County Receives Library Grant

Collingsworth County's "pre-application" for a $100,000 grant to build a new library has been approved, the county was notified June 14.

The county will now complete a formal and more detailed application and turn that in to the Texas State Library by August 1, but the critical approval for the project was at the "preapplication" stage.

The funds will be used in conjunction with school district and other funds to build a new, combined school/community library.

Assistant State Librarian William D. Gooch notified the county that the Texas State Library and Archives Commission approved on June 13 the preapplication for an LSCA Title II construction grant. Gooch said that the State Library hoped to have a completed contract for the grant signed with the county by August 31.

The county and the school district had agreed earlier to seek a combined new library facility if funding could be arranged, and the school district pledged $150,000 toward the project.

At the same time the Collingsworth County Endowment was organized under the auspices of the Amarillo Area Foundation to receive private donations toward the library project and for other civic projects. The Endowment is set up to receive donations of cash, real estate, mineral or royalty interest or real property. In addition to private donations, the Endowment will seek grants from regional and state foundations to help fund the project.

A total dollar figure for the project has not yet been determined. After final building plans are completed, the entities involved will seek estimates from contractors and a fund-raising project will be initiated for the balance of the project.

Judge Thomas Attends Housing Finance Meeting

County Judge Zook Thomas is in Washington, D.C. this week for a bond closing for approximately $25 million for a project for construction of multi-family dwellings approved by the Panhandle Regional Housing Finance Corporation. Collingsworth County is a member of the corporation.

The bonds will cover multi-housing projects in several Panhandle counties.

Collingsworth is one of 20 counties making up the Panhandle Regional Housing Finance Corporation and Judge Thomas represents the county on its board of directors. Mrs. Thomas accompanied him to Washington.

Besides public officials, the board also includes some of the major builders and developers of the Panhandle.

The program makes possible local housing financing.

Applications for approval of projects are filed with the Panhandle Regional Housing Finance Corporation board and those covered by this week's bond closing in Washington are located in Gray, Hutchinson, Potter, Randall, Deaf Smith and several other Panhandle counties.

One family as well as multi-family housing is provided for, and 10 percent of the housing must be used for low rent housing.

Money is available at 11.6 fixed rate for single family residence. To qualify, the applicant cannot have owned a home in the last three years, according to Burt Brinson an Amarillo builder and developer and a board member. His family formerly lived here.

"It is primarily for first-time home owners," he pointed out.

"This money became available in November 1984 and can be used in Collingsworth County," Brinson continued.

Most Successful City-Wide Cleanup Ends

This year's City of Wellington-Chamber of Commerce city-wide clean up week was the most successful ever held, City manager Glen Taylor told the city council at its meeting Monday night, June 17.

More junk and trash was picked up in alleys and hauled to the city landfill than for any past campaign, Taylor said. There is not yet a count on the number of loads.

For the first time two full city crews worked the alleys. This was possible because the city has 5 boys working on a summer youth program with regular employees.

The clean-up drive was delayed a week from the announced date, then instead of the one week planned two full weeks were required for the hauling. Crews at the landfill buried the junk and trash as it was brought in, Taylor reported.

City council members approved a motion setting the time which lights must be turned off at Marian Airpark Ball Park and the Ellison Park tennis courts.

During the summer months, the lights must be turned off at 12 midnight, although special events such as tournament, the sponsors may request permission to be granted by the city manager for the lights to remain on until 1 a.m.

High cost of the city's utility bills was one of the reasons cited during the discussion.

These are the same hours approved for functions in Bura Handley Community Center.

Council members spent much of the meeting discussing hospital and medical insurance plans submitted by several companies. The city carries insurance on both its employees and their families. This first appeared on the city council agenda at the June 3 meeting when City Manager Glen Taylor told the council that the cost of this insurance coverage amounts to $4,589 per month. The insurance carrier is the Texas Municipal League, with Prudential Insurance as the underwriter. The council believes the same coverage may be available at less cost to the city.

