By
Mrs. John Blackman
Several citizens of Bula Community met Thursday evening, June 17, at the community center, to discuss the restoring of the old abandoned cemetery. It was voted to create a Bula Cemetery Association. Mrs. Nolan Harlan was elected president and Mrs. John Blackman was elected secretary-treasurer. The Bula cemetery had its beginning on the 27 day of November, 1929, when Thomas W. Newsome and G.H. Wooten, executors of the estate of W.B. Newsome, T.W. Newsome and Eula (Newsome) Wooten, deeded five acres of land, out of the Northeast corner of Labor No. 22, League No. 198, of Lubbock County School land, for a cemetery for Bula. Over the years the cemetery has not been used much, and has not had much care and upkeep. We do not know for sure who all is buried there.

In recent months people of the community, feeling a closeness and awareness of their past, began to talk of restoring the cemetery, and maybe event being able to use it again for burials. Actual work did not begin on the cemetery until this spring.

In the early 1930s a man by the name of Dave Officer surveyed the cemetery and laid it off into lots. But the survey was never recorded (to our knowledge). In 1941 the people of the community built a fence around the cemetery and hung a nice double metal gate. At this time the cemetery was cleaned up and looked very nice. Metal stakes were put up marking a north-south road.

Through the years the sand blew and filled the front part of the cemetery, until the level rose almost two feet, covering up existing graves. The markers, if any, were covered up and the graves lost.

In March of this year, the County maintainers, under the direction of Rudolph Moraw, commissioner of precinct four, scraped the mounded sand from the front portion of the cemetery. It started the land to wearing away again, as the sand blew, things began to be uncovered.

On June 5, the Royal Ambassadors, Billy Tiller, Bernie Davila, Lewis Peacock and Donald Black led by their counselor brother, Eddie Riley, also assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Harlan and son, John David. The work done that day was walking over and tying red streamers to all standing metal markers, so that any mowing done would be able to miss the metal markers with the machinery. Also the young workers painted the metal gate, did some fence repair, and dug out beargrass.

On June 10, Harlan brought his tractor and shredded all the weeds, tall grass and mesquite bushes, so the search for graves could be continued. On June 11, a general work day was held, fence repairing, hoeing and a big sign (painted by Faye Jones) which reads "Bula Cemetery", was hung over the gate. This is the first sign ever to be put on the cemetery.

On June 14, this being flag day, and Bicentennial year, a flag ceremony at 8:00 a.m. was held and "Old Glory" flew proudly that day at the cemetery. John David Harlan led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance.

We have eight names of those buried there. If any one can give any information about who is buried there, age, date of death and date of burial, it would be much help.

Here is a list of name: Dorothy Dimple Morrow, death, May 2, 1931, burial, May 3, 1931; Daniel Tubbs, date of death, February 27, 1932, date of burial, February 27, 1932; Baby boy Pierce, burial in 1932, grave site unknown; Clevinger baby (child of Jack Clevinger), is all that's known; in 1941 or 1942 a man by name of "Peck" Rodgers, unknown; Billy Joe Kelsey, date of death, October 24, 1951, burial on October 24, 1951; Bernie Jack Kelsey, date of death, November 21, 1951, and burial on November 22, 1951. Sometime in the 1950s a baby of Mildred Harry Jones was buried in the cemetery, grave site and information unknown. There are others that are not known, but we feel like people that have loved ones buried there and can get this information, will be more than happy to help us.

He serves his party best who serves the country best.

Up until now, we have depended entirely upon agriculture as an economic base. If the crops come out bad, everyone suffers. BUT, if we were to have industrial input into our economy, we wouldn't be hurt nearly as bad, because we would have more monetary resources to draw upon to boost our economy. Industrial economic input will be the key to the growth of Muleshoe in the future.

There are many changes that need to be made to insure growth in our area - water and industry are only two of them. I feel very fortunate to be a part of Muleshoe, because I know that the agricultural, business and government leaders of today will make the first step on the ladder of change so that my generation will be able to carry on and make the Muleshoe area a leader in the nation in 2076.

ing the water to the surface. During the past three decades, the withdrawal of ground water has greatly exceeded the natural recharge of the aquifer. If this overdraft continues, the aquifer ultimately will be depleted to the point that it may not be economically feasible to produce water for irrigation, the authors state.

These finds, the authors emphasize, are based on the continuation of past trends. Future events can be very different if these trends change. The most determinative factor may be the decisions of the water users themselves.

