HOUSE DELAYS ACTION UPON BRIBE CHARGE

Transcript of Testimony To First Be Read By Representatives

BOBBITT TAKES FLOOR

Speaker Charges Accused Solons Are Due For Suspension

AUSTIN, Feb. 7.(AP)—The Texas house of representatives late today voted 67 to 58 to hear a full reading of testimony before acting on today's recommendation of an investigating committee that Reps. F. A. Dale and H. H. Moore, charged with accepting $1000 bribe to influence legislation, be expelled.

Recessing until 8 o'clock tonight the house reconvened and heard testimony read until 10:40 o'clock then recessed until 9 a. m. Tuesday. It is estimated that eight hours will be required to read all the record, covering the committee hearing Friday and Saturday.

Wrangling for hours, at times bitterly, the house became involved in devious parliamentary tangles in the question of what to do with the report. Before the final issue of adoption or rejection got before the house, Speaker R. L. Bobbitt relinquished his chair and charged that certain "dilatory" tactics were making a "third rate criminal court" of the house, while "the legislature and five million Texas people are on trial."

Decision to read the whole transcript of testimony favored several speakers who declared that many members had not heard the testimony and could not be expected to vote intelligently or justly.

Speaker Bobbitt, relinquishing his chair to former Speaker Lee Satterwhite, spoke for more than half an hour, declaring that "the very fact that the accused have not asked suspension of membership during the investigation shows they are guilty."

Printing of the committee report and testimony in the house journal was assured when rules of the house were found to require such. A motion had been made and debated at length as to whether action should be delayed until printing had given all members a chance to examine testimony.

The house accepted an amendment by the committee to make its report provided that separate action can be had with respect to the two accused.

SECOND TRIAL OF DAUGHERTY STARTS TODAY

Jury Selected Monday To Hear Fraud Charge Against Him

MILLER ALSO AT BAR

Defalcation in Disposal Of Alien Property Cases Is Claimed

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—For the second time in five months Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, have been put on trial for defrauding the United States of their honest and unbiased services.

The jury that will hear the evidence in the second trial was elected today after the defense had exhausted its 10 challenges and the government had used all but one of its six. Thirty talesmen were called before the jury was sworn in at 5:15. A number were rejected by the court for cause, several having formed opinions of the case, and others being ill or exempt for other reasons.

Fraud Charged

Daugherty and Miller are charged with defrauding the government of their best services in connection with the transfer to Richard Merton, German agent of the Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs de Mateaux, the $7,000,000 assets of the American Metal company seized as enemy-owned property during the war. The assets were sold, and in their stead their approximate value in cash and liberty bonds were paid to Merton.

Merton testified at the first trial that he paid John T. King, late national republican committeeman from Connecticut, $91,000 in liberty bonds and $50,000 in cash for his aid and use of his influence at Washington in procuring the transfer. He said the $441,000 was a commission. The government alleged it was a bribe and was "split" by Daugherty, his handyman, Jess W. Smith, Miller and King. Miller and Smith were mentioned in the indictments but Smith committed suicide and King died before the first trial.

Aaron Sapiro Enters

Miller brought a new attorney for the second trial, Aaron Sapiro, of Chicago and San Francisco, replacing Colonel William Rand. Daugherty retained his former counsel, Max D. Steuer, but Steuer did not appear in court today. Harold Corbin, an associate of Steuer, took up Daugherty's defense. John C. Knox replaced Judge Julian W. Mack, who heard the first case, which ended in a disagreement.

Examination of jurors, which occupied the court's attention for the whole day, revealed that defense counsel feared that the novel "Revelry," written by Samuel Hopkins Adams, might have influenced the jurors. Every talesman was asked if he had read the book, and prospective foreman who said he had read it was challenged by Daugherty's counsel. The novel deals with social and political aspects of Washington life. Corbin branded it "insiduous fiction," and United States Attorney Buckner concurred in that characterization of the book.

6 Days On Stand

Some of the 83 witnesses the government called for the first trial were on hand today. Richard Merton, chief government witness, was ready to take the stand. It took him six days to give his testimony at the first trial.

Daugherty and Miller occupied the same chairs they sat in during the first trial. Both seemed in good spirits.

His Discovery of Humanity's Cradle Described by Roy Chapman Andrews

Knife and Fork Club Hears Noted Explorer and Elects New Officers For 1927

In an illustrated lecture before the Knife and Fork club last night at the Wichita Club, Roy Chapman Andrews, chief curator in Asiatic research for the American Museum of Natural history, virtually carried his audience on a voyage over the barren, wind-swept sand dunes of Mongolia, Central Asia. Andrews, who is internationally famous for his remarkable discoveries in prehistoric animal life graphically told of the earliest forms of animal life, tracing it, as well as human ancestry, to its present state.

The party of 47 which made the last journey represented seven branches of science and brought back information from an unexplored portion of the globe which is considered invaluable, Andrews stated.

Mr. Andrews told in detail of the methods of travels used by the party, and how they conquered the famous desert in American made automobiles.

Story of Fossils

Going on to the subject of searching for fossils Mr. Andrews explained the methods used in finding the specimens. The digging is not done blindly, the speaker declared, but on the contrary digging is never started unless the hunters are practically certain that fossils are present. The walls of a cliff were shown on the screen which were explained to be the edge of a great plateau and along the bank bones of animals were found, where they had been buried thousands of years before. Such evidence as that warrants exploring the plateau farther away from the edge, Andrews said.

Dinosaur Eggs

"The thrilling discovery of 14 dinosaur eggs was made quite accidentally, however. Another member of the party and I were strolling along at the base of a cliff,

The delegation which will call on Governor Moody will be composed of men representing both legal and business interests of this section, and will include representatives of the counties named in the appeals court bill. The bill is now before Governor Moody awaiting his approval. Judge Huff is chairman of the committee.

ARCHER GETS NEW PRODUCER

Consolidated Test Swabs Out 18 Barrels Hour

Flowing and swabbing at the rate of 18 barrels per hour, the Consolidated Oil company and Underwood Drilling company's joint test, No. 1 Ward, is the most remarkable producer brought in from the shallow sand in southeast Archer county in several months. This test is located in the T. E. & L. survey, No. 1379 and is southeast of the pool discovery brought in recently in the Consolidated-Marland No. 1 Ward.

The sand was topped at 1017 feet which is six feet higher than it was encountered in the discovery. After drilling just a few feet of the rich pay the hole filled with oil and later made a flow. It was swabbed when the sand had been penetrated four feet and started off at the rate of 430 barrels daily.

This horizon is thought to be an extension of the Eagle pool approximately six miles northeast and brightens the outlook for a vast undrilled territory as well as a portion of dry hole country.

The Consolidated-Marland-Underwood No. 2 was drilling below 950 feet yesterday and expecting the pay last night. Four new locations were made yesterday with the completion of the prize well which will be equipped for pumping today.

NO CASUALTIES IN ATTACK ON U. S. CITIZENS

Vessels Carrying Americans Down Yangtzo River Fired Upon

HUNDREDS IN DANGER

Many Americans Isolated In Interior Communities Of China

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Chinese soldiers have fired upon American refugees, fleeing from the interior provinces, the State Department announced today.

The Americans were on board two small vessels, making their way down the Yangtze river.

Consul Frank P. Lockhart, at Hankow, who cabled the report said no casualties were reported. His message indicated that several hundred Americans who failed to seek refuge at treaty ports are now completely cut off from the outside world.

Americans In Danger.

Because of the danger of attack, Lockhart reported that Americans must cease travelling on the Yangtze river which is the only outlet to the coast from Hankow and other points in the hinterland.

The vessels fired upon were the Iping and Chilai, belonging to the Yangtze Rapids Steamship company. They were proceeding from Chung-King to Ichang last Friday. Both cities are several hundred miles beyond Hankow on the Yangtze, and travel on this part of the river is practically impossible, Lockhart reported.

He also declared that transportation from Hankow down the river to Shanghai and other ports is "very inadequate" and becoming increasingly difficult.

Interior Cut Off.

With the rival armies of the Cantonese and northern war lords massed in this territory and engaged in battle, it is believed here that the interior of China will be practically cut off from the coast until a decisive engagement is fought and one or the other faction assumes complete control.

Because of the danger that the fighting may envelope Shanghai itself, it was believed that Americans at Hankow and other interior points may be a safer haven for refugees than the Shanghai foreign settlement.

Meanwhile state department officials anxiously awaited replies from the contending military leaders on the American proposal to have the international concession at Shanghai removed from the zone of fighting by agreement on both sides. It was believed that formal answers will be received here about Wednesday or Thursday.

Marines Are Ready.

Until then, this government will withhold its plans for the protection of its nationals in China, although it was indicated that under no circumstances will American ships and Marines be withdrawn from Chinese waters.

The use of armed force in China by this government was condemned in a note received today by the Federal Council of Churches from 147 American missionaries at Nanking. The note said in part:

"We hope the state department will endorse proposals for negotiation of new treaties and adopt procedures of conciliation in China.

Fiendish Cruelty Ends In Death Of Victim In New York Gang Strife

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.(AP)—The body of a man believed to have been the victim of underworld vengeance and who apparently was forced to strangle himself to death after his tongue was slit and he was sewn up in two coffee sacks, was found in Eighth street today. He was unknown to police.

Investigation showed that the man had been beaten before death, one eye was blackened, but the only wound was in the tongue, which had been split to the root. This mutilation, police said, is the accepted underworld method of punishing those who have used their tongues to tell tales.

The victim's hands had been tied behind him with a sash cord and the string then taken upward and looped about the throat in a noose. After this, detectives believed, the man had been sewn up in the sacks and thrown into the street, his torturers knowing that his struggles to regain his freedom would result only in drawing the noose tighter and tighter until he had choked himself to death.

At The

Civic Clubs

"Blue" Monday—
On Rose Gardens—
What a Shock—
Noble Welcome—

By BLONDY CROSS

Overlooking an occasional ripple caused by one or two exceptionally ambitious humans, considering it was the usual "blue" Monday, Kiwanis rambled through their weekly lunch session at the Kemp in characteristic civic club manner—that is, there was very little stirring, in fact, nothing whatsoever to disturb the equanimity of this august assemblage.

Bill McKenzie, the poloist, arrived late but managed to get filled up just as quickly as the rest. For that matter, Grover Monroe and several other came tagging in tardy but didn't miss anything.

Tools To Chair

Our old friend Cap Langford, Henry's right bower, was present and indulged in a seemingly heated monotone discussion with Dave Paul—probably matters of state. The debate was so much of the whispered-whisper type none of the rest of the gathering got in on the know.

Norman Downing, booked for a classification address, harangued the crowd on something, all the while diagramming away on a large slice of paper. After so long a time it became apparent he was talking about a rose garden, or something similar, on the vacant lot next door, 50 feet by 75, with a ting-a-ma-jig in the middle and hedges on three sides. Whereupon Cap upped and departed. Roses and Fords apparently have very little if anything, in common.

But when Monroe caught the drift he displayed sufficiently heavy interest to perk his ears and climb into a chair from which vantage point he gathered all words that followed and saw the chart the better.

Charley Watson hoked Prez Grover Bullington into giving him the glad hand publicly and announcing that he (Charley) had driven overland from Los Angeles in four days and a half. Nobody seemed to believe him (Charley).

Frank Startles 'em

Then Frank Quesiser grabbed the floor and startled half the club into wakefulness by springing the word "reciprocity" on it. Several of the boys seemingly knew what the word means but were not so sure what Quesiser was talking about. The words "boxing match," "Tommy White and Clyde Hull" and "Thursday night" were picked out from the discourse at random, so draw your own conclusion what the message was.

G. Pond paged one M. Ellis and then the club, rather, three or four of it, vocalized on its old standby, that "I want a Girl——" song.

McKemie, John Barnard, Don Haines and a few others single males, by request, stood up and tried to sing it (Note: Mr. Printer, be sure to say TRIED).

Aid Needed

After which Doc Wilson and J. B. Nail, eye, ear, nose, throat specialists and all that kind of stuff, were asked to give aid but didn't.

Walter Caldwell uttered a noble welcome address and charge to a couple of new members, Paul Pearson and Paul Stokes.

Mrs. Roy Kirkwood, accompanied by Miss Vivian Bailey, played a brace of violin solos that went across neatly.

There were several guests, Louis Franklin, J. M. Spoonts, T. P. Burton and M. D. Putty.

She's a Modern Pied Piper

Rat killing is this pretty young woman's specialty. Like all other women, she's an enemy to rats and mice, but unlike most of them, she's not afraid of the rodents. This introduces Miss Helen Caldwell of Huntington, W. Va., who today opens a 10-day campaign as a modern Pied Piper in Wichita Falls.

A modern Pied Piper, who differs from the legendary rodent destroyer of Hamlin in that the means of elimination is not a tuneful flute but a poison formula, and who furthermore happens to be a pretty girl, has come to Wichita Falls.