The council members will check further into one of the plans offered and a decision is due at the July 1 meeting.

Hospital Investigating New Mobile Imaging Service

Collingsworth General Hospital is studying the feasibility of joining St. Anthony's Hospital and a group of 10 other hospitals to provide a mobile breast imaging service that would serve county residents locally.

Hospital administrator Perry Foster told hospital board members at regular meeting Tuesday, June 18 that discussions about the new service were taking place between the hospital staffs. The service would be provided in a mobile-home type vehicle which would make a circuit to visit each of the hospitals involved. It might come to Wellington once or twice a month, Foster said, depending on need.

The mobile unit would provide "state of the art" imaging with the use of X-ray, ultrasound and heat sensitive imaging devices, Foster said.

Foster said that the American Cancer Society is again recommending regular breast check-ups for women over 35. He said that at one time the medical community had backed off from recommending X-ray check-ups because of the potential X-rays have to cause cancer. But he said that current thinking is that the check-ups prevent more medical problems than they cause.

On other agenda items, the board also discussed but took no action on the possibility of hiring a physician recruiting service to help locate a new physician for the community when Dr. Carter Holcomb retires next year. The board also discussed again the possibility of buying Dr. Holcomb's clinic when he retires, but the board took no action on the item.

The board approved purchase for $2,892 of a new automatic blood pressure monitor which automatically takes a patient's blood pressure at pre-determined intervals, displays the information digitally and prints out the results on a tape.

Foster also reported that the hospital's Home Health Agency made 96 calls during the month of May. Foster also reviewed deficiencies and steps taken to correct the deficiencies noted in the hospital's recent Medicare survey.

The hospital has hired Cindy Crawford of Memphis as lab technician, Foster said.

The hospital currently is earning interest on $475,000 worth of deposits, Foster reported.

Present were board members Corky Bowen, Emory Ewing, Dr. J.M. Orr and Loretta Weight. Yates Parker, Robert Owens and Bill Patrick were absent.

Rain Continues to Slow Harvest, Lower Quality

Rain continues to delay harvesting of Collingsworth County's wheat crop and with each delay, weeds in wheat fields grow taller and the test weight of the grain get lighter.

Both of these factors, along with rust that appeared in many fields earlier, continues to cut the value of one of the county's major money crops.

Weeds are now as tall or taller than the wheat although these are spotted within fields and within areas of the county.

"We need 6 or 7 days of good cutting weather to get ahead of the weeds that are coming now," said Glenn Warriok of Warricks, Inc. That period also would bring most of the crop to the elevators although there would continue to

GTE Line Charge Becomes Effective

Most telephone customers across the nation, including those served by General Telephone began paying a monthly $1 subscriber line charge effective June 1.

Business customers with more than one line have been paying a $6 subscriber line charge since May 1984.

Under the Federal Communications Commission plan implementing the charge, the revenues of the local telephone companies will not increase since they in turn will reduce by an equivalent amount charges to long-distance carriers for use of local facilities and equipment. At the same time, it is expected there will be a similar reduction in some interstate long-distance rates. AT&T has already announced plans to reduce interstate rates by 5.6 percent.

General Telephone officials said the changes are to shift from long-distance users to local customers a larger portion of the actual costs of providing the line from their residence or business to the telephone switching equipment. It was pointed out that long-distance rates have been artificially high to pay a portion of these costs, keeping local rates artificially low. As a result of the shift, the local customers rather than the heavy users of long-distance will be paying more of the costs of the local network.

be stragglers after that time.

There is also wide fluctuation in test weights and this variation exists even in the same fields. Here again, rust and weeds are factors along with moisture.

"Every time you get a rain and it soaks in, you'll suffer on test weights," Warrick points out. He estimates the crop may be from 75 to 80 percent out.

Harvesting is just as slow in the Dodson area, reports Paul Campbell, Greenbelt Co-op manager of the elevator at Dodson.