Each county report contains maps, charts, and tabulations which reflect estimates of the volume of water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer and the projected depletion of this water supply by decade periods through the year 2020.

Moss, Legg Exchange Vows In Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Cynthia Ann Moss became the bride of Ernest Carroll Legg, in a candlelight ceremony Saturday night, June 26, at the Church of Christ in Sudan.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moss of Sudan and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Legg of Sudan.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Art Lynch, minister of the Sudan Church of Christ.

Vows were exchanged before a bridal archway decorated with large majestic mums in yellow and white along with daisies and baby's breath, flanked by two spiral candelabras decorated with large majestic mums, daisies, huckleberry foliage and baby's breath. In the center of the rostrum was a kneeling bench decorated with huckleberry foliage. A white memory candle, surrounded by yellow daisies and baby's breath, completed the altar decorations.

The pews were marked with yellow bows.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her father, Thomas Moss. She wore a traditional gown of white silk chiffon and peau-de-ange lace. The moulded empire bodice was fashioned with a high ring neckline, enhanced by appliques of peau-de-ange, loose and long bishop sleeves that were caught at the wrist by a deep cuff, accented with lace. A scalloped banding of the lace marked the high rise waistline. The semi-circle, softly gathered skirt was cut to floorlength in front, tapering down to create a chapel-length train in back. It featured lines of applied lace from the bodice to the floor, with scattered appliques throughout.

Encircling the entire hemline of the skirt was a wide, softly gathered ruffle edged with lace medallion.

Completing her ensemble was a manta of silk illusion, edged with lace medallions, which fell below her waistline. The manta was attached to a peau-de-ange covered profile cap appliques and edged with matching lace.

She carried a tapered bouquet of yellow and white stephanotis baby's breath with a removable white cymbidium orchid atop a white Bible.

Her attire was completed with the traditional "something blue", her blue satin garter; "something old", her white Bible; "something new", was a diamond necklace given to her from the groom; "something borrowed", was her great grandmother's wedding band, Ola Baccus, of Sudan, and wore pennies in her shoe that were minted in the birth years of the couple.

Miss Shelly Hargrove of Sudan served as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Griffith, Miss Vanessa Lynch, and Miss Tracey Hill, all of Sudan.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore identical dresses fashioned of soft yellow dacron crepe. They featured gored skirts attached to the bodice of yellow and white overlay lace above the natural waistline. The formal-length dresses had short sheer puffed sleeves with a band of matching lace overlay. Wide trim of white lace with yellow chiffon ribbon and yellow rosettes accented the high waisted dresses. The rounded neck enabled the attendants to wear the gold initialed necklaces given to them by the bride.

They wore white, sheer, soft-brimmed hats with matching white ribbon trim, white short gloves and carried colonial bouquets of soft yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Candles were lighted by Troy Moss, brother of the bride, and Miss Kim Terry, cousin of the bride. Troy wore a black tuxedo with a lemon ruffled shirt and black bow tie. Kim's dress was identical to the bridesmaids' dresses.

Craig Harper of Sudan served as best man. Groomsmen were Freddy Legg, brother of the groom, Curtis Chester, and Kyle Martin, all of Sudan.

The bridegroom wore a white tuxedo with a black vest, white ruffled shirt and a black bow tie. The groomsmen wore black Windsor tuxedos with a black vest, lemon ruffled shirt and a black bow tie.

The wedding march was provided by Alvis Jones and the choir of the Littlefield Church of Christ. Soloist was Alvis Jones who sang "The Wedding Song", "If", "The Lord's Prayer", and "Sunrise, Sunset".

Guests were registered in the bride's book by Miss Sharon Miller, cousin of the bride, of Lubbock. Memory scrolls were distributed by Miss Paula Kay Ellison of Sudan.

Guests were seated by Bobby Breedlove, cousin of the groom of Slaton, Tony Reasoner, brother-in-law of the groom of Levelland, Mart Davison and Mitch Chester, both of Sudan.

Mrs. Moss, mother of the bride chose a peacock blue floor-length gown of softly pleated dacron with a pleated chiffon cape collar.

Mrs. Legg, the groom's mother, wore an orchid dacron crepe floor-length gown featuring an orchid lace long-sleeve jacket.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church with the couple greeting their friends and relatives.

The traditional three-tiered white wedding cake was draped with side garlands and fleur de lei swags of icing and arrangements of yellow daisies, topped with white doves and yellow wedding bells.

