Sample chamber recovery was 2.58 cubic feet of gas and 100 cubic centimeters of condensate.

Lawyers Say Tapes Back Nixon Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's lawyers said today as they turned over edited transcripts to the House Judiciary Committee that tapes of Watergate-related conversations do not once make it "appear that the President of the United States was engaged in a criminal plot to obstruct justice."

The claim was made in a White House statement accompanying edited transcripts of the conversations which Nixon was sending to the committee in response to a subpoena demanding the tapes. The panel is considering possible impeachment.

The individual packages were delivered to committee members' offices and some members immediately began to look through the transcripts, which were in separate manila envelopes identified by dates.

Kissinger has received Soviet assurances of help in getting Syria to agree to such a pact with Israel, and his stopover here presumably was to get whatever additional help he could from Boumediene, who also has influence with Damascus.

Kissinger talked with Boumediene for 3 1/2 hours Monday night after his arrival from Geneva.

The American secretary in a brief statement said the United States is making a major effort to find a basis acceptable to the Syrians and Israelis for stopping the fighting on the Golan Heights.

Rep. Robert Drinan, D-Mass., said there were numerous omissions in the transcripts he looked at.

"They keep saying, 'in-audible,' 'unintelligible,' and 'explosive omitted,'" Drinan said.

Drinan said that at the next committee meeting — scheduled for Wednesday, he would favor a vote holding Nixon in noncompliance with the subpoena.

Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Ill., another committee member, said although Nixon had not fully complied with the subpoena there should be a further effort to reach a compromise (See NIXON Page 6A)

Wage, Price Controls Die Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Price controls will end over steel, health and a few other industries at midnight tonight when the administration's 2 1/2-year-old wage and price control program dies an unceremonious death.

Despite high hopes when the controls program was imposed by President Nixon in August 1971, controls have been the clear loser in the battle with inflation. Prices, which increased at a 3.6 per cent annual rate then, now are rising at a 14.5 per cent rate.

Besides steel and health, controls also will end at midnight over all wages, the copper industry, construction, food processors and retail auto sales.

The only exception is the petroleum industry, which will remain under a separate set of controls until March 1975.

The nation may soon feel the effects of the end of controls, since there are predictions that steel prices could jump 13 per cent in the next few months and that health costs, including doctor and hospital fees, could soar even higher.

Most of the nation's industry previously was exempted from controls, frequently in exchange for price-restraining commitments, although the administration's Cost of Living Council will lack authority even to enforce these commitments after controls expire.

Gary L. Severs, a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, warned Monday that if inflation continues unchecked, controls may be back within a year.

Severs told a meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce here the nation may finally have entered "a period of fairly stable food prices." He said prices of fresh foods already are falling, and those of processed foods will not be far behind.

Senate Democrats, meanwhile, introduced a measure to continue wage and price controls for another year, but the measure will not come to a vote before Wednesday when the present controls program expires.

The measure would authorize the President to impose controls selectively for industries creating a serious inflationary threat.

Some business leaders, especially President E. Douglas Kenna of the National Association of Manufacturers, have been urging businesses to use John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council.

Deluges of rain set off flash floods in parts of normally arid far West Texas today, blocking some highways and halting a train. Forecasters warned that the heavy downpours were spreading across the state toward the east and south.

Heavy showers and menacing thunderstorms loosed as much as 6 inches of rain in the vicinity of Sanderson and Longlet, in Terrell County more than 100 miles up the Rio Grande from Del Rio. State police said an eastbound passenger train was forced to halt until the high water subsided.

Street flooding occurred at Marathon in neighboring Brewster County.

Once again, Midland has a good chance for rain, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Air Terminal.

Chance of rain is 50 per cent this afternoon and tonight, decreasing to 30 per cent Wednesday. The rain could be locally heavy in some areas.

Otherwise, skies will be cloudy today, becoming partly cloudy Wednesday. Temperatures will be cooler, with highs today and Wednesday in the middle 70s.

Freed Executive Arrives In U. S.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — American oilman Victor Samuelson arrived in the United States this morning after being freed six weeks after his company paid Marxist Argentine guerrillas a record $14.2 million ransom.

Samuelson, flanked by Exxon officials on his arrival at Miami International Airport, was smiling and appeared healthy.

"I'm very happy and I am well," he told reporters. "I have no further comment. I'm anxious to get back to my family."

When asked if he would be flying to Cleveland, his home town, he said: "No, not right away."

The 36-year-old Esso Argentina executive was whisked into a privately chartered twin-engine aircraft which took off minutes after his 8:30 a.m. landing from South America.

Exxon officials would not disclose his destination.

Earlier today, Samuelson's mother in Chagrin Falls, Ohio, a Cleveland suburb, said she did not know whether her son would fly on to Cleveland immediately.

Mrs. George E. Hart said Exxon has kept Samuelson's wife, Diane, and their three children, ages 5 to 10, in "protective custody" at an undisclosed location in the United States since they left Argentina in January.

Samuelson, who had been held 144 days by the People's Revolutionary Army — known by its Spanish acronym ERP — was the manager of the Exxon subsidiary's Campana refinery 60 miles north of Buenos Aires.

He was freed Monday in front of the suburban Buenos Aires home of his children's doctor, Federico Pfister.

After Samuelson had a cup of tea with the Pfister family, the doctor's 22-year-old son Martin drove him to a hotel apartment maintained by Esso. A company source said he spent about eight hours there, and then company officials put him aboard an airliner to join his wife and three children in the United States.

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — A club-swinging fight erupted between riot-equipped policemen and members of the American Indian Movement today when the Indians refused to leave the courtroom of a judge they consider prejudiced against Indians. Ambulances carried away at least six Indians, and two members of the South Dakota Tactical Squad were seen bleeding from head wounds by the time the disturbances ended.

Populous Centers Gain Politicians' Attention

By The Associated Press

Populous centers of voting strength drew still more attention today in the campaign struggle of Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Frances Farenthold over the Democratic nomination for governor.

With time growing short before Saturday's primary elections, the governor set out again to woo support in Fort Worth and Dallas after a day off from stumping one area or another. He also scheduled a session with Dallas Times Herald editors.

Mrs. Farenthold spent Monday shaking hands on Houston streets, attending a press luncheon and firing more verbal darts at her opponent. She moved over to Beaumont today, but planned to be back in Houston later in the day.

Legalized betting on horse races drew further attention from Mrs. Farenthold. She asserted, "It is a sad commentary on representative government that pari-mutuel betting, set on the May 4 ballot as a straw vote issue, is receiving so much attention."

She and Briscoe both have said their ballots will go against the proposal.

The governor, in turn, issued a proclamation in Austin designating May as "Texans Try Transit Month." He urged residents of the state to ride buses as a means of saving fuel because of the energy crisis.

The Texas League of Conservation Voters, an environmental campaign committee, announced support Monday for Mrs. Farenthold.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Glue Gums Up Her Pretty Slacks

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — Spots of that milky white all-purpose glue are on a pair of my 100 per cent acetate and acrylic slacks. Is there any way to remove the spots? — MRS. C. H.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with contests. I heard a woman tell on a television program how professional contest winners continually win and that these winners were organized as a group and even had meetings. If this is true it seems a waste of time and postage for the rest of us to even bother entering the various contests. — ETHEL

DEAR POLLY — I suggest that Ellen save her old bras to use in replacing the worn parts of her colored bras.

Also, I have a Pointer to add to Caroline's hint for using stencils to fill with frosting as decorations on a birthday cake. It is fun to cut out cartoon characters and place on cardboard cut to their shape. Wrap them smoothly with plastic wrap and place on rolled out cookie dough, cut around them and bake the dough. When cool decorate the baked figures and place them on the cake. The decorations are edible and colorful. — ANNA LEE.

DEAR POLLY — To prolong the life of men's felt and straw hats I put one or two coats of clear nail polish on the machine stitches in the inside headbands. This keeps body oils and perspiration from seeping through to the felt or straw. — AMANDA.

DEAR POLLY — We prefer bakery bread. When I buy a loaf I take the sliced loaf out of its wrapper, put two slices in a plastic sandwich bag until it is all bagged. Then I put these bags into the bag the loaf came in and put it in the freezer. There are only two of us and I can easily take out the amount needed for sandwiches with no trouble. — MARION.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for those gardeners who are fortunate enough to get their milk in plastic gallon jugs. We cut the bottoms off such jugs and use the rest for hot caps over young plants. If we do not want to completely uncover a plant we merely screw off the cap. If the plant is to be completely uncovered the jug handle makes the task much easier. Another advantage of this is that gardeners do not have to worry about what residue might be in the jug as they would when using bleach bottles. — ETHEL.

Dunlop Calls Chrysler Price Increase "Irresponsible"

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, TUES., APRIL 30, 1974-3A

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp., staggering from a 36 per cent drop in first-quarter profits, has boosted the average price of its cars $99. It predicts two more increases in the next five months.

Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council condemned the increase Chrysler announced on Monday as "irresponsible."

The 2.9 per cent increase in sticker prices is Chrysler's third since Dec. 10, when the Cost of Living Council lifted controls on the auto industry in return for a promise from all auto makers except Chrysler to limit price hikes to $150 per car for the balance of the 1974 model year barring "unforeseen major economic events."

Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend said the new increase is justified because of skyrocketing costs, despite the commitment.

Dunlop fired back, "I view Mr. Townsend's statement as a display of consummate gall in announcing an interpretation of an agreement to which he chose not to be a party."

Sen. Gurney Says Indictment Results From 'Political Pearl Harbor Attack'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Edward J. Gurney says his indictment on a charge of failing to report campaign contributions results from a "political Pearl Harbor attack" by Democrats.

"I am absolutely innocent," the Florida Republican said in a Monday statement confirming reports that a Leon County grand jury had voted to indict him for allegedly violating a Florida election law. "This is deliberate political harassment of the basest sort."

Gurney's Florida attorney, C. Harris Dittmar of Jacksonville, said he would file immediately a motion for dismissal.

The indictment reportedly was voted by the grand jury Friday. The jury is in recess until Wednesday.

A spokesman in Gurney's Washington office said the 60-year-old senator was accused in the one-count indictment of accepting campaign contributions without appointing a campaign treasurer or setting up a campaign bank account, as required by Florida law.

The charge carries a maximum sentence of one year in prison and a $1,000 fine. State officials may be removed from office under the law, but state officials say the statute was unclear whether federal officeholders also could be ousted.

Gurney, a member of the Senate Watergate Committee who is up for re-election this year, charged the indictment was motivated by one of the Democrats seeking his Senate seat.