This sworn enemy of rats and mice is Miss Helen Caldwell of Huntington, W. Va., who, with her kids, Miss Evelyn Waggar of Forest River, North Dakota, is to conduct a 10-day information school for Wichita Falls denizens.

Exhibiting an endorsement of her work in form of a letter from J. H. Patton, Wichita Falls sanitary commissioner, Miss Caldwell is to conduct a campaign of the entire business district to give instructions in elimination of rodents by use of barium carbonate mixed with any sort of food a rat will eat, she announced Monday night. She will begin her drive against the rat pests in the business section of the city Tuesday morning, she said.

The formula used by Miss Caldwell in one tablespoonful of barium carbonate to three or four tablespoonsful of food such as attracts rodents.

"Fifty cents worth of the poison, which can be obtained at any drug store in the city, properly mixed with food and placed where the rats will get it, will exterminate all rodents in the average sized home," Miss Caldwell said.

"Where poultry, dogs and cats are liable to feast on the poisoned food, the concoction should be placed in boxes in which holes have been cut to permit rats to enter," she warned.

Leahy's Case To Jury Today

Arguments Will Be Finished Tuesday Morning

By Universal Service.

GEORGETOWN, Feb. 7.—Sometime tomorrow a Williamson county jury composed mostly of farmers, will receive the case of Harry J. Leahy, charged by indictment with the slaying of Dr. J. A. Ramsey, aged Mathis physician last May.

Before darkness envelopes the courthouse, the accused man may know his fate. Arguments which began this afternoon will continue Tuesday, and if each side uses the six hours allowed them, it is probable the arguments will not be finished before late afternoon.

N. M. Crain, of Cuero, special prosecutor, opened for the state after Judge Samson had given his charge to the jury. Supplementing the main charge, a special charge was made by the judge at the request of the defendant. This charge was "one accomplice witness cannot corborate another accomplice witness."

Martin Arnold, of San Antonio, defense attorney was followed by District Attorney Harry Dolan.

E. L. Lawson of Taylor, will continue the defense arguments tomorrow. Following Lawson, A. C. Hartman, special prosecutor of Cuero, will argue for the state.

Richard Crits, of Taylor, will close for the defense and H. N. Graves of this city will close for the state.

"Either send this man to the electric chair or turn him loose," has been the cry of the state since the trial began last week. And for hours today they pleaded for the chair while defense counsel made impassioned pleas for acquittal.

Leahy was first tried at Georgetown where he was given a prison term of 50 years.

My companion quickly set out to obtain a closer view of the nest and ascended the cliff, going above the nest. He looked down and saw it was a piece of an egg and an investigation revealed that 14 were there, most of which were unbroken."

"The first dinosaur eggs were discovered in 1923 and we have been asked many times if we expected to find them. We certainly did not expect to find them. In fact we were not certain that dinosaurs laid eggs but since their discovery we have become certain that they are dinosaur eggs for the simple reason that we have found several small dinosaurs in them."

Hunting Is Fine

Although human ancestry can be traced back about 100,000 years in Central Asia, it is believed to be the place of origin of the human family. Skeletons and skulls were found which are thought to have been of members of the Turki tribes which inhabited the area just before the Mongols, but instruments were found which plainly show the development from the neolithic and even the paleolithic ages, from generation to generation until the desert began to dry up and the people moved away.

Property Owners Protest Lower Street Grade; Paving Projects Approved

Charging that the city street department had damaged their property by changing the grade of North Lamar avenue from Wichita to North Brook street, 25 property owners protested the proposed paving of that section of the street in a public hearing before the city council Monday night.

They were represented by Luther Hoffman, who told the city council that an excavation five and a half feet deep in parts had been dug in the street, and that it had greatly lowered the value of the abutting property.

F. M. Rugeley, city engineer, explained that it had been planned to use this street as a water drain for that section of the city, and that only one other street would be excavated to that depth.

The hearing was continued for two weeks, and the city commissioners and Mayor R. E. Shepherd decided to investigate the matter Wednesday morning.

Public hearings on three other paving projects were closed and the paving ordered. They are: Taylor street, from Avenue M to the Wichita Valley railroad tracks; Bridwell street, from Ardath to Speedway avenues, and North street from North Brook to North Broadway.

The hearing on Twelfth street from the Wichita Valley railroad tracks to Ohio avenue was continued until next Monday night.

Rheumatism Can't Be Rubbed Away

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S. S. S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a breaking out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now this has disappeared, and I am sure that it was S. S. S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Texas.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—Adv.

MARGERY
from the depths of whose grief-stricken heart comes this lonely cry.

"John Devignet still pleads with me to marry him and let him take me away from the hills and the drudgery of teaching in the little mission school, but it seems to me that the decision has been taken from my hands by fate. I want to go with him—oh, God, I'd give my soul to go, for I love him with every fibre of my being, but I can't drive away the picture of George's wistful, ashen, hopeless, pleading face, across that tawny current of spray and logs.

"I've tried to forget, but the memory clings inovividly. Is it that I must sacrifice my happiness in atonement for the crime that I have done?"

IN True Story Magazine for March appears the most powerful true story ever written.

It is a tale so outstandingly different, so virile, so potent with truth and life and love and conflict, so deeply moving, so powerfully compelling that by unanimous decision of the judges it was awarded the first prize in the mammoth $50,000 true story contest recently conducted by True Story Magazine in which upwards of fifty thousand manuscripts were received from all over the world.

A Tale of the Cumberland Mountains

It is a story of the city and of the wilderness. Of a gently reared girl accustomed to the refinement and culture of genteel city life set abruptly down amid the Kentucky lumber camps, there to be swept off her feet, blinded to the realities of life, by forces over which she had no control. Of a community of rough-hewn mountain folk rent asunder by the coming among them of a girl whose sweet dignity and reserve, whose stylish mode of dress, everything about her so different from the girls they knew, aroused in the hearts of the river men and lumber jacks a raging storm of conflict.

A tale of rushing, log-jammed streams. Of primitive passions surging in the breasts of men who feared neither God, nor man, nor devil. Who constantly courted violent death as a part of each day's work. A tale of tears and blood and tragedy, of hate and love and jealousy. Of a titanic battle for a bewildered woman's heart. While over all hung the dread menace of the double-bitted ax, one blade of which was red. It is entitled "Stronger Than Death."

GEORGE ELLIS

Tall, diffident with strangers, slow of speech, this "Boss" of the lumbermen was also big and handsome. And one of the most fearless, most daring men that ever swung an ax or rode the logs in the boiling current of the treacherous river. His word was law among his men. But could he make it carry weight with a woman—and such a woman as Margery?

The Author says:

"Stronger Than Death" is an account of the tragic experience that befell a dear friend when she, a girl of culture and refinement, accepted the position as teacher in a mission school deep in the fastnesses of the Cumberland Mountains.

"I have written in the first person, first because the rules of the contest require that all stories submitted be in the first person, and second because I have set it down so nearly the way she herself told it to me that I feel justified in presenting it as coming from her own lips."

Wm. Sutherland

The Author A World War Veteran

Written by Mr. H. M. Sutherland, world war veteran and resident of a Virginia town in the foot-hills of the Cumberland Mountains, it is the tragic drama that befell one of his dearest friends. Margery, about whom the story revolves, did not feel that she could do the story justice. The events were all too recent—so close that her perspective was lost. But she told it all to Mr. Sutherland. And he in turn, using rare discrimination out of his sympathy and understanding, has set down what is without doubt the most powerful true story ever written. Not a pretty story. Powerful stories rarely are. But a deeply moving story, a gripping story, an epic tale told just as it was lived. Easily the outstanding story of all the fifty thousand received in the greatest true story contest ever conducted. You will find it in True Story Magazine for March, now on sale, at all newsstands.

MODISH MITZI

By JAY V. JAY

"Tailored suits are always important in spring," Mitzi is telling the Goofer, "but this season they are more important than ever. That's why I had three sent home on approval. Do you like this one with the oxford jacket and the checked skirt?" The Goofer does, of course.

But then he likes this one, too, made of twill with the very short jacket that is smartest, a blouse to harmonize and a skirt that has a single pleat on one side. "If you are going to like them all," says Mitzi, "you are going to ruin my allowance for the month!"

This settles it. This one is best. The mannish coat and the tailored blouse and waistcoat are most becoming to Mitzi. It takes a very feminine young woman to wear mannishly cut styles well. Will Mitzi have tea in and in honor of her new suit? Right Away?

Mitzi will, but as she explains to the Goofer, no one is really wearing spring suits abroad these days without the protection of a coat and, of course, if it was the suit he wanted to take to tea she will give him the suit—it looks as though there were trouble ahead.

WHEN KIDNEYS HURT CONSULT YOUR DOCTOR

Drink Lots of Water All Day And Take Salts If Back Aches

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle.

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Texan, Too Ill To Laugh, Now Happy, Healthy Again

San Antonio Police Officer, Wrecked In Health And Spirits, For Many Months "Forgot How to Laugh." Tanlac Toned up His System, Gave Him Back Glowing, Radiant Health

Officer A. Valdes is well known in San Antonio, Texas, and lives at 2015 San Luis St. Speaking of this distressing experience, he said: "For many months I was rundown by stomach trouble and acute indigestion. My weight dropped from 170 to 135 lbs. in that time. Biliousness, constipation and dizzy headaches combined to keep me in misery. My liver, too, was sluggish and gave me a lot of trouble.

"Just as a policeman stops a law-breaker, Tanlac arrested all those troublesome symptoms and drove them out of my system. And they haven't come back. I'm feeling as energetic and strong as an officer of the law should be. My wife, too, has been helped greatly by Tanlac. She and I are enjoying the best health of our whole lives. I'm up to 176 lbs. now—a gain of 41 lbs!"

Glowing health is the birthright of every man and woman. Overwork and neglect are the enemies of health. If they have sapped your vitality, build it back with Tanlac. It is nature's own remedy, made from roots, barks and herbs. Your druggist has it. Get a trial bottle today. Over 42 million bottles sold.—Adv.

Why Be Jealous of Dead Woman Dorothy Dix Tells Wife No. Two

Sound Advice to Wife No. 2, Who is Jealous of Her Dead Rival—How a Girl Can Make Marriage A Success.

Dear Miss Dix—Six years ago I married a widower whom I loved dearly and who is everything that is good and kind and generous to me. We have a beautiful home and I have everything to make me happy, except one thing that hangs like a black cloud over me and is breaking my heart.

My husband's first wife died twelve years ago and it is his custom to visit her grave and place flowers upon it—forget-me-nots in summer and just before cold weather sets in a wreath of evergreens bearing the words: "My Amy." He often sits on a bench beside her grave for hours reading some book she was fond of during her life. Is this fair to me for him to show this love for his first wife?

Please advise me what to do, as I have worried over it until my health is failing.

THE SECOND WIFE.

Answer—My advice to you is to try to look at the matter fairly and squarely instead of taking a distorted view of it through eyes clouded green with jealousy.

What do you want? Would you admire your husband more if he was so greatly lacking in loyalty that he could forget the woman who was the wife of his youth, the mother of his children; who worked and struggled with him and helped build up his fortune? Would you think better of him if he put her underground as casually as one might an old work horse that was dead, and if he left her grave neglected, unvisited, with not a flower to show that the one who lay there had been loved and was still remembered?

Would you like to know that if you should die your husband would never visit your last resting place, that he would bring no blossom to lay upon it, that he would never sit there and think over the dear old days when you had been happy together?

Well, what's in a man's nature is fundamental. What he was to one wife he will be to another. If it was out of sight out of mind with his first wife it would be that way with you. So roll that in your cigarette and smoke it.

Summon some common sense and justice to your aid. When you married your husband you knew that he was a widower. You knew that he had been happily married and that he had loved his wife. How unfair it is of you to resent that love and expect him to wipe all memories of it from his mind as one washes off a slate! Such a thing is not possible.

You would have a right to feel agrieved if your husband was continually throwing his first wife in your face, if he criticised you and held her up as a model of perfection, or if he made comparisons between her charms and virtues and your own. But he doesn't do this. He only visits her grave occasionally.

Believe me, my dear lady, you are going out of your way to borrow trouble. If your husband were running after some flapper you would have cause for jealousy, but if all that he does is to go to the cemetery and sit by his first wife's grave you are lucky.

For there is no rival so little to be feared as a dead one, and your husband loves you none the less because he still has a place in his heart for the memory of the wife who has passed on.

The best way to exercise the evil spirit that has taken possession of you is to make a pilgrimage yourself to her grave and lay a tribute upon it. For the second wife owes a real debt of gratitude to the first wife who has not only helped to build up the fortune she is enjoying but who has trained her husband into knowing how to treat a wife.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young girl thinking of getting married, but the married women frightened me off. They say: "Oh, all men are so sweet until they get you, then they change." They say that a husband gets grouchy and unendurable. Don't you think in lots of cases the wife is as much to blame as the husband? They forget that women get grouchy and sloppy-looking, too. I may be fooled, but I intend to make a stab at it, and if I fail I will be a good loser. What do you think?

