For Seventy-one Years a Builder in Collingsworth County

Volume LXXI WELLINGTON, COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY, TEXAS 79095 THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1981 Number 32

TRAVELING PARSONAGE

The old Methodist Parsonage, about 65 years old, was moved to a new location late last week to make way for new construction. As it reached the north side of the new First United Methodist Church, overhanging branches of large trees stopped its slow progress. The branches had to cut away before it could continue west on 9th Street about four blocks to its new location. Steve Davis bought the building.

Chamber Banquet Features Humorist

The banquet will be held in Bura Handley Community Center, beginning at 7:15 p.m.

Tickets will be available until 5 p.m. Thursday at $6.00 each.

They may be bought at the Chamber office, both banks and from any officer or director of the organization.

For the last 15 years, Herring has traveled the state speaking at banquets and conventions in his role as banker, community leader, but most of all, in his role as humorist. Wellington people who have heard him say "He's funny! He's funny!"

It is as Lee Herring the humorist that he will be in Wellington Friday night.

He has other credentials that count when a man comes to Collingsworth. Herring is a graduate of Texas Tech University Foundation and of the "The Regents' Council for the Future" of Texas Tech. A number of Tech exes will be the audience.

Besides serving as senior vice president of Grand Prairie State Bank, Herring has worked continuously and devotedly for his town. He is a member of the board of managers of the Dallas County Hospital District and on the board of directors of Grand Prairie Chamber of Commerce.

LEE HERRING

There will be serious thoughts along with his humor, which is known state wide as being clean and for the whole family.

The outgoing president, Robert Owens, is completing two terms. He will serve as master of cermonies and share podium duties with Mayor Bill Hatch.

Another highlight of te banquet will be the presentation of awards. Recipients are not announced until they are called to come forward and receive their plaques or certificates.

Accomplishments of the past year will be reviewed. Through Owens two terms in office, emphasis has been placed on the recognition of improvements made in Wellington's business community, and of the individual initiative behind all of this updating.

Owens has carried a double responsibility, for he is president of the Collingsworth General Hospital Board and he also travels throughout the southwest in the interest of Owens Salvage Co.

Succeeding him as president of the Chamber of Commerce will be Virginia Robey, the first woman to head the organization.

In the early 1950s, Miss Robey, who is news editor of The Wellington Leader, was the first woman to serve on the chamber's board of directors and in 1978 she received its Community Service Award.

Chet Long, president of City State Bank, is the chamber vice president. Long came into the office after serving on the board of directors.

He emphasizes development of the county's agricultural and business economy.

Second vice president is

Man Shot Here During Disturbance

A man whom officers said was carrying a club, ignored "repeated" orders to stop as he ran toward another officer and was shot in the right side of the abdomen shortly after 3 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 21.

Sheriff Kenneth Maxwell identified the man as Ernest Granados, 36. Maxwell said eye witnesses to the shooting told him Granados ran across the yard of the house to which officers were called by a disturbance report, jumped a fence and continued toward Constable Wilson Porter who was talking with Granados' father, Alfredo Granados, about 70.

Porter fired after he had ordered the younger man to stop, the sheriff said.

Maxwell gave this account of the incident: The disturbance call to 608 El

March 4 and 10 Filing Deadlines in Five Elections Slated on April 4

Wednesday, March 4, is the last day for candidates seeking office in school and city elections to file for places on the ballot.

Candidates for Wellington mayor or city council will file at the city office in Bura Handley Community Center; for Wellington School trustee, in the school tax office in the Elementary School building; Samnorwood school trustee, in the Samnorwood school tax office in the high school building; and Dodson City election, with Howard Hunt at his home in Dodson.

The procedure to file for a place on Collingsworth General Hospital Board is different, explained Mrs. H.H. Bowen, secretary of the board.

The filing deadline is Tuesday, March 10.

Each candidate must file with Mrs. Bowen a petition bearing the names of 15 qualified voters. Petition forms are available from her, from Collingsworth General Hospital, from City State Bank or Wellington State Bank.

Three additional candidates are seeking the two places on the city council, according to Nell McKinney, city secretary.

These include Sam McGill, owner of Sam McGill Garage; Perry Hiett, one of the owners of Hiett and Hiett Construction Co.; and A.C. Shipley who farmed for many years near Wellington and now lives in the city limits.

Former Sheriff John Rainey filed for a place on the City Council earlier.

The two candidates for mayor are Henry Sullivan and Ralph Owens.

Mayor Bill Hatch announced he would not seek re-election, as did Councilman Tom Wilkins. Owens term on the council is expiring.

Two candidates are seeking election to the board of trustees of Wellington Independent School District, said Tommie Watts of the tax office.

Jim Ingram was appointed to fill an unexpired term, and by state law he must seek election for the remainder of the term.

Danny Martin is running for a regular place on the board, and so far, no one has filed for the second regular place.

Trustees whose full terms expire are Frank Coleman, Jr., and Kirby Campbell.

Four candidates have filed so far for the three places on the Samnorwood board of trustees.

Rudie Tate and Richard Bentley are running for County Billed for Damage To Childress Juvenile Cell

Collingsworth County has been billed for $595.72 for damage allegedly done by two Wellington youths to a cell in the juvenile section of Childress County jail, according to Judge Bob Watson.

The bill was presented following a meeting of Childress County Commissioners Court Friday, Feb. 20.

Judge Watson said he and Sheriff Kenneth Maxwell inspected the cell after receiving the bill, and both thought some of the damage looked a little old. "But when you're using someone else's facility, there's not much you can do except pay it," he continued. The bill will be presented to the commissioners court at its March 9 meeting.

The attempted escape was on January 31. Damage was to a commode, walls and celling of the cell.

One youth, who was being held for transfer to the Texas Youth Council, tore off a top from the commode and used it to batter a hole in the wall, allowing him to crawl out into the runaround, Judge Watson said. The boy was helping the other youth through the hole into the outer cell, when the attempted escape was discovered by a Childress County deputy, the judge said.

"It would have taken quite a while to get out of the runaround but at least he got out of the first cell," Watson declared.

The newly remodeled Collingsworth County jail will have two cells that can be used for either women or juveniles, and they will be finished as soon as commode-lavoratory combinations can be installed.

These are stainless steel units costing $1,600 each, and are required by the Texas Jail Standards Commision. Watson explained. They are made by only one company which is located in California. Watson called early this week to check on the county's order and was told the two units were shipped February 13.

Grand Jury Indicts Three

Three indictments were returned by a 100th District Court grand jury Monday, Feb. 23, in a session that took up much of the morning.

