WPA WRITERS UNCOVER THE STRANGE LEGEND OF THE LAZIEST PERSON IN ALL ALABAMA

(By The Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 18.—Alabama's "laziest" person, legendary Nick Weldon, was too no account to eat.

The story of his inert existence was uncovered by WPA writers, conducting a research in the state on laziness.

Nick got the "hang" of having others feed him as a baby and he never was inclined to tackle self-feeding.

Nick's parents fed him until he grew to be quite a boy, but they died and Nick was adopted by humanitarian neighbors who fed Nick for years and years.

Finally their patience became exhausted. They sentenced Nick to starvation in the community boneyard.

Nick heard his doom without so much as a grunt and three men loaded him in a wagon.

En route to the boneyard a stranger was encountered.

"Whass the matter with that man?" he asked.

Nick's lazy life was related.

"He's a onery whelp, I reckon," said the stranger, "but jes the same I ain't one to sit by and let a mortal die if I kin help it. I got some corn I'll give so's he can live a little longer."

Nick, without so much as turning his head, inquired in a scarcely audible whimper:

"Be the corn shelled?"

"Naw," replied the stranger. "But the four of us can let in and—"

"Drive on to the boneyard," said Nick.

Fears Are Revived By Rising Streams

MANY STREAMS RENEW THEIR CLIMB TO FLOOD STAGE

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 — Turbulent rivers overburdened by winter rains cut deeply into levees today to revive fears of widespread floods in parts of the middle west.

Hundreds of men patched weakened sea walls in Missouri and Arkansas where flood conditions were acute. Many streams which broke their banks and inundated thousands of acres in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois last week renewed a climb toward flood stages.

Charles L. Blanton, WPA supervisor, termed conditions critical in southeastern Missouri. Fresh "shock troops" joined an army of 1,500 workers, most of them WPA employes, in an effort to stem the raging St. Francis river's assault on levees.

Waters rose to within six inches of the 1935 high water mark and exceeded that of 1927. Relief agencies sheltered more than 250 families.

In northeastern Arkansas the White river rose to a 30-foot stage.

MAHON OFFERS BILL TODAY

PROPOSAL ON FEDERAL LOANS INTRODUCED IN CONGRESS

(Special To The Journal)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—Congressman George Mahon of the 19th Texas congressional district, today introduced a bill in congress providing for reamortization of certain federal land bank commissioner loans.

The bill provides that such loans shall be reamortized, giving borrowers from 20 to 35 years to pay them. This is the same length of time as is given the regular federal land bank loans.

Payments Increase

Since 1933, the land bank commissioner has been permitted to make loans under a plan whereby the borrower pays interest for the first three years only. After that time payments increase and the loan is to be liquidated in 10 years. These loans now amount to over $800,000,000.

Mr. Mahon said he believed the average holders of such loans find it impossible to meet these demands at this time. During the months he spent in his district, he contacted many farmers who explained their positions to him.

Many In Texas

In his district, Mr. Mahon said, there are about 5,200 such loans, amounting to $8,700,000, while Texas, as a whole, has [illegible] loans.

There are outstanding in the United States, 639,972 federal land

ANOTHER HURT IN ACCIDENT AT BRIDGE

CAR IS WRECKED AS IT PLUNGES INTO CONCRETE RAIL

(By The Associated Press)

CORSICANA, Jan. 18. — Two persons were killed and another suffered both legs broken and other injuries when their car plunged into the end of the Chambers creek bridge on highway 31, six miles east of Corsicana, early this morning.

The dead:

Edna Slagle, about 21, Athens.

Ernest Douthet, about 28, auto salesman, Palestine.

Another Badly Injured

Elbert Slagle, Athens, brother of the girl who was killed, suffered both legs broken and other injuries. He is in a local hospital. Norman Neal, Palestine, the other occupant of the car, escaped without injury.

Highway officers said the fog in the creek bottom caused the driver, Douthet, to lose control when the wheels of his car ran off the pavement and sank into the soft shoulders just before reaching the bridge, the car crashing into the concrete railing. The two bodies are at a local morgue.

These were the first traffic deaths for Navarro county in 1937.

Then he seemed to remember something.

"Yes," he grinned, "I positively will be in town."

He will be inaugurated for a second term at high noon.

An eight-weeks' term of county court convened this morning, the first term this year, said J. J. Dillard, judge. The appearance docket has been called for 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

By a state law they now originate in the county court.

Work On Highway Is Started Today

A force of about 160 Works Progress administration laborers began work today on the laying of a caliche base on the strip of highway 24 from Lubbock's west city limits to the Hockley county line.

The present work is being sponsored by the highway department.

HEAVY DAMAGE IS REPORTED IN BATTLE

BITTER FIGHT STAGED FOR NINE HOURS IN CANADIAN PRISON

(By The Associated Press)

GUELPH, Ont., Jan. 18—(Canadian Press) — Police combed the countryside today for prisoners who broke from the Ontario reformatory during a riot in which inmates fired the prison and fought guards for nine hours.

C. F. Neelands, deputy provincial secretary, said a first check-up identified 36 known to be missing. An estimated 100 fled before police reinforcements quelled the rioting among the 779 convicts shortly before midnight.

Heavy Damage Noted

At least three men were injured and $200,000 damage resulted. The riot broke out suddenly at noon and lasted until a tear gas bomb scattered rioters who were demolishing the prison recreation room long after nightfall. Fifteen prisoners were overcome by smoke.

Inmates touched flares to everything that would burn. They ruined the dormitories, the chapel and the hospital from which 12 patients had to be moved to safety.

What furniture was not piled up for kindling was broken into bludgeons with which infuriated bands roved in wrecking forays.

Insurrection flared when 25 men complaining against the quantity and quality of prison food and

KIDNAPER MAY FACE DEATH

SUPREME PENALTY FOR KIDNAPERS IN TEXAS IS BEING ASKED

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 18—Rep. E. F. Harrell of Paris, a former warden of the Texas penitentiary, introduced a bill today to make the death penalty mandatory for persons who kidnap a child under 15 years old for ransom purposes.

Under the existing law, the maximum penalty for kidnaping is death and the minimum five years' imprisonment.

Refused To Pull Switch

"I am not strong for the death penalty," Harrell said, "and as warden I refused to pull the switch at electrocutions, but there is no reason why the extreme penalty should not be assessed against perpetrators of horrible child kidnapings like that of little Charles Mattson."

Thirteen other house members signed Harrell's bill.

Mike McTigue Hurt In Attack By Men

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Michael Francis (Mike) McTigue, who ruled the world's light heavyweight boxing ranks from 1923 to 1925, was recovering today from a beating at the hands of two or more men who attacked him on an elevated train.

In his time McTigue went through some 360 fights with few facial scars to show for them. When he went to a doctor yesterday, he had severe lacerations about the eyes and mouth and was suffering from a dangerous blow on the head.

Rabies Infection Is Fatal To Child

EDGEWOOD, Tex., Jan. 18 (AP) — Rabies contracted from his pet dog claimed the life of Roman Sloan, jr., 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Sloan.

The child's pet bit him on the cheek. Physicians doubled the rabies treatments, but said lacerations were too near the brain to allow flow of the poison to be interrupted.

Local Officers Are Busy Over Weekend

VARIETY OF LAW VIOLATIONS ARE REPORTED; THEFT AND DRUNK CASES ARE IN MAJORITY

Weekend investigations of officers ranged from the customary drunkenness cases to chicken theft.

Three Lubbock negroes were arrested Sunday by Deputies Sheriff Cap Moore and Parum Posey in connection with an investigation of theft of sausage and chickens.

Lubbock Youth Held

Police held an 18-year-old Lubbock man who was said to have been drunk when his automobile collided Sunday with an automobile operated by a negro in southeast Lubbock.

Theft of two quilts from a residence at 1611 Avenue B was reported to police, who also were informed that silverware valued at $40 had been taken from 702-B Avenue O.

Two overcoats, valued at about $60 each, were stolen from an automobile parked on South Avenue H, said John W. Harris, an automobile salesman.

Run-Away Boys Reported

Two 15-year-old run-away boys, Elbert Mann and R. G. Benton, both of Sudan, were reported to officers. The youths last were reported seen in Littlefield at 2 p. m. Thursday, police were informed.

A 22-year-old Lubbock man with a record in petty thieving wore a pair of stolen shoes into the police station Sunday night and was arrested. The man went to the station to see a 19-year-old friend who was "laying out" a $50 fine for drunkenness.

George Martin, a drug store employe who earlier in the night had reported theft of the shoes, identified shoes worn by the suspect as the ones which had been stolen.