The cake, punch, mints, and nuts were served to the guests from the bride's table, by Mrs. Dickey Bailey, cousin of the bride, of Levelland, Miss Kellie Hargrove and Miss Bernadette May, both of Sudan.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin and lace cloth. A crystal punch bowl and appointments were used. A centerpiece of yellow daisies, nestled at the base of a silver candelabra holding yellow candles, encircled by the bridal and attendants' bouquets, completed the table decorations.

Mrs. Tony Reasoner of Levelland and Betty Walser of Lubbock, sisters of the groom, served a three-tiered chocolate cake, coffee and nuts from the groom's table. A beige skirted brown cloth topped with a fresh fruit and flower arrangement intertwined with greenery covered the table. Silver appointments completed the decorations.

Those helping in the house party were Mrs. Jim Bob Hargrove, Mrs. Joe Ellison, Mrs. LeRoy Young, Mrs. Clyde Flowers, Mrs. Dale Hanna, Mrs. Connie Franks, Mrs. Joe Kent, and Mrs. Sonny Williams, all of Sudan.

Miss Lee Ann Ellison of Sudan distributed rice bags from a white wicker basket decorated with daisies, wedding bells and yellow bows, to the reception guests.

For a wedding trip to Estes Park, Colo., the bride wore a red pant suit with matching accessories and a white cymbidium orchid, lifted from her bouquet, completed the ensemble.

The couple will reside at 206 East First in Sudan where the groom is currently a custom trucker.

The rehearsal dinner for the couple was hosted by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Legg, at the Tasty Taco, Friday, June 25.

The tables were decorated with white cloths, centered with yellow daisy flower clusters and candles.

The bride and bridegroom's table was centered with a yellow candle encircled in a daisy flower cluster having a miniature bride and groom atop the candle. Place cards were in the bride's chosen colors and bore the names of the bridal party and guests.

My affections are first for my own country, and then, generally, for all mankind.

MOVE in the RIGHT DIRECTION

To attend Church is the first step in finding God.

God's will in his life. Now is the time to make your move. Choose the way that will lead you to God.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Child Labor Law Requires Supervision

Assistant Secretary of Labor John C. Read has praised the efforts of employers in providing summer jobs for young people, but he also urged them to guard against illegal employment of minors.

"The summer months generally bring a dramatic increase in the number of employed youngsters, along with an increased possibility of child labor law violations," Read said.

"It is important for employers, young people, and parents to be aware of the federal standards that protect small children and teenagers in terms of health, safety and educational opportunities," he added.

Federal child labor provisions apply to minors under 18 in nonfarm jobs, as follows:

--16- and 17-year olds - unlimited hours in any job except those declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor.

--14- and 15-year olds - various nonmanufacturing, nonmining jobs with these limits on hours: no more than three hours on a school day or 18 hours a school week; no more than eight hours on a nonschool day or 40 hours a nonschool week; not before 7 a.m. or after 7 p.m., except from June 1 through Labor Day, when evening hours are extended to 9 p.m.

With regard to farm employment, the limits are:

--16 or older - no restrictions.
--14 and 15-year olds - nonhazardous jobs outside of schools hours.

--12- and 13-year-olds - outside of schools hours, with written parental consent, or on a farm that also employs the parents.

--under 12 - on farms owned and operated by the child's parents, or with written parental consent on farms not subject to social gains of the past several years will be meaningless.

To properly develop our own energy sources is a complex job that will take time and money...but it's a job that must be done. It can be done by private enterprise working with the blessing and the cooperation of our government.

You can help by just simply understanding the need because that's the first step in solving the problem...the more people who understand and appreciate the need, obviously, the easier will be the massive job.

This nation, now celebrating its 200th birthday of independence, must, if it is to enjoy future independence, develop its own sources of energy.

Militarily, economically, and socially, this nation's people must not be humbled by dependence on foreign oil cartels, friendly or unfriendly.

Without our own basic energy sources, we face the loss of jobs because it takes energy to move the factory wheels. Without our own basic energy sources, we are but putty in the hands of foreign militarists who would not hesitate to destroy us. Without our own energy sources, the

The Pastor Speaks

By Rev. Evtis

Editor's note: Beginning last week, I will try to present a series of sermonettes on the 15th chapter of the Book of Luke. Last week was the first one in the series.

SIN'S SLAVERY: Luke 15:15

"So he went to work for one of the citizens of that country, who sent him out to his farm to take care of the pigs."

