

Our exit via The Dispatch's front door a couple of Wednesday press mornings back was so spectacular that we figure our readers deserve some sort of an explanation.

After all, we did go out that door flat on our back into the new city-county ambulance. It all caused such a commotion that our staff had to have Zula Didway come in afterwards just to answer the phone so they could get the paper out to Slaton for printing.

What it amounted to was that we have been slowing down a bit — and were not really aware of it until recently. The problem was a slow, irregular heartbeat which can cause unexpected blackouts.

The first one came when we were finishing lunch with an out of town friend at Jackson's Cafeteria a few weeks back. That time we just laid our face in our plate — thankfully we had finished eating and thanks to our childhood training had "cleaned the plate" so our face didn't get messy.

We went back to work as usual that afternoon, but went over to see Dr. Wilson about the blackout. He suspected the slow heart beat and testing proved him correct. We were scheduled then to have a pacemaker implant on the Tuesday before Thanksgiving after we got The Dispatch out early Monday for the holiday.

But when we "blacked out" for a second time making up a page that Wednesday morning our physician arranged to have the implant moved up to that same afternoon at Methodist hospital. So we got "a ride" up to Lubbock in the ambulance — and we can assure our readers the professionalism and the service by the EMTs is great.

Anyway, what we started out writing this column about was the implant.

Really, there's not much to it.

They only gave us a "local" and we discussed the procedure with the heart surgeon all during the 30 minute procedure.

We asked him what the implant would be like. "Just about like having a tooth pulled," he replied. "By what dentist," we asked.

The implant was made under the skin in front of the left shoulder. The pacemaker — about the size and thickness of a pocket watch — was inserted between a chest muscle and a shoulder muscle. A wire from the pacemaker was run inside a vein to our heart.

The surgeon explained that when our heart fell below 72 beats a minute the pacemaker (battery charged) would come on and send electric impulses to the heart which would lift the heart beat to 72. Then the pacemaker would shut off again.

Before we were wheeled out of the operating room he gave us a book of instructions for our pacemaker together with its limited warranty — that's right, a limited warranty.

We admit the first time Saturday evening while working at home we were conscious of the pacemaker coming on, it felt like our heart was beating in our left shoulder, but we haven't been aware of it since.

In anticipating your first question, the batteries normally last up to 10 to 12 years and can only be replaced by surgical procedures. Great advancements have been made in pacemakers with over a million Americans having them today, mostly to speed up polky hearts.

So, you see, we did not (See Postings, Page 12)

Wagon Wheels sale off to fast start

The "Wagon Wheels" party in the Garza Museum Saturday afternoon got the sale of Garza's history book, now in its second printing, off to a fast start though a larger crowd had been expected.

Mrs. Vada McCampbell said between 55 and 60 books already have been sold and several mailed in orders from out-of-county Dispatch subscribers are being received.

A highlight of the autograph party at the museum Saturday afternoon was the presentation of a plaque to David Newby for his restoration of the front of the Algerita Hotel.

The presentation was made by Mrs. Ruby Kirkpatrick.

Those wanting to purchase copies of "Wagon Wheels" can pick them up either at the Garza Museum or the Post Public Library.

The museum is open Mondays through Fridays from 10 until noon and from 1 to 4. The library is open from 2 to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and from 7 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Out of town guests attending the "Wagon Wheels" party at the museum included Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCampbell of Amarillo, Ethel Dent Sanders of Lubbock, Blair and Lew Boucher of Houston, Diane E. Verner, Bob Nance and Tootsie Evans, and Jason Nance Evans, all of Alameda, N.M.

22 inches of snow — record

Post received 2.36 inches of moisture in its two November snowstorms, Nicholas Vukad, national weather observer reports.

Post received a second 11-inch snowstorm Nov. 25 to bring November snowfall to a record 22 inches for the month.

The second snowstorm wasn't nearly as damaging to heavy Thanksgiving travel as the first one two weeks earlier.

Roads in this area remained open.

Tim Holland new conservationist

Tim Holland has recently moved with his family to Post from Memphis, and has taken over duties as Range Conservationist at the local Soil Conservation Service here in Post.

Holland is a 1971 graduate of Turkey, Texas and a 1975 graduate of Texas Tech. He and his wife Marilyn have one son, Russell, 6 months old. He was associated as trainee at the Memphis SCS office before moving to Post.

Christmas open house Sunday

The First United Methodist Church will have a Christmas Open House Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. with Christmas Creches displayed.

A slide presentation entitled, "Kids, Cookies, Creches and Churches in Germany" will be shown by John Lott of Lubbock at 3 p.m.

Everybody in the community is invited. Refreshments will be served.

Santa Claus will be in Post Saturday

Santa Claus, that old-timer in the red suit, will pay his first pre-Christmas visit to Post Saturday. In fact, the old gentleman from the North Pole plans to spend most of the day here under Post Chamber of Commerce sponsorship.

Santa will arrive at the Post Community Center at 10 a.m., stay until noon, and return from 1 to 5 p.m. to hand out candy and talk with all the youngsters.

The Chamber has arranged for another "picture taking session" with all boys and girls who want their picture made with Santa. Santa even will autograph the pictures.

The pictures will be instant color photos and will cost $3 each.

A similar "Santa photo session" was a huge success last year.

But picture or not, Santa will visit personally with every youngster who shows up to talk to him.

Santa then will return on another Saturday for a final visit with his small Post and Garza friends.

The city got up the Christmas tree decorations on the light poles in the business district Monday and Palmer Construction erected a 40-foot Christmas tree in the middle of Main street Monday afternoon. The Post Volunteer Fire Department will decorate the tree.

The tree was trucked in from Cloudcroft, N.M. over the weekend by Colley Gatlin and Wiley Hill who went for it in a Palmer truck and a Tri-Star Welders trailer, a truly community endeavor.

Community steps in to help as—

Emmett Shedd's are burned out of home

Emmett and Doris Shedd lost their trailer home and all their belongings in an early morning fire during last Tuesday's snowstorm, but the generosity of this community toward them probably will make this a Christmas season they will long remember.

The Shedd's were awakened by smoke in their trailer home, three miles out of Post on the Ralls highway shortly after 4 a.m. that Tuesday. It was snowing steadily with almost four inches already on the ground.

The fire, apparently starting around the water heater according to firemen, totally destroyed the home and all of the Shedd's possession except the clothes on their backs.

