Congressman Williams to Speak Here Tonight

MASON OF HIGH DEGREE STRONG FOR AL SMITH

One-Time Grand Master of Texas To Address Voters Tonight In Eastland City Hall.

Congressman Guinn Williams of Decatur, member of congress from the 13th Texas representative district, will address the voters of Eastland county tonight. He is to speak at 8 o'clock in the Eastland city hall, and all persons who wish to be informed relative to national issues of the present campaign will have an opportunity to hear one who is splendidly informed, is an eloquent speaker and also a rock-ribbed democrat.

Mr. Williams is a 33rd degree Mason, was the Masonic grand master of Texas several years ago and is a son of a charter member of the W. C. T. U. at Decatur. He has recently been re-elected to congress for his fourth term. In the house he was a member of the Ways and Means committee, regarded the most important of all committees, and he is the author of a number of financial bills that have been introduced in congress. He is also the father of a young man who recently became prominent in western movies.

Mr. Williams is making a tour of the state in company with Congressman Sam Rayburn, urging loyal support to the Democratic ticket. He is a consistent democrat, supporting the ticket from top to bottom. In addition he is a personal friend of Governor Al Smith, Democratic candidate for president of the United States, and what he has to say about the New York executive he is able to say from personal, first-hand information and not from hearsay. Mr. Williams spoke to an audience of 2,000 persons in Lubbock a few days ago and received a very enthusiastic reception.

Frank Kilgore will introduce Mr. Williams tonight. A number of the leading democrats of Eastland county will occupy seats on the platform. It is hoped the auditorium will be filled in order to show the speaker that Eastland county is filled with loyal democrats.

Railroad Merger Proponents File Their Withdrawal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—A resolution formally withdrawing application of the Kansas City Southern and the M. K. & T. for permission to consolidate their properties was filed today with the Interstate Commerce commission. Any plan for unification of the two lines and the St. L. & S. W., which is also involved, must be developed "in a manner fully in harmony with the indicated views of the commission," the resolution said. The commission now has pending against the Kansas City Southern, a Clayton act proceedings charging anti-trust law violation in connection with the proposed merger. "By their action, the commission has indicated that it looks with disfavor upon the plans for unification of the carriers," the resolution added. The recent revocation of the authority of L. F. Loree, chairman of the K. C. Southern, to act as a director of the M. K. & T., was considered in some circles a further indication of the commission's disapproval.

Million Dollars Trust For Needy Children Formed

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—A $1,000,000 trust to be known as the Will Raskob foundation has been formed at Dover, Del., by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Raskob in memory of their son, William Raskob, who was killed last summer in a motor car accident in Maryland. The foundation will care for needy children.

Air Pilot Crashes In Forced Landing

BRANFORD, Conn., Oct. 5.—His compass affected by a consignment of metal he did not know he was carrying, Pilot J. O. Webster of the national air transport company, found himself miles off his course from New Brunswick, N. J., to Cleveland, Ohio, and crashed in making a forced landing on a farm near here today. Reports indicated that the pilot was not injured.

MURRAY F. GILL IS MOVING TO PENNSYLVANIA

Will Live In Allentown and Become Construction Manager of Phoenix Utilities Company.

Murray F. Gill has resigned his office with the Oil Belt Power Co. and Texas Electric Service and, about the middle of this month will leave with his family for Allentown, Pennsylvania, where he will be connected as construction manager with the Phoenix Utilities Company, which is virtually the Pennsylvania Power & Light Company. It is not yet announced who will succeed him here.

"Texas is my native state and I have become so attached to Eastland and the oil belt that I am very reluctant to leave," said Mr. Gill. "But I have been offered such an attractive position, with yet more attractive possibilities that I could not afford to refuse it. The offer came to me some time ago and I did not wish to consider it at first, but, after long and careful consideration, I decided that I ought to do so."

"Recently I visited Allentown and it is in a very delightful and beautiful part of our country. It is close to Philadelphia and only a little further from New York. Allentown is said to have about one hundred thousand population. I am planning to leave here about the middle of this month and shall enter on my new duties as soon as I arrive in my new home."

Col. N. P. Houx, Veteran Editor, Dies Suddenly

MEXIA, Texas, Oct. 5.—Col. N. P. Houx, 68, veteran newspaper publisher and editor, died during the night of a heart attack. He was associate editor of the Mexia News and editor of the Weekly Herald. At one time he was sole owner and publisher of the publication.

Col. Houx won the rank of lieutenant colonel in the Texas national guard and he organized a company for the World War, but was not able to accompany his men. He was well known in the Masonic order and other fraternal circles of the State. He was a member of the Texas Editorial association, composed of veteran editors. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Salvation Army To Sell Tags On Street Saturday

Postponing its Tag Day so as not to interfere with the tag day of the high school girls who wished to raise money for the benefit of the high school pep squad, the Salvation Army will have its Tag Day tomorrow. The local post has been unable to collect many of the subscriptions made last spring to defray its annual expenses, and has bills that must be paid. It is hoped to raise much of this money by the Saturday Tag Day campaign. The Salvation Army lassus will sell the tags and all friends of the Salvation Army and sympathizers with the splendid work the army is doing are invited to help to the limit of their ability.

Captured

When Clinton C. Carnes disappeared from Atlanta, Ga., leaving a reported shortage of $1,000,000 in the books of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, officials investigated Carnes' past, and determined from these two photos that he was an ex-convict. The Bertillon picture below shows him as he entered the federal penitentiary several years ago.

BULLDOGS WIN FROM WINTERS BLIZZARDS, 25-0

Ranger High Gridsters Come To Life After Listless Start and Carry Off Game.

BY BOYCE HOUSE
After playing in a listless fashion for three quarters, the Ranger Bulldogs suddenly sang their teeth into the Winters Blizzards and ran up a score of 25 to 0 Thursday afternoon on the Winters gridiron.

The only thing that suggested winter, icy winds and cold weather was the name of the home team for a beaming sun was beating down throughout the game. The Bulldogs played without the services of big Garland Hinman, fullback, who was out with injuries.

"Until the start of the last quarter, when the Ranger team decided to make a game of it—the affair had been rather dismal to the handful of faithful fans who had driven 110 miles to see their favorites in action. The Blizzards—made up of diverse sizes, two or three big men but the remainder small or even smaller—put up a good fight and repeatedly prevented touchdowns by brave stands inside their 10-yard line. On offense, they could get nowhere, two passes, each thrown by Hill to Hardegree, marking the sum total of their success. One heave was for 15 and the other for 20 yards.

Near the close of the first quarter, the Bulldogs marched 60 yards for a touchdown. Hammett's dash of 35 yards was the chief feature of the advance. McLaughlin plunged the ball over. Goal was missed. With this exception, Ranger's offense in the first half would get started, then like a flier without gasoline, it would splutter and stop. One onslaught of 60 yards might have meant a score but a fumble lost the opportunity.

Building At Seaman and Commerce Streets Being Remodeled and To Be Very Attractive Business Structure

George Karantonis and Ernest Holkias, who recently purchased the old Charlotte Hotel building, are now remodeling and improving it in very extensive manner. The lower floor is to be divided into three store compartments, and the upper floor into apartments for living purposes. The entire front of the building on South Seaman Street is to be removed and a white brick front constructed. When completed, the building promises to be one of the most attractive business structures in Eastland.

The east portion of the building will be made into one store, having a frontage of 34 feet on East Commerce street and running back to a depth of 100 feet. It will have attractive show windows on East Commerce street and a window will also be placed near the front on the east side. The Eastland Furniture Exchange has taken a lease on this store.

The west portion of the building, fronting on South Seaman Street, will be divided into two stores, that on the corner being 70 feet deep and have a 20-foot front, the inside store having a 16-foot front and a depth of 60 feet. There is a small, semi-detached one-story brick adjoining, also fronting on South Seaman Street, having a frontage of 14 feet and a depth of 60 feet, that will also be available for some business. It is understood that several offers have been made for these stores, but no lease on them has been made yet.

The entire building will have a new roof and new floors will be laid throughout. "We plan to make this building one of the most attractive business houses in Eastland," said Mr. Holkias. "The location is admirable for business purposes and we plan that the business houses locating in it shall be a group of which the people of Eastland will be proud."

