Douglas Likely to Head SEC

Landis as chairman of the SEC. In a recent speech the Washington state missionary's son declared investors were being "squeezed" on stock and bond flotations.

Lucas Tells Body Of Proposed Act

Fifteen persons Thursday morning at Eastland heard H. G. Lucas, Brownwood, president of the Texas Agricultural Association, explain the proposed 1937 Agricultural Adjustment act which his organization aided in framing.

The discussion was in 88th district court room. Lucas asserted the act aims to secure and maintain parity prices on agricultural crops, to maintain a normal supply through the ever-normal granary plan in the interest of the consuming public and to conserve the soil by adjusting production.

Cooperating farmers, the speaker said, will receive under the proposed act price adjustment payments and soil building payments instead of diversion payments and will also be eligible for loans. The payments will be regulated by the supply and the market price.

Other points in the bill enumerated by Lucas include: (1) Parity prices for farmers insuring parity purchasing power. (2) Soil building and soil conserving practices are required. (3) Diversion is required when the supply exceeds normal demand. (4) Marketing quotas for all farmers go into effect when the supply exceeds normal by 15 per cent. (5) Loans are available to cooperating farmers when the quotas go into effect and when needed. (6) Adequate supplies are assured of summer at all times through adjusted production and the ever-normal granary plan at stable prices. (7) Contracts are made with farmers. The first one for a three-year plan. (8) Import tariff automatically reduced when prices go above parity. (9) The bases will be adjusted in accordance with tillable acreage, topography, type of soil and production facilities and (10) Benefit payments will be materially increased so that the farmers will attain parity.

CHURCH STILL UPSET OVER BIG WEDDING

By United Press

LONDON, June 3.—The Church of England, outwitted by a country clergyman and confronted by an angry public controversy over its refusal to sanction the marriage of the Duke of Windsor, still does not recognize his wedding as blessed by the church. The Bishop of Fulham made it plain today.

LONDON, June 3.—A persistent report was circulated today the new cabinet "is bringing all possible pressure to bear to dissuade the Duke of Windsor and his bride from taking up residence in the United States."

The prime minister was represented to feel that such a move "would be ruinous because of the vast publicity which inevitably would ensue."

DARLINGTON, Eng., June 3.—The parochial council of St. Paul's church decided today to ask Rev. Jardine to explain why he married the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield without consulting church authorities.

Plans Perfected For Goat Dippings

Four demonstrations in goat dipping to control lice are scheduled by the County Agent. The first demonstration will be held on the Dan Childress ranch, 9 miles Northwest of Eastland on the Cisco-Breckenridge Highway beginning at 9 a. m. Saturday, June 12th. At this demonstration W. R. Nisbet, Extension Animal Husbandman will discuss all phases of successful goat raising in Eastland County. He will be assisted by the County Agent. 500 goats will be dipped.

The second dipping will be conducted by the County Agent and C. L. Wilson, Rising Star teacher of vocational agriculture and will be held at 9 a. m. Wednesday, June 16th on the Cecil Shultz ranch, 1 mile northwest of the Branton G. The gin is located about 5 miles north of Rising Star on the Cisco Highway. 250 goats and 100 sheep will be dipped.

On Thursday, June 17th at 1:30 p. m., the County Agent and Dr. R. H. Hodges will conduct a dipping demonstration on the Old Norwood place, 2 miles north of Olden. 450 goats and 500 sheep owned by Dr. Hodges will be dipped.

On Saturday, June 19th at 1:30 p. m. the County Agent and T. G. Caudle, Cisco teacher of vocational agriculture will hold a dipping demonstration on the F. E. Harrell ranch, 3 miles west of Cisco on the Abilene Highway. 150 goats and 350 sheep will be dipped.

County Agent Cook is urging all Eastland County ranchers and farmers who have goats or brush land suitable for goat production to attend one of these four dipping demonstrations and join in discussions of profitable goat raising. Cook has pointed out that there are thousands of acres of land in Eastland County which are suitable for carrying goats, which land at present is worthless for any other kind of livestock. In addition to the profit possible by running goats on this land, after it has been heavily browsed with goats for several years it then produces weeds for sheep grazing and grass for cattle production.

Mrs. Leake sang negro spirituals, accompanying herself on the piano. Rev. Leake made a short, but interesting talk.

