PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE BEFORE CONGRESS

EXPECT MEXICO TO MAKE REPLY WITHIN A WEEK

General Impression Seems to be that it Will Embody Another Refusal

NOT OFFICIALLY RECEIVED AT MEXICO CITY MONDAY

Numerous Errors Reported to be Made in Cable Transmission of Note

LAREDO, TEXAS, Dec. 2.—Unconfirmed reports received here today from Mexico were that "many American consular representatives were resigning their positions and others preparing to resign," because of the Consul Jenkins case and "the feeling of insecurity of Americans in Mexico."

Those who have resigned, according to this information, include Joseph W. Rowe, vice consul in charge of the consulate general in Mexico City. It was said further that he would be succeeded temporarily by Cornelius Ferris, American consul at San Luis Potosi.

There was no official information available here regarding the reported resignations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—President Carranza is expected to reply within a week to the last American note requesting immediate release of William O. Jenkins, United States consular agent imprisoned at Puebla.

The Mexican answer is not expected earlier than that, and the general impression here seems to be that it will be another refusal. This would mean that negotiations for Jenkins' freedom would continue.

It was stated on high authority that the use of the word "request" in the two notes calling for Jenkins' release did not close the door to further correspondence, as would have been the case had the word "demand" been used.

It was indicated that failure of Mexico to comply with the second American note would not result in an ultimatum and that the diplomatic exchanges might be prolonged.

NOTE NOT OFFICIALLY RECEIVED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Monday, Dec. 1.—Announcement was made at the Mexican foreign office late today that the last American note had not been delivered. First intimations as to the nature of the communication sent to Mexico by Secretary of State Lansing was given by dispatches to this city by the Associated Press.

It was learned at the American embassy there were numerous errors in the cable transmission of the note, which probably explains the delay in its presentation.

Hilario Medina, under-secretary of foreign relations, declared today treaties existing between Mexico and the United States make no provision for the exemption of consular agents from the jurisdiction of federal tribunals "for which reason W. O. Jenkins, the United States consular agent at Puebla, because of whose imprisonment a delicate situation has arisen between the two countries, cannot claim immunity as has been suggested by his friends."

Senor Medina stated the treaty of friendship and commerce between the United States and Mexico drawn in 1831 and renewed in 1848, established no immunity in favor of consuls.

DISPATCHES SAY SPANISH CABINET MEMBERS RESIGN

PARIS, Dec. 2.—Dispatches from Madrid today said the Spanish cabinet had resigned.

The military juntas which recently have been under fire were threatening to ask dismissal of all infantry officers should the government approve the war and navy council's decisions on the dismission of students in the war school from the army, the dispatches said.

Text of President's Message to the Sixty-Sixth Congress

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I sincerely regret that I cannot be present at the opening of this session of the congress. I am thus prevented from presenting in as direct a way as I could wish the many questions that are pressing for solution at this time. Happily I have had the advantage of the advice of the heads of the several executive departments who have kept in close touch with affairs in their detail and whose thoughtful recommendations I earnestly second.

In the matter of the railroads and the readjustment of their affairs growing out of federal control I shall take the liberty at a later date of addressing you.

I hope that congress will bring to a conclusion at this session legislation looking to the establishment of a budget system. That there should be one single authority responsible for the making of all appropriations and that appropriations should be made not independently of each other, but with reference to one single comprehensive plan of expenditure properly related to the nation's income, there can be no doubt. I believe the burden of preparing the budget must, in the nature of the case, if the work is to be properly done and responsibility concentrated instead of divided, rest upon the executive. The budget so prepared should be submitted to and approved or amended by a single committee of each house of congress and no single appropriation should be made by the congress, except such as may have been included in the budget prepared by the executive or added by the particular committee of congress charged with budget legislation.

Audit Is Necessary.

Another and not less important aspect of the problem is the ascertainment of the economy and efficiency with which the moneys appropriated are expended. Under existing law the only audit is for the purpose of ascertaining whether expenditures have been lawfully made within the appropriations. No one is authorized or equipped to ascertain whether the money has been spent wisely, economically and effectively. The auditors should be highly trained officials with permanent tenure in the treasury department, free of obligation to or motives of consideration for this or any subsequent administration and authorized and empowered to examine into and make report upon the methods employed and the results obtained by the executive departments of the government.

Their reports should be made to the congress and to the secretary of treasury.

I trust that the congress will give its immediate consideration to the problem of future taxation. Simplification of the income and profits taxes has become an immediate necessity. These taxes performed indispensable service during the war. They must, however, be simplified, not only to save the tax payers in convenience and expense, but in order that his liability may be made certain and definite.

Revenue Laws.

With reference to the details of the revenue laws the secretary of the treasury and the commissioner of internal revenue will lay before you for your consideration certain amendments necessary or desirable in connection with the administration of the law, recommendations which have my approval and support. It is of the utmost importance that in dealing with this matter the present law should not be disturbed so far as regards taxes for the calendar year 1920, payable in the calendar year 1921. The congress might well consider what the higher rates of income and profits taxes can in peace times be effectively productive of revenue and whether they may not, on the contrary, be destructive of business activity and productive of waste and inefficiency. There is a point at which in peace times high rates of income and profits taxes discourage energy, remove the incentive to new enterprise, encourage extravagant expenditure and produce industrial stagnation with consequent unemployment and other attendant evils.

Not An Easy Problem.

The problem is not an easy one. A fundamental change has taken place with reference to the position of America in the world's affairs. The prejudice and passions engendered by decades of controversy between two schools of political and economic thought—the one believers in protection of American industries, the other believers in tariff for revenue only, must be subordinated to the single consideration of the public interest in the light of utterly changed conditions. Before the war America was heavily the debtor of the rest of the world and the interest payments she had to make to foreign countries on American securities held abroad, the expenditures of American travelers abroad and the ocean freight charges she had to pay to others, about balanced the value of her pre-war favorable balance of trade. During the war America's exports have been greatly stimulated and increased prices have increased their value. On the other hand, she has purchased a large proportion of the American securities previously held abroad; has loaned some $9,000,000,000 to foreign governments and has built their own ships. Our favorable balance of trade has thus been greatly increased and Europe has been deprived of the means of meeting it heretofore existing. Europe can have only three ways to pay in peace times: by imports into this country of gold or of goods or by establishing new credits. Europe is in no position at the present time to ship gold to us, nor would we contemplate large further imports of gold into this country without concern. The time has nearly passed for international governmental loans and it will take time to develop in this country a market for foreign securities. Anything, therefore, which would tend to prevent foreign countries from settling for our exports by shipments of goods into this country could only have the effect of preventing them from paying for our expenses and therefore of preventing the exports from being made. The productivity of the country greatly stimulated by the war must find an outlet by exports to foreign countries and any measures taken to prevent imports will inevitably curtail exports, force curtailment of production, load the banking machinery of the country with credits to carry unsold products and produce industrial stagnation and unemployment. If we want to sell, we must be prepared to buy. Whatever, therefore, may have been our views during the period of growth of American business concerning tariff legislation, we must now adjust our own economic life to a changed condition growing out of the fact that American business is full grown and that America is the greatest capitalist in the world.

Isolation Will Not Satisfy.

No policy of isolation will satisfy the growing needs and opportunities of America. The provincial standards and policies of the past which have held American business as if in a straight jacket, must yield and give way to the needs of exigencies of the new day in which we live, a day full of hope and promise for American business, if we will but take advantage of the opportunities that are ours for the asking. The recent war has ended our isolation and thrown upon us a great duty and responsibility. The United States must share the expanding world market. The United States desires for itself only equal opportunity with the other nations of the world and that through the process of friendly co-operation and fair competition the legitimate interests of the nations concerned may be successfully and equitably adjusted.

Relief to Soldiers.

There are other matters of importance upon which I urged action at the last session of congress which are still pressing for solution. I am sure it is not necessary for me again to remind you that there is one immediate and very practicable question resulting from the war which we should meet in the most liberal spirit. It is a matter of recognition and relief to our soldiers. I can do no better than to quote from my last message urging this very action:

"We must see to it that our returning soldiers are assisted in every practicable way to find the places for which they are fitted in the daily work of the country. This can be done by developing and maintaining upon an adequate scale the admirable organization created by the department of labor for placing men seeking work; and it can also be done in at least one very great field, by creating new opportunities for individual enterprise. The secretary of the interior has pointed out the way by which returning soldiers may be helped to find and take up land in the hitherto undeveloped regions of the country which the federal government has already prepared or can readily prepare for cultivation and also on many of the cut over or neglected areas which lie within the limits of the older states; and I once more take the liberty of recommending very urgently that this plan shall receive the immediate and substantial support of the congress."

Tariff Legislation.

In the matter of tariff legislation I beg to call your attention to the statements contained in my last message urging legislation with reference to the establishment of the chemical and dye stuffs industry in America:

"Among the industries to which special consideration should be given is that of the manufacture of dye stuffs and related chemicals. Our complete dependence upon German supplies before the war made the interruption of trade a cause of exceptional economic disturbance.

"The close relation between the manufacture of dye stuffs, on the one hand and of explosives and poisonous gasses on the other, moreover, has given the industry an exceptional significance and value. Although the United States will gladly and unhesitatingly join in the program of international disarmament, it will, nevertheless, be a policy of obvious prudence to make certain of the successful maintenance of many strong and well equipped chemical plants. The German chemical industry, with which we will be brought into competition was and may well be again a thoroughly knit monopoly capable of exercising a competition of a peculiarly insidious and dangerous kind."

Increased Production.

During the war the farmer performed a vital and willing service to the nation. By materially increasing the production of his land he supplied America and the Allies with the increased amounts of food necessary to keep their armies in the field. He indispensably helped to win the war. But there is now scarcely less need of increasing the production in food and the necessaries of life. I ask the congress to consider means of encouraging efforts along these lines. The importance of doing everything possible to promote production along economical lines, to improve marketing and to make rural life more attractive and healthful is obvious. I would urge approval of the plans already proposed to congress by the secretary of agriculture to secure the essential facts required for the proper study of this situation, through the proposed enlarged programs for farm management studies and crop estimates.

I would urge also the continuance of federal participation in the building of good roads under the terms of existing law and under the direction of present agencies; the need of further action on the part of the states and the federal government to preserve and develop our forest resources, especially through the practice of better forestry methods on private holdings and the extension of the publicly owned interests; better support for country schools and the more definite direction of their courses of study along lines related to rural problems; and fuller provision for sanitation in rural districts and the building up of needed hospital and medical facilities in these localities. Perhaps the way might be cleared for many of these desirable reforms by a fresh, comprehensive survey made of rural conditions by a conference composed of representatives of the farmers and of the agricultural agencies responsible for leadership.

Refers to Unrest.

I would call your attention to the widespread condition of political restlessness of our body politic. The causes of unrest, while various and complicated, are superficial rather than deep seated. Broadly they arise from or are connected with the failure on the part of our government to arrive speedily at a just and permanent peace permitting return to normal conditions from the transfusion of radical theories from the seething European centers pending such delay, from heartless profiteering resulting in the increase of the cost of living and lastly from the machinations of passionate and malevolent agitators.

With the return of normal conditions this unrest will rapidly disappear. In the meantime it does much evil. It seems to me that in dealing with this situation congress should not be impatient or drastic but should seek rather to remove the causes. It should endeavor to bring our country back speedily to a peace basis, with ameliorated living conditions under the minimum of restrictions upon personal liberty that is consistent with our reconstruction problems. And it should arm the federal government with power to deal in its criminal courts with those persons who by violent methods would abrogate our time tested institutions. With the free expression of opinion and with the advocacy of orderly change, however, fundamental, there must be no interference, but toward passion and malevolence tending to incite crime and insurrection under guise of political evolution there should be no leniency. Legislation to this end has been recommended by the attorney general and should be enacted. In this direction I would call your attention to my recommendations on August 8, pointing out legislative measures which would be effective in controlling and bringing down the present cost of living which contributes so largely to this unrest. On only one of these recommendations has the congress acted. If the government's campaign is to be effective, it is necessary that the other steps suggested should be acted upon at once.

Urges Food Control.

I renew and strongly urge the necessity of the extension of the present food control act as to the period of time in which it shall remain in operation.

The attorney general has submitted a bill providing for an extension of this act for a period of six months.

As it now stands, it is limited in operation to the period of the war and becomes inoperative upon the formal proclamation of peace. It is imperative that it should be extended at once. The department of justice has built up extensive machinery for the purpose of enforcing its provisions which must be abandoned upon the conclusion of peace unless the provisions of this act are extended.

During this period the congress will have an opportunity to make similar permanent provisions and regulations with regard to all goods destined for interstate commerce and to exclude them for interstate shipment if the requirements of the law are not complied with. Some such regulation is imperatively necessary. The abuses that have grown up in manipulation of prices by the withholding of foodstuffs and other necessaries of life can not otherwise be effectively prevented. There can be no doubt of either the necessity or the legitimacy of such measures.

Value of Publicity.

As I pointed out in my last message, publicity can accomplish a great deal in this campaign. The aims of the government must be clearly brought to the attention of the consuming public, civic organizations and state officials who are in a position to lend their assistance to our efforts. You have made available funds with which to carry on this campaign but there is no provision in the law authorizing their expenditure for the present of making the public fully informed about the efforts of the government.

RESTRICTIONS ON FUEL USE ARE EXTENDED

Most Extensive Shutdown of Industry in History is Now in Prospect

OPERATIONS LIMITED TO KANSAS AND WEST VIRGINIA

Throughout Remainder of Country Miners Refuse to Accept the Increase Posted

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Restrictions on the use of coal already put into effect by regional coal committees where the pinch of necessity had been felt, today were extended through the nation under an order of the federal fuel administrator. The most extensive shutdown of industry in history was in prospect and domestic consumers were preparing to endure privation and discomfort as the strike of bituminous coal miners entered its second month. Only in Kansas, where volunteers worked in the strip pits under protection of state and federal troops and in the New River field of West Virginia was there prospect today of increased production. In Kansas seven pits were worked and in West Virginia operators said normal production was in sight by the end of the week. Throughout the remainder of the country, however, miners apparently remained steadfast in their determination not to return to work under the 14 per cent wage increase ordered by the federal government and acceded to by operators.

