Name of St. Joseph Island Officially Changed to San Jose

The island across Aransas Bay from Rockport, long known as St. Joseph Island, is now officially called San Jose.

Judge John H. Miller of 36th District Court signed an order last week officially designating the name of the island as San Jose -- which is Spanish for St. Joseph and which was it name originally.

The name change was initiated by Perry R. Bass, Fort Worth oil producer and nephew of the late Sid Richardson who owned the 21-mile-long island for many years until his death. Richardson's family still owns the island and operates it as a ranch.

"It was the only major landmark along the entire Texas Coast that had drifted away from its romantic old Spanish name," Bass said in a telephone interview from his office in Fort Worth.

"I thought it was incongruous for one place to be anglicized," he said. "Changing the name back to San Jose is more in keeping with its history."

Bass also said he thought "San Jose" is a more beautiful name than "St. Joseph," which "often is reduced to 'St. Joe.'"

" 'Corpus Christi' is much more beautiful than 'Body of Christ,' and 'Nueces River' sounds much better than 'Nuts River,' " he commented.

Bass said the name change was not done facetiously or frivolously "We have thought about it for many, many years."

He said he has been closely associated with the island since he was a youngster.

"I built the ranch house on the island myself," he said. "My uncle sent me down there to build him a home when I got out of college. He never had a home to live in, and he wanted one there."

The Richardson heirs own the entire island except for a small area on the south end which the U.S. government condemned many years ago to use for depositing spoil when the ship channel was dredged through Aransas Pass.

The island was part of a land grant of many thousands of acres by the government of Coahuila in 1834. The grant, recorded with the Aransas County deed records, shows the name of the island to be "Isla de San Jose."

Miller said there is a state statute which authorized such a name change and that the attorneys for Bass said the Texas Land Commission had been contacted and had no objection to it, nor did County Judge John Wendell or the county clerk, Ruby Hart, both of whom testified.

Certified copies of the name change are to be filed in Aransas County and with the Texas Land Office.

Bass said notice of the change also will be sent to a number of other persons, such as map makers.

Background On St. Joseph Island

A simple court order has changed the name of St. Joseph island to "Isla de San Jose," its original Spanish name, or San Jose Island.

The change brings back memories of the last Sid Richardson of Fort Worth, one of the original prototypes of the wheeler-dealer oil operator of Texas which has become a part of American folklore. Richardson bought the island, built an elaborate home on it, and entertained many a famous personage there, including a duck hunter in the fall of 1951 named Dwight D. Eisenhower. The Richardson family still owns the island.

A story, perhaps in part legend, has arisen over Richardson's reason for buying the island and building the home.

Richardson and the late Clint Murchison, another wheeler-dealer of equal renown, were great friends and often business partners in first one deal and another. Richarson frequently visted Murchison on Matagorda

Tax Revaluation Engineer Hired

County commissioners have voted to employ Davis & Wilson, appraisal service firm from Houston, to re-appraise all real estate properties in Aransas County for tax purposes. The firm will receive approximately $112,000 for its service and the job is scheduled to be completed in 1974.

In other actions, the commissioners voted to advertise for bids for three diesel trucks and a pneumatic roller, agreed to raise the salary of Justice of Peace Lawrence Miller from $150 to $200 a month, and appointed David Maguglin, Lucille Compton and Jim Barber as members of the salary grievance committee.

Unit Plan Is Hazy In County

Aransas County commissioners have shown little interest in adopting a unit management system for road operations, County Judge John D. Wendell said recently.

Wendell said that some citizens are interested in seeing such a system adopted in the county. He has been approached by several persons who would like him to suggest that an election on the proposition be called.

Wendell said he has no plans to submit the matter to the commissioners, however, as a majority have indicated to him they do not favor a change in system.

Wendell said any citizens interested in doing so could petition for an election. It would be necessary to have the names of 10 per cent of those who voted in the last governor's race on the petition, he said. An election must be called upon submission of such a petition.

He said he did not yet know if anyone planned to try to put together such a petition but expected to know more within a month or so.

Wendell noted that the county already has a partial unit system and has had, due to general agreement among commissioners, for some 20 years. All equipment is pooled and kept in one barn, there is a single shop for maintenance and a single fueling station.

Under a full unit system, the present method of handling equipment would be unchanged, but would be taken out of the hands of the commissioners. A person would be hired by the commissioners court to take full charge of equipment and road operations.

A 1947 state law makes it possible for counties that wish to adopt the unit system.

Yard of the Month To Be Selected

The Rockport Home and Garden Club will sponsor a Yard of the Month award beginning March 1, said Mrs. Bill Stubbs, club president.