Employees of George R. Brown, the local oil firm at which Emmett has been a pumper for the last 30 years, contributed almost $1,600 to them. Such cash gifts to them already total over $2,000.

A "fund" has been opened in their names in the First National Bank for others who want to ease their way back to normal life.

Next week two "community showers" are planned for the Shedd's.

The first one will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday, Dec. 8 in the fellowship hall of the Church of God of Prophecy at 14th street and Avenue O.

The second will be in the bank's community room

BB-gunner in Saturday spree

The sheriff's department is continuing its investigation into some "bb gun vandalism" Saturday night. Sheriff Jim Pippin said the dining room windows at the Algerita Senior Citizens center were targets as well as several windshields and side glasses in local cars.

Total damage will run into several hundred dollars.

Nell McCrary dies at 93

Mrs. I. N. (Nell) McCrary, 93, mother of Mayor Giles McCrary, died at 4:15 a.m. Wednesday in the Huntley Nursing Home.

She had been a resident of Post since 1950.

Times are still pending but memorial services will be held in the First Presbyterian Church here with burial in Fort Worth under direction of the Hudman Funeral Home.

Mrs. McCrary was born in Midland in 1887. She was married to I. N. McCrary in 1907. Her husband served as mayor of Fort Worth.

Following her husband's death, she moved to Post in 1950.

Survivors, besides the son, include two grandsons, Giles McCrary, Jr., of Fort Worth and Jack McCrary of Houston; one granddaughter, Mrs. Jim Prather of Post; six great-grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Blanche Young of Fort Worth.

Postex workers give $1395—

United Fund now $8,150

Garza's 1981 United Fund drive took a healthy surge this week with Walter Didway, Postex Plant employees division chairman, reporting Wednesday contributions of $1,395.15 with the solicitation of plant workers now 95 percent complete.

A year ago, Postex

Retirement plan okayed

The Garza County Commissioners Court at its Nov. 24 meeting approved an amended retirement plan for county employees and bringing it up to date to include new employees.

The plan originally was adopted Jan. 1, 1977, but has since undergone changes to conform to federal regulations. The plan was first readopted with changes in 1978.

In another action, the court awarded an oil and gas lease on the streets and alleys of Justiceburg to Don Tonroy Minerals for $4,700.

The court also authorized the Post Chamber of Commerce to use the courthouse Christmas lights for the community's downtown Christmas tree.

workers contributed $1,603.50 and they should finish only slightly short of that total.

Other returns from the big business division, downtown employees, and the farm and ranch division help boost the current total to $8,150.65.

The goal is $11,175.

Drive Chairman Jim Cornish said his organizations are going to have real difficulty this year in making the goal with slightly over $3,000 still needed.

"Santa Claus may beat us this time but we won't close the drive until all contacts are made," he said.

He estimated there is still considerable donations yet to come in, especially from the big business division.

A few of the smaller divisions have yet to report.

The First National Bank employees this week also became the second local business firm to have its employees 100 percent contributors to United Fund.

Service to be tonight

The Post Ministerial Alliance's Thanksgiving Community Service scheduled at the Holy Cross Catholic Church last Tuesday night had to be postponed because of the snowstorm that day.

It has been re-scheduled as a Holiday Community Service in the same church at 7 p.m. tonight, Dec. 4.

The Rev. Morgan Ashworth, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, will bring the holiday message.

What's ahead in farming?

With all the media speculation since the November election about who's going to be what and how they're going to change things when Ronald Reagan becomes president, we've seen very little time or space devoted to the farm situation.

Farm issues aren't what they used to be when the farm bloc had the congressional muscle. The lawmakers are now solidly consumer controlled.

About as much as we know about Reagan's farm proposals is that he supports the removal of government price supports and accompanying controls from agriculture.

The Texas Farm Bureau, one important farm organization, supports his ideas for less government control of the food and fiber industry.

Speaking to 1,200 delegates of that organization at their annual meeting in San Antonio this week, Carrol Chaloupka of Dalhart, president of the TFB, said he supports Reagan's plans and pointed out that American agriculture is at a crossroad.

The current farm bill expires at the end of the 1981 crop season.

"Farm organizations and Congress will be looking at possible alternatives," Chaloupka said. "The question is do we move toward less government involvement or do we return to price guarantees and accompanying controls and payment limitations."

The farm bureau leader said he favors "a market place economy" with less government controls because agriculture has the most to gain from operating under a free enterprise system.

Chaloupka called on farmers and ranchers to lead the move to less government controls.

"We have within our grasp," he said, "the opportunity to return to a system where productivity is rewarded, where slothfulness is punished and where individual freedoms are protected. Under such a system, agriculture has the most to gain. We in agriculture can — and should — lead the way back."

Obviously, a monumental decision lies ahead for agriculture in the working up of a new farm bill.

What do farmers themselves want?

That is the first and biggest question. With the power in Washington, under a new Reagan administration, determined to help America regain its free enterprise system by removing as many federal controls as possible, the farmer now has the opportunity to speak up as to the direction he wants farm legislation to go.

Maybe the farm situation hasn't drawn much speculation yet, but it is going to receive lots of attention in 1981.

Farmers need to fuse their thinking as to future goals and get ready to speak their piece.

Grubaugh is ag engineer

LUBBOCK — An area agricultural mechanization engineer to serve the South Plains, and parts of the Rolling Plains and Far West Texas has been named by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Elston K. Grubaugh will fill the position, effective Dec. 1. He will be headquartered at the Texas A & M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock.

He will be responsible for educational programs related to crop production and harvesting methods and techniques aimed at increasing operating efficiency, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, Extension Service director.

Grubaugh will work closely with county Extension agents and program building committees as well as other Extension subject matter specialists in planning and conducting result demonstrations, tours, field days and other programs designed to increase production efficiency through improved mechanization.

A native of Clovis, N.M.,

Grubaugh holds a B.S. degree from New Mexico State University and a M.S. degree from Texas A & M both in agricultural engineering. He was elected to the honor societies of Alpha Epsilon, Phi Kappa Phi and Gamma Sigma Delta while in college and received the Distinguished Graduate Student Award in agricultural engineering in Texas A & M. As a youth he was active in 4-H holding county and state offices and receiving numerous honors.

Grubaugh has been a research associate in A & M's Department of Agricultural Engineering for the past four years. He also worked six months at the Southwestern Cotton Ginning Research Lab at Mesilla Park, N.M.

Grubaugh is a member of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, Soil Conservation Society of America and American Water Resources Association.

