COMPLETE DE- LINQUENT ROLL

ONLY $52,331.32 ON DELINQUENT
TAX ROLLS FOR STATE AND OCHILTREE
COUNTY

Deputy Sheriff Fred Huston, who is in charge of the tax assessing and collecting department of Sheriff Talley's office, has just completed a detailed report of all delinquent state and county taxes. It will be a surprise to many when they learn that the total of all delinquent state and county taxes in Ochiltree county is only $52,331.32. This low figure is remarkable when one takes into consideration the fact that it has been six years since an average crop has been made.

The delinquent rolls are divided as follows: state taxes, $18,950.27;
state polls, $1,110.00; total state delinquents, $20,060.27. County delinquents, $29,909.40; county school delinquents, $3,361.65; total county taxes on delinquent rolls, $32,271.05.

FREE SHOW AT ELLIS THEATRE

MONDAY, AUGUST 16, DESIG-NATED AS FATHER-SON
NIGHT: "CAPTAINS COURAGEOUS"

Monday night, August 16, has been designated as "Father-Son" night at the Ellis Theatre, for the showing of that great and thrilling story of the sea, "Captains Courageous,"

this night, Manager Virb Conley announces that every boy in this community will be admitted to the theatre free on only one condition and that is that the boy's father must buy a ticket and go to see the show with his son.

Now isn't that fair! So boys, if you want to see Freddie Bartholomew,
Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore,
Melynn Douglas, and Mickey Rooney in this powerful drama of a boy who finds regeneration in adventure with the heroic Gloucester fishermen, make a deal with dad right now to go with you to see "Captains Courageous" on the night of August 16.
You'll be admitted free and you and your dad will see a corking good
"father-son" picture.

DALHART SHOW OPENS MONDAY

XIT REUNION, PAGEANT, AND RODEO TO BE FEATURED IN TWO DAY CELEBRATION AUG. 8-9

Dalhart, Tex., Aug. 4—A majestic tempo of tribute to the old cowboys here, and over yonder, will open the Second Annual XIT Reunion in Dalhart next Monday and Tuesday.

A parade at 11 a. m. Monday will move through North Dalhart, into South Dalhart and disband in time for members of the XIT Association to meet prior to the rodeo at 2:00 and decide on plans for next year.

The rodeo is 2 p. m. each day. Monday it will open with taps for the XIT boys who are riding "over yonder" followed by a silent moment in memory of their achievements.

There will be one and perhaps two special tours to the old No. 1 headquarters at Buffalo Springs where the foreman's residence, the bunk houses, barns and corrals stand as they were built in 1885, the oldest structures in Dallam County.

Each night at 8:30 the XIT Historical Pageant will be held, a glitter spectacle, turning back the pages of time to reenact the most notable episodes of the XIT ranch and of this part of the West. Included will be the Creation Ballet, a scene of gorgeous splendor, symbolizing the birth of the world. Then will be episodes indicating the march of the centuries. A Comanche Indian encampment, pioneers in covered wagons, an early church service, a night at a cow camp, a reenactment of the scene in Austin in 1881 when the State agreed to give three million acres of Panhandle land, that later became the XIT, to the Farwell Brothers of Chicago in return for the red granite $3,000,000 Austin capitol. There will be a brief parade of the West's most noted rendezvous, Old Tascosa, and many humorous events of early XIT history.

Resplendent costumes will be used in staging the gigantic show on a big outdoor stage. It will open the first night with crowning of the XIT Queen who will reign with her Court of Honor and Princesses of the XIT who are being chosen by all surrounding towns.

Modern and old-time dances will be held each night; a baseball game each morning.

Sunday visitors in the J. H. Halsey home were Mrs. Frank Dodson and children of Gruver, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wagoner and family, Joan Boston, Cecil and Mary Russell and Thomas Hollis.

Japs Train for Peace and War Simultaneously

War clouds have cast their shadow on a rather paradoxical situation in Japan. Scheduled to host to the nations of the world in the 1940 Olympic Games, Tokio presents a contrast in preparations for peace and war. At bottom left are shot putters training in a park in hopes of making the Japanese Olympic squad three years hence. At the right are other young Japanese in training as members of a volunteer student bicycle brigade which would offer its services in event of war. In the top photo may be seen modernized Chinese troops, tin hats and all, as they moved up to the defense of Peiping, focal point of the latest Sino-Japanese crisis.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lance and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Witt were in Stratford, Texas, last Friday on business.

Mrs. Harry Mitchell Sr. and Mrs. Harry Mitchell Jr. were guests of Miss Georgia Hurlhey for the day Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Cropper, Geraldine of Wichita Falls, came Tuesday evening to be with mother, Mrs. Bud Smith, who has been seriously ill for some time.

Mrs. Ruth Osterouhr and son, Gene, Enid, Okla., were here last week visiting in the homes of her brothers, Bill and Harry Caylor.

Miss Carmen Cofer had as her guest for dinner, Sunday, Miss Mary Beth Johnson.

Sam Francis no doubt will be a lot of votes for the full-back, but should be closely followed by Don Geyer and Steve of Northwestern, and Ed Kelley, Yale's loquacious leader; Gaynell Tinsley, Louisiana State; Merle Wendt, Ohio State, and Matt Patanelli, Michigan, are four of the leading end candidates.

GIGANTIC Ed Widseth, Minnesota's blond viking, appears to be a certainty at one of the tackles, with Averell Daniell, Pitt; Ken Relyea, Colgate; Charles Hamrick, Ohio State, and Chris Dal Sasso, Indiana, also scheduled to receive strong backing.

Avoid Pellagra

Thousands Suffer With Needless Disease From Not Eating The Right Food

Austin, Texas.—"Pellagra is a disease that is caused by not eating the right kind of food and shows itself usually by a strange kind of reddening and scaling of the skin," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The person with pellagra usually suffers loss of appetite, indigestion, diarrhea, soreness of the mouth and tongue, nervousness, low spirits and more or less general weakness.

"Thousands of Texans suffer with this disease and approximately one thousand die each year. More cases appear in the spring and early summer months than at any time of the year. This is because more people live on a restricted diet during the winter. It comes to those whose diet does not contain all that is needed to keep one in good health. The missing essential in the diet is called the pellagra prevention factor or vitamin. We know this because people who eat the right kind of food do not have the disease, because those who do have the disease and eat the right kind of food do get well and remain well as long as they maintain a proper diet and also when people are fed the wrong kind of food they develop the disease. Pellagra is not a communicable disease. The treatment should be directed by your doctor and the main thing is diet. Do not rely on patent medicines.

