BRITISH COAL STRIKE IS SETTLED

Democrats Gaining At Expense of G.O.P. Says Mark Sullivan

By MARK SULLIVAN.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The campaign has entered a new phase. That phase is a steady ebb in the republican strength and a corresponding growth in the democratic strength. The day when it began can be fixed with almost mathematical certainty.

Cox returned to Dayton from his long tour west of the Mississippi on Monday, October 4, and began his campaign in the east on the following Thursday. It was on that day that Harding made his first appearance west of the Mississippi and delivered his Des Moines speech.

Cox's trans-Mississippi tour had been devoid of results. At that time it was possible to say, and it was said in this correspondence, that Cox's four weeks in the west had not changed the conditions in any state and that he would not get more than one-fourth of the electoral votes in the 12 states west of the Mississippi other than those classed as southern.

Republicans Lose Ground.

But the date I have mentioned marked the high tide of republican strength. Whatever may be the exact result next Tuesday, the republicans must know it will not be as favorable to them either in terms of the number of states carried, as it would have been three weeks ago. From that week when Harding crossed the Mississippi westward and Cox it eastward, not only has Cox made gains wherever he has appeared in the east, but also the echo of those gains has reflected itself in a betterment of his fortunes west of the Mississippi. I have expressed it in terms of Cox making gains, and that is accurate. But it should be additionally expressed in terms of the republicans making losses.

The change has been made due quite largely to Harding's Des Moines speech and to the distasteful inferences made by the public from the daily contradictions between Senator Johnson and ex-President Taft.

Substantial Change.

Of the substantial quality of the change there can be no doubt. I can name not fewer than four states and many smaller communities, which, on October 7, the day of the Des Moines speech, were safely republican, but which are now either probably democratic or else in the doubtful list. One of these states is Utah.

In Utah there has been from the beginning a strong league sentiment. When Wilson first brought the covenant back from Europe, a meeting was held in the Mormon tabernacle in Salt Lake City. William H. Taft was the principal speaker and he gave the league an enthusiastic indorsement. At the close of the meeting a vote was taken, and out of an audience of about 10,000, it was said—probably with exaggeration, but nevertheless with substantial accuracy that 9,999 voted "aye" and one voted "nay." It can be imagined how a community which had once believed in the league as strongly as this and still believe in the league, with modifications, was shocked by the newspaper headlines the day after the Des Moines speech.

Smoot Has Hard Fight.

In Utah Senator Smoot is having the hardest kind of a fight. He is one senator that the republican party in the nation can least afford to lose. For that matter Senator Smoot's knowledge of the government business is such that the country as a whole can ill afford to lose him. Senator Smoot's attitude on the league has been fairly acceptable to Utah, and if he loses he will lose, not because of anything he has said or done, but because of Harding's Des Moines speech.

I have spoken as if it were Harding's Des Moines speech that started the ebb of the republican tide. That is true, but that event alone would not have been so marked in its effect if it had not been followed by the speeches of Senator Johnson, in which Senator Johnson harks back to the Des Moines utterances and pins Senator Harding down to it. On this point there is testimony from a western city.

Critical Condition Arises.

"A somewhat critical condition arose in the minds of large numbers of people when Senator Harding appeared to make an outspoken declaration against all Leagues of Nations at Des Moines. That was partially corrected by his Omaha speech and has been largely cured by the statements made by the 32 prominent republicans."

The observer who expressed this judgment is in a position to know what is true of his community. But speaking for the country generally the original impression created by the Des Moines speech is kept steadily alive by the speeches of Senator Johnson, who specifically refers to the statements of the "31 republicans," and flouts them.

There are several other communities in the west where the revulsion from

GOV. COX AGAIN SCORES EDITOR SATURDAY POST

CHARGES PUBLICATION FOUND GUILTY OF VIOLATING ANTI-TRUST LAW.

STATEMENT IS IN REPLY TO GEORGE H. LORIMER

Says Insidious Purpose Of Post Has Finally Been Brought To Light.

By HERBERT W. WALKER
United Press Staff Correspondent.

DAYTON, OHIO, Oct. 28.—Every unfair business in America is opposing his candidacy and demanding a return to "normalcy," in the hope it will again get "more than a square deal," Gov. James M. Cox declared in a statement here today.

The governor again attacked the Saturday Evening Post because of a cartoon attacking him. He claimed the Curtis Publishing Co. had been found guilty of unfair and illegal methods of competition and of violation of the anti-trust laws, and accused it and other "big business of supporting the reactionary candidate in the hope of obtaining governmental advantages.

"Every unfair business in America is against me because I don't stand for the return of the old order under which the strong prospered at the expense of the weak and big business grew bigger while small businesses were forced out of existence," Cox said.

Charges Insidious Purpose.

"The insidious purpose of the Saturday Evening Post cloaked under non-partisan methods for the past decade, has finally been brought to light. It has grown to such size and gained such prosperity as to be emboldened beyond all discretion, and has expressed what in my mind is the thing that is causing all big business to support the reactionary candidate, namely that they know they may expect from me a square deal, nothing more. It is the difference between the square deal and that which big business wants that constitutes the return to normalcy."

The governor's statement was in reply to one by George H. Lorimer, after Cox's first attack on the publication.

"When, early in the week, I called attention to the guerilla tactics of the Saturday Evening Post on the basis of its last minute attack on me the response of Mr. Lorimer, its editor, was that my action was unethical. The question of ethics would seem to lie in what America has looked upon as a square deal, and when a non-partisan journal becomes partisan in its very last issue before an election—a time when it is impossible for misstatement to be corrected or deceit to be met—it would seem to indicate a very deep seated selfish interest based on some purpose which could not be called straightforward and honest.

Refers to Conviction.

"Is it because the Curtis Publishing Co. was found guilty of the use of unfair and illegal methods, of violation of the anti-trust laws prohibiting the use of certain 'tying end' contracts, and of violation of the federal commission rulings? The complaint in each case was based upon the fact that the Curtis Publishing Co. made contracts with wholesale distributors which prevented them from handling other publications without permission and which prohibited the sale of competing publications.

"Proof for these unlawful practices was found by the federal trade commission after extensive hearings on July 13, and the Curtis Publishing Co. was forced to cease and desist."

Cox, following a big parade and three speeches before large crowds in his home city last night, was resting today preparatory to leaving late this afternoon for Indianapolis, where he will make his final Indiana campaign speech tonight.

MRS. MACSWINEY BREAKS DOWN AS RESULT OF VIGIL

UNABLE TO LONGER STAND THE STRAIN SHE IS FORCED TO HER BED.

CASKET OF MACSWINEY BANKED WITH FLOWERS

Funeral Services Began Today With Mass Celebrated At Eleven O'Clock.

By LLOYD ALLEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Strife over government policies was stilled momentarily today while the soul of Terence MacSwiney was consigned to his Maker.

Sombre thousands knelt in St. George's cathedral while an archbishop and assisting bishops intoned the solemn ritual. There was no disturbance, not even a remark for the police, dozens of whom clustered about.

The Irish hunger striker's casket lay on its catafalque, its polished surface and metal trimmings reflecting the quivering candle light, its flag of green, white and orange adding to the color of the robes of the prelates, glistening in the dim light.

Sinn fein colors decorated the garments of many of the spectators, but those ornamented bits were obscured in the mourning garments throughout the huge cathedral.

The huge republican soldiers stood guard over the body throughout the services. They wore their sinn fein uniforms covered by long overcoats. Throughout the chanting of the requiem they stood rigidly at attention.

Sympathizers Kneel in Prayer.

Close associates of the lord mayor, members of the Irish parliament and hundreds of Irish sympathizers knelt in prayer with those sympathizers from London, who had not known MacSwiney in life. A thousand or more, with heads bared, crowded the way to the cathedral entrance. They stood quietly throughout the long service and afterwards were admitted to the building to view MacSwiney's face before the casket was closed. The lord mayor's relatives were there—all except the lady mayoress, whose apparently indomitable composure was lost at last. She lay ill at the home of friends in utter collapse.

The procession in which the casket was conveyed to Euston station was looked upon as the greatest Irish demonstration in England's history.

Headed by a band of Irish pipers, the procession marched slowly through three miles of the heart of London.

No Hostile Demonstration.

Police had feared a possible hostile demonstration but everywhere the cortege was greeted with the greatest respect. Pedestrians, numbering hundreds of thousands, doffed their hats as the hearse passed and the only discordance was produced by hawkers who cried their offers of sinn fein colors and souvenir postal cards.

Following the pipers was a bodyguard of sinn fein soldiers, wearing their uniforms under overcoats. The uniforms were distinguishable under the outer garments but officials made no protests. Wearing the uniform in Ireland is forbidden, but the law does not mention its appearance in England. The motor hearse was next in line, followed by members of the MacSwiney family in carriages and after them trailed a long procession of marchers, representing officials and organizations.

Police stopped traffic in the busiest streets, that the cortage might pass unbroken.

Starting from the cathedral the procession moved up Lambeth Road and into Black Friars Road, leading north across the Thames. The marchers proceeded northward to the station through King's Way.

This evening the coffin will be taken by train to Holyhead, thence across the channel to Dublin.

SINN FEIN SOLDIERS IN UNIFORM ARE ON GUARD

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Guarded by sinn fein soldiers, the body of Terence MacSwiney lay in state today in St. George's cathedral in Southwark. The casket was banked high with floral offerings.

The remains of the late lord mayor of Cork who died of starvation in Brixton prison, after a hunger strike of 74 days were carried into the cathedral yesterday afternoon, accompanied by a delegation of sinn feiners and friends from Ireland.

Until midnight a constan stream of visitors flowed past the casket to gaze at the emanciated features of the lord mayor. When the doors were closed at midnight there still remained large crowds who had been unable to enter.

Offer No Interference.

Police offered no interference either to the parade which escorted the body or to the throng which swarmed about the cathedral.

Funeral services today began with mass at 11 a. m. celebrated by Archbishop Mannix, with the assistance of three bishops. At 2 o'clock a procession was to leave the church to traverse several important streets to Euston station. It was planned the cortegie should arrive at the station at 4 o'clock. The body will be taken to Holyhead, starting at 8:30 tonight and transferred to a boat, reaching Dublin early Friday morning.

An advance guard of sinn feiners, not in uniform, and a band of Irish pipers will head the procession. Following them will be MacSwiney's remains in a motor hearse. Next in line will be members of the family to be followed by representatives of the Irish parliament, Irish municipal bodies and other organizations, including London sinn fein clubs. Mounted police will accompany the procession. Displays of the sinn fein flag and colors were not forbidden.

Proclaim Day of Mourning.

MacSwiney will be accorded the honors of a ruler in Ireland. The Irish

HARDING ASKED ABOUT JOHNSON AND WM. H. TAFT

HECKLER WANTS TO KNOW WITH WHICH HE STANDS ON LEAGUE.

DECLARES HE BROUGHT THEM CLOSER TOGETHER

Republican Nominee Is Taking His Final Tour In a Leisurely Fashion.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 28.—Senator Warren G. Harding planned to leave here for Akron shortly after 2 p. m. today to make the second set speech of his Ohio tour tonight.

His was to motor out to a golf course here before lunch. Senator Harding is taking his final tour in leisurely fashion and has cut down rear platform talks to a minimum. He is spending each night in a hotel instead of on the train as he did on previous trips.

Senator Hiram Johnson and ex-President Taft are closer together on the League of Nations issue than they were before, Senator Harding said, replying to a heckler at a meeting here.

"Do you stand with Johnson or with Taft?" the heckler asked.

"I don't ask Senator Johnson to agree with me," Harding answered. "That's the kind of thing I'm rebelling against. I do think I have contributed one service to America. I have certainly brought Mr. Taft and Senator Johnson closer together than they ever were in their lives. The democratic party is not united on the League of Nations and the republican party is not wholly united. I couldn't hope in the process of a campaign to unite all factions."

Asked About Lynching.

A negro asked the candidate's position regarding lynching.

Harding replied he believed in protecting every human being under the flag, bringing cheers of approval from the audience.

When another heckler asked Harding regarding the attitude of socialists toward the League of Nations, the nominee discussed socialism for the first time in his campaign.

"A political party never endures unless its members are intelligent and you find that a socialist usually knows what he is talking about," Harding said, "I don't believe in their theories but I am glad we have some thoughtful socialists. They have a contribution to make to America."

The statement from President Wilson to pro-league republicans still holds Article 10 in its place as the storm center of the league light, according to the view of Harding's advisers.

Harding repeated today he will never send a covenant with Article 10 to the senate if he is elected, while President Wilson declared Article 10 is the specific redemption of the pledge when they entered the war against German aggression.

WRANGEL'S FORCES FORCED TO RETREAT BEFORE BOLSHEVIKI

PARIS, Oct. 28.—General Wrangel's forces have evacuated Alexandrovisk, according to advices here today.

General Wrangel, opposing bolshevist troops in southern Russia, has been gathering strength to meet a strong soviet attack by troops released from the Polish front. Apparently Wrangel's troops have meet superior forces and been forced to yield much of the gains they made while the Polish-Russian fighting was at his height.

At one time Wrangel had penetrated to Ekaterinoslav, fifty miles north of Alexandrovisk which is 100 miles north of Wrangel's base on the sea of Azof.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SAYS POLL TAX LAW IS BINDING ON ALL

AUSTIN, Oct. 28.—The poll tax law passed by the last special session of the legislature is binding on all election and administrative officers and those who desire to vote on November 2, according to an opinion by the attorney general made public today. The attorney general declined to pass upon the constitutionality of the law, saying, "it is not within the province of the attorney general or any administrative or executive officer to question its constitutionality." The opinion excepts Harris county, where a district judge has held the law unconstitutional, from its application.

SPECULATING ON PART SPEECH IS LIKELY TO PLAY

REPUBLICANS CONTEND IT IS A REBUKE TO DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE.

DEMOCRATS FIGURE IT WILL WIN REPUBLICANS

Offensive "Cartoon" Is Called In By Chairman Of The Republican Campaign.

By ED L. KEEN
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The effect of President Wilson's address to a delegation of pro-league republicans at the White House is regarded by political observers here as problematical.

Republican managers and republican newspapers were quick to seize upon the president's eloquent defense of the covenant, especially article 10, as in effect a rebuke to Governor Cox for his intimation in a speech at Huntington, W. Va., that he would be willing to compromise and accept almost any reservation upon which two-thirds of the senate might agree.

Democratic managers and newspapers held not only that there is nothing in the president's address justifying the charges that he has rebuked the party's candidate but that the document will prove of greatest value in garnering pro-league republican votes for Cox next Tuesday. It is pointed out also that the president is quite specific in denouncing the attitude taken by Harding, particularly on his "America first" platform.

The republican publicity bureau is giving wide circulation today to a statement from Chairman Will Hays expressing regret for the publication of the "immaculate conception" cartoon which was sent out by the cartoon syndicate attached to the national committee.

Hays explained that the cartoon was promptly "killed" upon orders from Scott C. Bone, head of the publicity department, as soon as it came to his attention. Incidentally, Hays attacks the democratic national committee for making political capital out of the incident.

Hays reiterates that the cartoon was in the first instance used "inadequately and without the slightest approval or knowledge of myself or any member of the committee."

The democratic publicity bureau is today circulating fac simile copies of a circular letter signed by Charles B. Warren, chairman of the ways and means committee of the republican national committee, appealing to corporation directors for individual subscriptions to the republican campaign fund.

Commenting on this letter, Chairman George White, in a statement says:

"No more sordid document nor one more corroborative of Governor Cox's charges that certain corporate interests are trying to buy an underhold in the government has come to light in this campaign."

CHAIRMAN MAKES PUBLIC LETTER FROM ALLEN RYAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, today made public a letter from Allan A. Ryan in connection with the statement issued last night by Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee in which Mr. Hays disclaimed responsibility for dissemination of a cartoon by Albert T. Reid, inscribed "Professor Wilson's League of Nations, the Immaculate Conception."

With the Ryan letter, Mr. White made the following statement:

"This is not a subject for debate between chairmen of contending political parties. It involves the public attitude toward a sacreligious attack upon the common decencies that encompass all religious beliefs."

Calls It "Lame Apology."

Mr. Ryan in his letter said Chairman Hays' statement was a "lame apology" for "blasphemy and sacrilege" in the interest of the republican ticket. He charged that the cartoon was sent out by the republican national committee and that besides being run in Harvey's Weekly last week, was also printed in the October 9 issue of the National Republican. Both publications, Mr. Ryan declared, were organs of the republican national committee. The letter concluded:

"After three weeks of widespread use of this cartoon in official organs and republican newspapers, they now seek to repudiate it because they have found that the public conscience is aroused against it. That is the whole story.

"I can best express my opinion of the good faith of Mr. Hays and the decency of republican subsidized journalism by subscribing an additional $15,000 to your (the democratic) campaign."

DALLAS COURT RECORDS WANTED IN CONNECTION WITH CAREER OF WOMAN

DALLAS, TEXAS, Oct. 28.—Dallas court records involving the career in Dallas of a woman alleged to have been Mrs. R. C. Pette, held in connection with the J. C. Denton murder in Los Angeles, have been forwarded to Los Angeles, according to Police Chief Ryan here.

Mrs. Peete was divorced by a man named H. R. Bosley in 1918 in Dallas, according to a divorce petition which formed part of the records forwarded. "Excesses, cruel treatment and outrageous conduct," was alleged against the woman in the petition.

Mrs. Peete, according to Ryan was a witness in an alleged case wherein a hotel clerk shot himself.

PREMIER LLOYD-GEORGE IS TO ADVISE PARLIAMENT OF TERMS AT MEETING THIS AFTERNOON

LONDON, October 28.—Premier Lloyd George will announce settlement of the British coal strike in the house of commons this afternoon, according to executives of the miners' federation.

The miners made their announcement at conclusion of a meeting with government officials in Downing Street.

