J. W. BENNETT FATALLY HURT BY AUTOMOBILE

Aged Pedestrian Struck By Car on Burkburnett Highway

DIES IN WICHITA

Driver Assists In Bringing Accident Victim To Hospital

John West Bennett, aged 73, of Newcastle, was fatally injured shortly after four o'clock Wednesday afternoon when he was knocked to the pavement by a passing automobile on the Burkburnett-Wichita Falls highway about two miles south of Burkburnett. L. B. Gee, traveling man of Fort Worth, drove the car which struck Bennett. The injured man was picked up and placed in the car of K. F. McClain of Burkburnett who brought him to the Wichita Falls general hospital where he died at 4:55 o'clock.

According to Mr. McClain the man was walking along the right side of the road toward Wichita Falls. McClain, passing him offered him a ride, which he was about to accept when struck by McGee's car, in front of which he attempted to cross. McClain states that he heard the noise of brakes and the scream of McGee that he "had hit a man."

McGee stopped his car and assisted in getting the man to Wichita Falls. Shortly after arriving he surrendered himself to officer of the sheriff's department, who investigated the case. It was not thought likely late Wednesday that any charges would be filed.

Bennett could not at first be identified. He was attired in a workman's clothes, blue shirt, overalls and straw hat. There was $5.50 in cash in his pockets. He was later identified however by C. R. Daniel and others who knew him. Funeral arrangements had not been announced Wednesday night, pending word from a son who is known to live in Newcastle.

Chicago Bankers Surprised At Jim And What He Said

DALLAS, June 16.—(AP)—Chicago investment bankers here on busin s characterized as "incredible" and "disastrous" the statements attributed to James E. Ferguson relative to Texas district road bonds in an address at Wichita Falls Tuesday night.

Ferguson's statement to which they referred declared that advocates of a special session of the legislature are urging without submitting to a vote of the people the validation of $100,000,000 in district road bonds which the U. S. supreme court says they don't owe.

L. R. Billet, treasurer of the company declares that validation of the road bonds is "the most needed to restore public confidence in Texas."

He added that heavy discounts are now being applied to Texas securities, "even those not in any court."

Chicago Is Host to Greatest Religious Gathering Ever Assembled in United States

City Prepared to Pay Homage to Envoy From Pope, John Cardinal Bonzano, on Arrival From New York

CHICAGO, June 16.—(AP)—Prepared for the duties of host to the greatest ecclesiastical gathering in the history of the United States, Chicago will give first account of her months of preparation for the twenty-eighth international eucharistic congress tomorrow in her welcome to his eminence John Cardinal Bonzano, personal representative of Pope Pius XI.

The special red train bearing the papal legate and 70 cardinals, bishops and priests will be met by an official religious and civic delegation headed by Cardinal Mundelein, sponsor of the congress and Mayor William E. Dever.

Police arrangements have been made for a throng of 25,000 in the vicinity of the Illinois Central station on the lake front. Church bells throughout the city will ring for several minutes after 10 a. m., the scheduled hour of arrival.

From the station Cardinal Bonzano will ride with Carding Mundelein in a great procession to the cathedral of the Holy Name, three miles north escorted by several thousand uniformed members of Catholic societies, Boy Scouts, bands and a picked detail of police.

At the cathedral, after the singing of a te deum, the distinguished prelates will be formally welcomed by Cardinal Mundelein and officers of the congress.

Cardinal Bonzano then will be escorted to the residence of Cardinal Mundelein, where he will make his headqquarters.

The prince of the church, vicar of the pope in the eucharistic ceremonies, was born of a middle class family at Castelletto, Scazzo, Italy, 59 years ago. He was ordained in 1890. Stricken with yellow fever after six years as rector of a church in China, he was recalled to Rome to serve as vicar general of the diocese of Vigevano. In 1904 he was appointed a rector of the college for the propogation of the faith at Rome, in which he won distinction as one of the greatest linguists in the church. From 1911 to 1923 he served as apostolic delegate at Washington where he won international repute for his skill in statecraft. Upon his elevation to the cardinalate in 1923 he was recalled to Rome to become one of the vatican advisers.

Cardinals Bonzano and Mundelein met in Rome more than a quarter of a century ago and have been intimate friends since the days when Cardinal Mundelein served as priest in a Brooklyn chancery.

The eighty-ninth convention of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago today adopted a resolution extending to officers of the great Catholic meeting best wishes for the success of their endeavors.

Candidate Asserts Texas Does Owe Money On Invalidated Bonds

MEMPHIS, June 16.—Refusal of the state democratic executive committee to indorse his administration, while at the same time giving full approval to that of the Fergusons was cited today by Attorney General Dan Moody as indisputable proof that Fergusonism was an issue in the gubernatorial campaign. This was the first statement Moody has made on the matter since the committee met Monday in Wichita Falls. In addition to his charges on this, Moody roundly assailed Ferguson's contentions made Tuesday night in Wichita Falls in which he spoke of securities invalidated by the Archer county case as "Bonds the people of Texas didn't owe." "My attention has been called to the fact that Jim Ferguson in an address in Wichita Falls Tuesday night referred to the Texas road district bonds as 'bonds the people of Texas don't owe,' and that he declared that J. A. Kemp, and other citizens who have sought a special session of the legislature to validate the bonds are trying to turn the governor's office into a bond brokerage, Moody said.

Stains Texas' Name.

This latest attempt on the part of Jim Ferguson to place a stain upon the fair name of Texas abroad should be emphatically repudiated by the people. The bonds referred to have been sold to parties who bought them in good faith, the people have received the money and the money has been spent on the roads.

"They constitute an honest debt of the people of Texas districts which issued them and the people desire only an opportunity to make that debt a legal one. They will resent the imputation that they would repudiate them, as Jim Ferguson's statement suggests to avoid payment of an hon-

BURKBURNETT, June 16.—Jess Ellis, 28, was seriously burned in an explosion of gasoline at the American gas station on West Main street here this afternoon. He was removed to the Hargrave-Walker clinic in Wichita Falls, where it was reported at a late hour that his condition was critical.

J. C. Warren was burned on the face, arms and hands in the blast, but his condition is not considered critical.

The fire was caused apparently by spontaneous combustion while they were pumping gasoline from an underground tank to a truck.

The station was destroyed.

Veteran's Last Wish Is Denied

DALLAS, June 16.—(AP)—The last wish of Charles C. Lee, 38, world war veteran, to see his four-year-old son and then die among friends, at DeQueen, Ark., was denied Wednesday night when he succumbed 10 miles from Dallas on the Southern Pacific train which was speeding him homeward.

Lee had been a patient at the American Legion hospital at Kerrville. Realizing he had only a short time to live, he expressed the desire to "go home to die." In the effort to grant his wish, his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tobe Lee of Nevada, Texas, started to DeQueen with him Tuesday. Fatigue of the journey hastened his death, however.

FREE SUSPECTS IN KLAN FIGHT

Alleged Slayers of Otto Lange Permitted Liberty On Bond

CALDWELL, June 16.—(AP)—Bond was allowed today by Judge J. B. Price and was made by six Burleson county defendants, indicted last week, two on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Otto Lange near Somerville in July, 1923, and four on a charge of robbery by firearms in connection with the alleged theft of an election box in this county in 1922.

Bond of $5,000 was set each for Kinch Shelburne and Charles Balke on the murder charge, while $3,500 each was allowed to J. M. Shelburne, Sam Gaines, Davis Lauderdale and Buck Tuttle, charged with robbery by firearms.

Virtually no evidence was presented at the hearing, which was brief. The state rested its case on the indictments. The defense put one witness on the stand to testify to the inability of certain of the defendants to make heavy bail. The judge then set the amounts, and the cases were turned over to the clerk for setting at the November term of court. The defendants in both of the cases have been instructed by their attorneys, headed by Senator R. S. Bowers not to discuss the indictments but it is understood that they will offer an alibi as their defense.

It was also understood the state did not care to disclose its evidence at the hearing today and made no vigorous opposition to bond, because it did not care to open up the case.

At the conclusion of the hearing, bond was signed by many citizens of the county, presented and approved, and relatives and friends of the accused men, who were among the crowd in the court room, rushed over to shake their hands.

New Revolution In Mexico Remote Traveler Asserts

SAN ANTONIO, June 16.—(AP)—There is not as much chance for another revolution in Mexico as there is for an insurrection in San Antonio, provided the United States "keeps hands off" and does not give moral or financial support to enemies of the Calles government, Colonel J. A. Robertson said in an address today.

Robertson, alien property custodian in New York city, during the World war, lived in Mexico for 35 years, 20 under the Diaz regime. He founded and owned several commercial enterprises there. He said he was well acquainted with President Calles, Obregon and the other leaders of Mexico.

"A revolution in Mexico is never born in the country south of the Rio Grande, but is invariably set on foot in the United States and many times in San Antonio," he said. "The people of this country are largely responsible for the revolutions down there. Mexicans have never put up a dollar for a revolution. If the revolutionary leaders could not obtain munitions and supplies in this country, there would be tranquility and peace in the republic of Mexico.

A number of Texas companies of asphalt base oils have protested the specific action that the oils be of a paraffine base.

FIVE PERISH IN TRAIN FIRE

Trapped In Blazing Tourist Car, Passengers Burn To Death

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—(AP) Five persons were burned to death and upwards of thirty others escaped unhurt today when a fire of undetermined origin turned a cross country tourist sleeper into an inferno of flame on Crystal Siding, Nev.

So far said Union Pacific officials, only one body of the fives recovered has been identified. This is the body of Mrs. J. D. King of Drummond, Mont. The unidentified bodies are those of two women, one man and a child. All have been removed to Las Vegas, Nev., where a coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow.

Members of the train crew said that a man by the name of Mayberry was missing. His address was given as 1042 West Seventh street, Riverside, Cal., Union Pacific officials checked that address and were informed that no one by that name lived there.

Passengers aboard the car said that they were aroused from sleep by the flames which spread so quickly that they could not reach the doors and had to jump out of windows to safety. One of these who escaped through the windows was J. D. King, Northern Pacific employe of Drummond, Mont., whose wife was burned to death.

King said that both he and Mrs. King rolled out of their berths and tried to make for the door. Flames blocked this exit and King smashed his way through a window. He said he believed his wife was following him but learned too late that she had been trapped.

King continued his journey homeward today, leaving instructions for the care of his wife's body.

Education Ruins Farmer, He Says

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—"So-called education" has ruined the farmer, said Senator Blease, democrat, South Carolina today in the senate.

"When a person gets a so-called education he wont work," he added. "I believe in the proper kind of education but I have seen very few people who claimed to be educated who ever would work. I have seen old mothers bending over the wash tub and sending money to some son or daughter off to college and when they get out of college instead of going back home and helping they go off some where else.

"When a good cotton hand gets a smattering of an education, he has got to be a preacher with a long tailed coat and a beaver hat, or a doctor or something and he wont work."

TEXAS U NOW BOND CLIPPER

State Treasurer Hatcher Arranges for Purchase Of $2,300,000 Worth

WACO, June 16.—(AP)—Texas university entered the ranks of coupon clippers Tuesday when it became the owner of a million in bonds, purchased from oil royalties reposing in the permanent fund of the university.

Information of the purchase, completed Tuesday afternoon, was given to the Waco News Tribune Tuesday night by W. Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer, who passed through here by automobile en route to Dallas.

The purchase was made by the Republic National bank of Dallas through the Federal Reserve bank and the Dallas institution is holding them for payment. Warrant for drawing the money out of the permanent fund of the university was authorized by Hatcher Tuesday, but will not be delivered until Wednesday.

The bonds will be sent to the treasury department at Washington for registration in the name of the university and afterwards will be deposited with the state treasurer for safe keeping.

Allocation of a million dollars for the purchase of federal bonds leaves approximately $2,300,000 in the university fund. So quietly was the transaction accomplished that the university was able to make a satisfactory and profitable purchase. Purchase of additional bonds will continue from time to time, Mr. Hatcher inferred.

JIM'S ASSERTIONS 'PATENTLY FALSE' STATEMENT SAYS

Wichita Falls Capitalist Replies to Charges of Former Governor, Made in Speech Here Tuesday

A reply to the declaration made by James E. Ferguson in a campaign speech here Tuesday night that the statewide committee on Texas road district bonds validation of which J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls is chairman was seeking validation for securities which the supreme court had declared null and void and which the people did not owe was answered by Mr. Kemp in a statement made public Wednesday afternoon.

A personal attack made by the former governor on the distinguished Wichitan is allowed to pass almost unnoticed in the statement, no attention being paid to Mr. Ferguson's attack on him.

"I have no reply to make to the scurrilous personal attack," Mr. Kemp states. "Such must be found in my life as a native Texan and in my work for the citizens of my community and of this state. I am willing to be gauged by these standards."

However, it is stated, the suggestion of Mr. Ferguson that Texas should repudiate its obligations to repay money loaned in good faith to its citizens presents a deplorable situation. The implication that his interest in bond validation is the interest of friends in New York is branded as patently false and unworthy of reply.

