Panic Rises In Shanghai As Communist Forces Near City

Churchill Raps China Action

By THOMAS C. WATSON
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 26 — Winston Churchill angrily accused the Laborite government tonight of "muddling" in China by not having aircraft carriers there to retaliate against "murdering" Communists who killed and wounded scores of British seamen.

In an embittered House of Commons session Prime Minister Attlee defended British policy and said "I take full responsibility." His Laborite comrades shouted accusations that Churchill's Conservative party "wants war."

Churchill termed the Chinese Communist shelling of the four British warships an "atrocious outrage" at which there is national resentment.

Must Face Issue

The wartime prime minister asked why there were not several aircraft carriers on hand "capable of affording protection in the only way it is understood by those attacking, murdering, and insulting us—namely by effective power of retaliation."

"We have suffered a most serious injury and our prestige is affected," added Churchill. "Is this to be the end . . . This matter cannot be allowed to go by default with a mere statement of facts by the prime minister and passive acceptance by commons.

"The government must face this robustly and insure that the British flag is respected and British lives not cast away."

British Policy Traced

Attlee heatedly denied Churchill's charge that the government had muddled in the situation or tried to hide behind the decisions of British officers on the spot.

The prime minister traced British policy of "non-intervention" in China and explained that the dispatch of the British sloop Amethyst up the Yangtze river, which touched off the clashes, was "correct."

Attlee explained that the Communist ultimatum deadline to the Nationalists was 24 hours away when the Amethyst was sent up the stream to help the destroyer Consort look after British interests and nationals.

After the Amethyst was fired

SEEK REFUGE IN SHANGHAI—Chinese civilians living in the suburbs of Shanghai are shown above as they flee to the city proper with all their belongings. The crowds were fleeing what appeared to be an impending Communist attack on the great city. Panic was reported rising late last night as the teeming masses awaited the next blow by the Reds. Once inside the city the refugees will be sfallowed by the masses, many of whom are seeking to leave by all available escape routes. (NEA Telephoto.)

Reds Boasting Of Advances

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Wednesday, April 27. — Communist - menaced Shanghai got more jitters today with the disruption of telephone service to Soochow (Wuhsien). It could mean the Reds were within 50 miles of this great city.

The break came in mid-morning after Red troops, boasting they already had crushed two Nationalist armies, were advancing southward to the west of Shanghai heading for Hangchow.

Long-distance service to Soochow, 50 miles northwest of Shanghai, went out at 10:45 a. m. Communications officials said the "line was cut."

Fierce Fighting Reported

This could mean either of two things: Red troops already had moved down past Suchow or merely that Communist guerrillas operating in the area had cut the line.

(Fierce fighting was reported raging earlier west of Soochow, but there were no reports of any Communist breakthrough and Nationalist official sources declared that a band of Communist raiders west of Soochow were trapped and are being wiped out, International News Service reported.

(Other Nationalist reports said more than 1,000 Communist troops who had crossed the Yangtze at three points 50 miles from Shanghai were encircled.

Reds Claimed Encircled

(Chinese reports received in London estimated 50,000 troops were hurled into the fighting west of Soochow by the Nationalists on a 30-mile front from the Yangtze to a point south of that communications center.

(The London News Chronicle reported from Hong Kong that 100,000 Communist activists in ordinary clothes have slipped into Shanghai to pave the way for the military occupation of the city. The estimate was given by a correspondent who flew to Hong Kong from Shanghai.)

Shanghai, which remained calm when the Reds broke the Yangtze river line, began to show signs of panic. Business was almost at a standstill. The money market was chaotic.

Nervousness increased as the United States and Great Britain moved heavier naval units out of West 'Okays' Red Proposal

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 26. — The Western Powers virtually accepted today Russia's public proposal to lift the blockade of Berlin in exchange for a four power conference on Germany. But it was made plain that the offer is accepted only if no secret strings are attached.

A State department statement declared that if Moscow's policy actually stands as it was reported in a dispatch by the Tass (Russian) news agency early today "the way appears clear for a lifting of the blockade and a meeting of the council of foreign ministers."

Authorities Wary

At the same time, however, it was learned that the Russians have been told that the United States, Britain and France do not intend to delay their plans for unifying Western Germany and creating a German government, probably by July 15.

Since some top officials believe that the real Soviet purpose may be to upset these plans, it is still doubtful whether a real and final agreement on the Berlin blockade will be reached.

In Berlin, wariness about the Soviet offer was expressed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor; and Ambassador Robert D. Murphy, head of the German-Austrian division in the State department.

Going Ahead With Plans

Murphy said the Russian move seemed an effort to swing German opinion away from the proposed German republic. Clay said that even if the Russian blockade is lifted "it will have no effect whatever on the West German government."

"We are going ahead with our plans," he said.

The 1,000-word State department report on the situation was issued here as a direct result of the Tass report. The Tass article said in substance that if a date can be agreed on by Russia and the West for a meeting of the Big Four council of foreign ministers then "reciprocal restrictions on communications and trade could be lifted" before the meeting.

Concession Indicated

This appeared to be a major concession. Previously the Russians had insisted on prior settlement of outstanding currency is-

Court Blocks Firing Of Police Official

WICHITA FALLS, April 26 (AP) —Chief of Police Chris Jensen got a temporary court order today against the city council firing him.

The order was issued by Judge Frank Ikard in 30th District court. It will be effective until a hearing May 7 on a permanent injunction Jensen seeks against the council.

His application charges that the council "unlawfully, arbitrarily, maliciously, capriciously, and politically" voted to oust him as chief of police, and thereby tried to deprive him of his rights under Civil Service law.

The council first asked Jensen to resign. He said he wouldn't. Last night the council voted to fire him.

The main legal argument is whether under the new city service law the council can discharge Jensen outright.

City Attorney Guy McNeely asserts that Jensen doesn't come under provisions of the law since he came up from the ranks to the chief's office before the law was in effect.

Jensen says he can't be fired without charges first being preferred and a public hearing held before the Civil Service commission. Thus far the council has brought no specific charges against Jensen.

Defendant Threatens To 'Blow His Top'

McGee Carried From Court After Scuffle

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche Staff Writer

RICHARD W. McGee, 24, charged with the murder of R. L. Allston, 42-year-old manager of the South Plains Associated Grocers, July 7, 1948, had to be carried bodily from the scene of his trial yesterday evening after a mild scuffle with three officers guarding him.

Earlier in the day McGee had told Chief Deputy Sheriff George Eubank and Deputy Earl Horton that he was "going to blow his top."

The scuffle came immediately after the jury had left the court room. Judge Dan Blair told Eubank to remove the prisoner. When Eubank placed his hand on McGee's arm the prisoner broke away from him. City Police Sergeant J. T. Alley grabbed McGee around the legs and Horton locked his arms around McGee's body. The three officers then carried McGee to the elevator and then to his cell in the county jail.

Became Quiet Again

On the way to the jail McGee became quiet again.

"If you will put me down I'll behave and walk the rest of the way," the prisoner said. The deputies and the police officer decided to carry him.

Since the wild outbreak that upset Judge Blair's 72nd District Court Friday afternoon McGee has been kept in handcuffs since that time but otherwise has not been encumbered with any other restraint.

Made Threat To Officers

During a recess Tuesday afternoon McGee tried to speak to Judge Blair in an effort to have his handcuffs removed. One of his two attorneys, Col. E. A. Simpson, Amarillo, advised him to forget the matter and not try to talk to the judge.

Fidgeting in his chair, as the records of his time spent in mental hospitals were being read to the jury and the court, McGee was overheard to remark to two deputy sheriffs who have been assigned to guard him:

"I'm going to blow my top if you don't get these handcuffs off of me."

During another brief recess during which time he was accompanied to the wash room, he saw a radio newsman. He told deputies to "hurry up and get me out of here. I don't see why they allow him in the same room with me."

Although the court was reconvened at 1:15 the business at hand did not get underway until 1:58. There was a ten-minute delay while a fluorescent light above the jury box was replaced. After that attorneys for both sides conferred with Judge Blair on a deposition that was to be offered in testimony. Certain parts of the interrogatory and cross interrogatory were deleted to save time.

The deposition was that of Dr. Samuel H. Ross, VA Hospital, Waco. Dr. Ross testified as to the condition of the defendant at the Annual Meeting Of Co-Op Held

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

NEW HOME, April 26 — Approximately 400 persons attended the annual meeting of the New Home Co-Operative Gin, held here tonight at the New Home school. The meeting was preceded by a barbecue.

A highlight of the meeting was the distribution of some 453 checks totaling approximately $11,000, which went to patrons and stockholders of the gin.

Of the $11,000 total, approximately $4,300 was in retirement of old stock, while $4,500 distributed was new stock, and the remainder was interest.

Annual Audit Presented

Edwin Merriman, of the Lubbock firm of Merriman and Merriman, accountants, presented the annual audit of the co-operative gin. In it, the gin's total assets stand at $78,271.33, and total liabilities are $3,321.22. Total patrons equities in the co-op stand at $74,950.11. Of this, $1,920 is common stock, while $73,030.11 is in other equities, book credits, reserves, and the like.

The co-op paid $675.80 in taxes, including state, county, and school assessments. The co-op this past year netted a grand total of $17,520.

The dividends which were distributed here tonight were returned to stockholders and gin patrons in proportion to the amount which each producer had expended with the co-op.

Directors Elected

Wilmer Smith, president of the board of directors of the co-operative gin spoke briefly, stressing that "it is very necessary that we of the co-operative be a true co-operative in the spirit of the law as well as the letter of the law." He also briefly explained the income tax status of the co-op, in which he pointed out that it does not pay income taxes, since the association, as such, does not make a profit. Instead, each recipient of a dividend must pay income on what he received.

Members also elected two new directors to fill two posts which

Russian Spy Suspect Released On $100,000 Bail In New York

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP) — Valentin A. Gubitchev, Soviet engineer accused with an American girl of spying on government secrets, was released in $100,000 bail today.

Gubitchev's release followed lengthy arguments over special conditions set for his release by the government.

The first secretary of the Russian embassy, Lev. S. Tolckonnikov, who posted the huge bail, finally agreed to the terms. The government demanded that Gubitchev not enter a dock, ship, airport or airplane and would stay inside the federal district of New York.

Battle Opens On New Labor Bill

WASHINGTON, April 26 (INS)— The House plunged today into the long-awaited battle over repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act with administration forces proposing a compromise to assure passage of the measure.

The bill to carry out Mr. Truman's number one pledge in the 1948 presidential campaign was brought to the floor by a vote of 369 to six.

Immediately, corridor discussions began between administration supporters and southern Democrats on two major concessions Truman forces were said willing to make.

Concessions Given

A Democratic leader stated that if an agreement can be reached, a bloc of 50 southern members are prepared to vote for the administration's bill.

Up to now, a coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans has backed the Wood substitute, which would rewrite the Taft-Hartley act with a few changes.

The two concessions proposed by administration Democrats would:

1. Give the President authority to obtain a court injunction to halt a national emergency strike.

2. Require leaders of both management and labor to sign non-Communist affidavits.

Organized labor has protested use of injunctions to halt strikes. The injunction provision was

Freak Storm Misses Most Of Plains

Hail Causes Damage To Parts Of City

A FREAK rain and hail storm that dashed an estimated .25 inch or more of moisture on Lubbock early last night caused some minor damage to Lubbock homes and property when golf ball-sized hailstones smashed windows, some exposed electric signs, dented some cars and stripped leaves from trees and shrubbery.

Reports, however, indicated that no serious damage was caused by the thundershower that developed about 7:30 p. m. and rumbled over the city for almost two hours.

Windows Are Broken

Large hailstones broke windows in south and southwest Lubbock homes, and stones the size of marbles peppered the downtown area on two occasions during the storm.

The storm, accompanied by a brilliant and noisy electrical display, apparently was centered in the immediate Lubbock area, however. A check of several South Plains towns revealed threatening conditions but no reports of showers or hail at a late hour last night. There were no reports from rural areas where hail could have caused some minor damage to farm dwellings.

Covered Narrow Area

The Lubbock Weather station reported only .04 inches of precipitation measured there, however.

"The north edge of the cloud appeared to be almost directly over Municipal airport," the station reported, "with the main body of the cloud appearing over Lubbock. The city probably received a good deal more moisture than was measured here."

An estimated quarter to half an inch fell in the downtown area and filled gutters with rushing torrents of water.

Light Service Disrupted

The City light plant, 417 Ave. J, reported that three transformers were burned out during the electrical demonstration Tuesday night. Lightning was blamed for the brief interruption of service in downtown Lubbbock.

Shallowater was the only town outside Lubbock reporting moisture from the thunderstorm. A light shower was reported there. Slaton had thunder and lightning but no rain.

Partly cloudy and cooler weather was forecast for today. Thursday will be partly cloudy and warmer, the forecaster said. Tuesday's temperatures ranged from a

Special Class Units Studied

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche Staff Writer

PRELIMINARY planning to set up special classroom units for the teaching of students with hearing deficiencies and the approval of a motion to purchase an audiometer to measure such deficiencies among public school children highlighted the regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees of Lubbock Independent School district last night in the school business office.

The board also approved an appropriation of $6,433.75 to purchase books for public school libraries, named committees for the next year and handled other routine business.

The action on teaching of students with hearing deficiencies followed the appearance of the parents of one such hard-of-hearing boy in school, and the outlining by the boy's mother of the difficulties which children in his condition face in the ordinary classroom.

Survey Is Made

Superintendent of Schools R. W. Matthews pointed out that about four percent of the 7,000 or more students in the elementary schools of the district need special consideration in the classroom because of hearing difficulties.

Matthews based his estimate upon a recent test survey with an audiometer in M. C. Overton school. Out of the more than 340 students tested at the school, it was found that 311 were normal in hearing, 13 were referred to physicians for minor correctible ailments, three were borderline cases which could not be accurately diagnosed, 10 suffered some

Nine-Year-Old Lubbock Boy Hurt As Bicycle Collides With Car

Don Davis Lowrimore, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lowrimore, jr., of 1918 Main, was injured slightly about 3:30 p. m. Tuesday when his bicycle was in collision with a car at the intersection of Main and Ave. T.

The boy was treated at a physician's office for a sprained left ankle and bruises of the left leg and arm.

The car, driven by Billy Roy Brown, 22, of 1520 Broadway, was going west on Main, and the bicycle was going north on Avenue T just prior to the collision. The boy on the bike made a right turn onto Main street, striking the car on the left side. Police reports indicated that the larger vehicle had skidded approximately 24 feet after applying brakes.

Sullivan Resigns Navy Position

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 26—John L. Sullivan resigned today as secretary of the Navy, firing a roaring broadside at Secretary of Defense Johnson for halting construction of the Navy's supercarrier, the USS United States.

The New Hampshire Irishman said he was deeply disturbed because Johnson acted "so drastically and arbitrarily" without consultation with the Navy.

And he said he is convinced the move means "a renewed effort to abolish the Marine Corps and to transfer all naval and marine aviation elsewhere."

Terse Statement Given

Johnson dismissed Sullivan's attack with a terse statement from his office:

"I regret very much that my old friend and colleague, John L. Sullivan, has joined the aircraft carrier issue on personal grounds, and I believe that he, too, will soon regret his action of today."

Sullivan's resignation, widely expected since Johnson lowered the boom on the big flat-top Saturday, came in an exchange of letters with President Truman. Both of their communications were couched in the polite patter of protocol. Sullivan submitted his

Man Falls Dead At Project Here

The district attorney's office today was continuing an investigation into the sudden death of Arley Clifton Pickins, 44, of 2821 Merthel, while working on the Producers Grain Co. elevator project in southeast Lubbock about 9:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Pickins, who reportedly came to Lubbock with his wife, Thelma, from Phillips about a week ago, was using a construction jack to raise concrete forms when he suddenly fell to one side unconscious. He was reported dead upon arrival at West Texas hospital.

Verdict Not Returned

Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn said last night that he had not rendered a verdict in the death pending completion of the investigation being conducted by assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr. Lynn said that preliminary findings indicated that a verdict of death from natural causes would be returned.

Pharr said that William Herbert Tienarend, of 2905 Ave. J, and Thomas H. Christian, of 2305 Seventeenth, who were working with Pickins, stated that Pickins was using a construction jack to lift concrete forms when he suddenly toppled to one side.

Rushed To Hospital

The two men carried Pickins to the McDonald Engineering Co. office nearby and there A. B. Keeter, timekeeper for the firm, felt for the man's pulse. The timekeeper said he could feel no pulse beat, the two men told Pharr.

Amarillo Group Votes To Drop Rent Curbs

AMARILLO, April 26. (AP)—The Amarillo City commission voted today to end rent control in Amarillo.

Mayor Lawrence Hagy said the decision would be sent to Governor Beauford Jester as soon as a report of today's proceedings could be prepared.

Under the new law rents will go off if the governor approves the council action.

It was taken after a public hearing on rent control here today, attended by an estimated 400 to 500 persons.

Figures from a survey by the Amarillo Real Estate board were presented at the hearing. They showed 617 liveable vacant dwellings in Amarillo. The board estimated that was a five per-cent vacancy. It said two or three per cent was normal.

FLIERS END 1,008 HOURS IN AIR

Crowd Gives Endurance Fliers Warm Welcome As Goal Reached

FULLERTON, Calif., April 26. (INS)—Bill Barris and Dick Riedel set their "Sunkist Lady" down on the Fullerton airport runway at 11:47 a.m. (PST) (1:47 CST) today to bring to an end their record-breaking six-week endurance flight.

A crowd of 5,000 spectators cheered wildly as the two men terribly tired but grinning happily, climbed from the cabin of their four-place plane.

They had been up in the air for 1,008 hours and three minutes, almost 300 hours more than any other endurance fliers. They took to the air on March 15 after three unsuccessful attempts to break the former record of 726 hours which had stood for 10 years.

Gun Is Fired

The fliers were informed of the time by a gun which was shot off at exactly 11:44 a.m. They circled the field once and then slowly settled down for a perfect three-point landing.

Barris climbed out first—almost before the plane had stopped rolling. His wife grabbed him and was able to give him a big kiss before the cheering mob rolled in to engulf him.

"Gee, it's wonderful. Great to

NEED FOR DEFINITE PARKING POLICY STRESSED

'General Misunderstanding' Given As Explanation In Mass Ticketing Of Cars Parked Here Overnight

A "GENERAL misunderstanding" was offered late Tuesday as the most plausible explanation of the tagging by police Monday night of approximately 500 automobiles for all-night parking on residence streets.

Police Chief Lewis Kittrell said he had directed Tuesday night that no more tags be issued for this offense pending further instructions. Those who received such tags Monday night, and have not appeared at the police station in obedience to their summons, were advised to ignore them.

