Builders Club Hears Reports

Wellington Builders Club members in a recent meeting heard committee chairmen report on various studies the organization has under way.

An investigation of the possibility of a vocational school, under President Johnson's anti-poverty program indicated that these will probably go to areas where facilities for their operation are already available, such as abandoned Army Air Force bases.

It was pointed out, however, that the committee is still investigating the possibility of a vocational school through other sources.

New brochures advertising Wellington were discussed, and it was announced the clean-up committee will have its report completed for the next Builders Club meeting.

The school, for children three through 12 years of age, will begin at 8:30 a.m. and continue until 11.

Members and friends of the church will assist.

Bura O. Handley, City Manager 40 Years, Dies

Bura O. Handley, who planned and built so much that is permanent of Wellington's municipal improvements during the forty years he was its city manager, died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 2:30 p.m. Friday, May 15. He suffered a heart attack late Wednesday night.

He had not been ill and had worked all day Wednesday.

Mr. Handley was 65.

His association with the city began in 1920, when he went to work in the light plant. He became water superintendent when the city sold the light plant and in 1924, Bura Handley was named city manager.

Completely dedicated to Wellington and his work for it, he made of the job of city manager a place recognized as outstanding among Texas municipalities, in the broad scope of its work and the effectiveness with which it operated.

Many people thought first of his work with the Fire Department. He became a volunteer fireman in 1918 and the next year was elected fire chief. He held this office consecutively except for one year for 35 years. It is to be credited to his leadership that during that time no fireman ever was injured seriously while fighting a fire, although there were several major blazes during the time.

Much of the fire department equipment until recent years was designed and built by him.

A near-genius in the field of engineering, he had no formal training except his own studies. Yet for its many major projects, the City of Wellington never hired an engineer nor did it ever let contracts on its work.

With foresight, he developed and planned the water works system, designing its reservoirs to meet the city's needs. Wellington has never had a water shortage and none of the problems that face most other Panhandle cities.

Many former council members and mayors who worked with him consider the sewer system he installed to be one of the most difficult of his municipal accomplishments.

For more than 25 years, the number of paved streets in Wellington amazed those from other towns.

This was Bura Handley's continuing program. He designed and built much equipment for it and city employees carried out the work.

Wellington's community building, still regarded as one of the outstanding municipal buildings of West Texas, came out of the planning and work of Bura Handley, with Mayor Fred LeDerer and Mayor Pink Sullivan during the late 1930's and early 1940's.

Shortly after World War II, the city voted improvement bonds. Bura Handley's original thinking gave Wellington Marian Airpark.

He was one of the first men to recognize the need for water development in the Eastern Panhandle, and he helped to organize the old Greenbelt Water

To Teach in Irving

Ted Parker Resigns School, Music Places

Ted Parker, Dodson school principal and music director of First Baptist Church in Wellington, has submitted his resignation to both places and will teach next year in the Irving junior high school.

He is ending his tenth year with the Dodson school system and he has been with First Baptist Church since Sept. 1, 1963. His final service will be that of Sunday, May 31.

In Irving, Parker will teach social science or language arts. He will receive the Master of Education degree at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, at the end of the summer session. He received notice last week of the acceptance of the last of the three required studies for the degree, "A Study of Development of Human Personality." This is in the field of his minor study, psychology.

Also he holds a bachelor of arts degree in social science from Central State College, Edmond, Okla., and studied three summers at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and one at North Texas State University.

Parker, whose home town is Mangum, taught three years at Willow, Okla., and one at Dover, Okla., before coming to Samnorwood where he taught one year, then moved to Dodson.

His music program in the latter school has been outstanding in the lower Panhandle area.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

THE FULBRIGHT CONTROVERSY

Distinguishing myth from reality, and vice versa, is quite a task for the American citizen today. This strife-torn world is complex enough, without having to endure senseless quarrels touched off by some of our biggest names in Washington who call for realities but live in a foreign relations dream world.