Bolsheviki Russia

A reference is made to a "policy which would place Texas in the category of bolshevik Russia;" "Fergusonism," Mr. Kemp states, "has again been defined by a concrete example of its meaning.

The statement follows:

To the people of the state of Texas:

On Tuesday evening, June 15, in my home city at Wichita Falls, Texas, the proxy governor of this state, in discussing the validation of Texas bonds, made a vicious personal attack upon me, and upon the motives of a committee representing thousands of patriotic Texans who desire to give immediate assurance to the nation that Texas recognizes its moral obligations to repay money used in the building of its highways. I have no reply to make to the scurrilous personal attack. Such must be found in my life as a native Texan, and in my work for the citizens of my community and this state. I am willing to be gauged by these standards.

Patently False

However, I am impelled to state that a deplorable situation is presented by the suggestion of Jim Ferguson in his speech here that Texas should repudiate its obligations to repay money in good faith loaned to our citizens. According to Associated Press dispatches, Jim Ferguson stated in substance that the purpose our committee had in mind in petitioning for a convocation of the legislature to validate bond issues affected by the Archer county case, was to befriend eastern bond holders and to make a brokerage house out of the governor's office. This is so patently false, as to call for no reply. I, however, wish to state that my life among the citizens of Texas convinces me that we will not endorse any man or choose for the high office of governor, any representative who directly or indirectly suggests that Texas should repudiate its honest debts; and I am persuaded that no substantial portion of our citizens endorse Jim Ferguson's tactics in refusing to permit a proclamation calling a legislative session for validating purposes, merely because he believes that his own political welfare is best served by delaying a call of the legislature.

I, for one, believe that the governor of Mississippi acted as becomes the chief executive of a state when he procured the validation of Mississippi bonds within 45 days after the supreme court decision in the Archer county case. What would that distinguished soldier and statesman, Sam Houston, say of a policy which would place Texas in a category of bolshevik Russia?

All Would Act

"What would that great commoner, Jim Hogg, have done under such circumstances? He, like our four living ex-governors, would have said that the word of Texans is as good as their bond; but Fergusonism suggests that a technical defense is a sufficient reply to the claims of our creditors.

The high traditions of this state are sullied by these policies. A stain is placed on the good name of Texas to serve the selfish ambitions of Fergusonism. More than ever I am convinced that all of our citizens who have at heart the welfare of our state should unite in solid phalanx to destroy this thing which threatens the very foundation of free government and which should sell its birthright for a mess of pottage. Fergusonism has again been defined by a concrete example of its meaning. Let's make our reply in no uncertain terms in the primary election to be held on July 24, 1926.

LYNCH URGES HIS CANDIDACY

Friends of Davidson Take Up Jim's Attack On Dan's War Record

BRECKENRIDGE, June 16.—(AP)—Lynch Davidson urged his candiacy for governor here after having been introduced by Frank S. Roberts, local attorney, as "the only man in the governor's race with the courage to stand up and fight monopoly" to a capacity crowd at the City Hall auditorium Wednesday afternoon.

Roberts had been introduced by H. A. Leaverton, also an attorney, who lauded Davidson and assailed the candidacy of Attorney General Dan Moody. Roberts also criticised Moody.

"We are determined to get rid of Fergusonism," Leaverton said, "but that doesn't mean that we are going to put in the man who is noisiest in proclaiming his anti-Fergusonism. When a man keeps shouting something about himself, we are inclined to doubt it."

"Lynch Davidson will be a governor of whom we can be proud," Leaverton continued. "He will give us the kind of government that will let Texas hold its head up in the eyes of the world."

Roberts devoted some time to criticism of Moody's World war record, adding "that I am going to cast a patriotic vote for Davidson."

The note was addressed to the proprietor of the hotel. Three other letters, a package and a brief case were also left by Storm. The note to the proprietor contained a one dollar bill with the explanation that it was all he had and a regret for the hotel to such "inconvenience."

One letter and the package were addressed to K. M. Kahn of Fort Worth, the brief case to Arthur Lazarus here and the third letter to A. Schieber, Houston.

SECOND LOVE

by MALCOLM DUART

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY EUGENE MACLEAN

John Parrish has left the home of his rich young wife, Audrey, furious at her repeated references to her own wealth and his poverty. After waiting six days, Audrey goes to Bitter Springs, a mountain resort, to meet her father who is hurrying back from London. She leaves Marcie Allen in charge of her home. Marcie, young, lovely, very advanced in her views of women's rights to do as they please, makes violent love to Parrish. Finally he comes to take dinner with her in his wife's home, and as they sit down at the table, asks: "If Audrey does go ahead and get a divorce, will you—I mean to say, what is in your mind now, exactly?"

Drawing herself up the stairs by the rail, which Marcie held firmly with one hand, she went to her room. Without removing any of her clothes, she cast herself upon the bed, and went to sleep.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Marcie unfolded her eating damask napkin, spread it over her knee, and calmly inquired:

"Are you asking me to propose to you, John Parrish?"

The maid entered with hors d'oeuvres, and they waited until she had gone.

"I mean, were you thinking about marrying me?" he said.

"Nice question for a married man," she commented, taking a bit of carlet. "Suppose I should tell Audrey?"

He laid down his fork. "Listen here, Marcie, what sort of game are you playing with me, anyhow? Here you—"

The maid came in, and there was silence until she vanished into the pantry.

"You put your head on my shoulder, and—kissed me," he proceeded. "If you didn't intend to marry me, if I should be divorced, what did you do those things for?"

"Practice, John, dear, practice," she told him. "Don't you remember that I said I was practicing?"

He shoved back his chair. "Then you don't care anything about me at all?"

She selected a delicate bit from her plate, and ate it before she replied. He remained with his hands on the edge of the table, stonily glaring at her.

"You're a perfect love," she said at length. "But you're married to Audrey. How could I think of marrying you?"

He sprang to his feet, knocking his chair over, and stormed from the room. Marcie continued eating, her eyes peacefully fixed upon her food.

There was a long wait, and Parrish reappeared at the door.

"You're just an infernal flirt," he charged.

She laid aside her napkin, carefully, and without hurry rose to her feet and came to him.

"Is big strong man angry at his Marcie?" she trilled, fingering the end of his necktie where it lay upon his summer shirt.

He pushed her hand away. "Don't talk baby-talk," he commanded. "You've been trying to—to rope me in!"

He backed into the hallway.

She was standing, looking toward him with her eyes round, and her eyebrows raised, in apparent dismay, when there came an interruption.

"Hey, Marcie!"

It was a man's voice, at the outer door. They turned and saw two young men standing on the porch, looking through the open doorway.

"Hello, boys!" cried Marcie. "Come on in."

The visitors rushed into the hall, and seized Marcie's hands. "So this is where you've been hiding!" they cried. "Been hunting all over for you! Just found out today where you were."

Marcie turned and introduced them to Parrish. He nodded curtly, and did not offer his hand. This omission was unnoted by them, for after a mumbld "pleasure, m'sure," they turned their backs to him and went on with their pleased greetings to the girl.

"We've just finished dinner," Marcie said, not with entire truth, "Throw your hats on the chair there, and come in."

Parrish stood, awkwardly, watching the invaders as they trooped into the drawing room. Then, without further ceremony, he put on his hat, and started away. Marcie caught him as he reached the stone walk before the house.

"I'm so sorry the boys showed up," she whispered. "I was counting on our having such a nice evening together."

"I don't believe it," said Parrish. He lifted his hat, bowed, and went out to Marcie's yellow roadster where it stood at the curb.

She laughed a little as she saw him climb into the car and drive away.

"Who's the iron-faced boy?" asked one of the young men as she came in again.

"That's only the master of the house," Marcie said. "He's the husband of Audrey Parrish."

"The heck you say," exclaimed the other youth. "Married a mint of money, didn't he? Say, Marcie, if you can prove your rich I'll marry you."

"No," his hostess replied. "I'll never buy clothes for any Charleston expert. The man I marry is going to buy me diamonds and rubies and take me to the Riviera every year."

"Then you've lost me," he said, unregretfully. "I've got to have a wife with money. I'm too young to work. Say, Marcie."

"Say it," she said, seating herself.

"I've got $4 and Bill here's got $3. Let's go out some place and dance."

She rose again with alacrity. "You sweet kids! I haven't danced—I tell you, I haven't danced in two weeks!"

"Then you're clear out of date," the boy called Bill replied. "But we'll teach you."

"Would we!" There was no doubt in their tone.

Marcie poised before them, on her toes, her hands behind her back.

"How would you like some fine old brandy, twenty years old?"

"There ain't any such thing," yelled Bill's friend.

"Or," she went on, teetering from toe to heel and back again, "would you care for some Bourbon, bottled in bond, laid away eighteen years ago?"

"She's dreaming," said Bill, confidentially.

"And," Marcie said, "I might bring up some ripe, rich sherry, bought from the Waldorf when prohibition closed down. How about it?"

The young men regarded her with lively interest. "Spell it out," urged Bill. "Our tongues are on our chins."

"Well, Audrey's father has a cellar," Marcie said. "It is a wine cellar. It has champagne in it, and claret, and Angelica, and Madeira, and port, and good gin—not this denatured alcohol stuff—and Scotch he bought in Edinburgh, and rye that came from Louisville, and—let me see! He has rum, and Bacardi, and oodles of Angostura bitters, which aren't much good outside of cocktails, and all that brandy and bourbon, I told you about, and sparkling Burgundy, and Moselle, and sour Rhine wine, and some tequila that he got in Mexico, and Jamaica rum—"

"My sainted aunt!" breathed Bill.

"What's slivovitz?"

"Don't know, but it's good. And he's got apricot brandy, and prime Irish whisky, and—"

"Say, listen here," shouted Bill's companion. "Is that bird ever sober?"

"Audrey says he doesn't drink," Marcie replied. "What would you like to bring along? I've got the keys."

"Bring along, you poor fish! We're not going to dance. We'll spend the evening in the cellar."

Marcie regarded them placidly.

"You'll not," said she. "I'll bring two quarts, but no more. And you can't go down in that cellar."

They consulted together, while the girl waited. "Better bring gin," said Bill at length. "We know about gin."

"You have no imagination," she informed them. "Just because you've been brought up on gin's no reason for drinking the darn stuff, when you can get something else. I'll bring gin. A nice time will be had by all."

[illegible] better they disposed of the [illegible] buckets, and when Marcie had cleaned the dust of the wine bins from her hands and arms, they marched to the street. A limousine was standing at the curb.

"Old lady's car," explained Bill. "I'll be chauffeur. You two lushers get in behind."

He stepped into the driver's seat, and pressed the starter button. His friend piled into the tonneau, letting Marcie follow after him unassisted. As they seated themselves, the young man offered to place his arm about her, but she took his hand and with great care laid it on his lap.

"You're a bad child," she said. "I do my necking with grownups."

"Suit yourself," he responded, contentedly. "Girls pay for the privilege of snuggling up to me."

It was 3 o'clock when Marcie returned to the Parrish home.

The limousine drew up uncertainly at the gate, and Marcie got out. She stepped to the curb, and walked to the porch, with great attention to her stride. At the bottom of the steps she hesitated, and gathering her forces together, mounted without mishap.

It was a matter of some time and difficulty for her to get the door unlocked, but at last she succeeded.

Drawing herself up the stairs by the rail, which she held firmly with one hand, she went to her room. Turning into the sleeping apartment, she cast herself upon the bed, and went to sleep there, with her hat wedged sidewise upon her head.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—A cardinal red train bearing nine princes of the Roman Catholic church and their retinues left the Grand Central terminal today amidst the acclaim of thousands who jammed the great rotunda and the train platforms to bid farewell to the party going to the eucharistic congress in Chicago.

THIONVILLE, France, June 16.—(AP)—Arrest of a Serbian carpenter named Zirkowic on a charge of passing Jugo-Slavian 1,000-dinar notes at a local Italian bank has led to the discovery of what seems to be a widespread counterfeiting plot having its center at Duisberg, in the Ruhr region of Germany. Traces of the operations of the counterfeiters already have been found in Germany, France, Belgium and Luxemburg.

Zirkowic was able to pass only five or six of the bills before he was arrested.

Germany had 894 bankruptcies and 630 receiverships in two weeks of March.

PARA, Brazil, June 16—(AP)—Dr. Bert S. Dickey, well known scientist, and his bride of a few months, the former Elizabeth Parker, have just finished an exploration trip that carried them through the land of the head hunters and the most remote parts of South America.

They obtained a full motion picture record of the process of reducing and curing human heads as practiced by the Jiveros of eastern Ecuador. The Indians had just returned from one of their head hunting expeditions which was found to be in retaliation for the kidnaping of their women by another tribe.

Mrs. Dickey, on her honeymoon trip, was the first white woman ever to penetrate the territory. The party spent 10 weeks among the head hunters.

BOOTLEGGER TELLS HOUSE OF SMUGGLING

Rum Running In California Is Explained To Probers

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—William C. Davidson, who said he is a former bootlegger now "going straight," today told the house alcoholic liquor traffic committee a vivid story of five years' experience as a wholesale bootlegger, and how, when he reformed, he was unable to get Prohibition Chief Andrews to take action against several California banks that had acted as medium of exchange in his liquor transactions.