The premier will inform parliament as to the details of the settlement, they said. The agreement will be submitted to miners in a nation-wide referendum for their approval.

Announcement of the settlement followed quickly on what looked like a serious deadlock of new demands by miners. The union demanded that provision be made for additional wage increases when production mounted. The premier was said to demand that the government be given a written agreement that no strike should be called until a national wages commission has been appointed and had begun to function.

The cabinet considered the situation at a forenoon session and the triangular conference was resumed after noon. The agreement announced by the miners was reached after only a brief session.

Although the settlement was looked upon as compromise with each side given something to save its face the outcome generally was regarded as a government victory. The government's demand for increased production was put through with the creation of a national wage board with the miners pledged to observe its decision. The latter was regarded as an insurance that coal strikes will be made more difficult in the future.

Under certain conditions the federation executives had power to order the men back to work. The terms of the agreement, however, apparently were such as to demand a ratification vote by the miners themselves.

MINERS WILL RECEIVE AN INCREASE IN WAGES

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Settlement of the British coal strike, was looked upon as certain today with miners and government officials agreed upon terms.

The prososal will be submitted to a nation-wide referendum by the miners before becoming effective.

Under its terms, the miners will receive an increase in wages of two shillings per day until January 3. After that date wages will be adjusted every four weeks by a national commission to consist of representatives of miners, mine owners and the government. Adjustment of pay will follow the line of production.

A permanent wage will be determined by the commission, which is to render its report to the government before March 31.

Terms of the agreement were reported to the house of commons by Premier Lloyd George, who with Sir Robert Horne and Andrew Bonar Law, has been in conference with the miners and owners most of the week.

Miners' official made the first announcement of the settlement. William Brace, member of parliament, and Frank Hodges, secretary of the miners' federation, said the proposition would be submitted to their men with a recommendation that it be accepted.

FORT WORTH REPORTS FIRST FROST OF SEASON

FORT WORTH, Oct. 28.—The first frost of the season was reported here this morning. However, it was not severe enough to kill vegetation.

First Frost of Season.

TEXARKANA, ARK., Oct. 28.—The first frost of the year in this section, very much in evidence this morning, was a killing one and it is probable considerable damage has resulted. The lowest temperature records was 35 degrees.

Little Damage Reported.

DALLAS, TEXAS, Oct. 28.—Little or no damage was caused by last night's frost over north Texas, according to reports to the Dallas weather bureau. It was the first heavy frost of the season, but the thermometer except in a few instances, did not drop below 46 degrees, the bureau announced.

Forecast Cooler Weather.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The long spell of unseasonably warm weather in the eastern portion of the country was broken today, the weather bureau forecasting cooler weather as far south as Florida. Frost was expected tonight as far south as the interior of Mississippi and Alabama with heavy frost in Indiana and other middle western states.

Heavy Frost in Oklahoma.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 28.—Heavy frost prevailed generally last night over Oklahoma, with the exception of the extreme southern border, but was killing in only scattered localities, according to reports today to the weather bureau here.

STEAL $30,000 WORTH OF DIAMONDS AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Police today searched for thieves who broke into the room of Samuel Dietch, president of the Diamond Ring Company of New York city, and stole $30,000 worth of diamonds.

OUTLAW LABOR TRUST FORMING OVER COUNTRY

NEW YORK CONTRACTOR TESTIFIES BUSINESS WRECKED BY LEADERS.

LARGE SUM DEMANDED FOR FURNISHING WORKERS

Not Affiliated With American Federation Of Labor According To Statement.

By HAROLD D. JACOBS
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The building trades "labor trust," an "outlaw" organization not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, is organizing branches throughout the country, according to evidence introduced today at the resumption of hearing by the joint legislative committee.

Charles A. Wales, building wrecker, who said he had been "broken" by the "labor trust," testified that Robert P. Brindell, president of the building trades council, told him: "You'd better come in. You can't get a start in another city as we have 15 men traveling around the country, organizing branches in every city."

Wales declared that through fighting the council he had been reduced from a business of $350,000 a year to odd jobs averaging $100 each.

Aid Is Solicited.

When he sought to enlist the aid of the American Federation of Labor, with which his employes were affiliated, Wallas said he was told by Hugh Frayne of that organization:

"We cant' do anything about it; Brindell is all powerful."

According to Wallas, Brindell organized his own union and compelled members of the old house wreckers' union which had an A. F. of L. charter, to join it, each man paying $50 "initiation fee" and $6 "additional expenses." This was brought about by pressure upon the men's employers and the big building contractors who employed their employers.

Wallas said that when a big contractor sought to aid him by giving him a wrecking job, on which he could employ his old men, Brindell immediately called outlaw strikes and tied up four jobs under construction by that contractor, involving millions of dollars.

Meets Requirements.

Wallas said he finally consented to come into Brindell's organization, one of the requirements being that he should accept men furnished by the "labor boss." Out of 20 men sent him, he said, three were dishwashers, four deck hands and the others striking railway workers. He said he feared a fatal accident with these "green hands" and fired them, with the result that the war with Brindell was renewed and he was finally "broken."

Robert C. Whiting, who handles labor for the George H. Fuller Construction Company, which does from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000 worth of business a year, mostly outside New York city, testified that Brindell, by calling "outlaw" strikes, forced that concern to award wrecking contracts to firms which Brindell designated. He said the men furnished by Brindell were so inefficient that on one job in which his company guaranteed the payroll of the wrecking firm, they lost $35,000.

STANDARD OF INDIANA DECLARES A DIVIDEND

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The board of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana here today declared a stock dividend of one and one half shares for each whole share of stock to be paid on stock of record December 17, 1920. In addition, the board also voted to pay each holder of a fractional share one and one half times the amount of his holding.

BALFOUR SAYS FOUR POWERS WILL SOON JOIN THE LEAGUE

BRUSSELS, Oct. 28.—The council of the League of Nations this morning closed its sessions in Brussels. The council took a final adjournment after referring the question of Dansig, the regulations concerning which are in dispute between Poland and the authorities of the free city, to the assembly of the league which meets at Geneva next month.

The council took another important action in deciding upon a plebiscite as to the disposition of the territory in dispute between Poland and Lithuania. This including the line fixed by the supreme council in December 1919.

A. J. Balfour, the British representative, in making the closing address, declared that four great powers not now members of the league, would enter it shortly.

"Without these great powers," he added, "it is impossible to predict what the league may accomplish."

QUESTION OF DISPOSAL OF STOCKYARDS IS NOW IN HANDS OF THE COURTS

FORT WORTH, Oct. 28.—The question of the disposal of the stockyards is now up to the courts, said Louis F. Swift, Chicago packer, in a statement here today, commenting upon the announcement of the new disposal plan.

"If the pending disposition of the stock yards is approved by the courts," continued Swift, "it is probable that stockmen will be given preference in obtaining them. I would recommend that the stockmen take advantage of this opportunity to become interested in the markets which are the outlet for their products."

TWO HUNDRED RANGERS ARE TO TAKE CHARGE OF COAL FIELDS

GOVERNOR OF TOBASCO IS OUSTED FROM OFICE AND PLACED UNDER ARREST

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 28.—Carlos Green, governor of the state of Tabasco, was arrested in San Juan Bautista, capital of that state, yesterday, upon orders from General P. Elias Calles, minister of war.

His arrest followed a proclamation by the national senate that the governor's office was vacant because of Green's responsibility for the shooting and killing of two deputies and the wounding of four others persons at the capital of Tabasco on Monday last.

DENVER, Oct. 28.—Two hundred Colorado rangers under Colonel Patrick J. Hamrock were expected to take charge in the northern Colorado coal fields, where a strike of miners was called effective at midnight last night.

The troops were given orders yesterday by Governor Shoup and remained under arms last night at Golden, on the state rifle range. Governor Shoup's order was issued in a statement in which he characterized the strike as illegal and declared law and order would be maintained.

Two thousand miners, according to officials of the union, are affected by the strike order. Several properties which are operating under expired contracts are not affected. The miners demand a wage adjustment and working agreement.

CAMPAIGN COSTS THE REPUBLICANS $3,442,892.23

REPORT IS MADE TO COMMITTEE INVESTIGATING EXPENDITURES.

AMOUNT IS IN EXCESS OF ESTIMATED BUDGET

Also Report Total Amount Received In Contributions From Various Sources.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The republican national committee's campaign to elect Senator Warren G. Harding president will cost $3,442,892.32, Fred W. Upham, national treasurer of the party, notified the senate committee appointed to investigate campaign expenditures in a report filed with the committee here today.

Of this sum $3,042,892.32 had been spent up to the close of business Sunday, October 24, and Mr. Upham estimated the expenditures in the closing week of the campaign at $400,000 additional. The report shows that $301,-285.28 was spent between October 18, when a report was filed with the clerk of the house of representatives in Washington, and October 24, the date of today's report.

The total estimated cost of the campaign—$3,442,892.32, is considerably in excess of the republican budget of $3,076,215.90, presented to the senate committee at a hearing here last August, but Mr. Upham explained that the disbursements covered the period from June 14, while the budget included only expenditures from July 1. About $200,000 was spent between June 14 and July 1, Mr. Upham's office estimated, leaving the estimated disbursements from July 1 to November 2, approximately $3,242,000, about $162,000 in excess of the estimated budget.

Contributions Received.

Contributions received since June 14 total $2,914,706.08, or $128,186.24 less than the amount expended, Mr. Upham's report shows. Of the amount collected, $1,792,556.54 was devoted directly to the national campaign under the direction of the national committee. The remaining $1,121,149.54 was returned to the states in which it was raised in accordance with an agreement whereby the national committee solicited all funds for both state and national campaign purposes.

Since Mr. Upham presented his last report to the senate committee here on August 30 in which he showed sixteen contributions exceeding the $1,000 limit laid down by Chairman Will H. Hays, there have been sixteen more such contributions from individuals and two from clubs, today's report shows. The eighteen donations total $35,470.50 and include:

Exceed $1,000 Limit.

Harding-Coolidge club, Tulsa, Okla., $10,000; Hamilton club, Chicago, $6,-720.50; James R. Smith, San Francisco, $5,000; S. G. Kennedy, Tulsa, Okla., $5,000; William Sacks, Tulsa, Okla., $2,500; Percy E. Magee, Tulsa, Okla., $2,500; Thomas Vach, St. Louis, $2,-500; George M. Reynolds, Chicago, $2,-000; E. E. Pantzer, Sheboygan, Wis., $2,000; David H. Morris, New York City, $2,000; Duncan Phillips, Washington, D. C., $2,000; William T. Curry, Pittsburgh, $2,000; Ledyard Cogswell, Jr., Albany county, N. Y., $2,000; Howard and Hedger, Aberdeen, S. D., $1,500; John C. Gilkinson, Tulsa, Okla., $1,500; A. A. Augustus, Cleveland, $1,-500; Alfred Decker, Chicago, $1,250; R. S. Lewis, Fargo, N. D., $1,160.

In several instances members of the same family have given contributions of $1,000 each. Mr. and Mrs. James E. Davidson, Bay City, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Crocker, San Francisco, and four other members of the Crocker family; Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Hodge, Detroit, and four members of the Speckles family of San Francisco, are in this class.

Candidates Contribute.

Senator Warren G. Harding and Governor Calvin Coolidge, his running mate, each gave $1,000, as did Fred W. Upham, the republican national treasurer; John T. Adams, vice-chairman of the national committee; A. T. Hert of Louisville, committeeman from Kentucky; Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, former ambassador to France; and Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, brother of ex-President Taft. There are several hundred $1,000 contributions.

Mr. Upham's office estimated there were approximately 50,000 contributions to the campaign chest. The smallest contributions listed are of 25 cents. There are thousands of 25c, 50c, 75c and $1 donations as well as large numbers in odd cents. Eleven Chicago women gave 62 cents each, why, no one in Mr. Upham's office knows.

Affidavit Is Filed.

With his report Mr. Upham filed an affidavit answering a series of written questions put to him by the senatorial committee. The affidavit sets forth that the "amount to be expended by the national committee for the further purposes of the campaign does not exceed the sum of $40,000, which is the aggregate sum unexpended of the appropriation provided for in the budget of the committee. One of the questions asked by the committee is:

"Have you in the foregoing statements truthfully and fully set forth all moneys paid or promised, whether the promise be of an express sum of money or an agreement to pay an indefinite sum, or to contribute with others to any fund or funds now being collected or to be hereafter collected?"

Mr. Upham answered in the affirmative. The report shows no pledges of aid to make up any deficit that may exist after the election, but the affidavit states that the committee does, however, contemplate the continuation of its campaign for funds with which to discharge its unpaid debts.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE HAS SPENT LESS THAN MILLION

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Total receipts by the democratic national committee to October 25 for the conduct of the present campaign amounted to $978,831.34, according to an announcement today by Wilbur W. Marsh, the party's national treasurer.

This figure, Mr. Marsh said, was today submitted according to the requirements of the corrupt practices law to the Kenyon committee investigating campaign contributions and expenditures in Chicago.

The sum collected, the democratic treasurer stated, is constituted also entirely of contributions to the campaign fund with the exception of $150,-000 which was borrowed. Other sources, which aggregated collections of only a few hundred dollars, included the sale of the campaign text books, refunded from advertising and such small funds.

The statement itemized, moneys received by the headquarters in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, as well as the women's bureau. Of the total $695,491.33 was collected in New York, while San Francisco showed an aggregate fund of but $1,763.90.

Women Collect Fund.

The woman's bureau was responsible for the collection of $3,544.50. Chicago collected $53,041.51.

Disbursements by the entire organization up to the same date, as shown by the statement, amount of $823,-345.09, with New York bearing by far the heaviest burden, Chicago a sum slightly less than its receipts and San Francisco an expense approximately eight times the amount of funds received. Running the women's bureau for the entire campaign to date cost but $1,539.30, the statement adds.

Account books of the treasurer's office also show commitments as of October 25, as follows:

Naturalized citizens bureau $761.19; organization bureau $2,348.60; women's bureau $12,022.20; treasurer's statistical $1,403.26; general $2,310.10; publicity $121,109.34; total commitments $139,854.69.

In addition to funds already received Mr. Marsh's statement included a memorandum to the effect that two individuals had pledged $35,000 each to pay the expenses of advertising books relating to the League of Nations.

RADIO MESSAGE ASKS FOR ASSISTANCE FOR VESSEL

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—A radio message asking assistance for the destroyer Idlewood was received at the Charleston navy yard yesterday. The radio asked for water for the destroyer's boilers. The Idlewood left Boston five days ago and is now off Cape Lookout, N. C.

BARBER SHOP OWNERS IN CHICAGO ANNOUNCE INCREASE IN PRICES

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The central executive council of the Master Barbers' Association, representing 2,700 barbers in the city, today decided upon a raise to $1 for a haircut and 75 cents for a shave, to become effective January 1.

The explanation was given that the cost of laundering 100 towels is 75 against 25 cents before the war, and that barbers pay from $3.50 to $9.00 a gallon more for tonic than previously.

"We are sorry, but there seems nothing else to be done," said A. B. Raymond, secretary-treasurer of the Journeymen Barbers' Union. "However, the public should be educated not to tip the barber. That will help some."

SIGN AGREEMENT FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF BRITISH OIL INDUSTRY

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Announcement of the signing of an agreement by a French group and the Anglo-Persian Oil Company for development on a large scale of oil supplies from British sources, is made by the London Times. The project contemplates the creation of a fleet of tank steamers flying the French flag and the establishment of large storage tanks at the principal ports of France.

A company with capital amounting to 100,000,000 francs is said to be in the process of formation for importing to France crude and refined fuel oil. The Anglo-Persian company is declared to have agreed to subscribe for 45 per cent of the company's capital.

Will You Hobble Around All Winter?

Rheumatism's Pains Will Soon Begin Their Assault.

When Rheumatism's pains renew their grip, as they are bound to do as soon as the first touch of winter approaches, will you again reach for the liniment bottle in an effort to temper the pain, or will you make an intelligent effort to get rid of the disease for good and all?

◆ Why remain a slave to the liniment bottle, when you know that the best it can afford is mere temporary relief? Why not make a determined effort to break the shackles of Rheumatism by routing the germs from your system? ◆

Physicians have varying opinions about the cause of Rheumatism. They are in considerable doubt as to the source of the disease and its proper treatment. But there is no doubt whatever about its pains, and no disputing the fact that they are real, in many cases even to the extent of torture.

If the disease were confined to the surface, there might be some logic in expecting relief from its clutches by local applications applied to the surface. But you will soon learn that a disease that can cause so much pain and suffering is deep-seated, and has its source far below the surface of the skin. The pains may be slight at first, and that is where the victim of rheumatism is often deceived.

He does not feel that the first little twinges of pain amount to much, and hence they are not promptly heeded. But they gradually increase in severity until the disease has your entire system in its relentless grip. The pains that seemed so slight at first become intensely severe and seem to take delight in your sufferings.

Of course, there has been cases where some slight relief was experienced from the use of liniments and other local application, but there has never yet been a case that was actually cured by such treatment, and temporary relief is very far from comforting to a constant sufferer.

The only sensible treatment from which you can expect real results is a remedy that goes deep down into the blood supply and kills the germs that cause the disease. These tiny germs multiply by the millions and scatter by means of the blood circulation throughout the entire system. Whether they attack the muscles, the joints, limbs or other parts of the body, they are still in the blood, and will continue to spread their torturing pains until eliminated thoroughly from the blood.

S.S.S. is a wonderful blood remedy, and is the logical treatment for rheumatism, because it promptly permeates the entire blood supply, and searches out and kills the disease germs. You can take S.S.S. with the assurance that you are not experimenting, for this fine old remedy has been in constant use for more than fifty years, during which time it has been giving splendid results. So you owe it to yourself to take S.S.S. without delay, and discard the use of local remedies that can do you no good.