Those who have appeared at the station and deposited $1 each as a fine are to be refunded their money, according to City Manager Steve Matthews.

'Need For Policy' Stressed

The city manager also said that one of the results arising from Tuesday's confusion will be to hasten the shaping of some definite policy which recognizes that Lubbock has many residents who have no practical place to park their cars at night except the streets.

At the same time, he said, the city cannot ignore the traffic hazard created by large numbers of cars parked on streets with little or no street lighting. The policy also must make provision for the occasional sweeping of streets which cannot be cleaned while the curbs are blocked, he added.

Much confusion still existed Tuesday night as to what touched off the unprecedented tagging activity Monday night wholly without advance warnings to car owners.

Kittrell Assumes Responsibility

Chief Kittrell assumed complete responsibility for issuing the tagging order to members of his de-

Conversion Of Surplus Military Facilities To Grain Bins Proposed

By SARAH McCLENDON,
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26. — Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Texas) today proposed turning surplus military posts and airplane hangars into storage bins for grain to enable Texas farmers to take advantage of government price support program.

He laid the proposal before Ralph Trigg, president of Commodity Credit corporation, and said:

"Mr. Trigg said he would take immediate steps to secure all of this space that he could and in addition that he would do everything in his power to move every possible bushel of grain out of the inland elevators to the terminal warehouses, generally located at ports."

Poage explained that he had been advised that wheat producers in Texas were already being told that no storage would be available in inland elevators. He said he did not have any personal knowledge about this situation, but he feared that some of the grain dealers were planning to take advantage of Texas wheat growers, just as they did last year when they bought grain sorghums at far below the support loan level because the farmer could find no storage.

Poage said that even though the farmer was told all storage was full, the dealers bought this sorghum at distress prices, but they always seemed to be able to find storage. Poage said it looked as if somebody was about to use these same tactics on this year's wheat crop, and that his effort was to prevent this.

Under existing laws farmers are entitled to loans on most of their grain. Wheat produced in 1949 is promised support at 90% of parity ($1.95 per bushel), grain sorghums at 70% of parity ($2.00 per hundred pounds).

To secure these loans the farmer must find an adequate and safe storage.

U.S. Tidelands Move Branded New Step Toward Socialism

Socialism is creeping up on us day by day under the guise of both political parties and the tidelands question is one of the segments which fit into the pattern, James O. Cade, Lubbock attorney, declared in a talk at the Lubbock Lions club Tuesday.

The tidelands move is an effort on the part of our government to socialize the oil industry, Cade said.

Court Reversal Needed

Cade declared the national farm and housing programs as evidence that the people "had sold out for a mess of pottage." "We're putting socialism into effect inch by inch," he said.

Only a reversal of the Supreme court's stand from the California case will prevent loss of Texas tidelands, which rightfully belong to the school children of Texas, Cade said.

"We should pray to Almighty God every day to give strength, wisdom and courage to the Supreme court of the United States," he said.

Cade was introduced by Leon Harris, program chairman. Travis Shelton was introduced as a new member.

President Wayne Henly announced the donation of $2,733.52 to the negro nursery project; and sponsorship of the T. C. U. Glee Club in presentation of "H. M. S. Pinafore" at Lubbock Senior High school auditorium Wednesday night, May 4.

Trumans Call Off Lawn Parties During White House Remodeling

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP) — The Trumans have called off all lawn parties while the White House is being remodeled—including the annual veterans garden party which has been a tradition for 30 years.

Discussion Of Rent Controls Planned In Courthouse Thursday

A mass meeting to discuss the alternative of decontrolling rent controls or maintaining the status quo here has been called by a committee of T. E. (Chief) May, J. F. Hankins and C. H. Scales for 8 p. m. Thursday in the courthouse.

May, spokesman, said the committee was named at a meeting of approximately 20 persons a week ago. The group represents the landlords.

He said the Thursday meeting would determine whether a hearing on the matter would be asked before the city commission.

The general public is invited to attend the meeting.

Fleeing Romanian Officers Reach Italy

TRIESTE, Free Territory, April 26 (AP)—The newspaper Ultissime said today nine Romanians, including four generals and an admiral, have reached Italian soil at Gorizia after fleeing their Communist country.

The Romanians were quoted as saying they fled first to Yugoslavia, were detained there with some 100 other Romanians, and then slipped out of the Yugoslav camp at Aidussina in small groups Saturday night.

(A Trieste dispatch to Rome's Giornale D'Italia said three Bulgarian refugees arriving in Trieste from Yugoslavia reported some 4,000 Bulgarian, Romanian and Hungarian refugees now are held by the Yugoslavs.)

Louisiana Governor Refuses To Interfere With Execution

BATON ROUGE, La., April 26 (AP)—Gov. Earl K. Long today overruled the state pardon board and refused to interfere with the execution of George A. Davis, scheduled for Friday in New Orleans.

Davis was convicted of murder in the killing during January 1947 of a Mississippi highway patrolman.

The pardon board's action last week in voting two to one to commute Davis' sentence from death to life imprisonment still left the final decision to the governor.

Governor Long said he had received a telegram from San Antonio, Tex., signed "Mrs. George A. Davis," pleading, "for the sake of our baby and me please spare my husband's life."

There has been no indication of Davis' home or past life.

Paulette Goddard To Go To Italy For Next Picture; Edward G. Robinson Signs For Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 26—Although Paulette Goddard went to Mexico to get herself divorced from Burgess Meredith, she wasn't too busy to accept B. P. Schulberg's offer to star in "Goya And The Duchess Of Alba," Lion Feuchtwanger's classic.

Ben, who has been eight months trying to get financial backing, telephoned from New York to tell me that he will make this movie in Italy with Italian lira. The "Angel" behind it is Marico Bonifico, American-Italian, who had a lot to do with the distribution of "Paisan" and "Open City."

Paulette plays the court lady who had such a torrid romance with a great Spanish painter. I'll bet Paulette gets a percentage. She is a very smart business woman.

Edward G. Robinson Signed

Gregory Ratoff, who took off for New York to meet Alex Korda, his movie partner, spent the last day here closeted with Agent Phil Berg. Greg came here especially to sign Edward Robinson, who is represented by Phil, for "My Daughter, Joy," in which, as I told you, Constance Bennett and Peggy Cummins play mother and daughter.

Well, Greg signed Eddie, who leaves in June for Italy and Algiers, where the movie will be made. Gladys Robinson, who has an art exhibition in Chicago, tells me she will go on to Europe and join Eddie. She will have another exhibition in Paris. Last year, while we were there, she was a sensation in art circles.

Actress Visits Sister

I must say I have never seen Joan Blondell look so well and happy. She is here with her mother to see her sister, Gloria, who's recovering from an operation. She said Gloria is much better, but was still quite sick. Joan leaves tomorrow or next day. She said she's already homesick for Mike Todd.

"Aren't you ever going to work?" I asked her.

"Mike brings plays home," she said, "but we haven't found anything we both like."

Mike told her over the telephone that since the Irene Rich story in the papers, they are breaking down doors to "As The Girls Go" to get a look at Irene.

Joan says her son, Norman, is president of the freshman class, and that he and Ellen go to a little school near their home on the Hudson.

Anti-Red Parade Set

I'm so proud of our Hollywood people who are putting up such a strong front against the inroads of Communism.

Next Sunday night members of filmland's guilds and unions will sponsor a monster patriotic loyalty day parade along Hollywood boulevard to counteract Russia's traditional May Day celebration.

At two o'clock in the afternoon Archbishop Francis McIntyre will stage a spiritual rally in the 105,000 seat Los Angeles coliseum. Catholics, of course, will attend, but many members of other faiths will join in this religious meeting.

Romance Rumored

Talk is current again that Gail Russell and Guy Madison are once more discussing marriage plans.

Thirteen-year-old Suzanne Durant, daughter of Molly O'Day and Jack Durant, has been crowned queen of Corvallis High school—the first girl so young to receive this honor.

Margaret Whiting leaves the middle of next month for New York to join her husband, Hubbell Robinson, vice-president of CBS.

Services Set In Waxahachie For Daughter Of Pioneer Family

WAXAHACHIE, April 26. (UP)—Funeral services are scheduled here tomorrow for Mrs. Edna Forrester Orr, 78, daughter of a pioneer Texas family and lifetime resident of Ellis county.

Mrs. Orr was the mother of B. F. Orr, general manager of the Texas State hotel and radio station KTRH in Houston; Charles L. Orr of Oklahoma City and Guy H. Orr of Houston.

She died last night following a heart attack.

Born in Bethel community south of here, Mrs. Orr was an active Methodist church worker and spent many years in club work in Ellis county.

The funeral will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Up to now she has had radio commitments which have kept her here.

Heavy Gas Deliveries Are Reported For Big Inch Line

WILMINGTON, Del., April 26 (AP) — Natural gas deliveries through the big inch pipe line system averaged 474,000,000 cubic feet a day in March, the Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. reported today.

R. H. Hargrove, president, told stockholders at their annual meeting that deliveries hit a peak of 514,000,000 cubic feet on April 1. He said construction already had started on an expansion program to increase capacity to 740,000,000 cubic feet a day. The project's cost is estimated at $24,000,000.

Hargrove said Texas Eastern's pipe line system had a net income of $1,682,167 or 36.5 cents a share in the first quarter in 1949. For the like 1948 quarter earnings were $1 077,608.

Weekend Is Spent In Munich

Governor Is Host

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The article published below was sent to The Avalanche-Journal by Margaret Turner, Woman's Editor, who is spending a two month's vacation in Europe.)

MUNICH—A weekend visit in the home of Gov. and Mrs. Murray D. Van Wagoner will always rate a high spot in our memories. The invitation to visit Munich came to Mrs. John D. Lynch, who has been an acquaintance since before the days Van Wagoner served as Democratic governor of Michigan and they were kind enough to include Ruth Ford and the Woman's Angle.

Lt. and Mrs. Robert M. Smiley drove us as far as Salzburg, Austria, and spent the weekend at the Oehterreichischer Hof while we went on to Munich with Gov. Van Wagoner's driver, one corporal McGruddy. He knows this part of Germany as well as he knows the back of his hand and was very agreeable about going a circuitous route in order that we could see some of the late Hitler's favorite retreats en route.

The Eagle's Nest, Hitler's mountain-top house, a sight-seeing target for all tourists, is closed until May 1 but we got a fairly good view of how it is situated from Berchtesgaden. At Bad Reichenhall, an interesting old town twelve miles north from Berchtesgaden, we boarded a cable car and were taken to the mile high Berg hotel on Predigtstuhl mountain, a mountain retreat which has been converted to a ski school and from where we obtained a view that took our breath. Skiers were swirling in a driving snowstorm. Coming down, suspended half way between heaven and earth, was another breathless experience.

WE HAVE read that Bavaria is considered one of the most beautiful countries in Europe and certainly no one could have asked for a more exciting ride than that along the Autobahn, part of the time in a blinding snow; the remainder of the way in the sunshine. We doubt if Herr Hitler would approve of it, but the EES has placed snack bars along the Autobahn to "enchance your driving pleasure" and we stopped at Alpine Way and had a mid-afternoon hamburger and a cup of coffee. Here was a touch of America because a juke box was playing American records and the place was filled with American soldiers, some making jokes; some buying candy bars; others reading "The Stars and Stripes," unofficial publication of U. S. Occupation Forces in Europe.

MURRAY D. Van Wagoner, land director of the Office of Military government in Bavaria, his charming wife and their 16-year-old daughter, Jo, live in one of the most pretentious homes in Munich, built in 1940 by Ernst Ley, labor leader, for the Nazis. It is a large two-story residence with an immense basement running its length and which Mr. Ley fitted up for games, for private showings of movies and where his screen, projection machine and chairs still remain. Other basement luxuries are a laundry and a bomb shelter. The exit from the latter spot has been closed.

The immense drawing room is tastefully furnished, with the exception of three paintings which came from Hitler's stolen collection; an immense grand piano stands in the music room. Our favorite room was Gov. Van Wagoner's study where American newspapers, books and magazines and a number of their personal belongings strike a perhaps incongruous, but happy note.

THE Van Wagoners are a family who have always found pleasure in each other's company. Gov. Van Wagoner is a large, well dressed, handsome man; the type usually chosen in the movies to play the role of a governor. Strictly a man's man; we think the choice of sending him here to oversee the reconstruction of lives and property in Munich is a definite representation of a genuine American. During our visit, the signing of the agreement of the three powers to the formation of a Western Germany took place and we asked Gov. Van Wagoner if it were not a red letter day for the Germans. "It had better be," he answered. "We are doing everything possible to safeguard democracy here."

Eighty per cent of the Bavarian factories that were operating in 1936 are in swing again; the bomb-blasted city of Munich is slowly being reconstructed and farmers are in their fields from before dawn until after dusk.

How long will occupation be needed in Germany? Gov. Van Wagoner suggested perhaps twenty or thirty years. One does not teach democracy, he reminded. One lives it and it takes a long time for the tree of liberty to grow.

INCIDENTALLY, we got a thrill in riding in the late Himmler's car, which, with a German chauffeur, Joseph, has been loaned to Gov. Van Wagoner during his stay. It is a 7 passenger Mercedes and was favored by its owner when he paraded during his hey day.

Although there are hundreds of thousands of stars, only about 5,000 are within range of the human eye.

DIAL 7781

The Woman's Angle By Ellen Miller

A company that manufactures rock salt suggests the use of its product to rid driveways, rock walks, tennis courts and similar spots of weeds.

Just sprinkle the salt around and, with the first rain, the rock salt will dissolve and sink into the ground, killing the weeds sight unseen and making those that have already appeared wither and die.

Recommended rates of application range from six pounds of rock salt per square yard for a heavy growth of resistant weeds like tule and sweet clover, to two pounds per square yard for easier-to-kill pollen bearing weeds.

Of course, if rock salt is applied to kill weeds, it must be remembered that it will kill grass, flowers, or anything else it touches. And it is not a thing to be scattered around to get rid of this year's weed crop and forgotten next year.

We checked the idea with Dr. A. W. Young, head of plant industry at Texas Tech, and he concurred that salt will kill unwanted vegetation, but urged considerable caution in its use.

He reported that salt was used in a Johnson grass killing experiment in 1943, and that the circles where it was scattered are still totally barren of growth.

It is safe enough to use salt in a driveway next to a lawn, he said, since the chemicals sink down into the soil, with very little sidewise movement underground. However, if the driveway is near trees or shrubs, it may be that the salt would reach their spreading roots, killing them promptly. Roots of shrubs often extend from five to twenty feet along under the surface of the ground, and tree roots even further, he said.

SPOT CLEANING

Some time ago we mentioned that a paste of Fuller's earth and dry cleaning fluid, if applied to greasy spots on wall paper, allowed to dry, and brushed away, would remove the grease.

A reader requests further information about Fuller's earth, and since others may wonder, too, we will answer through the column. Fuller's earth is an absorbent powder that may be obtained at almost any drug store. It should cost about 15 cents for a four-ounce package, about half a cup. Dry cleaning fluid may also be found at drug stores.

GLUE REMOVER

A bit of investigation discloses that glue, used to stick linoleum to the floor, may be removed by gasoline, naptha or carbon terachloride.

Women's Clubs At Meetings

Lectures and discussions were featured on programs of clubs meeting here Tuesday afternoon.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB SEES FABRICS

At a Tuesday afternoon meeting of Lubbock Junior Woman's club, Max Recker of Dunlap's Decorating department was guest speaker. He showed samples of different types of fabrics ranging from imported silk velvets and French brocades to very modern American prints. Chinese, floral, nautical and animal designs were featured in some of the displayed materials. Mr. Recker told the group that any desired design can be made in Lubbock.

Miss Ardelle Hallock introduced the speaker and Mrs. Leroy Deardorff presided in the absence of Mrs. Carl H. Casey, president. Mrs. Emil D'Acosta was hostess at 1702 Ave. R.

Others at the meeting were Mesdames H. L. Allen, jr., D. H. Bradford, Galen Bradford, Roland Nabors, Kenneth Reast, Roy Bass, Misses Doris Stoneham and Dolores Thompson.

The club will have an installation of officers and guest day May 31 at 3 p.m. at 2016 Fifteenth. Mrs. D. H. Bradford is in charge of arrangements.

WOMEN OVERCOME PREJUDICE

Man's prejudice is the greatest obstacle women have had to overcome in their battle for emancipation during the past 100 years, and they have conquered prejudice to a large extent, Mrs. C. A. Bickley told members of Athanaeum club Tuesday, meeting with Mrs. Lucile Smith, 2701 Thirty-third.

Mrs. Bickley took the negative side in a debate on the question, "Are American Women Failing?" She pointed out that women have risen from a position almost equal to bond slavery in the past century.

Taking the affirmative side, Mrs. Stella Brown pointed out that women may be successful in business, but are failing as homemakers and mothers. She stressed that women make much effort to give their children material things, but fail to give them moral training. She also expressed her opinion that women have less courtesy and gentleness than they did in the past.

CLUB PROGRAM ON CHILD PROBLEMS

Children who are starting to school this year and the next will be different from the average children of the past, because their early lives were spent in a war-torn, jittery nation, according to Mrs. Nancy Green of the City-County Welfare service, who addressed members of Progressive Child Study club Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. E. C. Hatton, 2911 Jefferson.

Speaking on "Emotional Upheaval of Children," Mrs. Green said that children from homes broken during the war, while their fathers were serving away from home, tend to feel inadequate, insecure and over-dependent.

Attending the meeting were Mesdames Jerry Holeman, Arch Harper, Pete Bynum, June Roberts, Lloyd Swann, Lester Cooper, Donald Robertson, Hall Mc-Crummen, Raymond Cone, Gordon Sanders, C. R. Skidmore, Paul Pugh, B. C. Spratt, L. H. Johnson, G. C. Stewart, Leo Healer, Herman Brucker and W. C. Rutledge.

Awards To Be Given At Thursday Recital

Mrs. J. B. Joiner will present the following pupils in piano recital Thursday night at 8 o'clock at Thirty-fourth street Baptist chapel:

Richard Baker, Susanne Clifton, Carolyn Dopson, Catherrine Foltyn, Bobby Glazner, Evelyn Howard, Orwinelle Lambert, Malcolm McFarland, Betty Jean Nowell, Wilma Faye Nowell, Bobette Sherman, Norma Nowell, Ann Holcomb, Patricia Holcomb, John Baker and Jack Remley.

After the program, pupils who were auditioned in the National Piano Playing program last week by Sydney Lee Angell of Denver, will receive awards.

The public is invited to attend.

Sorority Pledges Appear On Program

A program was presented Monday night by Mrs. Eugene Nail and Mrs. William Sasser, pledges of Kappa Gamma sorority, in a mock initiation service in Friendship classroom of First Methodist church. The program included songs, skits and readings.