Trouble in Wyoming.

In Wyoming new labor troubles threatened to decrease the small amount of coal brought out. Except for brief shutdowns at the beginning of the strike and twice since, the mines in that state generally had maintained operation.

Members of the railroad brotherhoods in Kansas City were expected to act on a resolution adopted last night to request authority to refuse to handle coal mined by non-union workers.

Under the sweeping order of Fuel Administrator Garfield limiting delivery of fuel for power only to essential consumers in the first five classes of the war priority list, curtailment of production was in prospect in factories turning out boots and shoes, brass and bronze manufacturers, clothing, machinery (except where specifically exempted), iron and steel, jewelry, marble and stone products, musical instruments, paper goods (newsprint exempted), rubber goods, cigars, wagons and carriages, wood manufacturers, paper and metal products, leather goods, mattresses, paints and varnishes, photographic supplies and miscellaneous essentials.

Theaters Affected.

Theaters, motion picture shows and all other places of amusement faced complete shutdowns. Churches and schools also were included in that category although efforts were being made to postpone closing schools as long as possible.

Bakeries, except those producing only bread, also fell under the ban, as did confectioners and certain packing plants.

In some of those industries, however, an immediate shutdown might be forestalled if the regional coal committees permitted them to operate until their present supply of fuel was exhausted.

Despite low temperatures that have spread over the West for the last two days, little actual suffering because of the fuel shortage had been reported. In Nebraska, where near zero weather prevailed, Kilgore had been without coal ten days. Western Kansas, also without coal several days, was to obtain an emergency supply today, the first taken from the strip pits of that state.

Suspension of all traffic over the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad lines out of Oklahoma City today was said to be only a matter of hours unless coal was supplied. All railroad traffic might be tied up at Oklahoma City by the end of the week, railroad officials there said. In Indiana state officials expressed hope that enough coal could be mined immediately to furnish state institutions with fuel.

TEN TO FIFTEEN CARS TO BE READY TODAY

PITTSBURG, KAN., Dec. 2.—Ten to fifteen carloads of coal will be ready for shipment from the coal fields today, Governor Henry J. Allen announced this morning. Two strip pits are being operated this morning and the state expects to have five more in operation during the day.

"We will soon know," Governor Allen said, "whether the railroad men will refuse to haul this coal to the people who are clamoring for it. The railroad men will be put to the test today."

The volunteer miners, working under the protection of national guardsmen, faced a piercing wind from the north from which no protection was possible. The temperature was fourteen degrees above zero, the coldest of the winter.

Governor Allen reached Pittsburg this morning, coming with more than 500 reinforcements for the workers in the pits. Adjutant General Charles I. Martin, who came yesterday, is in charge of the national guardsmen.

FORCE OF 900 THE KANSAS FIELD

TOPEKA, KAN., Dec. 2.—A force of nine hundred volunteers is in the field today, according to reports from state officials here.

PRINCIPAL RECOMMENDATIONS AFFECT TAXATION, RADICALISM LABOR AND HIGH LIVING COST

WASHINGTON, December 2.—President Wilson in his message to congress recommended:

Establishment of a national budget system.
Simplification of income and excess profits tax.
Legislation to secure employment and land for service men.
Laws to encourage increased crop production.
Protection for America's new chemical and dye-stuffs industry.
Federal aid in the building of good roads.
Development of forest resources.
Enactment of Attorney General Palmer's legislation for dealing with the Reds.
Legislation to reduce the cost of living and extension of the Lever act.
Laws to bring about democratization of industry, including participation of workers in decisions affecting their welfare.
Establishment of the principles regarding labor laid down in the league of nations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—General recommendations on legislation to combat the cost of living, labor unrest, radicalism and a readjustment of the nation to peace time basis were the features of President Wilson's annual message to congress delivered today.

The peace treaty, the President told congress, will be discussed in a separate message later, as well the railroad question.

For the second time only since the President established the practice of addressing congress in person, his message was read today by the clerks.

The President's principal recommendations were:

Establishment of a budget system for the national finances.

Reorganization of the taxation system with simplification of the income and excess profits.

Readjustment of the tariff system, if necessary to meet changed world conditions and make the system conform with the fact that the United States is "the greatest capitalist in the world."

Recognition and relief for veteran soldiers of the world war, particularly in the way of government farms as proposed by Secretary Lane.

Proper measures to foster the dyestuffs industry built up during the war to keep the United States independent of foreign supply.

An enlarged program for rural development, in recognition of the farmers' part in the war.

Measures which "will remove the causes" of "political restlessness in our body politic."

Refers to Peace Treaty.

At this point the President made his most extensive reference to the peace treaty by saying the causes for the unrest "are superficial rather that deep-seated' and that, they "arise from or are connected with the failure on the part of our government to arrive speedily at a just and permanent peace permitting return to normal conditions, from the transfusion of radical theories from seething European centers pending such delay from heartless profiteering resulting from the increase of the cost of living, and lastly, from the machinations of passionate and malevolent agitators.

"With the return to normal conditions this unrest will rapidly disappear."

The President renewed his recommendations for legislation to deal effectively with "those persons who by violent methods will abrogate our time tested institutions."

High Cost of Living.

Several recommendations, some renewals of previous ones, were made by the President to bring down the cost of living. Among them were extension of the food control act to peace times for the emergency; regulation of foods in interstate commerce; a cold storage law modeled after the law in New Jersey; a law requiring markets to show the length of time feeds are kept in storage and a law to secure "competitive selling and prevent unconscionable profits" by federal license of corporations selling food in interestate commerce.

A long portion of the message was devoted to a discussion of the condition and the rights of labor. "A definite program to bring about an improvement in the conditions of labor," and bring about "a genuine democratization of industry" was recommended.

Remove the Grievance.

"The only way to keep men from agitating against grievances is to remove the grievances," said the President's message. Another point it declared "the seed of revolution is repression."

"The establishment of the principles regarding labor laid down in the covenant of the League of Nations," said the message, "offers us the way to industrial peace and conciliation. No other road lies open to us. . . . Governments must recognize the right of men to bargain collectively for human objects. . . . Labor must no longer be treated as a commodity."

"The right of individuals to strike is inviolate," continued the message, "and ought not to be interfered with by any process of government but there is a predominant right and that is the right of the government to protect all of its people and to assert its powers and majesty against the challenge of any class."

Injunction Against Strikers.

The President was referring to the government's recent injunction against the coal strikers.

The message closed with a pointed reference to "Russia today with its blood and terror" as a "painful object lesson of the power of minorities."

"There are those in this country," said the message, "who threaten direct action to force their will upon a majority. . . . It makes little difference what minority it is; whether capital or labor or any other class; no sort of privilege will ever be permitted to dominate this country."

Orderly processes, the message declared, were the only ones by which relief and reform could be obtained.

"Those who would propose any other method of reform are enemies of this country," the message said. . . . "Let those beware who take the shorter road of disorder and revolution."

TWENTY-EIGHT BELOW ZERO AT HAVRE, MONT.

Further Cold and Unsettled Weather is Indicated From Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—In a special bulletin this afternoon the weather bureau announced the intense cold area general over the upper Mississippi valley, the great plain states and the Rocky Mountain region, and is advancing rapidly eastward and southward. Cold weather will prevail generally east of the Mississippi river within the next forty-eight hours and the cold wave will be of several days' duration.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2. — Havre, Mont., with a temperature of 28 degrees below zero was the coldest place on the weather map today. Sheridan, Wyo., reported a thermometer reading of 24 degrees below and Miles City, Mont., and Duluth, Minn., 20 degrees below zero. The intense cold for the season continues over the Northwestern states and has spread eastward to the middle Mississippi valley southward over southern Oklahoma and northern Texas.

Cold wave warnings are displayed in west and central Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi.

The outlook for unsettled weather with snows within the next thirty-six hours in the middle Atlantic states and unsettled weather in the south Atlantic and east Gulf states and Tennessee. Temperatures will be considerably lower tonight and Wednesday in Tennessee and the east Gulf states and Wednesday in the middle Atlantic states.

RAILROAD EMPLOYES MAY REFUSE TO HANDLE COAL MINED BY STATE

PITTSBURG, KAN., Dec. [illegible] representatives of the four railroad brotherhoods of the four steam railroads into Pittsburg will meet at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon to determine whether to refuse to haul coal mined by the state.

PITTSBURGH, KANS., Dec. 2.—First coal taken from the strip mines of [illegible] eastern Kansas by volunteer [illegible] was to be loaded on railroad [illegible] today. Whether the coal will reach the shivering populace of the state, remains to be seen.

Outcropping of opposition to the state receivership's operation of the strip mines, last night culminated in a report that union officials had appealed to railroad brotherhood members to refuse to move the coal cars. It was understood early today that local trainmen had wired their brotherhood chief for instructions. If no reply is received, a local strike of railroad men was considered a possibility.

It was believed that cars will be placed at the mine pits, but would not be moved until a decision is reached by the railway men.

Six strip mines in northern and southern parts of Crawford county were expected to operate today. Volunteers had been placed in five camps and the news that 400 others entrained for Pittsburgh last night, gave rise to the hope by receivers that six mines would be producing much needed fuel before night.

AMERICAN DELEGATES POSTPONE DEPARTURE FOR UNITED STATES

PARIS, Dec. 2.—The American delegation to the peace conference which was to have sailed from Brest for the United States on December 7, has postponed its departure for home, it was learned today. A considerable part of the personnel of the delegation, however, will leave Paris for Brest on the evening of December 5, as previously arranged.

It is learned from a high authority the change in the plans of the delegation is due to the failure of the Germans to sign the protocol ratifying the peace treaty.

It is pointed out if the treaty is not ratified the situation between Germany and the United States as well as the other allied and associated powers goes back to the status created by the armistice.

Hence the United States is as much interested as its associates of the allied powers despite the fact that the Senate has not ratified the treaty.

Whatever the date which the American delegation may decide upon for leaving France, it was affirmed today on excellent authority, that arrangements would be made for the representation of the United States in the further negotiations that Germany would find all the allies and associated powers working together to resist any effort on her part to avoid making the peace effective according to the terms of the treaty.

CHARACTERIZED GREAT VICTORY FOR THE CROWN

Italian Press Hails Opening of Parliament as Vindication of Government

DETERMINED MOVEMENT IN OPOSITION TO SOCIALISM

Address of King Declared to be a Vindication of Stand During Peace Conference

By CAMILLO CIANFARRA
United Press Staff Correspondent.

ROME, Dec. 1. (Night.)—The Italian press tonight hailed the king's address to the chamber of deputies at its opening session today as complete vindication of the government's stand during the peace conference.

In the failure of the Socialist demonstration when the king entered the chamber the press saw a repudiation by a majority of the people of extreme Socialism.

The great loyalist demonstration which resulted from the Socialist deputies action in leaving the chamber when the king entered, "was not only addressed toward the crown but was a conscious and determined movemnt in opposition to Socialism," the Corriere D'Italia declared.

Condemns the Treaty.

The king's address showed full harmony with the Catholics' program, especially that part of it condemning the treaty of Versailles, the newspaper added.

"The whole nation warmly approves the speech," declared the Tribuna. "Even the Socialist deputies had they been present, would have cheered when the king said 'We want peace not only in a treaty but in the consciousness of right.' The king voiced the real sentiment of parliament and country."

The Idea Nazionale interpreted Victor Emmanuel's statement that Italy has not reaped the full fruits of victory as expressing his determination to continue the fight for Adriatic territory and a protest against the peace conference's treatment of Italy in disposition of the Adriatic districts.

Viewed as Great Victory.

All in all, the government tonight was inclined to view the day as a great victory. The threatened Socialist demonstration to embarrass the king was almost a complete failure, it was pointed out in official circles. Not more than 500 took part in the Socialist gathering and these disbanded spontaneously when the people started their great loyalist counter demonstration.

The Socialists also lost prestige in the chamber, it was declared, when their program to refuse to take the oath of allegiance to the crown fell through. They decided, however, to maintain their motion against taking the oath, even while submitting to the time honored custom.

The Socialists, because of the number of deputies they seated in the recent elections, are certain to get one vice president of the chamber, it was admitted.

SOCIALISTS TO TEST STRENGTH WEDNESDAY

ROME, Monday, Dec. 1.—The struggle for domination of the Italian chamber of deputies has developed into a fight in which the socialists and Catholics have been definitely aligned. The socialists today wore red carnations while 100 members of the Catholic party appeared in the chamber with white carnation. The first real test of strength will come tomorrow when the chamber elects a president and other officers.

Socialists will attend the session, take the oath of office and offer a resolution that the oath be expunged from the constitution. They will also nominate Deputy Lazzari for president of the chamber. Former Premier Orlando, who will be the government candidate, strangely enough, had Lazzari imprisoned some time ago for conducting an agitation against the war. Signor Orlando's election seems assured as the socialists alone oppose him and have only 156 out of 508 votes.

THIRD CONFERENCE OF NATIONAL ASSOCIATION LEAGUE OF NATIONS

BRUSSELS, Monday, Dec. 1.—The third conference of national associations for the league of nations met here today, eighteen countries being represented. Baron Deschamps, Belgian member of The Hague court of arbitration, who acted as chairman, expressed the hope in his opening address that notwithstaning the confused situation in the United States, that nation "which rendered immense service to civilization during the course of the war, would help to consolidate the idea of the league."

Paul Hymans, Belgian foreign minister, also alluded to the situation in the United States and hoped for a "quick and happy solution as the world needs peace and the securities of organization."

Guglielmo Ferrero, Italian delegate, said in a pessimistic speech that Italy's troubles were due to "vaccillation and dilatory tactics by the peace conference."

"Time is pressing," he said, "two-thirds of Europe is ablaze or threatening to take fire."

Leon Bourgeois of France regretted the absence of American representatives and said he confidently hoped "soon to see America's adhesion to the league." He said he knew "perfect unity of thought exists between the allies and America."