Anyone within the city and area is eligible for the award. Garden club membership is not required. Persons wishing to enter a yard for the month of March should submit your nomination in writing to the club's Yard of the Month chairman, not later than February 25. Any entry submitted after this date will be judged the following month.

The club's sign painted with large yellow roses and inscribed "Yard of the Month", Rockport Home and Garden Club, will be displayed for the full month in the winners' yard.

Persons may enter their own yard or any yard they deem worthy. A yard is eligible if it has been professionally landscaped, but must have been planted for over six months. In case of a tie, the yard that has been landscaped by the home owner will win over a professionally landscaped yard. Yards will be judged the year around.

Each month a story along with a picture of the winning yard will be published. "We are not necessarily looking for landscaping perfection, but more towards how the yard is maintained throughout the year", said Mary Belle Adams, Yard of the Month chairman and judge. "The yard will be judged more on perfection of maintenance rather than perfection of landscaping."

Anyone wishing to nominate a yard for the month of March can do so by writing Mary Belle Adams, Yard of the Month chairman, 1141 Ruby, Rockport.

The Communication Smorgasborg will continue each Sunday during January at 9:45 a.m. and is the beginning of the new educational approach for Rockport Presbyterians.

Whooping Crane Hunt Continues

Officials of the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge are continuing a local search for eight of 59 whooping cranes which nested here last winter.

Lee Marlatt, assistant refuge manager, said the southern end of Padre Island will be covered when the weather improved. But the total count of the endangered bird remains at 51; an aerial check on Jan. 3 found that figure as did an inventory last November.

"They are very territorialistic and fight off other cranes if they feel crowded," Marlatt said.

The refuge receives sightings of whooping cranes from the public but most reports arrive too late to verify. Some sighted birds turn out to be wood ibis and pelicans, Marlatt said.

St. Joseph Island—

Island--Murchison owned most of the island.

"Why don't you quit sponging off me and go buy an island of your own?" Murchison asked one day in a pretended fit of impatience.

"Well, I don't know," Richardson replied. "Are there any island for sale around here?"

"Why don't you buy St. Joe Island?"

"I don't know...how much do they want for it?"

"I don't know. But it may have oil on it."

So Richardson bought St. Joe. He immediately began thinking of building a house there. But he first had to spend about $30,000 dredging a channel and building a loading dock on the island so he could take cattle back and forth from Rockport and take building and other supplies to the island. Then he began planning a house. He went to Murchison for advice.

"How much did this house cost you?" he asked Murchison, referring to his Matagorda Island home.

"Oh, about $35,000," Murchison replied. (The home was reputed to have more than $35,000 in glass in it.)

Richardson went off to see if he could build a home on St. Joe Island for $35,000. He sent four-wheel-drive vehicles up and down the beach to collect mahogany logs which had been swept off ships in past years which carried the logs as deck cargo. He set up a sawmill to convert the logs into paneling for the house. He got impatient with one architect and hired another.

One day he went back to Matagorda Island to confer with Murchison.

"How much did you say you spent on this house?" he asked.

"Oh, about $35,000," Murchison, replied.

"Well," said Richardson, "I may have to up that a bit. I may spend about $75,000."

Richardson finally finished his home on St. Joe, an imposing building with an elaborate wrought-iron staircase. Murchison was one of the guests at the formal "housewarming." He wandered through the home, his practiced eye taking in all of the details. He was convinced that Richardson had spent at least $200,000 on the house. He was pleased with himself for persuading Richardson to part with that much money for an island home.

"Say, Sid, how much did this house cost you?" Murchison inquired, a mischievous grin on his face and a glint in his eye.

"I'm not going to tell you," Richardson said, "You got me into this, you SOB."

Pirates Beat Aransas Pass 73-59

Rockport - Fulton climaxed last week with a 73-59 victory over District 15-AAA rival Aransas Pass in Pirate Gym last Friday night to take the district's North Zone lead with a 3-0 record, and running the season's record to 14-2. Earlier last week the Pirates had beaten Gregory-Portland by a score of 76-48.

Again, it was big Steve Mayes leading the team in scoring with 29 points, and he was followed by starters Joe Lee Green with 18, Donnie Setterbo with 15, and Jim McBride with 10 points. John Vick, the other starter, did not score but he led the team in assists, setting up ten baskets. Warren Gerdine came off of the bench to add another point.

While the Pirates were shooting a high 45 per cent from the floor, Aransas Pass' top shooter Philip Brown was burning the nets for 41 points, hitting 20 or 40 shots and adding a free throw.

