ELECTRANS NEAR DEATH AFTER AUTO CRASH

No Change This Year In City Tax Rate

$1.30 FIGURE TO CONTINUE, MAYOR SAYS

PREPARE ORDINANCE

Council to Be Asked to Fix Annual Levy at Next Meeting.

The city tax rate of $1.30, effective the past year, will not be altered for the present tax year, it was announced Tuesday by Mayor R. E. Shepherd after a study of the city valuation sheets as prepared by Tax Assessor and Collector W. R. Hyer. The mayor stated he saw no prospect of a reduction, but that inasmuch as no new bond issues of any great size had been floated the last year, the city would be able to operate for the coming 12-month period on about the same revenue it has been deriving heretofore.

Shows $4,000,000 Gain

Mr. Hyer's report, embracing both the rendered and unrendered tax rolls, shows a total valuation of $44,867,500. This is an approximate increase of $4,000,000 over the rolls for 1925.

This increased valuation, of course, gives an increased revenue at the same old rate of $1.30, but the mayor points out that as the valuations have increased, so have the operating expenses gone up. Accordingingly, the city's financial status remains relatively just about as it was.

An ordinance fixing the tax rate at $1.30 is now being drawn up by City Attorney W. E. George and will probably be presented to the city council at its regular meeting Monday night.

Houston Water Bonds Affected By Archer Dispute

HOUSTON, June 29.—(AP)— Sale of city water works warrants will be affected by litigation involving the Archer county road bonds, which have caused all Texas issues to fall into disrepute, City Controller H. A. Giles said Tuesday.

For this reason as well as the fact that all of the 41 is not needed, only $500,000 worth will be placed on the market when approved by the attorney general, and these will be temporarily sold to Houston banks.

Until the case is cleared, Mr. Giles says, uncertainty will surround the sale of all bonds from Texas, regardless of the fact they may come from a reputable municipality such as Houston.

Getting Out Vote Object of Houston

HOUSTON, June 29.—(AP)— Houston women's first big drive in their "get out the vote campaign" was launched Tuesday when more than 200, turned out for the regular meeting of the League of Women Voters.

Sitting on dry goods boxes in many cases, for lack of chairs, the women apparently showed more interest in the why and wherefore of voting and in the forthcoming county—and state primaries than any other group in Houston this year.

Headquarters of the organization was besieged Tuesday with campaign cards, slogans and political literature. Among the slogans on exhibition there were: "Ma's the Word," "Me for Ma" and "Lynch is a Cinch."

City Police Set July 8 As Date For Second Ball

Ballyhooed as bigger and better than ever, more elaborate and more colorful, on a more pretentious scale, even, than last year's successful venture, the second annual policemen's ball, sponsored by the Wichita Falls police department, will be held this year on the evening of July 8.

This announcement was made Tuesday by Chief of Police George H. Hodgins, who will be in charge of the gala event which last year established itself as one of the premier civic social blow-outs of the season.

The ball was inauguarated last season as a benefit for the police relief fund, and its initial attempt proved such an outstanding success that plans were immediately announced to make it an annual affair. A crowd that jammed the Lake Wichita pavilion to its utmost capacity was on hand early and stayed late for the dance and other entertainment features. The entire city police department turned out in uniform to help boost the fun along, and the net result was not only a rip-roaring good time for all concerned, but a tidy sum to go into the permanent fund maintained for the benefit of sick and disabled officers.

This year the ball will be held in the Maskat Temple auditorium at the Fair Grounds, it has been decided. This offers considerable more dancing room and a stage is also available from which a number of vaudeville acts now being arranged will be presented. More detailed announcements will be made from time to time as plans are perfected.

The chief of police and those assisting him, however, were noisy in the insistence Tuesday that it's all going to be one grand jamboree.

NOISY DEBATES WIND UP RALLY OF CANDIDATES

Allred and Carrigan Go After Each Other in Political Meeting

OTHERS APPEAR

All County Aspirants For Office Talk to Voters Tuesday Night

A fast and furious political debate between District Attorney Ben P Allred and Joe B. Carrigan, both campaigning for the district attorney's post in the coming elections came as an eventful climax Tuesday to an evening of campaign thunder in the first of a series of county political rallies to be held here. Last night's session was held at Bellvue park.

Allred, speaking in defense of his record as district attorney and in behalf of his candidiacy for election for a second term, and Carrigan, scoring the record of the incumbent in uncompromising terms, were the principal entertainers. A rally by either candidate brought rounds of applause from a thoroughly appreciative audience, and cries of "pour it on," interrupted the speakers continually. There was some heckling during one of the speeches and one of the older members of the Wichita county bar was singled out of the audience by Allred following some remark and told that he based his opposition to his continuance in office as a result of a 25-year sentence and murder conviction assessed a client recently.

Throughout the candidates' speeches there was continual reference from both sides to the Collier case.

Candidates Interrupted.

Both candidates interrupted the other from time to time during the speeches, but on each occasion were sent back to their seats with the injunction from the audience to "take his turn." Carrigan spoke first, followed by Allred, each then getting a five minute rebuttal.

The meeting Tuesday night was well attended, more than a thousand persons gathering shortly before dark and sitting through nearly three hours of speaking by precinct, county, and district candidates.

The debate between the aspirants for the office of district attorney was followed by a joint debate by J. D. Parnell, senator from the 23rd district, and W. D. McFarlane of Graham, candidate for that post. Parnell spoke first, followed by MacFarlane who attacked the Wichitan's record in office, scoring his sponsorship of the "utilities" bill of the last session of the legislature, his vote for the "free pass" bill, his vote against the $15 per capita school appropriation bill, and alleged inertia in regard to the gasoline tax bill.

Parnell on rebuttal declared that the Graham man should spend five minutes before the audience with a guitar singing "You're all out of step but Jimmy," charging that MacFarlane used the free pass privilege for himself and his wife, and voted himself against the school appropriation. The "utilities" bill Mr. Parnell defended with the statement that it was nothing more than a bill to require public utilities corporations to file statistics as to the ownership and operation where they might easily be accessible. He stated that those who most opposed the measure had now turned to favor it.

Five-Minute Talk.

These two were the only joint discussions of campaign issues on the evening's program. Other speeches were in the nature of five-minute talks in behalf of the speakers' candidacies.

Frank Morgan, L. P. Lyle, C. L. Bradford and Dave May appeared first, offering for the office of con-

While a canvassed-topped tent flapped in the wind and a family of seven youngsters made of it such a home as they could, cheeriness and stimulation came to them Tuesday through the medium of The Record News milk and ice fund which is badly assuming larger proportions. A number of additional contributions, listed above, have come in within the past two days to swell the total now available for the nurture and sustenance of those who are in need of it.

The canvass tent is just another case that has come to light through the work of the welfare board officials who are administering the fund this year. In their ramblings, some of these workers came upon it a few days ago, and it has presented one of the most impelling reasons yet discovered for the maintaining of the fund.

The youngest member of the family is a tiny mite that has literally been starving this summer for want of proper nourishment. The father died a short time ago and the mother is now too ill to care for the babies. To further add to the complications, the sister of the mother, togeher with her baby, are making their home at the place.

Most of the youngsters are reasonably healthy despite their straightened circumstances, but the family's plight was a sorry one at best when Mrs. Kathleen Gorsline of the Municipal Welfare board, found it.

Tuesday, a bountiful supply of fresh milk and cooling ice was delivered to the humble home and did much to encourage the helpless mother. It was the first time in months, she said, that such luxuries had been in the cupboard. All of the kiddies had a drink, and a supply was left for the baby who is in most need of it of all.

Serum Expedition Wanders All Night But Saves Patient

SAN ANTONIO, June 29.—(AP) —After wandering most of the night through the thickly wooded section of Atascosa county for an isolated ranch house, a relief expedition from San Antonio finally reached a man suffering from rattlesnake bite and administered an anti-crotalus serum, probably saving the man's life.

Odell Carver, 25, was the victim of the snake bite. He was walking through a watermelon patch in his slippers Monday when he stumbled and fell upon a rattler, whose rattles had fallen off. The snake struck noiselessly its fangs penetrating the left instep.

Windows Broken, Wires Tangled by Double Shocks.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 29. —(AP)—A 3-year-old child was crushed beneath a toppling chimney and killed in an earthquake which shook Santa Barbara today, the anniversary of the disastrous shock of 1925.

A street car near the beach was thrown from the tracks by the shock while several telephones were disconnected.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA FEELS EARTH TREMOR

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—(AP) —Southern California telephone company officials late today said that an earthquake which was felt along the coast from Santa Barbara southward, broke some windows in Santa Barbara and "tangled up" some wires but that the trembler was "light" and that no serious damage was done.

Today's tremor marked the anniversary of the earthquake which wrecked the business district of Santa Barbara in 1925. That tremblor also was felt distinctly in this section.

The shock, which swung doors at Pasadena and swayed hanging electric light drops at Santa Monica also was felt in Los Angeles, where occupants of office buildings noticed their swivel chairs doing a mild shimmy along the floor.

The time of the trembler in Los Angeles was 3.22 p. m.

Ventura, 29 miles south of Santa Barbara, felt the trembler distinctly and reported two separate shocks lasting about five or six seconds.

San Bernardino, east of here, and Calexico in the Imperial Valley, both missed the earth movement.

The men were drilling at 28 feet and were totally unprepared for a huge pocket of gas which shot from the hole. The gas ignited, enveloping the drillers, and the rig caught fire and was soon a mass of flames. The gas flow is estimated as about 4,000,000 feet. Workers from nearby wells rescued the two trapped men from the flames and carried them to a hospital.

The well was being drilled by Low and Carter. Officials at the scene of the blowout said another well would be drilled a few feet distant from the burning hole and the gas saved.

ELECTRA, June 29.—Clinging tenaciously to life, Millard Weekly of Electra is living tonight although he is suffering with a broken neck, broken back, fractured skull, both legs broken, and other less serious injuries. The injuries were received when an automobile in which he was a passenger skidded from a blowout, turned over three times and landed in a ditch many feet distant on the Harrold road three miles west of Harrold this afternoon.

His companion, Henry Lucas, 32, of the Elliott community, is suffering from a fractured skull and also is in a critical condition.

When it arrived they told the driver to take them to the ship channel. When the car arrived on the LaPorte road the three men at the point of a pistol, ordered the driver to get out. PONZI REGRETS LEAVING W. F.

Financial Wizard Declares He Could Have Made Millions Here.

HOUSTON, June 29.—(AP) — Prior to being placed in the county jail, Charles Ponzi told Sheriff Binford that if he had stayed in Texas in 1917 he would have made millions without the ensuing jail sentence which followed his financial transactions of 1920, which landed him in Plymouth jail on a five-year sentence.

"I came to Texas then and worked in Wichita Falls as a clerk for the Wichita Motor company. Later I slept in Burkburnett oil fields, but it was before the days of liquid gold. Tiring of a clerk's life, I went to Boston from Wichita Falls and took a place in an export house."

Ponzi swaggered a little and chuckled considerably as he trod Houston streets Tuesday morning; swaggered apparently with confidence and chuckled with amusement at the curious stares of the crowds.

Walking with springy step between Sheriff T. A. Binford and Deputy Sheriff George Lacy who captured him in New Orleans, Ponzi nodded and waved at every one who recognized him.

Ponzi apparently enjoyed himself immensely as he wandered about. He chuckled to himself as he heard newsboys crying: "Ponzi's caught," and called Sheriff Binford's attention to it.

Earns $500.

His uncanny money making peculivities were the subject of much comment when he strolled into a bank.

Dropping a certified Western Union money order for $500 in the cashier's till, he said: "four one hundreds, a fifty and some small change."

Ponzi, internationally known as a financial wizard lived up to his title today upon his return from New Orleans, a captive.

Less than an hour after he had reached the city he had made $500, which he says he will use to fight extradition to Boston, where he faces a sentence of from seven to nine years.

The city editor of a Boston newspaper paid it by wire for an exclusive story of his wanderings.

"Pretty soft," Ponzi said when he cashed his Western Union money order for the money at a bank. A curious crowd looked on as he pocketed the money.

Wurzbach's Name Will Be Written On Texas Ballots

SAN ANTONIO, June 29.—(AP) Plans for holding their own primary in Bexar county July 24 have been abandoned by his supporters Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach said Tuesday, indicating that his name would be written in by the voters using the ballot that will be printed under direction of the county chairman, A. R. Holzschuher.

Following a rupture in the sessions of the republican county executive committee June 19, the Wurzbach supporters named A. M. Gray county chairman and proceeded to perfect plans for holding a primary, estimating the cost at $2,500 and assessing Wurzbach and his opponents, Fred M. Knetsch, equal amounts.

Knetsch paid his assessment into Holzschuher's hands Monday, the deadline for payment being Monday night. Wurzbach declined and Holschuher said the law prevented his name being printed on the ballot.