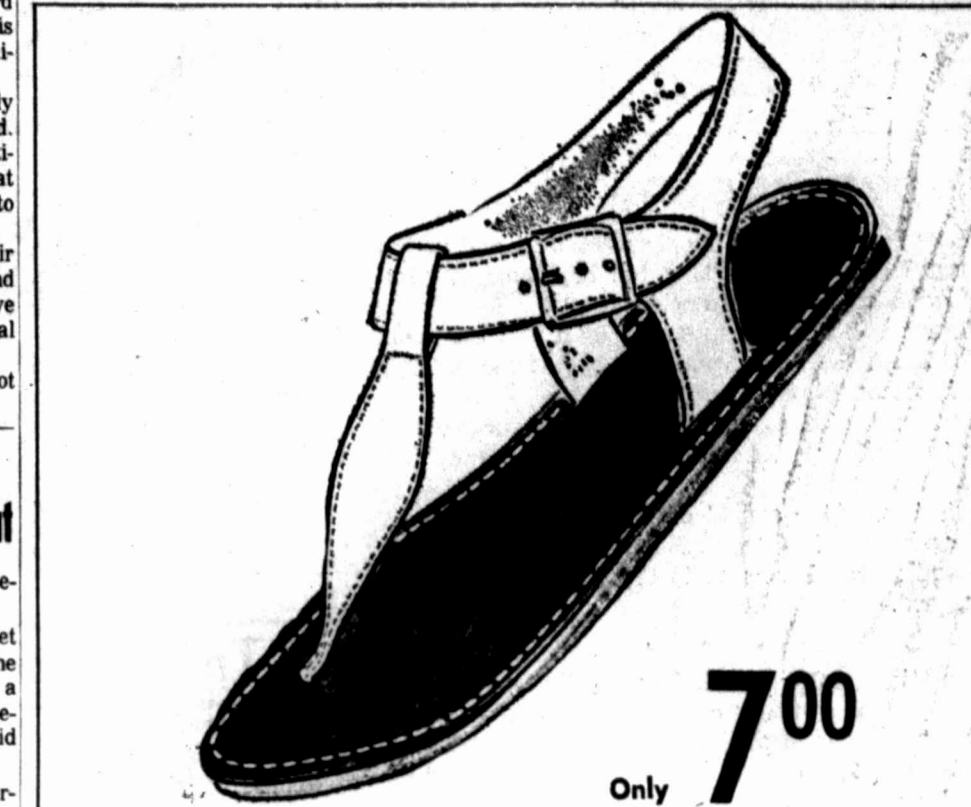

"I am confident that the processes of justice and the court will operate swiftly to vindicate me of this unlawful charge and any wrongdoing," said Gurney, who was first elected to the Senate in 1968 after serving three terms in the House.

The grand jury launched its investigation last week after State Rep. Marshall Harris, D-Miami, charged that Gurney admitted during a December news conference that he had violated the reporting law. Harris also appeared before the panel.

At the news conference, Gurney said he learned in mid-1972 that $100,000 had been raised in his name without his knowledge.

He said he ordered the fund raising stopped but did not report the money already collected because he was not a candidate at the time and did not

Outgoing Director Says Ohio Mental Hospital Operations To Be Phased Out

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mental Health and Mental Retardation Sept. 1.

Dr. Kenneth D. Gaver, Ohio's outgoing director of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, believes there will be a phase-out of many of Lima State Hospital's operations in the next two years.

"I think that is quite clearly in the picture," he said Monday.

Lima State Hospital is the holding facility for those judged criminally insane or mentally incompetent to stand trial at the time. Gaver would like to see the latter go to other institutions.

He is leaving his $35,000-a-year post to become commissioner of the Texas Board of

'Respect For Law Week'

"Law Day, USA" will be observed here and across the land Wednesday, marking the beginning of "Respect for Law Week" in America.

"Law Day" or "Loyalty Day," as it also is known, and "Respect for Law Week" are two of the nation's most significant observances.

Yet, many citizens seemingly take law enforcement for granted. They give it little thought . . . and, likewise, little support.

This is why the annual observance of Respect for Law Week is so important. Hopefully, it will awaken more and more citizens as to their responsibilities in this regard.

The Midland Optimist Clubs annually take the lead in the observance in the Tall City. Each year the clubs select a "Lawman of the Year," who is recognized for his distinguished and dedicated service in advancing the Respect for Law objectives of Optimist International.

This year's honoree will be named at the club's Respect for Law Banquet scheduled tonight at Ranchland Hill Country Club.

The Midland County Bar Association will stage its annual Law Day, USA, meeting Wednesday noon in the Petroleum Club, with Judge Robert W. Calvert of Austin, retired chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, as the speaker. This annually is the highlight of the Law Day observance here.

The Respect for Law objectives of Optimist International, incidentally, are:

— "Combat public apathy and indifference toward crime and criminals and rekindle proper respect for and moral responsibility under law.

— "Encourage, promote and recognize the participation of the public in the dispensation of justice . . .

— "Better acquaint the public with the duties, responsibilities and needs of law enforcement officers and to recognize and honor unusual, outstanding services provided by citizens, including law enforcement officers."

Clarence M. Kelley, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said in a recent speech that "due to law enforcement effort and public awareness, organized crime as we have known it for decades in this country will suffer devastating setbacks.

"But society must help law enforcement, if the job is to be done . . . There must be a willingness of every citizen to give of himself, his time and his imagination."

Law enforcement is due and must have strong public support if the nation's system of law and order is to be maintained as desired by law-abiding citizens.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson Says: Political support sought from Hollywood stars.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon apparently arranged special tax breaks for the movie industry, which his campaign aides used to squeeze political support from Hollywood stars in 1972.

This strongly is suggested in confidential campaign memos, which we have just uncovered.

The memos also speak of using actress Ali MacGraw to lure Henry Kissinger to Hollywood, where he might be persuaded to whisper pro-Nixon sentiments into the ears of film celebrities.

"We should ask Henry," suggested one memo, "to say something like, 'It would make me very happy if you could see your way clear to help re-elect President Nixon. I have great faith in Richard Nixon and I know you do, too.'"

As it happened, Kissinger flew off to Peking instead of Hollywood, and Pat Nixon was rushed in the last minute to woo the film folks. But the tax benefits, apparently, had the best effect.

The scenario that the Nixon forces wrote for the political conquest of Hollywood is revealed in confidential memos that were shuffled between ex-Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, ex-White House staff chief H. R. Haldeman and campaign aides Jeb Magruder, Herbert Porter and Fred LaRue.

The memos begin on Oct. 18, 1971, with a complaint from Porter to Mitchell that the campaign was "short of lists of celebrities." Porter suggested seeking celebrities from the movie industry which, he confided, was deeply in Nixon's debt.

He explained that the President had met in San Clemente with the industry's top brass on April 5, 1971. They had "pleaded . . . for some sort of tax relief," related Porter. The President obligingly had promised "he would take a look at the possibilities."

Schedules Changed

"Shortly thereafter," triumphantly reported Porter, "the IRS issued a statement dramatically changing the amortization schedules allowed for film production." In addition, there have been other changes regarding tax deferrals.

"And finally," the administration's Investment Credit Bill will be of significant benefit to the film production industry," Porter added that Export-Import Bank loans also were going to the movie industry.

Some benefits for movieland, according to Porter's memos, were obtained personally by the President. Our own sources say that Nixon's Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans also pushed through a tax concession for Hollywood. Stans was the chief campaign fund-raiser for Nixon in 1972.

To make sure the movie moguls understood where their blessings were coming from, Porter brought them together with Mitchell. The purpose of the meeting, Porter declared, was to "give a short memory course on . . . what the President has done for the film industry."

Then Mitchell was supposed to ask the movie producers, as a quid pro quo, how to "Maximize celebrity participation in the 1972 campaign."

Every precaution was taken to keep the meeting secret.

Porter said the movie men had assured him that Mitchell "should not fear any unfavorable publicity from such a gathering."

Attending were Warner Brothers' Dick Zanuck, MCA's Mike Maitland, Universal's Taft Schreiber, and Universal Television's Frank Price, Columbia's Peter Guber and Sturges Jr. Zanuck was named chairman of the group.

Best Drawing Card

It was agreed that Henry Kissinger would be the best drawing card to attract movie stars to a political affair. Because Kissinger once had dated Ali MacGraw and still was close to the actress and her then-husband, Paramount's Bob Evans, Porter suggested using "Evans" and MacGraw's friendship with Henry Kissinger to bring the foreign policy czar to Hollywood.

But there was one problem. "Teddy Kennedy asked (Evans) at a cocktail party recently if he could count on Evans' support if Teddy made a run for presidency," Porter wrote to Haldeman and Magruder. "Evans committed his support to Kennedy." Nevertheless, Porter thought the Hollywood moguls might bring Evans "into our camp."

Kissinger finally agreed to put in an appearance in Hollywood on June 17, 1972. Porter wrote Mitchell enthusiastically that "if Kissinger could be persuaded to stay an extra day, it would be additional icing on the cake."

The grand soiree was held at Taft Schreiber's luxurious Beverly Hills home. Among the 150 guests, one of those present told us, were 130 major celebrities. They included John Wayne, Art Linkletter, Jack Benny, Charlton Heston, Ronald Reagan, Fred MacMurray, Irene Dunn, Jimmy Stewart, Edgar Bergen and Clint Eastwood, to name a few.

Pat Nixon To The Rescue

But the guest of honor begged off and was next heard from in Peking. The respected Schreiber was beginning to get edgy over the manipulation of Porter and Magruder. After Kissinger reneged, Schreiber told us: "I tried to cancel the affair."

The White House, however, sent Pat Nixon to substitute for Kissinger and the party was held. It was, Schreiber insisted, "a fun party . . . no politics."

But fun or not, the message of the memos is unmistakable: Nixon gave windfalls to the movie industry and the movie industry gave him political support.

Footnote: Schreiber told my associate Les Whitten there was no quid pro quo, particularly on taxes. The only help Nixon personally gave the industry, said Schreiber, was a new regulation against film and record pirating. He also said Porter's suggestion that Ali MacGraw was used to lure Kissinger to Hollywood was a "pipedream."

South was pretty bitter about the whole thing. He had bid on the score in the duplicate game.

How did this South get one match point?

It seems a couple of North-South pairs reached six spades. One made it.

At the other table the six-spade declarer won the opening heart in dummy; tried a spade finesse and then led a diamond to dummy's king.

West ducked as if he didn't have a care in the world. Later on North led a second diamond toward dummy and rose with the queen. West took his ace and promptly led diamonds back. If he hadn't, North would still have made the slam by means of a club-diamond squeeze against East.

ODESSA — A two-pronged approach to study of the American heritage is scheduled in a special interdisciplinary program to get under way May 31 at The University of Texas at the Permian Basin.

Through coordinated courses in economics and history, the program will look at the free enterprise system and at the tradition of local community involvement in the development of the United States.

Teaching the specially designed courses during UT Permian's first summer session will be Prof. Paul D. Hodges, assistant professor of economics, and Prof. Roger Olien, associate professor of history. They will be assisted by a blue-chip panel of guest lecturers.

Supported by a grant from the Texas Bureau of Economic Understanding, full tuition scholarships will be available to participants in the program, Olien said.

While the program is designed especially for teachers of social studies and related fields, it is

Musician Enters Plea Of Innocent

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Entertainer Chad Mitchell has pleaded innocent to federal charges of marijuana possession and conspiracy to import the weed from Mexico.

Mitchell and his lawyers, Joel Steinberg of New York and Roy Barrera of San Antonio, appeared Monday before U.S. District Court Judge Adrian Spears.