The public debate following the Fulbright pronouncement was useful in the sense that dialog helps determine action in democracy.

But time is precious, and the basic argument (if any) rather silly. Not even in an election year, we believe, should such talk bring a slowdown in this nation's effort to lead the free world away from the entrapments and snares of Communism.

Some noises are made for U.S. voters; others for Mr. Khrushchev's ear. But there is such a thing as seeking truth and trying to speak it.

There exist certain old realities, we think, that need repeating lest the new generations forget. There are differences between good and evil, and the conflict is likely to continue for a long time. It makes a difference which side you're on. Morality must concern the American people, even more so because of the existence of immoral, tyrannical dictators practing their crimes throughout the world.

Mr. Fulbright mostly ignores these realities, but the American people cannot afford to do so.

What appears to be a developing rapprochement with Communism, if indeed it is to become a fact in our foreign policy, could set this nation back toward defeat and loss of world leadership.

Senator Fulbright's suggestion that we have no proper quarrel with nations which practice their repugnant ideologies within our own frontiers can hardly be the reflection of American thought, either as it is or ought to be. While we believe in self-determination of peoples, no one conceives this to have taken place in either Russia, China, or Cuba.

If the people of a nation really want Communism, so be it. But that is not the way Communism comes to power.

Surely the world is too small today for any American to announce with resignation that he is unconcerned whether his neighbor is free or slave.

We have thought to make the world safe for democracy in times past, and more recently to help establish what passes for representative government in emerging lands.

This new isolation the Senator proposes would take the State Department, if it has not already reneged in its duties, completely out of the battle against Communism. Apparently this is what the Senator wants.

It need not be supposed that any of these strange proposals were voiced without consultation with the White House, even including Mr. Rusk's disagreement with the Senator about Cuba. This technique is well-known for playing both ends against the middle, whenever the vote is needed. People can see through this.

The liberal-style isolationists, however, who appear ready to throw any nation to the Communist bear including our own, are so enraptured with the new Fulbright Manifesto that they remain unaware of any play for votes other than their own.

President Johnson's recent assurance that general war is impossible is perhaps the biggest and most dangerous myth of all. At home, these statements are cherished by the peace-at-any-price crowd, and the better-Red-than-dead fellows. Abroad, they bring more doubts about U.S. leadership among our allies and more plans for aggression from the Communists.

Why should we reassure a ruthless foe, who has vowed to destroy this nation as we know it, that war is impossible? Impossible and unlikely, yes. Impossible, no.

That we have nothing to fear from the Communist world is the developing myth that can destroy us.

These new "flexible," "realistic," and "open-minded" policies fall right in with the "peaceful co-existence" plans of Mr. Khrushchev. The Soviet leader has said that capitalist countries follow two trends toward socialist countries — one militant and aggressive, the other moderate and sober. The latter he much prefers at the moment, since it leads to some form of co-existence and follows the Lenin advice to "struggle for peace." In other words, he can still practice his own aggression within that framework.

If these new policy suggestions are developed from the test-ban treaty and the Fulbright line, then Russia will have experienced its own political breakthrough at our expense.

The old West with all its color and pageantry will come to life in Quanah this week end during the visit of the famed Rolling Plains Mule Train of Spearman.

People of this area were issued a special invitation to attend the three-day Pioneer Days Celebration during a visit of the Wagon Train boosters from Quanah last week end.

Featuring an authentic pioneer wedding and a pioneer hootenanny, the celebration will get under way Friday afternoon between 4 and 5 p.m. with the arrival of the Mule Train on its 500-mile trek from Spearman to Graham.

Members of the Quanah Riding Club, sponsors of the celebration along with the Quanah chamber of commerce, will greet the Mule Train in downtown Quanah with brief ceremonies and the traditional "smoking of the peace pipe" between the Quanah Indians and the Mule Train "settlers." The Mule Train will headquarter at the Quanah high school stadium for the week end and visitors are invited to drop in for a visit and an old-fashioned chuck wagon meal.

