...accepts new post...

Newbury accepts Howard Payne post

Dr. Don Newbury, president of Western Texas College since April of 1981, has accepted a similar post at Howard Payne University in Brownwood, an institution Newbury has been affiliated with all of his life.

He was named the 14th president of Howard Payne Tuesday by a split vote of the 40-plus members of the HPU board of trustees.

Wednesday morning, Newbury said circumstances will dictate that he be on campus in Brownwood at least on a part-time basis as soon as Monday.

He will succeed current HPU President Dr. Ralph Phelps Jr., who has been head of the university since 1980. Phelps will officially retire in May.

A called meeting of the WTC board is now set for Friday morning to discuss procedures for naming Newbury's replacement.

WTC Board President Bill Jones said Wednesday morning that while the board has been aware of Newbury's application at HPU, "We haven't discussed what route we might take to replace him."

Jones added, "We're sorry to lose Don. When you have a quality man, someone's going to want him. He goes with our blessing."

Newbury was informed of the board's decision mid-afternoon Tuesday. He flew to Brownwood to meet with a sub-committee of the board for discussions, "transitional and contractural," he said Wednesday morning.

He noted his employment will be under the same arrangement as the current president, a three-year contract.

Newbury said his decision to accept the post, "is based much on emotion."

"I saw the school as a child, as a student, as an alumnus, as a teacher and as a board member," he said. "I have deep feelings for both it and Brownwood."

Newbury was raised at Early, which adjoins Brownwood. He graduated from Howard Payne with his BA degree, later earning a masters in journalism from the University of Texas at Austin and his doctorate in higher education administration from North Texas State University in Denton.

He began his college teacher career at Howard Payne in 1961 and served on its 40-plus member board of trustees from 1974-1982.

In addition, Newbury's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Newbury, still resident in Brownwood's Brown County.

House turns about on tax overhaul

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House shouted through a bill cutting taxes for most Americans and overhauling the federal income tax, preserving — thanks to solid Democratic support — the top legislative goal of President Reagan's second term.

The measure was approved Tuesday night by voice vote after Democrats beat back, 256-171, a Republican attempt to send the entire issue back to the Ways and Means Committee, where it would have been buried, at least for the year.

On that crucial vote, 207 Democrats and 49 Republicans wanted to keep the bill alive; 39 Democrats and 132 Republicans voted to send it to committee.

The Senate will take up the measure when it returns from the Christmas break next year.

Reagan, who was forced by a GOP revolt to lobby personally at the Capitol for votes, issued a statement after the bill passed, declaring it "moved us one historical step closer toward a new tax code for America."

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said his party had "rescued tax reform from the jaws of big-business Republicans" and "delivered on our historic commitment to tax fairness."

"Only the Republican Senate can stop tax reform now," O'Neill said. And in a reference to Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., chairman of the Finance Committee, O'Neill pleaded, "Write Packwood!"

Reagan is counting on the Senate to reshape the bill more to his liking, but Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., cautioned against setting expectations too high.

"I hope the president doesn't make too many promises of what he will veto," Dole said. "Somebody may be locking the Senate into something we can't produce."

Includes legal fees...

Operating budget for chamber ok'd

After making some adjustments — including a projected $7,500 expense related to attorney's fees — Snyder Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday approved a 1986 operating budget.

The 12-month estimate is approximately $10,000 over the 1985 budget in both expected income and expenses.

These expense and income figures are set at $96,670. Similar budget figures for 1985 were $86,695.

The increase for income is estimated thanks to an increase in chamber membership during 1985 of some 130 members, up from 360 to near 500.

Chamber President Roy Baze noted the majority of the increase in expenses — some $8,000 — is related to staff salaries. During 1986, the chamber staff will go from three fulltime and one part-time to four fulltime employees. Merit raises of 5 percent are projected also "as warranted."

Regarding attorney fees, these are to be a separate budget item and not included in the projected expenses of $96,670. Board members elected to handle it this way since it is uncertain how much if any expenses will be needed.

The chamber now faces a $2 million lawsuit related to the death of a 12-year-old county youth at a chamber-sponsored event Oct. 7, 1984.

The majority of legal fees now projected would come if the case comes to trial during 1986.

The chamber board also elected to keep the legal fees item separate to give them a monthly update regarding these costs incurred during the year. To date, some $2,200 has been expended, Baze estimated.

The budget decision came during the regular December meeting of the board. At its conclusion, the chamber sponsored its annual Christmas open house.

It also marked the final meeting for four out-going directors, to include Baze. Others completing their term on the board are John Jarrel, a past chamber president, Murray Anne Ray and Don Newbury.

Board members attending Tuesday were Baze, Ray, Jarrel and Jack Denman, Jerry Vestal, Mike Banta, Phil Fortune, Max von Roeder, John Daniel and Margaret Drum. Absent were Newbury and Fred Castillo.

In other chamber business, the board:

—Heard a report regarding Monday's appearance here of the Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra, a sellout event in Worsham Auditorium. Staffers noted the event generated $12,913 in expenses and $11,183 in income

THANK YOU NOTE — Chamber of Commerce board member Mike Banta, who heads the cultural affairs committee, and Chamber Manager Mort Ewing are shown with a giant thank you note from students at Northeast Elementary School presented to the chamber Tuesday. The note — signed by most of the students enrolled at the school — was offered as thanks for sponsoring Monday's appearance here of the Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra which included two children's concerts. The event was planned through the cultural affairs committee with much of the work credited to members John Gibson and Jerry Worsham. (SDN Staff Photo)

Chamber to support plans to film AJRA

A decison "in principle" to provide some $2,000 in startup costs toward filming and distributing this year's AJRA Rodeo Finals here was reached Tuesday by Snyder Chamber of Commerce board members.

The board voted to empower the chamber executive board to reach a final decision based on an as-yet unwritten contract agreement.

The decision Tuesday, however, noted the chamber's committment to support the plan.

As proposed, the chamber and local AJRA supporters will contract with an independent film making organization, Acolade Inc. of Midland.

Acolade representatives have estimated the pre-production costs of filming the rodeo at some $6,000, of which $2,000 would come from the local chamber and $4,000 from Acolade.

The film company is then responsible for securing backers for the project, primarily national or state advertisers plus possible income from distribu-

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Remember the tea kettle. Although up to its neck in hot water, it continues to sing."

Four-year-old Ben Hargrove, grandson of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hargrove, discovered a man with a Santa-like spirit recently.

Ben accompanied his parents, Mark and Patty Hargrove, to a Lubbock restaurant where they experienced a long wait before being seated.

A middle-aged gentlemen struck up a conversation with Ben and asked, "What does your father do?"

"He's a bank robber," Ben answered with a straight face.

The man loved the answer and told Ben, "You've made my day, here's ten dollars."

A few weeks later, Ben and his family were in the same restaurant and ran into the same man who recognized Ben and said, "Well, there's my friend."

This time the man pulled out five dollars and handed the four-year-old.

It was the father of a Snyder teen who was checking the overage in the family budget. He complained to his wife about the monthly clothing bill.

"How," he asked, "can the kids wear out their shoes when they're always in the car?"

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A federal appeals court today upheld the conviction of Jeffrey MacDonald, a former Army doctor who was found guilty of the 1970 murders of his wife and two daughters.

"In much greater detail than we, the district judge considered every contention that MacDonald advanced...," said the 11-page opinion from the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. "There is no basis upon which any ruling in this case by a meticulous district judge can be overturned."

Spending, tax reform, farm credit still before Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm price support legislation and an omnibus spending bill to keep government operating for the next nine months remained unresolved as Congress continued a slow, frustrating march toward Christmas adjournment.

Much of the government was operating today under another stogap measure Congress passed Tuesday to give congressional negotiators time to work out a revised version of a $370 billion omnibus spending bill. The House overwhelmingly rejected the bill Monday night.

The stopgap measure, which President Reagan signed late Tuesday, expires at midnight Thursday and was the second such bill Congress has had to pass in less than a week.

Other measures awaiting last-minute action included an emergency rescue package for the $70 billion Farm Credit System, the 37-bank network that is the nation's largest farm lender. The Senate passed it with minor changes Tuesday night and House approval was expected today.

Also pending was a sweeping five-year agriculture package providing about $52 billion over the next three years for crop price and income support programs.

While Congress was trying to wrap up its work, Reagan administration officials and legislators alike were voicing frustration over the unpredictable, crisis atmosphere that has engulfed deliberations over fiscal matters for months.

"Truly the system has broken down," complained White House budget director James C. Miller III.

Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, said the necessity for repeatedly passing stopgap bills was "a mess. And we could get into other four letter words and make it even stronger."

Rep. Trent Lott, R-Miss., the assistant House minority leader, was angry about the length of the session and the need for emergency legislation, saying, "It's beginning to look like Christmas again. ... Every year we do this. Over and over we go again. It's a part of the Christmas season."

Meanwhile, the most dramatic event of this week's drive toward adjournment came Tuesday night when the House on a voice vote revived the president's effort to overhaul the federal tax code. The initiative had been swamped last week by near-unanimous Republican defections.

But Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said legislators now could "begin the trail of reform."

The president has said he does not like the House bill and is counting on the Republican-controlled Senate to shape it more to his liking next year.

But the more immediate business was the omnibus spending bill.

President Woodrow Wilson outlined his famous 14 points for peace in 1918.

Girl Fears Loss of Man Who Is Afraid of Love

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and the guy I am involved with is 20. We work together, spend most of our time together and have a beautiful relationship. (Yes, we have had sex. He was my first.)

The problem: I'm in love with him, but at the beginning of our relationship he told me not to get too serious because he wasn't looking for a serious commitment. He said if I fell in love with him he would have to end our relationship and just be "friends" because he wouldn't want to hurt me for anything.

Abby, it's hurting me to hide my feelings. I want to tell him how I feel about him, but I don't want to lose him. What should I do?