Charged with armed robbery of the Smith Drug store at Shallowater, Charley Handley and Lonnie Rouse waived examining trial before Justice of the Peace Walter Davies Monday morning. Bond of each was set at $2,500. The complaints had been signed by Deputy Sheriff Bedford F. Carpenter.

Six persons were jailed by police for drunkenness Saturday and Sunday. Two were fined $15 each. The other fines were $25, $50, and $100. No disposition had been recorded in the sixth case.

A 16-year-old negro, who pre-

RECORD CROWD IS EXPECTED

THOUSANDS TO THRONG WASHINGTON TO SEE FDR'S INAUGURAL

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Inauguration officials, their preparations complete, predicted today a record crowd of 250,000 would cheer President Roosevelt Wednesday at the start of his second administration.

While he worked unconcernedly at his desk, expectations of an historic inaugural address set the already teeming capital atingle.

Hints Are Heard

Administration leaders hinted there was more than met the eye in selection of "The Hermitage," Andrew Jackson's Tennessee home, as a model for the reviewing stand in front of the White House.

Some believed the president would call his reelection majority in effect a victory for principles transcending party lines, such as did "Old Hickory" when diverse elements in 1829 were brought together in the present Democratic party.

"The program will be one of 'Jacksonian simplicity,'" said Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the inaugural committee.

City Is Dressed Up

With downtown Washington dressed up in flags and bunting and every hotel booked to capacity, the city looked to the weather bureau for assurances of a good day.

The forecast was for light rain.

Reward Is Offered For Texas Killers

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 18 (AP)—A week-end of tireless effort by local peace officers, during which 90 persons were arrested for questioning, had left police without a clue to the identity of two bandit-killers who shot A. A. (Bill) Edwards, 32-year-old motorcycle policeman, to death Saturday night.

Meanwhile business men had started making up a reward which would be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayers. Mayor C. K. Quin announced the city was also offering a $250 reward.

TO CALL CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Senator Minton (D-Ind) said after a White House conference today that President Roosevelt would hold a conference soon on possible legislation dealing with the Supreme court.

SLEUTHS KNOW IDENTITY OF MURDERER

SEARCH SHIFTS TODAY AND G-MEN GATHER IN CALIFORNIA

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18. —The long expected 'break' in the search for the swarthy kidnaper of 10-year old Charles Mattson was believed near today as federal agents concentrated in southern California.

An authoritative source said the identity of the kidnaper-slayer was known to federal agents by comparison of fingerprints found at Tacoma, Wash.

No Comment To Make

The same source said Harold Nathan, in charge of the search at Tacoma, arrived here yesterday afternoon by airplane from Portland, Ore., where he boarded the plane after quietly leaving Tacoma by train. A man registered as "H. Nathan" at a Los Angeles hotel declared he had no comment to make.

Two men were held for questioning. One, Joseph Mitchell, 35, a vagrant, was in the Culver City jail after refusing to answer certain questions. He was found carrying a canvas knapsack in which was a boy's sweater and several newspapers detailing the kidnap-slaying.

Another Is Seized

Another man was reported to have been seized by federal agents and subjected to questioning in a jail of a suburban community. He was taken in custody at Compton.

Identification of the suspected kidnaper-slayer, the authoritative source said, establishes him as an ex-convict paroled from prison, who recently was in the Pacific northwest and who returned to southern California several days ago.

AGREEMENT ON DEBT SOUGHT

SETTLEMENT BY GREAT BRITAIN BELIEVED TO BE NEAR

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—With war debts entwined in the broader question of trade and international monetary stabilization, it is believed in well-informed circles the British government is prepared to make a settlement on its debt to the United States.

This belief, prevalent for some weeks, has gained strength with the visit of two British officials, Walter Runciman, president of the British board of trade, and Sir Otto Niemeyer, director and financial expert of the Bank of England. Runciman will arrive tomorrow on the liner Caledonia. Sir Otto is en route.

France Would Follow

It was further believed likely that, if a settlement is made by England, France would quickly follow.

As payment dates have passed with default after default—the British debt is now $786,000,000 in arrears, with accrued interest—the question has become not only one of debt settlement, but also is related to monetary stabilization, together with the possibility of a reciprocal

PEACE PARLEY IN STRIKE IS CALLED OFF; MEN STILL OCCUPY TWO PLANTS

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Jan. 18 — Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, announced today, after a brief meeting with high General Motors officials, that "the conference is off."

Martin made his statement as he and five associates left the conference room in the General Motors building where negotiations to end widespread strikes were to have opened at 11 a. m.

The General Motors executives designated as conferees in the negotiations, headed by William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president, were in the room only five minutes. Knudsen and his associates, John Thomas Smith, general counsel, and Donaldson Brown, chairman of the finance committee, refused to comment when they emerged from the room.

Martin's terse statement indicated General Motors had refused to open negotiations because strikers continued to oc-

CACTUS JACK TO WEAR FANCY PANTS AS A CONCESSION TO INAUGURATION

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Vice-President Garner anchored himself today a safe distance from the inauguration's social activities.

"You can say for me," declared the plain spoken Texan, "that I have no social plans and won't have any. I'm going to bed at 9 o'clock this week, as usual."

His habitual cigar rakishly askew, he said his only concession to the inauguration would be in the sartorial line.

"Oh, yes," he said, "I'll have to wear those fancy pants and one of those coats. There's no way out of that, I suppose. The occasion demands them."

At the mention by a visitor of an inaugural ball, the vice-president—who has an avowed dislike for such functions—started.

"They're not having a ball, are they?"

Assured the ball had been abandoned because it would come too close to the president's,

Balance Your Dinner With Salad

SALADS FOR SAVOR

Sliced grapes and oranges on crisp lettuce leaves make an appetizing salad. Home-made mayonnaise will add the finishing touch.

A crisp, delectable salad is frequently the difference between a tasteful meal and one that is not particularly appealing. It also provides a dietary balance in menus which might otherwise have too great meat and starch content.

Two things may ruin a salad. The first is too much or too little dressing.

A salad should be served on crisp lettuce with just enough dressing to blend well with its ingredients. Improper mixing or excess dressing produces a wateriness which is far from attractive.

Greens To Be Used

The other thing which will spoil a salad is to cut its ingredients up too fine. Mincing causes many fruits and vegetables to lose their identity and become mushy. Rather than to have the portions which go into salads too small it is better to have them too large.

Among the greens which may be used in salads are lettuce, tender celery stalks, red or white cabbage, watercress, chicory and endive. Many of them may be served alone with any number of different kinds of dressing. Or they may be combined with or used as a garnish for fish, meat, vegetable or fruit salads.

Preparing Lettuce

Cabbage and lettuce are especially easy to keep crisp. Either should be washed well and placed, while dripping, in a covered container to be chilled for several hours. The cover keeps the moisture in.

The easiest way to separate the leaves of a head of lettuce is to remove the core and place the lettuce with the hole left by the removal of the core right side up, under the cold water faucet. In a minute or so the leaves will separate and may be used as cups to hold the salad.

Gelatin salads especially are a boon to the housewife who likes to provide variety in her menus. Since they may be made several hours before being served they are particularly suitable for the home where the hostess herself does all of the work in preparing the meal.

Add Real Fruit Juices

In making fruit gelatin salads it is a good idea to add a little real fruit juice to the gelatin liquid. A better flavor will result than when water alone is used. In fish, fowl or other meat gelatin salads chicken broth or bouillon cubes dissolved in boiling water will also give added flavor.

Fruit for salads which are not to be jelled should be chilled, well drained and then arranged on the salad greens. The dressing should be added just before the salad is served. A small amount of dressing may also be mixed in meat salads before they are chilled in order to season the mixture.)

Plans Underway To Make Ball Success

Those in charge of the local annual President Roosevelt's birthday ball are still undecided as to whether one or two dances will be given in Lubbock on the night of January 30. W. O. Daniels, chairman of the arrangements committee, said this morning that "should the interest in the occasion increase within the next few days, as it has the past week, and should public reaction so indicate that two dances are necessary, we have the place and we have the orchestra."

One dance has been decided definitely. This will be at Sled Allen's Auditorium with music by Duane Fuqua's orchestra.

The general committee has found that some want one big celebration; some want two or three dances. One member of the committee said that "we could have three or four dances and still make it a happy occasion. The tickets would be good at any place where a celebration was being held."

The seventy per cent of the proceeds that would be kept in Lubbock will be turned over to the Lubbock Crippled Children's council. This council is composed of business men of Lubbock and is set up as a permanent organization with plans to perpetuate itself.

It has the cooperation of all of the clinics in Lubbock and neighboring towns.