Individual programs prepared by the pledgees were decorated with the club seal and were placed at each refreshment plate.

MRS. MURPHY IS HOSTESS

Mesdames George Lemon and Charles Spencer were co-hostesses to a meeting of Clement-Sorosis Study club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Dennis Murphy, 2403 Thirty-second.

Mrs. Margarett W. Walker, dean of women at Texas Technological college, was the main speaker, discussing, "Music, The Universal Art." Mrs. L. L. Beck was named to the Federated club advisory committee from Clement-Sorosis.

Attending were Mesdames R. H. Canaday, R. E. Gee, J. E. Harvey, Sam Henry, jr., Euel Liner, Lawrence Glenn, Belverd Needles, Herbert Bannister, Lennis Baker, Dewey Malone, J. D. Sanders, S. H. Assiter and Beck.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB HEARS SPEAKER

Mrs. Fred Sparks discussed "International Relations," at a meeting of Twentieth Century club held Tuesday afternoon in Fellowship hall at the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. William D. Stone introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Leroy Patton, president, was in charge of a brief business session. The meeting, attended by some 18 members, closed with group singing of, "God Bless America."

CLUB PROGRAM IS ON CHINA

Mrs. W. A. Sides was hostess to a meeting of Pierian Sorosis club Tuesday afternoon in her home on Acuff road. Co-hostesses were Mesdames L. A. Sides and Odis Hackney.

Each member answered roll call by showing a piece of Chinese art and explaining its history and use. Mrs. L. A. Sides spoke on "The Confusion That Is China," and Mrs. C. J. Griggs discussed "China's Past Contributions to Civilization." The program also included a report from Mrs. L. H. Kirby on the recent convention of Seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

WRITER IS ACCUSED OF 'RUMOR MONGERING'

Shanghai Correspondent Blames British 'Loss Of Face' For His Arrest By Chinese Nationalists

(EDITOR'S NOTE: For 20 grim hours George Vine, International News Service Shanghai correspondent, faced the possibility of execution without trial by a Chinese Nationalist firing squad. This was because the North China Daily News, of which he is an assistant editor, allegedly printed inaccurate civil war reports. Vine, released Tuesday morning, believes his arrest indicates how foreigners—particularly the British who lost scores of seamen to Communist guns—have "lost face" with both Nationalists and Communists after decades of far-eastern influence.)

By GEORGE VINE
INS Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, April 26 — I have just spent the worst 20 hours of my life.

Yesterday, along with Graham Jenkins, Reuters correspondent in Shanghai, I was brought to the Nationalist garrison headquarters on charges of contravention of martial law.

Accused Of Rumor Mongering

I was accused of "rumor-mongering" because the North China Daily News printed a Reuters report alleged to be untrue.

(Editor's Note: The report, carried by all foreign news agencies, but denied by the Nationalists, concerned the fall of Kashing and Soochow to the Communists.)

Jenkins and I were promptly informed that under martial law—imposed three days ago—the only penalty for our purported offense was execution.

Upon my release today, I shuddered upon learning that two Chinese were shot by a firing squad yesterday for the identical reason.

The worst part of the whole affair was the slowness of British officialdom here in going to work. I learned later of their bland assurance that the Chinese would "never dare" execute a British subject.

These officials seem unable to realize that Britons or any other foreigners possess no special immunity from the operation of Chinese law, as they did formerly.

The "loss of face" is still a vital factor in Chinese relations, and the British have lost plenty in the last week because of hte Yangtze incident, in which our warships were shelled by the Communists.

(Vine is a British national.)

This prestige, I fear, will be unregainable now that we are all but chased out of Shanghai.

As for the alleged misinformation in the report in my paper, the same story appeared in two other English language dailies, whose editors were not detained.

My detention—aside from the ever-present threat of execution—was relatively comfortable. I wasn't jailed with other prisoners but was allowed to sleep in the regimental commander's headquarters.

MUSTANGS
Wild Horses of the Plains!

BY J. EVETTS HALEY
ILLUSTRATED BY H. D. BUGBEE

MUSTANGS! WILD HORSES! Magic words to men of imagination! Hence, it is that stories of the mustangs—that lost breed of history—still intrigue all men who love good horses. Back of the story of mustangs, however, is one of the wildest odysseys in history.

It is now generally held that the horse originated in America, that he spread throughout the world in prehistoric times, and that he then died out in the land of his origin. Scattered diminutive fossil remains throughout the southern Plains point to his beginnings here. Aeons later, and in historic times, hundreds of thousands of mustangs, sweeping across the Southwest in spirited and colorful bands, marked his return. The very sight of a good horse used to be—in fact still is—a challenge to bold adventure. Nothing is impossible to men who really believe in horses.

History seems to prove the point. The horse of the Moors came to the Indies of the New World with the explorers from ancient Spain in the 1490's. He reached the mainland and played a vital part in the fantastic conquest of Mexico by Cortez in 1521, crossed the Plains with Coronado in 1541, escaped from numerous later Spanish exploring expeditions, reverted to the wild state, and spread, with tossing mane and flowing tail, expanding girth and hardening hoofs, from the hot valleys of Mexico and the rocky ranges of the Montezumas clear across the continent to the Arctic plains of Canada—all in less than a hundred and fifty years.

Thus this marvelous bundle of muscle and nerve, and of sense and stamina, returned in wild and prolific vigor to reclaim the land of his origin, and to revolutionize life in the western half of the New World. For some three hundred years he reigned free and supreme. Meanwhile, Indians mounted on mustangs that they had caught and gentled, battled with fair-faced warriors who rode hard to meet them, while men actually grown to the shape of saddles moved their longhorned cattle upon the lands the Indians lost. Eventually, other men with horses killed off the buffalo herds, and for one brief moment, as time is measured, the great and grass-grown Plains were little more than a wild horse range.

These horses, usually in bands of from twenty to forty head, jealously and dangerously ruled by a single stallion, swept out from their waterings in circuits of several miles to graze their favorite range. They congregated in great herds and pawed their feed from the snow in the breaks of winter, and by hard fighting among themselves, the stallions again cut their mares and struck out in individual bunches as grass rose in the spring.

For some time, both red men and white levied on this vast reservoir of horse flesh without touching the supply. But in the late 1870's, as men moved farther west and demanded more grass for their cattle, other men mounted on grain-fed horses began catching mustangs in droves and trailing them off to the settlements to market. They became the mustangers, and their work developed into a sort of a science, or at times an art, that was known as mustanging.

They either "walked down" the wild horses by keeping after them for days, or trapped them in bunches by hazing or stampeding them into the wide, converging wings of hidden corrals. After trapping, they forefooted them and attached a clog to a fore-leg of each, which tripped the horse whenever he broke to run, and then trailed them off in bunches for trade or sale.

Yet the mustangers made little impression upon this immense herd that still covered the open face of the Great Plains. Only the invention of barbed wire, and its cutting of the range to pieces, brought an end to the wild horse.

But wherever his recumbent mares peacefully slept on the clean turf beneath his watchful eye, wherever his colts pitched about and cut their capers in sheer joy of living, and wherever he tossed his noble head as he scented danger and snorted his challenge through resonant nostrils from afar, there he will never be forgotten. For in a way the mustang made the Western World, and grateful men never forget their horses.

Texas Water Measure Fails To Gain Majority Of Senate Votes

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 26 — Fear that the federal government might get a finger in the pie stymied final Senate passage of a plan to back Texas water projects with a $200,000,000 bond issue.

Eighteen senators voted with Senator John J. Bell of Cuero, who wrote the measure and claimed it would stop water project builders from going to Sam for money.

Nine senators voted with Senator R. A. Weinert of Seguin who claimed that state financing of projects would merely give the builders a better credit rating with the federal government.

The 19-10 vote got the proposed constitutional amendment past second reading but it was two votes short of the majority needed to pave the way for final action. Bell said he would bring it up again.

The plan would allow Texas voters to decide on setting up a three-man board to handle a Texas water conservation projects revolving fund. The board could issue up to $200,000,000 in bonds for projects specifically authorized by the legislature. The projects would have to be self liquidating.

"Every year millions and millions of dollars of unused water flows into the Gulf," Bell said. "If we take state money available for these projects, it will stop river authorities and irrigation districts from running to the banks of the Potomac for financing."

Federal Control Feared

"Yeah, if you give these river projects ten million dollars in state money, they are going to turn around and try to get twenty million from the federal government," Weinert said. "We hear a lot of talk about states' rights," Weinert said, "but the trouble is that people really are not for states' rights."

"The reason the federal government has a stranglehold on some projects is because the state has had no money to loan," Bell retorted.

"This two hundred million dollars would just be thrown away and we would still be riding down that same old road," Weinert said. "When the federal government matches state money in a project, then the federal government is going to have some control."

Bell accepted an amendment to prevent the state from loaning money to any project which had a financial agreement with the federal government.

Railroad Worker Killed By Train On Trestle Near Kingsville

KINGSVILLE, April 26 (U.P) — Alvin Benton Creech, 37, employe of the Missouri Pacific railroad, was killed yesterday near here when he failed to jump off a railroad bridge in time to miss an oncoming streamliner.

Creech and another worker were on the trestle fending off driftwood in the flooded Gertrudis creek at the time. The train caught them unexpectedly and Creech failed to jump in time.

France's Jean Mougin Takes Decision Over Bill Henderson

Tiger Blasts Lubbock Fighter With Steady Blows To Body

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Jean Mougin of Paris, France, the Blonde Tiger, left his trade mark on Bill Henderson of Lubbock again, blasting the game little Texas Tech fighter with a steady body attack and left jabs to the face to earn a unanimous decision in their 10-round main event at Chapman Fieldhouse last night.

The main event, unreeled during an electrical and hail storm, failed to produce the fireworks of the first fight in El Paso, but the crowd of 2,000 persons cheered the two fighters on without regard to the elements. It was a good bout, even though Henderson tired badly as early as the sixth round and spent a major portion of the final two rounds evading the knockout.

It was a good card for the money, with seats at ringside going for a tops of $4.80. There was one knockout and a technical knockout in the preliminary fights, a good four-round scrap and a six-round semi-final that was as good as the main go.

The judges, Tom Murphy and K. N. Clapp, were forced to make only one close decision, that in the Sammy Galvan-Chino Alonzo semi-final, although there appeared little doubt as to who was the winner.

James Beats Boggs

Gene James, the only other local fighter on the card, had a hard task on his hands subduing Jimmy Boggs, an Amarillo middleweight. James had a 23-pound weight advantage over his opponent, but had his hands full getting the range. Boggs bobbed and weaved elusively, causing James to miss repeatedly and look bad.

The main event was a good fight all the way, even though Henderson wasn't in condition to go 10 rounds. From the sixth on, Henderson's seconds had to work furiously to clear his head and he appeared to be out on his feet for the final three stanzas.

Mougin gave an indication of what was to follow in the opening round, when he shot several long left jabs to Henderson's mid section. The Frenchman kept whipping the left under Henderson's guard and he staggered the Tech student early in the round with a stiff left.

Henderson appeared to be feeling out Mougin and took rights and lefts with only token answer. But in the second, Henderson began to show life. Mougin stung him with a right jab and hooked a left that hurt. Henderson began working on the Paris boy's body and took a solid left hook. Henderson shot a right to the face, they exchanged blows and Henderson unwound a good left hook to the head.

Henderson Staggered

Mougin stayed on top of Henderson in the second round and, after raining lefts and rights, staggered the Lubbock fighter with a hard left. The fighters kept up an even exchange of lefts and rights, but Mougin's blows carried more sting.

The fourth was a good round for both fighters, each getting in good lefts and rights, with the crowd cheering. Mougin was faster with his jab and kept catching Henderson on the head, along with body blows. Henderson retaliated with left hooks and short right jabs.

The fifth may have been the turning point in the fight. Henderson became the aggressor and carried the fight to the evading Frenchman. Henderson landed repeatedly with left jabs and short rights that stung, even though Mougin was covering up beautifully. Mougin slipped in a couple of solid rights during the round, but Henderson had him in trouble at the bell and had opened a cut over Mougin's left eye.

Mougin returned to carry a body punishment attack to Henderson in the sixth, throwing left, right, left constantly at the midriff. Once, following a hard right to the head by Mougin, Henderson stopped and grinned. It was his last wide smile. Henderson staggered Mougin with a right and followed up with a series of lefts and rights.

Henderson was breathing heavily when he came back to his corner and from that point on it was a question only of time and his ability to remain on his feet.

Savage Right Hurts

Mougin pounded Henderson hard for the next three rounds with lefts and rights to the body and a savage right that punished, but failed to down Henderson. Finally, in the ninth canto, Henderson went down twice, each time getting up at the count of four. Mougin came in for the kill, but Henderson successfully evading the probing six-ounce hands of the Frenchman.

Henderson rallied briefly in the tenth, long enough at least to avoid a knockout. But there was no question about the decision. Two officials gave Mougin six rounds and one gave him four. Two officials gave Henderson three rounds and one gave him two. One official counted a round even, another called two square and the third had three rounds even.

In the semi-finals, Galvan and Chino Alonzo staged a fine exhibition, both boys trading leather freely, with Alonzo hitting a little harder and more often. It wasn't a close decision and the judges were unanimous.

Marquez floored Hernandez with a short left hook after 58 seconds of light boxing and the Mexico City fighter was out cold.

Olivas showed too much class for Malacara, hammering him hard with fast lefts and rights in the first round and half-closing his right eye. Olivas closed the eye completely in the second and contented himself with sparring him from that point on. He gained an easy, unanimous decision.

LaVern Roach and O. J. "Bo" Sexton were the referees for the fights.

Tony Olivas, 130, El Paso, won unanimous decision from Bobby Malacara, 130, Mexico City, Mexico.

Fenton, Curtis In Bout Tonight

In the main event tonight at Sled Allen's wrestling arena Rod Fenton, the toughy from Edmonton, Canada, will meet George Curtis in two out of three falls or an hour time limit.

Curtis comes back to the local arena after a lengthy absence, and since he was last here he has improved greatly. The Mississippi native is younger and faster than Fenton and is reported to be a tough man to handle in his weight division.

He will have to use all his ring know-how to stop Fenton for the Canuck is tricky and smart and quick to take advantage of his opponent's mistakes.

The semi-final match pits George Dusette against Alex Kasaboski. Dusette relies on his strength and toughness to wear his opponent down and then steps in to end the fight. He is in his first appearance here and is a clean, scientific wrestler.

Kasaboski is appearing here for the third time, having come here with reputation for roughness. He has no scruples as to the method he uses to win a match, and both wrestlers appear to be rough and fast—good material for a speedy fight.

In the 20-minute preliminary bout Jack Pappenheim returns to meet Hy Sharman, and fans who remember the Oregonian will be pulling for him to defeat Sharman. Sharman made his first appearance here last week after recovering from a broken jaw in a bout with Ace Freeman last year. A good match is in prospect.

Tickets are on sale at Wylies Drug store from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and matches start at 8 p. m.

PICTURE OF A DEJECTED FIGHTER—It might be hard to tell who won last night's fight between Bill Henderson and Jean Mougin if you looked at the battered Mougin, right foreground. But closer survey at Bill Henderson, center, tells the story plainly. Consoling the Texas Tech student are Andre Dupre, Mougin's manager, and LaVern Roach. Gene James, who scored a third round TKO last night, is shown at left and, behind Mougin, is Babe Ritchie, Henderson's manager. Westerners Meet Brownfield Today

Weather permitting Lubbock High school's Westerners baseball nine will play Brownfield today at Brownfield in their fourth District 1-AA contest, south half, beginning at 3:45.

The Cubs have gone winless in four previous starts, having lost twice to Plainview and two times to the Westerners. The game today will complete the schedule between the two teams for the 1949 season. Two games with Plainview remain, scheduled for April 30 and May 3 at Plainview.

Hamilton May Start

Coach Fred Taylor had not decided Tuesday on his starting pitcher for the game, but it will likely be Jimmy Hamilton. He said, however, that he may use all three of his hurlers. The other two are Jimmy Richards and Bennie Day.

Each of the pitchers owns a conference victory. Hamilton received credit for the victory over Plainview with a six-hit performance, winning 11-6. Richards took the first of a doubleheader with the Cubs, giving up six safeties while his teammates were pounding out a 19-3 win. And Southpaw Day pitched a no-hitter in the five inning finale of the doubleheader to win, 12-1.

Galey To Fill Gap

With Bobby Brown out of the lineup at the shortstop position, Charles Galey is likely to move from second base to fill the gap until Brown's ankle heals. That will move Dan Adkisson to second base from the second team shortstop.

The probable batting order will be Adkisson, second base; Richards, left field; Jessie Fullerton, first base; Charles Galey, shortstop; Powell Hinson, third base; Morris Turner, catcher; James Burgess, center field; Garnet Reeves, right field; and Hamilton pitcher.

Ralls High School Baseball Team Beats Abernathy, 8-4

ABERNATHY, April 26. (Special)—Ralls High school baseball team invaded Abernathy's diamond today and went home with an 8 to 4 District 3-A victory over the home nine.

Abernathy opened up the game with a run in the second inning, then clouted two more in the fourth and the last one came in the sixth frame. Abernathy made five runs and five errors.

Ralls faltered until the fourth inning, when they opened up with a flurry of runs and didn't stop until five homers were racked up. The team made one more run in the fifth and their final two in the seventh.

Woods and Morrison hurled for Abernathy and Stephens worked the mound for Ralls.

Boys Club Nine Defeats Tech Team, 19-4, In Practice Game

The Boys club defeated a Tech team, 19-4, at Boys club diamond Tuesday afternoon in a practice baseball game.

Donnie Washington had a double and a single in three times at bat; Jackie Cook hit a double and two singles in four trips; and Gerald Hise knocked two doubles and a single in four times at bat.

Ben Johnson had two singles and a double in four times at the plate for the losers.

Winning hurler for Boys club was Carroll Walker, and he gave up nine hits, spacing them in every inning of the seven-frame contest. M. D. Stevens caught.

Fourteen hits and several errors kept the Tech nine from ever threatening in the contest. A rematch of the teams will be held Friday at Boys club.

Local Trackmen Enter State Meet

High school track coaches are making plans this week, plans for the state track and field meet in Austin May 6-7 at which an estimated 500 Texas schoolboys will compete.

Of this number six will be from Lubbock. In last week's regional meet Donald Decker, Alfred Adair, Cecil Caddell, Charlie Williams, Malcom Young, and Wayne Stroud qualified for the big show, the thirty-ninth annual University Interscholastic league state meet to be held at Texas Memorial stadium.