"We need dry weather for a couple of weeks," he declared. Campbell also pointed out that weeds are getting taller than the wheat and test weights are getting lighter with each rain.

Campbell also pointed out that there are no combines left in the Dodson trade territory.

"Most of the custom harvesters who do not live here have gone north to their regular runs, he said.

Rain measuring to over 5 inches fell through the heart of the county's wheat land early Monday, but again this was spotted, and many areas of the county, farther north, received less than a quarter of an inch.

Warrick said he poured 4.2 inches out of his rain gauge south of Loco following the rain, but at his place north of Salt Fork, he measured only .2 inch.

Rain amounting to two to three inches was reported in the Dodson-Arlie region and extended northwest toward Wellington.

The cash price of wheat at both Wellington and Dodson was $2.94 Wednesday.

Keep July 4 Holidays Free From Traffic Accidents

The 4th of July is celebrated by almost everyone. However, for some there will not be much to celebrate this 4th of July holiday as lives will be lost and people will be injured in traffic accidents.

Since this is usually a time for celebration, many believe the best way to celebrate is by drinking and then driving. Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, states, "At least fifty percent of all traffic deaths are alcohol related. Anyone who drinks can be a problem once they are on the highway. Many of these drivers go undetected until they get into a tight traffic situation, at which time a brain depressed by alcohol cannot think fast enough to keep them out of an accident producing situation."

On any given day under the right circumstances even that one "Little drink", with which the social drinker is allegedly satisfied, can be one too many, and he can become a menace on the road.

Major Cawthon continued, "If you are planning a trip this 4th of July, be mindful of these things: the best way to have a safe, accident free holiday is by not drinking and driving, observing all traffic laws, and wearing seat belts."

So, let us all try to be extra careful this holiday and make it enjoyable for everyone!!

In ancient India, it was believed that a prince who had lost his kingdom would have it restored if he ate food cooked on a fire made with wood grown out of the stump of a tree that had been cut down.

Kevin Hall to Coach In Woodsboro Schools

Kevin Hall, a former Skyrocket multi-sport star, has been elected to the coaching staff of Woodsboro Schools, near Corpus Christi.

He and his wife, the former Debbie Bergvall, live in San Angelo.

Hall will be one of 10 coaches on the Woodsboro staff.

Woodsboro, is a AA school, is known state-wide for its athletic program and for two of the last four years it's track team won the state AA title. It has been successful in other sports as well.

Hall's assignment will include coaching football and track in junior high, assisting with varsity football, working with the secondary. He said the Woodsboro athletic program is similar in many ways to the Wellington athletic program.

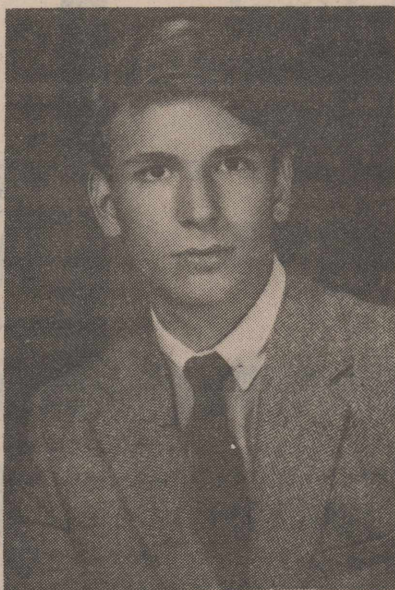

Another of Hall's responsibilities will be with the strength program for both boys and girls, in all levels of the athletic program. He will teach classes in health and physical education.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hall, the 24-year-old coach graduated from Wellington High School in 1979 and from West Texas State University in 1983. He received his teaching certificate from Angelo State University in May 1985.

In high school he was all district football, basketball and was a regional qualifier in track. He was an AAU national qualifier in hurdles between his high school and college work years and he attended WTSU on a track scholarship. Knee surgery kept Hall out of athletics for the last two years of college, and at that point he became involved in strength training, working with the strength coach from University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) for a year.