SENATE VOTES FOR REPEAL OF RACE BILL

By United Press

AUSTIN, June 3.—The Senate today passed, finally, a bill outlawing pari-mutuel horse race betting in Texas.

By a vote of 18 yeas to 13 nays the senate accepted the Bradbury house race repeal bill. The bill, which passed the house Tuesday, must go back there for final passage.

AUSTIN, June 3.—Race pari-mutuel repeals won the first test in the Texas Senate today, as 16 of 31 senators voted to sustain Lt. Gov. Walter Woodul in holding out of order a bill that included prohibition of bookmaking, dog racing and other forms of gambling.

Woodul previously had held that the repeal bill by Sen. G. H. Nelson of Lubbock was within the governor's call. Nelson offered the bill by Rep. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene, already passed by the house.

Apparently having sensed that a senate fight would be made to legislate on all gambling at one time, Gov. Alfred personally brought to the senate a message. In it he "officially" promised to submit bookmaking and dog racing "after the pari-mutuel repeal law is passed."

Inclement Weather Fails to Detract From Local Revival

"I Have Seen Thy Tears and Heard Thy Prayers" was the text of the sermon preached last night at Central Baptist church to a large and very attentive audience. The inclement weather did not keep the crowds away.

The preacher said you could turn a dial and hear the voice of the world, then "why is it not possible to call upon God through prayer and He will hear you if you will only meet His requirements."

Rev. Leake said some do not believe in prayer because it did not meet the requirements of the laws of Nature. "Is it not possible for God who is responsible and the originator of the laws of Nature and the maker of all things to use the things he created as tools and implements to bless man whom He also created."

Confidence in prayer is essential, said the preacher, because Jesus told a group of people, "Where two or three are agreed upon any one thing the same shall be done by our Father in Heaven." How is it possible to agree unless through prayer? How is it possible to let our wishes be known except through prayer?

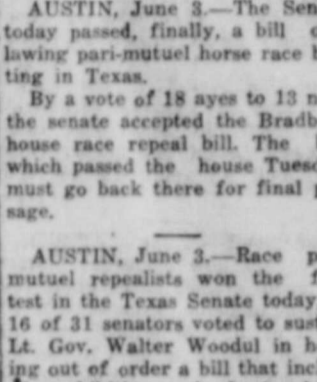

And then, prayer is necessary. Because man needs a great omnipotent all-powerful God, who is loving and kind and who understands to tell their trouble to.

If fathers and mothers were more interested in their children and prayed incessantly and without ceasing, as did mothers and fathers of old, men and women who were burdened and interested in their children, it would save many a young man and young woman from the downward path of sin.

Rev. Leake said the only road out of the depression was up and by that he meant through repentance and prayer and the Christian life.

Men and women of Ranger, he said, it is time now for all to come back to the old fashion God of our fathers, to establish again the altars of prayer that have been torn down and destroyed, and to pray that the great God of the universe can say "I Have Seen Thy Tears and Heard Thy Prayers."

Find This Girl and Get $500

Hoping to turn up some trace of their co-ed daughter, whose mysterious disappearance early in May has engaged the attention of police throughout the nation, the parents of Ruth Elizabeth Baumgardner, above, have posted a $500 reward for information which will lead to the girl. The brown-haired, blue-eyed girl vanished from Ohio Wesleyan University. She is five feet four, studious and has a dimple in her chin. Her father is Carl Baumgardner, resident of Lakewood, O.

Garden Terracing Is Urged by Agent

"If your garden plot is higher on one end than the other trying making crooked rows to hold the moisture," said Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent at the meeting held June 1st at the home of Mrs. N. E. Jensen.

Miss Ramey also stressed the fact it is wise to buy the best quality of seed to get the best results.

Ranger Withdraws From the Oil Belt Softball Schedule

Announcement was made here today that because of conflicts in the Oil Belt softball schedule, as drawn up for Ranger, it had been decided that Ranger would not enter the softball league. It was pointed out, however, that with a schedule that did not conflict Ranger would remain in the league.

The schedule calls for the Ranger home games to be played on Tuesday nights and games away from home to be played on Saturday nights. Since the City League already has two games scheduled for each Tuesday night, the games of the two leagues would conflict. It was pointed out that other towns had schedules that would not permit changing some of the games, which would therefore have to be forfeited by Ranger.