Entered In Seven Events

The Westerner delegation will be entered in seven events. Adair and Caddell will try their luck at the pole vault, and Adair will be entered in the high jump. Williams will compete in the broad jump, 220-yard dash, and the 100-yard dash. Decker will run in the century and the 200-yard low hurdles. The 440-yard relay team will roundout Lubbock participation with Young, Stroud, Williams, and Decker carrying the baton.

Tuesday afternoon a good warmup session was held, and the boys practiced their starts. The relay team made several tries, but the handoffs were rather poorly executed.

May Go To Abilene

Coaches Fred Brown and Pat Ferris are considering taking the six qualifiers to a meet in Abilene Saturday to keep them active in competition with other boys. Williams, who was out most of the track season with a pulled leg muscle, and Stroud, also sidelined but because of illness, would find the meet very helpful.

If the boys were to go to Abilene they would enter the same events there as in the state meet and perhaps a few more. Decker has wanted to try his hand at the broad jump, and Adair would like to throw the discus.

Texas State Fish Hatcheries Now Number An Even Dozen

SAN MARCOS, April 26 (AP)—Texas state fish hatcheries now number an even dozen.

The newest and largest is the W. E. Wood fish hatchery here, named in honor of former state Senator A. E. Wood.

The hatchery was completed recently after about 18 months' of construction at a cost of $303,800. It has 92 ponds with a total water area of 62.33 acres.

The other 11 hatcheries are at Eagle Mountain Lake in Tarrant County, Medina, San Angelo, Olmita in the Rio Grande Valley, Ingram on the Guadalupe River, Huntsville, Jasper, Tyler, Cisco, Dundee and Lake Dallas.

Borger Curbs Lamesa, 13-7

BORGER, April 26, (Special)—Borger defeated visiting Lamesa, 13-7, in a West Texas-New Mexico league baseball game here tonight with Clayton Fries going all the way, giving up nine hits.

The Gassers got to three Lamesa hurlers for 11 hits as they coasted to an easy win over the hapless Loboes, and Bill Jones got credit for the loss as he gave up eight runs on three hits in the three and two-thirds innings he pitched.

Lamesa got off to an early lead in their half of the first inning scoring two runs, but Borger came back to take three in the home half of the frame.

Walks, errors, and base hits combined to give the Gassers six runs in the third, and at that point they were held scoreless until the bottom of the eighth when they broke loose for four runs to stretch their margin of victory.

The Loboes scored two in the fifth, two in the seventh, and one in the eighth, but the rallies always fell short of the mark.

The only extra-base blows of the night were doubles by J. Haney and E. Mellilo of Lamesa.

Clovis' Pioneers Swamp Hubbers, 11-1

CLOVIS, April 26 (Special)—The Clovis Pioneers unloaded their big timber at the expense of a pair of Lubbock Hubber hurlers here tonight to take an 11 to 1 victory in the first of a two-game series.

Herby Pitts, starting Hubber hurler, was inclined to wildness and wasn't on the scene long. He was replaced by Rookie Bob Covington in the second inning and the tall, lanky hurler might have escaped with less damage, except for five Hubber errors behind him.

Clovis jammed over one run in the first inning when Pitts walked the first two men to face him. He probably would have had a scoreless inning, however except for Shortstop Nelson Davis' miscue. Davis took a perfect double play ball and threw it into rightfield to send in one run.

The Pioneers put the game on ice in the second frame, when I. B. Palmer doubled and Les Earl singled him home. Bick Harliss fanned, but Harrison fanned, but Harrison Tnomas, starting Pioneer hurler, walked. Jess Jacinto promptly singled to score Earl and Pitts took a shower.

Covington, on the second pitch, got Jim Sinovick to hit into a double play to retire the side.

The Hubbers only run came on a single by Buddy McCallum and successive walks to Manager Jackie Sullivan, Jim Prince and Chick Fowler. George Matthews came on to fan Pedro Dunabietia and Davis to retire the side and the Hubbers were through for the night.

The Hubbers collected only five hits off the pair of southpaws and only two balls were hard hit. They conclude the two-game series with Clovis tomorrow night.

Coleman's Homer In Eighth Gives Yanks 5-4 Win Over A's; Dodgers Drop Boston

Boudreau Homers For Tribe Victory

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—Gerry Coleman, rookie infielder, climaxed a brilliant day at the plate today by homering in the eighth with a mate on base to give the New York Yankees a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Coleman previously had whacked out three singles. The recruit also starred in the field, handling seven chances flawlessly including a fine catch of Ferris Fain's short fly that ended the game with two on.

Phil Marchildon started for the A's but after tossing two balls to the lead-off man Coleman in the first inning, retired complaining of a hitch in his arm. Lefty Alex Kelnner took over.

Gardner Denies Probe Of Dallas

DALLAS, April 26 (AP) — President J. Alvin Gardner of the Texas league said today there was no investigation contemplated of charges that the Dallas club was exceeding the league salary limit.

"The first I knew of this was what I read in the papers," Gardner declared when asked for comment on a story by Flem Hall, Fort Worth Star-Telegram sports editor, that he had been tipped Dallas would be investigated.

Gardner pointed out that the $8,500 per month limit on a club was not even effective until a month after a season opened. At this time each club can carry 37 players and does not have to cut to the player limit of 19 until May 13.

The clubs can pay any salary they like up to that date.

The club will be named the New Deal Lettermen's club and any boy or girl who hold letters are eligible to join.

At the meeting this Saturday, the club will form a constitution and officers will be elected. In addition, all students who have received letters this year will be initiated.

Refreshments will be served and all lettermen are urged to be there.

Hermanski Sparks Dodgers' 5-2 Win

NEW YORK, April 26 (INS)—Gene Hermanski, appearing in the starting lineup for the first time this season, was conspicuous on the attack and started a triple play today and the Dodgers beat the Braves, 5-2.

Replacing Cal Abrams in the outfield, Hermanski proved the big factor in Johnny Sain's second straight defeat. He hit a homer in the opening inning to tie the score. Next, he engineered the Dodgers first triple play in five years to stop the Braves cold, just when they were getting to Preacher Roe.

Sain and Eddie Stanky set the stage by starting the second inning with singles. Alvin Dark followed with a looping fly on which Hermanski made a spectacular grass-top catch. The base runners were snuffed out on Hermanski's quick throw to Jackie Robinson and the latter's relay to first.

Hermanski singled on his fourth time at bat, and previously was robbed of a double by Clint Conatser's running catch.

Rifle Expert Will Perform

One of the foremost skeet shooters in the nation will perform this afternoon at Lubbock Gun club, North Air Base, with the demonstration beginning at 3:30 p. m.

Herb Parsons, called the "Wizard with a Winchester Rifle," will perform with 12 guns as he puts on an hour show. During the course of the exhibition he will fire approximately 700 times.

Sponsored by the Winchester arms company, Parsons is touring the country with free exhibitions of his skill, the kind that most hunters would like to have.

One of his feats is to take three clay pigeons, bend over like a football center and throw the targets into the air. Then he picks up his gun, whirls and splinters the targets with well-aimed shots.

He started his shooting when he was eight years old. At the age of nine he got his first limit of quail, and since then he has added to his laurels. During the war he taught thousands of aerial gunners to hit moving targets. He is a former winner of the Pacific International trap shoot with a record of 399 out of 400 targets.

GAME IS RESCHEDULED

SAN ANTONIO, April 26 (AP)—The opening game of the Beaumont-San Antonio Texas league series scheduled for tonight has been postponed because of wet grounds. It will be played as part of a doubleheader tomorrow, starting at 6:30 p. m.

HEALTH AND FAMILY COME FIRST

Former Middleweight Champ Tony Zale Announces Ring Retirement

CHICAGO, April 26. (AP)—Tony Zale, former world's middleweigh: champion, today announced his retirement from the ring—thus stepping aside as the No. 1 contender for the crown now held by Marcel Cerdan.

Cerdan, scheduled to face Zale in a return match at New York June 21, now probably will meet Steve Belloise, formidable 160-pound New Yorker. The date will be either June or September, depending upon arrangements by the Tournament of Champions.

Turns Down $80,000

Zale, the always popular but slightly rusted "Man of Steel" from Gary, Ind., will be 36 years old next month.

In surrendering his claim to a rematch with Cerdan, Zale passed up a $60,000 guarantee.

"It was to satisfy my pride that I wanted to meet Cerdan again," Zale explained. "But now I'm satisfied to rest on my past."

Punching professionally since 1934, Zale held the middleweight crown from 1940 to 1948, except for a brief time in 1947 when he lost to Rocky Graziano in the second of their vicious three engagements.

At a news conference, Zale declared:

"After deliberation and arguments with myself and my managers, too, I decided to call it quits. It was not an easy thing to do."

Sam Pian, one of his co-managers, cut in with the explanation that Zale had "pride and determination to regain the title for the second time, but he had overlooked the two most important things in life—his health and his family." Zale is the father of two daughters, aged six and three.

Lost To Cerdan

When Zale flattened Graziano in the third round of their last tangle June 10, 1948, at Newark, N.J., he became the only other dethroned middleweight champion ever to regain his title. The other was Stan Ketchell, who lost it to and regained it from Billy Papke.

Zale lost his title the second and last time to Cerdan on a technical knockout in the 12th round of a battle fought in Jersey City last Sept. 21. It was a distinct upset by the fancy-boxing French invader.

Texas Netmen Blank Baylor

AUSTIN, April 26 (AP) The title-defending University of Texas netmen blanked their third straight Southwest Conference opponent here today. Baylor bowed, as have Arkansas and A. & M., 6-0.

Ed Braswell of Texas dumped Baylor's Carroll Drewyer in the No. 1 singles match, 6-1, 6-3. In other singles matches, Longhorn Ed Chew coasted past Bill Bailey, 6-0, 6-2; Clinton Nettleton defeated the Bears' Bob Mapes, 6-3, 6-3, and Felix Kelley, Texas' No. 2 star, downed Bill Johnson 6-0, 6-2. Longhorn captain Bobby Goldfarb did not play.

In the No. 1 doubles match Ed Chew and Braswell outlasted Bailey and Drewyer, 6-4, 6-3; and Kelley and Nettleton whipped past Johnson and Mapes, 6-2, 6-2.

McGee Carried From Court Room

time he was committed to that mental hospital. He stated that McGee entered on July 26, 1947, accompanied by a deputy sheriff, and was released as "sufficiently improved" on September 5, 1947.

The release was for a "90-day trial period in the custody of his mother, Mrs. H. H. Stull, Pampa."

Military Record Read

Attorney Burton S. Burks, former district attorney here, another counsel for the defense, read some of McGee's military record to the jury.

Returning to the deposition of Dr. Ross it was brought out that when McGee entered the Waco hospital he was "very unco-operative."

While a patient in a ward he would have conflicts with other patients which resulted in injuries to McGee or to the other men, according to the hospital records. One such case cited was;

"McGee was struck in the right eye by a fellow patient for trying to take his pie." Another case stated was;

"Richard McGee accused another patient of stealing his newspaper. Patient struck McGee in the eye."

Attorney On Stand

In the cross-interrogatory Dr. Ross stated that he was being paid $50 for his testimony in the deposition and that he had talked only to Mr. Burks about the case. Also disclosed by Dr. Ross;

"The records in, this case do not indicate any mental illness in his family."

The only person to take the stand yesterday afternoon was Fred Young, chief attorney for the Veteran's Administration in this district. Young told the jury of McGee's disability records and the history of his application for an increased allowance. He pointed out that the original allowance was for a 50 per cent disability which was granted at the time McGee was discharged from the army.

On Oct. 5, 1946 this was reduced to 30 per cent but upon appeal by the defendant was later raised to 70 per cent. On Nov. 3, 1947 the disability was rated as 100 per cent, the amount which he is now receiving.

Upon questioning by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and special prosecutor George Dupree, Young said he could not find anywhere in the application any reference to a "head injury suffered while in combat in Italy in 1944."

Psychiatrist Testifies Again

Young also told the court that an application for a guardian to handle his financial affairs was made over McGee's signature. The Lubbock National Bank was appointed to manage his disability allowance of $138 per month.

Col. Simpson read a petition to the jury

"Mr. Young is the handwriting in this petition the same as that in the signature?" Col. Simpson asked.

"We object, your honor," Dupree stated, "on the grounds that Mr. Young, while a very capable lawyer, has not set himself up as a handwriting expert." The objection was sustained.

The afternoon of the eighth day of the trial ended with the introduction of another deposition from Dr Martin Grotjahn, Los Angeles, Calif., which was for the purpose of substantiating previous testimony concerning the mental record of the defendant while at Darnell General Hospital, Danville, Ky. Dr. Grotjahn, served at that hospital during the war and was in charge of the ward in which McGee is alleged to have been placed.

The testimony of Dr. Roy C. Sloan took up the entire morning session Tuesday.

With but one interruption Monday afternoon, Dr. Sloan was on the stand continuously since 1:30 Saturday. Examination and cross-examination required almost eight hours.

During the course of the cross-examination Special Prosecutor George Dupree said:

"Now here is the $100 question."

Objection Is Sustained

Col. E. A. Simpson leaped to his feet and objected strenuously. Judge Blair sustained the objection and ordered the remark stricken from the record. He also instructed the jury not to consider the remark.

Another objection to the method and phrasing of the questioning came after Dupree handed Dr. Sloan the Bible which belonged to Richard McGee and which has been introduced as evidence by the defense.

"How many books are there in the Bible, Dr. Sloan?" Dupree asked.

"I don't know," Dr. Sloan answered.

Col. Simpson objected again on the grounds that Dr. Sloan did not consider himself an expert on the Bible. The objection was sustained and the question and answer removed from the record.

Much of the testimony dealt with the functioning of the human brain and the effects of injuries to the brain on a person's thoughts and actions.

When questioned again on the report of his examination of Richard McGee on January 27, 1947, Dr. Sloan admitted that he had signed the report in which the statement, "did not find where McGee had ever suffered a permanent brain injury," was included.

Dupree asked Dr. Sloan if he had ever been visited by Mrs. Ethel Allston, widow of the slain man.

"Yes she came to me to see if I would examine Richard McGee," Dr. Sloan stated.

Does Not Recall Fee

"Do you recall whether or not you asked for a fee of $300 at that time?" Dupree asked.

"I do not recall the amount of the fee or whether it was discussed," Dr. Sloan answered. He also stated that he did not tell Mrs. Allston that he had previously examined the defendant.

When Col. Simpson continued with the re-direct questioning he summed up the case to ask Dr. Sloan if, in his opinion, McGee was sane or insane, if he knew the difference between right and wrong, and if he knew the nature and the consequences of his acts.

"Richard McGee is insane, he does not know the difference between right and wrong, nor does he know the nature and consequences of his acts," Dr. Sloan asserted. "He is unfitted for industrial application."

When court recessed for the lunch hour Dr. Sloan was excused by both sides but was subject to recall for further questioning by the state.

There has been no hint as to when the trial would come to an end but before the jury can render a verdict there are a few more witnesses to be heard by both sides, Judge Blair must prepare an intricate charge to the jury and the final arguments of the attorneys for both sides must be heard. Conservative estimates are that the trial will continue for the balance of the week and possibly up into the first few days of next week.

McGee Trial Jury Enjoys 'Party' On Member's Birthday

While the normal way of life has been interrupted for the 12 McGee murder trial jurors, the element of time still affects them.

One of the 12 men, H. H. Murray, celebrated his 65th birthday Monday.

To mark this milestone in his life a special cake was brought to the sheriff's office where Sheriff Grady Harrist and his deputies provided the ice cream to go with it.

Since a jury in a criminal case is a 24-legged body that is, by law, inseparable, the other eleven jurors got in on the party without the need of a special invitation.

Murray was not only congratulated. He was also commended for serving on the jury as a good citizen when he might have been excused by reason of over-age.

FLOOD WATERS THREATEN VICTORIA AREA TUESDAY

(By The Associated Press)

The Texas flood spotlight turned on Victoria Tuesday night.

The Guadalupe river, swollen by heavy rains in the South Texas area, is expected to crest at Victoria by Thursday morning.

Farmers and ranchers began moving livestock to higher ground.

Alice and San Diego, buffeted by a 12-hour flash flood Monday night and early Tuesday, saw the high waters fall Tuesday. Thousands of dollars damage was done by the muddy waters, shoulder deep in spots at the flood's height.

Two Lives Lost

Oren Edrington, head of the San Antonio Weather bureau, said the Guadalupe river is expected to reach a stage of 27 to 28 feet—compared with flood stage of 21—at Victoria by Thursday morning.

The Guadalupe was expected to reach 27 feet, three feet above flood stage, at Gonzales Tuesday afternoon. At Cuero, the river was expected to crest at 24 feet, a foot above flood stage, Wednesday afternoon.

Three Rivers also was threatened with high water from the Nueces river, expected to reach 38 feet, a foot above flood level.

Two deaths were indirectly attributed to the floods. Alvin Creech, 37, Premont, was killed late Monday when he was struck by a Missouri Pacific train while clearing driftwood from a railroad trestle over the swollen Santa Gertrudis creek south of Bishop. Dwain Hadwell, a pilot, was killed Monday in a plane crash near Freer while trying to take food to a marooned oil field tester on Duval ranch. N. E. Sears, injured in the crash, was not in serious condition Tuesday.

Flood Danger Lessens

A new dam built to back up a lake on the Laredo country club grounds gave way early Tuesday, releasing a huge volume into a creek emptying into the Rio Grande.

The flood danger at Laredo from the Rio Grande diminished. The Weather bureau said the crest expected late Tuesday night or early Wednesday will not reach the 15-foot level predicted earlier.

It was impossible to estimate damage at Alice. Most homes and business houses suffered some loss. Utilities were not damaged. Volunteers worked through most of Monday night erecting a sandbag bulwark which kept the city waterworks intact.

About 250 evacuees from flooded Alice homes spent the night in the county courthouse at Alice. The Red Cross erected emergency kitchens and merchants provided food.

Other directors include Smith, who is president; Roy Lee Williams, secretary; and B. A. Morrow, Lee Savage, and Winferd Carpenter.

Other special guests in addition to Merriman, all of whom spoke briefly, were Otho Key, assistant manager of the Plains Co-Operative Oil Mill of Lubbock; Tommy Brown, manager of the Co-Operative Compress of Lubbock; G. H. Wiley, bookkeeper of the Co-Operative Compress; and Mrs. Lena M. Lucas, staff member of the accounting firm.

Prior to the barbecue supper, the invocation was asked by Will Harris.

$1,500 Bond Set In Attack Case

Bond of $1,500 was set Tuesday by Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn in binding Domingo Gonzalez, 25-year-old Mexican, over to grand jury investigation on a charge of statutory rape.

Gonzalez is charged in a complaint prepared by assistant District Attorney A. W. Salyers with rape last June of a 14-year-old Mexican girl who has since become a mother. The defendant had not posted bond late last night.

