By J. W. S.

CHESLEY FIELD, the local ball stadium, is going to have a big electric scoreboard as a project of the schools and Boosters Club. It's due to be shipped soon and is expected to arrive about October 26 — in time, maybe, for use at the game on October 30 between Cisco and Stephenville High schools.

This scoreboard will be the only one of its kind in the area. It will show the score, the quarter, the down, the yards to go. It's a costly piece of equipment and it will last for many years with proper care.

Somebody was recalling the day that Chesley Field, in its heyday, had the first lighted school football field in Texas. And the local gridiron was one of the first in the state to be sodded with grass.

The Booster's club is doing a big job in backing the school athletic program. Their big Pan-Booster Supper at the college cafeteria from 5 to 7:30 p. m. Friday is another example of their fine work. This event is a benefit for the scholarship fund.

COMES A NOTE from Master Sergeant Vernon L. DeLong, who is stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas. He was formerly the administrative officer for the National Guard unit here. He wants the honor to start coming his way.

"I can keep up with my good old, Jay Williams, and his old team."

Sergeant DeLong reports that the army has changed a great deal since World War II days. "Most of it is for the better, but as far as it concerns the individual soldier, I'm quite happy with my job and Fort Riley, a beautiful old post. I'm assigned to the adjutant general's position. My family is with me and we have quarters right in the middle of the post."

IT LOOKED LIKE old times at the Cisco Peanut Company yesterday. There were six or eight big truck loads of peanuts waiting to be unloaded. It's a good business. Mr. W. E. McAnally, who is in charge of the company, says that the season there is good. The first crop of peanuts for the year is coming around November according to the Texas manager.

BACK HOME from Rotan, where he held a successful revival meeting, is Dr. H. M. Ward, pastor of the First Baptist church. He will be in his pulpit today. It was good to see Edward Lee, who has been in the downtown at his place of business today. He reports that he is feeling fine again and gaining strength daily.

QUOTES FROM our new copy of the Imperial Type Metal Magazine: We forget quickly, for which we are grateful. . . . Finally, reach the age when we hate to look at the obituary column. . . . Legitimate business pays as well as anything else if you stick to it. . . . No television or radio program ever was so good that nobody in the room didn't ask his two cents worth of it. . . . It was better. . . . A good time is something everyone expects to have.

More quotes: Heaven won't ask you unless you do something decent without calculation. . . . The man who owns a suit is spared at least one decision every day of his life. . . . Saving money, dollar by dollar, is a lonely occupation. . . . The fact which my generation must live with is that, even if you don't get old, you look old.

More quotes: Expect the unexpected and so far as possible be prepared for it. . . . Things are so complex these days that it is possible for a man to be rich yet have no spending money. . . . It displeases us to see young men unwilling to take chances. . . . We dislike a person who is not to say the very thing we've thought a thousand times. . . . More quotes: Our main filing cabinet is the wastebasket. . . . Intelligence advertises itself and loses the customers. . . . What we want can usually get, if we limit our wants. . . . If what we want to say can't be clearly expressed in English, it ought to be said. . . . Some of us would even answer the telephone when we thought an order, some slip, or a free meal was in prospect.

TRIAL FLIGHT—A helicopter belonging to a London newspaper is shown about to land in Paris during a test flight. The trip was made to prove that helicopter travel from city center to city center was faster than a trip from the heart of a city to its own airfield.

TELEPHONE COMPANY HAS LARGE PAYROLL, CLUB SPEAKER SAYS

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's local payroll has more than doubled during the past eight years, Manager W. H. McAnally told members of the Cisco Lions Club in a talk at the weekly luncheon meeting at noon Wednesday.

Mr. McAnally, who was the guest speaker, said that the company's Cisco payroll was $5,600 per month in 1945, as compared with $14,800 monthly at this time.

Homemaking Class Will Attend Fair

Members of the Future Home Makers classes at Cisco High School will go to the State Fair of Texas on Saturday, and plans for the excursion were worked out at the regular meeting on Friday, Oct. 9. The girls will make the trip in a school bus. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Odum and a group of chapter mothers.