I would like for us to think today about the Slavery of Sin and the extent of its wastefulness on the lives of men. When I think of slavery my thoughts also turn to freedom. For freedom is the direct opposite of slavery. Freedom does not consist so much in doing as we please as it does in having complete mastery of ourselves. And no slavery is so binding as when we cease to be the master of our own wills. When our will becomes enslaved by weakness, Reason and warnings and threats of punishment mean very little. It was this particular point that the Prodigal Son found himself. He was hungry - he had no friends - hope was gone and he was willing to give himself to anyone who would just give him something to eat. There are two questions that arise out of this discussion for our personal consideration.

WHAT KIND OF REASON DID HE EMPLOY TO REAP SUCH FAILURE? Dear friend, this is not an idle question. In reality - it took very little reasoning for this young man to get where he found himself in our text. It takes very little reasoning and no judgment at all to end up in the hog pens of life. Just like everybody today who goes wrong - this young man disregarded three great and fundamental factors. First of all he paid no attention to the pleadings of his own conscience.

The second thing he did that resulted in failure was that he paid no attention to plain, simple reason. You don't have to know anything at all about the Bible to know that when you commit a sin - you will be held responsible for it. And we don't have to have the preacher to tell us about it either. We know it and we know that it is wrong. But sin is of such nature that it will blind our eyes to conscience and reason if we let it. I've never found a man yet who was a sinner - but that he would admit his wrong - and acknowledge the risk and the cost of his sinful ways. But too many are unwilling to do anything about it. The third thing that men disregard who travel the road of sin is the voice of God. God loves the sinner and he has done everything that was necessary to save men from their sins.

God says: "If you are venturing along the road of sin, ignoring caution and warning - remember the end of that road is death." The soul that sinneth shall surely die and the wages of sin is death. Adam tried it - he found a life of misery and toil. Abraham tried it - he met shame and disgrace. David tried it - he became entangled and became a castaway in the eyes of his people. No man regardless of his position or his place in society can ignore the voice of God and get by with it. The man who disregards God and has no place for Him in his life, God will cast him out into outer darkness. Listen to what God says about such men: "If you reject me, I will reject you - if you are ashamed of me, I will be ashamed of you. If you give your life and influence and strength to the powers of Hell while you live here - with the same powers of Hell shall you spend your eternity." God is a God of love and He made every possible means of escape for the sinner. But when a man refuses the love of God for a life of sin - God is not responsible for the results. Solomon put it like this: "Because I have called and ye refused - I have stretched out my hand - and no man regarded - but set at naught all my counsel - and would have none of my reproof - I will laugh at you calamity, and mock when your fear cometh." If I could just know what is in the minds of men I might be able to help them. I know some who are trusting in the doctrine of fatalism. They say: "God made me like I am - therefore I am not responsible." And when God gets ready to save me - He'll do it and there is nothing I can do about it. This young man didn't have to do what he did - none forced him into a life of sin - and beloved none is forcing you. You are doing what you want to do because that's what you want to do and there is no other explanation for it. When a man talks like that is saying in other words: I am just a machine - I have nothing to do with forming my course in life - I have to wait for somebody or something to tell me what I want to do. Now, really, you don't believe that at all. Most of us hate advice much less laying to do what somebody would try to force on us.

WHAT IS THE REWARD FOR A LIFE THUS SPENT? If this young man were standing before you now he probably tell it a lot better than I can ever do it. Listen to what he most likely would say: "I traded a good home where there was love and companionship for a life of slavery, misery and shame. When I turned my back on my father's house, I came face to face with the reality of surrendering every privilege and every liberty. I changed prosperity for poverty, and I traded life for death." Remember what the father said: "My son is dead." And spiritually he was dead. Faced with his own failure and entangled in the meshes of sin - he did what every lost man must do if he is to be saved from sin. He decided to throw himself back on the mercy of his father and risk the consequences. John 8:34 tells us that "Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin". That simply means that his mind - his body - and his soul comes under the power of sin and Satan. The seventh chapter of Romans tells us that we are so completely under his influence that when we try to break away we find ourselves held fast in his grasp. We want to do right - we would like to do right - but we find that we are unable to carry out our desires. We find ourselves literally bound by the chains that we can't break in our own strength. The story is told of a famous blacksmith of medieval times who was taken prisoner. He was placed in a dungeon chained to a corpse. He began to think of some way of escape - but when he examined the chain that bound him - he discovered that the chain was one he himself had made, and he had boasted that his chains could not be broken. Even so today - men are forging the chains that will bind them for eternity. And nothing short of the saving power of Jesus Christ can loose them and set them free.