◆ The treatment that will give real results is the one that attacks Rheumatism at its source, and removes the germs that cause it. ◆

If your case requires any special advice, it can be obtained without cost together with valuable literature if you will write today to Chief Medical Adviser, 289 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

If You Aren't Going to a Hallowe'en Party You Must Not "Belong" to Anything; Every Organization Celebrating

Nobody is overlooking Hallowe'en this year, in spite of the fact that All Hallow's Eve falls on Sunday. Maybe it's because of the fact, which leaves any other night in the week safe for "adoption." At any rate, the nights have all been adopted, from last Monday straight through to next Monday, and the indications are that thousands of Wichita Falls folks will be ghostly revelers sometime during the week.

Elaborate and extensive preparations are being made for at least four and possibly more, of the ghost carnivals. First, if not biggest, the Wichita club members and their wives are entertaining the members of the Civic league in the Wichita club rooms Friday night. Mrs. T. B. Smock, A. W. Burnside and E. E. Fuller have been appointed a committee to plan for this entertainment, the nature of which is being kept a dead secret, though a number of interesting things concerning it are being whispered about. Second, the Elks open their social season with a big Hallowe'en dance and entertainment at the club rooms Thursday night. Beside the regular social committee of the club, comprised of R. J. Marin, George Mabley and Wilkie Talbert, a special committee has been in charge of the plans for entertainment tonight, and the occasion is expected to be one of the most enjoyable Elk affairs of the season. The Golf club ladies are arranging for a big Hallowe'en party for open-house evening Saturday and a committee from the club is in charge. Saturday evening the Epworth League of the First M. E. church, south, is entertaining with a bona-fide ghost party for the organization and its friends, and very extensive arrangements are being made for the entertainment of the young people. Ten famous ghosts have received bids, and accepted, and it is understood that several carloads of cornstalk decorations with the golden ears au natural were "lifted" from a nearby cornfield several nights ago by some shades of Epworth Leaguers to further the autumn spirit of the occasion.

Beside these, church organizations, club organizations and private individuals are taking advantage of the splendid possibilities afforded by the Hallowe'en significance and color scheme to entertain their friends informally. The First Christian congregation will gather in the church basement Friday night at 8 o'clock for a social appropriate to the occasion; Circle Three of the Central Presbyterian Mission society will entertain the church membership with a party in the basement of the church; the Sesame and Lilies class of the First Presbyterian church will entertain the boys of Fred Week's class in the basement of that church Thursday night; the Campfire girls will entertain with a Hallowe'en party at the home of Miss Marie Berry Saturday night; the girls of the high school club, numbering about two hundred, will entertain with a "farmerette" party Friday evening at the Y. M. C., and the Jewish Women's council will give a Hallowe'en pay social at Temple Israel Monday evening to which the public is invited. Even the Day nursery babies will observe the day and a big afternoon party has been planned for the little tots Saturday, invitations to which have been mailed to 50 children.

A number of Hallowe'en affairs have already been held, including the Harvest home supper given Wednesday evening by ladies of the Mission society of the M. E. church, north. Hallowe'en decorations were used, and an unusually enjoyable evening spent. The Young Business Women's club entertained 42 members and guests with a Hallowe'en supper Tuesday evening at the club room at the Y.W.C.A. and the table was beautifully decorated with Hallowe'en favors, colors and Jack O'Lanterns. A Hallowe'en program was also carried out.

The clubs have also taken advantage of the Hallowe'en holiday and have used the popular black and yellow color scheme and Hallowe'en motifs to render more attractive recent study meetings in the homes, and several children's parties within the past few days have featured witches and black cats very thrillingly. Mrs. C. C. Cabiness entertained with a Hallowe'en party for little Miss Florence Katherine Cabiness Wednesday afternoon, and the decorations were particularly attractive, with the motif carried out also in the refreshments served the children. The little guests present included Florence Katherine, Doris Roodhouse, Master Carter, Elizabeth Langford, Anna Katherine Howard and Maxine Ferguson.

The Young Women's Bible Class of the First Baptist church will be entertained with a Hallowe'en party at the Y. W. Saturday evening, and the Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A. will have a party there in the afternoon. The High School Girls, who entertain there Friday evening, will have as their guests the entire high school and faculty, and all are expected to come in "simplicity" costumes. Most of the boys and girls will be farmers and farmerettes, in recognition of the Harvest home season.

Ready for Fall Sports.
One of the jauntiest little fall sport or wear costumes is this well tailored suit. It is extremely smart with its odd collar which turns into the handlest scarf imaginable. The material is a ribbed wool velour in Siberian squirrel grey.

Nearly One-Half the School Children of County Hindered by Defects—Red Cross

That nearly one-half of the school children of Wichita county are hindered in their work by defects of one kind or another, is the statement made by Miss Minnie McBride, Red Cross and state board of health advisory nurse of Fort Worth, who spent part of this week with Miss Mary Quinn and Miss Allison, Wichita county public health nurses.

Miss McBride stated that many of the defects are easily corrected by home treatment.

Children who are defective in one way or another do not make as good grades as their healthier classmates, according to careful observation," Miss McBride stated. "And children whose defects have been corrected have often shown marked improvement at once."

Miss McBride stated that in one county in Texas where 2007 school children were given medical inspection by the A. R. C. public health nurse, it was found that more than one half of those inspected showed some retarding physical defect. Of the number of children inspected, 735 had throat and tonsil trouble, while 360 were in need of optical attention, and 239 had defective teeth. Miss McBride stated that these figures are not unusual.

It has been pointed out by the Red Cross and state board of health that communities as a whole do not always realize that money spent in maintaining schools sometimes fails of best results because many children are prevented by disease and ill health from attending the schools provided, and no provision is made for keeping the children in a condition to make the best use of the schools.

The keynote of Red Cross work among school children, Miss McBride brought out, is based on the old proverb that a stitch in time saves nine. The organization not only strives to accomplish the correction of defects, but to form healthful habits among children, such as the taking of exercise in the open air, eating slowly, brushing the teeth regularly, keeping the body clean, and sleeping in well-ventilated rooms.

Minor ailments which are combatted by the public health nurse, while not always serious in themselves and not often discovered by the parents, are known to exert a very distinct influence against the healthy growth and development, both mentally and physically, of the child.

The Gray Bridge.

I don't remember growin' up; it seems to me, some day,
I must have crossed the gray bridge
along the glad highway,
And crushed its swaying flowers, and touch it with my hand—
The gray bridge past Childhood that reaches Grown-up Land.
But maybe it was evening, with twi-
like shadow-shrouds,
And maybe I was walkin', my head up in the clouds,
Because I didn't see it, and there are years somehow
That I can not account for, from Yesterday to Now—
Years I can't account for; and things they should have taught
For Grown Lands and grown games, somehow I haven't got.
So maybe it was sunset, rose and gold and grey,
And I was gazin' westward, and missed the bridge that way.

A king doesn't have any more opportunity for doing kind deeds than an ordinary plebe, axin your pardon. As a matter of fact, a king probably has less time. He not only has international relations to worry about, but blood relations as well, and one mother-in-law and a few cousins isn't a patch on what a king has. He is son-in-law to the Dowager Queen Marie Christophella, and King Peter the Thirtieth; he is stepson of Prince Rachmussupem, and foster-brother of King Ritswillen; he is son of Queen Patrilla and the exiled but still kickin' King Irkilsollern; he is grandson—but why go on? He is related to every reigning house in Europe, and his relations are the kind your hear from. They don't even give him breathing spell, much less time to wander around and do deeds of kindness. He has more in-laws than leap year has days, and enough cabinet-ministers to drive him to drink, if he lives beyond the three-mile limit of the Volstead act. Leave the poor kings alone; life is just one thing right after another with royalty, and sometimes two things.

BIG TIME HALLOWE'EN PARTY FOR FIRST CHRISTIAN FOLKS

The First Christian young folks have been issued an attractive invitation for a Hallowe'en carnival at the church Friday evening, the "young people" including those of all ages in the congregation. "On this occasion," the entertainers promise, "you are to learn by the wonderful discovery of Mrs. Dr. Durr, L. L. D. X. Y. Z., who you are to marry, so if you are a candidate for matrimony, come camouflaged. The zero hours will be seven shakes of the cowbell. Be there, masked."

GUN CLUB TO HOLD SPECIAL SHOOT ON ARMISTICE DAY

The regular weekly shoot of the Wichita Falls Gun Club will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:00 o'clock and all members of the club are requested to be present.

Besides the regular event of 50 targets, matters of great importance will be brought before the club concerning future activities. One of these subjects covers the special shoot to be held on Armistice Day.

Plans for this shoot are under way and it promises to be an event which will surpass any shoot previously held here. It is planned to have several out of town shooters here in addition to a full attendance of the Wichita Falls membership. Trophies for high score, high handicap, etc., will be given.

The club has just received a carload of Blick Diamond targets and it is planned to unload them this afternoon. In this event, in addition to the regular program tomorrow of 50 targets, an event of doubles will be staged.

CAN YOU BEAT THIS FOR YOUNGEST OR OLDEST?

Can you beat Dorothy Ruth Presley for the youngest member of a local Sunday school—or Ruth Billingsley? (They seem to run to Ruths for little church folks.)

Their records are different, but unusual. Dorothy Ruth is six weeks old—born September 14th; and she has been enrolled in the Cradle Roll of the Central Presbyterian church since she was ONE day old. Mrs. P. E. Kerr, Chadie Roll superintendent, reported the young lady, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Presley.

And Ruth Billingsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Billingsley, who was born August 19th, actually STARTED to Sunday school when she was six weeks old—on October 3rd. She hasn't missed a Sunday since, and there have been three of them. She attends the Girl's Welsey Class with her mother at the Floral Heights Methodist church.

For the oldest, Mrs. C. C. White, a member of Mrs. Goodner's class of young ladies in the Central Presbyterian church is seventy-nine years old. And somebody might beat Mrs. White, but it is doubtful if anybody can beat the age record of J. W. Richardson of the Floral Heights Methodist church. Mr. Richardson was 83 years old January 15th, and is a regular attendant at Sunday school, as is Mrs. White. Mr. Richardson is in Judge King's class of youngsters.

Several churches have not reported their oldest and youngest. No report has come in from the First Methodist, the Evangelical, the Floral Heights or First Baptist, the Lutheran, the First Christian, the Church of Christ, the First Presbyterian, or the Lamar Street Baptist.

* * * *

Miss Margaret Todd, who has been guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thorne, 1312 Eighteenth street, has returned to her home at Greenville. Miss Todd was a guest at the annual banquet and conference of the Epworth League of the Southern Methodist church.

SAYS REFINERS ARE LOSING MONEY AS A RESULT OF DECLINE

That the recent three cent drop in the price of gasoline is not here to stay very long is the opinion of G. C. Jensen, president of the Sunshine State Oil and Refining Company. It is the contention of Mr. Jensen that the majority of refiners who recently started the drop are losing money daily and that the present price can not remain.

"The reason for the drop," said Mr. Jensen, "is that the refiners bid enormous premiums on crude oil, in fact, they paid too much for the crude product, and when the accumulated refined products began to stock up, they were forced to sell their gasoline to the highest bidder under the posted market price.

"There has been no drop in the price of crude and I do not believe that there is going to be any right away. As soon as these refiners realize that when they cut their prices they are not benefiting themselves, gasoline will get back to its former price of 23 cents.

Standard Comes Back.

"The original cut of the refiners was one cent and a half and as soon as the Standard Oil Co. noted that these refiners were selling their gas under the market price they immediately took a rap at them and went them one better by slashing off another cent and a half with the result that all had to come down three cents from the original price.

"The Standard Oil Co. makes more refined products from their crude than do these other smaller refiners and they can better afford to drop the price. They can still operate at a slight profit, but the little fellow will do all the suffering."

When asked whether the consolidation of the Texas Independent Refiners Association with the Western Refiners Association would have any effect on the prohibitive freight rate that is hurting the Texas Refiners at present he replied, "I think it will eventually."

Readjustment Must Come.

"A readjustment of the rates whereby we will be able to ship east and to Colorado without paying the enormous rate that is in vogue at present will come sooner or later. As things stand at present, it is practically impossible for the Texas refiners to ship anything east or even to Colorado. The minute we cross the line, the rate is boosted."

The four directors elected last Saturday to serve on the board with the Western Association will meet in Dallas Saturday and a meeting of the entire western board will be held later in Tulsa. Those who will attend the meeting are G. C. Jensen, W. B. Hamilton of the Texhoma Oil and Refining Co., Elliot Jones of the Elliot Jones Co., Inc., of San Antonio, and J. A. Germany of the Panhandle Refining Co. of Dallas.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS SUBJECT OF DEBATE AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Debating the question "Resolved that the United States should adopt the League of Nations," two teams from the Speakers club of the local high school assailed this much mooted issue from all angles at a special chapel period in the school auditorium Thursday morning. The negative team composed of Miss Gwendolyn Walters and Floyd Harrison, was awarded a two to one decision by the judges over the affirmative team, composed of Joe Bashara and Pierce Langford.

In presenting the opening argument for the affirmative Mr. Bashara outlined the advancement of civilization from the early ages and credited this advancement in large measure to the mutual banding together of the peoples of the earth to work for their common good. The speaker also pointed out that the League of Nations was merely an enlarged form of the Monroe doctrine and that as such it could not help but work for the benefit of the world. He substantiated his assertions with quotations from many leading politicians.

In contradicting this argument, Miss Walters offered proof that the articles relating to mandates, as now outlined in the league covenant, were direct violations of the Monroe doctrine and that should the United States accept Armenia as a mandatory charge they would break faith with the doctrine for which they have fought to uphold. Miss Walters points were delivered in a forceful and confident manner which bespoke a thorough understanding of her subject.

In upholding the remaining affirmative points, Mr. Langford dwelt at length of the altruistic principals which drew America into the world war. He indicated that this country was looked upon as the leader of international arbitration and that to reject the league would irreparably damage its standing. Mr. Pierce offered a number of excellent points but failed to present them in a convincing manner.

In the concluding argument for the negative Mr. Harrison stressed the fact, as did Miss Walters, that the negative was for a League of Nations but strictly in opposition to the league as now drafted. He offered proof that modifications of certain articles were essential to the success of the league and cited various political authorities as being in favor of the amended covenant but in opposition to its present form.

The rebuttals on both sides were confined mainly to discussion of certain points presented by the opposition. The judges were: H. F. Sanderford, C. E. Rogers, and Dr. T. J. Strong.

The debate was offered in connection with the "Speakers Club Week" which is being observed at the high school and came as the culmination of an active campaign launched by members of the club for more and greater efficiency in the art of public speaking and kindred subjects.

Valere Begere and her company, featured as the headliners at the Wichita theatre this week, walked off with the lions share of glory in the opening performances Wednesday. An exceptionally meritorious bill has been assembled for the showings but this did not detract from the interest of the Bergers comedy skit.

The eternal triangle, with a wealthy villian, an attractive but misguided and self-pitying wife and a poor but talented husband, furnished the plot of the skit which was offered under the name of "The Moth." The domestic tragedy which occurs all too often in real life was enacted with faithful realism by the Berger company and they made it doubly attractive by inserting a wealth of humor and comedy.

Second place went to Palo and Palet with their "Musical Oddities." This team presented a musical concert, varied and entertaining. An accordian duet opened the act, followed with a number of springhtly solos of latest popular songs by Palet and then switched abruptly to "Miserere" with a trumpet obligato by Palo. The team closed its presentation with a bewildering assortment of musical ensembles on flutes, fifes, cornets, saxaphones and some half dozen other fearfull instruments.

Jake Dunham and Andy William brought forth prolonged applause with their methods of disposing of various and sundry remarks anent the girl question. Andy gave vent to his feelings with several "longing for you, dear" songs, while Jack horned in with appropriate remarks at frequent intervals.

Al Piantadosi and Bert Wilson gave a musical number that included many of the popular songs which the former has composed. "Baby Shoes," and 'When You Play In the Game of Love" were given as vocal selections by Wilson and were well received.

"Grey and Old Rose," the concluding number of the program was just what its name implies, being a colorful dancing and singing act against backgrounds of shimmering curtains of grey silk and rose colored satins. The costumes and settings in this act were the most pleasing that have been seen in any terpischore act this season, and the artistic effects were enhanced by some clever steps by the two performers. The feminine portion of this team was a vivacious and exceedingly petite little thing that won instant and unanimous acclaim.

"THE RESTLESS SEX" PLAYS TO BIG CROWDS AT OLYMPIC

"The Restless Sex," Robert W. Chambers great novel, has lost none of its charm or appeal in being transferred to the screen. The picture played to record crowds at the Olympic Wednesday and is billed to appear again today.

Marion Davies scores a distinct triumph in her interpretation of the role of a pretty but dissatisfied society girl in New York. The restless, headlong hunt for pleasure, the feverishire desire for excitement and the unsatiable craving for glory are all acturately portrayed by Miss Davies in all of the picture scenes. Some lavish settings have been provided which give the picture an artistic value of unusual merit.

"THE BELOVED VILLIAN" IS A PLEASING PRODUCTION

Wanda Hawley has added another big success to her growing collection of screen productions by her work in "The Beloved Villian," the picture now being shown at the Empress theatre. This film has a decided French setting with a plot similar to the one made famous by Miles Standish and John Hawley's acting is that of a finished star and her comical characterisations compare favorably with any that have appeared on local screens recently.

ALL-STAR CAST PRESENTS THE PALACE OF DARKENED WINDOWS

"The Palace of Darkened Windows," with an all-star cast is being offered by the Majestic as its feature attraction for Thursday. This picture is another of the popular Oriental type that deals with danger, intrigue and vice. An American girl, lured into an Indian Rajah's castle by the polished and refined manners of the owner finds herself in deadly peril and is only rescued by an American lover after many thrilling scenes.