Saturday morning the celebration will get underway in earnest with registration of Hardeman county pioneers at the "pioneer headquarters" in the West Texas Utilities office.

The celebration will close for Quanah Sunday with an old-fashioned sunrise "brush arbor" service at the Wagon Train site. Rev. John L. King, an 86-year-old Texas Panhandle preacher, will preach the sermon. Music will be directed by the Hardeman County singing convention.

Rev. King lived at Wellington many years ago and returns here frequently to visit. He is the father of Mrs. J. G. Finley.

The candles of the 7 Crafts of Camp Fire were lighted by Debra Jones, Pam Kersten, Jane Campbell, Karen Maxwell, Carole Cochran, Judy Hoffarth and Doris Tingle. Army Seeking 10 Veterinarians

AUSTIN. — State Selective Service has received a call for 10 veterinarians to be assigned to the Army, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state draft director, has announced.

These veterinarians are to go into service during June, July and August. Some may be ordered as late as September.

"The veterinarians will be selected from those currently classified 1-A," Col. Schwartz said. "In all probability," he continued, "some of them will come from those receiving their degrees in veterinary medicine during the summer. These graduates may be ordered into September."

The quota of 10 is the state's share of a national call for 100 veterinarians. The Department of Defense said insufficient veterinarians have volunteered for military service.

Veterinarians in the Army provide world-wide food inspection services, participate in medical research and development, and conduct scientific and technical analyses in medical laboratories.

Statistics show that about half the traffic fatalities occur in accidents involving a drinking driver.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM, COMFORTABLE, TOO

Los Angeles—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girde constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girde will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girde itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation. "Suddenly Slim," in both girde and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available in our area at

May Senior Citizens Month

Hal Geldon, social security district manager at Amarillo, noted today that May has been proclaimed "Senior Citizens Month."

"One of the major areas of the public welfare still needing additional consideration," he said, "is that of the problems of our aging population."

Since 1900 the population of the United States has more than doubled, but the number of people 45 years of age and older has nearly quadrupled.

Workers 45 and older now make up two-fifths of the labor force. Geldon noted that while progress has been made in the fields of special housing, medical and hospital care, recreation and work opportunities, there is still much to be done.

He called on every citizen to take an active interest in the problems of the aged. "After all," he said, "almost all of us will someday have to face them."

Information on aging activities is available by contacting the social security office, 1006 Adams Street, Amarillo.

FHA Elects New Officers

Members of the Wellington chapter of Future Homemakers of America named new officers for the 1964-65 school year in their meeting Monday, May 18.

Tower Seeks to Amend Civil Rights Bill

Senator John Tower today introduced an amendment to the Civil Rights bill that would protect the right of employers to give professionally designed tests to prospective employees.

The Tower amendment grows out of the Motorola case, where the Illinois FEPC ruled that the company could not administer a professionally developed, written test because it discriminated against "culturally disadvantaged groups."

"Since the case arose," said Tower in remarks prepared for delivery on the Senate floor with the introduction of the amendment, "it has been repeatedly stated by psychologists and testing experts that the test was not designed to 'select out' any cultural group. It is obvious that tests can and are being written which are both fair and extremely useful. There is no professional evidence to the contrary."

"My amendment is quite simple. It provides that an employer may give any professionally-developed ability test to any individual seeking employment or being considered for promotion or transfer, and then act upon the results of that test."

"I have carefully provided that employers must give such tests to all concerned individuals without regard to the individual's race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Thus, everybody will get the same fair test; everybody will get the same fair chance."

MARIAN AIRPARK NOTES

Cliff Hartman returned recently from Lubbock to set up his ag spraying service and plane shop. Hartman formerly operated out of Marian Airpark.

But Marian Airpark is not just a base of operations for Wellington fliers. It has a great deal of traffic for an airpark of this size.