Allsup's to aid telethon

Allsup's Convenience Stores, Inc., participants in the United Cerebral Palsy Telethon With the Stars, will conduct pre-telethon activities during the month of December according to Kurt Verlei, director of public relations.

According to Verlei, the company will display collection canisters in all their stores to allow patrons to make contributions. "This is a very important part of the fund raising prior to the telethon", stated Verlei.

"United Cerebral Palsy is an injury to the brain that can never be cured, however, we feel that money raised will go a long way in helping the cerebral palsied lead a more normal life. We hope that our customers will help us make this telethon more successful than any before."

The United Cerebral Palsy Weekend With the Stars will be conducted Jan. 17 and 18, 1981.

Rotary has yule dinner for wives

Post Rotarians hosted their Rotary Anns to an annual Christmas dinner party in the community center Tuesday evening with western fiddler Cecil Caldwell of Lubbock and his combo from the KLLL Jamboree providing a foot-stomping musical program.

Will Carson, Bonnie and Chris Wilkerson provided Carson with electric guitar and piano accompaniment with each of the group taking turns in singing and

Laura Mason to head HECE club

Laura Mason was elected president of the HECE club when it met recently. Other elected officers include Tricia Craig Hair, vice president; Tim Tatum, reporter and Julie Davis, treasurer.

During the business meeting also held, the club discussed ways of earning money to hold their annual banquet.

Mrs. Marion Wheatley is sponsor for the group.

playing. Max Chaffin, the Garza fiddler who has entertained the Rotarians often, was a guest of the club at the dinner and was invited up by Caldwell to do some numbers on his own.

The dinner featured roast turkey with all the trimmings, including pumpkin chiffon pie.

Rotary president Dee Justice presided. Henry Wheatley led the pledge of allegiance and the Rev. Don Travis gave the invocation. Mike Flanagan arranged for the program. Table decorations were by Mr. and Mrs. David Newby.

Children from the ages of six months to six years outgrow their shoes on an average of once every fifty-six days.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bradbury of Guthrie, Tex., formerly of Post, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janice Marie to Lowell Thomas Stafford, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Thomas Stafford, Sr. of Amarillo, Tex. They plan a January 17, 1981, wedding in Amarillo. Janice works as a legal secretary for Robert R. Sanders and Associates in Amarillo and Tommy works for Asaro in Amarillo.

Twin Cedars Nursing Home News

Sunday afternoon the church service was held by the Church of Christ with Jack Sneed officiating. Singing and fellowship was provided by some of the church members.

We all enjoyed Boo Olson who came and played the organ and her sister-in-law who sang for us.

Girl Scout Troop 74 with Debbie Morris and Karen Jones as the leaders, brought us a table centerpiece for Thanksgiving. It was very pretty.

We were entertained by Sherri Riedel as she painted a picture. We had a drawing for the picture and the winner was Mr. Lee Pitman.

Pauline Kilpatrick went to her daughters in Lubbock for Thanksgiving. Other residents couldn't get out because of the bad weather, but they enjoyed the Thanksgiving turkey with all the trimmings served at the home.

Evelyn Roach received a red carnation from her secret grandchild. Martha Compton took Evelyn out for coffee Saturday.

We want to welcome our new patient Minnie Graeber. She was born in McCand, Illinois, Sept. 25, 1885. She is a historian of Garza County, and has lived here for 70 years.

We hear C. A. Walker is recovering nicely after open heart surgery. We are also happy to report that Loyd Jones is back with us after spending two weeks in the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Jones had a lot of company over the holidays with some coming as far as Florida.

We appreciated the Gamma Mu Sorority coming and decorating the home for Christmas. The members that came were Helen Mason, Janet Justice, Tricia Metgar, Debbie Mason, Orabeth White, Kathy Fluitt, Jane Mason, Sara Briley, Irene Fry and Barbara Hardin.

Xi Delta Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Monday, Nov. 24 in the home of Joyce Teaff. A Christmas social was discussed at the meeting and the date set for Dec. 13.

The hostess presented a program on Syria.

Following the program members enjoyed a Thanksgiving social with smoked turkey and all the trimmings.

Members present were Kay Hays, Christy Morris, Jenny Francis, Cheryl Blair, Susan Cardinal, Johnnie Francis, Voda Gradine, Lois Kennedy, Margaret Price, Nancy Shaw, Janice Smith, Joyce Teaff, and Phyllis Bennett.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, Dec. 8th at Glenda's Gallery.

Deck The Halls... With Christmas Plates

Pine wreath makes a handsome frame for 1980 plate, "Christmas in the Woods."

Here's some cheerful holiday advice from Denmark to America's millions of plate collectors: take your precious Christmas plates out of the china cabinet and use them to create a sparkling holiday mood the way the Danes do.

The Danes are masters at using their famous blue porcelain Christmas plates for decorating. Perhaps it's because the world's first Christmas plate was created by a Dane.

In 1895, Harald Bing, President of Bing & Grondahl, introduced the blue porcelain Christmas plate called "Behind the Frozen Window," and started a holiday tradition that has become as familiar as the Christmas tree and Santa himself. More recently, his great-grandson, Ebbe Simonsen, the fifth generation of his family to head the company, offered some suggestions for using the handsome plates this Christmas—the way the Danes do:

1. Hang this year's Christmas plate in the center of a wreath, perhaps over the fireplace mantle or the dining room sideboard. 2. Use the plates as candle-reflectors. Place them on ordinary plate easels behind votive or other short candles for an especially warm and dramatic effect.

3. Set the holiday table with them. The 7" diameter of the porcelain plates makes them just right for an appetizer, salad or dessert plates. (They're also great for starting conversation, as everyone looks to see what year their neighbor has.) Underglaze porcelain is completely dishwasher safe. 4. Make a Christmas "tree" by cutting a sturdy piece of styrofoam into a triangle and covering it with Christmas plates hung on pegs. The size of your collection determines the size of the "tree."

This year, Bing & Grondahl's Christmas Plate is matched by a hand-decorated porcelain bell also called "Christmas in the Woods." The bell is the first edition of a new annual series. If you're short of plates, Mr. Simonsen suggests ringing in the holidays with Christmas bells.