He is the surprise witness produced by Representative LaGuardia, progressive socialist of New York, who demanded the hearing, threatening to hold it all by himself unless the committee heeded his wishes.

Declaring that in the bootlegging game he was known as William Caine, the witness said Andrews had referred him to federal prohibition officials in Los Angeles and that "Colonel Frith," prohibition administrator for southern California, and his assistant, W. W. Anderson, had declined to accept evidence he was prepared to offer.

Throughout his testimony Caine made clear he would not tell on those whom he described as "regular fellows." He said Anderson told him he "didn't want anything" he had and that from then on he was unable to see Firth personally.

He charged that the Vermont and West Jefferson Street branch of the California bank in Los Angeles had negotiated a $9000 check on a liquor transaction and that when he told Anderson of this, Anderson said:

FERGUSONISM

set debt by pleading limitation."

"This is only another illustration of the extent to which Jim Ferguson willing to go to justify his failure to have his wife call a special session of the legislature."

"But events of the past few days demand more than the mere repudiation of Ferguson by the people, heretofore I have taken in for granted that the people have approved my efforts as attorney general to conserve the public revenue and to resist in the courts the attempts to raid the state's treasury. The action of the democratic state executive committee in implicitly approving the Ferguson administration and specifically refusing to approve my administration of the attorney general's office put a different aspect on this matter."

Policy Written by Jim.

"The action of the committee, dictated by Ferguson, places upon the people what amounts to a duty to give approval to the record made by the attorney general's office during the last months or to approve Fergusonism.

"During the present campaign I have studiously avoided an undue insistence upon any claim upon my record in office, may have given to the people's approval. But the body which is the official mouthpiece—or ought to be—of the democratic party refuses to approve that record, while at the same time giving a blanket indorsement of the attempt to raid the public treasury which the attorney general's department prevented. I have no choice but to appeal directly to the people."

Moody spoke to a crowd of 1200 at Childress this morning, was guest of the Childress Rotary club at luncheon and stopped for a short talk to 300 persons at Estelline on the way to Memphis, where he spoke before 1200 people Wednesday night he addressed a large crowd at Clarendon.

JIM ASSAILED FOR REQUESTING FOURTH TERM

CLARENDON, June 16.—Jim Ferguson "is asking the people of Texas for more than any of the great governors of the past ever asked of them or would ask of them, Dan Moody, candidate for governor, declared in his address here tonight.

"Nobody is fooled by the pretense that Mrs. Ferguson is running for governor and for a second term," he declared. "Everybody knows that Jim Ferguson himself is running for governor and for a fourth term. No other governor in our history ever asked the people for a third term, much less a fourth term. And only Jim Ferguson would have the effrontery to ask so much from the people.

"But that is not all Jim Ferguson is asking for. To ask for a fourth term would be bad enough. But he is asking for something that the people ought not to give any man, no matter how great, how honest or how able he might be. He is asking that the people validate and endorse the position he has assumed during the past 18 months and continue him in that position with their full approval. It was not the intention of the people when they elected Mrs. Ferguson that the powers of the governor's office should be completely usurped by Jim Ferguson. That she should advise with her husband was taken for granted and there would be no objection to that. But Mrs. Ferguson has not been governor in fact a single day. From the moment she took office Jim Ferguson has exercised all of the powers of the governor's office, while remaining a private citizen and continuing to act as a private citizen in every way.

"The position Jim Ferguson occupies today and which he asks the people to bestow upon him for another two years is one that no man should ever be permitted to occupy. He has all the powers of governor. He exercises those powers every day. And yet he can not be held accountable to the people for any of his acts. He can accept employment as a lawyer, and he has done so, and the people can not impeach him for violating the constitution, for he is not a public official. He could not be held guilty of accepting a bribe for an official act or failure to perform an official act, for under the law his acts are not official. The best man that ever lived in Texas should not be endowed with such irresponsible power, and Jim Ferguson is far from being that.

"Even if Jim Ferguson had exercised that power in a manner above reproach, he ought not to expect the people to place that power in his hands for another two years. But the record shows that he has not exercised it in such a manner. The record shows he has abused that power. And now he is coming to the people and asking them to endorse his acts of the past 18 months and to permit him to abuse that power for another two years.

Brazen Effrontery.

"In all of our history there has been only one man who would have the brazen effrontery to expect so much of the people, and that man is Jim Ferguson. The people of Texas are generous and they have been more generous to Jim Ferguson than to any other man. But there is a limit beyond which they will not go. They are not going to endorse the complete change of our form of government which Jim Ferguson has made by usurping the powers of the governor's office, and they are not going to permit that condition any longer than it will take to change it."

Moody delivered three addresses today, speaking at Childress and Memphis before coming here. Throughout the Panhandle country he has been hailed by large crowds and his friends report that they will have a clear majority in the first primary in this section.

MOODY SAYS TEXAS CAN OUST FERGUSON

CHILDRESS, June 16.—The people of Texas can let Jim Ferguson know hat they want him and Mrs. Ferguson to vacate the governor's office on July 25 by settling the governor's race in a single primary, Dan Moody, candidate for governor, declared in an address here this morning, thus opening his third day in the Panhandle.

"Jim Ferguson had Mrs. Ferguson read a paper at Sulphur Springs," said Moody, "in which she pledged herself to resign from the governor's office if I led her by one vote in the first primary. She agreed to do this if I would agree to resign as attorney general if the Ferguson vote in the first primary was 25,000 greater than mine. I accepted that proposition, for I was sure that if the people of Texas gave the Ferguson candidacy 25,000 votes more than mine in the first primary they would not want me as attorney general and I would not want to be attorney general under such circumstances. My own record is as much on trial in this campaign as Jim Ferguson's. If the people want Fergusonism they don't want me.

May Not Keep Pledge.

"Evidence has been piling up every day that the people want to get rid of Ferguson and Fergusonism. The Fergusons are pledged to vacate the governor's office on July 25 if I lead in the election on July 24. People say that Jim will not keep that pledge, and I'll admit he'll be reversing a record he has been years in making if he does. But the people can show him that they expect him to keep that pledge by giving me a clear majority in the first primary. I don't ask that for myself. I ask it in order that everything might be done to rid the state of Ferguson and Fergusonism. The and so that it might go out to the country at large that Texas has repudiated Ferguson and all he stands for as emphatically as possible."

Moody left here immediately after his speech for Memphis, where he spoke this afternoon. He will speak at Clarendon tonight.

BRING INSANE PATIENTS HERE

State Will Transfer 430 From Austin to Wichita Falls In July

AUSTIN, June 16.—(AP)—Probably the largest transfer of insane persons on record will be made in Texas before August 1, when a special train bearing 430 inmates of the state hospital for the senile insane here will be sent to new quarters at the Wichita Falls state hospital. The transfer will be made in July, according to the state board of control.

The title to the old state blind institute, used for some time for the senile, was vested in the University of Texas through an act passed by the thirty-ninth legislature, which provided that the board of control have the buildings vacated by August 1. The property will complete the expansion of campus of the university from the original 40 acres, to approximately 200 acres, including the 135 acres bought four years ago at an expenditure of $1,300,000.

The act of 1925 was declared an emergency and stated that the university was in urgent need of the properties.

Back in 1917 when the new state blind institute was built, the old institution was given over to the university and during the war the largest ground flying school in the United States was conducted there.

Despondent Social Leader Kills Self

CHICAGO, June 16.—(AP)—Profound depression, due to loneliness and aching heart, was held responsible today for the tragic suicide of Mrs. R. A. Vilas, society matron and former wife of Royal C. Vilas, wealthy manufacturer and clubman.

A pair of silk stockings knotted about her throat, Mrs. Vilas' body was found hanging from a metal cross bar yesterday in a closet at her home.

Mrs. Vilas obtained a divorce from her husband in 1921, naming as corespondent a Mrs. R. C. Vance, a year after the degree was obtained Mr. Vilas announced his marriage to Mrs. Edna Vance of Texas.

Robbed of the companionship of her 20-year-old daughter, Virginia, through the demands of society, and of her son, Royal II, in school at Pottstown, Pa., Mrs. Vilas brooded a great deal, her physician said. She never lost her affection for her former husband.

Before her marriage Mrs. Vilas, who was 40 years old, was Miss Mary Armstrong of Baltimore, Md.

Porcelain Replaces Gold For Dentistry

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—(AP)—A "mouth full of gold" soon will be as obsolete as wasp waists and bustles, Dr. Albert Leland LeGro, past president of the Michigan State Dental society, told delegates at the closing session of the annual reunion of College of Physicians and Surgeons graduates here yesterday.

Porcelain is rapidly taking the place of gold and silver as a covering and filling for teeth, Dr. LeGro said. Dental ceramics have developed rapidly in producing a suitable porcelain, he declared.

Woman Murderer Escapes Prison

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 16.—(AP)—Beyond discovery of footprints indicating that someone had passed through a field near the prison, no trace had been found today of Mrs. Winona Green, convicted murderess, and two companions who escaped from the state farm for women at Jacksonville, Ark., last night.

Mrs. Green was serving a life term for the murder of her father-in-law, J. R. Green, here in 1924. On her return to Little Rock she also told of murdering her mother-in-law near Picher, Okla., and the body of the elder Mrs. Green was found in a wooded section, according to directions given by her. She was sentenced to life imprisonment on the first charge. She escaped from the Pulaski county jail early in 1925, but was recaptured in Memphis. She was then transferred to the state farm at Jacksonville.

"Duke," the men said, ran repeatedly between the reptile and the infant, alternately pushing him out of danger and lunging at the snake.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For 50 years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia," has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

FERGUSON'S SPEECH

JAMES E. FERGUSON'S vitrolic and ill-timed attack on J. A. Kemp furnishes the best proof he has yet given, numerous as his other demonstrations have been, that personal animosity rules him to the exclusion of everything else political and otherwise. Texas has seen the time not so long ago when Ferguson, whatever his feelings may have been would have held his tongue in the interests of political expediency. He would have known, as he should have known Tuesday night, that the calumnies he delivered would have turned the stomachs of those who heard it and wrecked still further what little support he might have had in Wichita Falls, but Ferguson has apparently reached the point that most of us reach sooner or later, where a blind craving for vengeance outweighs better judgment and leads on to suicidal action.

Ferguson's address was almost too ridiculous to merit further comment and he will find that his bitter denunciation of one of Texas' foremost and best loved citizens will have done much to hasten his plunge into political oblivion.

Texas knows Ferguson and it also knows J. A. Kemp. Their lives have been before the people of the commonwealth for years; one as a political demagogue who has kept the state in political turmoil unparalleled, the other as a constructive, able and substantial business leader who has awakened the magic of irrigation in many parts of the state and who stands today recognized as a Texan of whom all Texans can be proud. When Mr. Kemp was preparing his statement last week in which he denounced the Ferguson attitude on the road bond question and endorsed Dan Moody for governor he remarked that Ferguson would probably say some unpleasant things about it. He expected it, but at the same time, he has felt that his lifetime record in Texas will bear scrutiny against that of James E. Ferguson any time and place.

In Wichita Falls, of course, the Ferguson diatribe has done nothing but further expose the viciousness of Fergusonism and to use one of Jim's own digs at Mr. Kemp, strengthen the conviction that the ex-governor has himself reached his political dotage.

HOLCOMB IN THE POLITICAL TREETOP

MAYOR OSCAR F. HOLCOMBE of Houston, is a young and many-sided man. It was stated in a weekly newspaper, which is supporting the Fergusons, as well as controlled by the Fergusons, that Mayor Holcombe was for the Fergusons in this campaign. And then, this young and many-sided man let it be known that he was not supporting the Fergusons or any other candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, subject to the decision of the democrats in the July primary.

He said this had been his unswerving attitude in all political campaigns since he became mayor of this princely city on the banks of the ship channel. His announcement served to draw or rather focus attention upon the man. He was a successful business man and builder when he aspired to the mayorality of Houston. This was his first plunge in politics. He is a church man, a Baptist, life long and unswerving, but a man broad in vision and tolerant of all things. He was elected mayor of Houston and defeated a most popular man.

Then klan politics came uppermost and Houston become a stronghold in the invisible empire. A committee awaited upon Mayor Holcombe and notified him that if he dismissed from the public service a Catholic and a Jew there would be no opposition on the part of the invisible empire to Holcombe becoming a candidate for re-election. His reply was terse and illuminating. He declared the two men blacklisted were high class public servants and he needed men of the efficiency while he was mayor of his city.

Then he was notified that he would be compelled to walk the political gangplank. He bowed his neck, he declared himself a candidate for re-election and he invited voters of all parties and all creeds who believed in the constitution and the bill of rights to rally his standard. Pitted against him was a young man popular and wealthy with powerful backing within and without the pale of the invisible empire. Holcombe threw down the gauntlet of battle and hurled defiance to all his foemen.

It was one of the most exciting contests i nthe history of any Texas city Holcombe won. He carried every man on his ticket to victory. He invited men of all creeds and all political affiliations to come to Houston and invest their capital. He declared that while he was mayor the law of the land should be uppermost and the law of the jungle should be crushed. He served a second term and offered for re-election a third time. He was elected by an overwhelming majority.