A. B. C.

Answer—Right you are, A. B. C. Because some marriages turn out failures is no reason why yours should.

Virtually every marrige starts out with all the potentialities of success in it and when it turns out a failure it is because a man and a woman, through stupidity and selfishness, bungled it.

If men and women put as much real intelligence and effort in trying to make their marriages a go as they do in trying to make a success of their business or to be popular in society, there would be mighty few divorces.

So don't be afraid to get married. You can make of your marriage what you will.

PILLOW FIGHTS.

I caught the twins red-handed,
At nine o'clock last night,
Raising havoc in their room
With a feather-pillow fight.

But as I raised a hand to halt
The wild, forbidden sport,
A memory of a pillow-war,
Long-ended, caught me short.

My cousin Bill and I once wrecked
Three tables and a bed,
Smashed chandeliers and stood the house
Completely on its head!

And suddenly, the twins' affair
Seemed lamentably mild.
"You should have seen the fights," I said,
"When mother was a child!"

Woman's Day Of Work and Play

Training the Child

The greatest kindness to a child is to teach him correct table manners at an early age. Carelessness in this respect may lead to embarrassment later on, and there is nothing as satisfactory to a mother as to be able to feel that she can take her children any place and know that they will be perfect as to behavior.

First of all, they should be taught to sit erect and not to wiggle all over their chairs. They should learn to take small mouthfuls and to keep their lips closed while chewing. Frequent use of the napkin should be encountered. Teach them that after using a knife and fork the knife should be laid on the plate and the fork transferred to the right hand.

After this, the child must be taught to eat certain foods with his fork that he has hitherto eaten with a spoon. Vegetables, for instance, should be eaten with a fork. As children eat a great deal of soup they may as well learn to do it properly, sipping it without any sound from the side of the spoon. When bread is passed they must learn to break it in pieces before eating it, buttering a small piece at a time.

Good manners, like good clothing, shouldn't be noticeable, and a child should be taught to efface himself at the table as much as possible. Many a person of good background has grown to manhood with his knife and fork leaning against his plate and we know one man who lost the girl he wanted to marry because he bent over his plate too far!

Criticism of Sex

"Too many fat women have fat minds," says Lady Barrett, president of the Medical Women's International association. "Half the trouble in middle age with women is due to lack of mental stimulation. Mental exercise is just as necessary to women as it is to men. Men have their work to occupy their minds and women need something, too."

VOICE OF THE WEST

AND the Voice of the West is heard under the dome and in the capitol corridors and banquet halls of capital city hotels. It was heard when the West Texas Chamber of Commerce entertained the Franklin Webster club and 150 invited guests. It was heard when Arthur B. Duggan, president of the West Texas Chamber, told of the glories of West Texas; brilliant women of West Texas and a stately senator from the Alpine mountains and a gray and grim visaged editor from the Vale of Vapora presented magnificent floral offerings to the first West Texas woman ever called to the executive mansion to be its mistress.

It was heard when Cowboy McDonald sang the old songs of the range and was a tremendous hit of the affair and it was heard at the close after the goyernor had made a speech when all concerned congratulated Mrs. Homer D. Wade for that which they declared the finest program and a most pleasurable event ever given under the auspices of the Franklin Webster club.

There were skits, but why mention them. They were not the telling points, the outstanding efforts or events of the night. Just the caviar that added an appetizing touch to the huge sandwich called the annual offering of the Voice of the West speaking through its Chamber of Commerce to a club composed of newspaper writers who are not lawmakers and newspaper men who are lawmakers, organized six years ago, and carried on by Senator Joe Moore as president. Ray Holden as secretary and the red-headed governor as official wood toter and water bucket carrier.

MAKING THE FARMER RICH

NOW it is said that the farmer is to be relieved of his woes by the enactment of a statute. This time through the agency of a bill sent through the senate providing that liens on crops of members of Farmers Co-Operative Marketing associations must be collected through the association. Love of Dallas and Hardin of Erath are responsible for the innovation and Bowers of Caldwell is responsible for an amendment to the original bill which specifies chattel mortgages, landlord's liens and liens of persons furnishing money for the growing crops shall not be impaired. There is an army of tenants or croppers. They must have land to till and the landlord must furnish it. They must have money to operate and the banker must furnish it. They must have food and other supplies to carry them through and the merchants must furnish the same. They get theirs first.

ANOTHER COURT FOR THE WEST

COURTS are created and organized owing to the population as well as the increase in the number of litigants. Wichita Falls has been selected as the site or headquarters of the new Twelfth District Court of Civil Appeals. This district comprises Montague, Clay, Wichita, Archer, Young, Baylor, Knox, Wilbarger, Hardeman and Foard counties. It is in the heart of the Mid-Continent oil producing field. Senator W. D. McFarlane of Young county introduced the bill in the upper house, and Representative Daniel a similar measure in the lower house. In the senate rapid action was taken and the bill creating the court was sent to the lower house where Representative Daniel made an appeal for its passage without amendment. Is the west growing? Is it coming into its own? Ask the politicians in other sections.

VICTORY FOR THE MEN

THIS is the age of the cow and the sow and the hen. Senator W. C. Woodward had a bill enacted authorizing the formation of corporations to engage in the that the poultry business is looking up in Texas. It was passed finally by a vote of 110 to 0. This shows that the poultry business is looking up in Texas. It shows something else, that the value of the hen as a dividend maker is winning recognition. In future the hen is to make the money for the people and the mocking bird is to do their singing.

REDUCE THE WORKING HOURS

STATE COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE GEORGE B. TERRELL has submitted to legislative friends a plan to reduce the cotton acreage crop. He would apply the eight-hour law to all cotton farmers. Commissioner Terrell says his plan is sound legally, sound morally and physically, and that its application would result into sweeping reduction in cotton acreage. It is said there will be a carry-over of 9,000,000 bales on August 1, 1927, and that a crop this year beyond the 11,000,000 bale mark will bring abject poverty to the growers. If this is true, why not a four-hour work day for the farmer instead of an eight-hour?

TIGERS OF THE SEA

TIGERS OF THE SEAS, 1200 officers and marines boarded a transport at San Francisco and sailed for China. They are on their way to the flowery kingdom to protect the lives and property of Americans. Is this treason to the flag? Is it an invasion of China or an abrogation of the rights of the people of China? This for the pacifists and other prayerful people who are ever finding fault with the government of their own country and the determined efforts of their own officials to make the flag respected wherever it may float.

The HOLLYWOOD GIRL

By Beatrice Burton

"Love Bound," "Her Man," "Honey Lou," Etc.

READ THE FIRST:

BOBBIE RANSOM, a school teacher of 22, is "movie struck," and sure she can make a success in pictures. Failing to borrow the money she needs to take her to Hollywood from both her widowed father and her AUNT GERTRUDE she asks ANDREW JERROLD to lend it to her. But Andy, a young automobile salesman, who's in love with her and wants her to stay at home and marry him, refuses. She gives him back his ring, borrows the money from her future step-mother, the WIDOW PARKINS, and starts for Hollywood with a high heart and a full purse.

At MRS. MANGAN'S boarding house, she meets an extra in the movies, STELLA DELROY. Through Stella, she gets some work at the Magnifica Studios, where ROY SCHULTZ, a famous director, takes great interest in her for a few days, and then forgets her. However she becomes fast friends with LOTTIE, his wife. Schultz's assistant director, GUS MacCLOUD, falls in love with her and she with him.

But when she learns that he's married, she tells him she'll see no more of him until he is free from the wife who is divorcing him. But later her lonliness and longing for him got the better of her, and she starts to see him again, but won't let him make love to her. He keeps promising to give her a good part in a picture as soon as he gets one of his own to direct.

Stella, discouraged when she is disfigured by burns in a studio fire, kills herself and leaves behind her a note that tells about her unhappy love affair with Gus, yours before. But her death makes little impression upon Gus. While Bobbie is out of town during a trip home when her Aunt Gertrude dies, he begins to run around with MONICA MONT, a gold-digger movie actress who boards at Mrs. Mangan's. Bobbie returns to Hollywood, to find Monica triumphant with a good part in a picture. She moves to a flat of her own, taking some of Bobbie's clothe swith her. And later Bobbie misses two of the dim old diamonds her aunt had left her, when Gus offers to lend her money on them and on a bracelet given her by Andy. She goes to Monica, who she is sure took them but Monica hotly denies it. Gus lends Bobbie money on Andy's bracelet and urges her to stay in Hollywood for six months more.

Half discouraged, she makes up her mind to stay that long and try to make some headway in pictures. She wonders why Gus, whos ewife has divorced him, tells her how much he loves her, and yet doesn't ask her to marry him. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV

Nothing happened for a week. That is, nothing of any importance to Bobbie and her career of a motion picture actress. Not a telephone call from the house on the hill where Lottie Schultz and her famous husband lived. Not a word from Gus MacCloud.

Then, on Saturday afternoon everything began to happen at once. Things often do, in just that way.

At 4 o'clock Bobbie was coming slowly up Las Palmas street towards Mrs. Mangan's house with her arms full of little bundles—a quarter of a pound of butter, a pat of peanut butter, six poppy seed rolls, some bologna in a greasy gray paper wrapping, a half pint of cream, a half pound of coffee in a red sack.

This was the food that was to last her over Sunday.

She had began to dread Sundays of late. They were gray dull deserts of time and not at all like the Sundays at home that had begun with breakfast and church, and ended with a drive and supper with Andy Jerrold.

She seldom saw Gus on Sundays. He always went to the studio for several hours on Sunday, and often spent the whole day there. To him and to Roy Schultb Sunday seemed to be a working day just like Monday or Tuesday.

"I wonder if they really spend all that time at Magnifica or not," Bobbie mused, remembering the story Lottie Schultz had told her abou their wild party at Monica's little flat.

She was half-ashamed of herself for distrusting Gus, especially when he seemed so much in love with her. But she was.

Not only that, but she knew she never had fully trusted him. There was so much of the male flirt in him—and then, did a woman ever trust a really handsome man? A man who was as attractive to the opposite sex as Gus was?

"I always trusted Andy Jerrold," she said to herself, "and he was every bit as good looking as Gus. But he just wasn't the kind that chases women, I guess, and Gus is. That's the difference." Then she suddenly remembered that new secretary of Andy's. The one that was so wonderful and such a "speed merchant," and she frowned.

"But, of course, I don't love him," she thought. "Not a bit, really."

A motorcycle came sagging past her, on its way up the street. Idly she watched it, and then all at once she quickened her step and her eyes brightened. It had stopped in front of Mrs. Mangan's house, and a messenger boy hopped down from it and hurried up the front walk.

From where she was, Bobbie could see the letter that he carried in his hand—a long narrow white one. The kind that Andy Jerrold used.

By the time she reached the house he had left it, and was off down the street on his bike. She opened the mail box and found not only Andy's letter but a small square box with a "special delivery" stamp upon it. It was postmarked "Los Angeles."

Bobbie turned it over and over in her hand, wondering who could have sent it to her. The address was typewritten, and it looked as if it might contain some delightful gift or other. It was that kind of a package.

Then a sudden though struck her. Perhaps Gus was returning Andy's bracelet to her! Or perhaps he had bought her some trinket. He knew her weakness for pretty frivolous things. Beads or perfumery or a pair of big pearl earrings to screw into the soft rosy lobes of her lively little ears.

She tore off the paper wrapping, and opened the box. It was a soiled white pasteboard box, and upon the cotton within it reposed Aunt Gertrude's brooch! The "dirty" diamond in it winked up at her like watery eyes.

"For cat's sake!" she cried aloud in her astonishment, shaking the brooch out into the palm of her hand.

She knew, of course, that Monica must have repented of her evil-doing, and decided to send them back. Or perhaps she had been afraid that Bobbie would set a detective on her trail—on her trail and the trail of the missing diamonds.

And yet she couldn't be absolutely sure that Monica had taken the brooch. She had no proof of it, and yet she knew that she had, somehow.

"Anyway, I have it back," she thought, slipping it into the pocket of her serge dress that was becoming very shabby and as shiny as glass at the elbows. "So I may as well wipe the whole thing off the slate and foget it."

She would never speak of the brooch to Monica, she made up her mind. For after all, Monica was what she was — and she couldn't help being Monica Mont, gold-digging, slangy, cheaply clever, any more than a spider could help being a spider.

"Poor thing!" Bobbie went on thinking. "She probably never had anyone to teach her right from wrong." For ever since she had heard Monica speak in that common, gutter-snipe way the other day, she had known exactly what kind of a girl Monica was. Probably she had come from some back-alley slum somewhere, and pulled herself up from its depths.

And it certainly was something in her favor that she had sent back the brooch.

"Now, I can sell it to Gus. Or at least borrow some money on it," she said to herself. "I'll telephone him as soon as I've read Andy's letter."