On motion of M. Bourgeois a message was sent to the American League to Enforce Peace expressing the conference's recognition of the reason preventing Americans from attending and its appreciation of "their incessant efforts for the realization of a great international task." After sending cordial greetings the message declared there was a "warm wish to see Americans as soon as possible take the first rank among the delegates."

DECISION OF JUDGE PUTS LIQUOR OUT AT NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 2.—Judge R. W. Walker in the United States circuit court of appeals granted an order for supersedeas sought by the United States district attorney putting a stop to liquor sales here under the injunction granted last Wednesday by District Judge Foster.

CONFINEMENT TELLS ON THE HEALTH OF WILLIAM O. JENKINS

LAREDO, TEXAS, Dec. 2.—Confinement in the penitentiary at Puebla, Mexico, on "trumped up" charges is seriously affecting the health of American Consular Agent Jenkins, according to Miss A. C. Dyer, teacher in the Methodist mission school at Puebla. She arrived at the border here yesterday enroute to her home in Chatanooga, Tenn., having left Puebla Friday.

Miss Dyer, who claims she is an intimate friend of the Jenkins family, said Mr. Jenkins is held in high esteem by the better class of Mexicans and that his arrest on "absurd charges" of having connived with his bandit kidnappers caused great surprise in Puebla. The consular agent, she declared is suffering greatly from mental and physical strain; he is being tried by "petty" Mexican courts, and is taken from prison to a court room two and three times daily. His family and friends, however, are permitted to visit him, she said.

HENRY C. FRICK DIES TODAY AT NEW YORK CITY

Noted Financier Succumbs to a Recent Attack of Ptomaine Poisoning

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Henry Clay Frick died here today. Mr. Frick suffered an attack of ptomaine poisoning early in November. He had nearly recovered from this when complications developed. He was 69 years old.

The career of Henry Frick has formed one of the most fascinating chapters in the romance of industry in the United States. At ten a boy on a farm in a family of only ordinary means, he was, at 60, a man of so many millions that his fortune, like those of Carnegie and Rockefeller, was largely a matter of guesswork even to himself. It has been said he was worth more than $100,000,000, perhaps as much as $200,000,000.

Mr. Frick built up the greatest coke business in the world, and acquired such vast interests in steel that he was also one of the principal magnates in that industry, and in rounding out his career he became known as one of the world's greatest collectors of master paintings.

Mr. Frick was born December 19, 1849, at West Overton, Pa. This village was named after the maternal grandfather of Mr. Frick, Abram Overholt, whose original family name was Oberholtzer, and who settled in Western Pennsylvania when that region was regarded as the frontier of civilization. As the settlements along the Allegheny and Monongahela grew, and Pittsburgh emerged from its swaddling clothes, Mr. Overholt became the leading miller and distiller of Western Pennsylvania. His daughter, Elizabeth, married John W. Frick, a young man of Swiss ancestry, who at that time was working as an engineer in the Overholt distillery. It was from this union that the future capitalist was born. The father attempted farming, but did not make a remarkable success of it and as a result young Henry Clay Frick was practically adopted into the Overholt family when he was about 12 years old. He received a good basic schooling, but there was nothing in his boyhood to indicate the remarkable ability which characterized his later life, except his eagerness to get into business. For a time he was bookkeeper in his grandfather's distillery, and from this position he went to Morgan and Co., coke dealers, and at about 21 years of age he appeared in Pittsburgh as their agent. The coke industry was in its infancy. The iron masters of Pittsburgh were just beginning to appreciate the value of coke for their furnaces. Young Frick had an opportunity to acquire a limited interest in a plant near Broadford, and out of the profits of this he acquired other holdings. He later joined a company to build a railroad to penetrate the Connelsville coke region, and in 1871, the year this road was opened, Mr. Frick organized the corporation of Frick and Co., which bought coal land and coke ovens in the Connelsville region. That was the basis of the Frick fortune. The undivided attention of the rising financier was given to coke until 1882.

Buys Additional Tracts.

In the midst of this period there came the panic of '73 and the financial crash of many ambitious operators. At a sheriff's sale Mr. Frick purchased additional tracts of coal land and ovens, and a few years later the Mellons, powerful Pittsburgh bankers, became interested in the expanding enterprise of the young operator.

Through the Homestead strike of 1892, Mr. Frick came into national prominence. Differences had arisen between the Carnegie Steel Co. and its employes over a wage scale, culminating in a strike involving thousands of men; the calling out of the national guard and the proclamation of martial law. It was at this period, July 22, 1892, that Alexander Berkman, a New York anarchist, tried to assassinate Mr. Frick. Berkman walked into Frick's office, drew a revolver and fired, the bullet lodging in Mr. Frick's neck. Mr. Frick was shot a second time and then he grappled with Berkman. During the encounter Mr. Frick was stabbed three times, but he downed his assailant and held him until the police arrived. Berkman was tried and sent to the Western Penitentiary in Pittsburg for 21 years.

Thirteen days after the attack Mr. Frick walked to his office unattended and resumed the direction of the great strike which continued until November 21 of that year. Mr. Frick was unmoved by the violence, the protests of the public on the distress of the families of the strikers. He won and never begrudged the price of victory.

When Mr. Frick entered the Carnegie Steel Co. he decided to make it the most powerful concern in the steel world. Two of his immediate ventures netted the Carnegie concern many millions of dollars without scarcely any investment.

Up to this time the switching charges between the various Carnegie plants had been very profitable to the railroads and expensive to the Carnegie company. Mr. Frick built the Union Railroad to weld the scattered Carnegie plants closer together. This eliminated the switching charges and saved enormous sums for the Carnegie company.

Drives Shrewd Bargain.

It was Mr. Frick who later took over a large portion of the Mesabi ore fields on Lake Superior in a big deal that guaranteed the Carnegie company for 50 years a minimum annual supply of 1,200,000 tons of ore, driving a shrewd bargain with the Rockefellers who owned these ore lands.

Later Mr. Frick conceived the proposition of buying out Mr. Carnegie entirely, and in association with Henry Phipps, the second largest owner, of stocks, and with the co-operation of E. H. Moore and others, Mr. Frick asked Mr. Carnegie for an option on his interests. Mr. Carnegie demanded $1,000,000 for a 90-day option and named $157,950,000 in cash and bonds for his entire holding. This price with the additional cost of the stock of the other partners in the Carnegie company brought the cost of Mr. Frick's scheme close to $250,000,000. The matter was taken to J. P. Morgan, who was not impressed with the idea. The plan collapsed. Mr. Frick's option expiring at a cost of a million dollars which Mr. Carnegie pocketed. This was the first failure Mr. Frick had ever known, but it was also a blow to Mr. Carnegie for the failure of the Frick syndicate left him in the position of having been on the market with his holdings which apparently could not be sold.

Mr. Carnegie became very bitter and tried to oust Mr. Frick entirely from the steel business. They developed a quarrel with many ramifications. Mr. Carnegie sought to have the board of managers declare Mr. Frick's stock forfeited at par value. Mr. Frick replied with a suit for an injunction to prevent this confiscation of his stock, but the case was finally settled out of court by the reorganization of the Carnegie company, which made several Pittsburghers millionaires over night. It made Mr. Frick one of the wealthiest men in the country, but it was disappointing to him later when Carnegie with the aid of Charles M. Schwab succeeded in interesting Mr. Morgan in the scheme he had previously rejected, and out of this interest came the financing of the United States Steel Corporation in 1901. By this again, Mr. Frick's fortune was doubled. His $31,000,000 investment in the Carnegie company was turned into $61,300,000 in the United States Steel Corporation, although Carnegie had stolen his thunder. Mr. Schwab was made president of the steel corporation and Mr. Carnegie's representative in that concern.

Dethrones Schwab.

In 1903 times became hard and United States Steel dropped to a low level. Mr. Frick then bought everything he could in the way of steel stock and when the excitement was over it was found he had acquired enough to be a power in that concern. His first move was to dethrone Mr. Schwab as president, but W. E. Corey, another Carnegie man, succeeded Schwab. Then Mr. Frick attacked Corey and succeeded in having him removed. Mr. Farrell, Frick's friend, was finally made president of the great corporation.

The breach between Mr. Frick and Mr. Carnegie never fully healed. A small instance of it was seen in Pittsburgh, where Mr. Carnegie built a large office building, naming it after himself, next door to which Mr. Frick built another building twice as large and named it after himself. Mr. Frick, incidentally, became one of the largest holders of real estate in Pittsburgh. In New York Mr. Carnegie built a magnificent home and some time later Mr. Frick built an even more palatial residence on the site of the old Lenox Library, between 70th and 71st streets on Fifth avenue. It was here that he provided for a picture gallery which is one of the largest, if not the largest, private gallery in the world. It contins some of the most valuable and famous paintings by Velasquez, Rembrandt, Gainsborough and other masters. Many of these canvasses are said to have cost Mr. Frick several hundred thousand dollars each.

Mr. Frick also maintained a beautiful summer home at Prides Crossing, Mass. He was one of the largest owners of Pennsylvania railroad stock, was one of that company's directors, and its dominant factor. He was also a power in Reading, Baltimore & Ohio, Norfolk and Western, and other railroads.

On December 15, 1881, Mr. Frick was married to Miss Ada Howard Childs of Pittsburgh. Four children were born to them; two boys and two girls. Mrs. Frick, one son and one daughter survive.

If Too Thin Try Bitro-Phosphate

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals; it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorous in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorous may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION:—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

KEMP ENDORSES THE Y. W. C. A. CAMPAIGN WITH $10,000 CHECK

EXPRESSES PLEASURE IN MAKING CONTRIBUTION TO SO WORTHY A CAUSE.

CAMPAIGN LEADERS CONFER

Manager Johnson Outlines Plans at Luncheon Held at Charlotte Kemp Hall.

The local campaign for $250,000 for the Young Women's Christian Association was given a decided impetus this morning when J. A. Kemp matched the donation of Frank Kell, giving another contribution of $10,000 to the fund. Mr. Kemp was in the east during the preparations for the campaign but when he was seen today by Walter D. Cline, general chairman of the campaign committee, he said it was a pleasure for him to indorse the movement to the fullest and to give his personal check for $10,000.

Mr. Cline and G. Clint Wood have a large number of substantial contributions lined up and they are busy today getting these important names on the dotted line preliminary to the actual opening of the seven-day campaign tomorrow morning.

The workers and leaders in the Y. W. C. A. drive conferred today at luncheon at Charlotte Kemp Hall at Twelfth and Ohio streets and completed details of arrangements for the beginning of a general solicitation of funds for the two buildings for the business girls of the city. B. F. Johnson, campaign manager, announced his plans and all workers pledged their support to the big objective for the next seven days.

In presenting his check to the Y. W. C. A. today Mr. Kemp said:

"It is seldom that I have made a contribution to any cause in the city of Wichita Falls with greater pleasure than I now make this gift to the Y. W. C. A.

"Many of us who are busy with our own affairs do not stop to realize what a wonderful work the good ladies of this institution are doing for our business girls.

"We must consider the loyal secretaries, assistants, clerks, stenographers and other women workers in our midst. They are important to our business life. Their welfare and efficiency means added efficiency and productivity to your office and mine. I am most heartily in accord with the effort to put this institution on a big basis here.

"We citizens of Wichita Falls must think big. We cannot afford to do things on a small scale. We are building a great city and our welfare institutions must keep pace with our enlarged city activities."

Be sure and attend the Episcopal ladies' bazaar Friday and Saturday. Home cooked food on Saturday. 186-4tc

REPORT DEPLORABLE CONDITION AT WICHITA GENERAL HOSPITAL DUE TO A LACK OF EQUIPMENT

Lack of supplies and equipment at the Wichita General hospital have brought about a deplorable condition there, there not being either sufficient blankets, sheets or other bedding in this hospital to keep the patients warm, J. A. Kemp told the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting Tuesday morning.

"It is certainly an awful condition," said Mr. Kemp, "and has been going on for the better part of the year. Something should certainly be done about it.

"They haven't equipment there to do near the things they are expected to do, and the result is this deplorable state of affairs that is existing there now."

Mr. Kemp's statement of conditions at the hospital was corroborated by statements by a number of the other directors, and a committee composed of Martin Smith, J. A. Kemp, T. B. Noble and W. W. Silk was named to confer with the managers of the hospital, and the county and city authorities, in an effort to bring about a correction of the conditions and give the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce in any possible way in this connection.

Other action taken at the morning meeting included the endorsement of efforts being made by the various organizations in Wichita Falls for the establishment of community markets in an effort to lower the cost of living here endorsement of the Y. W. C. A. campaign and the announcement that the next meeting of the directors would be for the consideration of the city water problem in Wichita Falls and asking a full attendance of the directors at that meeting, as some important matters in that connection will be brought before them at that time.

The endorsement of the efforts to establish community markets in Wichita Falls was brought about by a request from the committee representing the various labor organizations, who are working for the establishment of such a market.

"LOTS OF PEP" IS THE HEADLINER THIS WEEK AT THE WICHITA THEATER

While it is not the purpose of first night review to "damn with faint praise," and charity is reckoned the prime requisite of every critic, still to sing the praises of the strong points of this week's vaudeville bill at the Wichita theater without mentioning the inane, uninteresting, and wholly unappreciated efforts would be a disregard of the real purpose of a review—that of a guide confidential or otherwise, for the seekers after amusement. The bill that opened Monday night would, under ordinary conditions be classed at least fair, were it not for some painful attempts at humor that detracted from the otherwise genuinely funny acts.

Creamer Barton and Sparling, in a novel act, "Lots of Pep," is easily the headliner. The little fellow, who first appears as a messenger boy with a telegram for the two actors, containing the painful tidings of their "open to engagement" condition, is given a chance to sing for the audience. His tuneful rendition of the favorite "Mammy o' Mine" brought a hand from the audience and his jokes were for the most part well timed and new, although the reason for his revival of the old saw about "Ferdinand and Liza" was hard to see. The trio, two six footers in full dress and the sawed off pepful A. D. T., got some real harmony across the footlights at that.

