

FRIONA MAN VICTIM OF GUNSHOT

R. G. Moore, age 36, died in the Parmer County Hospital at Friona Thursday morning of accidental shotgun wounds sustained in the family home at Friona earlier in the morning.

All details of the tragic accident were not immediately available, but his wife expressed the belief that her husband accidentally brushed against the loaded gun left standing in the hallway as he was making his way to the bathroom. The full charge from gun struck the victim in the bowels and he died shortly after being rushed to the hospital.

The Moore family came to Friona only a few months ago from Houston and he operated a Phillips 66 service station on Highway 60 in the north part of the city.

Funeral plans were not complete early Thursday morning. Moore's immediate family survivors are his wife and a 5-year-old daughter, Gail.

FROM THE HOPPER

A little word of advice to the younger generation: Unless you want a steady job, don't get in the newspaper business.

I returned home Wednesday afternoon from Dallas, where I had been receiving radium therapy for ten days, and before the afternoon had passed I was called to my post at the office to take up where I left off so suddenly and unexpectedly on Oct. 29.

It won't do the doctors any good to find anything else wrong with me; they and the hospitals have got all my money by now and hereafter they will be picking on an unprofitable patient.

Visitors at the Gaston Hospital in Dallas, regardless of the number, are served free coffee throughout the day and until after visiting hours in the evening. Two electric coffee makers are kept going by a maid and the hundreds of visitors and patients are at liberty to help themselves to all the coffee they want, sweetened and cream to their own likings.

Confinement in the hospital afforded me an occasion to renew acquaintances with friends and relatives I had not seen in many years. And how their visits were appreciated!

Came back by Fort Worth and visited the packing plant of Swift & Company, where I worked as a lad more than 45 years ago. About the only familiar thing about the huge plant was the odor. It hasn't changed a bit in all these years!

Began raining on us as we left Seymour early Wednesday morning, and we drove in heavy rain most of the way until we came up the caprock. But good rains had fallen all the way home. Much of the wheat from here to Olney is up, but some drilling was still in progress.

Youngsters Take Their World Seriously, Atom Bomb, Planes Featured In Clay

Modern youngsters realize a good deal more of what is going on in their topsy-turvy world than their parents might believe, Mrs. Tom Foster, local kindergarten teacher, revealed on Monday of this week.

Mrs. Foster based her observations on daily contact with the preschool kiddies in her class, pointing out that clay modeling is one of the features of the work and the children are given free reign to express their ingenuity. What they make may surprise adults, for the kids have turned out their version of an atom bomb, and with fair regard for detail have constructed planes and cars.

Eleven youngsters are now enrolled in the kindergarten class, being taught for the second year by Mrs. Foster. All of the group will enter elementary school next year, but only three—Steve Hillock, Bill Quicker and Ronnie Sanders—are "repeaters" from last year's class. Other members include Anna Lee Thompson, Carl Glenn Davis, Ron-

The local woman, who applied for citizenship in the United States four months ago, will take the final oath in January. Asked about her reaction to becoming an American citizen, Mrs. Dyer stated "I'm very proud and happy that I am a citizen now, this is a most wonderful country."

Funeral Services For Hughes Held Locally

Funeral services for John Bunyon Hughes were held at the Church of Christ in Farwell, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Ebb Randol, of Muleshoe former local minister.

Hughes passed away in Lubbock at eight o'clock, Sunday night, at the age of 82 years. He was born February 19, 1869, at Mobile, Ala., moving to Texas when a child of five years. In July, 1889, he was married at Rusk, Texas, to Katherine Lindsey. Eight children were born to the union, with six having preceded their father in death. Hughes at one time was a local resident, operating a small fruit stand. He and his wife have been making their home in Houston and he was visiting in Lubbock when he suffered a heart attack.

Survivors include his wife; one son, Mrs. G. C. Paulk, of Lubbock, and one son, Charles Glen, of LaPort, Texas; eleven grandchildren; fourteen great-grandchildren, and one great-great grandchild.

Camp, Jones, Holland Attend PMA Meeting

Joe Camp, Joe Jones and Charlie Holland attended a meeting on the 1952 ACP program, held in the Herring Hotel in Amarillo, Monday.

Wortham Seale, district field man, was in charge of the sessions, and Lester Young, administrative assistant from the State PMA office, discussed the program. Mr. Bluey of the SCS then explained some of the technical aspects of some of the PMA practices, Camp relates.

Richardson, Janice Meeks, Callalya Robertson, Pricilla Arnold, Ellen Ann Calliouett, and Sherry Ann Hanna.

The youngsters have spent considerable time recently getting ready for Halloween, which they celebrated with a party at their school house on Wednesday of this week, were friends of the students, and entertainment features were worked out by the group.

Instructive work has been carried on recently stressing cotton, with the kindergarten class making a poster to which each child contributed something made of cotton. Illustrated nursery rhymes have been drawn about the room by Mrs. Foster, and new toys are occasionally added for interest.

A short rest period is observed every morning, with light refreshments being served and following the rest period, the students are urged to talk about their day-dreams. Classes are dismissed at 12 noon.

RAINS COVER COUNTY

Legal Searchers Find Josh Blocher Cache

Legal searchers last Wednesday did what the two alleged murderers of "Old Josh" Blocher failed to do when they unearthed fruit jars containing an estimated $9,000 to $10,000 from the floor of the eccentric's shack at Progress.

Sheriff Hugh Freeman reported on Tuesday that a final count of the money found had not been made, due to the deteriorated condition of some of the bills, which were forwarded to the United States Treasury.

In fact, had Thomas Livesay and Lester Douglas Stevens dug just a bit deeper in their search for Blocher's reported fortune after reportedly beating the old man and tossing him into a cotton field, they might have made their trip to Progress worth the money, rather than getting only the 13c in Old Josh's snap pocketbook.

The fruit jars containing the money were unearthed by J. H. Wimberley, Morris Hicks, and Clye Henry, having been appointed as excavators by Robert C. Howell, administrator of the Blocher estate.

The first jar that turned up was buried under the head of Blocher's bed, and contained some $6,000. Two more jars holding smaller amounts were on a line leading toward the center of the room, with one jar buried under the primitive wood stove. None of the jars were more than six inches under the dirt floor of the shack.

Sheriff Freeman reported this week that a grand jury has been summoned for Monday, November 5th, at which time an indictment will be asked against Livesay and Stevens, currently being held in the Bailey and Parmer County jails.

Dies Suddenly In Clovis Hospital

Mrs. G. C. Houston, Jr., 22, died in a Clovis hospital on Tuesday morning following a short illness. She was the wife of Paul Thornton, of Texico.

Mrs. Houston was hospitalized on Monday night following a severe coughing spell, which apparently caused a lung hemorrhage resulting in her death. Funeral services were not complete on Wednesday, it was reported from Steed Funeral Home in Clovis.

Survivors include her husband, G. C. Houston, Jr.; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thornton of Texico; four sisters, Mrs. H. M. Crum of Dayton; Mrs. Leroy Weaver, Liberty; Mrs. Myra Stovall, Clovis; Miss Nadene Thornton, Texico; four brothers, R. W. Thornton, Madras, Ore.; Olen Thornton, who is overseas with the Navy; Jimmy Thornton, with the Army in Japan; and Roy Thornton of Texico.