Andy's letter. A warm glow of happiness spread over Bobbie as she tore open the long narrow envelope. It was good to hear from him. It was almost like the sound of a voice from home in her ears, the touch of a warm friendly hand on her shoulder.

"And yet I don't love Andy. Not a bit really," she thought. "But I do like him—more than I like anybody."

That was it. She liked Andy, but she loved Gus MacCloud.

To like a person you had to admire him, respect him, trust him. And she respected and trusted Andy.

But love, it seemed, had nothing to do with admiration, respect, and trust. It was a feeling that thrilled you when you thought of the person you were in love with. And you didn't even have to look up to him in order to love him. You loved him in spite of his faults.

At least that was the way Bobbie Ransom figured the thing out for herself on a February afternoon with Andy Jerrold's letter in her hand.

But as she read it, she began to doubt that she really liked Andy Jerrold, after all. Certainly she did not feel friendly and warm toward him, as she reached the end of the single typewritten page.

"My Dear Bobbie," he had typed, "It's too nice of you to be jealous of my new secretary. I had just about made up my mind that you cared so little for me that any secretary of mine, however beautiful, wouldn't interest you at all, much less make you jealous.

"However, I feel sure that by this time your jealous mood has passed, and that by this time you again look upon me as a brother. And so I can tell you that Miss Phillips (that's her name) begins to look to me like the nice girl you've always been advising me to look around for. She really is nice, and she has brown eyes like yours and her hair is red. Not fiery red, but that deep auburn with gold glints in it—"

"Deep auburn with gold glints in it! I bet she has a henna rinse every Saturday of her life!" said Bobbie through set teeth as she read that bit.

She didn't want Andy herself, but it made her boil to think of him being taken in by a sly, smiling simp who had her hair hennaed!

She read on: "I probably never would nave noticed her hair, however, if I hadn't noticer her eyes first. They were like yours—"

"Like mine! I like his nerve!" sputtered Bobbie, and went on to the end:

"—and as you know, I've always had a weakness for brown eyes. That, I suppose is because my own are gray. They say that opposites are always attracted to each other, you know. Anyway, I hope that this satisfies your curiosity concerning Lorrine Phillips, and that you will write to me soon again. By the way, did you like the bracelet I sent you at Christmas, or perhaps you didn't get it.

"Cordially yours,
"ANDY."

Bobbie held the sheet of paper in her hands, looking down at it. But through and beyond its whiteness, she was seeing Andy Jerrold's gray eyes—steadfast, and yet not too grave and serious. Usually crinkled with laughter at the corners. Somehow or other, it made her dismal and unhappy to think of the e gray eyes looking down into Lorraine Phillips' brown ones. Looking into anybody's eyes the way he used to look down into her own.

"I suppose any girl hates losing a man who's once been crazy about her," she thought. She stood at the edge of the porch, where the wistaria vine dripped its bluish lavender blossoms down over her as she tore the letter into tiny pieces and dropped them down behind the glan geraniums that bordered the steps.

As she stood watching them flutter down and settle on the ground like a flock of white butterflies, a messenger boy turned in at the walk. He had a sheaf of yellow envelopes in his hand—telegrams.

"Miss Roberta Ransom live here?" he asked, holding up one of them.

"I'm Miss Ransom," Bobbie told him and took it from him.

It was from Andy.

"Wrote you fool letter. Please do not read it but tear it up when it comes. Best love always.

"ANDY."

"You're too late, old boy," she said to him in her heart and she crumpled up the slip of yellow paper and tossed it down behind the geraniums, along with the "fool letter."

Then she went down to Hollywood boulevard, and sent him a telegram in answer to the one he had just sent her.

"Read letter before wire came," was what she wrote. "Sorry. I have always heard that red-headed women make the best wives. Congratulations."

She did not sign it. She knew that Andy would know who had sent it.

"And I guess it'll hold him for awhile, too!" she told herself snappily as she started to Las Palamas street.

In the house, cool and shady after the February heat and glare she went straight to the phone and called Gus MacCloud.

It's an odd fact, but how often the bitterness a girl feels toward one man will drive her straight to the arms of another!

"Gus, I want you," she said to the other man when he answered the telephone, and her voice was the voice of an unhappy child, "I'm coming up."

"Sure—take a cab," he answered eagerly, "I'll be waiting for you."

He hung up.

Bobbie scatters all her principles to the winds in the next chapter of this story.

He that walketh uprightly walketh surely; but he that perverteth his ways shall be known.

He that winketh with the eye causeth sorrow; but a prating fool shall fall.

The mouth of a righteous man is a well of life; but violence covereth the mouth of the wicked.

Hatred stirreth up strifes: but love covereth all sins.—Proverbs 10:9-2.

BO BROADWAY ..... By Joseph Van Raalte

NEW YORK. (EFS).—They were swapping memories Old Timers' night at the New York Newspaper club, and Ben De Casseras was talking:

"I arrived at Herald square at 2:30 in the morning. I looked up at the owls that James Gordon Bennett had planted all around the roof at the Herald Square building as images to illustrate his motto: 'La Nuit Porte Conseil,' ('Night brings wisdom'—but the printers had another version which I shall not give here.')

"I was a proofreader on the Herald at the time. My desk was situated directly under a certain owl who seemed to be blinking down at me at that particular moment as I stood on the pavement at Thirty-sixth street.

"Through one of those merry kinks in the brain of which all unwise thinking laddies know all about, I imagined that this owl's eyes were blinking words to me. I thought it said:

"'You're a gay boy now—but the megrims'll get you yet!'"

"'You're a liar, old Owl!' I yelled back. 'You're no wiser than your gay old master, J. G. B., who lives over the sea in gay Paree—' and so on, as a gay, port-laden covey like me would have it.

"'Beat it! You're making too much racket here. Them people over in the Marlborough wants to sleep. Step along.'

"It was a cop with a limber night-stick and a fatal gray eye.

"'Did I wake you up—what?' I came back at the peeler. And thereupon I gave him a friendly jab in his beer container.

"'Over you go! Asleep, eh? It's you that'll sleep behind the bars tonight,' he clicked.

"He grabbed me by the arm in an all-too-unfriendly manner and our walk began to West Thirty-sixth street. It was a melancholy silent pilgrimage.

"Beneath an Edison bulb sat an old desk sergeant, drowsing of the happy pickings of the morrow at the Belmont track.

"'What's the charge?' he asked of the cop.

"'Talkin' to one o' them Herald owls, loud enough to break the peace, and when I told him to can it, he wanted to know if he had waked me up.'

"'Well, did he?'

"'No, sir, I was pertrollin' me beat, sir.'

"The sergeant opened his eyes long enough to size me up. They opened wider, then a little wider. Finally they were like two small clocks.

"'Say, ain't you on the Herald, young feller?' he asked me.

"'Yes, your honor,' I gurgled meekly.

"'An' wasn' you here all night about a year ago?'

"'Might have been—I've visited so many places of interest,' I intoned.

"He asked me where I lived. I told him.

"'Officer, take him home. I don't want him here. We locked him up here a year ago and he sang 'The Mikado' all night long. He knows every damn word of it. Not one of us could get a wink here that night. He's probably learned 'Pinafore' since. This is a quiet station house. Take him home!'"

The Man Nobody Knows

TEMPTATION

Another young man had grown up near by and was beginning to be heard from in the larger world. His name was John. How much the two boys may have seen of each other we do not know; Jesus, looked up to and admired his handsome, fearless cousin. We can imagine with what eager interest he must have received the reports of John's impressive success at the capital. He was the sensation of that season. The fashionable folk of the city were flocking out to the river to hear his denunciations; some of them even accepted his demand for repentance and were baptized. His fame grew; his uncompromising speeches were quoted far and wide. The business men of Nazareth who had been up to Jerusalem brought back stories and quotations. There was considerable head-wagging as there always is; these folk had known of John as a boy; they could hardly believe that he was as much of a man as the world seemed to think. But there was one who had no doubts. A day came when he was missing from the carpenter shop; the sensational news spread through the streets that he had gone to Jerusalem to John, to be baptized.

John's reception of him was flattering. During the ceremony of baptism and for the rest of that day Jesus was in a state of splendid exultation. No shadow of a doubt darkened his enthusiasm. He was going to do the big things which John had done; he felt the power stirring in him; he was all eager to begin. Then the day closed and night descended and with it came the doubts. The narrative describes them as a three-fold temptation and introduces Satan to add to the dramatic quality of the event. In our simple story we need not spend much time with the description of Satan. We do not know whether he is to be regarded as a personality or as an impersonalization of an inner experience. The temptation is more real without him, more akin to our town trials and doubts. With him or without him, however, the meaning of the experience is clear.

This is its meaning: the day of supreme assurance had passed; the days of fretful misgiving had come. What man of outstanding genius has ever been allowed to escape them? For how many days and weeks do you think the soul of Lincoln must have been tortured? Inside himself he felt his power, but where and when would opportunity come? Must he forever ride the country circuit, and sit in a dingy office settling a community's disputes? Had he perhaps mistaken the inner message? Was he, after all, only a common fellow—a fair country lawyer and a good teller of jokes? Those who rode with him on the circuit testify to his terrifying moods of silence. What solemn thoughts besieged him in those silences? What fear of failure? What futile rebellion at the narrow limits of his life?

The days of Jesus' doubt are set down as 40 in number. It is easy to imagine that lonely struggle. He had left a good trade among people who knew and trusted him—and for what? To become a wandering preacher, talking to folks who never heard of him? And what was she to talk about? How, with his lack of experience, should he find words for his message? Where should he begin? Who would listen? Hadn't he perhaps made a mistake? Satan, says the narrative, tempted him, saying, "You are hungry, here are stones. Make them into bread."—The temptation of material success. It was entirely unnecessary to be hungry ever. He had a good trade; he knew well enough that his organizing ability was better than Joseph's. He could build a far more successful business and acquire comfort and wealth. Why not?

Satan comes in again, according to the narrative, taking him up into a high mountain and showing him the kingdoms of the world. "All these can be yours, if you will only compromise." He could go to Jerusalem and enter the priesthood; that was a sure road to distinction. He could do good in that way, and have satisfaction of success as well. Or he might enter the public service and seek political leadership. There was plenty of discontent to be capitalized, and he knew the farmer and the laborer; he was one of them; they would listen to him.

For 40 days and nights the incessant fight went on, but once settled, it was settled forever. In the calm of that wilderness there came the majestic conviction which is the very soul of leadership—the faith that his spirit has linked with the Eternal, that God had sent into the world to do a work which no one else could do, which—if he neglected it—would never be done. Magnify this temptation scene as greatly as you will, say that God spoke more clearly to him than to any who has ever lived. It is true. But to every man of vision in clear voice speaks; there is no great leadership where there is not a mystic. Nothing splendid has ever been achieved except by those who dared believe that something inside themselves was superior to circumstance. To choose the sure thing is treason to the soul . . . . . If this was not the meaning of the 40 days in the wilderness, if Jesus did not have a real temptation which might have ended in his going back to the bench at Nazareth, then the 40 days' struggle has no real significance to us. But the temptation was real, and he conquered. The youth who had been a carpenter stayed in the wilderness, a man came out. Not the full-ledged master who, within the shadow of the cross could cry, "I have overcome the world." He had still much growth to make, much progress in vision and self-confidence. But the beginnings were there. Men who looked upon him from that hour felt the authority of one who has put his spiritual house in order, and knows clearly what he is about.

STRIBLING IN EASY VICTORY

Georgia Boy Gets Decision Over Huffman

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—William (Young) Stribling of Macon, Ga., celebrated his entry into Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament by defeating Eddie Huffman of the Pacific coast in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. The match was slow and uninteresting most of the way.

RAUND ONE: Stribling endeavored to feel out his opponent with a long left jab, but Huffman rushed to close the distance and whaled away at the southerner's ribs. Stribling backed into a corner but fought his way out with a right uppercut which drove Huffman to the ropes. Huffman then hooked a fine left to Stribling's body but took two rights to the head in return.

ROUND TWO: Stribling sent a left to Huffman's head and then danced away to size up the situation. The Georgian drove Huffman to the ropes with a flurry of rights to the body. Stribling took a left to the stomach and dove into a clinch. Stribling's long left easily found Huffman's chin. Huffman, when a glancing blow but took two rights on the side of the head. They danced about with little action, feining for openings up to the bell.

ROUND THREE: They were cautious at the start, dancing about like acrobats. Stribling shot a right to the stomach they closed in the center of the ring and pounded away fiercely at the head and body. The crowd booed the referee for hitting overhanded in the clinch but he whipped his right hand again to Huffman's ear despite their chorus. Eddie hooked his left twice into Stribling's body but when they clinched again Stribling easily reached the sailor's ribs. They bounced about the ring until the gong.