Escaped Convict Recaptured and In Arkansas Jail

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Oct. 5.—Alvin Ireland, convict, who escaped from Imperial State prison farm when Dog Sergeant Ward was murdered and who later escaped from Fort Bend County jail after he had been given an examining trial on the murder charge, has been recaptured. Criminal Record Clerk Jordan of the State prison was advised today.

He was taken at Ashdown, Ark., by Sheriff Jas. Sanderson of Little River county. With him were two men who are ex-convicts from Texas.

Ireland was turned over to the railroad officers and will be tried for mail and express robberies which are federal offenses, before being returned to Texas officials.

"Childhood and Youth Week" In Methodist Church

The Methodist Sunday School is preparing a program of unusual interest for "Childhood and Youth Week" which begins next Sunday morning. This is a forward movement in the interest of this group, now being stressed in all of our churches. Its purpose is to stimulate more interest in our children and youth. Mrs. Bert McGlamery is the chairman of the committee having the program in charge.

Two sermons touching upon this work will be preached by the pastor, Rev. H. M. Sell, will speak in the morning at 11 o'clock on the subject of "Relation of the Church to the Education of Our Youth." Prof. R. D. Bittle will bring a message at the Young Peoples' hour, 6:30 p. m., on the subject of "Builders of the Kingdom." Dr. J. T. Wilson will speak at 7:45 on the subject, "Religious Education the Cure for Crime." You are cordially invited to all of these services.

Professor Bittle's message will be addressed to the young people but of interest to all. There will also be a special musical program. Ely's Orchestra is expected from Cisco; also a ladies' quartet and a male quartet.

There will be a social offering for the University at the evening hour.

Highway Builders Meet In Comanche

COMANCHE, Oct. 5.—One hundred representatives from towns situated on the 600-mile stretch of the Southwest Highway between Dallas and the New Mexico border concluded a meeting here yesterday after voting 40 work for surfacing of the highway and to try to obtain designation of the route as a federal road. An effort will be made to make the 600-mile route an extension of U. S. Highway No. 57 from Dallas to the New Mexico border at Presidio.

University Day Next Sunday In Church of God

The pastor of the Church of God is looking forward to a great day next Sunday as there will be a specially planned program at all services in behalf of the Warner Memorial University. All congregations of the Church of God in the Southwest will participate in observing next Sunday as "Dollar Day" for the benefit of Warner Memorial University.

The enthusiasm and interest in the progress of the University is steadily growing. All those in touch with the promotion work are encouraged. The building fund is rapidly increasing, and other advancements are being made. After a recent trip to South Texas in which Dr. Wilson visited several congregations, the Ladies' Sewing Circle of Harlingen pledged themselves to furnish completely two rooms of the dormitories. This is only a small congregation and it will mean much for those ladies to raise enough to furnish the two rooms. Other sewing circles are making preparation to furnish different articles for use in the dormitories and dining hall. Contributions have been received from twenty-one states, and several families are considering moving here.

A special program has been arranged for next Sunday, so that the people of Eastland can become better acquainted with those working with the University. The pastor, Rev. H. M. Sell, will speak in the morning at 11 o'clock on the subject of "Relation of the Church to the Education of Our Youth." Prof. R. D. Bittle will bring a message at the Young Peoples' hour, 6:30 p. m., on the subject of "Builders of the Kingdom." Dr. J. T. Wilson will speak at 7:45 on the subject, "Religious Education the Cure for Crime." You are cordially invited to all of these services.

Professor Bittle's message will be addressed to the young people but of interest to all. There will also be a special musical program. Ely's Orchestra is expected from Cisco; also a ladies' quartet and a male quartet.

There will be a social offering for the University at the evening hour.

Alleged Lyncher Placed On Trial

HOUSTON, Oct. 5.—Selection of a jury to try Charley Oldham, charged with murder in the lynching of Robert Howe, negro, was continued in district court today. Oldham went to trial yesterday after a similar case against T. J. Reese had been dismissed. Seven jurors were in the box when court convened today. Many veniremen were excused for having fixed opinion on the defendant's guilt or innocence.

Yes, Sir, She's a Marvel!

"Marvel Quivey? That's a good moniker for an actress, but what's the girl's real name?" Folks were always asking that question and they never failed to marvel somewhat skeptically when it was explained that Marvel's real name was Marvel. So when Marvel left the west coast to star in a Broadway production, she determined to change her name to something less "theatrical." So here you see Miss Marcia Manning. Just the same, she's the daughter of Claude E. Quivey, famed miniature painter.

NORTH DAKOTA MAY GIVE VOTE TO AL SMITH

Democrats Seem To Have Good Chance To Carry This State, Heretofore Strong Republican.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The past month has seen an increasing tendency in the campaign to put most of the northwest into the "doubtful" state class along with the border states and the east. Farmer discontent and the uncertain amount of political revolt which it has bred are the backbone of the theory that Smith has a chance to win such states as Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana and Nebraska and it has been thought that Wisconsin was more likely to go for Smith than any of the rest.

Senators from these states have admitted privately that the result in some of them hung on the farm relief declarations of the candidates. Smith was acquainted with this fact when he devised his Omaha speech. The speech has unquestionably strengthened Smith, but not even the politicians know whether it will switch any state's electoral vote.

The Democrats see hope in the fact that none of these six states—Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana and Nebraska—are noted for their political regularity. In fact, they are more notorious than any other group of states for their lack of it. The solid south elects Democrats for all offices. The New England states, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan and various other states almost invariably go Republican from the top of the state down.

But those six doubtful agricultural states are full of accommodation for all offices.

MAYOR TO RULE CITY FROM HIS CELL IN JAIL

"Bossy" Gillis of Newburyport, Mass. Begins His Sentence For Misdemeanor.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 5.—As prisoner No. 4886, Mayor "Bossy" Gillis will direct Newburyport municipal affairs from a cell in Salem jail during the next two months. Today the fiery-tongued ex-sailor, who for the past nine months has ruled his conservative home town with the iron hand of a Mussolini, occupied cell 79 at the county house of correction, facing 60 days' imprisonment, half of it at hard labor.

The sentence, with an additional penalty of $545 in fines, was imposed late yesterday by Superior Judge Nelson P. Brown, before whom "Bossy" pleaded guilty a week ago, to charges of unlawfully storing and selling gasoline at his own famous filling station in Newburyport. Having thrown himself upon the mercy of the court, Gillis had expected to escape with a fine but the court decided that the "bad boy" mayor must go to jail.

Jess Day Loses His Automobile, Parked In Town

Jess C. Day is looking for his automobile, a Dodge coupe, which he parked this morning on East Commerce at the side of the Texas State Bank, and which was gone when he sought it an hour later. The police have been notified to keep a watch for it.

CITY TAX RATE MADE $2.35 ON $100 VALUATION

Total Value of Property In Eastland Placed At $5,000,000. Taxes May Be Paid Monday.

Exercising economy wherever it was possible, the budget of city expenditures for the ensuing fiscal year has been completed and approved by the city commission, and the tax rate was fixed today at $2.35 on the $100 valuation. This is based on a total valuation of $5,000,000 real and personal property.

This tax rate is ten cents less than it was last year. The same ratio of property valuations has been continued, it was stated, but considerable improved property has been placed on the tax rolls. Property values previously established are virtually the same as they were last year.

At the city hall there is much activity, for the tax rolls are being computed and compiled. An extra force has been put to work and, with overtime for all, it is stated that the rolls will be completed so that the collection of city taxes may be begun next Monday morning. Even though there be a rush next Monday morning to pay city taxes it is promised that all appearing for that purpose will be accommodated.

By virtue of an ordinance recently enacted, all city taxes become due October 1st each year and may be paid, if so desired, in equal semi-annual installments, but the first installment must be paid before December 1 of the same year, else the whole tax immediately becomes delinquent and is subject to delinquent penalties and interest. If one-half the tax be paid before December 1, the other half may be paid at any time before the following April 1st before it becomes delinquent.

Railroad Wage Dispute Reaches State of Impasse

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Western railroads have reached an impasse in their negotiations with employees in the present wage dispute, Kenneth Burgess, attorney for the carriers, told President Coolidge's railroad mediation board today.

Burgess objected to the introduction of technical testimony during today's session and said that the board had only one point to decide—whether the railroad's offer to their employees had been fair.