Banquet At Slaton Is Being Postponed

SLATON, Jan. 18.—(Special)—Because of conflicting banquets, the annual Slaton Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development banquet, set for January 26, has been postponed, it was announced here.

It will be held some time in February, the date to be announced later.

WASHING PORCELAIN STOVES

Always allow a porcelain-topped stove to cool before washing it. If washed while it is warm the porcelain is apt to crack. Use a mild soap, warm water and a soft cloth. With a little rubbing the stove will be easily cleaned.

Goes Right In After That Itch

The right amount of the right kind of medication in Blue Star Ointment eases itching quick. Relieves the itching of eczema, rash, tetter, and ringworm. Your money back if first jar does not satisfy. (Adv.)

Simple Home Treatment For Varicose Veins

Swollen veins may become dangerous and sometimes break. Sufferers are advised to get an original bottle of Emerald Oil at Mark Haley Drug or any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once. A small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush or the finger tips as directed until the swelling is reduced.

So effective is Emerald Oil that it is highly useful in reducing troublesome simple swellings due to strain and hastens their disappearance. Adv.

NEW 1937 RINSO GIVES 25 TO 50% MORE SUDS
—declare women everywhere

This is the test that showed women the New 1937 Rinso gives 25 to 50% more suds

Here's how women made the test. They shook for the same length of time equal quantities of the New and old Rinso in containers each ⅓ full of water. Then they measured the amount of suds. How thrilled they were with the greater amount of suds!

And the New Rinso suds soak clothes at least 5 shades whiter than ordinary soaps

IF YOU are one of the millions who have been using Rinso—you're in for a great surprise! For the famous soap that has been the favorite of housewives for many years is now better than ever! By actual test, the New 1937 Rinso gives heaps more suds that last much longer—even in hardest water. Women who have already tried the New Rinso declare that it gives 25 to 50% more suds. And then, when they washed their clothes with it, happily said the New Rinso gets white things at least 5 shades whiter than ordinary soaps, yet keeps colors bright.

Rinso is recommended by the makers of 33 famous washers. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Grand for dishes and all cleaning. Easy as ever on hands. Try it!

SPORTOGRAPHER

by COLLIER PARRIS

I UNDERSTAND (offers Elmer the Eel, who is constantly slipping past our second secretary and into the privacy of the office, when he isn't slipping into the nickel bleachers) that some of the young men hereabouts may perchance retire to the arms of Morpheus at an indecently early hour tonight, and again tomorrow night.

Yes, Elmer. This potential extra - curricula slumber - for biggest may start a few minutes after eight o'clock, occasioned by the more or less scheduled Golden Gloves bouts due to take place at the Texas Tech gymnasium. But you'll have to be there to know who is to deliver the sleep potions to whom. For the life of Jim Braddock, I couldn't name for you the pairings, although a tentative lineup was to have been announced last night.

Elmer: Seems to me, Oscar (Elmer calls us Oscar on Mondays and Wednesdays) that you are forever having trouble with your local boxing dope. Don't you like boxing? or what's the matter?

Oscar: Merely a matter of cooperation and organization, or lack of it, Elmer. I like boxing fine, and I would go for it in a large way, as a fan and as a reporter and commentator, if the game had a leader here who knew the difference between a right cross and a three-stroke handicap—a leader, an organizer, a promoter who could get the job done. But in the six and a half years I've been here, we've had no one who could deliver the goods, for any length of time.

Elmer: Yeah, professional boxing is the nerts, almost any way you take it—and you can have it. Steady, well-qualified boxing promoters are hard to find, I reckon, because their predecessors generally have made such a mess of things. Anyway, amateur boxing is the best. This Golden Gloves outfit ought to provide some pretty fair scrape.

Oscar: You're right about that, Elmer, but even that lacks proper organization and leadership, here at least. The guys who fool with it usually have other jobs, or other things to do, and can't, or don't, spend enough time with it.

Elmer: Yeah, the T. A. A. F. was a pretty pitiful flop, and it should have been something big. So should this G. G., but if you don't know who's gonna fight who, where's your interest? No doubt, there are some fair boxers among the kids around here. Maybe some real stars among them, which reminds me of a couple of cartoons I saw 'tother day, showing, as I see it, the real difference between amateur boxing and the average grade of so-called professional fighting. Boxers, the pros at least, don't put their hearts into their work any more. They're there for the money they can pick up, not as leaders of the game, as entertainers or because they really love it. But these kids, in colleges and high schools, really can throw the leather. They give the folks their money's worth.

Oscar: Best boxing we've had here in years has been on the "fight nights" and in intercollegiate matches at Tech, and the biggest thing in favor of the bouts tonight and tomorrow night is that they're sort of under the sponsorship of the Tech athletic department. Don't believe they'd take it if they knew it'd be another dud.

Elmer: Not that I have any designs on muscling in on the local fight racket, but just what, in your opinion, constitutes the right kind of a promoter? Should he be an ex-prize fighter, trainer or manager?

Oscar: Not necessarily, perhaps not at all. The job calls for, in the first place, an all right guy—a guy with character, intelligence, common sense and a sense of humor. He should be a guy who can make friends and hold them by honest dealings. He should have courage and ambition, and he should be a smart business man.

Elmer: Yeah, but if I had them, I could be president, or something.

Oscar: But you couldn't be a ring promoter if you didn't know how to get along with your particular type of subjects, if you couldn't make them toe the mark, do their best, keep in shape. A promoter also should be a showman, but he should deal squarely with his patrons, always try to give them the goods. He should not be ready to give up if a show flops, but, like a sports writer, come back with enough alibis to fill a gymnasium, and more shows to prove he was right. He should obtain the best talent available, and always be on the lookout for more. He should—

Elmer: Sounds like you're talking about Sied Allen. But he never wrestled any, did he?

Oscar: Nope, and he never was around any wrestlers, except maybe Cal Farley, until he started promoting here. But he's got the other qualifications, and that's why for more than three years he hasn't skipped a beat, and has weekly attracted to his place of business more people per annum than any other sporting proposition around here.

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN FOR DICKMAN WITH THE RED SOX

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Tip: Keep your eye on a lad tagged Emerson Dickman, who gets a pitching tryout with the Red Sox this spring. . . . He showed in only nine games for Rocky Mount last year and came up with five wins, no setbacks and a very neat 1.86 earned run average. . . . Tonight's the night they eat beefsteak at the Garden in memory of Joe Humphreys. . . . And his "quiet, pleez. In this cornah, winner and still champeen." . . . Jimmy (remember him?) Walker does the officiating honors.

Don't look now, but is the U. S. L. T. A.'s collective face red? . . . Imagine an upstart like Bitsy Grant doing all those things to Mr. Don Budge in two straight tournaments. . . . And just after the tennis bigwigs had made Budge the country's number one player and little Bitsy only third. . . . Joe Louis is now 10 to 1 to make it a very nasty evening for Bob Pastor on the 29th. . . . Remember Schmeling.

Remaking history: One of the Cincinnati Times star scribes lets us in on a new angle of the Dizzy Dean-Spud Davis duello of a year ago. . . . Remember, Ole Diz said Davis wasn't such-a-much as a catcher. . . . And that if the Cards wanted Diz to pitch, they'd have to get somebody else on the receiving end. . . . A few days later the Cards said the great one and Spud kissed and made up in a love feast (accompanied by soft music). . . . The latest dope, however, is that the love scene went something like this, with Davis doing the word-making: Listen here, my fine-feathered friend, I'm a team player and I'm always thinking of the team rather than my personal glory. But if you say anything like that again, the battery is going to be reversed. I'll do the pitching and you'll do the catching, and it won't be baseballs.

Could Glen Harmeson, who had a swell year at Lehigh, be persuaded to take either the Iowa or Texas grid coaching jobs? . . . Add Al Schacht's nominations: For the finest throwing arm he's ever seen—Joe DiMaggio. . . . Says Al: "While I was coaching last year I was afraid to signal a runner from first to third when Joe fielded a ball. . . . His throws from right to third are like the Canadian Mounties. They always get their man."

Patty Berg Grabs Off Women's Title

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 18 (AP)—Patty Berg held the Augusta women titleholders golf championship today with a 54-hole score of 210.

The Minneapolis girl turned in a final round of 73, six under par, to finish three strokes ahead of Dorothy Kirby, of Atlanta. Miss Berg's brilliant last round was one under men's par for the hill course of the Augusta country club.

Miss Helen Hicks, of Woodmere, L. I., was third with 244; Miss Jane Cothran, of Greenville, S. C., fourth with 249; and Kathryn Hemphill, of Columbia, S. C., fifth with 251.