Morris Barcroft, former administrator of Collingsworth General Hospital, was indicted on a charge of theft over $200 and less than $10,000, District Attorney David McCoy reported.

Sheriff Kenneth Maxwell said the Greer County Okla., sheriff told him Barcroft is now living in Mangum.

The third indictment was returned against Kenneth Wallace, charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. He is accused of taking a car belonging to Jimmy Fickling.

Wallace was located in Alva, Okla., and lengthy extradition proceedings were required before he could be returned to Collingsworth County. He was picked up by Sheriff Maxwell and Doug Wright, investigator for the district attorney's office.

A pre-trial hearing was held for two Clarendon men charged with the murder of Lewis Matthews also of Clarendon on the day before Thanksgiving 1980. They are Ramon Garcia and his father, Lewis Garcia. They are being held in jail here for Donley County.

Aubrey Lewis and Tommy Lee Armstrong were arraigned before Judge Montgomery and charged with breaking into the Fires building on the east side of the square.

Arturo Rodriguez also appeared before the judge for a true arraignment. Rodriguez was indicted on two counts, one of theft of check and the other forgery of the same check. Court was due to convene again Wednesday morning.

Lone Star Files for Gas Rate Increase

Lone Star Gas Co. Manager, Billy Jackson Monday filed an application for a rate increase which would raise the average residential customer's monthly bill in Wellington about $1.93 in the winter and a decrease of $.07 in the summer.

Based on Lone Star's rate application, a residential customer who uses an average of eight thousand cubic feet of gas a month paid $24.40 for gas service in the winter. Under the requested rate, that same customer would pay $26.33.

Commercial gas customers' rates would also increase under the requested rate schedule.

"Our customers are accustomed to dependable natural gas service," says Jackson. "This rate increase is necessary to continue a high performance level and for other necessary expenses, such as maintaining and improving the local pipeline distribution system, which are vital to dependable service."

Lone Star's last rate increase in Wellington became effective October 24, 1978.

"Since that time, every business, including Lone Star has experienced increased operating expenses," says Jackson. "And, of course, unlike other businesses that can raise their prices as expenses go up, we must apply to the city council for a rate increase. No one likes rising prices, but any business must earn enough money to meet operating expenses and still achieve a reasonable profit. Even though our expenses have gone up, Lone Star still has one of the lowest average operating costs per customer when compared to any of the other major gas utilities in Texas."

1980 Cotton Crop Totals 27,435 Bales

Collingsworth County's 1980 cotton crop totaled 27,435 bales, a check made this week with the five gins shows.

Although this is less than half the county's 69,000 bale record crop for 1979, it is still well above the number of bales growers and gin managers said they would receive when harvesting started.

Dry weather during the critical parts of the growing season accounted for the small crop.

On the other hand, most of this cotton brought the owners a price above that of the year before.

MAN SHOT---

Paso Street, home of Alfredo Granados, was received at 3:03 a.m. and was answered by Deputy Kim Wauer. He found the younger Granados beating out the windows and storm doors of the house with a club. He returned to his unit to call for a backup, Porter drove up from another direction and was hailed by Alfredo Granados, who later claimed his son was trying to kill him.

An investigation into the shooting continued through Saturday, conducted by Doug Wright, investigator for the 100th District Attorney's office, Texas Ranger Bill Baten of Pampa, and the entire sheriff's department.

"As far as I am concerned, I think there was no other way he (Porter) could have handled it," said Maxwell.

The case will go before the grand jury when it convenes in about 5 weeks. District Attorney David McCoy said the investigation will be continued.

Maxwell praised the work of the volunteer ambulance service which unloaded Granados at the hospital only 7 minutes after the call was received.

The slug from Porter's gun went through Granados body and emerged at the back. He underwent almost four hours of surgery in Collingsworth General Hospital and was reported Tuesday evening as being in satisfactory condition.

Gifted and Talented in WT Computer Program

WTSU-Through a unique program, gifted and talented high school students in the Texas Panhandle area meet once each month to share learning experiences.

One group of participants in the seminars, which are coordinated through Amarillo's Region XVI Education Service Center, are learning computer technology at West Texas State University's computer science lab.

Students from Wellington who have participated in computer sessions at WTSU are Renee Lacy, Renee Owens, Renee Daniel, Leslie Birkey, Barry Bowen and Toni Isaacs.

The gifted and talented student program has been designed to meet specific needs of students in rural school districts, said Donnie Ickles, who as a Region XVI consultant coordinates the program for more than 230 students in the Region XVI district which includes the Texas Panhandle area.

The program receives state funding and has been developing in the Amarillo region for almost a year. Only school districts which have a written plan for identifying gifted and talented students in grades nine through 12 may participate, explained Ickles.

"It's all based on the needs of the students there in that area," he said. "It's a multi-criteria process of identifying the students, not just ones with a high IQ."

He said that academic needs of students in small school districts differ from the needs and interests of participants from larger school districts in the area.

Questionnaires determine areas of interest and seminars are scheduled to fill student interest areas.

Gensler's participation in the program includes films, a tour of the computer lab and a demonstration. Following the demonstration, the students, using a guide book, play games and complete programs on the WTSU computer terminals.

Ickles said the monthly sessions involve four major areas including the humanities, which includes political science, psychology, social sciences, history and archeology; the natural sciences such as biology; fine arts, painting, sculpture, dance, drama and photography; and career sessions.

The students also attend special events and lectures.

Participants in the program have come to Amarillo from Canyon, Friona, Hereford, Dumas, Borger, Pampa, Dalhart, Panhandle, Miami, Kerrick, Stratford, Tulia and Wellington.

Ickles said he hopes the program will expand to include other school districts.

"We feel this is a very unique program. It's a social experience and a great learning experience for these kids," he said.

Teachers Present CARC Program

Wellington Association of Retarded Citizens met Thursday, February 10, with Mrs. Melvin Cardwell as program director.

She presented two special education teachers, Mrs. Pat Pruitt of elementary school and Mrs. Vella Yielding of junior high, and Rita Lowrie, resource teacher from elementary school.

Mrs. Cardwell explained how a teacher detects special students, and how to evaluate the problems and methods of teaching them.

This program brought awareness to the group of the special needs of mentally handicapped students in the Wellington area. Methods used to help them were discussed.

Members were told that Governor William P. Clements, Jr., has issued an official memorandum declaring March 1981 to be Mentally Retarded Citizens Month in Texas. He estimated that more than 360,000 citizens who are mentally retarded live in Texas.

During the meeting, which was held in the Heritage Room, members were told that a new home has been secured for the Satellite Center which should be ready in the near future. Mrs. Murray Dodson, vice-president, directed the meeting.