Otis Huggins of Farwell is chairman of the 1951 drive. Captains and workers are John Aldridge, F. D. Stout, Joe Crume, Rev. Lance Hurst, W. D. Hardage, C. M. Henderson, Felix Monroe, O. C. Sikes, O. Attends Regional Insurance Meeting

B. N. Graham, local insurance agent, was in Amarillo the past Wednesday, where he attended the regional meeting of the State Association of Insurance Agents, an all-day affair held in the Herring Hotel.

Paul H. Brown, state fire insurance commissioner; Ray Helsey, of the automobile department; and Drex Foreman, executive secretary of the Texas Fire Insurance Association, were among the notables present.

Graham commented that the Wednesday meeting was one of the largest in attendance ever held.

Funeral Services Held For Bovina Pioneer

Bovina lost one of its long time citizens Thursday night when Harry C. Jackson passed away. He had been in ill health for some time and following a heart attack died enroute to the hospital. Mr. Jackson was 72 years of age and had been a resident of Bovina for the past twenty-one years. He operated a feed store and the Lee-Way Freight office in Bovina for many years. Mr. Jackson was born in Denton, Texas.

Survivors include his wife, Bertha Ann; one son, Harold Jr., of Robstown, Texas; three daughters, Mrs. J. T. Morgan of El Paso, Texas, Mrs. John H. Biggs of Midland, Texas, and Mrs. A. L. Lookingbill of Twin Falls, Idaho.

Funeral services were held on Sunday at 3:00 P. M. from the Gilliam Funeral Home in Hereford, Texas. Rev. M. D. Durham, pastor of the Bovina Baptist Church, conducted the service. Pall bearers were Roy Hawkins, A. M. Wilson, Frank Smith, Floyd Montgomery, Aubrey Rhodes.

John Ben Shepperd Will Speak Here

John Ben Shepperd, Texas' Secretary of State, is scheduled to speak in Farwell at noon on Thursday of next week, November 7th, with his appearance being sponsored by the Farwell Chamber of Commerce.

Sam Aldridge, local lawyer who has been corresponding with Shepperd, stated that the Secretary is due to appear at a gathering in Hereford during the afternoon, following his luncheon engagement in Farwell.

Shepperd, who advocates trimming of expenditures in government operation, has been asked to address the local crowd on "Waste in Government," Aldridge said today.

The dinner at which Shepperd will speak is to be held in the Justice-Williams Legion Hall in Farwell, beginning promptly at 12 noon, officials of the CC announced today, adding that the public is invited. Definite commitment on the price per plate could not be made early this week, as final details of the affair have not been worked out.

Authentic Navy Film To Be Shown Lions

An authentic battle film, taken and released by the United States Navy, will be the feature of the regular meeting of the Texico-Farwell Lions Club next Tuesday night, November 6th.

Otis Huggins, who announced the film said that he secured the movie from the Clovis naval recruiting office, and added that he recently saw it at a Clovis meeting, adding, "It is real enough to make your hair stand on end."

The film deals with the evacuation of Marines from a port surrounded by Communist forces, some months ago during the Korean action.

Meeting time for the Lions will be 7:30, at the Legion Hall, and all members are particularly urged to be on hand.

Small Attendance At Town Hall Meeting

Only a small crowd was on hand for the regular Farwell Town Hall meeting, held Monday night, city officials reported.

During the business session, opinion on passing an ordinance requiring overall hookups with the city sewerage system was sampled from those present, and general opinion was that such an ordinance was in order, with the final decision being left up to the city commission, scheduled to meet this week.

Herington Receives Corporal Stripes

Cpl. Lawson C. Herington, son of Mrs. Vada Smith of Muleshoe, recently received his new rating and was made squad leader, it has been reported.

Cpl. Herington, who is stationed at Camp Aterbury, Ind., is in the 28th division of the infantry. He has been in service since February 1 of this year.

The local boy was graduated from Farwell schools in 1947, and farmed previous to his induction into the army. He expects to be shipped to Germany in November.

Jury Selected, But Case Settled Out Of Court

A petit jury to be used in the case of A. T. Beavers vs. T. H. Haney was selected at district court in Parmer County on Monday of this week, but during Tuesday morning the case was settled out of court, District Clerk Loyde Brewer reports.

The Beavers-Haney case was concerned with an automobile accident which occurred on September 5, last year, between Dimmitt and Bovina. Beavers subsequently lost a leg.

Judge E. A. Bills, of Littlefield, had summoned a petit venire of some 36 men for action in civil cases. Following the selection of the panel on Monday, the remaining jurors were ordered to report again on Friday of this week, but a cancellation of this call was made Wednesday.

Judge Bills did not announce when he would return to handle civil cases in the local court, Clerk Brewer said, adding that the calendar previously issued sets November 15 as regular court day in Parmer.

Bill Johnson Hurt In Freak Accident

Bill Johnson, of near Bovina, was admitted to the Parmer County Community Hospital in Friona, late Saturday afternoon, following an accident at his farm home.

Engaged in fixing a post-hole digger with a power take-off, Johnson got too close. The machine ripped off most of his clothing and bent his body around the auger. Johnson was able to cut off the machine and rescue himself from the auger.

Reports from the hospital on Tuesday morning were to the effect that he was recuperating.

Texas Voters On Tuesday, November 13 Five Constitutional Amendments To Face

Five amendments to the Constitution of the State of Texas, only one of which will not in some way add to the financial tax burden of state residents, come up for consideration of the voters on Tuesday, November 13th.

Four of the proposed amendments are offered by House Joint Resolution, with one coming from the Senate, it is noted. All will be included on a single ballot offered qualified electors on voting day, with the choices being marked plainly in the usual custom or "for" or "against" the proposals.

First in the group is a new proposal regarding retirement disability pensions for appointive officers and employees of the several counties of the state, allowing the counties voluntary participation in the program, and refusing the Legislature the right to make an appropriation to pay such authorized bene-

A total of 2.40 inches of precious moisture has been registered in Farwell since the first shower on Wednesday, October 17th. This total was run up late Wednesday, and includes the even three-quarters of an inch received during Tuesday night when a steady rain fell most of the night. Other falls include .50 on October 25, and .75 on the 26th.

All in all, the county is well soaked, according to reports gathered here Wednesday, and wheat prospects, which had been looking pretty grim, took a brisk upturn.

The occasional fields which were planted earlier, despite dry weather, showed bright green faces this week, with a swift recuperation from lack of moisture, and these fields, in the opinion of most grain men, have now sufficient moisture to carry them for some time.

As for the planting outlook, it is still arguable. Some farmers received enough rain to feel that they are justified in putting seed in the ground, while others are still "riding the fence" on the proposition, trying to decide whether to gamble on wheat or wait to put their fields into row crop next spring.

Large row crop acreage, which has been cleared of the sorghum grains, is still covered in stubble and will, in all probability, be left to a similar planting next year. On the other hand, there will always be a few exceptions, and some of these stubble fields may be rapidly turned under and sowed to wheat following the rains.

Asked about the harvest in general, Jones estimated that overall, the county had completed from 80 to 85 per cent of its row crop cuttings. Particularly around the Friona area will be found uncut fields, as farmers are apparently going to have to wait for a hard freeze to dry their grain.

Killing frost is usually expected in this county around the first of November. Actually, weather bureau forecasters had predicted a sharp freeze during the cold snap last weekend, but only a light frost materialized.

Cotton Farmers Busy
Turning to the outlook on the county's new-cotton—cotton—Jones expressed the opinion that not much ginning would be done within the confines of this county until a hard freeze strips the stalks of foliage.

Lack of pickers over the cotton producing area has been felt, but much of the cotton planted in Parmer county is of varieties which will take late storms in order to ready the plant for mechanical strippers.