Until deep into the second period the game was in doubt. The Pirates trailed by a 22-20 score at the end of the first period, but during the second period the Rockport team managed to pull out to a nine point half-time lead.

Before the game ended, the Panthers had pulled as close as 5 points in the fourth period, but the Pirates held them off.

Last Tuesday night the Pirates handed Gregory-Portland a 76-48 loss in Wildcat Country.

This week the Pirates will have played the Taft team in their zone and then this Friday night, the Pirates will host the West Oso Bears, the current leader in South Zone play. Increased the denomination of money orders from up to $100 to up to $200 as a greater convenience for our customers and announced plans to further increase the amount to up to $300 early in 1973.

The Rockport Post Office reports the following: Three city carrier routes and 2 star routes; city carriers are W.R. Morgan, R. D. Tegenborg and Mrs. G. M. Boscharge. Two Star Routes are served by Mrs. Marguerite House and Randall Kubena.

Other personnel are M. A. Rowan, Postmaster, and the following clerks: Gilbert Stettler, C.E. (Buddy) McElveen, Patrick L. (Pat) Tedder, Mrs. Ethel Scott, Mrs. Ann Harris, Henry Hrchek, and R.W. (Randy) Itschner.

Mrs. W. W. (Myrtie) Townsend arrived home Saturday from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where her daughter, Mrs. T. L. (Janie) Cobb, formerly of Rockport, became the mother of a nine pound one ounce baby son, Christopher Lee, on Dec. 28.

Mrs. Townsend also attended the wedding of her son, John, to Miss Constance Lynne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Palmer of Plantation, Fla.

Youth Volunteers Rank High In March of Dimes Projects

"They never told me I would be a bigger person." This is the last line of a poem written by Debi Hegi, active in the Future Homemakers of America. Debi, a high school senior from Monett, Mo., is one of the thousands of young people around the country who are working to make their generation aware of our nation's most serious child health problem.

Members of the March of Dimes Teen Action Program (TAP) and the College Action Program (CAP), give time and energy on behalf of educational, service and fund-raising programs aimed at prevention and treatment of birth defects. Some quarter of a million infants are born every year in the United States with congenital damage.

TAP and CAP volunteers often join with youth service organizations to enlarge their impact. They team up with such groups as the Camp Fire Girls, Y Teens, B'nai B'rith Youth, Future Homemakers of America and Future Business Leaders of America. Together they plan and support activities which encourage widespread interest in March of Dimes research, Medical Service Programs, and health information projects.

As parents of the next generation, these youths have a common denominator. Programs such as Operation Birthright and Project HELP put them in the front line of the fight to prevent birth defects.

Operation Birthright is carried out in cooperation with the Camp Fire Girs. The objective is to give handicapped children the right to a life of dignity and meaning. The ultimate goal is to see that all babies are born healthy.

Activities range from rap sessions to full - scale community service projects, such as painting and decorating a prenatal care clinic. With medical guidance, these teens sponsor educational forums, campaign against drug abuse, show March of Dimes filmstrips and distribute educational literature.

Operation Birthright members donate their time to teach, read to and play with handicapped children. Others serve the cause as typists and record keepers for community health centers.

Other young volunteers give speeches at school assemblies or baby-sit with youngsters while their mothers attend a prenatal care clinic.

Project HELP (Health Education Leads to Progress) is done in cooperation with the Future Business Leaders of America and Phi Beta Lambda. The philosophy behind it is that economic health is largely dependent upon the physical health of all our people. Project HELP aims at reaching students and business leaders and their employees with word of how they can help.

In - house educational programs, planned in cooperation with March of Dimes chapters, benefit company workers. Volunteers provide luncheon speakers, exhibits, films and displays.

Future Business Leaders also handle correspondence and office duties for their local March of Dimes chapter or other health services. Many teach their office skills to handicapped children and adults. In addition, they sponsor or help with March of Dimes Walk-a-thons and a variety of other educational and fund-raising projects in the community.

Whether these youths are members of TAP, CAP, Camp Fire Girls or Future Business Leaders of America, they combine to inform, serve and raise funds for the hoped-for day when prevention of birth defects becomes a reality. Because of their dedication to improving the quality of life at birth, they are all "bigger people."

Rose Greenhow, a Washington hostess and famous spy during the Civil War, is said to have sent word to Confederate Gen. Beauregard that the Yankees were coming, causing Union defeat at Bull Run.