Mrs. Barbara Reynolds was presented as a new member.

Church to Host Youth Meeting

Wellington Fundamental Baptist Church will host the monthly Tri-State Youth Fellowship meeting Friday, March 13, with a large crowd due to attend, the Rev. Howard McCann, pastor, has announced.

"We welcome all youth to attend," Rev. McCann said, and detailed plans will be announced later.

"The meetings are held each month at area churches, giving teenagers the opportunity to meet young people from other churches. Each meeting is highlighted with an inspiring message geared for young people and their needs," said McCann. "Singing is done by young people, also skits and a competitive Bible quiz.

Fifteen churches attended the Clarendon meeting on Feb. 20. Each month four trophies are given to the church with the most first-time visitors, the largest total attendance, the highest percentage over their regular attendance, and Bible quiz winner.

"Wellington Fundamental Baptist youth were proud to bring home three of four trophies from Clarendon. FBC youth were awarded the trophy for bringing the most first time visitors with twelve attending from Wellington, also the trophy for highest percentage over average regular attendance and last, Miss Barbara Reynolds took the trophy for the Bible quiz.

A total of 21 young people attended the rally.

Mrs. McCann, teacher of the youth department stated she was proud to see the enthusiasm the young people have shown in the past month. The class has exceeded the goals set forth for them in Feb. The youth were honored with a skating party in Childress on Tuesday, Feb. 16.

More Turkeys Expected in '81

"It looks like we may have a good many more wild turkeys than last year, although the check with landowners is not completed," said David Rideout, wildlife biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Childress.

He was in Collingsworth County Monday, Feb. 23, checking the number of turkeys landowners reports as compared with the reports last year.

Farmers and ranchers who would like to encourage turkeys on land should provide a habitat suited to these wild birds, especially cover, feed and water, Rideout explained.

He noted that both the turkeys and sandhill cranes now migrating north have been hard on wheat fields, as the young plants are easily pulled up because of the dry winter.

It is said to be bad luck for an actor if part of his costume is yellow.

Speak Out and Win Honors

To some students--and adults--the worst possible thing is to stand before a crowd and speak extemporaneously.

But not for junior extempist Debra Bouchelle. It's the hobby for the 16-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Bouchelle, a junior in a Lewisville high school. Speech coaches call her "the best extempist we have."

Debra's father is minister of the Church of Christ in Lewisville and the family moved there less than a year ago from Muleshoe. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bouchelle of Loco.

In order to be totally prepared for tournaments, Debra spends hours upon hours reading magazines and newspaper articles to gather information on foreign affairs, political power, economic crises, and leaders and presidents of the world. She can never fall behind.

All her information is kept neatly filed away in two file boxes under heading with specific topics.

"I think extemp is important," says Debra. It helps in writing papers for school because you learn so much. It teaches you how to talk on your feet and to communicate easily with other people."

She speaks with authority.

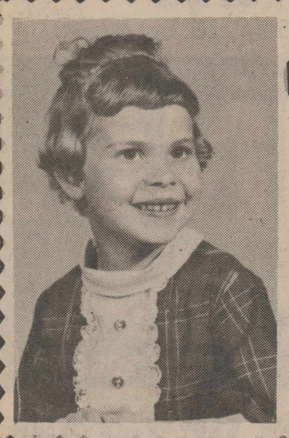

Debra, a member of the Lewisville speech team for less than a year, has taken a first division at the L.D. Bell High School competition and an additional first at the University of Texas at Arlington, also qualifying for state.

She explains how the competition is carried out:

"First you draw a topic and then you go into a 'prep room' to prepare your speech. You are allowed only 30 minutes to prepare your material and to memorize it."

"After your time limit is up, you must then go into another room and speak in front of a panel of judges. The judges critique you and rate you on the amount of speaking points that they feel you deserve."

Her achievements at Lewisville come after a long series of winnings and honors she received at Muleshoe.

Canyon Prehistoric Indian Campground

By
Myra Hargrave McIlvain
Texas Historical Comm.

In 1970, before the waters of Mackenzie Reservoir inundated Tule Canyon, 77 archeological sites were discovered which indicated human occupation as far back as 10,000 years ago. During the period which lasted until about 5,000 B.C., big game hunters roamed the area. Evidence of a bison kill helped date the occupancy. Another prehistoric site was recorded with the discovery of burials, shallow hearths, and stone tools. Information gathered at this locale indicates the area served for collecting and hunting activities. An even later site disclosed gun flints, glass beads, and metal objects, which led experts to believe that Indians who camped here in the last half of the 1700s, had contact with Europeans. Fishermen found a human skull on the lake's shoreline in 1978. This is believed to be a 100-year-old Comanche male.

Tule Canyon obviously provided protection as well as lush grassland for Indians through the ages. The site remained a stronghold for Indians even after white settlers began trying to move into this region. The Indians fought long and hard to keep from giving up this grazing ground for antelope and buffalo. In 1874 the Comanches were greatly outnumbered by Gen. Ranald S. Mackenzie's 4th Cavalry. During this campaign, they were effectively driven from Tule Canyon and from the Texas high plains. Mackenzie's campaigns lasted from August 1871 through November 1876 and resulted in removing the Comanches from Texas.

The Texas Historical Commission has placed an OFFICIAL TEXAS HISTORICAL MARKER noting these archeological sites at the Mackenzie Reservoir and Tule Canyon on SH 207, 11 miles northwest of Silverton in Briscoe County. Other preservation progams administered by the Texas Historical Commission include the National Register of Historic Places and services to historical museums.

C.R. Stuckey Dies Feb. 5 In Houston

C.R. (Rudolph) Stuckey, 79, died in Heights Hospital Houston, Thursday, Feb. 5, at 8:55 p.m. of a massive heart attack.

Rudolph Stuckey was born Feb. 4, 1902 to Walter and Mattie Pearl Stuckey at Illinois Band, Montague County. The family later moved to Mobeetie, where his father died and his mother later married V.V. Durham. He moved with his mother and step-father to Wellington in 1918. He was married to Grace Vandiver in Hollis, on Feb. 18, 1934.

They moved to Wichita Falls, where he was employed as a carpenter at Shephard Air Force Base. During World War II they moved to Houston where they have made their home since. He had been carpentering and was a member of Carpenters Local No. 213. He retired June 1967.

He was preceded in death by his two brothers, Frank Stuckey, June 15, 1977 and Aubrey Stuckey, April 16, 1979.

Surviving are his wife Grace, of Houston, one niece Patsy Ruth (Stuckey) Royce and her two children Randy Royce and Kim Royce of Orland, Calif.