On May 16, Byron DePauw of Amarillo flew down to see his brother, Jerry, who is seriously ill in St. Joseph's Hospital.

W. S. Hodges of Amarillo, also formerly of Wellington, flew in May 16 to have some work done on his plane.

Here briefly was Sat F. Beadle of Clarksville, who stopped for gas on his way to Amarillo.

Others flying in for work are Lynn Hulseley of Wildorado, Charles Phrost and Mr. Dooley of Post.

The architect for the new county jail flew in on an inspection trip.

Dr. Tom Hunter of San Angelo, who comes frequently to do surgery at St. Joseph's Hospital, was here May 14. Dr. Hunter pilots his own plane, a 4-place Beech Bonanza.

One of the most interesting planes at Marian Airpark in recent months was brought down for a check by Bob Speed of Adrain.

It is a 1941 model Beechcraft—an old bi-wing, radial engine plane. Yet it has a top cruising speed of around 200 miles per hour.

In fact this model was the first 200-mile plane ever built for civilian craft, according to Cliff Hartman.

Speed uses the 23-year-old plane as a pleasure craft. (How many 23-year-old cars are maintained by their owners for pleasure vehicles?)

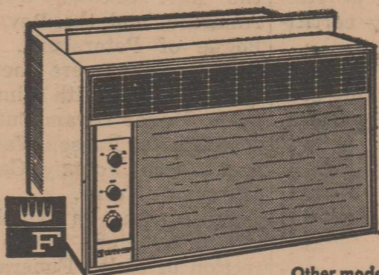

Speed owns a flying service at Adrain.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

As the mayor's proclamation pointed out, Bura Handley was a man who devoted his entire mature life to the service of this community and he did it so incredibly well that his influence was felt over the entire state. City managers and officials from distant places came to him for advice in solving their own municipal problems.

Today, monuments stand all over the town to remind us of his labors in our midst. The Community building, Ellison Park, Marian Airpark, and the miles of paved streets are the most notable visible testimonies to his work; but there are invisible achievements still working for the betterment of our community. A city that is to all extents and purposes debt free is one of them. The modest Bura Handley would be the last to say he brought these things into being by himself; but the fact remains that he played a major part in the creation of each of them.

As usual Rev. Howard Jones brought a living, growing message at the funeral of Bura Handley. In time it required something like twenty or twenty-five minutes; but in spirit it was for eternity. At the time I thought of it as a living evergreen in the mental sight of the listeners. In the midst of a busy afternoon it had become a stately pine and by the next morning it was still there—a Ponderosa of a funeral oration.

The most frequent question asked me since the death of Bura Handley is: "Who will the City Council select as his successor?" Naturally I do not know and neither do the members of the council for they have not met or resolved their minds. The most probable answer for the present is "no-body."

Through the years Bura Handley managed to surround himself with men he trusted and he trained each of them in specific tasks. They have been drilled in the Handley technique and they can carry on quite well and the members of the council know this. Look for no sudden changes—the business of the City of Wellington will go on as usual.

In this connection I would like to express the opinion that the present council represents more diversified, talented and experienced ability than any administration the city has had since it incorporated 54 years ago. There is engineering, financial, business and administrative talent on the council today and most of them have been diligent in the study of municipal affairs for years. They do have a problem; but I am confident they are capable of solving it for the betterment of all.

This is the week for the senior pictures and I do declare, as Mr. Starr says, that the girls get more beautiful and the boys more handsome with every passing year. Of course, we are getting better reproductions since we started making our own engravings; but it can't all be Mrs. Ford's fine work because the girls are more beautiful and the boys more handsome when you see them on the streets and at the school functions.

Barney Glenn was trying to find the owner of a large cow last week. He thinks she might have been blown out of her own pasture by the recent tornado. The animal seems gentle enough; but if she hears a loud noise like a car horn she tears out and runs over mesquite trees, fences or anything that is in her path.