Szabo of Hungary recently made a new world record for 2,000 meters, being clocked in 5:20.4.

Indians And Browns Swap Three Players

BIGGEST BASEBALL DEAL OF THE HOT STOVE LEAGUE SEASON IS MADE PUBLIC TODAY

CLEVELAND, Jan. 18 (AP)—The biggest baseball deal of the hot stove league season sent three of the Cleveland Indians' regulars to the St. Louis Browns today for a like number of Manager Rogers Hornsby's first stringers.

Left Fielder Joe Vosmik, Shortstop Bill Knickerbocker and Pitcher Oral Hildebrand were shipped along after several months of negotiations in a straight trade for Julius Solters, Lyn Lary and Ivy Paul Andrews, who hold down similar positions.

Baseball men immediately wondered whether Vosmik, who fell from .347 to a meager .287 at bat last season, would remain long at St. Louis.

The gold plated Boston Red Sox have been after the erstwhile Cleveland sandlotter since the season closed and were expected to renew their efforts to obtain the 26-year-old ace, who lost the 1935 American league batting championship to Buddy Myer of Washington by less than a point.

Although he batted but .291 last season, Solters was fourth in the runs-batted-in column with 134.

Tops The League

Lary topped the league in stolen bases last year with 37. He hit .289 and fielded .956 compared with Knickerbocker's .294 and .952.

Neither Andrews nor Hildebrand was a shining light on the mound last season. The temperamental Tribesman won 10 and lost 11 to Andrews' seven and 12, but his earned run average was 4.89 compared to the 4.85 of Andrews, also a right hander.

Climbs High

Practically unranked in men's tennis in 1935, 20-year-old Robert Riggs of California was raised to No. 4 ranking in the recent U. S. Lawn Tennis association's ratings, and is a strong Davis Cup possibility. Ellsworth Vines, great pro netter, says the young fellow is the best singles player outside of Don Budge, No. 1 man in the country.

ACE STARS OF TRACK NAMED

MEMBERS OF THE U. S. TEAM DOMINATING ALL-STAR SQUAD

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (AP)—Headed by Jesse Owens, members of the United States Olympic team dominate the 1936 All-America track and field team selected by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Owens, whose record-smashing performances and three Olympic victories made him the year's outstanding performer, was named for four events. Owens now is a professional.

Ferris, who selects the All-America, all college and all-scholastic teams annually for Spalding's athletic almanac, named the Cleveland negro as America's best in the 100 and 200 meters dashes, the 200 meters hurdles and broad jump.

Only Two Equal Him

Only two other athletes, Loren Murchison in 1923 and Willie Ritola in 1927, ever have been picked for four All-America places.

Don Lash, another Olympic star, gave Owens a run for top honors. The Indiana distance star was placed on the All-America team in the 5,000 and 10,000 meters and cross country runs and in two events on the all-college squad.

Glenn Cunningham, the famous Kansas, was chosen for the 1,500 meters run despite several defeats on the basis of his retaining his national A. A. U. title and smashing the world record in the Olympic 1,500 meter race, in which he finished second to New Zealand's Jack Lovelock.

SAM SNEAD IS TOO TOUGH FOR PROS

YOUNGSTER CLIPS TWO STROKES FROM PAR TO COP PRIZE

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 18 (AP)—Sam Snead of West Virginia pocketed $1,200 and the title of Oakland open golf champion and headed for greener fields along the winter golf tournament trail today.

The 24-year-old shotmaker, only three years in professional ranks, won his first major tournament here yesterday when he posted a 72-hole total of 270 to set a par-smashing pace for a formidable field.

Clips Two Strokes

His four rounds clipped two strokes off the par 68 Claremont course. He fired a 60 as the opener and followed with 65, 69 and 67.

Snead, born in Hot Springs, Virginia, and now pro at the Green Brier club at White Sulphur Springs in the neighboring state, learned his golf during an eight-year caddying stretch. Last year he won the West Virginia open and the state's P. G. A. championship.

Gudahl Is Second

Two strokes behind Snead, claiming $750 as the runner-up's share, was lanky Ralph Gudahl of Chicago, one of the prime favorites of the season as the result of victories in the recent Augusta and Miami opens.

Veteran John Revolta of Evanston, Ill., took third place with 274. Craig Wood, New York; Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa.; John Rogers, Denver, and John Perelli, Tahoe, Calif., were deadlocked at 275.

CARD BOSS IS ALL WORRIED

THREE-BASE HEADACHE TROUBLES FRANKIE; TEAM ALL SHOT

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. (AP)—Frankie Francis Frisch, foreman of the St. Louis Cardinals left today for the gas house district with a three-base headache.

For a guy whose team is perennially among the favorites in the National league, Foreman Frank has more trouble than a one-legged shortstop. Most of his pitchers are either too old, too young or crippled. The right side of his infield is transparent on defense.

Things Get Worse

From there on things get worse. The main trouble, though, is with his pitchers. He conceded he has probably the two best right-hand flingers in the league, Dizzy Dean and Lonnie Warneke, and another starter in Jim Winford. He also has ten prospects from top minor leagues coming to training camp but still he's worried.

"You can't tell about those youngsters yet," he said just before leaving. "If we get two major league pitchers out of the ten, I'll be satisfied."

The ten are Bill McGee and Mike Ryba, from Columbus, and St. Johnson from Toronto, all of whom were with the Cards late last season; Bob Weiland and Ray Harrell, Rochester; Morton Cooper, Columbus; Ira Smith and Herb Moore, Houston, and Nate Andrews and Johnny Chambers, Sacramento.

Pitched Good Ball

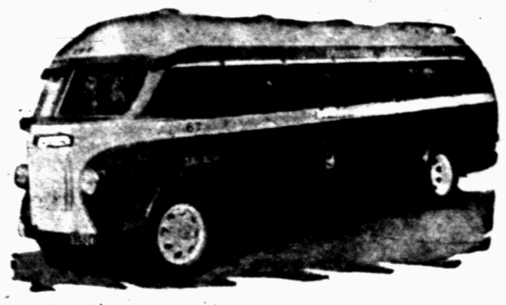

Johnson pitched some good ball to us at the end of last year and he may come through and be a starter," Frisch said. "Ryba and Jess Haines probably will be our relief pitchers."

The most promising candidate from the St. Louis farm system is Bob Weiland, who won 23 and lost 15 last season in Rochester, Frisch pointed out, however, that Weiland had been in the majors before and did not come through.

Professional Grid Game Is Improving

BETTER SEASON LOOMS FOR 1937; CLUBS GAINING GROUND

NOTE: This is another of a series of stories written for the Associated Press by outstanding sports leaders. They deal with 1936 developments and 1937 prospects.

BY JOE CARR

(President, National Professional Football League)

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 18 (AP)—Professional football attendance during the past year increased more than 20 per cent over the mark set the previous year, which we consider highly encouraging and even better than the increase noted in other sports.

The improvement in individual performances and the increased effectiveness of our rules, tending to encourage the offense, probably played a big part in this increase.

Teams Gain Ground

There was not a single individual performances and the increased effectiveness of our rules, tending to encourage the offense, probably played a big part in this increase.

Two new records were established, by Arnold Herber and Don Hutson, both of Green Bay. Herber set a new forward passing mark of 77 completed passes for 1,239 yards. Hutson, in catching 36 passes, also set a new high mark in that specialty.

It was a year in which many new players came into the league and made good, especially in the case of Tuffy Leemans of the New York Giants who led the league in his first season by gaining 830 yards. The stars of the past were not totally eclipsed by any means, since Dutch Clark of Detroit again led the scorers.

Packers Win Title

The Green Bay Packers won the Ed Throp memorial trophy and the league championship by defeating Boston, winners of the eastern title, in the playoff game held in New York.

Along with the improvement in competition and attendance, the league teams, as a whole, fared better financially with the same nine teams finishing as started the season and no changes for the third successive year.

We look forward to one of our best seasons in 1937, for most of the clubs in the circuit are laying plans for further improvements in their personnel, and the caliber of play should be improved.

Forward passing, from any point behind the line of scrimmage, running with a fumble ball, and putting the goal posts on the goal line have opened up our game, and, to a great extent, done away with tie games. There have been but three in the past two seasons of league play under these rule changes.