Six Compete in Houston Show

Six 4-H Club members from Collingsworth will participate in the 1981 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, February 27 through March 8.

With more than 27,000 expected livestock entries, the Houston Show will once again be the largest in the world.

Exhibitors will include Stan Tate and Lynn Tate, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Rudie Tate; Paul Estes, son of Dr. and Mrs. Bill Estes; Mark Fourmentin and Patricia Fourmentin, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fourmentin; and Darvin Nix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nix. Each will have one calf and all will be in the market steer division.

Several of the parents are expected to attend the show, and Extension Agent Don Reeves will be in charge of the calves.

This will end the 1981 show season for the Collingsworth exhibitors, as it does each year.

The junior livestock show is held during the second week of the Houston Show., Judging begins on March 5. Competition here is fierce as these exhibitors know they're up against both the best in livestock and in judges.

"The 1981 Show offers spectators a unique opportunity to see some of the finest livestock ever and it's all gathered under one roof," said Assistant General Manager Don Jobes, Jr.

The Houston Show also provides an opportunity for exhibitors to participate in some of the toughest of showing competition after a year's worth of preparation for their animals. This year's show once again promises to be profitable for them, as open show and junior exhibitors will vie for more than a half a million dollars in prize monies and premium auction prices above market value.

Houston, the fastest growing city in the nation, brings western heritage to life when it once again hosts this two week extravaganza. Livestock show dates are February 25-March 8, and rodeo dates are February 27- March 8.

Horses, buckboards and stagecoaches take to the concrete and businessmen don western hats and boots to welcome the largest civic event in the history of this bustling oil and space flight capital.

The annual rodeo parade, previously held on the first Friday of the Show, will be held Saturday, February 28 at 9:15 a.m. This event draws more than 6,000 trailriders journeying as far as 386 miles to downtown Houston where they meet with city officials, bands and spectators to lead the parade.

Open competition for the livestock show begins February 25. Professional breeders and ranch owners from some 35 states will bring in the best in breeding stock to compete in breeding beef, dairy, swine, poultry, sheep, Angora goat and rabbit shows.

As the Houston Show is a showcase of the livestock industry, cattlemen from Europe, Mexico, Central and South America travel to the open show to view the best in stock. Last year, more than 500 international visitors from 29 countries registered with show officials and the 1981 International Days, February 25-28, should draw an even larger crowd.

Mrs. Hixson is survived by her husband, one son, two daughters and several grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Hixson were in Wellington for a month's visit with Mrs. Wilkins about five years ago.

4-H Specialist Conducts Demonstration Workshop

Dr. Martha Couch, 4-H specialist and youth specialist with the Extension Service, presented a work shop in Wellington Monday, Feb. 23 for adult leaders who will work with girls in method demonstrations.

Dr. Couch, who lives in Lubbock, works in the Panhandle and South Plains extension districts, formerly districts 1 and 3.

She was accompanied by Sue Farris, Panhandle District agent.

In her overview of 4-H, Dr. Couch reminded women that this is the world's largest youth organization. She explained its association with Texas A&M University, a land grant college, as the organization on the district and county level.

She discussed 4-H projects, which are of an unusually wide range from cooking and sewing to nuclear projects.

One of the important phases of 4-H are method demonstrations in which one or more girls completes a project and explains it to an audience, which may be a small group or a large organization.

With her keen sense of humor, Dr. Couch explained how to write up a demonstration or illustrated talk and give suggestions on preparing posters to accompany talks.

She included a film showing a method demonstration of a clothing project of two Moore county girls which was judged a state winner.

Adult leaders included Margaret Smith of Donley County, Jean Fourmentin, Karen Caison, Catherine Mote, Sue Brandvik, Mary Lou Souder and Extension Agent Jean Chandler.

Dr. Couch will return to Collingsworth from time to time for record book training and to help with county 4-H camp or other 4-H recreation, Miss Chandler said.

BUSY BELLS

The Busy Bells 4-H Club met Friday, Feb. 20, at the Extension Service office, with the girls giving the program.

This is a continuation of the etiquette project. The lesson was on correct table settings.

Carla Caison gave a talk and demonstration on tablecloths, runners and place mats for different occasions. She told the group that lace or crocheted cloths are used for formal occasions. Printed cloths or vinyl are used for everyday or family use, the young speaker said.

She gave an example for uses of runners and place mats.

Julie Caldwell's talk and demonstration was about dishes. She explained that there were three kinds of dishes: china, semi-porcelain and pottery. The girls were told that china is made from pure white clay and is fired in intense heat. The finest china is translucent and is used for formal occasions. Semi-porcelain is fired under less heat and can be chipped more easily. It can be used for everyday also. Pottery is for casual use and is fired under less heat and can crack easily. Corelle is a casual use dish and it is made of tempered glass.

Patricia Fourmentin presented a talk and demonstration on silverware. She showed teaspoons of different patterns. She told the girls that a correct formal place setting consisted of 5 pieces of tablewear, then showed the girls different serving pieces. Although some pieces are seldom used in contemporary life.

These include individual butter spreaders, ice tea spoons and coffee spoons. More commonly used pieces include cake servers, meat forks, berry spoons, serving spoons, butter knives, sugar shell, jelly spoons and gravy ladles.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bill Lindsey and De Jon to Julie Caldwell, Carla Caison, Annie Caison, Patricia Fourmentin and these leaders, Mrs. Harold Caldwell, Mrs. David Caison and Mrs. Richard Fourmentin.

The next meeting will be on March 13.

Family Reunion Unites Former County Teachers

Mrs. Lois Ratliff, returned this week, from Snyder, where she attended a four day reunion of the children of the late John and Elizabeth Kayser of Weatherford. This is where the family grew up.

The event was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Merrill Kayser, and was attended by Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Stark (Doris) of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Moore (Lura Lee) of Mineral Wells; Mr. and Mrs. G.V. Harman (Beth) of Seattle, Washington; and Mrs. Ratliff.

On Sunday and Monday they were joined by Dr. and Mrs. Curry Holden and Tom Holden all of Lubbock, long-time friends of the Kaysers. Dr. Holden is a retired professor of Texas Tech University and former curator of West Texas Museum.

Other friends called during the week.

The time was spent reminiscing, looking at old family photographs, visiting and taking pictures. One of the highlights was reading a dairy kept by their mother in 1938.

Since all like to travel, many accounts of incidents which happened in Canada, Western Eurpoe, Russia, the Orient, India, and many other places were told.

All are also ardent readers and both indoor and outdoor gardeners. Four of them are retired teachers, and all four taught in Collingsworth--Doris at Nicholson, in 1928-29; Seale (Indian Creek) in the summer term of 1929.