The trap drummer, past master of jazz, with his dextrous handling of sticks, banjo, flute and so forth, vied with the two graceful sisters for honors in the Ziegler Sisters and Band concert. The violinist can entice music from that delicate instrument.

In the Jarvis Footlight Revue, an "original" rube, stage manager and girlie show number, the country yam, bespectacled, bewhiskered and high pitched voice with all of the requirements of a stage rural type, is very successfully portrayed and his rendition of an extract from a "mellerdrama" of the "No Mother to Guide Her" type was fairly good. The girls are good looking, especially the prima donna, and the number is well costumed, but it seems that the "Snow Birds" antics in visualizing the effects of the well known W. W. W. could have been dispensed with without ruining the act.

Rosa Valyde, advertised a song surprise, had most of the customers wondering by her manful efforts to reach a low note when she executed an abrupt about face and sang in a tender and feminine pitch. She has a wonderfully strong contralto voice and when she sang "Mother's Knee," a late song hit, she was encored.

An acrobatic tumbling act, Bell and Eva, with its setting in a modern [illegible] or soda fountain, opened the bill. Eva started all the trouble when she ordered a raspberry soda and Bell turned the fountain into a jumping net, displaying his and his agile partners' athletic ability. Both acrobats performed many difficult flips but the perfumed corsage went to Eva when she jumped through a small hoop, which she herself suspended in the air.

The motion picture feature, "The Inner Ring," is a story of love conquering all, with its setting an imaginary kingdom in Europe. Added to the picture program is a funny comedy, (strange a comedy could be funny is it not?) of a barnstorming theatrical troupe in a small town. One noticeable thing, and an original feature about this picture is the fact that the bakers evidently were on a strike, for there is not a single custard pie thrown in several hundred feet.

MILLER ACQUITTED IN 30TH COURT MONDAY

Willie Miller, also known as "Blackie" Miller, was acquitted by a jury in the Thirtieth district court Monday afternoon following his trial as a child delinquent. Miller was indicted last week by the special grand jury on a charge of burglary but the defendant Monday succeeded in convincing the court that he was less than 17 years old and was consequently entitled to trial as a juvenile delinquent. The defendant was charged with taking some automobile tires and other automobile accessories belonging to the Southern Tire & Vulcanizing Company from a building on Tenth-st. The jury was out but a short time before bringing in the verdict of not guilty.

Miller told the court Monday afternoon that he was a native of the island of Jamaica and had not seen his parents in seven years.

The Spanish cabinet reported to have resigned was headed by Sanchez Toca.

HUBERT HARRISON IS TO QUIT POSITION AS CHAMBER SECRETARY

Announcement that he would not be an applicant for the position of secretary of the Chamber of Commerce for the coming year, but had decided to accept appointment as general agent for this district for the Reliance Life Insurance Co. of Pittsburg, Pa., was made to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday morning by Hubert Harrison, for the past eight months secretary of the organization.

In making this announcement Mr. Harrison spoke of the pleasant associations which he had enjoyed in the eight months of his work with the directors and other members of the Chamber of Commerce, and stated that nothing but the fact that he had an opportunity to greatly better his financial condition was responsible for his leaving that organization. Mr. Harrison also spoke with appreciation of the work of the other members of the Chamber of Commerce staff during the time he had been secretary, speaking especially of the efforts of Miss M. R. Kerr, the assistant secretary, and the work of the traffic department under the leadership of T. B. Noble, chairman of the traffic committee, and of J. W. Chatham, traffic manager of the organization.

"In going into this new business I do not intend leaving Wichita Falls, but plan to make this my home," said Mr. Harrison. "During the past eight months I have 'sold' Wichita Falls to a number of outsiders, and have sold it to myself. I believe in the future of Wichita Falls and regard it as my home."

Experience of Thousands in Wichita Falls Like Dream

"To be a sufferer from stomach trouble for years and to bear all the torments that this all-too-common ailment causes and then to be benefited almost over night is like having a happy dream come true!" said Dr. A. W. Craig, the Orgatone expert at Young's Drug Store yesterday in an interesting interview.

"This has been the pleasant experience of thousands of Wichita Falls former sufferers of this dreaded malady, who have taken Orgatone treatment," he continued.

"The present day mode of living has raised havoc with stomachs. A tired overworked stomach or kidneys abused by too much or too hastily eaten food and other faulty methods of living, causes an endless number of ailments, among them being liver complaint, kidney trouble, catarrhal affections, dyspepsia, nervous breakdown and blood troubles.

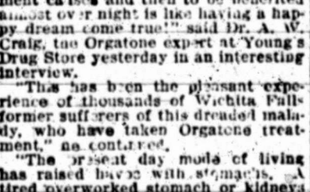

"I have had thousands of Wichita Falls people so affected, call on me here at the Young drug store and there are thousands more in cities like this who are loggy and nervous and easily tired. They are worn out after a little exertion and are moody and depressed. These are sure symptoms of overworked vital organs, which need cleansing out and regulating. It is for just these conditions that Orgatone treatment has proven beneficial.

"Men and women of Wichita Falls in all walks of life are daily acknowledging the benefits derived from this triumph treatment. Orgatone has proven a household word wherever it has been introduced. Its success is based on merit alone as it contains no alcohol or other stimulating drugs and is not a so called patent or secret remedy. Its best advertiser, and there are thousands of them in Wichita Falls and vicinity, is the former sufferer who has been relieved. Its constant leap in popularity in this section has been marvelous."

LAW NOT ENFORCED.

The evidence before the Congressional Immigration committee sitting at New York will be taken by many to indicate that it is not so much rigid immigration laws that we need as enforcement of some of those we long have had. Acting Commissioner Uhl was compelled to admit that the examination of incoming aliens was "virtually a farce," and that only the most cursory scrutiny was given the immigrants as they were huddled aboard the liners. The physician in charge, acknowledge that the physical examination was wholly superficial and that it was only when the examiner at a glance was able to detect something radically wrong was an immigrant detained for a real examination.

Conditions under Commissioner Howe seem to have been deplorable; his sympathies seem to have been wholly with the radical aliens instead of with the enforcement of the immigration laws, and the laxity of his administration resulted in open criticism in the Senate and that resulted in his resignation. Through the port of New York has come the greatest shifting of peoples since the great racial movement began far back in the dark of history and spread westward over Europe and Asia, there to found the different Aryan races that have come into the leadership of the world.

There has poured into this country through that entry port a horde of aliens of every character and kind—the bulk of them to become assimilated by the "melting pot," the minority unassimilable and undesirable, but all put upon the same footing under our lax immigration laws and lazer enforcement. It is only after we have discovered the imperative necessity of deporting a few hundred undesirables that we find that stricter laws are necessary and it may require several years and much agitation to get them into being.

In the meantime if our Department of Labor could be induced to secure a real administration of the laws we have against the entry of undesirable elements, it would be a great help, and it might help, also, to relieve that department of the repeated charge that much of its personnel is swayed by friendliness for radicalism and bolshevism.

The decision recently to put on a full-time health officer in Wichita Falls, with nothing to do but practice preventive medicine for the protection of citizens, makes of local interest the result of an experiment by a big life insurance society, which set aside $100,000 to establish "A Health Town" and which found raising the per capita expenditures for public health work from 39c to $1, resulted directly in reducing the infantile mortality rate of the town from 81 per 1,000 to 61 in one year's time: in reducing the deaths from tuberculosis—the campaign was principally aimed at the great white plague—from 121 the year previous to the experiment to 88 in twelve months, to 79 in two years and 76 the third, despite the town's growth in population. The economic losses every city in the United States has incurred from preventable diseases would stagger us could we concieve of it. The greatest advance in medicine in the past decade, we think, has been along the line of prevention instead of cure. We are realizing that money spent for sanitation and civic cleanliness pays directly a tremendous dividend on its cost.

The average soldier believes that a lot of the war decoration business among the higher-ups is on a basis of "I tickle you, you tickle me." We don't know, but we do notice that a Chicago man has been recommended for a British was decoration because of his invention of a non-refillable bottle which helped to stamp out a typhoid epidemic in India.

POLITICIANS FEAR GEN. WOOD.

The boom of General Wood is causing some alarm in republican ranks among those backing other entries in the presidential free for all next year, for on the showing to date Wood unquestionably has the advantage, the endorsement of South Dakota republicans as the first state to take a stand presidentially being not the least of these. Governor Coolidge's boom has been launched, but may not be more than a "native son" movement, albeit the Massachusetts Governor is unquestionably a national figure for the time being from his solid stand against Bolshevism.

Other republican possibilities are staying closely under cover until they can see which way the cat is going to jump on the treaty controversy, and a lot of leaders are very much vexed at Lodge at the suggestion of pitching the 1920 campaign on that paramount issue, because they know it is a two-edged weapon and fear the G. O. P. has picked the hot end of the argument.

On the democratic side Mr. McAdoo's unexpected flank attack on the mine operators about their exorbitant profits in 1917 has focused attention on him and brought many to believe that the democratic fight will be between him, a former cabinet member, and a present member, Attorney General Palmer. Speaker Clark and Vice-President Marshall also are looking for a favorable opportunity to launch their boomlets on the stirring political sea.

So far on neither side is there any outstanding figure like Wilson is on the democratic and like Roosevelt was on the republican who can be considered a dominant possibility. There is a big field on each side, but, in racing parlance still, they are running together and it may be the home stretch before even the expert can pick the winners on either the G. O. P. or the democratic track.

BALKAN SITUATION.

Bulgaria signed the peace treaty the other day, accepting the terms put upon her by the Allies. It is difficult at this distance to distinguish between facts and propaganda and it is not given one to know if the charge of an Englishman, H. N. Brailsford, is correct. But he charges that the Allies have planted the seeds of a new war in the Balkans by their distribution and apportionment and that where of old Austria and Russia intrigued and maneuvered for hegemony of the Balkans—intrigues and maneuvers which in the end brought on the world war—now it is France and Italy which are seeking selfish advantage among the Balkans, France seeking it in a business way and Italy going after territorial aggrandizement.

One can but wonder if there is even a remote possibility of stability in Europe in this or the next decade. Italy and Jugo Slavia are apparently on the verge of war; Russians and Bolsheviki are unable to compose their irreconcilable differences; Germans and Letts and Lithuanians seem about ready to resume fighting; the Polish question is still unsettled insofar as Germany and Bolsheviki Russia and the Poles themselves go. One thought that, after five years of the most lethal and most costly strife the world ever saw, peoples generally would be surfeited on war. Perhaps the greater nations are, since upon them have fallen the greater burdens during and after the war. But the smaller powers, possibly because they have nothing else to lose, are displaying a willingness to resume fighting that bodes no good to the rest of the world.

It was an incident, comparatively trivial in itself, one remembers, that occurred at Sarajevo in June, 1914, which bought on the cataclysm that shook the world sixty days later. The powers of the world, concerned in maintaining peace, should pay attention to charges of unfairness and injustice perpetrated by them upon the smaller nations, unintentional though they be. They should have learned in 1914 that the whole world is interested in any incident likely to bring disaster to it!

GETTING READY FOR CHRISTMAS.

Heres' the old year slipping out of the way
And the kiddies all talking about Christmas day
Now the home's full of whispers and hints of the things
That must fill up the pack that old Santa Claus brings
And the mother's all smiles as she thinks of the cheer
That shall come with the happiest day of the year.
And I, when it's Christmas—well say this for me—
I'm just as contented as mortal can be.

I like nothing better than all of the fuss
The coming of Christmas time shoulders on us;
There's something about it that banishes care
And cures discontentment and comforts despair.
Just hearing them whisper their secrets at night
And chuckle and giggle sets everything right.
I puff on my pipe and I sit there and smile
And vow that this happy old world is worth while.

The scamper of feet is a joy to my ear
As they fly with their treasures when I'm drawing near.
The labor of trimming the home for the day
Isn't labor at all, but magnificent play
The planning surprises, and writing the list
Of the friends that we love so that none shall be missed.
Are tasks to which somehow my soul seems to run
For it finds real delight in the work to be done.

Let some who will frown at the fuss that is made
And grumble and growl at the bills to be paid;
Let the Scrooges who practice the wisdom of thrift
Count sadly the money they spend for a gift
And picture the folly of scattering cheer.
I answer each sigh and I answer each sneer
By saying: "When Christmas sets all eyes aglow, Getting ready for it is the best fun I know!"

Side Talks
by Ruth Cameron

THE TOO FACILE TONGUE.

A facile, eloquent tongue is a wonderful thing to have.

And also a dangerous thing.

Last summer I listened to a young woman who has dabbled in halfbaked, a-quarter-digested Bolshevistic theories much as she used to enjoy dabbling in mud pies when she was little and in amateur dramatics when she was at college. She was talking about these theories to a group of people at a church social. Most of the group knew her well enough and had enough sense to realize how little it all meant. But there were two or three women who were listening with the most serious absorption. One could see it meant a great deal to them. Much more than it did to the young person with the facile tongue; perhaps because they didn't have facile tongues and therefore couldn't get rid of their thoughts by continually talking about them.

Whenever I read in the newspapers about some foolish or wicked things which a group of people have done together, I think—behind that act was someone with a facile tongue.

How Their Emotions Were Lashed Up.

For instance take the attacks on Wagnerian opera. Somewhere behind them there must have been a glib tongue or, more likely, several which were used to lash up the emotions of the people who caused the disturbances at the theatres. Those emotions would never have risen of themselves; the cause wasn't big enought or personal enough.

Or again I read of a strike which has not had public sympathy and which has ended in the better class of workers going back to work while one of the foreign elements is still staying out. And then I can visualize some foreigner, who has a glib tongue and the power to reach these men in their own language, keeping the fires of hate and resentment aburning by appeals to class feeling and by misrepresentation of all sorts. I can imagine just how he glorifies stubbornness as backbone, and pictures violence and lawlessness as courage and fine fortitude.

Can't You Hear The Wicked Tongues?

Or take any case of mob madness. You do not need second sight or rather hearing to hear foolish, wicked tongues arousing the worst that is in man by appeals to the primitive emotions that we have been trying to learn through the centuries to control and organize for the sake of civilization.