"The prevention of pellagra depends upon eating the right kind of food at all times. To make sure that the diet is right, it should always contain plenty of milk daily, some fresh meat and as many fresh vegetables as possible. Tomatoes, whole wheat products, salmon, yeast and fresh fruits are especially valuable. Having provided these essentials of a proper diet, the rest may be arranged according to family or personal likes. In this way, you avoid pellagra."

MENS PROGRAM SHORT COURSE

FARMERS' SHORT COURSE FOR MEN OFFERS SIMPLIFIED PROGRAM AT TEXAS A. & M. AUGUST 16-19

College Station—Farmers who attend the twenty-eighth annual Farmers' Short Course at Texas A. & M. College during August 16-19 will find a simplified program presented by representatives of the Texas A. & M. College faculty, Extension Service, Experiment Station members and other agricultural workers, according to Roy Snyder, chairman of the general Short Course committee.

The practice of offering a series of courses on varied subjects during the entire period of the Short Course has been discontinued, except in a few instances. Instead, farmers will find that each of the four days of the Short Course has been devoted to one broad field of agriculture. The mornings will be taken up with a series of discussions, and in the afternoons the program will be broken up into sections which will give each individual an opportunity to learn more of the subject in which he is most interested.

The four subjects which have been chosen and the days on which they will be presented are: livestock, Monday; horticulture, Tuesday; field crops and soils, Wednesday; and farm business and organization, Thursday.

Special courses will be offered in dairy manufacture, cotton classing, leather making, and poultry. A number of organizations will make the Short Course the occasion for a statewide meeting.

Of special interest to county and community committees who administer the Agricultural Conservation Program will be a series of tours through the state AAA office.

Rapid Development of Trained 'Seeing Eye' Proving Invaluable as Guide for Blind

THE heavy, swirling traffic of a large city, forever a source of fear and danger to the blind, need no longer hold the terror it does for those unfortunates who are doomed to spend their lives in temporary, partial, or even permanent darkness.

And the reason for this is the "seeing eye."

The "seeing eye" is nothing more than a German shepherd dog—more familiarly known in America as the police dog—and is becoming more and more frequently used as a guide for the blind.

For years dogs have been used for this purpose, but it has been only since the World War that the "seeing eye" movement has been adopted from a scientific viewpoint, studied, and brought to the position it now occupies.

So many men were blinded during the war that the safety problem for those so afflicted became acute. A German organization at Potsdam was the first to train dogs on a large scale. The movement spread rapidly. Today four organizations in the United States carry on this work. They are the Seeing Eye in Tennessee; the New York Association for the Blind, with training grounds in Princeton, N. J.; the La Salle kennels in Minnesota, and the Wilson kennels in Michigan.

BECAUSE they are less easily distracted, female dogs are used for the most part. Each dog is subjected to a rigorous training for a period of several weeks. She must learn to stop when she comes to a curb, must learn the commands "forward," "left" and "right." The dog must learn not only to obey, but to disobey as well, should her master give the wrong command and unconsciously lead himself into danger.

With the blind man holding onto a rigid, handle-like leash, the dog as a rule walks about two feet ahead, picking her way through crowds and avoiding telephone poles and other obstacles. The animal serves as eyes for the blind master so well that it needs no command to quicken the pace, or slow it down because of congestion.

But the blind person, also, must undergo a period of training before he is ready to co-operate with his guide. To begin with, he should like dogs and understand them as much as possible. He must develop his hearing so that he can sense changes in traffic direction in order to be of assistance to the dog when traffic lights change color.

President Roosevelt's signature on the bill permitting "seeing eye" dogs to accompany their masters on railway coaches and street cars opened the way for scenes such as shown above, where a handsome police dog looks on alertly as her blind master, A. W. Lohler of Pittsburgh, hands his ticket to the conductor.

But above all, the blind must develop confidence in the animal in front of them. This is accomplished by easy stages, beginning in sections with little traffic, going on to more crowded areas, and then finally to the heavily traveled districts.

THERE is no end to where the dogs might go or what they might do with their masters. One dog attended classes daily at the University of Pennsylvania, where his master was a student. Another took rides in a canoe while her blind master paddled leisurely around the lagoon.

Recently President Roosevelt signed a bill making it legal for blind people to take their "seeing eyes" into the coaches on railroad trains, where heretofore they were forced to put the animals in the baggage cars. Street cars also will be compelled to admit canine passengers.

The development of the "seeing eye" appears by far to be the noblest thing the dog has ever done for man. In reality, it represents a real sacrifice. No longer can she live a normal dog's life, with a large degree of freedom. The work entails tireless and constant devotion to duty and a curbing of many canine instincts, even to foregoing chasing a cat which the dog may spy on the street.

International Sunday School Lesson

A People Fed by God

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 8. Text: Exodus 16:11-20; 17:3-6.

THE momentous march of the Israelites from bondage to liberty was one of the most famous in history, and the symbolism of the promised land and God's guidance to the children of Israel is in every detail of that journey.

Here in our lesson is the story of the quails and the manna, with the teaching that the Lord will provide for those who hear His word and obey His call.

Bread from heaven was this manna, and we are apt to forget, in the intricacies of modern life and in the abundant productivity of our modern world, exploited with all the wonders of agricultural machinery, that all bread comes from heaven.

Man cannot create so much as a loaf without the help of the mystery of nature, and the miracle of the manna is, after all, no more wonderful than the miracle of our daily bread. It is a miracle simply of a somewhat different sort and different emphasis, and possibly it requires a different sort of apprehension and belief.

MOREOVER, the symbolism reaches very deeply into the realities of human responsibility. Manna was given only for the day. It was not some miracle by which everything was provided for man, with no responsibility resting upon himself. If he did not do his part in gathering the manna while it was fresh, there was none left over for the next day, for it became spoiled if they sought to keep it.

It is a great lesson in receiving and using today what God gives in opportunities and resources that we may not have tomorrow; and we all depend for the effectiveness of our journey through life upon this immediate use of all that God gives.

With the hunger for bread was the thirst for water, and thirst affected these children of Israel as it has affected the thirsty in every age. They murmured against Moses. Why had he brought them out of Egypt, that they and their children and their cattle should suffer and die?

Like the manna, the water came through the miraculous smiting of the rock. Here is the symbol of refreshing and renewing, of God's provision of leaving water for the discouraged and famished.