Lewis Easier

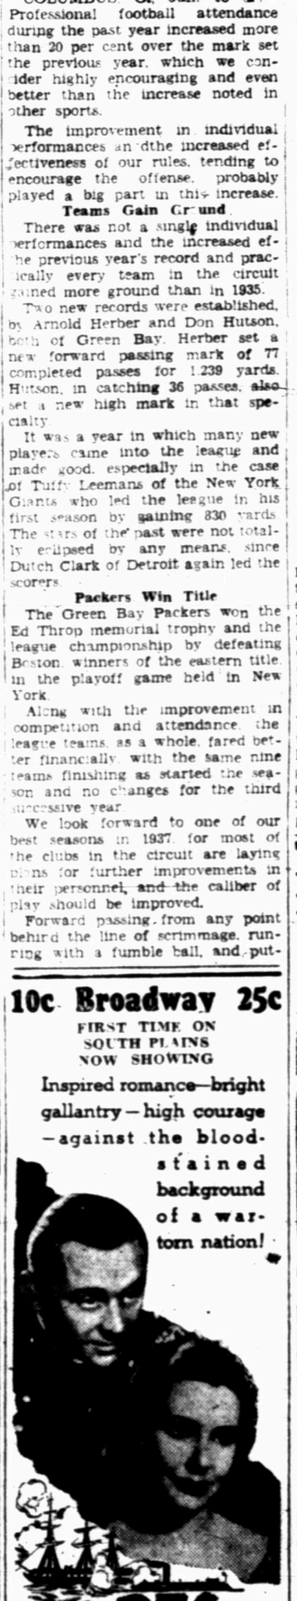

Knocked out by Joe Louis, Al Ettore nevertheless effectively squelched colored John Henry Lewis' claim to a bout with the dusky Detroit flash when he won a decision in a furious fight at Philadelphia. Here is a glimpse of the close-in slugfest that brought Ettore victory.

AMATEURS ARE PAIRED HERE FOR HONORS

STATE TOURNEY WILL BE IN FORT WORTH IN FEBRUARY

The ring has been set up in the middle of the Texas Tech gymnasium floor, the ringside chairs arranged and numbered, and the "bleachers" swept. It's the setting for preliminary matches in the Lubbock district tournament of the national Golden Gloves boxing setup.

From 20 to 35 young amateur boxers are expected to show up tonight for the first session of the two-day eliminations. Starting time is scheduled at 8 o'clock. At least eight bouts are billed for tonight.

The bouts will be three-rounds, more or less, each. A round will last two minutes, or less. Knockouts and decisions will determine finalists who shall appear Tuesday night to determine champions in each weight division.

Winners here are to compete in the state tournament next month at Fort Worth. The national tournament at Chicago is the next and final step.

Milton Coffey and James May, for two years associated with ring sports at Texas Tech, are directors of the tournament. Bo Sexton is to referee all bouts. Judges, in addition to Sexton, are Sam Rosenthal and Berl Huffman.

Weighing in of boxers was conducted yesterday afternoon at the Tech gymnasium, but definite announcements of pairings for tonight were withheld.

Admission will be 55 cents, ringside, 25 cents for general admission. Only one match had been definitely booked, a heavyweight bout between Babe Ritchie, Lubbock High school giant who won the Texas amateur championship last summer, and Red Ramsey, Texas Tech football player.

Grant Again Puts The Bee On Budge

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP)—Bryan (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta retained his Dixie tennis championship today by virtue of victories over the first and second ranked players of the nation.

He toppled top-ranked Donald Budge of Oakland, Calif., 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-2, in yesterday's singles finals.

Grant, placed in the No. 3 spot by the United States Lawn Tennis association, won his way to the finals by defeating No. 2 Frankie Parker of Lawrenceville, N. J.

IN Thursday's Journal The Plainsman had some comment regarding the new out-in-the-open fight being conducted against the spread and for the cure of social diseases by newspapers, magazines and more lately by the United States Public Health service under the direction of its chief, Dr. Thomas Parran, jr., surgeon-general, with the sympathetic approval of President Franklin Roosevelt.

In connection with the discussion this column set out that it was being planned to present a series of signed articles on the subject by widely known Lubbock physicians and asked for comments from the public. While The Plainsman has no doubt that many persons still labor under the delusion that such a discussion is wrong and that we should continue to hide our heads in the sand and croak that important public problem with mock modesty and mystery, not a single person heard from had anything but approbation for the idea. Many phone calls and a number of personal visits came from citizens in numerous walks of life—one was a well known Lubbock pastor—and every expression favored a common sense presentation of facts on the editorial page of The Sunday Avalanche-Journal.

That certainly indicates that the majority of thinking people of Lubbock and environs are like other thinking people the nation over and it shows that the country has at last decided to take a sensible view of the question.

Either next Sunday or at the latest the Sunday after that, The Avalanche-Journal will present first of a series of articles on the social diseases.

They will be written by Dr. Julius T. Krueger of Lubbock sanitarium; Dr. Sam G. Dunn, of West Texas hospital, and Dr. J. W. Rollo, health officer for the City of Lubbock, each of whom agreed to serve upon receiving an invitation by the Editor of Avalanche-Journal publications.

These who know Doctors Krueger, Dunn and Rollo will immediately realize that there will be nothing sensational in the articles; that they will be written in an effort to educate the public along very essential lines and in no instance to make for a journalistic circus; and that these men, when requested to take a part in the project did so only in a desire to be of service to the public.

The Plainsman expects the articles to perform for Lubbock and South Plains readers one of the greatest services Avalanche-Journal papers can perform, which of course would not be possible without the generous cooperation of physicians.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: The unexpected return to London of Rex Moore, the airman supposedly lost in the Pacific, has exposed the desperate lie of Laurie Moore, told to save herself and her sister from a still more desperate situation. She has told her employer, Mark Albery, that she is Moore's widow; now she must keep up the deception so that Rex may hold his job. Albery has lent them a furnished flat until they can "settle themselves."

Chapter Ten

MONEY MATTERS

It was in this hard and controlled mood that Laurie prepared to meet Rex Moore.

But he was not there. On the breakfast table was a large bunch of daffodoils, with a card beside it.

"Good morning! Hope you slept well. I'm off for the day. Sorry dinner and show off tonight. Albery wants me. R. M."

His handwriting appealed to her. It was neat and firm. This greeting rather took the wind out of her sails. Her emotional side rose to answer it with a rush of disproportionate pleasure.

She was so easily touched and gratified. How nice of him! He could be something else than a boor. She remembered his last words of the night before—"If you're the girl I took you for, you'll play the game."

The day went by swiftly. She took possession of Miss Dixie's office near Mark Albery's private room. It was Saturday, and the chief only came in for an hour and dictated a few letters.

"Moore told you I sent him down to my place in the country?" he asked her. "I want his advice on something I'm just off there myself. I won't keep him longer than I can help. It's hard on you, Mrs. Moore, but you'll have to be patient. When we've got things going, you must have leave and go off together—on your second honeymoon."

His rare smile had its usual flashing charm, but it affected her strangely. She felt uncomfortable; that vague premonition of evil returned to her.

Rex came in while Laurie was out that night. She had gone to a movie. As she opened the door, she was aware of the tremendous energy of his presence in the flat.

"Have you had anything to eat?" she asked.

"Yes, thanks. The old body had left me a fine cold meal."

She did not tell him that she had sent Mrs. Budd home early, and prepared it herself and left it when she went out, in case he should come in.

He was in some way transformed. When he told her that he had been up in the air in a new machine from Albery's private aerodrome, she understood. That was his life.

"Thank you for the flowers," she said, and then added nervously: "I'm sorry I made a fool of myself last night."

"And I'm sorry I said that to you about Albery," he replied. "It was mean and silly."

"You're right about us," she went on, and gave him a frank smile. "It is a joke, and we must treat it like one."

"Good. We shall manage fine. I'm sure I won't interfere with your life. I know you hate me."

"And you despise me!" she put in quickly.

"That's where you're wrong. I do nothing of the kind. You're being a sport about this. It's a bargain. Then. Will you shake on it, Laurie? We look on the funny side."

"We look on the funny side, Rex," she repeated, giving him her hand.

But it was not such plain sailing as all that.

During the next fortnight, which flashed by, there were many difficulties in this unnatural household.

They were constantly at loggerheads over some question.

Money had been the first one. Laurie insisted on paying her way. Rex objected. He had brought her there, he said. The flat cost h'm nothing. Albery said they were to stay in it until they found somebridgeshire. Then she breathed freely.

Laurie was adamant, and he gave way. She put it on a business basis. He understood nothing about housekeeping. She would board him for so much a week, and he could pay Mrs. Budd's wages. This was a concession to his masculine pride.

She was astonished at what she thought was his meanness. He wanted to spend nothing on himse'f, and as little as possible on anybody else. When, on two occasions, he asked some men to dinner, he told her to be as economical as possible.

It did not seem to go with the rest of him. And he so often talked of money, of making as much money as he could, as quickly as he could. When he wanted to be specially amiable to her he told her that she was helping him to do it.