Under the reign Houston has become one of the fastest growing cities in the south or the west. This is not raking over the dying embers of old fires. This is not placing fagats on these dying embers. It is merely directing attention to a modest but outstanding figure in the ranks of the builders of Texas and an executive, courageous and clean and progressive, who has made history under Lone Star skies. Those who are close to him say that some day, for he can afford to wait, he may aspire to the governorship of Texas.

SPEAKING OF TEXAS EGGS.

COOLIDGE AND DAWES have split. Mellon and Dawes have split. Coolidge is opposed to the principal of the McNary-Haugen bill. Mello nis opposed to the principal of the bill, a most vigorous opponent. Dawes is a westerner. He keeps his ear close to the ground. He has read the records of defeats of administration senators. He would like to be president. His bee is buzzing all the time.

Now the administration would confine farm relief to co-operative marketing legislation; the administration has expressed doubt as to the constitutionality of the proposed equalization fee; the administration insist that the net results of the enactment of the McNary-Haugen bill will be that the American consumer will pay the increased domestic price which of necessity must include the equalization fee or the loss incurred in selling the surplus crops abroad.

Indeed, Secretary Mellon says he can see no permanent relief for American agriculture through subsidizing foreign competition, and that, in his opinion, is what the bill if it becomes a law, will do. Speaking of cotton, the world's yield last year was close to 28,000,000 bales, and the world's consumption a little more than 22,000,000 bales. Now if the 1926 yield is 28,000,000 bales and the consumption is 22,000,000 bales how will it be possible with a large surplus of 6,000,000 bales and a carry-over of 8,000,000 bales to obtain a high price for American cotton.

There are 37 wheat growing nations. If there is an enormous surplus this year, how will it be possible to stabilize the price and pay a fancy price to the American wheat grower. There are many problems awaiting solution, and the politicians of America, who are classified as lawmakers, are the artful dodgers of the hour. There is an American corn belt. If there should be an enormous yield of corn this year, where will the surplus go?

It is useless to place a high tariff on cotton, for the reason that the American surplus must be sold abroad. It is useless to place a high tariff on wheat for the same reason. It is useless to place a high tariff on corn. It has been eight years since the armistice was signed. At the hour of the signing Europe was almost bled white. Now Europe is coming back, but the billions of losses caused by the war will make Europe poverty stricken for years to come.

In Great Britain alone, there are upwards of 3,000,000 workmen who are idle. When people are idle or poverty stricken, their standards of living cannot be high, and as buyers of wheat and cotton, wheat for bread and cotton for clothing, they are not in the market.

And yet farm relief legislation is the demand. In Iowa the other corn growing states the farmers, to a vast extent, threaten the Coolidge administration. To save itself, this administration must grant or rather enact farm relief legislation, whether the relief is visionary or not. An overproduction of cotton means low price cotton; an over production of wheat and corn should mean low prices for wheat and corn and the pinching of the pocket of the grower.

THEY DON'T LIKE THE PLAN.

AND now the members of the American Wholesale Coal Association have declared against all government regulation of or interference in the coal trade. Never gore an ox owned by the other fellow.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains

FIRE —by— Arthur B. Reeve

"All right, Mr. Kennedy, if you say so—and she wants to," Flaherty stood in the doorway where he could make a quick exit and at the same time do his duty of watching us all.

Irrita Millard stepped into the room. The light had been on just long enough for her to locate the position of the body.

Again Craig switched off.

"Oh-h! It must have—" The girl suddenly stopped.

Again the lights came up quickly. "Must have what?" demanded Kennedy quickly.

Irrita seemed suddenly to regain her self-possession. She seemed annoyed. "I must have been dreaming," she muttered. "I thought I saw her face glowing in the darkness and I was so frightened I hardly know what I did say."

Irrita was exceptionally beautiful and young. She possessed unusual limpid brown eyes and golden hair which had never been bobbed. It was high up on her head in the prevailing mode that Paris was then trying so industriously to re-establish in this country. She was slender, not very tall, carried herself with a dash and verve that would compel attention.

"I came to do the last few things for Mrs. Asche—Mr. Kennedy," she began.

Kennedy regarded her silently. But it did not seem to ruffle the composure she had regained.

"May I?" she pleaded.

"I'm afraid, Miss Millard," he replied slowly, "that will have to be postponed. But I can promise you I will let you know the moment it is possible. Where can I find you?"

"At my shop, or call the apartment on Fifty-ninth street. My maid will tell you."

"The shop? Where?"

"In the Broadway-Forty-fifth Street building."

"Oh! Where Professor Asche has his institute.

Craig watched her face. There was not the quiver of a muscle. She was a good actress.

"Let me see," she pursued. Isn't Doctor Davids in that physicians' building on Fifty-ninth street?"

"I believe he is." She nodded with a look of naive questioning that said, "What can that matter?"

"I will let you know the earliest moment I can. You will be ready?"

"At any moment. She was always so gentle and kind to me, seemed to appreciate all my efforts."

Kennedy bowed Irrita out into the corridor. Then, between them, Kennedy and Leslie, after Irrita had left, arranged for an autopsy to be held in Leslie's laboratory.

"And in this matter," added Craig, "I am your deputy? I shall need official status"

Leslie hastened to assure him.

It was then I saw what Kennedy was contemplating. He was bent on a visit, a surprise visit, immediately to Mrs Oakley Asche's house in the old Chelsea district.

The old Oakley house was distinctive. In front of it was the park with its well kept little lawn and ancient trees, with clumps of dense shrubbery.

The house conformed to the main lines of the old-fashioned red brick houses, with their monotonous high stoops now eliminated. At the door were two antique lanterns.

I looked out at the park again before I followed Craig into the interior. In the center of each side of the park fence was a high grilled gate, four in all. Only the owners of four of the houses on the square held the keys to these gates.

It was not without some difficulty that we got in. But Kennedy was a diplomat. He found that the maid, Marie, who came to the door, loved her mistress passionately. In his best phrasing he told her he had come to make inquiries about the death of her mistress, showed Doctor Leslie's credentials, and in a moment had Marie won.

To his inquiry Marie replied by leading the way up to the second floor. "Here is her boudoir, Doctor. The adjoining room is her bedroom.

Marie smiled as she saw my look of astonishment. The boudoir was bizarre, indeed. What with white columns wrapped in boa-constricter skins, one electric light shining from a rattler's mouth, as he coiled, stuffed, ready to strike, another shining from and through fossil resin of claret red, lights of innumerable odd conceptions, the book cases surmounted with a mummy head under glass, rugs made up of skins of all the pets for 60 years, it was characteristic.

"Mrs. Asche always did things unusual, y'know," explained Marie to Craig as he questioned her, leading on.

"How? What do you mean?"

"You asked about her papers, did you not? Well, here they are—some of them."

She bent over a stuffed Irish terrier and putting her hand about the dog's neck, pressed a concealed button. Immediately a little box dropped to the floor from the body.

Kennedy took the opportunity to run through the papers. Everything was in order, apparently untouched. Each little group of papers was in an envelope or neatly folded. Some of the envelopes were still sealed, intact. There were several bunches of keys. Craig looked at them all. One bunch he examined more curiously than the others. I saw that little reflective frown come between his eyes as he regarded minutely one key that was tagged. Then he dropped them all slowly back in their places without a word.

"May I see her creams and lotions which she used at home to preserve that marvelous complexion of hers?" asked Craig next.

"Through that door," Marie pointed to the bedroom.

We entered. It might have been the room of a little girl, all yellow maple with sea-green silk hanging.

Over on the dressing table, indicated Marie, "There is her beauty clay—something she mixed herself. I have hated to shut it up. It was the last thing she touched, you know. Her creams are there, too, everything she used afterward."

Craig went over and looked carefully, smelling the clay, then laying it back in the jar on the glass-topped table. "Did she use much of this Marie?"

"Glory be!" The girl threw up her hands with an air that suggested an endless stream of creams and lotions. "I don't believe there was ever a new cream or clay or powder that was put on the market that she didn't get. She tried them all—everything."

Craig behind me, had been examing the clay carefully again. How he dipped his finger into the jar. Marie brought him several bottles which he rinsed, then took in them specimens of the clay and of the creams and other toilet articles Marie said she used most.

Questions From the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

Answering the Man Who Searched in Vain for One Unselfish Woman—Silencing the Tactless Husband Who Sings to Wife No. 2 the Praises of Wife No. 1, Must a Poor Young Man Give an Engagement Ring?

Dear Miss Dix: For years I have tried in this big city to discover somewhere in its labyrinthian streets one single unselfish woman, one woman whose goddess exceeded her unfathomable conceit. But I have failed and have become a confirmed woman hater, one who sees all women as parasites. Their unfairness before marriage, gnawing like so many rats into the substance of a man's earnings, just for their own selfish pleasure. Reducing by their employment in offices and shops the wage scale of the young man who is to strive for their future home and happiness. Spending every cent of their plundered wage to satisfy their conceited tastes for clothing of questionable nn testy and for cosmetics hideous in their unnaturalness.

Unmindful of their purposes in life, untutored in the arts of the home, their silly heads as empty of anything worth while as their hearts are of the true comradship that made men in the olden days proud to love, honor and respect them. I maintain that women are parasites, unworthy of men's respect. Am I wrong, or am I right?

DISGUSTED.

Answer:

Wrong. Absolutely and teetotally wrong. You are judging all women by some inferior specimen of the sex that you have chanced to meet, which is as unfair a thing as it would be to say that there are no good apples because you have happened to get a rotten one.

You say that you have searched the city in vain, hunting for an unselfish woman. Why, I can point them out to you by the thousands anywhere. If you want to see one of the commonest and also one of the most beautiful of the species, take a look at the next mother that you see going down the street pushing a perambulator with one hand and holding on to a toddling little child with the other.

The woman will be poorly dressed, and there will be many brown paper parcels in the foot of the baby carriage, for she will have been shopping around at the cash-and-carry groceries and at cut-rate butcher shops, trying to make one dollar do the work of five in feeding the hungry family.

There won't be anything mysterious looking about the woman, but nevertheless she is a shining marvel of unselfishness.

For she has offered herself up body and soul on the altar of her home. She works harder than any slave making her husband and children comfortable and taking care of them. She spends sleepless nights nursing them when they are sick. She eats what is left over when they are fed. She wears the poorest clothes. She stays at home when they go pleasuring. She does without everything that it is possible to do without, that her girls may be well dressed and her boys go to college.

And not one but thousands and thousands of women give these daily and hourly exhibitions right before your eyes.

You complain in one breath of women being parasites and in the next of their earning their own living, so pray, what is a poor girl to do? She has to live, and if no man will support her she must support herself, and isn't it a far finer thing for her to earn her bread and butter honestly than for her to grft it? And don't you really think that a woman has the same right to life, liberty and the pursuit of a good job as a man has?

And don't forget this, that every self-supporting woman sets her brother free to marry, which he could not do if he had a lot of helpless sisters hanging around his neck.

So take a fairer look at your sister woman, Mr. Disgusted. There are women who are silly and frivolous and gold diggers, just as there are plenty of men who are brainless and worthless loafers.

But there are also tender, unselfish, wise, good women, just as there are men made in the image of God.

Alleged Liquor Dealer Shot, Dies

ST. LOUIS, June 10.—(AP)—Henry Daugherty, 39, alleged bootlegger, died in a hospital today from a wound received last night when he resisted an attempt to rob him. Robert Burton, 18, of Dallas, was arrested and was identified by the dying man as his assailant.

Lyrics of Life
By Douglas Malloch

TREASURE

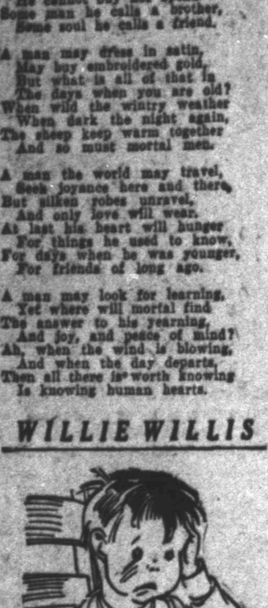

A man may lay up treasure
A thing he ought to do,
And yet, to give him pleasure
When busy days are through,
His heart will need another
He cannot buy nor spend—
Some man he calls a brother,
Some soul he calls a friend.

A man may dress in satin,
May buy embroidered gold,
But what is all of that in
The days when you are old?
When will the wintry weather
When dark the night again,
The sheep keep warm together
And so must mortal men.

A man the world may travel,
Seek joyance here and there,
But silken robes unravel,
And only love will wear.
At last his heart will hunger
For things he used to know,
For days when he was younger,
For friends of long ago.

A man may look for learning,
Yet where will mortal find
The answer to his yearning,
And joy, and peace of mind?
Ah, when the wind is blowing,
And when the day departs,
Then all there is worth knowing
Is knowing human hearts.

What Do You Know About It?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. What is uranium?
2. What is a halogen?
3. What is meant by chemical sublimination?
4. What is a molecule?
5. What is an atom?
6. What is barium?