HEARTBROKEN IN MOTOWN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Mature people do not play games; they are honest with each other about their feelings. I suspect that the young man is keeping his distance because he is afraid of being drawn into more of a commitment than he can handle at this time. Tell him how you feel. And if you lose him, you will know it was sex he wanted—not love.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing in reply to "Confused" relative to the hastily written "Thank you" on the back of the check. Your comment—"It's still an acknowledgment"—is a cop-out response. I sent my niece a check as a gift, and she scribbled "Thank you" on the back, so I scribbled "For what?" under her "Thank you" and returned it to her.

She soon replied, thanking me for the money, but, more important, for reminding her of her lack of manners.

We're still the best of friends and we both profited.

FROM THE OLD SCHOOL

DEAR FROM: Be fair. My comment was, "While your quick and easy acknowledgment of your gift was barely acceptable, it's still an acknowledgment." And it was.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am having thigh-reduction surgery (suction lipectomy) in three weeks. I am a basically honest person and don't know what response I should give people when they ask if I've lost weight, etc. I do not wish to tell them I've had surgery (I feel this is a personal matter), but I don't wish to lie either. Can you offer any suggestions?

HONEST

DEAR HONEST: If people ask you if you lost weight, say yes. (Actually, it is an honest answer; you did lose weight.)

If people ask, "What happened to you?" reply, "I got rid of some fat." (You did, but you don't have to say how.)

If anyone asks, "How did you do it?" you can say, "It wasn't easy."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You once had a letter in your column signed "Alone but Not Lonely" from an older person who wanted only peace and quiet for the holidays. Amen.

My daughter and her family think I am the worst kind of monster because I refuse to travel over 500 miles to spend the holidays with them in complete clutter and turmoil. Their home is a zoo at holiday time, with dozens of people coming and going and so much noise from music and shouting, it takes me a month to recover when I return.

I am 79 and enjoy being home. Thank you.

ALABAMA PARTY POOPER

DEAR PARTY POOPER: You have earned the right to all the peace and quiet you can get. I wish you a tranquil Christmas and a restful New Year.

Condo dealer charged

DALLAS (AP) — Developer Clifford Ray Sinclair has been accused of fraud and conspiracy in a 24-count federal indictment, making him one of the most prominent figures to face criminal charges over the Interstate 30 condominium glut.

Eight others, including Sinclair's wife Kitty, were also indicted Tuesday on charges stemming from an investigation into loan arrangements in 1982 and 1983 that forced the closing of two savings and loans.

FBI agents arrested Sinclair, the founder of Kitco Developers Inc. and one of the principal promoters of the developments near Lake Ray Hubbard, at his Rockwall home Tuesday, officials said.

He was being held without bond in a Dallas County jail early today, officials said, and a Thursday hearing has been scheduled on federal prosecutors' request that he be held without bail until his trial.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Jack Williamson, the investigation's lead prosecutor, said the I-30 probe is continuing and has already netted about 45 criminal convictions.

Sinclair and others have also been named in several civil lawsuits alleging that loans for the condominium developments were fraudulently obtained.

The latest was filed last month by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., which alleges that now-defunct Empire Savings and Loan Association of Mesquite was defrauded of more than $142 million.

In January, Sinclair successfully fought extradition to Alabama to face 6-year-old theft-by-fraud charges in connection with a loan service.

If convicted on the Tuesday's criminal charges, he faces up to 51 years in prison and a $125,000 fine.

My good friend Jeremy Flint was declarer in today's club contract during the semifinals of Great Britain's team championship Gold Cup some months ago. On the opening lead of the club queen, Flint decided to allow the opposition some leeway for error by allowing West to hold the lead at trick one. Instead of erring, the defenders operated with complete precision to take the maximum number of tricks.

At trick two, West switched to diamonds, playing the six. East won the ace and now had to make the key play. He returned the jack of hearts. Remember this play. When dummy has a doubleton 10 and you are sitting over dummy, you might have to lead your honor in that suit to take tricks quickly. A low heart lead would allow declarer to duck around to the A-Q in the West hand, but the lead of the jack left Jeremy Flint helpless. He covered with the king and West quickly took the A-Q-9 and then played the fourth heart, which East ruffed.

That was down two and an unfortunate result for friend Jeremy since at the other table, on the same auction, the opening lead was the heart ace, followed by subsequent misdefense, which enabled the opposing team to make an overtrick in three clubs. Flint might have saved a trick by winning the A-K of clubs right away, but he was still destined to be set in his contract.

American forces under Gen. Andrew Jackson defeated the British in 1815 in the Battle of New Orleans, the final battle in the War of 1812.

The Spanish Civil War ended in victory for Francisco Franco's right-wing rebels in 1939. Adolf Hitler of Germany and Benito Mussolini of Italy had aided Franco, while the Soviet Union supported loyalists with arms and an international brigade.

Girl Fears Loss of Man Who Is Afraid of Love

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and the guy I am involved with is 20. We work together, spend most of our time together and have a beautiful relationship. (Yes, we have had sex. He was my first.)

The problem: I'm in love with him, but at the beginning of our relationship he told me not to get too serious because he wasn't looking for a serious commitment. He said if I fell in love with him he would have to end our relationship and just be "friends" because he wouldn't want to hurt me for anything.

Abby, it's hurting me to hide my feelings. I want to tell him how I feel about him, but I don't want to lose him. What should I do?

HEARTBROKEN IN MOTOWN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Mature people do not play games; they are honest with each other about their feelings. I suspect that the young man is keeping his distance because he is afraid of being drawn into more of a commitment than he can handle at this time. Tell him how you feel. And if you lose him, you will know it was sex he wanted—not love.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing in reply to "Confused" relative to the hastily written "Thank you" on the back of the check. Your comment—"It's still an acknowledgment"—is a cop-out response. I sent my niece a check as a gift, and she scribbled "Thank you" on the back, so I scribbled "For what?" under her "Thank you" and returned it to her.

She soon replied, thanking me for the money, but, more important, for reminding her of her lack of manners.

We're still the best of friends and we both profited.

FROM THE OLD SCHOOL

DEAR FROM: Be fair. My comment was, "While your quick and easy acknowledgment of your gift was barely acceptable, it's still an acknowledgment." And it was.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am having thigh-reduction surgery (suction lipectomy) in three weeks. I am a basically honest person and don't know what response I should give people when they ask if I've lost weight, etc. I do not wish to tell them I've had surgery (I feel this is a personal matter), but I don't wish to lie either. Can you offer any suggestions?

HONEST

DEAR HONEST: If people ask you if you lost weight, say yes. (Actually, it is an honest answer; you did lose weight.)

If people ask, "What happened to you?" reply, "I got rid of some fat." (You did, but you don't have to say how.)

If anyone asks, "How did you do it?" you can say, "It wasn't easy."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You once had a letter in your column signed "Alone but Not Lonely" from an older person who wanted only peace and quiet for the holidays. Amen.

My daughter and her family think I am the worst kind of monster because I refuse to travel over 500 miles to spend the holidays with them in complete clutter and turmoil. Their home is a zoo at holiday time, with dozens of people coming and going and so much noise from music and shouting, it takes me a month to recover when I return.

I am 79 and enjoy being home. Thank you.

ALABAMA PARTY POOPER

DEAR PARTY POOPER: You have earned the right to all the peace and quiet you can get. I wish you a tranquil Christmas and a restful New Year.

Condo dealer charged

DALLAS (AP) — Developer Clifford Ray Sinclair has been accused of fraud and conspiracy in a 24-count federal indictment, making him one of the most prominent figures to face criminal charges over the Interstate 30 condominium glut.

Eight others, including Sinclair's wife Kitty, were also indicted Tuesday on charges stemming from an investigation into loan arrangements in 1982 and 1983 that forced the closing of two savings and loans.

FBI agents arrested Sinclair, the founder of Kitco Developers Inc. and one of the principal promoters of the developments near Lake Ray Hubbard, at his Rockwall home Tuesday, officials said.

He was being held without bond in a Dallas County jail early today, officials said, and a Thursday hearing has been scheduled on federal prosecutors' request that he be held without bail until his trial.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Jack Williamson, the investigation's lead prosecutor, said the I-30 probe is continuing and has already netted about 45 criminal convictions.

Sinclair and others have also been named in several civil lawsuits alleging that loans for the condominium developments were fraudulently obtained.

The latest was filed last month by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., which alleges that now-defunct Empire Savings and Loan Association of Mesquite was defrauded of more than $142 million.

In January, Sinclair successfully fought extradition to Alabama to face 6-year-old theft-by-fraud charges in connection with a loan service.

If convicted on the Tuesday's criminal charges, he faces up to 51 years in prison and a $125,000 fine.

Envoy returning to Beirut, Lebanon

LONDON (AP) — A spokeswoman for the Church of England says Terry Waite, a representative of the archbishop of Canterbury, will return to Lebanon on Friday to renew his efforts to free Americans held captive there.

The spokeswoman, Eve Keatley, said Tuesday that Waite also will try to contact the kidnappers of other hostages held in Lebanon.

Mrs. Keatley said Monday that Waite had left Britain on a secret mission the previous day and would return Tuesday. She said he did not go to the Middle East.

My good friend Jeremy Flint was declarer in today's club contract during the semifinals of Great Britain's team championship Gold Cup some months ago. On the opening lead of the club queen, Flint decided to allow the opposition some leeway for error by allowing West to hold the lead at trick one. Instead of erring, the defenders operated with complete precision to take the maximum number of tricks.

At trick two, West switched to diamonds, playing the six. East won the ace and now had to make the key play. He returned the jack of hearts. Remember this play. When dummy has a doubleton 10 and you are sitting over dummy, you might have to lead your honor in that suit to take tricks quickly. A low heart lead would allow declarer to duck around to the A-Q in the West hand, but the lead of the jack left Jeremy Flint helpless. He covered with the king and West quickly took the A-Q-9 and then played the fourth heart, which East ruffed.