According to the schedule Ranger would play one team once, one or two times, one team three times, one or four times and another five times during the life of the schedule, which would also be an unequal distribution of the games scheduled.

Grudge Game Will Be Played Here On Saturday at 8:30

Tom Yonker, manager of the Lone Star softball team, and Joe Hall, manager of the Elks Club team of the City Softball League, announced today that a "grudge" game would be played between the two teams at Municipal Field at 8:30 Saturday night.

In the first contest between the two teams in the present championship series, the Elks defeated Lone Star in a wild and hectic game, in which numerous scores were made on each.

FLOODS SWEEP LARGE AREAS OF THE STATE

By United Press

The great mid-western dust bowl was a wallowing expanse of mud Thursday.

A flood rolled eastward from the Rocky Mountains, gathering new force from general downpours.

A new federal coordinator, appointed to direct the work of three government agencies, spending $5,000,000 a month to rehabilitate the country, found the dust bowl eliminated, at least until the sun dries out the soil again.

The rains, gauged as high as eight inches in one northwestern Texas cloudburst and driving rains were general over the five states of the dust bowl. The damage to highways, railroad tracks, bridges and farm buildings was estimated at more than $250,000.

Trains were re-routed today and highway traffic detoured around several inundated sectors. The new federal coordinator was Roy Kimmel of Amarillo.

Worthwhile Dividend From Small Colleges

There has been a regular rash of anniversaries in the collegiate world lately. From the Harvard tercentenary on down, campus after campus has celebrated its birthday in some good round number, and capped-and-gowned speakers have urged the world to witness the strides America has made in the field of higher education.

We get another of these anniversaries this June; one which will not cause as much of a stir as some of them have, but which will be well worth noting, even so. It is the centennial of Blackburn College, at Carlinville, Ill.

Blackburn College is a small institution, and it is not especially famous. It is noteworthy for being one of the most advanced of the "progressive" colleges which make education available to youngsters who are hard up for money.

Students at Blackburn can work their way through by working with their hands for two and one-half hours daily. Jobs are sandwiched in between studies. All of the physical facilities of the place—laundry, bakery, kitchen, power plant and so on—are operated by students. When fire swept the campus some years ago it was the students who did the rebuilding.

This kind of program has made a college education available to a great many ambitious young middle westerners who would not, otherwise, have been able to get one. And it is a pretty safe bet that since they had to work for it they have made good use of it.

This leads us to a consideration of the place that the small college occupies in the American scheme of things.