"Testimony bearing on all other points is outside the jurisdiction of the board," Burgess said.

"YEP" AND "YEAH."
A contemporary points out what a void would be left in the American language if "yeah" were abolished. He writes:

"With Mr. St. John Ervine, dramatic critic, who objects to 'yep' and 'yeah' in American speech, we deeply sympathize. When things like that get on your nerves they get on our nerves, and that is all there is to it. But though we sympathize we do not join in his campaign to abolish these two words, for to us they are very precious.
Or at least 'yeah' is precious. 'Yep' we don't care much about, for as a matter of fact it is not, save in a few sections of the country, a part of American speech. It is one of those things, like 'wa-a-all'
and 'cal'ate' and 'jeeminy crickets', which Americans are supposed to say but don't. But 'yeah' is a part of us, and one of the finest words we have ever evolved. The trouble with Mr. Ervine is that he naively supposes, as he betrays in his articles, that it means 'yes'.
Actually it does not, or does very seldom. Of course it is derived from 'es'. But its meanings have long since departed from its derivation, as is the habit of most words. When an American merely means yes, as when the man in the next office asks whether he is ready to go to lunch, he does not say 'yep', 'yeah' or 'yes'. He says 'sure'. But when he means something that would take many words to state explicitly and thus needs a subtle word of flexible connection to express his meaning briefly he uses 'yeah'. For example:

"I seen a horse jump out of the Woolworth building today."
"Yeah."
"Now this, of course, doesn't mean 'yes'. It means 'You're a liar, but let's hear the rest of it, anyhow.' Again:
"Buddy, you bump my fender once more and see what happens to you."
"Yeah?"
"This means 'The h— you say!'" Again:
"Now, I tell you, we got to fire that kid. We got to get rid of him. He ain't no more good around here than a one-arm man trying to play a trap-drum."
"Yeah. Yeah."
"This means 'You're right, of course, but I'll find some way to wrangle out of it.' Again:
"Well, now, you'll admit that Hoover done a lot for the Belgians, won't you?"
"Yeah. Oh, yeah."
"This means 'Lord knows what you're talking about, but anything to make you stop.'"
"The glossary could be extended indefinitely. But the point to be noted is that if an American were deprived of 'yeah' he would be very miserable. He could not carry on conversation one-tenth with the persons he is talking to, the other nine-tenths with himself."

NORTH DAKOTA MAY GIVE VOTE TO SMITH

plished ticket-splitter. They're proud of it, too. Few political observers will be surprised this year if Minnesota, for instance, elects a Farmer-Labor senator and a Republican governor and casts its presidential vote for a Democrat.
Wisconsin will elect progressive Bob La Follette as senator, a conservative for governor, probably a Socialist congressman and perhaps on top of that go for Smith —the list virtually represents four parties.
Discretion prevents further suggestions about what such states may do. Smith is the big question mark in all of them. In none of them can his victory or defeat yet be considered certain, although his chances are by no means equally tight in each. They have 47 electoral votes.
Your correspondent hastens on to review the unusually peculiar situation which exists in North

The Kind of "Hurricane" We Need Now!

Dakota and affords an excellent example of the kind of thing that can happen in states where the ticket-splitter or independents hold a definite balance of power.
The facts have not been widely printed.

Governor Walter Maddock, Republican, recently announced his candidacy to succeed himself—on the Democratic ticket! The duly nominated Democrat withdrew to make way for him. The normal Democratic vote in North Dakota is about 20,000, though Davis had only 14,000 of some 200,000 cast in 1924. Thus Maddock, if he is to win, apparently will find his vote 80 per cent composed of ticket-splitters.

One is also surprised to learn that Senator Frazier and Nye, Republicans, will in all probability support Maddock for the governorship against his Republican opponent, George Shafer. At this writing, some well-informed North Dakotans say, Shafer appears to have a slight edge on Maddock.
But the Nye-Frazier support is very likely to put him over.

One also hears that Frazier will be at least tacitly supported by Maddock, while F. F. Burchard, the Democratic senatorial nominee, who is accountant of the State Mill and so right under Governor Maddock, will refrain from public protest.

Democratic scouts in North Dakota have predicted that Maddock's jump to the Democratic ticket would carry the state for Smith in November, but that doesn't follow. Maddock is regarded as pro-Smith and is expected to campaign for Smith, but Frazier and Nye prefer Hoover and have said so.
Maddock's personal popularity may swing many votes to Smith, but the others who will decide the destiny of the state's electoral vote are going to vote for president without regard to any other contest. That's the way they do and this year no candidate's fate is bound up with another's.

The speedy Whitehall went in as the final quarter began and dashed off tackle 20 yards. Hammett went through the same opening for 15. A 15-yard penalty set the Bulldogs back on the next play but Whitehall gained 10 and Hammett five yards. Whitehall, in two plays, made the remaining 12 yards for a score. The kick was low.

Taking to the air, the Bulldogs made quick progress—Whitehall to Hammett for 15, and Hammett to Bowden for 23. Bowden dragging two tacklers five yards.
But the Blizzards obtained the ball on downs on their four-yard line and punted.

Hammett made a 10-yard return of the kick, then passed to McLaughlin for 11 yards and Whitehall went off tackle for seven yards and a touchdown. Goal was kicked.

The final score of the game was the most spectacular play of the day. Hammett faked a pass, faked a run, then shot a pass for 35 yards to Whitehall for a touchdown.

Winters, deserves special commendation for his sterling defensive work.

The lineups: Winters—Collingsworth and Hardegree, ends; Williams and Kelly, tackles; Smith, center; Hill, quarter; Bishop and Baldwin, halfbacks; Orr, full.
Ranger—Tully and Mills, ends;
T. Himman and Love, tackles;

BOYS FROM 20 CITIES ENTER TINY AIRCRAFT

Finals of National Tournament In Atlantic City, Friday and Saturday.

By United Press.
NEW YORK.—Fifty-nine boys in 20 cities have qualified for the finals of the National Playground Miniature Aircraft Tournament to be held in Atlantic City Oct. 5 and 6.

The successful boys have been chosen under the auspices of a national committee of which Col.
Chas. A. Lindbergh, Commander
Richard E. Byrd, and others prominent in aviation are members, on the basis of flight records of models made in local trials early this month. Every boy made and launched his own plane.

Boston and Washington tied for first place in the number of boys qualifying, Boston having four juniors and four seniors and Washington five juniors and three seniors. Chicago placed five; Elmira, N. Y., four, and the remaining cities from one to three.

Among the seniors, Herbert Dorsey of Washington and Edward Marcouiller of Evanston, Ill., led in qualifying in the greatest number of events. Each placed in six out of the ten. Edward Harris of Evanston led the juniors by qualifying in six events.
George Bell of Washington and Robert Loper of Topeka, Kans., were second among the juniors with four events each.

Some remarkable flights were made in the preliminaries. Mar-couiller, junior champion last year who constructed a device for dropping a parachute from a model airplane, secured a flight of 75 seconds for a "rising-off-the-water" model. Dismay mingled with pride in the breast of Donald Shetland of Providence when the work of many weeks headed straight out over Narragansett Bay and was lost to view.

Awards of silver cups will be given senior and junior championships and medals to other winners by the magazine Popular Aviation.

The 20 cities which qualified boys for the Atlantic City finals are: Baltimore, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit, Elmira, (N. Y.), Evanston, Ill., Glendale, Knoxville, Muncie, (Ind.), Montclair (N. J.), Oak Park (Ill.), Peru, (Ind.), Providence, Pittsburgh, Reading, San Diego, San Francisco, Topeka and Washington.

BICYCLES CONTINUE TO GAIN IN POPULARITY

By United Press.
LONDON.—The advent of the automobile sounded the death knell of the horse, but the bicycle is offering a much more stubborn resistance.

Every year an official census of traffic at Milford, Surrey, crossroads is taken during the four days of the Goodwood races, and this year the figures are significant.

Analyzed under nine headings, the traffic showed a reduction under only one—that of horse-drawn vehicles.

A year ago these numbered 474.
This year the total was 452.
Pedal cyclists increased by 52 to 6,209.

There were 2,108 more automobiles on the road, the total being 18,971.