WE speak of this as a miracle, but it is no more wonderful than the miracle by which the water comes to us. Moreover, the water that came from the rock may have been a natural spring. It was the method of sacred writers to attribute all such things to the provision and act of God; and they were right in seeing the hand of God, where we today tend to forget all about God, and speak only of "Nature."

Our failure to see wonderment and miracle in natural processes is only because we choose to call nothing a miracle that we can explain according to usual experience and laws; but the conclusions of our experience and our laws do not explain things of account for sources of power and of blessing.

The mysteries by which man's wants are supplied are none the less mysteries because we choose to call some things "natural" and other things "miracle."

The lesson of the story of God's feeding the people in the wilderness and of satisfying their thirst is that all along the journey of life, the goodness of God and the rich provision of His grace are available for man.

Uncle Jim Says

"Drastic flood losses can be reduced by controlling stream flow at its source with the help of adequate cover crops, pastures, terracing and contouring."

Following recent heavy rains in the Panhandle numerous county agricultural agents reported that land which had been listed on the contour retained the rainfall which fell on the land and that in many cases water stood in the rows for from 12 to 24 hours after the rains.

In nearby fields not contoured or terraced the rainfall ran off quickly and contributed to flood waters which gathered after the rains. Some damage resulted from the flood water.

It is clear that land protected by terraces and contours, or by adequate cover crops, results in a double benefit to the public. The individual farmer retains more rainfall for subsequent crops and runoff water from his farm does not contribute to flood damage.

Under the Agricultural Conservation Program farmers receive grants which practically repay them for expenses incurred in planting cover crops and constructing terraces. Increased farm income and lessened flood damage are only part of the benefits which revert to the public through this type of work.

Is Building the World's Most Monstrous Dam Across the Columbia—Grand Coulee

Dense clouds of smoke fill the sky, and hissing jets of steam pierce the air daily, as huge cranes and excavators swing into action on the Coulee dam site. The striking photo above captures the full spirit of the Coulee project.

COULEE CITY, Wash. — The staccato rat-tat of compressed air drills; the creaking of giant winches; the muffled roar of exploding dynamite; the dull, steady throbbing of powerful pump machinery.

And 4000 toiling human beings, appearing almost microscopic against the setting in which they work.

That's Grand Coulee, the colossal engineering project which, when finished, will be the largest dam in the world. More than that, it will be the largest man-made structure of all time, surpassing even the Great Pyramid of Egypt.

Since time immemorial, man has found it to his advantage to harness the power of nature and its elements, and today as an army of laborers swarm over this dam-site, engineers visualize the greatest possibilities for hydro-electric power in North America.

Rising at the north end of a verdant beautiful natural setting, Grand Coulee is a chasm carved by the Columbia river in prehistoric age. It is 50 miles long, two to six miles wide, and rises in height from 600 to 800 feet. Ninety-two miles west of Spokane, the project itself is in the hands of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, Department of Interior, and the cost of construction is expected to exceed $260,000,000.

What then are the facts behind its inception, and the benefits to which it will give rise? This is the picture:

When farms first sprang up in the settlement of the great northwest, the land was fertile, crops were plentiful and rich. And then the rainfall dwindled, fell off to nothing. Agriculture in the territory became "dry-farming." The farmers themselves became known as "dust-eaters," and for good reason. Today, there are 1,200,000 acres of arid but potentially fertile land waiting to bear crops again—when Grand Coulee is finished.

Although the immediate need for the huge dam is a source of water supply, three purposes are evident. They are:

1—To irrigate the entire Columbia basin for farming.

2—To provide thousands of kilowatts of waterpower for industrial use.

3—To act as key unit in a 10-dam exploitation of the basin proposed by United States Army engineers.

On July 27, 1933, the PWA appropriated $63,000,000 to start work, and on Sept. 25, 1934, the signal to go into action was given. As a result of the tremendous undertaking, cities and towns mushroomed overnight in the area.

Largest of these communities are Coulee Dam and Mason City.

where the greater part of the laborers reside.

Nor is there a rough makeshift form of life. Neat, model homes have been built. Complete electrification and modern conveniences have been installed, and facilities for recreation and relaxation have been developed to the utmost.

Actual work on the project assumes tremendous proportions. To cite a few examples:

1—Grand Coulee will be 500 feet high, 4300 feet wide, 500 feet thick at the base and 36 feet thick at the top.

2—Sixteen million cubic yards of dirt and rock will be excavated.

3—Eleven million two hundred thousand cubic yards of concrete will be poured (enough to build a solid column as large as a city block and almost twice as high as the Empire State building).

4—It will impound waters of the Columbia river to form a lake 151 miles long, holding 3,000,000 acre feet of water, the deepest spot of which will be almost 300 feet.

Several years will be needed to build Grand Coulee dam. Several years will pass before this vast store of water and power is marshalled for use for hundreds of miles around.

Only then can the results of the time and expense involved be assured.

SUNRAY LOSES PLAYOFF GAME

PERRYTON WINS GAME PLAYED HERE WITH SUNRAY FOR DECISION OF BEST TWO OUT OF THREE

Sunray found how rough the competition could be here last Sunday when they attempted to beat the local nine in a return match to decide who was the best after each of the teams had a victory over the other.

The high lights of the game came in the first and last innings when Baker, Sunray, made a home run on the first ball pitched at the opening of the game, and when Bill Richardson got a hit in the last inning to win the game.

The game continued in the first as Evans, second man up, hit to left field for a single but after Green struck out, Bodine hit into a double forcing Evans at second. Connor throwing Bodine out at first.

The locals opened their half by doing little except making three outs in a hurry.

In the second Wilkerson opened by striking out for Sunray; B. Evans walked and Dollar, on a fielder's choice, forced Evans at second.

The game was at a standstill until the fourth inning when Perryton got away at Teeters tripled to right field and scored on Bill Richardson's fly to left field evening the score and making Perryton root and Sunray hoot.

In the fifth Sunray regained the lead when Dollar hit a single to left field and Rogers forced him at second; Leak hit a single to left field, and Baker hit through second, scoring Rogers. J. Evans coming up next hit a three-bagger to left field and scored Leak and Baker. Green got to first safely on an infield hit and when Bodine hit out to center field, J. Evans scored bringing Sunray in the lead with a score of 5 to 1.