Of course many of the people who thus abuse the gift of eloquence do it deliberately either because they are paid to, or because they honestly believe that they are doing the right thing. But others, like the woman of whom I spoke, do it just thoughtlessly. There is no worse thoughtlessness than this.

Ought To Be Licensed Like Revolvers.

A glib tongue is something to be used with the utmost care, like any dangerous weapon.

One almost wishes sometimes that they could not be carried without a license any more than a revolver.

But to make that a good thing instead of a bitter injustice, one would have to have an all-wise, all well-intentioned licensing board.

Besides, it wouldn't be democracy. And we believe in democracy. So it just comes back to the need of getting after the man who has deliberately abused his right to use an eloquent tongue, and of being careful that we don't thoughtlessly commit any such abuse ourselves.

HOROSCOPE.

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Mars rules strongly for evil this day, according to astrology. Jupiter and Neptune also are adverse.

It is a sway under which peace and serenity cannot be expected.

The indications are not good for business interests and there may be a crisis of some sort, the seers declare.

Uranus is in a mildly helpful aspect that should encourage just judgment and a desire for fairness.

All the signs seem to presage a continued ferment of thought which will be expressed in grave dangers to the public welfare.

The army and military affairs will attract much attention during this month, it is prophesied.

Theatres and places of amusement will prosper this month, even though there may be a marked tendency toward retrenchment in money spending.

Commercial problems involving critical conditions will come into public notice and legislative consideration with the beginning of the year.

Neptune again gives warning that the navy demands the nation's aid and that neglect may bring about terrible disasters. The Pacific coast should be safeguarded.

Women continue subject to the most dangerous and subtle astrological influences and they should protect their minds from the chaotic thoughts of the world.

Dangers are foreshadowed for those who experiment in spiritistic manifestations and automatic writing. Insanity will greatly increase during the next few months, it is prophesied.

The seers explain that the human consciousness is peculiarly sensitive to destructive forces at a time when the aftermath of war is affecting all world interests and activities.

In this connection there is great peril from the perversion of the highest impulses of humanity and there should be a special effort to dwell on the mental or spiritual plane of thought.

Persons whose birthdate it is will probably have a very active year in business but they should be careful to avoid litigation.

Children born on this day may meet difficulities in life and they should be carefully trained. They should have supreme possibilities.

NOW ALLOW SHIPMENT UNCOMPRESSED COTTON

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 2.—The shipment of uncompressed cotton, which has been forbidden by the United States shipping board, will now be allowed from the port of Galveston, according to a settlement from the commissioner of markets and warehouses.

Commissioner F. C. Weinert stated that because of dampness cotton compressed to a high density rots very rapidly, and at his request the ruling was modified.

ICE.

Warever its cold enuff there is ice, and warever its too cold there aint hardly enything elts. If the people in Africka could swap the people erround the north pole a buntch of bannannas for every 10 sent hunk of ice, it would be a grate thing for both of them. ony they cant, on account of the people in Africka proberly never herd of the north pole, and the people erround the north pole proberly never herd of bannannas. This proves uneducated people dont know what they're missing.

Ice is reely wattir froze into a square shape and staying that way to prove how cold it is. If you try to set on wattir wile it is still soft you will go rite throo and wish you hadent of tried, and if you try to set on enuff of it you will drownd. But ice is easy to set on and would proberly be set on mutch more than wat it is if people dident mind the cold, damp sensation.

The most popular places for ice is in ice tea and on lakes to ice skate on. The most unpopular place for it is down the back of the neck.

Ice should never be left out in the sun if you wunt it to keep its shape.

The closest thing to ice is ice wattir but no mattir how cold wattir starts to feel, it aint ice as long as you can get your finger in it.

The fattest ice is a ice berg and the skinnest ice is a icecle.

SUBMIT REPORT ON DROUTH RELIEF FUND

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 2.—There is now $11,538.83 in the Texas Drouth Relief Fund, according to a report submitted to the governor by F. C. Weinert, administrator.

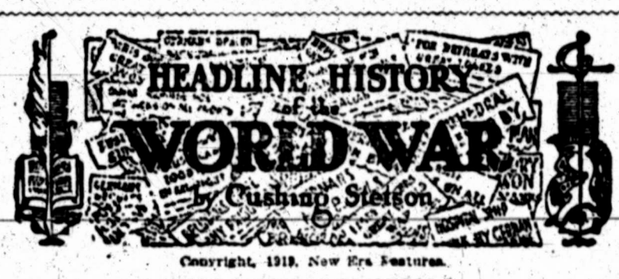

This fund came into being during the three-year drouth which brought sections of Texas to the verge of want and starvation, and a total of $277,486 was donated, upon appeal by the governor and others, to be loaned to drouth sufferers without interest. Of this amount $272,955 was allotted.

A balance of $4,530 was left on hand June 21, 1919. Since that time a $20 contribution has been received and $7,023 has been repaid by those to whom it was loaned.

Mr. Weinert said in his report that conditions in the drouth district have materially improved, but people there went so near to bankruptcy that they have not yet recovered, and that while many are anxious to repay the money they borrowed from the fund they cannot do so until they have recuperated further. All requests for additional time in which to repay the fund have been granted by the administrator.

WHAT HAPPENED DECEMBER 2.
(Clip and paste this in your scrap book.)

1914

Austrians take Belgrade; Serbian army meets with serious reverses and situation is critical; Serbian capital has held out since July 29th. German Reichstag votes $1,250,000,000 war loan; Liebknecht alone voted against new credit. British forces capture General de Wet; leader of rebellious Boers captured by General Botha's South African troops.

1915

Italy subscribes to Allied covenant to make no separate peace; promises to join Allies in aid to Serbians who are now without a country; Italian declaration of war on Germany expected shortly. British suffer severe reverses in Mesopotamia; pursued by Turks on Irak front, they lose 5000. Germans and Bulgar troops from Serbia; concentrate troops on Rumanian frontiers to overawe that country.

1916

Russian offensive fails to gain much ground; battle continues on 300 kilometers front without decisive results; Rumanians routed by Austro-Germans west of Bucharest lose 6,000 prisoners. Fighting is ended in Athens by a compromise; day of terror in the capital; King agrees to surrender 6 of 10 batteries. Fight on Asquith Cabinet stirs England; Lord Northcliffe calls for greater war efficiency; rumor that Lloyd George will resign.

1917

Germans take Masnieres after severe assaults; Berlin announces capture of 60 British guns. Trotsky, Bolshevist Foreign Minister warns Allies not to interfere; resent American protest against his plan for separate truce.

1918

President Wilson addresses congress in joint session informing them of his trip to Europe; announcement received without enthusiasm. Lord Northcliffe stirs Britain by attack on Premier Lloyd George; says he will win election but will not control his majority. Based on cabled information from Pershing, U. S. War Department states "American prisoners released from German prison camps complain of poor, scanty food and bad housing conditions."

RIPPLING RHYMES.
By WALT MASON.

It is Coming.

Let us think of Kris H. Kringle, who will soon be scheduled here, and we'll hear his sleighbells jingle on the frosty atmosphere. Long our thoughts have been of battling, and of captains in their pride, and of blood and dry bones rattling where some flowers crawled and died. We've been wont to walk and mingle with the things opposed to mirth; let us walk with J. Kris Kringle, who is boosting peace on earth. We have been immersed in trouble, we have sloshed around in care; we have long been pulling double, and our team mate was despair. Every kind of tribulation that the grief works could produce, has been dumped upon this nation, every evil has been loose. But the Christmas time is coming, when our [illegible] find release, and K. Kringle's harp is humming with the melodies of peace. I am glad to greet the season when Dad Kringle comes to town; there isn't rhymes or reason for a test or a frown. In the snowy air and dingle in the spinney and the glen, I will root for J. K. Kringle, boost his nobs and boost again.

PRAIRIE OIL AND PIPELINE CO. TO BE FACTOR IN LOCAL FIELD; BUY LINE OF RYAN COMPANY

The Prairie Oil and Pipe Line Company has purchased the pipe line of the Ryan Petroleum Company extending from the Burkburnett district to Temple, Okla., and has opened offices in Wichita Falls for the purchase of all the crude oil it can handle. Work on a connection with its line at Addington, Okla., is to start at once and is expected to be completed within 90 days.

The company has opened temporary offices in room 400 at the Westland hotel.

W. S. Fitzpatrick, vice president of the Prairie company, has been here several days with H. A. Meyer, who is to be the local manager and W. B. Sutton, superintendent of the company's land department at Eastland.

With the purchase of the six-inch pipe line of the Ryan Petroleum Co. to Temple, and the tank farm of the company at the latter place, consummated at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, the entry of the Prairie Oil & Gas Company into the Wichita Falls fields rumored for some time, became an accomplished fact.

The Prairie comes into this field primarily as a purchaser of oil, and do not at the present time plan any extensive production for their own part, according to W. S. Fitpatrick, of Independence, Kansas, vice president of the company, who with W. B. Sutton of Eastland, superintendent of the land division, and H. A. Meyer, who is to be the local superintendent, conducted the negotiations for the purchase of the Ryan line.

"The purchase of the Ryan line, which will be finished within the next two or three weeks, is merely to make provision for taking care of the oil of such producers as will care to patronize our company after we get our line into this place," said Mr. Fitzpatrick. "It will be at least 90 days before the Prairie Pipe Line Co. can lay the 45 miles of pipe between the field and the trunk line at Addington, Okla., and 90 days makes a big difference in an oil field, so it was up to us to make some provision to take care of the producers who are to become our patrons.

"The Ryan tank farm at Temple has one 55,000-barrel tank complete, another one nearly so, and an additional one of this size and two 35,000-barrel tanks on the way to the farm. We also plan the erection of some tankage at Burkburnett, and in this way will be able to take care of the capacity of our 6-inch line, and something additional."

The line of the Prairie Pipe Line Company's lines from Addington will be a six-inch line, this being due to inability to secure eibht-inch pipe, Mr. Fitzpatrick stated.

The Prairie Oil & Gas Company is one of the pioneer operators in the Mid-Continent field, having owned the first pipe line west of the Mississippi. They are one of the largest buyers of crude oil in the country and probably the largest operating in the Mid-Continent fields. This company was the first to post the recent advance in the price for Mid-Continent crude, being soon followed by the other companies. What has been the history of our relations in the Mid-Continent fields," said Mr. Fitzpatrick. "We first posted our prices and the other companies have met them."

Mr. Meyer, who will be the local representative, has only recently rejoined the company, coming to them from the department of the interior, where he was for a number of years private secretary to Secretaries Fisher and Lane.

While he stated that he "had no opinion" as to the price of oil, Mr. Fitzpatrick, in commenting on the general situation, stated that the supply was good, and that new pools being discovered and new wells being brought in in the old fields was keeping the supply pretty well up to normal.

The company is capitalized at $100,000.

SWEDGING PIPE ON FORE FARM TEST FOR SETTING OF PACKER

The Grisdale and Erickson test on the Fore farm, northeast of the city, is now swedging pipe, preparatory to setting a packer and running 5 3-16 inch pipe, according to information received at the lease today. Interest is increasing daily in this test, as is indicated by the high price of acreage and there have been many rumors afloat as in the past, especially since the two 1600-barrel tanks were hauled to the lease. Reports that preparations are being made to shoot the well this week were current on the streets, but representatives of the company at the lease stated that this was incorrect, as the 5 3-16 inch casing has not yet been set.

The sand which preparations are now being made to test is around 2200 feet, the sand entered some time ago, causing a sensation at that time because of the oil and gas showing. Work has been unusually slow because of the bad weather, which has prevailed practically since the sand was struck.

TEXT PRESIDENT WILSON'S MESSAGE.

Specific recommendation has been made by the attorney general in this regard. I would strongly urge upon you its immediate adoption as it constitutes one of the preliminary steps to this campaign. I also renew my recommendation that the congress pass a law regulating cold storage as it is regulated, for example, by the laws of the state of New Jersey, which limits the time during which goods may be kept in storage, prescribe the methods of disposing of them if kept beyond the permitted period and require that goods released from storage shall in all cases bear the date of their receipt. It would materially add to the serviceability of the law for the purpose we now have in view if it were also prescribed that all goods released from storage for interstate shipment should have plainly marked upon each package the selling or market price at which they went into storage. By this means the purchaser would always be able to learn what profits stood between him and the producer or the wholesale dealer.

I would also renew my recommendation that all goods destined for interstate commerce should in every case where their form or package make it possible be plainly marked with the price at which they left the hands of the prorducer.

License for Corporations.

We should formulate a law requiring a federal license of all corporations engaged in interstate commerce and embodying in the license or in the condition upon which it is to be issued, specific regulations designed to secure competitive selling and prevent unconscionable profits in the method of marketing. Such a law would afford a welcome opportunity to effect other much needed reforms in the business of interstate shipment and in the methods of corporations which are engaged in it; but for the moment I confine my recommendations to the object immediately in hand, which is to lower the cost of living.

No one who has observed the march of events in the last year can fail to note the absolute need of a definite program to bring about an improvement in the conditions of labor. There can be no settled conditions leading to increased production and a reduction in the cost of living if labor and capital are to be antagonistic instead of partners. Sound thinking and an honest desire to serve the interests of the whole nation as distinguished from the interests of a class must be applied to the solution of this great and pressing problem. The failure of other nations to consider this matter in a vigorous way has produced bitterness and jealousies and antagonisms, the food of radicalism. The only way to keep men from agitating against grievances is to remove the grievances.

Remedy Must Be Positive.

An unwillingness even to discuss these matters produces only dissatisfaction and gives comfort to the extreme elements in our country which endeavor to stir disturbances in order to provoke governments to embark upon a course of retaliation and repression. The seed of revolution is repression. The remedy for these things things must not be negative in character. It must be constructive. It must comprehend the general interest. Th antidote for the unrest which manifests itself is not suppression but a deep consideration of the wrongs that beset our national life and the application of a remedy.