ROUND FOUR: Stribling plowed right into Huffman, coupling two lefts to the head with a right to the ribs but the sailor came right back and brawled with him in a clinch. The Georgian missed a long left then rapped that one about Huffman's neck and beat him about the ring with his free right hand. Huffman broke away but ducked in close again and sank his left twice into stribling's stomach. He was plastering the Georgian about the head with both hands when the bell sounded.

ROUND FIVE: Stribling went back to his long left again but missed and took several rights to the body. Stribling whipped a right smash that cut Eddie's ear. The southerner charge into the attack, jabbing with his left and hooking his right to the head. The sailor met Stribling with his right in the stomach. They clinched constantly and the referee was forced to pry them apart when the round ended.

ROUND SIX: Stribling popped his long left into Huffman's face and they bobbed and danced about the ring. The Georgian came in close but missed his left lead and took two punishing rights to the body close to the ropes. As they came away a straight left jarred Huffman but he closed and crossed his right to the southerner's chin. Stribling drove a powerful right hand shot to Huffman's body. The southerner danced away and then smiled as the sailor missed by feet two long left leads to the head. Stribling hooked neatly to Huffman's chin with a short left as the round closed.

ROUND SEVEN: Huffman was slow to coming up and Stribling knifed him three times with that long left before the guard came up. Stribling drove in close and pounded Huffman's ribs in a corner. Eddie twisted loose and sank a fine left hook to Stribling's body. As he came away, Stribling infuriated, smashed away with both hands, scoring effectively to both head and body. Huffman looked tired and he clinched when Stribling twice cuffed him on the chin with his left before the bell.

ROUND EIGHT: Stribling started dancing again but Huffman's short right brought him in close for a slugging bee. The sailor pounded Stribling about the ribs but took a short left to the head as they went away. Stribling mauled away at Huffman's body as they went from clinch to clinch in the center of the ring. The Georgian snapped over two lefts before pounding Huffman heavily with a right to the head. Stribling's long left found an easy target in Huffman's chin, but he was dancing away again at the gong.

ROUND NINE: Stribling loafed around the center of the ring content to jab and fiddle. Huffman took after him and whaled a fine left into Stribling's stomach. The Georgian's showing was disappointing as he mauled and pulled at the coast battler. Stribling cocked his right but Huffman tore in and evaded it whipped over two rights to Stribling's head. The sailor jumped in with a left hook to the stomach but Stribling grabbed him and they were wrestling when the gong rang.

ROUND TEN: Both jumped into a furious exchange, a glaring difference in fighting style that brought cheers from the fans. Huffman ripped in with his left and dug his right into Stribling's body. Stribling's left hook wound all th away around Huffman's neck and his head bumped into two neat uppercuts. Stribling jabbed erratically to the head and pounded with even less accuracy to the stomach. The fans hooted openly as Stribling grabbed and hit. They were mauling and shoving at the bell.

Frogs Trim Texas Farmers, 26 to 20

FORT WORTH, Feb. 7. (AP)—Flashing a dazzling offensive that carried the Texas Aggies off their feet, T. C. U.'s Horned Frogs won from Coach Bible's men in the T. C. U. gym Monday night, 26 to 20.

The Frogs accomplished their scoring feat in the final period after being led at the half by the Farmers, 13 to 14. Just how one-sided the game became in the last half can be realized by the final period score of 22 to 5.

Clyde "Babe" McDonnell, lanky Frog center, took scoring honors with ten points. Clark, Aggie forward, following closely with nine points. The guarding and goal shooting of "Rags" Matthews, T. C. U. guard, was outstanding as was the defensive work of Davis, Farmer forward, and Captain "Punk" Baker.

Burke Outclasses Australian Champ

McCarthy Outspeeds Sully In Ten-Rounder

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Martin Burke, New Orleans light heavyweight, scored a technical knockout in the second round over Blackie Miller, Australian champion, in a 10-round preliminary to the Stribling-Huffman match at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The blonde southerner outclassed his rival from "down under," dropping him twice in the first round. The referee stopped the bout after one minute and two seconds of the second round with Miller helpless from a volley of rights to the head. Burke weighed 174, Miller 167 1-2.

Pat McCarthy of Boston, easily defeated Sully Montgomery of Fort Worth, Texas, in a 10-round match despite the Texan's weight advantage of over 20 pounds. McCarthy outspeeded his rival, beating to the punch consistently. The Boston boy's left opened cuts in both of Montgomery's cheeks. McCarthy weighed 176; Montgomery 199 1-2.

In two four-round preliminaries, Pierre Gandon of France, 162, drew with Joe Cavalter of Patterson, N. J., 162, and Jack Hildebrand of Syracuse, 180, defeated Nick Fadel, of Passiac, N. J., 182.

Polo Crew Pulls Another Practice

Minnick and Explorer In Workout

Mim Minnick blew into town yesterday and Ray Andrews, the explorer who has been playing polo on the Mongolian deserts in the shadow, if any, of the great Chinese wall, was on hand, so Wichita Falls malleteers chased out to Call field and indulged in a bit of heavy goaling.

Minnick was the missing link Sunday in what was to have been Wichita Falls' final workout prior to title defense at San Antonio starting next Sunday. But his arrival and Andrews' presence set the stage for a heavy polo plot yesterday.

Doc Fletcher and Prendergast teamed with Andrews and McKemie to give the champions a struggle. The field was slow, but the horses fast or something or other, for the clubs waged a merry and swift battle up and down the course with Minnick knocking off considerable fancy horsemanship and displaying a Dead-Eye Dick attack on the ball. That guy can RIDE.

Andrews got a lot of sport out of Headlight, one of the pony stars, and Robbins gave the spectators a treat by hauling out Dream Boy, prince of the Wichita Falls polo pony strings.

Prendergast did some hard riding and flossy sharp-shooting, but for that matter, several of the squad stepped high and spryly. The two corps were on their mettle.

Britt Cranfill served as referee and gave everybody a run for his money. Joe Huckins number three, who ran into Andrews somewhere in China and is quite a friend of the noble exploring gentleman, composed the bulk of the grandstand gathering—that is to say, was the star witness.

Porkers Halt Rally And Beat Mustangs

DALLAS, Feb. 7. (AP)—Wearing the double brand of Texas university on his flank, the Arkansas Razorback Monday night staved off one of the most brilliant rallies ever attempted by the S. M. U. Mustang, winning the first of a two-game basketball series, 32 to 30 and regaining the top rung of the Southwest conference ladder.

With four minutes to go, Arkansas was leading, 31 to 26. Two brilliant field goals by Dawson and Hooks brought the count to 30 points for the Mustangs. Then Tom Pickel, Porker second-string center, shot a foul toss to make it 32 to 30 and the game ended.

LEAGUE ADJOURNS

Lincoln Franchise In Western Undecided.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Feb. 7.(AP)—The Western league schedule adopted, the new major-minor draft proposal rejected and various business matters threshed, the Western league meeting here adjourned at noon Monday.

Dale Gear, president, said only the matter of the Lincoln franchise remained to be settled. Telegraphic negotiations between Gear and Larry Arnold, owner of the Lincoln franchise, who is now on the Pacific coast, had not been completed and Gear will dispose of the matter from Topeka, Kans. In any event, he said, the franchise remained in Lincoln and that Dick Breen would be in active charge.

CUBAN BEATS DENTON.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Raimundo Campanioni, Cuban billiard star, today defeated Tiff Denton, Kansas City, 50 to 48, in 59 innings, in the national three cushion billiard championship tournament here, although Denton claimed a mistaken decision of the referee had improperly affected the result of the match.

Women's Athletics

By Mary Isabel Caldwell

The Two-V finger grip is the best grip for women. The two "V's" are formed by the junction of the thumb and forefinger of each hand. The grip is taken by grasping the club firmly with the thumb and forefinger of the left hand, letting the handle pass just at the base of the little finger, which means that it does not lie in the palm. The fingers now close naturally and easily around the leather. The right hand grasps the shaft just below the left, with the thumb and forefinger forming another V. The grip should be so taken that the two V's are parallel to each other and point about to the right shoulder when the stance is taken. The hands should be as close as you can get them without cramping. They must work as one. Be sure that you have the club in your fingers, not in your hands.

Spudders Plan Games at Altus

Fans Always Supported His Club, Says Gardner

The Spudders are figuring on waging a couple of exhibition games in Altus this spring, it was announced Monday at ball headquarters. Lively interest in Altus and other southern Oklahoma cities has been manifested in the Wichita Falls team all along, and Spud moguls are taking notice.

"Many an Altus fan has driven to Wichita Falls to watch the Spudders perform, so we're going a try-a-turn-about-fair-play stunt," said Prez Gardner, "and drive up to Altus for a pair of games."

Gardner expressed opinion Spudder exhibition games in Altus will bring closer relationship between Wichita Falls and Southern Oklahoma.

The games are tentatively set for March 12-13.

Fighter Contract Brings $100,000

Pa and Ma Stribling Dispose Of Son's Management

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Young Stribling, one time sensation of the light heavyweight ranks, will carry his hope of world recognition in the heavyweight class to Madison Square Garden Monday night. He will pit his speed and punching skill, now encased in a husky 185-pound frame, against Sailor Eddie Huffman of California, for 10 rounds in the first match of a heavyweight series schedule to disclose a challenger for Gene Tunney next September.

The Georgian is making his first appearance before New York fandom as a heavyweight tournament without guidance of Pa and Ma, who trained him to fisticuffs from childhood. Stribling now campaigns under the direction of Walk Miller, who purchased the youth's contract from his parents several months ago for $100,000.

Although Stribling previously defeated Huffman in a decision contest in Los Angeles, the Pacific coast puncher is a fast and aggressive battler, amply qualified to test Stribling's heavyweight aspirations.

Jack Dempsey's Arm Improves

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.(AP)—Jack Dempsey, who is confined to his bed at his home here with blood poisoning, was believed to be on the road to recovery Monday.

His physician, Dr. Warren Clark, late Sunday night declared that the danger period probably would be passed Monday.

The poisoning is said to have started from a slight scratch on the middle finger last week while Dempsey and his wife, Estelle Taylor, the film actress, were on a motor trip to San Francisco.

Dempsey, was to have started for his mountain camp Tuesday to begin training for his effort to regain the heavyweight title which he lost to Gene Tunney, but the poisoning has caused at least temporary abandonment of that program.

Vincent Richards Plans Active War On Iron-Handed Rule in Tennis Ranks

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.(AP)—Vincent Richards, who is displeased by the decision of the United States Lawn Tennis association Saturday in refusing him 1926 ranking as an amateur because of professionalism, threatens to tour the United States "to tell those who care to hear the truth about the tennis situation."

"The amateur in tennis," he said, "is a joke with few exceptions. Take the drawings of a famous amateur tennis player appearing in the papers subscribing to a newspaper syndicate. She is reported to receive a salary of $250 a week for these drawings. If she is paid for the drawings and not her tennis name then I am the world's greatest tenor."

Richards said that a revolution in amateur tennis, already brewing in the midwest and western net organizations would soon sweep aside the "iron hand rule of Simon Legree masters of tennis who demand taxation without representation from players who make the game." He charged a "New York clique" with running the affairs of the U. S. L. T. A. "My hat is in the ring in behalf of the insurgents," he said.

GRAPPLE SHOW BILLED TONIGHT

Grip Expects to Win Match By Trickery (?)

THE CARD

Swede Jenson, Chicago, versus Charley Grip, Buffalo. Middleweights, two falls to a finish.

Teddy Waters, Wichita Falls, versus Billy Dixon, Oklahoma City. Welterweights, two falls to a finish.

Time: 8:15 tonight.

Place: Palace theater.

All hands were announced as being on deck Monday in readiness for Tuesday evening's tinear festival at the Palace. Mons. Grip and Theo the Swede have been hold-overs from last week's card, neither leaving town other than to take morning conditioner jogs into the rural districts.

Grip confided yesterday that he lay awake the other night thinking, if you can imagine that, thinking out ways and means to trim the Swede. Now Charley's got her all doped out. Figures as how he'll win in a walk by playing possum, waiting till Swede gets on him and then popping up with a body slam. The only catch is Swede's been tipped off and says he's not going to let any possum stunts get HIM down. There will be no body-slamming unless he's doing the slam-slam himself, avers the famous referee.

Judging by surface appearances, the white-heat rivalry displayed between Swede and Charley last week and the week before when Charley was wrestling somebody else with Theo doing the umpiring, still exists. Both say they're out for blood. Each is confident he will get his fill.

Teddy Waters, the newly-wed, declares he hasn't let domestic life keep him from training diligently and is in good condition for reception of Dixon.

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Feb. 7. (AP)—All operations over the line of the Brownwood North and South railroad were discontinued this morning by permission of the Interstate Commerce commission, granted some time ago.

BOXER UPRISING

Dallas Pugilists to Take Journey Through Europe

DALLAS, Feb. 7. (AP)—Dallas boys under the title of "America's university boxers" are to invade England and France this summer under the management of William S. Campbell, boxing instructor at Southern Methodist university here. They will begin training Feb. 10. Bobby Burns, a light heavyweight and Jack Summers are the first of the stable to get into training. Another will be added later.