SECOND LOVE

COPYRIGHT, 1926 BY EUGENE MALEBAN

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters

Marcie Allen, ordered from her own home by her father, because of her highly advanced views of girl's rights, goes to stay with her rich friend, Audrey Parrish. Audrey's husband, angry because of his wife's tactless references to her wealth and his poverty, goes to live at a hotel. Marcie meets him, and makes violent love to him. Audrey's father, Harry Morton, hurries home from Europe to straighten out his daughter's troubles, and Marcie proceeds to try to vamp him. He laughs at her. Marcie disappears, leaving a note for Morton, saying that if she can't interest him one way, she will try another. She drives to Ft. Worth, registers as "Mrs. Audrey Parrish" because she has brought Audrey's bags, marked with the initials "A. P.", and as the las' chapter ends, Parrish appears in the lobby of her hotel, while she is talking with a girl friend, accidentally encountered.

Now Go On With the Story

CHAPTER XXXI.

"Who's the boy friend?" asked Marcie's companion, interestedly.

"Where do you mean?" asked Marcie, seeking delay so she could think. "You know well enough—that fellow you were staring at."

"Oh!" Marcie arose with composure. "That's my girl friend's husband. I think he's looking for me."

At this moment Parrish caught sight of her. He started forward, and stopped as he saw she was with another girl.

"Goodbye, dear,' Marcie said, to her friend. "So sweet to have seen you. I must be going, now."

She kissed the other girl.

"He doesn't look like a friend's husband," observed her acquaintance. "Husbands don't look at family friends like that unless—"

"Naughty, naughty!" Marcie reproved her. "Mustn't think wicked things. Truly he's her husband.'

So saying, she tripped away to where Parrish stood.

"Pretend we're going out,' she said to him, rapidly. 'That girl's watching."

Obediently he fell into step beside her, and they passed through the door.

"Well travel around the block and come back," she said.

"But, suppose she's still there!" he objected.

"Oh, bother!" She frowned, and then continued. "Well, we'll walk a while, and then come back. Where have you been?"

"Flivver broke down," he said, apologetically. "Sat in the road three hours, underneath the fool thing, trying to hook it together again.'

"I waited and waited and waited," she said, with indignation. "I sat there in the lobby, with all those men trying to flirt with me. Why didn't you call me up?

"Why, I couldn't." He defended himself with some heat. "How could I call up when I was out in the highway, forty miles from nowhere?"

Here face cleared. "You couldn't have reached me, anyway," she said, and giggled. "I wasn't registered under my own name."

"Why not?"

"Because I didn't have any suit cases of my own. I took Audrey's and they were all marked."

"But what name did you use?"

She laughed again. "'Mrs. Audrey Parrish,'" she replied.

He stopped in the middle of the sidewalk, aghast. "You oughtn't to have done that!"

"Pooh!" Her tone was serene. "That makes it better. Mr. John Parrish can come to see his wife, cant he?" Her eyes turned up toward him, boldly.

Parrishs face was scarlet. "Good lord!" he groaned.

As they walked on, his face twitching. "We can't do anything like this," he said, as they turned into a quieter street. "I'd better go back."

She gave him a brief glance of contempt. "Then what did you come for? You came to see me, didn't you?"

"Yes, I did." He plodded on, his head bowed.

"And now you want to go back!"

They were approaching a small park, whose walks were lined with benches. Parrish's brow was covered with perspiration, and he wiped it with his handkerchief.

"Let's sit down," he proposed.

She nodded, and together they crossed the street, and found seats in the shade. The slanting rays of the afternoon sun were hot upon their feet and legs, but their bodies were sheltered by the leaves of a tree twenty feet distant.

"If you didn't want to see me, what did you come for?" she insisted.

He did not look at her as he replied, but kept his gaze fixed upon his hands, which were twisted together. "You suggested that I should come," he muttered.

Marcie gave a short laugh. "Were you unwilling?"

"No, I wasn't,' he told her. Then he went on: "I was glad you wanted me to come. I was sorry I shook you up, the other day, and I was afraid maybe you'd always be angry at me and—"

"Would it hurt you if I were angry?" she asked, more softly.

"Of course it would." He turned and looked at her. "I've been so darned unhappy at home, and I was—I was pleased when I thought you liked me, and—"

She took his hand, in full view of teh park loungers. "I do like you," she said.

He closed his fingers around hers. "You know when I quit my job with Mr. Morton, it was like quitting my whole past life. My home gone, and my wife gone—" His voice choked a trifle.

"Poor boy!" She squeezed his hand. "And were you pleased when I called you up, and told you I could see you here?"

"Yes."

"Then,' she said brightly, "I'll forgive you for keeping me waiting so long, and abusing me that time out in the machine, and everything. I like people to like me, John, dear."

"That's just the trouble." His countenance was gloomy. "If I were sure you didn't like a lot of other people—Mr. Morton, for instance—just as well as you like me, I'd feel better."

She snuggled against him, moving her shoulder caressingly. "Nice old jealous bear!" Her brown eyes wide, and fixed upon his, she went on: "But I didn't come clear to Ft. Worth to see any of them, I came so just you and I could be alone together."

Parrish, amused stares were directed his way. He moved from her, but she clung to his hands.

"People are looking at us," he protested.

"What do we care?" she asked. "They don't know who we are." She slid over until she was close to him again. "Honey, you're just a nice, big bashful boy."

He was moving, as if about to rise.

"Aren't you proud to be with Marcie, and have people see her loving you?" she asked.

"Let's walk on," he proposed, getting to his feet. "These folks make me nervous."

She arose also, and took his arm. "We should trouble ourselves about them!" she said. "But I don't want my sweet old honey-boy to blush himself to death."

They strolled out of the park, and over a street that led to the back of Marcie's hotel.

"I told the clerk, if anybody asked for Marcie Allen, to send them up to my room," she asked, bolding to his elbow with both hands.

"Were you expecing anybody besides me?" he asked, with quick suspicion.

"Heavens, no!" She gave a contented laugh. "And, John, boy, I only half expected you."

"You told me to come," he said.

"Yes, but I thought you'd get scared, and back out.' She pressed his arm with her hands. "But he was a brave big man, wasn't he, and came to be with Marcie?" She smiled up at him. "Did you tell anybody where you were going?"

He shook his head. "I'm through with Wichita Falls forever," he declared. "It makes no difference to anybody there where I am."

They were turning now, toward the entrance of the hotel. As Parrish saw the canopy that stretched across the sidewalk, his step grew slower.

"Maybe we'd better not be seen together, there," he suggested.

"Stuff!" The girl led him briskly onward. "Nobody knows us."

He obeyed the pressure upon his arm, and followed her doubtfully as she went into teh lobby. A wide leather couch stood near the door, and he turned to this. "We'll sit here," he said.

The girl cast a glance at him, compounded of vexation and amusement, and then settled herself at the place he indicated. He sighed, as he sat down.

"I'll have to find a boarding place," he said. "My suitcases are in my tin lizzy, at the garage."

"Why don't you come to the hotel?"

"Why, we can't both be here," he protested, in alarm. "Think what it would look like! Besides, I can't afford to take a room at an expensive place like this."

"I can," she said, steadily, her eyes expressionless.

"But you have more than a thousand dollars," he explained. "I've only got about three hundred—and it's got to do until I find a job."

She sighed, as if engaged in a difficult task.

"Matter of fact, I ought to start looking now," he proceeded. "Don't want to sleep outdoors tonight."

The girl arose, and justed her skirts.

"All right.' She laid her hand on his arm as he stood up, beside her. "I'll go with you. We'll both look—for your room."

Thought Malaria Still in System

Until Dodson's Liver Tone Drove Out Quarts of Sour Bile and Other Poisons

There are entire sections where everyone seems to think they have malaria. Others believe they never fully got the malarial poison out of their systems.

Arnold Whiteson says: "For years I took calomel for the aches, biliousness, headache, constipation and the deathly feeling associated with what we believed to be malaria.

"Last year I heard about Dodson's Liver Tone and bought a bottle for a few cents. Man, man, what a Godsend. In the morning it drove out quarts of black, sour bile. I got back my appetite for food, braced right up and haven't had a sick spell since. Whenever I feel a little biliousness or the stomach gets sour, one dose of Dodson's Liver Tone is all I need. It is surely a blessing."

Hundreds of others tell the same experience.

Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.—Adv.

SPLAWN SCORED AS BARB ENEMY

Varsity Students Declare Prexy Favors Rich And Hinders Poor.

AUSTIN, June 29.—(AP)—Dr. W. J. W. Splawn, president of the University of Texas, came under the fire of students who live in the noted B Hall, the only dormitory for men, which, it was announced Monday, will be changed into a building for class rooms and offices.

Following the announcement by C. D. Simmons, secretary of the board of regents, that it had been decided to oust the "barbs" or non-fraternity men from this dormitory, an indignation meeting was held by those living in the building and former occupants. At this meeting late Monday night resolutions were passed charging that "the secret manner in which President Splawn has attempted to destroy B. Hall at the present time, is in itself nothing short of an attempt on his part to embarrass the poor boys and render the University of Texas college for the rich alone and that the same secret manner in which he has worked is nothing short of a breach of faith, not only with the ex-B Hall men over the state of Texas and the United States and the world, but especially so with those boys who are expecting to return in the fall to rooms already rented for the year 1926-27, and that we give this resolution to the Associated Press that the common voters of the state may recognize the last cry of the innocent falling before the mailed fist of unscrupulous power."

So They Can't Peep

H. G. Woodruff, manager of B Hall, the resolutions charged was denied an audience with President Splawn, who rushed a statement to the press that was "entirely misleading in actual content," the resolution says.

The statement said that $25,000 was to be spent for repairs on the building because women students could see from the class rooms of Garrison Hall into the bedrooms of men students, "where the freedom of matters of clothing is well known."

The occupants demanded building be maintained as a dormitory or destroyed.

The building was constructed in 1892, principally through funds donated by Colonel George W. Breckenridge of San Antonio, a regent. It is famous because of its history, because so many class fights have been held in it every March 2, because so many men students who have made their marks in the world lived there while working their way through college. Many attempts have been made by the authorities to oust the students during the past 10 years.

Oklahoma Bank Is Held Up By Trio

PONCA CITY, Okla., June 29.—(AP)—Three men held up the State Bank of Kildare, eight miles northeast of here, today and escaped with a sum estimated by D. E. Jones, cashier, to be less than $1,000.

Parking a small automobile in front of the bank two of the men, who were masked, entered while the third kept the engine of the car running. E. H. Switak, farmer, patron of the bank, was the first approached by the bandits.

With a brass railing between himself and the bandits Switak did not heed an order to hold up his hands, but ran from the bank to summon aid.

The bandits then held up Jones, the only other person in the bank, scooped up all the money in sight except a few nickels and were gone before Switak could return with help.

36TH DIVISION READY TO CAMP

First Time Since Outfit Sailed for France They've Been Together.

AUSTIN, June 29.—(AP)—For the first time since the 36th division of the Texas national guard left Fort Worth in July 1918 for overseas during the World war, it will assemble at Camp Palacios, July 9, for two weeks training under the command of Major General John A. Hulen, troop and camp commander. About 6,500 officers and men will attend.

Adjutant General Dallas J. Mathews announced today that the war department at Washington approved the expenditure of $431,626.50 for the camp. He explained that all the troops will entrain July 8 and arrive at Camp Palacios, new home for the national guard before 3 p. m., July 9 and that this will be the greatest movement of troops in Texas in 24 hours either in war or peace times.

The movement of troops and baggage alone will require 20 trains, the troops occupying 138 cars and the baggage 39 cars, artillery material and horses which will arrive the day before the camp opens will require 52 cars. The transportation problem, which required four weeks to work out, was considered the biggest issue in holding the camp at Palacios on the 1,300 acres donated by the citizens of that city. In addition to the military area of 1,300 acres, 20,000 acres have been made available for maneuvering, General Matthews said.

Camp Complete

More than $200,000 has been expended in the construction of kitchens, mess shacks, bath houses and latrines, and in the water system, in addition to recreation grounds which include nine baseball diamonds, 20 tennis courts and a bathing pier. All accommodations are complete and adequate, General Matthews said.

General Matthews and his staff will be there in addition to Lieutenant Colonel Claude A. Adams, United States disbursement officer, and his staff, and Major General Ernest Hines, commander of the eighth corps area, U. S. army, will inspect the camp July 21.

Small arms and artillery ranges have been constructed and the usual matches will be held.

Lieutenant Horace P. Haldeman, commander of the 121 motor repair section, and Lieutenant John T. Fulcher, commander of the 141 transport company, both of Camp Mabry here, will lead the advance detachment, July 3, to unload and distribute 40 carloads of supplies and subsistence.

In explaining the statement that this was the first time the 36th division had been assembled since it left Fort Worth in 1918, General Matthews pointed out that the artillery, although in France, was not with the other detachments.