Lois taught at Seale, Cottonwood, Quail and Wellington.

Merrill taught at Cottonwoon in 1935.

Beth taught at Cottonwood in 1936, Aberdeen 1937, and for a number of years at Samnorwood.

The others continued their careers at other places, and their combined years including the 20 years taught by their mother, came to 186 years!

Mrs. Ratliff taught from first grade through high school then served as Wellington High School librarian. Merill Kayser from Head Start through College level. He taught anthropoligy at West Texas College in Snyder. He taught flying 10 years and was also a football coach.

The only one of the five living members of the family who chose not to teach is Lura Lee, who in addition to bringing up a family, worked as a telephone operator, as director of the nursery and pre-school at Camp Wolters for several years, but worked longest as a florist, an occupation she still pursues at busy times in the florist business.

Ray, the youngest of the Kaysers, who was a petroleum engineer for the Cabot Company, died in 1975.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore accompanied Mrs. Ratliff home and stayed for an overnight visit.

Mrs. Ratliff declares this was by far the best reunion the Kayers have ever had.

Mr. Kayser lived in Collingsworth in 1927 and 1928, and was here organizing the Farm Bureau. He was killed in a car accident, south of Wellington as he was en route here from Childress.

Author Describes Joys and Difficulties of Writing

The joys and difficulties of writing were explored by Judge R.L. Templeton in a talk to the members of the 1924 Study Club on Thursday, February 19.

Judge Templeton is the author of a number of books dealing with Texas history "The Death of Jimmy Littlewolf," is just off the press and the manuscript of "Princess of the Palo Duro" is ready to be sent to the publishers.

The latter gives a picture of life on the Plains when Oliver Loving and Charles Goodnight were moving cattle to the Panhandle.

Judge Templeton's interest in writing came from his preoccupation with aviation while a student at the University of Texas at Austin. A number of his articles were printed and he soon became a regular contributor to Aviation Week magazine.

During his service in World War II he kept a daily journal which he planned to use in later writing. Unfortunately his luggage with the journal was sent back to the United States on a ship lost at sea.

The former Collingsworth County Judge and present county attorney, Judge Templeton is beginning his most ambitious work, a series of books on the great ranches of Texas. The first will include the Rocking Chaire, The Rowe and The Diamond Tail, which started in Old Greer County, with Cal Sugg, the great uncle of Wellington's Cal Sugg, as one of the founders. As leases with the Indians expired, the cattle were moved to what later became Collingsworth County.

Difficulties of research, publication, movie and TV rights were described, but Judge Templeton said that the satisfaction of having a brain child become a reality outweighed all the pain of creation.

Mrs. Boyd Derryberry presided at the meeting and the hostess was Mrs. R.R. Crawley.

Attending were Mrs. Bill Beall, Mrs. Derryberry, Mrs. Chester Fires, Mrs. Clara Mote, Mrs. Truett Holland, Miss Hattie D. Wells, Judge Templeton and the hostess, Mrs. Crawley.

DEBBIE FLEMING

Debbie Fleming Play in All-State Philharmonic

Debbie Fleming, a senior at John H. Reagan High School in Austin performed as a member of the 1981 All-State Philharmonic Orchestra on February 14th in San Antonio. The orchestra was conducted by the distinguished conductor, Dr. William L. Jones, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Debbie is active in band, swimming and has been playing the piano for 12 years, and serves as treasurer in the Reagan Raider Band.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Fleming who reside at 11510 Whitewing, Austin. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Kelso.

Mrs. Kelso attended the concert and was a house-guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lockridge.

Debbie's high school orchestra director is TMEA member Dr. Richard Funk.

Debbie is the private student of Robert Williams (bass clarinet), Donald Goldstone and Mrs. Roberta Goberz (piano.)

Debbie has been working on this all through high school, said Mrs. Kelso. One hundred and thirty music students from over the entire state played in the 1981 All-State Philharmonic Orchestra.

The program opened with the playing of the National Anthem, conducted by Robert Floyd, president elect of TMEA.

Other program numbers were Overture to Barber of Seville, by Gioaccino Rossin; Komm Susser Tod, by J.S. Bach; Six Pieces from First Ballet Suite by Dimitri Shostakovich; Intermezzo from Cavaleria Rusticana by Pietro Nascagni and Symphony No. 1: Finale by V. Kalinnikov.

The All-State Orchestras are organized and produced by the Texas Music Educators Association, a 4500-member organization of hand directors, choir directors, orchestra directors, and other music teachers. It maintains headquarters in Austin. All-State organizations perform annually at the Association's Clinic-Convention.

Students are chosen for a place in the All-State Organizations by live and taped auditions that begin in December in District and Region locations throughout the state and culminate in a final audition at the convention. It is conservatively estimated that more than thirty thousand students annually begin the All-State audition process at the District or Regional level in Texas.

"Do You Know Your Onions" by Robert Louis Stevenson was given by Mrs. Alexander. He stated onions were used in many different ways, not only for food but some thought onion juice on bald heads would cause hair to grow.

The Lincoln Highway was the first to be marked "Coast-To-Coast."

Cosmetic Benefits

Question: My fourteen-year-old daughter has become painfully unhappy about her looks. I'm afraid if I let her use cosmetics as she wishes, I will only be confirming her anxiety that she is an "ugly duckling."

Answer: Your daughter's concern with her appearance is typical of her age group. Actually, by letting her use cosmetics appropriate for her age and environment, you will be helping her in several important psychological ways.

Proper use of cosmetics will help her become more comfortable with herself, and thus gain a more solid sense of her own self-worth.

Mrs. Fred Mayhugh Honored At Baby Shower Saturday

A white cotton Chinese embroidered table cloth with a yellow underlay covered the refreshment table. Gold candlesticks holding white candles were placed at each side of a centerpiece of hand-made yellow and white daisies and gladiolas.

Two baby-face cakes and another symbolizing a baby rattle were made and served by Mrs. Jerry Barton, along with lime sherbet nuts, mints and punch. Crystal appointments were used.

Mrs. Nichols picture has been sent to Beta Sigma Phi in International headquarters where it will be considered by a nationally known TV or screen personality for national queen.

Doris Crandall Story Told for Excelsior Club

Excelsior Club members, in their meeting Wednesday, Feb. 18, heard a story from Guideposts, written by a former Dozier woman.

"Sharing the gift", is a true story of Collingsworth County's 1933 Dust Bowl.

Mrs. Lowell Wells was hostess in the Heritage Room and program leader.

