NEW HIRING SET

Board Approves Federal Program

By JAMES ANDERSON
Record News Editor

Colorado City school trustees, voted to participate in the federal government's Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965.

The program provides direct aid to school districts in helping students whose parents make less than $2,000 per year. In addition money is available to help schools upgrade and increase library services for all students.

Total of 521 students would qualify for aid under the title I of the program for those having under $2,000 income. The government would pay half of the average amount of money that the state spent per capita on each student.

Library funds provided by the federal government would be over and above the current school budget set aside for the services. Funds could be used for books, reference works and other library materials.

Supt. of Schools Frank W. Wilson told the board an additional man would be needed to take charge of the program if the local schools decided to participate.

It was noted that funds had been provided in the budget for the hiring of an additional person.

After a discussion of the duties of the person to be hired, it was decided the post would be designated as director of special services.

Board member Curtis Latimer then made the motion to authorize the superintendent to hire a good man to aid in directing special programs and any other duties the superintendent saw fit to assign.

Warren Anderson seconded the motion.

Supt. Wilson, apparently having second thoughts of the particular duties the new person would perform, then appeared dissatisfied and said he would like something more flexible.

"I might want to administer the federal program myself and turn over other duties to the new man," Wilson said.

Latimer, appearing somewhat perturbed at Wilson's change of mind, asked that his motion be withdrawn.

Wilson said he wanted the new person to have a flexible assignment of duties.

Wilson then interjected that there were a dozen other aid programs besides the one the board was considering.

"That's a scatterload," Latimer said.

"I am not going to be a rubber stamp for any aid programs I'm not acquainted with," he added.

The original motion, made by Latimer, had still not been withdrawn and Latimer again asked for it to be taken from consideration saying, "I withdraw my — motion."

Bill Carter, board prexy, got into the discussion saying, "Don't fly off the handle."

Latimer retorted to Carter, "Don't dress me down."

Carter told Latimer that he had directed his statement at the board as a group and not at any individual.

Latimer seemed to disagree saying the statement was directed at only him.

Latimer then told Carter to make a motion about the program that would suit him.

With, he added.

The president explained he was dissatisfied with leaving every meeting "with a bad taste in my mouth."

Wilson again said the school needed a flexible plan.

"We'll give approval and then you (Wilson) go ahead," Carter said.

Anderson then made another motion, with the exact wording as Latimer's previous one, and got a second from A. M. Holman.

The vote was unanimously in favor of the proposal.

(Carter). Carter, who was chairman of the meeting, said he was not in position to make motions. Latimer then offered to take the chair so Carter could make a motion.

The president explained he was dissatisfied with leaving every meeting "with a bad taste in my mouth."

Wilson again said the school needed a flexible plan.

"We'll give approval and then you (Wilson) go ahead," Carter said.

Anderson then made another motion, with the exact wording as Latimer's previous one, and got a second from A. M. Holman.

The vote was unanimously in favor of the proposal.

Bolin and Mayo missed the identical five contests in their predictions.

Lyndall Gibson took third prize in the contest missing only five games and having a key score of Ector 20-City 0.

Another high point of the activities at the Co-op will be a display of farm implements and machinery presented by area dealers.

FOR LAKE RESIDENTS

Council Talks Water Project

City Council took no action on a request by Lake Colorado City residents to make city drinking water available to lakeside homes and camps.

The lake group has formed a corporation called Colorado City Lake Water Supply and is attempting to secure a $200,000 loan from the Farmers Home Administration to finance the project.

Glenn Hemphill of Lubbock, who organized the lake group, was told by the city that the project would have to work closely with Texas Electric Service Co.

Colorado City has an agreement with the power company not to sell any water outside the city limits.

Morgan Creek Power Plant Supt. Larry Kinard and local manager Don Benson were consulted regarding sale of water to the group and TESCO did not voice any objections.

City Manager Ford Merritt assured Benson that TESCO would be consulted before any official agreement to sell water to the lake residents was made.

It was brought out that the price of the water sold to the group should be the same as that charged Westbrook Schools should the project go through.

No further action was taken by the council.

Hunter then asked Majors if

W. C. Rogers, 82, a resident of Loraine since 1948 died Sunday at 7 p.m. in Roland Nursing Home there following a long illness.

A retired farmer, Mr. Rogers had previously lived 40 years in the R-Bar Community.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in Loraine with Rev. Jim Turner officiating assisted by Rev. A. A. Watson of Abilene.