Barney has another tale about the twister. It struck a fence in the bottom of a ravine and lifted the posts straight up out of the ground and laid the fence on its side. Barney simply lifted the posts one at a time and put them back in their holes and there was the fence intact without the use of a single extra staple.

School is out and the swimming pool opens Saturday so have fun youngsters; but you might turn over to the editorial page and read Virginia Robey's editorial on jobs. There is food for thought in it.

President Johnson Appears at National Rural Electric Meet

President Lyndon B. Johnson was a surprise visitor when Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, Inc., joined with other Texas rural electric and rural telephone systems to honor Texas' Congressional Delegation in the nation's capital last week.

Among the 400 persons taking part in the annual tribute to Texas Congressmen were George Henry, Greenbelt manager, Selba Rainey and A. J. Garland of Clarendon, officials of Greenbelt Electric Cooperative.

Honorees at the May 12 event included 15 of Texas' 23 members of the U. S. House of Representatives and their wives, and Texas' senior Senator and Mrs. Ralph Yarborough. Distinguished guests included several members of the White House staff: Lawrence J. O'Connor, member of the Federal Power Commission; Norman M. Clapp, head of the Rural Electrification Administration; and Fred Korth of Fort Worth, former Secretary of the Navy.

The crowd was surprised to see the President. It had been announced that the White House had written earlier that a previous commitment precluded sending an acceptance to the formal invitation extended to the President and Mrs. Johnson.

A standing ovation greeted announcement of the President's arrival and continued as he walked the length of the long dining hall to the stage, stopping at every step to shake the hands extended to him.

On the stage, and with the crowd quieted, the President said he came over to see some of "my old friends . . . it was friends like you who helped me enter politics," he said.

"Three decades of such ties make me most proud that our friendship has stood the test of time. You have never let me down. I wanted to walk over

Free swimming lessons are planned each Tuesday and Thursday, beginning Tuesday, June 10, and these will be in three categories: beginners, advanced and diving. All lessons will be between 9 and 11 a.m. and the only charge is the regular admission charge to the

A life guard will be on duty at all hours the pool is open, Larson stated.

City Church Slates Film

The fourth film in the Teenage Crusade will be shown this Sunday evening in the First Christian Church. The time is 6 p.m. The film is "Teenage Challenge."

"The theme of this film is centered around an essay contest at school in which Dave attends," Min. Hiram Cassel said. "He writes on the subject: 'A Teenager's Challenge . . . Finding God's Will for My Life' He is warned that his greatest challenge will be to try to live this down if he enters this in the contest. A real blow comes when his teacher tells him his essay is good . . . but it is too religious. The whole theme of this film centers around the idea that being a Christian is serious business."

All teenagers are invited.

The golf course will be closed on Saturday afternoon June 6 and Sunday, June 7, to everyone except those participating in the tournament.

To Rotary District Meet

Trusten Thomas, president-elect of the Wellington Rotary Club, and N. M. Higdon are attending the Rotary District Assembly, which opened in Floydada Wednesday, May 20. This is held annually for incoming officers of Rotary Clubs.

Bura Handley

—from page one ter Authority and served as its first secretary.

These were major works for the city. Not even those who worked closely with him through the years can remember all the minor things. One recalled as an example that before two-way radios were commonly used, he built and put in operation one for the city.

Turning to another facet of Mr. Handley's rich and productive life, his civic activities were broad and effective.

He was the first president of the Panhandle Firemen's Association and he served Wellington a number of years as a Scoutmaster.

A charter member of the Rotary Club, he was its president in 1946-47. He was a Past Master of the Masonic Lodge and a member of the Chapter and Council. As a member of the building committee, the new Masonic building was one of his last pieces of work.

Also devoted in his religious life, Mr. Handley was a member of First Baptist Church and sang in its choir.