"Patience and delay achieve more than force and rage," Jean deLa Fontaine

COOKIE SNOWBALLS: TO SERVE—TO GIVE

It's cookie-baking season. Trays of irresistible Coconut Cookie Snowballs promise delicious eating for holiday company. Think of the satisfaction, too, when you earmark a few dozen for gift giving. These rich butter cookies call for just a few ingredients, among them moist, delicate flaked coconut to be enjoyed throughout the cookie. Confectioners sugar glaze complements the cookie gems which are covered with tinted flaked coconut.

COCONUT COOKIE SNOWBALLS
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons unsifted confectioners sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
1-1/3 cups (about) Baker's Angel Flake coconut
Confectioners Sugar Glaze

Cream butter. Add sugar and vanilla; beat until light and fluffy. Add flour, all at once, and blend well. Mix in 2/3 cup of the coconut. Chill 15 minutes; then shape into 1-inch balls. Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake at 350° for 15 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Cool. Tint remaining coconut with food coloring as directed on package, if desired. Dip cooled cookies in Confectioners Sugar Glaze, then in the tinted coconut. Makes 2-1/2 dozen.

Confectioners Sugar Glaze. Add 1 tablespoon (about) hot milk or water to 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar in bowl. Makes 1/3 cup.

Huntley Nursing Home News

Thanksgiving was a happy day for us. Our dietary department, Juanita Smith, Lou Comacho, Mildred Braddock, Margie Rivera, Velma Warren and Elizabeth Comacho out did themselves. The turkey was delicious and was accompanied by cornbread dressing, candied yams, broccoli and pumpkin pie with whipped cream topping. We all ate too much for comfort. We had many families and friends visiting at our home and some of us went out for lunch or dinner. Winnie Henderson went out for lunch with Janie Gomez and family. Ike and Ruby Brown had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Scrivner. Jewell King had dinner with her daughter, Judy Lee. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Perser took Nettie Barrow out for dinner. We give thanks every day buy perhaps on Thanksgiving we give even more special thanks. We want to give thanks for having a nice place to live and for the staff who loves us and takes such good care of us. Our thanks to Mr. Huntley who spends about as much time here as we do. He always takes time to visit and listen to us.

In crafts we are making Christmas decorations for our Christmas tree. We made snowmen that we know won't melt. We have made an assortment of painted ornaments and fabric ornaments. We have even made a Christmas tree.

Out thanks to Kenneth Cook for his music program and to Noel White and Jane Mason for their music program. Music is something that we never tire of. If you play an instrument or sing, come share it with us. You will have an enthusiastic audience.

Rosa Boucher has pieced two lap covers for Mrs. Patsy Sanderson. We want to thank Patsy for bringing us the material to make the lap covers.

Bingo winners this week were Grace Jobe and Bonnie McMahon. Come play with us.

Our appreciation to all the churches who participate in our Sunday Devotional program. Without your time and consideration we would not be able to attend a service.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery O. Young, Jr. and Michelle and David visited with Emma Jones. They are from Fort Worth. Emma was happy to see them.

We are looking forward to seeing you at our Christmas Party, Friday, Dec. 19th. We will have a visit from Santa Claus and a Christmas Program.

BROTHER VISITS

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Berry, Alan, Shane and Aron visited in the home of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Short Saturday.

VISIT IN LUBBOCK

Mrs. Artie Young visited last Friday with her grandson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Young of Alamosa, Colo., while they were in Lubbock at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Young. Mrs. Erwin Youngs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jones of Waco also visited with the group.

Graham 4-Hers plan caroling

"An Indian Burial Ground found in Garza County" was the program presented to the Graham 4-H Club recently.

Mrs. Lil Conner presented the program with slides of her find and the artifacts found in the grave were on display.

Approximately 35 attended the program which followed a short business meeting. President Sam

Butler presided. The pledge and motto were led by Curt Cowdrey.

Plans for the Christmas caroling and party were made. It will be Thursday, Dec. 11, with the club meeting at the center at 6 p.m. to go caroling. Each family is to bring fresh fruit, nuts or candy for the elderly and shut-ins. The group will return to the center for games and refreshments. Hostesses will be Jill Richardson, Trevah and Traci Bush and Molly Prather.

Also, the meeting date of the regular club meetings was changed from the third Monday to the second Thursday night of each month because of basketball.

The foods and nutrition project members had prepared their dishes for the food show. They were judged by Mrs. Willa Didway and then all of the club members had a tasting party. Those participating were Kerri Hart, Anissa Wyatt, Leigh Sneed, Angela Graves, Trevah and Traci Bush and Keitha White. Foods leaders were Jennie Cowdrey and Linda Sneed.

Hosts for the evening were Leigh Sneed and Jarett Dickson.

Writers group to meet Monday

LUBBOCK — The South Plains Writers Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 8, in the Garden and Arts Center, 4215 University here, with Ann Brown as featured speaker.

Her topic will be "Writing Fiction." The organization, which draws its membership from all over the South Plains, meets on the second Monday of each month. It is open to all interested persons.

RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Maudie Dobbs has recently returned from visiting with family and friends in Austin, Abilene and Rotan.

4 cage teams into weekend tournaments

Varsity clubs to Idalou meet

Post High School's four top cage teams will be playing in their first weekend cage tournaments, starting today.

The Lady Lopes and Lopes will compete in the Idalou Varsity tournament while the junior varsity boys and girls teams will be in the Cooper JV tournament.

Both tournaments are eight-team, double elimination affairs.

Coach Sid Wright's "run and gun" Lopes will get a chance to avenge their recent two-point loss to a strong Petersburg team when they meet them in the first round at Idalou with the game scheduled for 2:30 p.m. today.

Petersburg is a strong contender to win its district. The Lady Lopes also will play the Petersburg girls in the first round at 1:10 p.m. Thursday.

If they win they will advance into the semi-finals and play the McAdoo-Floydada winner at 1:10 p.m. Friday. If Petersburg would upset the Lady Lopes, who handled them easily a week ago, the locals would meet the McAdoo-Floydada loser in the consolation semi-finals at 10:30 a.m. Friday.

Teams in the upper bracket of the girls division are Frenship vs. Lorenzo and Idalou vs. Roosevelt. Coach Sonja Curry figures her girls have a good chance to win the Idalou tourney if they can defeat the Idalou girls, the host club.

If the Lopes come back to upset Petersburg in the Idalou tourney's first round, they will face the winner of the McAdoo-Floydada first rounder at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

Should they lose, they will play the McAdoo-Floydada loser at 11:50 a.m. Friday in the consolation semi-finals.

The finals and third place playoff and consolation finals are all scheduled for Saturday in both boys and girls divisions.