The picture is really above the ordinary type of Oriental film and gives an excellent representation of life as it exists in India and other far-off lands.

MR. DODSON WARNS USERS OF CALOMEL

Says Drug Acts Like Dynamite On Liver And You Lose a Day's Work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

It Is Time to Decide—

WE HAVE ABSOLUTE CONFIDENCE in the present greatness and future development of this splendid country of ours and, having this confidence, we believe that the future is full of promise.

IF WE HAVE abiding faith in our fellow-man, then we are optimists, but if we believe that everything is going to the "bow-wows," then we are a liability to our community rather than an asset.

"BACK TO NORMAL" does not mean that all avenues of business must stop functioning. Such a condition would be disastrous. What we need to do is to enter into a spirit of helpful co-operation, one with another, to the end that labor will be employed, homes will be kept up, merchandise will be produced and sold.

TO OUR MANY CPSTOMERS we pledge that helpful co-operation which they have a right to expect of us. We will leave nothing undone in our effort to give the best there is possible to give in return for the business placed with us, in Shoes and Men's Furnishings.

IT WILL BE our continued policy to show the new things first—to meet any and all legitimate competition—to be leader in merchandise efficiency, but above all to give SERVICE.

WE EXPECT to establish firmly a modern business upon the only principle that can bring lasting success today—the principle that SERVICE must be placed above GAIN and that our pleased customers are our greatest asset.

WATER MAINS ARE BEING PUT DOWN IN IOWA PARK STREETS

WORK AND MATERIAL LARGELY DONATED BY CITIZENS OF TOWN.

ONE THOUSAND FEET OF FIRE HOSE IS PURCHASED

School Children To Parade In Behalf Of The Proposed School Amendment.

IOWA PARK, TEXAS, Oct. 28.—The work of laying the temporary water mains through the business section of the city is going forward rapidly and the mains will be in operation within the next few days. Work and materials are to a large extent being donated by public spirited citizens. It will be several months before the permanent water system is installed.

The city has sold bonds in the sum of $125,000 and has $55,000 worth yet to sell. $15,000 of the latter is to be expended upon the improvement of streets and alleys, and the balance of the whole upon water and sewer systems.

One thousand feet of fire hose has been purchased by the city council. No other fire-fighting apparatus is to be gotten at present as the base of the water tank is 100 feet above the ground and it is thought that the water pressure will be ample for all occasions.

The city council has found it necessary to instruct the city officers to gather in local oysters when found stewed upon the streets, as readily as they pick up strangers who are in that condition. For some time past the local officers have been adhering so closely to the biblical injunction to take in strangers that local talent has begun to feel neglected.

Several owners of vacant business property, among them the owners of the lots vacated by the recent fire, have announced that they will do no building until and unless the proposed irrigation system is assured.

Crops for the year 1920 have exceeded all expectations in this locality and the recent rains have given promise of a good wheat crop for next year. The wheat that is already in the ground, under the influence of this moisture will soon be up and that ground that has not yet been planted is now in good condition for the wheat drill.

The local lodge of the Knights of Pythias has more than doubled its membership in the last three weeks, due to a membership campaign in which "Uncle" Steve Moberly of Cleburne, and W. H. Kay, superintendent of the K. P.'s insurance department, have taken a prominent part. The lodge has had 13 meetings in 17 days, and as a result of these activities now has 83 members. While here, Mr. Kay wrote insurance policies amounting to $75,000.

The lodge, known to the fraternity as Iowa Park Lodge No. 407, was instituted in 1917 by Dr. J. W. Duval, O. T. Gorsline, Ed B. Gorsline, Nat Henderson, C. B. Felder, C. W. Hendricks, J. C. Ward, A. G. Deatherage, Harry Daugherty and S. D. Lynch, of Wichita Falls, and of these Dr. Duval and O. T. Gorsline attended two of the recent meetings and procured thirteen applications to join the Dokeys at the ceremonial to be held at Wichita Falls November 19th, where a class of about 75 will take the work.

Rev. M. Moreland has gone to Carlsbad, Texas, near San Angelo, to take Mrs. Moreland to the tuberculer sanitarium at that place. She will remain six months and will then join her family at Sonora in Sutton county, to which place Mr. Moreland has been assigned for the reason that the dry climate there should be beneficial to Mrs. Moreland's health. From Carlsbad Mr. Moreland will go directly to attend the Methodist conference at McKinney, Texas, and will then return to Iowa Park and move his family to Sonora.

His successor here will be selected by the McKinney conference.

On Friday afternoon at three o'clock, the entire school will parade in behalf of the school amendments.

The enrollment is 440, and all the lower grades are crowded. This situation is the only obstacle to affiliation with the state board of education as the recent affiliation report was satisfactory in all other respects. More space for rooms and more teachers are needed. Several applications have already been received from teachers for these prospective positions.

Some of the new books for the school library have arrived and others are daily expected, and $450 worth of laboratory equipment is on the road. $225 worth of cabinets have been ordered for the high school and the school board has spent over $200 for playground equipment consisting of basket balls, volly balls, swings and see-saws.

ESTATE OF JACOB DENTON IS VALUED AT $12,000

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—The estate left by Jacob C. Denton, for whose murder Mrs. Louise Peete of Denver was indicted yesterday, is valued at $125,000, according to a petition for letters of administration on file today in the county clerk's office.

The petitioner is Judge Russ Avery, named as administrator in Denton's will. Frances Denton, 16-year-old daughter of the deceased, is the only heir named in the petition.

OIL INTERESTS ARE FOCUSING ATTENTION ON TEXAS TERRITORY

The National Petroleum News, in its issue of October 27, in discussing the general oil situation, says:

Viewed in its entirety, the southwest, particularly Texas, now has the center of the stage in a production sense. The congestion at Breckenridge, Stephens County, Texas, brought about by rapid drilling up of townsite acreage and other leaseholds adjacent, carried over the week undiminished with the added menace that wells now on top of the pay lime formation may swell the output before pipe lines and storage under construction can relieve the situation.

The same difficulty exists, though, in a much less aggravated form, on the Gulf coast of Texas, where the railroad commission has set November 1 as a tentative date for getting all crude out of earthen storage. The past week saw another completion in the West Columbia pool, making a maximum of 27,850 barrels daily.

What will be the effect, locally as to the Mid-Continent, of the remarkable increase of crude oil in storage upon its price, few persons in authoritative place are willing to guess at. Refiners are experiencing increasing dullness in prices of their plants' output and are as a consequence cutting down the amount of crude charged daily.

Find "Farthest North" Well in Canada

From both Canada and Mexico come reports of important developments in production. President C. O. Stillman of the Imperial Oil company, Ltd., reported last week that the test of his company on the Mackenzie river, in northwestern Canada, some 2,000 miles farther north than any previous production, found oil at 783 feet, and flowed for 30 minutes through six-inch casing, after which it was capped. Commercially, the discovery is not important at this time, as the location is 1,200 miles from the nearest railway and 900 miles from the nearest calling point of a river boat, but the discovery is of enormous value as bearing on future development in Canada.

In the Zacamixtle district of Mexico, the test of Huasteca Petroleum company has been drilled deeper, after being reckoned as a disappointment commercially, and is now estimated as being good for 40,000 to 50,000 barrels daily maximum.

Oklahoma Output Continues Increase.

With a noticeable falling off in new pools discovered, nevertheless crude oil production for Oklahoma continues to increase from week to week as the culmination of the extensive drilling campaign in the older fields is drawing near. Hewitt, the one real field unearthed in Oklahoma since a campaign was launched to replace the high gasoline content crude which has lost through the rapid decline in the north Texas fields, is showing a well average of 122 barrels, and is now the largest individual producing field in the state, surpassing Cushing, which has led Oklahoma production for the last year or so.

Large Well in Pennsylvania.

The largest well within the past two years has been completed in Greene County, Pennsylvania, near the old Fonner pool. Maximum flow was 1,800 barrels of the regular Pennsylvania grade oil. The completion gives promise of a small, but important extension of producing territory.

North Louisiana ended the week with 19 completions, seven of which were failures and combined initial production of the successful completions amounting to 4,222 barrels. Homer pool is credited with 4,070 barrels of this from six completions.

MEXICAN INJURED WHEN WAGON IS HIT BY CAR

A collision occurred Thursday morning about 9:00 o'clock in front of the Fort Worth & Denver Railway Company's office building on Seventh street, when a touring car driven by John Reagon, coming out of the alley beside the St. James hotel and turning east on Seventh, struck a team of horses attached to transfer wagon carrying city license No. 20, going west.

The driver of the wagon, Antonio A. Ceballes, a Mexican, about 60 years of age, was thrown to the pavement and sustained injuries in the abdomen, the extent of which have not been ascertained. He was taken to the Wichita General hospital.

Both horses were thrown to the ground and one of them appeared to be seriously injured.

The driver of the car was arrested by Officer Wagner and charged with reckless driving, but was later released on a bond in the sum of $100.

JAPAN TO SPEND MILLIONS FOR NEW WAR VESSELS

By HENRY W. KINNEY
United Press Staff Correspondent.

TOKYO.—(By Mail)—Orders have already been placed for sixteen war vessels under the new appropriations made for the carrying out of the great eight battleship and eight battle cruiser program, which the nation expects to have completed by 1927, a large number of the vessels are also to be provided, according to the plans of the navy authorities. Some curiosity is already being felt as to whether the financial budget as outlined by the navy will be sufficient to carry it out, or whether a fresh burden of taxation must be placed on the already heavily tax-ridden nation. These doubts are expressed by the Jiji, one of the leading dailies, which says:

"It is clear that it will be difficult to build so many warships at a cost of 750,000,000 yen. As a matter of fact, it is reported that the naval authorities will ask for an addition of 100,000,000 yen to the original allotment of 120,000,000 yen for the next financial year. The date of this increase is 85 per cent, and if the cost of the entire program is calculated on this basis, the total figure will be 1,390,000,000 yen instead of the original estimate of 750,000,000 yen. It is likely, however, that a reduction in prices may occur, and this will reduce the rate of increase to between 5 and 70 per cent. Unless the naval estimates are amended considerably, additions must be asked for every year, and this may give rise to serious political questions. This causes us to wonder whether the naval program will really be completed by 1927."

At the same time Japan is building a large fleet of submarines which are probably to be used as a line of defense across the Pacific approaches to Japan, it appearing likely that Japan's newly acquired control of a chain of various groups of islands north of the equator will give her the chance to establish a chain of stations for these vessels.

The press reports that while the empire at present possesses about a score of submarines, she expects to have 120 when the big new program is completed, of which 80 are to be ready by 1923. At present about 18 are said to be under construction. It is also reported that while the cost of these vessels was formerly about 3000 yen per ton, they now cost 5000 yen a ton, and that the Mitsubshi Shipyard, which is building a number of them, is out about 500,000 yen on its contract.

"BIRTHDAY PARTY" FEATURED AT THE ROTARY LUNCHEON

The monthly "birthday party" for October was the main event offered at the Rotary club when that body convened for its regular weekly luncheon and meeting Thursday. This month's "party" took the form of a one act drama with a plot built around the Rotary ethics, and in spite of some more or less personal humor the play was well received by the Rotarians.

Rev. N. L. Grafton was responsible for the production, having written the story, arranged the scenario, and drilled the actors in their various parts. Incidentally he had the principal role himself. The curtain, or rather the folding screens, were removed from in front of the "stage" in the basement of the First Christian church and revealed a suite of office rooms belonging to the Old Time Business Methods Investment company. Rev. Grafton took the role of the villianous president of the concern and lost no time in making known his business creed, "Do unto others as Ye would have them do unto you—but do it first." The president and his secretary carried on an animated conversation anent their business and revealed to the audience that they had $10,550 worth of Frank Johnson oil stock that must be sold or their company would be forced to take that loss.

Customer Arrives.

While discussing the problem a prospective investor in the person of Dr. Curtiss Adkinson walked in and announced that he wished to invest $10,000 in oil stock. Grafton turned the unsuspecting customer over to John Naylor, who assumed the role of a junior member of the firm, with instructions to close the deal. He informed Adkinson that the $10,550 worth of stock would be available for an even $10,000 and that it would yield 800 per cent profit in a short time.

Naylor, however, occupied a desk labeled "New Business Methods," and also revealed that he was a Rotarian, so refused to sell Adkins n the worthless stock. He was threatened with dismissal by the president if he refused to close the deal.

Ponders the Matter.

Thus confronted, Naylor pondered the matter deeply, wavering between loyalty to the firm and loyalty to his Rotary code of ethics. At one point, after an audible review of his situation, Naylor was offered a job driving an ice wagon if he should get fired from the Grafton's investment company, but the prosaic Rotarian making the offer did not have the pleasure of accepting John W's services.

In the end the Rotary spirit was brought before Grafton in a way that he could not resist and he not only released the junior member from the obligation of selling fake stock, but determined to join the Rotary brotherhood and go straight himself.

A brief account of the district governor, president and secretary conference for Rotarians which was held in Dallas last Wednesday and Thursday was given by Harry Bray and I. N. Roberts and following this announcements were made concerning the new advertising club which is being launched.

A short talk on the school amendment issue which is to be voted upon next Thursday was made by Lee Clark, superintendent of schools and the meeting was then dismissed.

HIGH SCHOOL ELEVEN GETTING READY FOR GAME AT HENRIETTA

Coach Cantwell and his crew of high school football chasers are hard at work in preparation for the coming battle with Henrietta to be staged on the local gridiron Saturday afternoon.

Henrietta's aggregation was forced to take a 14 to 0 trimming at the hands of the locals several weeks ago and as a result they are coming to Wichita Falls Saturday with murderous intent. Reports from the downstate eleven are to the effect that they have improved greatly since their former conflict with Cantwell's charges and if this be true a battle royal may be looked for.

The Wichita line has been receiving needed tutoring during the past week and as a result has been strengthened considerably. The backfield has ironed out some rough spots in its play and is now groomed to make life miserable for the Henrietta forward wall.

Tickets have been placed on sale at the high school and are also being distributed by various students. Indications are that from the advance sale a large sized crowd will be on hand to winess the local's performance when they lock horns with Henrietta.

POWREFUL PRESENTATION.

Ambassador John W. Davis made a powerful presentation of the advantages of the United States' joining the League of Nations to a big New York audience the other day. The chairman, at the close of the address, announced the speaker would answer any questions propounded on the subject. A woman school teacher from Texas asked Mr. Davis to give three reasons why a woman, voting for the first time, should vote for those candidates favoring the League. We've seen no argument packed into three sentences carrying more weight than the Ambassador's reply:

"First, because she abhors war;

"Second, because she wants her country to stand high among the nations of the world;

"Third, because she wants the welfare of the human race to be advanced by co-operation."

And Mr. Davis answered also those who argue the dangers of going in. "But what," he asked, "are the risks on the other side? Are there none? Are there no risks in American abstention from this document? Are there no risks in sitting out alone, the critical and supercilious onlooker in the outer chamber, while all other races of mankind are at counsel inside the door? I insist that there are risks in that course which any thinking man must shudder to contemplate and against which there is no insurance save that which America furnishes for herself."

He enumerated some of the economic risks, citing the fact that more than 50 per cent of the world's trade and commerce comes and goes to Europe alone; that the day has passed when we are a self-sufficient nation, in the sense of consuming everything we produce, and that we must export our surplus products of the farm and factory or restrict their output "with all the unemployment and suffering and distress that would follow it."

Pointing out some of the political risks of American isolation Mr. Davis declared that "we are today the richest, as we are the most powerful of all the nations in the world—the most subject to envy, if you choose—and it lies with us to bid either for the friendship of mankind or its jealousy."

Asserting of his own knowledge that "no responsible statesman in Europe who has the burden and care of government in his hands has any thought whatever of abandoning or scrapping the present League," he declared that outside of America that there is not one "responsible statesman who believes that at this time and in the present temper of the world the negotiation of a new covenant for a league is within the domain of practical politics."

"I am in favor of going in," says Mr. Cox. "I am in favor of staying out," says Senator Harding, "It is not interpretation but rejection that I am seeking."

The issue is squarely joined. The "solemn referendum" is under way.

There are some thoughtful voters, inclined for one reason or another, to vote for the republican or American party gubernatorial nominees, who will not do it. One of these, talking candidly the other day, expressed his dissatisfaction with Mr. Neff, but said he was going to vote for him anyway, because the legislature is certain to be overwhelmingly democratic and it would mean nothing but ill to the state to have a governor who could not cooperate with the legislature—a condition that would militate seriously against the welfare of the state. So far as we can see, there isn't the remotest chance for the election of anybody but Mr. Neff next Tuesday, simply because there aren't conceivably enough anti-democratic votes in the state all put together to defeat the democratic nominees and this year the anti-democratic vote in Texas is split at least three ways—the regular republicans, the black and tan republicans and the American party all having full state tickets in the field, not to mention the socialists and the social democrats. But the attitude of the voter quoted helps further to make the result more certain, although every democrat would like to see a full democratic vote out that there may be no false hopes engendered in the future by even a close race here in 1920.

Democratic readers of the Saturday Evening Post will regret to learn, from Governor Cox's statement in New York the other day, that that ancient periodical which never before has strayed from the path of strict neutrality in a political way, is to come out this week strong for the republican nominees. And the regret will be somewhat tinctured with the suspicion that the democratic nominee holds about its action in that it has waited until the last week before the election to throw off its neutrality and assume the role of a partisan. The Post is one of the outstanding successes of American magazinedom; but in attaining that success espousal of partisan politics has played absolutely no part. We rather suspect that its eleventh-hour transformation from a non-partisan magazine to a seeming stalwart republican organ will be more of a handicap than a help to its future success.