As a token of his recognition of Bura Handley's work for Wellington, the Chamber of Commerce in 1962 named him Citizen of the Year.

The Texas League of Municipalities last year gave him special recognition at its annual meeting. Throughout the Southwest, his tenure as forty years a city manager was unequalled.

Bura Handley was born Oct. 11, 1898 at Lockhart, the son of Mrs. D. H. Handley and the late Mr. D. H. Handley. He came here with other members of his family in 1916.

He was married to Miss Lila Hollis Dec. 24, 1928. She preceded him in death July 9, 1958.

On August 13, 1961, Mr. Handley was married to Mrs. Lottie Brock, who survives.

Funeral services were conducted at First Baptist Church Monday at 10 a.m. with three former pastors conducting the service. They were the Rev. Howard Jones of Fort Worth, the Rev. Chester O'Brien of Amarillo, and the Rev. Russell Pogue of Petersburg. Pallbearers were men closely associated with him in his work, Mayor Hiram Cudd, Henry Sullivan, Russell Yates, Hubert Leach, Johnny Cagle and Raymond Terry.

Burial was in North Wellington cemetery under the direction of Kelson Funeral Home.

Mr. Handley is survived by his wife; his son, Capt. Phil Handley, who has just completed duty with the Air Force at Eyrevaux, France; and three step-children: Ted Brock of Wellington, Jim Brock of Amarillo, and Mrs. Leland Bonneau of Plainview.

He is survived also by his mother, Mrs. D. H. Handley of Arlington; four sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Ruby Baldrige and Mrs. Earl Conner of Arlington, Mrs. Vella Mae Thompson of Tulsa, Mrs. John Lee of Alamogordo, N.M., B. Handley of Biggs, Calif., and Jess Handley of Ada, Oklahoma.

There are eight grandchildren.

NOW... GREAT NEW ENCO EXTRA!

PUT A TIGER IN YOUR TANK!

New Power-formula Enco Extra gasoline boosts power three ways... preserves the power of new engines... restores lost power to many older engines:

- 1. Cleaning Power! Dirt can clog even a new carburetor in a few months of normal operation—causing hard starting and rough idling. Your very first tankful of New Enco Extra will start to clear away these deposits to improve power and mileage.
- 2. Firing Power! Spark plug and cylinder deposits can cause misfiring, pre-ignition and hot spots. New Enco Extra neutralizes these harmful deposits to help your engine fire smoothly and efficiently.

3. Octane Power! Octane requirements for new cars are up again this year. New Enco Extra has the high octane that most cars now need for full performance, smooth acceleration and passing power without knocking.

You'll get something extra for your money with New Power-formula Enco Extra—it's like putting a tiger in your tank! Happy Motoring!

Jobs, Not Positions, Build Careers and Communities

The late Lynn Landrum, columnist for the Dallas Morning News, many years ago told a class of high school graduates that there were plenty of jobs waiting for them. That was rather surprising, since it was one of the worst years of the great depression.

There were few positions, but plenty of jobs, he assured them. Not all of them were paying jobs, it was true, but the work was there to be done.

The picture has not changed much in those 25 years. The expanding economy and the emergence of the space age brought jobs in number and of a type that Mr. Landrum and his listeners never dreamed of, it is true, but every one of them presents an opportunity for a job to be done only by hard, consistent work.

In 1964 not all the jobs are paying jobs either. Communities grow into towns and towns into cities because jobs are done to make them that way . . . and most of the time, this work is done without pay; the doers seek only community improvement.

The successful men in Collingsworth County got that way because they did jobs well, and are still doing them. It is the same in every city. And those who are said to be "occupying a position" usually are less concerned with that than they are with the jobs before them.

We congratulate the graduates of 1964. We believe them to be fully capable and willing to do the jobs of the future.

Texas 65 Health Insurance Open for Enrollment

The Texas 65 Health Insurance Association will hold its second open enrollment period for senior citizens during the first two weeks of June, according to an announcement by H. Lewis Rietz of Houston, president of the association.