Mr. Rogers was born June 14, 1883, in Mussel Shoals, Ala. and married Inez Davenport in 1903 at Waxahachie. He was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors are the widow; one daughter, Mrs. Olen Hair of Levelland; two sons, F. D. Rogers of Big Spring and W. A. Rogers of Oklahoma City, Okla.; one brother, Dr. A. C. Rogers of Vernon; two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park at Big Spring under direction of Kiker and Son of Colorado City.

Pallbearers were Hubert Thomas, Clarence Fryar, W. C. Fryar, Loyd Wiggins, A. V. Coloway, Olan Mayes, Herbert Mearse and B. W. Tarr.

Period Lasts Through 1965

City Council ordered banning of parking meter use for 90 days beginning Oct. 1.

Sam L. Majors Jr. and Eddie Piland appeared for the Chamber of Commerce merchants' committee, asking a moratorium on use of the meters.

"We've all heard pros and cons on the use of meters for several years," Majors said, "and they have been good in some instances and bad in others."

He then asked the council for a trial period to see how the city got along without them.

"The meters are obsolete and have outlived their usefulness," Majors stressed.

The spokesmen said he thought a "90-day coverage" would increase business and encourage more people to trade in Colorado City.

Majors said the committee realized there would be a revenue loss from taking out the meters, but that the group was willing to do anything to get rid of the meters even if it meant a tax increase.

Councilman Paul Hunter said, "Six months ago the committee said merchants were not in favor of removal. Suddenly, they've had a change of opinion. Why the change?"

Majors replied, "We all get in a rut with the way we operate our business." Merchants are now in a changing situation and need to think of making the entire downtown area into a shopping center.

The spokesmen called the meters a "gig" and thought getting rid of them would aid in developing a good business center downtown.

"They're a thing of the past," Majors said in closing. Eddie Piland, who has only recently gone into business in town, spoke next regarding use of choice parking spaces by employees and employers.

"An appeal must be made to both groups to use good judgement in parking," Piland said. It was thought that most employees would be cooperative in seeking off street parking.

One possible source of additional spots was on the train depot lot. The city has a lease on a portion of the lot.

Majors took the floor again and asked about possible change in parking angles to provide more spaces.

He noted regarding the meter ban that "in all fairness one or two merchants are against it."

Hunter then asked Majors if his group would recheck the employees and employers after 90 days to get their feelings.

"Will the committee assume responsibility of polling merchants after 90 days and report back to the council?" Mayor John Chinn asked.

Further discussion was made of the parking angle change, but action on the matter was delayed until a later date.

Motion was then made by Hunter to dispense with the use of meters for 90-days on a trial basis.

Lena Porter seconded the motion and the vote was unanimously in favor.

When asked whether the meters should be covered or the heads removed, Majors stated the group would like to see the heads off.

Lone Wolf Co-op Growing

Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative serves over 6,000 people in the six county area in which it provides electrical service.

Colorado City is headquarters and nucleus of the organization, but its 1,300 miles of power lines find their way into Mitchell, Scurry, Borden, Howard, Nolan and Fisher counties.

Expanding service has been the key word at Lone Wolf in the years since its founding in 1939. Today, with over 1,300 miles of lines to watch over, an integral part of the work at the Co-op is devoted to maintenance and upkeep of the existing equipment operated by the organization.

A newer and bigger effort is being constantly made to ward improving and upgrading electrical service in the existing areas the Co-op serves.

Federal government first made loans available to provide rural electricity to then existing private utilities firms but many failed to take advantage of the offer. The government then made the money available to farmer-owned cooperatives and experts and specialists were enlisted to aid interested groups.

Lone Wolf Electric had a rather humble beginning in 1939 when first meetings were held in schoolhouses at Loomis, Buford and Lone Star.

The original loan was for $145,000. Today, the investment of the co-op totals over $2.6 million dollars with 3,000 electric meters in service.

The organization serves farm homes, irrigation wells and farm pumps. Over 48 percent of the income is derived from the petroleum industry serving oil wells, pipeline pumps and tank batteries. Some commercial concerns located in rural areas are also served.

Carriers Aid USDA Survey

Postmaster Arlene Morris announced that rural mail carriers would distribute 1965 Acreage Survey Cards to patrons on their routes about September 14.

Post Office Department assists U.S.D.A. in making this survey each year. These reports, directly from farmers, are the basis for official estimates for Texas acreage of all crops harvested in 1965.

To be sure this community is well represented in the survey, Postmaster Morris urges each patron receiving a card to fill it out and return it to his mailbox.