Haas-Griffis Vows Exchanged

Miss Pamela Marcel Griffis and Gregory Duffield Haas were married in a double ring ceremony December 23 at the First Baptist Church. Rev. Charles Fake officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Griffis, Sr., Alvin, Texas and the groom is the son of Mrs. Gloria Louise Harper, Honolulu, Hawaii and Eugene Walter Haas, Pampa, Texas.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Norman McLead. Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Bradley sang "Come Live Your Life With Me" and Rev. Charles Fake sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The altar was decorated with an archway entwined with greenery and white carnations, flanked on each side by white wicker baskets of white gladioli and carnations, and standing candelabra entwined with greenery and carnations. The pews were marked with wide satin bows of royal blue with single white carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length Empire gown of white peau de soie and Venice lace. The princess style gown featured a Victorian yoke and neckline of lace re-embroidered with bridal pearls. The long tapered sleeves, deeply cuffed, were beaded. Matching lace beads circled the hemline and the full length mantilla veil.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations and satin ribbon streamer tied in lover's knots surrounding a solitary white orchid. The bride carrried out the traditions of something old, an heirloom brooch that belongs to the groom's grandmother, something new, the wedding gown and veil, something borrowed, a penny for her shoe, and something blue, a garter.

Miss Linda Ballou was maid of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Janet Younglove. The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore gowns of floor length royal blue crepe with princess style lines, and yokes of white Carleton lace. The gown had short puffed sleeves. They each wore a brooch, a gift from the bride, and wrist length white gloves. They carried nosegays of white carnations with royal blue and white streamers.

Jeffery Haas, Pampa, Texas, brother of the groom, served as best man, and groomsman was Alvin Griffis, Jr., Alvin, Texas, brother of the bride. Ushers were Dana Wagner and David Fake.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth and trimmed with white satin ribbon. The bride's chosen colors of blue and white were carried out in the bouquet of chrysanthemums and carnations in the center of the table, flanked on each side by a crystal candelabra. The white three-tier wedding cake was decorated with flowers and a miniature bride and groom. Miss Diana Moore served the wedding cake. Miss Ellen McElveen served the punch from the crystal punch bowl.

The groom's table was laid with a royal blue cloth overlaid with a white net cloth trimmed with royal blue satin ribbon. Miss Betty Piester served the coffee and Miss Melinda Mills served the groom's chocolate cake.

The register table was laid with a lace cloth and held the bride's book. A royal blue candle circled with wedding bells, flowers and doves decorated the table. Approximately 60 guests were registered by Miss Melinda Mills.

The bride's traveling attire was a navy blue pant suit, matching accessories and the white orchid from the bridal bouquet.

After the wedding trip to Houston, Texas; Pawhuska, Oklahoma and Odessa, Texas, the couple will make their home at 616 West Ave. "G", Kingsville, Texas.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Flurry, Odessa, Texas (grandparents of the bride), Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Griffis, Odessa, (grandparents of the bride), Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Duffield, Pawhuska, Okla. (grandparents of the groom), Eugene W. Haas, Pampa, Texas, (father of the groom), Jeffery W. Mr. and Mrs. Griffis Host Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Griffis, Sr., were hosts for a rehearsal dinner given at the Emerald room at Sea Gun Restaurant December 22 at 6:00 p.m., for Griffis-Haas wedding party.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION ANNUAL INCOME QUESTIONNAIRES

The Veterans Administration has a suggestion for 1.1 million veterans, widows and parents who received income questionnaires with their November 1st pension checks, according to A. A. Hunter, Houston VA Regional Office director.

Complete and return the questionnaires promptly, the agency advises, even though the deadline for returning them is not until January 15.

Mr. Hunter explained the reason for this suggestion is that past experience shows many questionnaires are lost, misplaced, forgotten or otherwise delayed if they are not returned promptly.

When this happens, VA's determination of amounts due pensioners during the upcoming year is hampered, since the questionnaires provide information essential for this computation. If the questionnaires are returned late or not at all, some pensioners may receive later checks, smaller checks, or no checks at all, it was stressed by Mr. Hunter.

The VA questionnaires were mailed to veterans and widows drawing pension under the "old" and "new" pension laws, as well as to parents on dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC). DIC payments are based on service-connected deaths of veterans on or after Jan. 1, 1957.

The annual questionnaires also went to veterans drawing disability compensation for service-connected injuries rated 50 percent or more disabling, who claim parents as dependents. In addition, parents who receive death compensation benefits as a result of service-connected deaths of veterans before Jan. 1, 1957, receive questionnaires, Mr. Hunter pointed out.

The acid test: If a fellow says he's going home because of illness, and you know it's the day for his wife's bridge club, brother, he's SICK.

Winter Dove Season Offers Unusual Challenges

AUSTIN - Texas dove hunters will go through some unusual rituals this year -- preparations for cold weather.