So plentiful and cheap is glass that we are apt to forget that in some ways it is the most marvelous substance in our houses. Few other substances in nature are transparent, and perhaps no others so permanent if not broken, for glass resists every acid and corrosive substance except fluorine and never "wears" out as even steel can do with use. Also glass can be made to take any desired shape, and can be wrought into more elaborate forms than any metal or substance whatsoever that has the least durability; also it can be spun to almost microscopic fineness without breaking. These properties, and other chemical properties of glass have convinced scientists that glass is not a solid but an infinitely viscous liquid.

Now what do you know about that?

Answer to yesterday's questions:

1. A tree and a shrub can be roughly differentiated by saying that a tree is tall and a shrub low, but this distinction does not always hold; trees are generally not branched at the base, but most shrubs send up several or many stems from the same root.

2. Besides pines one may see hemlocks, spruces, balsams and cedars in the Christian markets.

3. Turpentine is obtained from the pitch and short-leaf and long-leaf pines of the Atlantic coast.

4. Pine seeds are eaten for food by the Indians of California.

5. There is no state in the union which has no native pines.

6. The rarest pine of the United States is the Torrey Pine of San Deigo and of Santa Rosa Island, California.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE
GEMINI

Today's planetary aspects are adverse, and continue so until after sunset, when they assume a more hopeful nature. The effects of the unfavorable influences that prevail will be felt more so far as the emotions are concerned than in relation to activities. There will be sensed a strong feeling of self-disappointment, which without apparent cause or reason, is liable to degenerate into a temperament of petulency. Every effort must be made to curb this tendency, as, under its control, you are liable to say and do things that will cause later regret. In the evening, the atmosphere will have entirely changed, and optimism will take the place of pessimism, and self-confidence that of self-abasement.

Children born today will suffer, according to the signs, from a variety of ailments during their infancy. None of them, however will reveal any alarming symptoms, and all of them will readily yield to ordinary treatment. They promise, in their teens, to grow out of all their early weaknesses, and attain a healthy adulthood. Temperamentally, they will be more artistic than practical, and their lives will be spent in the pursuit of the beautiful. They promise to possess wonderful characters—full of truth, Loyalty and affection—and even though they may not attain material success, they will radiate happiness wherever they may be.

If today is your birthday, you are extremely masterful, and are dominating without being domineering. You always know what you want and generally get it, in face of opposition or difficulty. There is no very strong spirit of compromise in your "make-up," and you are downright in both speech and action. Like all extremists, you are often guilty of some egregious blunders. Be is said, however, to your credit that, when these contingencies arise, you never put forth an alibi, but shoulder the blame yourself. You are not a painstaking student, but generally reach conclusions by short cuts. You are an indefatigable worker but, in your ambition for quick results, overlook, at times, important details.

Successful people born this date are:

Joshua Humphreys, shipbuilder.
Samuel Williston, philanthropist.
David Ames Wells, economist.
George H. Babcock, engineer and inventor.
Charles Frohman, theatrical manager.

ADDING FUEL TO THE FLAMES
My Opinion On a Prevailing Discussion.
By Sunny.

There's been a lot of arguments
About this daylight saving;
By some folks lots of time is spent
In senseless, useless raving.
The farmers say the scheme is bad,
The cities say it's dandy,
And so both of them get so mad
That bitter words they bandy.

And I suppose I ought to be
Delighted with the measure
Since one more hour it gives to me
That I can spend in pleasure;
Nor any pleasure can I find.
Dear Lover, so disarming,
That ever equals, to my mind,
One hour with you, Prince Charming.

Yet dear, I am against the plan,
Despite the extra hour!
I'm with the farmers to a man;
I think the scheme is sour!
And if I had my way a while
I'd bring the darkness sooner,
For daylight seems to cramp your style;
In darkness you're SOME spooner!

Her Father: Well, I don't know where hers are, but here's one of mine, and by the way, while you're here——

Harold: Yes, sir.

Her Father: I want to talk with you of your approaching marriage with my daughter. She told me all about it yesterday. Now what I want to know is: are you going to live with your folks, or are you going to stay here with me?

NORFOLK, Va., June 16.—(AP) The Laurentian, luxurious 150-foot yacht flying the New York Yacht club flag, is held in the lower harbor with a party of wealthy guests aboard while its captain, Benjamin Jarvis, faces charges of violating the federal prohibition law.

The yacht was seized by a coast guard patrol boat in the York river Monday night after she had returned from a trip to the Curls Neck estate of C. K. C. Billings on the James river. Chief Boatswain Buter, commander of the patrol boat, charged that he found 30 cases of liquor aboard and turned the captain and evidence over to United States Marshal Smithers at Norfolk.

Fred M. Alger, brother of Russell A. Alger, owner of the yacht, said at their home in Detroit last night that the vessel had been leased for three months to Billings. Members of the Billings family and a party of friends were said to be aboard when it was seized and elected to stay on the boat last night rather than to suffer the city heat.

Prince Orloff Is Dead After Duel

VIENNA, June 16.—(AP)—Tragedy still follows the recent duel on the estate of Baron Klinger near Raab, between the Russian prince, Cyril Vladimir Orloff, and the baron which culminated in the suicide of the wife of the baron and the wounding of both participants in the fight.

Prince Orloff is dead from pneumonia, probably due to a charge of buckshot from the baron's gun which so badly shattered his right arm that amputation was necessary. The baron was seriously wounded in the chest by a bullet from the Russian prince's rifle.

The duel grew out of what the baron considered undue attention paid by the prince to the baroness, considered one of the most beautiful women in Austria. It took place deep in the woods of the baronial estate after a violent quarrel between the two men. When the baroness learned of the affray she shot and killed herself.

BRIAND TRIES AGAIN

Appetite Gone?

A tempting, delicious looking meal—all the choicest morsels from a well stocked pantry. The fragrant aroma of all these good things failing to put a keen edge on your appetite—failing to arouse, in any degree, a hardy relish for the food so attractively placed before you. Why?

Scores of men and women are faced with the same misfortune. After a day of toil—when they are tired—when good things to eat should be ravishly sought to recharge their vitality and fit them for play time—their stomachs turn. They are worn down, played out. Food has no appeal. To them it is sickening. The aroma of appetising things nauseates them.

Red blood cells are missing. Red blood which should be coursing through your veins strengthening your vitality—adding to your strength—keeping you healthy and fit—is not to be found.

S. S. S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. What use is an automobile without a battery? What advantage is a dynamo without electricity? Your body is a human dynamo. Your blood cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. Weakened blood cells make you like the storage battery with dry cells—power is lacking—energy gone—productive qualities at the lowest ebb. S. S. S. supplies the red blood cells—the spark that recharges your system.

Mr. James Chaloupka, Sherman School, Chillicothe, Ohio, writes: "I feel like a new man after taking S. S. S. It gave me a better appetite and cleared my skin of pimples and blackheads."

Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S. S. S.—the great blood purifier. Give nature a helping hand. Get back the lost appetite—the missing vitality—the keen, sparkling eyes—that look of determination. The best way to start back over the road to well being is with S. S. S. Nerves will become stronger. S. S .S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor, and a more "up and going" appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all leading drug stores. Try a bottle and see for yourself. The large size bottle is more economical. Get one today.

THE GIFT OF TONGUES

Over in France the average doughboy had a gorgeous confidence in his ability to speak the language of the country. In a Norman village one day a perplexed looking private, who had not been abroad very long, approached a seasoned campaigner of the A. E. F. and asked the latter if he spoke French.

"Sure I speak French," said the veteran. "What's the matter?"

"Here's what's the matter," said the green soldier. "The Frog that keeps that shop yonder across the street sold me some post cards, and I gave him a ten franc note, and now he's holding out part of my money on me. I wish you'd come on over there with me and straighten the thing out and make that guy hand me what's coming to me."

"Sure I, will," said the other.

Moved by curiosity, a friend of mine trailed behind them, arriving just in time to hear the following dialogue between the linguist and the storekeeper:

"Parlez voo Fransay?"

"Oui, oui, monsieur."

"Then, why the hell don't you give this here boy his right change?"

Panhandle Field Town Is Destroyed

AMARILLO, June 16.—(AP)—The oil feild town of Borger early this morning was at work cleaning up the debris following a $175,000 fire which swept up the main street yesterday, leavnig half a dozen razed buildings and the ashes of a whole row of little wooden store rooms in its path.

The flames ragged over two hours, before the combined efforts of a bucket brigade and a blasting crew, which dynamited a building that lay in the path of the flames, conquered the blaze.

The fire was said to have started in a theater which was giving its opening performance. Several score children in the place marched out to safety.

Spudders Drop Game After Winning Six Straight

SHIPPERS GET TO LONG JIM AT STIFF GAIT

Home Nine Hammers Dana Fillingim From Hill In Fifth

Wichita Falls' Spouting Spudders halted a moment Wednesday in defense of the home fortress. Jim Galloway's busting Beaumonters shook up Jim Roberts in the early frames for sufficient runs to cop the ordinary game and then nudged over three more late at Freddy Fussell's inconvenience, shelving the Wichita Falls winning streak at the six mark. The score was 10 to 7.

The Shippers rifled 15 base blows to virgin territory, but at that, deserved only 7 tallies. Three enemy markers were of the technically unearned variety. A break in the second let in a run and a boot in the eighth after there were two out shunted two more over.

The Spudders shot Dana Fillingrim full of holes, but Dana went out in the sixth for a pinch hitter and Hansen twirled comparatively neat ball the remainder of the way. With two out in the ninth and the foreigners holding the upper hand by a 10-5 figure, Hansen either let up or the midgets Lamb and Turgeon just naturally weren't going to die hard. They larruped lusty homers over the port wall. Jenkins pulled the good-night close-up with a dirty drive that swished straight to Dunning in left. The ball was hit hard enough, but needed more elevation.

Spuds Score First

Pete and Tut, by the way, were the slugging masters of the day along with Guy Dunning of the guests. Turgeon combed two singles and the homer. Jenkins singled thrice. Dunning came in for a pair of doubles and an infield safety. Yank Davis opened the drive on Jim in the second with a kolt over the richt field fence.

Rabbit Benton, the wee inner gardner, obtained from Shreveport in the Distel trade, played first base in place of Carl Williams, who has been subbing lately for Washburn. Wash is out with a cut catching hand. Carl jerked an ankle ligament the day before. The Rabbit fielded snappily and injected a pair of bingles that sent three Spudders across the dish.

A trio of double plays spoiled the home guard's best opportunities to win. The Beaumont infield we on its bicycles Wednesday.

A bevy of bingles bopped by Turge, Jenkins and Benton scored one for the natives in the opening round, but hits by Dunning and Robertson following Yank's four-bagger in the third led to a double pilfering foray that gave the invaders a 2-1 lead. Wichita Falls poked Fillingim hard in the second and third but got nowhere. Oliver and Connolly paired doubles on Roberts in the Beaumont third to score another.

Punch Dana in Fifth

The Spudders went down painlessly in the fourth but belted Dana industriously in the fifth, grabbing four runs and copping the advantage. Lapan started with a double to right center. He advanced to third on Jim's infield out. Then Lamb, Turgeon, Jenkins and Benton flipped a flossy set of one-basers through and over the inner works, chasing the quartet across.

They routed Jim in the next round, Galloway's boys did. Combined a trio of blows with a walk and passed ball to score three runs and leave another on third. Fussell fell heir to the heaving and got two out with third base still occupied. Then Reagan popped a banjo hit into left for the score.

The home guard failed to solve Hansen in the sixth, seventh and eighth. Came the ninth and the urchins made their last stand, two-home run spurt.

Two walks and a double by Reagan, that Lambie may have held onto if the center field fence hadn't interrupted him in mid-flight, filled the bases with Beaumonters in the eighth after there were two down. Tony realized the misfortune of missing a bounder at the wrong time. Oliver sneaked a roller through short, scoring two runs. Metzler retired the side with a startling stab of slam to right by Galloway. Two bingles and a walk scored the final Beaumont run in the ninth. Hansen himself produced the run-getting smack, a skidded past second.

The rubber game is carded this afternoon.

Squeeze Play By White Sox Beats Senators

Kamm and Falk Engineer Fast One to Score Winning Run

CHICAGO, June 16.—(AP)—A squeeze play by Falk and Kamm put across the winning run today in the sixth inning which enabled Chicago to make it three out of four from Washington by taking the final game, 5 to 2. With the score tied Falk singled and went to third on Barrett's double. Kamm squeezed Falk across the plate with his sacrifice bunt. Both Lyons and Johnson were hit hard. The score:

Matty Would Meet Two in One Night

Efforts to obtain Jack Reynolds as Matty Matsuda's opponent in a milk fund benefit match here next week having failed, Matchmaker Ross wired the Jap for permission to bill him with Joe Parelli of Chicago and Dutch Mantell on the same night.

The Jap replied, "Sure, get Dutch and Parelli. I come up for both."

Parrelli twice defeated Mantell in Amarillo, Dutch's present home, and is rougher by far than Mantell.