Charabanes jumped from 2,119 to 2,304; motor-cycles from 2,948 to 3,147, motor buses from 424 to 505.

In eight years the total number of vehicles which passes this point during the four days of the race meet has grown by 20,647.

Charges Against Sailors Dropped

By United Press.
GALVESTON, Oct. 5.—Cases against three sailors of the British steamship Mabay, jailed here in connection with the death at sea of two Chinese stowaways, have been dropped. Immigrant Inspector Lindsay announced.

There is lack of sufficient evidence to show that the men are guilty of a conspiracy to smuggle Chinese into the country, he said.

Eleven Chinese were found beneath the bunkers of the vessel last Saturday. Two were dead and nine were unconscious, due to failure of the air supply.

Manager of Buffs Resigns From Club

By United Press.
HOUSTON, Oct. 5.—Frank Snyder, who led the Houston Buffs to their first Dixie Series title this year, resigned today.

Snyder, a former major league catcher with the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants, declined to discuss his reasons other than to say that there was a wide difference of opinion between him and President Fred Ankenman of the Houston team.

Ankenman's only comment was
"I believe Frank acted hastily."

VERDICT OF SUICIDE

By United Press.
SHREVEPORT, Oct. 5.—Deputy Coroner Hall, of Caddo Parish, today returned a verdict of suicide in the death of J. H. Norvell, 36, of Greenwood, a deputy sheriff and store manager. Norvell was found dead following the destruction of the store by fire. The widow and four children survive.

Prisoner In Jail Seriously Burned

By United Press.
MIDLAND, Texas, Oct. 5.— Yancey Pearce, Midland county prisoner who was burned Tuesday when the bedding in his cell was ignited by flaming disinfectant, still is in a critical condition in a local hospital. More than one-third of his skin was burned off in the fire. His recovery is considered doubtful.

The fire occurred a few hours after Pearce was told that he was to be taken to the Penitentiary to serve a term for auto theft.

A REAL VICTOR

Brains, brawn and teamwork are behind the success of the football star. They enable him to gain the distance that is necessary to put the ball over for a touchdown. It took brains to refine a gasoline which is knockless without being compounded with poisonous chemicals.

Brawn, or extra power, is in every gallon of Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK Gasoline. Perfect teamwork (explosions of the right speed and timing) enables it to give power that is like a steady push—performance that is a victory. For high compression motors and motors that knock.

JUNIOR INTERMEDIATE MISSION CLASS DATES
The Junior Intermediate Mission class of the Presbyterian church has been having a difficult time in trying to find some day for meeting other than Saturday, but week day affairs during school time being necessarily held at or after four o'clock, and several of these already in effect, the young folks decided to have a session every two weeks and meet on the same day of year, Saturday in the Presbyterian church at the same hour, 1:30.

Mrs. James Horton is the able and efficient teacher of the class.

THURSDAY BRIDGE CLUB MEETS
Mrs. Edward E. Freyschlag was at home to the Thursday Afternoon Bridge Club, entertaining with charm, the first club meeting of the season. Beautiful blossoms were scattered throughout the attractive home, and the four bridge tables were prettily dressed in matching score pads and tallies. High score favor, a handsome pottery jar, was awarded Mrs. Homer Brelsford, Jr., and guest high score favor, long silk-lined scent covers for dresses, went to Mrs. Betsy of West Virginia.

A delicious tea was served of chicken salad, potato flakes, sandwiches, olives, cake and ice cream, and tea was poured by Mrs. O. D. Caldwell. Club members present were: Mmes. Garrett Bohning, Homer Brelsford, Jr., James H. Cheatham, George A. Davison, O. C. Funderburk, Harry Brelsford, J. E. Lewis, Milburn McCarty, John D. McKee, Beall Smith, Jack Williamson, Curtis A. Hertig, and O. D. Caldwell.

Wednesday. His mother will remain until her son has entirely recovered.

WILMA BEARD IN C. U. GLEE CLUB
A clipping from the Fort Worth Record Telegram of Thursday carries the following story, made interesting here, because of Miss Wilma Beard, one of our home town girls, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Beard:

Forty-five girls have been selected as eligible for the Girls' Glee Club at Texas Christian University. Paul Klingstedt, head of voice department, is sponsor for the club. This is one of the outstanding organizations of the school, making tours over the state and giving local concerts.

At the first rehearsal the following candidates, reported: Maxie Keith, Wilma Beard, Marjorie Miller, Velma Smith, Jesse Hawkins, Elizabeth Yeager, Angeline Jones, Frances Shytle, Mary Jane Bowden, Elizabeth Latchington, Joe Ella Butler, Helen Boren, Carolyn Durham, Jeana Gibson, Virginia Knox, Marjorie Sutherland, Allene Scott, Corinne Brown, Elizabeth Strayhorn, Rita Mae Hall, Adeline Wilson, Frances Strong, Mabel Cline, Mildred Austin, Leora Bennett, Josephine Collins, Eval Day, Helen Henderson, Edith Kelsey, Annette Leathman, Helen Moore, Mildred Meggs, Meta May Shaw, Katherine Williams, Edith Armstrong and Helen Heath.

PARISIANS MUST SLEEP
PARIS.—When taxicab drivers failed to heed the police warning to discontinue sounding their motor horns, between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock in the morning to allow Parisians to sleep uninterrupted, special police squads were stationed at street corners and arrested 101 drivers in one night and 48 the next.

BUSINESS MEN IN U. S. JIBED FOR OVERWORK

Playground Association Speaker Says Americans are Not Well Rounded.

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 4.—Well-rounded men are not bred in this country. A. Edward Newton of Philadelphia, retired manufacturer of electric supplies and author, told the annual Congress of the Playground and Recreation Association of America here last night.

"Why is it that men who have more money than they can wisely spend continue to work as though not one of them knows where his next limousine is coming from? These men belong to the class which, a few years ago, we called captains of industry. Actually, the corporals and second lieutenants are just as good, and when the captains drop dead of heart disease, their places are immediately taken by younger men who do their jobs better."

Only in America would a national conference on recreation be necessary, according to Mr. Newton, who said that "work has become second nature to us since the time when our ancestors came over with an axe in one hand, a gun in the other, and a Bible in the other, to work and to pray."

"We work because we have never taught ourselves to play," the speaker continued. "One thing for which I admire Roosevelt was his many-sidedness. He was a reader and a writer, but he was very much more. He knew trees and birds and game, big and little. He was, I believe, no fisherman, for a fisherman must be quiet. He led as well as preached a strenuous life."

Citing the varied accomplishments and recreations of England's great men, the speaker stated, "No six, perhaps, no 60 men in this country could rival Viscount Eryce in the length and breadth and thickness of his interests." His recommendation for the use of leisure was that people ought to do the sporting thing themselves and not be content with seeing it done and paying for the privilege.

Presbyterians of South to Have a Rally Day Oct. 7

Pastors and members of Southern Presbyterian churches everywhere are making intensive plans for the best observation of church-wide rally day in the interest of Sunday school extension on Oct. 7 ever held in the church. The object of rally day is to teach the value of and the support of the extension work being conducted by the executive committee of religious education, of which R. E. Magill is executive secretary and Dr. Gilbert Glass, editor-in-chief of publications, with headquarters at Richmond, Va. The financial objective is $100,000. Fifty-four field workers, whose salaries were paid in part or whole, were used by this department last year, and 38 young women for part-time work during the summer.

The report to the last meeting of the general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church, held in Atlanta, Ga., in May, made by this committee, indicated that 1,450 schools were visited by workers sent out under the supervision of the committee, and that 14,473 homes were visited, 690 young people's organizations, 97 standard training schools were held, 63 young people's rallies, 2,776 conferences with workers, and a total of 228,283 miles traveled by the workers. Other activities included organization of young people's societies, home departments, cradle rolls, adult classes, workers' councils, new churches and Sunday schools.

Speaking of the importance of this day, Mr. Magill, the executive secretary, says: "Our church and Sunday schools face a challenge of giving religious privileges and training to our share of the multitude of neglected children of the south, and rally day brings a new opportunity to give a practical expression of our interest in this great enterprise."

Oct. 7 will be used as a rally day for all church activities and organizations, including the men's organizations, the women's auxiliaries, young people's societies, prayer meeting and rallies in the interest of church attendance.