Due to an experimental split dove season with a winter segment running Jan. 6 through Jan. 21, hunters can think about parkas and Thermos bottles of hot coffee instead of insect repellent and iced tea.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials stress the word "experimental" when referring to the split season since next year the season could very likely revert to fall-only.

The late segment of the seasons should offer a different experience for dove hunters, and colder weather is just part of it.

Doves have different habits in the winter than those exhibited during the fall. They concentrate into flocks, and the net results are spottier shooting and more searching.

There should be few complaints of small, immature birds, though, since most of the winter kill should be composed of mature birds. Once hunters have found the doves, the action should be lively.

Hunters have been hoping for a winter season for years, but biologists say that until now they had no way to evaluate the effect of such a season on dove populations.

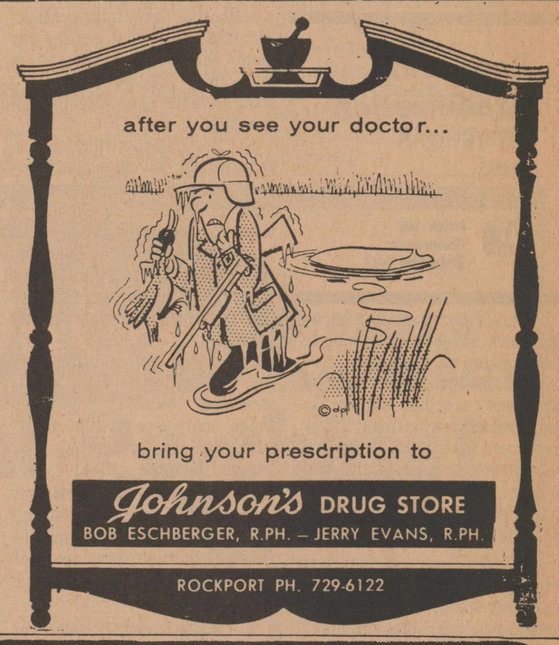

Now, harvest surveys and banding programs will enable them to determine the origin of doves present in Texas during January and the effect of a late season on the overall harvest.

A portion of the dove population in Texas during the winter is comprised of migrants from other states, and these may have been hunted quite heavily prior to arriving in Texas.

Biologists will be keeping a close eye on the winter kill to determine if a winter season may adversely affect the breeding populations in Texas and other states.

Until they are sure a winter season won't be detrimental, Parks and Wildlife Department officials say they cannot prudently approve a permanent winter season.

Very few participants in marriage ceremonies recall the "for poorer" phrase.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

Q: Are federal employee pay increases subject to Economic Stabilization regulations?

A: No. Federal employee pay increases are not subject to Stabilization regulations, if they are based upon federal law and determined by Presidential directives.

Q: How does the profit margin rule limit price increases?

A: A firm may not increase prices, even if it has allowable cost increases, if this would increase its current profit margin above the base period profit margin. Essentially, the base period profit margin is the average profit margin for the best two of the three company fiscal years prior to August 15, 1971. Most companies with more than 60 employees are covered by the profit margin limitations.

Q: My construction company employs only 50 construction workers. I want to enter into a collective bargaining contract with the union that represents them for wage increases of less than 5.5 percent. Do I still have to prenotify the increases?

A: Yes. Prenotification is required for all union construction industry wage increases. This prenotification should be made to the appropriate craft board operating under the Construction Industry Stabilization Committee or the Committee itself if there is no appropriate board.

For more information, see IRS Publication S-3012, "Construction Industry Pay and Price Increases." It's available free by contacting your Internal Revenue office.

Q: The rent I pay under my lease varies with such factors as the cost of living and the passage of time. How are such formula-determined rentals controlled?

A: If the monthly rent for your apartment is determined by a formula in the lease, your landlord may continue to use this formula. However, the total amount of rent he charges under that formula cannot be more than the rent otherwise allowable under Economic Stabilization regulations.

In general, landlords are permitted to increase rent by 2.5 percent annually and pass on increases in state or local real property taxes, municipal charges and a portion of capital improvement costs. For more details, see IRS Publication S-3019, "Rent Guidelines," available free by contacting your Internal Revenue office.

Q: If a person buys six additional apartments from another landlord to rent himself, is he subject to the rent charged by the former owner or can he set a new rent level?

A: He is subject to the rent charged by the former owner, and cannot set a new rent level. The base rent of a residence is not subject to change, but remains the same despite allowable rent adjustments or changes in ownership or management.