Perryton seeing that something must be done "or else," went to work with Connor getting on with an error against B. Evans; L. Riley doubled to left field and Hergert was safe on an error on Green; Connor scored. Teeters came up and hit a double to right field scoring L. Riley and Hergert. Bill Richardson filed out to center field with Hank Richardson coming up next with a single and scoring Teeters, evening the score.

The sixth, seventh and eighth went by in a hurry due to excellent pitching by both sides and leaving the game in the ninth ripe for a story book ending with the score tied in the last inning.

Sunray was up first in the ninth with Dollar hitting a single to left field. Mitts, batting for Rogers, was thrown out at first; Leak filed to left field; Baker made first and second on errors on Connor and L. Riley; then to complicate matters further, Dollar scored.

Perryton, forced to score, came through with the odds against them. L. Riley sent a double to left field and Hergert and Teeters made two outs. Byron walked; Bill Richardson came to bat holding the game in the palm of his hand. With all eyes centered on him he singled to center field scoring L. Riley and Byron and winning the game with a score of 7 to 6.

BEAVER BRIDGE TO BE REBUILT

OKLAHOMA HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT TO REPAIR BRIDGE ON NO. 83 AT ONCE; TWO SPANS OUT

According to the Beaver Herald-Examiner, the Oklahoma Highway Department is rushing plans for the rebuilding of the bridge over the Beaver River on Highway No. 83 between Perryton and Liberal. The bridge has been closed to traffic since last spring when two entire spans went out and several more were swept out of line.

The bridge is of concrete construction, the super-structure being built on wood piles. One section of the wood piling went out, letting the spans of the bridge into the water. Traffic is being detoured to east by way of the Floris bridge. Engineers are completing the plans for the rebuilding of the damaged portions of the bridge. It is expected that no contracts will be let until the Oklahoma highway department supervising the rebuilding as emergency job.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Here's Story of How Court Change Plan Was Conceived—and Killed

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—Attorney General Homer S. Cummings probably will go packing off for that long delayed rendezvous with his wife in Europe, now that the President's Supreme Court plan has collapsed.

It was Cummings' idea in the first place, and he persuaded Roosevelt both to launch the plan and to keep it secret from everyone else, including his other advisers, until the White House broke the sensational story. The original draft of the President's message to Congress on the court plan was written by Cummings and Donald Richberg.

Headed by Assistant Attorney General Joe Keenan, Department of Justice men carried on the administration liaison work with Congress. These men had the job of working with the late Senate leader, Joe Robinson.

THE opposition was headed by such shrewd old heads as Borah and Hiram Johnson, and was well-financed for a campaign to stop the bill. The sit-down strikes and the wage-hour bill helped bring in new opposition recruits. After the court handed down the favorable Wagner Act and Social Security decisions, many advisers urged the President to put the fight off and bury the bill in committee.

But Van Devanter's resignation brought demand—from all but the progressive element—that Joe Robinson be appointed to the court. Roosevelt implied to Robinson that he couldn't put him on the court without adding a couple of liberals at the same time. That appointment was a long-time ambition with Robinson, and he went into action.

Christening a Great Detective. Because of his admiration for Oliver Wendell Holmes, the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle chose Holmes for the surname of his fictional sleuth. And he picked Sherlock for the first name because in his youthful days he made 30 runs playing cricket against a bowler named Sherlock and thereafter had a kindly feeling for the name.

Civic Pride. The Showhegan (Me.) Independent-Reporter each day prints this legend on its front page: "There are 11 Bostonians, many Londoners, but ONLY ONE SHOWHEGAN." (Ho-hum, one's enough.)

Distinctive by evanescent is that famous green ink with which Postmaster-General Farley signs his name. Many a postmaster throughout the land will find that his commission, if signed by Jim a couple of years ago, is now virtually anonymous, the green ink having faded completely away.

Expert observers here believe that two months ago it would have been comparatively easy to pass a compromise bill, adding one more judicial circuit to the nine now existing, with a justice from each circuit on the Supreme Court bench, making 11 in all, with the chief justice at the head. But years ago, the circuits were so gerrymandered that the eighth circuit, which includes Robinson's state of Arkansas, also includes Justice Pierce Butler's state of Minnesota. Butler wasn't going to resign, so Robinson couldn't get an appointment to represent the eighth circuit.

ROBINSON then insisted to the President that if he were allowed to handle the Senate bargaining on a personal basis, he could get a bill satisfactory to Roosevelt. At one time he said he had 54 senators pledged to the Hatch amendment, which would have given Roosevelt three court appointments by January. But when Robinson died, many of his purely personal pledges died with him.

Garner entered the picture in conferences on the train returning from Robinson's funeral, and he is supposed to have told Roosevelt that he could get the best possible compromise if authorized to deal with the Senate in his own way.

Other incidents, such as Governor Lehman's well-timed letter, helped defeat the court bill, but it has been obvious since Garner's return that the vice president would be well satisfied if he could keep his party intact and exert his leadership, though it meant an unsuccessful end, almost overnight, to the long, desperate administration fight.

Something we (and maybe you) never knew before: "Sawn" may be correctly used as a past participle of the verb "to saw."

In China the women folks start making burial clothes for their relatives when they're seriously ill, often exhibiting them to the patient for his approval. (That wouldn't help us get well, either.)

Two cuspidors are still the standard equipment of every Congressman's office, according to the papers. Here, at least, should be something that will remain stable in these upset times.

There are more than 6,000,000 bicycles in use in the United States today and 1936 was the greatest year in bicycle manufacturing history. The average price of a bicycle today is $30 compared with $90 in the 1890's.

NEWS of the WEEK

MORE PENSIONS LOOM

Washington, D. C.—Observers see in certain recent moves in Congress a pension raid that by 1936 will cost the Federal Treasury $20,000,000,000. This government has already paid out to June 1st of this year $21,993,632,000 in pensions due to its various wars from the Revolution onward. The World War has already cost the nation $60,000,000,000 to date, but if current vague rumors materialize, to pension all World War veterans, regardless of their financial status, $60 per month upon reaching 65 years of age, another twenty billions will be added to the pension bill.

NEW TRANSATLANTIC MARK

New York City.—The French liner Normandie has regained the blue ribbon for speed by crossing the Atlantic in 3 days 23 hours and 2 minutes, at an average of 30.58 knots per hour for the trip. The Cunard-White-Star liner Queen Mary, which bettered the Normandie's previous record in July, 1936, is being reconditioned for another try for supremacy.