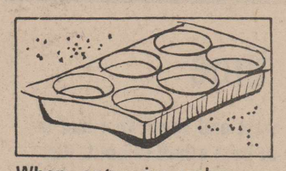

The author is Doris Clay Crandall, now of Amarillo. Her story, "Sharing the Gift," is a true reminisence of Collingsworth County's 1933 Dust Bowl Christmas and the unexpected visitor that came to the Clay family "out of the blue."

It is the story, too, of their disappointment the four daughters knew when there would be no Christmas music, and of a man hitchhiking to California who had music but needed a family.

Mrs. Crandall, the wife of Richard Crandall, graduated from Samnorwood High School, attended West Texas State University and holds a diploma from the Children's Institute of Literature in Redding Ridge, Conn. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A.R. Clay.

Miss Hattie D. Wells, vice-president, directed the business meeting.

A dessert plate was served to Miss Wells, Miss Bonnie Willis, Mrs. Louise Vaughan, Miss Marie Shadid, Miss Rose Shadid and Mrs. Lowell Wells.

When extra ice cubes are needed for punches, or ice buckets at parties, use muffin tins instead of buying new ice cube trays. The big ice cubes will last longer.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Phipps were in Lyford recently to visit friends, Mr. and Mrs. H.D. Cash, who took them on several tours of the area. This included Brownsville and Matamoras as well as Hilltop Gardens, to see one of the largest fields of aloe vera. They visited other friends in Temple, and at Gatesville they were guests of Mrs. Minnie Phipps, who formerly lived here.

Mrs. Jackie Nation, Farris and Renee of Idalou were weekend guest of Mrs. Haskel Baggitt.

Ahead of their time

Many early settlers of the west and southwest had as their first home a dugout, or at best a half dugout, dirt roof and all.

But as soon as a little prosperity came, they couldn't wait to get above ground with a house, or even one room in front of the half dugout.

Those people were more than a hundred years ahead of their time and didn't know it.

Today, some of the country's innovative architects are looking beneath the surface of the land to study the concept of the underground home--that's what its called in 1980. They add windows in the right places that the dugout didn't have and achieve passive solar energy. Some have gone so far as to add a thick layer of soil to the roof. Others prefer the flat roof, level with the surface. They can figure precisely how much energy is saved.

The homesteader had his dugout because it was the cheapest material at hand. That can't be said of his great great-grandson's underground home, for some parts are more expensive than in a conventional house.

The pioneer also built his dugout by rule of thumb. His counterpart of the 1980s may need both an architect and engineer and his home will be equipped with conveniences the sturdy pioneer never dreamed of.

The old sodbuster picked a likely spot, and if he were lucky, it would be near a running stream. If not, he resorted to that other pioneer idea that he dug a well and when he had a little money, added a windmill. Now he studies the terrain for a preferably southern exposure.

We don't know if very many people will adopt this new-old way of living, but the comparison is interesting.

a thought

FROM HIS WORD ...

Many people have become unhappy with what is called the institutional church or mainstream Christianity. This is a real problem in our society today as far as the growth of the body of Christ is concerned. What causes others to see the church as weak and without direction?

It's answer lies in a two-fold problem. First those who are outside the church look at those who are of the body of Christ as if they were to be perfect. None of us will ever be other than disappointments to those who look to us as having measured up to the standards of righteousness established by God. (Rom. 3:23) We are not the saving light; Christ is the only salvation, and we are but the result of some of His ongoing work. (Rom. 6:23; Eph. 2:10; Phil 1:6) Secondly we of the Church (the body of Christ) also have a vision problem because we often follow men as leaders who follow men, who learned of men, who once knew men, who had studied about God and the Bible. While in reality there is only one leader and that is Jesus the Christ, the Son of the living God, Lord of Lords and King of Kings. (Eph. 5:23-32)

We need only to follow the righteous and qualified leader which is Jesus Christ. When we look up from bent knees our focus will be on Christ, and the problems in vision will clear and His people will have the image and direction He desires. (Heavely Bound)

Dear Editor:

I am writing to ask you to help me and my school get the armadillo to be the official state mammal of Texas. We think the armadillo would be good because most people like them, they are interesting, they build good homes, and they eat fire ants. They have a tough hide - like a cowboy's boot.

Resolution HCR 53 is in Austin now and we need help to get it passed. Would you please ask your readers to write to their Representative and Senator and ask them to vote for it.

If any school kids or teachers want more information, they can write to: Armadillo in '81, Oak Creek Elementary, 3975 Gladeridge, Houston, Texas 77068, and we will send some things.

Yours truly,

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Texas Senate is again "the Gentlemen's Club" and the usually boisterous House is serene because of an initial vote which slowed down debate . . . but Gov. Bill Clements and Attorney General Mark White are providing plenty of political action for the Capitol watchers.

Last week White accused Clements of hurting the state's case in a landmark lawsuit against the Texas prison system when the governor vetoed a $30 million prison construction bill two years ago.

A few days earlier, Clements had indirectly slapped at White by telling the U.S. Department of Education to deal only with him regarding a potential civil rights suit. White had intervened with the Carter administration to postpone federal prosecution until the Legislature had a chance to resolve alleged under-funding of predominately black Texas colleges.

The political heavyweights have exchanged political blows before, and many insiders feel the hammer-and-tongs effect won't be resolved until after the 1982 gubernatorial election, pitting Republican Clements against Democrat White.

Accusation Prompted

When Clements asked the Legislature last week for $35 million in emergency funds to build three non-permanent prison units, White said the governor was to blame for the state's prison ills.

The veto set a tone which "indicated maybe we (Texas) weren't going to do what we said we would do in court . . . give fair accommodations to prisoners," White told reporters.

Whether or not Clements was at fault, a year after the veto a federal judge ordered sweeping reforms of the Texas prison system, including new housing for some 2,180 prisoners now sleeping on mattresses on floors.

Clements is seeking the $30 million to, in essence, get the federal court off the state's back. At least one legislator is considering initiating impeachment action against the federal judge who ordered the expensive reforms.

For his part, Clements responded it was easy for White to criticize him for vetoing the spending bill two years ago.

"Most people have good 20-20 hindsight," Clements said.

Win Big, Lose Small

The man heading up the Texans' War on Drugs, computer magnate H. Ross Perot, lost a small battle but won a big war on another front last week.

Texas Civil Liberties Director John Duncan told a House committee that Perot had violated a prohibition on lobbying with appropriated state money. Perot denied the charge, and turned over expenditure receipts to the panel.

Perot won a big one, however, when the Texas welfare board last week agreed to a $3.1 million settlement with a New York insurance firm in order to award the state's lucrative Medicaid contract to Perot-controlled National Heritage Insurance Co.