MINOR LEAGUE FIGHTS DRAFT

International Loop Opposes Major Proposal

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.(AP)—The International Baseball league went on record here today as opposed to the draft in any form after rejecting the proposed new major-minor agreement under which the major leagues offered to increase the price of class AA players from $5000 to $7500.

In explaining the refusal of the circuit to alter the present modified draft plan, President John Conway Toole said the question of prices did not enter into the matter. "We don't want the draft in any form whatever," he asserted.

The vote against the new agreement was seven to one, the Buffalo club casting the only dissenting ballot. In their stand, President Toole said International clubs would be supported by four other minor leagues—the Western, Pacific Coast, American association and Three-Eye.

ROAD MEET TUESDAY.

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 7. (AP)—The new state highway commission probably will meet Tuesday in its first official session, R. A. Thompson, state highway engineer, said today.

SPUD OUTFIELD ALL SIGNED UP

Infielder Array Ready, Too, But Pitchers Slow

"There isn't anybody a holdout yet. Some of the boys will wait right until the last minute to sign their contracts. Others will bring them on in with them when they report to training camp," said Spudder Prez Alvin Gardner Monday in regard to rumors a number of the noble athletes are displaying hesitancy that borders on the edge of holding out entirely. "That's the way many of the fellows do; fool around to the last minute."

And so that spikes that, or does it?

Checking up on the gang one finds the Spudders already contracted and signed for as it were, compose a complete infield and outfield. Pete Lapan hasn't been heard from but is expected to send in his signed contract, soon. It's the pitchers, mostly, who are slow about tagging on their John Henries.

Big Jim Roberts' signature, however, was received Monday. He was most of the mound corps the first half of last season, then in the last half had to split chunking honors with Freddy Fussell, the eminent wronghander who rounded into winning form.

Gardner said Trexler, Fitzgerald, Lamb and Jenkins, the outfielders, all have signed. An infield array including LaFayette, Turgeon, Mann and Swede Swenson have dotted. Rabbit Benton is expected to be heard from almost any day.

"A POT OF GOLD"

That What Catalina Swimmer Expects.

LONG BEACH, Calif., Feb. 7. (AP)—"A pot of gold," the means of giving her 11-year-old son an education, Monday appeared within the reach of Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston as a result of her courageous and successful swimming of the Catalina channel. She was the first woman natator to negotiate the 20-odd miles passage which separates Santa Catalina island from California's mainland.

GUARDSMEN PLAN GYMNASIUM IN CONNECTION WITH ARMORY

New Basketball Court and House For Athletic Shows To Be On Tap by Next Fall If There Are No Upsets, Says Fletcher

Gymnasium trarfic congestion at the Junior college and Maskat Temple will be partially relieved by next fall if present plans of the local national guard go through according to Hoyle, intimated Major J. H. Fletcher Monday.

Plans, very much in the embryonic stage, however, are under way in connection with construction of a guard armory to dress out a gymnasium in which basket ball can be played and perhaps in which regular gym classes may convene.

Fletcher made no definite statements, but said such was being taken under consideration. Captain Glynn Boyd of the adjutant general's department is handling the matter and is expected in the city Tuesday following a visit to his Bowie home.

It is understood Boyd's project calls for construction of a large armory in the downtown section and that through outside aid of men interested in the national guard personnel and especially the building of a gymnasium in the city, calls for so constructing the armory that guard companies may not only have floor space on which to drill but can convert the space into a basketball court, volley ball and the like.

Fletcher expressed belief that the building is to be so constructed that a dance floor can be put in and that various athletic shows can be staged, so that the organization will obtain sufficient revenue with which to foot expenses of the building's upkeep.

Construction is to start soon, it is understood.

CAGERS START AGAIN TONIGHT

Guardsmen and Panhandle Doped to Win

THE CARD

Draughon versus Landon-Hill.

Hub Clothiers versus Guardsmen.

Continental versus Panhandle.

Time: 7 o'clock tonight.

Place: Junior college.

Commercial cage leagues hop off on the second half of the titular scramble Tuesday night with the slate clean, each club starting all over again.

The schedule was divided last week and the first half championship awarded to Panhandle as result of five victories and no defeats. Each club has bolstered here and there and the remainder of the race is expected to be much tighter.

However, if dope holds true, Panhandle will get away to a running start tonight with the Guardsmen. Both teams are rated stronger than their opposition this evening. Draughon and Landon-Hill, two powerful flag contenders, will proceed to cut each other's throats. From this game is expected to emerge Panhandle's strongest assailant for the last half honors.

Bob Metzger of Draughon and Neal of Landon-Hill have strengthened their teams considerably the past couple of weeks and each stands ready to make a stiff bid for the title.

P. A.

-that's my "rolling-stock!"

ROLL a cigarette with good old Prince Albert and you'll know why I prefer this tobacco above all others. Better tobacco — better makin's, that's the net of it. Why, the minute you get that wonderful P. A. fragrance, you know P. A. makes a great cigarette.

The smoke this cigarette sends out is equally fragrant . . . fragrant and refreshing as a breeze through an orchard in blossom-time. Cool and sweet and mellow, yet with that full, rich tobacco body that puts satisfaction into every puff. A cigarette, Fellows!

Get some Prince Albert today and get rolling. You'll start in the minute you've brushed your teeth and roll 'em and smoke 'em all day long. No matter how satisfied you think you are now, take this from me: You don't know what you're missing if you don't know P. A.

And all that I have said about P. A. for home-rolled cigarettes goes for jimmy-pipes as well. Even the pipe-shy and the pipe-perplexed have settled on P. A. and are getting solid satisfaction, day in and day out. No bite. No parch. Pleasure Always!

P. A. is sold everywhere. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

SPORTING NEWS — THE RECORD NEWS — FIRST ACCURATE COMPLETE

Runyon Says—

Rickard's Strong Suit—
Its Commercial Sense—
Is Shy on Technique—
But He Knows Values—
Delaney and Maloney—

Mr. George Tex Rickard, the pugilistic enterpreneur, probably knows less about the ring ability of the young gladiators of the land than any other man prominently associated with the dear old manly art.

That he knows more about the commercial phases of the game than any other man there is no doubt. He has shown that in dollars and cents. But when it comes to the actual ability of the boxers he is a total loss.

Wherefore, Mr. George Tex Rickard's "rating" of the boxers of the country is unimportant, Mr. Rickard "rates" them in a commercial sense—by what they mean to Mr. Rickard. In his most recent "rating" he demonstrated what I mean by rating Mr. Jack Dempsey second to Mr. Gene Tunney in his list of heavyweights.

Mr. Jack Dempsey probably couldn't lick three or four other heavyweights of the present time such as Maloney, Sharkey, Young Stribling, Jack Delaney, but he can out-draw any of them. That is why he stands high in Mr. Rickard's affections, and you cannot blame Mr. Rickard for that.

Mr. Rickard has an uncanny sense of the commercial in connection with the manly art, though he would probably have difficulty in thinking up, off hand, and without assistance, the names of 10 men in any pugilistic division barring the heavyweight. I must admit that Mr. Rickard knows the heavies from A to Z, if they go down that far.

Mr. Rickard is much like myself in the belief that boxers begin at 175 pounds, and run upward. I am something of a boxing fan, but I might pass up a pugilistic presentation by smaller men, whereas I would walk to Yonkers to see a struggle between big fellows.

The Maloney-Delaney match is the most recent illustration of Mr. Rickard's commercial sence in making matches. He knew before the match was made that it would sell out his Madison Square Garden at $20 "tops" within two weeks after it was announced.

He does not get his line on the potential value of matches by reading the newspapers, or asking the men connected with the boxing game. He gets it from inquiry among Wall street brokers, and bankers, and men of that class. Mr. Rickard knows that if they will buy his expensive tickets he does not have to worry about the rest of his house.

Up to a very few weeks ago I doubt that Mr. Rickard thought very highly of "Dynamite Jim" Maloney, the Boston gladiator, either as a fighter, or as a drawing card. I noticed that for a time he was talking mainly of Jack Dempsey, Jack Sharkey, Jack Delaney, Harry Persson, Monte Munn, Knute Hensen and others with scarcely a mention of Maloney.

He was especially sweet on Persson, the Swede, Mr. Rickard likes those foreign heavies, not because they are foreigners, but because they have drawn plenty of money for him. His matchmaker installed Maloney on a Garden card with Signor Arture de Kuh, the tall Italian, but I am inclined to think that Mr. Rickard thought that Signor de Kuh would step upward on Maloney's prostrate form.

Quite a large number of persons went to Madison Square Garden to view the proceedings, and "Dynamite Jim" knocked de Kuh bow-legged. Then Maloney was matched with Herr Frantz Deimer, the German, but in this particular I think Mr. Rickard was rather favorably disposed toward Maloney's chances. Another large crowd attended, and Maloney won.

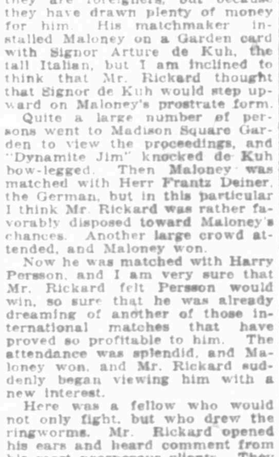

Now he was matched with Harry Persson, and I am very sure that Mr. Rickard felt Persson would win, so sure that he was already dreaming of another of those international matches that have proved so profitable to him. The attendance was splendid, and Maloney won, and Mr. Rickard suddenly began viewing him with a new interest.

Here was a fellow who would not only fight, but who drew the ringworms. Mr. Rickard opened his ears and heard comment from his most prosperous clients. They liked "Dynamite Jim" Maloney. This was enough for Mr. Rickard. He commenced to like him, too.

When Mr. Rickard likes a fighter, he likes him a great deal, and while his liking is usually measured by what the fellow can draw, it is none the less a warm, almost passionate regard, which lasts just as long as the fighter.

The moment the idea of a Maloney-Delaney match was mentioned in public, Mr. Rickard got so much reaction from his clients that he sat up of nights until he arrived at terms with the managers of the fighters.

I am informed that even now tickets for the struggle are scarce and there is no doubt that it will hang up a world's record for receipts of an indoor boxing contest. Some say the gate will reach $200,000. That shows you how much Mr. Rickard knows about the commercial end of the pastime, however, scant may be his knowledge of the technique, and all that sort of thing.

"They say Aaron Ward's going to fill Eddie Collins' shoes with the White Sox. I'm wondering if he'll fit Eddie's cap."

Conoco Girls Drub Whippet Sextet, 20-7

Wichita Falls high school hoopers nosed out Clara, 14-13, and Hub Clothiers, 7-5, in a duet offering Monday night on the Junior College court.

The Conoco girls drubbed the Whippets, 20-7, in a practice game sandwiched between the male exhibitions.

Clara led the Coyotes, 3-0, at the end of the first period, was tied at 5-5 when the half ended and was holding down the short end of a 9-7 score at the close of the third quarter. Mills had scored all nine of Wichita Falls' points and Curly Walkup had tabulated Clara's seven.

Both high school games were tight-guarding affairs, all three teams putting to highly effective use a five-man defense.

The final game of the night was tied at 5-5 with ten seconds to play when Lefty Watson assumed the Coyote hero role and sank a field goal, winning the game for Bud McCallum's youngsters. The score at the end of the half was 0-0.

Mrs. Bill Abbott led the Conoco attack against the Whippets, scoring eight points. Crump tabulated seven points. Walker was the Whippet high-point man with six of her team's seven.

Cobb Considers Several Offers

Philadelphia and St. Louis Chief Bidders

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7 (AP) Several American league baseball clubs, including the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Browns, have made "tempting" offers to Ty Cobb, but he has not yet decided where to go.

Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, and Dan Howley, manager of the Browns, are so eager to obtain Cobb that they made a trip to the latter's home in Augusta, Ga., for that purpose. Apparently the journey was fruitless, for Cobb intimated that he would make no decision until he had considered other offers.

Cobb was in New York Monday, presumably to look over the ground there. He, Mack and Howley came north together, occupying the same drawing room and arriving here Sunday. Howley went to New York with Cobb and both are expected back here Tuesday night for the Philadelphia sports writers' dinner.

"I may have something to tell when I come back to Philadelphia," Cobb said. "I have received tempting offers from Connie Mack and Dan Howley as well as other major league managers. I told Mack and Howley that I would take several days to make up my mind."

Stevens accounted for a quartet of Grace's tallies. Barnes and Drollinger played almost airtight guarding games.

DALLAS, Feb. 7. AP)—The smooth faced Dallas Steers are to play the bewhiskered baseball nine from the House of David, Benton Harbor, Mich., here March 6. One of the tenants of the House of David creed is that its devotees do not shave. They are said to have a baseball team that can trim anything except their lambrequins.