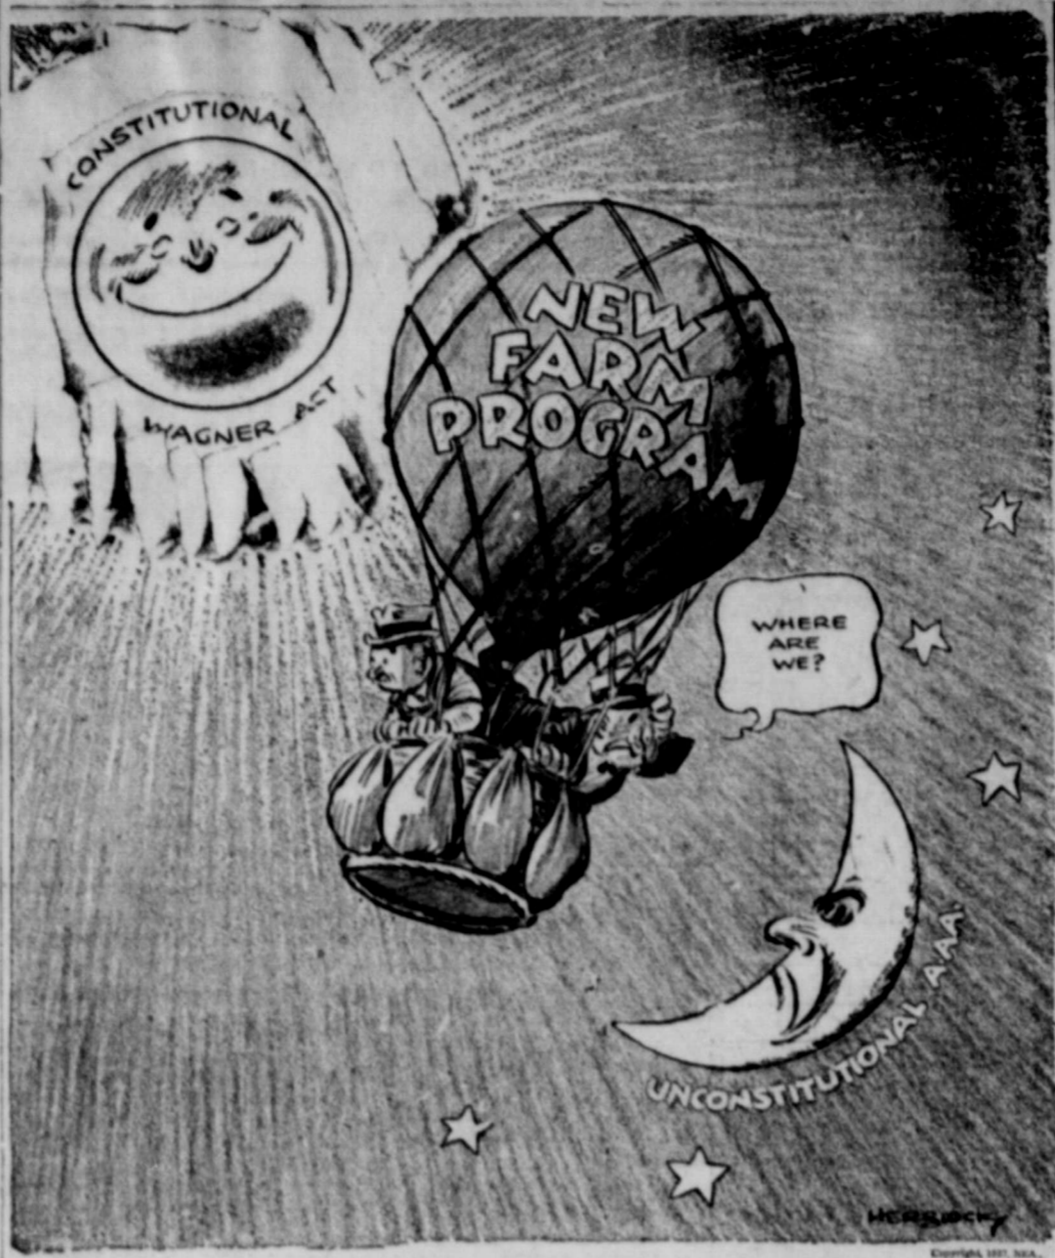

There are a good many places like Blackburn College in America. They are practically unheard of in the world which judges colleges by athletic records, size of student bodies, extent of endowment funds and social prestige; yet they do a tremendous amount of good work, year after year, and their alumni make records which indicate that these little places are, in their way, quite as useful and valuable as the big ones.

On the face of things, all of these little colleges should be third-raters. They lack the library, laboratory and research facilities of the big institutions. They cannot hope to compete for distinguished faculty members. If other things are equal, they should be educating their young people only about half as well as the big places.

But other things aren't equal. These little colleges do not get those swarms of aimless youths who are in college for no earthly reason but that their parents thought they ought to go there. They do not get the ambitious lads who are out to "make contacts" that will be useful in a career of bond selling later on. They do not get the idlers and the drifters, the people who want a little social polish.

No. They get young people who want to be educated, and who want it badly enough to work for it. And the fact that they get these young people and, on the whole, do so well by them, is significant. They are filling a place that the richer and more famous institutions have left vacant.

EAST OF THE SUN AND WEST OF THE MOON

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—No year seems to be quite complete without a spectacular struggle in Congress between the administration and Wall Street. This year may be an exception, but the makings of a fracas are available and inevitably will be dragged into the arena.

It should not surprise anyone if the Chandler bill, the Barkley bill and the Lea bill went shooting through rather rapidly at this session, despite wails from the financial district.

The Chandler bill aims to reform corporation reorganization practices in the interest of the investor. The Barkley bill attempts to make trustees of a bond issue actually an effective means of protection for bond holders. The Lea bill undertakes to provide that protective committees functioning in cases of receivership shall actually function for the protection of security holders.

The three bills represent an integrated program of legislation designed to eliminate the reorganization racket through which bankers, attorneys, promoters and others have gyped the investing public all over again after corporations have gone bankrupt, especially during the depression.