That was down two and an unfortunate result for friend Jeremy since at the other table, on the same auction, the opening lead was the heart ace, followed by subsequent misdefense, which enabled the opposing team to make an overtrick in three clubs. Flint might have saved a trick by winning the A-K of clubs right away, but he was still destined to be set in his contract.

American forces under Gen. Andrew Jackson defeated the British in 1815 in the Battle of New Orleans, the final battle in the War of 1812.

The Spanish Civil War ended in victory for Francisco Franco's right-wing rebels in 1939. Adolf Hitler of Germany and Benito Mussolini of Italy had aided Franco, while the Soviet Union supported loyalists with arms and an international brigade.

Daughter, husband charged with murder

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — The daughter and son-in-law of a brutally murdered Abilene couple have been arrested and charged with capital murder, police say.

Delores Jean Maxwell, 31, and her husband, 28-year-old Michael Franklin Maxwell, both of Sweetwater, were charged Tuesday with killing Gerald and Peggy Hart Saturday night, police Sgt. Roger Dickey said.

The Harts were found early Sunday morning in their home's living room with several stab and gunshot wounds, and Dickey said police believe the slayings had been planned "for several weeks."

Maxwell was captured about 11 p.m. Tuesday near Eastland, and Mrs. Maxwell was arrested at an ex-husband's house in Abilene earlier in the evening, Dickey said.

She remained in Taylor County Jail under $50,000 bond late Tuesday night while Maxwell was awaiting transfer to Taylor County by Abilene detectives.

A 16-year-old Abilene boy was also detained for investigation of conspiracy to commit capital murder. The boy was in the Taylor County Juvenile Detention Center awaiting a formal detention hearing.

The arrests came after authorities received a phone call Monday night implicating the Maxwells in the killings, Dickey said.

The Harts had been shot three times, at least once in the head, and the husband was stabbed at least 40 times, Dickey said, adding that "domestic problems" were a possible motive.

The capital murder warrants — alleging murder in connection with another felony — were sought because about $4,000 was taken from two money bags in Mrs. Hart's purse, he said.

Soviet poet again plays role of rebel

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet poet Yevgeny Yevtushenko delivered a strong statement against distortion of history, censorship, self-flattery, silence and privilege in the literary establishment, The New York Times reported today.

When the poet finished, the participants in the congress of Russian writers in Moscow burst into prolonged applause, the Times reported. Yevtushenko, 52, an honored member of the literary establishment, again assumed the role of a rebel and critic to demand that Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev apply openness and candor to Soviet literature.

"Today's long-awaited striving for change for the better in our country gives us profound hopes that self-flattery will be forever rejected, and that nonconcealment will become the norm of civic behavior," he said. "We, men of letters, will not be worth a penny if we simply report and laud the social transformations taking place independently of us."

Early in his career, Yevtushenko gained a reputation for being a rebellious young poet by assaulting some of the Soviet Union's most sensitive themes.

Although he has not been known in the recent past for his ideological boldness, he called at the meeting of writers for the lifting of some of the most sensitive taboos of Soviet culture, the newspaper said.

In 1461, the bloodiest battle of the English War of the Roses, fought in a snowstorm at Towton, Yorkshire, ended with 28,000 dead and the York army victorious.

Hairiness isn't manliness

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 30-year-old man. My father and grandfather both have very hairy chests, but mine is completely hairless. Several of the girls I have dated have ridiculed me for this. I have been told that there are hair-growing remedies around to help this condition. Can you give me some information on this?

DEAR READER — I'm sure you have noticed a wide variety of hair patterns in other men. If not, an afternoon on the beach or at the gym may convince you (and the women you mention) that "masculine" men do not always sport an abundance of chest hair. In fact, bodybuilders often shave their body hair (chests included) in order to achieve the appearance of better muscle definition.

I do not know of any legitimate product to promote the growth of chest hair. In my experience, women are usually more interested in what's under the skin than what grows on it. Rather than fret about being smooth-chested, why not embark on an exercise program to develop your torso? Then you could turn an apparent disadvantage into an asset.

A final note of optimism: Have you ever noticed that men with thick body hair often grow bald prematurely? Be happy knowing you'll probably have a full head of hair long after your hairy-chested colleagues have turned wispy and balding.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My daughter is 12 and she has stretch marks all over her buttocks and legs. She has never been fat. She begs me to have them removed. She is really having an emotional problem with this and I am very concerned about her mental attitude and condition. Can you give me any advice?

DEAR READER — Although stretch marks (stria) usually result from rapid weight accumulation and growth, some people seem to develop stria as a normal consequence of development. If your daughter is truly concerned, have a board-certified plastic surgeon examine her to see if she is a candidate for cosmetic surgery.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have been enduring chronic hemorrhoids for about seven months now. They are internal, but very close to the anal sphincter. None of the simpler home remedies work for me. I'm beginning to explore the possibility of having the hemorrhoids removed. I've heard there is a rubber-band method that is just as effective as the surgical procedure. I've also heard of an injection that will shrink them overnight. Can you compare these methods for me?

DEAR READER — Both techniques you mention — hemorrhoid injection and the rubber-band method — are a real boon to patients with piles. For the most part, they are an improvement over the older operation of surgical hemorrhoidectomy, which required hospitalization and extensive anesthesia, not to mention the postoperative discomfort every patient suffered.

I cannot tell which of the newer methods would appropriate for you. This is a highly individual decision that depends on the extent of your problem, the location of your hemorrhoids (internal or external) and the preference of your surgeon. I suggest that you engage your doctor in a frank discussion of the relative merits of each procedure as they relate to your specific case.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott in care of this newspaper at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

Cooperation against terrorism urged

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz left Belgrade today, completing a six-nation European tour in which he urged better international cooperation against terrorism.

Shultz labeled his eight days of low-key public appearances a "learning experience," especially about Eastern European countries such as Hungary, Romania, and Yugoslavia. He also visited Britain, West Germany and Belgium.

Before boarding his plane, Shultz said, "It has been a very useful exchange of views," and added, "we touched on just about any subject."

Seeing the American flag flutter atop a light tower over the airport, the secretary of state said he appreciated the gesture as "a very positive symbol of relations between our two countries."

Yugoslav Foreign Minister Raif Dizdarevic braved cold and windy weather to see Shultz's plane take off. Those present applauded.