There are three states at either extreme of the census count. Three states gained from 44 to 63 per cent—California, Arizona and Montana. Three states actually lost population—Mississippi, Nevada and Vermont. Three states—Idaho, Wyoming and Michigan—gained from 30 to 39 per cent. Six others—Oklahoma, Utah, New Jersey, Connecticut, Florida and Ohio—gained from 20 to 29 per cent. Nineteen states, Texas being included, gained from 10 to 19 per cent, and the other fourteen gained from 1 to 9 per cent.

With an attendance of 1,025,000, the 1920 Dallas fair set a new high record, and but for the very wet weather which prevailed most of the last week of the session, it is not improbable that the total would have reached the million and a quarter predicted when the first nine days passed the 900,000 mark. The Dallas fair is of tremendous benefit to the city of Dallas financially; but it is of real benefit to the whole area a hundred miles or more around Dallas industrially and agriculturally.

It appears that the compromise tentatively effected between the British coal miners and the British government will permit each side to "save its face." By its reported terms, the miners will get more wages—and that is what they struck for—but they will strive also to increase production in return for higher wages—which is what Mr. Lloyd-George has held out for from the beginning.

Georgia democrats are "unalterably opposed" to the League of Nations, but their state convention gave unqualified endorsement to Cox and Roosevelt, both of whom are just as "unalterably" in favor of it. Consistency obviously plays but a small part in the Georgia democratic theatricals.

Los Angeles reports the return of that long-time stranger, the "two-bit" haircut. With it came the 15-cent shave. Let the procession proceed.

Ladies of the Jury.

(From the New York Herald)

The scoffers who insisted that women would refuse to serve on juries, or that if they did that twelve women could never agree on anything, have been put to shame. The first all-women jury east of Chicago, that met to decide the merits of a pattern case in the district court of Orange on Wednesday, has settled such doubts.

Undeterred by the smiles of the spectators and the impertinence of the camera, twelve good women and true accepted the least desirable of civic duties with deep seriousness. Indeed, the only frivolous present seemed to be the masculine beholders, and the younger the fair juror the greater the devastation among them.

According to Judge Dugan, who is responsible for the first woman jury, women are well gifted for such service, and his experiment was so successful that he intends to continue to use them. Men, he says, are always begging to be excused from jury work, but with twice as many citizens to call upon, the difficulty of getting a jury together will not be so great in future.

Except in special cases, all-women juries would not seem to be necessary or even advisable. The chief argument for women's participation is that the meeting of the masculine and feminine points of view would have a beneficial effect in reaching just verdicts.

With Us, or Without Us?

(From the San Francisco Star)

America can follow Hearst and Borah and Johnson, and stand alone—for a time. But she can't stand alone for peace. If America stands alone she "must stand alone as a part of the world in arms." More than that, she must stand alone as a part of a world that expects war but doesn't want war.

The League of Nations is in operation. Without America the league is a great alliance of European nations and Japan. We have no right to object to that alliance if we refuse to join the League of Nations. If we remain isolated in an armed world it will be our own blunder. We can join the League of Nations for a world of peace. We can stay out and thus assist in bringing about another world war.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

The Man Who Does His Duty Well.

The man who does his duty well need ask no odds of anyone,
For he can face the whole wide world and pay his way and travel on;
There may be richer men than he, and greater men who've come to fame,
But richer man or greater man cannot excel an honest man.

The man who does his duty well and gives his best to every task
Has given all in service here that life of any man will ask;
The man of talent may exceed the humbler hand in point of skill,
But, should he grow too proud to toil, the genius is a failure still.

The final test of life is not the distant heights that man has reached,
The captain's reputation fades if once the ship he sails is beached.
And he who rises high to fame may come at last some day to see That humbler men by patient toil have lived far nobler lives than he.

There are degrees of skill and fame;
not all men's learning is profound,
But honesty is honesty no matter
where'so'er it's found,
And he who does his duty well, is honest, faithful, clean and true,
Is doing in life's real tests all that the genius can do.

Side Talks

By RUTH CAMERON

It Is Fair?

"He's not the sort of man who will drive a hard bargain," I heard some one say the other day. "He's one of the nicest men to deal with that I ever had anything to do with."

The "he" in question is a very conscientious workman who restores old furniture. I happen to know his wife and children. And I couldn't help wondering what they would have said to the above enconium.

To put it more accurately, I did not need to wonder. I could almost see his wife's lips surl.

"Nice?" I am sure she would say. "Yes, nice as far as you are concerned, but what about my end of it? What about me and the children?"

"Henry does wonderful work," I have heard her say over and over again, "and he could get the money for it like the rest, but he simply won't ask for it. He says he hates to stick people. I ask him how he feels about sticking me and the children, but he can't seem to see that. People think it's fine of him, I know—why shouldn't they when they profit?—but I think it's downright unfair."

There is a hard ring in her voice when she makes this complain, but I can't say that I blame her. Softness in one partner is pretty sure to develop hardness in the other, and I don't see why one should get all the credit and the other all the blame.

I think we all know people like this who in their desire to be fair and on pleasant terms with outsiders, sacrifice the interests of those whom they should love best.

I have in mind a woman who was so anxious to do her duty in community work of various sorts and so easily put upon by lazier members of the various committees on which she was always the most conscientious worker, that she allowed herself to be worked into a nervous breakdown. Her husband has had to bear the brunt of her condition and it is bearing very heavily on him. I have heard people praise that woman for her sacrifice, but it seems to me that she really gave away more of herself that she had any right to. Her health was part of the stock in trade of herself and her husband in their matrimonial partnership. Had she a right to give it away like that?

Again, I know a man who, in spite of the fact that his taxes, his mortgage interest and the cost of repairs have gone up, does not raise his tenants' rent. He is one of those people who loves to be thought well of, and hates to do disagreeable things. The rent has always been low for the property and he is practically making the tenants a present of $50 a year. His wife, an elderly woman and not strong, has been obliged to give up the services of a washerwoman and do her own washing to make ends meet. How he can reconcile this kindness to the tenant with unkindness to her, I, for one, cannot see.

I realize, of course, that this tendency is not a common one. The opposite is far more common. Nevertheless there do exist people who are so generous, so easy in their relations with outsiders, as to inflict hardship not only on themselves but on those whose lives are tied up with theirs. Is it fair?

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By LEE PAPE

A man came to fix our setting room window yestiddy on account of me having axsidently broak it by trying to see how hard I could nock on it with a marble without axually breaking it, and he had a little putty left over and gave it to me after I asked him for it, and I made a imitation bump with it on one side of my forehead and went up in ma's room and ma was setting there darning holes out of socks, me saying, How do you do, ma?

Very well, thanks, but wy all the formality? sed ma.

Me not saying wy, and I wawked erround a wile without ma noticing the bump, and I started to up and down dite in frunt of her, and she sed, For goodniss sake keep out of my lite, you ack like a persin with St. Vitich's dance.

Yes mam, have you got eny iodine, ma? I sed.

Iodine? sed ma. And she quick looked, saying, Grayshiss alive, Benny Potts, wat on erth did you do to your hed?

O that, that aint enything, dont worry about that, ma, I cant even feel it, I sed.

Nonsents, its the werst black and blue looking thing I ever saw, you poor child, come here and let mother see it, sed ma.

Aw, it aint panefill, ma, you can see it frum here, I sed, and ma sed, Now theres no use pertending it duzzent hert because I know it does. And she quick got up and came and looked close and saw it was ony putty and the first thing I knew she hit me a fearse krack on the side of the face and the next thing I knew she hit me a even fearser one on the other side, side, saying, There, maybe you cant feel that either.

And she sat down and kepp on darning holes out of socks and I took the putty off and threw it in the waist baskit as hard as I could as if I dident think as mutch of it as wat I did wen I first got it.

Wich I dident.

RIPPLING RHYMES

By WALT MASON

A Year Ago.

A year ago today, no doubt, I had the fantods or the gout, or some grim grief oppressed my soul, and made the scalding teardrops roll. But what it was that made me sore, I don't remember. A year ago, I wist and wot, my grumblings made the welkin hot; the burdens I was doomed to bear seemed greater than a man should wear; but what those burdens were that galled my shoulders till I wept and bawled, I don't recall; how can one say what chanced a year ago today? Today I'm weeping by the hour; the life I live seems lemon-sour; the government is on the blink, there's nothing for a man to drink, the baseball scandal broke my heart, my ding-donged auto will not start. But if you meet me one year hence, and lean with me against the fence, and look me in the eyes and say, "We met one year ago today, and you were shedding bitter tears, and had crape tassels on your ears, and sackcloth on your jaded frame, and ashes where your whiskers came; you seemed a most grief-stricken man; now, please explain it, if you can," ah, who can recollect the woe that parred his soul a year ago? I have fresh troubles every morn; each hour catastrophes are born; I'd be a freak if I could say what hurt a year ago today.

WHY?—

Do We Speak of "Cutting a Person Off With a Shilling?"

(Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Blackstone, in referring to this phrase synonomous with disinheritance, states that it has its origin in the early Roman law, and that it has persisted in modern times notwithstanding the fact that the statutes leading to its adoption have long since been repealed.

"The Romans," says Blackstone, "were accustomed to set aside testaments as being deficient in natural duty if they disinherited or totally passed by any of the children of the testator. But if the child had any legacy, however small—it was proof that the testator had not lost his reason or his memory, which otherwise the law presumed. Hence arose that groundless error of leaving the heir a shilling, or some other express legacy, in order effectually to disinherit him. The law of England makes no such constrained suppositions of forgetfulness or insanity, and therefore, thought the heir or next of kin be totally omitted, it admits no deficiency in natural duty to set aside such a testament."

TYPIFYING THE AGE

HOROSCOPE

The stars incline but do not compel
(Copyright, 1913, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Thursday, October 28, 1920.

Jupiter and Saturn rule strongly for good today, according to astrology, thus dominating the evil power of Neptune.

The planetary government is most favorable to men in high positions and the aged should benefit by the aspect.

It is a rule under which "all who wear the robes of authority" may hope to prosper. Priests and judges should push their best interest during this sway of the stars.

There is a forecast that a high dignitary of the clergy will receive a great political honor.

This is an important day for all who hold executive offices. They should meet with success in whatever they undertake while the stars are posited as they are during this configuration.

Real estate is likely to profit largely under this configuration which seems to foreshadow extraordinary activity in certain cities.

Geniuses of many sorts are to be recognized in the United States within the next few years, it is predicted, for the stars forecast the development of extraordinary mentalities.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year in which business and professional success may be expected. Litigation of any sort will be unfortunate, however.

Children born on this day will probably be extremely level-headed and persevering. Rapid success seems to be indicated for them.

AND HE DID.

CONTRACTOR STATES HE PAID PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL $2,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. — William Waivel of Tuckahoe, president of the Garden City Wrecking company, today testified before the joint legislative committee investigating the "building trust" that he had paid $1,000 to William P. Brindell, president of the building trades council, for a working agreement with the council.

Mr. Waixel declared he had also paid Brindell another $1,000 for getting him a house wrecking job.

The witness told the committee that Brixdell had threatened to "break" him unless he signed an agreement that compelled him to hire only building trades council men. Hhe said he signed the contract and had to discharge his old employes, although they were members of a union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and hire the "inexperienced" men of the council's uni n.

MRS. MACSWINEY ILL AS RESULT OF VIGIL

parliament has proclaimed Friday a day of mourning.

All business except that of newspapers and public utilities will be suspended. Necessary industries were asked to suspend for a few moments at noon in honor of the lord mayor.

There was some speculation today as to the alleged threat of Deputy Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork. That official was quoted as saying that reprisals for the death of MacSwiney could be expected soon.

Precautions were taken to guard public buildings and officials and a careful watch was kept on sinn feiners to see that they were not armed.

SILENT VIGIL IS KEPT AT ST. GEORGE'S CATHEDRAL

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Silent vigil was kept at St. George's cathedral during the night over the coffin of Terence MacSwiney, late lord mayor of Cork, who died Monday morning following a hunger strike. When dawn filtered in through the lofty windows of the gray old cathedral, first preparations began for the requiem mass which was to begin at 11 o'clock.

The guard, composed of members of the London and Cork brigades of the Irish volunteer army, was changed frequently during the night. The men were dressed in civilian clothing and did not carry arms. The yellow light of the candles fell on the green, white and orange colors of the sinn fein flag which was draped over the coffin, which rested on a catafalque placed before the high altar of the church.

Many of the leading British prelates of the Catholic church were asked to participate in the ceremonies at the church. Among them were Archbishop Daniel J. Mannix, archbishop of Melbourne; Bishop Amigo of Southwark and Bishop Potter of Portsmouth.

Plans for taking the body to Euston station this afternoon on the first stage of the journey to Ireland, had not been altered by relatives of the dead sinn fein leader.

Lady Mayoress MacSwiney collapsed and was unable to participate in the ceremony at the cathedral. It is not expected she will accompany the body from strain and anxiety this morning of her husband to Ireland.

LADY MAYORESS MAC'SWINEY BROKEN BY THE LONG VIGIL

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Lady Mayoress MacSwiney collapsed today.

Broken by the long vigil at the bedside of her husband who died in a hunger strike, Mrs. MacSwiney was put to bed today and ordered to remain there.

She will not be permitted to attend funeral services of her husband today nor to accompany the remains to Ireland for burial, physicians said.

Mrs. MacSwiney's endurance during the long fast of her husband was the marvel of those who watched the case. She was at Brixton prison every day and apparently always cheerful.

Even at the death of the lord mayor she retained her composure. At the inquest over MacSwiney's body she was so cool as to disconcert the cornorer.

Last night she followed the body of her husband to St. George's cathedral and took part in the simple services that accompanied arrival there.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR SAYS TRUTH CAN'T BE REACHED NOW

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—In announcing that the American Commission on Ireland would meet in Washington tomorrow and Saturday to plan its public inquiry into conditions in that country, the committee of one hundred on Ireland today made public a letter from Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador, in which he expressed doubt as to whether "the truth can be established until there has been a period of quiet in Ireland."

In his letter to the committee, which selected the American commission, Sir Auckland said:

"I venture to say that no one who realizes what the present position in Ireland involves in the sorrow and suffering of men, women and children can fail to be anxious that a way should be found to bring tranquility to that country. The British government has more to gain than any one in insuring that the truth is made known to the whole world.

"Any inquiry undertaken just now, more especially any inquiry undertaken by persons of less than the greatest experience of the laws of evidence and without power to compel the production of books, papers, records, etc., would, in my opinion, lead to a mass of statements, unsupported by verifiable facts, being made for propaganda purposes."

WELLS DENIES MAKING STATEMENT CREDITED TO HIM BY EVAN E. YOUNG

LONDON, Oct. 28.—H. G. Wells, the author, whose name was referred to by Secretary of State Colby in reference to the visit of Washington D. Vanderlip to Russia, has issued a formal statement to the press denying the correctness of reports made by Evan E. Young, United States commissioner for the Baltic provinces, stationed at Riga, concerning conversations which Wells was reported to have had with Nikolai Lenine about Vanderlip's proposal. Mr. Wells says his statement of Young's information must have derived from third or fourth hand reports of private conversations.

Secretary Colby's statement, issued October 26, said the Young report stated that Lenine had informed Mr. Wells that Vanderlip had claimed to represent Senator Harding. Senator Harding in a statement denied knowledge of Vanderlip.

JUVENILE COURT TO DECIDE THE FATE OF EARL LESTER

ST. LOUIS, MO., Oct. 28—The juvenile court today will decide the fate of 9-year-old Earl Lester, who arrived in this city last night by express.

He was addressed to Benjamin Brissette of Semple Avenue, who turned the boy over to the police.

Brissette said the boy had been adopted by Mrs. Logrande Stinson of Phoenix, Ariz., in 1911. He stated that Mrs. Stinson had married again and did not want the boy because her husband objected to him.

In June Mrs. Stinson made arrangements to leave the boy with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kittenbeard of Jefferson City, Mo., according to Brissette. Later Brissette received a letter that they did not want the boy either and were shipping him to Brissette.

It is now up to the juvenile court.

GOVERNOR COX IS CONFIDENT OF A VICTORY

BELIEVES CAUSE OF PEACE, PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY WILL WIN.

DECLARES SENTIMENT IS SWEEPING OVER COUNTRY

Says The Senatorial Campaign Of Misrepresentation Of League Has Failed.

Editor's Note: The following article written by Governor Cox, is the second of a series written for the United Press by the candidate for president.

By JAMES M. COX
(Democratic Candidate for President.)
(Written for the United Press.)
(Copyright 1920 by the United Press.)

DAYTON, O., Oct. 28.—It is because of my travels through 36 of the 48 states that I am confident the cause of peace, progress and prosperity for America and the whole world will win a victory on next Tuesday.

Ever since I accepted the nomination on August 7, I have been visiting the cities, towns and villages of the country. I have presented my case in person direct to the great American jury—the American people—who have never failed to uphold the honor of the nation.

Has Been Great Fight.

It has been great fight with the forces of reaction in both national and world affairs seeking to block us at every turn; but it has been won. The people understand the issue. It is whether the United States shall be a nation of honor and enter the League of Nations—the most humanitarian enterprise of the centuries—or whether she shall be a nation of repudiators and break faith with the 81,000 American boys who sleep in soldier graves, their families, their 4,000,000 comrades in arms, and the millions of Americans who made sacrifices, all of whom were given the pledge that we were fighting this war to make future wars impossible.

Misrepresentation Fails.

The senatorial campaign of misrepresentation of the league in the hope of winning the election has failed. Everywhere I traveled I found deep resentment against the nation-wide effort to deceive the American people as to the great issue of the campaign. As soon as the people were told the truth about the league the tide in its favor began to come in. We noticed this reaction had set in before we left the Pacific coast about the middle of September.

Within the last few weeks this sentiment has swept over the country like a great storm, driving the senatorial conspirators to cover. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, a patriotic and religious fervor, similar to that which made possible the winning of the war, has aroused the people to the great interests involved in this campaign. It sweeps with great momentum each day.