"Over 50,000 Texans, past the age of 65, took advantage of the first Texas 65 enrollment period last October. However, it has become increasingly apparent that many more of our senior citizens wish to avail themselves of the benefits of Texas 65, so we have decided to open the program for additional enrollments June 1 through June 15," Rietz said.

"That Texas 65 is filling the need we hoped it would be evidenced by the fact that over $1 million has been paid in claims to 4500 senior citizens of our state since the program went into effect last November," Rietz concluded.

During the first two weeks of June any resident of Texas, past the age of 65, may purchase the low cost health insurance regardless of age or physical condition and without completing a lengthy medical questionnaire.

Husbands and wives of those past 65 who purchase the insurance also qualify for Texas 65, regardless of age. It may also be purchased by sons and daughters in behalf of parents or relatives without the necessity of the insured's signature.

The Texas 65 Health Insurance Association was authorized by unanimous vote of the 58th Texas Legislature and was endorsed by Governor John Connally.

The unique health insurance program offers three plans for the senior citizen.

The basic plan pays a maximum of $12 per day for a hospital room up to 81 days, a part of the costs of doctor's hospital visits, surgical fees up to $200 and miscellaneous charges up to $125. Monthly premiums for this plan are $9.

The major medical plan costs $10 per month and covers hospital expenses up to $5,000 during any calendar year, or about 80 per cent of all hospital, surgical and nursing home expenses after the first $75. This plan is designed primarily for those who have some basic insurance coverage, or who are financially able to meet the costs of basic coverage.

The third Texas 65 plan is a combination of both the basic and major medical plans. Premiums for this plan are $19 per month.

The basic or major medical plan may be purchased separately or in combination under plan three.

Benefits of Texas 65 are guaranteed and underwritten by an association of 64 Texas insurance companies authorized to do business in the state.

TOWER NEWS LETTER

By SEN. JOHN TOWER

A great many of you have written to me this past week expressing your concern over the deaths of American servicemen in South Viet Nam under conditions unacceptable to either you or to me. Of course, I refer to your letters about the American pilots who have died when the wings fell off their obsolete training airplanes during combat flights for which the planes never were designed nor intended.

As you know, I have been critical of this nation's Viet Nam position for some time. To me, it is tragically unfortunate that the Johnson Administration cannot decide even now whether Americans are being committed to battle there in an effort for victory or only to delay an eventual Communist takeover. In other words, we are fighting a war of attrition there, if we apparently have no intention of winning.

If it is determined that South Viet Nam is vital to American interests and to the preservation of freedom the world over and to the blunting of the Communist drive for world domination, then we should pursue the war with whatever force is necessary to win. If that means air strikes in North Viet Nam, if that is necessary, then that's what we should do.

The sacrifice of American lives for any cause other than one dedicated to victory is, I believe, totally unwarranted, and one that will not achieve the approval of many Americans.

American servicemen do not go to war as mere mercenaries fighting only for their paycheck. They battle when our nation calls upon them because we and they are deeply committed to the principles of freedom and liberty.

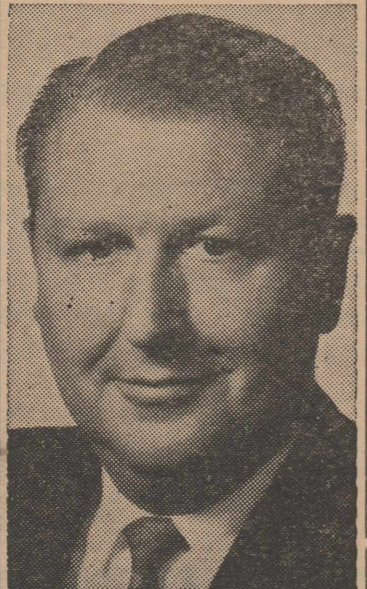

Americans fight in Viet Nam today for the same cause which motivated their brothers in Korea, their fathers in World War II, or their grandfathers in World War I. They fight to preserve our nation and to defend liberty for all men.