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

MOM'N POP

WHIRLWIND
COPYRIGHT 1928 BY NEA SERVICE INC.
ELEANOR EARLY

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Sybil Thorne, recuperating from her father's death and various affairs of the heart, sails for Cuba with Mabel Blake, a social worker, admittedly on a man hunt. Mabel longs for marriage. But Sybil, though she is more or less engaged to Craig Newhall, the wealthiest young bachelor in Boston, is filled with misgivings.

When she was very young Sybil fell desperately in love with John Lawrence, who went to France with the A. E. F. and never returned. After his death she sought forgetfulness in such reckless fashion that society gasped at her indiscretions.

When Craig begs her to marry him she implores time to think things over; and leaves Boston, thoroughly distracted, about the time her brother Tad returns with his frivolous little bride from their wedding trip.

Now go on with the story:

CHAPTER XI

It was the evening of the second day, and Mabel began to feel ill. "I'm going to lie down," she told Sybil. "It would be so ghastly to die on deck."

The Joneses—mother and daughter—had already retired. Miss Wiggins, a trifle green, took deep breaths of ocean air and made desperate conversation with Mr. Winsor. Father Finn was reading his office as though nothing troubled him.

"It's blowing up," announced Mabel nervously, "and I'll bet it's going to storm. If I get any sicker I'm going to jump overboard."

Mrs. Parkins sat up straighter, to her mouth, folded her baby dresses deliberately. And, suddenly appreciating the advantages of haste, dropped her work basket and lumbered frantically within. The pretty Corrales giggled.

"Me and grandma," muttered Mabel, and caught her feet unsteadily. "Tell the Senoritas, Sib, I'll kill 'em when able."

They laughed heartlessly as she stumbled past. Beyond words, Mabel shook her fist at them and made hurried flight.

"If you would lie down," suggested Sybil, "you'd feel better."

"If I could die I'd feel better," Mabel turned her face to the wall.

"Go away," she implored. "Go away and let me die."

There was a knock at the door. "Kill him," ordered Mabel weakly. "Whoever it is, kill him."

"Mr. Arnold and Mr. Eustis send their compliments," the steward said, "and would Miss Blake and Miss Thorne join them this evening in the captain's cabin for a game of bridge?"

commanded shrilly. "Last night, after you were asleep, I went out on deck. And there he was in my deck chair. We got to talking. He said he'd like to talk to me. We did a marathon around those decks and my ear, I bet I lost 10 pounds. Then—the moon was perfectly wonderful—and he's the best looking thing, Sib!"

"Mabel Blake! How did you know he was out there?"

Sybil dodged the pillow. Mabel threw and produced a pair of stockings. "They're beautifully sheer," she pronounced, running her hand through them expertly. "But you'll have to depilate your legs. Tell me, Mabel, how did you know it?"

"Oh, I pumped the steward, if you must know," confessed Mabel. "He said that Mr. Eustis spent the night before on deck, and slept most all day. The steward thought he was kind of queer, I guess. But the poor man's got insomnia. And, besides, he's writing a book."

Sybil chuckled. "I'll hand it to you, Mabel. I suppose the lamb never suspected you were stalking him all through the stilly night? Did he tell you the story of his life?"

"Well, I know he's a Harvard man, and his people had barrels of money, but they lost it during the war."

"That's what they all say. Was he in service?"

"No, he's got a bum lung. He handled a lot of Liberty Loan publicity, though."

"Three cheers for our hero!"

mine? The very thing for a pretty little flapper with cheeks like apple blossoms. Well, the girl got it on my head and I took one look in the mirror. "Take it away," I said. "That wasn't ever meant for me." "Why, the idea!" she says. "It suits you perfectly." "That pink tulle against my read head!" I said. "It's precious!" she murmured.

"That darn hat cost $25 and I haven't worn it five times. Remember the funny bonnets horses used to wear? Well, that's what I feel like—an old dray horse tricked out in a fancy bonnet. Where's that perfume you were talking about? You know, dear, I do believe these pointed heels make your ankles look slimmer. How much do you pay for stockings like this? Well, you look charming, Sib. Is it too early to go up now?"

"No, I don't think so. I'm a pretty punk bridge player, you know, Mabel."

"That's all right by me, dear. The punker you are the better little Mabel will look. Now, be a good girl, Sib, and don't pull any Lorelei stuff on Mr. Eustis. Remember I saw him first!"

HYSTERICAL

South Carolina Lady Then Tried Cardui and Says She Noticed Remarkable Improvement.

Anderson, S. C.—"I suffered a long long time, before I tried Cardui, and my only regret is that I did not know about it sooner," says Mrs. Lillie Pruitt, 130 "E" Street, this city.

"I was badly run down in health. My nerves 'went to pieces,' and I had to go to bed. I was not able to do my house work for many months."

"I got so bad off, I could not bear to have anybody walk across the floor of my room. The least little thing upset me. Sometimes I became hysterical. I had had pains in my back and sides, and my head and limbs would take spells of aching, which almost set me wild."

"One day I was reading and I saw where a woman, who had a trouble like my own, had been relieved by Cardui. I decided at once to try it, so I began on a course of the 'Home Treatment.'"

"It began to help me from the very first. I took Cardui regularly, for several months, and my improvement was so remarkable, that my family and friends were delighted."

"Cardui has no equal, in my opinion. I gladly recommend it to others."

1925 BRECK- EASTLAND GAME A "THRILLER"

Started the Mavericks on Winning Course Against the Bucaroos.

One of the greatest games that the Eastland Mavericks ever played was in opening the conference season in 1925 when—in a brilliant victory over the Breckenridge Bucaroos—the Eastland team shattered a jinx that Breck had exercised over them for several seasons and in return put the "Indian sign" on the Bucaroos—for, since that fateful October day the Breckenridge team has never been able to defeat Eastland.

The two teams met in 1924 at Breckenridge and the Bucaroos won, 28 to 3. When they played in 1925, the lineups of each team were almost exactly the same as the year before. Therefore you would naturally think that the score would be about the same. And it was—27 to 3. But this time, it was in favor of Eastland. The reason? Fight! Fight! Fighting the game for all they were worth!

The 1925 struggle opened in a manner that indicated it was going to be a victory for Breckenridge. Early in the struggle, Ham Harrison, 200-pound fullback, plowed the Maverick line for nine yards. He hit it for seven more. He made four on the next play. And then the Mavericks began fighting. They stopped him at the line of scrimmage on the next play. Zaratofotis, a fast ball-carrier, tried an end-run but was smeared. Then he tried the statue of liberty fake but the man taking the ball was stopped cold. Fourth down, 10 yards to go and the ball on Eastland's 18-yard line. So Zaratofotis kicked a field goal, giving Breck a lead of 3-0.

Breckenridge kicked off. Volney Day, Maverick end, caught the ball on his 20-yard line and raced down the sidelines with Ed T. Cox and John Ross Williamson running interference and when he was brought down, he had run 78 yards and the ball was on Breckenridge's two-yard line. On the next play, Cox plunged through for a touchdown. But this was only the beginning. Touchdown followed touchdown for Eastland, until the Mavericks had rolled up 27 points. On the other hand, Breckenridge never got started. The speedy Zaratofotis, when attempting end runs, would be smothered by from one to four men and though he had a reputation for being as strong as a block of granite, he was dazed and started wandering off the field. Time after time the Mavericks tackled so hard that the Breck ball-carriers fumbled and Eastland recovered.

If the Mavericks could have played such inspired football in every game that season they would have won the championship of half the state. The members of the 1928 Mavericks were mere lads when that 1925 game was played but they saw it and they will be fighting Friday to uphold the traditions of the Mavericks of 1925-26-27 who kept Eastland's record free of defeat at the hands of the Bucaroos.

Hooks and Slides

Two More Years for Bob Bobby Jones, according to his intimate friend, O. B. Keeler, may retire from public competition after two more campaigns.

Writing after Jones had made a holy show of the field in the recent national amateur championship, Keeler said the rising young barrister was making plans for a future that would carry his public career through the 1930 season.

He wants to go to England with the Walker cup team in 1930 and play in the British amateur and open championships.

And if he should cop the two British titles it would put him in an elegant spot to retire.