Congress has already shown its willingness to deal with these industrial wrongs by establishing the eight-hour day as the standard in every field of labor. It has sought to find a way to prevent child labor. It has served the whole country by leading the way in developing the means of preserving and safeguarding lives and health in dangerous industries. It must now help in the difficult task of finding a method that will bring about a genuine democratization of industry based upon the full recognition of the right of those who work, in whatever rank, to participate in some organic way in every decision which directly affects their welfare. It is with this purpose in mind that I called a conference to meet in Washington on December 1, to consider these problems in all their broad aspects with the idea of bringing about a better understanding between these two interests.

Put House In Order.

The great unrest throughout the world out of which has emerged a demand for an immediate consideration of the difficulties between capital and labor, bids up put our own house in order. Frankly, there can be no permanent and lasting settlements between capital and labor which do not recognize the fundamental concepts for which labor has been struggling throughout the years. The whole world gave its recognition and endorsement to these fundamental purposes in the league of nations. The statesmen gathered at Versailles recognized the fact that world stability could not be had by reverting to industrial standards and considerations against which the average workman of the world had revolted. It is, therefore, the task of statesmen of this new day of change and readjustment to recognize world conditions and to seek to bring about through legislation conditions that will mean the ending of age long antagonisms between capital and labor and that will hopefully lead the building up of a comradeship which will result not only in greater contentment among the mass of workmen but also bring about a greater production and a greater prosperity to business itself.

Demand Adequate Wage.

To analyze the particulars in the demands of labor is to admit the justice of their complaint in many matters that lie at their basis. The workman demands an adequate wage, sufficient to permit him to live in comfort, unhampered by the fear of poverty and want in his old age. He demands the right to live and the right to work amidst sanitary surroundings both in home and in workshop, surroundings that develop and do not retard his own health and well-being, and the right to provide for his childrens' wants in the matter of health and education. In other words it is his desire to make the conditions of his life and the lives of those dear to him tolerable and easy to bear. The establishment of the principles regarding labor laid down in the covenant of the league of nations offer us the way to industrial peace and conciliations. No other road lies open to us. Not to pursue this one is longer to invite enmities, bitterness and antagonisms which in the end only lead to industrial and social disaster. The unwilling workman is not a profitable servant. An employee whose industrial life is hedged about by hard and unjust conditions which he did not create and over which he has no control lacks that fine spirit of enthusiasm and voluntary effort which are the necessary ingredients of a great producing entity. Let us be frank about this solemn matter. The evidences of world-wide unrest which manifest themselves in violence throughout the world bid us pause and consider the means to be found to stop the spread of this contagious thing before it saps the very vitality of the nation itself. Do we gain strength by withholding the remedy? Or is it not the best of statesmen to treat the manifestations of unrest which meet us on every hand as evidences of an economic disorder and to apply constructive remedies wherever necessary, being sure that in the application of the remedy we touch not the vital tissues of our industrial and economic life? There can be no recession of the tide of unrest until constructive instrumentalities are set up to stem that tide.

Collective Bargaining.

Governments must recognize the rights of men collectively to bargain for humane objects that have at their base the mutual protection and welfare of those engaged in all industries. Labor must not be longer treated as a commodity. It must be regarded as the activity of human beings possessed of deep yearnings and desire. The business man gives his best thought to the repair and replenishment of his machinery so that its usefulness will not be impaired and its power to produce may always be at its height and kept in full vigor and motion. No less regard ought to be paid to the human machine which after all propels the machinery of the world and is the great dynamic force that lies back of all industry and progress. Return to the old standards of labor and wages in industry is unthinkable. The terrible tragedy of war which has just ended and which has brought the world to the verge of chaos and disaster would be in vain if there should ensue a return to the conditions of the past. Europe itself whence has come the unrest which now holds the world at bay is an example of standpatism in these vital human matters which America might well accept as an example, not to be followed, but studiously to be avoided. Europe made America the differential and the price of it all is enmity and antagonism and prostrated industry. The right of labor to live in peace and comfort must be recognized by governments and America should be the first to lay the foundation stones upon which industrial peace shall be built.

Labor not only is entitled to an adequate wage but the shop should receive a reasonable return upon its investment and is entitled to protection and the hands of the government in every emergency. No government worthy of the name "can play" the elements against each other, for there is a mutuality of interest between them which the government must seek to express and safeguard at all cost.

Right to Strike.

The right of individuals to strike is inviolate and ought not to be interfered with by any process of government, but there is a predominant right of the government to protect all of its people and to assert its power and majesty against the challenge of any class. The government, when it asserts that right, seeks not to antagonize a class but simply to defend the right of the whole people against the irreparable harm and injury that might be done by the attempt of any class to usurp a power that only government itself has a right to exercise as a protection to all.

In the matter of international disputes which have led to war, statesmen have sought to set up as a remedy arbitration for war. Does this not point the way for the settlement of industrial disputes, by the establishment of a tribunal, fair and just alike to all, which will settle industrial disputes which in the past have led to war and disaster? America, witnessing the evil consequences which have followed out of such disputes between these contending forces, must not admit itself impotent to deal with these matters by means of peaceful processes. Surely there must be some method of bringing together in a council of peace and amity these two great interests, out of which will come a happier day of peace and co-operation, a day that will make th m more hopeful and enthusiastic in their various tasks, that will make for more comfort and happiness in living and a more tolerable condition among all classes of men. Certainly human intelligence can devise some acceptable tribunal for adjusting the differences between capital and labor.

This is the hour of test and trial for America. By her prowess and strength and the indomitable courage of her soldiers she demonstrated her power to vindicate on foreign battle fields her conceptions of liberty and justice. Let not her influence as a mediator between capital and labor be weakened and her own failure to settle matters of purely domestic concern be proclaimed to the world.

There are those in this country who threaten direct action to force their will upon a majority. Russia today, with its blood and terror is a painful object lesson of the power of minorities. It makes little difference what minority it is; whether capital or labor, or any other class; no sort of privilege will ever be permitted to dominate this country. We are a partnership or nothing that is worth while. We are a democracy where the majority are masters, are all the hopes and purposes of the men who founded this government have been defeated and forgotten. In America there is but one way by which great reforms can be accomplished and the relief sought by classes obtained and that is through the orderly procession of representative government. Those who would propose any other method of reform are enemies of this country. America will not be daunted by threats nor lose her composure or calmness in these distressing times. We can afford in the midst of this day of passion and unrest to be self contained and sure. The instrument of all reform in America is the ballot. The road to economic and social reform in America is the straight road of justice to all classes and conditions of men. Men have but to follow this road to realize the full fruition of their objects and purposes. Let those beware who would take the shorter road of disorder and revolution. The right road is the road of justice and orderly process.

KING CHARGED WITH CARRYING A PISTOL

A complaint alleging the carrying of a pistol was filed in county criminal court Tuesday against H. H. King, former member of the police force and who was taken into custody Monday charged with receiving a bribe.

The complaint alleging the carrying of concealed weapons was filed by Assistant County Attorney John M. Martin following the disclosure that King had been suspended from the police force several days ago. King told local officials that he came here about six weeks ago from Kansas City, where he had served for a long period as a member of the police force.

HIGH SCHOOL YOUTHS CHARGED WITH GAMING

Ten high school youths, of whom one made his getaway, were interrupted in a sociable game of "galloping dominoes" Tuesday about noon by City Detectives Overbay and Johnson, and nine of the number were successfully corralled and brought to the city hall on charges of gaming. The game was in progress in the rear of a brick building now under construction near the high school and according to the informant who turned the boys in, it has been a daily diversion at that place. All of the boys were released on $15.00 bonds for appearance Wednesday morning in police court.

Bay City Production Co.

Making Progress on Their Well near the Texhoma Wells.

Bose Reader, secretary of the Bay City Production Co., reports that the company's well near the Texhoma wells in the Daniel survey, is progressing well in spite of unfavorable weather, and is now down more than 900 feet.

The Bay City Production Co. is drilling on a 60-acre lease just five-eighths of a mile southwest of the Texhoma's two big wells, and the owners feel sure of getting a good well. This company is composed of Judge Jno. W. Gaines of Bay City and Bose Reader of Wichita Falls, and no stock has so far been offered for sale. The lease is growing more valuable every day and when the well comes in the property will be among the most valuable in the Northwest field.

The developing of this property in the Roller survey brings the oil producing area nearer and nearer to Wichita Falls, and the East Wichita and Jolly wells promise to bring the proven area still nearer.

The Bay City Production Co. is in the hands of experienced oil men and the progress of this well will be watched with interest by the oil fraternity.—adv. 186-1tp

NEBRASKA WOMEN SEEK AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION

LINCOLN, Neb. Dec. 2.—Amendment of the Nebraska constitution so as to give women unrestricted voting privileges will be sought by the Nebraska woman suffrage association through a state constitutional convention which went into session today to revise the state's constitution.

Under the state's partial suffrage law, women have only limited suffrage rights. They are prevented by constitutional provision from voting for such candidates seeking offices which are provided for by the constitution. This makes it impossible for them to vote for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, commissioners of public lands and buildings, members of the state railway commission, members of the legislature, United States senators, United States representatives, delegates to constitutional conventions, questions proposed by or submitted under the Nebraska initiative and referendum law, and members of the judiciary except municipal court judges at Omaha.

They may vote, however, for non-constitutional officers, including presidential electors, local officers and issues, party national committeemen, delegates to national political conventions and precinct delegates and committeemen.

Any amendment giving women full voting rights will have to be approved by the male voters at the next general election, however, before it becomes effective, as will any other changes in the constitution that the constitutional convention delegates may make.

The present constitution of Nebraska has been in force since 1875. The convention is the outgrowth of a popular demand for revision on the ground that the constitution does not meet the modern needs of the state. The call for the convention was approved by the voters in the fall of 1918, following which the next regular legislature made provision for selection of delegates. The delegates were elected last November 4th, on a non-partisan basis.

BEAUMONT GRAND JURY BLAMES THE PUBLIC FOR HIGH COST OF LIVING

BEAUMONT, TEX., Dec. 2.—Blaming the buying public for high prices because "there is a spirit of extravagance prevailing among the consumers," and "the purchasing class appears entirely willing to pay any price asked," the Jefferson county grand jury, in 60th district court, reported its findings in an investigation of the high cost of living.

The report said:

"The testimony of merchants and dealers had a singular coincidence in the complaint against the consuming public, that there is a spirit of extravagance prevailing among the consumers. We heard witness after witness repeat that prospective purchasers whether rich or poor, demand the best there is in the market. They demand the very highest quality of food, of clothing and everything that enters into the needs of living. There is a lack of discrimination, an entire absence of selection with a view to saving. We find people are indulging in luxuries to an abnormal extent. We, therefore, confess a certain timidity about making suggestions. Nevertheless, we believe that conditions eventually will right themselves.

"We believe that constant application of the principle of frugality; discrimination in buying, seeking and patronizing the merchants who offer goods at reduced prices; eliminating luxuries; saving with that same care and precision that was practiced during the war; elimination of excess in everything and the insistence of the purchaser upon the lowest price consistent with living profit will eventually bring about a lower price level.

"This condition can also be hastened by merchants and dealers and laborers manifesting a broad patriotism and a spirit of unselfishness, by voluntarily confining themselves to profits, wages and salaries which will safely carry them over this period of feverish indifference and rioting excess. We commend all classes of people to the wisdom of making purchases carefully, patronizing those who sell the cheapest and insisting that each factor in the handling of the goods demand of every other factor that smaller profits be accepted, as an emergency.

"We believe also that the policy of the consumer to use sparingly of any product which attains an exorbitant price will have the effect to reduce the price of that commodity."

High profits, the report declared, are being taken but no instance was found of "malicious or vicious profiteering in the county."

The jury was unable "with all its investigation to form a definite conclusion as to the reason for the high cost of living."

CLEVELANDERS WANT CURE FOR TRAFFIC CONGESTION

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 2.—Cleveland is suffering acutely from congestion and a clinic composed of public officials and traffic experts are planning relief through a system of subways, elevated lines or short tubes through the downtown district.

H. M. Brinkerhoff, representing a New York engineering firm, is making the survey and municipal officials expect to whip the data into shape for presentation to the voters at a special election on February 10th. It was believed any one of the three ways of relieving congestion will be approved.

Officials based their confidence for acceptance on the keen rivalry between the citiens of Cleveland and Detroit. This rivalry has existed for many years. Detroit has been agitating for some form of rapid transit for a long time without success. Clevelanders recognize an opportunity to give the laugh to the automobile city.

The cost of carrying out any one of the projects under discussion was estimated at around $21,000,000.

Notice.

FRISCO RAILROAD MAY SUSPEND ALL OKLAHOMA TRAFFIC

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Dec. 2.

Suspension of all traffic over the Frisco lines out of Oklahoma City is only a matter of hours unless the coal shortage facing the company is relieved in some way, while all railroad traffic here may be tied up by the end of the week, according to local railroad officials.

"We had a 48-hour supply Sunday morning, but received no coal Sunday or Monday," H. C. Conley, assistant general freight agent of the Frisco, said last night. "Unless we are able to get coal at once we may be able to run a few trains Wednesday, but the chances are that we will not. Other roads are also hard hit by the shortage and four or five days will exhaust the entire supply unless some coal is obtained from heretofore unknown sources."

On account of the large number of oil burning locomotives on the Santa Fe that road is not in as bad condition as the Rock Island, Frisco and M. K. & T., but all of the roads report only a few days' coal supply with little prospect of obtaining more when the amount now on hand is exhausted.

The embargo placed on all freight except fuel, perishables, merchandise and foodstuffs by the Frisco is daily adding to the congestion on other lines and there is a further congestion due to the embargo on all shipments to Kansas City, which held up to 12:30 p. m. Sunday.

The street railway company has a supply of coal to last three days. Its capacity for storing fuel is limited to a three day's supply and in event of suspension of railroad traffic the street car system soon would be at a traffic for twenty-four hours. It was in effect from Saturday at 12:30 p. m.

PRAIRIE FIRES SET OFF SHELLS IN WAR AREA

LAON, France.—(By Mail)—Though the war is over, residents of the devastated districts of France are daily fleeing from bursts of shell and shrapnel.

The new menace is caused by the small grass and swamp fires which are following an unusually dry period in Northern France, which frequently set off the shells that have been piled up to be hauled away and exploded in some safe place.