Mitchell, founder of the Chad Mitchell Trio, is free on $25,000 bond. Spears said he will hear motions on the case May 31. No trial date was set.

If Mitchell is convicted, he could spend 10 years in prison and be fined $30,000, Asst. U.S. Atty. Joel Conant said.

The singer and musician was arrested Oct. 21 at a San Antonio motel by agents of the Drug Enforcement Agency.

DEA agents said they arrested Mitchell as he tried to get into a pickup-camper loaded with 400 pounds of marijuana.

Mitchell, president of the Devonshire Music Corp. of Chicago, said he is awaiting the outcome of his case before taking up his singing career again.

Israeli Planes Attack Syrian Targets Again

By The Associated Press

Israeli planes attacked Syrian military targets near Mt. Hermon today and returned safely after a half hour, the Tel Aviv command said.

The planes scrambled apparently after Syrian gunners opened fire on Israeli positions on the crest of Mt. Hermon.

A spokesman for the Israeli command said artillery duels also erupted along the northern sector of the Syrian bulge captured by the Israelis in the October war and in the southern Golan Heights.

A military command source denied a Damascus claim that Syrian forces destroyed an Israeli missile base, an ammunition depot and four tanks in pre-dawn fighting.

The Syrian command said artillery clashes flared during the night on the embattled peaks of Mt. Hermon, and "the enemy suffered heavy casualties in dead and wounded."

At midday Syria reported new artillery exchanges with Israeli forces on Mt. Hermon and the Golan Heights.

The Syrian communique said its forward patrols attacked frontline Israeli positions with grenades, machine guns and antitank missiles.

It was the 50th day of fighting on the Golan Heights and war, and claimed Israel was the second day of heavy damage claims. On Monday the Syrians said they shot down six Israeli warplanes and admitted losing two of their own. Israel said four aircraft were downed, all Syrian.

The hostilities are becoming fiercer as Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger begins his fifth peace mission to the Middle East, this time in an attempt to work out an agreement for Israel to pull back its forces on the Golan Heights.

Radio Damascus called the escalating fighting the "Golan Heights war" and claimed Israel was the second day of heavy damage claims. On Monday the Syrians said they shot down six Israeli warplanes and admitted losing two of their own. Israel said four aircraft were downed, all Syrian.

SPEND AS LITTLE TIME AS POSSIBLE ON TEXAS INTERNATIONAL.

Last year, our on-time performance was the envy of the airline industry. And the more we're on time, the less time you spend flying with us. Which is the whole idea.

On-Time Performance
Texas International	83.52%
Western	77.10%
Continental	75.32%
Eastern	73.85%
United	73.74%
Northwest	72.04%
TWA	70.91%

On-time performance is defined as that percentage of flights which arrive at their destination within 15 minutes of the published schedule. Texas International's on-time performance in 1973 for all flights operated throughout the airline's 9-state and Mexico route system was 82.71%. The table above compares on-time performance in the 100 most heavily traveled U.S. markets, as reported to the Civil Aeronautics Board, and includes Texas International's performance in 2 of these markets.

more acceptable to the committee. Rallsback said the committee should make a counterproposal to the White House calling for verification of the tapes by committee counsel and White House lawyers, as well as Chairman Peter Rodino and the ranking Republican, Rep. Edward L. Hutchinson.

The 50-page submission to the panel, prepared by White House defense counsel James D. St. Clair, said that "the raw material of these recorded confidential conversations established that the President had no prior knowledge of the break-in" at Democratic National Committee headquarters "and that he had no knowledge of any cover-up prior to March 21, 1973."

The 1,200 pages of edited tapes were to be made public later in the day but the St. Clair document repeatedly quoted from the tape transcripts. And at points comparisons were made between the content of the transcripts and sworn testimony by ousted White House counsel John W. Dean III, who has been the President's chief public accuser.

The transcripts were delivered earlier to an apparently skeptical House Judiciary Committee in a black station wagon. There were stacks of papers for each member. An hour before the committee's 10 a.m. deadline,

White House aides had loaded 38 manila folders and four large black briefcases into the station wagon and headed for Capitol Hill.

The White House submission concluded by referring directly to the acquittal Sunday of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans in a Watergate-related case tried in New York.

It said the acquittals "demonstrate the wisdom of the President's actions in insisting that the orderly process of the judicial system be utilized to determine the guilt or innocence of individuals charged with crimes, rather than participating in trials in the public media."

The President said Monday night, in a national radio and television address, he would deliver the transcripts, "blemishes and all," and expected the American public to find in them proof of his innocence.

Nixon, in announcing Monday night his plans to release the edited transcripts, said: "I am placing my trust in the basic fairness of the American people."

He is not turning over the tape recordings the committee has subpoenaed, drawing complaints from Democrats and at least one Republican on the committee.

A committee briefing session scheduled for this morning was abruptly canceled and committee aides said Rodino would refuse to comment on Nixon's conduct of the President."

Nixon has repeatedly contended he knew nothing about the Watergate cover-up until Dean informed him of it at that session. However, the submission said that even at the March 21 meeting there were "significant matters which Dean did not report to the President," including a Dean order for the destruction of documents from the White House sale of convicted Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt; Dean's handling of money that went to Watergate defendants; and that "Dean had authorized promises of executive clemency" for the defendants.

One excerpt from the transcript quoted Dean as telling Nixon on that day "you are not involved in it (the cover-up) and it is something you shouldn't..."

Nixon is said to have responded, "That is true!" Dean also was quoted as telling Nixon early in the meeting: "The reason that I thought we ought to talk this morning is because in our conversations I have the impression that you don't know everything I know and it makes it very difficult for you to make judgments that only you can make on some of these things and I thought that

The White House submission did not fully spell out the controversial discussion on March 21 between Nixon and Dean about the payment of hush money to Hunt. It simply said: "The President expressed the belief that the money could be raised, and, perhaps, even, a way could be found to deliver it. However, he recognized and pointed out that blackmail would continue endlessly, and in the final analysis would not be successful unless the Watergate defendants were given executive clemency which he said adamantly, could not be done."

The President stated: "Capital P. (for President.) No, it is wrong that's for sure."

At another point, Dean said, according to the transcripts, "I know, sir, I just can't tell from our conversation that there are things you have no knowledge of."

First Work Starts On Alaska Pipeline

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — almost six years ago, oil companies announced plans for an 800-mile pipeline from Alaska's oil-rich North Slope to the ice-free port of Valdez.

On Monday, after winning battles over environmental protection and federal rights-of-way, the Alaska Pipeline Service Co. announced the normal start of work on the $4-billion project.

The announcement came just hours after an agreement with union leaders on a labor pact which includes a no-strike clause and covers work on all pipeline-related projects — roads, 12 pumping stations and the Valdez tanker terminal. Actual pipeline work comes under a separate agreement.

Alaska says a short span of pipeline will be laid soon in the rugged Keystone Canyon area, but most work will be held off until next summer.

The first project will be a 360-mile state road from the Yukon River north to Prudhoe Bay, to transport men, materials and machinery to construction camps in the remote northlands.

Builders say they'll need 30 million cubic yards of gravel for the road, which will have 17 bridges. It will cross the Brooks Range at 4,800-foot Dietrich Pass.

Some 1,200 workers and several hundred pieces of heavy equipment had already been assigned to 11 remote construction camps to prepare for the big push. They are now assigned to work on the road.

Almost $3,500 in copper tubing and coils has been reported taken from 14 air conditioning units in the fenced yard of Jerry's Sheet Metal Co., 208 S. Mineola St.

The units were last checked in the yard Thursday, and the parts were discovered missing Monday afternoon. Patrolmen John Anastasio and J. L. Campbell reported.

He will discuss the highlights of the proposed state constitution. Ross Freeman, president of the Midland County Bar Association, will present a plaque to Midland's 142nd Dist. Judge Perry D. Pickett during the luncheon.

The award is from the State Bar of Texas in appreciation for Pickett's being an instructor in an October criminal defense lawyers skills course, which was one of several such seminars presented across Texas by the state bar and the Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers Association.

Kissinger Pursues Disengagement Goal

ported that relations between the U.S. and Algerian governments were improving but have not yet reached the point of formal restoration of diplomatic relations.

Kissinger was flying to Alexandria this afternoon to confer with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, then on to Israel Wednesday and Damascus on Thursday. Informed sources said it was likely he also would visit Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and several other smaller Persian Gulf states sometime in the next week.

Kissinger flew to Algiers after nine hours of talks in Geneva with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. They issued a joint communique saying they had agreed to exercise their influence "towards a positive outcome and to remain in close touch with each other so as to strive to coordinate their efforts for a peaceful settlement in the area."

The communique appeared to represent a gain for Kissinger in his quest to have Moscow use its influence with Syria to achieve an agreement with Israel. But American officials said the Soviet pledge was basically one of attitude. They said the Russians' intentions would not become clear until Kissinger arrives in Damascus.

Meanwhile, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said in Tel Aviv the Israeli government has not changed its position on withdrawing from Syrian territory. That position has never been made public, but Dayan indicated that there would be no significant retreat beyond the lines set by the 1967

El Paso Natural Asks All-Alaskan Pipeline Routing

WASHINGTON (AP) — El Paso Natural Gas Co. asked the Federal Power Commission Monday to permit the company to market Alaskan natural gas in the U.S. through an American route rather than one through Canada.

El Paso wants to market its supplies via an 800-mile pipeline across Alaska in the same corridor as the trans-Alaska pipeline now under construction. The product then would be liquefied and shipped to the U.S. West Coast by liquid natural gas carrier.

The company said the trans-Alaska route would protect the supply for U.S. consumers since the route would be under total U.S. jurisdiction. The company said such a plan has "unprecedented importance in light of the recent Middle East oil embargo following which the Canadians doubled the price of gas flowing across its borders to the U.S."

Further, the company said, Canada required that any shortages of gas be borne wholly by U.S. consumers, regardless of contracts.

Among other reasons, the company said use of the utility corridor across Alaska will minimize the environmental impact on the Arctic. By contrast, the Canadian route would run through thousands of miles of virgin wilderness.

Proxmire Claims White House Blocks Investigation By GAO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is trying to block an investigation of the use of Navy men as servants at the White House, Sen. William Proxmire said today.

Proxmire, D-Wis., called the White House actions "a disgraceful taxpayer ripoff." He released General Accounting Office letters showing that the administration has refused to allow interviews with the Navy servants, all Filipinos, who are assigned to the White House detail.

GAO wrote Alexander M. Haig Jr., President Nixon's chief of staff, last Dec. 14 pointing out the lack of cooperation in conducting the probe. Haig has not replied to that letter, GAO said.

"The White House may be particularly sensitive to the GAO request in light of the evidence that these Navy stewards often are required to cater private parties not only in the Executive Office Building, but also in the private homes of the staff of the White House," Proxmire, vice chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, said in a statement.

He questioned the legal authority under which he said two Navy stewards were assigned to the home of Spiro T. Agnew when he was vice president.

Proxmire said he has received complaints from some of the stewards, who serve as waiters in the restaurant for White House employees, "allegedly intolerably long working hours and noncompensation for serving drinks and food at private parties."