Here's That Handicap Jones has been insisting for several years that his career as a barrister would have to make his golf secondary and that as a hustling young counselor he would not have the time to practice shots.

It is possible, however, that a busy young lawyer could find two weeks of the year at his disposal for golf and he might devote a week each to the open and amateur championship tournaments.

If he went into the big classics without any kind of practice it might serve as a self-imposed handicap and the golf boys do say that Jones will have to be penalized with some kind of a handicap if the other players are to have any kind of a chance when he gets to be about 30 and has begun to learn something about the game.

The Mighty Do Fall Bill Klem, who gates half players by the dozen when they call him "Catfish," admits that he is the world's greatest umpire.

In fact, he told a number of ball players down south several years ago that he had never missed one and that as long as he remained in the business he never would call one wrong.

But he fell down in a recent game between the Giants and Pirates, and his self-claimed record was spoiled by Dolly Stark, a freshman umpire of the circuit. Klem was calling balls and strikes and Stark was on first base. The batter bunted and Klem waved it safe. At the same time Stark waved it a foul ball.

The two umpires went into a huddle and Klem reversed himself.

What, No Brains! Some of the smart American League ball players like the chances of the Yankees in the world series better than those of the Athletics.

They say that Mack is still experimenting at first and third bases and that the Philadelphia pitchers are long on fast balls, but short on brains.

Firpo Training For Another Try In the Prize Fighting Arena

BY LESTER ZIFFREN United Press Staff Correspondent BUENOS AIRES.—The "Wild Bull of the Pampas," who became the tame, prosperous motor-car salesman, is preparing to make his third bow before United States fight audiences.

Luis Angel Firpo—the smallest thing about him is his name—erstwhile heavyweight challenger, is doing the daily dozen with sparring partners et al in an effort to pare his weight and regain fighting condition.

Firpo said that Tex Rickard has jingled $400,000 in his ears for three fights, the third of which possibly would be for the championship. With Gene Tunney retired and the heavyweight throne unoccupied, the Argentine believes he has a chance to win the title he apparently had in his grasp that memorable night in September, 1923, when he drove Jack Dempsey through the ropes.

Firpo, after his return from the United States, announced that he would resume training, but has never undertaken it seriously. Then Rickard voiced his enticing offer. Firpo said, and now he's devoting much of his time to getting into trim again, three years after Dempsey dimmed his aspirations.

Strenuous Training

In the mornings he walks several kilometers and attends to his prospering business as a dealer of Stutz motor cars. The afternoons find him in the gymnasium going through calisthenics, bag-punching, rope-skipping and sparring. Among his sparring partners is Blackie Miller, Australian heavyweight.

The "Wild Bull" still lives up to his name. Comb and brush apparently have never touched his head as the wiry hair hangs over his brow. Although he wears good clothes, he makes no pretense of competing with Buenos Aires' examples of what the well-dressed man should wear. When the United Press correspondent saw Firpo, the latter was downing a meal that would have taxed the capacity of two ordinary men.

Firpo said he weighed 235 pounds and expected to cut down the size of his waistline considerably. He recalled that he weighed 231 pounds when he defeated Hermínio Spalla, former heavyweight champion of Europe, after returning from his second and last trip to the United States.

Plans Comeback at 33

The Argentine battler, commenting on his training activities, said that "I cannot say anything regarding my physical condition at present as I am in the preliminary stages of my training. I think I can get back into condition again, as I am only 33 years old and have conserved all of my vitality. The age of a boxer is not a great obstacle when he lives as methodically and cleanly as I do. I do not smoke or drink."

Firpo said he regarded both Tunney and Dempsey as great boxers, but admired the latter more, saying he is more scientific and the possessor of marvelous vitality. He believes Jack Sharkey and Johnny Risko are the outstanding candidates at present for Tunney's title.

SIMMONS AND T. C. U. MEET ON SATURDAY

Breckenridge is Scene of Battle That Has Entire Oil Belt Excited.

ABILENE, Oct. 4.—With the whole squad in good shape with the exception of Hyde, quarterback and half, the Simmons university Cowboys will leave Friday for Breckenridge where they will meet the T. C. U. Horned Frogs Saturday in their first big battle of the season. This hard game will be followed up next week by another when the Cowboys meet the Mustangs from Southern Methodist university at Wichita Falls.

After pointing for four weeks for the Horned Frogs, the Cowboys are in fair shape to meet the Fort Worth team, though they will be battling against a more experienced and seasoned team.

"We have a team in the making," stated Coach Frank Bridges, Cowboy mentor, this week. "But whether or not they will be made by Saturday—that is a question."

And the diminutive Simmons mentor seemed to indicate that he thought they would not. Looking for every chance, however, and playing a hard defensive game, the Cowboys expect to give the Horned Frogs a battle with some possibility of pulling a victory out of the fire.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 4.—Some new faces will be seen in the starting lineup for Texas Christian university next Saturday when they take the field for their game with the Simmons Cowboys. When Matty Bell had just about decided on his first team, some of his third-stringers flashed such good football in the Frog game with Daniel Baker that a complete revision was necessary.

Howard Grubbs, Kemp, will start for the Frogs at quarter. This is Howard's second year, but he was so handicapped by an injured leg last season that he saw little action. This year he is one of the outstanding backs on the Bell list. Frog fans are still talking of how the boy from Kemp passed, ran and managed the Frog team in their first two games of the season.

Sent into the fray on both occasions as substitute quarter, Howard proved to be the "spark plug" that the Purple machine needed. His broken field running and his ability to pick holes in the opposition's line were the outstanding features of the game.

Saturday, Howard will start against the Cowboys. His ability to bark signals distinctly, with an eye open to weaknesses in the defensive line, assures him of a berth on the starting eleven. His passing and his punt-catching qualities will also be a great asset to the Belmen.

Weakling Likely to Be Better Athlete Than Strong Youth

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The weak, undersized boy who takes up wrestling, boxing or any other one-man sport has a better chance of becoming a skilled athlete than the youth who has inherited the strength of an ox.

That's George Bothner's view, and Bothner should know. For 20 years he was undefeated lightweight wrestling champion of the world. As coach at the New York Athletic club, Columbia and Princeton he has trained thousands of youngsters. Although he never weighed more than 135 pounds he has thrown more than double his weight out of the ring.

But as a boy of 14 Bothner was both undersized and anemic, he relates. It is to his handicaps that he credits one of the most remarkable careers in athletic history.

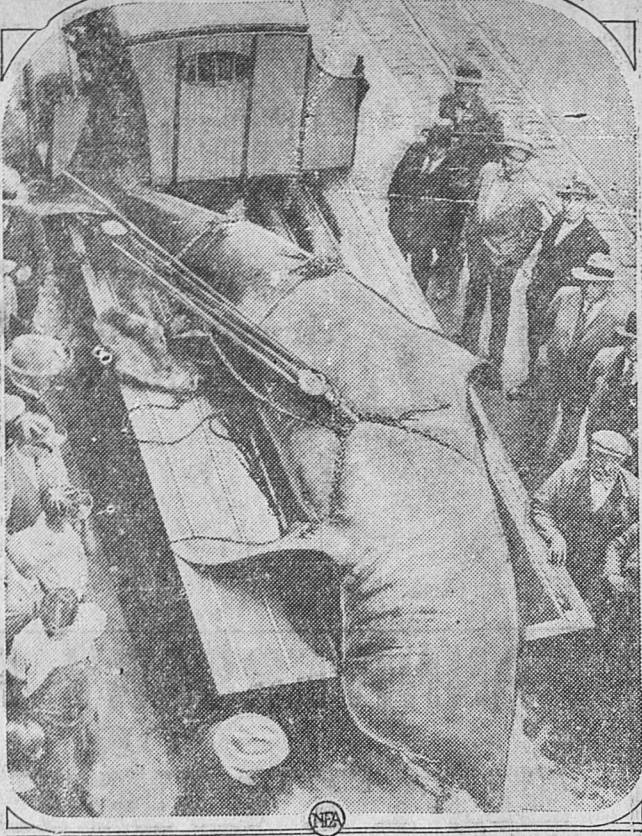

"When I began, I was weak and small and the only way I could hold my own was through skill," he explained. "The ordinary wrestler, usually a naturally strong fellow, does not care to master the intricacies of his art. He relies on a few pet holds and the natural strength which encourages him to take up the sport."