What cotton has been handled thus far is turning out fairly well, reports indicate, with the irrigated fields averaging around three-fourths of a bale per acre, while dry-land plantings usually run ½ bale per acre. Asked as to what is considered "good" cotton production, Jones said "most of them shoot at a bale per acre," but went on to add that a county average of three-fourths of a bale per acre on irrigated and ½ bale on dry land would be very good.

Heavy cotton production is reported from Lariat, where a ginning of 470 bales had been handled up to Monday of this week. Showers over the area will likely interrupt cotton harvesting for a few days.

N. L. Tharp, manager of the Farwell gin, said on Monday that ginnings here thus far had been light, adding that most of the local crop would not be touched until after plant defoliation.

Voters may point out that the new amendment offered is identical with a similar one submitted—and rejected—in 1949.

Second on the list is a HJR which proposed for investment of the permanent University fund in additional securities, and which, undoubtedly, will see favor with some of the voters. The amendment would give the Board of Regents of the University of Texas a little more latitude in investment of the permanent fund, with the Board at present restricted to invest in: bonds of the US, State of Texas, or counties of Texas; school bonds of municipalities; city bonds issued under and by virtue of the Federal Farm Loan Act.

Such additional investment, it is pointed out, would give the Fund greater revenue than now received, (Continued last page, this section)

New Members To Be Honored At Dinner

New members of the local American Legion will be special guests at a dinner on the night of Monday, November 12th, when the regular meeting of the local Post is held in the Legion Hall.

Joe Helton, commander of the Post, reported this week that some 20 have signed up, with crews working toward a goal of 45. He went on to add that although the membership drive officially closes on Sunday, November 11th, committee members will continue to seek additions to the local unit.

Loyde Brewer, in charge of plans for the program on the night of the 12th, said this week that no definite arrangements had yet been made. "We plan to have a visiting speaker," Brewer stated, adding that musical numbers will likely be secured locally.

A charge of $1 per plate will be made for the dinner, which is to be served cafeteria style.

Antifreeze Ceiling Prices Are Posted

The approach of winter, a recent norther and the rush of motorists to prepare their cars for cold weather brought the reminder from the Lubbock District Office of Price Stabilization that the ceiling prices of antifreeze must be posted by all retailers.

W. O. Daniels, chief of the fuels and chemicals section of the Lubbock district OPS, said the ceiling prices of antifreeze are:

Type S, one gallon or more, per gallon $1.50; less than one gallon, 40 cents per quart. Type S is antifreeze containing one or a combination of the following: synthetic methanol, synthetic ethanol, synthetic isopropanol and similar synthetic alcohols, except type SC.

Type SC, one gallon or more, per gallon $1.40; less than one gallon, 35 cents per quart. Type SC is diluted synthetic methanol product containing more than 3 per cent water by volume.

Type P, one gallon or more, $3.75 per gallon; less than one gallon, $1.00 per quart. Type P is permanent antifreeze consisting principally of glycol compounds.

Quoting the regulation, Daniels said sellers of antifreeze "must post your ceiling price for each type and brand of antifreeze which you sell where it can be plainly seen and read by the buying public. This must be marked 'OPS Ceiling Price $' (filled in with correct price) and may be posted on the shelf, bin or rack where your antifreeze is kept."

OPS regulations require that sellers of antifreeze for a period of two years to keep records of purchases, showing date of purchase, name and address of supplier, quantity, and type of antifreeze bought and the price paid.

Welfare Board Visits Tharp Property Here

Further consideration of the proposal of N. L. Tharp, of this city, to turn his extensive property over to the State of New Mexico for a home for aged people was taken by members of the New Mexico Welfare Board on Monday of this week when the group visited the Tharp holdings near town.

Some two months ago, the Tharps announced that they were planning to turn the 5200-acre property, valued at approximately $750,000, into a place of refuge for aged and needy of the state, provided all details could be worked out with the welfare board.

Alvin A. Simpson, of Santa Fe, head of the state welfare agency, was among the visitors at the Tharp place on Monday and was very enthusiastic about the outlook for the plan, expressing himself as well pleased with the property.

Although further details are to be ironed out, plans tentatively call for erection of a 46-bed sanitarium, to be completely modern, fire-proof and sanitary in all respects, Tharp said on Monday. Asked as to when such work might be started, he said that differences of ideas are to be worked out soon, following which a contract will be drawn up and work on the initial unit started.

Leonard To Present Assembly Program

Paul Leonard, in conjunction with Southern school assemblies, will present a special program to Farwell school children Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Leonard brings a unique program of bird songs, nature lore, and music on a mysterious instrument according to a news release. His background qualifies him for exceptional work in these fields. As a little fellow in the Berkshire Hills of Massachusetts he wandered through the beautiful woods for hours at a time listening to the birds. He learned to imitate their calls and has since become their enthusiastic friend.

The son of a Baptist minister, he spent several years with his traveling missionary father in England Palestine and Egypt. As a youngster, he studied the piano rather indifferently....but the trumpet with zest. Today he is recognized as a trumpeter of the first rank and has played with some of the best bands in the Los Angeles area.

He combined whistling and trumpet playing into a program of entertainment and gradually evolved his present program of whistling bird songs and calls, presenting some fascinating nature lore and playing a mystery instrument. Behind him are several years of entertaining the public in person and on the radio. Recently his television appearances were seen from coast to coast.

He has a large repertoire of classical and popular numbers which he presents with his own interpretations, bringing out his ideas of bird calls. He often asks the audience to join in softly whistling the numbers. His plan of accompaniment is unique. He has an exceptionally fine reproducing system and reproduces his own accompaniments. All of them were specially made for him by outstanding artists. He plays some of his own records and demonstrates how he made them.

One unusually interesting feature of the program is his playing of a mystery instrument which has no keyboard, strings, reeds, slides, valves or keys and which is played without being touched. On a recent "Truth or Consequences" show no one was able to guess its name.

Austin Attorney Urges Defeat Of Old Age Measure

Every person who receives an Old Age Assistance check from the state should read H J R 6 dealing with Old Age Assistance, study the same carefully and vote against it.

T. H. McGregor, former member of the Texas Senate, and prominent Austin attorney warns.

McGregor voices his opposition to the proposed amendment further by declaring:

"They claim that it will increase and stabilize your pension. If administered as written it will reduce your pensions and maybe destroy them. This resolution attempts to amend Section 51a of article 3 of the present Constitution by raising the sum from $35,000,000 to 42,000,000. All the author would have done was to copy the present Article and strike out 35,000,000 and inserted 42,000,000. But he wrote a new Article, and in doing so sure messed things up."

"Section 35 of Article 3 of the Constitution provides: 'No bill * * * shall contain more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title. But if any subject shall be embraced in an Act which shall not be expressed in the title, such Act shall be void as to so much thereof as shall not be so expressed.'"

The subject of Section 51a sought to be amended is "needy aged persons who are actual bona fide citizens of Texas and who are over the age of 65, etc." It takes this entire sentence to constitute the subject. The person must be a bona fide citizen of Texas over 65 years of age before he can be considered eligible for a pension. This language clearly complies with Section 35 of Article 3 of the Constitution."

"Section 1 of H J R 6 says that the Legislature shall have the power for the payment of assistance to needy persons who are over the age of 65 years, and does not prescribe any other qualifications. Under this language a man may be a citizen of any other state and at the same time be a resident of Texas and draw a pension."

"It will be much better to kill this resolution than to have droves of needy people come into the state and getting on the pension roll. A man, to draw a pension from Texas ought to be a citizen of Texas. The submission of this resolution in this form was a legislative job badly done. The thing to do is to vote against H J R 6."