The following judgments were filed by County Judge Walter Davies: $75, county court costs and revocation of driver's license six months for Richard Cooper Monk, 43, of Lubbock, and M. L. Tyer, a 19-year-old Brownfield girl, each of whom had pleaded guilty of drunk driving. Bond of $500 had been posted by Robert L. Hagan, 33, of Lubbock, charged with drunk driving, officials said.

Youth Is Fined

Police said they fined a 20-year-old Lubbock man $15 for disturbance after he had been arrested when in possession of a rifle and a slingshot and after, their reports said, he had threatened to "shoot his way through" a cafe he had been asked to leave.

Another Lubbock man, 24, who allegedly sped through two red lights after having been warned by the police to "watch the red lights," and who police said used abusive language toward them, was fined a total of $30.

Minor Thefts Probed

Minor thefts marred an otherwise quiet Tuesday night, police reports showed.

Theft of a coat and scarf valued jointly at $37 from a coat room of a local drug store was reported by Joy McNeely of 2004 Ninth.

L. D. Saunders of 1630 Sixteenth told police a $24.95 lawn mower had been stolen from his residence.

A bike valued at $20 was reported stolen from the 1710 Seventeenth residence of Mrs. M. H. Adkisson.

Sullivan Resigns

resignation "with profound regret." The President accepted it "reluctantly" and with deep appreciation for Sullivan's service.

Johnson "Deeply Disturbed"

But Sullivan cut loose his pent-up wrath in his letter to the new secretary of defense. The letter, released by Sullivan's office, began bluntly:

"On Saturday, April 23, without discussion with the chief of naval operations, without consultation with the Secretary of the Navy, you directed the discontinuance of the construction of the USS United States, the construction of which had twice been approved by the President . . . "

After recounting details of the legislative authority for the 65,000-ton, $189,000,000 craft, Sullivan noted that the final decision was announced by Johnson while he (Sullivan) was in Corpus Christi, Tex.

"I am of course very deeply disturbed by your action," Sullivan wrote, "which as far as I know represents the first attempt ever made in this country to prevent the development of a powerful weapon.

Action "Drastic"

"The conviction that this will result in a renewed effort to abolish the Marine Corps and to transfer all naval and marine aviation elsewhere adds to my anxiety.

"However, even of greater significance is the unprecedented action on the part of a secretary of defense in so drastically and arbitrarily restricting the plans of an armed service without consulting with that service.

"The consequences of such a procedure are far-reaching and can be tragic."

Sullivan's heated communication pointed up the long smoldering dispute between the Navy and the Air Force over the Navy's role in the air. The AF saw the building of the super-carrier as an attempt to invade its field of strategic bombing. Sullivan said that Navy planners consider its construction "indispensable to the continuing development of American sea power"—so much so that twice they have sacrificed other construction to give it top priority.

The USS United States was planned as the largest aircraft carrier in the world, with a flight deck a fifth of a mile long . . . big enough to handle bombers that might pack the atomic bomb.

Lawmakers generally expressed regret over Sullivan's resignation. Also, some of them said he ought to be given an opportunity to tell his side of the controversy to Congress.

The chairmen of the two powerful House committees, however, endorsed Defense Secretary Johnson's decision to halt work on the ship.

They were Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services committee and Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations committee.

School Board Meets

partial impairment of hearing but could continue normal classroom routine, two needed the attention of specialists for cure of their ailments, and nine were definitely hard of hearing.

Special Classrooms Studied

The audiometer, which will cost "around $600," will be used in other schools in the district. Those found sufficiently hard of hearing may by the beginning of next school term have special classrooms available at some centrally located school. Parents of about 30 such hard-of-hearing students have indicated their desire for such an arrangement, the mother who attended the meeting of the board said.

The board at last night's meeting approved the appropriation of $6,433.75 to purchase books for public school libraries, that amount being the first of two semi-annual expenditures recommended by a teachers committee on library standards. The approval of the second expenditure is pending further information on the expected income of the school district for the next school year, it was pointed out.

Library Improvements Set

Matthews, in a bulletin sent to trustees prior to the meeting, pointed out that "the building program of the last five years has outdistanced our library system." The teachers committee based its recommendations upon standards set up by the American Library Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and by the Texas Department of Education.

Clyde G. Tatum, chairman of the board, announced the working committees of the board for the next year. They were as follows:

Building committee—Dr. M. M. Ewing, chairman; Ruel C. Martin, and Glenn Woody.

Athletic committee—G. C. Dowell, chairman; Don L. Jones and Woody.

Teachers committee — Woody, chairman; Ewing and Dowell.

Teachers salaries—Martin, chairman; Jones and W. H. Evans.

Transportation committee—Jones, chairman; Martin and Dowell.

The school board announced that May 16 has been set as the date for letting of contracts for remodeling of the old Central Junior high school.

Teachers Are Approved

It was announced that the following teachers are not accepting election for the 1949-50 school year: Mary Clare Barnett, Overton school; Mrs. Wynona Shaw, Carroll Thompson Junior high; E. E. Hancock, J. T. Hutchinson Junior high; Mrs. Hope R. Austin, P. F. Brown school; Mrs. Ava S. Barr, P. F. Brown school; and Mrs. Vera Mae Stanford, Cottage school.

The board approved the election of the following new teachers:

James E. Wilson, O. L. Slaton school; Mrs. Rachel R. Branom, Brown school; Virginia Sue Smith, Brown school; Geraldine Frazier, Central Ward school; Martha Lou Smith, Cottage school; Gordon E. Stalcup, Dupre school; Mrs. Rayma Smith, East Broadway school; Mrs. Lucille S. Garrison, Guadalupe school; Walter J. Crews, Chris Harwell school; Mrs. Thelma T. McBryde, Chris Harwell school; Mrs. Peggy Phillips, Chris Harwell school; Mrs. Lyta E. Bradford, Overton school; Mary Sue Tyson, Overton school.

Margarite McCoy, Wilson school; Hester M. Beck, Northwest school; Mrs. Peggy M. Bowling, Northwest school; Mrs. Barbara B. Coleman, Northwest; Fillmore Hendrix, Northwest school; Mrs. Irene S. McMillan, Northwest; Mrs. Edna Oswalt, Northwest; and Mrs. Annie L. Pace, Mrs. Travis L. Hamblett, Mrs. Leota M. Hopp, Walter P. Oswalt, Mrs. Cleo Y. Peek and Mrs. Marion Lee Rowe, all to Northwest school.

Northeast and Northwest schools refer to new sites on which the board is setting up temporary buildings in time for occupancy at the beginning of the coming school year. Neither school has been officially named as yet.

MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH

SAN ANTONIO, April 26. (AP)—A large rock fell early today on a party of fishermen who had taken refuge under it from heavy rains. Joe Persyn, 40, San Antonio, was crushed to death.

Brannan Asks To Try Farm Plan With Hogs

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—Congress was asked today to let the administration try its controversial new farm program out on hogs.

This "trial run" would mean guaranteed prices for farmers and possibly cheaper pork chops for consumers.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan told the House Agriculture committee he would like authority to conduct the experiment immediately.

The secretary said he approached "with fear and trembling" the prospect of supporting hog prices under the present program. This requires the government to buy surplus pork if the price threatens to drop below around $16.50 a hundredweight.

Such purchases would support hog prices. But Brannan said he does not know what the government would do with the perishable meat after it was bought.

Overnight Parking

partment, declining to say whether instructions to conduct such a campaign had come from city hall sources.

Reports were that Mayor W. H. Rodgers had ordered the drive. But the mayor said last night that these reports were untrue.

City Manager Matthews said he knew nothing about the campaign "until they started ringing my phone off the wall" Tuesday morning.

"I would not have ordered a drive of this kind without ample notice to the many people who long have been accustomed to parking in front of their residences at night for lack of a more satisfactory place to leave their cars," Matthews declared.

Mayor Issues Statement

A statement by Mayor Rodgers supported the supposition that the campaign resulted from a general misunderstanding.

A resident on Avenue Y has complained to him a number of times, he said, because of all-night parking in front of her home.

"She read me the portion of the ordinance which forbids all-night parking," the mayor related. "She was exactly right. The ordinance does forbid it. So I asked police to try to get her satisfied. I had no thought of a campaign aimed at all all-night parkers. The first I knew about that was when I started getting telephone calls this (Tuesday) morning."

Some of the members of the police department said they were left under the impression that the tagging campaign was what the mayor wanted and that they merely were carrying out orders when they started hanging police court summons on the all-night parkers.

'Offending Auto' Missed

"But they sure didn't tag them all," Mayor Rodgers commented. "I know of at least one they missed. They didn't tag the car which was the cause of the complaint on Avenue Y."

The reaction to the campaign Tuesday morning was swift and, in many cases, vehement as the owners of the tagged cars registered varying degrees of indignation.

Some voiced highly unflattering opinions of the city administration and everyone connected with it when they appeared at the police station either to deposit $1 as a fine or, in at least one instance, to serve notice they would demand a trial by jury.

The mayor, city manager, available members of the city commission and other officials were swamped by telephoned protests. The Avalanche-Journal also received protests delivered in person and by telephone.

Ordinance Cited

Apparently no one questioned that all-night parking is specifically forbidden by city ordinance. The particular provision reads: "No person except physicians on an emergency call shall leave parked a vehicle on any paved street for a period of time longer than 60 minutes between 2 a. m. and 6 a. m."

The provision is contained in an ordinance prepared and adopted several months ago in an effort to combine into one code all regulations pertaining to traffic.

Various traffic ordinances prior to that time had been widely scattered and, in some instances, contradicted each other. But officials said that all-night parking has been forbidden for many years. The ban was carried forward from an old ordinance and included in the recently revised code.

Rule Claimed Impractical

Officials acknowledged that no serious attempt ever has been made to enforce the ordinance. Some of the members of the city commission have been outspokenly of the opinion that it is impractical under the conditions which exist when many car owners cannot obtain garages or other suitable storage places which are convenient and at prices they can afford to pay.

City officials were uncertain what may be done about the problem. It undoubtedly will be discussed at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission in the city hall at 1:30 p. m. Thursday.

The city manager said he hoped to have some definite recommendations upon the subject ready by that time. He professed uncertainty as to what his recommendations may be.

Shanghai Braces For Red Attack

the Whangpoo. They were anchored in the Yangtze to the north to avoid possible involvement in any fighting.

Many Americans Staying

More than 250 Americans and other nationals were getting out. Many more elected to stay. U.S. Economic Administration association headquarters packed up to move to Canton, South China city now serving as the Nationalist capital.

(The Communist radio in Peiping announced that lives and property of foreign nationals would be protected. The broadcast was heard by the AP in San Francisco.)

The Communist radio said Red columns had captured Ihing and Chingtai, about 80 miles west of Shanghai. If true they were halfway from the Yangtze to Hangchow, 85 miles southwest of Shanghai.

Hangchow may be the site of a last-ditch government stand on the populous eastern seaboard of China.

Reds Near Soochow

Many of the government forces which seem to have vanished from Shanghai may be at Hangchow now.

While one Red column circled around the western side of giant Tai lake in the Ihing sector, another beat down the eastern shore.

A Shanghai Nationalist garrison communique said Red outriders had appeared near Soochow (Wunsien) 40 miles west of Shanghai. Either column in a thrust south would cut land communications between Shanghai and south China.

A Communist broadcast heard in Shanghai said the "bulk" of the government's 20th and 99th armies were "wiped out."

No News From Nanking

(The location of this fighting was not given. Presumably it was somewhere on the front around Nanking, Red-occupied Nationalist capital.

(Neither side had anything to say about the fighting on the front around Hankow. There about 200,000 Nationalist troops last were facing Communist veterans from Manchuria. The Reds had a numerical advantage of two to one.)

No news came out of Nanking. Associated Press Correspondent Seymour Topping reported from Nanking that communications were disrupted. He indicated he was confined to his house by Communist guards.

U.S. Consul John Cabot estimated 100 Americans had boarded U.S. naval vessels here for removal in an emergency. Most of them were women and children. That still would leave 2,400 Americans in Shanghai.

Another group of Americans is expected to board the liner Wilson, which is due tomorrow from Hong Kong. The size of this group was not estimated.

The Eldorado, flagship of Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger, commander of the Western Pacific fleet, sailed north from Shanghai on the Whangpoo river to the greater safety of the Yangtze.

It was followed by the troopship Chilton. The Chilton carried all but a handful of a Marine battalion which has been living aboard. A few Marines remained to guard the consulate and Navy shore installations.

The British cruiser London, shelled by the Communists last week, and the British destroyer Constance followed the U.S. ships out of Shanghai waters.

Chinese air lines still ferried refugees to Canton, Formosa and Hong Kong. U. S. lines were maintaining scheduled flights to the States. Ship lines of all nations went ahead with planned arrivals and departures as though nothing was happening.

Meanwhile, the Shanghai garrison tightened its "peace and security" measures. All persons were ordered off the streets by 10 p.m. Special curfew passes were cancelled

The garrison also announced it had begun rounding up suspected Communists among Shanghai's students. It said two Chinese "rumor mongers" had been executed for "spreading false reports."

Graham Jenkins, Reuters' correspondent, and George Vine, International News Service correspondent who is also editor of the North China Daily News, were released by garrison police.

They had been detained overnight for putting out what the garrison said was "a false report." The report dealt with asserted Communist advances which the garrison denied Vine's newspaper was ordered suspended for three days.

sues in Berlin. On some occasions they had taken the position that a foreign ministers meeting should be held simultaneously with the blockade lifting.

The Western Powers have long taken the position that they were willing to discuss any German issues with the Soviets—after the lifting of the blockade.

On the basis of today's developments it was not possible to state flatly that the Tass report set forth all the conditions which the Russian government might ask of the American, British and French governments in negotiations which have been underway since February 15.

Houston Firm Announces Price Reduction On Asphaltic Crude Oil

HOUSTON, April 26 (AP) — Pan American Production company today announced a 25-cent per barrel reduction in posted prices for purchase of asphaltic crude oil in four Northeast Texas fields.

E. R. Turner, president, said the new prices become effective at 7 a.m. tomorrow in the Cayuga, Manziel, Merigale-Paul and Quitman (Eagle-Ford and sub-Clarksville sands) fields.

Turner said the price reduction affects crude primarily utilized for manufacture of fuel oil.

Large Crowd Attends Little Theater Play

The largest crowd of the season braved rain, hail, and wind to attend the final Little Theater production, "Claudia," Tuesday night in Senior High school auditorium.

Over 800 enthusiastic theater fans demanded four curtain calls of the cast, until Betty Furgeson, who played the part, appeared alone for the last call.

Mrs. Charles Caldwell was charming in the part of Claudia's mother. The part of her father was ably played by Dr. James M. Reynolds.

Expended Program Planned

Don Droppleman's dialect was unusually authentic, and Bert McGinnis drew praise for another dialect part.

Mrs. G. H. Wilson, Miss Chareen Ketchersid, and Mrs. Charles Musson were excellent in their supporting roles.

Stage decorations by Kate [illegible] of Texas Tech Applied Arts department were attractive, adding greatly to the authenticity of the play.

Little Theater presentations have been so well received this year that plans are set for five plays next season, instead of the usual four. And, the plays are to run two nights, instead of one, when the season opens next September.

Endurance Flight

be back," he told the crowd.

Riedel then stepped out of the plane and into the mob.

They could hardly walk and had to be supported.

Riedel's crippled son, Dick, jr., was rolled in his wheelchair to greet his father.

"Hello, honey," his father said and kissed him.

"I knew you could do it, Dad," the boy shouted, his eyes glistening.

When the men landed the shouting crowd threatened to get out of hand and many were in danger from the flying propellor before the engine was cut.

The dog-weary men were taken to the California hotel in Fullerton for a bath, rub-down, barbering and examination by physicians. Afterwards they prepared for a gala parade of celebration through the city's streets.

Also in store for the city's heroes was a testimonial dinner, following which the fliers will "hit the sack" for their first real sleep in a month and a half.

Meanwhile, the Aeronca company, manufacturers of the "Sunkist Lady," announced that they would exchange a brand new model for the plane that carried the two pilots to their record.

Barris and Riedel also disclosed that indebtedness accrued on their first two tries for the endurance mark had been wiped out by a $1,500 contribution from the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce and by popular subscription.

Following the parade the two men with their wives planned to vacation in a beach hotel.

"And we're going to live in opposite wings of the hotel," they said. "We're so tired now we don't want to talk to each other."

It was the men's fourth try at setting a new endurance mark. The former record of 726 hours was set in 1939 by Wes Carroll and Clyde Schlieper, of Long Beach, Calif.

The motor of the "Sunkist Lady" turned over more than 130,000,000 times during their 1,008 hours in the air. The oil was changed every 48 hours and 6,500 gallons of gasoline were used.

They averaged 11.5 miles per gallon.

Every bit of oil, gasoline, food and other supplies were handed to the fliers from a jeep speeding down the airport runway at 70 to 75 miles per hour while the plane was traveling directly overhead.

The two men lived on a special diet predominated by fruit juices and concentrates.

During the last four days the men alternated at the controls in one-hour shifts. Before that they had spelled each other every four hours but they were forced to shorten the spells as they became more tired.

The endurance record wasn't the only one set by the fliers. Because of the monotony of flying over the same scenery, they decided on a cross-country hop.

They took off on March 15 and flew to Florida and back, the first non-stop cross-country flight and return in the history of aviation.

They took 26 days for the trip and visited such cities as El Paso, Fort Worth, Meridian, Miss., Jacksonville, Fla., Miami, Tallahassee, New Orleans, Beaumont, San Angelo and Tucson.

Last weekend they flew to San Diego to attend the first annual American cup races.

U. S. Steel Corporation Reports Highest Earnings In 20 Years

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP) — United States Steel corporation reported today its earnings for the first three months of 1949 were the highest in nearly 20 years and its production was largest in its history.

And Chairman Irving S. Olds told a news conference that in the absence of labor difficulties or some national catastrophe, the company expected high-level operations to continue into the third quarter of the year.

Negroes To Ask Entrance To T.U.

HOUSTON, April 26. (AP)—Thirty-seven negroes, most of them now students in Texas colleges, will apply tomorrow for graduate work in branches of the University of Texas, a spokesman for the National Association for Advancement of Colored People said here today.

The spokesman said most of the students will make application for enrollment in graduate courses at the main university at Austin but at least one each will seek to enter the university's school of dentistry in Houston and school of medicine at Galveston.

It was also said it is considered likely that application for graduate work in the same fields will be made at the Texas State University for Negroes in Houston where the only graduate work offered is law study.

Hit Weak Spots

The Houston Post tonight said it appears the applications are planned to hit the state's educational system in every place it is vulnerable in regard to higher education for negroes.