The result is that the little fellow, who has to learn all he can master of skill and craft to make up for his handicaps, frequently makes the big bull-like wrestler look foolish. Bothner points out. The same point, he believes, applies to boxing and other sports.

Bothner, who retired from the competitive game in 1919 when he was past 40, boasts a record of achievement and courage which is unique in athletic annals. In one match he stayed on the mat for eight hours at a stretch. In another he wrestled for more than three hours and secured a draw, although he was protecting a broken rib throughout. When he weighed 130 he hurled George Schnabel, a 220-pounder, out of the ring.

In one of the few matches he lost in 20 years, Bothner grappled with Youssouf, the original "Terrible Turk," who neither spoke nor understood English. The Turk weighed 260 pounds and the lightweight champion around 130. The little fellow, hurled off the mat by the Turk, was ordered to take the center of the mat by the referee. As he dropped his guard to obey, the Turk, unable to understand the order, picked him up, then crashed him to the floor. "For a week my head was so twisted around that I looked east when I walked north," recalls Bothner.

Six Thousand Pounds of Shark

NEA San Francisco Bureau

"A whale of a shark!" said Captain Hugo Paladini, master of a Pacific Coast fishing trawler, when his crew hauled aboard this 6000-pound shark after a five-hour battle 250 miles off Point Reyes, Calif. Twenty shots were fired into its body and the fish leaped as high as 30 feet out of the water several times during the struggle.

Sewanee's Speed Will Be the Chief Threat to Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—Thirty-five men may make the trip to Dallas for the Aggie-Sewanee battle this week end, though minor injuries and the possibility of a greater cut in the present number than is expected now may reduce the number. Sewanee is already on its way to Dallas with twenty-five men in the purple squad, assuring the Aggies the greater reserve strength if the coaches adhere to present plans to have three full teams on the field at Fair Park Saturday afternoon.

So far both elevens have proved more adept at defensive play than offense. Each has an unscathed season to date and Saturday's game will probably be a test of which offense has progressed most since last Saturday. But both teams have more under cover than they have flashed in any game this year.

The Aggies are fairly well satisfied with the defensive play of the newly made mid-line and what will be looked for most eagerly in the Sewanee battle will be its improvement on offense. The tackles are getting through well to rush the passer. Incidentally, it looks as if a Dallas boy, Ewell, one of A. Y. Loos' Forest High graduates, is going to be worth watching in his work at forward this season. He has proved adaptable to the Aggie style of play and, while not large, is giving a very good account of himself in the line.

Sewanee will probably start a veteran backfield against the Aggies. Autin, Schofield, and Reuben Bean, all three of whom have participated in the last two games at Dallas, will probably form the three starting backs, though one youngster, Charlie Boys from Galveston, will probably get the assignment at quarter.

Bean is the only reasonably heavy back in this group but like Peteet, his understudy, he has a lot of power in driving off tackle or at the mid-line. Sewanee in the main, however, will depend on speed and the Aggies have drilled this week more against a deceptive running and passing game than a plunging one.

Mills is on the Oklahoma U Team

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 4.—Twenty-five members of the University of Oklahoma football squad were all set to leave this afternoon for Bloomington, Ind., where Saturday they will meet the University of Indiana in the only contest scheduled for this year between a member of the newly formed Big Six and the Big Ten conferences.

Facing a veteran line that carried Hoosier colors through most of last year's games, will be a Sooner wall made up of four sophomores and three veterans, only one of which has played more than one year for Oklahoma. Coach Ad Lindsey said he probably would start a backfield that includes three lefts and one sophomore.

Churchill, right end; H. Berry, right guard, and Captain Hamilton are the veteran linemen who probably will start the game.

Mills, sophomore fullback, is expected to team with the veterans, Cridder and Haskins, halfbacks and Mayhew, quarterback.

SAVES AMMUNITION. MILWAUKEE, Wis.—S. J. Hagie, member of the Milwaukee police force, bagged three big mallard ducks without firing a shot. Hagie left his garage door open in the wee hours when he came off his beat. Shortly afterward he returned and found three ducks flapping about in the rafters of the building.

fect protection. Since both of these events were precedent making affairs in 1928 football history for Abilene High, it is possible that Dewey Mayhew may give his men a holiday this afternoon.

Or Maybe He Won't.

It is possible, and more so on the other hand, that they will be out there trying more passes, for an aerial is something which Abilene has to develop before the class A season comes down on them two weeks hence in the visit of the Eastland Mavericks.

Coleman will be here this Friday. If the Eagles offense is ever to get going it should demonstrate such potentialities this week-end in a respectable score, for as resistance to a class A team, Coleman should be practically null and void.

Abilene is moving along with as big a list of injuries as if the team had really done something. Salkeld is afflicted with bad bruises on one shin and partook delicately of Tuesday's skirmish. Jake Bentley, the other wing guardian, also has dire ailments of some variety that keep him on the sidelines.

Another Baldwin.

Minus Salkeld and Bentley, Mayhew converted Smoky Adams into an end and called upon Roland Baldwin to occupy the other conclusion. Roland is not the Baldwin that was hurt in the Anson game. He is his brother. Roland has only recently deserted San Angelo and cast his lot with the Eagles. There is no telling what kind of a football player he may be, but he does credit to the track uniform. The injured Baldwin, Hubert's first name, is not in football attire yet. He has been on his feet for several days, however, and will probably don the mole skins again before the end of the week.

There are the makings of a great wall in the several tons of bones and scrap meat out there and along about the first of November the Eagles may be boasting of a good line, even though there is nothing else to go with it.

Baker and Perry Barber have exhibited commendable offensive ability, and Butcher Black is putting forth honest and successful endeavor particularly on defense.

This is your opportunity to learn many cooking secrets of famous chefs. As in every other line of human endeavor, there are little "tricks" that make a "whale" of a difference in the finished product. Just so is it in cooking and here at this FREE school you may learn many new recipes that can be used to turn out tasty foods of entirely new and different flavors.

All of this does not mean increased grocery bill either!—Just better eating at a lesser cost. Come. See and hear for yourself. It costs you nothing. Bring your friends to these instructive classes.

Smith Now Throws the Passes in the Eagles' Offense

ABILENE, Oct. 4.—Believe it or not, we now have Altman Smith as a nominee for triple threat honors on the Abilene High school football team.

Although Altman may never get to first base with his kicking and passing, he has been tried on the former once this season without calamitous results, and the least that could be said about his leaving is that it can be no worse than that of the other Eagles tried to date.

On a very slippery field and with a ball of the same description the Eagles scrimmaged for some hours yesterday. Smith threw or tried to throw the passes. Out of 30 attempts, Smith got perfect protection; out of the same 30 attempts Smith and a receiver completed one without pered and recognized by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and the Automotive Equipment Association and will be the only one of its kind to be held in the entire South. Other similar exhibitions and demonstrations will be held later in the fall and winter in connection with the National Automobile shows in New York and Chicago.

Following somewhat along the lines of the first Southwestern Automotive Clinic held a year ago at the State Fair, this year's exhibition has been greatly expanded in size and will present a complete exhibition and demonstration of the latest garage and service station equipment designed to promote efficiency and accuracy in the repair and maintenance of motor vehicles. The equipment clinic will occupy 2,000 square feet of floor space in the huge Automobile and Manufacturers' building and will be separated from the extensive display of new passenger and commercial cars and airplanes only by a low open wire fence.

Twenty-five of the leading manufacturers of automotive equipment and tools will exhibit and demonstrate their products under the direction of the three Dallas jobbers and each exhibit will be in charge of a factory-trained specialist sent to Dallas to explain and demonstrate the edvices on display. This is being done at a great expense in the belief that motor vehicle owners of Texas and the Southwest, as well as men actively engaged in the servicing and maintenance of motor vehicles are vitally interested in studying the progress that has been made in motor vehicle maintenance.

No restrictions have been placed upon attendance at the exhibition and demonstrations and the general public, as well as automotive mechanics, garage and service station operators, shop foremen, service managers and automobile dealers will be welcomed at all times during the State Fair period.

