tree had crawled over to the house, climbed up the porch and shot so high into the sky Gilbert had to put a red lantern on it to warn away airplanes at night. People came from miles away to see it.

The second tree was a sorry sight — a stunted, twisted thing no taller than Jimmy Durante and covered all over with hundreds of small hard objects bristling with spikes. Gilbert called it "our wart bush."

"It must be sick," said Millicent. "I'm going to phone a tree doctor."

Half an hour later a red-painted car, sirens screaming, wheeled to the curb. On the side of the car was painted: "tree ambulance."

The doctor walked over to the tree. He opened his kit, took out a stethoscope, and held it against the trunk. He made more tests.

"Its sap pressure is normal," he said. "And it's organically sound. There's nothing I can do. I suggest you call in a tree psychiatrist."

"A what?" chorused the Warbs.

"A tree psychiatrist. I recommend Dr. Cortex."

So Dr. Cortex came, stretched himself out on a cot by the tiny tree, and listened all afternoon to its leaves.

"It's a simple case of frustration," he said. "Your hybrid has a split personality — it is half apple, half thorn tree. The thorn personality doesn't give a whoop what happens. The apple personality is serious. It wants to grow apples you can eat."

"Oh, dear, what can we do?" murmured Millicent.

"Humor it," said Dr. Cortex. "Make it feel useful. Eat a few of those knobs it thinks is apples."

"We will like the devil!" shouted Gilbert. "I don't want any more schizophrenia in my front yard. I'm going to dig up that wart bush, and tear down that big vine that thinks it's a redwood tree. I'm going to plant a couple of good ole honest elm trees — and let them grow anyway they want to."

He did, too. Who wants trees as confused as people?