American Citizenship Is Worth More Than Landed Estates And Titles, German Youth Declares

KANSAS CITY, June 29.—(AP)—Because he preferred to earn an estate of his own rather than to ornament the vast estates acquired by his feudal fathers in Germany, Count Praschma-Bilkau, heir of one of the oldest landed families in Silesia, is clerking in a mail order house here.

The position he now holds represents his advancement in his adopted country as he started to earn his living by trading his uniform of a lieutenant in the Fourth Kurassiers for a bellboy's cost and his many medals and military decorations for a row of shining brass buttons.

Count Praschma-Bilkau is the son of Count Hans Bilkau, lord of a 50,000-acre estate in Silesia, a 20,000-acre forest preserve in Bohemia and a 25,000-acre hunting estate in the same country. The family coat of arms was established more than 1200 years ago. The count served on the French and Russian fronts and later in th Grman aviation corps during the war.

His first venture in the Americas, a colonization scheme in Mexico, proved to be a swindle so he came to Kansas City and became a bellboy in a local hotel. Later he accepted a position in the mail order house.

"I like America very much," the count said when his identity was learned today. "There are such unheard of opportunities here that I really expect to do something worth while."

The count expects to become an American citizen.

33 Years of Service

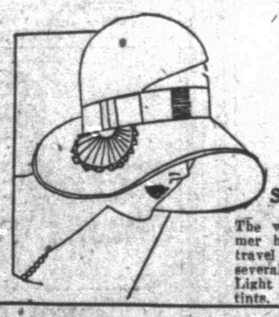

Presidents During The Last 33 Years

Woodrow Wilson

Woodrow Wilson, Democrat, who had won a remarkable reputation as an educator, as a governor, stepped into the presidency in the most crucial period of American History. The World War is too recent to necessitate a recital here. Suffice it to say that Wilson faced the greatest responsibilities of any president since the beginning of our history and as each year rolls by, his glorious achievements take on new heights. Wilson was the deciding factor in the World War. Throwing the United States into the Cauldron at the physychological time. Wilson possessed great capacity for thought and action and world leaders are today admitting that Woodrow Wilson lived fifty years ahead of his time. His fine principles, his clean cut conception of American position before the world is proving out even now. Wilson, World War president will go down in the pages of World History as one of the greatest men in American History.

Too Many Bosses Spoil Expeditions To Arctic Regions

SEATTLE, June 29.—(AP)—Too many bosses spoil even an Arctic expedition.

Members of both the Amundsen and Detroit expeditions revealed on their arrival here from Alaska that all had not been harmonious during the epochal flights on the top side of the globe.

Captain Roald Amundsen, Norwegian head of the Norge dirigible expedition and Colonel Umberto Nobile, Italian designer of the craft and its chief pilot, hadn't spoken to each other for six weeks. They shook hands here last night to indicate peace had been restored.

Both the Italian and Norwegian components of the Norge's crew had been of the opinion that they were entitled to first honors. The Italians reasoned that they had built the Norge and made the expedition possible, besides furnishing a good part of the crew. The Norwegians are said to have looked upon the Italians somewhat in the light of hired help.

Last night Amundsen and Nobile decided there was glory enough for all.

Captain George Hubert Wilkins, Australian leader of the Detroit Arctic expedition, and Major Thomas G. Lanphier, unofficial United States army observer, assigned to accompany the party, also had their differences. Lieutenant Carl B. Eielson, sourdough pilot of the expedition, last night said.

Wilkins knew a lot about the Arctic and not so much about aviation, while Lanphier was an aviation expert, not an authority on Arctic conditions, Eielson said he turned on a phonograph when arguments started.

Scenic Marvels, Love and Thrills In "Frivolous Sol"

A thrilling story of a pioneer mining town of the west, in which a girl and a small boy help a man find himself, is the basis of J. K. McDonalds' latest First National photoplay, "Frivolous Sal," which comes to the Palace theatre today.

Victor L. Schertzinger, noted director, was engaged to transfer to the screen this story from McDonald's own pen. The cast includes Eugene O'Brien' Mae Busch, Ben Alexander, Mildred Harris, Mitchell Lewis and Tom Santschi.

"Frivolous Sal" has a scenic background the like of which has rarely been seen on the screen in a dramatic production. Rainier National park in Northwestern Washington, and the great mining region of Idaho's Couer d'Alene were chosen as locations. Except for a few excursions of scenic photographers, no motion picture camera has ever before recorded the majestic beauty of Mount Rainier.

Some of the story's most important action takes place in a huge cavern that a stream of melting ice has carved out under the famous Nisqually glacier, near the top of Mount Rainier.

"Pair of Jacks" To Appear at the Strand

"There has been more actual progress made in the practical development of the radio industry as a whole within the past year than there has been altogether previous to that time," declared Jack Bell of the radio team "The Pair of Jacks" who are appearing at the Strand theatre for one week starting Friday.

"Until the past year radio has been more or less of a novelty and radio equipment more or less a hobby, plaything or experiment. Every radio fan counted that day lost when he did not get a dozen, twenty-five or a hundred stations on his dial. Distance was the thing—and little consideration given to the quality of the program. In fact the louder the noise the better the station—and little thought was given to static unless it interfered with the understanding of the announcement of the station.

"But that is all changed now. Radio equipment is becoming highly perfected; improved reception has eliminated the station jumping fan and higher quality programs are demanded by the radio fans who sit for a whole hour listening to a single station and an entire evening and hear fewer than four stations—if they catch a good program on a nearby station. At the present rate of development and through volume of production, the continued reduction in price on equipment and cost of operation, radio equipment will be as much a part of the average American home within a few years as of newspapers, victrolas and pianos, combined together, are now. For radio is an educational medium as well as an entertainment feature.

"The Sea Beast," a special photoplay attraction will be on the same program.

District Judge In Uvalde Bars Butte Bolters in Primary

UVALDE, Tex., June 29.—(AP)—Judge L. J. Brucks in 38th district court today refused to enjoin the Uvalde county democratic executive committee from requiring a pledge of faith from voters in the coming July 24, primary election.

Dolph Briscoe, who filed petition for injunction, alleged that this required pledge would have the effect of barring from the primary himself and other democrats who voted in the 1924 election for George C. Butte, republican nominee for governor.

Judge Brucks denied the injunction on the ground that the question involved was purely a political one.

Millionaire Faces Charge of Slaying His Estranged Wife

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., June 29. (AP)—Eugene M. Elliott, millionaire developer and organizer, today faced preliminary hearing on charges of first degree murder in connection with the death of his wife.

Mrs. Elliott died Sunday night as a result of a fractured skull which police claim she received in a fall from the rear doorway of the Elliott home onto a concrete sidewalk. Though testimony before a coroner's inquest yesterday was not made public, police charge that Elliott either pushed or caused his wife to fall.

The fatal fall followed Mrs. Elliott's return home from a conference with her attorney who had filed divorce proceedings for her. She never regained consciousness.

Chief of Police E. D. Vaughn said Elliott told him that his wife lost her grip on the door and fell backward, striking her head on the pavement.

Vaughn said Elliot declared that when his wife returned from the conference with her attorney he ordered her away from the house. When she determined to enter, he said, he locked the front door. When she appeared at a side door he bolted that also, he told police. Then Mrs. Elliott ran to the back door and as she was coming into the house fell, he declared.

GIANT CAMERA READY FOR TEST

Lenses Capable of Registering Scenes 318 Miles Distant.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 29.—(AP)—The "five-mile high" camera for the army air service long range photographic experiment has been completed at the plant of the Eastman Kodak company. This photographic apparatus will be used by Lieutenant George W. Goddard in a flight soon to be made from Dayton, Ohio, where atmospheric conditions are most favorable.

The eagle eye of this aerial camera is the largest protographic lens ever ground. With its aluminum mounting the lens is nine inches across.

Photographs may be taken from an altitude of 35,000 feet, if the plane can make it, which would show Detroit to be about three inches long in the picture. Lieutenant Goddard hopes to obtain an aerila picture having a panoramic range of 318 miles.

With the lens, the camera, which is about four feet long, weighs one hundred pounds and contains an elaborate heating appartus to counteract the intense cold between 70 and 80 degrees Fahrenheit below zero which will be encountered at more than five miles altitude.

The camera will be mounted in the rear cockpit of the plane with the lens protruding through the fuselage and with controls of the shutter and film mechanism in the front cockpit.

Detroit is expected to be the scene of much of the aerial experimentation.

McCaghren Well No Freak Producer

Olney, June 29.—That the McCarliren well which came in for 250 barrels two monts ago was not a freak was demonstrated with the bringing in of No. A-3 McCaghren 500 feet northeast of the original well for 50 barrels at 955 feet. Both the discovery well and the new producer are owned by the Four Oil Corporation. The completion of several dry holes placed a check on interest in the area but the new well means renewed activities.

The Four Oil Corporation will start another well at once on the W. B. Bryant, 400 feet north of the McCaghren A-3.

Looking like a 400 barrel well, the Reeder & Cook No. 1, Kunkel extends the M & V Pool 900 feet east. This well is two and one-half miles northwest of Olney.

"The best well of the pool" declare oil men of the Robert Oil Corporation's No. 5 Rogers which is swabbing 110 barrels at 860 feet. There are now eight producers in the Rogers pool, which is four and one-half miles southwest of Olney, and five wells are drilling.

456 Wells Completed During Month of May

AUSTIN, June 29.—(AP)—During May, 456 producing oil wells were brought in in Texas, the oil and gas division of the railroad commission reported today. Archer county led in producers with 81 and Wilbarger was second with 60, and Wichita third with 48.

Up to June 1, there had been issued this year, 12,557 permits of all sorts, of which 8,604 were permits to drill.

Private Soldier Called Real Hero By Overseas Women

OMAHA, Neb., June 29.—(AP)—The names of four women were suggested for the honor of "outstanding heroine of the World war" by delegates at the Woman's Overseas Service League convention here.

Edith Cavell, the English nurse who was executed by the Germans, Marion Crandell, Omaha girl, who was the first American woman to be killed as the result of shell fire; Jane Delano, head of the American Red Cross nurses, who died in Paris, and Katherine Baker, another Red Cross nurse, who died in foreign service, were the honor quartet.

As for the outstanding hero of the war there was no disagreement among the delegates. Their opinion was expressed by Miss Mildred Dickey, Madison, S. C.

"The hero was the private soldier who went into the fire and mud, slept in trenches with rats running over him. He was the hero above any of the generals you might name."

The other to be drilled 150 feet east of the southwest corner of the same tract.

Pandem, Hudson.

The showing made by the test of the Pandem Oil Corporation on the Hudson land in Archer county, looks like the opening of another pool in that popular county and will be the second wildcat to be brought in by this company within the last two months, they having uncovered the Thomas pool northwest of Archer City the early part of May. The new strike is approximately six miles west and south of Archer City and is located 150 feet each way from the northwest corner of the east 40 of the west 80 of the north 93 acres of block 80, Harris sub-division of the Club ranch, L. L. Hudson land. The sand was found at 1123 feet and was drilled to 1126 feet, the hole was bailed dry and Monday night the oil rose 200 feet in the casing. It was estimated as a 20 barrel pumper from the three feet of sand, but at last reports Tuesday they were coring further for the pay. The test is being watched with interest and quite a number of lease sales have been reported around the well.

The previous mark of 85 degrees, set by the thermometer May 13, the hottest in Chicago in 1926, was deemed certain by forecasters to fall before night, but relief will be on its way, they promised, by tomorrow.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
June 30, 1925

Plan of Fort Worth and Denver railway extension from Childress to South Plains endorsed by Wichita Falls chamber of commerce directors. W. A. Little arrives to take position as division freight and passenger agent of the Katy.

OIL FIELDS OF WEST TEXAS

TEXAS in the near future is certain to head the list of petroleum producing states. W. S. Parrish of the Humble Oil and Refining company was one of the speakers on the West Texas chamber of commerce program. His subject was the oil situation in West Texas. He predicted great things in petroleum development for the Panhandle country.

"Amarillo today is the center of development of oil fields of greater promise than with any with which the petroleum industry has had to deal with in recent years," declared the speaker. "West Texas is developing an empire of oil bearing rocks comparable in magnitude with the whole mid-continent fields, fraught with possibilities as great as those of the entire petroleum province of the state of California and surpassing importance, to the American oil producing and oil consuming public, and of the great foreign regions of the earth."

Texas is a billion dollar agriculture state. Texas is a billion dollar manufacturing state. Texas is a billion dollar exporting state. Texas in the near future may be a billion dollar petroleum state. Wichita Falls, the city that faith built and one of the fastest growing cities of the country, captured the West Texas chamber of commere convention for 1927.

Petroleum is all right, but the fertile acres of the Wichita Valley, irrigated whenever irrigation is necessary, are gold producers extraordinary.

These acres produce wheat and corn and all the foodstuffs; they produce cotton of the highest grades; they produce all the vegetables and the fruits and the berries. This is what the conservation of flood waters for irrigation purposes has done for the Wichita Valley country. Its builders did not believe in placing all their eggs in one basket. They were wise.