The Department of Human Resources last summer first awarded the contract to Bradford, then voted to reconsider after Perot personally contacted each board member. Clements reportedly will not reappoint DHR board chairman Hilmar Moore, whose term recently expired.

Armstrong Retiring

Texas Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong has told friends he will not seek reelection and does not plan to run for any office in 1982. The news has brought forth the names of several possible candidates.

Armstrong headed up the 1976 sweep in Texas for former President Jimmy Carter and was thought by many to be in line for Secretary of Interior. He never lobbied for the cabinet post and was passed over.

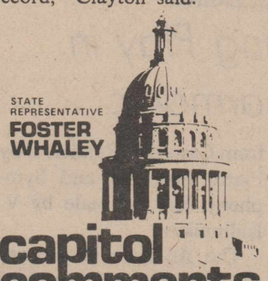

Limiting Speaker's Terms

Two bills have been introduced in the House of Representatives to limit the number of terms a member may serve as speaker. Current Speaker Bill Clayton, now in an unprecedented fourth term, said he had no concerns one way or the other about the measures.

Three past and perhaps future speaker candidates, Bennie Bock of New Braunfels, Lynn Nabors of Brownwood and Gib Lewis of Fort Worth, have sponsored a bill limiting the speaker to two consecutive terms in office, although a speaker could retire for two years, win reelection, and then again preside over the House.

But a bill by Matt Garcia of San Antonio and Tony Garcia of Pharr eliminates the chance of a political comeback.

"I feel kind of funny about it (the issue). I would like to see it limited, but I don't want anyone to think that I'm just trying to keep someone from breaking my record," Clayton said.

FOREIGN OWNERSHIP OF TEXAS FARMLAND

Foreign ownership of Texas farmland has been undergoing hearing the past week in the House of Representatives. There seems to be an overwhelming majority of Texas citizens in favor of prohibiting non-resident alien ownership. There is a strong lobby among real estate people and one of the major oil companies that have blocked passage of this legislation. I'm personally opposed to foreign ownership.

SPEAKER CLAYTON

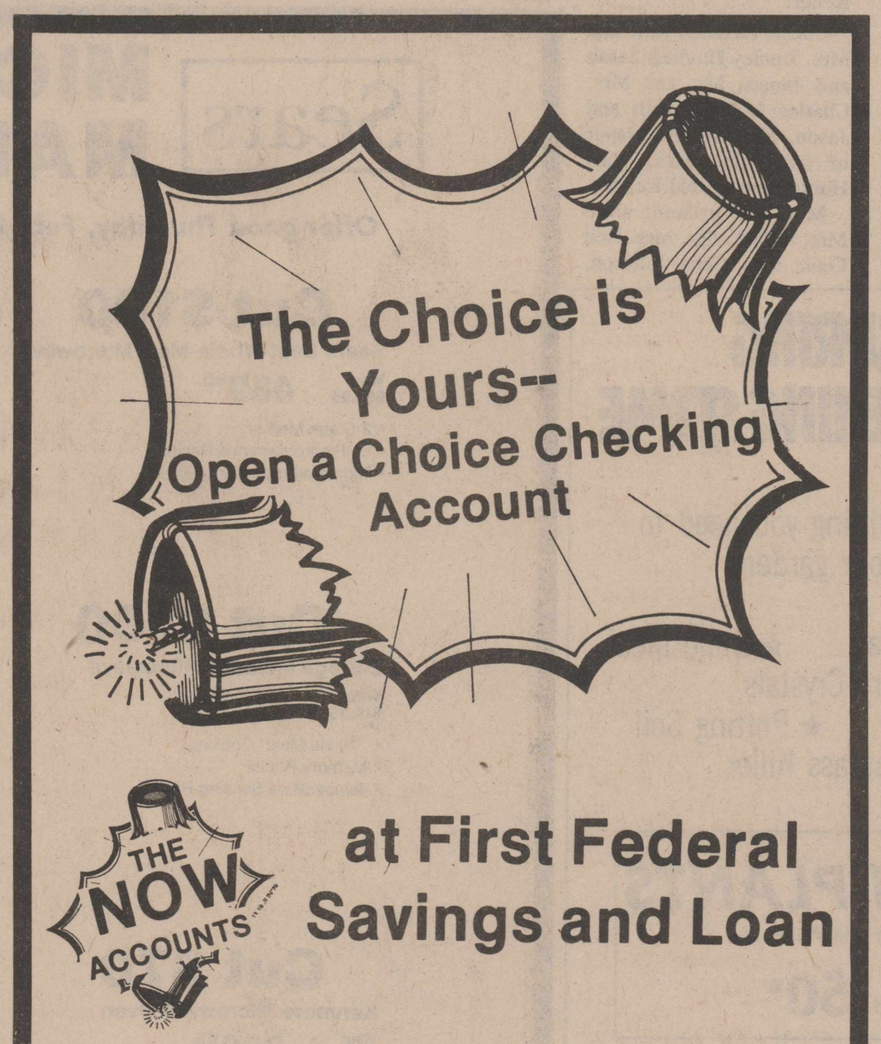

Speaker Clayton's bill, to place surplus State money in a State Trust fund to fully develop our State water needs, looks like it has an excellent chance to pass. This bill will be handled by the Constitutional Amendments Committee. I felt very honored to be assigned as Vice-Chairman of this Committee.

THE STATE PRISON

The State Prison System chief, W.J. Estelle, has called on the legislature for over $141 million to update the prison system in order to comply with a federal judge mandate to bring the system up to a prescribible standard.

The House of Representatives is still moving very slowly. The Committees can now have hearings. Because the rules were not suspended, no bills, other than those declared an emergency by the Governor, can be heard on the floor of the House for the first 60 days. This means a big log-jam of bills will hit the house floor on March 14.

The toll-free number to call to determine the status of a bill is 1-800-252-9693.

Dodson Civic Club Collects Newspapers

Monday, March 2, has been set for the old newspaper collection by the Dodson Civic Club.

This is a benefit project for the Collingsworth County Library, and offers Dodson residents an opportunity to contribute without bringing their newspapers to Wellington.

Those who have a contribution should bring their papers to a pickup parked in front of the Dodson American Legion Building.

Hours will be 10 to 11 a.m.

The first Monday in every month has been set for collection, said Mrs. Murray Dodson, one of those helping with the project.

"Only newspapers are accpeted and they should be packed in large grocery sacks or cardboard boxes," she added.

5 Counties Represented At Fire District Meeting

The mechanics of setting up a rural fire protection district and the flexibility of operation of these districts was explained in a multi-county meeting Monday, Feb. 23.