She did not ask any of her friends to visit her. When he spoke about it, she said she had very few; she wasn't one for making friends easily.

He was in one of his rough moods, and remarked curtly:

"I suppose not. They ask too many questions."

He would say such things, with what she took to be the deliberate desire to hurt her. She hardened herself, but she was sens'tive to excess. And she told herse'f that she hated him more every day.

He was away for several days on end at the Albery factories in Cam-

She could not get accustomed to him when he was in the flat. His very presence was overwhelming. She was aware of it all the time. She lay awake in her room, while he was sleeping peacefully in his.

It was the sense of strangeness that got on her nerves. She was not used to men. And Rex Moore was certainly a big personality to be boxed up with such artificial intimacy.

By the end of the fortnight, Laurie, who was always pale, looked quite washed out, and there were haggard lines of fatigue round her eyes.

Which Mark Albery, at the office, did not fail to notice, and which convinced him that Rex Moore had no use for his wife and was making her unhappy.

Rex Moore was alone in the flat one afternoon, studying maps, with a row of books open around him on the dining-room table.

It was about five o'clock. Mrs. Budd had put his tea on a side table, and gone back to the kitchen, with an admiring glance at his broad shoulders and fine head and untidy dark hair.

She was a philosopher, and had given up worrying herself about this peculiar menage—the mistress out at work all day, the master away for days at a time. And the two of them laughing and joking and talking nineteen to the dozen, but not a bit like man and wife.

She had overheard them quarreling, true, but never making love, as she told her invalid husband, whom she supported, "never kissing or cuddling, nor nothing of the kind!" She knew they had been separated for two years. She could only suppose it took them a bit of time to get used to each other again. Come to think of it, there must be something queer about a dead husband come to life.

The door bell rang.

Rex lifted his head, frowning. He did not want to be disturbed. He hoped it wasn't that man come to take his photograph—"Rex Moore, the famous airman, in his Chelsea flat, planning his next sensational flight." Damn! Albery had advised him to submit to a mild publicity campaign, and he had consented because of the money. Curse money! How he loathed it!

Mrs. Budd came into the room.

"A lady to see you, sir," she announced. "I said I'd see if you was disengaged."

Rex sprang to his feet.

"A lady? It must be for Mrs. Moore."

"No, sir, the lady particularly asked to see you. I showed her into the drawing-room."

He shook his impatient shoulders. A woman to see him? He didn't know a single woman in England. It must be some female reporter from one of the papers.

He went into the sitting room.

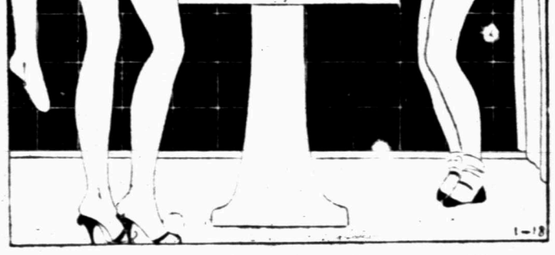

"Rex! My dear—my dear, how wonderful!" said a woman's voice, a rather high-pitched voice with a drawl in it.

It was not a reporter who came towards him, with large glowing dark eyes and a smile of uncontrolled joy on eager, brightly-painted lips. It was the only woman who had ever come into his life, except for little dead Belle Mason, the last woman in the world whom at the moment he wanted to meet again.

"Mrs. Steele! Wanda!" His voice was uncertain; his light eyes had that strange snowy look that seemed to withdraw him from every-day life.

Tomorrow, Rex finds himself caught in an old net.

TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

FINES FOR COLLEGE FLUNKERS

Up at the University of Oklahoma at Norman, the treasury will soon be enriched by approximately $12,000 as result of a new ruling on "flunkers" which went into effect at the beginning of the fall semester last September.

Under the Oklahoma institution's rule, students who fail in any and all courses must pay, before they can enroll in those courses for a succeeding semester, a "fine" of $3 per semester hour. The theory behind the "fine rule" is that the state should not be asked to waste money on students who either will not or cannot pass their courses, at least without those students being forced to pay back a portion of the expense entailed.

The Evening Journal believes the Oklahoma idea is a good one—would like to see a similar rule at Texas Tech and in every other state supported institution in Texas.

As a college graduate, the Editor of The Journal knows that it is easier for any student to pass a course than it is to "flunk" it; that any normal student who attends classes and pays attention to what is going on can pass any average course; that practically all failures can be traced to a student's failure to apply himself to his studies. Since that is the case, certainly it is no more than fair to penalize those students whose habit of wasting time, energy and thought also wastes the money of the taxpaying citizens.

Another angle to the situation is, of course, that students who might otherwise take the attiude that "flunking" makes no difference will redouble their efforts to pass their courses rather than run a chance of paying a $3 per semester hour fine. Any way you take it, the University of Oklahoma plan is intriguing. The Journal would like to see Tech's board of directors give it consideration and, if found practicable here, a trial.

From Hollywood MOVIE SIDELIGHTS

Behind The Scenes With The Stars Of Talkietown

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 18.—It's no trick at all for a casting director to populate a night club, drawing-room, or some other big movie set with handsome men. And the task is just as simple when he wants to fill a movie prison or underworld dive with plug-uglies.

Both types are only as far away as Hollywood's Central Casting Bureau. A phone call will bring any number of slick-looking gentlemen, or any number of troglodytes capable of scaring Boris Karloff. Both kinds of atmospheric extras receive the same wage—$7.50 a day.

A number of prison pictures in recent weeks has kept all these tough guys scurrying from one studio to another. They served a 21-day stretch at Warners for "San Quentin," languished in the death house at RKO for 16 days during the filming of "We Who Are About to Die," and now are keeping Victor McLaglen company in stout cells at 20th Century-Fox for the picture, "Nancy Steele Is Missing."

Most of the hard-visaged mugs are one-time fighters and wrestlers—men who have discovered that cauliflower ears and battle-scarred chins pay pretty fair dividends in Hollywood.

Among the lot you may recognize the names of Constantine Romanoff, the former tug-and-grunt man, Sailor Vincent, Joe Ritchie, Larry Williams, Frankie Dolan and Freddie Walsh.

They're just a little resentful of the fact that the honorable wars of ring battles have made them look like Hollywood's idea of thugs and strong-arm gangsters, but their pride is vindicated occasionally when they have chances to play the roles of prize fighters.

"Bad" Actors

Quite a number of the seemingly more ominous characters around town are shy about publicity. These are real ex-convicts who have gone straight and are finding a fair livelihood in the extra ranks. The police know all about them.

Leader of the movies' harmless underworld is a man whose name doesn't matter. It wouldn't be fair to identify him even by the name he uses now, because for 10 years he has been living strictly on the up-and-up in Hollywood and has been supporting a wife and two children.

For 20 of his approximately 50 years he didn't have a name, anyway—only an assortment of numbers. For various reasons he was a guest of several of this country's best-known prisons.

The police know all about him, too; and so do the studio authorities. The latter found out so much about him that they have hired him as technical adviser on practically every prison picture filmed in the colony since "The Big House."

Knows His Prisons

Sometimes he gets as much as $150 a week to check the authenticity of prison uniforms, marching and eating formations, arrangement of cells, convict slang, and all such items.

There is nothing about prison life with which he is not familiar—even the death house. I'm told that for nine months he was in the condemned row at Sing Sing for a crime which he didn't commit. Gov. Al Smith reprieved him four times, and then he got a new trial and was acquitted on new evidence.

He is a short, chunky individual with an elongated bald head, pale eyes, and a mild manner. Once when a studio executive was unkind enough to suggest jokingly that in this man's case crime had paid rather well, the ex-convict said he wished he never had to see the inside of a studio. For his job keeps him from forgetting the past.

What he wants to do is live on a little ranch and raise chickens. When he came to Hollywood 10 years ago, one such venture failed, but he hopes soon to have enough money to go back to it.

Hollywood is full of tales about hunted men who get jobs in the movies and escape detection because police would never think of looking for them on the screen.

The idea is entertaining, but erroneous. Detectives are especially vigilant around the studios, because wealthy people and their possessions must be guarded.

U. S. Spends Billions For War But Only Fraction To Aid Public Health; Rodney Dutcher Draws Some Comparisons

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — The federal budget for the next fiscal year gives the navy $567,302,670 and the army $393,460,100 for war purposes, a total of nearly a billion dollars.

It gives the U. S. Public Health service $20,753,000.

Of course if you want to get the full portion of proposed expenditures for 1937-38 properly chargeable to past wars and danger of future ones, you must add to the army-navy bill as peace advocates are fond of doing an item of $377,500,000 for veterans pensions and benefits, and most of $830,000,000 for interest on, and $101,000,000 for retirement of, a public debt which is largely due to war.