90% For! 10% Against

Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employees and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employees Accept
Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employees—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse
But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employees. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employees are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer?

They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?

Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $34 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19½ cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?
The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employees covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?

The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employees in yard service. The employees can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?

The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal one seems to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—runs which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated

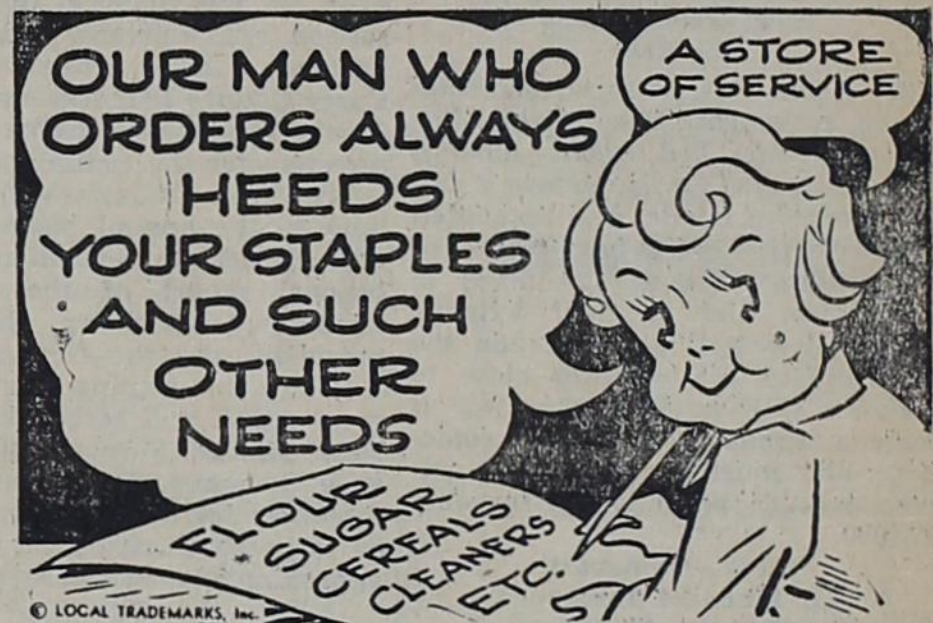

The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed

With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employees.

Farm Bureau Slates Convention, 5th

Bruce Parr, Farmer County Farm Bureau President, announced today that the annual county Farm Bureau Convention will be held Monday night, November 5 at 7:30, in the Friona School auditorium. This will be the first annual convention held in Friona.

In a called director's meeting Monday night, with R. J. Buchanan, Area Organizational Field Director, arrangement was made to have Sam Allen, Dawson County Farm Bureau President as speaker of the evening.

Allen, who lives at Lamesa, has been active and instrumental in farm legislative action in Washington and Austin for the last several years. He is thoroughly familiar with Rural Telephone Association progress and other matters of vital interest to rural people. A farmer himself, Mr. Allen speaks the language farmers understand and are interested in.

There will be a business session in which a president for 1952 and directors for Bovina and Rhea, whose director's terms expire in November, will be elected.

Texas Farm Bureau has been duly credited with maintaining tractor gas exemptions for Texas farmers, and intends to reestablish the convenient method of filling out exemption papers in use until the last session of legislation.

Delegates for attendance at the State Convention in Houston November 19-21 will also be elected at the Monday night meeting. Everyone is urged to attend.

Curry Farm Bureau Convention Slated

The annual Convention of the Curry County Farm Bureau will be held Saturday, November 3rd, starting at 10:00 A. M. at the Clovis Armory. Mr. Steve Brook, Vice-president of the State Farm Bureau and a rancher from Roy, New Mexico will address the convention during the morning session. Recognition will also be given to 4-H and FFA members who have won awards in County and State contests.

Since the Farm Bureau includes the entire farm family the meeting is set for Saturday so that mom, pop, and the youngsters may attend.

At noon a ranch style barbecue will be served by the food committee under the direction of Speck Foster and Alan Sumpton. Promptly at 1:00 P. M. all the youngsters are invited to be the guests of the Lyceum Theatre upon invitation of Elmo Courtney, manager. At the Armory, the business session will convene and the first business will be conducted by the Curry County Fair Association, with Austin Brooks in charge to select directors for the coming year.

The Farm Bureau will then attend to the annual business which will include consideration of resolutions, report of the secretary-treasurer; report of the county president, and the election of officers for the coming year. A progress report will so be given of the New Mexico Farm Mutual Insurance Company. The county officers are expecting a large attendance even surpassing that of last year when approximately 600 were present.

Secretary Urges Exes To Send Dues Soon

Twenty people have mailed in membership dues for the Ex-Students Association, Ruby Meeks, secretary of the group, reported today. She urges that all exes mail in their 50c dues "right away", to give committee members expense money required to mail out letters and to take care of other necessary expenditures.

The ex-student celebration is scheduled during the Thanksgiving holidays, when a dinner will be held. Special entertainment will be featured and those in charge are considering the advisability of securing a speaker.

Mrs. Meeks states that many encouraging letters have been received relative to the reunion, adding that the association hopes to have a crowd on hand to top last year's attendance of over 150 persons.

The secretary also points out that some addresses of ex-students are not available, therefore, many former students did not receive letters. "These people are extended a special invitation to attend the homecoming," she concludes.

A meeting of the executive committee of the association is to be held in the near future to complete plans for the function.

Voluntary Parole System Working Well In Texas

Austin—(Spl)—Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd stated in a report to W. H. Graham, Farwell Chairman of the Parmer County Voluntary Parole Board that the Texas Voluntary Parole System is functioning economically and satisfactorily.

Shepperd reported that when he assumed the duties of Secretary of State in February 1950 there were 600 parolees unaccounted for in Texas. He commended the Texas Voluntary Parole Board members for their cooperation and assistance in enabling the Department to reduce the number of missing parolees to 60.

The Texas Voluntary Parole System, Shepperd stated, is a positive and constructive program designed to aid the parolee in becoming worthwhile citizens of the community. Parolees, he reported, are released from prison on recommendation by the Board of Pardons and Paroles to the Governor for the granting of clemency. After clemency has been granted, a parolee is under the supervision of Parole Board members until expiration of his sentence.

The Parole System, Shepperd reported, has proved to be a sound program as a method of progressive public protection. The Annual Report of Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles shows that in 1949 there were 11.6 per cent parole violators. This figure was reduced to only 3.8 per cent in 1950.

These men, the Secretary of State reported, are supervised at the very low cost of only 4 1/2 cents daily for each parolee while it costs the Texas Prison System 82 cents daily for each inmate. This figure, he stated, does not take into consideration the amount spent by the State in caring for the dependents of those incarcerated. The Department of Public Welfare shows in their Audit Report for 1950 that $212,426.27 was spent in aiding these families.

In comparing the costs of the Texas Voluntary Parole supervision with that of other states, the Secretary of State cited the fact that the state of New York spends $62 for each parolee yearly; Massachusetts $54 yearly, Virginia $60 yearly, Wisconsin $34 yearly while Texas only spends $15 yearly for each parolee.

Shepperd also praised the work of the members of the Voluntary Parole Board and cited several cases where through their efforts delinquents have been restored from the prison system to daily pursuits of everyday life.

Other members of the Parmer County Voluntary Parole Board are: H. Y. Overstreet, Farwell.

Miss Gulley received 9800 votes in the contest, with runner-up Miss Magness having 4,000 votes.