Coach Wright told The Dispatch Tuesday that the Lopes are learning his "run and gun" offense and by the time this tourney is over fans should see a considerable improvement in the team's ability to score.

"We'll be ready for district play after Christmas," he promised. "But fans can't expect us to win if they don't support us."

Judging by the turnouts for the last two games here, fan support is growing by leaps and bounds.

In the Cooper JV tournament, Post boys will play the Dunbar of Lubbock sophomores at 1:30 p.m. today in an upper bracket first rounder.

If they win they will play the Tahoka-Abernathy winner at 4:30 p.m. Friday and if the lose will meet the Tahoka-Abernathy loser at 10:30 a.m. Friday.

The Post JV girls will play Estacado at 12:10 Thursday in their first rounder.

Tracy Price hits for 22

Tracy Price scored 22 of Post's 26 points here Monday as Coach Kennedy's 7th grade boys basketball team opened its season with a 36 to 13 victory over Cooper in a district game.

Price tallied 11 field goals, scoring in every quarter. Sammy Hardin with two second half fielders had the other four Post points.

The locals led 8 to 4 at the end of the first period, 10 to 8 at the half, and 16 to 10 after three. Other starters were David Shults, Danny Foster, and Danny Storie.

The 7th graders will play Slaton at Slaton next Monday night and the following weekend participate in a seventh grade tourney at Slaton with Christ the King of Lubbock their 11 a.m. opponent next Thursday.

Nonprescription Drugs: Ease Doctor's Burdens

According to Simon Rotenberg, Professor of Economics at the University of Massachusetts, if only two percent of over-the-counter drug consumers in the U.S.

see their doctors for minor ailments instead of using self-medication, "the annual increase in patients' office visits would be 292 million, a 62 percent rise."

Petersburg loses two of three here

Post won two of the three games of a triple-header with Petersburg in the high school gym here Monday, Nov. 24, with the Lady Lopes winning easily, the JV boys grabbing the prelim by a close margin, and the Post Antelopes dropping a tight 74 to 72 decision to the visitors.

It was the second straight loss for the Lopes with the "run and shoot" tactics of Coach Sid Wright, but the locals were greatly improved over their first outing.

Coach Sonja Curry's Lady Lopes had an easy time of it with the Petersburg girls, ringing up a 68 to 25 triumph.

In this one, Dee Dee Redman led the scorers with 15 points on seven from the field and a free throw.

Luann Kennedy added 10, Doris Pringler had 8, Marinette Hays, 6, Holly Giddens 6, Jerri Baumann 5, Lana Dunn and Amy Thuet 4 each, Karen Davis and Darla Jackson each 3, and Norma Samora and Tina Green each had 2.

The Lady Lopes jumped into a 13-6 first quarter lead and were never headed, leading 28 to 15 at intermission and 46 to 17 after three.

In the preliminary, Raymond Raymundo poured in 19 points before fouling out to lead the Post JV boys to a 56 to 54 victory.

The visitors led by narrow margins through the first three quarters with Post rallying in the fourth to overcome a six-point deficit and edge out the two-point win.

Tim Tannehill added 11 points to the Post total, Ronnie Compton 9, Mark Odom 8, Curtis Clinesmith 5, James Lee 3, and Marvin Wynne 1.

The Tuesday night games were postponed due to the snowstorm.

Cooper wins 8th matchup

Cooper's eighth graders handed the Post eighth boys a 39 to 14 whipping here Monday night as Coach Josey's team opened their winter season with a cold night at the hoops.

Cooper took an early lead and never looked back, leading 12-4, 23-12, and 27-12 at the quarters.

Mike Ollison led the way for Post with six points.

Scoring two points each were Curt Greer, Chuck Morris, Javier Valdez, and Curt Cowdrey.

The eighth graders will play Slaton at Slaton next Monday night on their district slate.

This weekend they are competing in a Jayton tournament with their first start scheduled at 6:30 p.m. tonight.

WTC sets yule happening

SNYDER — The sights and sounds of Christmas will be featured in a "Christmas Happening" scheduled from 1-5 p.m. Sunday (Dec. 7) at Western Texas College.

The public is invited to attend the afternoon's festivities and printed programs will be available so visitors may choose the shows and entertainment they wish to attend. Starting times will be staggered throughout the afternoon.

On the schedule are puppet shows, planetarium shows, the movie, "The Nutcracker," a pinata breaking, the Faculty Art Exhibition, story telling by WTC drama students, and demonstrations on holiday baking, gift wrapping, wreath making, floral arrangement, candy making, children's Christmas card making and Christmas needlepoint.

Santa Claus will be visiting with children during the afternoon. Photographs to commemorate the Christmas Happening will be available.

Before we go any further into the benefits of windbreaks, and there are many, it should be pointed out that before you plan to put out a windbreak you should consider how you intend to irrigate. If you can't water or irrigate the trees, generally speaking, you will be wasting your time and money. Young trees will need five gallons per tree per week the first year. They will need 10 gallons per week the second year and 20 gallons the third year. Then water when needed thereafter. The water should be delivered within one and a half foot of each tree.

Windbreaks can cut wind effect up to 60 percent

When the temperature drops below freezing and the hard northwest wind blows, then a good windbreak around a home can really be appreciated. A good windbreak can reduce wind effect by as much as 50 or 60 percent. To understand how much difference this can make, if the actual thermometer reading is 20 degrees F and the wind speed is 20 MPH the wind chill is a minus 10 degrees F. On the down wind side of a good windbreak however, the wind chill factor will be around 15 degrees warmer.

In the summer a wind break keeps the house a good deal cooler, so the bottom line in dollars and cents is this: a windbreak will pay for its self several times over in heating and cooling savings as well as adding natural beauty to the home site.

As important as windbreaks are around the home, those located around cultivated fields can be more important. This is especially true for a field that is subject to wind erosion, and this will include most land that is planted to Garza County. The Soil Conservation Service states that as a rule, for each foot of height in a windbreak it will give protection outward from the trees 10 feet. Thus a 20 foot tree will give 200 feet of wind protection.

We have heard it said that windbreaks take too much water and that they sap the soil, but this need not be so. If the trees are root pruned out 12 to 15 feet from the base to a depth of 24 inches each year it eliminates this problem. Good windbreaks generally help to conserve moisture due to the fact that wind speeds are reduced in summer and thereby reducing evaporation. A proper windbreak can control wind erosion in a field and when you consider that when soil the thickness of a sheet of newspaper is removed from a field that it's weight is five or six tons per acre. You can then start to understand just how beneficial field windbreaks can be.