BETTER KEEP BUSY

Such an institution is a thing every well-regulated community can utilize with frequency. Most cities, long before they reach the size of this one, make provision for the band boys and call on them with gusto whenever an important personage is to be entertained or something else out of the ordinary comes up. The band, in these points, is as much a civic utility as the fire department or the street sweeper.

Wichita Falls has the nucleus for a real band. Or rather, it has a real band already—something that is complete so far as it goes but which can be augmented without difficulty by the addition of some more instruments. The recent work of the band at Amarillo at the West Texas chamber of commerce convention; and its still more recent Sunday afternoon concert stamped it as a capable and well-handled musical unit. Furthermore there is the individual and collective sentiment of the performers in favor of some more civic service, and this, after all, is probably the most important factor in the picture.

The chamber of commerce has started a commendable move with its plan to give the band civic recognition and make arrangements for the Sunday afternoon concerts in the city parks. Elsewhere, these have proved their worth beyond all measure. They can and will do the same thing here if given a chance.

Somebody ought to keep busy to see that the chance is provided.

ANOTHER FUNERAL

ARE the democrats, or rather the leaders of the democratic party preparing for another funeral in the presidential election campaign of 1928? Seriously speaking, the democrats are in splendid trim in 1926, and they may capture the senate this year and whittle the republican majority in the lower house down to a slim figure. This is an off year and the democrats usually win their victories in off years. When it comes to presidential campaign years they walk through a slaughter house to a bloody grave.

There is a reason for it. A national convention is held and the hell raisers are in evidence. Now the hell raisers are the two-thirds nominating rule and the unit rule. These rules were invented by the politician of a slave owning aristocracy and democracy almost a hundred years ago. They were invented to prevent the nomination of a democrat who was opposed to the extention of slavery in the territories of the American union at that time and who believed that the day would come when slavery would be abolished in the United States.

Now the war closed many years ago. Since 1860 democrats have controlled this government for 16 years and Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson are the only democrats who have held the reins since the passing of James Buchannan with the coming of Abraham Lincoln. A month or more ago there were signs on the surface at least, that the national leaders of the party were willing to discard the two-thirds rule and the unit rule. Now the signs have disappeared. There will be no meeting of the national committee until late in the winter of 1927.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina is opposed to the abrogation of the unit rule. There are other McAdoo leaders who have voiced their opposition. They are willing for the two-thirds rule to be abolished, but they cling to the unit rule, another relic of barbarism and autocracy. Governor Smith of New York and his followers were willing to abolish the two-third nominating rule if the unit rule was discarded at the same time.

They were willing for a majority to nominate conditional on the delegates from all the 48 states being left free to vote for a presidential candidate of their choice, without being bound by the state unit rule or state convention instructions. It would be useless to abrogate the two-thirds rule if its fellow criminal was left in force.

It was General U. S. Grant who said that the democrats could always be counted on to make fools of themselves at the right moment for the republicans. They did it at San Francisco. They repeated at the Madison Square Garden convention. Are they going to the slaughter house again in 1928? There is a way to prevent a funeral. Smash the self-elected bosses of the democratic party. Smash the state bosses who claim the right to hand pick delegates at a state convention, place them under the unit rule and then vote them for self-elected candidates.

MAYOR TOBIN AND THE BONDS

MAYOR JOHN TOBIN of San Antonio is a progressive. Chief executive of the largest of Texas cities, he is for the forward movement at all times. Just the other day a contract was let in the Alamo city for a tourist hotel to cost $2,250,000. Just the other day there was talk of a $5,000.000 bond issue for public improvements. Indeed, the leading taxpayers of San Antonio had planned to put the bond issue over. Since Tobin became mayor of San Antonio, the old city has made rapid strides. It has added largely to its population and the building activities have been noteworthy. A city without an auditorium of large seating capacity is a city behind the times. Mayor Tobin is largely responsible for the new auditorium which will house the coming state convention of the democrats in September. But back to bond issues and public improvements. The following is reproduced from the San Antonio Express, is very pertinent at this time:

"Mayor John W. Tobin may not come to any decision with reference to a bond issue to continue public improvements until after the gubernatorial campaign, he said Friday. If the Ferguson regime is returned to office, it may be unwise to issue bonds, because it is very probable they will not be sold to advantage under the circumstances, he said. He was referring to the attitude of the present administration to the Archer City road district bonds, declared invalid by the supreme court. James E. Ferguson, spokesman for his wife, the governor, was quoted as saying in a campaign address recently that "Texas did not owe the bonds" which are now held by purchasers. Mayor Tobin said he believed the re-election of Mrs. Ferguson would have a depressing effect on the bond market. "In that event it would probably be unwise for the municipality to issue bonds."

Texas has certainly received a black eye in the financial centers of the country and all on account of the refusal to call a special session of the legislature for validation purposes and the attitude assumed by the spokesman of the Fergusons in his recent speech at Wichita Falls. Texas should come first. Texas' credit should come first. Politicians are mere accidents. Individuals are incidents. Why should the forward movement in this state be blocked and why should the empire builders of the state be shackled?

Pathetic Figures

THE WHISTLENAIL HANDICAP

—By Meigs O. Frost—

"Well," began Sandy, "starting at the beginning, I got this dope from Doc Dowling. Ever since I told Doc on the level about Hymie Eckstein feeling me out for Garcia's gang a coupla weeks ago, Doc has been pretty chummy in tipping me to what's going on. His paper is sitting quiet and accumulating dope. And he gave me an earful about today's job."

"Why did Devine change riders?" persisted Sanborn.

"Because Garcia and his crowd got to him, boss," said Sandy. "I don't know what they've got on him, but they've got something. They had to change jocks. Billy Minden, who's been ridin' Bunga Boy all this season, be wouldn't ride crooked if the King of England ordered it—and Billy's British at that. So they put Frankie Curran up.

"It was a good job he made of it. There wasn't any pulling Bunga Boy that the judges could see. No rough work with his head. It had to be good work with that horse. One to three was the best any book in the Palm Garden would give on him. Why, with that baby runnin' to form, he could take a nap at the half and catch that bunch of dogs in the stretch."

"Then," said Sanborn, "when Curran got pocketed and couldn't seem to ride out of it, it wasn't because he was a timid rider?"

"That bird timid?" snorted Sandy. "He'd ride a buzz saw through a hurricane, if he got his orders, boss."

"So that's it?"

"I'll say that's it! Did you see how Frankie got pocketed at the quarter and again at the half? Choked up behind a bunch of 'em? That was smooth work. And after he'd lost the race, he makes a ride down the stretch that has the boobs on their feet yelling their fool heads off—but it's too late."

"It was too late, all right," conceded Sanborn.

"So that hayburner Stiltonsall romps in," chuckled Sandy dryly. "And do you know how much he has on his nose? I don't. It would sound like the annual statement of the First National Bank, Doc Dowling says. Stiltonsall was paying twenty to one at the track. But that isn't where the real slaughter was pulled. Boss, they trimmed the books back East to a fare-you-well."

"Are you sure?"

"Well," said Sandy, grinning once more like a cherub with the wisdom of matters far from cherubic, "you can take Doc Dowling's word for this. There was a telephone call put through from the Fair Grounds to Nicky Bernstein's number in New York, this morning, and the orders was given to hop to it on Stiltonsall and spread the bets wide to keep the odds from dropping. They locked the door when they put in the call. But they forgot the extension phone in the back office. A clerk back there that's Doc Dowling's paying more than Garcia is paying him was at the back office phone. That's all. Twenty-to-one! Boss, there ain't a bookie in the Palm Gardens that ain't wearing mourning. I hear Mose Feinblatt is stung for close to thirty grand. He's biting the concrete posts, they tell me, when the bad news comes in."

The news of Mose Feinblatt's disaster left Sanborn unmoved. He was thinking of other things just then.

"So Nicky Bernstein's in on it," he said. He knew what that meant. Then New York gambler, whose name had been in the headlines in more than one fixing scandal, could scent sure things halfway across the continent. If the Garcia crowd, now temporarily in control of the track at New Orleans, were working in agreement with him in New York—"There'll be some more juicy pickings for that bunch of buzzards!"

"You said it," was Sandy's terse comment.

"Sandy," said he, "when you know a gang of crooks are crooks, you've taken away most of their weapons. I suppose we ought to let 'em stew in their own juice and race the meet out and move on minding our own business. But I think I'd like to play a little game with those babies, just to show 'em there's a Lord in Israel."

He smoked on in another silence. Then, as his thoughts shifted for a moment: "It was starting to rain at dinner. That ought to be good for Heather Bloom tomorrow."

Heather Bloom was one of the prizes of the Sanborn stable that year—a horse for whom a muddy track seemed always to mean added speed and in the race next day he was matched with nothing that seemed to require worry if the going was sloppy.

Sandy MacGriffin rose and went to the window of the room, leaning far out. His face was split by a joyous grin as he looked back over his shoulder.

"Come here and see," he said.

Side by side the two craned their necks. In the gleam of the electric lights on the streets below, the mist of the fine Southern rain glowed, jewel-like and opalescent. Not a star showed in the blackness above. More rain was coming.

"The track will be made to order for him," grinned the boy who was to ride Heather Bloom. "You'd better pin a big ticket on his nose, boss."

"Well," meditated Robert Ballister Sanborn, "I'll think about it."

"If that rain keeps up a while," opined Sandy, "anything you put on him won't be a bar. It'll be an investment in government bonds."

The rain continued that night until close to midnight. But the bet that Sanborn placed on Heather Bloom to win—and Sanborn always bet on his own horses to win when he bet at all and never hedged with place and show bets—proved that if it was an investment in government bonds they were undoubtedly the bonds of the pre-war Russian government.

Heather Bloom ran a fine second. He was nosed out at the finish by Pilgrim, a horse the betting public knew as registered in the stable of Pedro Lopez. But to the initiate it was common knowledge that when Alexis Garcia crooked his finger, Pedro Lopez sat up and begged, played dead, jumped through a hoop, or looped the loop. He took his orders. For Garcia paid the bills of the Lopez stable and owned the horses thereof. Even the breed of the Fringe, however, has its doubles of the desirability of a man racing his own horses on a track of which he is the paid superintendent. So the Lopez camouflage was maintained.

"Well?" asked Sanborn of his jockey as they met in the stable shortly after the race. He knew by the dark gleam in Sandy's eyes, by the set of the little fighter's bony jaw, that there was more simmering in the brain beneath that thatch of red hair than mere disappointment at loss of a hard ridden race.

"Couldn't get to you before we went to post boss," said Sandy MacGriffin. "But I'd like to see you at your room, tonight, and bring a friend with me, if you don't mind. We'll have something to tell you."

"Who's the friend?" asked Sanborn quizzically.

"Doc Dowling, the turf writer," said the little jockey, 'And he may bring somebody else. Is it all right?"

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

Every Normal Girl Wants Dates and Beaux—If Your Father Forbids Boys the House Daughter Will Meet Them on the Street—Wise are The Parents Who Make Their Home So Attractive That Their Girls Will Delight to Have Company In Its Shelter.

"My father will not let boys come to our house, so I meet them on the street and go with them to places of amusement. I hate to lie to my parents and deceive them, but what else can I do? A girl must have dates?"

"My mother doesn't like the young man I am engaged to, so she has forbidden him the house, and we have to meet secretly. We aren't ready to marry yet and we would like to wait a year or two, but it is so uncomfortable hiding around in corners that we have decided to elope."

There isn't a day that I don't get half a dozen letters like these, and as I read them I marvel at the criminal stupidity of parents who are depriving their daughters of the protection of a home at the very time that they need it most, and who throw them out upon the street to meet alone its dangers and temptations.

Still more do I wonder at the lack of intelligence that makes parents believe that they can issue a command that will change the whole trend of the times, and alter a girl's entire nature—that because cause they forbid a girl to think about boys she will cease to take any interest in youthful sheiks and drug store cowboys; that because they do not wish her to go to parties and have good times that she will be content to sit at home of an evening and read improving books.

Why, dotty old King Canute sitting in his chair on the seashore forbidding the tide to rise, was not more powerless to stay the waves than are parents able, by their command, to check the desires, the emotions, the passion for personal liberty in their children's breasts.

So, the father and mother who refuse to let their daughters have their beaux visit them in their own homes befool themselves if they think that they have thereby eliminated the boy proposition from their girls' lives, and that their daughters never see or talk or play around with young men.

On the contrary, since girls are human beings and share the natural human hankering after forbidden fruit, all that they have done is to throw a halo of romance over every commonplace youth and make meeting him in stolen rendezvous have a spice of adventure that appeals to every drop of sporting blood in them.

Therefore, the fathers and mothers of today had just as well accept the fact that every girl between 15 and 25 is more or less boy-crazy and that she is going to have beaux if she can possibly get them. She will have them decently and respectaby and innocenty at home if she can and if her parents will co-operate with her. But if they don't, if they shut the door in the faces of the young men who want to come to see her, she will still meet God knows who, God knows where.