Visitors at the carnival found booths of every type for entertainment, including everything from fortune telling to the house of horror, and the "inner man" was gratified with all types of foods on sale.

SHOULD WE TRY THE BIBLE?

BY DON ROBINSON

I can't seem to recall an occasion in recent history where any of our national leaders mentioned seeking the answer to the world's problems in The Bible.

On Sundays' preachers throughout the country do try to fathom out God's probable solution to our complicated affairs. But that seems to be strictly Sunday business.

On the other six days of the week, the men who make our laws, determine our international policies and plan our futures, apparently believe that, even though God may have done a creditable job in creating the world, he simply never had to contend with problems such as they face in the year 1951.

Non-Christian Russia, although completely on the wrong track, has stuck pretty much to following the rules of survival as outlined by Karl Marx' book. Our leaders, however, have long since strayed away from looking in the Book on which our nation was founded for guidance in making decisions.

Several years ago, when The American Press made a survey among county editors on the subject of religion, many editors expressed the feeling that we could not rely on the principles of our religion to deal with an anti-religious nation.

But, although I am not as familiar with the Bible as I should be, I am coming more and more to the conclusion that, even though our problems are admittedly complicated, God might have more of the answers than Acheson. And the Bible, if scrutinized enough, might prove even more valuable than the Congressional Record in pointing the way toward a better future for the inhabitants of the globe.

Few Hallowe'en Pranks Reported in Twin Cities

According to reports this morning (Thursday) at the Tribune office, Hallowe'en pranks were few in the Twin Cities, with no major destruction reported.

The down-town businesses sported windows marked with soap, and several local cars also received the soap treatment. The sign, which ordinarily stands in front of the Cover Shop in Farwell was located on the Joe Crume front lawn this morning, and the recruiting sign in front of the post office was no longer standing.

Many of the younger people did don their Hallowe'en guises and canvassed the towns for "trick or treat", despite the cold misty weather.

If a person is an alien sinner-one who has never become a child of God, his condition is described in these words: "That at that time ye were without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world," Eph. 2:12.

If a person is an erring child of God-one who has been converted to the Lord through the process outlined for us and later has erred from his duty as a servant of the Lord, his condition is shown in this passage; "Brethren, if any of you err from the truth, and one convert him, let him know that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death and shall hide a multitude of sins," James 5:19,20.

Mustangs Lose To Friona Chieftains

The Bovina Mustangs went down to the worst defeat of the season Friday night on the Friona field. Nothing seemed to go right for the Mustangs and the Chieftains had a picnic.

Friona scored twice in the first quarter by long end runs and made both conversions. The locals called time-outs but failed to work out anything to stop those devastating runs.

The Chieftains romped across the goal line three more times in the second quarter and made two conversions. The half ended 34-0 in favor of Friona.

The Mustangs came back in the second half to play better defensive ball, but failed to halt the Chieftain advance. They scored again early in the third quarter but failed to make the extra point.

Glen Hromas quarterback for Bovina then received the ball on the kick-off on his own 25 yard line and ran all the way down field for the Mustang's first and only touchdown of the evening.

The Chieftains retaliated with another tally in the third quarter. The fourth quarter resulted in the Mustangs trying desperately to score again and the Chieftains holding firmly. In the last three minutes of the game the Chieftains put on a final spurt and scored the seventh touchdown for Friona. The final score was Friona 52, Bovina 6.

Unite For Defense Of Freedom, Urges Auxiliary Leader

"Everyone should join some organization which is actively working for maintenance of the free American way of life," Mrs. Vernon Estes, Americanism Chairman of L.T.W. Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary.

"This is no time for anyone to be sitting on the sidelines," Mrs. Estes said. "At a time when millions of our young men and women are in uniform and when our country is facing the threat of communist aggression, everyone should be actively enrolled on the side of America. Indifference is one of our greatest dangers."

"The lone individual can do little. Only when united with other good Americans in a soundly American organization can his efforts be effective. You can be sure that the communists are thoroughly organized right here in our own country and throughout the world. The only way we can defeat their infiltration and subversion is to be thoroughly organized for American purposes and principles."

Pointing out that the ranks of the Auxiliary are open only to wives, mothers, sister and daughter of American Legion members, and of persons who died in war service or since honorable discharge from such service, and to women veterans, Mrs. Estes continued:

"For these eligible women the place where they can best serve for America is in the American Legion Auxiliary, and we are inviting them to come into the Auxiliary now. For other good Americans there are other fine organizations in which they can work for the protection of American democracy."

PFC. WALKER SENDS POEM TO BARKERS

Life of a Marine

You can have your Army Khaki
You can have your Navy blue
But there's still another fighter,
I'll introduce to you,
The uniform is different
The best you've ever seen
The japs call him Devil Dog,
But his real name is marine.
He is trained in San Diego and P. I.
The land that God forgot,
Where the sand is fourteen inches deep,
And the sun is scorching hot.
He has set a thousand tables,
And many a dish has he dried,
He has also learned to make a bunk,
And a broom he sure can glide,
He has peeled a million onions
And twice as many spuds,
And keeps his buddy company,
While washing out their duds.
Now listen girl, take my advice
I'm pouring out to you,
Go get yourself a nice Marine
For there's nothing he can't do.
And when he goes to heaven,
To St. Peter he will tell,
Another Marine, reporting Sir,
I've done my stretch in hell.
And if St. Peter turns him down,
Right back to hell he will go,
He'll kick the devil right off the throne,
And Boss the whole show.

He said he was so old he could remember when the big dipper was just a drinking cup.

Frona Student Visits Holland on Bicycle, Finds Wind Too High

(Editor's Note: Jane Gallagher, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George E. Meyer of Frona, continues her travelogue of countries visited while attending the University of Oslo in Norway. Below, she recounts her experiences in Holland.)

From Leer on to the border the attitude of the people changed completely. The hotel people in Leer were wonderful, very kind-not the efficient business man type of professional courtesy we had found in Germau—but just plain, honest kindness. They insisted on packing lunch for us to take with us when we started out.

We got our bikes out of the garage and started down the cobbled street. Now cobble stones and bicycles are not meant for each other and we were riding very slowly. I had on a brown corduroy skirt, white nylon blouse and my gaudy Norwegian sweater besides being on an obviously Norwegian bike. All up and down the streets, kids simply lined up at the edges of the sidewalks. I felt like the lead elephant in a circus parade.

We stopped for coffee in the next little town and in two minutes at least 20 kids were standing around the bike, hands behind their backs, and wooden shoes rubbing against each other in their evident excitement. Finally one little fellow couldn't stand it any longer and reached out with a timid hand to touch the gears.

I realized that they did not know what they were, since in their flat country gears weren't necessary. So I went back to show them. I guess they thought I was angry because they backed off; but I said "Hello" in a way that they seemed to understand and finally one little fellow came over, he must have been all of eight. I signaled him that he could ride the bike around the block if he wanted to and I showed him about the gears. That riding sealed our friendship there. Every kid in the bunch had to ride it, but I wanted my coffee, and so I left the first boy in charge and went back to my coffee. It cost me some time, but I did not regret it, because there was a small town full of happy kids with something to talk about for a long time.

The youngsters were so very careful of my bike. It was muddy as usual and wooden shoes pick up mud in quantities and easily, but one of the boys pulled out his nice white handkerchief and wiped the mud off, pedals and all. It was sweet of him, but I don't imagine his mother thought so when she had to wash that handkerchief. From there to the border, every child we saw said "Hello" as I had said and smiled. Surely news doesn't travel that fast but it seemed to have, for we were so kindly received everywhere.