"The White House claims that this practice of using Navy enlisted men as servants goes back to 1951 and in an earlier form to 1880," Proxmire said.

Dallas Okays Proposal On Love Field Terminal

DALLAS (AP) — The City Council approved Monday a developer's proposal to turn the almost-vacant Love Field terminal building into a family entertainment center.

The two-year lease with developer Wesley Goyer calls for the city to pay $700,000 for renovation of the terminal. Goyer will pay a yearly rental of $149,000 plus a share of parking revenues.

Goyer's plans, to be implemented by Love Dallas, Inc., include an ice skating rink, a multiscreen theatre, a roller skating rink and a dance area. Goyer, one of the first developers of Six Flags Over Texas, claimed the Love Field family center could attract a half million persons a year.

Council vote to accept the proposal was 7-4.

Dissenting Councilman Charles Terrell called the plan "ridiculous."

"The city is going to get totally involved in a project with no guarantee we'll get our money back," Terrell said.

City Manager George Schrader said the proposal was the best offer the city had to utilize the terminal.

Flooding—

east New Mexico to the southwest tip of Texas as brisk winds shoved warm, damp air inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

Earlier, as the unruly weather extended northward into the Texas Panhandle, highway patrolmen watched a tornado funnel spin across the sky without touching ground just south of Clarendon. Some of the same storm system covered Texas 87 between Tulsa and Nazareth.

Hail and punishing winds accompanied the showers at many points. Radar detected rainfall at rates up to 2 inches per hour over wide areas.

Flash flood warnings went up during the night for areas on the watersheds of the Rio Grande and the Pecos River in far West Texas. Similar alerts were extended before dawn through North Central Texas to the northeast corner of the state.

Official observers also issued severe thunderstorm warnings at intervals throughout the night and early morning for one area after another as the turbulent weather rumbled into Southwest and North Central Texas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 48 degrees at El Paso and 49 at Dalhart up to 75 at Alice and Victoria, according to The Associated Press.

Forecasters looked for the front lying across West Texas to ease a bit farther to the east and for showers to persist in the west and north central parts of the state while spreading into most other sections.

Pecos Man Faces Assault Charge

Haskell Stephen Holmes, 28, of Pecos was arrested here this morning and charged with aggravated assault on a police officer.

The victim was Patrolman David Wilks.

Wilks and Patrolman Tommy Wilkins went to 3413 W. Storey St. shortly before 3 a.m. to investigate a disturbance reported there.

As they talked there with Holmes, he reportedly threatened Wilks with a golf club and later struck the officer with his fist, police said.

Justice of the Peace Robert Pine set Holmes' bond at $3,500.

Five Texas DAs Battle Racing Bets

DALLAS (AP) — Five Texas district attorneys have written their colleagues asking them to oppose legalization of pari-mutuel betting.

The letters were released Monday by the Anti-Crime Council of Texas and were signed by Carol S. Vance of Harris County (Houston), Robert O. Smith of Travis County (Austin), Joe Carroll of Bell County (Belton), Tom Hanna of Jefferson County (Beaumont) and George Dowlen of Randall County (Amarillo).

Non-Binding Referendum

The proposal to legalize horserace betting is on the Democratic and Republican Party primary ballots for next Saturday, but is in the form of a referendum, and thus is not binding.

The five attorneys said that "public sanction and acceptance of legalized gambling encourages and fosters even greater illegal gambling."

Approval of gambling "will add to our many social ills by preying upon the weak and many potential compulsive gamblers," the five said.

The letter also said that "local officers already face nearly unworkable problems in obtaining hard evidence against the bookmakers now operating in Texas. Despite our best efforts, organized crime already is taking a billion dollars a year out of the state economy—most of it in illegal gambling."

Past Troubles Cited

Hanna said that only last year law enforcement agencies in Jefferson County had dismantled a bookmaking operation that was taking approximately $100,000 a week from the county on football bets.

"We had problems with illegal betting in the past," Hanna said. "It is a known fact that organized crime has infiltrated the horse race betting business in the United States."

Hanna said that the county "had gone through the experience in the past" of wide open illegal gambling, and that organized crime had "taken over the county."

This was reference to a scandal 12 years ago over tolerance of wide-spread gambling and prostitution.

Tentative Sale Of Radio Station WOAI Announced

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — San Antonio radio station WOAI tentatively has been sold for $1.5 million to a local firm, Avco Broadcasting Corp. has announced.

Principal owners in the San Antonio firm of Clear Channel Communications, Inc., are businessmen B. J. "Red" McCombs and L. Lowry Mays, Avco said in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The sale of WOAI by Avco is contingent on approval of the Federal Communications Commission, the announcement said.

The sale does not affect Avco's ownership of WOAI-TV, according to the announcement.

Pleasure Island Involved In Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has agreed to allow the city of Port Arthur to intervene in a dispute between Texas, Louisiana and the federal government over boundaries in the Gulf of Mexico and ownership of islands in the Sabine River.

In a decision Monday the court said that Port Arthur could intervene to assert ownership of one of the Sabine River islands known as Pleasure Island.

Earlier the court set the boundary between Louisiana and Texas in the middle of the Sabine River, but left undecided the ownership of some islands.

Shell Boosts Gasoline Price

HOUSTON (AP) — The wholesale price of gasoline to jobbers, dealers and commercial accounts was increased 4.8 cents a gallon by Shell Oil Co. today.

Shell said the increases follows the company's March and April decreases totaling 2.3 cents a gallon.

It was necessary to recover the increased cost of raw materials and finished products already purchased, the company announcement said.

Water Heater Service As Near As Your Phone

When your water heater starts to leak or other plumbing problems develop, Sanitary Plumbing at 3204 W. Wall St. is as near as your phone. For prompt, efficient service call 694-8871.

Bob Drummond, owner, has a staff of well trained men who arrive with well equipped trucks that are ready to install and service. They are equipped with water column gauges, electronic thermometers and other instruments that aid the plumber to do a professional job in a minimum time.

The Sanitary Plumbing trucks are rigged inside to hold equipment for any type of job. And have a protective carpeted interior lining to protect equipment. They operate with a system of material exchange that maintains fully equipped service trucks at all times. Material used one day is replaced that evening so whatever is needed to do a job is always in the truck. This eliminates charges for returning to the shop for equipment.

Also equipped with radio microphones, the trucks are in touch with the office at all times. The radio dispatch service provides many years of ready experience instantly during an emergency or when an extra piece of equipment is needed in a hurry. It also eliminates many return trips to the shop.

Ban On Smoking At Hockey Games Eyed In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — City councilmen have passed a resolution urging fans in Sam Houston Coliseum not to smoke during Houston Aeros hockey games.

The vote came Monday after the council delayed for a week consideration of a no-smoking ordinance.

At the urging of Houston Aeros president Jim Smith, the council voted last Wednesday to prohibit smoking at hockey games and agreed to consider the ordinance before Monday night's game between the Aeros and Minnesota.

Councilman Jim McConn tagged the ordinance for a week Monday, however, and suggested that a special session of the Coliseum be set aside for smokers.

Councilman Frank Mann objected to the tag rule, but Mayor Fred Hofheinz said he was unwilling to waive the rule.

Mann then was named to head a three-man committee to study the rule and make possible changes in it.

Harris Deputies Indicted In Gun Slaying Of Youth

HOUSTON (AP) — Two Harris County sheriff's deputies have been indicted by a county grand jury on charges of murder in the shooting death of a youth.

Named in the indictment returned Monday were Charles Edward Gendrett and George Martin Wilson.

State District Court Judge Frank Price placed bond for the officers at $20,000 in the death of Guadalupe Lopez, 19.

Gendrett and Wilson have said they fired at Lopez, who was nude, after he slashed at them with a knife last Dec. 13 following a car chase and later a foot chase after Lopez' car stopped with a flat tire.

The same grand jury had nabbed the two officers last February.

Sheriff Jack Heard said the two officers were relieved of duty Monday and he would determine whether they will be fired when the warrants officially arrive.

Costa Rica Legislator Says He Will Demand Expulsion Of Vesco

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — A leading opposition legislator says he will demand in the National Assembly the immediate expulsion of fugitive American financier Robert L. Vesco.

"Costa Rica should no longer be a refuge for delinquents," Angel Valladares of the National Independent party said in an interview Monday.

Valladares recently returned from Europe where he said he investigated Vesco's financial dealings. He said he would give the assembly proof of the financier's alleged manipulations of mutual funds.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has accused Vesco and 40 others of siphoning $224 million from a mutual fund, Investors Overseas Services, based in Switzerland. Swiss authorities also want Vesco on charges of bilking the firm's shareholders.

Record Quarterly Profits Announced By Union Oil

By The Associated Press

Union Oil Co. of California has announced record first-quarter 1974 profits of $72.96 million, compared with $38.25 million for the same period a year ago.

Fred Hartley, Union's president, told stockholders Monday in Los Angeles that per share profits rose from $1.14 during the first three months of 1973 to $2.35 this year.

He said increased crude oil prices, increased chemical sales and government-approved oil price hikes were some of the factors contributing to a revenue increase from $634.75 million to $987.14 million.

Hartley said the firm's capital budget this year would rise by $100 million to $490 million.

Meanwhile, in Chicago, the board chairman of Gulf Oil Corp. said it will be a "long, hard road" to restore confidence in American oil companies.

B. R. Dorsey told the American Power Conference that Valladares said his inquiry revealed that several European countries have frozen Vesco's holdings and that authorities in the U.S., Switzerland and elsewhere are seeking the financier.

Vesco also was indicted in New York in connection with a secret $300,000 contribution he made to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign, but he refused to return to stand trial.

The Costa Rican government refused to extradite Vesco to the United States after he invested some $50 million in the country, part of it in association with President Jose Figueres. The National Assembly earlier this month passed a law that makes his extradition unlikely.

'CALL TO PRAYER' IN TALL CITY—Under partly cloudy skies and in the shadow of downtown office buildings, a group of Midlanders assembled early this morning to launch with prayer the observance of a National Day of Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer, as designated by Congress, in the Tall City. Numerous churches also were open for prayer and meditation during the day.

Portuguese Meeting Is Unsuccessful

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Left-wing leaders have met a Portuguese head of government for the first time in more than 40 years, but the two sides failed to agree on the future of Portugal's African territories.

A spokesman for the 18 leftist leaders, including representatives of the outlawed Communist party, said they could not accept the program Gen. Antonio de Spínola outlined to them Monday for Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea.

Spínola, head of the seven-man junta that seized control last week, told the leftists he favors much greater autonomy for the colonies and self-determination when their black populations can conduct a meaningful referendum. But he said this would take some time.

Spínola's eventual aim is a federation or commonwealth which would keep the three territories under the Portuguese flag.

The leftist groups are demanding an immediate ceasefire in the war against African guerrilla freedom movements and negotiations as a prelude to independence.

Spínola has rejected this idea, seemingly accepting a continuation of the jungle wars that have raged for 13 years and which he himself contends cannot be won by purely military measures.