Of course parents justify themselves in refusing to let their girls have their company at home by saying that Mary and Sally are too young to have dates. Perhaps this is true, but when boys begin hanging around Mary and Sally and coming to the door with them, the problem has passed from the academic stage to the concrete. It is no longer a question of whether it is best for Mary and Sally to have beaux, but of how and where they are to have them. And wise are the parents who ask the youngsters into the house and give them a cordial welcome.

Mary and Sally are going to meet Tom and Harry if they want to, no matter how much father and mother forbid it, and it is far better and safer for them to meet in Mary's and Sally's homes, under their mother's eyes, than at some corner drug store with no one to chaperon them. For a girl has no other such protection as a home. It is like a guardian angel stretching its sheltering arms above her head.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

FROM YOUR WIFE

'Tis good to close the book at night,
And lock the door, and dim the light,
And lay me down, asleep or waking—
For waking, I am thinking, too,
And, dreaming, I shall go with you
Whatever road you may be taking.

'Tis good to rouse, when dawn is here,
My first thought thought of you, my dear,
To rise to greet the rays of morning.
And know that somewhere else the sun
Is lifting, my beloved one,
For you another day adorning.

'Tis good about the house to go
And do the daily tasks I know,
This little home of ours to brighten,
And hope, wherever you may be,
There maybe comes a thought of me,
Your heart to cheer, your load to lighten.

'Tis good some night to pull the shade,
The lamp alight, the table laid,
Your slippers warm, your paper near you,
To sit and think of other nights,
Of tender words, and dear delights,
And then upon the walk to hear you!

What Do You Know About It?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. Name five kinds of swallows.
2. Name a bird that mates for life.
3. What are some scavenger birds?
4. What kind of a nest does the oriole make?
5. What are four common woodpeckers?
6. Name three nocturnal birds.

THE FIRST BIRD

The first, and also the funniest, of all birds was archaeopteryx, a creature that flourished millions of years ago in the old world. His fossilized remains have several times been discovered, and at the British museum they will show you a fine specimab. Archaeopteryx proves conclusively that birds are descended from reptiles, for he has a long jaw heavily set with teeth, like a lizard, and a lizardy sort of tail, with the feathers set in right angles. He did have feathers, however, which is about all that saves him from being a reptile. He was about the size of a crow, and no doubt his voice was no more beautiful.

Now what do you know about that?

1. The two great divisions of the molluscs are the Bivalves and the univalves.
2. Molluscs do not have backbones.
3. Tyrian purple is produced by molluscs.
4. Molluscs used for human food are oysters and clams.
5. Pearls are produced by molluscs.
6. "Pearl" buttons are produced by molluscs.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE

CANCER

Today's planetary aspects are fairly favorable and remain so until evening, when they change and become distinctly adverse. It is not a very auspicious opportunity for the launching of any enterprise of importance. It is, however, an excellent occasion for revision of work already done, or for the taking of a mental inventory, and there will be an abudance of hind sight that should serve as a foundation for the building up of foresight. In the evening, there will be sensed a desire to become critical, not only of others but of yourself. In order to overcome this atmosphere, it will be necessary to seek relaxation in the form of light and amusing recreation.

Children born today will, during infancy, enjoy exurbant health and, by their vigor and strength, will delight those who love them. In their 'teens, they will show signs of weakness induced possibly, by too rapid a growth. This condition will demand care and watchfulness. If however, effectively handled, there is nothing that can prevent, in their case, the attainment of a normal adulthood. They will be rather difficult to manage, but it is a safe bet that they will prove more amenable to affection and to kindness, than to any discipline of a forceful character. They will excel more in sports than in studies and their predilection for the "out doors," will continue with them as an abiding preference during life.

If today is your birthday, you are temperamental, remarkably fond of art, and all of its pleasant surroundings. You are not, from the worldly point of view, very practical and attach very little importance to money, except as a means to gratify your wishes to comfort and beauty. You possess great self-confidence, and show absolute indifference to the opinions of those around you, and very often fly in the face of conventionality for which, of course, you have to pay. You have the courage of your convictions and never hesitate to do those things which your conscience tells you are right, but which the world without a full undestanding might condemn. This, of course, creates at times, trying situations for your friends, of whom you have a legion. Your capability of acquiring knowledge is quite marked and you also possess the rare gift of being able to impart it to others. Your nature is loving and affectionate, and begets an equal measure of love and affection in return.

Successful people born this date are:
Harriet W. Sewall, poet.
William A. Wheeler, politician of New York.
William E. Marshall, painter and engraver.
Edward Burgess, yacht designer.
Thomas H. Norton, chemist.
Walter Hampden, actor.

A SUMMER SWEETIE REAPPEARS

Dear M. F. J.
The Mothers' Club.
I see has got your number;
With all those women on your trail
Sweet ought to be your slumber!
Although I do not sign this note
Poor me you'll well remember
Because we saw each other much
Last June until September.

Don't you recall those wondrous nights
We wandered on the beaches,
And you thrilled me with your soft voice
In wonderful sweet speeches?
You always held me close to you
Whenever we were dancing;
The memory of those dear times
To me is most entrancing.

You never asked me to say "Yes;"
Each night I hoped you'd do it.
I gladly would have said the word——
I wonder if you knew it.
Now that you need, in your distress,
A wife, and need her early,
Why not let me fulfill the need?
Your own.

THE CAREFUL MACTAVISH

Mr. MacTavish attended a christening where the hospitality of the host knew no bounds execept the capacities of the guests.

In the midst of the celebration Mr. MacTavish rose up and made the rounds of the company, bidding each person present a profound farewell.

"But, Sandy, mon," objected the host, "ye're not goin' yet, with the evenin' just startin'?"

"Nay," said the prudent MacTavish, "I'm no' goin' yet. But I'm tellin' ye good night while I know ye.'

BEARS DEFEAT SPUDS IN PAIR

Kiefer Loses Tough Game, Ump Parks Brainard And Lapan.

Wichita Falls bludgeoners were unable to get to Owens with any consistency in the first game, pounded Lindsey hard in the second but couldn't bunch blows, so lost their second double header of the current road jaunt yesterday in San Antonio by 4-2 and 7-4 scores.

Joe Kiefer enjoyed all the tough breaks in one afternoon that the average pitcher runs into through an entire season. He gave up a paltry three safeties in the opener, but two of these abetted by a trio of bases on balls let three Bear runners, enough to cop the contest, trickle across the dish in the third stanza.

Jim Roberts was hit at a fair clip in the second game, but no oftener than was Lindsey. Both pitchers gave up ten safeties. A brace of errors cropped up at the wrong time for Jim, also.

Even Bat Boy Gets Air.

The second game was marked by much wrangling. In the third inning Pete Lapan got into an argument with Umpire Fanning after Lapan had swung at the third strike, Lapan declaring he tried to get out of the way of the ball. The umpire ordered Lapan from the game and when Manager Brainard came on the scene he was ordered out of the park and four policemen were called to escort him, while the crowd hooted. Roberts was chased by Fanning for arguing in the sixth and the Bears' bat boy also was banished.

Tiny Owens held the Spudders in check through six innings of the first game. Wichita Falls scored a run in the seventh. Jenkins opened with a single, Gonzales fumbled Lamb's bounder, Brainard forced Jenkins at third unaided. Washburn walked, loading the bassocks. DeFate followed with a single that sent Lamb home and put Brainard on third. Query hoisted to right and Brainard was cut down at the plate in effort to score after the catch.

Williams took up the Spudder pitching burden in the eighth and was greeted by Najo with a single. The Indian stole second and Bodie sent him to third with a sacrifice bunt. Klein rocketed to Lambie, the latter holding Najo to third. Segrist slapped a grounder at short that DeFate kicked, scoring Najo and giving Hico Kal a lift at first. Golvin singled, but Wirts filed out to Metzler.

Punch Lindsey Late.

The other Spudder run was pushed over in the ninth. Washburn singled. DeFate walked. Segrist rifled to Query's grounder and the bases were filled. Williams bounded out to short, Wash tabulated. Metzler popped out to second. Turgeon walked, filling her up again, but Jenkins fouled out.

The Spudders got to Lindsey in the second game after San Antonio had amassed a six-run lead. The first score was sent across in the fifth on a double by Williams and Query's single. Metzler opened the Spudder sixth with a single but was forced at second by Turgeon. Turgeon took second on Jenkins' third strike when the catcher dropped the ball. Jenkins was thrown out trying to make first base. Lamb followed with a double scoring Turgeon. He came home a moment later on Williams' single to center. The fourth Spudder run was shoved over in the seventh and final frame. DeFate doubled and went to third after the catch of Query's fly to deep right. He scored on a wild pitch.

JUMPING RATHER FAST

Ho hum, Dallas raised its pennant fund early. Now Beaumont is all hopped up over the fact the Beaumont park can't hold more than 3,500 people, so they're talking about taking Jim Galloway and his boys to play the Dixie series over at the race track where they can stack in half the state of Texas. And Fort Worth and Denver officials are talking about running special trains between Wichita Falls and Fort Worth so Spudder fans can see the series. Only folks who don't seem to be worrying about where the southern classic will be staged are Jinx Tucker and Waco fans. The writer has just about given up hopes of seeing the title clashes because the big boss doesn't like for us to leave town and leave a wee bit of work for the rest of the office gang to quarrel over.

PADDY SHOWS A FEW

Paddy Martin is one of the very rare real, dyed-in-the-wool tin-eared sports you see these days. Great boxing fan is Paddy. Knows all the big time boys and seldom misses out on a prediction where a battle of the topnotchers is concerned. Only once has Paddy fallen down on the prognosticating end in recent months. That was the Berlenbach-Stribling affair. Paddy is still wondering just why Strib didn't cop the verdict. All the dope favored Young Bill. He knows both boys well and has followed them for years in their fistic campaigns. Incidently, there are many other close students of the cauliflower industry who were left with glazed optics at the outcome of that mill.

* * *

Paddy not only knows the game well but can shake a wicked pair of dukes himself. Funny thing about Martin. It must be just another left-handed trait. The other day the southpaw came up with a dislocated knee. Yesterday he put in part of the afternoon giving another portsider, Spike Flanagan, instructions in the orthodox left-handed way to fight a starboard opponent.

* *

Latso Flattens Willie Harmon

Bombarding Eddie Kollman at a boisterous clip in the fourth frame, the Panhandle Longhorns scurried around the paths for six markers which added to three runs scored earlier and abetted by two more in the sixth and seventh gave Jess Winter's outfit an 11 to 4 victory over Kelly's Wichita Falls Electrics in twilight league play Tuesday on the Barwise diamond.

Roy Cannon, leathery Panhandle right-hander, hurled superbly throughout and with exception of the fourth when Kelly's boys bunched up on him to tabulate three runs was never in serious danger. The Electrics combed five base hits from Cannon's delivery, three of them in the fourth.

Murrell Hurls Good Ball

Murrell was sent to the mound for the Electrics in the fifth. He heaved comparatively brilliant ball albeit two runs of the technically unearned variety were shoved across on him. A walk and stolen base by Hinds in the sixth followed by an error after there were two away scored one. Waller led off in the seventh with a single between short and third. He stole second, then third and continued on to the plate when Stanfield hit him with the chunk to the hot corner. Murrell struck out three men in this round.

Waller, incidently, copped the slugging palm with three hits out of four, one of which was a triple. Hargrove hit three for two, Hoehn four for two and Cox three for two. One of Cox's blows was of the three-base variety. Hargrove connected for a full-bloom home run in the third on the first ball pitched to him. He had doubled in the first.

The fielding features were two sharp double plays, pulled one by each nine. Cox worked in spectacular fashion at first base with the Longhorns.

Each club scored a run in the opening session. The Panhandle's marker came as result of a single by Graves and double by Hargrove. Gordon drew a walk in the Electrics' half of the inning and went clear to third on Cannon's error. Blue drawing a life at first on fielder's choice. The two staged a double steal on Murrell's third strike, Gordon scoring.

Steers Explode

Following Hargrove's homer in the third, Rawls singled at third and stole second. He came home on Waller's single between first and second.

Panhandle batted around in the fourth. Hoehn opened with a double and Waller closed with a triple, being cut down at the plate in an effort to stretch his clout into a four-bagger. Cox injected a triple. Hicks poked a reverse English fluke infield safety at Belcher, beating it out. Cannon doubled and Hines slammed done through the infield. Singles by Murrell and Worley coupled with a walk, an infield cut and an error scored three in the Electrics' share of the round.

Gaze on Giants' Hurling Ace

Of recent weeks Kent Greenfield, young righthander, has proved to be the star of the Giants' wobbling, uncertain and brittle pitching staff. Over one stretch of 20 innings he allowed but three runs. He shut out the Dodgers 1 to 0, beat the Reds 10 to 8 and then pitched two scoreless innings against the latter to finish a game.

Americans Play Kellys Monday

Game at Spudder Park, All Proceeds to Milk And Ice.