At Bunde, there it was that I discovered wind and I mean "WIND". We had been traveling in a rather strong crosswind for most of the morning, but just before the border station the road turned sharply to the north. That harmless crosswind practically blew us off the road. We had to ride a full mile up to the station against a wind that made riding or walking for that matter almost impossible.

There were no natives on bicycles anywhere, which was extremely unusual as almost everyone from five to fifty years in age rides bicycles. We stopped to catch our breath three times in that one mile, but we finally made the station. Going through customs there was great fun. Nobody spoke any English, but I told the others of our party what papers he wanted besides our passports and we got along famously.

He laughed when we pointed to our bicycles and it wasn't until later that we found out just why. Nobody told us that the wind of the North Sea makes bikes almost impractical transportation to Rotterdam. We could have flown if we'd been headed in the other direction—but going toward the sea—OH NO. After about four hours of battling the wind and getting only 28 kilometers, we crossed over to the canal and hitched a ride on a boat. I had never thought of "hitch-hiking" on a boat, bicycle and all, but we did.

We didn't make much better time than we had on the bikes, but it was steady progress and without exertion. Next time I decide to bike through Europe, I'm going to have a motor put on the bike.

After the first boat reached its destination we got on a barge with a circus. I even petted the lion's head. He wasn't vicious and they had him out on deck exercising him, on a leash like a dog. I also gathered that he had just eaten his dinner. Using sign language we had a lovely trip. The circus people were a mixture of Spanish, Italian, and Dutch. I couldn't understand any of them. We traveled with the circus to a little town not too far from Rotterdam where we got off and took to our bikes again. We got into Rotterdam in time for supper.

The bald-headed little man at the hotel was precious. We got our rooms. We explained that we wanted baths. "Baths"? The baths were only open on Saturdays—ladies in the morning and gents in the afternoon—mixed swimming in the evening, for the "bath turned out to be a small sized swimming pool.

We ran out of money, that is dutch gelder, and I had to ask him to take American money for my hotel bill. He shrugged his shoulders and muttered something about its not being legal, but who cared, and traded money with us.

The continental countries are mighty careful of the American Dollar. They don't want it creeping into the black market where it brings enormous prices. When we entered Denmark, and especially Germany and Holland, we had to declare every cent of money we had—even my Canadian half dollar which I always carry as a good luck piece—and my precious American Silver dollar which I wouldn't ever part with. When we leave the country, we have to turn in slips of paper where you cashed or changed money—and believe me, it had better be accurate. Norwegian money has a convenient hole in the center and I always carry about five kroner on my key chain, just in case you know.

Rotterdam was bombed during the war too. Perhaps you remember the picture in Life magazine of the cathedral and the completely razed block about it. Well, now, the cathedral stands, rather battered, but in the process of restoration, in a level area of almost a block which someday will be the cathedral park. Around it, the dutch have built the most beautiful modernistic business district imaginable.

The stores are simply beyond description—sleek, modern, with magnificent proportions and architecture—and escalators, believe it or not. I must tell you about those. One store that had escalators from top to bottom had roped them off—no adults allowed. The children were given a free ride and how they were enjoying it. It's the little things like that that make the Dutch people such remarkable people. Can you see any store in New York roping off the escalators and letting the kids use them for carnival rides?

We left Rotterdam, stayed in a comfortable hotel in Scheemeda where they fed us perfectly fabulous food and charged us next to nothing. Then we went back thru Germany avoiding the Rottenburg rout to Copenhagen and by boat to Oslo, happy to be back in Oslo for I was really homesick for it. Back to the "green belt" of that glorious city; the area kept open and in parks from the outer rims of the city to the central area and is used as a ski route to the offices in winter for business men ski to work in winter instead of drive.

I stopped my faithful little old bike in front of my apartment in that most beautiful green sector of Oslo, patted "Tommy" the dog who came out to meet me, happy all over, and Unpacked, for a while it had been great and good fun, yet it was good to get back to familiar surroundings and back to work.

Love
Jane.

P.S.—We spend, that is some of us, at the student huts up in Nordmarker, that is the mountains. The Studentsaufund—that is Student Union in America, has accommodations for 150 of us. You pack your food on your back, climb and climb and when you get there you relax and enjoy the wonderful scenery. I expect to do a lot of skiing. "J" joined the KSI sports club and ex-

Prospects Good For Move Into Building

Speaking on Monday of this week, Supt. Dalton Caffey of the Friona schools reported that prospects were good at that time for the high school department to move into new classrooms during the current week.

Painters were scheduled to conclude their work by Wednesday or Thursday, and Caffey said "We have the furniture ready to move and will take over immediately."

Things have been a little confused at the school thus far this year, due to the loss of the high school building by fire last May. High school students have found classes scattered through various buildings on the campus pending completion of the brick building which will eventually house the new school cafeteria.

Discussing the construction work at the school, Caffey said that nothing would be done by the contractor regarding beginning work on the new high school until all materials were on hand. During a visit to Lubbock over the weekend, the local school head saw stockpiles being built up of material necessary for construction, and added that it was likely that work might begin around the first of the coming year.

"When the material is on hand, workmen will be brought to Friona to get the work moving, and estimates are that, with no delay because of material, construction should be completed within five or six months," Caffey added.

Workmen recently cleaned out the debris left by the fire, discovering that a good deal of fixture stuff could be revamped and usable in the new building. The high school, when completed, will be larger than the old building, with an addition the same size of the old gymnasium (fortunately not hurt by the fire) erected on the north end of the building.

Local Young People To Amarillo Meet

Representatives of the young people's department of the local Methodist Church joined a caravan of approximately 100 youngsters and their sponsors from churches in this area, Sunday, journeying to Amarillo for a special gathering at which Bishop Frank Smith, of Houston, was the special speaker.

Over 1,000 young people met in the Polk Street Methodist church for the afternoon services, being held in conjunction with a revival effort in all Methodist churches in the northern part of Texas.

H. V. Rocky served as delegate from the local group attending the district rally on Saturday and the mass meeting on Sunday.

Making the trip to Amarillo were Richard and Charles Wright, Wanda and Thelma Beatty, Don Lewis, Gay Cass, Billy Joe and Bobby Gene Mercer, Tommie Jones, Jimmie, Lenora and Tommie Fallwell, Lois and Jerry Bell Norwood, Pete Zachary, Shirley and Elizabeth Coconagher, Patsy Anthony, June White, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mercer, Mrs. Forrest Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Opal Jones, and Mrs. Coconagher.

Dr. Ed H. Lovelace Speaks At Revival

Rev. Ed Lovelace, of Goldthwaite, Texas, on Saturday night opened a ten-day revival effort at the local Methodist church, the series being held in conjunction with similar revival meetings in all Methodist churches in the northern half of Texas.

Services are being held nightly at 7:30, to continue through Sunday, November 4th. Rev. J. E. Tidwell, local minister, announced today, urging that all members of the church take part in this special meeting.

In connection with the revival, the WSCS of the church held its annual Week of Prayer program the past Friday at the church, with a good attendance. Mrs. Hadley Reeve was in charge of the afternoon program arrangements.

From 6 o'clock Friday afternoon to the same hour on Saturday afternoon, prayer vigil was held at the church, with the majority of members taking part.

Attend Market

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Foster, Mrs. Henry Lewis and Mrs. Raymond Jones were in Dallas this week, the Fosters and Mrs. Lewis attending market. Enroute, they visited at Denton with Miss Vera Ann Jones and Miss Ray Nell Foster, students at NTSC.