Recognizing the fact that manufacturers of motor vehicles are building more service and a longer life of usefulness into their products, the motor owning public is demanding more of its motor transportation. It is to meet this demand that retail service men are endeavoring to assure more economical use of motor vehicles over a longer period of years by providing preventive maintenance and precision repair work. Only by the utilization of such tools and equipment as will be demonstrated at the Dallas Equipment show can this be accomplished. For the automobile or commercial car owner the Dallas equipment clinic will prove a liberal education in modern methods of maintaining their cars and a sample of what should be expected of a modern repair shop or service station where the car is taken for service. For the men who make their living from the repair and maintenance of motor vehicle the Dallas show will provide a clinic where they can study the most approved methods of service by the use of money-making equipment and tools which improve the quality of work turned out, and at the same time increase shop or station efficiency and reduce labor costs. The factory-trained specialists in charge of each exhibit will be on hand to place their training and experience at the disposal of any man in the service business who desires to increase the efficiency of his shop or station.

For the automotive trade of the Southwest the equipment exhibition and clinic will offer an opportunity to study new ideas and new methods in maintenance work such as has never before been possible, and which will not occur again for at least a year. The three Dallas jobbers sponsoring this clinic, The Automotive Appliances Company,
The Ferris-Simpson Company and the Schoellkopf Company have been unstinting in the expenditure of time and money to make this exhibition the most complete and comprehensive of its kind ever presented to the automotive trade in the Southwest, and a cordial invitation is being extended to every motor vehicle owner and maintenance man to attend and profit from the clinic.

OUT OUR WAY

CHEMISTS FIND GAS KNOCK TO BE MYSTIFYING

Stands In Way of Developing High Compression Motors,
It Is Claimed.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. — Upon the solution of the problems of combustion, world-wide research in which is now going on, depends the future of aviation, it was declared at an international symposium of the division of gas and fuel chemistry of the American Chemical Society, holding a four-day session here.

Prof. George Granger Brown of the University of Michigan asserted that combustion is without exaggeration "the most important reaction to the human race." Professor Brown explained that internal-combustion engines are absolutely essential only for airplanes or dirigibles.

"Until the internal-combustion engine was available with its low weight per horsepower," he said,
"the weight of the power plant always exceeded the lifting capacity of the plane."

Decreasing Weight
"Just as the internal-combustion engine made possible the airplane so is further development of the airplane dependent upon still lower weight per unit of power. If the weight of the motor and fuel could be reduced, or its power proportionately increased, so much more
"pay load" could be carried.

"The one practical way to reduce the weight of the motor or to increase its power and efficiency is to increase its compression ratio.
This compression, or expansion, ratio is limited by that peculiar form of combustion known as engine knock or detonation."

G. B. Maxwell and R. V. Wheeler of the department of fuel technology at Sheffield University, England, discussing the "pink" or knock of motor fuels, said:

"At present there is a deadlock in the design of light, high-speed internal-combustion engines for automobile and aircraft use. The effect of increased compression in increasing efficiency is thoroughly realized. So also is the attendant evil 'pink' to which increased initial compression may lead. Designers are prepared to supply high-compression engines if the common run of motor fuels can be used in them.

Still Seek Cause

"'Pink', 'knocking' or 'detonation,' as it is variously called, has come to be a serious problem to the fuel producer. Intensive research has led to improvements in the design of engines and the blending and 'doping' of fuels, but the cause of the trouble is still not clear."

The most effective of the anti-knock compounds used by the investigators was lead tetraethyl, it was stated. The results showed that it is the decomposition products of lead tetraethyl, and not lead tetraethyl itself, which have an antiknock action.

Sports Matter

BY FRANK GETTY.
United Press Sports Editor
When the coaching staff of the American track and field team for the 1932 Olympic games is chosen, there is no doubt as to the man who will be at its head.
Lawson Robertson, the dark, stopped, saturnine coach of the University of Pennsylvania, seems likely to be chosen forever as the chief team enjoyed at Amsterdam—and it must be remembered that we won five field events in addition to the 400 metres run and both relays—must be credited in considerable measure to the genius of Robertson.

The American team was on strange soil, in a strange climate facing strange conditions, with the opportunity for training and practice strictly limited. "Robby" made the best of things.

Wasn't Hopeful
One look at the red brick dust track in the Amsterdam stadium and the canny Scott declared we need not expect any triumphs of an unusual nature in that direction. He declared that our men could not break records nor run in record time on that track, and he was right.

This meant that the sprints and middle distance runs, up to and including the half mile and the hurdles, were open to the sturdiest contenders on the particular day on which they were run. It will be noticed that Ray Barbuti, who won for the United States its only victory in an individual race, is just the sturdy type to come through under such conditions.

Lawson Robertson has coached more successful Olympic teams than that of 1928, but none when the need for deliberate leadership and instruction under trying circumstances was as great.

Once Runner Himself
"Robby" used to do quite a bit of running himself, before he showed an aptitude for coaching and succeeded Mike Murphy at the University of Pennsylvania. He was a protégé of Mike, and Murphy remains one of his heroes.

At the Olympic games last summer, there was the usual "whispering campaign" about the Americans having "doped" their athletes.
This crops out at each Olympiad, and always is groundless. One expatriate American newspaperman tried to make a scandal story out of the fact that Barbuti had been given sherry before his great race in the finals of the 400 metres run.
It was quite true that Ray had a little sherry and egg that morning, some hours before the race, but if that constitutes doping then strenuous athletic competition might as well be abandoned.

"Bobby" himself tells of how he once unwittingly was doped before a race, taking two strychnine pills with idiosyncratic effect upon his stomach. He ran the last leg of a mile relay race hardly aware of what he was doing, and finished without breath or breakfast.

The American head coach is a great practical joker, but lives in mortal terror of having a joke put over with himself as victim. He is reserved in speech until surrounded with friends and in a reminiscent mood, when he can talk louder and more humorously than any of them.

Republicans Are Still in Favor of The Force Bills

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—"Dallying with the southern states with one hand the Republican party is clutching in the other hand another Force bill club with which to beat the 'Solid South' over the head as soon as its strength in congress gives assurance that Democratic representation must perform take the bludgeoning," said Congressman Ross A. Collins of Mississippi commenting on the Republican campaign to win over that section.

"That such sinister intention is in the thought of more than one Republican spokesman, proof is not lacking. In his speech before the Republican National convention at Kansas City, June 13th last, Senator Moses of New Hampshire, presiding as chairman, gave expression to the following:

"In seeking for a policy of law enforcement in the United States, we know our people will not turn to the party which maintains itself in the places of power through nullification of two amendments to the constitution and which op-only flouts a third. In seeking for a policy to assure honest elections everywhere in the United States,
we know our people will not turn to the party whose sole title to success has rested upon intimidation and the tissue ballot and which new rests upon the obliterative vote of 4,000,000 American freemen."

"The 'our people' referred to by Senator Moses is the Republican party."

"The platform of the Republican party has much to say about states rights and the preservation of our dual form of government.
It deplores the passage of laws and the creation of various bureaus which have already sapped the states of much of their strength and vitality, and in the next breath it proposes a law which if enacted would take away from the states and transfer to the Federal government the power to punish for the crime of murder provided the murder was committed by more than one person.
The platform of the Republican party on this subject reads:

"We renew our recommendation that Congress enact, at the earliest possible date, a Federal anti-lynching law so that the full influence of the Federal government may be wielded to exterminate this hideous crime."

"If the right of the Federal government exists to punish for the commission of this crime, then it has the right to pass laws to punish for the commission of any other crime or all other crimes. This would mean that Congress could enact laws for the punishment of all crimes and misdemeanors and this in turn would mean that certain destruction of all rights of the states, a doctrine that is just as obnoxious in the North as in the South. Citizens in some sections of our country may feel safe now at this proposal to further invade and tear down the power of the states, but the time will surely come when the same ghost will be knocking at their doors."

Family Menu

UP AND ATOM!

By United Press.
LEICESTER, Eng.—In future, instead of threatening to blacken a man's eye, one should threaten to knock some of his electrons out of their orbits.

So declared Prof. Leonard Hill, the scientist, in a speech here recently, when he expressed the hope that we would apply our knowledge of electricity and the atom to common speech.

"If we could annihilate a single drop of oil," the professor said, "another part of his speech, "and thus release the energy in it, the power thus set free would be sufficient to drive the Mauretania across the Atlantic."