The matches have not been arranged, neither Mantell nor Parelli having been approached yet.

Great Alexander Is Suspended For Violating Rules

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—(AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, has been suspended "for breaking training regulations and failing to appear in uniform on the field," it became known today.

Although Joe McCarthy, manager of the Cubs, would not go into details regarding Alexander's suspension, he said that the latter had broken training rules on several occasions and more than once failed to appear on the field.

McCarthy added that he did not know the present whereabouts of Alexander and that when he does show up he will order him to return to Chicago.

MILWAUKEE HALTED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 16.—(AP)—Milwaukee's march toward a world record for consecutive victories was halted today by Toledo after the Brewers had scored 21 consecutive victories. McNamara was the victorious pitcher, the game ending at 9 to 6. The string of victories establishes a new league record. The record, 26 straight, is held by the New York Giants.

KNOCKS OUT CHIEF

EL PASO, June 16.—(AP)—After having been knocked down six times in the fourth round and barely able to weather the fifth, Jack Lynch, Arizona light heavyweight, came back in the sixth round of a scheduled 12-round bout at Fort Bliss stadium last night and knocked out his opponent, Chief Elkart, Indian fighter from Oklahoma.

TOP O' MORN STUFF

STAFF SHOT AGAIN?

Boss Brainard finds himself in a more or less pickled situation again today as regards pitchers. Jim's shoulder got to bothering yesterday in the second stanza, but he squeezed through for several innings in fair form only to be upset again in the sixth. Kiefer's time to work this afternoon, but Joe is beset with very much the same malady. It's hardly likely he'll be used.

* * *

She's the rubber game, coming right at the stage that it means almost as much as two to win and three or four to lose, figuratively speaking.

* * *

Paddy Martin looks very much like the selection. However, Brainard declared last night that he wasn't even in a position to guess as to his probable choice. Should Paddy work and get away with it, he will have done something few left-handers have this season. Galloway's club seems to take to southpaw slants like a flapper to "shot" near beer.

* * *

Williams may be able to resume mound duty but, he was limping around on a foot and a half yesterday.

* * *

REASON FOR WRATH

So far, Beaumont has a decided edge on the Spudders. The Shippers copped two and tied one on their first trip to this section. They won two out of three at Beaumont. Split here in two games this visit. That's a 5 to 2 score. All of which serves to ignite the fuse that touches off the volcanic wrath imprisoned in Spudder breasts. Given anything like fair hurling this afternoon, Brainard's bruisers should cop.

* * *

ALL HET UP.

Exceedingly agitated over various articles carried in these columns the past several days anent the bar room brawls scheduled Friday night at the arena under direction of the Wichita Falls Wrestling association, Matchmaker Alec Ross, a nice boy but one who gets excited easily, has issued a defi, an ultimatum or something.

Says he, "If you know so much about these fellows Mantell and Anderson, and think they can't put up a first class, clean exhibition of wrestling and still give action for the fans, suppose you referee the matches and see to it that they do!"

* * *

IS THAT NICE?

Now, that was an unkind, also unnecessary cut coming from Alec that way. There's no man living who can make either Anderson or Mantell stage a clean exhibition unless it be some opposing wrestler who gives 'em tit for tat so hard that they calm down out of self defense. We told this to Ross. Whereupon his comeback is, "Yeah, you're afraid to get into the ring with those fellows, that's all!"

* * *

Mebbe so, mebbe so. It all depends on the circumstances. Mantell wrestles Yaqui Joe. He will have his hands full, and as long as Joe is in there why should anybody else be afraid of the Dutchman? The same holds true in the Anderson-Fox match. This deduction was laid out before the irate mat promoter. His only reply was a laugh and "But YOU won't get in there!"

* * *

CAWN'T BE HELPED.

Kind of a challenge, that. So we're going to "get in there." Never umpired a wrassel before. Probably never will after this. But what have you?

* * *

DOUBLE-CROSSED.

Looks suspiciously like a frame-up on yours truly. Not so sure whether the "wrestling match" is going to be between Dutch and Ynqui, Dutch and Blondy, or all three of us. Judging by past performances of the monkey-man, it'll probably be the latter with the writer striving earnestly to run at least a good third. We shall see what we shall see!

Cubs Make It Two

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—(AP)—The Cubs made it two out of three by winning the final game of the series with Philadelphia today 4 to 1. Sheriff Blake turned the Phillies to-rough hits, two of which came in the eighth and gave the locals their only run. Chicago batted the local pitchers hard but sharp fielding kept down the scoring. Brilliant Bobby Shows The Way To American Golfers

LONDON, June 16.—(AP)—Bobby Jones with a record smashing 66 for the unusually dificult Sunningdale course today finished far in front of the Americans—and everybody else—in the first of two qualifying rounds of the British open golf championship.

Jones led the field of southern district qualifiers at Sunningdale while his fellow Atlantan young Watts Gunn with a sterling 72 tied Walter Hagen for first place honors in the central section at St. Anne's. No Americas competed in the northern section at Western Gails, Scotland.

Cats Recover Batting Eyes And Beat Cubs

Wayne Windle Surprises Fans by Ripping Out Four Hits

FORT WORTH, June 16.—(AP)—The Fort Worth Panthers recovered their eye and beat Waco in a free hitting game Wednesday afternoon, 9 to 7. Wayne Windle, Cat shortstop, got four safe blows in as many times at bat. Pratt, sub-second sacker, was the heavy hitter for Waco, getting a home run and a triple. Usual got three singles. Rudlin, Waco's young pitching star, had his luster dimmed by the Cats Wednesday afternoon, letting in eight runs and allowing five hits and four walks. Betts for the Panthers allowed 13 hits but managed to stick it out successfully. The score:

Bears Paw Herd

DALLAS, June 16.—(AP)—San Antonio's Bears took a weird game from the league leading Steers with a seventh inning rally which netted seven runs. The final score was 12 to 7.

It was a battle of boots, muffs, errors and bad throws between the pennant contenders. Pitching as a whole was nothing to brag about, except for Jim Lindsey's performance of fanning the side in ninth after having been called in as a Bear's relief tosser. Dallas' lead was cut in two games. By winning Thursday's scheduled doubleheader, the Bears can deadlock matters for the top. The score:

Peel Helps Buffs

SHREVEPORT, June 16.—(AP)—Homer Peel's bat played a prominent part in Houston's 9 to 3 victory that gave them an even break in the second of a three-game series here this afternoon. He made three hits in five times at bat and all were doubles and counted heavily in the run making. The Buffs made four runs off Blankenship in the first inning and Gleason relieved him in the second. Davenport pitched good ball but wildness caused him to be relieved in the seventh. SMOKE LUPHER HOLDS BANKERS IN 7 INNINGS

Pitcher Not Only Twirls Effectively But Leads Hitting Attack

Smoke Pupher went to the rescue of Jimmie Parker Wednesday afternoon in time to win a ball game for the Texhoma Oilers over the Security National Bank team, 6 to 4. Lupher went into the game in the first inning and forced two men to go out on easy plays. In the second he was cold and three hits were turned into one run. In the third they collected a walk and a triple by Shipley for another run. In the fourth inning that followed the Bankers never got a man on first base. Only two balls went to the outfield and both of these were easy flies to Dudley Skeen in left.

Lupher also led the attack on the Security club with three singles in four times at the bat. Jelly Rosser hit two for two. Kellogg hit two out of three, and both Taylor and Skeen hit two out of four.

Jimmie Shipley was the big man in the Security offense. Shipley hit two out of three and drove three of his team's four runs over the platter. Very little could be done to Gabe Harris until Dudley Skeen lined one back through the box that numbed a finger on Harris' pitching hand. From that time on he was nicked and often until he was relelved by Speer.

Andy Taylor's punch in the fifth gave the Texahoma the lead after they had trailed the Bankers until this point. With the lead and the steady heaving of Lupher the Oilers had very little trouble from there on.

KING BENNAH MAKES COMEBACK GESTURES IN PURSUIT OF LATZO'S WELTER CROWN

Player Market In Majors Closes Until August 31

Many New Performers Are Acquired by all Big Time Clubs

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—The major league player market is closed until August 31.

In the last rush a few deals were made public, but the major transaction did not come from the New York Giants; it was engineered by none other than that slim veteran who has become a part of Philadelphia baseball benchers—Connie Mack.

Mack's first move was to obtain Bill (Baby Doll) Jacobson from the St. Louis Browns for Edmund (Bing) Miller, both players being outfielders. Then he shifted Jacobson and Pitchers Bryan Harriss and Fred Heimach, right handed south paw, respectively, for pitcher Howard Ehmke of Boston, formerly of the Detroit mound staff.

At the same time, the New York Yankees gained the services of a much desired lefthanded pinch hitter in Roy Carlyle through waiver from Boston.

Manager McGraw of the Giants announced the signing of the college pitcher, Al Smith, and the college outfielder, Joe Connell, both from Villa Nova. Catcher James Boyle from St. Xavier's college, Cincinnati, also reported to the Giants. The previous day McGraw exchanged Outfielder Bill Southworth for Heinie Mueller, St. Louis Cardinals gardener.

Brooklyn has signed Jim Silver, former Notre Dame catcher and captain, who used to catch Ownie Carroll, formerly with Detroit and now with Toronto, when they were in preparatory school in Newark, N. J.

Washington announced the purchase of the Cuban left hander, Emilio Palmero, from Columbus of the American Association, while Cleveland released Pitcher Ace Welden to Terre Haute and placed Catcher Chick Autrey and Pitcher Carl Yowell on the retired list.

In parting with Jacobson, the Browns have dropped the second of the men who for seven years constituted one of the greatest of hitting outfields. Jacobson's mates were Johnny Tobin, now with the Washington Senators, and Ken Williams, who remains with the Browns, but is said to be on the way elsewhere.

AUSTIN, June 16.—(AP)—The supreme court today reappointed four of the five members of the state board of legal examiners. They are: Former Governor Joseph D. Sayres, Austin, Ben H. Gardner, Palestine; John H. Dickett Jr., San Antonio, and A. L. Goggins of Dallas. The term of W. M. Sleeper of Waco has not expired.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

Fred Duesenberg and Harry Miller have monopolized the glory of the annual Indianapolis 500-mile auto race for the last three years. In 1924 and 1925 Duesenberg engines triumphed in the blue ribbon event. This year one of Miller's engines drove his "Miller Special" to victory, under the master handling of Lockhart.

The two ran into each other (figuratively speaking) the other day at Hot Springs, Ark., and the talk turned toward motors, of course.

And both are of the opinion that the engines used in the cars in next year's classic will boast of 7,000 revolutions per minute, that their speed will be much greater and that their success will eventually lead to increasing speed of common pleasure autos at least 25 per cent.

Babe Ruth is thundering along the home-run trail again—in his old time form. He is shooting at his world's record of 59 homers in a season and has a chance to equal that mark if he continues at his present gait.

Ruth's value to the Yankees, however, does not lie alone in his ability to turn a baseball into a Mauser bullet aimed at outlying precincts of the city. He is the barometer—or rather his home runs are—of the New York club.

When he's hitting the club is winning.

When he's off his stride for a day or two it's nip and tuck with the team.

And in a measure that has always been true. The Yanks reached the peak when Ruth was at his best. It was through his off years—summers when pleasure, games of chance and upwise companions lured him—that the Yankees, too, fell into devious ways.

It looks very much as though the Yanks' chances this year depend for the most part, on Babe Ruth and his trusty bat.

* * *

INTERESTING BITS OF FAN FODDER

Benny Bengough, hard working little catcher of the Yankees, was benched in the spring when Pat Collins, newcomer, showed his prowess at the bat. The other day Bengough was sent into the first game of the season—and celebrated his return from Elba with a double that cleared the bases.

* * *

Failure of Frank Emmer to stand the gaff, despite the advance notice concerning this veteran shortstop, has caused the Cinci Reds to go into the market for more shortstopping material. They have just purchased Lee Cunningham, shortfield star of the Greenville club of the East Texas league.

Whether it is for publicity purposes or because he is genuinely sincere, Benny Leonard is making comeback gestures. King Bennah, retired, avers that he would like to take on Pete Latzo now that Mickey Walker has been temporarily shunted aside. Benny, who has been absent from fisticuffs for about two years, maintains that he is in wonderful shape, that he has been doing light work all the time, etc. The usual stock stuff of the comeback boys. Nevertheless, Leonard is far from being in bad shape, physically. His theatrical work his kept excess poundage from his frame, and he really appears able to step out and do his old stuff—or something like it. Leonard can find plenty of backing for a bout with Pete Latzo, despite the fact that he hasn't fought since he outpointed Pal Moran in New Orleans two years ago.

* * *

However, there is no denying the fact that inactivity in the past, has wrought disaster for many great fighting men. The Jeffries case is probably the best known, owing to the extraordinary interest attached to his attempted disposal of the "white man's burden" against Jack Johnson. Jeff had been loafing, taking life easy and even drinking a bit for six years when he decided to have it out with the giant black. Due to his life of leisure, Jeff, when he started to work for the battle, weighed in the neighborhood of 300 pounds. Jeff toiled and sweated on the road and in the gym for a solid year. When he stepped into the Reno ring against Johnson the big fellow appeared to be physically as good as ever. His anatomy had been pared down to fighting weight, and there was every indication that he would put up a terrific battle against the powerful black man.