The wars, and the resulting drain on the country's manpower and resources, helped produce the climate that enabled the junta to overthrow the regime of Premier Marcello Caetano and President Americo Thomas last Thursday.

Another potential source of discord between the left wing and the new leadership appears to be Spínola's attitude toward the Communist party.

At their meeting Monday the leftists, supported by middle-rollers, urged Spínola to let the Communists operate as a legal political party. Spínola, however, already has said he opposes authoritarian leftist factions as well as those on the right.

The warm welcome Spínola gave to Mario Soares, leader of the Portuguese Socialist party, on his return from exile Sunday appears to indicate the general is counting on the Socialists to attract more support from the country's working class than the Communists.

Heron Slaughter Being Investigated

PORT EDWARDS, Wis. (AP) — The Department of Natural Resources and police were continuing an investigation into the shotgun slaughter of 30 great blue herons.

The herons, protected by state and federal law, were shot Saturday as they nested in a rookery on the Wisconsin River, said the department's game warden, Ronald Kubisiak. "The rookery looked like a slaughterhouse," he said.

SLATED AUG. 2-11, INCLUSIVE— Crusade For Christ Plans Launched At Church Dinner

Praising the interdenominational spirit in Midland, Dr. John Wesley White, an associate of Billy Graham, began plans Monday night at the First Presbyterian Church for an Aug. 2 through Aug. 11 Crusade for Christ.

Dr. White, a native of Canada, said there is a strong possibility singer George Beverly Shea will appear in Midland during the crusade.

The speaker told his audience of more than 200 at the introductory dinner in the church fellowship hall, "You show no concern for the community... unless you are sure everyone needs Christ."

He continued, "Too many of us are sheep without a shepherd. Everyone is looking for a shepherd."

Dr. White said, "God is love, and through God's love, mankind can be saved."

Special music was presented by Tom Bledsoe, soloist, and Bill Fasig, pianist.

Special guests included Lowell Jackson, crusade coordinator, and John Dillon, director of associate crusades for the Graham organization, who introduced Dr. White.

Preparatory activities continue at 7:30 p.m. today at First Baptist Church with a church representative's training rally.

Christian life and witness classes will be July 8, 9, 10, 11, 15, 16, 17 and 18, and visitation Sunday will be July 28.

A dedication service will be Aug. 1, the day before the crusade is to begin.

White House Sources Say Preparation For Transcripts Began Late Last Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secret preparations began late last month for today's massive public release of edited transcripts of President Nixon's private Watergate conversations, White House sources reported.

They said the transcribing of tapes started at least a month before Nixon finally decided to submit them in edited form to the House Judiciary Committee and make them public.

The work, directed by White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt, was done by hand-picked secretaries in the Executive Office Building next door to the executive mansion.

To guard against premature leaks, the identity of the typists was a closely held secret.

A Nixon aide said the transcribing began in anticipation of a presidential response to a February committee request for tapes which was followed up by an April 11 subpoena.

In his television-radio address Monday night announcing plans to release the edited transcripts, Nixon said:

"For many days now, I have spent many hours of my own time personally reviewing these materials, and personally deciding questions of relevancy."

The White House declined to estimate the total amount of time Nixon devoted to the project, but sources said he personally listened to many tapes in addition to reading transcripts.

According to one Nixon associate, it would be fair to say the bulk of the work had been done before the President flew off to Camp David last Friday and that much of his time there was spent preparing his address to the nation.

However, the White House insisted Nixon did not finally decide until the weekend at his mountain retreat to surrender, even in edited form, the material that he had carefully guarded for many months.

On Sunday, after Nixon had made his basic decisions, chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr.

Senior Citizens Center Plans Full May Program

May has been proclaimed Senior Citizens Month and the Midland Senior Citizens Center has planned a full slate of activities.

President Richard Nixon, Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Mayor Ernest Angelo all have urged observance of the month. "We all stand to gain from this natural resource — older people who have the wisdom of years, the experience of living and the time to give themselves," said Gov. Briscoe.

The Senior Citizens Center opens observance of the month with a banquet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in Trinity Presbyterian Church. The center will recognize many of the individuals and organizations who have assisted the center in the last year.

May 8 will be Mexican Fiesta Day at the center, located in the First Christian Church. The day's activities were arranged by a Casa de Amigos committee headed by Mrs. Margaret Hernandez and John Espinosa.

There will be a Mexican arts and crafts exhibit in the morning and a Mexican buffet served at noon and Mexican dances and pinata in the afternoon. At 1:15 p.m. Jerry Maxfield of the Museum of the Southwest will discuss Mexican culture.

An arts and crafts show is scheduled at the center on May 16-17 followed by retired Teachers Week May 20-24 in which a series of films will be shown at 10 a.m. daily.

A hearing clinic will be conducted at the center at 1:30 p.m. on May 27 and a morning film series on crime prevention will be shown May 28-31.

The May 29 luncheon program will feature Tony Rao, director of the Midland Family Counseling Service.

Market Ekes Out Small Gain In Slow, Inconclusive Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market eked out a small advance today in slow and inconclusive trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up .76 at 526.20, and advanced led declines by about 5 to 4 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said many investors were holding off on any investment commitments until they could get some indication of when the surge in interest rates would ease.

Consolidated Edison of New York was the Big Board's most-active stock, down 1/4 at 9 1/4. The issue has fallen from a price of 18 since the company announced it was omitting its second quarter dividend.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up .01 at 89.86.

Dowdle Oil Has Record Earnings, Revenues In '73

Dowdle Oil Corp. reported record earnings and revenues for fiscal 1973.

Nash J. Dowdle, president, reported total revenues in 1973 of $804,754 compared with $317,974 a year earlier. Net income last year was $288,889 compared with a loss of $282,627 in 1972.

During the year, Dowdle Oil drilled 19 wells, 18 of which were successfully completed as natural gas or crude oil producers. Dowdle said the wells drilled in 1973 should reflect additional income in 1974.

The company plans to expand its exploration and development drilling activities in 1974, Dowdle said.

Ector Pool Gets Glorieta Oil

A second Glorieta producer has been completed in the Johnson field of Ector County.

It is Continental Oil Co. No. 2-38 J. L. Johnson, a location east extension to the opener and lone producer in the Glorieta zone.

On a 24-hour potential test, it flowed 384 barrels of oil, through a 13-44-inch choke and perforations at 5,421-5,523 feet, which had been acidized with 3,000 gallons.

Gas-oil ratio measured 26-1, and gravity of the oil was not reported.

It was completed, earlier, from Hoot perforations at 5,322-5,381 feet, which had been acidized with 1,500 gallons, flowing 312 barrels of 37-gravity oil per day.

Location is 1,900 feet from north and east lines of section 38, block 43, T-1-S, T&P survey, 2 1/2 miles west of Odessa.

Kirby Reslates Martin Depth

Kirby Petroleum Co., Houston, has amended its No. 2 Hyatt, scheduled S praberry Trend Area project, to a 12,181-foot wildcat, one location east of the same operator's No. 1 Hyatt, in Martin County.

Location is 6,600 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of league 246, Wheeler C&S survey, 20 miles northwest of Stanton, in Martin County.

Kirby's No. 1 Hyatt, Dean discovery in the Breedlove, South (Dean) field, was completed in January, flowing 68 barrels of 38.5-gravity oil per day, through perforations at 9,217-9,234 feet.

Extension Finished In Gaines County

The Seminole, Southeast (Strawn) field of Gaines County gained a 1/4-mile west and the same distance northwest extension, with the completion of Union Texas Petroleum Corp. No. 2 Wyatt Estate.

It flowed 228 barrels of 43-gravity oil, no water, on a 24-hour potential test. Gas-oil ratio was 1,063-1.

The test was taken through a 10-64-inch choke and perforations at 10,821-10,833 feet, after being treated with 500 gallons of acid.

Wellsite is 660 feet from north and 1,680 feet from east lines of section 17, block C-44, PSL survey, two miles south of Seminole.

Stomach Surgery Makes New Man Of Scotty

A couple of years ago, Scotty Harris, who worked the recent Midland Cubs homestead, laboriously lugged his 340 pounds around Texas League diamonds. TL President Bobby Bragan was moved to observe on opening night in 1972, "There's no question, Scotty's the best umpire in the league. If he'd lose 120 pounds or so, he'd be in the majors."

If you saw Scotty then and again the other night, you wouldn't recognize him. He's a trim 210 pounds. "I feel great," says Scotty. "I had a stomach-bypass operation year before last. Of course, I have to take a lot of vitamins to make up for the potassium and things my body won't retain, but I feel it was well worth it."

Scotty developed blood clots while working the Texas League last summer and one settled on his lung. He took six weeks off and then worked the last three weeks of the TL season, staying in El Paso to reduce the strain. Last winter he umpired winter ball. "It was while I was umpiring winter ball two years ago in Puerto Rico that John Hiller, the Detroit Tiger pitcher, put me on to the operation," Scotty related.

"He said, 'Scotty, you're a good umpire. How come you aren't in the majors?' I told him I was too heavy and just couldn't move well enough."

That's when Hiller put him on the stomach operation.

John, the American League's leading relief pitcher last year, it turned out, had had the operation, not because of his weight but to control the cholesterol count that had knocked him out of baseball in 1972.

The mere fact that he returned last year made him a comeback-of-the-year candidate. The way he pitched cinched it.

The inclination was to write off California Angels preseason boast that "This is the best team ever to represent El Paso" as typical spring training camp optimism. After what the Diablos did to our Midland Cubs over the weekend, the "best ever" label sounds like uncalled for modesty.

El Paso defeated Midland three in a row with power, speed and an outright disdain for the throwing arms of Cub outfielders. In the first game particularly, they boldly went for the extra base even going from first to third on balls hit to left.

After the 45-run carnage, Midland pitchers who suffered through it all, may never get their earned-run-averages back to respectability.

Probably no one noticed it, but while El Paso may be busting its sleeves with King Kong biceps, their pitching isn't that good. The Cubs scored 27 runs in the three games, that's nine an outing, which is about as much as one can expect from a batting order.

After one swing around, it appears that El Paso has the hitting in the West Division and San Antonio the pitching. Still there really aren't enough returns to indicate anything definite and it's a long season.

What hurt most about El Paso's methodical demolition of Midland was that in the preceding Amarillo series, the Cubs looked so good... but that's baseball.

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros first baseman Lee May said it was not his biggest night. "Once I had four home runs in a doubleheader while I was with Cincinnati," he said. NOLAN'S RELIEF JOB STOPS MIDLAND—

Giants Douse Cubs, 5-2

AMARILLO — Amarillo's Giants scored their first victory of the season over the Midland Cubs here Monday night, 5-2, in a Texas League game. It was the Cubs' fourth straight loss.

After the Giants took a 4-0 lead in the first two innings to knock starter Gary Junge out of the box, Midland made menacing gestures in the third and fourth with single runs, but Bob Nolan came in and snuffed out the Bruins the rest of the way with a one-hit relief job.

After the second, Dyan Frazier, pitched six innings of stout relief ball for Midland. The left-hander gave up only one run, and three hits over.