TEXAS-SIZE SUPERPORT — This aerial view of the new Dallas/Fort Worth Airport shows construction progress on the giant superport scheduled for opening in early fall, 1973. Conveniently located 17 miles from both Dallas and Fort Worth, the new airport is designed with the passenger in mind. Drive to gate boarding, close-in parking and simplified terminal procedures are only a few of the ultra modern features designed into the unique facility.

New Short Tax Form For Wage Earners

Many wage earners will find the new short tax form a shortcut to filing their Federal income tax returns, R.L. Phinney, District Director of Internal Revenue for southern Texas, said today.

The short Form 1040A, which can be used by about one million taxpayers in the Austin District, is tailored to the needs of persons whose income is from wages, salaries and tips, who do not choose to itemize deductions, and who have no more than $200 in interest income or $200 in dividends.

The 1040A is a half sheet return with simplified instructions and relatively few entries. Most 1040A users should be able to fill out their own returns.

Even though 1040A users can't itemize deductions, they can still claim the limited tax credit for political contributions. They can also allocate one dollar of their taxes, two dollars on a joint return, to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund, Phinney said.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sirs:

I am writing you in connection with publicity concerning the fourteenth annual South Texas Trail Ride from Corpus Christi to San Antonio. The ride begins on Saturday morning, February 3, at 7:00 a.m. at the Nueces River Bridge Park, and arrives in San Antonio, Thursday, February 8, 1973.

We have quite a few members from Rockport and around your area and would appreciate it if you could help us to let them know in case some of them are not fully aware of the time, etc. of the ride. Also, we are always happy to have new members join our ride.

Our ride officially kicks off with a barbeque and dance at the Knights of Columbus Columbian Civic Center, on Highway 77 between Calallen and Robstown, on Friday, February 2, 1973 at 6:00 p.m.

Thanking you in advance for any help you might give us, I remain,

Internal Revenue Service News

The Internal Revenue Service is trying to tailor its taxpayer assistance hours to taxpayers needs this year.

From January 15 through April 16, the IRS Corpus Christi Office is extending its daily hours from 7:45 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. As in the past, help will be available both in person and by telephone.

All of this is part of the IRS expanded taxpayer service program for 1973, according to George Zerda, administrative officer of Internal Revenue for Corpus Christi.

These extended hours and the return of the short Form 1040A should make this filing period go more smoothly for many taxpayers. "We expect some 32,000,000 taxpayers nationwide to be eligible to use the short form this year," Zerda said.

Form 1040A is a half-sheet return with simplified instructions and relatively few entries. "Most 1040A users should be able to fill out their own returns, since no additional schedules are necessary," Zerda stated.

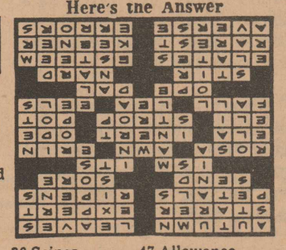

The taxpayer assistance program is aimed at self-help. For faster and convenient service IRS is encouraging taxpayers to call in their questions, thus saving themselves a trip to the office. "But whether folks call in or come in, our goal is to provide fast and high quality assistance to all our customers," Zerda said.

In Corpus Christi the phone number is 884-1901. The place is the Smith Building, 425 Schatzel Street.

Home and Garden Club Meets

Mrs. Danny Adams, 1521 Dana, was hostess to the Rockport Home and Garden Club, January 11. Mrs. Chester Barre was co-hostess.

Eighteen members and three guests attended. Guests were Mrs. Richard Beck, Mrs. Lynn Wendell and Mrs. Joe Hugenberg.

Mrs. Danny Adams read letters from Mrs. Browning Smith, membership chairman Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., and Mrs. Hilmer B. Haegelin, Director District VII, welcoming the Rockport Home and Garden Club as members of National, State and District Garden Clubs.

The following were elected officers for 1973-74. Mrs. Bill Stubbs, president; Mrs. W. K. Thomas, 1st vice president; Mrs. E. N. Adams, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Danny Adams, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. G. Stafford, recording secretary; Mrs. Ross Demory, treasurer and Mrs. Tom McClung, parliamentarian and auditor.

The motion was made and approved that the club sponsor a Yard of the Month award. The first yard will be judged in March. Mrs. Mary Belle Adams, was appointed judge and chairman, to serve through Sept. 1973. Two assistants will be chosen each month from club members to assist Mrs. Adams in judging.

Mrs. W. K. Thomas, Urban Beautification Committee member reported the committee had met in the council room of City Hall, with Mr. Greg Wade, Landscape Architect with the State Highway Dept. Mr. Wade assisted the committee in organization of "group plantings" to be used in the landscaping planned for the south end of the ski basin and along Highway 35.