Debbie Hall graduated from Wellington High School in 1982 and attended Angelo State University. For the last three years she has worked with Radio Station KBIL in San Angelo. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.F. Isaacs and of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bergvall of Wellington. Hall is also the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Smith and great grandson of Willie Smith.

Alexander Participates in National Lumber Meet

An Amarillo business executive recently represented lumbermen from throughout the state of Texas at a national conference in Tucson, Arizona.

Ruel Alexander, manager of Canyon Drive Lumber Co., 6226 Canyon Drive, participated in the Manufacturer/Presidents Council sponsored by the National Lumber and Building Material Dealers Association. Alexander currently serves as president of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas and thus presented the views of that organization at the nationwide conference.

Russell Schaub, Leanna Hughes Wed in Formal Church Ceremony

The sanctuary of Temple Baptist Church in Hereford was the setting for the wedding of Miss Leanna Kaye Hughes and Russell Lynn Schaub on Saturday, June 8, at three in the afternoon.

Vows were read by the Reverend H.W. Bartlett, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Hughes of Route Four, Hereford. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schaub of Samnorwood.

Decorating the altar were a 15-branch brass candelabra with lighted off-white candles, accompanied with a bouquet of white silk gladiolas and mauve roses on each side. Also accenting the altar were two brass plant stands with arrangements of greenery.

Presenting the wedding music were Mrs. Floyd Eubanks of Hereford, organist, and Mrs. Clinton Oldham, of Samnorwood, sister of the bridegroom, who was the vocalist.

Mr. Hughes gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown, a floor-length design of off-white Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta and tulle. The molded bodice was designed with a Sabrina neckline and the empire waist extended to a deep V at front. Lace-covered buttons trimmed the back of the dress. Her bouffant skirt was of tiers of lace and tulle that swept into a chapel length train. Her floor-length veil of off-white illusion was gathered to a band embroidered with seed pearls.

She carried a cascade of mauve roses and freesia, accented with stephanotis, pearls and lace. Her grandmother's handkerchief was tucked into the bouquet.

The maid of honor was Miss Vila Hughes of Canyon, sister of the bride. The bridesmaids were Jeanne Brorman of Canyon and Janet Jacobson of Lubbock. They wore floor-length, V-neck dresses of daphne rose taffeta trimmed in lace, with puffed sleeves. They carried nosegays of mauve silk roses tied with off-white ribbon.

Lowry Schaub of Houston, brother of the bridegroom, was his best man, and groomsmen were

MRS. RUSSELL LYNN SCHAUB

David Hackney of Canyon and Weldon Hayes of Rotan.

The ushers were Jim Bigham of Duncan, Oklahoma, cousin of the bride; Clinton Oldham of Samnorwood, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Rodney Lowry, of Abilene, and Landon Lowry of Vernon, both cousins of the bridegroom.

The flower girl was Jennifer Brorman of Adrian and the ringbearer was Paul Jacob Schaub of Houston, nephew of the groom.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes entertained with a reception in the Fellowship Hall to honor the bride and groom.

The bride's table was decorated with rose-pink flowers and candles, and silver appointments were used.

Following the reception, the couple left on their wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, and since returning, they are at home at Mobeetie.

The bride graduated from Adrian High School in 1983 and completed a two-year secretarial study from West Texas State University in May 1985.

A graduate of Samnorwood High School in 1981, the bridegroom graduated from West Texas State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in physical education in May 1985. He has been elected to the staff of the Mobeetie Independent School District.

Mr. and Mrs. Schaub Entertain With Rehearsal Dinner June 7

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schaub were hosts at the rehearsal dinner honoring the wedding party of their son, Russell Schaub, and his bride-to-be Miss Leanna Hughes. This was an event of Friday, June 7, in the fellowship hall of Temple Baptist Church in Hereford.

Assisting the hosts were Mrs. Leon Myers, Mrs. Rudie Tate and Mrs. Garland Cavitt, all of Samnorwood.