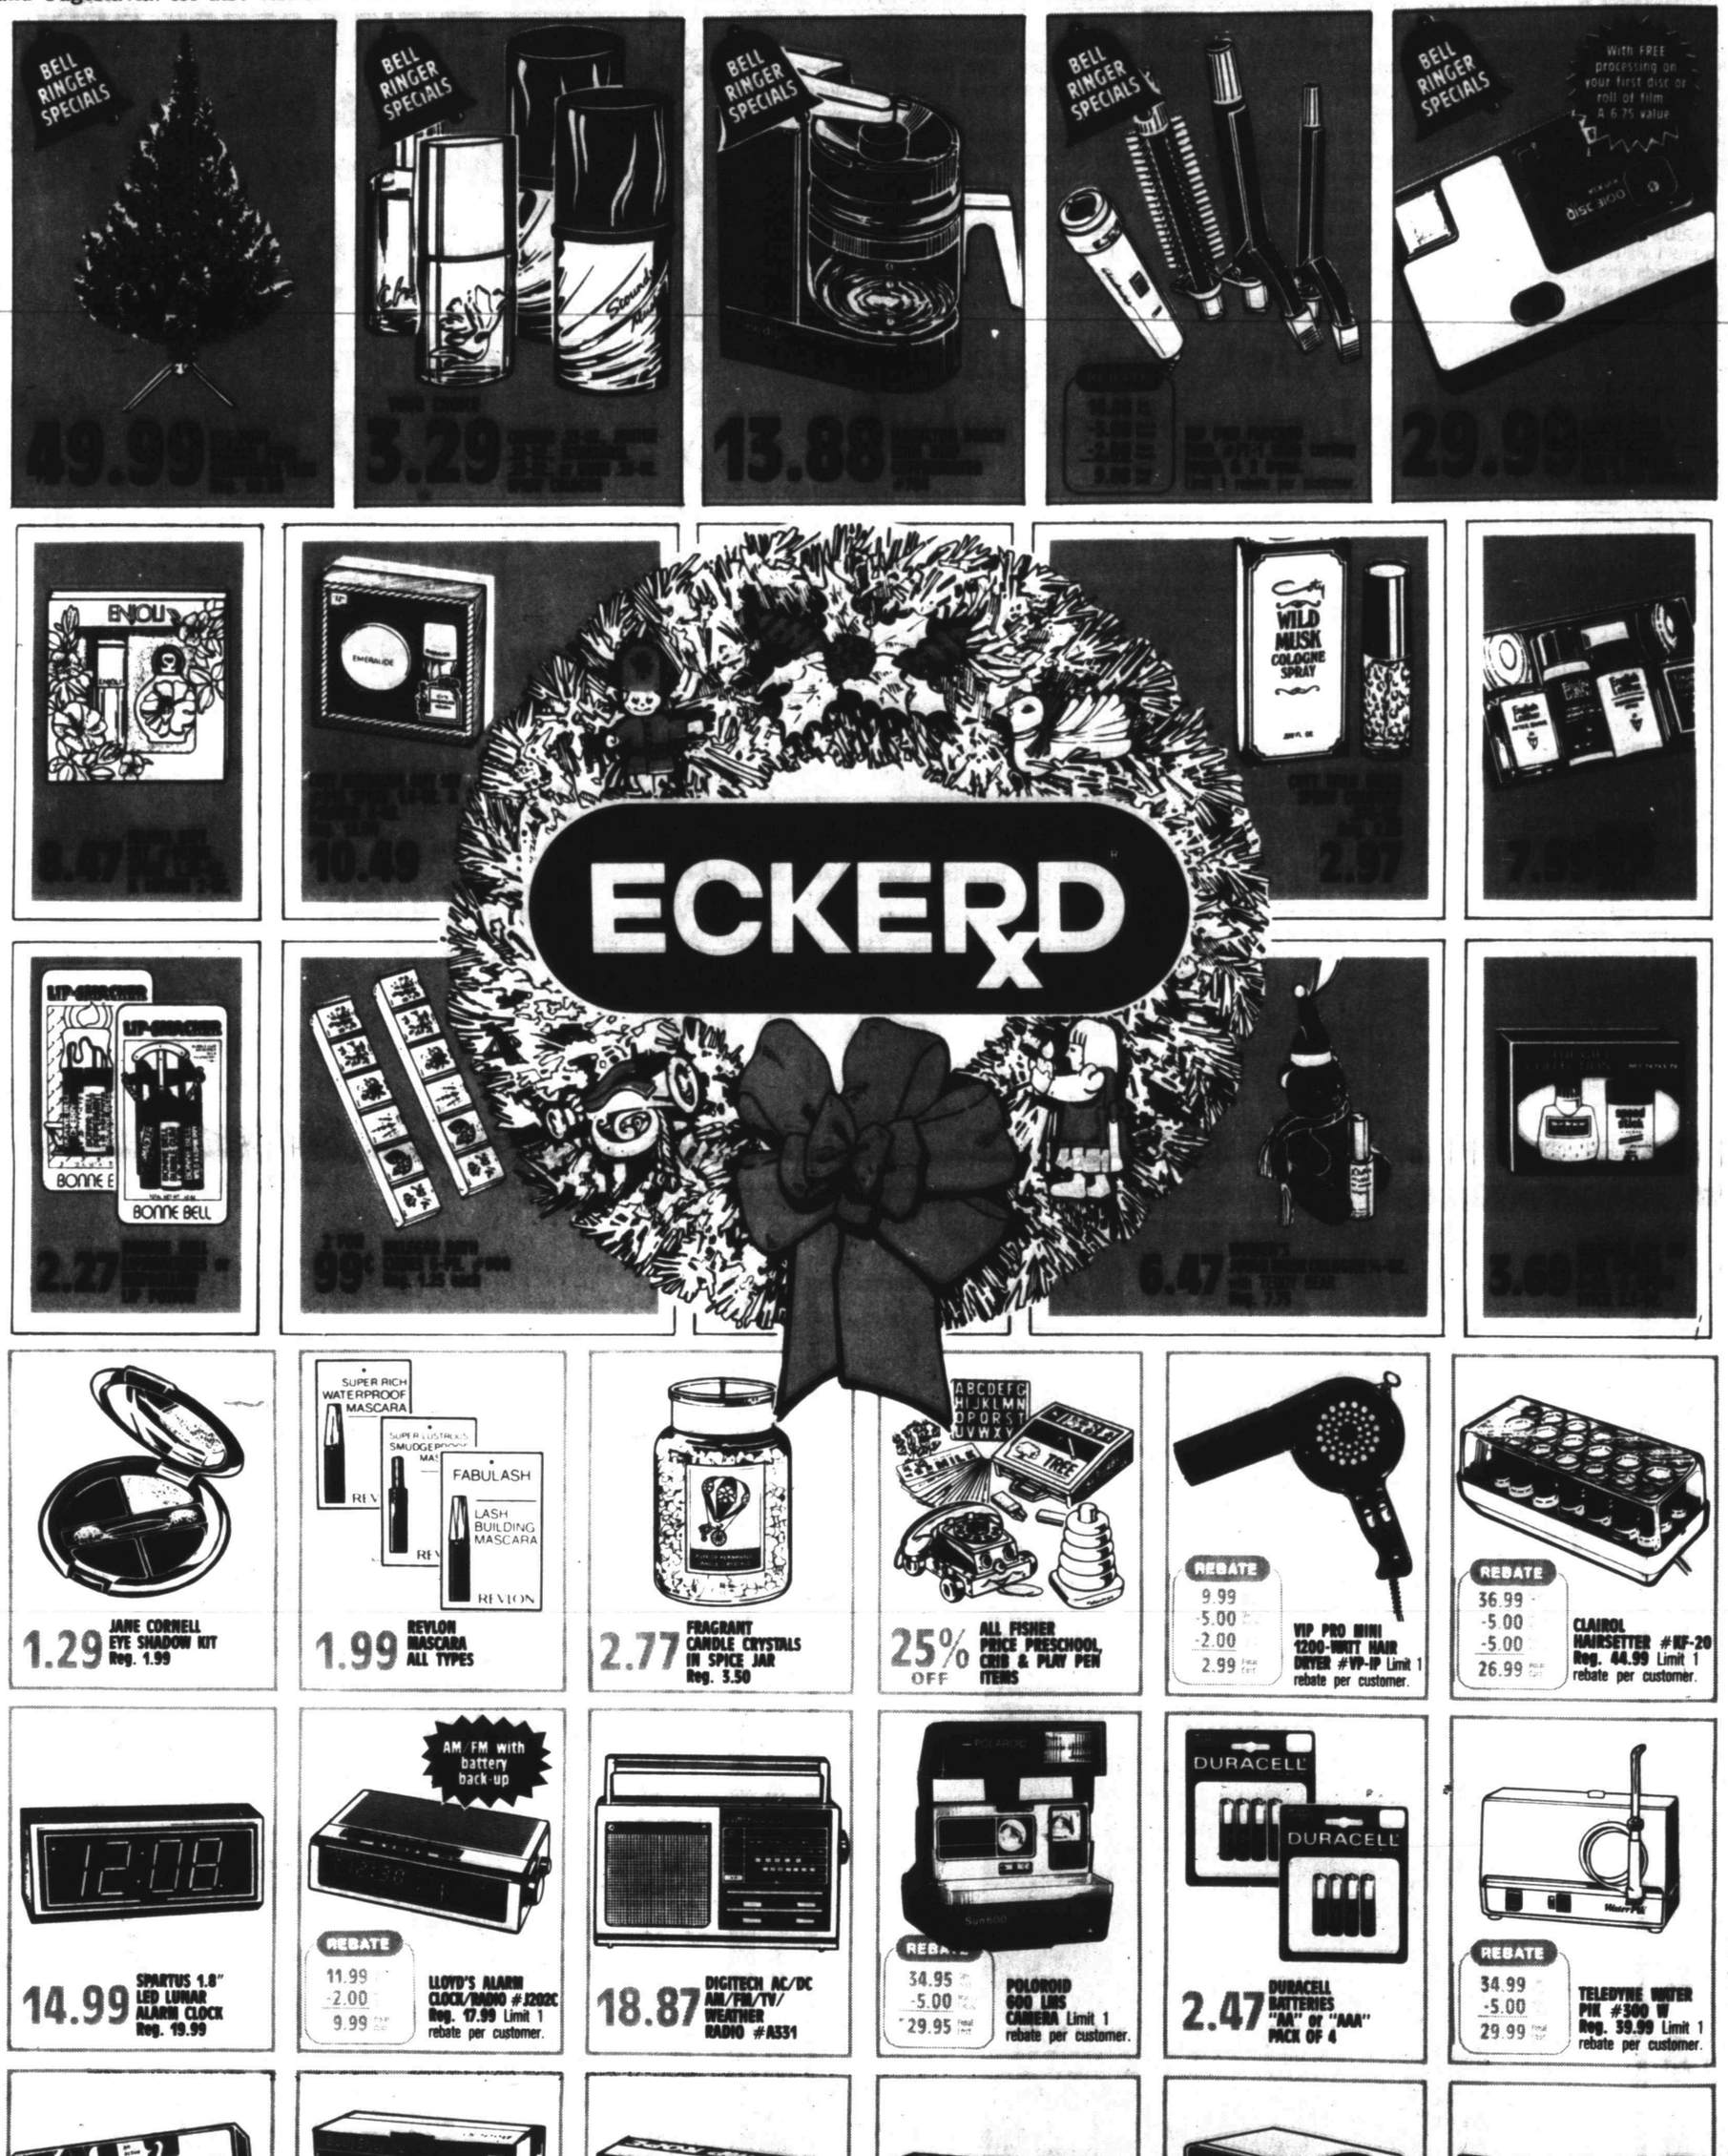
On Tuesday, Shultz strongly admonished countries to stop giving terrorists "a place to hide."

The secretary of state angrily slammed his hand on the table at a news conference at Dizdarevic's suggestion that the causes of terrorism be considered in deciding how to treat terrorists.

The incident occurred at a news conference in which Shultz and Dizdarevic were asked about the hijacking of the Italian cruise ship Achille Lauro in October by Palestinians. An American tourist, Leon Klinghoffer, was killed during the hijacking.

Despite a U.S. request, both Italy and Yugoslavia refused to detain Mohammed Abbas, a Palestine Liberation Organization official the United States suspects of masterminding the piracy.

The Yugoslav minister said he agreed with Shultz that terrorism must be stopped, but added that nations also should also understand the conditions and causes of violent behavior, an opinion often expressed by governments that recognize the PLO.



Dallas LTV workers charged in drug sales

DALLAS (AP) — Eleven employees of an LTV Corp. plant here have been indicted on charges they sold drugs while working on defense projects that included the B-1B bomber.

A Dallas County grand jury's indictment, unsealed Tuesday, allege the employees sold small quantities of heroin, marijuana, cocaine and methamphetamines to a police informant posing as a co-worker.

Many of the sales allegedly occurred at LTV's Vought Aero Products Division, where fuselage sections for the billion-dollar supersonic bomber are built for the U.S. Air Force.

All those indicted were fired Tuesday, a Vought spokesman said.

The Dallas Times Herald quoted a source close to the investigation as saying several suspects had security clearance involving sophisticated systems for the bomber and the A-7 Corsair II fighter aircraft used by the Navy.