Dutcher

Total of these items is about $2,330,000,000.

The public health appropriation will be about one-fifth of the cost of two new super-dreadnaughts, construction of which will begin immediately.

Desirability of adequate national defense is disputed by hardly anyone. Yet no one seems to be quite clear as to whom we are going to fight with that billion dollars and the military-naval machine built up by other billions in past years.

Whom Will We Fight?

The White House and Congress have adopted a belligerent policy of neutrality, which at least theoretically means something.

No one lies awake nights worrying about an attack from Canada or Mexico. A war of aggression by this nation seems out of the question. No one has the temerity to suggest that we will have any fight with England.

And naval experts agree that, geography being what it is, no Japanese fleet can cross the Pacific and constitute a menace to our shores.

The U. S. Public Health service, on the other hand, knows exactly what it wants to fight and hasn't the slightest fear that it will ever run out of available dangerous enemies.

Disparity between the number of casualties unnecessarily caused by disease and the number killed in battle within American borders within the last 70 years is greater than the disparity between what Congress will vote for national health and what it will vote for war.

States Get Federal He'p

Just the other day the U. S. Public Health service declared war on venereal diseases, which are estimated to afflict upward of 10,000,000 American citizens. The Conference on Venereal Disease Control held in Washington under its auspices and with the president's blessing recommended that the $8,000,000 appropriated for state health grants under the Social Security act (part of the budget figure) be increased to $25,000,000.

Health promotion and disease prevention have been considered primarily a state function. The state public health expenditures took a nose dive during the depression and eight millions of grant money this year has stimulated states to expand their activities enormously.

The health service helps states set up their health units when it passes out the money. Under the Social Security act it also receives $1,620,000 for disease and sanitation investigation.

Big Field In Industries

Industrial hygiene and public health nursing, along with expansion of venereal disease clinics and education, are the chief fields in which Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Josephine Roche and Surgeon General Thomas Parran, Jr., feel they could use those extra millions at once.

Industrial hygiene covers deaths, diseases, and disabilities arising from the jobs people do. The life expectancy of an industrial worker is seven years shorter than that of a non-industrial worker.

Occupational health hazards are known to exist in 1000 separate occupations and there are at least 100 groups of poisons and industrial hazards known to be detrimental to health.

The silicosis menace, so dramatically brought to public attention last year, is only one such danger — and it is estimated that between 500,000 and 1,000,000 workers are exposed to the hazard of silica dust.

Pneumonia Great Menace

The pneumonia rate is 66 per cent higher in iron and steel enters, where workers step from extreme heat to extreme cold in many cases than in the country as a whole. There are various preventives for this hazard and most others.

Only two states have made provisions to meet industrial health hazards before the Social Security ten millions became available. Now 21 have industrial hygiene units.

Miss Roche points out that there is a great mess of scientific and technical information stored up which would be of value to millions of workers from the standpoint of their lives and health if it only could be spread around.

The reason for a few more millions would seem to be something the labor union lobbyists might work on. But they'll probably be too busy.

ON COMFORT STATION

Dear Plainsman: In a recent edition of The Evening Journal you again mentioned the idea of a public comfort station for Lubbock.

Did you mean 'station', or 'stations'?

Apparently you and I are the only ones who seem to be interested.

It isn't too soon to begin to fight flies, also. Any sunny afternoon one can see the flies 'going about their business' around almost every garbage can.

The first summer we lived here we saw very few flies. But every summer there are more and more. Last summer I fought flies day and night, and I really mean night. I couldn't sit down after supper to read your column at night with a fly parking on my nose!

Before moving to Lubbock we lived in a small town, where few (if any) sanitary laws were enforced. I've always been keenly interested in sanitation of any and all kinds—and also politics. Those two should have a lot in common, don't you think?

I, for one, do appreciate having the city wagons drive up our back alley and haul off any and all garbage.

Next summer is going to have more visitors and trades-people than ever before, so why not let them get a good impression and have a 'good word' to say for Lubbock when they return to their homes?

Good luck to the public comfort station.

(Dear Mrs. Bynum: Thanks for your letter. It only seems like you and I are the only ones interested in the comfort station. There has been a good deal of quiet work done on the project and I wouldn't be surprised to

Aged Man Is Young Because Of Dancing

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 18 (AP) — Spry Tom McEnaany, 87, says he keeps young by step dancing.

He declares he hopes to reach 125 by following a daily routine including eating, drinking, sleeping, smoking and dancing.

"But I never overdo any of them," he adds.

He says he has danced at a regular hour for the past 36 years.

"My dancing has been for the fun of it," McEnaany remarks, "and for the good health it insures me. When you think you have a worry, dance it off and you'll live long and be happy."

Admiral Grayson said most of the visitors would be "just folks," although 36 governors are expected. Special trains have been scheduled as far away as Texas.

To Use Dutch Bible

The Dutch Bible in the Roosevelt family for generations will be used, unless there is rain. It will be opened, as it was four years ago, to that verse in Corinthians which says:

"Though I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal."

Vice-President Garner will break tradition by taking the oath out-of-doors instead of in the senate chamber but he declined to speak.

PRISON RIOT

against a ban on receiving Christmas packages, refused to eat. Dr. J. D. Heaslip, reformatory superintendent, estimated about 35 prisoners actually engaged in the pandemonium which ensued.

While some prisoners set fire to mattresses and bedding, wrecking the dormitories where most of them slept, others used a bench for a battering-ram to smash light gratings from windows. After that, escape over the roof of a one-story building and to the ground was easy.

Many prisoners fled to the spacious grounds and battled hand-to-hand with guards while crowds of citizens watched.

By midnight groups were lead peacefully to cells and locked up.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—The stock market sold off sharply today and the ticker tape fell behind floor transactions following announcement by Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers' association that the conference with General Motors "is off."

The market had followed closely the course of developments in the General Motors situation. Earlier in the day fear that no conference would be attempted had caused losses up to 2 points in some leaders and later the market improved when it became known a conference was to be held.

A second selling wave which sent General Motors and Chrysler down about 3 points each near the start of the fourth hour followed Martin's announcement after a brief talk with strike leaders.

Low-priced utilities such as American & Foreign Power, General Gas, Commonwealth & Southern and Electric Power & Light were usually lively, the majority at minor advances.

Unchanged to a shade up were U. S. Steel, A. M. Byers, Republic, Sears Roebuck, Allied Stores, National Distillers, J. I. Case, Western Union, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Union Carbide and Loew's.

Behind most of the time were Bethlehem, Anaconda, Kennecott, U. S. Smelting, Inspiration, Cerro De Pasco, Texas Corp., Continental Oil, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Consolidated Edison, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central and Southern Pacific.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, 3 to 7 points decline on lower Liverpool cables and under liquidation. March 12.41; May 12.30; July 12.21; Oct. 11.86; Dec. 11.87.

In moderate trading prices were lower under offerings from the far east, the continent and commission house and little hedging from the south.

After the call the market displayed a steadier undertone with trade buying centering in the near months and some Liverpool buying in the forward positions.

May contracts advanced from 12.29 to 12.32 and prices generally after the first half hour were up 3 to 5 points from the lows but still at net losses of 2 to 5 points.

Liverpool reported Bombay selling and liquidation of "tired" bulls which was met by trade and local buying.

The market was quiet later in the morning with price changes narrow and irregular. The trade continued to take contracts in nearby positions while Japanese interests bought the forward. Contracts were still supplied principally by liquidation while there was a fair volume of exchange between various positions. May had advanced to 12.34 and was selling at that level at midday when the market generally was net unchanged to 6 points lower. Trading in January, 1938 contracts was inaugurated, the first sale being at 11.85.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 18 (AP)—Cotton opened 3 to 5 points lower on the New Orleans market today with the volume of business limited.

Foreign markets also sold off and Liverpool reported only scattered speculative support. Bombay sold in the English market and professionals were pessimistic over the sales of loan cotton from American government holdings.

March opened at 12.37, May at 12.27, July at 12.17 and Oct. at 11.81 and then held narrowly around these levels during the morning.

While some in the domestic trade felt that the heavy expansion in cotton goods business more than offset the impending offerings of loan cotton, others were apprehensive that a dip would follow the official opening of these stocks for public consumption.

The market received a little trade support during the first half hour. Commission houses were still bullish.

The market stayed from 2 to 3 points under previous closing levels during the morning with the volume of business light. Light hedging made up most of the selling while some price fixing supplied most of the buying.