Long tables, where guests were seated were covered with white cloths and had wide dusty rose ribbon runners down the center of each table. Centerpieces were of dusty rose spring flowers, and lighting the scene were votive candles in holders.

The table where Miss Hughes and Mr. Schaub were seated was also decorated with wedding bells tied with dusty rose bows.

Silver services were used. Before the meal, guests were met by the prospective groom and the Reverend H.W. Bartlett gave the prayer before the meal.

The bride and groom presented gifts to their attendants.

Approximately 35 attended. Special guests were parents of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schaub of Lutie and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Hughes of Hereford; also the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Ava Camp of Lovington, N.M.

Scoopin'

Officials of the National Democratic Party are flying into Dallas this Sunday to find out what's wrong with the Democratic Party in Texas and what they can do to halt the erosion to Republican ranks.

My advice, which is probably worth just about what they'll pay for it, is this:

1) Adopt a clear and easy-to-understand farm policy that limits production such as the one that Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower is currently pushing. The Republicans are operating in a fantasy world on this issue with dreams of a "free market" and "exports" solving our problems. There is no free market in world agricultural commodity production, and we cannot export our way out of the mess we're in. Democrats during the past dozen years have come up with a wishy-washy, ticky-tacky farm program, adding a loan here, cutting a loan rate there, that has done nothing but bankrupt farmers and cost the federal government $15 billion a year. Democrats should seize the initiative to cut the cost of this government program and help farmers at the same time by setting up mandatory production controls. This would help farmers get their money out of the marketplace instead of the taxpayers' hip pockets, and it would appeal to a wide spectrum of voters.

2) Stake out the Democrats' traditional turf as the party of the working man. Put publicity into policies that will help the folks who are working for a living and making between $10,000 and $100,000 per year.

And come up with a policy that gives people a hand in getting off the welfare roll instead of a handout and an incentive to get on the roll. Let's have government as the employer of last resort and look again at some of the good things the W.P.A. accomplished. If a person can't find a job in the private sector, let's put them to work for the benefit of the whole society instead of paying them for not working.

3) Dump Ted Kennedy from an up-front leadership role. However much the party may like his policies and faded glamour, the polls should realize that his name is death in conservative Texas these days. Install a moderate or conservative Democrat. Give conservative Democrats someone, anyone they can vote for. There are lots of conservative Democrats who want to vote Democratic, and who are searching for a way to do it. Help them.

4) Foreign policy: hold the feet of the dictatorships of the left to the same fire that we hold the dictatorships of the right. Decry assaults on liberty by the U.S.S.R. with the same vigor that we decry assaults by Chile or South Africa. Make the Democrats the party that stands for liberty and freedom around the globe.

5) Hire me as a high-paid political consultant.

--Henry Wells

(P.S. Anyone who's got other thoughts they'd like to pass on to the Democrats is welcome to write a letter to the editor. Space guaranteed in this publication.)

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The days following adjournment of the Legislature belong to the Governor, who signs bills into law alone in the spotlight because everyone else has gone home.

Last week, Gov. Mark White, among other official acts:

—Revealed the Texas package to attract General Motors Corp. new Saturn plant to one of 84 towns here, —Signed a comprehensive anti-crime package, and —Filled a controversial post by naming San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros to the Texas A&M Board of Regents.

Good News, Bad News

Meanwhile, two other officials split good news and bad news.

The good news for Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro is that his Texas Veterans Land Program sold a $175 million bond package to finance veteran loans, including the largest pre-sale of land bonds in Texas history.

The bad news from Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower is that his agency is threatened with up to 50 employee layoffs, casualties of budget cuts by the Legislature.

A Hightower deputy commissioner said between 20 and 50 employees will be laid off by the end of August, and the agency is struggling to let them know ahead of time to prepare for job-hunting.

Most of the lost jobs are expected to come from the Austin administrative headquarters, rather than field personnel, because the Legislature instructed Hightower to shift its focus to field activities.