Major H. C. Greene, of Boston, Mass., had a thrilling ride and narrowly escaped a hail of shrapnel on his way from St. Quentin to Laon this week as a result of one of these fires. A French woman working in a field near Bouconville was painfully gassed and considerable property damage has been done.

In the vast, desolate fields, thousands of unexploded shells have been picked up by German prisoners and though there are details hauling them away and setting them off in remote valleys every day, there are still long ranks of them everywhere. Sparks from locomotives and from small fires where battlefield rubbish is being burned, occasionally set fire to patches of dry weeds and the accidental bursts are numerous. Roads passing places where shells are being set off are guarded but it is from the accidental blasts that the danger comes.

Major Greene, was driving along a road to one of the villages where he has a committee at work, when a small prairie fire reached stray shells just over a hill near the road. A fragment whizzed near his head. He put on full speed but several other explosions followed quickly and one piece of shrapnel tore through the top of his automobile. When he reached safety he made a circuit of the district and warned the residents not to enter the road until the grass fires had burned out.

The French woman who was gassed was almost a quarter of a mile away from the bursting shell, but in a valley. She was rushed to one of the Red Cross stations and was found to be painfully burned but not internally injured. Residents of the Aisne district are depending upon the early rival of the fall rains to end this danger, which has been the most serious faced since the work of reconstruction began.

FORMER SWEETHEART OF WOMEN MURDERED QUESTIONED BY COURT

LAWTON, MICH., Dec. 2.—Joseph Virgo, former sweetheart of Maud Faith Tabor, whose body was found in a trunk in the basement of the Tabor home, was brougut here early to day to tell the coroner's judy of his relations with the dead woman.

Virgo was apprehended in Chicago. He was formerly an undertaker and embalmer here. When taken into custody he admitted he was a man of many loves, having been married five times.

He had charge of many business deals for her aged mother, Sarah Tabor, and for the brother of the dead woman, Walter, who are being sought in connection with the case. Friends stated the mother and son are believed touring in California.

Mrs. Florence Tabor Critchlow, sister of Maud, who refused to answer any questions when summoned before the coroner's jury, was held in jail here today as a witness.

Practically all acquaintances of the Tabor family agree that Maud disappeared in the summer of 1915. This is disputed by Dr. W. R. Young, who declared she called at his office for treatment early in 1916.

The body had evidently been in the trunk about three years. It was in a good state of preservation, however, and indications were that it had been embalmed. Two large sacks of salt jammed into the trunk also aided in the preservation.

Dr. Young stated examination of the body proved the woman was about to become a mother at the very hour when she met her death.

The other three members of the family have lived at the Tabor homestead off and on since Maud disappeared.

CHINAMPA WELLS IN MEXICO QUIT FLOWING

LAREDO, TEXAS, Dec. 2.—A dispatch from Tampico received here states seven of the principal oil wells of Chinampa have ceased flowing or that only salt water flows from them, which leads to belief that mineral oil in that region is exhausted. Two of the largest oil wells ever brought in were struck in that region, but they were short lived.

PRESS OF MEXICO WANTS MEETING TO DISCUSS SITUATION

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The Associated Press has received the following message from representative newspapers of Mexico:

"The undersigned representatives of the most important groups of the republic of Mexico are well aware of the possible imminence of a rupture in the relations between the United States and Mexico.

"We believe that such a rupture would be due to lack of a mutual understanding of both peoples; whereupon we have applied today to President Carranza suggesting the appointing of a delegation formed by two secretaries of his cabinet, two senators, two representatives of the house and three private citizens which may put itself in touch with a similar delegation appointed by the United States governments, thus avoiding consequences that may fall upon our countries as an outcome of enmity.

"We earnestly invite you, invoking the world partnership of the press, to give your support to this meeting and to ask President Wilson to accept the move we are here proposing."

When Is a Drink Not a Drink? Is Question Raised

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—"When is a drink not a drink?" another conundrum bred of prohibition was sprung in supreme court here today. The answer was—when it was taken at meals for food or alimentary purposes at home, hotels and restaurants.

This contention was made by counsel for Howard Major of this city, a stockholder in the American Maize Grain Company, a $13,000,000 corporation, in a suit brought against ers of directors, combatting their action in selling out at a loss to another corporation. The plaintiff asserted that if they had obtained "competent legal advice," they would have "known" that the words "beverage purposes" in the federal prohibition amendment did not mean "total prohibition."

QUEEN MOTHER HAS A BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Queen-Mother Alexander celebrated her 75th birthday today, and in honor of the event salutes were fired at noon in St. James' Park, London and at Windsor. Flags were flown on all government buildings. At Marlborough House, the queen-mother's London residence, there was a constant stream of distinguished callers desirous of signing the visitors' book and tendering birthday congratulations. King George and Queen Mary and the other members of the royal family were early visitors. There were also many humble callers, whose offerings of flowers and similar small gifts proved passports through the cordon of police and military sentries.

From the day of her arrival here to marry the late King Edward in 1863, the Danish princess of whom Tennyson wrote his "Sea-King's Daughter from over the Sea," established herself in the affections of her adopted country and is probably the most reversed woman in English today.

Time seems too have almost passed her by from all outward appearances for even at her present great age, the queen-mother is a strikingly beautiful woman, and still looks years younger than her daughters. Of late, however, she has had to use a stick when walking and cannot take much exercise. Otherwise her health continues fairly good.

TEXAS GAME WARDENS ARE GIVEN INSTRUCTIONS

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 2.—Texas game wardens have been instructed to arrest proprietors of restaurants selling game birds, waiters serving them and customers buying them.

PICKING "ALL-AMERICAN" FOOTBALL TEAM FOR YEAR HAZARDOUS UNDERTAKING

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Picking an "all-American" team always entailed a degree of risk. This year it would be a hazard.

The crop of football stars this season was large and widely scattered. Brilliant players swarmed over the east, west and south. Some of their deeds have acclaimed their greatness from the housetops like Harley, Ohio; Cody, Vanderbilt; Trimble, Princeton and Rodgers, West Virginia. But there are countless others almost as deserving who played outside the spotlight and spent their efforts in the "bush leagues," far from fame and recognition.

I am familiar only with the teams of the east. If a team had to be picked on first hand information it would consist almost entirely of eastern players and that obviously would be unfair to the west and south where football just as good is played by players just as good as in the east.

All-Eastern Team.

It is thought best to name an "all-eastern" team and mention merely the possibilities of an "all-American" eleven without definite selections.

The following "all-eastern" team contains the nucleus of an "all-American":

Robertson, Syracuse, center.
Alexander, Syracuse, right guard.
Henry, Washington and Jefferson, right tackle.
Heinie Miller, Pennsylvania, right end.
Trimble, Princeton, quarterback.
Halfbacks Casey, Harvard and Gill, Colgate; fullback Rodgers, West Virginia.

Deserving Mention.

Players deserving mention are:

Ends: Desmond, Harvard; Carroll, Washington and Jefferson; Durnoe, Lafayette; Brown, Syracuse; Black, Army; Garrett, Rutgers; Fincher, Georgia Tech; Zerefoss, Vanderbilt; Faulk, Washington State; Meyers, Wisconsin.

Tackles: Hoople, Syracuse; Murphy, Dartmouth; Little, Pensylvania; Bonner, Alabama; Bethel, Washington and Lee; Majors, California.

Guards: Barton, Colgate; McGraw, Princeton; Galt, Yale; Caughey, Stanford; Deepter, Illinois.

Centers: Callahan, Yale; Day, University of Georgia; Wray, Pennsylvania; Conover, Pennsylvania State; Carpenter, Wisconsin.

Quarterbacks: Boynton, Williams; Anderson, Colgate; McMillan, Center; Ackley, Syracuse; Robb, Pennsylvania State; Bloss, Stevens; Stinchcomb, Ohio State; A. Devine, Iowa.

Halfbacks: Erwig, Syracuse; Robertson, Dartmouth; Hastings, Pittsburgh; Fletcher, Illinois; Flowers, Georgia Tech; Oss, Minnesota; Gipp, Notre Dame; Rahan, Notre Dame.

Fullbacks: Harlan, Georgia Tech; Braden, Yale; Stevenson, Alabama; Wells, California.

PRINCETON TEAM REAL SCRAPPERS OF SEASON

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Princeton has the king fighting team of the season.

There's something extraordinary in an eleven that tied Harvard and beat Yale after it had been discouraged, disheartened and partially dishonored by losses to Colgate and West Virginia.

The punch of the Tiger in its most crucial games, the spirit that made it fight against tremendous odds of weight and prestige, has an element in it akin to the "Yankee stuff" that walloped the kaiser.

Every one of those Tigers was in Uncle Sam's lineup in the biggest game of history. Several of them stepped out of a uniform with gold stripes on each arm into the gridiron togs of Old Nassau.

Hank McGraw, captain of the team, was a major in the infantry and lost a finger on his left hand during his "hitch" at the front. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the first officers' training camp and was among the first across. Two promotions for meritorious conduct placed a bronze leaf on his shoulder straps.

Puffy Bigler was an ensign in naval aviation and Williams was top sergeant in the Princeton unit, Base hospital No. 8.

Dickinson and Mike Callahan were in the naval reserve. Parisette served as a first lieutenant in the 312th Infantry and Stan Keck drove an ambulance in one of the Princeton units. Lourie and Garrity were in the naval reserves. Jack Strubing did "two bits," first with the American legion and later with the U. S. Marines. Maury Trimble was a naval aviator.

On down through the list including most of the substitutes the Tigers had a part in the game that gave birth in them the "never lose" spirit.

Several o fthe Tigers are all around men. Dickinson is a letter man on the track team handling the hammer and weight events. He is also the center on the basketball team.

Garrity is also a baseball star, being the captain and third baseman of the freshman team. Lourie is a star track man in the dash events. Jack Strubing is the star centerfielder of the baseball nine.

"Man on the Box" Guided Destinies of Astor Campaign

PLYMOUTH, ENG.—It was an up-to-date "man on the box" who guided the destinies of Lady Astor's campaign to determine whether she would be the first woman Commoner of England.

More than a score of newspaper correspondents, who trailed Lady Astor during her electioneering and junketing about Plymouth, had difficulty for some time in learning in advance where she intended to make her next appeal for votes. The reason developed when it was learned that it was neither Lady Astor nor Lord Astor who was guiding her meanderings, but the ruddy-faced, bulky old coachman—Churchwood, who had been serving the Astor family through three political battles. He acknowledged that he had been made director general of Lady Astor's campaign.

Silk-hatted and officious executives of the Unionist party held council daily and drafted the candidate's strategic moves, but it was Churchwood—also silk-hatted though less officious—who really determined whether these plans should be executed or vetoed.

Lady Astor would enter her carriage in the morning, Churchwood would whip up the elegant pair of sorrels and the candidate would roll away, unmindful of whither she was bound. If Churchwood from his vantage point saw a street-corner gathering or a lowly abode where Lady Astor might get a hearing, he would rein in the horses without asking leave, and let her do the rest.

When the speech and the ensuing cross-fire of questions had ended, or when Churchwood sensed a waning in the interest of the auditors, he would jerk a preemptory thumb in the direction of the back seat, saying: "Get in." Whereupon Lady Astor would resume her place in the carriage and it would proceed to the next halt.

When Lord Astor ended the previous campaign, Churchwood delivered his felicitations and went back to his regular occupation as stableman with one of the Plymouth coach services. But this time he was ambitious, as he confided to the correspondent of the Associated Press, to journey to London with Lady Astor, should she be successful, and there was no person in Plymouth, not excepting Lady Astor herself, who was more certain of the outcome of the election than Churchwood.

He was hopeful that in a few months he would be driving her from her residence to the house of commons and waiting for her to finish haranguing in the house, but was a bit fearful lest she should elect a motor for her London needs. In that event Churchwood intended to reserve his curry-comb and hoof-hook and go back to his livery stable to await the next Astor campaign.

UNIVERSITY HAS A WELL EQUIPPED CARPENTER SHOP

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Dec. 2.—One of the most efficient departments of the University of Texas is the carpenter shop located in the west wing of the power building. Occupying about 3,500 feet of floor space, and giving employment to six men, it turns out $30,000 of work per year at an actual saving to the university of 40 per cent on all jobs. All carpenter work around the university is done by the men of the shop under the direction of the foreman, Ernest Huffman.

The shop was founded in 1899 by Dr. W. T. Mather, head of the school of physics. At that time it occupied a small room in the basement of the main building, possessed no machinery, and utilized the services of one man. In 1904 the amount of work demanded became so great that Dr. Mather relinquished control, and the supervising of the shop passed into the hands of Dr. Scott, who remained in charge for five years, when Dr. Nathan Brown took over its management. Dr. Brown remained in charge until 1913, when the supervising of the shop passed into the hand of I. P. Lockridge, present business manager of the university.

At present it is one of the most complete and up-to-date woodworking shops in the state. It contains some $7,000 worth of machinery. A cabinet planer made especially for this shop, and which will be the only one of its kind in the state, has been ordered from New York. The shop charged 10 per cent on all work, and with the fund realized buys all of its equipment. The machinery consists of a jointer, moulder, ripsaw, mortise machine, shaper, two drill presses, a sander, wood turning lathe and a machine lathe.

When the school of military aeronautics was opened, a number of models used by the student aviators were built in this shop. An actual wooden working model of a gas engine; a working model of a machine gun, models of magnetos, and other airplane appliances were among the things constructed in the shop. Before work at handling the model gas engine was given to the university carpentery shop, it was tendered to several New York concerns who refused it because they were unable to do the work.

At present there is a stock of about $1,800 worth of hardware and lumber in the shop. The tools used by the workmen are their personal property, each man having his own complete kit.

The Episcopl ladies will hold a food sale on Saturday in connection with their bazaar; in old Bert Bean Bldg. 186-4to

SOME FANCY PRICES PAID FOR OIL LEASES IN TILLMAN COUNTY

GRANDFIELD, Dec. 2.—New York City and Buffalo capitalists have been plunging in Tillman county leases the past week, paying $451,000 for one tract of 135 acres, one tract of 80 acres bringing $3,000 an acre.