Week-ends good markets were favorable with sales in excess of productions. This strength in goods markets continued to be the most bullish factor underlying the market.

Heavy rains in the central and eastern belt were noted over the week-end. Temperatures were above normal with the exception of a cold wave in the northwest.

The immediate forecasts were for continued cloudy weather with temperatures ranging from normal to below freezing in the middle belt and the east.

birthday ball on Jan. 30, Garner sighed.

"Well," he commented, "that's something to be thankful for."

Asked if he had anything to do with pointing out the closeness of the two occasions, he shot a puff of blue smoke ceiling-ward and gave a warm, knowing look.

"I won't answer that," he said. "I won't answer it one way or another and you can draw your own conclusions."

He attended the 1933 inaugural ball but more than one veteran official who knew his dislike for night life shot a sympathetic smile toward his stiff backed chair in a gilded box.

There's one other point on which Garner won't make an inaugural concession—he'll wear his customary socks.

DEBT AGREEMENT

trade agreement between this government and Britain.

Informed persons believed Runciman is empowered to discuss these questions with Washington officials, if not to open formally negotiations on stabilization and a trade pact. He will spend next weekend as a White House guest but President Roosevelt said his visit was personal. They are old friends.

The conclusion of a reciprocal trade pact with Britain would be regarded generally as a major accomplishment of the tariff program of Secretary of State Cordell Hull. It was felt certain by some New Yorkers close to the administration, however, this government would first insist upon a settlement of war debts.

Question About CARDUI

HOW IT HELPS WOMEN

"Who takes Cardui?"

Women who are run-down, weakened, nervous, from not getting sufficient strength from the food they eat.—Thousands and thousands have found that Cardui increased their appetite, improved their digestion thereby promoting better nourishment and the consequent strengthening of the whole system.

And women who have suffered from functional pains of menstruation have found that, by taking Cardui just before and during the periods, this purely vegetable sedative and antispasmodic seemed to save them much discomfort. This action of Cardui is highly esteemed because the relief credited to it comes in an entirely beneficial way. Cardui is purely vegetable; nothing in it to be afraid of.—Adv.

The U. A. W. A. president said "at the present moment all conferences and negotiations are off; there are no further conferences scheduled with General Motors."

He said he planned no further meeting with Gov. Frank Murphy, whose efforts to bring the union and the corporation into an accord apparently were set at naught by developments over the week-end.

Martin said the union would stand firm on its refusal to order stay-in strikers to leave the General Motors plants at Flint. He added no attempt would be made to return strikers to three plants which were vacated Saturday in accordance with the truce arranged by the governor.

Youthful Orphans To Face Trial

Already motherless, these three young brothers of Munfordville, Ky., faced new tragedy when Orin, 15, holding the baby above, was charged with fatally shooting his father, Owen Warren, 38, after being threatened with a beating for selling a chicken. The baby, Ora, 14 months old, in his father's arms at the time, suffered a leg wound, indicated by the bandage. Oris, 13, shown at left, was accused as an accessory. The father previously had been cited for cruelty to his children.

BUBBLES WILL BE USED FOR LIGHT

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Bubbles of water will be used as electric lights at the world's fair of 1939.

They operate like soap bubbles floating in the sun, shimmering light in all directions.

Science conjured them up today, in a laboratory high in the Empire State building, to help illuminate the vast fairgrounds.

The bubbles dance up through a column of water which rises slowly in a tall glass cylinder and overflows. Their number and size is regulated by compressed air, which enters at the bottom of the tube where a lighting unit is placed. The light shoots up and the rays bounce off each bubble they hit.

Without the bubbles, the water gives only a dull glow, decorative but impractical for lighting purposes. With the bubbles, the water sparkles out a wide circle of soft, clear light.

The bubble bulbs are only one of the lighting tricks that will make the fair easy on the eyes.

Whole buildings will be designed to emit light from their own walls instead of being flood-lighted from the outside.

"How did I do it?
"I just reasoned sensibly."

"FORTUNATELY, straight thinking told me that vitality and pep was produced by energy created from within...so was the skin beautified and made clear from within. I found the famous S.S.S. Tonic just the remedy to stimulate lagging gastric juices and to supply the mineral elements for restoring deficient red-blood-cells. Hence greater energy from within... and an added glow to my skin."

Be 'tops' again with more vitality... more pep... a clear skin by taking the S.S.S. Tonic treatment. Shortly you will be delighted with the way you will feel... your friends will compliment you on the way you will look.

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build sturdy health... its remarkable value is time tried and scientifically proven... that's why it makes you feel like yourself again. Available at any drug store. © S.S.S. Co.

Bulls Got Her

KANSAS CITY—Police Scouts Ralph Parr and A. E. Campbell overtook a frightened heifer roaming through downtown traffic.

Officer Parr bull-dogged the animal neatly, threw it, tied it to a telephone pole. But the heifer resented capture. It floundered violently at the end of its tether.

While officers pondered how to subdue it, the animal fell to the ground—dead.

Kitten On The Keys

JERSEYVILLE, Ill. — Illinois home of Minnie the singing mouse, now comes up with "Tiger," the musical cat.

Martha Leigh Thatcher, high school student, says her gray striped cat heads for the piano as soon as he gets in the house, stands on his hind legs and strikes the keys with the front paws, sometimes improvising by racing up and down the key board.

Free Squealing

GREENFIELD, Ind. — During four days in which he drove 500 miles, Dr. L. B. Randen was bothered by a peculiar squeak in his automobile.

He took the car to a garage where Kelly Coffin, mechanic, extracted a live cat from the chassis.

Yah Want Talk, Eh?

DENVER — Denver university co-eds listed the qualifications they desire most in the men they date.

In the order of preference they want: a pleasing conversationalist, an intellectual, an athlete, the matinee idol type, one who is quiet and reserved, the fellow with plenty of money to spend.

At the bottom of the list co-eds agreed is the date who "knows it all" and doesn't mind advertising the fact.

Hubby Only Wanted To Warm Cold Feet

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Antonette Ruppert, 44, refused to admit her husband Otto, 55, a WPA employe, when he knocked at the door early today.

Instead she called the police. Meanwhile, Otto kicked down the back door, dismantled a stove in which a fire burned merrily and set it up in the backyard.

When the police arrived Otto was warming his feet. They took him to the station to cool off.

ON RECORD-BREAKING

Dear Plainsman: I read with interest the letter of Mrs. E. J. Bearding anent our Record Breaking program. I was interested first to learn the feelings of a listener—our programs are all designed with the idea of providing interest for listeners.

Another point that her letter suggested proved especially interesting. I wonder how many homes have phonographs nowadays?

It is far from our desire to destroy anything that would bring a little pleasure to someone. On the other hand we have reason to believe that lots of people do derive pleasure from helping us crack up a lot of old records that are no longer useful or, for that matter, fit to play.

But I find myself getting serious and I mustn't do that because the program is all in fun. We are tickled to hear from Mrs. Bearding and happy to receive her fine compliment. She can be assured that KFYO will strive to merit her commendation.

Yours truly,
Radio Station KFYO,
DeWitt Landis, manager.

YOUNG TEXAS RANGER SPARKLES AT SIGHT OF BROADWAY ON HER VISIT

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—The big brown eyes of Texas' tiniest ranger, 10-year-old Maria Squires, the official "sweetheart" of Galveston, sparkled today at the sights of Broadway—and Broadway "sparkled" right back.

Noon hour crowds stopped to exclaim. For Maria was quite a sight herself in a white cowboy suit, white boots and a big white 10-gallon cowboy hat.

In as southern a deep south accent as New York has heard in some semesters, Maria explained patiently and repeatedly to curious Broadwayites:

"This is my ranger outfit. I'm a Texas ranger—a real one."

Maria and her mother came all the way from Galveston to commission Lanny Ross, radio star, as king of Galveston's 1937 Mardi Gras, Feb. 5 to 9. She is the youngest ranger ever appointed by the governor of the Lone Star state.

Steak And Potatoes Will Block Crime

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—A T-bone steak and French fried potatoes were recommended today by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia as "one of the best preventives of crime."

The mayor gave his formula to the Public Education association in one of those unexpected appearances for which he is famous.

He said he would dispense the steak and potatoes in free lunches to school children.

The Clean, Gentle Way to clear mucus from STOPPED-UP NOSTRILS

Which is the more pleasant way to clear up the accumulated mucus in your nostrils? To keep on blowing into your handkerchief until your nose is sore? Or to insert a pleasant, soothing ointment that gently breaks up the obstructing mucus?

Surely you prefer the latter, and that is why you should always use Mentholatum. It not only breaks up the mucus and enables you to breathe more freely, but also soothes the irritated membranes.