Appearances Deceive.

However, appearances were extremely deceiving. He was hopelessly outclassed. During the entire bout, except for a brief three minutes of the fourth round, Jeffries didn't exhibit one trace of his ancient fighting form.

Once in a while, though, there are some startling "comebacks" to array against the lengthy list of failures on the belated encore. Terrible Terry McGovern once made one of the best of the kind on record. Terry went into the ring against Harlem Tommy Murphy after being out of commission for about two years. McGovern in addition to his long idleness had suffered a severe mental breakdown. Murphy at the time was young and ambitious, with plenty of Queensberry talent. Even Terry's old friends frankly admitted that it looked like an ill-advised business, owing to Terry's sickness and long lay-off.

"McGovern trained hard up at Johnson's roadhouse on Jerome avenue. Terry gave out the statement that he had never felt much finer in his whole life, and that Harlem Tommy would surely be in for a most tempestuous evening. Every one was rooting for Terry, but it didn't appear to be in the cards that he could account for the clever, sharp hitting young Harlemite.

Terry was 25; Murphy five years younger. McGovern had seen his best days, having been knocked out for the second time by Young Corbett. Murphy had his whole career in front of him. An interesting phase of the bout concerned the reason why Terry had convinced himself that he wanted to fight some more. It wasn't merely to satisfy his pride, to prove to himself that he wasn't yet a back number. McGovern really entered that fight in a spirit of revenge. Shortly before that the youngster, Murphy, had whipped old George Dixon (Lil' Chocolate) in two rounds. Years back McGovern had won the featherweight title from the wonderful colored boy. Terry had witnessed the humiliation of Dixon by Murphy, and on the spot he made up his mind to reap revenge for poor, decrepit Dixon. McGovern had always admired Dixon.

Soul-Stirring Conflict.

It was a soul-stirring conflict while it lasted, which was less than three minutes. McGovern, after being in a bad way from Murphy's punches, unleashed one of his old-time lethal slams on the chin, and Harlem Tommy stretched out on the canvas, senseless. Perhaps it was luck that Terry "got over" that slam when he did, but the fact remained that it rated as a big thing for Terry, the man who could come out of the mists to beat the daylights out of a young, hopeful opponent.

Another comeback worthy of mention was that of Willie Ritchie against Champion Benny Leonard in Newark seven years ago. Ritchie had been out of the ring for more than a year when he managed to astound the sporting fraternity by holding Benny Leonard even in a four-rounder on the coast. The feat caused such a sensation that Leonard and Ritchie were promptly matched for a regulation championship engagement.

The ex-champion trained desperately for two months, but was not quite up to the task in the second meeting. Leonard was extended to the utmost, but ultimately punched the old champion helpless just 40 seconds before the eighth and closing round. Ritchie, however, had put up an excellent battle, and was by no means disgraced when Referee Slim Brennan stopped the battle to save Ritchie from an almost certain knockout and perhaps a serious injury.

No such heroic displays were made by Jess Willard and little Jimmy Wilde when these two boxers finally made up their minds to fight again. Willard had been out of the game for practically three years when he faced Jack Dempsey at Toledo. On the surface he looked well enough, and he had undoubtedly trained faithfully. Willard received one of the worst beatings ever given a fighter before retiring from the ring as the fourth round was about to start.

The bout between Pancho Villa and Jimmy Wilde was something of a repetition of the grewsome Willard-Dempsey affair. Little Wilde, who had been out of the ring two and a half years, was scarcely even a shell of his old self. He was unable to offer even the mildest sort of opposition, finally being crushed and broken in the seventh round.

Leonard looks good, and he may still have his old stuff. Only a battle with Latzo will definitely fix his status as a comeback, however.

Tommy White Surprises W. F. Fistic Fandom by Beating Ancient Rival, Speedy Sparks

By BLONDY CROSS

Tommy White, the surprising little Texas City fistic fellow, ducking, weaving and swinging an overhand right as he charged in, shooting a tantalizing left at close quarters, completely outscored Speedy Sparks of Lawton in the legion's 12-round fight feature last night at the Eleventh and Ohio arena.

During the late sessions, White all but sent Sparks sprawling to the canvas under a series of left upper cuts and sharp-shooting right hooks. The four frames immediately preceding the final round saw a different Sparks than the debonair Speedy who had beat all comers in the middleweight class the past several years on the American Legion's punch programs. For the former jaunty southpaw was but a sad relic of those fight as under a rain of blows that ranged from the belt line to the top of his shock-haired dome. Speedy staggered about the ring, a beaten fighter whose only purpose, so it appeared, was to hang on and stick the route.

Not Old Sparks.

In justice to the Lawton flash, Sparks did not seem himself Wednesday night. He wasn't the Sparks of other days. It may be that Tommy was better than ever before here; it may be that the short-armed infighting midget, is becoming more proficient after years of ring warfare instead of beginning the decline that overtakes every veteran of the roped arena, every fighter who has weathered such stormy battles as Tommy has traveled through. It may be that, but in all due respect to Tommy's prowess as a ringster, Speedy looked stale, off color.

Nonetheless, the fistic wreath goes to the stocky, flat-footed, close-quarter terror from the bayou regions of Texas. Little Tommy led all the way, started in at a fast clip and held the speed throughout.

During only one round did Sparks appear anything like his one-time fighting self. That was the fifth, when he scored effectively and with regularity, using a ranging right jab to the mush and crossing with his ever dangerous left to the equator. White was set back on his heels often during this stage of the melee and was shaken up copsiderably but not necessarily dangerously.

White had Sparks missing at the first gong and barring the fifth frame and occasional other flurries by Speedy, kept it up throughout.

Sparks possibly deserved a draw in the third as result of a whizzing left hook to the face that shook White heavily, but the midget rallied and came back to score a point victory, jabbing away like a steam riveter at close quarters.

White enjoyed so much the better of the fourth that it was more than an upset to expectations the way Sparks fore back in the fifth to cop the round by a neat margin.

The Texas City pummeler earned the sixth by virtue of a methodical tattoo beaten at close quarters on Sparks' chin. The blows were not stiff enough to upset anybody, but came with such regularity, traveling from four to six inches that Sparks developed a moon-eyed expression.

Both scored quite effectively in the seventh with Sparks fighting his next best round, standing toe-to-toe with the mite who bowed his backed and slugged away.

The eighth through the eleventh were all White's with Sparks, punch drunk, heavy-hoofed, missing flagrantly but catching almost everything. The final round was White's by a shade. Sparks looked better, landed a few to the short ribs and tied Tommy up fairly effectively in the clinches.

Monte Wins.

Wildcat Monte had all the better of a six-rounder with Pug Humphries of Lawton, although a timid referee name-facedly called it a draw, apologizing before uttering the verdict. The rabble would have yapped either way. Who cares?

Monte took four of the six rounds with a left jab and slapping right that occasionally turned into a solid hook and once or twice, a genuine cross. If the little fellow could learn to shoot that right straight he would be almost unbeatable.

The first round was a fair draw and the fifth, a slow affair that was a possible shade for Monte.

Texan's Tennis Is Brilliant In Defeat of Star

Berkley Bell Provides Sensation on Courts of Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, June 16.—(AP)—The men's singles tournament entered the fourth round in the 26th annual championship of the Missouri Valley Tennis association at the Rockhill club here this afternoon with the favorites victorious again.

One of the most spectacular matches of the afternoon came when Berkeley Bell, the Austin, Texas, junior, defeated L. S. Baker, Kansas City, 6-3, 6-4. Baker, who recently came to Rockhill from Chicago, is noted for his steady game and ranks in the first three in the Kansas City district. Bell whipped the back line consistenly and ran Baker all over the court. He played brilliantly at the net and frequently gained the applause of the gallery on hard shots. Bell entered the quarter finals and will meet H. Holbrook Hyde, Hartford, Conn., southern New England champion, who defeated Johnny Hubbell, Kansas City, today.

Wray Brown, St. Louis, tournament favorite, defeated Fred Royer, Dallas, present Missouri valley intercollegiate champion from the University of Oklahoma, 6-3, 6-4. Royer, a less experienced player, had the score deuced at three all in the first set.

Phil Bagby, one of the Kansas City's first three players, eleminated Joe Smith, St. Louis junior champion, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2, and Junior Coen, the 14-year-old Kansas City boy player, put out Ray Phelps, Omaha, 6-1, 6-1.

Late today Harris Goggeshall, Des Moines, fought a batile with Muir Rogers, one of Kansas City's crack players and only came off with a victory after three deuce sets, 7-9, 7-5, 8-6. Coggeshall, an excellent stroker, and Junior valley champion last year, found Rogers exceedingly difficult to eliminate, half the games going to deuce. Coggeshall appeared to have a shade of advantage over Rogers in physical condition.

Mantell Says He's Ready To "Sock Somebody Jaw"

Dutch Mantell, the Columbus wildman who is billed with Yaqui Joe, the Sonora Indian, Friday night at the Eleventh and Ohio arena in finah match, has written The Record News sports editor declaring he is in great condition and ready to give "a solid sock on somebody's jaw."

The Dutchman broke a wrist and finger a couple of months or so ago, but he has been training in Hot Sulphur Springs, N. M., the past several weeks and says he's at the peak of condition. Declaring his wrist and finger are all okeh now he added the reference to his being ready to sock somebody.

Mantell, who has been away from the city quite a time up in the mountains evidenly hasn't heard yet about the choice articles printed on this page recently about his avarice for roughness and foul tactics.

His letter is of a very friendly nature and he asks that his regards be given to "all his Wichita Falls friends." The Dutchman, outside of the ring, is a pretty decent sort of a chap, but on the canvas he is exactly the converse.

Dutch says he's ready to take on all comers, "the tougher they are the better I like 'em."

GRANT MANDAMUS

AUSTIN, June 16.—(AP)—Writ of mandamus was granted the Gulf Coast and Santa Fe lines compelling District Judge J. C. Canty, of Galveston county to enter judgment in the case of H. D. Wright, who sought $6,000 damages done to an eye, while Wright was an employe of the company. The supreme court held that when a jury renders a verdict the court had no discretion and could not set aside on the grounds that there is an "irreconcilable conflict" in answers of the jury.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—An early decline in the cotton market today on reports of continued good weather and crop progress over the greater part of the belt was followed by rallies. After selling off to 16.32, October rallied to 16.37 and closed at 16.33, the general market closing steady at a net advance of three to five points in response to ower Liverpool cables. Active months soon showed net losses of about four to six points, and there was probably selling in anticipation of a favorable weekly report fro mthe weather bureau and a generally favorable weather map.

July eased off to 17.47 and December to 16.27, but at these figures offerings diminished. There were rallies later in the day on covering by recent sellers which appeared to be combined with buying for trade or investment account.

The weekly report of the weather bureau read quite as favorably as expected but evidently had been discounted. The afternoon rally may have been promoted by the relatively steady ruling of July contracts on covering. At the close July was 136 points over October, compared with a difference of 127 points at the close yesterday. The rally carried July up to 17.49 and December to 16.40, but the close was a few points off from the best on new crop deliveries.

The forecast for showers in the eastern belt brought in a little selling during midday but offerings were comparatively light and the afternoon advance was accompanied by continued complaints of drouthy conditions in parts of the Carolinas and Georgia.

A report published by a private authority before the opening placed the crop prospects as of June 3, at 14,160,000 bales. This report was commented upon as considerably below the figures recently talked of as a probable end-June outlook, but it was claimed that the crop had improved rapidly since the date of these returns.

Exports today 52,832, making 7,709,299 so far this season. Port receipts 14,398; U. S. port stocks 761,921 bales.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, June 16.—(AP)—The cotton market developed moderate activity today and prices fluctuated rather erratically in the early portion of th eession but firmed up later on, owing to the stronger technical position of the market due to the large short interest. Although Liverpool was about as due at the start, prices declined six to 10 points on the active months owing to the unexpected offering of the August position, generally an inactive month, at a big drop compared with the bid of the previous close and at a discount under October. The offerings were taken up by trade interests at 15.93 and 15.95 and near the end of the day that option sold at high as 16.12 and the closing bid was 16.20. Following the early decline which was helped by good weather and a favorable weekly weather report the market rallied and eventually showed gains over the lows of 17 to 26 points. The close was steady, showing net gains for the day of six to 14 points.

At the start as cables were comparatively steady, July opened two points up but later positions opened five to eight points down in sympathy with the slump in the August option. July soon traded down to 16.72. October to 15.85 and December 15.84, or six to 10 points below the close of yesterday. These prices remained the lows for the day.

The weekly weather report claimed that th eweather had been generally favorable and that the crop had made progress except in the dry areas of the Carolinas and north Georgia. Prices remained on the upgrade following the early break and about the middle of the afternoon July traded at 16.98, October at 16.05 and December at 16.01, or 17 to 26 points above the lows of the morning. The close was near the highs.

Produce

TEXAS VEGETABLES.