Experimental drug conditionally approved

NEW YORK (AP) — A drug that is being widely obtained by AIDS patients in Mexico has been conditionally approved in the United States for use against an infection in children — but in a form that may make it unsuitable for use by AIDS patients, officials say.

The drug, called ribavirin, was approved this week pending certain changes in its proposed labeling, Brad Stone, a spokesman for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, said Tuesday.

It is the first of the many experimental AIDS drugs to receive even conditional approval. At present there is no treatment for acquired immune deficiency syndrome, although there are treatments for the various infections and cancers that result from the failure of the immune system the AIDS virus produces.

Final approval of ribavirin could come in a matter of weeks, Stone said.

The drug is being approved for treatment of infants with respiratory syncytial virus, or RS virus, a common infection that can be fatal in premature infants and in those with heart or lung disease, said Dr. Caroline Breese Hall of the University of Rochester Medical Center in New York.

FDA regulations allow doctors leeway in the use of approved drugs, meaning they could prescribe ribavirin for their AIDS patients once it is approved. But the drug is being approved in an aerosol form meant to be inhaled by infants, which might make it impractical for use with AIDS patients, Stone said.

"I see this as a positive move," said Dr. Stephen Caiazza of New York, an AIDS specialist. "The medicine is already being used widely on an underground basis" by AIDS patients who purchase it in Mexico, Caiazza said.

The approved aerosol form will, however, "do no good at all," he said.

ICN Pharmaceuticals of Costa Mesa, Calif., the parent firm of ribavirin's maker, Viratek, had no comment on the FDA action.

In a separate development, the FDA said that Dr. Michael Scolaro and colleagues at St. Vincent Medical Center in Los Angeles had applied for permission to give AIDS patients a combined therapy of ribavirin and Isoprinosine.

Isoprinosine is a stimulator of the immune system, and ribavirin is an anti-viral agent. Some researchers believe that such drugs must be used in combination to kill the AIDS virus and to restore the immune cells the virus has destroyed.

AIDS is caused by a virus that attacks certain white blood cells called T-4 lymphocytes, a central component of the body's immune system.

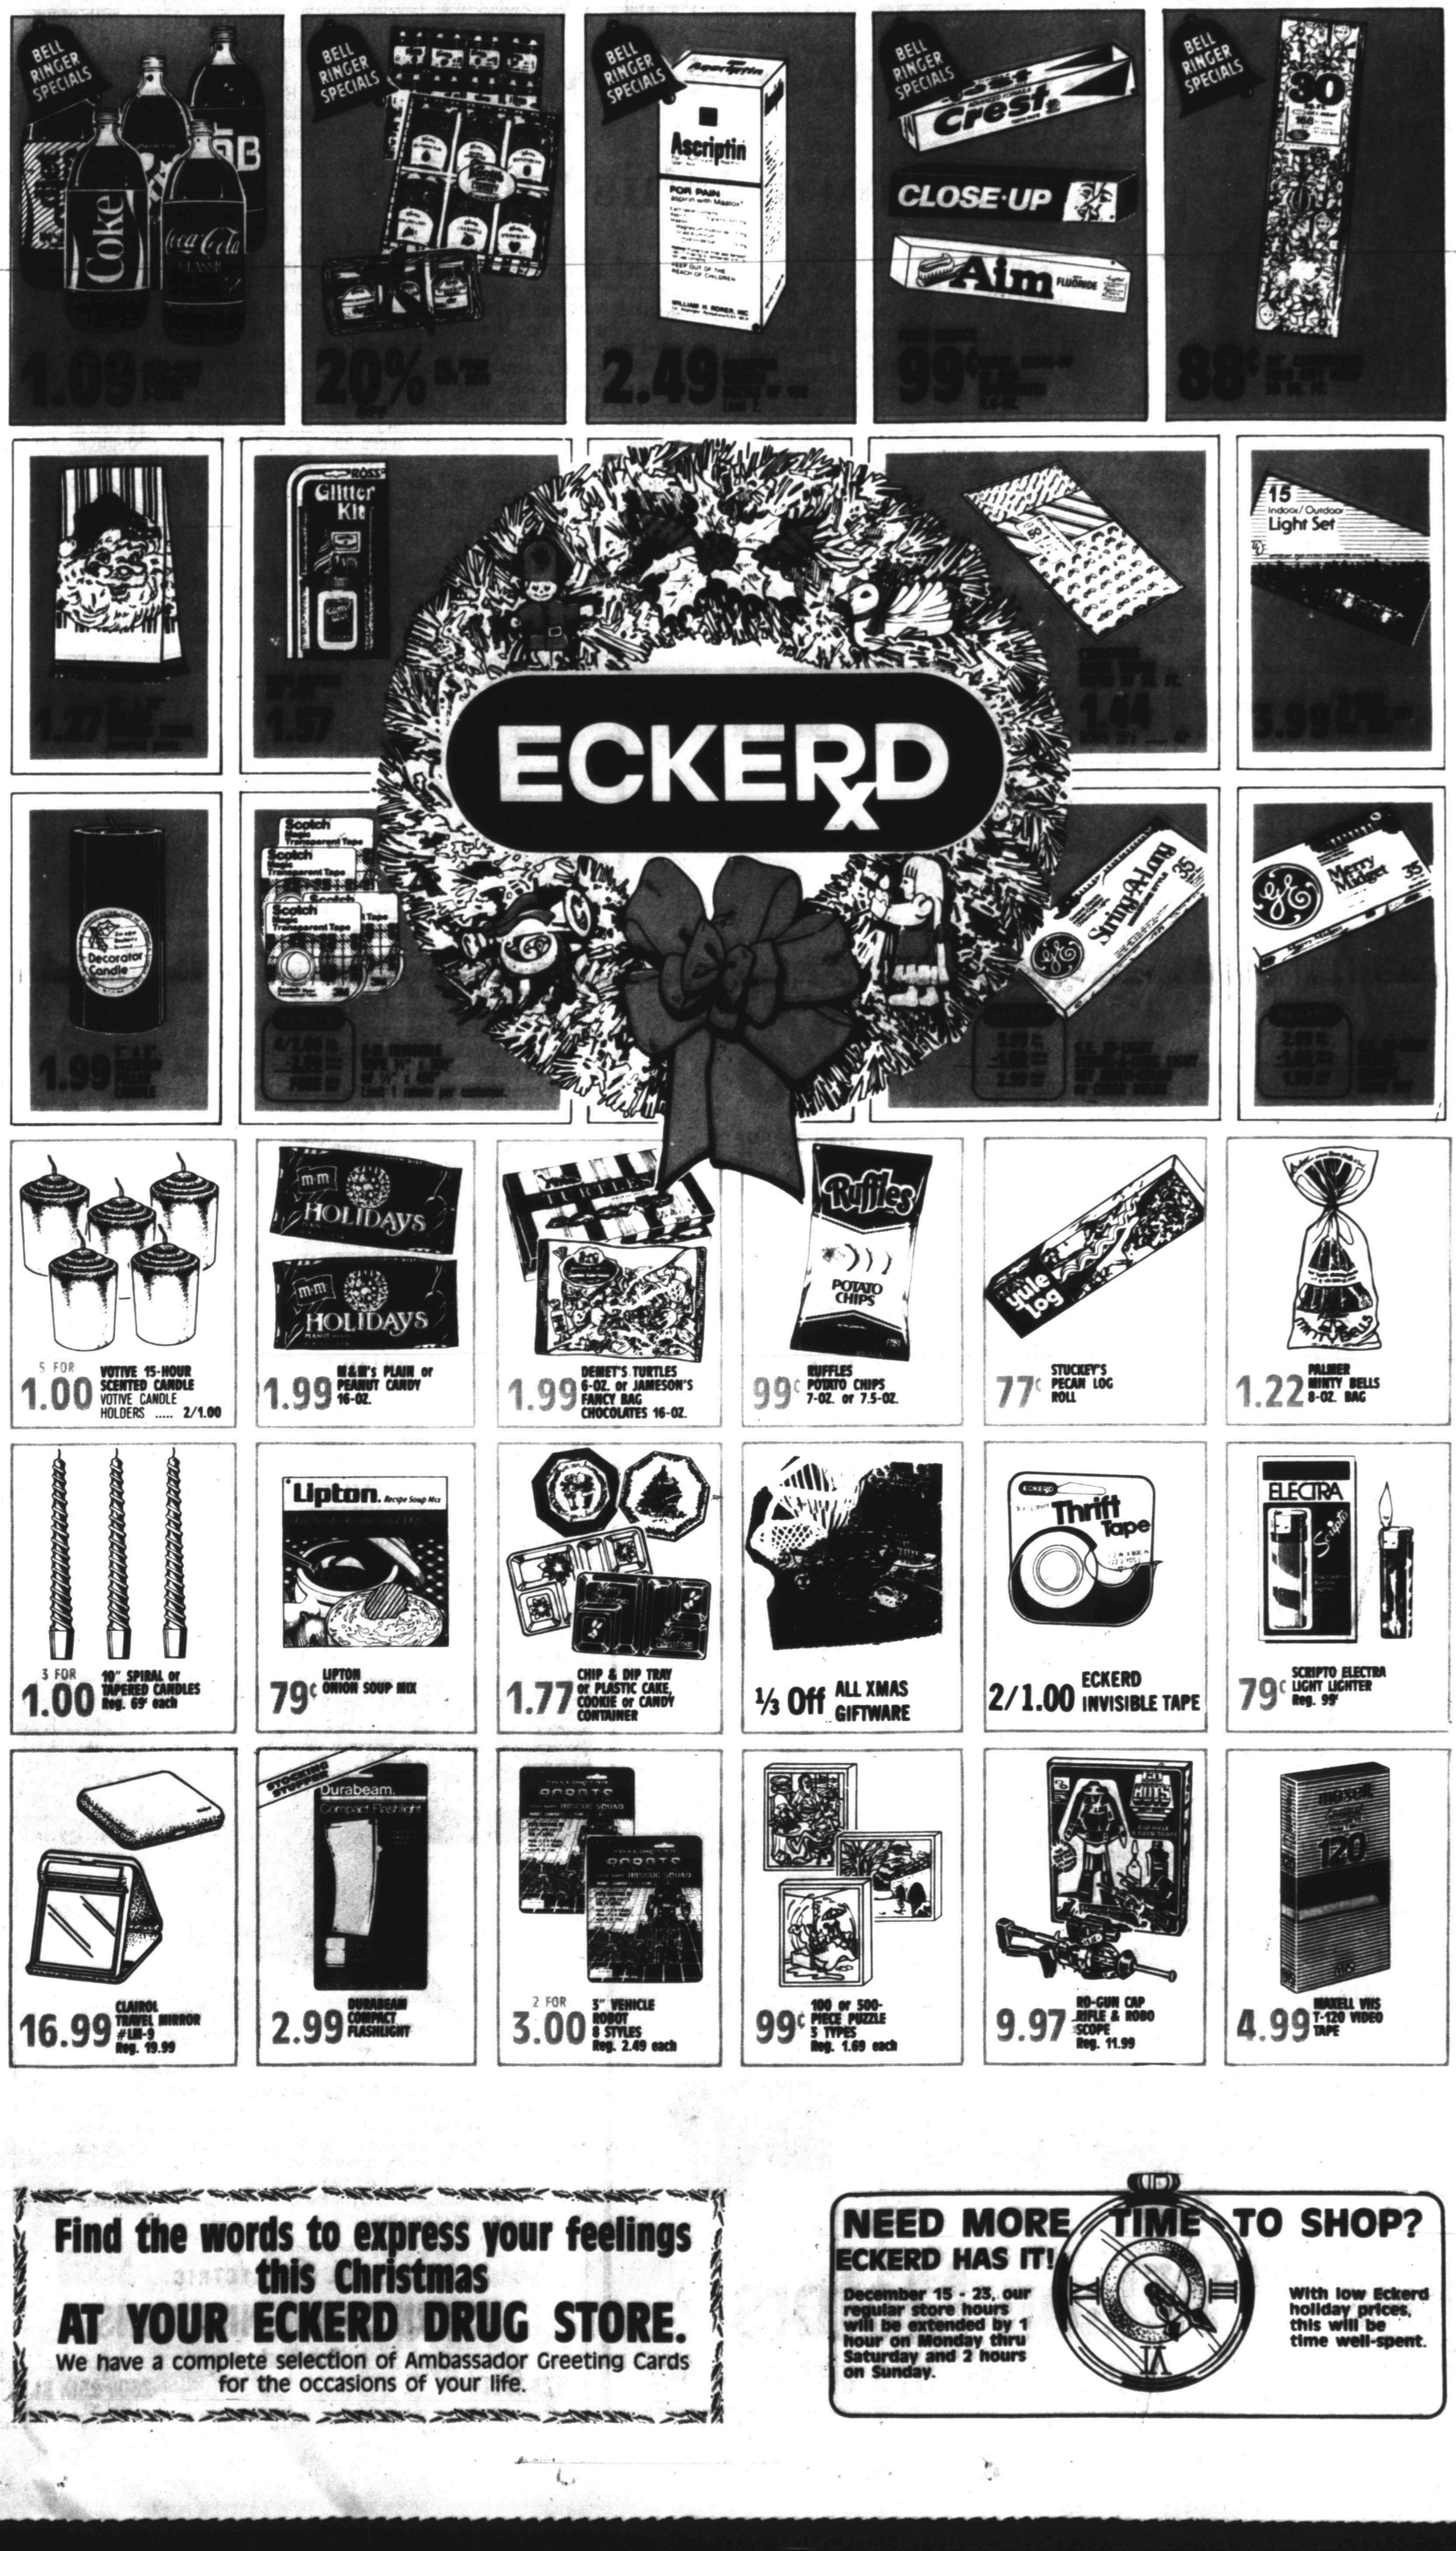
Both ribavirin and Isoprinosine have been under study separately for treatment of AIDS, but the studies have not been completed. Isoprinosine has also been widely obtained in Mexico by AIDS patients, Caiazza said, to be used in combination with ribavirin.