Some 30 girls are expected to attend the fair. Plans call for an early departure with breakfast in Weatherford. At the Fair, the girls will spend the day in small groups. They will return home Saturday night.

The chapter held a meeting Tuesday with Melba Harrelson, president, in charge. The various degrees were explained for the benefit of new members. Taking part in the discussion were Loreta McKinney, Burnell Evans, Charlotte Collins, Katherine James and Melba Harrelson.

HUGE CROWD IS FORECAST FOR PANCAKE SUPPER FRIDAY NIGHT

Advance sales of tickets by Cisco Junior College students indicated today that a big crowd will turn out for the Booster's Club Aunt Jemima Pancake Supper to be held from 5 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. Friday at the college cafeteria. The supper is being held as a benefit for the college scholarship fund.

Aunt Jemima will be at the supper in person to cook and serve the pancakes and Booster Club members will help her. She will have charge of the kitchen. College students will serve and help club members with the work.

The price of the supper has been set at 50 cents. The plate will consist of a stack of pancakes topped with bacon, Meadlake Margarine, Vermont Maid syrup, milk or coffee. Second helpings will be given free of charge, it was announced.

Jack Chambliss, head of the college music department, has prepared a musical program for the supper and there will be some type of musical program going at all times.

The supper will end in time for everyone to go to Chesley Field for the football game between the Wranglers and the Skyhawks at 8 p. m.

It was pointed out that all the profits from the supper would go into the scholarship fund of the school and everyone was invited to have a part in the project.

All Booster's Club members were urged to be on hand as close to 5 p. m. as possible to help with the work.

Guests in the home of Judge and Mrs. Eugene Lankford are his brother, John Lankford of De Witt's Bluff, Arkansas, and his cousin, Rev. H. A. Butts of Memphis, Tennessee. Rev. Butts is attending an evangelical conference in Abilene.

A SORRY AFFAIR—It may be the assortment of destinations on those airline baggage checks that has so upset 11-month-old Elizabeth Roettinger in Philadelphia. The tot had just arrived with her mother from their former home in Germany, and she just couldn't believe the long journey was ended.

LINEUP CHANGES PLANNED FOR WRANGLER TEAM FRIDAY NIGHT

Coaches Red Lewis and Jack Everett of the Cisco Junior College Wranglers announced that their starting line up for the game with the Goodfellow Air Force Base Skyhawks at Chesley Field Friday night would be considerably changed.

Del Wright, who has been playing in the backfield, and Don Carman, will be at ends; Arnold Strain and Phil Perry will be at tackles; Burl Shetter and Frank Perrin will be at guards; Dale McFarland will be at center; Billy Witt will be at quarter; Hut Hutson will be at full; Ray Westmoreland at wing and Jodie Shetter or Franklin at tailback.

The above group has seen action in previous games but few have been on the starting eleven. Jimmy Adams, hard running back, will probably see no action because of an injured leg. The other starters in previous games will be ready to go in when needed. They include Bud Miller and Don Denard at ends; Wayne Adams, Frank Howeth and Richard Baack at tackles; Norman Boggs and Wendell Batte at guards; Baggy Tipton and Ben Robinson at center; Johnny White, Billy Joe Hawk, E. E. Reid and Perry Smith at backs. Bob Lynch was on the doubtful list as he hurt his ankle in scrimmage Tuesday.

The Skyhawks are a star studded aggregation that have looked good despite losses to McMurry and Hardin-Simmons "B." They have a speedy backfield and a heavy line. There are four Negro players on the roster and all four will play Friday night.

School officials said that there would be a section on the south side of the field reserved for Negro fans and that Negro boys would be admitted free when accompanied by a paid adult admission.

Tickets for the game went on sale Wednesday at local drug stores.

Citizens Asked To Help In Stopping Spread Of Disease

AUSTIN, Oct. 15 — Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, says that it is the duty of every citizen, young and old, to help in preventing the spread of disease. Every man, woman and child in Texas has a personal obligation to keep as well as possible, and to do all they can to protect others from illness. Even a child in kindergarten can be taught to cover a cough or sneeze and thus help in preventing the spread of colds or other diseases that start with the symptoms of a cold.