Before we go any further into the benefits of windbreaks, and there are many, it should be pointed out that before you plan to put out a windbreak you should consider how you intend to irrigate. If you can't water or irrigate the trees, generally speaking, you will be wasting your time and money. Young trees will need five gallons per tree per week the first year. They will need 10 gallons per week the second year and 20 gallons the third year. Then water when needed thereafter. The water should be delivered within one and a half foot of each tree.

Lopes lose to Crosbyton—

Lady Lopes win No. 3

The Post Layd Lopes rang up their third straight victory of the season here Tuesday night while the "run and gun" Lopes were tasting defeat for the third straight time.

The Lady Lopes scored a 55 to 35 triumph over the Crosbyton girls while the Lopes took their lumps from the Crosbyton boys, 74 to 62.

The Lady Lopes won every quarter as nine of the 10 girls playing rang up points.

It was 10 to 7 at the quarter for Post, 23 to 17 at the half, and 37 to 24 at the end of three.

Lana Dunn led the Post scorers with a dozen points on five fielders and a pair of free.

Jerri Baumann was next with nine, Luann Kennedy had eight, Doris Pringler seven, Dee Dee Redman and Marinette Hays six each, Holly Giddens four, Darla Jackson two and Tina Greene one.

The Lopes trailed at all the quarter points, 14 to 16 at the quarter, 33 to 40 at the half, and 45 to 59 at the end of three.

Mark Holly for the second straight game was the leading "gunner" for the Lopes with 20 points on eight fielders and four charities.

Leslie Willard was next with 14. Irvin Price had seven, David Foster six, Benny Kennedy and Barry

Wyatt had five each, Kevin Craig three and Will Kirkpatrick two.

The Post JV girls won the preliminary by an 11-point margin.

The two varsity teams will be playing in weekend tournaments the next two weeks. Their next home starts will be with Idalou here Tuesday night with the JV boys playing the preliminary.

TEEN SCENE By Norm

I trust all had a good Thanksgiving with all the trimmings and two extra days off from school to top it off. The only bad part of it was that I feel sorry for all the mamas who had to stay 'cooped' up with all the little darlings during all that white stuff.

Talk about white stuff, Bill Short who works for the Highway Department on their maintenance crew has learned to dislike snow so much he even threatened his mother if she put it on the Christmas tree.

Happy Birthday this week goes to Barry Morris who celebrates his 18 this week (and you'll find him elsewhere in the paper with that toothless smile), Adolfo Varela, Robbie Williams, Dana Hodges, Jack Rylant, Melanie and Mary Ann.

For those of you fortunate enough to go, deer hunting seemed to be the order of the day during the Thanksgiving break. Karron Hays, after four years of trying, bagged her first. She hunted at Dublin while visiting her grandparents. Brad Greer and Marty Conoly went somewhere close to Van Horn but wasn't as lucky as Karron. Kelly lucked out while here and got his and since it was so muddy, he had to solicit help from Lonnie Gene Peel and his dad to get it back to civilization. Seems as though they had to go the old Indian routine and carried it out on a pole!!!

Interest seems to be growing in the seasonal sport and perhaps you hunters out there should consider starting a "Bull of the Woods" contest here. I didn't just think that up, cause in parts of South Texas this is an annual thing for all hunters, young and old alike with fantastic prizes offered at the end of the season for the one who got the biggest overall with most points totaled up including points, weight, spread of the horns, etc. Something to think about??

Congratulations to the winning basketball teams, including JV girls, varsity girls, eighth grade girls, seventh grade boys and freshmen boys. All are involved in tournament play this weekend, so take off in any direction and support your team!!!!

The class of '80 had a mini reunion at the old homestead Wednesday night with one or two others mixed in the group. Enjoying the 'gossip' were David Poole, Chuck Black, Jimmy Pruitt, Randy Teaff, Jackie Stelzer, Leanna Davis, Susan Sawyers, Danny Nelson, Donna and Jerri.

The Kirkpatrick kids had as a visitor over the holidays, Scott Oliver of Las Gatos, Calif., who attends the University of Texas at Arlington, is 17 years of age and is attending on a four year track scholarship running the 880. I understand he is also quite an academic person maintaining all A's while trying to earn an accounting degree.

Took Donna To Tahoka Sunday afternoon to ride back to school with her roommate, Melanie Tekell. Kelly left Sunday night and GOSH it's quite again.

Watch for old Santa letters beginning with next weeks column. Chow...

Double rites in Tahoka

Double funeral services for Orville J. Stanley, 76, and his daughter Patsy L. Roberts, 39, both of Tahoka, were held Friday at the Tahoka Church of Christ with Donald Dawes, minister officiating.

Burial for Stanley was in Grassland Cemetery in Grassland, and burial for Mrs. Roberts was in Green Memorial Park in Wilson.

Both services were under the direction of White Funeral Home of Tahoka.

Mrs. Roberts died at 5:45 a.m. Tuesday in St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock following an illness.

Stanley died at 11:20 p.m. Tuesday at Lubbock's Methodist Hospital following an illness.

Stanley was a native of Lott and had attended school in Hall County. He moved from there to Lynn County in 1920.

He married Esther Ingeborg Nelson, Dec. 24, 1925, in Close City. Stanley was a farmer and a member of the Tahoka Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter, Minnie Lou Ash of Post; a son, Frank of Tahoka; two sisters, Mrs. James (Mary) Stone of Post, and Mrs. Harry (Imogene) Krizan of Kingsland; four brothers, Reuben H. of San Angelo; Floyd I. of Crosby, G.B. of San Antonio and Willis O. of Waco; 13 grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Roberts was born in Lynn County and attended school in Tahoka, graduating from ACC.

She married John F. Roberts Jan. 28, 1966 in Lubbock. She was a first grade teacher at Wilson Elementary School. She was a member of the Texas State Teachers Association and the Tahoka Church of Christ.

Survivors in addition to her mother, sister, and brother include her husband and two sons, Lee Carl and Kenneth Scott, both of the home.

Toys for Fun and Learning

Children six to nine like board games, table top sports, and such classic items as marbles, jacks, tops and kites which help to develop social and physical skills. Fashion dolls and action figures also appeal. This is a good age for printing sets, science and craft kits, electric trains, construction sets and hobby equipment. Bicycles, skates, sleds and other sports equipment are other possibilities. So are books, especially those specifically written for children of this age.