Combination studies with other drugs for AIDS patients are under way at the National Institutes of Health, Stone said.

Isoprinosine has been available in limited quantities in the United States since mid-May to doctors who requested it from its manufacturer, Newport Pharmaceuticals of Newport Beach, Calif.

Under a compassionate use provision of the FDA's regulations, doctors could obtain the drug for their patients although its effectiveness has not been shown, said Luana Kruse, a spokeswoman for Newport Pharmaceuticals.

About 70 patients are being treated, she said. She had no comment on the St. Vincent proposal to combine Isoprinosine with ribavirin.



Maintenance programs are substandard

DALLAS (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration says it will investigate maintenance practices of every major U.S. air carrier in the wake of big fines levied against some airlines, it was reported today.

The probe is to begin within the next year and is intended to see how well airlines are maintaining their fleets seven years after deregulation began, the Dallas Times Herald reported in a continuing series of stories on air safety.

Already this year, FAA investigations have resulted in a $1.5 million fine against American Airlines for poor maintenance, and a proposed $284,000 fine against Continental Airlines for pilot training and maintenance violations.

During the last year, a special evaluation at Northwest Orient turned up a long list of record-keeping and other paper work problems. A United Airlines audit has been completed with criticism of the carrier's practice of delaying repairs, and audits at Western and Eastern airlines are under way.

Anthony Broderick, the associate FAA administrator in charge of aviation standards, said the Eastern and Western evaluations are part of the overall maintenance investigation.

"What we have done is decided that we are going to make a formal attempt to schedule all airlines through and coordinate those inspections across the board," he said.

Some airline critics believe maintenance problems have become even more critical this year, the newspaper said.

Investigators are studying maintanence factors in the Aug. 22 runway fire that killed 54 in a British Airtours 737 at Manchester, England, and the Sept. 6 crash of a Midwest Epress DC-9 at Milwaukee that killed all 31 aboard.

But the airline industry is adamant in defending its maintenance programs, and Thomas Tripp — spokesman for the Air Transport Association, which represents the 30 largest U.S. airlines — said none of them compromised maintenance to save money.

"We have not seen evidence that our maintenance systems and programs have any major faults or systemic disorders," Tripp said. "Even during the worst times, the deepest parts of the recession a few years ago, we had the same level of maintenance as we have today."

Lakers take 105-99 win...

Ewing outscores Kareem but Knicks lose

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer

At a sold-out Madison Square Garden, a few blocks away from where some of the world's largest department stores are showing their Christmas best, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Patrick Ewing were displaying their own gifts.

Abdul-Jabbar, the all-time leading scorer in the National Basketball Association, and Ewing, the newest in a young generation of centers, met for the first time Tuesday night and showed each other their best.

Ewing outscored Abdul-Jabbar 28-26 and outrebounded him 9-8, but the veteran's team, the Los Angeles Lakers, got the long end of an equally close game with a 105-99 victory over Ewing's New York Knicks.

Did the two 7-footers have much to say to each other?

"He wished me a happy holiday," Ewing said.

"I just tried to keep him from getting high percentage shots," said Abdul-Jabbar, who played 33 minutes to 45 for Ewing. "He's a fine center and he'll be around a long time."

In other NBA games, it was Utah 106, Washington 98; Atlanta 104, New Jersey 103; Houston 98, Cleveland 94; Philadelphia 102, Indiana 96; Chicago 116, Boston 108; San Antonio 126, Portland 118; Denver 122, Golden State 114; Sacramento 132, Detroit 121; and Phoenix 104, Seattle 99.

The Los Angeles half-court game features Abdul-Jabbar and his famous sky hook. As every center before him has found out, Ewing had no defense for the sky hook, as Abdul-Jabbar used it to score seven of his 10 baskets.

With Abdul-Jabbar scoring five points during an 18-9 streak down the stretch, the Lakers won for the 21st time in 24 games. The Knicks fell to 7-18.

Spurs 126, Trail Blazers 118

Artis Gilmore scored a season-high 29 points and Mike Mitchell 26 to lead San Antonio over Portland.

Steve Johnson added 24 points and Alvin Robertson 22 to give the Spurs four players with more than 20 points.

Rockets 98, Cavaliers 94

Houston kept the lead in the Midwest Division as Lewis Lloyd scored 25 of his career-high 38 points in the second half against Cleveland.

Lloyd, 15-for-23 from the field, hit two free throws with 25 seconds left to make the score 98-94.

Roy Hinson led the Cavaliers with 24 points, and World B. Free added 23.

76ers 102, Pacers 96

Julius Erving, starting his second game at guard, scored a season-high 28 points and Charles Barkley added 18 points and a career-high 20 rebounds for Philadelphia against Indiana.

Moses Malone had 24 points.

Landry hopes pride will prevent blowout this Sunday

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Can pride overcome the expected blowout of the Dallas Cowboys in San Francisco on Sunday?

Coach Tom Landry is counting on it.

"We're the National Conference Eastern Division champions and we ought to act like it," Landry said.

The Cowboys are whopping eight-point underdogs for the 3 p.m. game in which starting quarterback Danny White is expected to watch from the sidelines.

"We could be in for a tough football game," Landry said. "It's been a disappointing season for the 49ers and they can get a wild card if they beat us.

"It will be quite a challenge. We need to play well whether we win or not. We need to feel good going into the playoffs."

Gary Hogeboom is expected to start at quarterback with Steve Pelluer as the backup.

"This will be a good chance for us to use Gary because if White isn't 100 percent we won't use him," Landry said.

White has a severely bruised left shoulder.

Pelluer, the hero of Sunday's 28-21 victory over the New York Giants, could also see action.

"I'd kinda like to put Pelluer in to see if the real Pelluer shows up," Landry said. "It was amazing that he played as well as he did against the Giants."