And, when American soldiers go to war, they know that their government and their fellow citizens, for whom they are ready to lay down their lives, will be honest with them. They expect to be adequately supported.

In South Viet Nam, our soldiers have been let down. Their equipment has been far from the best our nation can provide.

Therefore, I have introduced in the Senate a Resolution stating that American servicemen fighting in the Republic of Viet Nam, or at any other place, be provided promptly and in adequate numbers, with the most effective weapons, equipment and aircraft available in American military inventories.

Like wise, I have introduced legislation to provide that Viet Nam may be recorded as the place of death of Americans who fall there. Amazing as it might seem, it is not now possible for the Federal government to note, at its expense,

Anti-Litter Trucks Traveling

WACO.—The first of 900 semi-trailer trucks which will carry anti-litter messages to millions of Texans this year was started on its way recently as the Texas Highway Department opened a new phase of its campaign to keep Texas highways free of litter.

Twelve over-the-road trailers bearing on their tailgates big signs reading "Litter Costs You Tax $$$," "Help Us Keep America Clean and Beautiful," were officially dedicated to the anti-litter campaign in ceremonies.

The trucks are part of the 900 over-the-road trailers operated by Central Freight Lines of Waco, largest Texas based truck line, that will carry the anti-litter message to Texans.

"The 900 trucks bearing the anti-litter message will travel more than 18 million miles this year on highways in Texas, as well as additional miles in other states.

the words "Viet Nam" on the grave markers of our dead who have died in Viet Nam, simply because we are not officially at war there. I do not think American service widows should have to pay for an inscription telling where U.S. soldiers died.

I would like to share with you a few of the comments which have come to me this week about this sorry Viet Nam situation. These few are representative of dozens of other letters you have written me.

From Houston: "I just can't believe that a nation that spends 50 billion dollars a year for defense would send a man on a combat mission into enemy territory in a T-28."

From Muleshoe: "If this mighty nation won't help her fighting men, who will be left to fight?"

From Clayton, Texas: "It was heart-breaking to me that we should send our men over there to fight with such poor equipment."

And from El Paso: "If we are going to fight, let's fight to win."

And from Corpus Christi this word: "This country can afford to give away money to our enemies, and surely we can give our pilots airplanes that will fly."

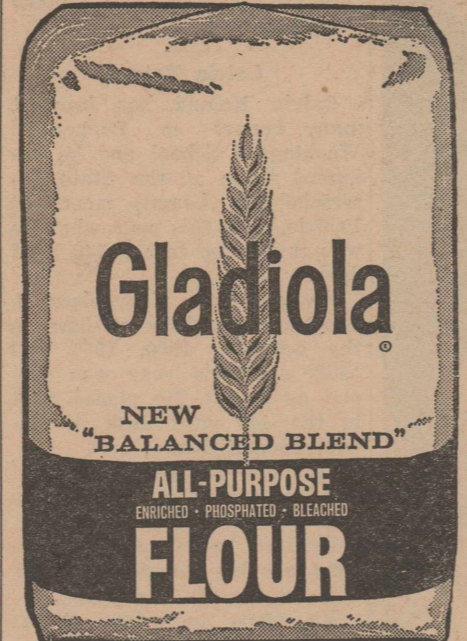

And from Peterson: "We must bow our heads in shame until some corrections are made."

For those who sent in those comments, I should say that I agree with you. I hope that my Resolution in the Senate will be approved and be headed by the Johnson Administration. It is vitally necessary that all American servicemen be provided with the latest and most effective weapons. It is inconceivable that Americans ever be asked to fight for freedom with obsolete and unsatisfactory material.

It is beyond understanding to me why we are killing time in Viet Nam, but it is truly tragic that we also are killing Americans, improperly equipped.