Harry Shaunessy opened the first for Amarillo with a single to right, but was caught in a rundown when a hit-and-run play missed fire. That was only a temporary reprieve, however. Tommy Smith tripled down the right field line, after Mike Eden's double to left and Tony Pepper's single to left plated Smith with the second run.

In the second, with two out and Shaunessy at first, Eden singled to center and Tommy Smith singled to left, scoring Shaunessy. Left fielder Bill Droege's throwing error allowed Eden to go to third and Smith to take second. That brought on Frazier. Pepper beat out a swinging bunt and the run scored to make it 4-0.

Midland threatened in the third, loading the bases with none out on singles by Steve Haug, Bill Huisman and Ken Szotkiewicz, but then got only one run out of it as Joe Wallis skied to center, and Droege whiffed. First Baseman Jerry Tabb, collecting two hits for the sixth straight game, singled home one run and Huisman was thrown out at the plate.

In the fourth, Wayne Tyrone opened with a walk and scored on Bill Bright's double, which brought on Nolan and spoiled Midland's fun for the rest of the night.

Amarillo's run in the sixth came on a walk, force out, passed ball, wild pitch and a sacrifice fly.

In tonight's second game of the three-game series, lefty Dave Geisel will go after his second victory for the Cubs while Rob Dressler, 0-1, will pitch for the Giants.

WFL Court Move Jumps Cowboys Restraining Bid

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League go into state court today to get a temporary restraining order against the new World Football League made into a permanent injunction.

But there is this hitch: The WFL went into federal court in Houston Monday and obtained its own temporary restraining order prohibiting the Cowboys from enforcing their state court order.

The state court prohibits the WFL from contacting or negotiating with any Cowboy players.

"We are scheduled before the judge at 10 a.m. and we will be there," said Cowboy spokesman Curt Mosher. He added that any comments on the WFL's federal court suit would "be premature at this time."

The Cowboy management has subpoenaed 31 of its players to appear at today's hearing but Mosher said he didn't know if all the subpoenas had been served.

Houston federal Judge Woodrow Seals set a hearing on the WFL lawsuit for May 9.

In their suit, the Cowboys asked their players to produce "all documents or writings of any kind pertaining to any offers, negotiations or contracts you may have had with the WFL or any of its members, teams or representatives."

Quarterback Craig Morton... Cowboys move to keep him

The Cowboys also seek in their suit to nullify the contracts quarterback Craig Morton and running back Calvin Hill have signed with the WFL. Split end Mike Montgomery has also signed with the WFL, but the Cowboy suit did not mention him.

The WFL suit seeks to enjoin the Cowboys and the NFL from interfering in contractual and business relations between WFL officials and Cowboy players who may be interested in signing with the new football league.

The Cowboys obtained ten days ago the temporary order from District Court Judge Ted M. Akin which restrained Morton and Hill from engaging in promotional activities for the new league.

Morton has signed to play with the Houston Texans beginning in 1975, and Hill signed with the Honolulu Hawaiians. Montgomery is reported to have signed the Birmingham Americans.

The WFL suit claimed the Cowboy's temporary order is unconstitutional in that it violates the player's freedom of speech.

The suit alleged that the order granted by Akin denied Morton and Hill the right to promote or have their pictures taken in association with publicity about the WFL.

The WFL suit alleged that the NFL and the Cowboys have agreed to coerce, induce and influence NFL players not to enter contracts with the WFL and have threatened Morton and Hill with lawsuits.

The Dallas team alleges that the NFL player contract prohibits NFL players from signing with another league while under NFL contracts.

Hill and Morton have agreed to play for their new teams after playing out their options this year with Dallas.

Bums, Tribe, Angels Win

The Cleveland Indians edged the Minnesota Twins 3-2 in baseball's only afternoon contest; the California Angels dropped the Boston Red Sox 7-2 and the Los Angeles Dodgers squeezed past the New York Mets 8-7.

Indians 3, Twins 2
The Indians cashed in their first dividend from last Friday's seven-player deal with the New York Yankees as Steve Kline hurled an eight-hitter in his first start for Cleveland.

Ninth-inning RBI singles by Oscar Gamble and Dave Duncan made Kline a winner. Bill Campbell, who had not yielded an earned run in any of his 10 previous appearances, took the loss.

Angels 7, Red Sox 2
Tom McCraw knocked in four runs with a pair of doubles to help the Angels snap a five-game losing streak.

Dodgers 8, Mets 7
Willie Crawford singled in two runs in the first and one more in the second to help Los Angeles build an 8-0 lead after two innings and the Dodgers held on for their seventh straight victory.

San Diego (AP) — The owner of the San Diego Chargers, reacting to the firing of eight of his players for drug use, has renewed his call for post-game urine tests.

"I think it's vital that the young people of America regard professional football players, professional athletes, as heroes," Eugene Klein told reporters Monday. "They've got to be Simon-pure."

He said random, mandatory drug tests after every National Football League game are "necessary to the survival of professional football."

If the NFL players' association continues its "lack of cooperation," Klein said, "Congress should pass a law requiring the tests."

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Friday eight players, General Manager Harland Sware and Klein had been fined a total of $40,000 for drug-related offenses during the 1973 season and training camp.

Sware, former coach of the team, and Klein were fined for not exercising proper controls, Rozelle said. He didn't disclose the nature of the offenses.

HOUSTON (AP) — Most hockey teams consider a penalty-killing situation a disadvantage. When the Houston Aeros are short-handed, they've got the opposition right where they want them.

Houston, one of the top penalty killers in the World Hockey Association this season, isn't satisfied just to kill a penalty—it likes to score goals in the process.

The Aeros scored two short-handed goals in less than one minute Monday night en route to a 9-4 victory over Minnesota to take a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven WHA semifinal playoff series.

Drug Tests Vital

Charger Owner Urges Urine Exam

San Diego (AP) — The owner of the San Diego Chargers, reacting to the firing of eight of his players for drug use, has renewed his call for post-game urine tests.

"I think it's vital that the young people of America regard professional football players, professional athletes, as heroes," Eugene Klein told reporters Monday. "They've got to be Simon-pure."

He said random, mandatory drug tests after every National Football League game are "necessary to the survival of professional football."

If the NFL players' association continues its "lack of cooperation," Klein said, "Congress should pass a law requiring the tests."

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Friday eight players, General Manager Harland Sware and Klein had been fined a total of $40,000 for drug-related offenses during the 1973 season and training camp.

Sware, former coach of the team, and Klein were fined for not exercising proper controls, Rozelle said. He didn't disclose the nature of the offenses.

HOUSTON (AP) — Most hockey teams consider a penalty-killing situation a disadvantage. When the Houston Aeros are short-handed, they've got the opposition right where they want them.

Houston, one of the top penalty killers in the World Hockey Association this season, isn't satisfied just to kill a penalty—it likes to score goals in the process.

The Aeros scored two short-handed goals in less than one minute Monday night en route to a 9-4 victory over Minnesota to take a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven WHA semifinal playoff series.

"I think it was kind of a downer for them when we got 15:48. His father Gordie Howe added another at 16:30, and the rout was on.

"I think those two short-handed goals broke their hearts," center Jim Sherritt said. "That's what really hurt them."

Houston's short-handed goals may have hurt, but four more Aeros goals in the second period buried them in this game. After Minnesota's Mike Antonovich scored the Saints' first goal at 4:11 of the second period, Houston added three goals in a three-minute span by Mark Howe, Gordon Labossiere and Frank Hughes. Larry Lund scored the fourth late in the period, scored first at mid-downer for them when we got 15:48. His father Gordie Howe added another at 16:30, and the rout was on.

Bulldogs Launch Grid Drills

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

Over 60 Midland High grid hopefuls donned the gladiator gridiron pads for the first workout Monday of what is to be a three week long spring football training program under the direction of head football coach John Reddell. Reddell said that the first workout was simply a conditioning period while his hopefuls get used to carrying the extra 15-pounds of equipment. The Purple Pack went through general drills to improve techniques that have been discussed with the team, but have not been put into action.

The Bulldogs posted a 6-3-1 record last fall after being picked to finish seventh in the District 5-4A football wars by the coaches and sports writers.

At this stage of the game at least, the Pack may have the obstacle of proving themselves again this year since the Bulldogs return only five returning starters from last year's squad. Only two starters return to the offensive lineup with stellar fullback Mike Gaddy and tight end Sam Hubert. A couple of defensive halfbacks in Derrick Michael and Sam Jordan return to the defensive team along with linebacker Tommy Dunlap.

Coach Reddell and his capable staff will have their work cut out for them this spring as they search for the personnel to fill out the remaining berths.

Reddell also said that the Pack will hold scrimmage sessions on the next two Saturday mornings at Memorial Stadium.

Coach Jim Acree's Lee Rebels are waiting a week before they unravel with the spring training grid.

"We'll be starting as we have in the past," Reddell said Monday. "Our primary interest is looking at new individuals and improving on the techniques of the young people. We have to get a good look at the kids up on the junior varsity and we will probably have to experiment with new positions for some of our players."

The spring training ritual is expected to end May 17 for the Bulldogs with the annual Bill Mims game at Memorial Stadium, which is now set for an 8 p.m. start. The junior varsity spring game will precede the Purple-White contest.

Bucks Plan No Changes

Face Celtics and NBA off Tilt

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Bucks plan no drastic style changes, but count on better execution tonight in hopes of squaring their National Basketball Association championship playoff series with the Boston Celtics.

The Celtics, scoring 15 baskets on fast breaks and stifling the Bucks' offense with a full court pressing defense, won 98-83 Sunday for a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Coach Tom Heinsohn said Monday the Celtics will use the same pressure tactics in tonight's nationally televised game (8:30 p.m., CDT). The third and fourth games will be in Boston Friday and Sunday.

"We feel we have people we can win with," Bucks' Coach Larry Costello said. "We're going to play the way we've been playing, the way we've been winning."

"But we can't score 83 points again or we're going to be shut out four to zero in this series," he said.

"We know the Bucks are a great basketball team and it's going to be a very tough series," Heinsohn said. "But we've shown we're capable of playing our style. They still have to establish that they can play their style."

"Obviously, they'll try to do something about our press," he said. "I'm sure they'll make some changes. But I'll tell you something, I looked at the films this morning, and I think we can press even better."

Costello said forwards Bob Dandridge and Mickey Davis may see some duty at guard to spell 35-year-old Oscar Robertson.

Robertson had to play all but two minutes Sunday because a pulled calf muscle sidelined Jon McGlocklin, the Bucks' top reserve guard, in the second quarter. Costello said McGlocklin will not play tonight and his availability later in the series is questionable.

Robertson scored only two baskets, one a tip-in, in 13 shots Sunday. Costello said the Celtics' pressure wore him down.

"The Bucks just like to play their style, a slowdown style," Heinsohn said. "It's like whether you prefer to boogaloo or waltz. I don't think it's conditioning because they've played 100 games, too. But they haven't danced the boogaloo, like us. They've waltzed."

Boston's 6-foot-9 center Dave Cowens, who contributed 19 points and 17 rebounds Sunday, said the Celtics are physically capable of sustaining their all-out running game.