Pelluer had never played in a National Football League game until the National Conference Eastern division showdown title game against the Giants. But he took Dallas 72 yards to what proved to be the game-winning touchdown in a 28-21 victory after White and Hogeboom were injured.

The Cowboys will play the Los Angeles Rams either Jan. 4 or 5 in a divisional playoff game. The game will be in Los Angeles unless the Cowboys beat San Francisco on Sunday and the Rams lose to the Los Angeles Raiders on Monday night.

Landry said playing for the homefield advantage "has never been a motivational factor in the past. I doubt it will be one this time."

However, the Cowboys have already lost four games on the road this year.

White was quoted as saying the Cowboys "owed" the 49ers a thrashing. San Francisco cost Dallas a trip to the Super Bowl in 1981 with a 28-27 victory over Dallas in the NFC title game.

Landry said "I don't hold grudges too much. But anybody who played in the 1981 game would like to win this one.

"That was a long time ago."

Landry said he wasn't certain whether the Cowboys had the firepower to make it to the Super Bowl this year.

"We need to improve technically to be a better team and maybe we can over the next three weeks," said Landry. "We can't improve in the effort we've been giving. We're at the point now where we have to execute very well to make it all the way through."

Landry said the Cowboys' "outstanding goal" this year was to win the NFC East after a year of missing the playoffs.

"We had a long way to go," Landry said. "This could be as satisfying a year as the one we had in 1975 if we make it to the Super Bowl."

The 1975 club had a dozen rookies but made it to the Super Bowl where it lost narrowly to Pittsburgh.

Each member of the Cowboys have already earned $10,000 as conference champion.

If Dallas beats Los Angeles each player receives $18,000.

The winning Super Bowl team splits $64,000 each in New Orleans.

Host Pecos Friday...

Lady Tiger rally falls short against Fillies

ANDREWS -- It was a classic case of too little too late here Tuesday night as Snyder's Lady Tigers dropped a four-point District 2-4A decision to Andrews, 80-76.

The Snyder girls played a good second half, according to Coach Ken Housden, but simply fell too far behind in the first two quarters.

Turnovers and trouble beating Andrews' full-court press cost the ladies dearly in the first 16 minutes.

The previously unbeaten Lady Tigers scored only 28 first half points while the Lady Mustangs put up 45 for a 17-point halftime advantage.

The Tigers slowed the Andrews scoring in the third period but still managed only 21 points to the host's 24 for that quarter and entered the final eight minutes trailing by 20.

The Lady Tigers — running behind Karlene Thompson who posted 34 points for the game — finally cracked the Andrews press in the fourth quarter to close the lead.

The Snyder girls pumped in 27 points in the final stanza while holding the hosts to 10.

Free throw shooting also hurt the Tigers as they made only 12 of 23 attempts from the charity stripe for a 52 percent average.

Thompson's 34 points on 14 field goals and 6 free throws led the individual statistics but the Lady Tigers got outstanding efforts from Donna Anderson and Stephanie McKnight as well.

Anderson connected for five field goals and four free throws to contribute 14 points to the cause while McKnight hit four from the field and one from the free throw line for a total of nine.

Thompson also led the Tigers in rebounding, pulling down 12 for the evening.

Sherry Morton and Charlotte Jones paced the Andrews effort, accounting for 23 and 22 points respectively.

The loss is the first mark in the "L" column for the Lady Tigers as they now stand at 11-1 heading into Friday's second district ball game with Pecos.

Pecos, who bowed to Sweetwater 61-38 Tuesday night, will travel to Snyder for the district tilt.

Faust expected to get Akron position

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Former Notre Dame football coach Gerry Faust, barring any 11th-hour complications, apparently will be named today as head coach at the University of Akron.

"Coach Faust will be visiting us today, and by the afternoon, at the press conference we've scheduled for 1:30, we would hope to have reached a favorable decision," University President William Muse told ABC radio sports Tuesday night.

"Coach Faust is originally from Ohio, where he was one of the winningest high school football coaches . . . " Muse said. "We feel he's a winner and would have the potential to develop a very strong 1-A football program for us."

Muse, while not saying specifically that Jim Dennison would step down, said the Zips' coach "has indicated an interest in assuming a position of associate athletic director.

"He's completed a winning record and had a winning season this year, so it's an ideal time to move out of coaching and into administration," Muse said of Dennison.

Dennison, who posted an 8-3 record last season, could not be reached for comment.

Cleveland television station WEWS-TV reported Tuesday night that members of Dennison's coaching staff have been told they won't be back next year. The station said at least one assistant coach was told that Faust would be hired to replace Dennison.

The Zips made the NCAA Division I AA playoffs last season. Under Dennison, they are 80-62-2.

WEWS-TV later reported that it understood that Dennison has already applied for the Bowling Green State coaching job left vacant after Coach Denny Stolz resigned to become the head coach at San Diego State.

Faust cancelled an appearance Tuesday at Youngstown State, where he was said to be looking at the possibility of a coaching job. WEWS-TV said during its late newscast Tuesday that it had confirmed Faust was in Akron.

Muse, who was president at Texas A&M when Jackie Sherrill was signed to a lucrative contract there as head football coach, is reportedly interested in strengthening the football program.

The Zips, who are members of the Ohio Valley Conference, have been averaging about 18,000 while playing in the Rubber Bowl with its 35,482 seats. They have said they want to upgrade their football program by joining the Mid-American Conference.

Faust, who coached at Moeller High School near Cincinnati before leading the Fighting Irish for five years, could not be reached for comment. He announced his resignation at Notre Dame just before the school's last game of the season, a 58-7 loss to the University of Miami.

Top-ranked Queens cage coach resigns

PLAINVIEW (AP) — Dave Ketterman, coach of the NAIA No. 1-ranked Wayland Baptist University women's basketball team, has resigned for unspecified personal reasons, school officials say.

"My reasons are personal and I would appreciate being relieved from my current contract and pursue a course I feel would be in the best interests of my family and myself," Ketterman said in the statement the school released Tuesday.

WBU Athletic Director Sylvia Nadler said the resignation was accepted and that the NAIA team, which last played Saturday and won't play again until Jan. 10, has been informed of it.

"I hope to have the position filled by the time the girls come back on Jan. 3," Ms. Nadler said. "They (the girls) were shocked by the announcement."

Assistant coach Laina McDonald will serve as interim coach until a successor is named.

"She (Miss McDonald) called me and said the girls have made a commitment to hang together and they'll be back after Christmas ready to continue being the No. 1 team in the nation," Dr. Nadler said.

Ketterman, 33, declined comment when contacted by the Amarillo Globe-News Tuesday.

In 2½ seasons as coach of the Flying Queens, Ketterman compiled a 65-17 record.

Ironically, Ketterman's resignation came the same day the 14-0 Queens were ranked No. 1 in the nation in the first regular season NAIA poll.

Tar Heels are still unbeaten

The Big, the Bad and the Still Perfect. That's what the North Carolina Tar Heels were at Jacksonville.

Dean Smith's top-ranked team couldn't shake the pesky Dolphins until the final minutes Tuesday night, when freshman Jeff Lebo hit a 15-foot jump shot with 1:57 to go and Kenny Smith sank two free throws to clinch a 69-65 victory.

"When we came here, I said we'd be happy with a one-point win and I guess we got more than that," said Dean Smith, whose tall Tar Heels couldn't use their height advantage against the aggressive jumpers from Jacksonville. The Dolphins, who had no starter taller than 6-foot-7, battled North Carolina on the boards all night.

"Defensively, we gave up 14 points on second shots in the second half. That's a record against us," Smith said. "I'm tired of hearing about our height advantage.

"We can't beat anyone giving up as many followup shots as we did."

No one has beaten the deep Tar Heels this year. North Carolina upped its record to 8-0, thanks greatly to Kenny Smith's 18 points and Joe Wolf's 13 rebounds. The poised Tar Heels never cracked despite a boisterous crowd of 10,117.

The Dolphins, 5-2, got 16 points from Willie McDuffie and 14 by Danny Pearson and led by as many as five points after intermission.

"I was thrilled by our inspired play," Jacksonville Coach Bob Wenzel said.

Thank You

THE FAMILY of Hugh Coy would like to express their thanks and appreciation to all who attended the funeral, sent food and flowers, and were there when I needed them so badly. Thank you to the staff on duty at Cogdell Hospital. I didn't know all of you. Also, to Bro. Don Gonce for his ever ready support, help, and the Funeral Service. Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home employees were so kind and courteous. Thank you all and God bless.

Tuesday mishaps both called minor

Two minor wrecks were reported in Snyder Tuesday, one at 8:07 a.m. and the second at 12:52 p.m.

The day's first mishap was a two-vehicle collision in the 500 Block of 16th St. Involved vehicles were a 1980 Pontiac stationwagon driven by Shirly Vasquez Barboza of 502 16th St. and a 1986 Chevrolet driven by Dorothy Franks Grimes of 811 16th St.

The second accident occurred in the 1900 Block of Ave. K. It involved a 1981 Ford driven by Iva Marx Martin of 1408 Ave. K, and a 1977 Chevrolet van driven by Lucia Alvarado Lopez of 1109 15th St.

Arrests follow theft report at pawn shop

The reported theft of an item of stereo equipment from Snyder Pawn Shop prompted the arrest Tuesday of two men described as the pair who left the business with a stereo mixer valued at $50.

The incident was reported at 2:23 p.m. by store staffers. The two men, described as black males, were reported leaving the store driving a black and tan 1972 Buick. A license number of the car was provided also.

At 3:31 p.m., police took into custody two black males ages 22 and 25 in connection with the misdemeanor theft incident.

Two other arrests were reported during the day, two Mexican males charged with being intoxicated on a premises licensed to sell alcoholic beverages.