Revenge! That's What Bus Wants

Martin Would Turn Tables On Jack Adkins

Buster Martin, Wichita Falls heavy who battles Jack Atkins of Childress at the Palace Thursday in an eight-rounc semi-final to the White-Hull mill, is training assiduously for the match.

Bus has a grudge more or less against Atkins, for it will be remembered by fandom that in Martin's first main even, a bout with Atkins back in 1925, the rugged Childress mauler copped the popular decision.

The ambitious Martin has been laying, so to speak, for Atkins ever since. He gets his comeback chance Thursday and it will be an entirely different Buster from the one who fought Atkins nearly two years ago.

Martin has improved greatly since that night and he feels confident that he will turn the tables on Jack this time.

Atkins, it may be said, has developed into a far cleverer miller, too, than he was upon the first meeting with the Wichita Falls athlete.

Both battlers are more scientific than they were in that bout, but each still displays a tendency to step in and mix it in slam-bang style.

Martin came away from his fight in San Angelo week before last with Red Fitzsimmons in pretty fair shape. Bus, by the way, says there has been a bit of dispute locally about the outcome of that bout. He says a newspaper or something first gave him credit for a victory and then came back to repudiate the announcement declaring he lost. Martin declares the referee held up his (Martin's) right hand, signifying a victory. Matty Matsuda, the promoter, is quoted as having informed one Wichita Falls man by long distance telephone that Martin won his fight. Anyhow, the straight of the matter will be arrived at soon, for Fitz himself is expected in the city in a week or so, it is said. But, at that, what Fitz will have to say is problematical for, according to Buster when the referee raised his hand, Fitz went into a stew and yurped: "Yeah, I never do get a square deal in here."

Hub Clothiers To Play Burk Faculty

Hub Clothiers will play the Burk faculty team at Burkburnett Thursday night, Manager Goldstucker announced Monday. The Hubbers defeated Burkburnett high school last week, 32-16, but will find the faculty five far tougher opposition.

it draws industries

increases property values

—and it's one of the cheapest necessities You Buy....

Have you ever stopped to consider just how much of a part Natural Gas plays in the life and growth of your community?

When your local community boosters and builders, your Chamber of Commerce workers, start "telling the world" of your local advantages, what usually heads the list?

Natural Gas! A plentiful, dependable supply of Natural Gas---the cheapest industrial fuel available anywhere!

Other points about your community may carry weight with manufacturers and other industries you desire to attract---but the greatest is usually cheap fuel---Natural Gas. Taking the country over, there are comparatively few places that can offer Natural Gas ---so it is a real advantage.

And what does it mean to attract new industries?

It means steady growth for the community---more people, more business, more prosperity, increased property values.

The increased property values resulting directly or indirectly from the community growth stimulated by the possession of Natural Gas have, or will, (depending on length of time you have had Natural Gas) more than off-set the cost to the community of the Natural Gas consumed.

Though you may not own property now, you intend to do so, and the advantage of Natural Gas in your community is a real one to you, as you certainly want to know that your community has growth ahead of it when you put your money into property.

And, not to be overlooked, there are the convenience, cleanliness and cheapness of Natural Gas used in your own home for heating and cooking.

As one of the largest Natural Gas pipe line companies in the country, we are happy to be able to contribute something to the growth of your community and to your personal comfort, by rendering the type of service to your local gas company that makes Natural Gas a real asset to the community.

POOL PROMISED PECOS COUNTY

Texon-Kimberlin Wildcat Has 200 Feet of Oil

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 7.—Texon-Kimberlin's No. 1 Yates, cleaning out with between 200 and 300 feet of oil in the hole, may open a new pool or extend the Pecos county discovery area four miles south and east, while Steadman & Thrasher's No. 1 University, in northern Crane county, standing 1000 feet in oil Saturday, promises a 1½-mile extension to the southwest of the Church-Fields area, the third in almost a week.

Recovery of the tools in the Texon-Kimberlin test, buried at 1215 feet, 40 feet off bottom, by bridging of the hole at 1152, was halted during the week-end by heavy rains Friday night and Saturday. The wildcat is in river section 56, block 1, I. & G. N. Ry. Co. survey. Before leaving for the lease Saturday, Kempner Kimberlin announced that locations for two offsets would be made by Clayton Williams of Santa Rita, engineer for the Texon Oil & Land company. The test is a 640-acre tract owned jointly by Texon and Kimberlin, surrounded by a 660-acre tract entirely owned by Kimberlin. It was rumored Saturday that Humble will build a pipe line to the new well if production warrants, but this was not confirmed. Humble sometime ago made a survey for a pipe line from McCamey to the Pecos county discovery producer on the Yates ranch, but has postponed construction pending the outcome of the suit by the state against the Mid-Kansas and Transcontinental Oil companies, Ira Yates and others.

Steadman & Thrasher's No. 1 University, in section 45, block 30, in Crane county, was reported virtually dry before being shot Thursday from 2921 to 2965 feet with 100 quarts of nitroglycerine. It cleaned itself out and oil had risen to a depth of 1000 feet Saturday. The well is 1½ miles southwest of Magnolia-Hardwick's No. 1 University, the same distance west of Haseland Oil company-O'Keefe & Collett's No. 1 University, and 2½ miles southwest of the Church-Fields discovery well, now Magnolia No. 1 University.

Mid-West Has Small Well

Marland Well Finds Gas At New Sand Level

Special to The Record News.

ABILENE, Feb. 7.—The Mid-West Exploration company's No. 2 Thornton, southwest offset to the Marland's No. 3 Mason, is reported standing with 1500 feet of oil in the hole at 2506 feet. It was drilled in Sunday and failed to meet expectations of those who looked for a repetition of the Marland premier well. The hole is six feet lower on the structure than the discovery well.

To compensate for this disappointment, the Marland Oil company in its No. 2 Mason, which was thought to be a dry hole at the 2500-foot level, was deepened and picked up a strong gas flow at 2930 feet which makes things look brighter for Noodle Creek field.

Henshaw Sells Lease in Brown County To Texas Company For $2,000,000

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 7.—George A. Henshaw, San Angelo independent operator, only 33, who entered the oil game mainly to condition himself for football at Oklahoma A. and M. today sold to the Texas company his company's lease on 320 acres in the Fry field in Brown county for a minimum of $2,000,000 cash. The exact price will be determined by gauging of 14 wells on the lease that yield from 6000 to 7000 barrels daily.

The 320 acres constitute the south half of George Stubblefield survey No. 622, a half-mile across the Coleman-Brown county line in Brown county, and midway between Coleman and Brownwood. Since the first well was drilled in on Oct. 10 last year, the lease has produced over $200,000 worth of oil, besides more than $10,000 worth of gas. The oil brings $2.30 a barrel and is run through Prairie Texas and Humble lines. Two wells are now on the sand ready to be drilled in.

News of The Fields

The Gulf Production company has spudded in its No. 3 Young and Langford in block 12, J. W. Harris club ranch subdivision in Archer county and the well has reached a depth of 300 feet.

Bridwell and Heydrick have made location and are rigging up for their No. 2 H. S. Griffin, 300 feet east of No. 1 in the W. H. Spillers survey of Wichita county. Griffin No. 1 was placed on the pump Sunday.

CONTINENTAL, HOWARD

The Continental Oil company ran true to form over the week-end and brought in a pair of nice wells in the Nocona field of Montague county. 10-Point Gain In Rail List

BY BROADAN WALL.
Universal Service Financial Expert.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Heavy buying of the railroad stocks lifted prices one to ten points in a more active market in railway shares today. Wheeling was again the outstanding feature, moving up fifteen points as the premium was raised from $3.50 to $6 and later to $7. As pointed out here today this high premium traders short of the stock must pay a "rental" of $700 for the loans of 100 shares overnight. It is proving disastrous to the shorts.

Some of the trades were made for cash because shorts did not care to pay so high a premium. The levy of $7 a share is the highest in years. There is no pool in the stock. There reads have been buying in connection with consolidation plans and the speculator, unaware of the character of the buying, peddled it out to the railroads in the belief that it could be purchased cheaper.

The Wheeling directors have made no application to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval to issue more stock in connection with the consolidation plans. The stock is in such a position now, however, that it could drop as fast as it advanced. Only shorts with strong nerves are able to witness the spectacle of rising prices in this stock—fifteen points in one day.

Money loaned at four per cent. Wall Street continues to look for a reduction in the federal reserve rediscount rate this week. Spanish featured the international money market with a sharp rise. Copper sold at a new low for the last two years. Cotton was steady; wheat lower.

Western Maryland was another issue in demand. The Baltimore and Ohio has been adding to its holdings of this stock. The stock at one time was up six points from the opening. Peoria and Eastern developed strength. Demand prevailed for Norfolk Southern, Chicago and Alton and the Seaboard issues.

The stock exchange has advised members they must report daily their long and short position in Wheeling and Lake Erie common and preferred, the number of shares borrowed and from whom, and the number of shares loaned and to whom.

Reports were current that the stock exchange members were considering suspending trading in the stock. Directors of the road met today and authorized the conversion of the prior lien stock. The deal between the carriers and Rockefeller in the Wheeling and Lake Erie deal, it is said, also calls for a change in control of the Western Maryland.

Oils were generally firm. Buying of Standard of New Jersey is understood to come from No. 26 Broadway. Recent rise in Amerada is based on expectations of an increase in the current dividend. Short covering developed in Hudson Motors and General Motors lost little ground.

MARKET GOSSIP

J. H. Baldwin and Co., brokers, basement Bob Waggoner building, today received the following from New York, New Orleans and Chicago connections:

COTTON.

Farm relief legislation at Washington occupied much of the time and attention of the cotton trade today. Enough selling came into the market early to cause a moderate decline. This selling was based principally on a growing belief that the McNary-Haugen bill will never become a law of the land. There will be much jockeying of this bill in congress before final disposition is made of it, and this will no doubt cause fluctuations in both directions in the price of cotton. We regard cotton as a trading affair at this time.

GRAINS.

Wheat average lower throughout the session, but all times met with stubborn resistance the efforts of bears to carry values lower. Liverpool was sharply lower, closing 1¾ to 1¾ lower. The liberal clearances of southern hemisphere wheat will soon begin arriving in volume in foreign markets, and at present the Liverpool market is selling at its lowest premium of the season as compared to Chicago prices. We feel that a much more urgent demand for the actual wheat is necessary to maintain prices.

Corn had to weather scattered selling, and an increase in visible supply of almost three million bushels. Consumptive demand shows no increase and unless this situation changes, we look for lower values in corn.

STOCKS.

Dividend rails dominated the market early and later when it was learned that Wheeling and Lake Erie was loaning at six per cent premium, that stock climbed 15 points and touched off the recently labeled merger rails to another wild bullish demonstration. Rubbers were strong and gave indications of increased activity after a long dormant period.

Reiter Foster oil, one sale at 15¾.

WHEAT BUYING "THIN" MONDAY

Chicago Pit Reveals Lack Of Buying Power

By CHARLES J. LEYDEN.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Buying power in wheat was "thin" today, and prices sagged gradually under scattered pressure, considerable of which was in the way of unloading by tired longs. Weakness in Liverpool and Buenos Aires and less activity in export circles worked against the market. The uncertainty over threatened farm legislation at Washington tended to further curtail speculative interest. Other grains dragged lower with the leading cereal.

May wheat opened at $1.41⅞@1.42, dipped to $1.41⅛, firmed to $1.42, dropped to $1.41⅛ and closed at $1.41¼@⅜. July opened at $1.36@⅛, sold off to $1.34½, firmed to $1.35, dropped to $1.34 and closed at $1.34¼@⅜. Eastern trade in the local market was less conspicuous. Winnipeg and other domestic markets were relatively easy with Chicago.

Export sales of wheat totaled around 200,000 bushel. Italy took some Durums Liverpool closed 1¼ to 1½ pence down.

Locally wheat closed ⅜ to ⅝c lower, corn ⅝ to ⅞c to ⅞c lower and oats ¼ to ⅜c to ⅝c off.

Corn was weak at the finish. Trade in this grain was moderate with the early trading witnessing scattered commission house offerings. Rye increase 2,744,000 bushels in the visible supply tended to check buying operations, although as good gain was anticipated. Hardening of country trade in some districts it was believed, led to a freer run of this grain. The primary receipts for the day totaled 1,546,000 bushel compared with 1,960,000 bushel last week and 1,243,000 bushel a year ago.

Oats also were weak with the May delivery failing to a ⅝c discount under the July. Some talk was heard regarding the lessened grinding of oats because of the mild weather.

Rye was off with the leading grain.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7. (AP)—Record-breaking big quantities of wheat afloat for Europe tended today to pull prices down, and so likewise did large domestic and international money market with a sharp rise. Copper sold at a new low for the last two years. Cotton was steady; wheat lower.