Saturn Plant Package

The governor signed into law last week a bill authorizing the creation of a foreign trade zone for the GM Saturn plant, if it decides to call Texas its home. The package also includes:

—$50 million in job training support over three years, including a mix of federal and state programs, and resources from Texas colleges, —A statewide search by the Texas Employment Commission for workers with special skills needed by the Saturn project, —Improvements to roads and highways needed for adequate access to the Saturn facilities.

Some 84 Texas towns are also offering incentives to attract the $5 billion plant to their area.

Anti-Crime Package

New laws created by the anti-crime package signed last week will:

—Authorize background checks for workers in day care centers to prevent child abuse.

—Provide grants to community groups for child abuse and neglect prevention programs, financed through an increase in the marriage license fee.

—Renew Texas' wiretap law, and create the Crime Victim Bill of Rights, which includes provisions for a crime's emotional, financial or psychological effect on a victim to be considered in sentencing and parole hearings.

—Increase penalties for possession and use of toxic inhalants, prohibit child abusers from any contact with their victims as a condition of probation, parole or bail, and allow the first adult a child told about being abused to testify on the child's behalf.

Cisneros A Regent

White made his seventh pick of nine TAMU regents when he named Cisneros, a former student, to the Board of Regents. Cisneros was in Taiwan at the time, and White said he will resign from the Texas Economic Development Commission when he returns.

That particular post was made controversial during the session when Bryan-College Station state Sen. Kent Caperton was angered at White's refusal to name Bryan attorney Don Mauro as a regent, especially since he thought White had told him he would.

White said last week he had not told Caperton of the Cisneros appointment, and had not met with Caperton on the issue because of scheduling conflicts.

Campaign Hopes

Some folks are lining up early to run for new offices next spring.

State Rep. Tommy Adkisson, D-San Antonio, said he will formally announce soon his candidacy to replace retiring state Sen. Glenn Kothmann. Another San Antonio representative, Frank Tejeda, is expected to join that race. A third representative, Frank Madla, is named as Adkisson's co-chairman.

Democrat-turned-Republican, former state Sen. Bill Meier, said he may take another crack at defeating Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox. Meier said no to a governor's race, adding he had some "unfinished business" in the AG's race. Mattox beat Meier in '82.

A relatively unknown poultry industry man from Bryan is visiting around the state for support in his unannounced bid to beat Jim Hightower. Bill Powers hopes to get the GOP nomination.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

SESSION COVERS A
MYRAID OF ISSUES

AUSTIN — Legislative sessions seem to some outside the Capitol a game in which only a few issues are considered and even fewer passed. Sometimes, those of us inside the Capitol do little to rid ourselves of that image.

Whatever the perception, the truth is far different and decidedly less glamorous. More than 5,000 bills and resolutions were introduced during the recently completed 69th regular session, and a pretty good number of those passed. Only a few of those issues, maybe 10 percent, grabbed headlines week-in and week-out.

Last week, we looked at the issues that attracted the biggest headlines during the regular session. Now, we're going to look at issues that didn't have the same amount of time in the spotlight but are just as important to the people of District 31.

BUSINESS AND CONSUMER ISSUES: Of course, the celebrated repeal of the blue law dominated all business-related debate this year, but in the long run, action or inaction on several other business bills will have significant impact on the state. Among those:

Secondary Mortgages — Several bills were introduced to allow people to borrow against their home for more than home improvements. Opponents warned that many people, especially the elderly, could be cheated out of their homes. Proponents said, "let the buyer beware." The opponents won as the bills failed to pass out of committee.

Local Measured Service — Senators approved a bill that protected against phone company attempts to force on customers pay-per-call local service, but the House adopted a more laissez-faire approach and refused to outlaw LMS. Look for the prohibition effort again next session.

Satellite Dishes — This one could be bad news for those people looking to improve their home entertainment centers. Unauthorized use of these dishes will become illegal if the governor signs a bill outlawing cable theft.