The NAACP spokesman said the applications will be made in fields where no graduate study is available for negroes in their home state.

A law school was established last year at the Texas University for Negroes after Heman Sweatt, Houston negro postal employe, applied for entrance into the University of Texas school of law.

A district court ordered that a school of law equal to that in Austin be established for the Houston school. University officials here say approximately 25 students now are enrolled in the school.

The original Sweatt case, however, now is pending before the Supreme court in Washington.

At Austin, university officials said they had heard nothing of plans for the negroes to appear for registration.

They said the university still is in its spring semester and that it is a little early for registration for the summer session.

Attlee also said that the Nationalist regime still was the properly constituted authority in China and had approved the movements of the ships.

The Communists, he said, rejected all conciliation efforts of Britain to get the Amethyst out of the danger zone. Attlee rejected as "fantastic" the Communist charge that Britain directly aided the Nationalists in the civil war by firing on Communist positions.

The compromise under discussion would provide for an injunction to remain in force for 30 days, during which the President would attempt to settle the labor dispute.

Man Held Prisoner By Mother For 10 Years Freed In Brooklyn

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Brooklyn police tonight rescued a 33-year-old man who they said had been held a prisoner in a sealed room for the past 10 years by his mother.

Police identified the man as Paul Makushak.

They said he had a long beard, described his appearance as "filthy," and said he apparently had had no change of clothing in the past 10 years.

The strange story, police said, came to light after the mother, Mrs. Anna Makushak, was forced to enter a hospital because of illness.

40 Refugees Arrive In Tokyo On 'Last Plane' From Shanghai

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
INS Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, April 27—Forty evacuees breathed sighs of relief today at Tokyo's Haneda airdrome as they stepped off what they believe was the last plane to leave Communist-imperilled Shanghai in China.

The 40 passengers had been crowded into a Pan American clipper whose normal load is limited to 29 passengers.

Dwight Martin of Time magazine, one of the plane's nervous but happy evacuees, said all was confusion in Shanghai where the populace expects the arrival of Communist troops at almost any hour.

Refugees Jam Roads

Martin said he and his fellow-evacuees had no definite information but that "we all feel we rode the last plane out of Shanghai."

(In San Francisco, Pan American officials said the roads leading to Shanghai's Lungwha airport were so jammed with refugees that persons with plane reservations were unable to reach the airport by the usual routes.

(The Shanghai traffic manager reported by radio telephone that he was attempting to employ boats to carry passengers from the city to the airport via the Whangpoo river.

(The official, Robert Jose, said it was his belief that even the Communists would have difficulty reaching the city today because of the road jams.

(Jose said he was continuing to schedule flights from Shanghai on a "business as usual" basis.)

Reds May By-Pass City

Martin confirmed these reports, saying the highway to the airport was so jammed with people moving both ways that the passengers had to use river launches. He added:

"It was rumored that the Communists were only ten miles from the field and Nationalist fighters buzzed the airport while we were there."

He said the city has not had any looting such as that seen in Nanking but that the Bund and other downtown streets are so crowded that traffic is unable to move. Martin continued:

"Nobody knows whether the Nationalists are going to fight for Shanghai but the general feeling is that the Communists are going to by-pass the city and wait to be invited in.

"Such an invitation is quite possible because the people feel that somebody has got to keep order.

"The general feeling is that the Nationalists are going to evacuate the city if they can."

With Martin aboard the plane were other Americans as well as Britons, Germans, Yugoslavs and some Chinese.

Bashful Hippotamus Groomed For Romance At Chicago Zoo

CHICAGO, April 26 (U.P.)—Bubbles, the bashful hippopotamus, was being groomed today for a romance with a male hippo named Pete at the Columbus, O., zoo.

Ralph Graham, assistant director of Brookfield zoo, said Bubbles would be shipped to Columbus tomorrow or the next day. He said he couldn't be sure, because Bubbles hasn't made up her mind.

Zoo attendants have been trying for days to get her into the cage in which she will make the trip. They tried all sorts of bait including garlic, regarded by hippos as a delicacy.

Finally, the zookeepers strewed baled hay inside the cage, and Bubbles went for it. She lumbered in, at the hay and lumbered out again.

Graham said they did not lock her inside because they want her to get used to the cage. For all her 1,800-pound bulk, he said, Bubbles is as shy and sensitive as a schoolgirl.

"We don't want her to be unhappy when she meets Pete at Columbus," he said.

Graham said it probably would be tomorrow or Thursday before Bubbles becomes emotionally adjusted to the new cage.

At Columbus, zoo officials said they would change Bubbles' name to Snooky, which sounds more romantic.

Dedication Rites Set At Levelland

LEVELLAND, April 26 (Spl.)—Hockley County Judge LaVern I. McCann has announced that plans are underway for dedication of the new courthouse annex May 30. In addition to the dedication, the Wm. E. Evans post of the American Legion will decorate graves of the veterans in the Levelland cemetery.

A wreath will be placed on the memorial marker on the courthouse lawn by Jack Thomman, a past district commander and a past Fifth Division commander of the Legion. Thomman was division commander when the memorial marker was erected as a memorial to Wm. E. Evans, for whom the post was named.

A memorial service is scheduled in the county library in the new building for Gold Star parents, wives and relatives.

Dedication of the courthouse is scheduled for 10:30 a. m. The commissioners' court and American Legion have secured services of the Fourth Army band of Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, for the event. John Winters, Austin, of the State Department of Public Welfare, will be the main speaker.

The Memorial Day program is sponsored by the American Legion and is being arranged by Sam Blair, commander, and Burnie R. Carraway, vice commander.

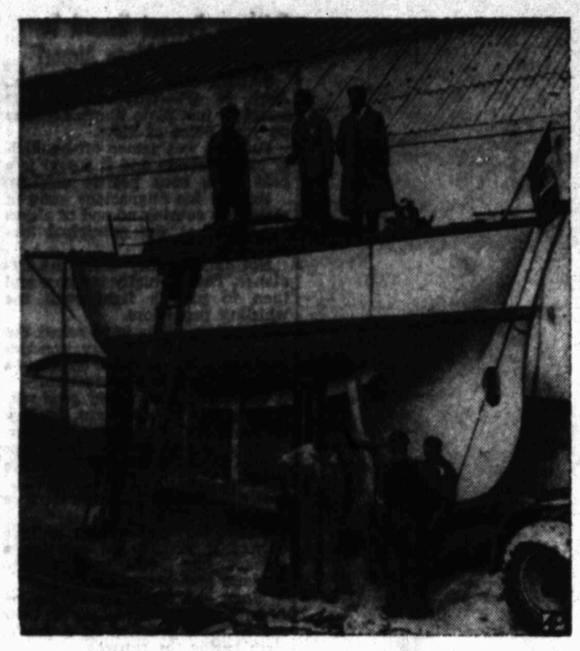

Deadline Against Pioneer Air Lines At Houston Withdrawn

HOUSTON, April 26 (AP)—The Houston Chronicle today quoted state Adjutant General K. L. Berry as saying in Austin the May 31 deadline for Pioneer Airlines to move from a national guard hangar and Houston's municipal airport is being withdrawn.

Pioneer subleases the hangar from the state armory board and has been asked to vacate the facilities to permit the 63rd Fighter wing of the Air National guard to move in June 1.

Pioneer's board of directors were to have met here tomorrow to consider the possibility of moving their headquarters to another city.

The Chronicle quoted Berry as saying the air guard will remain at Ellington air base if satisfactory arrangements can be made.

West Coast Boy Shares Gifts With Fellow Leukemia Victim

WOODLAND, Wash., April 26 (U.P.) — One little boy dying of leukemia sent another little boy with the same disease a present of two watermelons today.

The melons were flown to Albert Wyman, 5, here yesterday from Ronnie Calvert, 3, a Richmond, Calif., boy. Ronnie has a "house-full" of melons sent to him from Florida and Mexico by wellwishers who heard of his craving for the out-of-season fruit.

Leukemia causes acute hunger for watermelon. However, the parents of the Wyman boy said the gift from young Calvert was the first fresh watermelon their son had received since his attack.

Britain took most woven wool cloth off the ration, but continues to ration knitting wool and knitted garments.

Chickens Present Hazard To Flying Near Michigan Airport

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., April 26 (AP)—Whether Pete is smart or just plain dumb depends on your point of view.

Pete (he was named off-handedly by somebody and it stuck) is a bold little cock prairie chicken.

He and his pugnacious gang of males are causing no end of alarm for pilots at the municipal airport here.

Not only do they chase the airplanes. They actually try now and then to pick a fight with the whirling propellors.

Disturbed pilots have asked the aid of the state conservation department, declaring the chickens a "hazard to aerial navigation."

There might be a very good reason for all of this dare deviltry by Pete and the boys, however.

It's mating season, and love seems to do things to a prairie chicken, too.

For evidently the brave deserve the fair.

Sad to say, however, some have carried it too far. On occasion a chicken has flown head-on into a plane and been killed.

When the males aren't fooling around the airplanes, they do their spring mating dance on a gravel strip beside the runway.

The females sit coyly to one side.

All this endearment touches the heart, and the airport people have no desire to offend.

So they are asking the conservation men—in the interests of romance and prairie chicken longevity—to set up a feeding station which would entice Pete and the others from danger.

Rules Advanced For Correct Phone Usage

ST. LOUIS, April 26. (U.P.)—A telephone company thinks the American public ought to mind its manner of speaking.

First of all, the Southwestern Bell Telephone company says in a series of educational pamphlets on correct phone usage, folks should say goodbye to the answer "hello."

Instead of juggling a couple of "hellos" around on the circuit, when the receiver is picked up, people ought to get right down to business with something like "Joe speaking."

Voice Reveals Mood

If a talker is hard to understand over the telephone, it says, he probably has "lazy lips."

"You can smile with your voice," one of the pamphlets exlains. "You can laugh, you can frown or glower with it. Unless you're on your tones, so to speak, it can betray you, maybe toss in a frown for a smile."

As a greeting when answering the telephone, the pamphlet condemns the American "hello" only slightly less than the British "are you there?"

Obviously, it points out, if no one is, there is no point in talking at all.

A fire in the creamery at Senek:l, French West Africa, was extinguished by spraying hundreds of gallons of buttermilk on the flames, as no water was available.

New Scurry Oil Field Opened As Wildcat Test Is Completed

The first Ellenburger producer in Scurry county has been completed by Humble Oil & Refining company at the concern's No. 1-B Moore, wildcat in the northwest part of the county.

The well pumped 24 hours to make an initial production of 47 barrels of oil. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure. Shakeout was two per cent water. Gravity of petroleum was 46.5 degrees.

Production was through casing perforations at 8,200-40 feet, opposite the Ellenburger pay section. Total depth is 8,405 feet. Plug-back depth is 8,350 feet. Top of the deep zone was called on 8,202 feet.

This new field opener is about 10 miles northwest of Snyder and 1,880 feet from north, 1,980 feet from east lines of section 492, block 97, H&TC survey.

Production tests were scheduled to be in process at Sunray Oil Corporation No. 1 Brown, recent Canyon - Pennsylvanian discovery in north-central Scurry county.

The prospect has drilled cement plug on 5½-inch casing set at 6,535 feet. Tubing has been run. No gauges have been reported. Total depth is 6,644 feet.

This strike, originally operated by Ryan, Hays and Burke, is located 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 8, section 20, J. P. Smith survey, approximately six miles north of Snyder.

Further testing of the San Andres-Permian in central Gaines county was underway at C. H. Murphy & Son No. 1 E. T. O'Daniel, wildcat two miles southeast of Seminole and 660 feet from east, 1,980 feet from south lines of section 16, block C-44 ,psl survey.

Operator has squeezed off perforations at 5,280-90 feet and 5,310-25 feet, opposite the San Andres, which swabbed sulphur water.

The section of pipe at 5,310-25 feet then was perforated with 60 shots. A packer was set at 5,300 feet and t ehwell was acidized with 1,000 gallons. On last report, the venture was swabbing, recovering acid water.

Humble Oil & Refining company has plugged and abandoned its No. 1-B Edmondson, wildcat failure in the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian one and one-quarter miles west of the North Snyder area of north-central Scurry county.

The exploration was plugged on 7,,200 feet, following a drillstem test recovering salt water. No prospects of oil or gas were developed.

It was 760 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 437, block 97, H&TC survey.

Judge Congratulates California Man Held On Drunkenness Charge

LONG BEACH, Calif., April 26 (AP)—Gerald Trapp's open door policy while drunk landed him in front of a judge—who congratulated him.

Gerald, a 25-year-old aircraft worker was arrested yesterday morning and taken before Municipal Judge Harry Keeler. There policemen testified that Gerald walked wobbily down Atlantic boulevard, trying the doors of parked automobiles. Every time he found one unlocked, he opened it wide and left it that way.

He explained thus:

"I was teaching all those auto owners a lesson. Leaving car doors unlocked is an awful temptation to auto thieves."

Judge Keeler agreed. He imposed a one day sentence or $10 fine—then suspended it.

Measure To Go Back To Senate

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 26 — A proposed constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax as a requisite for voting was passed by the House today.

The vote was 100-31. The proposal already had been approved by the Senate. Because of one minor amendment the House put on, it now must go back to the Senate for final approval.

The proposal also requires the legislature to set up a voter registration system.

Solon Opposes Measure

"The poll tax amendment was adopted almost 50 years ago," Judge S. J. Isaacks of El Paso said. "It always has been a controversial subject.

"This legislature has no right to say who shall be a qualified voter. That's for the people to determine."

The proposal would be submitted to a vote of the people Sept. 24, 1949.

Rep. J. A. Benton of Wylie spoke against the measure, saying abolishing the poll tax would take away a million and a half dollars annually from the state schools.

Senate Passes Bills

Isaacks explained he was not abolishing the poll tax, only abolishing it as a prerequisite to voting.

Benton also declared: "If a person isn't interested enough to pay $1.75 for a poll tax he shouldn't have the privilege of voting."

The House passed the Senate version of the proposed amendment, by Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg. Isaacks was author of a similar proposal in the House but withdrew it in favor of the Senate measure.

Two bills aimed at stepping up government efficiency were passed by the Senate during the day.

One would create a state legislative council to make between-session studies of proposed legislation. The other would change the state's budget-making system, taking it out of the hands of the Board of Control.

Budget Setup Explained

Both measures were sent to the House on voice votes, without opposition.

Senator R. L. Proffer of Justin is author of the legislative council measure. The council would be made up of five senators and 10 representatives and include the lieutenant governor and speaker.

Senator Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo wrote the budget board bill. Under it, the legisla-

200 DELEGATES EXPECTED HERE

Tech Students Open Registration Today For Journalism Congress

Texas Tech journalism students will begin registration today for the annual Southwestern Journalism Congress which will be held at the college Friday and Saturday for the first time in 13 years.

Prof. Cecil Horne, head of Tech's journalism department and president of the congress, said local students were being allowed to register early in order that delegates from other schools who will attend the meet could be taken care of without delay. Around 200 delegates from schools in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana are expected to attend.

Columnist To Speak

Two more of the outstanding speakers from the field of professional journalism who will address the congress are Lynn Landrum of the Dallas Morning News and John L. Mortimer, public relations director for United States Steel from Houston.

Landrum, author of a column, "Thinking Out Loud," holds an LL.B degree from the University of Texas. After training at the first Officers Training camp at Leon Springs, Texas in 1917, he became a first lieutenant in the Infantry.

After working on newspapers in Altus, Okla., Bryan, Vernon and Quanah, Landrum became an editorial writer for The Dallas News in 1921. From that time until he became a columnist in 1938 he did most of the editorial writing for both The News and The Dallas Journal.

He began his column in 1938 and it has been running since that time except for four years during the war. Landrum returned to active duty in 1942 and rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel before he was discharged in 1946.

He is married and has one son, Graham G., who is an English instructor at Rice institute. Landrum says he likes to be known as simply, "Lynn Landrum, newspaperman and taxpayer." He will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be held at the Country club Friday night.

Mortimer To Address Session

Mortimer who is a graduate of Rice and the University of Missouri will speak to a general session of the congress Friday afternoon. He has worked on such newspapers as The Houston Post, San Antonio Light, and for a press association in San Francisco. In 1942, he became public relations director for the Houston Chamber of Commerce.

Due to his excellent work, the next year he was appointed director of public relations for the Southwestern district of U.S. Steel. He is married and has one daughter.

Mortimer is a member of several leading civic and educational clubs over the state. He will speak to the delegates on, "Public Relations Work."

Line Says Lubbock Needs Trunkline Flights

Braniff To Oppose Service Suspension

An official of Braniff International Airways pledged Tuesday that Braniff will "vigorously oppose" a move by the Civil Aeronautics board to suspend trunk line air service in and out of Lubbock.

Charles E. Beard, of Dallas, Braniff executive vice-president, emphatically announced his company's opposition to such a move.

The CAB in Washington has begun an investigation "to determine whether Braniff's certification to serve Lubbock should be suspended for a five-year period."

Need For Service Explained

If the service were suspended, Lubbock would have only "feeder" airline service.

A statement by Beard Tuesday said, "With respect to the investigation initiated by the Civil Aeronautics Board to determine whether or not our certfication to serve Lubbock should be suspended for a five-year period and Lubbock left with only feeder line service, Braniff Airways intends to vigorously oppose such suspension.

"A community of the size and economic importance of Lubbock is entitled to trunkline service and we feel confident that when the facts concerning Lubbock and its traffic development have been placed before the board they will justify continuance of our trunk line service."

It appeared Tuesday that Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and other agencies would rally to the aid of Braniff in maintaining service.

Usual procedure in such a case is for the CAB to hold a "pre-hearing" and then a public hearing before taking action.

The pre-hearings, scheduled for the latter part of the month in Washington, would be a conference of officials of the carrier concerned, the hearing examiners and public counsellors. At this meeting the parties involved would agree on a date for the hearing and stipulate the evidence to be considered.

Then, at a full and open hearing, the decision would be made. Chamber of Commerce and civil officials would present facts and figures in connection with the need for trunk line air service, it was indicated.

Court Rules Against Former U.S. Official

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—Federal Judge Edward A. Conger today set aside a $1,150,000 verdict awarded by a jury to James A. Moffett, former federal housing administrator, in his suit against the Arabian American Oil company.

Moffett had claimed compensation for services he said he performed with President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry Hopkins and Jesse Jones in 1941 which protected the oil company's Saudi Arabian possessions.

Judge Conger, in granting the company's motion to set aside the verdict, acted in part on the company contention that Moffett's suit was contrary to public policy in that no man could sell his influence with a public official.