Western Maryland was another issue in demand. The Baltimore and Ohio has been adding to its holdings of this stock. The stock at one time was up six points from the opening. Peoria and Eastern developed strength. Demand prevailed for Norfolk Southern, Chicago and Alton and the Seaboard issues.

The stock exchange has advised members they must report daily their long and short position in Wheeling and Lake Erie common and preferred, the number of shares borrowed and from whom, and the number of shares loaned and to whom.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN.

FORT WORTH, Feb. 7. (AP)—Little change was apparent in the cash grain market at Fort Worth Monday. Trading was steady at about the same range of prices prevailing Saturday. Milling wheat was slightly higher but exporters reduced their bids to $1.18⅝ basis No. 1 hard delivered to gulf ports. Barley was about one cent higher on export needs but very little of this grain is available.

Wheat No. 1 dark hard milling $1.50@1.51; No. 1 ordinary hard milling $1.48@1.50; No. 1 red milling $1.50@1.52; No. 1, 76 per cent red milling $1.48@1.49.

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Advance in the cotton market last week were followed by reactions today. There was some southern selling and realizing, but after declining 10 to 13 points on May, or about 17 points below Saturday's close, the price rallied to 14.02 on renewed covering. May closed at 13.98, compared with 14.06 at the close Saturday. The general market closed steady at net declines of six to 12 points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 4 to 10 points under liquidation by recent buyers who were probably influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables and belief that the advance of last week had left the market in an easier technical position.

Some trade buying and covering absorbed early offerings as prices worked lower, but the decline continued until March sold at 13.68, July at 14.10, and October at 14.31, or about 12 to 17 points net lower on active positions. This decline was accompanied by expressions of uncertainty in some quarters as to whether farm relief legislation would be actually enacted, but there was no indication of increased spot offerings in the south or hedge selling, and the market steadied up at mid-day on renewed covering.

Rallies extended to 13.81 for March, 14.22 for July and 14.44 for October, which carried the market back within three to four points of Saturdays closing quotations. Realizing continued however, and there may have been a little more southern selling in the late afternoon, as a result of which prices showed reactions of 3 or 4 points from the best.

Private advices from the south claimed a continued steady basis in the spot markets, but local traders were evidently disposed to take profits on long contracts after the advance of last week, while waiting the further progress of legislation, or fresh trade developments.

Private cables reported London and Manchester liquidation, together with hedge selling in Liverpool, and that trade calling was less active, but a well sustained demand for cotton goods existed. Exports today 13,000 making 6,900 746 so far this season. Port receipts 42,343. U. S. port stocks 2,866,337.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 7. (AP)—The cotton market turned into a tug of war today when bears swung the ribbon far over into the lows before bullish sentiment recovered from the surprise and brought reserve strength into play and yanked it back to the center line where it hovered until the last hour of trading.

Disbelief in the ultimate passage of the McNary-Haugen measure and poor Liverpool cables, the first forced it toward the low side and prices moved 15 to 17 points before the bulls steadied, threw trade buying and exports into the backward tug and hauled the ribbon back to the starting point.

In the last hour of trading, however, intermittent bear resulting tugs again pulled prices backward until they registered losses of six to eight points for the day.

In the early morning trading, March traded down to 13.67, May to 13.83 and July to 14.01, 15 to 17 points below the previous close. The upward movement swept March into a new high at 13.82 and October to 14.30, to within a single of Saturday's close.

Exports totaled 46,932 bales

There was a time not so long ago, when the word "operetta" was to be dodged when a musical play was being described. Not so, in these days of comedy and light drama and what have you.

"The Student Prince" coming to the Palace theater Wednesday night, is a highly spectacular operetta with a chorous of 60 male voices, Sigmund Remberg, composer of the music of "Blossom Time," is composer of this production.

"The Student Prince" has the advantage of possessing for a plot-foundation the romantic love story of "Old Heidelberg" which the late Richard Mansfield introduced to this country in 1903 as a dramatic piece and which remained for years one of the most popular numbers of his repertoire. It deals with the love romance of brave Prince Karl and the little waitress at the University of Heidelberg Inn where the students gather for their song festivals and jollifications. The mounting and costuming are most elaborate. The score is highly dramatic but it is also filled with stirring student songs. These songs are not based upon a use of old student motifs but are original in every case.

Mail orders for seats started yesterday morning and tomorrow remaine in which to secure your tickets. They are on sale at the Palace box office.

Wow!

First of all, you must know what "it" is. "It" is a picture starring Clara Bow and "It" comes to the Majestic theater on Saturday. Perhaps you still do not know what "It" is, then listen to Elinor Glyn and see if you have "It." Unless you score one hundred per cent in her definitions, you are out of the running, for you do not possess "It." Here goes—

"You must be free from all self-consciousness.

"You must have that magnetic sex appeal which is irresistible.

"You must have complete self-confidence.

"You must—if you are a man—give the impression unconsciously that you would be a masterful lover.

"You must be indifferent to general opinion—but quite firm about your own.

"You must give an impression that nothing on earth could influence you or hold you unless you wish it.

"You must have individuality.

"You must be absolutely fearless.

"You must be perfectly true to yourself, whether that self is good or bad, for no sham of any kind can have 'It.'

"And, last of all, you must be capable of deep, sincere love. Now have you 'It?' Clara Bow has, and so has Antonio Moreno who plays opposite her.

At the Garden today only, we see Anita Stewart, a star of almost days-gone-by. I, myself, can remember when her picture was the most popular of all in our "movie scrap-books." In "Rustling for Cupid" Anita is pictured as a beautiful Boston school teacher, among a lot of cattle barons, cowboys and herds of steers.

A Ford sedan, stolen from Crowell, Texas, several days ago, was found by City Detective Dick Nusman Monday morning on Third street, near the Riverside cemetery. The car will be returned to Crowell today.

HASKELL SOCIETY

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Feb. 7.—The Magazine club entertainment committee, Mesdames Courtney Hunt, Wallace Cox and Hill Oates, planned and carried out a delightful Hallowe'en "42" party last Tuesday afternoon at the Magazine club rooms, honoring the life members of this club. The decorations were entirely Hallowe'en, which gave a festive air to the occasion. Mrs. Hill Oates, dressed as Miss Valentine, greeted the members at the entrance and introduced them to members of the receiving line who were the life members: Mesdames J. U. Fields, F. T. Sanders, E. Sutherlin, C. L. Lewis, O. E. Patterson, W. H. Burchison and R. J. Reynolds. Just before they turned their attention to the "42" tables, Mrs. Hill Oates told a beautiful legend of St. Valentine. At the close of the games and before the refreshments committee passed a delicious plate of chicken salad, cranberries in mold heart shape, olives and hot tea, the youngest member of the Magazine club, Mrs. Theron Cahill, gave a toast to the life members and Mrs. Charlie Conner made an appreciative talk to the honorees and presented them with miniature handkerchief covered parasols. Members present besides those mentioned were: Mesdames R. J. Earnest, R. R. English, N. G. Kelly, Guy Mays, John Oates, O. E. Oates, J. A. Couch, Charles Parsons, A. C. Pierson, J. B. Post, R. E. Sherill, H. M. Smith, R. C. Couch, S. P. Kuenstler, Clayborn Payne, John P. Payne, B. M. Whitaker and N. I. McCollum.

Child Culture Club Elects

The Child Culture club met in regular semi-monthly meeting last Wednesday afternoon in the home of one of the members, Mrs. J. B. Post, in a splendid program, after which they held the annual election of officers. Mrs. Dennis Ratliff was the director and a general discussion of "Ideals of American History" was participated in by most of those present. Mrs. Post served her guests a salad course. Officers for 1928 were elected as follows: President, Mrs. John Draper; first vice-president, Mrs. Sam A. Roberts; second vice president, Mrs. Henry Smith; recording secretary, Mrs. Dennis Ratliff; treasurer, Mrs. J. M. Martin. The club will meet Feb. 10 with Mrs. A. C. Pierson.

Mrs. H. M. Smith Entertains

Mrs. H. M. Smith solved the dull Saturday afternoon problem last week when she invited two tables of close friends to while away a number of hours in playing "42." They were Mrs. W. H. Murchison, Mrs. John Oates, Mrs. Courtney Hunt, Mrs. Charles Connor, Mrs. R. C. Couch, Mrs. Hardy Grissom, Mrs. Clayborn Payne and Mrs. Hill Oates. Mrs. Hardy Grissom won high score and was awarded with a lovely incense burner, and Mrs. R. C. Couch was consoled for making low score with a China frog. Mrs. Smith served a salad course.

That Baby You've Longed For

Mrs. Burton Advises Women on Motherhood and Companionship.

"For several years I was denied the blessing of motherhood," writes Mrs. Margaret Burton of Kansas City. "I was terribly nervous and subject to periods of terrible suffering and melancholia. Now I am the proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and a true companion and inspiration to my husband. I believe hundreds of other women would like to know the secret of my happiness, and I will gladly reveal it to any married woman who will write me." Mrs. Burton offers her advice entirely without charge. She has nothing to sell. Letters should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Burton, 1287 Massachusetts, Kansas City, Mo. Correspondence will be strictly confidential.—Adv.

MAN WANTS TO TELL HIS JOY TO THE WORLD
Sore on leg healed after years of suffering
San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 10:—"I just want to let you know what your Resinol has done for me. For many years I had a bad sore on my leg. I had tried a number of different treatments, including Electric Baths and different recommended salves. I suffered terribly at times as my work compelled me to be on my feet a great deal. Several weeks ago I saw Resinol advertised and in desperation I bought a small jar of this Ointment, not believing it would do me any good. However, after using it for one week I was surprised to see the ulcer was healing and by the time I had finished the second jar the healing was complete. I am glad to tell the world what Resinol Ointment has done for me and I will be glad to recommend it to any sufferer." (Signed) Max Endert, 68½ Jersey Street.

Often Prevents Pneumonia
Nearly all pneumonia cases result from neglected chest colds. Chest colds, of themselves, do not seem serious but only a few hours are necessary for dread pneumonia to develop. The best way to be rid of pneumonia is to prevent it—prevent it by breaking up chest colds as soon as they appear. This can be best done by applying heated DENVER MUD to throat and chest. This amazing healing mud maintains a moist heat for many hours and quickly draws out all inflammation and scatters the congestion. Hospitals and physicians everywhere have used this famous DENVER MUD for over thirty years in treating all kinds of inflammation and congestion. Large package of DENVER MUD 50c at all Drug Stores.

"I'D GIVE MY RIGHT ARM . ."
YOU'VE heard people express their feelings by saying, "I'd give my right arm" to do or have something.
BUT did you ever hear anybody say, "I'd give my right EYE?"
NO, eyesight is too precious to even talk of giving away.
BUT many people are slowly giving away perfect eyesight by neglecting their eyes—by allowing them to be strained when they should be protected with glasses.
ARE you "giving your right eye?" Why not have them examined and find out?
YOU'LL be pleased with our thorough, scientific service.

No Fear Now of Offense!
So Sweet and Clean Inside! No Offensive Vapors From the Pores

Once a person realizes the wonderful properties in cascara, no other laxative in the market would ever be considered.
It's no trick to "clean out the bowels." Dozens of things will do that. But a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew! The old-fashioned way was "salts." They get action, but they take the mucous membrane along with the waste matter! Mineral oils are gentler, but they leave the bowels with a film of poisons for the blood to carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.
If you have the habit of taking medicine for constipation, or even for auto-intoxication, stop it. For a candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them, and the taste tempts most grown-ups to have "more."
And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight—see how you feel next day, and for days after! With the skin fresh and fragrant. All druggists, 10c and 25c.
"MY OLD DREAD of unpleasant vapors when I was excited or warm used to spoil a party for me. It was even worse after a purging. It was a good friend who told me the wholesome sweetening of one or two—

"NOTHING I ATE AGREED WITH ME"
Mrs. Mary Crawford, who lives in Gastonia, N. C., recently made the following statement: "I was in bad health for several years. Nothing I ate agreed with me. After each meal I had bad pains, caused from gas on my stomach. My color was sallow. I complained a lot and was very nervous.
"Most of my trouble came from constipation, but I did not realize this until I was real sick. I let it run on, hoping for the best.
"One day I read about Black-Draught in the Ladies Birthday Almanac. I had known it for years, but had never used it. I thought it might help me, so I got a box to try. I started taking a small dose after each meal.
"In a very short time I could see that I was better; I slept better and could eat without being disturbed by gas pains. I no longer had the sick headaches.
"I experienced such great relief, after taking Black-Draught, that I keep it in the house all the time, now.
"When I begin to feel dull and sluggish, and get constipated, I take a dose or two, and the next day I am feeling fine."
Thedford's Black-Draught, purely vegetable, made from herbs and roots, is acted on promptly by the juices of the stomach, and in its turn acts in a natural way in relieving the symptoms caused by indigestion and constipation.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA
Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.