JAPANESE ISOLATE PEIPING

Peiping, China.—This ancient capital of Old China remains entirely cut off from the outside world by Japanese army units which occupy surrounding points of vantage. While no formal declaration of war has been declared between the two countries, all North China is seething with military activity. (War demands in the Far East have caused an increase in shipments of petroleum products from Los Angeles, Calif., from 4,620,812 barrels in July, 1936, to 7,206,557 barrels last month.)

WAR MONUMENT DEDICATED

Mrs. D. W. Albrook, mother of Mrs. D. D. Shanks, returned to her home at Briscoe, Okla., after visiting for several weeks in the Shanks home. Mr. and Mrs. Shanks took her to Clinton, Okla., Sunday, and were met by Mrs. Albrook's son, Harry.

Wesley Voth returned Monday from Okene, Okla., where he was called last Friday on account of the illness of his father, Miss Ernestine Yoakley, who is attending school at Enid, accompanied him home for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Penn and son are enjoying a three weeks visit with relatives at Oklaunion, Texas.

Farmers Battle Beetle Menace

Already plagued with grasshoppers, the corn-borer, and a half dozen other forms of pestilence, American farmers have been besetted the federal government to aid them in combatting the latest scourge to attack their crops—the Japanese beetle. In the photo above, Fred Gilmore, federal agent, is placing a beetle trap near Kenosha, Wis. The trap is baited with an aromatic substance that attracts the adult beetles. The insects spend most of their lives in the soil, where the grub feeds on the roots of plants, and then hatch into an adult which comes up to eat flowers, fruit and foliage.

American war memorial erected on the site of the victory of U. S. arms in the great Meuse-Argonne offensive of 1918. From his yacht in the Potomac River, President Roosevelt broadcast a message of goodwill to France clearly heard during the service on the battlefield, a distance of 3,500 miles.

ANOTHER LITERARY CURIOSITY

Macon, Ga.—A few months ago an enterprising Pacific Coast writer completed a 50,000-word novel without the use of the letter "E." Along somewhat similar lines, the Rev. J. P. Cargile, a Baptist missionary, has written a 13,000-word novella in which every word begins with the letter "S." An example: "Scattered seaweed shone, serenely. Seagulls swiftly sped, sometimes swooping suddenly, scraping seething sea surfaces, stopping several seconds, seeing something stomach satisfying."

FOED AT 74 PHILOSOPHIZES

Detroit, Mich.—On his 74th birthday, Henry Ford said: "I have nothing but optimism for the future. I look forward to a great industrial year; the present mess will do the country more good than most people expect. Backward politics, stupid business and exploitation of labor have been trying to hold up progress in this country. I believe that a great many people have been put in their places—people who have been led into strikes. They believed in miracles and thought that things could be had merely by demanding them. But it will all work out."

LEGAL OVERSIGHT

Des Moines, Iowa.—Five local physicians hastily prepared Mrs. Charles T. Carpe for the arrival of a newcomer in the family when they suddenly called for timbers and jacks to raise the trailer's wheels clear of the ground. Iowa law forbids childbirth in a vehicle.

PIANOS STAGE COMEBACK

New York City.—After a severe depression in the industry following the introduction of radio, manufacturers of musical instruments see a revival that is already running 33 per cent ahead of last year, when $75,000,000 worth of musical equipment was sold. Greatest uplift is in the sale of pianos attributed to the introduction of the small vehicle models, which are outsteering the heavier "grands" two to one.

BACK-SCENES IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C.—His omission from a recent legislative council at the White House revives the belief that Vice-President Garner, advocate of party harmony, is by no means in sympathy with all of the President's political platform. The revival of the Good Neighbor League by President Roosevelt is looked upon as a move on his part to resume closer contact, probably by radio, with the public. His defeat on the Supreme Court issue is attributed to a constantly increasing number of newspapers who no longer support his program without reservation. Postmaster General Farley's resignation is now expected by Autumn. He will probably go into private business, but will continue as Chairman of the Democratic Party. A survey just completed by an experienced newspaperman employed by John L. Lewis in the Central and Middle Western states revealed so strong an anti-C. I. O. feeling that sweeping changes of strike policies are predicted.

BROKER EXPELLED

New York City.—In its first decision in an expulsion case, the Securities Exchange Commission expelled from all security exchanges M. J. ("Mike") Meehan for allegedly manipulating the stock of the Bellanca Aircraft Corporation. As the "Boy Wizard of Wall Street," Meehan in the sensational pre-panic days ran Radio stock from a shoe-string to more than $500 per share, from which it fell to a few dollars a share, causing the loss of millions to gamblers.

F. D. R. MAY FILL COURT

Washington, D. C.—With the adjournment of Congress imminent, the Attorney General has informed the President that he may legally fill the Supreme Court post made vacant by the resignation of Justice Van Devanter at any time, regardless of whether Congress is in session, in recess or in adjournment. Sentiment seems still to favor a choice from the South.

CASTAWAY URGES PATIENCE

New York City.—James Innes,

who was cast away 20 years ago on a lonely coral reef in the South Sea, to be rescued at the end of the month and after all hope had been abandoned, believes that Earhart and her navigator, Fred Goetz, may still be alive. He was one of 33 Chinese who survived a shipwreck on barren Christmas Island.

SURE-DEATH BOUNDARY

Quito, Ecuador.—When an easily innocent traveler sought to cross the boundary between Ecuador and Colombia at a border village, he was instantly killed by an electric shock. It was then discovered that Colombian customs guards had lined a boundary with high tension wires to discourage smugglers but had warned the public.

TOURISTS FLOCK GERMANY

Berlin, Germany.—Local hotels report the largest number of American guests and reservations in the boom years and a general revival of business is reported by the spas and other resorts of the Reich.

COAST SHIPYARDS FAVORED

Washington, D. C.—In a bill authorizing the expenditure of $800,000 for six naval auxiliary vessels just signed by the President, Pacific Coast bidders will have a 6 per cent preference over Eastern shippers in order to encourage west coast industry and to strengthen national defense along the Pacific.

The fever throughout Europe to increase armament of all kinds has reached Vatican City, where the famous Swiss Guards have forsaken their ancient rapiers for modern rifles. In red, black and yellow uniforms designed by Michelangelo, these soldiers have served Roman Pontiffs for 500 years.

LEADER OF NAZIS IN UNITED STATES

While Anti-Nazi forces in Congress noisily demanded Federal investigation, Fritz Kuhn, Bavarian-born leader of the American Nazi movement, dedicated its 21st camp at Andover, N. J., held high carnival in typical sports of the Fatherland, drank German beer and lunched on frankfurters.