'Influence' Noted

The court noted that Moffett had an intimate friendship with the late president, who had appointed him federal administrator. He also gave credence to Moffett's claim that he was selected by the oil company to represent it in Washington because of his long experience and expert knowledge in foreign affairs and the oil industry.

Judge Conger added his belief that the oil company selected Moffett "as much, if not more, for his close relations with the president."

The judge ruled that the Moffett services "are the kind that the law says may not be compensated for."

Moffett's counsel promptly announced an appeal would be taken.

Moffett, retired oil company executive, had claimed that as a result of his intercessions in Washington in 1941, the British were required to make certain payments to King Ibn Saud out of a $450,000,000 loan granted by this country.

The Saudi Arabian king had demanded that the oil company pay him $6,000,000 a year to make up for a war-time diminution in his income.

Discussion Set On LAFB Details

Details attendant upon the opening of Lubbock Air Force Base will be discussed within the next few days at a conference of Lubbock representatives and Maj. Gen. Robert Harper, head of Air Forces Training, at Barksdale Air Force Base.

Decision to send a local committee to Barksdale, near Shreveport, La., was made Tuesday after a mid-morning meeting of the City commission, other city officials and members of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Air Force Affairs.

All members of the commission and the committee were present for the meeting, held in the Commission chambers at City Hall.

Problems Are Discussed

The 16 man group discussed use of Lubbock Municipal airport as an auxiliary field by LAFB; paving of Fourth street to the base and various minor problems connected with LAFB's approaching reactivation. Decision to send the committee to Barksdale was prompted by need for discussion with General Harper of the extent of use to which Municipal airport may be put.

Members of the committee to talk with General Harper have not yet been chosen. However, it is expected that Mayor W. H. Rodgers will be one member and Spencer Wells, chairman of the chamber's Air Force Affairs committee will be another.

To Enlarge Committee

The seven-man Air Force Affairs committee, which has been working since war's end to bring about reactivation of LAFB, will be greatly enlarged in the immediate future, it was agreed Tuesday. Chairman Wells outlined a plan to bring into the committee citizens from all walks of life, so as many as possible may have a hand in arranging for the Air Force's arrival and also with the reactivation.

Present at Tuesday morning's meeting were Mayor Rodgers, Commissioners W. B. Price, Clarence Whiteside, John Spikes and E. K. Hufstedler; City Attorney V. E. Wilson, City Manager Steve Matthews and City Airport Manager Ed Colby; Chairman Wells and Air Force Affairs Committeemen L. E. Davis, Don Davis, Earl Collins, Homer Maxey, Homer D. Grant and Chas. A. Guy, A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce, acted as secretary.

GOP LEADER OFFERS FIVE-POINT PROGRAM

Former President Hoover Points To Heavy U.S. Tax Burden, Opposes HST Social Security Plan

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 26—Former President Hoover declared today that the United States has about all the taxes it can stand and that in consequence most of President Truman's social security proposals should be abandoned.

The only living ex-president warned against the growth of federal paternalism in a letter to Rep. Doughton (D-NC) chairman of the House Ways and Means committee.

The committee is nearing completion of prolonged hearings on Mr. Truman's recommendations for expanded social security coverage, extension of federal grants in aid to states to include needy persons, and increases in benefits.

Altmeyer Disagrees

Social security commissioner Arthur J. Altmeyer commented that the former president's letter "indicates a basic misunderstanding of the concept of the system, which is that the American public wants to "pay for their own protection against such economic hazards as those of old age, premature death, and physical disability . . ."

Mr. Hoover recommended a five-point social security program and said that, if it were adopted, "even the present payroll tax burden could be reduced during the next critical years."

He said the American economy is "up to the limit of endurance" and that further increases in the tax burden should be held "to the absolute minimum," at least while the "cold war" lasts.

Program Is Outlined

His program:

1. Further expansion of old-age pension reserve funds, which now total about $10 billion, should be abandoned and the system placed on a pay-as-you-go basis. Under this plan, Congress would appraise the old-age pension needs regularly and fix the size of the payroll tax from year to year.

2. Extend to additional workers coverage under the old-age pension plan, which applies to persons who retire at 65 and their survivors.

3. Take no action at present on the President's request that assistance be extended to all needed persons through grants-in-aid to states.

4. Increase grants-in-aid to the states to provide "more adequately" for the aged and blind and dependent children "actually in need" under the present system.

5. Set up an independent research body to provide a one year analysis of other possible welfare funds and systems.

Mr. Hoover said payroll taxes for the federal old-age system now total $1,700,000,000 a year. They would increase, he added, to $4,800,000,000 a year under the President's plan. He said American taxpayers could not stand the additional cost.

He insisted that "we should go slow and hold" further additions to this (the tax) burden to the absolute minimum."

SPECIAL STUDENT RATE SET FOR EVENTS MAY 6-7

Tickets Reported Selling Rapidly For Season's Final Concerts Of Lubbock Symphony Orchestra

Tickets to the season's final concerts of the Lubbock Symphony orchestra, which were placed on sale Monday, are selling rapidly, it was announced by the Symphony business office Tuesday afternoon.

The two final concerts of the season are to be presented in Lubbock Senior High school auditorium on the evenings of Friday, May 6, and Saturday, May 7. Amparo Iturbi, internationally-known pianist, will appear with the Symphony as guest artist.

Special Price Offered

Miss Leona Gelin, business manager of the Lubbock Symphony has announced that in honor of National Music Week, which is set for the first week in May, students, whether in public school, private school, or college, will be entitled to any seat in the house at the Saturday night concert for 85 cents. At the Friday concert, which is designated primarily for the holders of season subscription tickets, some 300 tickets are for sale, which also will be available at the student rate.

College and business school students should have some form of identification in their possession which would enable them to verify their student status, it was announced.

Pianist To Appear

For the general public, main floor tickets are $3, $2.80, $2.40, and $1.80. Balcony seats are $2.80 and $1.80. All prices include tax. Mail orders should be addressed to the Lubbock Symphony orchestra at post office box 894, Lubbock. Orders should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Amparo Iturbi, who will appear with the orchestra at both concerts, will come here from a highly successful concert tour of England. She is a sister of the world-famous Jose Iturbi, and, although perhaps not quite so well known, is no less gifted than her famous brother.

Madame Iturbi was born in Valencia, Spain, the youngest of four children, in a family where music was considered part of the cultural aspect of daily life.

Musical Field Broadened

She started her musical education with Maria Jordan, making such phenomenal progress that in a few short years she was teaching several pupils of all ages. Three years later she gave her first concert in Valencia, and its success make possible a subsequent sojourn in Barcelona where she studied with Chavarri. In turn, he, impressed with her talent, gave her a letter of introduction to Granados, the great Spanish musician. After hearing her play Mozart, Beethoven, and his own Goyescas, Granados was so enthusiastic that he invited her to give a performance before his pupils in his own home.

Following, young Miss Iturbi continued to teach and play recitals until her musical achievements demanded further and more critical fields. She joined her brother in Paris. Performances followed with the Orchestra Lamoureux, Paul Paray conducting; Pandeloup, with Albert Wolff; Toulouse, with Gregorie; Marseilles, with Schiari, and several concerts in Italy with Molinari.

Appears On Radio Show

Following an unsuccessful marriage, Madame Iturbi, her small daughter, and her mother, came to the United States in 1938. She planned a teaching career until Deems Taylor, hearing her play in Radio City music hall, signed her for a broadcast. She made her radio debut with Howard Barlow.

Numerous engagements were immediately forthcoming. She was heard in Carnegie Hall; with the New York Philharmonic, the New York Symphony at Lewisohn stadium, Rochester Philharmonic, and the Los Angeles Philharmonic, as well as others.

With her brother, Madame Iturbi helped develop the famous "Iturbi Technique." Their two-piano recitals now are considered important musical events.

Entertained Armed Forces

During the war, Madame Iturbi devoted all her time to playing for the armed forces in many parts of the world. She flew nearly 59,000 miles in seven months on one tour.

Since the war she has continued her concert career. In a recent concert in the Hollywood Bowl, she received high praise for her interpretation of Liszt's "E Flat Concerto." Her more recent concert series in London and elsewhere in the British Isles has been well received.

In addition to her concert work, Madame Iturbi has been featured in recording, on the radio, and in motion pictures, among which have been "Two Girls and a Sailor," "Holiday in Mexico," and "Three Daring Daughters."

Louisiana 'Blue Baby' In Good Condition After Dallas Operation

DALLAS, April 26 (U.P.)—Only the coming years will tell whether little Travis Paul Shaw will feel any reminder that he was once a "blue baby."

Bradford Memorial hospital doctors said yesterday that nine-month-old Travis Paul "has every chance to live and live a normal life."

The child was operated on last week and described "out of danger" yesterday when he was transferred from the operating ward to a regular baby ward.

Physicians said that only unforeseen complications in the future could show that Travis Paul once suffered a faulty heart valve condition that made him a "blue baby."

The child and his parents were flown to Dallas for the operation by the Shreveport Times and its interested readers.

The tot's father, Tullos Shaw, is a Converse, La., carpenter. He and Mrs. Shaw, whose intuition told her surgery would be successful, will remain in Dallas until Travis Paul can be taken home next week.

Hearing Resumed In U.S. Anti-Trust Suit

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 26 (U.P.) — A hearing in the government's 10-year-old anti-trust suit against the Griffith Amusement company and others has been resumed in federal district court here.

The U.S. Supreme court recently reversed a decision by Federal District Judge Edgar S. Vaught and held that the Griffith company has violated anti-trust laws.

The case came back to Vaught to determine whether independent movie houses in Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico have been victims of discrimination by Griffith and big producers in the matter of firstrun pictures.

Building Firm To Rehire 2,000 Workers At Texas City Plant

TEXAS CITY, April 26 (U.P.)—Plans for a "gradual" rehiring of some 2,000 construction workers at the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals corporation plant here were announced today by the Ford, Bacon and Davis Construction company of New York.

The workers were idled by the 43-day strike of union employes at Carbide, and although a large percentage of plant workers has been rehired, the construction crews have been off their jobs three months.

The Ford, Bacon and Davis employes were engaged in a $15,000,000 expansion program at the plant when the strike was called last Jan. 24, and were ordered from the plant as a "safety" measure when the big chemical factory was left virtually unmanned.

F. L. Dietz, manager for the construction firm, said the rehiring would continue for a month, and that the return to work would be "gradual." He did not estimate how many men would be rehired.

"With our means and capabilities we are constantly planning to do the best we can under the circumstances as they develop.

"We are pretty well towards the front. We are maintaining constant contact with the developing circumstances and conditions. It is perfectly evident what is happening."

Reds' Offer To Lift Blockade Believed Face-Saving Gesture

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Russia, her Berlin blockade smashed by the Allied airlift and her whole German policy facing defeat, seems to be making a tremendous concession in the cold war.

She is reported to be willing to lift the Berlin blockade if the western Allies will lift their own retaliatory blockade and set a date for a foreign ministers conference to discuss the whole German problem.

West Suspicious

In their essentials these are the terms to which the Allies agreed last summer and which Russia rejected, being unwilling to give up the blockade weapon until the ministers actually met.

Word of the new Russian position was received with some suspicion that it was only a last ditch effort to confuse the western German constitution makers and encourage them to delay final action on setting up an Allied-sponsored federal state. Allied authorities were quick to say, however, that if there were no more strings attached than have appeared so far, the way was clear for ending the blockade and holding the conference.

Statements from every quarter emphasized that whatever happens, the western German government will be pushed through

No Settlement Seen

There were few who appeared to be under any illusion that the council of foreign ministers, if it meets, would reach any over-all settlement of the German problem. Such a meeting would give the Russians a chance to get out of their backfiring blockade policy with some saving of face. It would give them a chance to make new representations for a voice in control of the Ruhr. A meeting probably would result in settlement of the Berlin currency problem. It was never anything except a Russian excuse for the blockade. What they really wanted was to drive the Allies out of Berlin.

Whether there will be a meeting seems to depend on whether the Russians will go ahead on the outlined basis or whether they will start injecting other factors into the arrangements, as they have done so often when some agreement appeared near.

But tactical zigzags in Russian policy never mean that Communism is losing sight of its goal of world conquest.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

C. Of C. Official Speaks At Optimist Club Luncheon Here

A talk on organization and functions of the chamber of commerce by Jim Crook featured Tuesday's Optimist club luncheon program in Hotel Lubbock.

Crook, assistant manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, briefly traced the development of the chamber from its origin in 1768 in New York to its position of today.

He defined the chamber as "the place where business pools its money and means."

Benefits derived from the chamber of commerce are not direct, Crook pointed out, but often considerable indirect benefits result from its work.

He closed his talk by citing a number of statistics illustrating Lubbock's growth and development during the last decade, stating that 50 new industries have been located here since 1945.

Crook was introduced by Billy Davis, Optimist program chairman. Out-of-town guests introduced included J. D. Strickland of Plainview and Frank M. Condray of Paris.

G. C. Stewart presided at the luncheon, with invocation by Roy Carnes.

Odessa Group To See Picture On Oil Well Fire-Fighting

MIDLAND, April 26. (Special) M. M. Kinley, of the M. M. Kinley company of Houston, will speak and show a motion picture on oil well fire-fighting at the meeting of the Permian Basin chapter of the American Petroleum institute to be held April 29 in Odessa.

Title of the talk and film will be "Problems and Methods Encountered In Extinguishing Fires and Capping Wells." The M. M. Kinley company specializes in extinguishing oil and gas well fires and blowouts.

The meeting, which begins at 6:00 p.m., will be held at the Ector county auditorium and barn in Odessa. Barbecue and refreshments will be served following the meeting. There will be an assessment of $1.50 per person to cover the cost of food. Advance sale of tickets is now in progress.

Water Safety Course Planned

The Lubbock county chapter of the American Red Cross will sponsor a 30-hour Water Safety Instructor's course May 15 through May 27, it was announced Tuesday.

The course will be conducted at the Municipal pool if repair and expansion work currently being done there is completed. The course will be taught by Robert H. Lucey and Harris Burton, both water safety representatives from St. Louis.

Holders of Senior Life Saving certificates are eligible to take the course. In addition, all persons who are 19 years of age or over who consider themselves strong swimmers may enroll, it was announced.

Immediate Action Urged

Local Red Cross officials have asked that all persons who plan to take the course call the local Red Cross offices, telephone number 8534, immediately.

Marvin McLarty, jr., is chairman of water safety in Lubbock county. Water safety representatives on the Texas Tech campus are Floyd Rector and Ed Wilson.

The course was offered last summer at the Carden Green pool, near Lubbock. Seventy-two persons participated.

It was pointed out Tuesday by the local Red Cross chapter that the course will make available a larger number of qualified life savers which are needed in greater numbers this year over the area. Also, it will mean much greater water safety, and will make the public more safety-conscious.

The Municipal pool will be used exclusively for the course, since it does not open to the public until several days afterward.

WHY EXAGGERATE?

There's A Good Side

WHEN large groups of people of different languages and customs are brought in close contact with each other, occasional misunderstandings are inevitable. They have occurred on the South Plains when thousands of cotton pickers of Mexican ancestry have flocked here to help with the harvest. But, everything considered, they have been exceedingly rare.

Yet a good deal of talk, most of it greatly exaggerated, has persisted about "discrimination" against Mexican workers who have come to Texas. Gov. Beauford H. Jester contributed his part toward making a bigger mountain out of a situation which properly should be regarded as a molehill when he apologized abjectly a few days ago to Miguel Aleman, president of Mexico, "for the way Mexicans have been treated in Texas." The object of the apology, it was explained, was to try to persuade President Aleman to allow Mexican farm workers to enter this state to help with the harvests.

This does not argue that the relationships between such labor and those who employ them could not be improved. But we do contend that the Mexican workers who have come to help with seasonal labor have been pretty well satisfied, taken as a whole.

In proof of this statement are the thousands of "wetbacks" who wade, or swim, the Rio Grande from Mexico to Texas each year to obtain farm work. No one pretends to know how many Mexicans have crossed the border this way, but authorities acknowledge the number has been huge. The Mexicans like the way they are treated in Texas well enough that they enter the state illegally when their nation refuses to approve legal entry.

All the talk about "discriminations"—most of it coming from subversive agitators, or professional do-gooders—does not improve the relationship between the Mexican migrants and the Americans with whom they are brought in close contact. It tends to cause everyone to imagine that a condition exists which is considerably worse than actually is true.

Mexicans and Americans probably would get along a great deal better—and they have gotten along mighty well for many years—if they would think more about their long and highly satisfactory relationship and less about exaggerated "discriminations."

Nothing constructive is accomplished by such things as the Jester "apology" which keeps those concerned stirred up about a condition which would be no problem at all if the agitators and apologists could be silenced.

Let 'Em Squirm!

THOSE in best position to judge agree almost unanimously that the Russians would jump at the chance to end the Berlin blockade if they could do it without confessing to the world—and particularly their own people—that the whole thing has been a gigantic blunder and bust.

The bosses of the Kremlin probably would have ended the blockade weeks ago if they could have done it in a way which would have "saved face" for themselves. The supposition borders upon certainty that they are trying now to squirm out of their exceedingly embarrassing position.

Perhaps the diplomats of the western nations may find it "expedient" to help Joe Stalin & Company in this matter. Perhaps it is desirable that this be done. But it is a safe bet that most Americans would prefer to let the Kremlin bosses squirm until they are forced to acknowledge total defeat in this greatest battle of the cold war which they unquestionably have lost.

"Most suicides are committed early in the morning."—Newspaper filler. It would seem that committing suicide would be a rather poor way to start off the day.

"Would you like to take a vacation on Mars, making the trip by rocket ship?" asks an inventor. Not right now, thanks. We fear we'd die of curiosity as what was happening on our home planet.

With respect to current World conditions, the widespread and general consensus that we are living in a fool's paradise is manifestly in error. If this were true, most of us would be far happier.

If You Coax Me

Pop Goes The Queen

By BOB WADE and BILL MILLER
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

XXXIX

AT first, Sin couldn't see it. Then, as she lifted a hand to shield her eyes from the bright embers of the campfire, she could discern a shadow darker than the rest. "Is that the Queen, Johnny?"

"Don't ask me," John Henry muttered. "I can't see a thing."

Mr. Trim held his eyes on the sleeping Barselou but motioned with his head. "Look up, Conover. It's in the sky."

John Henry followed his advice. The outline of a wooden hull slowly took from against the rosy glow. The "Reina" had not come to rest on the canyon bottom. Rather, the galleon was wedged between the rock jaws of the chasm, almost 200 feet above their heads. Either the ground had eroded beneath her kneel in the past two centuries or some convulsion of the wasteland had dropped her below ground level into the great gap. The Queen was earthbound, as in some gigantic dry dock. Her timber sides gripped the sister cliffs, but her round belly scorned the earth and rested on air alone.