Five counties were represented, Wheeler, Armstrong, Donley, Hall and Collingsworth Counties, and included county judges from four of these, as well as county commissioners and fire department members.

Allen R. Baca, local government services representative of the Texas Department of Community Affairs, explained that about a year would be required from the time a petition for such a district is presented to the commissioners court until it is in full operation.

These tax supported districts are possible through a state legislation passed in 1979, although many districts now benefitting from that legislation have been in operation as long as 15 to 18 years. Both volunteer and paid departments are included.

There are no fire prevention districts in the Panhandle, Baca said. In other sections, however, they operate in sparsely settled areas to Texas most populas county, Harris.

Leadership is essential in the organization of a fire prevention district, it was pointed out, and usually this comes from fire departments. A fire district may serve in one county, or it may cross county lines and serve two or more counties.

Action by a fire department is the first step in the creation of a district, and commissioners courts cannot act until a petition requesting an election is filed.

At that point an election is called and property owners vote.

If the issue passes, the commissioners court appoints five fire district commissioners, and this is the governing body of the fire prevention district.

By law, the tax collected by these districts is limited to 3 cents per $100 valuation. Judge Bob Watson, who called the meeting, pointed out that Collingsworth, with its present $21 million valuation, would cost taxpayers only $6,300. The amount after revaluation will be an entirely different figure.

Using Collingsworth as an example, this money would be divided between Wellington and Samnorwood departments. The individual operation and identity would not be affected.

From this figure, it would be apparent that the City of Wellington, which spends around $30,000 on its Wellington Volunteer Fire Department, would continue to contribute heavily to its support.

An important issue in some counties, but not Collingsworth, is that rural fire protection districts can also operate ambulance.

One area in a county can go into a fire prevention district, while another area, usually a town or city, can vote to not form a district. These pose no problems, Baca said.

Do rural fire prevention districts work?

Yes, says Baca, Of the 17 counties in which 31 fire prevention districts are in operation, with 112 volunteer or paid fire departments, the speaker said he has had only one negative response, and that depended on who in the district one talked to.

The meeting was held under sponsorship of Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

February City Sale Tax Total $13,750

Wellington's sales and used tax allocation for the period ending February 8 was up 73% over the same period a year ago, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday, February 18.

This brings the total payments for the January-February pay period to $13,750.22.

Information released by the Comptroller's office shows that for the February pay period a year ago, Wellington received $6,377.67, while the combined January-February tax allocation amounted to $7,904.56.

State-wide, the January-February payments to cities was more than $30 million higher than the same period a year ago.

The city sales tax is collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and businesses and rebated monthly to the cities in which it is collected by the comptroller.

Square Dance Lessons Begin

More than three squares of student dancers have enrolled for lessons sponsored by Texas Twisters, Tommy Thomas has announced.

The instructor-caller is Nickey Boone of Hollis.

"Most of the time we had four squares, and many of our former members are back, along with a lot of new ones," Thomas said.

Lessons are held each Wednesday from 8 to 10 p.m. in the American Legion Buildings. Four sets of lessons have been completed.

Texas Twisters are in the Southwest District Square Dance Association, which has as co-presidents, Jack and Jane Swoops of Elk City. Tommy and Bobbie Thomas are Texas Twister co-presidents.

Dues are $6 per couple per month, and visitors pay $1.50 each. "There's no place you can get so much fun for $1.50 an evening," said Thomas. Snacks, coffee and punch are furnished.

Hospital Names Kumar

Dr. Prasanna K.N. Kumar has been granted temporary privileges by Harmon Memorial Hospital, Hollis, to practice as a general surgeon, according to Frank Loveless, administrator.

Dr. Kumar, who received medical and surgical training in India, England and in Maryland after coming to the United States, will function as a surgical consultant for the staff and perform surgery.

He is an accomplished endoscopist which involves the use of flexible fiberostic gastroscope and colenscope for cancer detection, it was pointed out.

"We are indeed fortunate to have Dr. Kumar available to our hospital and to our community," said Loveless.

Dr. and Mrs. Kumar and their son live at 1300 Bowie Street.

DAIRY QUEEN MANAGER TRAINEE BY 30-UNIT WEST TEXAS CHAIN

Must be mature, willing to work and ready to relocate in the West Texas area after short training period. This job will pay in excess of $1,500 per month for a good working manager — plus hospitalization insurance and vacation.

You may be qualified and not know it unless you investigate. Many of our best managers doubted they were qualified when they first contacted us. Most important are your own desire and need for success.

Common sense, the ability to do about 20 minutes of book work per day plus doing a good job of cooking and waiting on customers are the only basics to success in this job.

And to encourage you, after we know we have a mutual interest, we will provide you the names of some of our managers to call so they can tell you how any mature person with determination to succeed can do so with our company.

Advancement possible for positions above manager.

SpikePlantAdds Sixth Work Shift

Wellington Industries, Inc., has added its sixth work shift, and with this, two of its spike machines will be in operation 24 hours a day.

Announcement of the added shift was made by Brenda Marple, company secretary.

This means that Wellington Industries will be shipping one additional car of spikes each week.

Mrs. Marple explained that production is 100 kegs per shift, or 500 kegs per car.

Before the sixth shift was added, that slot was used in case of one of the machines was down for repairs or maintenance.

The third machine located in the plant will now be used as a back-up machine.

With the addition of the new shift, Wellington Industries also bought a new Peterbuilt truck, which became necessary when the shift was added.

Hauling approximately 25 tons of steel, the truck will haul from 12 to 15 loads per week. It will be used for some deliveries.

"Two trucks can't handle all the work and we will still use independent truckers," said Mrs. Marple.

Announcement was also made that additional paving will be laid between buildings to create more space for the newly made spikes until they cool.

Work Begins on Courthouse Ramp

Completion of the elevator shaft in Collingsworth County Court House should be completed this week, and work has already started preparing the east entrance of the building for a new ramp.

This will enable persons confined to wheel chairs or those with other disabilities to have easier access to the building.

This remodeling will make it possible for the county to comply with a federal ruling that requires all public buildings must be accessable to those confined to wheel chairs or those with other disabilities, Judge Bob Watson said. The deadline is 1982.

On the state level, Senate Bill 378, on which the legislature will act this session, requires that voting places be modified to easy entry by the handicapped.

Work on the court house is being done under a joint state local program.

By using local work and contracting the job themselves, county commissioners will be able to complete the shaft for an estimated $13,000. When bids were called for on installing the shaft, the low bid received was $43,000. The car and cost of installation will be provided by the state.