The soul of America has aroused. People are allowing God, not the senate oligarchy, to talk to them and they realize that the chance is theirs to usher in a new day in the affairs of the world which will insure peace, happiness and prosperity, not only for the United States but for all peoples.

DEMOCRATS GAINING AT EXPENSE G. O. P.

Harding, due to the suspicion that his position and Senator Johnson's are identical, is not necessarily statewide, but might yet be sufficiently strong to affect states heretofore considered safely republican.

Extent of Revulsion.

What the degree of this revulsion is we shall never know, because there is no record of how great the republican victory would have been had the election occurred the day preceding the Des Moines speech.

The revulsion, of course, is confined to persons who are in some degree proleague. Here, again we have uncertainty, for there is no means of knowing what the division among the voters is between anti- league and proleague.

It is the misfortune of Cox and the fault of the democratic organization that they will probably not be able to get the full advantage of this revulsion. They have not the mechanism to bring to the polls every possible voter who may have been unsettled by the present phase of the league issues. A voter who at one stage of the campaign has made up his mind to vote for one candidate only rarely goes whole-heartedly over to the point of voting for the opposite candidate. More usually he merely becomes unsettled and concludes not to vote at all, to go fishing or to play golf. It is these voters that the democrats might get to the polls if they had the machinery.

Workers Are Required.

I think it may be said safely that even under normal conditions, omitting this turn of the tide, there is an average of say five democratic voters and five republican voters in every election precinct who will vote or not vote, according to whether or not there is an active party worker on the ground to see them on election day and actually take them to the polls. This margin of voters includes those who are sick, those who are indifferent, those who are a little disgruntled, those who want to take advantage of a holiday. An effective worker who will undertake to see them at an hour convenient to them and provide an automobile to take them to the polls will get just that many additional votes for his party, and the aggregate of five votes in each election precinct would make from ten to twenty-five thousand votes in a state, and would change the result in many states.

For the republicans the individual precinct worker necessary to do this will be on hand and have his automobile. For the democrats, in most states, this worker will not exist.

MEXICO PLANNING LAWS TO STIMULATE INVESTMENTS

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 28.—Passage of laws stimulating foreign investment and immigration was urged by General Alvaro Obregon, president-elect of Mexico, in an address before a joint session of the Mexican congress yesterday. General Obregon repeated his recent statements declaring his friendliness toward foreign capital in this country.

Disapproval of the government's announced agrarian plan, which contemplates the dissolution of large estates and the inauguration of the small farm idea, throughout the republic, was voiced by the speaker. He declared the country was not yet ready for this undertaking.

SERIOUS LABOR SITUATION IN PORTIONS OF MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 28.—Reports from various parts of Mexico appear to reflect a serious labor situation. Vera Cruz, Pueblo, Queretaro, Tampico and Progreso dispatches state that more men are striking daily and the same condition prevails in the federal district. Newspapers in commenting upon the situation are pessimistic and refer to a possible nation-wide general strike.

WHOLESALE DEALER SAYS PRICES HAVE REACHED A "LEVEL"

DALLAS, TEXAS, Oct. 28.—Inflated prices have been "punctured" in the southwestern "boom" country, wholesalers of men's and womens' apparel and dry goods declared here today.

Reductions of from 25 to 50 per cent on practically all classes of goods have been reached through gradual reductions the last month, a half dozen firms reported. Where retailers have attempted to hold up prices despite the wholesale drops luxuries are becoming practically an unsalable commodity, especially in smaller cities and towns, it was admitted.

Unless retailers take their losses now they may be forced to stand greater ones later, was the concensus of opinion of wholesalers canvassed. The public, they said, has demonstrated it will not buy if prices are maintained high, forcing still lower levels.

R. W. Higginbotham, president of one of the largest wholesale dry goods concerns in the southwest, believes prices have reached a "level" for a while. He said that southwest wholesalers are "meeting" reductions sweeping the country. He admitted, however, that another decline was 'in the distance."

The greatest slack in buying is reported from smaller cities and towns mainly dependent on the farmer trade, it was declared.

Many Thousands of Bushels of Corn to Be Burned as Fuel

OMAHA, NEBR., Oct. 28.—Hundreds of thousands of bushels of corn may be burned as fuel by farmers in northern Nebraska this winter. High priced coal and a bountoeus, but low-priced crop of corn is the reason. New corn, unshelled, now brings three-fourths of a cent a pound, or $15 a ton. The cheapest soft coal is $15 and it has to be hauled. A wagon box 30 inches high is required to hold a ton of unshelled corn and that amount makes a hotter fire and will last longer than a ton of coal.

SOME INTERESTING STATISTICS SUPPLIED BY OTHER ELECTIONS; POPULAR VOTE MAY NOT WIN

By JOHN GOULD

Us democrats are facing the doubtful pleasure of seeing our ticket indorsed at the polls next Thursday by a majority of the voters of the United States, yet without Cox and Roosevelt being elected. There is certainly a possibility, and some political writers term it a probability, that the democratic ticket will have a majority of the popular vote, yet fail to get enough of the electoral votes to win.

It is necessary to go back only four years to see how potent a possibility this it. President Wilson's popular majority over Justice Hughes in 1916 was over half a million—581, 41, to be exact, although his elecoral college majority was slim enough, only 23. If, in that election, about 1500 Californians had voted for Hughes instead of Wilson, they would have made little impression upon the democratic ticket's popular majority, but what they would have done to the electoral majority would have been a-plenty. Those California democrats were making history, not only for America, but for the world, that November day, even if they didn't know it.

Has Happened Twice.

Under the peculiar presidential election system in this country, it is not difficult for the popular will to be thus thwarted. Within the past half century, it has happened twice—in the Tilden-Hayes contest in 1876 and in the Cleveland-Harrison election in 1888; and, as above shown, it very nearly happened in 1916. Lots of us went home elction night thinking it had happened.

Lots of us in Texas will vote the democratic ticket next Tuesday without our ballots having the slightest effect upon the result. All that is needed is to get just enough votes for a plurality; the rest are wasted. In the same manner, many republicans in Pennsylvania and Vermont will cut no ice at all when they vote. A majority of 1,000, in a state, is just as valuable in a presidential election as a majority of 100,000 or 500,000.

Some Strange Decisions.

This electoral system has resulted in some strange decisions, and in some unpopular ones. The classic instance is that of the Tilden-Hayes race in 1876. With a substantial popular majority, Tilden was at first thought to have an electoral majority also, until the throwing out of enough democratic votes in Louisiana, South Carolina and Florida to give those states to Hayes, changed the results. It was not until four days before inauguration day that the matter was settled, and Hayes, acting on a wild rumor that Tildea was planning to set up a rival government with New York as capital, was secretly sworn in two days ahead of time.

In 1880, Garfield won decisively, in the electoral college, over Hancock, democratic nominee, receiving 214 electoral votes to Hancock's 155; Garfield's popular majority, however, was less than 5,000 out of nearly 9,000,000. New York went republican by 21,033 votes; had 10,517 voters cast democratic instead of republican ballots, Hancock would have received that state's 36 electoral votes, and would have won.

Only Few Votes Needed.

There have been several elections when, if a campaign manager had had a few thousand votes to throw in at just the right places, he could have set the popular will at naught. For instance, in 1884, Cleveland, with 269 electoral votes to Blaine's 182, carried New York by only 1149, New Jersey by 2300 and Connecticutt by 1200. It would have required less than 5,000 votes, properly and strategically placed, to change the result then. Cleveland's popular majority over Blaine was about 62,000, out of very nearly ten million votes cast.

It was in 1888 that the democrats had the doubtful pleasure mentioned in the first paragraph. The popular vote was Cleveland, 5,440,216; Harrison, 5,358,233; but the electoral vote was 233 to 168 in Harrison's favor. The value of a few thousand well placed votes can again be shown in this election. New York went republican by only 13,000 and Indiana by about 2,300, and a change in the electoral votes of these states would have kept Cleveland in the chair. When he returned to the white house in 1892, he had a popular majority of nearly 400,000 and the electoral result was 233 to 168. In that election, 80,000 republican votes, wisely planted in New York, Indiana and Illinois, would have turned a sufficient number of votes to elect Harrison, though making but a small dent in the popular majority.

Figures Worth Remembering.

After 1892, the republicans won decisively, both electorally and popularly, until 1912. The figures are worth remembering:

In 1896—McKinley, 7,104,779; Bryan, 6,502,925; electoral, 271 to 176.

In 1900—McKinley, 7,207,923; Bryan, 6,355,133; electoral, 292 to 155.

In 1904—Roosevelt, 7,623,486; Parker, 6,211,813; electoral, 336 to 140.

In 1908—Taft, 7,678,908; Bryan, 6,409,104; electoral, 321 to 162.

In 1912, Taft received 3,484,956 votes, which was about 25 per cent of the total popular vote; but his electoral vote was only eight, or 1½ per cent of the total. Roosevelt was a rough third of the popular ballots, received less than a sixth of the electoral vote.

Your viewpoint as the wisdom of the electoral system depends largely on where you live. If you are in a well-populated state, your individual vote counts for far less than if you are in a sparsely settled one, and you think the popular vote ought to govern; that is just the reason the framers of the Constitution devised the electoral plan, they didn't want a few thickly settled states to "run it over" the country as a whole.

Some interesting political complications might result this year if the democrats should win popularly but lose electorally; President Wilson and others could point to the "solemn verdict" they had asked for, on the League of Nations, in the popular vote, and it is fair to assume that even some republican senators would not disregard such a verdict altogether.

HEAVYWEIGHTS WILL FIGHT TO FINISH AT HAVANA RACE TRACK

First Deal Falls Through When Kearns Objects To Posting Of $50,000 Profit.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The time, the place, the money, but no fighters—that's the fix Tex Rickard and Company's world championship heavyweight fight was in today.

The fight is to be held to a finish at the Davana race track in February—if Dempsey and Carpentier sign.

However, there is little doubt that the kings of the American and European ring will sign. As soon as the representative of a Cuban syndicate that is to put up $500,000 for the bout arrives in New York, the clans will be assembled again and the two principals will sign the agreement that has already been accepted by them, Rickard said today.

The official affixing of the signatures, scheduled for yesterday, fell through when Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, refused to sign. He objected to the provisions for the posting of the $50,000 forfeits demanded of the principals.

Rickard and his fellow promoters, Charles B. Cochran and William A. Brady, agreed to allow the forfeits to be placed in the hands of a bonded stakeholder instead of a trust company and the agreement was redrawn.

Kearns and M. Descamps, manager of the Frenchman, were summoned later to look over the new agreement and both approved. After the meeting Rickard announced that the fight would be held in Havana during the racing season early in the year and that the papers would be signed in a few days.

Carpentier looked like a clothing ad. He was all dressed up in a fancy gray suit with a loud flowered silk shirt and collar to match. Dempsey looked like a Klondike prospector. He had forgotten to shave for several days and was rather dusty after some road work and a round of golf.

"I'm in my working clothes. Didn't expect to do any calling this afternoon," the champion said. He greeted the Frenchman with a slap on the back and "How are you, George?"

The Frenchman was just as pleasant.

Dempsey got behind him and took a good look at his back and shoulders. Carpentier caught him at it and Dempsey laughed.

"Zat is a million dollar smile," the Frenchman remarked.

"You got a pretty good one yourself," Dempsey replied.

Rickard's announcement that the fight would take place in Havana early in the year proved a surprise. It had been expected the bout would be staged close to New York.

Although it was not made public, it is understood that the fight will be to a finish. No number of rounds was mentioned in the agreement.

EX-CHAMPIONS MAY TRAIN IN CISCO NEXT YEAR

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 28.—It looks as if the Reds would abandon the lovely climate of Florida, after having only one whack at it, and return to that far-off but highly interesting Texas. According to the latest advices, the little boom-town of Cisco gets the ex-champions. Out of Texas the Reds came in 1919 to seize a championship; back to Texas they go, in hopes of rebuilding and recuperating until they can seize another.

Hospitality at Miami was too great—and too damp. The Eighteenth Amendment, in Miami, was treated as it should be treated—as the vaporous ravings of fanatics. Perhaps in Texas there won't be much of that cheering stuff that brightens hospitality, but doesn't help an athlete much.

WHITEMAN TO SUCCEED ENS AS MANAGERS OF BUFFS

HOUSTON, Oct. 28.—George Whiteman, former Boston Red Sox outfielder, once star of the world's series and for several years with Toronto, has been secured from Toronto to manage the Houston club next season, succeeding Jewel Ens. Whiteman graduated from the Buffs to the big league. He will act as player-manager.

THE STOVE LEAGUE— By Wood Cowan

CRIS HEISE, THE BARBER WHO IS RUNNING FOR MAYOR, MAKES A CAMPAIGN SPEECH AT THE LEAGUE'S HEADQUARTERS—

WOOD COWAN

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright, 1920, New York Tribune Inc.)

THE BIG THREE.

When a touch of frost creeps in the air
And the north wind's roaring lugers blare,
When the long, gray evenings gather down
From the hills that shadow the walled-in town;
When the dripping eaves in a bleak refrain
Chant the wail of a winter's rain,
O where is the poet left to sing
The song of dream in the Land of Spring?
The song of dream that may compare
To a pipe—a book—and an easy-chair?

When the wild blasts howl and the shadows flit
Over the wall where the fire is lit;
When the snow drifts deep or the driving rain
Sings its song at the window-pane;
When the dim world lies in the pit of night,
As the gray ghosts shriek in the mad gale's flight,
O where is the poet left to praise
The gleam and dream of the summer ways?
The gleam and dream that may compare
To a pipe—a book—and an easy-chair?

At any rate, the Brooklyns of the species were not deadlier than the Mails.

THE GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT

"Which do you consider the greatest achievement," writes a western fan—"Babe Ruth's fifty-four home runs in one year or Ty Cobb's feat in leading his league twelve out of thirteen years?"

From the viewpoint of spectacularity, or abnormality—as you might say—Ruth did the more astounding thing.

But we have always been inclined to give greater credit to the record made over the long route.

Ruth has now known two years of fame and magic. Cobb for twelve out of thirteen years led the parade—something that Wagner, Delehanty, Keeler and Lajoie could not even approach.

Yet Cobb, as great a drawing card as he was, never came close to Ruth's turnstile lure this last year. This lure stands without rivalry.

Ruth's mark of fifty-four home runs will very likely never be nearly equaled. But in the future how many hitters are coming along to lead two major leagues in twelve out of thirteen years?

STARTING ANOTHER.

"With no desire to start another argument," suggests W. K. G., yet with the knowledge at hand that should be advanced, in spite of the eastern belief that it can learn nothing from the west, I'd like to say that very, very few Eastern universities have nearly as strict eligibility rules as the Western Conference. There isn't even the question of a doubt as to the amount of college work each of these conference football players carries, nor as to the quick enforcement of any penalty for failure to keep up."

At least, so far as the standard of football play is concerned, Western elevens can show an average in strength, power and machine play that is second to no other section in this fairly zippy commonwealth.

The average elevens turned out by Ohio State, Wisconsin, Minnesota, etc., in the last few years would not be below the average offered by Yale, Harvard and Princeton—barring, perhaps, that Crimson stretch which knew Mahan, Hardwick, Brickley, Pennock and others.

Among the numerous millions which Colonel F. P. A. claims are needed to make up a world are those who are willing to bet with professional gamblers. They have precious little squawking due when the trimming arrives.

"Reforming" Baseball.

With feelings of regret we note
The wrecking crew's in session;
Of Byron Bancroft Johnson's goat,
They hope to get possession.
It seems as though those guys were bent
On pulling off sensations;
A baseball war is imminent—
Boy, page the League of Nations.

For pulling off a baseball fight
The time is unpropitious;
Instead the magnates should unite
'Gainst practices most vicious.
The pastime has been passing through
A siege of stormy weather,
And now the proper thing to do
Is firmly pull together.

The crooks should be cleaned out before
They start reorganizing.
And hence this talk of baseball war
Is more or less surprising.
The game is still on shaky legs,
And while of war they're talking,
The goose that laid the golden eggs
In abject fear is squawking.
—By L. C. Davis.

M'GRAW DISPOSES OF SIX GIANTS AT ONE WHACK

John McGraw did quite a job of house cleaning last week, disposing of six embryo Giants at one whack. Bob Kinsella was transferred to Indianapolis, Emmons (Chick) Bowen to Toledo, and Allen White to Oakland. All three were out with Rochester under options of recall in the 1920 season. Fred Lear, who wound up the season at San Antonio, was released to Milwaukee. Reynolds Kelly, who also was with San Antonio in the latter part of the season and George Armstrong were sent to St. Paul.

Under the new commission rule major clubs must get down to 49 players under contract or reserve by November 1 and the time grows short for disposing of them. Some of the club owners in the majors, with a row in prospect, are hesitating about making deals, for some of them think the players they have to be disposed of can be used possibly to make political alliances with the minors, who are just now being watched with considerable interest by their big brothers in view of the stand they may take in the row between the two major factions.

TEXAS LEAGUE MEETING TO BE HELD IN FORT WORTH

A change in plans for the annual Texas league meeting are announced and instead of being held in Kansas City November 9, it will be held in Fort Worth November 7, after which the magnates will leave in a body for Kansas City. A protest was made on technical grounds against the meeting held outside the state.

TAKE VOTE ON MEETING OF THE TEXAS LEAGUE

FORT WORTH, Oct. 28.—A vote is being taken among Texas League owners to decide whether to hold the annual meeting in Kansas City or Fort Worth. President Morris originally called the meeting for Kansas City during the session of the minor league executives but so much opposition arose to this that he has submitted the matter to a vote of the circuit.

FATE OF ORGANIZED BALL MAY BE DECIDED MEETING TOMORROW

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The fate of organized baseball may be decided here tomorrow when five American league club owners meet with President Ban Johnson to decide on action to be taken on the suggestion baseball be re-organized under the Lasker plan. Eleven major league clubs—eight National league clubs and three in the American league—have endorsed the plan and are ready for a baseball war if the remaining five American league clubs will not go in.

Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Americans, conferred with Johnson yesterday. Neither would express an opinion as to the outcome of tomorrow's meeting.

That Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, knew of crookedness in his club in 1919 as recently stated by Harry Redmond of East St. Louis, Ills., was denied by Harry Gardiner, secretary of the Sox.

The Cook county grand jury which has been investigating crooked baseball for nearly two months, is expected to make its report tomorrow.

EVERS TO PILOT CUBS IN NEXT YEAR'S RACE

Scrappy Trojan Appointed By President Veeck To Succeed Mitchell.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Johnny Evers has been appointed manager of the Chicago Cubs, President William Veeck announced here today.

Fred Mitchell, who piloted the Cubs through the 1920 season, according to Veeck, expects to stay in major league baseball.

"He has several offers from major league clubs and it is pretty certain that he will handle a big league club next year," said Veeck.

Evers made his reputation in baseball when he was second baseman for the Cubs under Frank Chance. He was with the New York Giants last season as assistant to Manager John J. McGraw.

Greetings, Pete!

CAMEL CITY, U.S.A.
(or, Winston-Salem, N.C., according to the map!)

Here I am tonight in Winston-Salem where more tobacco is manufactured than in any other place on the face of the earth! And, W-S is some speed city, as well as the largest in North Carolina! They're rushing up a million dollar hotel, got a corking league ball team, regular skyscraper buildings and as much action as you look for in New York!

When I knocked off for the day, I buzzed around like a hungry bee in a buckwheat field—up and down long streets of R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. factories!

As the Reynolds enterprise proved out more and more gigantic and I talked with more men about it, I got the real and true answer as to why Camels are so good and so entirely different from any other cigarette! I'll spin it for you, old top—listen:—

Every man I talked with made the one big point that the officials and the more than 350 Reynolds foremen have an intown knowledge of the tobacco business; that (putting it into a North Carolina expression) they were virtually "born and raised in a tobacco patch"; that they know tobacco; how to grade it; blend it and how to manufacture and sell it!

And, what's most important of all, Pete, these Reynolds folks sure give men what they want—the best that can be produced! Why, Peter, it took months to perfect Camels Turkish and Domestic blend—and that refreshing flavor—and wonderful mild, mellow body—before a single Camel Cigarette was sold! Guess that will repay your interest, ole Liberty bond!

Tomorrow, I'm going to meet some of the Reynolds folks. Got to see inside of those factories!

And, you know me!!

Shorty.

GOV. HOBBY DECLINES TO REQUEST GINNERS TO CLOSE UP PLANT

AUSTIN, Oct. 28.—Governor Hobby today declined to join Governor Parker of Louisiana in requesting ginners to close down for 30 days or more.

Governor Hobby said in part in reply to Governor Parker's request for such action:

"If the cotton is made it would not be wise to throw it away or allow it to deteoriate by not ginning it. Putting it in better shape for preservation by baling it will in my opinion enable the farmers to hold the cotton for higher prices without impairment of grade. It is likely, too, that if ginning operations should cease that gamblers and manipulators would exaggerate the amount of cotton held back and use it as a club to beat down prices more effectively than would be the case if the amount were actually ascertained through ginners' reports."

GOVERNOR COOPER REFUSES TO ISSUE A PROCLAMATION

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 28.—Governor Cooper today refused to issue a proclamation calling on cotton ginners to suspend operations until the price of cotton advances. Requests for the issuance of such a proclamation was made yesterday by the South Carolina branch of the American Cotton association, which pointed out that such a proclamation had been issued by Governor Parker of Louisiana.

Governor Cooper said he was informed that many farmers opposed closing of the gins and also that he had no more authority to bring the suspension of ginning than he had to appeal for the closing of stores and other industries.

The cotton men at their meeting yesterday adopted a resolution asking President Wilson to replace David F. Houston as secretary of the treasury with William G. McAdoo.

CROP HOLDING MOVEMENT ENDORSED BY DELEGATES TO FARMERS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Delegates to a farmers' conference here who are supporting a crop holding movement said today they hoped the policy committee named at the opening session of the meeting this morning would outline a program for some such movement. They declared they were convinced that in view of the announcement of the federal reserve board, the farmers could not hope for aid from the government. Others attending the meeting expressed the view that congress might be called upon to assist the farmers, who declare that many of them face ruin unless they can obtain sufficient credit to tide them over the period of prices for farm products.

Organized labor joined in the conference today, being represented by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, and by William H. Johnson, president of the International Association of Machinists.

"Farmers and labor are suffering from the same evil," said Mr. Johnson, "and if we only co-operate, we can solve them all. We could secure control of the banks by co-operation and change the complexion of congress."

H. S. Mosely of Perry Grove, Ark., suggested that the farming interests send telegrams to Governor Cox and Senator Harding, asking them whether, if elected president, they would "remain inactive while the farmers are losing millions of dollars?" and demanding an answer before the farmers "go to the polls."

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Renewed nervousness over the British labor situation, lower Liverpool cables and the failure of early weather advices to show any sign of the predicted frosts, were the more prominent factors on an early decline in the cotton market today.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 20 to 41 points and the active months sold 37 to 55 points net lower within the first hour under liquidation, Liverpool and southern selling. Private cables reported general selling in Liverpool absorbed by trade buying to fix prices on call sales at the decline. December contracts here sold off to 20.60 and January to 20.18 on the early break, making a decline of about 2 cents per pound from the high prices touched on the early week rally.

The early selling movement carried the market off to 20.48 for December and 20.05 for January or 45 to 65 points net lower on the general list. The decline then was checked by reports that the British coal strike had been settled and the market firmed up again during the middle of the day owing to the closing strength of Liverpool and covering. The latter was promoted by expectations that detailed weather reports would show frost at some points in the belt and prices recovered the greater part of their early losses with January selling at 20.65, or within eight points of last night's closing quotations.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—The hitch in the negotiations to end the British coal strike was the dominant factor in cotton today and it caused heavy selling on the opening and for some time after with the result that prices were sent 59 to 66 points under the close of yesterday to 19.85 for December and 19.15 for May. The market was steady at the decline because of the cold weather and frost reported in the cotton region.

The decline finally amounted to 59 to 69 points but quick reactions followed cablegrams from London and Liverpool claiming that the coal strike actually had been settled and late in the morning December traded up to 20.46 with the list showing net losses of only six to 11 points.

Another period of liquidation of long contracts occurred during which there was a drop to levels 59 to 77 points under the close of yesterday but in the late trading the market developed sudden firmness and made a most surprising show of strength, the only reason for which appeared to be the determination of big interests to run the shorts to cover. Toward the close prices were 46 to 52 points higher than the final prices of yesterday and December was trading at 21.00.

Cotton closed firm, net 36 to 49 points higher.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Bearish contentions that the farm strike had not developed to the extent which had been looked for did a good deal apparently today to bring about a new setback in wheat prices. Delay in British strike settlement negotiations counted as a depressing factor. There was talk, too, of possible large imports of wheat from Canada. Opening prices, which ranged from 1 to 2½c lower, with December $2.02 to 2.05 and March $1.97 to 1.98, were followed by a moderate rally, but then by a fresh sag.

Corn sympathized with the action of wheat. After opening ¼ to ½c lower, with December 81¼ to 81½c, the market declined a little more.

Oats started unchanged to ¼c lower, December 53¼ to 54c and continued to descend.

Scattered selling from commission houses sufficed to weigh down provisions.

Subsequently, official announcement of the contingent settlement of the British coal strike led to a sharp advance. Besides lifting of a railroad embargo at Baltimore counted in favor of the bulls. The market closed unsettled, ¼ to 1¼c net higher, with December 207¼ to $2.07¾ and March $2.01¾ to $2.01¾.

Reports that Nebraska farmers would burn corn this winter instead of coal tended later to stiffen prices. The close was firm, at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅛c higher, with December 82¼ to 82¾.

STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Traders sold quite freely at the opening of today's stock market, assuming a more aggressive attitude on the unexpected delay in the settlement of the British coal strike. Oils, steels and equipment were again most susceptible to pressure, shippings, rails and specialties also are yielding. Mexican Petroleum broke two points in the early dealings and Royal Dutch fell 1¼. Bethlehem, Crucible, Lackawana and Republic steels forfeited large fractions with American Locomotive and Baldwin Locomotive. Atlantic Gulf, International Paper, International Agricultural preferred, Chandler Motor, Retail Stores and American Sugar also were reactionary.

Substantial extensions to losses of the forenoon occurred during the intermediate session. Oils, steels, equipments and shippings were especially weak. Extreme declines of 3 to 5½ points marked the further offerings of Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums, Houston Oil, Royal Dutch, Crucible Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, Atlantic Gulf and United Fruit.

The closing was irregular.

EIGHT WITNESSES IN THE WHISKEY PROBE AT CHICAGO MISSING

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Disappearance of eight witnesses wanted to corroborate the alleged confession of William Sadler, New York stock broker, before the federal grand jury here, was announced by officials today.

Sadler, according to federal officials, made a confession to the grand jury recently, exposing a huge liquor ring, said to be handling millions of dollars worth of whiskey. The confession implicated scores of federal officials and many Chicago policemen. Eight of those named, it was understood were to have corroborated the confession, but had disappeared mysteriously today.

According to federal officials, unless these witnesses are found the government's case against the liquor ring will practically collapse.

Chief of Police John Garrity went before the federal grand jury today to present a copy of reports of probes of liquor law violations. Several of Garrity's assistants are also expected to testify.

M'GRAW IS CHARGED WITH VIOLATING THE VOLSTEAD "DRY" LAW

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, today was indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of violating the Volstead act.

The indictment was procured on evidence presented by Assistant Federal District Attorney Edward H. Reynolds, who investigated the fracas and the Lambs club last August between McGraw and John C. Slavin, a musical comedy actor. The indictment charges that on that date McGraw had illegal possession of a bottle of whiskey.

It is said by the police that Hudson lived at 1316 Thirteenth street and that the trouble occurred at his home Thursday morning.

Hudson is alleged to have taken a pocketknife from his coat and to have slashed Hooper about the throat. Hudson was arrested by Detective Boone of the city detective force and was later transferred to the county jail.

Most of the producers are members of the Wheat Growers' association, which is backing the movement to keep the grain off the market until the price reaches $2 per bushel. The growers sold enough wheat early to provide finances for the present holding movement.

FATE OF JAPANESE FARMERS ON COAST ISSUE IN ELECTION

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—The fate of Japanese farmers in California will be decided Tuesday, November 2, when the electorate of this state passes on an initiative measure that would drastically amend the present alien land law by withdrawing entirely the three-year agricultural land leasing privilege from aliens who are ineligible to American citizenship.

The measure aims also to place minor land-owning aliens under the guardian-ship of a public administrator. The actual ownership of farmlands by aliens ineligible to citizenship already is prohibited by the alien land law enacted by the state legislature in 1913.

The initiative measure, its proponents assert, will conform strictly to the letter of the treaty between Japan and the United States, in which Japanese residents were granted certain privileges. The opponents of the proposed new law declare that the issue raises the question of an interpretation of phraseology in the treaty, wherein it is provided that the Japanese residents in the United States "may own or hire and occupy houses, warehouses, shops and premises and lease lands for residential and commercial purposes."

It is pointed out by persons opposed to amending the present law that the leasing of land for "commercial purposes' contemplated the privilege of leasing agricultural lands. The voters of the state have had the legal verbiage of the measure clarified by arguments for and against it respectively by V. S. McClatchy, publisher of the Sacramento, Calif., Bee, and by John P. Irish, an extensive land owner of Stockton, Calif.

In behalf of the measure, Mr. McClatchy says, in part:

"Through the measure, California seeks, as is her inherent right, to preserve her lands for Americans, precisely as Japan preserves her lands for the Japanese. Its primary purpose is to prohibit Orientals who can not become American citizens from controlling our rich agricultural lands.

"Our present treaty of commerce and navigation with Japan deliberately omits, from the privileges granted the Japanese in this country, either ownership or lease of agricultural lands in Japan by Americans or other foreigners.

"Orientals, and more particularly Japanese, having commenced to secure control of agricultural lands in California, there was enacted in 1913 the alien land laws, which prohibited ownership—or lease beyond three years—of agricultural lands by aliens ineligible to citizenship.

"In defiance of that law, through various subterfuges, including use of dummy corporations and minor native born children, Orientals largely Japanese, are fast securing control of the richest irrigated lands in the state, through lease or ownership, the proportion already controlled in some counties being from 50 to 75 per cent.

"The initiative measure simply closes the loophole in the 1913 law which permits violation and evasion thereof. In addition, it forbids even short leases."

In his argument against the measure, Mr. Irish discusses the commercial treaty with Japan and declares that "in its economic definition commerce consists of production, transmutation and exchange; production is the ranking element, because without it there can be no commerce.

"The treaty is intended then," the opposition argument continues, "to give the Japanese privilege to enter upon complete commerce, and therefore protects thir right to lease land for production. Any other interpretation twists the plain language of the treaty into vain repetition.

"Considered in the light of the 14th amendment to the constitution of the United States, which says, 'No state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws,' we find the initiative is in conflict with our constitution since it proposes a discriminatory classification of aliens, conferring upon one class the protection of the law which it denies to another class.

"This discrimination applies also to the leasing of land denied to Japanese and permitted to other aliens. It also applies to the feature of the initiative which subjects Japanese minors who own land to the guardianship of the public administrator, but exempts other alien minors who own land from such guardianship."

The measure has two distinct purposes, according to Mr. Irish, and these are: "First, to forbid the leasing of land to Japanese and Chinese; and, second, to take land owning minors of those races from the natural guardianship of the parents and commit them to the control of public administrators."

Concluding his argument to the voters of California, Mr. Irish says:

"Considered in its effect upon the land owners of the state, the initiative under penalty of confiscation, prohibits them from leasing land to a certain class of persons. If the state can do that it can also compel land owners, under penalty of confiscation, to lease their lands to a certain class of persons."

Civic League Ladies Guests of Wichita Club at Hallowe'en Banquet; Oratory, Music, 'n Everything Friday Evening

The Wichita Club men stacked the deck Friday night, and hid a few cards up their sleeve. But it isn't as bad as it sounds, as the big-hearted fellows stacked it for the ladies, and from 7:00 o'clock straight through to 10:30, with time out for nothing, the Civic League members who were guests of honor at the Hallowe'en banquet had the time of their young lives. The guests included the league members who assisted in serving the luncheons to the Wichita Club last winter and spring, with their husbands, and the club members and their wives. On account of the limited space in the banquet hall, it was found impossible to entertain the entire membership of the league.

The affair was one of the biggest ever given in Wichita Falls, and certainly one of the most enjoyable. The banquet room in the club was arranged to seat 200 guests, and the hosts had left nothing undone or unthought of which might add to the pleasure of the occasion. The serving of spiked fruit cocktails, for instance, was a delicate tribute which, under present conditions, deserves special mention. It takes a lot of "spike" to spike 200 cocktails.

In half an hour after the guests had all been seated and were being served, the banquet room resembled a real carnival hall, with a glorious tangle of rainbow colored carnival ribbon extending from one end of the room to the other, caught as they were flung over wires stretched across the room. A little later, at the height of the merriment, Hallowe'en bonnets were passed to the ladies and hats to the men.

Hallowe'en Favors.

The tables were laid with Hallowe'en favors of a utilitarian nature. A number of toasts having been planned for the Wichita Club members, it was somewhat feared by the entertainment committee that the ladies might not voice their approval with sufficient enthusiasm to properly encourage the speakers, so horns, rackers, whistles, bells and drums were laid suggestively at each plate. These were appropriately flanked by threatening black cats and skull and crossbones, so there were no refusals to put the jazz instruments to the proper use—at least, if one or two horns failed to function it passed unnoticed.

The banquet opened with the introduction of C. C. McDonald by the toastmaster of the evening, C. W. Reid. Mr. McDonald proposed an eloquent and touching tribute to the ladies of the league, and the toast was drunk. It would probably be more correct to say that Mr. McDonald's tribute was swallowed, as the cocktails, after the first gulp, remained practically intact. However, as it was the only real faux pas of the evening on the part of the club members, who were probably trying to work the memory of scorched prunes or red-pepper soup off their souls, it was generally agreed among the ladies that the matter of the cocktails would be dropped.

Speaker Is Interrupted.

Mr. Reid was interrupted as he started to introduce Clint Wood by the receipt of a telegram from Senator Warren G. Harding, and as the telegram seemed rather appropriate to the introduction he shared it with the banqueters. Senator Harding reminded the ladies of the Civic League that as Mr. Clint Wood had supported Joe Bailey in his race for governor, he would no doubt vote for him (Harding) for president, and he wished to urge immediate action upon Mr. Wood and to further request the support of the Civic League ladies in his campaign. Mr. Wood was then requested to incorporate a speech for Harding into his regular effort, and to make it short. Mr. Wood rather wandered from the subject, however, and seemed to prefer to explain to the ladies that he had worked hard to keep the husbands of the league members from being invited, and that it was not his fault that they were present. He also seemed distressed because of the fact that Mr. Reid, and not himself, was occupying the toastmaster's chair, and stated that he had been invited to do the honors for the occasion and only made a late entry in order to properly impress the assemblage.

Trio by Young Ladies.