URGES SEARCH OF ANCIENT ATTICS

Experts estimate that $100,000,000 lies tied up in moribund and forgotten securities in this country. To locate them and appraise their value, Wall Street's largest dealer in inactive stocks and bonds is sending a trailer across the Continent stocked with facts and figures for lapsed bitten investors.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

H. M. E. Daenzer, Pastor

Since the pastor intends to preach a sermon on mission-work for the Scott City Lutheran congregation, there will be no services at the local Bethlehem church this coming Sunday.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, August 8.

The Golden Text is: "No man hath seen God at any time. . . . Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit" (1 John 4:12, 13).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "He whom God hath sent speaketh the words of God: for God giveth not the Spirit by measure unto him" (John 3:34).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When we realize that Life is Spirit, never in nor of matter, this understanding will expand into self-completeness, finding all in God, good, and needing no other consciousness" (page 264).

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, It has pleased our Supreme Master to call our worthy brother, J. B. Nash, from labor on earth to rest and immortality in the Grand Lodge above, where the Great Creator of the universe himself presides; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Nash, this lodge, town and community, loses a just and upright citizen, a man who was at all times imbued with the pure principles of justice and democracy, and whose life and conduct suffered no reproach to be on his character, either as a Mason, fellow citizen, or husband.

Brother Nash departed this life full of years, ripened with age and experience; he was worthy and well qualified and duly and truly prepared for admission into the Celestial Lodge above; and he will be properly vouched for by his Lord and Master.

Resolved, That in token of our sincere friendship and sympathy in the dark hour of this great affliction, and as a pledge of our fidelity to the memory of our deceased brother, we extend to the bereaved family, the fraternal right hand of Free and Accepted Masonry; and with it the assurance that the Great Light, given of God to man, will guide them and us safely to that spiritual building, eternal in the heavens, where their loved one now dwells, where the broken circle shall be reunited never again to be parted, and where they shall dwell together in peaceful happiness forever and ever.

Famed McGuffey Readers Round Out 100th Anniversary of Set's First Publication

THE little red schoolhouse, steeped in its tradition of the three R's, its stiff-backed school-master, and its rod of birch, is no longer a familiar part of our educational system.

The readin', and 'ritin', and 'rithmetic of our fathers and grandfathers are still the same fundamentally, but now we have, in addition, such high-powered things as economics, social science, and a bit of astronomy thrown in for good measure.

The scene has changed all right, but thousands of the older generation remember their little two or three-room schools—and their McGuffey readers.

William Holmes McGuffey, a professor at Miami University at Oxford, O., wrote this famous series of books, and on July 31 and Aug. 1, members of McGuffey societies which have sprung up all over the country will gather at Oxford to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the third and fourth readers.

This year marks the rounding out of the first century since Professor McGuffey's Eclectic Readers, as they are called, made their debut in the mid-west.

WILLIAM HOLMES MCGUFFEY, despite the fame of his work, is given little mention in American history. He was born in 1800 in a wilderness cabin in western Pennsylvania. His own formal education was obtained only after much hardship, working his way through Washington College, now Washington and Jefferson. He then tutored at a Paris, Ky., private school and from there went as a professor to Miami University.

It was while at Miami that he conceived of the idea of revolutionary educational methods for the public schools, and started with his famous readers. Now, educators have stated that no books in American history have exerted such an uplifting influence upon the youth of the nation, have done more to improve the morals and culture of school children during the 19th century, than McGuffey's readers.

He was the first to put human interest, life, adventure, morals, and lessons into a textbook. Every text emphasized some lesson or a virtue of some sort. Evil was discredited and goodness encouraged. To add to the effectiveness of the books, simple woodcuts of little boys and girls, in dress of the period, illustrated the characters.

Take it all in all, a nation's life is a very hard life. Our young friends see a lot of hard work in those whose hands are open the great nation, and who bring them the lessons of other generations.

At length, the bear, which was the most severely tested, showing no signs of fight, the young man rose and fled, leaving his boots and hat behind him.

William Holmes McGuffey, author of the famous series of school books that bears his name, is shown at left above. At the right is the monument to his memory, erected by Henry Ford, near Claysville, Pa., near the site of McGuffey's birthplace. A young woman whose grandparents no doubt spent many hours over the eclectic readers, is seated at the base of the monument. Below are examples of the lessons in the readers, illustrated by wood cuts of the times.

It is estimated that at least 100,000,000 Americans have been influenced by the McGuffey readers from the time of their appearance in the schools until the turn of the 20th century. The last edition was printed in 1901. In all, the series included a primer, a speller, and six readers.

Although William McGuffey did by far the greater part of the work on the set, his brother Alexander is credited with authorship of the speller, and the fifth and sixth readers.

BECAUSE of the great interest and tremendous sentiment among men and women who grew up with the books, McGuffey societies began to spring up over the country. Henry Ford gathered everything he could get pertaining to the McGuffey readers. Today his museum at Dearborn, Mich., contains one of the finest McGuffey collections in existence. In September, 1934, Ford personally dedicated a monument to William Holmes McGuffey near Claysville, Pa., where the author was born.

Certain New York educators have indicated a desire to re-instate the readers in New York schools. Whether little Johnny and Mary would accept them wholeheartedly, in the face of modern trends of thought, is unpredictable. But if the McGuffey Readers should find their way back into the classrooms, there might very easily be a lot of grandparents suddenly taking a big interest in their grandchildren's homework.

Which Are You— A Citizen or A Denizen ?

The Citizen

A CITIZEN is a person who lives in a community, enjoys its blessings, its opportunities and its comforts . . . but who also thinks of his duty to his neighbors. He works for the advancement of the community.

A CITIZEN realizes that he is a part of the whole community and that while he may have a legal right to live to himself and disregard conditions that effect his neighbor, he has no moral right to do so.

A CITIZEN understands that a cess pool far removed from his own dining table may breed germs that may be carried to his own luxurious home and give his child disease.

A CITIZEN pays his poll tax and votes for the men and propositions which he sincerely believes, after thoughtful investigation, best for the whole community.

A CITIZEN glories in the work of having a part in making his community better. He believes in the city where he is working and profiting.

A CITIZEN wants his city to be clean and makes efforts to keep it so.

A CITIZEN will obey the laws himself and will help see that others obey them.