Cowens played most of the time at the top of the key or at a forward position. Milwaukee's 7-foot-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had to play outside to guard Cowens, which opened up the middle for the Celtics.

John Denton Sparkles In Indianapolis ABC

John Denton went up to the ABC Tournament in Indianapolis and rolled a 2,014 all-events plus a 1,310 in the doubles.

It takes a while to tabulate the scores in the mammoth tournament, but best guesses are that John's singles and all-events scores should put him somewhere in the top 15.

Denton at Super Bowl rolled 12 perfect strikes for a 300-game in pot-game competition.

Kenneth Williams, bowling in the Thursday Lamplighters League, rolled a 278 singles game on the way to a 602.

In the Oil Stars League, L. Ray Sutton rolled a 682 series with games of 257 and 240, both highs in the loop that night. A week later, Clint Benefield had a 257 single game.

Phil White strung together a three 200 games (200, 203, 225) for a 628 series in the Keglers Mixed while the same night Lily Lacy posted a 593 on games of 211 and 224.

Dave Gregory, a 270-average bowler, rolled a 256 in the Major League and Lee Evans notched a 612 in the Friday Nite Mixed League. In the same league, Sharon McKandies broke the 200 mark for her first time with a 216.

Bobby Young's 212 in the Tuesday Morning Ladies League was 84 pins over her average, not a bad feat.

Bruins Seek Clincher Against Hawks

In the National Hockey League, both semifinal series continue tonight. The Boston Bruins take a 3-2 lead into Chicago against the Black Hawks and the New York Rangers visit the Philadelphia Flyers with the teams tied at two games apiece.

The Aeros scored two short-handed goals in less than one minute Monday night en route to a 9-4 victory over Minnesota.

Toronto probably will be without defenseman Rich Cunningham and Steve Cudde, both of whom were injured Sunday. Cunningham has a bad ankle and Cudde has an eye injury.

Continental To Get New Boeing 727s

Continental Airlines will replace seven Midland DC9 flights Wednesday with Boeing 727 wide-body jets, Charles Logue, regional director at Terminal said.

The changeover will give Continental a 16.7 per cent increase in passenger capacity here, Logue said, and the larger planes will add 50 per cent to the airlines cargo capacity.

"Currently, we have 2,216 out-bound seats per day at Terminal. Wednesday, the capacity will increase to 2,887 seats," Logue said.

Each DC9 has 71 seats, and each 727 has 124.

After Wednesday, Continental still will have 5 DC9 flights daily.

"These flights probably will continue through 1974," the regional director said.

The new Boeing 727 flights and their times are:

Retired Carolina Congressman Dies

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Former Congressman Carl T. Durham, 81, who served 22 years in the House before retiring in 1961, died Monday at Duke University Medical Center. The Chapel Hill Democrat was twice chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee and was vice chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

One Of Continental Airlines Boeing 727s That Will Serve Midland Venezuela To Nationalize American-Owned Iron Ore Industry

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Venezuela's new government says it is going to nationalize the iron ore industry, owned by American companies, and will sharply reduce foreign investments in other companies.

President Carlos Andres Perez, who took office March 12, told Congress Monday night his government will revoke the iron ore concessions that expire in the year 2000. He gave no timetable but said: "We are taking them back now."

Perez also said nothing about compensation.

The Orinoco Mining Co., a subsidiary of U.S. Steel, and Iron Mines Co., a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel, run the Venezuelan industry. They produce 2.18 million tons of ore a month, and exports in 1973 totaled 23.1 million tons, with more than 13 million tons going to the United States.

Perez said foreign companies dealing in goods and services must sell 80 per cent of their stock to Venezuelan nationals within three years, in accordance with a decision of the six countries of the Andean Pact, a regional common market.

Among businesses that will be affected are the 14-store CADA chain of supermarkets, 50 per cent of which is owned by the Rockefeller family, and the Sears Roebuck chain.

Perez also pledged 5.25 per cent salary increases, mainly aimed at providing more income for the poorest workers; increased agricultural and industrial production and curbs on inflation.

The president's center-left Democratic Action party, which has a majority in Congress, promised swift passage of bills to put his proposals into effect.

He said nothing about nationalization of the oil industry, run by foreign companies and the country's major income producer. But officials said earlier that the foreign owners would be phased out before their 40-year concessions begin expiring in the early 1980s.

Venezuela is South America's oil giant, with an average daily production of 3.2 million barrels. It is the world's third-ranking oil exporter.

CBS and ABC brought up the incidents in legal briefs urging U.S. District Court to throw out the antitrust suit on grounds it was instituted for political retaliation, an unconstitutional purpose.

"... The administration perceived the news media—and the networks in particular—to be enemies against which the most intensive pressure should be directed," the brief said.

The two networks contended the case "was commenced for the unconstitutional purpose of harassing, intimidating and inhibiting them in their exercise of First Amendment rights."

Ehrlichman declined to comment, "since it is litigation."

The Justice Department filed its antitrust suit against the three major tv networks—ABC, CBS, and NBC—on April 14, 1972, asking that they be prohibited from network syndication activities and acquisition of financial and other interests in programs obtained from independent producers. The suit alleges that CBS violated the Sherman Act by excluding from prime time entertainment programs it did not own.

A spokesman in the state attorney general's office said there had been 71 unprovoked, unsolved murders in California from 1971 to date. He said they generally fit the description of the 80 murders Alioto cited, but he said he had no information on any racial aspect involved.

Nixon Administration Threatened Networks, Sworn Documents Claim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Administration spokesmen threatened CBS-TV and its White House correspondent with government retaliation and corporate financial ruin if the network continued "anti-Nixon" criticism, according to sworn court documents filed by CBS and ABC.

The documents, filed Monday in response to a government antitrust suit, claimed network executives were "quietly and privately threatened" beginning in 1968 by Nixon officials including Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, former Nixon adviser John D. Ehrlichman and former Special Presidential Counsel Charles W. Colson.

CBS' White House correspondent, Dan Rather, said in a sworn affidavit that in February 1971 "Ronald Ziegler ... said to me that the television networks were 'anti-Nixon' and that 'they are going to have to pay for that, sooner or later, one way or another.'"

Rather added, "On at least one and perhaps two occasions, John Ehrlichman ... stated to me, in words or substance, that 'the networks will get theirs, of that you can be sure.'"

Attorneys for CBS and ABC noted in their legal brief a previously released report that Ehrlichman once met with CBS News President Richard S. Salant and urged that Rather "should be transferred or fired."

In another sworn affidavit, former CBS President Frank Stanton said, "In early November 1972, Mr. Colson called me over his door when he began business as a money lender and stantially changed its news coin dealer.

stances where there is no motive involved."

A spokesman in the state attorney general's office said there had been 71 unprovoked, unsolved murders in California from 1971 to date. He said they generally fit the description of the 80 murders Alioto cited, but he said he had no information on any racial aspect involved.

America Listens As Nixon Speaks Again On Watergate

By JIM WILLSE
Associated Press Writer

In the Oval Office of the White House, Richard M. Nixon gazed into the eye of the television camera and promised America that the pile of loose-leaf folders to his left would, finally, "tell it all."

In Hallandale, Fla., Harold Harris gazed back at the President of the United States. "He's lying," Harris said, puffing on a cigar. "The accused shouldn't be the one to decide what is relevant."

Other Side Of Story

A continent away, in Santa Monica, Calif., Sydney Albright munched a tossed salad as he watched Nixon on a small black and white tv. "I knew in time the other side of the story would be told. I hope the President's actions tomorrow will indeed be the other side of the story."

Once again, President Nixon turned to the national broadcast media to present a defense of his role in the Watergate scandal. And once again, America listened.

Seated at his desk, the camera panning periodically to the stacks of black notebooks containing transcripts of taped White House conversations, Nixon placed his case in the hands of the public.

"In giving you these blemishes and all — I am placing my trust in the basic fairness of the American people," he said. "... I was trying to discover what was right and to do what was right. I hope and trust that when you have seen the evidence in its entirety, you will see the truth of that statement."

But for Bill Sweeney, an executive with an electronics firm, the President's plea was not enough. "I'm so sick of all his difficult days and all of his transcripts," the 36-year-old father of six said in the family room of his home in Arlington Heights, Ill.

Nor was it enough for Don Peterson of Pleasant Hill, Iowa. "He's just trying to get more sympathy," Peterson said as he watched the speech with a neighbor, Bill Sinnott.

Nor for Walter Juskiewicz, a salesman from Cape Elizabeth, Maine. "I don't think he ever had it in his mind to turn over the tapes," Juskiewicz said. "He's trying to run the investigation himself."

And from Bruce Pemberton of Alexander, Ark.: "Richard, you just took too long."

Nixon spoke 13 hours before the deadline set by the House Judiciary Committee for delivery of White House tapes the panel says it needs for its impeachment inquiry. The President said he would provide the committee — and the public — with transcripts instead, with portions he deemed not relevant to Watergate edited out.

"I think in the long run it will clear a lot of air," said Albright, a 42-year-old apartment manager and self-described Nixon supporter. "But in the short run it's going to create a storm brewed primarily by his detractors."

Bill Sweeney remained generally silent during the speech, but when Nixon again asked that Watergate be left behind, he interjected: "Oh please, don't give me that again."

Later, he took out an envelope on which he had scribbled a passage from a book one of his children was reading. It was the eulogy Nixon had delivered for the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"His life is a reminder to us that there is a moral force in the world more powerful than the might of armies or the wealth of nations," Sweeney read. Then he added: "Why couldn't this man have shown that moral force he talked about?"

Salesman's Statement

Juskiewicz, a 35-year-old salesman, said Nixon should have complied fully with the subpoena. "I think he's trying to be an honest guy, but he's going about it in the wrong way."

The Nixon speech did nothing to shake the opinions of Harold Harris, an 83-year-old retired diamond merchant. "You know the old saying, 'If at first you do deceive, what an awful web you weave.'"

"But I tell you, he's smart and clever," added Harris, who watched the speech in his apartment 15 miles north of Miami. "I'd hate to see him impeached. I'd rather have a smart crook in the White House than a dumb one."

Pemberton, 29, general manager of a consulting firm, said at one point, "He's either naive, or he thinks everyone else is. He let it drag on too long. But I think he's taking a good step."

While he spoke, his wife Linda, also 29 and registered an independent as is her husband, looked again at their large color television set in their suburban Little Rock home. "The past couple of years have really aged him," she said. "It seems so noticeable."

Defense Lawyer Hints Archer Parr Apparently Used As Political Target

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A brief reference by a defense attorney may have fore-shadowed Monday a future trial attempt to picture Duval County Judge Archer Parr, accused of perjury, as a political target.

The trial of Parr, 48, began in federal district court before an 8-man, 4-woman jury.

Defense attorney James Gillespie said Parr received the money for legal fees he performed for the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District, commonly known as the water district.

Government prosecutors alleged Parr was lying when he told the grand jury the money was for legal services.

Reviewing Parr's background as an attorney, a county judge and a veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps, Gillespie said he would show "that a person of this caliber could not perform the things that the administration is charging him with."