Securities Law Changes — Plans to abolish Texas' "merit review" of stocks died in the Senate during the session's waning hours. With it ended our efforts to exempt some cooperative stock from unnecessary review. Since the bill came so close to passage, it likely will be on someone's agenda next session.

Computer Crime — Hackers beware. We passed a bill this session outlawing unauthorized entry into computer systems if the person entering the system steals, alters or damages material in the system. All the bill needs now is the governor's signature.

CRIME: Criminal issues attracted more attention this session than any in recent memory. Maybe that's because so many lawmakers were posturing to run for attorney general in 1986. Crime bills passed during the recent session include:

Expanded Death Penalty — Multiple murders, especially so-called serial murders, will be punishable by death if the governor signs a bill passed recently by the Legislature. Since the governor wants to be re-elected next year, the chances are good he'll sign the bill.

Wiretapping — The House and Senate both approved an extension of the controversial wiretap law originally pushed by former Gov. Bill Clements. The bill almost died in the Senate before restrictions were placed on police ability to covertly

The Gulf Coast's reputation for hot weather is losing out to Wellington.

Thelma and Oren O. Rogers moved from Freeport to Wellington, arriving here on the day our temperature reached 107 degrees. "I was never so hot," she says.

Thelma is Leo Popwell's sister and grew up here, graduating from high school in 1943. Her husband grew up around Vinson. They were at Freeport 17 years, moving from Amarillo in 1968. He's retiring from Dow Chemical.

Wellington Ex-Student Reunion is closer than you think, when you will suddenly wonder who wrote the school's alma mater.

The author is Lora Mae McFarland, who had lovely dark red hair and taught Spanish. Later she left teaching to become administrator of the hospital in her home town of Muleshoe. (Will those who talk much about women who enter unconventional fields please note.)

Here are the words:
"O Hail to thee, our Wellington High School,

How we love thy name.

Thy Halls, thy classes and thy colors

Always bring us fame.

We'll fight for our colors, red and white,

In sunshine or in rain.

O, Hail to thee, our alma mater, Victory is our Aim."

The tune is the same as for Cornell University alma mater.

enter a home and place a wiretap. Only the governor's signature is needed, and he is expected to sign the measure.

Child Abuse — Two bills were passed protecting children from the trauma of abuse. One requires day care centers to check the criminal background of all prospective employees, and the other dedicates licensing fees from those centers to better training of child-care workers. Both are expected to be signed by the governor.

Rape — A bill that would have allowed a person to charge their spouse with rape died in the Senate as the session was coming to a close. While the bill had merit, some said there wasn't enough protection against meritless charges aimed strictly at harassment. Expect a slightly beefed up version of the same bill to be introduced next session.

As you can see, more than just "sensational" bills passed this session. In the future, we'll take a look at those bills that dealt with social and health-related issues as well as bills that will affect the way your state government works. If you have any questions about these or any other bills, please write us at P.O. Box 12068, Austin, TX, 78711

Aue Elected Oklahoma School Band Director

Frank Aue, director of Wellington school bands for three years, will become director of Elgin, Okla., school bands on July 1.

Aue said the Elgin school has an enrollment of approximately half again as many students as Wellington, a little more than 1,000.

Elgin is located 20 miles north of Lawton, Okla. on a toll road to Oklahoma City and is in an agricultural area, with many of its residents also working in Lawton or at Ft. Sill. The school also draws students from Medicine Park and another small town.

Aue came to Wellington from Pecos, where he was not in the school music field. He has directed bands in Chico and in Eunice, N.M. Here Aue also worked with the Wellington School Band.

"I'm Thirsty"

Such a familiar cry to any parent, and who could resist such an appeal. Many times the cry of "I'm thirsty" is a genuine one, but there are times when it is a scheme to linger a little longer, the result of a strong desire to remain awake and play with the dolls and toys that loving parents have provided.

While meeting the physical, play, and comfort needs, don't forget the need for "Living Waters." Take the family to church, where all may hear of, and be drawn closer to our loving Father.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny: the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