Dr. Cox emphasizes the fact that the local health officer can do little to break the chain of communicable disease in the community if he does not have the whole-hearted support of the people. Every case of illness that looks suspicious of being a communicable disease should be promptly reported to the health officer. Physicians report to the county or city health officer the cases of communicable diseases they diagnose, but parents often fail in this duty. The local health officer cannot start control measures unless he is informed of cases or suspected cases of communicable diseases.

Some signs and symptoms which often accompany communicable diseases are running nose, coughing and sneezing, dizziness or faintness, swelling about the neck, sore throat, unusual paleness, ear ache or running ears, feverish appearance, rash, nausea, vomiting or diarrhea and irritability or other change in normal behavior and appearance.

Help to prevent the spread of communicable diseases in your neighborhood by observing correct health practices and reporting promptly any appearance of suspicious symptoms.

PERFECTING NEW VACCINE

After 15 years of concentrated and costly research, medical authorities now know that polio can be controlled by a vaccine, according to a report in the November issue of Pageant Magazine.

For the first time, medical authorities talk with open confidence of the coming victory. For, at last, they have a vaccine, developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, brilliant professor of research bacteriology at the University of Pittsburgh. The vaccine has passed all the laboratory tests and the step now is to make it work in nature.

Here, in capsule timetable, is what they hope for:

1. Late this year or early next year, the Salk vaccine will probably be introduced in experimental field tests.

2. The subjects will be carefully followed through next year's May-September polio season.

3. If the results warrant, work will begin to place the vaccine into mass production, and make it available in quantity during the 1936 polio season.

Understandably, observers, the magazine, top polio men discourage over-optimism. They are aware of the thousand and one "variables" which haunt all research exploration. They won't even set a target date, although 1936 is generally conceded to be the hoped-for year. VIPS in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis back up these hopes having seen the tremendous results of research since 1938.

Says Dr. Harry M. Weaver, director of research for the foundation, "It would seem we are now in possession of the scientific principles and tools required."

Dr. Clair E. Turner, assistant to Basil O'Connor, head of the foundation adds this optimistic note: "It looks as though there will be a basic solution in the next two or three years."

Laboratory tests indicate three outstanding characteristics of Dr. Salk's vaccine:

1. It is safe.
2. It will immunize against all three known types of polio.
3. It can be mass-produced in the tremendous amounts necessary to protect all 46,000,000 young Americans in the susceptible childhood and teen years. Even if Dr. Salk's work by any chance fails in the field, points out Pageant, there is every reason to believe that some vaccine will do the trick.

Mrs. Leita Mendenhall has returned home after attending the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Willie Cummings Gatlin in Ladonia. Mrs. Gatlin was the widow of the late Dr. E. N. Gatlin and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Harris of Dallas and two sons, Bill of Houston and Eugene of Texarkana.

Christmas Flowers Grow From Bulbs Without Soil

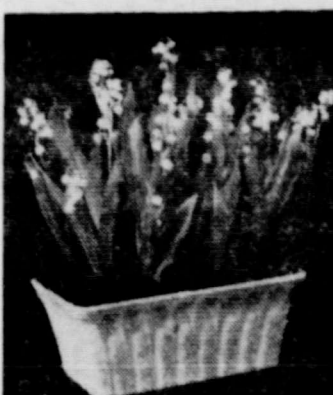

Beautiful flowers can be grown in the home in decorative bowls without soil. Even beginners can hardly fail to succeed if a few simple rules are followed. It is even possible to produce flowers for Christmas, if the fragrant lily of the valley is grown.

Florists grow "valley" the year around for bridal bouquets. Specialists in Germany have long produced "pips" of this flower for shipment to other countries. Pips are not bulbs, but thick root stocks with an abundance of fibrous roots. They are store-houses of energy, needing only water and a suitable temperature to enable them to develop fragrant bell-flowers in clusters with attractive pale green leaves.