Doc Kelly's Electrics and Moore's American Refiners, Twilight league entrants originally billed for a game Sunday afternoon on the twilight diamond have changed the date in order to make the battle a holiday encounter and for the benefit of humanity.

This pair of topnotch amateur aggregations, weather permitting, will meet in one of the league's classic struggles Monday, July 5, at Spudder park. The game is to start at 3 o'clock. Admission charges will be 50 cents for each person and all gate receipts are to be turned over to The Record News milk and ice fund.

The teams are evenly matched. Fans are assured of witnessing a first class exhibition of baseball. Both are contenders for the Twilight league championship.

Tickets are to go on sale today with the city's Camp Fire Girls doing the bulk of the selling under direction of Miss Mary McIlheran, Camp Fire Girls' executive.

Mrs. Kathleen Gorsline, secretary of the municipal welfare board, will be in charge of the box office and all funds brought in by sale of tickets.

Starting batteries have not been announced yet, but it is a certainty both teams will use their very best.

Spudders Battle At Waco Today

WACO, June 29—(AP)—The game between the Fort Worth Panthers and the Waco Cubs, scheduled for this afternoon was postponed this morning by Waco club officials until the next visit of the Fort Worth club when a double header will be played.

The postponement resulted from the partial burning of the Waco grandstand at 8:30 Monday night. Club officials inspected the burned structure this morning and decided that it would be impossible to erect temporary seats in time for today's game. They announced that the scheduled game would be played with Wichita Falls Wednesday.

Temporary seats will be borrowed from the Cotton Palace and a large canopy has been obtained from Dallas. These will probably be used until the Waco team goes away on its next road trip when reconstruction will begin.

Texan Batters Way In Collegiate Title Tennis Tournament

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—(AP)—Unmarked by upset, the championship intercollegiate tennis tournament swept into the quarter-finals on the courts of the Merion Cricket club with decisive triumphs for eight seeded players.

Edward G. Chandler of the University of California defending the crown he won a year ago trailed seven other favorites and was content to score a long triumph over Charles Watson of Yale, 6-4, 6-0, to reach the fourth round.

J. A. Barr, Texan, from the Southern Methodist university battered his way through the defense of two foes to carry the banner of the south to a contending position, eliminating Kingdom Jackson of Yale and Julius Sagalowsky of Butler in straight sets.

Lenglen Clears Out Of Tourney

U. S. Mixed Doubles Team Wins Walk-Away At Wimbledon.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 29.—(AP)—The Wimbledon tennis tournament had to get along today without Suzanne Lenglen, for early in the morning it was announced that Suzanne had withdrawn from the tournament entirely. Neuritis caused her such pain that she could not even hold a racquet.

Mlle Lenglen and Jean Borotra were to have played the American pair, Howard Kinsey and Miss Mary Browne, and the retirement of the French champion gave the Americans a walk-over in the third round, from which they advanced by winning from C. G. Eames and Mrs. Geraldine Beamish in a pretty 8-6, 7-5 affair.

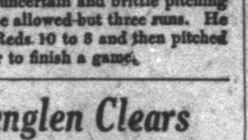

This was a great day for the American contingent for American contestants went into the semi-finals in every class except the mixed doubles, which is still in the early stages. Mrs. Molla Mallory, former champion, defeated the Dutch champion, Miss K. Beuman in a fiercely contested match. Mrs. Mallory won, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Vincent Richards and Howard Kingsley, the English pair, in the men's doubles, 7-5, 3-6, 13-11, 7-5, while Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Miss Mary Browne won the honors in the doubles with a victory over Mrs. Lambert Chambers and Miss Harvey, 3-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Kinsey had already carried the American flag to the semi-finals in the men's singles. Richards and Miss Ryan went into the third round of the mixed doubles by their victory over B. Meyer and Mrs. Shepherd-Barron, 6-4, 6-3.

The only other match in which an American participated was the mixed doubles and Mrs. Mallory, paired with the Englishman, D. M. Greig, lost to Mrs. Lambert Chambers, former Wimbledon champion and J. D. P. Wheatley.

The French team appeared in three matches, all of which they won although one match was the elimination of a strong French player by another Frenchman.

Texas Tech Asks $4,000,000 Budget

AUSTIN, June 29.—(AP)—More than $4,000,000 was asked for West Texas Technological college at Lubbock, when the board of trustees and President P. W. Horn, submitted the budget for the next biennium to the state board of control today.

For the first year, $2,255,200 was asked and $1,832,240 was requested for the second year. For complete of the present administration building $654.000 was asked.

Hansen Assures Victory When He Doubles to Score Robertson.

BEAUMONT, June 29.—Hansen won his own game today when he doubled off the fence following a like blow by Robertson after one was out in the ninth. It was the ninth victory in the last ten games for the Exporters. Diviney was driven to cover in the fifth while Gleason could not finish the eighth. Dutch Hoffman had a field day at bat with two doubles and two homers in five trips to the plate. Bases on balls and costly errors helped Beaumont's scoring in the early innings. Score:

Steers Beat Buffs

HOUSTON, June 29.—(AP)—Some stupid plays by the Buff defense and a terrific assault by the Steers' murderers row in the first three innings gave Dallas a lead that the Buffs could not overcome and the leaders took the rubber game of the series 3 to 6. Mike Collins, starting the game for the Steers pitched six innings of great baseball, but he wobbled in the later stages and was replaced in the ninth. As usual it was the Houston pitcher who did the most clubbing of the day, Claude Davenport getting three steaming doubles. Score:

SARTIN ASSAILS WILLIAMS' WORK

Wichita Falls Man Speaks In Behalf of His Candidacy

Judge B. D. Sartin of Wichita Falls spoke Tuesday night to 1,000 persons or more in Bellevue park when, at the conclusion of the county political rally there he advocated his candidacy for congressman to succeed Gwinn Williams of Decatur. Judge Sartin roundly assailed the record of Mr. Williams has made while in congress and touched on a number of legislative matters in which the latter has had a hand during his tenure of office.

"The time has come for Wichita to have the first congressman in her history," he said. "Reports from all over the thirteenth district are asking for new representation at Washington and are dissatisfied with the record of Mr. Williams, the present incumbent. Not a single postoffice or federal building has been secured for the thirteenth district during the past three terms.

"If I am elected to represent this district I will not come back empty handed in securing a federal building for Wichita Falls and for all other towns in the district that are in need of such.

Speaks of Bridge

"You all are familiar with my fight for free bridges over Red river and know that many said it cannot be done, but today the bridge is being constructed and the dream of this community has been realized. If I cannot put over a program of constructive legislation for our irrigation projects, our farming interests, our commercial interests, and for the laboring man, I will not come back with an alibi and ask for a fourth term.

Sartin scored Williams' record in voting for the Italian debt settlement, declaring 'I wonder if Mr. Williams was afraid of his vote to give two billion dollars to Italy and to loan the balance for a period of 62 years at one percent interest when the American farmer must pay six percent for government farm loans and a bonus besides. Can it be that this caused him to refuse to accept the challenge which I extended him for a joint discussion before the voters of this district?"

Assails Other Things.

Continuing his attack on Williacs' record, Sartin said, "that a member of congress has no right to keep his wife on a government payroll as a private secretary when the nepotism laws of Texas forbid the hiring of kinfolks in public office."

"If I am honored with the position of congressman of this district I will use some young man from the district who is ambitious and worthy as my secretary, giving to him an opportunity for a liberal education at Washington while serving as secretary for the congressman of this district. This will be a greater honor for the congressman and for the district he represents," Sartin told the voters.

"It seems to me that it is inconsistent economy to vote against a bunch of soldiers who did their bit to guarantee the liberty of this country and then the next breath vote for an increase of salary of congressmen from $7,500 to $10,000 per year, and yet Mr. Williams claims to be the soldiers' friend," Sartin said in concluding his attack on Williams' record in congress.

"I shall go before the district with the utmost confidence that on July 24 the people will repudiate a record opposed to the interests of the masses and one that has offered no constructive legislation or secured a single public improvement for the thirteenth congressional district," Sartin said in closing.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK June 29.—(AP)—Spirited bidding for leading industrial shares imparted unusual buoyancy to the stock market today. Encouraged by the establishment of a new high record by U. S. Steel at 141¾, operators for the rise distributed buying orders for scores of other popular issues, lifting prices one to six points on a turnover of nearly 1,500,000 shares.

In its upward surge the market ignored a tightening of credit conditions resulting from withdrawals of funds to meet the mid-year settlements. Call money renewed at 5 per cent. The highest rate since April 19, but this factor was only a temporary deterrent and the upward movement steadily gathered momentum until a few minutes before the close when scattered profit taking caused slight recessions from the day's high levels.

The climb of U. S. Steel to record heights apparently was based on vague hopes of an increased distribution of stockholders as well as an exceptionally favorable trade reports. The demand for pig iron was said to be at a rate unprecedented since 1924, while steel manufacturing operations have held around 80 per cent of capacity with no prospects of an immediate recession. The trend toward higher prices also was reported to be spreading throughout the industry.

After attaining a peak price of 141¾, U. S. Steel common closed at 140¾, a net gain of 2¾ points. Other steel shares correspondingly strong. Sloss Sheffield rallied to a new high above 127 and closed 6¾ points higher at 126¾, while gains of one to five points included Gulf States, Republic, Bethlehem, Ludlum, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Otis common and Sloss Sheffield preferred.

Another so-called Morgan stock—General Motors—shared with U. S. Steel the leadership of the advance, rallying more than three points to 147¾, within a few points of its record high. Other motor shares, however, failed to make such an impressive showing although strong support was extended to Mack Trucks, Dodge, Nash and Willys-Overland.

The demand for equipment, chemical and various specialties stocks increased as trading progressed. A long list of advances ranging from one to five points included Baldwin, General Railway Signal, Pullman, General Electric, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, DuPont, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, the commercial solvents issues, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, United Cigar Stores and Westinghouse Airbrake. Oil shares were neglected and a few issues, such as Case Threshing Machine, moved downward against the trend.

With spectacular entnusiasm centering in the industrial division, rail shares were relegated to the background, although the maintenance of a steady investment demand mark for the year. Chesapeake and Ohio pushed the price average to a new high issues, Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville and Nashville were the strongest features, rising one to three points.

Foreign exchanges were somewhat easier, with French and Belgian francs depressed by indications that stabilization plans would be delayed pending applications for credits abroad. Demand sterling held firm around $4.86¼.

Call money ruled at 5 per cent all day with time money and commercial paper rates unchanged, although concessions were reported somewhat tighter.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, June 29.—(AP)—The favorable view of weather and crop progress appeared to be the dominating factor in the cotton market again today. October contracts sold off to 16.40, or 22 points net lower, and closed at that figure, the general market closing easy at net declines of 15 to 12 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of five to 10 points. Active months soon showed net losses of 12 to 17 points under liquidation, local and southern selling inspired by relatively easy late cables from Liverpool and a favorable interpretation o fthe early weather news. The decline was checked by covering and the market rallied several points from the lowest during midday on buying which appeared to come largely from houses with Wall Street connections. This was attributed to covering by recent sellers who may have felt uncertain as to next Friday's government report, but demand lapsed off early in the afternoon and prices weakened in late trading.

Rushes was quet durng the first part of the day, but there was a flurry of liquidation toward the close. July broken to 15.90, and December to 16.35, net losses of about 15 to 22 points on active months and the close was at the lowest price of the day. Five more private and June crop reports were published. The figures on condition ranged from 75.5 to 77.5, while figures on the indicated yield ranged from about 15,324,000 to 15,432,000 bales, one of the reports showing minimum and maximum indications ranging from 13,900,000 to 17,550,000 bales. One of the reports said recent rains were in time to help crop prospects in the drouthy section of the eastern belt.

Exports today 1,903 bales, making 7,826,187 so far this season. Port receipts 5,426. U. S. port stocks 717,170.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—(AP)—The cotton market developed a moderate degree of activity today, the trading being in the nature of liquidation by recent buyers in advance of the government report due Friday. There was some selling on the improved weather prevailing in the belt which pests. Following a slight opening decline is expected to check the spread of insect of one to five points due to unfavorable caches the market soon turned easier on the good showing by the weather map and the official forecast for continued favorable weather. Prices moved downward gradually all through the session reaching the lows in the last hours of trading and showing losses of 15 to 20 points from yesterday's close. There was a slight rally in the final trading and the close showed net losses of 13 to 16 points.

July was contrary to the rest of the market at the start and opened at 17.52, or seven points up, due to covering in that month. October traded at 16.24 and December 16.11, or one to five points down. These prices were the highs of the day.

The market soon started to east off and continued on the down grade all day, July finally trading at 17.30, October at 16.05 and December 15.98, or 15 to 20 points below the previous close. The close was a few points from the lowest.

MATERIALS DUE FOR NEW BRIDGE

Force of Men at Work Preparing Site for New Structure.