Regional science fair March 27

The South Plains Science Council will be sponsoring their Annual Regional Science Fair on March 27-28, 1981, at the Lamesa Middle School Gym, Lamesa, Texas. The Regional Science Fair is open to all students from grades 4 and up who received a first or second place award at their respective local science fair.

The Regional Science Fair involves all school districts in the following 20 county area, Bailey, Borden, Cochran, Cottle, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Kent, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Terry, and Yoakum.

The two winners of the Regional Science Fair will advance to the International Science Fair to be held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, May 11-16.

The Awards Dinner for the Fair will be held at noon, March 28, at the Lamesa High School Student Center.

The site for the Regional Science Fair is rotated among the various South Plains communities on a year-to-year basis. The Council is composed of science, math, and engineering teachers, professors, utility people, and all groups that are interested in promoting creative thinking by our young people in the sciences. All work is carried on by volunteers.

Helpful Hints for Fun, Safety and Economy

You don't have to spend a lot of money buying toys that are both enjoyable and educational for the children on your shopping list. You do, however, have to invest a little time and thought in what's appropriate. Here are some suggestions from the Toy Manufacturers of America that will help you to select toys that will offer children receiving them the most fun and education for your dollars.

Babies under 18 months like brightly colored, lightweight toys of varied textures that will stimulate their senses of sight and feel. These toys should be washable, too big to swallow and free of sharp corners or rough edges. Stuffed animals are welcome companions for children of all ages.

THANKSGIVING GUESTS
Mrs. Artie Young had as visitors for Thanksgiving day dinner, her son and family, Shirley, Margie, Tamra and John Young of Lubbock and also her sister, Tressie Thompson, of Post.

Four generations for Thanksgiving

Four generations met together in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.G. Siewert, 114 North Ave. L, as 22 children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the couple came for Thanksgiving Day.

Attending the holiday gathering were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Siewert of Post and Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Elliott of Levelland, the two children of the couple.

The grandchildren and their families included, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Redden, Scott and Kimberly of Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. Kerry Siewert of Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Zachary, Patricia Tracy and Teddy Daniel of Post, Jerry Siewert of Post and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Merritt, Donna Elliott and Doug Elliott of Brownfield.

Also attending were Earl Rowan of Levelland and Gary Flippin of Brownfield, friends of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Forrer of Snyder, were the only members of the four-generation family unable to attend.

Snow again stalls cotton harvest

This season's second blizzard covered the Texas High Plains just as equipment was able to move again. The storm moved out of northeastern New Mexico last Monday and continued to stall the cotton harvest, according to Mack Bennett, Area Director for USDA's Marketing Services Office at Lubbock.

The harvest was estimated 65 to 75 percent complete when the first storm moved across the plains two weeks ago. Very little harvesting was done between the storms, Bennett said.

Area gins gained on the harvest where field stored modules could be easily reached.

Lubbock's office classed 152,000 samples during the week ended November 26, as the classing staff increased to 60 up from 52 a week earlier.

The season's total graded at Lubbock neared 645,000. This compares with 329,000 classed by the same date last year.

Predominant grades during the week were grade 42 at 56 percent, grade 52 - 12 percent and grade 32 - 11 percent. About five percent were reduced one grade because of bark, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Staple 32 was predominant at 37 percent. Staple 31 was 25 percent followed by staple 33 at 21 percent. Average staple for the week was 32.1, up from 31.7 a week earlier.

Micronaire readings of 35-49 accounted for 72 percent. One percent miked higher while 27 percent miked lower. The week's average miked at Lubbock was 39, unchanged from one week ago.

Average breaking strength was 84,000 pounds per square inch, down from 86,000 on week earlier.

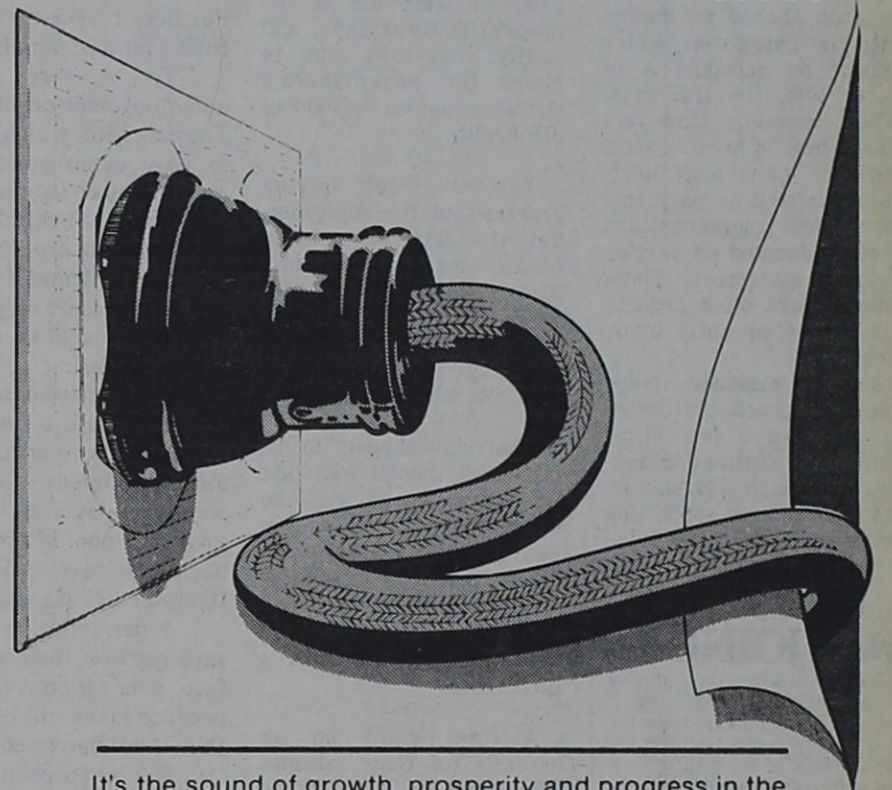

High Plains growers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and 52, staples 30 and 31, miked 35-49 around 74.40 cents per pound, down 10 points from last week. Mixed lots of mostly grades 41 and 51, staples 32 - 33,

Listen To The Hum

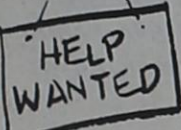

It's the sound of growth, prosperity and progress in the Southwest. It's the sound of the Southwest making a bigger and bigger contribution to our nation's economy. It's the sound of electricity. Electricity that surrounds us with opportunities and jobs, pride and security. And with proper use of our resources, and new power plants using efficient, reliable fuels like coal, that sound is going to keep right on humming.