Pips are shipped to this country in cold storage and kept at 28 degrees until planted. Decorative bowls three inches or more in depth may be used. Place the pips an inch apart in the bowl and pack sphagnum moss around them. Some of the long roots may be cut off if necessary. Wet the moss and keep it moist. Place the bowl in a dim light, in a temperature of 70 degrees until the leaves and stems develop; then gradually increase the light, but avoid direct sun. Blossoms will develop in three to four weeks. Using three bowls and starting one every week, you can have a continuous supply of these fragrant flowers during the winter.

Other flowers which are easily grown indoors are paper white narcissi, and Chinese sacred lilies. These take longer to flower, and do best later in the season. Paper whites planted in November are likely to grow 16 inches tall, producing clusters of star-shaped white flowers at the top of these long stems. But in December, they will be two or three inches shorter, and in January not over 12 inches tall. It takes five or six weeks to produce flowers.

Paper whites are placed in a bowl and held upright by pebbles packed around them. Water is poured in the bowl, and replenished as needed. It is best to keep the bowl in a cool, dark place until roots form and top growth begins. Then bring them into the light and give a day temperature not over 70 degrees. Higher temperatures may cause spindly growth, and prevent flowering. In the same way Chinese sacred lilies and narcissi soil d'or can be grown, both taking more time to bloom. These do best in a humid atmosphere. They make attractive decorations for the window in a modern kitchen, where the atmosphere usually is more humid than in other rooms.

By mixing a small quantity of commercial plant food in commercial peat moss, and using this instead of pebbles or sphagnum moss to pack around the bulbs, all these subjects can be grown with good results. The mixture is known as bulb fibre and takes the place of soil. In it calla lilies, and King Alfred narcissi also can be grown. The fibre is packed around the bulbs, and the bowl kept in a dark place at a temperature of 55 degrees until roots develop and strong top growth begins. Then place the bowl in a window where it will have fresh air and sunlight, in a temperature ranging between 55 and 70 degrees.

All these bulbs will bloom if given their simple requirements, and require much less daylight than other flowering plants. If they disappoint you it will likely be due to overheated rooms. High temperature causes them to grow too fast, and makes the growth weak.

Farm Fire Loss Blamed on Neglect of Easy Rules

Last year fires like this cost American farmers 133 million dollars. Most could have been prevented or kept small. To prevent this kind of disaster on your farm, carry out these simple rules now: 1. When building or remodeling, use non-combustible materials. All-steel structures, such as Quonsetts, minimize spread of fire. 2. Protect all your buildings (including those of steel) with well-distributed, properly grounded, tightly-connected lightning rods.

3. Make sure electrical wiring is in A-1 shape. 4. Put heating equipment and chimneys in good condition. Make sure that every person who turns on or regulates heating equipment knows how to do it. 5. Take no chances with damp hay. Dry hay properly in field or mow. Check temperature of hay for six weeks. 6. Put fire-fighting equipment in every building and make sure that everybody on the farm knows where it is and how to use it.

Tired of your name? Perhaps you can change it. To most of us a name is too much an integral part of our everyday life to want to change it. There are occasions, however, when a legal change of name is desired, and Texas laws contain provisions for changing the names of individuals, business firms and corporations.

Being tired of a name is not efficient in itself to warrant a legal change. There are occasions, however, when a change of name may be of sufficient merit to a person to justify a change under the statutes. For example, a name may be so long and cumbersome or so difficult to pronounce as to become a business or social handicap.

A legal change of an individual's name in this state involves procedure in District Court. A person desiring a change must file an application in proper form in the District Court of the county of his residence, setting forth the reasons for his desire for a new name. If the judge is convinced that it is for the interest or benefit of the applicant to change his name, he may decree that the adopted name of the person shall be substituted for his original name.

In addition to the provisions for change of name in ordinary cases, our laws permit the court entering a divorce decree to include an order changing the name of either party especially when for such a change in manner during the proceedings.