Asst. U.S. Atty. John Clark objected to the words "the administration," which Gillespie apparently meant to refer to the Nixon administration.

Gillespie then withdrew his reference and substituted "the executive branch" but that was not satisfactory, so he finally inserted the words "the Department of Justice" in his statement.

Parr, who has been county judge since 1959, has told reporters in the past he feels his indictment and the income tax evasion indictment of his uncle, George Parr, 73, were an attempt by the current administration to break up the Democratic Parr machine and part of attempts to get prominent Texas Democrats.

Gillespie told the jury, "We will prove to you that he (Archer Parr) is a loyal American, a loyal Texan, a loyal Democrat and above all that he is not a liar."

Clark said water district officials "don't know anything that he (Archer Parr) did to earn the money that was paid him by the water district."

Clark said the government will show "most of the money was paid from bank accounts not known to most of the districts and officers of the water district."

Parr pleaded innocent to all six counts of the federal indictment.

The jury heard briefly from a grand jury court reporter, the trial's first witness, but the trial was adjourned for the day.

Louisiana Plans New Bid To Convict Favor Of Murder

BENTON, La. (AP) — Louisiana has announced its intention of taking a third shot at convicting former Texas rodeo star Jack Favor of murder in a mysterious, decade-old double slaying.

Favor had been convicted in 1967 of murdering Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Richey during a robbery at their Haughton, La., home in April 1964.

Those convictions were overturned last year, however. Earlier this month Favor was tried again but only for the murder of Mrs. Richey. He was acquitted by a jury which required only an hour to reach a decision.

Assistant Louisiana Atty. Gen. Graves Thomas said Monday that Favor now will be tried for killing Richey.

He asked that Favor's newest trial be held outside North Louisiana, where he said extensive news coverage has prejudiced the case.

El Paso Pilot, Passenger Die In Mexico Crash

URUAPAN, Mexico (AP) — A light plane crashed into a mountain on takeoff from a short air field 125 miles southeast of Uruapan, killing the American pilot and his passenger, airport authorities here said Monday.

The pilot was identified as Robert Edward McFarland, 44, of El Paso, Tex., a commercial pilot, and his passenger was Armando Cass Ruiz, 31, a Mexican citizen living in El Paso.

Airport authorities said the plane crashed into a mountain Thursday after taking off from an airstrip near Embrillas. The strip, which belongs to a lumber firm, apparently was too short for the plane to gain sufficient power for takeoff, an airport spokesman said.

Spot leaps desperately to escape electric shock through a shock collar. If he doesn't jump fast enough, the researcher shocks him by remote control and he rolls and howls in pain. Lady is being electric shocked too. But she is too terrified to leap. So she suffers the shock in frozen silence.

Why is the researcher electric shocking Spot and Lady? Because that's what he was educated and trained to do.

Students at institutions all across the country are receiving the same kind of science education and training. In medical schools, Universities, Colleges, Hospitals, Primate centers. Even in veterinary schools. Students can earn their PhD's and other academic titles by electric shocking animals and tormenting and injuring them in other ways. Congress

DUE TO HIGH PREMIUMS—
Stolen Paintings Said Insured for One-Tenth

DUBLIN, Irish Republic (AP) — The paintings worth an estimated $20.4 million stolen in the world's biggest art robbery were insured for barely one-tenth of this amount, their owner announced today.

Sir Alfred Beit, a South African diamond and gold mining millionaire, told newsmen the paintings stolen Friday were insured for less than $2.4 million because of high insurance costs.

An annual premium for the paintings cost between 2 and 3 percent of their value. On $20 million worth of paintings this would work out between $400,000 and $600,000 a year.

Beit defended his decision to underinsure the paintings, saying: "They do not represent money to me and no amount of money can compensate me for the loss of such beautiful objects."

The paintings also had little security protection in Beit's 100-room Georgian mansion near the sleepy village of Blessington. An alarm system rang in the local police station, but it was closed at the time of the robbery.

The 19 paintings stolen, including works by Vermeer, Goya, Velasquez and Rubens, still are missing. So is the gang that took them—four youths and a brunette woman with a French accent who screamed

Steelworkers Picket Projects At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Steelworkers started picketing at sites of several big projects Monday in a major construction strike over wages.

A spokesman for the Associated General Contractors, with whom contracts of the ironworkers and other craft unions have expired, declined comment.

Fred Morgan, business manager of Iron Workers Local No. 66, said his union voted two weeks ago to strike if a new contract was not obtained by April 29.

He said negotiations had been held on a daily basis with representatives of the contractors.

Under the contract with AGC which has expired, the "wage package" called for $7.63 per hour, Morgan said.

He said the union seeks a $1.25 increase which would include an annual paid vacation.

There was no provision for vacations in the pact that expired last month, Morgan said.

Nixon Says Impeachment Would Affect All Americans, Be Felt Around World

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said today that he had endured only once in his life the kind of attack that he is now facing. He said the attack was "the most serious in my life" and that it was "a time of very great challenge" to the American people.

Even if he is not convicted by the Senate, his impeachment by the House "would put the nation through a wrenching time."

He said the attack was "the most serious in my life" and that it was "a time of very great challenge" to the American people.

Nixon Cites Reasons He's Now Setting Aside Executive Privilege Principle

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a turnabout from past declarations, President Nixon cited three reasons Monday night why he is setting aside the principle of executive privilege to make public numerous transcripts of presidential conversations.

"First, in the present circumstances the House of Representatives must be able to reach an informed judgment about the President's role in Watergate," he said.

"Second, I am making a major exception to the principle of confidentiality because I believe such action is now necessary to restore the principle itself, by clearing the air of the central question that has brought such pressures upon it."

"Third, in the context of the current impeachment climate, I believe all the American people as well as their representatives in Congress are entitled to have not only the facts, but also the evidence that demonstrates those facts. I want there to be no question remaining about the fact that the President has nothing to hide in this matter."

Nixon's statement Monday night on the value of the taped conversations precisely contradicted what he said last July in a letter to Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., of the Senate Watergate committee.

This time Nixon referred to the accounts of the conversations as "the evidence which will allow this matter to be brought to a prompt conclusion."

But in the letter to Ervin rejecting a tapes request, Nixon had said much earlier in the Watergate affair:

"If the release of the tapes would settle the central questions at issue in the Watergate inquiries, then their disclosure might serve a substantial public interest that would have to be weighed very heavily against the negatives of disclosure. That fact is that the tapes would not finally settle the central issue."

Nixon said: "Unless a president can protect the privacy of the advice he gets, he cannot get the advice that he needs."

He had elaborated on that theme at length in past public appearances starting almost from the time last July when the existence of a White House tape recording system first was disclosed at the Senate Watergate hearings.

But this time, said Nixon, the three factors "combined to persuade me that a major, unprecedented exception to that principle is now necessary."

After losing a federal court appeal on a case involving tapes sought by the Watergate special prosecutor, Nixon stopped short of going to the Supreme Court, choosing instead to hand over the tapes.

An appeal to the highest court, he explained later, would have brought confrontation "between the Supreme Court and the President. And second, it would have established very possibly a precedent, a precedent breaking down constitutional provisions that would plague future presidencies, not just (the) President."

Colson Says President Told Him To Do Whatever Necessary To Stop Leaks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson says President Nixon insisted that his aides "do whatever has to be done" to combat any further leaks of secret material after disclosure of the Pentagon Papers.

In an affidavit filed Monday, Colson also said Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security adviser when the secret Vietnam war documents surfaced in 1971, was "even more alarmed over the leaks than the President."

Colson quoted Nixon as saying at the time he requested a full investigation into the leaks: "I don't want excuses. I want results. I want it done, whatever the cost."

Colson is under indictment for allegedly violating the civil rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding, a psychiatrist who once treated Daniel Ellsberg, who admitted leaking the Pentagon Papers to the press.

The charge stemmed from a September 1971 break-in at Fielding's office in Beverly Hills, Calif., allegedly carried out by members of a special White House investigating unit, the so-called plumbers.

Colson said that during a discussion about leaks affecting national security, Nixon said in effect: "I don't give a damn how it is done, do whatever has to be done to stop these leaks and prevent further unauthorized disclosures. I don't want to be told why it can't be done."

In his affidavit, Colson gave no indication that the President had any prior knowledge of the Fielding break-in.

Reaction Divides Along Party Lines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Initial reaction outside the House Judiciary Committee to President Nixon's offer Monday night of Watergate tape transcripts divided generally along party lines.

"The President is giving the Republican National Committee more than enough information with which to carry out its investigation," said Vice President Gerald R. Ford.

"I think the President's willingness to subject himself to sworn testimony before Chairman Rodino and Congressman Hutchinson is evidence of good faith," said Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott.

George Bush, chairman of the Republican National Committee said: "I am convinced this is a major step in putting the impeachment proceedings behind us and in laying to rest the charges against the President."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who had earlier questioned whether Nixon retains the ability to govern, said it would have been better to deliver the tapes months ago. "But for the moment it is unnecessary to haggle with the President," Javits said.

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., said the committee should get the tapes, not the transcripts. She added: "Mr. Nixon's grandstand play complete with props should not obscure the fact that the Judiciary Committee has at least 37 charges pending against the President in its impeachment inquiry, and the Watergate cover-up is involved only in several of them."

Samples of other reactions: —Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.: "It was an effective presentation by a confident President."

—Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn.: "I'm happy the President is providing the transcript information and the opportunity to monitor the tapes."

—Joe Rauh, vice chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action: "No rational congressional committee should accept these demands."

—Republican Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan: "Clearly this is a major step forward. It is overdue but most welcome."

Kentucky Police To Wear Tuxedos
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — City-county policemen will wear tuxedos when on guard duty with British Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowden, during the Royal couple's stay here.

Police liaison officer Joe Catt says the officers also will be given protocol instructions for the visit here before the couple goes to Louisville for the May 4 Kentucky Derby.

"We don't want anyone saying, 'How ya doin,' Maggie?" he explained.

Tornado Formation Study Under Way

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — A Texas A&M University meteorologist, Dr. Phandramoh Das, is heading a $11,000 study of a basic hypothesis of tornado formation.

"It is not known exactly how a tornado is formed," Dr. Das noted. "There are several theories and only a vague idea of the atmospheric circumstances which are associated with tornadoes."

"We are trying to understand the basic dynamics of tornado formation. Through the use of numerical studies on the computer, we are able to prove or disprove the theoretical possibility of certain causes of tornadoes."

Dr. Das explained that the theory under study involves a downdraft in a rotating cloud structure. This downdraft has a warming effect on the air in the center of the structure. A low pressure area can form in the downdraft, causing an inflow of air in the circular pattern found in a tornado.

Julie Says Dean Lied About Father

WASHINGTON (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower says former presidential counsel John W. Dean III lied about her father and that's the crux of the Watergate affair.

Mrs. Eisenhower said Monday the acquittal of former Cabinet members John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans has tarnished Dean's credibility. Dean, who testified that he had had conversations with President Nixon about the Watergate cover-up, was a prosecution witness at the Mitchell-Stans trial.