Records needed for tax report

Taxpayers, especially those who itemize, should begin compiling receipts and other records to support claims on their Federal tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service advises. These records can be used to back up claims in case the return is examined and also assist taxpayers by reminding them of potentially overlooked deductions.

For easy reference, the records should be sorted into the categories which appear on Schedule A of Form 1040, the IRS says. When itemizing, taxpayers should bear in mind interest paid on loans and mortgages, as well as payments for medical insurance which are documented on various financial statements. These amounts are often deductible, and frequently overlooked.

Medical expenses, union dues and charitable contributions are a few other commonly claimed deductions for which IRS examiners often request supporting evidence. Keeping cancelled checks, pay stubs, and bills can be helpful in supporting these claims. However, the IRS notes that taxpayers should not attach receipts or cancelled checks to their tax returns.

Postings—

(Continued From Page One) have a heart attack, although it was a dramatic exit. We were out of the hospital in three days, and really kept that long to check the pacemaker's operation not on account of our health.

We were out buying groceries at the supermarket the day of release because our daughter, Chris Koerselman, and family were stopping for the weekend enroute to a Thanksgiving reunion in Amarillo with his family.

What did happen to us last week though was that we caught a cold with the worst cough we've had in years. We can herewith testify that a head cold is much worse than a pacemaker implant, although the pacemaker — costs a little more.

A final point on an already too long column. We're sure blackouts can be caused by medical reasons other than a slow irregular heartbeat. So if this should happen to you see your physician.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

One of the first challenges of the new Administration and the new Congress will be to try to bring the economy under control.

The most obvious problems are renewed accelerations of the inflation rate and interest rates. It is essential that action to address these problems be swift and decisive. Further, I believe that controlling inflation is the key to curing most of our economic ills.

To a very large degree, for instance, our unemployment problems stem from inflation in past years. The recession which caused the high unemployment levels to have experienced this year resulted from misguided attempts to control inflation.

The idea behind this method for controlling inflation is that if people are thrown out of work, their loss of income reduces the demand for goods and services, and thus lessens upward pressure on prices. This approach is very expensive, both in terms of its effect on the economy, and in terms of human suffering.

An approach which shows promise of working, and benefitting all, is one called "supply-side economics." The basic idea is to encourage business to invest in new plants and equipment — creating jobs and more goods and services — and to encourage people to save. Savings provide a pool of funds for businesses to borrow when they decide to invest. The bigger the pool, the more likely interest rates are to go down.

When inflation rates are high, people are reluctant to save because their saved money is worth less and less. In fact, it is rational for people to borrow rather than save, because loans will be repaid in dollars which are worth less than those borrowed.

But when people fail to save because of this inflation psychology, there is less money available for business and government to borrow. This means greater competition for available money, and rising interest rates. Government deficits create still more pressure on interest rates because heavy government borrowing takes more and more from the available amount.

Continuing the vicious cycle, when interest rates are high, business is discouraged from borrowing money to invest in expansion. Ill-conceived environmental and safety regulations raise the cost of expansion still more. So business doesn't invest, and factories get older and more inefficient, sending the cost of goods produced higher.

The key to breaking this spiral is to make savings by individuals — and investing by business — the rational thing to do. This end can be accomplished by making changes in the tax and regulatory environment. These changes must, however, be accompanied by genuine reductions in the level of federal deficits and levels of government spending.

The first effect of these reductions would be to ease inflationary pressures. But equally important is the clear signal these changes would be to the American people that the government is determined to live within its means and combat inflation. This should act to reduce expectations of future inflation, and thereby encourage savings.

Social concern for stepfamily

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Problems of the American stepfamily are a growing area of social concern, says Dr. Martin Manosevitz, a University of Texas psychologist.

A lot of the problem revolves around children, he says, noting that about a million in the U.S. become stepchildren annually.

Many second marriages fail, he says, because of conflicts between parents and children. While a parent may have recovered emotionally from a bad marriage and fallen in love with his or her new mate, "this little kid may still be trying to work out the shifting relationships," Dr. Manosevitz explains.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Every ten years the Texas Legislature knocks down the "fences" which mark the boundaries of legislative and congressional districts, and redraws the political map.

The process is called redistricting, and though it only occurs once a decade, it is one of the most important duties of the Legislature.

What is the function of redistricting?

The law requires that legislative and congressional districts must be as equal in population as practicable. At the end of each decade, population shifts in Texas counties have thrown the districts out of balance, population-wise. Simply stated, some districts grow to have more people than other districts. Redistricting is a tune-up, an attempt to start over by making every district equal again for another ten years.

Two New Seats

The Texas Constitution requires that the state redistrict after each decennial U.S. census. Because of the state's rapid population growth, Texas is likely to receive two new seats in the U.S. House of Representatives in 1981, bringing the Texas delegation's voting strength to 26.

The number of seats in the Texas Legislature will by law remain unchanged: 150 in the House of Representatives and 31 in the Senate.

While the courts keep a close watch on the redistricting process to keep minority parties and ethnic groups from being deprived of fair representation, the "Redistricting Legislature" is a political free-for-all in many respects. In general, the most powerful group in the Legislature (whatever its characteristics may be) will try to influence redistricting in order to dilute its opposition.

For example, if the majority group wants to get rid of an urban legislator who has given them stout resistance, they may draw him into a district in which he will face mostly rural voters, hoping he cannot adjust and will be defeated. There are many variations on that theme.

How It Works

The redistricting plan is drawn up and passed like any other bill. The bulk of the work is done in committee and then sent to the floor for a vote. Traditionally, the House and Senate draw plans for themselves. Once one chamber has approved a redistricting plan for itself, the other chamber usually approves it without amendment.

The congressional redistricting bill, however, is quite likely to be debated by both houses.

The final plan approved by the Legislature is sent to the Governor for his signature or veto.

Redistricting Board

If the Legislature fails to adopt a plan, or if a plan is vetoed by the Governor, then the responsibility for drawing a plan is given to the Legislative Redistricting Board. The board is composed of the Lt. Governor, the Speaker of the House, the Attorney General, the Land Commissioner and the Comptroller. The board must meet within 90 days after the session and finish its work within 60 days.