Rural mail carriers working on this project are: Bob Motley, Route 1; Eddie Moser, Route 2; Tom J. Goss, Route 3.

In 1939 only ten percent of farms were served by electricity. The total in 1965 is over 99 percent and growing every day. Anyone desiring electricity, will be supplied.

The original use of a farm was about 50 kilowatt hours per month on a single phase line. Now the average is up to 500 kilowatt hours per month on three phase lines.

New and better poles and lines have been installed to give the farmers better service for their money.

Sole purpose of the cooperative is to render electrical service to rural residents. Any surplus money made by the organization is returned to the stockholders in dividend checks on the basis of electricity use during the year.

The outlook for Lone Wolf Electric is still bright. As an organization, it has grown greatly since its beginning in 1939. With the progressive attitude possessed by its leaders and members, the growth will continue.

Lone Wolf Electric Co-op

MAINTENANCE is one of the most important aspects of service at Lone Wolf. Constant care and work is required to keep the 1,300 miles of lines and equipment in order. L. E. Barrington, making a call above is foreman in charge of maintenance operations for the Co-op.

Wolves are still nursing injuries from Ector tilt, all of which should be healed by Saturday.

Quarterback Wayne Snowden suffered a "whirlash" injury and Donnie Hugginbotham has a sprained ankle. Snowden was in shoulder "sucks and shorts" action Monday afternoon and was still without full rehab on Tuesday.

Hugginbotham has been exceeding his hurt ankle and has been held out of live action on Monday and Tuesday.

Should Hugginbotham not be well by Friday, his left halfback slot will be filled by Bubba Kennedy, a 145-pound junior who filled in for Hugginbotham against Ector and strongly impressed the coaches.

Right halfback Mike Gardner is slowed by a sore ankle and is expected to be replaced by Ronnie Lamb or senior co-captain Artie Butler.

Defensive ends see new faces for the third straight week with the spots now being filled by Topper Steakley and 180-pound Jerry Franks.

Larry Currie has been moved from safety to middle line backer and standout David Way shifted to the right side.

THAT'S FOOTBALL

"A Matter Of Inches"

The difference between victory and defeat is many times only a matter of inches.

A few scant inches on three plays cost the Wolves a win in Saturday night's battle with the Ector Eagles.

The scoreboard read 35-16 at the end of the 48 action-packed minutes, but there was more to the story than the final score. The Wolves put on a top offensive show in making 15 first downs, gaining 264 yards, rushing and completing six of 12 aerials for 123 total yards.

Three key plays perhaps decided the Wolves' fate more than any others. They were:

When the Wolves had Eagle QB Eddie Dominguez apparently bottled up in the end zone for a safety and two points before he somehow miraculously broke out of the trap for a good gain.

A crucial fumble (their only one of the game) in the third quarter with second down and goal to go on Ector's one-foot line.

A holding penalty that nullified a 40-yard pass play from Wayne Snowden to Larry Currie which carried to the Ector onyard mark before being called back.

"We were in position to win except for those three plays,"

Coach Truman Nix reminisced Monday afternoon in his office.

"We were close to winning the game," Nix commented, "despite the score." "It was a real good overall ball game."

The Colorado City coach was high in praise of the Eagles' squad saying, "Ector had the finest broken field runners I've seen in many a day."

Both their accurate passing quarterback and fleet halfback Eddie Moss hurt the Wolves with their blinding speed and quick moves.

Hometown Boy Makes Good in City

Many of Sunday's TV viewers on NBC got to see Don Maynard, one of the more prominent products of Western Texas and Texas Western, make several good pass receptions including an exceptional one for a touchdown.

Despite Maynard's prowess, his New York Jets lost a 27-21 decision to the Houston Oilers in the American Football League opener for both clubs.

Maynard was a football and track standout at CHS before his graduation in 1953. In the state track meet that year, he set records in both the high and low hurdles for a squad boasting the likes of Hollis Ganevy, Charles Small, Herman Corbell and Perry Ellwood.

Accepting a football and track scholarship from Rice, he stayed only one season at the Houston school before moving to Texas Western sans scholarship. His play at the El Paso school soon won him room and board and all-conference honors. During his three seasons TWC lost only five games.

After graduation Maynard won a spot on the New York Giants playing behind established stars such as Frank Gifford and Alex Webster. He saw quite a bit of action on the NFL champions that year being used primarily on punt and kickoff returns, but was released in 1959.