THE legislative program is an outgrowth of the monumental investigation and study of corporate reorganization made by Securities Exchange Commissioner William O. Douglas and Dr. Abe Fortas of Yale. High spots of the three measures:

CHANDLER BILL: Makes mandatory the appointment of disinterested trustees in receiverships and keeps debtors and bankers on the outside. Provides that attorneys for trustees must be independent of any association with interested parties. Shifts financial power wielded by bankers within control of the bankruptcy courts. Gives SEC the right to intervene in all reorganization procedures and to submit advisory reports on reorganization plans prior to submission to security holders. Legalizes the right of any creditor or stockholder to be given a hearing. Guarantees right of employees to be heard. (This extraordinary feature is especially unpopular in Wall Street.) In general, it attempts to capture for the investor large jobs of increment previously accruing from reorganizations to those in strategic places of power.

BARKLEY BILL: Will insure holders who bought bonds—later defaulted—after observing the name of some large, respected bank appearing as trustee for the issue, only to learn that contract terms obligated the trustee to do nothing prior or subsequent to default. Prohibits trustees from having interests conflicting with those of bond holders. Imposes active protective duties on trustees. Radically reduces possibility of clauses which exculpate trustees from responsibility. Seeks to eliminate situations in which bond holders are unable to force trustees to action because of inability to recruit a fixed percentage of holders to make demands.

LEA BILL: Would make persons soliciting authority to represent security holders furnish a prospectus telling all about themselves and giving other accurate essential information. Empowers SEC to eliminate from protective committees persons whose interests palpably conflict with interests of security holders. Gives SEC general powers of supervision and action against racketeering as well as authority to render advisory reports on plans advanced by protective committees.

Judge Plays Marbles To Win Over Boy

WALTHAM, Mass.—A wise judge has stooped to a game of marbles and thus conquered stubborn tendencies of an eight-year-old boy.

Because he played hokey and wouldn't mind his parents, the child was brought before District Judge P. Sarsfield Cunniff. He called the judge "sissy" because of his long, black robe, then fell silent.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—Don't be too doubtful about America's chances of getting the Davis Cup out of luck this year. Indeed, you should lean a little on the hopeful side.

You see, that hustling young firm of Budge, Mako, Grant & Parker, international traders in youth and fire and determination, seem to have the best chance of any American team in the last 10 years of redeeming the antiquated old silver mug, which has been a setting on foreign mantelpieces since the Tilden dynasty toppled in 1926.

Not so much that this year's squad is the strongest since the reign of William the Second, but mainly because the opposition seems weaker than at any time in the past decade.

England, with Fred Perry having abdicated for the money he loves, is forced to rely on Bunny Austin, a rather tired old man who was something less than a sensation even before he reached the rheumatic stage.

Australia, whose team meets the Americans here in the North American zone finals, May 29-30-31, has the same personnel of last year but it is feared that Jack Crawford no longer can be depended upon.

Adrian Quist, of course, is a great player, and young, but he has been easy prey for America's Don Budge, who has beaten him three times in a row, which just about gives Don permanent possession of Adrian.

GERMANY is the lone rival team which hasn't weakened in the last year. Perry's description of the amateur rascal leaves the redoubtable baron, Gottfried von Cramm, as the world's greatest amateur.

Judge Cunniff finally found common ground in a discussion of marbles. Later he bought "migs" for a game and the lad went them all.

The baron is practically a in himself. He seems cert two victories against any r All he needs is help.

But to get to German Americans have to get Australia first.

Well, regarding the m with the Anzacs here, Wal Fate, the suave non-playing captain, thinks victory is a question of whether the icans are one point better they were last year.

"Just one point," says C Pate, "just one point. Th that stood between us and v last year, you know. Ju point—one missed stroke. I pened in the doubles match other years.

"Mako and Budge, you had swept the Australian their feet and had won the two sets and were leading the third with the match po hand when Mako missed a he'll never miss again in a lion years.

"It was the easiest sort of —especially for Gene. Bu how he missed it and the Au lans went on to win that se the match."

PATE is really pleased with year's team.