Chiefs Take Bovina; To Farwell Friday

The Friona Chiefs, bouncing back into the win column after being listed in the red for the past two weeks, took another conference victory and their most decisive win of the year, Friday night, when they swatted the Bovina Msutangs, 52-6 in a fog-shrouded match played locally.

Darrell Robbins went a bit hog-wild in the scoring division, personally crossing the goal line four times during the match and passing to Ros, Miller and D. O. Robason for six-pointers. Frank Reed got in things, too, by one touchdown, with Walter Haws doing the booting for the accumulation of extra points.

But the high spot of the game was in the third quarter, when quarterback Glen Hromas, of the visiting squad, gathered in a Friona kickoff after a touchdown and went flying down the field some 70 yards for the only Bovina tally of the game.

Friona was definitely superior, scoring quickly and repeatedly in the first quarter and continuing to lengthen their lead as the game progressed. Inspired by Hromas' gallop, the Mustangs threatened to add another counter in the fourth period, but a determined Chieftain line stood off the attack.

Friday of this week will see one of the most-looked-forward-to games of the season, when the Chiefs will be out to avenge a 1950 loss from the hands of the Farwell Steers.

Tabbing up what has gone on so far this season, most fans are inclined to give the locals at least a two touchdown margin over the Steers, if not more.

Game time Friday night at Farwell will be 6 o'clock, and a good contingent of local rooters are expected to follow the squad for the match.

May Conclude Paving By This Weekend

Hopes were being held the first of this week that paving of residential streets over Friona would be concluded by the last of this week, Roy Wilson, city manager, said on Monday.

Brown & Root crewmen are in the final phases of the work, and providing that damp weather does not interfere with the black-topping, the conclusion of the work is expected by the weekend.

A total of some sixty blocks was originally listed for paving, with some few extras being thrown in, including the paving of a parking strip in front of the local hospital, and a similar strip around local church properties.

Rain slowed down some of the work during the past weekend, but with the advent of clear weather on Monday morning, crews were busy again. Late frost is helping finish up the work, since blacktop is customarily not laid when a freeze is expected.

Legion Working On Membership Drive

Members of the Friona American Legion are working, along with others of the district, on the current membership drive, Roy Wilson, adjutant, reported today, with completion of the special campaign slated for November 11th.

The first of the week Wilson reported an estimated 40 to 50 members signed up, including both new and renewals. Some sort of a special function not yet decided upon, will be held at the conclusion of the drive as a special honor for new members.

Among recent efforts of the Legion, Wilson noted the campaign to secure American flags for the merchants over town, with the merchants cooperating in purchasing the flags which are to be placed around town. The flags will be on display as soon as the staffs arrive, Wilson added.

Fire Station Bids Opened On Monday

Bids on construction of a 32x33 foot building to house Friona's two fire trucks were opened by the city fathers on Monday afternoon, in the office of Roy Wilson, city manager.

Wilson reported on Tuesday that none of the bids had been accepted, due to the fact that the estimates were considered "completely out of line" by local officials.

Lowest bid submitted, he added, was over $9,000 for the small building and that, the manager pointed out, did not include any interior finishing.

Further consideration of the problem of housing the city trucks is to be taken up by officials.

Ag Instructor Will Attend Meeting

J. T. Gee, head of the Friona school vocational agriculture department, is slated to be in Plainview this Saturday, November 3rd, attending the Area 11 meeting of ag men.

The training session for the day is to be held in the Plainview high school with Walter Lebay, area supervisor, in charge. The program will get underway at 9:30 and conclude at the noon hour, it is announced.

Following the special work, team members will have charge of socials honoring new members.

County Agent Receives News On Cattle Grubs

Cattle grubs are profit grabbers, when livestock producers fail to control them. The damage caused by these pests is charged back to the producer in the form of lower prices for beef animals and lower milk production from the dairy cows, according to a news release received by County Agent Joe James this week.

James A. Deer, associate extension entomologist of Texas A & M College says the annual loss to livestock producers from cattle grubs damages amounts to about 65 million dollars. Most of it could be added to the national farm income if cattle producers would control grubs.

Deer recommends the use of a power sprayer—with a pressure of 200 to 400 pounds. Animals should be sprayed while being held in a chute and the spray nozzles should be held no further than four inches from the backs of the animals. If best, he adds, to use a full gallon of spray on each animal and from 10 to 15 seconds are required for making a thorough application.

The spray material should consist of 7½ pounds of 5 percent rotenone dust for each 100 gallons of water. Mix it thoroughly and this is often a rather difficult job because the fine rotenone dust is hard to wet. This mixture, says Deer, is the cheapest and most effective treatment for controlling cattle grubs.

The first application should be made about 3 weeks after the first grubs begin to show up in the backs of animals. Treatment should be repeated at three week intervals for as long as needed. Grubs normally begin making their appearance about this time of the year; however, this will vary with different sections of the state.

A good control job, points out Deer, will mean increased weight for the beef herd and a higher selling price when the animals are marketed. The dairyman with a grub free herd can expect a good increase in milk production. The specialist says local county agents can supply additional information on the when and how parts of a complete cattle grub control program and suggests that livestock producers contact him at an early date.

"Mumbo-Jumbo", mystery comedy in three acts, is the name of the annual senior play to be presented November 21, by the Texico seniors under the direction of Mrs. Agrie Jones, and F. D. Stout, class sponsors.

The play is filled with authentic voodoo folklore as practised in Haiti which has been taken out of the mystic west india jungles and placed in a New England farmhouse, according to class members.

Dick Reynolds and Pee-Wee Smith, two college youths, will be played by Charles Ott and Donal Ingram, while John and Sarah Reynolds, Dick's aunt and uncle, are Kennard Harris and Jane Moss. Margie Reid will be Tweety, a country lass, hired to work for the Reynolds.

Mystery and suspense are provided by Kay Samedy, a beautiful young woman, Neva Sparks, who is under the strange spell of Dr. Omahandra; Andre Palmateer. Mary Hatcher will be a voodoo witch doctor, Madame Clesta, and Vernon Lewis will portray a mysterious blind man, Peter Beamish.

There are three representatives of the law—Miss Emma Burpee, sheriff of Hope County, Koleta Smith; her rival, Lem Marblehead, sheriff of Milburn County, Richard Hapke; and Monahan, a state policeman, played by Agnus Goforth.

Pat Doshier is cast as a ten-year-old brat, Daisy. A frightened old lady, Mrs. Custer, is Bobbie Williams, while Gayle Doolittle plays her polite son, Harold. A hard-boiled chorus girl will be enacted by Marsha Peterson.

"Don't itch for success, scratch for it" was the motto selected by the junior class in a meeting Friday, according to James King, president of the class.

Class colors selected were cherry red and gray. Red rose was chosen as the class flower.

Texico juniors and seniors took tests during five of their class periods Thursday. These tests are New Mexico Statewide High School Tests, arranged for and sent by The Testing Service of the University of New Mexico.

Types of these tests were: Psychological, Reading Comprehension, and Test of Writing Skills.

Principal Fern Stout states that, "These tests will enable the University to select students for scholarships throughout the state. It will also enable the school administration to give recommendations on pupils according to their scholastic promise and ability. It is just an addition to the regular testing program to help us, by way of better guidance."

Texico Freshmen Initiated Tuesday

Next, was a recital of poetry, with Catherine Curd giving "Humpty Dumpty", while Jimmy Don Moss recited "Little Bo Peep".