The sails and masts and most of the high stern had rotted away, exposing three layers of deck to their gaze. Below the galleon, near Barselou's temporary camp, was a pile of rubble that had fallen over the years. The heap was overgrown by the octopus vines of a green succulent, but here trailed a rusty length of chain and there jutted a crumbling plank from the rudder.

"There's enough to prove she used to be a treasure ship, anyway," Trim's jubilant voice cried.

His gaze sharpened. The sleeping form on the ground stirred, moaned and raised itself on its elbows. "Good morning, Mr. Barselou!" Trim greeted him. His voice was climbing back to the octave the Conovers were more familiar with.

BARSELOU scrambled to his feet, still half-fettered by the heavy blanket. His jet-black hair stood in tangled spikes and his pale eyes were heavy with sleep.

His eyes widened, then narrowed at the three mounted figures above him in the dawn. One hairy hand twitched toward the carbine that lay on the ground and Trim said, "No." Barselou halted, warily motionless, and looked at the pistol muzzle.

"Rude to awaken you like this," Trim pattered on. "Particularly to the noise of a dream castle crumbling about your ears. But that's the picaresque life, isn't it? Yes, Mr. Barselou, Calamity has come."

Barselou sagged visibly. His rugged face turned gray and he leaned for support against the boulder beside him. His colorless eyes, which seemed suddenly deeper in their sockets, glinted weakly at the Conovers. "It was you—" he began hoarsely, then stopped as if the effort were too much.

"No," said Sin earnestly. "We're here by accident. Don't you understand? He's Jones."

"Or Trim. Or Jordan," said the little man gaily. "Yes, don't give these two credit for my adventuring. The Conovers were brought because they knew of Walking Skull and for company through the night. And principally—" his voice gained metallic edges "— because they stumbled onto one of my last resorts in my wallet. Something I didn't care to have publicized."

"Jones," said Barselou dully.

"A mailing address only." Trim chuckled merrily. "It's comical that you took it for more than that. At this point, there's no harm in telling you that my real name is Jordan, widower, age 55, one daughter, and racing interests on the coast which return me enough to indulge my hobby of seeking out the exotic in life. Quite a while ago I owned a couple of casinos in Las Vegas. Homer once worked for me.

"Anglin," he mused and shook his head. "A borderline case of ingenuity. He hurried to me with news of the Queen which you hired him to discover. I knew he was selling to both sides, but he thought he held the reins secretly. His blunder was to desregard my instructions to communicate by mail when all was ready. He telegraphed."

BARSELOU lifted his head. "I was pressing him." Color began pouring back into the fierce face. "So you guessed I saw the wire."

"I couldn't ignore the chance, considering the hold you had in Azure. I generally include a female companion in my exploits—they kick up such a blinding dust. And in this case it was a sort of celebration. My daughter Faye had just been released from —" Trim halted abruptly to glare at the pale couple on the horses beside him. "She was held illegally. Her only illness was over-originality!

"Forget that carbine!" he snapped, twisting back toward Barselou. The unmounted man shrugged and dropped his hands.

Trim continued pleasantly. "So we had to separate for the time being, as you were expecting a pair of Joneses. The cottage had been reserved for a week, with no mention of number or sex. All arrangements had been made for an appointment with Anglin there—except the day. When he wired instead of writing, Faye was forced to occupy the cottage alone, while I took a room. We didn't dare to bear the least resemblance to a Mr. and Mrs. Jones of San Diego. Anglin made a stupid mistake over the cottage number, thought I had reneged on the deal, and turned to you in desperation. I couldn't catch him, but I stopped him."

A tinge of gold was on the cliffs that reared 10 feet or so above the imprisoned galleon.

"Light enough to work by," he said happily. "Shall we join the lady?"

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

APPARENTLY I have no poetry in my soul.

But hundreds of my readers have, and they have so informed me and proved it by sending samples of their Muse along.

BRANDEIS

It all started when I said in a recent column that just because it rhymes it ain't necessarily poetry.

But many poetically inclined readers contradicted me.

"When ever I am deely inspired," writes one of them," I instinctly sit down at my desk and dash off a poem. All beauty expresses itself to me in verse.

"How can anyone be untouched by the beauties of spring when the very buds and bushes sing?

"There, you see, instinctly I made spring and sing rhyme. It just came out of me.

"Try it some time. Concentrate on beauty and see, whether even you can't get into the poetic mood."

All right, I WILL try. And right now.

I shall compose a poem, and since it is close to lunch time nothing inspires me more right at this minute than food.

I close my eyes. I think. Ah, there it comes:

"Butcher, dear butcher,
I'm longing for food,
What have you today that is really good?"

"With a courteous smile
my butcher replies
We have dozens of things that are specially nice.
We have kidneys and sweetbreads and livers and such,
And none of all these set
you back very much."
So I looked and it was truly a gorgeous display
And not easy to choose from such an array.
So finally I bought, after counting my money,
A hunk of imported Italian bologny.

THERE you are. It worked.

I don't think my poem will ever go down into history as typical of twentieth century American literature, but it rhymes.

Lunch is over, and out into the garden I go.

The daffodyls are in full bloom. Look at the buds on the rose bushes, and the lilac is going to be in bloom in about a week or two.

Truly an inspirational setting for poets.

My wife calls out:

"Have you taken your B-1 pill.

And I write:

"There are medicines and pills
For all human pains and ills
Be it winter, fall or spring,
Pills to you relief will bring."

By golly, the lady was right. I shall now drape a laurel wreath around my feverish brow and call myself a poet.

Regardless of what my readers may call me.

FOR WATER NEEDS

Solution Is Sought

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

LOS ANGELES.—The use of atomic energy and transformation of sea water into fluid available for sanitation and industrial purposes are two of the solutions which have been advanced to satisfy the human and land hunger for this element that prevails in almost every state west of the Mississippi Basin, threatening to limit this area's growth and to curtail production nationally of essential foods and goods.

The mere advancement of such fantastic or faroff substitutes for ground, rainfall and river water highlights the principal problem of a section of the country which came too quickly to almost too ripe an age during and since World War II.

TUCKER

It transcends in importance even the bitter, politico-economic struggle which California, Arizona and Nevada are waging for a larger allocation of water from their main source of supply for their cities, farms and industries — the bedammed Colorado River.

But the fact is that nature may build a ceiling over agricultural and industrial expansion unless science comes to the rescue sooner or later.

TRANSFORMED: Sea water was successfully transformed into a potable and sanitary fluid by the United States fleet during the war. Warships afloat far from shore made from 60,000 to 100,000 gallons a day for use of the personnel, depending on the size of the vessel.

But the cost of the operation runs so high that it would be impractical at the moment to apply it to the problem confronting states with millions of dry but potentially prosperous acres. Whether science can eventually reduce the expense so as to make it economically feasible remains to be seen.

FACT: Atomic energy may eventually run the factories constantly crowding into California and other coastal areas, thus releasing Colorado and Columbia River water for irrigating vast acres now wasting away in the desert sunlight. But the engineers, politicians, governors, and mayors face a fact rather than a theory.

They cannot wait while Atomic Commissioner David E. Lilienthal and his laboratory experts make this Promethean power available for men and machines. Even the development of this energy on a commercial basis within five years would be too late to satisfy the immediate and rival needs of the states and communities in the Far West.

A third remedy has been proposed, but not by practical men on the ground. It is to shift water from the distan' North West through an elaborate system of aqueducts, tunnels, pumping stations etc. But that method would prove so costly that the power generated or the commodities grown far to the South could not be marketed at a low enough price. Moreover, Washington and Oregon are running short of power and irrigation water now, despite Grand Coulee and Bonnevile.

ISSUE: Governor Thomas E. Dewey missed a splendid opportunity for copping California votes through his failure to capitalize on the California-Arizona battle for additional water from the Colorado River system, according to politicians out this way. They think he might have carried California if he had not neglected this issue.

While they are inclined to excuse the New York governor because of his general unfamiliarity with Far Western problems, they cannot understand why Governor Earl Warren, the vice presidential nominee, did not lay hold of this home-made issue.

COST: The political opportunity presented to the GOP campaigners consisted of the Truman Administration's attitude toward the California-Arizona dispute over how much future water each state shall get from the Colorado Rivers, its tributaries and the general supply system.

While high officials at Washington are quoted as hostile to the proposed $1,000,000,000 (counting interest) Arizona Central Valley Project because of its cost, Interior Secretary J. A. Krug and Reclamation Commisioner Michael W. Straus have antagonized the Californians by their attitude. In several instances they are charged with favoring the Arizona claimants.

It is the Central Valley scheme, designed to irrigate thousands of acres, which lies at the heart of the squabble between the two states—a controversy that may have to be settled by the Supreme Court after 25 years of disagreement.

Had Governor Dewey or Governor Warren seen fit to take California's side of the argument during the campaign, it is believed that they might have won that state's 25 electoral votes. Arizona's four were sure to land in the Democratic column, anyway.

BLUNDERING: In short, even a quick tour of the country reveals vividly what a blundering battle the Republican ticket conducted in every section of the country.

Had they punctured the Truman-Brannan argument that the 80th Republican Congress was responsible for the shortage of storage space for wheat, as recently discussed here, the Dewey-Warren slate would have carried Ohio and Illinois, possibly other farm states, almost certainly. Had they discussed the "water hole" issue, California might have been in the bag.

It was these three states, which went Democratic by a total of only 59,584, that gave President Truman his winning margin.

Truman To Push Health Program

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — As had been forecast, President Truman's health insurance proposal to Congress was met with the pessimistic response that it would be along the items missing when the legislative record of this session is closed.

As a matter of fact, the President, himself, anticipated such a chilly reception by the conciliatory tone of his message. He recognized the controversial nature of health insurance, conceding there are differences about details of the program, but said these differences should be threshed out with honesty and tolerance in the Democratic fashion and that "we should enact the best possible program and then all of us should get behind it to make it work."

STOKES

To Back Up Program

His conciliatory approach should mislead no one, however, about the President's absolute sincerity and determination on this issue. Those who know the man in the White House, who has such a close understanding of the day-by-day problems of our people, know that to him this is one of the achievements that he hopes confidently to leave on his record for history, along with the civil rights program. He is very much in earnest and he will be found out fighting for it in his characteristic, straightforward way, buoyed by the conviction that a majority of the people in the country support him on health insurance despite the expensive and deceptive propaganda that has been going on at high pitch for months.

He can afford to wait until the public reacts behind his program as it reacted behind him in the last election.

It surely will eventually, because of some very plain facts that the President recited to Congress, among them:

"As medical education and practice have become better, they have become more specialized and at the same time more expensive. As treatment has become more expensive, families have found it more and more difficult to meet the extraordinary costs of accident, serious illness or major surgery. Thus, at the same time that our knowledge of how to provide medical care is at its highest point, more and more people are unable to afford it.

"It is no longer just the poor who are unable to pay for all the medical care they need — such care is now beyond the means of all but the upper income groups."

That last sentence should be underlined. The truth of it is known to anyone who sits about with his friends talking about the President's health insurance proposal, and that is going on all over the country today. There the personal experience stories of families gradually come out, and there always is the fear expressed in such words as these:

"I don't know what we'd do if there were a major illness or operation in our family today."

People Deserve Praise

And this is not from so-called "poor people," but from people in what we call the middle class, the bulwark of the nation. What they have done, of course, in the event of major health catastrophes, and what they will do unless some such method as health insurance is adopted, will be to go heavily in debt, with all the frustration that causes, to pay for it and do without other essentials. That is the pride of our great middle class, and it is not to be discouraged, for it indicates self-reliance.

This very commendable attitude of itself is a refutation of substitute proposals now offered in Congress, such as bills that would make grants to the states to take care of those who cannot afford medical care. This would require a sort of "pauper's oath." Our people don't like to take help on that basis, and most who really need it will refuse it on account of pride. This includes good self-reliant citizens who work hard and take care of their families.

Under the President's program they can meet this problem in the honest, self-respected American way by paying for it through insurance, just as they pay for security against unemployment and for old age in the social security program—and as a right, not charity, or as the President, himself, put it so well:

"Health insurance will mean that the proper medical care will be economically accessible to everyone covered by it, in the country as well as in the city, as a right, and not as a medical dole."

Ancient Greeks counted days from sunset to sunset; Romans from midnight to midnight, and Babylonians from sunrise to sunrise.

MARKET IN NEW GAINS

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Half-hearted demand budged the stock market ahead today.

The advance was far from decisive for gains were limited and a substantial bloc of issues backed down a bit. A majority of stocks, though, showed gains of fractions to around a point.

Business picked up a bit after yesterday's slow market. Turnover of 870,000 shares compared with 740,000 Monday, one of the slowest totals of the month.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .3 of one point to 63.

Of the 1,010 issues which appeared on the ticker tape, 458 advanced and 305 declined.

U. S. Steel Corp. common ended at 72¼ for a gain of ⅛. After the close the company announced a dividend of $1.50 a share, in contrast with previous quarterly payments of $1.25 each, and the price advanced still further on the San Francisco exchange.

Commonwealth and Southern, most active issue, reached a new top for 1949 with a rise of ⅛ to 3⅞.

Richfield Oil came back in favor after slipping yesterday and finished ⅛ up at 26. The stock was a strong point late last week.

Others higher included General Motors, Chrysler (up 1 at 51⅛), Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, United Corp. preferred, Commonwealth and Edison, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Dow Chemical, Radio Corp., Santa Fe, Skelly Oil and Standard Oil (NJ).

Lower were Standard Gas and Electric $4 preferred, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, United Aircraft, Phelps Dodge, Allied Chemical, American Airlines, and International Paper.

On the curb Wilson Bros. lost 1⅛ to 2⅛ on substantial turnover.

Bonds moved narrowly. Several U. S. government issues improved in over-the-counter dealings.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady today in early dealings, with old crop May and July deliveries making new highs for the season but the market subsequently turned sharply lower under pressure of commission house profit taking.

Persistent buying by shippers against sales of cotton to Japan was a sustaining influence and when this was completed the market proved vulnerable to selling. The reaction was encouraged partly by indications that more than half of the Japanese sales have already been covered in fugures.

There were three May transferable notices issued today on first notice day for that delivery, and they were believed promptly stopped by a leading spot firm. There was considerable switching May to later months.

Futures closed 80 cents a bale higher to 70 cents lower than the previous close.

tive audit committee and a director of the budget—appointed by the committee—would prepare the general appropriations bills for each session.

A proposed constitutional amendment authorizing a $200,000,000 bond issue for financing state water conservation projects was approved by the Senate on second reading. It failed by two votes to get the necessary majority for setting aside the rules to push it through on third reading.

Committee Is Okayed

The House approved a resolution setting up a 15-man committee to remodel the state laws of criminal procedure. The vote was 93-19.

The resolution now must go to the Senate. The committee would be required to report back at the next regular session or called session before that Author of the resolution, Rep. Cecil Storey of Longview, said it had been several decades since the criminal code had been modernized. The courts have changed and rural counties have turned into urban counties, he said, so that there are many inconsistencies.

The House turned its back on attempts to revive three bills by sending them to new committees.

Rep. Deno Tufares of Wichita Falls tried to get his natural gas tax bill sent to another committee but was defeated 73-54. He also asked that his bill requiring hospital insurance organizations to allow a person to go to the hospital of his choice be sent to a new committee. Osteopathic hospitals are eliminated now, Tufares said. The House turned down his motion, 67-48.

The House also refused to refer a bill calling for reorganization of the state optometry board by a vote of 81 to 27.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill by Senator Kyle Vick of Waco to exempt from state bar examinations all World War II veterans who are graduated before Jan. 1, 1953, from law schools approved by the state supreme court.

The approved schools are the University of Texas, Baylor, St. Mary's (San Antonio), Southern Methodist university, University of Houston, South Texas school of law and the Texas State University for Negroes.

CHURCHILL 'LOSES' ON MEMOIRS

'Rich Englishman' Fast Vanishing Under High British Income Taxes

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 26.—It cannot be long now before the rarest thing in the world is a rich Englishman. Take a gander, if you please, at that country's latest income and estate taxes:

The income tax brackets begin, so far as single persons are concerned, when a bloke or blokess makes 150 pounds ($600) a year. The tax on that is a quid, or four bucks. But if the person's income jumps another 50 pounds to 200, the tax is seven pounds. Then 19 pounds and then 43 for the next 50 pound jumps.

Tax Rate Increases

A single person making a thousand pounds a year, $4,000, pays $1,060 of it back to the government. The $12,000 a year man or woman gives back $4,752 of it. But that's comparatively easy compared to the $40,000 a year man. He coughs up $25,552. The 50,000 pound a year man is permitted to keep 5,062 of the pounds. The 100,000 pound earner is clipped for 93,688 of the pounds.

There is this consolation among the 100,000 pound a year men, however. If he is married he can deduct 32 pounds ($128) a year for his wife. If he is married and has two children he has to pay back only 93,602 of the 100,000 pounds.

Inheritance taxes will be raised soon to semi-confiscatory rates, if that isn't a conservative use of the hyphenation. Winston Churchill, with all his dependents, is said to have retained $67,000 of the $1,000,000 he received from his memoirs. Britain, which once ruled the waves, refused to waive the rules in Winnie's case.

Raider Becomes Missionary

In a recent piece about the Doolittle raiders, and what has become of that remarkable crew, I neglected to mention Sgt. Jacob De Shazer. He was one of the survivors of the two plane crews who were captured. Three of his comrades—Dean Hallmark, Bill Farrow and Harold Spatz—were executed by the Japs. A fourth, Bob Meder, died of starvation.

De Shazer has completed his studies as a missionary and is returning to Japan, where he was vilely treated. The terrible privation and beatings he underwent caused him, he said, to examine the forgotten precepts of forgiveness of man. After months of pleading he was permitted to have a Bible for three weeks. He all but memorized it.

In June, 1945, in his Peiping cell, he realized he was dying of starvation. He fell to his knees and began praying. It was against the prison rules. While he knelt there he was beaten until unconscious. But, he writes, it only strengthened his determination to live and return—in friendship.

Veteran Offers Plan

Frank M. Shore, jr., a former tennis champion in Washington, D.C., and, more recently, a Navy man, writes:

"The Veterans administration is going to make a rebate of about $2 billion dollars to holders of World War II insurance policies. The size of the individual rebates will vary considerably.

"Why couldn't a campaign be organized for the purpose of affording an opportunity to those who might so desire to assign all or a part of their rebate to a foundation for medical research, or for the control or eradication of one or more specific diseases?"

He suggests that the fund be controlled or administered by well-known service men whose ability and integrity were familiar to all.

"It seems to me that if the cooperation of the government could be obtained," he adds, "this plan would afford an almost painless method of raising an enormous sum of money for an exceedingly worthy cause.