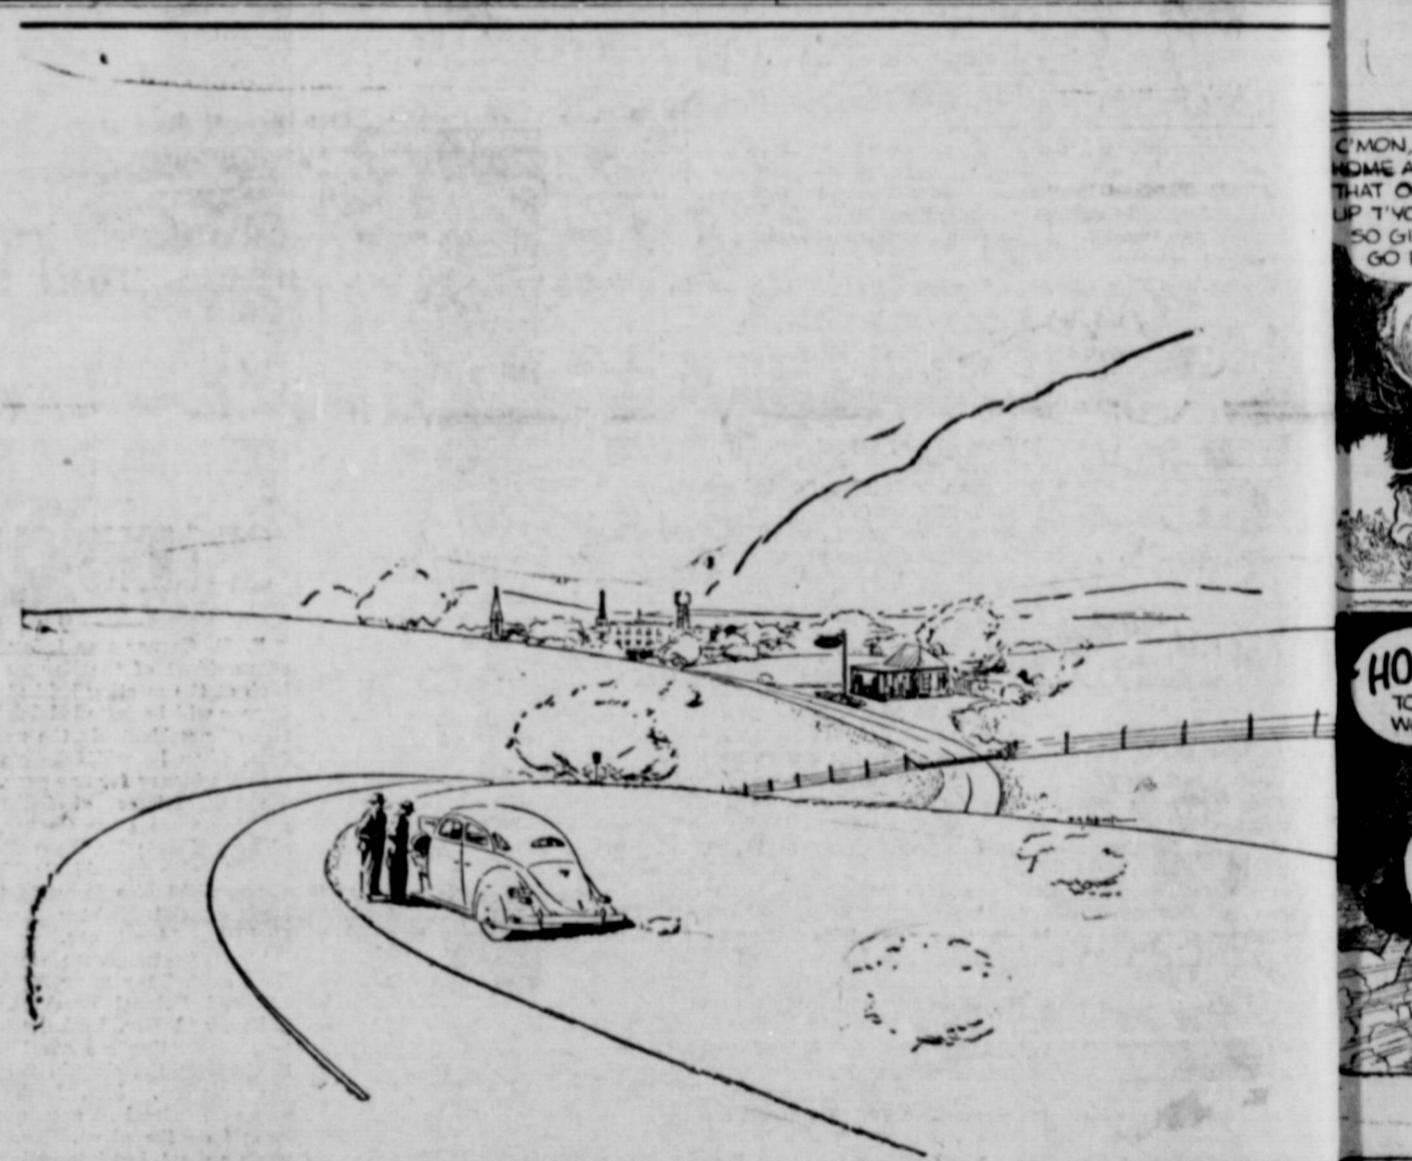

"I'm rather confident about doubles team. Budge and are better than ever before, compare quite favorably with great American doubles team other years.

"As for the singles, I think is certain of winning at least match—probably two. He Adrian Quist's number.

"I've had a difficult time of the other singles man. C has had more experience in Parker in international play, his soft style is quite irritat the opposition. But then Fr has been playing some very liant tennis. I just don't . . ."

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson
DONATI'S COMET WAS BELIEVED, BY THE PEOPLE OF FRANCE, TO HAVE BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR THE RARE FLAVOR OF THE FRENCH WINES PRODUCED IN 1858.
EVEN TODAY, SOME OF THE "COMET WINES" STILL ARE IN EXISTENCE, AND ARE USED ONLY ON SPECIAL OCCASIONS.
IN THE EARLY DAYS, A MUSHROOM GROWING NEAR A DEN OF SNAKES WAS CONSIDERED POISONOUS.
PLINY seems to have been responsible for a belief that exists, even up to today, that rusty-iron, rotten cloth, or other "noxious objects" in the soil will produce poisonous mushrooms. Equally erroneous is the belief that a bright coin, dropped in a stew of mushrooms, will turn black if the plants are poisonous, but will remain bright if the species be edible.

SHAKE the cherries off the tree but rill them into desserts.
Steamed Cherry Roll (4 to 6 servings)
One quart fresh cherries, pitted, 1 tablespoon ground pistachio nuts, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 3-4 cup milk, 1-2 cup butter.
Sift all dry ingredients together including only 2 tablespoons sugar. Cut in 1-2 cup butter with knives. Add milk, mix, and toss on floured board. Pat out with hands to oblong about 1-2 inch thick. Brush top with softened butter. Arrange pitted cherries evenly over top, dust liberally with sugar and pistachio nuts. Roll up, moisten edges and pinch together. Use loosely woven bag large enough to permit swelling of the dough. Dip bag in boiling water, then flour inside well. Place roll in bag, place in steamer and steam for 1-2 hours. Serve with hard or foamy sauce.