Following this, were two proposals. Johnny Peterson proposed to Patricia Hatcher, but Nadine Thornton and Kenneth Reid didn't want to be married. As punishment, they were requested to roll potatoes across the floor with their noses.

Next, was overheard a conversation between Jerry Johnson and Bobby Goldsmith; and Rex Harris and Bill Richardson portrayed two ladies discussing home life.

Naomi Hapke, a young gentleman, then called on Wanda Griffin, his lady friend; and Shirley Stover and Howard Leavell ran with their legs tied in a burlap sack.

Agrie Jones, superintendent, gave the program a very happy ending by announcing that school was dismissed until the following Monday, so the teachers could attend the State Teachers Convention.

There are 44 potted plants in Texico school.

JEANNE DUDLEY SPEAKS

Miss Jeanne Dudley, of the State Line Tribune, spoke to members of the Wolverine's staff and their sponsor, Mrs. N. W. Peyton, Thursday.

The purpose of Miss Dudley's talk was to aid the staff in news writing. Points enumerated by Miss Dudley were: how to get news, how to organize facts and then how to construct a story.

Concerning the different types of news stories, Miss Dudley said, "So many things you take for granted can make good features if one will hunt for the background facts."

"Trick Or Treat" Custom Originated 13 Centuries Ago

BY YVONNE HORTON

Do you know why witches, goblins, ghost, fairies and spirits roam on the earth on the night of October 31?

The early meaning of Hallowe'en was "Holy Eve", a time originally set apart to honor the memory of all saints.

About thirteen centuries ago, the day was also celebrated by the pagans as "All Spirits Day".

The Druids also celebrated their harvest festival about this time and performed many strange ceremonies. Even after adopting Christianity, they still observe many of their old customs. Some include consulting the future, which survive today.

The principal object of this was curiosity, to discover who should be one's partner for life. Popular belief ascribed to children born on Hallowe'en was the faculty of perceiving and holding converse with supernatural beings.

Building bonfires, cracking nuts, bobbing for apples and telling of fortunes and ghost stories, present day customs, are all relics of paganism.

When boys and girls, dressed as ghosts, witches, and fairies, come to your door on the night of Oct. 31, and say "Tricks or Treat" remember it is an old custom inherited 13 centuries ago from the Druids.

Chiefs Come Friday Night Seeking To De-Horn Steers

Unless the Farwell Steers can reach deep into a bag of tricks, indications are that they will be victims of their long-time rivals, the Friona Chiefs, on Friday night of this week, when the Chiefs visit on the local grid.

Right now, Farwell is at the bottom of the conference ladder, while Friona shows only one conference loss, to the strong Happy team, and is merrily rolling along in second position and has blasted all recent contenders who sought to oust them. Friona has taken victories this year over Petersburg, Anton, Spring

Lake, Vega and Bovina, losing only twice, to Happy and to Hereford. Contrariwise, the Steers have only two wins, over Melrose and Anton, having absorbed poundings from Spring Lake, Vega, New Deal, Petersburg, and Happy.

Still and all, fans point out, you're never certain of how things may go when the two collide. The Steers rose up from almost certain defeat last year to score in the final minute of play, counted up their conversion and took a surprise 20-19 decision. In 1949, Farwell was also on the long end of the score, coming from behind to win, 25-6.

Coach Tommy Hestand's locals have been stressing defensive play this week, in hopes of being able to handle the explosive Friona ground attack, and the coach said on Wednesday that the boys were expressing considerable determination to "stay in the game", which might prove a factor in the outcome.

One Steer regular will be absent from the lineup, as Ronny Dial is still out of action. Otherwise, the team is in good shape, and will take the field like this: Magness and Joburn, ends; Herington and Pipkin, tackles; Vaughan and Kersey, guards; Dollar, center; Jordan, Rayney Gully and Barber, backs.

The Chieftain lineup will probably include: Allen and Miller at the end positions; Tinney and Haws, tackles; Reeve and Fangman, guards; Cruse, center; Reed, fullback; Cobb and Robason, halfbacks and Robbins, quarterback.

Game time, 8 o'clock.

Yearlings Win Two, Play Here Tonight

The Farwell Yearlings, out-doing their big brothers this year in the matter of football winnings, have chalked up two more victories recently, against the Bovina and Friona junior squads.

Playing at Bovina on the night of the 18th, the Yearlings came out 18-0. Pool scored on a quick opener to draw first blood; later quarterback Watts got through on a sneak play, and Eddie Smith scored the third touchdown. None of the conversion attempts were good.

On Tuesday night of this week the youngsters took a decisive 27-0 count over Friona, in a game there.

Don Gerie, right half, was the hot man for Farwell, going into paydirt four times, with one touchdown being nullified by an offside against Farwell. Two of Gerie's counters came on reverse plays with the third on a pass from Smith. An intercepted pass sent the youngster to the end zone for the fourth time, but the play was no good.

Gene Hardage got the other tally of the evening, on an off-tackle play. Smith carried over for one extra, then passed to Gene Hardage and Poteet for two more points.

Play Amherst Here

The kids will be at it again tonight (Thursday), when the Amherst squad is slated to put in an appearance here, and Coach Shelby Jobs is hoping for a good crowd.

"In case of bad weather, the game will be moved to the afternoon," Jobs said late Wednesday, adding that fans would be notified if a change was in order.

Admission to the game will be 50c for adults and 25c for children.

although it may be well to point out that there is not always absolute safety in issues, with the holder of common stocks the last to be paid in event of failure.

SJR No. 8, the third proposed amendment on the list, deals with authorizing the Legislature to provide for the creation and establishment of rural fire prevention districts, in order to provide that the Legislature may authorize an ad valorem tax not to exceed 50c on the $100 valuation.

Bluntly, this is another tax raising amendment, since a very similar proposal was accepted in 1949 which allows establishment and creation of such fire district as outlined, but limits the tax rate to 3c on the $100 valuation—as compared to 50c on the $100 valuation proposed in the new amendment.

The fourth proposal is concerned with increasing to $100 million the total amount of bonds for use through the Veterans' Land Board. At first glance, the proposal appears good, but Parmer County residents can attest to the fact that limitations on veterans seeking to buy land under the program are such that few vets are able to secure the loan.

According to figures in the Texas Tax Journal, the proceeds from the sale of the first $25,000,000 bonds sold has been used to purchase land in Texas and resold to approximately 4,000 Texas World War II veterans. Average sale of loan to each veteran is around $6,000, which indicates that only one-half of one per cent of the Texas veterans have thus far been aided in their desire to purchase land through the program.

Finally comes the proposal to increase the limitation of funds for needy aged, blind, and children, with the amendment seeking to raise the maximum from $35,000,000 to $42,000,000. Experts point out that while Texas may need more money to carry on its assistance program to the needy, the proposal in its present form omits one vital pre-requisite, that applicants are "actual bona fide citizens of Texas".

Football Squads To Portales, Saturday

The Steers and their small counterparts, the Yearlings, will go to Portales on Saturday, November 3rd, attending the ENMU-Colorado Mines football game, at 2 o'clock.

The teams, along with Coaches Tommy Hestand, Ken Livingston and Shelby Jobs will be guests of the University. They will also witness the band parade and take part in the big barbecue at the college.

Wendell Petree Is Recently Promoted

Wendell Petree, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Petree of this city, has just received his captain's rating in the air force, his mother reports.

Capt. Petree, who is stationed at Lowry Air Force Base in Denver, Colo., has been in service for 10 years. He was graduated from Farwell schools in 1936.