Members voted to observe Arbor Day, January 19 by planting a tree in a city park. A planning committee, with Mrs. B. F. Street, Jr., as chairman, was appointed. Others serving are Mrs. Tom McClung, Mrs. Kay Thomas and Mrs. T. E. McArdle. All club members plan to participate in the planting ceremonies.

It was announced that a program on Arrangements with Mr. Bob Thomas of Florida as teacher will be held in Corpus Christi, January 16, at the Council of Garden Clubs Center. Some of the members plan to attend.

The business meeting was adjourned and Mrs. R. L. Eckman presented the program on "Garden Success--How-When-What to Plant."

Mrs. Eckman said, "Now is the time to start planning our gardens for spring and summer blooms. In planning your garden you should consider both colors as well as types of plants needed to complete the picture you hope your garden will be." She suggests you prepare the flower bed by clearing them of roots and any other foreign matter such as rocks, etc. Most of the soil in this area has few of the elements needed for plant growth, so humas should be added. She uses spagnum peat moss, pine bark and dairy fertilizer. After the plants are well established she recommends working in around the plants a balanced fertilizer of nitrogen, phosphate and potash.

Mrs. Eckman said now is the time to set out roses and move any shrubs or trees, except palms. She stressed that if you are in doubt in selecting shrubs and trees for your yard that you utilize plants grown naturally in this locality, or plants that are growing well in the older established gardens of this area.

Tax Payers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. My son earned nearly $2,000 last year. Does he have to file a Federal income tax return?

A. If your son is single, you are not claiming him as a dependent and he did not have self - employment earnings of $400 or more, he does not have to file a return because his gross income is less than $2050. However, if you or someone else could claim your son as a dependent and he had income from dividends, interest or other types of unearned income, he must file a return if his gross income was at least $750. He must also file a return if he had net self-employment earnings of $400 or more.

Of course, he should file a return to claim any refund due him for income tax withheld.

Q. I have all my tax records. Can I file without my Form W-2?

A. No. A withholding statement, Form W-2, for each job held during 1972 must be attached to your return. Failure to do so delayed the refunds of many taxpayers last year.

Q. I plan to go to a commercial tax preparer to have my 1972 return filled out. Is he responsible for any errors on the return?

A. No. Each taxpayer is responsible for the accuracy of his Federal income tax return, no matter who fills it out.

If you do use the services of a tax preparer this year, be sure he signs your return and enters on the form his social security number or employer identification number.

Q. Is it true that this year taxpayers can designate $1.00 of their tax to go to a presidential election campaign fund?

A. Yes. This year, taxpayers, at their option, may designate $1.00 of their taxes ($2.00 if a joint return) to go to the political party of their choice or to a nonpartisan general fund.

The "check-off" is made on a separate form---IRS Form 4875---which is included in your tax forms package, and not on the Form 1040 itself. If you want to designate a dollar for the fund, complete the Form 4875 and attach it to your Form 1040. If you do not wish to earmark money for this purpose, do not file Form 4875.

Q. Will the IRS still figure out a person's tax, if he wants them to?

A. Yes. The Internal Revenue Service will figure out your tax if your adjusted gross income is $20,000 or less and was only from wages, salary and tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities, and if you claim the standard deduction. For more details, see your tax form instructions.

Q. What do you mean by "adjusted gross income"?

A. This is the total income that appears on line 17 of your Form 1040. Adjusted gross income is arrived at by subtracting business expenses and certain employee expenses, such as sick pay, moving expenses, etc. from your gross income. For most taxpayers, however, adjusted gross income is equivalent to their total income.

This year, your Form 1040 instructions contain a glossary of frequently used tax terms to make it easier for you to fill out your return.

Q. Are medical insurance premiums deductible in full?

A. If you itemize deductions, you may deduct in full one-half of the amount you paid for medical insurance, up to $150. The balance of your premiums is added to your other medical expenses. Only your medical expenses in excess of three percent of your adjusted gross income are deductible.

For more information, contact your Internal Revenue office and ask for a free copy of IRS Publication 502, "Deduction for Medical and Dental Expenses."

Texas Coastal Bend: People And Places

This is the seventh installment of our serialization of an outstanding regional history, TEXAS COASTAL BEND: PEOPLE AND PLACES by Alpha Kennedy Wood, now being reprinted in the Rockport Pilot with permission of The Naylor Company, publishers of this book and many other Southwestern titles. Hardcover, $7.95.