From the Giants the former CHS grad signed with the Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Canadian League and in 1960 went to the New York Titans, later to become the Jets, and has been there ever since.

In his seasons with the New York club he has become one of the top pass catchers and scorers in the entire AFL. The 175-pound flanker uses his tremendous speed and quick moves to remain a continual threat to enemy pass defenders.

Tim Marcum of Lorraine completed seven of 16 passing attempts in McMurtry's 9-7 victory over the Angelo State Rams as those squads opened their season Saturday night in Abilene.

Jackie Narrell, another ex-Lorraine High glider, had a starting berth at center for the Indians in the opener.

Dee Dearen, '65 grad of CHS, is expected to be a two-way starter Saturday as Austin College debuts against Millisap College in Sherman.

In the Kangaroos' last intrasquad scrimmage Dearen started at guard on offense and middle linebacker for the defensive unit of his team.

If Donny Anderson's Saturday night performance in the Texas Tech intrasquad game is any indication of the future, Raider opponents better brace themselves.

The All-American from Stinnett ripped off 170 yards in 15 carries, scored three touchdowns including a 79-yard kickoff return, caught two passes for 37 yards and handled punting duties for his team.

A real test will come when the Raiders tangle with the Texas Longhorns Sept. 25 in Austin before a crowd expected to be near sellout proportions.

Hunters Are Obeying Law

Dove hunters, including the massed throngs on the white-winged dove shoot, have generally been good sportsmen, said J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"We had a minimum of violations," said Phillips. "They mainly involved getting over the limit and using unplugged guns. 'The daily limit of mourning doves is 12 and possession 24, and the whitewing limit 10 and 20.'"

Guns must be plugged permanently to three-shell capacity.

Phillips said some of the greedy hunters were caught, like the two Dallas hunters intercepted by a traffic policeman with "two or three limits too many," as well as with dressed doves, minus the feather wing that should be left on each carcass.

that the Eagle running game and defense did not come up to the local expectation after seeing them scrimmage Midland Lee.

Speaking of individual performances, Nix noted his satisfaction with the unusually fine Wolf passing attack led by Snowden and Glen Nix.

Line Coach Ray Morgan was high in praise of four offensive linemen including Marvin Iglehart, Larry Currie, Stetson Cowan and Topper Steakley.

The two stalwart defensive guards, Ascension Bonilla and Robert Stewart also were complimented on their jobs against Ector.

David Way and Maceah Findley, a sophomore making his first start also drew plaudits from the coaches.

Coach Nix said the two things hurting the Wolves most was their defensive secondary that allowed some deep passes by the Eagles and a not so good job of open field tackling.

"There was no doubt who was in the best physical condition," Nix said. "We whipped them all over the field physically."

The Ector coach, Jim Payne, also made note of the Wolves' fine conditioning in and after the game conversation with Nix.

Nix added that Colorado City gained a lot of confidence from the Ector contest after scoring and moving the ball so well.

Halfback Donnie Higginbotham tallied both Wolf scores on runs of five and four yards. Glen Nix hit Higginbotham with a pass after the first with another for the other two points.

Mrs. C. E. Taylor visited her mother, Mrs. Jewel Smith who is in a Big Spring Hospital Monday. She visited her brother, J. C. Oliver in Carlsbad, Sunday.

CONVERSATION CORNER

AGE is a relative matter. No matter how hard you try to keep yours a secret, a relative — cousin, uncle, aunt or in-law — is pretty sure to tell it for you.

Age is also an unimportant matter. Except for people who choose to make it important, either by running from it or running toward it to embrace it too soon.

Ladies who run from it do it by smearing stuff on their hair, going to bed hungry and wearing clothes from the teen-set shops.

Those who run toward it stop looking in the mirror a-tall and start planning their funerals. They are the always sad ones.

AGE is an attitude. You may be younger or older than you feel, life being what it is and full of physical complications, hard work and minor accidents.

But you are exactly as old as your attitude . . . and as young as the way you think.

So long as people dwell on the "gone are the days when my heart was young and gay," they have little room for the feel of expectancy . . . the looking forward to tomorrow attitude which makes music in young hearts.

THERE is this about it: people who share the world with children have to think young . . . or just resign themselves to winning the fuddy-duddy prize.

In this era of de-segregation, America might do well to take a long look at the segregation of this country's really old.

Except in cases of hopeless senility, both the old and the young lose something precious when they lose all association, all contact with each other. They need each other. Each has much to teach the other.

FIRST time we learned that valuable lesson was in college.