Here are the details of the transactions, giving acreage, location and price paid:

Forty acres in section 12-5S-15 west, $60,000.

Thirty acres in section 12-5S-15 west $51,000.

Forty acres in section 12-5S-14 west, $100,000.

Eighty acres in the same vicinity, the correct location not ascertained by the writer, brought $240,000, or $3,000 an acre.

The south part of the county is literally alive with lease hounds and lease buyers, and it is expected that prices soon will greatly exceed those now being paid.

FORMER SOLDIER WHO SERVED OVERSEAS IS ON TRIAL FOR INSANITY

A returned soldier who fought on the battlefields of France with a regular army division of the American Expeditionary Forces, is on trial in county court this afternoon on a lunacy charge. The young man recently received his discharge after more than eighteen months' service in France. He is said to have gone through some of the most terrific fighting on the Western front and physicians believe that his mental breakdown is due to shellshock or other nervous disturbances caused by months spent in the trenches. Physicians are attempting to determine whether it is better to place the young man in an institution for the insane or to send him to his parents who reside in New Mexico.

The young man entered the sheriff's office here a few days ago and asked that he be placed in confinement. He told officers that he was afflicted with "spells" of insanity and felt like one of the "spells" was approaching. The young man had only been placed in confinement a short time, when, it is stated, he was completely overcome with a fit of insanity.

SHOWING OF OIL AND GAS IN WELLS ACROSS RIVER FROM MONTAGUE COUNTY

NOCONA, TEX., Dec. 2.—The Red River Valley test on the W. W. Jones farm is drilling at 1,555, having cased with the 10-inch at 1,315 feet, and from setting the 10-inch the hole has been dry. Around 1,320 feet a very hard lime was struck which some think corresponds to the formation known at Burkburnett as the caprock and this is said to come in at about this level and that the Burk pay sand is picked up close to 350 feet below this rock. Anyway this well has been bothered very little with water since setting the 12 1-2-inch at 900 feet, and has been drilling in shales and lime shells alternating since passing through the "caprock," and is now working in blue shale.

The Empire test to the northeast about six miles and on the Oklahoma side had what was considered a two-barrel showing in three feet of sand found near the 1,600-foot depth.

The Marion Oil & Gas Company test in section 10-7s-6w and on the Oklahoma side also and about four miles to the northwest had a good gas showing at 1,563 feet.

Taking these showings into account and the favorable conditions at the Jones farm well, it begins to look like something worth while would develop at this well.

The Nocona Oil & Gas Company strike was made at 2,340 feet where two to three million feet of gas was found. However, the sand was merely tapped. This well is underreaming preparatory to drilling in.

Word was received today that the rig had been shipped for the Salt Creek Oil & Gas Company test on the Wilson farm out northwest of Nocona.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

New York Stocks, Grain and Provisions, Cotton and Livestock.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Stocks were under moderate pressure at the opening of today's session, the death of Henry C. Frick probably exerting a sentimental influence. Recessions among speculative shares extended from fractions to two points. The market rallied within the first half hour, however, on buying of standard rails, steels and various other leaders. General Motors featured the rally at a 5-point gain.

The market became listless at midday when the attention of traders was devoted to the reading of the president's message as reproduced by the news tickers. Changes were partly in the direction of improvement, steels, oils and specialties rising over maximum quotations of the morning.

Prices at 2:55 p. m. today for liberty bonds were: 3½s, 99.70; first 4s, 93.70; second 4s, 91.60; first 4¼s, 94.00; second 4¼s, 92.96; third 4¼s, 94.00; fourth 4¼s, 91.70; victory 3¾s, 98.94; victory 4¾s, 98.96.

COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The cotton market showed renewed firmness, opening 10 to 15 points higher on buying promoted by the settlement of the New England textile strike, relatively firm cables and reports of spot demand. December touched 39 cents, another new record. January sold at 36.75 and March at 34.77, or 40 or 50 points net higher.

The forenoon advance extended to 39.25 for December or 75 points net higher, while later months sold 55 to 71 points higher. There was more realizing at this and reactions of 15 to 20 points followed the publication of the president's message.

December shorts seemed to find increased diffulty in covering during the early afternoon and forced the price up to 39.70 or 120 points net higher. Later months sold 57 to 71 points net higher with January touching 36.92 and March 34.90.

Cotton closed firm.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 2.—Much better cables than due and the reported settlement of the Fall River textile strike were responsible for a buying wave on the opening of the cotton market today. In the first half hour of trading prices rose 44 to 50 points.

Reports of a good spot demand at higher prices in the interior increased the strength of the contract market. Late in the morning the trading months were at net advances of 55 to 67 points.

The market turned dull, but retained a very steady undertone, standing at 1 o'clock 5 to 10 points down from the highest.

Cotton closed very steady at an advance of 7 to 65 points.

Liverpool Cotton.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 2.—Cotton spot in fair demand; prices steady. Good middling 26.36; fully middling 25.26; middling 24.26; low middling 22.81; good ordinary 19.86; ordinary 18.86. GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Although some hesitation at first in the corn market today resulted from severe depression of foreign exchange and from lower quotations on hogs, corn soon took a decided upturn in prices. Opening prices which ranged ¼c decline to ¾c advance were followed by material gains all around. Oats rose with corn.

A big decrease shown in the stock of short ribs here tended to lift provisions.

Corn closed firm, 2½c to 3¾c net higher.

TEMPERATURE DROPS TO 22 DEGREES TODAY

Wichita Falls' gas supply received its severest test of the season Tuesday when the temperature dropped to 22 degrees above zero. In many homes the gas pressure went so low that it was almost impossible to keep a flame burning.

The high school was almost without heat, as were several other of the school buildings and school was dismissed for the day with the hope that Wednesday would see an improvement in conditions.

Continued cold weather, however, was forecast for Wednesday. Snow was reported falling at Electra and some other points along the Fort Worth and Denver.

FIVE DRILLING CONTRACTS FOR WELLS ACROSS RIVER

FREDERICK, OKLA., Dec. 2.—Two new drilling contracts for Tillman county wells are said to be taken by the Fred-Till promoters, one of which is for a well north of Tipton, the derrick for which is now being erected.

The Fred-Till people are said to have $250,000 invested in Tillman county leases, near their test well, which is taken as strong evidence of their faith in that well.

Five drilling contracts are reported to have been let in sections 5, 6 and 7, township 5 south, range 15, south of Grandfield north of the General Oil company's well. The latter well is in the river bed and is a big producer.

CURLEE AND WOODS RETURN FROM HUNT

Walter S. Curlee and Claude Woods returned Monday afternoon from a ten days shooting trip to the Kerr County Club ranch, of which they, with a number of other Wichitans are the owners. Good deer hunting and good fishing are reported by the party, a couple of bucks being among the bag they secured. R. O. Harvey, S. Cullum and N. Chenault arrived at the ranch Saturday just before the departure of this party.

PRAIRIE MAKES FIRST OIL PURCHASE IN DISTRICT

Tuesday morning saw the first oil purchase in the Wichita Falls district by the Prairie Oil & Gas Company. It was not a large purchase, in fact the quantity was exceptionally small.

The purchase was made by W. B. Sutton, superintendent of the land division of the company, and H. A. Meyer, local superintendent.

And the oil purchased consisted of two small cans of kerosene oil destined to be used as fuel in the small stove which was being used to supplement the rather negligible efforts of a steam radiator in the company's temporary office, room 400, in the Westland.

Now Is a Good Time To Drive Out Catarrh

The Trouble Is in the Blood.

Summer catarrh, with its nauseous discharge, stuffed up glands, difficult breathing, and summer colds, is bad enough, but the worst of it is yet to come if you neglect to check the growth that is forming to attack you with ten-fold greater power during the winter. That's why it is so important to treat catarrh with S. S. S. during warm weather.

It is now an established fact that catarrh is in the blood and that lotions and salves do not give relief. The experience of others has proven that S. S. S. strikes at the root of the trouble. Waste no time in this matter, for it is of the utmost importance. Write to our Medical Advisor about your case. Address Swift Specific Co., Dept. 53, Atlanta, Ga.

HAVANA IS CROWDED WITH THOSE LOOKING FOR A REAL "OASIS"

CONDITIONS DISCUSSED BY REPRESENTATIVE OF LOCAL ENTERPRISE.

40,000 PASSPORTS HELD UP

Conditions Were Never Better in Cuba Than at Present Declares Mr. Alper.

"Havana is not what one would call a tight place, though that city is crowded with those who have gone there to find an oasis," declares Morris Alper, Cuban agent for Wichita trucks and for the Kell milling interests, who was in Wichita Falls this week.

"At this time there are 40,000 passports being held up of American citizens who wish to visit Cuba, on account of the lack of accommodations on the island to properly care for them. This gives some idea of the number of thirsty strangers we are now dispensing our hospitality to in Cuba.

"Conditions generally speaking, were never better in Cuba than at present. Our sugar crop has been enormous, with excellent prices. But for all that it is a very difficult thing to obtain sugar in Havana, so great is the world demand for this sweetening.

Town Wide Open.

"Our town is rather wide open. We have very few signs forbidding doing things that a man's conscience ought to be his guide in doing. We have races for those who like to see the ponies go; games of chance for those who like to court the goddess of play and there is an utter lack of prudery in our laws.

"Politically our country is placid. We have had several strikes, but the labor situation is a great deal more tranquil in Cuba than it is in the United States. Our workmen are making more than they ever made before and there is work for all who desire to labor.

"We have a large stock of liquid goods on the island. I might say that we have a very large stock. But it is being attacked by thirsty throats with a desperation that indicates that the stills that make the stuff will soon be forced to work at nights to keep the supply properly supported. Highballs are not served in heavy tea cups, gin rickeys are not dispensed clandestinely and one can see the red cherry at the bottom of the dry manhattan cocktail.

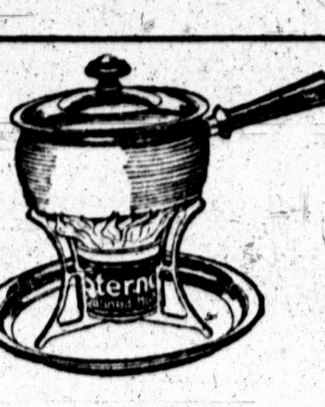

Mecca for Thirsty.

"I should estimate that though prohibition has come to the United States that old time habits are still clung to tenaciously by those who know how to find the brass railing with their feet and who know how to give that educated blow after quaffing the stuff that cheers and causes song to burst forth from throats that have never contained music. At least that is our experience in Havana. Our city is the mecca for the thirsty from the dry land and when they come they are naturally expected to show what they came for.

"Industrially Cuba is an inviting field for those who seek to expand their markets. The people of Cuba have the money to pay for what they get and they want the best. Perhaps that is why we have so many Wichita trucks on the island. There are more Wichita trucks in Cuba than any other two makes of trucks made. They are giving the kind of service that the people of Cuba demand. And if you think the average Cuban with money enough to buy a heavy duty truck does not know what to expect his truck to do, you are very badly off in your estimate of conditions that actually exist.

"I would say to the moneyed men who have fount great wealth in oil around Wichita Falls to come to Cuba, enjoy life and other things, but to do so would be to invite them to suffer inconveniences incidental to an over-crowded city. However should they find the conditions that prevail in the state too circumscribed to suit them, they can take a little trip to Havana, and there they will find that consolation that they now think of in their reveries, and they will be able to bask in as salubrious a climate, under the magic spell of tropical conditions, as exists on this earth."

Mr. Alper says that the business outlook in Cuba is excellent.

HOLD WOMAN AS WITNESS IN LOCAL MANN ACT CASES

With the taking into custody Monday night of a woman who is to be used as a material witness, department of justice officials believe that a gang of Mann act violators known to be operating in the North Texas oil fields will soon be within the hands of the law. Already three men have been arrested within the past two weeks on charges of violating the Mann Act and the woman is being held as a witness for the government. The woman was taken into custody at a local hotel shortly after she arrived here from an Oklahoma town. While she denies knowing any of the persons held on federal charges, department of justice officials are convinced that the woman has valuable information and she is being held in jail pending preliminary hearing before the United States commissioner here of the men held on white slave charges.

It is also believed that the woman has valuable information regarding the illicit shipment of contraband liquor, inasmuch as a man believed to be an acquaintance is being held in the county jail pending action of the grand jury.

D. E. LOCHE DAWS A SUSPENDED SENTENCE

D. E. Loche, charged by indictment with the theft of an automobile and also the theft of a tool joint, entered a plea of guilty before Judge William N. Bonner in the Thirtieth district court Monday afternoon and drew a three-year suspended sentence. Counsel for the defense urged a suspended sentence on the ground that the defendant's offense was due to bad company. Defending attorneys promised the jury that if Loche was granted a suspended sentence he would in the future shun evil associates.

CIVIL CASES SET IN THE COUNTY COURT

The setting of civil cases occupied most of Tuesday in county court. A large number of civil cases were continued by Judge J. P. Jones at the request of attorneys.

The regular term will open Wednesday morning. Several jury cases will be heard and practically the entire docket cleared within a short time, Judge Jones said.

H. R. HARLEY LOCAL LIBERTY SIX DEALER

H. R. Harley, who during the war was a captain in the transportation service of the United States army, and an automobile man of many years experience has entered the local game as distributor for Wichita Falls and surrounding territory for the Liberty Six. Mr. Harley is very high in his claims for the Liberty and is willing to back any assertion with a demonstration. He secured the franchise for this particular car, he stated, as the result of a personal visit to the factory, which impressed him so strongly of the worth of the car and the dependability of the personnel of the factory force.

One thing that impresses the motorist on his first ride in a Liberty car, Mr. Harley says, is the fact that he sits in the car and not on it. The complete ease of operation, due to the arrangement of the steering wheel, gear levers and switch, and the scientifically balanced body are distinguishing marks of the car he asserts.

Mr. Harley is located at 1002-04 Scott at the Edgar Biles building, where he has several different models of the car on display.