Grain from Texas reaches hungry people in Ethiopia

GODA KILE, Ethiopia (AP) — In the dusty yard of a small feeding center here, villagers line up for rations of grain donated by the people of Texas.

"If you had been here last December you would have seen people dying on the road," said Mulatu Tafese, a field director for Save the Children (USA). "But no one has died here for months now."

The Texas food came here under Project Tejas, which raised more than $680,000 since last March 1 for Ethiopian famine victims. State employees contributed $113,000 to the project, while other donations came from farmers, school children and labor unions.

The Goda Kile storehouse is crammed with sacks of grain, all of it from the United States and much of it bearing a map of the state of Texas with a shock of wheat and a state AFL-CIO emblem.

"This was donated by the children of Texas," Mulatu said, picking up one of the empty bags and grinning.

The center here — 158 miles northeast of the capital, Addis Ababa — is one of 178 run by Save the Children (USA) in the Shoa Region of central Ethiopia. It serves about 4,000 people, giving monthly rations of 33 pounds of grain per person.

Overall, Save the Children serves 365,000 people in the region, 65,000 more than it originally planned for, Mulatu said.

To keep people from flocking from afar to set up villages near feeding centers, the agency has opened centers near established villages. It has meant building 372 miles of roads to reach some areas, Mulatu said.

A Japanese freighter, the Iris, carrying 3,266 metric tons of Texas hard red winter wheat and 56 metric tons of powdered milk donated by the people of Texas arrived in mid-November at the Red Sea port of Assab.

The ship sailed from Corpus Christi, Texas, in September and arrived at Assab, Ethiopia's biggest port, on Nov. 12.

The food was purchased with part of the $680,000 raised through Project Tejas.

Despite ideological differences with Ethiopia's Marxist government, the United States has been the biggest single donor of food, providing about 445,000 metric tons of grain, about a third of the total donation of 1.2 million metric tons.

Mulatu, 35, an Ethiopian, said as many as 100 people a day were dying in Goda Kile a year ago. Save the Children also has kept records of deaths and births in the area it covers.

Things have improved greatly, he said, picking up a smiling child. But he quickly cautioned that Ethiopia's food crisis has not yet passed.

"These people need food help for one year more," he said.

Africa overall is in better shape than it was a year ago because there have been good rains in some areas.

The Food and Agriculture Organization, a Rome-based United Nations agency which has monitored the famine in Africa, recently pared its emergency list from 21 countries to six.

Ethiopia is one of the six countries still in need of emergency food aid. The others are Angola, Botswana, Cape Verde, Mozambique and Sudan.

"Obviously, the food supply prospects for Africa in 1986 are very much better than last year," Peter Newhouse, a British economist for the FAO, said during a briefing in Nairobi, Kenya, on Monday. "But the fact that the rains have returned does not mean the African food crisis is over."

In Goda Kile, recent rains have, in fact, been unwelcome. An unexpected downpour last week ruined the crops of sorghum and tef, a wheat-like Ethiopian grain that is a staple.

"Donors don't understand how we can cry 'drought, drought, drought,' and when the rains come we say we don't want the rain," Mulatu said.

Mulatu said he looks forward to the day that the relief effort will be unnecessary.

"I see relief as a bucket with a hole in it," he said. "The minute you cut off the tap, the bucket is empty. The best way to help these people is with development.

"If you give a man a fish, he will eat for one day. But if you teach a man to fish, then he will eat forever."

Meese, Mexican attorney general conclude meetings

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — More meetings on mutual problems of drug trafficking, immigration and other issues are planned between Attorney General Ed Meese and his Mexican counterpart, Meese says.

Meese and Sergio Garcia Ramirez wound up several hours of talks early Tuesday and then met with reporters.

They said they discussed ways to crack down on drug trafficking, stem the smuggling of third country illegals into the United States and the ongoing investigation into the slaying of U.S. drug agent Enrique Camarena Salazar.

"There will be more meetings," Meese said. "We have found they are very productive."

The meeting was the third for the two men and the first in San Antonio, selected because it is at a midway point between the capitals of the two countries.

"What we have proven in this meeting is there is total agreement in our objectives and how they will be met," said Ramirez, speaking in Spanish through an interpretor.

"I think we will never be satisfied until we can say we've totally eradicated drug trafficking," he said. "But for the time being we are satisfied with the progress we have made.

"However, there is still a great deal to be done by our two countries," said Ramirez, appearing on the podium with Meese and John Gavin, the U.S. ambassador to Mexico.

Ramirez said his country is taking steps to improve the effectiveness and integrity of police forces on the border.

He also said a bill has been introduced in the Mexican congress that would allow the seizure of property purchased with drug profits.

Meese said the two countries are working on creation of a database for use in a joint crackdown on drug trafficking.

The attorney general said an international database would be "very similar to what we have among our own federal agencies."

The United States has been pressing Mexico to work harder to eradicate drugs and trafficking across the border.

Ramirez defended his country's efforts to crack down on corruption among law enforcement officers.

"Drug trafficking generates corruption. This is true wherever there is drug trafficking and wherever there are addicts," he said.

"In Mexico, wherever corruption has been exposed, perpetrators have gone to trial," he said.

Kmart provided $20 to each child to spend on Christmas gifts for their families.

After all the children were through they were led to the lounge by Kmart employees to be served refreshments. Each child was presented with a gift wrapped present.

Special thanks are extended to the Kmart corporation and the Snyder Jaycees.

Staffers indicated an informal survey conducted by them indicated increased out-of-town shoppers locally that day, noting they believe much of this could be attributed to the playoff games. The cost to the chamber for hosting both games equaled a net loss of some $264. Expenses were estimated at $2,100 and income at $1,800.

Newbury named HPU president

The school itself is a private institution affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

It is a four-year institution which has an enrollment of some 1,060 students — approximately one-half of these fulltime students on campus.

Newbury becomes the 14th president in its 96-year history.

He was chosen as the second president of Western Texas College in January of 1981, replacing Dr. Robert Clinton.

He assumed the post on a fulltime basis on April 1 of that year.

"In my judgement, Howard Payne has the same high level of support of its contituiency in the private sector as Western Texas College enjoys in the public sector."

Regarding his tenure at WTC, Newbury commented, "the support of the board of trustees, my colleagues at the college, our students and citizens throughout Scurry County and the area have been supportive, common generous and helpful beyond all expectations."

Newbury said he expects to be moving his family from Snyder in late January.

Attic fire noted here

Snyder firemen were dispatched to a possible house fire in the 2200 Block of 30th St. at 9:55 a.m. Wednesday.

According to firefighters, a small amount of insulation in the attic of the Kirby McCravey residence at 2212 30th St. had caught fire near a newly installed heating unit.

Damage was said very minor.

Textile bill is vetoed in climax to trade battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, meeting a midnight deadline, vetoed major trade legislation to curb textile, apparel and shoe imports, declaring "the economic and human costs of such a bill run far too high."

Industry supporters conceded Tuesday night they lacked for now the two-thirds support needed to override the long-threatened veto.

"None of us wants to see American workers lose their jobs or American businesses suffer," Reagan said in his veto message. He pledged "everything possible to see that this doesn't happen."

Goddess under 24 hour protection

AUSTIN (AP) — A 24-hour guard is being kept on Texas' Goddess of Liberty statue because of a "veiled threat" from a religious group, state architect Roy Graham says.

Graham told a House committee Tuesday that a religious group near Irving implied it might try to damage the statue because it considers it, and the Statue of Liberty, "graven images."

The goddess was removed Nov. 24 from atop the Capitol and was taken to the American Foundry at Rhome, north of Fort Worth, for cleaning and repair. The metal figure, which perched on the Capitol for 97 years, will be recast and a duplicate put back in place.

"She is under 24-hour guard in a warehouse," Graham told the House Committee on Cultural and Historical Resources.

Although no one has bothered the statue, Graham said there was "a veiled threat" in a pamphlet distributed by a religious group in Irving shortly before the goddess was taken down.

But the fundamentalist minister who said he made the satement to which Graham referred called the architect's actions "ridiculous" and denied he ever advocated illegal destruction of the statue.

Requests for aid up but donations down

By Polly Anderson
Associated Press Writer

The Salvation Army in Cleveland had to stop taking requests from poor people seeking Christmas aid and Army branches across the country are facing similar situations as donations drop and the ranks of the needy swell.

"We have a definite lag in donations right now," said Capt. Donald MacMurdo, spokesman for the Army in the Cleveland area. "We're well behind last year. We've been saying all along that people are still hungry the day after Christmas."

The Salvation Army in Cleveland stopped taking applications for Christmas food baskets as of late Monday, MacMurdo said Tuesday. The group had hoped to help 12,000 families but cut off applications at 10,500.

Detroit was experiencing similar problems, said division commander Lt. Col. William Himes.

"We do have more people we're taking care of this year than last year," Himes said. "We were also about $100,000 below the same period this time last year in contributions... When the economy is doing good, contributions go down. When people are hurting, there is a willingness to share blessings with others."

MacMurdo said he was optimistic that contributions would increase because Ford Motor Co. officials told him Tuesday that retired and unemployed workers at its three Brook Park plants had been soliciting contributions from those on the job and had raised at least $9,400.

In Boston, officials saw a similar surge in contributions after they said Monday they might have to stop accepting applications for holiday aid.

Ag warns cities about terrorists

AUSTIN (AP) — An Iranian terrorist group, posing as a charitable organization, may try to solicit funds in Texas to carry on its operations, Attorney General Jim Mattox said.

Mattox sent a warning to city officials Tuesday saying the terrorists, using the name Iran Relief Fund, queried Mattox's office about how it could register as a charitable organization in Texas.

"The organization was advised that the state does not register charitable organizations," Mattox said. "However, solicitation efforts must comply with local municipal ordinances."

Mattox said the organization, using several different names, has solicited funds in other states "and is expected to try to do so in Texas."

Mattox asked city officials to keep him informed of any efforts by the group to solicit funds.