A CITIZEN CARES!

The Denizen

A DENIZEN is a creature who merely inhabits a locality. He eats and sleeps and absorbs the nourishment and comforts of life, but gives no thought to the community or its upbuilding.

A DENIZEN wants to "get his" and get out. He doesn't care for the general condition of the city so long as he and his wife and his son John are comfortable.

A DENIZEN might feel that an unsanitary condition in a part of the town several blocks from his home is no concern of his.

A DENIZEN takes no interest in local municipal affairs . . . drawing his skirts about him, he lets things run themselves.

A DENIZEN does not contribute time or money to community welfare.

A DENIZEN will maintain a garbage pile in his yard, and throw trash in the street.

A DENIZEN cares nothing about making the town attractive.

A DENIZEN DOES NOT CARE!

Stain Removal From Fabrics

The removal of stains is a necessary feature of the general care of clothing and household textiles. Most stains may be removed at home, if reliable methods are known and a few simple precautions taken.

In removal of blood stains, soak the material in cold water until most of the coloring matter is dissolved, then wash in hot water. If the material is not washable, a thick paste of starch and water may be applied to the stain and then brushed away when dry.

Butter or butter substitute stains may be removed by using warm soapy water if the material is washable or if the material is unwashable a thick paste of French chalk or magnesia may be used.

Chewing gum stains may be removed from washable materials by softening the stain with egg white and then wash. Carbon tetrachloride will remove the gum from unwashable materials.

Soap and hot water will remove cocoa or chocolate stains and wood alcohol or ammonia will remove the above stains from unwashable materials.

Tea stains are easily removed by first running cold water through the material, then washing in warm water.

Iron rust may be removed by spreading the stained place over a vessel of boiling water and squeezing lemon juice on the stain. This process may have to be repeated several times, but it is not harmful to the fabric. To boil the stained place in a solution of 4 teaspoons of cream tartar to one pint of water is also successful in removing iron rust.

Grass stains may be removed by sponging with wood or denatured alcohol.

In order to keep the solution from circling the material while removing the stain, place a blotter under the stained spot to absorb all extra solvent.

KIPLING FILM TO SHOW HERE

SHIRLEY TEMPLE HAS LEAD IN "WEE WILLIE WINKIE" AT ELLIS SUNDAY AND MONDAY, AUG. 8-9

Kipling's colorful characters live glamorously, adventurously and courageously on adventure's last frontier in the picturization of his famed "Wee Willie Winkie," which shows at the Ellis Theatre, with Shirley Temple and Victor McLaglen in the starring roles.

From the heart of mighty India, where all the world is wild and strange, where the British raj ends at Khyber Pass, in the land of the Bengal Lancers, comes this glorious adventure of the Scottish Highlanders in action and of the little girl who won the right to wear their plaid.

The most spectacular production in which Shirley Temple has yet appeared, "Wee Willie Winkie" gives Victor McLaglen a powerful role as a fearless, fighting fool.

Life at a frontier army post in India is not too happy for Shirley and her widowed mother June Lang, for her grandfather, C. Aubrey Smith, is a gruff old disciplinarian. The youngster decides that the only way to win the Colonel's approval is to become a soldier herself, and her friend, Michael Whalen, a young lieutenant, turns her over for training to the burly sergeant Victor McLaglen who dubs her "Wee Willie Winkie" because of the quaint way she has of screwing up her eyes when she asks questions.

Shirley gets into plenty of trouble at the post, but wins the gratitude of an imprisoned chieftain, Khoda Khan, when she returns his lost amulet. In a surprise raid on the post, the proud chieftain is freed, and the border is immediately ablaze with crimson warfare, with McLaglen's life being one of those lost.

Feeling that both Khoda Khan and her grandfather would prefer peace, Shirley takes a desperate step to end the killing, and sets out at night for the Pathan camp. When her departure is discovered, the Highlanders set out grimly for Khyber Pass, graveyard of many a soldier, determined to rescue her or die in the attempt. With lives at stake, Shirley makes one last desperate gesture to save them and restore peace, bringing the picture to a thoroughly thrilling climax.

New Musical Hit

"You Can't Have Everything" is Title of Film at Ellis Theatre August 12 and 13

Rhythm, sweet, tremble and low-down; heavenly song hits by Gordon and Revel; scrumptious girls; a parade of personalities headed by Alice Faye, the Ritz Brothers, Don Ameche; flying fiddles, hot trumpets and honey crooners; dancing feet like rain on the roof; and the insistent antics ever from the Ritz-manics—Twentieth Century-Fox includes everything for a smash hit in "You Can't Have Everything," singational new musical show at the Ellis Theatre, Thursday and Friday, August 12-13.

All the uproar, the swing, the brilliance, and the freshness expected from the entertainment-makers who produced "Sing, Baby, Sing," "Thanks a Million," "On the Avenue," "One In a Million," and "Wake Up and Live," is topped by a galaxy of featured talent.

Rubino's facile violin starts the story off on a mad, musical career by serving to introduce Alice Faye, a hopeful young playwright penniless in New York, to Don Ameche, successful author of bright and fragile musical comedies. Currently appearing in Ameche's latest show are the Ritz Brothers and Louise Hovick, the latter an exciting new personality making her first screen appearance.

To further his romantic aims, Ameche has Charles Winninger, his producer, buy Miss Faye's tragedy, which the Ritz Brothers proceed to adapt, with considerable blue-penciling, into a rowdy farce.

A steady round of singing, dancing and comedy intersperses the light action to produce a well-rounded gem of fun and amusement. Norman Taurog directed, with Laurence Schwab as associate producer.

MISSOURI AVE. CLUB

Mrs. G. M. Dietrich, Reporter
"Cooking vegetables for a long time at high temperature loses a great deal of the food value and the natural color fades," stated Miss Wertha Tarter, County Home Demonstration Agent, at the regular meeting of the Missouri Ave. Club, which met in the home of Mrs. C. O. Roach, Wednesday, July 28th.

"There are two classes of vegetables," continued Miss Tarter; "first, strong vegetables such as cabbage, onion, turnip, cauliflower. These contain sulphur, and should be cooked in lots of water, for about 12 minutes and with the lid off. If cooked for a long time they may turn yellow and cause indigestion."

"Mild vegetables should be cooked from 10 to 15 minutes in small back on their heels."

WHO CAN'T HAVE EVERYTHING?