Provisions for changing the name of a minor are the same as for an adult, except that the application for change must be signed by his guardian or "next friend." By this latter term is meant a parent or some other person who is looking after the interests of the minor.

A change of name will not be allowed to injure third persons under our laws. The change does not operate to release the applicant from any responsibility which he may have incurred under his original name. Nor will it defeat or destroy any rights

GIRL SCOUTS SING

Girl Scouts have been singing together in troops and around campfires for more than 41 years. Now, for the first time, their favorite songs have been recorded under the supervision of Metropolitan Opera star, Nanette Guilford, shown here playing "Sing Together" for one of her Girl Scout friends.

Smokers Blamed In Church Fires

AUSTIN, Oct. 14. — Smokers were blamed today by Acting State Fire Marshal Eugene Sanders for fires that burned five Texas churches last year.

Careless smoking habits ranked third in the causes of 85 major church fires in the state in 1952, Sanders' report said. Defective heating systems were blamed for 18 fires and defective wiring and other misuse of electricity caused another 12.

Lightning started three church fires, the causes of seven were unknown and the rest resulted from miscellaneous causes.

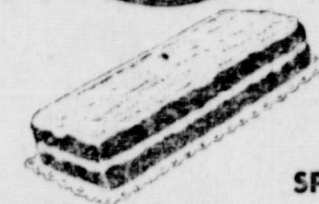

Church fires resulted in an insured fire loss of $429,907, Sanders reported.

Mr. and Mrs. U. L. Welch of Electra are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Sanders.

"As It
Looks
From

OMAR BURLISON
Congressman
17th District

During the few days since my return to Washington, I am able to gather a few impressions which might indicate future courses of action on the part of the Administration.

On the domestic side, the farm program and what to do with farm surpluses is undoubtedly the biggest problem to be faced. Some of the good intentions voiced earlier by Mr. Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, have now gone out the window. The impression is that they are now facing realities, instead of theories.

On the national and international scene, the number one question is how to gear our defenses and military power to the fact that Russia has the hydrogen bomb.

President Eisenhower has made some pretty strong statements to wake us up to the possible danger. It seems to me he is going to have to do some very plain talking in order that the entire Nation may know something of the awfulness of such a possible bomb attack.

There is current newspaper talk about an agreement with Russia to disarm, or at least to control the output of atomic and hydrogen bombs. It should first be understood that Russia has offered to discuss such an agreement, but as usual with the Russians, there is a catch to it. They would probably agree to most anything, but they have balked at any arrangement for inspection to see that the agreement is carried out.

Other things shaping up for the coming Session of the Congress are: the matter of taxes; balancing the budget; revisions in the Social Security laws; recommendations for changes in the Taft-Hartley Law; and numerous items of unfinished business carried over from the last Congress.

The next Session of the Congress promises to be busier than the last. The new Administration tion put off a great many things until it was more experienced on which action will need to be taken.

During my visit back home, I greatly enjoyed talking to people and getting their views. It is hoped that everyone will continue to give me the benefit of their thinking and suggestions on the issues vitally affecting all of us. Never before in history has the public been so well-informed on so many subjects as our people are today. It is true that there is also a goodly amount of misinformation, too, but usually we are able to sift the grain from the trash and come up with a pretty clear attitude on what is happening. It is often confusing enough without such distractions, but it seems most people feel they must take a greater interest in public affairs. In my opinion, those who feel that way are correct. In these days our very survival may depend on it.

The Department of Agriculture has announced a hay program for the drought areas similar to the emergency livestock feed. The difference in their thinking is that the hay program should be worked through local feed dealers. Ten million dollars is earmarked for the purpose, most of which will go for cost of transportation. Shipping charges from the North and Midwest where hay is available amount to about the purchase price at the source of supply.

The Fall Season Is Here Again —

... and there are some indications that business conditions will improve after a decline for several months. If business picks up there is sure to be a revival in real estate trading and leasing and now would be a good time to get the abstract ready for any emergency. Many good trades are lost because the landowner waits until the last minute to have his abstract brought to date. Place your order now and be ready!