A large supply of steel re-inforcing and girders, crushed rock, and cement has been ordered and should arrive at Burkburnett the latter part of this week for the new free bridge across Red river, it was stated Tuesday by Charles R. Moore, president of the Austin Brothers Bridge company, contractors.

With the arrival of the steel, rock and cement, work on the bridge can begin in earnest, according to Mr. Moore. The tool house has been erected and at present a small force of men are employed in cleaning up the ground around the bridge site. Actual pouring of concrete, piling and other work of a similar nature, however, has been held up pending arrival of material.

W. C. Lanster of Dallas, general field superintendent for the company, will be in charge of construction of the bridge, Mr. Moore stated Tuesday. He is expected to arrive in Wichita Falls about next Monday.

Mr. Moore is in Wichita Falls attending a civil suit in which his company is involved.

Romance Halted 62 Years Ago Renewed By Venerable Pair

DALLAS, June 29.—(AP)—A civil war romance, interrupted for 62 years by a caprice of fate was renewed here today in the Union railway station.

For the first time since October 4, 1864, Mrs. E. T. Hancock and J. L. Hansone, saw each other and conversed. She was 18 when they parted and he 22, a confederate cavalry lieutenant. Both lived in a little Alabama town.

When they met today, she was a white haired, trembling, little old lady clinging to the arm of a son whose hair was gray. Sansone walked hesitatingly but stood erect for all his 84 years.

Mrs. Hancock who was Sara Boyd (then) and Sansone were to marry after he returned from war. In less than a week after leaving her he wrote and she answered the same day, posting the letter in the little makeshift postoffice herself. He never wrote again, however. Christmas, their wedding day, found him still absent. He went to Gretna, N. Y., and became a paper manufacturer. She got married, moved to California, where her husband is now buried.

Recently the little ramshackle postoffice was torn down.

Caught behind the boards of a wall shelf, they found her letter. It was sent to Sansone. Correspondence followed. They met here and left today for California where her daughter is ill. They are not going to marry, they said, but will be "mighty good friends."

J. D. Parnell Formally Announces Candidacy For Senatorial Election

J. D. PARNELL

J. D. Parnell, senator from the 23rd senatorial district, formally announced his candidacy Tuesday for re-election as senator. Senator Parnell for some time past has made no secret of the fact that he intended seeking office again, but his formal statements regarding his campaign have not been made heretofore.

In making his announcement, Senator Parnell touched on a number of questions of importance relating to legislative matters in Texas. His full announcement was as follows:

"Having served only one-half of a regular term in the state senate, I am asking for a second term.

"My record in the 39th legislature will bear investigation. While it was not perfect, no one can say that the district was not fairly and honestly represented. More than a thousand bills were introduced in both branches of the legislature and it was necessary that I vote for or against all of them that came before the senate. Naturally there were two sides to every measure and the sponsors of the various bills are always ready to criticize and condemn any member who voted against them. Often times they go further and seek to defeat the men because they did not see fit to follow their advice. In passing upon these measures I laid personal ambition and prejudices aside and voted for the interests of my district and the state at large.

In submitting my candidacy for re-election, I wish to follow the policy I adopted in my former campaign. I will not resort to mud-slinging and abuse my opponent. If I cannot win the office on my own merits, I do not want or deserve it. I will not resort to the practice of demagoguery often used by men seeking public offices. Prejudicial propaganda and misleading statements are fore-runners of corruption in government.

Gasoline Tax

A sales tax is the most equitable way to obtain money for the construction and maintenance of public roads. I will vote for a gasoline atx but only when the bill provides that a part of the money must be returned to the county in which the tax is collected for the purpose of building roads in the rural districts.

Automobile Tax

I will favor the reduction of the automobile license fee and an increase in the tax on heavy trucks which destroy the roads; also a tax on motor buses and all vehicles used for the transportation of freight by hire, over the public highway.

Highway Maintenance

"I will favor the amending of the law and provide that counties may have a preference in contracting the maintenance of the state highways. The commissioners of the various precincts can economically supervise the work and see to it that we get 100 cents on the dollar for all money individual then the commissioners spent. If the contract is let to an court of each county should be permitted to approve all work done and o. k. the bill before the money is paid over to the contractor.

"The commissioners' court should have the right to sit in with the highway commission when a contract is being let for the construction of state highways in the county where the peoples' money is being spent, the commissioners and county judges should have the right to say what kind of road will be constructed and how much money will be spent.

Oil Production

"The oil producers have brought much wealth to this section of Texas. There are hundreds of thousands of acres of land in this section that has not been tested. Many millions of dollars have been paid for the labor and supplies and many more millions have been paid on bonuses and rentals. I believe that every county in Texas would like to see a thorough test made for oil and each voter in this district will join me in my opinion that we should encourage the future development and prospecting for oil. A complaint has been registered by the candidates for public offices that what is known as senate bill No. 180 permitted a monopoly on the oil business. The candidates are the only ones who have complained this bill did not repeal any part of the anti-trust laws of Texas, nor has it worked a hardship on the people of this state. On the contrary, many millions of dollars are being spent in the development and prospecting for oil and a large percent of the money goes to the land owners and laborers. I believe the oil companies should pay their proportionate share of taxes and the anti-trust laws strictly enforced when they are violated but I will not resort to the depths of demagoguery and try to prejudice a few people and get their votes by misleading them in an attack on an industry that is bringing in money to us instead of taking it from us. The complaint of this bill comes from candidates alone and not from the people.

Education

"I have always supported every measure for the benefit of education and will continue to do so. I am glad that I have the support and friendship of every educator in this district and I will continue to do all in my power in the interest of the rural district school classes as well as the higher institutions of learning. I have a record of more than 15 years in the interest of education and I have never failed to respond and use my best efforts in their behalf.

Taxation

"I promised the voters of my district two years ago that I would oppose the increase in taxes and I lived up to that promise in the 39th legislature. We have sufficient revenue if it is spent economically. If we are successful in equalizing the taxes between East and West Texas counties and bring the rendition of East Texas up to what it should be we can lower the values in West Texas where they have been too high.

Law Enforcement

"I believe in enforcing the law as it is written. I opposed what is known as the 'search and seizure' law when it was before the legislature and voted against it. All peace officers are hampered and restrained from making many arrests because they do not have search warrants and are not permitted to search a man's car or place of business without one. A man's home should never be entered without a search warrant but that is as far as the law should go.

"During my tenure of office I have been able to render service to every county in my district, aside from the time I spent in legislature while it was in session. It has been a pleasure for me to serve the people of the 23rd senatorial district. I believe you will appreciate my efforts and vote for me a second term."

Girl Attacked, Routs Assailant By Throwing Rocks

SAN ANGELO, Tex., June 29.—(AP)—Officers today continued search for a man who Monday afternoon attacked Miss Anne Clare Wray of Commerce. Tom Green county home demonstration agent, near the main Concho river, six miles east of San Angelo, but whose advances she repulsed with rocks. Miss Wray today was suffering from shock but otherwise was uninjured, save for bruises about the arms and head.

She told officers the stranger stopped her while she was motoring home from the Mullen community and sought aid for his sick baby at a river camp nearby. They had gone on a short distance when Miss Wray realized the man had lied and after a struggle ran to the creek channel, where she seized and hurled rocks, one of which felled the would-be assailant.

Cotton Exchange To Close Saturday

NEW YORK, June 29.—(AP)—Members of the New York cotton exchange are circulating a petition requesting the board of managers to declare Saturday, July 3, a holiday, for a three day recess over Independence day, which governors of the New York stock exchange today approved. About ten days ago managers of the cotton exchange declined a petition to close the exchange on Saturday, owing to the short time for trading after the government crop report and the restricted time for trading in July contracts.

Jos. Persky of the city police department returned Tuesday from a vacation trip to Cleveland, O., and other northern points.

PSEUDO PRINCE HELD AS FRAUD

Negro Posing as Titled Personage Swindles American Woman.

PARIS, June 29.—(AP)—A smooth and polished black "prince" who once was received in Chicago as a distinguished guest has arrived at a prison in Dahomey, Africa, after various adventures in New York and Paris and along the way, Le Matin is advised.

"Prince Kojo Tovalou Houenou," who left New York October 17, with Mrs. Harry N. Knowlton, a wealthy white woman of Chicago, and her 7-year-old daughter, is charged with swindling several persons of a total of $12,250, Mrs. Moody, an American, Le Matin says, accuses him of swindling her out of $350.

The negro "prince" was arrested and imprisoned shortly after his arrival at Cotonou, in Dahomey.

Some time ago he was ejected from a Mont Marte cabaret because Americans objected to him. He sued the manager of the cabaret, was awarded damages and the manager was fined.

The "prince" then declared himself "president of the Universal League for the Defense of the Black Race," and went to New Pork where he joined forces with Marcus Garvey, who is now in the Atlanta penitentiary for fraud in connection with activities as "Emperor of Africa."

"Prince Tovalou" was arrested in Chicago for passing a bogus $118 check in payment for a bill for a hat, cloak and lingerie for a woman companion. He explained that he had expected funds to cover the check. While in Chicago he was ejected from a fashionable restaurant.

He took a law degree and assumed the title of "Prince" in Bordeaux, says Le Matin, and then came to Paris where he was enrolled as a lawyer.

Reports Filed

A number of county and district candidates filed their campaign expenditure reports Tuesday with the county clerk. By far the larger number of the candidates filed before the close of the clerk's office Monday, however.

At the close of business Tuesday afternoon but one of the reports for officers of the county or district had not been filed, this being for J. D. Avis, candidate for place 2, district 111, Texas legislature, Mr. Avis, when approached on the phone Tuesday night stated that he had overlooked the filing. He filed his report at 7 o'clock last night, listing expenses at $51.

eReports filed Tuesday and not listed before are as follows: C. L. Bradford, constable, precinct 1, $74.50; H. J. Anderson, tax collector, $295.18; Dave May, constable, precinct No. 1, $75; W. G. Bralley, sheriff, $195; O. W. Nicholson, county judge, $181.25; G. C. McDermett, $54.50; Joe B. Carrigan, candidate $303.50.

NOISY DEBATES

stable, precinct No. 1 Morgan declared that he would put the knockknockers on the rock-pile;" Lyle stated that deputies would be sworn in and their duties explained to them in the presence of high county and district officials; Bradford offered his record while in office as the best sponsor for a second term; Dave May, former city detective chief, announced that he would put his efforts where they belonged "not bother the jug of home brew when the high-jacker and burglar were running around loose."

Candidates for the post of sheriff were then introduced, W. G. Bralley making the first speech. Mr. Bralley stated that if elected he would maintain records open to inspection at any time, abolish the kangaroo court in the county jail and keep prisoners that were assigned to the jail in the jail.

Tom Roark, former city policeman spoke next, followed by R. L. McFall, the incumbent. Fred Smith spoke last.

J. P. Jackson, slightly ill, was not able to speak in behalf of his candidacy for county commissioner, precinct No. 1. M. A. Bundy, candidate for the post Mr. Jackson now holds, made a short speech, however, in which he stated that he would give all the attention to the office that it deserved if elected.

H. J. Henderson, Guy C. Raley and Max Shumake all spoke in behalf of their candidacy for county tax collector, which office Mr. Raley now holds. Mr. Raley stated that during his incumbency there had been over $600,000 delinquent taxes collected, as a result of which the county commissioners had been able to lower the county tax rate from 80c to 70c. Mr. Anderson offered his record as city tax collector to vouch for his candidacy for the greater office. Max Shumake spoke last, stating he was familiar with the tax collector's duties through his stay in the assessor's office, and that he felt he would make a valuable servant to the people if elected.

A. W. Nicholson and John P. Marrs both spoke in behalf of their campaign to succeed Judge B. D. Sartin as county judge.

They were followed by candidates for the legislature, F. G. Swanson speaking first, followed by Roy J. Daniel.

E. Van Deventer and H. L. Tooker spoke in offering for place 2, district 111. The incumbent, J. D. Avis, was ill and confined to his home.

Night Air Mail To Chicago Urged By Houston Group

HOUSTON, JJune 29.—(AP)—When the department of commerce approves plans to light the air mail route from Chicago to Houston, making night flights possible, air mail planes probably will make flights directly to South Texas, according to Luther K. Bell, general traffic manager of the National Air Transport, Inc., who arrived in Houston Tuesday for a conference with local business men.

"If the request for lights between Chicago and Dallas is granted," Mr. Bell said, "overnight service will be inaugurated from Texas to Chicago. At present, the air mail makes possible the saving of one half of one business day to Chicago and an entire day to New York and other eastern points."

A delegation of Beaumont chamber of commerce officials conferred with Mr. eBll Tuesday in an effort to get he line exended to Beaumont.

Heavy Shipments of Grain Are Coming Into Mills of Wichita Falls

WARM WEATHER AIDS HARVEST

One-Fifth of Week's Wheat Yield Already In Elevators..

An estimate of one-fifth of the week's wheat yield has been made by local mills as having been received in shipments during the first two days of the week.