The title of the musical, "You Can't Have Everything," forces Don Ameche to choose between Alice Faye (left) and Louise Hovick. The Ritz Brothers do the electioneering, and the cast also features Charles Winninger, Rubino and his violin, and Tony Martin. At Ellis Theatre, Thursday and Friday, August 12-13.

Did Someone Mention Keys?

Keys to the city, and from the looks of things in the photo above, keys to just about everything else that has a keyhole, were handed to the Keyes quadruplets of Hollis, Okla., when they arrived in Chicago to make radio appearances. The quartet, from left to right, Mary, Roberta, Mona, and Leota, were graduated from Baylor University last month, and are 22 years old. They are the first quads ever known to have reached their majority.

amounts of water with cover on tight to conserve food value.

"Red vegetables are very soluble. Sometimes the addition of a tablespoon of vinegar to a quart of water will help preserve the color."

"The skin of many vegetables such as potatoes contain minerals. This is wasted when the vegetable is pared."

"Vitamin C is the only vitamin which is not retained after cooking. Vitamin C helps to build bone. It prevents skin disease and builds up old tissue. It is such vegetables as lettuce, carrots and tomatoes which contain nit and should be served raw."

During the business plans for the fair and Ball jar contest were discussed. The club voted to present Mrs. J. H. Kershaw $5.00 to be used on her trip to Short Course.

Miss Tarter demonstrated making salads from raw vegetables, cooking strong vegetables and mild vegetables. The discussion following the demonstration proved interesting and instructive.

Delicious watermelon was served to two visitors: Mrs. Juanita Moore and Miss Okla Mae Laurence, and Mrs. J. H. Key, Mrs. L. H. Kaup, Mrs. E. W. Witt, Mrs. J. E. Johnson, Mrs. French Laurence, Mrs. Eton Laurence, Mrs. L. E. King, Mrs. J. W. Putman, Mrs. Fred Huston and the hostess, Mrs. C. O. Roach.

The Missouri Ave. Club will hold its next meeting with Mrs. J. H. Kershaw. All members are urged to attend and be prepared to help on her quilt and bed spread.

The services at the cemetery were in charge of the Masonic lodge.

Mr. Nash was a member of the Methodist church, and the Masonic, Odd Fellows, Rebekah, Eastern Star, and Knights of Pythias lodges. For many years he was active in band work. An ardent sportsman loving to fish and hunt, a good neighbor, a kind and loving father and husband, "Daddy" Nash will be missed in his large circle of friends.

ments as were made last year with the school furnishing transportation and each boy paying for his part of the meals. Cooks will be taken along and the meals served in camp style.

The Ranger squad will be richer in experience, but some lighter than last year's team.

Many changes have been made in the lineup for the coming season due to the graduation last year of Pittman, Kent, and Hudson at ends; Ferguson at tackle and Jones and Lilly as backs.

"Speedy" Johnson, a tackle last year, will probably play fullback and Warren Cudd will play at tackle position.

Co-captain Ray McWilliams will again direct the team on the field and play in the tail on the single wing back formation and right half back on the double wing formation. Clyde Flowers is expected to play offensive end, guard and support the line on defense.

Others will be Clarence Lewis and William Flowers as backs. Harry Reimer end, Leon Morris guard, and Warren Cudd tackle. Wayne Gyger will play center instead of Fred Kuhn who was lost through graduation.

Big Truman Garrison will remain at left tackle position if possible.

The starting lineup will be with Reimer and Flowers at ends, Leon Morris and Horne at guards, Gyger at center, McWilliams as quarter-back, Schroeder blocking back, with Johnson fullback and William Flowers and Clarence Lewis halfbacks.

Cudd, Johnson, and Garrison each weighing around 200 pounds should be a perfect foil for such speedsters as McWilliams, Lewis and Flowers.

The following boys will make the Raton trip: Leon Morris, Clyde Flowers, Wayne Gyger, Truman Garrison, Leland Horne, Warren Cudd, Clarence Lewis, Ray McWilliams, William Flowers, Ed Schroeder, Speedy Johnson, Byron Tevis, Cecil Tevis, Wayne Cudd, Jimmy Palmer, Butch Hergert, Irvin Lilly, Glen McWilliams, Knute Dowers, Wayne Symons, Harry Reimer, Bobby Lawrence, Clifford Gyger, Clarence Morris, Lee Edge, Phillip Daley, Dick Littleton and Mack Winters. A few others may join later.

The squad will return from the camp a day or two before the opening of school, September 6.

Mrs. Floyd Pike, who returned to the Perryton hospital for a few days additional treatment, was dismissed from the hospital yesterday.

are. Students, parents, and the public generally may expect school to open with the same regulations and requirements as heretofore. The people of Perryton are interested, I am sure, in keeping the schools up to their high standard and in making any improvements that may later seem needed. I ask your full cooperation in order that this may be done."

Mr. Burgess announces the following as the faculty for the 1937-38 session of the Perryton schools. It will be noted in this list of instructors that no provision is made for teachers at the Lone Tree and Twitchell schools. These were the only rural schools maintained in the district last year, and the 1937-38 term will start off with all pupils in the district being transported into Perryton.

A HERALD ADVERTISEMENT THE SIZE OF

A POSTAL CARD

Costs ONE-TENTH as Much as a Card

An advertisement the size of a postal card in the Ochiltree County Herald costs only one-tenth as much as sending a message to the same number of families on a government postal card. This doesn't sound possible, but it's true just the same.

A three and one-quarter inch by three column advertisement in the Ochiltree County Herald is larger than a postal card; it costs $2.98 and goes into 1,750 homes in the Perryton trade territory. Now let's see just what it costs to buy, print and address 1,750 postal cards.

First cost of 1,750 postal cards	$17.50
Printing 1,750 postal cards	5.35
Addressing 1,750 postal cards	7.50
Total	$30.35

Thus you can see that the cost per family for the Ochiltree County Herald advertisement is less than one-fifth cent per family and that the cost per family for the same size advertising message on a postal card is almost two cents each or ten times as much as newspaper advertising.

The Herald has reader interest. Every member of the family reads your advertisement in the Herald.

Post cards, hand bills and circulars are frequently cast away after a glance. Check the post office lobby. The floor is littered and the waste basket full of direct-by-mail advertising. You don't see any copies of the Ochiltree County Herald cast away without being read.

A complete coverage of the Perryton trade territory is given advertisers by the Herald. The advertiser gets coverage and reader interest, at a tremendous saving per person over direct-by-mail advertising.