The town of Lamar had waned with the Texas Republic. There was still some population left there, but Captain Byrne and his associates beheld greener pastures for promotion in St. Joseph's Island. The settlement known as Aransas, at the west end of the island, was replaced by the village of St. Joseph. Captain Byrne seems to have spend considerable time on the island, if he did not, in fact, live there. The years 1847-1848 were the heyday of the island until the Johnson families moved to St. Joseph. There was a large and active population on the island, and Capt. James B. Wells seems to have been the principal citizen.

About this time, the prospects of the town of Lamar began to look up. Col. Pryor Lea, who had been a congressman in Tennessee, moved to Goliad after annexation. His purpose in coming to Texas was to promote railroads. He found that a West Texas port was greatly desired, and he believed that the Aransas Bay area was the most logical for such a port. In 1847, he made preliminary surveys for a railroad connecting Goliad with Lamar. From Goliad, the railway would be extended to San Antonio. He shortly became associated with Captain Byrne and his partners in the projected building of a great western port at Lamar (which was renamed Treport), and the railroad line to Goliad. Captain Byrne then transferred his affections back to his first love, and induced a number of his islanders to leave St. Joseph's and move to Lamar, or Treport. Among these was Moses Simpson, who had come to Texas with Taylor's army and had been discharged at Corpus Christi.

The most substantial development in the county, during this decade, was at the town of Refugio. After annexation, the town government was reorganized under the congressional charter of February 1, 1842. Capt. Isaac W. Johnson became mayor in 1847, and between frontier services with his Ranger company, found time to have the subdivision of the four-league grant into farm tracts begun. The area on both sides of the Mission River, below the town, was surveyed by George Lyon in 1847 or 1848; and the first auction of farm timber lots was held in 1848. The first subdivision was immediately sold out, and David Snively was employed to make further subdivisions. Auction sales of farm, timer, prairie, and post-oak lots were held annually until about the time of the Civil War.

Beginning with 1847, concerted efforts were made by Col. Pryor Lea to bring a steam railway system to connect with the various ship channels. Various charters for railroad corporations were issued by the legislature. On February 14, 1852, the Aransas Road Company was incorporated by the legislature. The incorporators were: John W. Hodges, Barton Peck, Robert W. Lott, T.P.C. Lott, Dr. Joseph H. Barnard, Jackson L. McKenney, James W. Byrne, Samuel Holliday, Alexander H. Cromwell, Maj. John H. Wood, David Shelton, James S. Bailey, and Col. Pryor Lea.

On February 16, 1852 (two days after Lea's charter), the legislature incorporated the Texas Western Railroad Company. The incorporators were Col. Henry L. Kinney, Col. James Power, Capt. James W. Byrne, Gen. Ebenezer Allen, Judge Milford P. Norton, Gen. Hugh McLeod, Col. Forbes Britton, (future) Gen. Hamilton P. Bee, Gen. William L. Cazneau, Judge William G. Hale, Judge Robert Hughes, Rufus Doane, James McGuffin, Hugh Stephenson, William Mann, Nathan Mitchell, B.M. Browder, Simeon Hart and T.F. White. Colonel Power, who seems to have been the leading spirit of this project, died on August 12, 1852. However, Judge Milford P. Norton took up the project; but he also died in June, 1860. In its final years, one Gen. Duff Green became the active promoter. We find him at Washington, D.C. and in the East, in the late 1850s, attempting to interest finance. The Texas Western Railroad Company never got beyond the "ways and means stage." While many thousands of dollars were expended in promotion, planning, and in navigation surveys, the Aransas Road Company never materialized. This entire project also died with Colonel Lea.

Colonel Power was so confident of the success of his new town of Copano, that in 1850 he constructed a fine two-story, shell-concrete residence at Powers Point, in front of the three-room, one-story concrete home built by Joseph E. Plummer.

Lamar also did a good port business, and, as we shall see, St. Mary's for a time portended to be the great western port of Texas, and during its heyday, eclipsed Copano and Lamar in volume of imports and exports.

In the spring of 1856, Samuel Colt and his brother, James B. Colt, founders of the Colt Patent Fire Arms Company, became interested in Lamar Peninsula and the townsite; and with them, General Marcy, Erastus Williams, of Norwich, Connecticut, and Samuel B. Tuttle, of Hartford. The Colts and Williams purchased about a quarter interest in 14,000 acres of land, including the whole of Lamar (Lookout) Peninsula and Goose Island, with the exception of certain townsite properties and Captain Byrnes' saltworks on St. Charles Bay. The Colts, who invented the revolver pistol, intended to engage in large-scale land promotions in the area acquired; however, their plans never materialized after Samuel Colt died, on January 10, 1862.