Suntanned cherries need never hide under any parasol. For every kind of party they add the glamorous touch.
Suntanned Cherries
Select large ripe red cherries. Pit, then weigh them. Weigh out an equal amount of granulated sugar. Use a large glass or enamel saucpan. Put in a layer of cherries, then a layer of sugar, and keep repeating until all cherries and sugar are used. Make no layer deeper than 2 inches, however. Heat slowly to boiling point, skim, boil exactly 10 minutes, skimming carefully. Arrange in shallow dishes, cover with glass and stand in hot sunshine for at least nine hours. Then jar and seal at once. There will be a freezer of vanilla ice cream lurking behind every jar.
Stuffed Salad Cherries
These are brilliant garnishes for almost any type of summer salad. Soften cottage cheese with cream, mix with finely chopped watercress and chopped almonds. Pit large cherries and stuff with this mixture.
If you are seeking cherry novelties, have a try at the brand new fat red cherries with long stems intact, floating expectantly in jars of rum. For desserts and cocktails, they are the latest "ood news."

Stev-Klen, amazing new discovery, removes blackest stains, tartar, tartar like matter. Just put false teeth or bridges in a glass of water and add Stev-Klen powder. No messy brushing! Recommended by dentists—approved by Good Housekeeping. At all druggists. Money back if not delighted.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pints of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels, gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks gray.

Location: See only mail-order. A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harshness, gentleness, yet stimulating in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. See.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 scoops of waste. Frequent or nearly painless passages with smarting and burning shows they may be something wrong with your kidneys of bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of aching backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting 48 nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