Threshing was delayed for several days during the past week on account of heavy rains, but with the return of hot weather heavy receipts are expected Wednesday. One mill reported an average shipment of 35 cars for the first two days of this week. Another reported 208 carloads from Oklahoma and the Panhandle. Threshing is flourishing in these regions, it was said, due to a new machine termed the "combine" which requires only one man and two boys. It cuts and threshes at the same time and produces the maximum of threshing. The following yield from Oklahoma fields has been reported: 780 carloads to Kansas City, 208 carloads to Enid, 175 carloads to Wichita, Kan., and 300 carloads to Kutchinson, Okla.

Record Quality.

Grades 1 and 2 have been received at one mill almost exclusively, indicating a record quality of wheat. A yield of from 18 to 20 bushels per acre has been reported.

Farmers are inclined to hold their oats crop, which has been very low up to the present, though indications show an average of from 35 to 40 bushels an acre. There have been scarcely any put on the market and unless the crop is brought in, oats will drop below the average for the season's yield.

Galveston, the only exporting city in Texas, has reported the first cargo of new wheat for the 1926-27 season to be loaded Tuesday by the American steamer Oakwood, which is taking 120,000 bushels to Bremen.

Hear Ad Talk

Members of the Wichita Falls Advertising club were presented with the differences in newspaper and direct-by-mail advertising, the compiling of lists for the latter and the writing of copy in a talk by John Gould at the weekly luncheon Tuesday at the Kemp Hotel.

"Attractive and striking copy is essential to any king of advertising," Mr. Gould explained. "Your mailed advertising represents your situation and a clean shave and shoe shine should be sent out with it."

A round table discussion followed the address, led by George Wilson, former president of the organization.

Miss Josephine Fisk sang two vocal selections, "Serena Esta La Noche" and "Say It Again" playing her own guitar accompaniment.

The weekly attendance prize was won by T. C. Scott, given by P. B. M. company.

Committee to Meet

A meeting of the finance committee of the Floral Heights Baptist church will be held at 7 o'clock this evening at the church. The following men are members of the committee: Thomas Wynn, J. M. Ward, Solon R. Featherston, L. H. Franks, Patton, R. E. Lee, J. M. Mart, Huffman Haines, Hall, and the pastor, Rev. H. McClung.

Following the business meeting at 7:30 o'clock the officers and teachers of the Sunday school will meet for a 45 minute session after which the pastor will conduct the mid-week prayer service.

Candidates to Speak

The four candidates for sheriff of Wichita county, W. G. Bralley, Fred K. Smith, Bob McFall and W. T. Roark, and E. Vandeventer, candidate for the state legislature, will speak at the Barwise school house in the northwest part of the county, Thursday night at 8 o'clock, according to Mr. Vandeventer yesterday. The five will speak at County Line, north of Electra, Friday night at the same hour, it was said.

Senator J. D. Parnell has been invited also to speak at these places, and he may be the sixth speaker.

Cox Released

Alvin Cox, charged with Bennie Reynolds with conspiracy to commit a felony, was released on his own recognizance, in bond amounting to $200, by Judge W. W. Cook, Tuesday afternoon in the 78th district court. The release was obtained upon a writ of habeas corpus. Cox represented that he had been in jail for more than two months. Reynolds is at liberty on a $200 bond.

Red Cross Expert To Give Swimming Tests In the City

Joseph S. Law, assistant directtor of first aid and life saving at the mid-western branch office of the American National Red Cross at St. Louis, who directs first aid and life saving activities in the 17 middle states of the country, will visit Wichita Falls on July 5 under the auspices of the local Red Cross chapter for the purpose of assisting in its swimming and water safety program, giving life saving demonstrations, and giving tests to those swimmers wishing to qualify as Red Cross life savers. He will appear at Westmoreland park pool at 6 o'clock Monday evening, July 5.

Mr. Law is a graduate of Springfield college, Springfield, Mass., while attending school he was actively engaged in athletics and was for three years a member of the college gymnastic team. In 1921 he became a member of the physical education staff of the public schools in Springfield.

"The American Red Cross is carrying on an intensive nation-wide swimming and water safety campaign in an effort to reduce America's annual loss of life by drowning," said Mr. Law in a recent interview. "Thousands of youth, trained in Red Cross water safety, are on duty at ponds, water holes, rivers, lakes and beaches all over the country."

"The purpose of the Red Cross water safety program is also to promote health through an enjoyment of a wholesome form of recreation. The motions used in swimming develop the body. Swimming also helps to develop wholesome mental attitudes and gives more healthful exercise with less expenditure of energy than any other form of recreation," said Mr. Law.

Coleman Speaks

Problems of paving and the many details entering into cost and overhead responsible for the price of paving were explained by J. P. Coleman of the Plains Paving company at the Real Estate Board Tuesday noon in the principal talk of the program.

Mr. Coleman said that while the average person considers only the cost of materials, labor and profit of the contractor, the actual cost of paving included heavy freight rates for the millions of pounds of gravel, stne and sand shipped t Wichita Falls, the depreciation of the plant equipment each year and the overhead of the state paving law which calls for payment in paper, accepted a ta 7 per cent discount.

Endorsement of erection of a public auditorium was made by the board, following a unanimous vote. Judge R. E. Huff spoke of the beneficial results of such a building for everyone in Wichita Falls, in that since allclasses would contribute, all classes would be beneefited.

Next week's meeting will be held at the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria.

LIVERPOOL.—Hector C. Leach, aged 18, who poisoned his sweetheart, was sentenced to hang.

HEADACHE LEAVES AND COMPLEXION IMPROVES

"Never in 15 years have we been without Thedford's Black-Draught in our house," says Miss Susie Mershon of Lancaster, Ky.

"Black-Draught is our regular family standby. A long while ago I was suffering with a spell of indigestion and I was real sick. I read in a paper how Black-Draught was good for such ailments, so I thought I would try it. In almost no time, it had me on my feet again.

"Since then I have kept Black-Draught always on hand. For family use, I have found it has no equal. The children often need a mild laxative, and I always give them Black-Draught.

"Occasionally I have awful headaches—the blinding kind, which come across the front of my head and my temples. This, I think, is a form of biliousness, and when I have one of these spells, I begin taking Black-Draught, a pinch after meals, and in a short time I am well. The headache leaves me and my color improves.

"My mother is 87 years old. I give her Black-Draught when she needs a mild remedy for constipation. Her health is generally very good, and about all she ever takes is Black-Draught. We would not be without it for anything, and always say a good word for it when we have an opportunity."

Thousands of others have written to tell how many disagreeable symptoms, due to constipation, have disappeared after they had taken Black-Draught. It is a natural remedy, composed of selected medicinal modern, scientific, accurate, methods.

The great popularity of Thedford's Black-Draught is itself an indication of the satisfaction it gives millions of users. JA-30.

DENVER TO PUT ON NEW TRAIN

Passenger Service to Be Started From Dallas To Amarillo.

Effective Wednesday, July 7, the Fort Worth and Denver railway will operate passenger trains 5 and 6 between Dallas and Amarillo instead of between Fort Worth and Wichita Falls as at present, according to M. G. Monoghan, chief clerk to the general superintendent of the road.

Train No. 5 will be known as the West Texan and will leave Dallas at 6:45 p. m.; leave Fort Worth at 8:20 p. m.; Wichita Falls at 12:05 a. m., arriving in Amarillo at 7 a. m. The train will make the run from Dallas to Amarillo in 12 hours and 15 minutes, which is 30 minutes less time than the fastest passenger train on the Fort Worth and Denver road, Mr. Monaghan states.

Passenger train No. 6 on the return trip will leave Amarillo at 11 p. m, arrive in Wichita Falls at 6:30 a. m.; Fort Worth at 10:30 a. m. and Dallas at 11:55 a. m. On the same date changes will be made in the arriving time in Wichita Falls of the Wichita Valley train No. 8 to 11:45 p. m. This will afford connections with the West Texan for passengers from Wichita Valley points destined to Amarillo or points between Wichita Falls and Amarillo and will aso enable passengers from Wichita Valey points to arrive in Wichita Falls before midnight, accoding to Mr. Monaghan.

Moody Rallies

The first of this week's Moody-for-Governor rallies will be held at Megargel Thursday night, according to announcement Tuesday by the Wichita Falls Moody organization. Luther Hoffman and Shields Heyser of Wichita Falls will address a crowd there at that time.

Other Moody speaking engagements for this week follow: Archer City, picnic, Friday, W. P. Smith and Bert King, Bridgeport, Saturday afternoon, R. E. Taylor, Seymour, Saturday afternoon, J. T. Montgomery and H. F. Weldon; Chillicothe, Saturday afternoon, Fred Spurlock and J. S. Datson of Electra; Henrietta, Saturday afternoon, Luther Hoffman; Bellevue, Saturday afternoon, Shields Heyser and E. R. Suries.

Dockets Complete

The appearance dockets of the 30th and 89th district courts for the July term of those courts were completed Tuesday by the district clerk's office, and are ready for the call day of the courts next week.

The docket of Judge P. A. Martin, 89th district court, shows a total of 143 cases, of which 54 are divorce suits nd 80 civil suits of another nature. The docket of Judge Thornton, 30th district court, shows a total of 42 cases of which 21 are divorce suits and 28 civil suits of another nature.

The two dockets show a total of 75 divorce suits and 117 other civil cases.

RETURN FROM TRIP

From Calgary To Honolulu, They Flock To Wichita Falls Tourist Camps As Travel Season Grows

This City a Mecca for Knights of the Road, Managers of Two Principal Tourist Camps Find; "Parties of Two" Are Popular.

North, south, east and west, from Calgary, Canada to Honolulu, and including all sections of the United States, are represented in the ever restless throng of tourists who frequent Wichita Falls tourist parks this time of year. And not only do they wander in and out in summer, but in the winter as well, for according to keepers of these popular places Wichita Falls is fast becoming a mecca for tourists in the cold season as well as in the warm.

During the cold weather in March, 1926, when Wichitans ordinarily think it is too cold to travel, the Bungalow Tourist Park off the Burnett street bridge was filled, and many tourists had to be turned away. Sixty children were with their parents and guardians at this park early in the season, making it a community almost apart from the other section of the city. Fifty bungalows equipped for guests.

Many Park Open

Near Scotland Park is the Municipal Tourist Park which opened May 2 for tourists, and daily since then, gates. This park is made for campers, for there are no bungalows maintained. White and brown tents for those who are traveling through its grassy acres.

A community kitchen with three brick stoves built in furnish a place where several families may cook and serve meals at the same time. Long tables are furnished and other equipment is available. A small fee is charged for the use of lights, gas and water, and after 48 hours a charge of twenty-five cents per day is made. The municipal park is policed and cars are watched during the absence of the owners.

Tourists are beginning to throng the parks but the heavy work of the season is not expected to begin until July when preparations for late comers and early goers will be made, it was said.

Salesmen who are on the road much of the time are taking advantage of the Bungalow Park for the summer and there they bring their families to camp for a few days and be near them while they travel in this section, the keeper of the cottages said yesterday.

Tourists Must Register

Tourists must register when they enter the tourist parks for a stay there. The license number of the automobile, the state, the name of the owner are put into the register, and sometimes the number of persons in the party.

In checking over the list of the Municipal Park register, a party of eight was the largest to camp there during the season. A few travelers went alone; parties of three, four and five are popular, too, but "just two" seemed to be most frequent.

"There are many interesting characters who come to the parks," Mrs. J. A. Rochester, wife of the manager of the bungalow park, said. She told the story of two ministerial students who are staying there while they do work in the city to pay their way through the country as they are touring up funds to continue their studies.

Don McLarry is manager of the Municipal Tourist Park, where hundreds have stopped since its opening last month, thousands last year, and thousands are expected in both parks during the summer.

Band Concerts to Aid In Union Church Services

Plans for the series of band concerts during the summer months, were outlined Tuesday at a meeting of the band committee of the chamber of commerce. It was practically decided that these concerts be held each Sunday evening in Bellvue park in connection with the services to be held there each Sunday evening beginning the third Sunday in July. The first concert will take place on Sunday, July 17, and will be given with P. B. M. company's compliments. The band program will begin at 7 o'clock and will continue for one hour. Then for 30 minutes the band will assist the congregation in a 30-minute sing song. This is expected to continue each Sunday evening until early in September.

J. L. Jaackson Jr., president of the Kiwanis Club, A. M. Myles, president of the Rotary club and Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce have been named as a committee to confer with business men relative to plans for financing the concerts. Since P. B. M. company is giving the first concert, as a compliment to the citizenship of Wichita Falls it is believed other business firms of the city will be glad to follow this example. The committee of three is to confer with the leaders of the various firms to determine their desire.

Members of the special band committee attending the meeting Tuesday morning were: J. L. Jackson Jr., chairman; Dr. S. A. Barnes, A. E. Myles and B. G. Ripley. This committee was named last week at the meeting of the business council. Tuesday's meeting was the first the committee has held.