SAN ANTONIO, June 16.—Except for water melon and tomato shipments which were somewhat heavier, the vegetable movement from Texas was light yesterday, rollings consisting of but one car of cabbage, eight of potatoes, three of onions, as well as the 57 cars of water melons and 100 cars of tomatoes. The pick up as previously unreported for the preceeding day amounted to one car of white potatoes, and one of mixed vegetables.

In shipping point markets of south Texas, there was a little easier tone in wafer melons due to the heavier rollings. There was a good demand from the outside, however. Cash buyers paid around 75@90 cents cwt., for 24-26's $1.00@1.15 for 28-30's, and $1.25 for 24's f. o. b. loading stations. At Jacksonville in east Texas the market yesterday for pink tomatoes was moderate but trading slightly easier while greens found a less active outlet. Usual terms cars of wrapped greens in four basket crates sold for $1.00@1.20 and unwrapped pinks $1.10@1.15. Cash buyers paid 90c@$1.00 for the former and 85c@$1.00 for the latter pack.

CHICAGO POULTRY.

CHICAGO, June 16.—(AP)—Poultry alive, hens steady, springs and broilers weak; receipts six cars; fowls 27c; broilers 28@37c; springs 46c; turkeys 36c; roosters 17c; ducks 25@30c; geese 21c.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, June 16.—(AP)—Stimulated by easier money rates and reports of further improvements in the steel industry, operations for the rise went ahead at a brisk pace in today's stock market under the leadership of the high grade industrials. Wire and commission houses reported a substantial increase in public participation, the day's sales again running close to 2,000,000 shares.

U. S. Steel common and General Motors were again the individual favorites, the former touching 130, a new high for the year and just ¼ point below the record high for all time, established on November 7 last, while the latter touched 144¾, the highest price in its history. Total transactions in these two issues totaled nearly 250,000 shares, or one-eighth of the day's business.

Their strength combined with that of General Electric (old stock) which closed 7¾ points higher at 336 and Marland, which touched a new high for the year at 53, the other so-called "Morgan stocks" had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment.

The recent strength of the market has been attributed in part to the heavy investment demand for high grade dividend paying stocks, due in part, to the relatively low yield on high class bonds. The decision of the United States treasury not to do any financing this quarter has made available over $360,000,000 for investment, part of which is believed to have found its way into the stock market. The announcement that the foreign trade balance in May was "favorable" for the first time this year, also has had a temporary bullish effect.

Oils, which were one of the features of yesterday's market, failed to attract much of a following today, although Panhandle Producers and Refiners touched a new high record at 29¾ as compared with a low of 4¼ earlier in the year; General Asphalt crossed 71 for an extreme gain of 2 points and Texas company duplicated the year's high on buying influenced by rumors of a possible increase in the dividend.

Special buying also took place in a number of the low priced specialties, J. R. Thompson touched a new high for the year at 48 on reports that net earnings of 1926 to date have exceeded the full year's dividend requirements. Case Threshing, which sold as low as 14 in 1924, jumped over 7 points to a new high at 104½ in reflection of the remarkable improvement in the company's financial position in the past few months.

Call money after renewing at 3% per cent dropped to 3½, closing at the bottom. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges displayed a distinctly improved tone. French francs rallied over 15 points from the recent low level to around 2.90 cents. Demand sterling was fairly steady around 4.86 3-16; the Belgian, Italian and Scandinavian exchanges all showed substantial gains, while Spanish pesetas soared over 20 points to around 16.20 cents, the highest price in several years.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, June 16.—(AP)—Profit taking sales near the close coupled with a lack of outside demand caused a late reaction in wheat on the board of trade today, wiping out nearly all of an earlier gain. Corn was independently easier all day. Wheat closed ¼@c net lower to ½c higher, corn ¼ to ¾c down and oats ¼ to ⅝c off. Provisions varied from 10c decline to a 2@7c gain.

Corn was easy. Commission houses bought freely at the start, but the market met selling based on better weather conditions for the crop. Oats covered a narrow price range, and eased off with corn.

Light offerings and some commission house buying, partly for foreign account, gave a lift to provisions, but when the offerings increased a reaction took place, leaving those commodities in a rather mixed state of prices. Lard finished higher but ribs and bellies showed net declines.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK.

FORT WORTH, June 16.—The limited number of beef cattle present at the Fort Worth livestock market Wednesday made for steady prices in that end of the trade.

On the other hand the week developed a slow and lower trend on the portion going to packers. Outsiders were absorbing cows at steady prices. The packer cut amounted to but 15 cents on butcher cows. Beef cows and canners are excepted as prices.

STOCK-A-DAY

THE DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE AND ATLANTIC RAILWAY COMPANY 5 2-3 YEAR RECORD

The rails of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic extend along the south shore of Lake Superior for 501 miles between Duluth and Sault Ste Marie. The road is controlled through stock ownership by the Canadian Pacific. The company was incorporated in 1887 as a consolidation of four other roads and now owns several subsidiaries. It serves the copper mining and lumbering industries of upper Michigan.

The freight tonnage is about equally divided between ore and forest products but freight density has never been high nor has freight train load been heavy. Improvement in the latter item, however, has raised the freight revenue per train mile nearly 100 per cent in the last 10 years.

Total operating revenue has about doubled in the last 10 years but the increase has been largely absorbed by increases in expenses and maintenance expenditures. The company has not been able to earn its fixed charges and interest matured and unpaid now amounts to over $14,000,000.

Funded debt totals $20,460,000 and capital stock consists of $10,000,000 in 6 per cent non cumulative preferred shares of $100 par and $12,000,000 in common stock of $100 par. Of this amount the Canadian Pacific owns $5,100,000 of the preorganization.

GOOD WILL IS CLUB OBJECTIVE

Rev. Floyd Bash Praises Work of Civic Organizations In Speech

"The major motive and dominant note of the luncheon clubs of the present generation is good-will and goodwill is the biggest thing in the world because it helps us to recognize a full understanding of each other in the grouping together of business men," the Rev. Floyd A. Bash of the First Christian church told members of the Lions club at the weekly noon meeting Wednesday.

Dr. Bash spoke of the variety of view points in creeds, politics and religion presented at clubs of this kind and impressed the importance of words "which are vehicles to convey our thoughts from mind to mind and soul to soul." Words spoken at gatherings of the city's leaders are the most influential of all—much more so than the churches or law."

The building of the future was touched upon in that the golden age will be reached easily through the employe of good-will. He stated that Wichita Falls is the "city that faith is building" rather than "built' because there are many things to be done.

Following Dr. Bash's address C. C. Riley was appointed as official representative to the chamber of commerce convention at Amarillo, June 21, 22 and 23.

The figure is in itself greater than the total for the whole of last week, despite the fact that his week is hardly half-way gone.

The two permits were for the construction of a brick house just off the Seymour road by Mrs. Ed Waggoner at a cost of $21,000, material to be brick and tile, and for the construction of a home in block 23, Woodall sub-division, by J. R. Gueder at a cost of $33,000.

Old Freighters Enjoy Barbecue And Reminiscence

SAN ANTONIO, June 16.—(AP) Some 400 old freighters, members of their families and friends, were in attendance at the barbecue at San Pedro park Wednesday, the concluding feature of the three-day annual reunion of the Pioneer Freighter's association of Texas.

The morning was given over to the renewal on the part of old freighters while the barbecue was in progress of preparation.

Amaza Clark 101-year-old veteran of the Mexican war who has been the central figure of the reunion, was apparently none the worse for the parade of Tuesday, in which he took a prominent part. He and Mrs. Clark left during the afternoon to accompany their son, Alvin, to his home at Charlotte for a brief visit before returning to their home at Bandera. Mr. Clark has been invited to return to San Antonio for the state encampment of the veterans of foreign wars of which organization he is an honorary life member, and announced his intention of coming back to the city for the meeting Friday and Saturday.

Queen Of Belgium Hasn't Bobbed Hair

BRUSSELS, June 16.—(AP)—Queen Elizabeth's hair is not shingled, bobbed or cropped. Count P. de Lannoy, grand master of the house of the queen of the Belgians has issued an official denial of the insistent rumors that Belgium's charming queen has had her hair cut off, to conform with the prevailing fashions.

"If her majesty looks as though her hair were shingled," says the master of the royal house, "that is because of the skill of her hair dresser, who is able to make the queen's hair appear as if it were cut. But no scissors have touched her hair."

LARGE CROWD HEARS THOMAS

Evangelist Takes Sermon From Luke, the Forsaken Christ

Dr. Trigg Thomas preached to a good crowd under the big tent across from the Junior college last night on "The Forsaken Christ," taking his text from Luke, second chapter, 40th to 50th verses, inclusive.

The evangelist emphasized the fact that the Christian religion puts at its very base the fact of a little child, and that the child grew.

"People only become the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus, and when the become the children of God, they are then to grow in grace and in the knowledge of God.

"All children should grow and become strong in body, mind and spirit. God's people and all good people should see to it that the children everywhere have a fair chance and a 'square deal.'

"Christ had a good mother. It is a great thing for children to have good parents who will look after their spiritual training as well as their physical and mental training. Too many parents neglect the church and religion themselves and thus fail to interest their children in the church and religion. Parents should always give, not take orders from their children. It is said and awful sight to see girls and boys giving orders to their parents and demanding unnecessary things leading in the wrong direction instead of going right and doing right.

"As a matter of fact we need parents with a real backbone instead of a 'cotton string' which so many seem to have when the question of dealing properly with their children comes up."

Can Take Christ

"People can always take Christ with them when they are going his way. But when they go in the ways that are against Christ and the church they cannot expect Christ to go with them.

"Those who neglect Christ and the church and who fail to read the Bible and pray and attend religious services, even though they are church members, are sure to get out of touch with Christ and forsake Him and his cause."

The evangelist made a strong appeal for all church members to be more zealous and active in church and religion, and urged all who have been drifting or failing in their church duties and privileges to return from their indifference like many others, have done and find happiness and joy which can only come to those who are in vital touch with Christ.

Tonight Dr. Thomas will deliver his sermon-lecture on "Life Among the Soldiers," in which he gives many experiences. All members of the American Legion and all ex-service men are especially invited. Services are held under the big tent every morning at 7 o'clock and every night at 8 o'clock except Saturday.

An address by James V. Allred, candidate for the post of attorney general, is also scheduled for the meeting.

Orphanage Head Here After Funds

Rev. J. C. Vandever of Gilmer, pastor of the First Baptist church of that city, and president of the board of directors o fthe Dixon Colored orphanage, located in Gilmer, is in the city in charge of a campaign for funds for the maintenance of the institution. Mr. Vandever is making a tour of the larger cities of the country in the interest of the institution, he said yesterday.

The school is non-denominational and non-sectarian. It is owned and controlled by its board of directors who are white men, Mr. Vandever stated. It is not only a home but an industrial school where more than 300 children are students. Of the 1,185 acres, 600 of it is in cultivation at the home.

Edison Frowns On Film "Talkies"

Thomas A. Edison, a pioneer in both motion pictures and sound reprodiction, is wholly unenthusiastic about the various attempts now being made to put "talking movies" on the market. In his opinion the pantomimic quality of the movies would be destroyed and their charm dispelled. "The stage is the place for the spoken word—not the screen."

SNAKE ISSUE STIRS STATE

Proposal to Ship Rattler Killers From Missouri Meets With Favor

SAN ANTONIO, June 15.—(AP—Wide interest in the proposal to ship 10,000 Missouri blacksnakes to Texas to exterminate rattlesnakes has been aroused throughout South Texas and some conflicting opinions have been voiced.

Taking issue with W. A. (Snake) King of Brownsville, who averred that only the cobra from India can kill the rattler, Dr. Alfranco de Amaral of Harvard university said today that the blacksnake would be an easy victor in death combat with the rattlesnake. Dr. De-Amaral, who is here in the interest of anti-snake serum production declared however, that if 10,000 blacksnakes were let loose in Texas the state's chickens would be exterminated long before the last rattler died.

Miss Daisy Russell of Houston informed the San Antonio chamber of commerce in a letter that Live Oak and Bee counties, southeast of San Antonio, were over-run with rattlesnakes and that motorists through these counties faced a nerve racking ordeal. She disagreed with King who said there were few rattlers in Texas. She thought a car load of blacksnakes should be taken to Three Rivers.

Imports Not Needed

H. C. Blanchard of Floresville, owner of a snake farm, advised the chamber that he had seen many blacksnakes in the counties along the Mexican border and he did not believe it necessary to import any from Missouri as proposed recently by J. S. Gates of Sugar Creek, Mo., Blanchard agreed that the blacksnake could kill the rattler.

Gates was asked yesterday by Ray Lambert, commissioner of parks, here, to send a pair of blacksnakes. They would be put in a pen with two rattlers to determine which reptile would survive.

Miss Russell wrote that "the rattlesnakes are so bad near Three Rivers that they need traffic cops on the highways. I've just returned home from a visit there and I know."

"The blow that killed Father, however, was when I went into my room in the ranch house in which I stayed, and found two of the rattlers trying to make friends with the house cat which had taken refuge in a rocking chair."