Ah, how young! How very young were the girls from the dormitory on Baylor campus who agreed in Sunday School class to visit the "old ladies home" that afternoon.

The girls were to visit and to present a program. All the ladies who were able gathered in the parlor. How old! Oh, how very old they looked with their blue-veined hands and their fading eyes.

Piano music was to be our own special contribution to the program. Filled with such sorrow as never before experienced (because all the listening ladies were old) we sat down at the piano.

PLAYED the most sedate music . . . "The Rosary, Perfect Day, Absent, The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise, Humoresque, Estrallita . . ." and so on.

The little ladies applauded politely. One, sitting closest to the piano, stopped the music abruptly when it began as an encore, "Whispering Hope."

"Don't you know any happy music, child?" the little old lady, who was wearing lavender voile, asked. "Don't you even know how to play any jazz?" she asked mischievously.

SHOCKED, as only the very young can be shocked, we started another program . . . "St. Louis Blues, Last Night on the Back Porch, Some of These Days, Wabash Blues . . . A Good Man Is Hard to Find, Frankie and Johnnie . . . Nothin' Could Be Finer Than to Be in Carolina . . ."

Never heard such foot-patting as went on, then! Never saw old ladies dance all over still sitting down. Never heard such delighted clapping.

"What gave you the idea," asked the little old lady in lavender, "that old ladies want to hear sad songs?"

Well? What did? Youth did. It took old age to point out the truth. "We're all getting along, Honey," she said. "But, child, we ain't dead yet!" Out of the mouths of babes — and old ladies — frequently comes much wisdom.

SUNSHINE magazine, published by the Methodist Home in Waco, publishes a picture of our Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Bob) Maniss and their two daughters.

MRS. BENNETT SCOTT

World War I Nurse Heads TB Seals Sale

By RUTH COFFEY
Editor Women's News

Mitchell County TB Association has picked a World War I Army nurse, Mrs. Bennett Scott, as chairman for the 1965 Seals Sales campaign.

Mrs. Scott, who lives with her husband in Longhorn Community, will have as her three assistants, three sons of World War I as honorary Seal Sales chairman.

They are John M. Worrell, Sr., Colorado City attorney, who saw action in Europe with the U.S. Marine 9th Company, 6th Regiment, R. H. (Hall) Bennett, retired stockman of Lorraine, who served with Company B, 33d Supply Train, 90th Division, and E. R. Messimer, justice of the peace in Westbrook who was with the 7th Division, M. Company, 34th Infantry.

Neil Guest Scott has been a citizen of Colorado City since 1931. Born in what was then Indian Territory (Oklahoma) she received her elementary, high school and academy education at Lincoln School, then an Indian school sponsored and supported by the Baptist denomination. She and her sister were students in the school while their parents were on the staff. The father as agricultural instructor and their mother as supervisor or of the dining hall.

The girls worked, too. Neil was assistant librarian at the school and postmistress her last year there.

In September 1914, Neil Guest was graduated from the nurses training school at Baylor University in Dallas. It was soon after she won her coveted R.N. (Registered Nurse) status that Neil Guest came face to face with tuberculosis. Early in 1915, doctors discovered that she was suffering from "incipient TB."

June of 1915 found her a patient in the sanatorium at Carlsbad, where she rested for nine months. After that, she was a sanatorium nurse for nine more months, then spent six months on private duty with a TB patient whose illness was terminal.

Her own recovery from TB was complete. She got well and stayed well.

"I am not at all sensitive about having had tuberculosis," she said. "I am a one of the ones who proves that tuberculosis can be cured if it is discovered and treated in time."

She was in Rocky Ford, Colorado, cured but still trying to follow her rest schedule, when she joined the Red Cross Reserve. In September of 1918 she was ordered to Camp John Wise, a World War I balloon camp in San Antonio. On the train she met another registered nurse, Miss Annis Sparks, who became a lifelong friend.

When the train reached San Antonio, the young nurses were greeted by a tragic scene. Lines of flag-draped cas-

Hesperian Daughters Hear Library Address

Hesperian Daughters Study Club began their new club year Friday evening with a supper party in Col-Tex Recreation Club, Lake Colorado City.

Husbands of club members were honor guests for the assembly meeting.

Guest speaker for the program was Mrs. George O. Witten, chairman of the Mitchell County Library Board of Advisors. Mrs. Witten's subject was "This is Your Library."

She first outlined the history of the library here pointing out its growth from 157 volumes in 1924 to 1,600 books in 1937 and to 20,000 now on library shelves.

Building program for the library was then discussed by Mrs. Witten.

"Your board planned a building according to American Library Association standards for our population and the number of volumes," she said. She then spoke of the "ray of hope" for federal funds matching local funds and the application filed.

"It now appears certain that they (such funds) will be available to us," Mrs. Witten said.

Friends of the Library, organized in this country during National Library Week, was explained and the part they can play in the library building and expansion program noted by the speaker.

"Friends of the Library as an organization can create public support for an expanding library program," she said. "It can encourage gifts, endowments and memorials of the library. It can work to increase hours of service by the library. It can handle the observance of National Library Week. It can help promote board projects.

"It can sponsor book and author luncheons. It can serve as a publicity bureau. It can help find financial resources. You can help in all these areas by joining the Friends of the Library," she said.

"For every dollar we can raise locally we can secure a matching dollar from federal funds. The county is possibly,

Saturday guests in the A. C. Moody home were Mrs. Charles Jeffries and Mrs. Bobby Henderson of Colorado City. Sunday guests included T. C. Hart of Colorado City, Mrs. Lucille Moody of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Moody of Elko, who also visited their son, Jimmy Moody and family.

going to be short some $5,000, converted into a workable, useable library.

"From 157 books to 20,000 books. From one small court-house room to a new building of 6,855 square feet. From no library members to 7,273 members. This is your library story," she said.

Contributions could be earmarked for specific pieces of equipment with plates identifying the donor affixed to new equipment."

In conclusion, Mrs. Witten said "The library of today is much more than a warehouse for books. It is a vital part of the community's academic and cultural life. For 41 years local clubwomen and a few interested citizens have seen the potential of this realm of ink, paper, and ideas materialized.

Attending the supper hour program were Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Baker, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Fee Sr., Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Worrell Sr., Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Geer, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Albright, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ginzler, Mr. and Mrs. Witten, Mrs. Warren Costin and Mrs. E. V. Grantland.

This takes nerve! Imagine dropping into space with nothing but a "talk umbrella" between you and eternity! Yet men do it every day, and they trust that umbrella as we would trust our best friend.

Faith is something like that white parachute, as thousands upon thousands of Christians can testify. Faith upholds you and supports you, no matter how rough the going may be. Without faith in a loving God, man is very much alone... and man was never meant to deal with life's problems by himself.

Like the first parachute jump, faith isn't easy at the beginning. It takes courage to hand over the reins of one's life, but you can be sure of one thing... you'll always land on your feet. Strengthen your faith by attending the church of your choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

months she agreed, also, she candidly admits, "Because I was running out of money." She laughs when she remembers her secret promise to herself. It was to stay "Three months but not one day more." Actually, she stayed with the Root Hospital staff, as Dr. Root's head nurse, until his death in December, 1937, and her own retirement as nurse after his death.

She had been planning her retirement for several years. In 1935, she and her husband, Bennett Scott, had moved to their Longfellow farm and she wanted to be a fulltime homemaker. The couple met on a swimming party and picnic at "Little Blue," favorite spot on the Colorado River, one summer. They were married in 1927. Scott owned and operated a sheet metal business in Colorado City until he decided to be a fulltime farmer.

Mrs. Scott, R.N. retired, has never retired from her work in First Baptist Church and her working interest in public health fields.

She has served the WMU as president. Is assistant teacher to the Friendship Sunday School Class, is an ex-president of Mitchell County Federation of Women's Club, and is 1965-66 president of the Hesperian Study Club. She is secretary of the Jane Robertson circle.

She has served the Mitchell County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, one of her public interests, as cancer service community chairman a number of years and still serves in that capacity.

Long-time in Mitchell County TB Association, Mrs. Scott served once before as chairman for the Seals Sales campaign staged each year to help in the fight against TB.

Fifty years ago, as a young and eager-eyed nurse, she was fighting TB in hand-to-hand combat. She won.

This year, because she knows firsthand what roles education and research play in the old battle against tuberculosis, she will head the county forces working together to help others to win.

Former Resident Dies in Deming

Mrs. J. C. Norwood, 57, died in Deming, N.M., of a heart attack, Sunday, Sept. 5.

The former Miss Reba Franklin, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Franklin, Mrs. Norwood grew up in Mitchell County was a graduate of Colorado High School, and a former teacher in the Conway Community.

Survivors, in addition to her husband and daughters, include an uncle, C. E. Franklin, and two aunts, Mrs. John Loveless and Mrs. Cleo Shurtliff, of Colorado City.