The first musical number after the orchestra selection was given by a trio of young ladies, Misses Dean, Jones and Roper, and came somewhere in the middle of the filet sole with butter sauce. The filet sole was not entirely neglected, because it was a particularly good filet sole, but an almost unpardonable amount of attention was bestowed on the singers, in view of the fact that the guests were supposed to eat first and enjoy the program second. The young ladies sang "Then and Now," and followed it by a laughable little bit of philosophy on "All Kinds of Women." The latter selection started Judge Kay on an unfortunate trend of thought, and put him in a rather bad humor for his toast. He declared that there might be women worth their weight in gold, but he believed they were awfully small women. In fact, he was rather peeved at women lately, anyhow. "They are trying to push us off," he complained. "Here they've managed to get the vote, and now it looks like they're going to vote intelligently, which is a thing we never did." Judge Kay later declared that the occasion was a very felicitous one, for him, and that he liked to 'play." "We don't play enough," he said. "I could do with a lot more play and a lot ness work. In fact, the tropics is the less work. In fact, the tropics is one There one can lie in a hammock and kick a banana off a tree for dinner—and be comfortable all the time." Before the laugh that greeted this was too well under way Judge managed to add that that was where such frivolities as the present one were hatched up.

Men's Quartette.

The men's quartet came at a rather fortunate time, as male quartets are never particularly enjoyed, and if the boeuf barcarolle and petit pois had been within reach of the diners it is within the bounds of possibility that the singing would have passed unnoticed. As it was, with nothing in the world to do but listen, the multitude listened, and as the horns and rackers and drums, etc., made infinitely preferable noise, the encore sounded rather tremendous. The quartet took the matter seriously, and after singing their allotted number (one number), "Sunshine Jane," they blundered on and sang "I Gathered a Rose" and "When I Think of Erin." Messrs. oVn Allmen, Ray, Murchison and Bullington made up the personnel of the quartet.

The toastmaster stated that the mayor would be permitted to address the ladies, and Mr. Cline left nobody in doubt for an instant as to who the mayor was. The cocktail was on his mind, and he seemed to be nursing other grudges in addition. He informed the whole assemblage that the next time he was invited to such a gathering, whether the invitation was delivered formally, or he merely received an intimation that such an entertainment was on hand, whether he came alone or by himself, and whether he rode, walked, or arrived there afoot on a gray mule, he would undertake to supply the drinks from his own private stock. Mr. Reid immediately interrupted to invite all present to make a return engagement for Saturday night, but as Mr. Cline had wound around into serious channels and seemed to have lost his initial enthusiasm, the matter was dropped. Mr. Cline tried to remind the ladies of the club members sincere appreciation of their services in the catering line last winter and spring, but being evidently unaccustomed to wording the delicate and high flown phrases demanded by such a theme, he faltered along rather awkwardly for several minutes until relieved by a gentle suggestion from tender-hearted Mrs. Gaffpey that he "thay amen and sit down," which he did.

Feels Matter Keenly.

Mr. Reid seemed to feel the matter rather keenly, as it had been expected that the club would chose their orators of the first water for the occasion. He covered Mr. Cline's route with the hasty announcement that Harry Larson, the flyer enroute from New York to Los Angeles who landed at Call Field Friday afternoon was present, the guest of W. W. Silk and the club, and would be invited to speak. Mr. Silk introduced Mr. Larson, who entertained the guests with amusing notes on his trip so far. The flyer stated that he had taken Mr. and Mrs. Silk and Master Edward up in the afternoon, and that Mrs. Silk and the boy seemed to enjoy the trip very much, but Mr. Silk was nervous and distrait throughout, and appeared to be anxious to return to terra firma almost immediately after leaving the field. Mr. Larson invited the club and league members to the field Saturday morning and afternoon to inspect his car, and suggested that h would be glad to take the young ladies up, one at a time, and the married ladies up in groups of four or more.

The ladies' quarette which followed Mr. Larson's talk was the really big number on the program. The coffee got cold, and the chocolate glace remained untouched throughout the singing of two solemn and beautiful selections—"Pussy's in the Well," and "Lullaby Up to Date." Mesdames Barron, Tully, Clifford and Roberts were the singers.

Two Solo Numbers.

Mr. Murchison was permitted to sing two solo numbers following the quartette, and intimated that he would be glad to sing another, but received no encouragement. He gave "Rose of My Heart," and another number. Nobody seemed to remember what it was, and as he had not been asked to sing it, it was not on the toastmaster's program. A few present felt that he did rather well, however, and that with the proper training his voice might develop into something really good, eclouratura sopranos being rather popular just now.

The feature address of the evening was made by Mrs. T. B. Smock. Both in point of appropriateness, phrasing, and pitch, the talk laid anything previously attempted far in the shadow. The toastmaster made an effort to divert the attention of the charming president of the Civic League into political channels by stating that as campaign manager for Jack Culbertson, Mrs. Smock would make an address in behalf of the local gubernatorial candidate, but as Mrs. Smock has taken a prominent part in the Neff club and other democratic organizations, and is known to look with particular disfavor on the aspirations of the local man, the effort fell with a dull thud. Mrs. Smock stuck to her guns, and pitched into the Wichita Club with the pent-up energy of long months of repression, begun when the Civic League ladies first took over the arduous task of endeavoring to cook for the club luncheons. "We came to know you well," she stated, with honeyed sweetness. "We learned which of you ate beans with your knives, and which of you inhaled your coffee. You may have wondered why we never served you soup—well—!" Mrs. Smock stated that the ladies had profited greatly by the learned discussions held during the luncheons. "We learned oratory from C. E. Rogers," she declared, "and diplomacy from Clint Wood."

No Assistance Needed.

A telegram from Governor Cox was read, but there was a disposition to regard it as phoney, and nobody volunteered to speak in his behalf. It seemed generally accepted that the democratic candidate needed no assistance.

Mr. Reid announced that Mrs. Chas. R. Hartsook, who was present, had asked to be allowed to tell about her trip east with Dr. Hartsook, from which they had recently returned, and Mrs. Hartsook was introduced. The manner of her introduction not seeming to please the lady, she immediately stated that she did NOT want to talk about her trip east; that the only remark she had to make about the trip was that if she had gone alone she might have had a very good time. Mr. Reid seemed to appreciate the fact that he had made another break, and hastened to cover it up by inviting any lady present to suggest any further desired brand of oratory, but volunteering to supply it from among the speakers assembled. As there were no suggestions, he mentioned rather lamely that the Musicians' club was responsible for the male quartette and Mr. Murchison's numbers, and that thanks were really due the Wichita Club for the other excellent numbers, including several very beautiful selections by the orchestra. He also suggester that as the hour was rather late for the Wichita Club members, a motion to adjourn would be in order. As some of the gentlemen seemed sleepy, the motion was made and carried. "Morning" from the Peer Gynt suite to close the entertainment.

B. O. P. CLASS FIRST M. E. CHURCH MET WITH MRS. HARDY THURSDAY

The B. O. P. class of the First Methodist church, South, met with Mrs. Dan Hardy and Mrs. A. L. Proctor Thursday afternoon at the former's home. The class was reorganizing, and officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Olin Brown, president; Mrs. R. Davis, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. J. V. Reighard, chairman visiting committee; Mrs. Proctor, reporter, and Mesdames J. W. Akin Jr. and C. E. Clark, in charge of the music and social work. A social hour was spent during which a dainty plate of ice cream and cake with salted almonds was served.

EPWORTH LEAGUE BANQUET AND CONFERENCE LAST WEEK

Rain and cold weather failed to hold down the attendance of the Epworth Leaguers of the First Methodist church, South, at their annual banquet and conference Saturday night and Sunday, October 23 and 24. On Saturday night more than 100 young people sat down to a turkey banquet and for more than two hours enjoyed one of the happiest occasions of the year. H. J. Bruce, as toastmaster, set the pace for wit and humor, and the speakers on the program responded in like vein. E. O. Harbin of Nashville, the guest of honor, and field secretary of the central office of the Epworth League, responded to the toast, "Laugh and Grow Religious." C. T. Dean, president of the North Texas conference Epworth League, spoke on "Our Work, and Past and Future." Miss Margaret Todd of Greenville kept the crowd in an uproar during her toast, "Moonshine and Sunshine," following which a selection of musical numbers was well received. Rhys Thomas and Mrs. E. M. Evans gave two vocal solos each, while the ladies' quartette, Mesdames Fletcher, Akin and Evans and Miss Cory and the men's quartette—Messrs. Akin, Neal, Montgomery and von Allmen—gave several pleasing numbers.

Conference Held Sunday.

Important business, looking to the growth and development of work in North Texas, was transacted at the conference of the Wichita Falls district Epworth League at the church Sunday, with members of the Electra, Floral Heights and First church leagues present. The assembly plan of conducting the annual conferences was approved, and next year the delegates from this district will be instructed to employ a field secretary from the North Texas conference of the league to assist in the work of the established leagues as well as to organize new ones. This matter has been under discussion for the past two years, and it remained for the Wichita Falls district to make the first definite plans for financing the proposition.

Mr. Harbin gave a very optimistic address on the outlook as viewed by a field secretary; Mr. Dean made a short talk, and Miss Todd, representing the prize-winning district of the North Texas conference at Greenville, spoke on the subject of record keeping.

This was the first time since the annual league conference met in Wichita Falls in 1917 that the local leaguers have been honored by the presence of officers of the central and conference officers, and it was felt that the young people's work of the Methodist churches represented in the conference has been given a tremendous impetus by the presence and counsel of the distinguished visitors.

MRS. CAIN OF IOWA HONORED WITH LUNCHEON THURSDAY

Mrs. N. E. Cain of Iowa, mother of Mrs. Perham of this city, was the honoree of a beautifully appointed five-course luncheon given by Mrs. Perham Thursday noon. Covers were laid for nine guests, and while the table appointments and decorations featured Hallowe'en, with place cards and favors appropriately selected. A feature of the hospitality was that all of the guests had spent at least three-quarters of a century on earth, and had very much in common to converse about. Readings were given by Mrs. A. N. Hartsook and Mrs. William Hutton, to the very great pleasure of the diners, and music on the victrola was enjoyed. The guests included Mrs. Cain, Mesdames Hartsook, Hutton, M. E. Huff, Emma Kemp, L. Strictly Entre Nous

By I. M. D.

"MORNIN', BO!"

Sometimes flowers aren't enough; it is funny—
When the morning is a rose, and it's sunny,
And a tiny wisp of hide-and-seeking breeze
Swings down with a satin kiss from the trees
(Where it stopped to stir the leaves.) And a sweet
Bed of vinca things is smilin' at one's feet,
And a bronze chrysanth'um, prisoned in a shop,
Nods a pleading little "Please! Please stop—"
It is funny—all of these! Folks are queer,
Seems they sometimes want so much, down here;
For there's folks who say that, when they're coming down,
Sort o' picking out the shortest way to town
Morning times, they'd trade a dozen vinca things
And a yard of breeze on hide-and-seeking wings,
And a shop of bronze chrysanth'ums and a rose,
For a simple "Mornin' bo! How goes?"

The New Ranger.

"The New Texas Ranger" is the name of a newspaper published a few days ago by the Press Publishing committee of the Better Schools campaign to further promote the campaign for the adoption of the school tax amendment.

The Ranger has four pages of plain talk about the amendment, and the need responsible for its creation. It is good, stiff, pointed plain talk, too, both in first-class English, and the vernacular. One argument is a fictitious conversation between Frenchmen, inspired to visit Texas by Colonel House's wonderful tales of the Lone Star state, and a native. The conversation is right to the issue:

"'Is not Texas a magnificent state?' you ask.

"'It has great possibilities,' they reply.

"'Her resources are as yet practically undeveloped,' you boast.

"'Especially her human resources,' they add.

"'Our cotton crop alone is worth more than $400,000,000.'

"'How much are your children worth?' they ask. The question is embarrassing and you hasten to change the subject.

"'Did you see our cattle on a thousand hills?'

"'Yes, but we wondered at the cattle sheds on the campus of the university.

"'If you are interested in co-operative undertakings,' you begin pompously, 'you would no doubt like to know of the Hog Association that has been organized in our county. The farmers of the county have put $75,000 into the business of learning how to raise hogs, and are paying a man $1,800 a year to teach them. That's what I call progress.'

"The Frenchmen do not appear greatly impressed.

"'Curious,' they remark.

"'What is curious?' you demand.

"'Why, we were told,' they explain, 'that in this county the highest paid school man receives only $1,500!'"

"The housewife was officially admitted to the ranks of the expert professions today at the breakfast of the National Homemakers' Guild."—News Item, October 23.

The housewife was probably not overmuch troubled as to her official rank. However, we should say that the average housewife probably falls far short of the expertness demanded by most professions. Of course there are housewives and housewives, but the business woman who uses the methods of the average housewife usually stays in one place about a week. The maker and keeper of a home will be neither expert nor professional, probably, until she uses her head more and her feet and hands less. For instance, we know one housekeeper who battled with the problem of a satisfactory laundrywoman for a family of four until she reached a happy conclusion. She purchased an electric washing machine and an electric flat ironing machine, and now does her weekly family washing in thirty minutes. She has holdhold help, a modern, beautifully furnished cottage, two babies, plenty of money for reasonable needs and extravaghnces, and club duties. Most women in her position would scorn to do "family washing." With her, it is a matter of head work In thirty minutes, or an hour at most a week she can save several hours of worry and nerve strain over the laundress problem, so she goes to it. Such "housewives" are making a profession of homekeeping.

Margaret Sangster sings a very beautiful vesper song in this week's Christian Herald. It is:

At Evening.

When sunset turns the lake to gold beneath the sky's warm blue,
My eyes can almost look on God, so near His presence steals;
I feel a sudden, tender thrill—the same a dreamer feels,
Who wakes from some vague reverie to see his dream come true.

"I find God's smile in every tree; I know His kind eyes shine
Where clouds are parted in the west
The misty, scented air
Is like a voice that calls to me and lifts my soul in prayer—
And—almost—as the 'twilight grows,
I feel His hand in mine!"

The Viscountess and God.

Editor Dickson, of the Iowa Park Herald ,takes exception of the typography o fa memorial stone laid by Viscountess Astor of Great Britain in commemoration of the 300th anniversary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers from the Mayflower in America. The inscription on the stone is "This stone was laid to the glory of God by Viscountess Astor, M. P., September 6, 1920." The type of the Viscountess, name took precedence, in size, over that of the name of the Creator.

"The fair Viscountess was indeed the first woman to be elected to the English parliament. She is indeed a most magnificent millionairess. Howbeit, she was never heard of until less than forty years ago. And she probably never will be heard of after another hundred years. But God is everlasting to everlasting. Hence, we think the above type display is not only poor taste, but pretty nearly irreverent and profane," comments the Herald editor.

As for us, we think it might be reasoned with fairness that since God is everlasting, he does not need the poor effort of a marble worker to further His fame. Viscountess Astor is not so well known.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS "FAMOUS GHOSTS" PARTY FRIDAY NIGHT

One of the most successful parties of the season for the Epworth Leaguers of the First M. E. Church South was held in the basement of the church, at the corner of Tenth and Lamar streets Friday evening.

The guests were met at the door by a giant ghost, who conducted them to the door of the chamber of horrors, where they were greeted by ghosts of all descriptions and sizes. They were also allowed to inspec the dessicated remains of a man, eyes, hair, blood, brains and bones. From the chamber of horrors they found themselves in a horribly spooky corn field, with ghastly faces, black cats, bats, etc., peeking from around and out of the corn shocks. In one portion of the cornfield the Queen of Hallowe'en had raised her throne, and each guest was ushered solemnly into her presence and permitted to shake hands with her. The pleasure of the handshake seemed to be all on the part of the queen, as each guest emitted an involuntary scream and jerked his or her hand away instantly from the electrical touch.

Fortune telling, ghost stories and the presentation of the "Return of Ten Famous Ghosts" were among the many enjoyable features of the evening.

Witches' brew, ginger snaps and rosy red apples were served to the guests, after which the entire party took a moonlight stroll down town.

YOUNG PEOPLE ENTERTAINED WITH HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Hallowe'en being a time for ghosts 'n everything to come a creeping—or a-stalking, which is probably more appropriate for ghosts, quite a number of very much departed looking spirits surrounded the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ground, 2110 Taylor street, Friday night and demanded admittance. Once inside, they seemed particularly delighted with the entertainment offered, and after enjoying a number of interesting games and dancing, with perfectly good jazz music, they were served hot chocolate and cake. The ghosts were said to be the departed spirits of Misses Calla Priebe, Silvia Howard, Ruby Duckworth, Lula Lile, Amanda Hood and Lucy Kinderman; Mesdames Stephens and Huggins, and Messrs. Muller, Barcher, Bell, Fussell, Lammers, Hood, Elmer and Homer Stephens, and the hostess, Miss Balsora Ground.

ELKS OPEN SEASON WITH BIG HALLOWE'EN DANCE

The Elk club members opened their club rooms Thursday evening with the first big social event of their winter season, when they honored their wives and young lady friends with a Hallowe'en dance.

The decorations were particularly attractive, the yellow and black of Hallowe'en being featured. Curled streamers depended from the centre star in the dance hall and were swung lightly to the four corners of the room, while festoons of black and yellow were used otherwise about the ballroom. Skeletons, black cats and pumpkins were present in formidable numbers.

The grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Loomis, and a feature of the evening was the cotillion in which the young ladies favored the men, Hallowe'en caps, masks, canes, whistles and horns being the favors.

Guests present included: Messrs and Mesdames T. R. Haney, Fred Loomis, R. H. Hollinger, L. A. French, W. H. Street, Loran Taylor, Jack G. Oltorf, G. C. Johnson, John Shaw, D. S. BAPTIST SENIOR B. Y. P. U. HAS HALLOWE'EN ENTERTAINMENT

Department one of the Senior B. Y. P. U. First Baptist church, held "spooky" revel Friday evening in the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Clint Wood, Tenth and Brook. The guests were met at the door by Miss Anna Norris in masque, and turned over to Miss Florence Neill, who extended an icy hand to lead them through the Devil's dungeon. The dungeon was inhabited by black cats, red devils, ghosts, etc. They were then led into two large rooms where the Hallowe'en festivities were held. The spacious basement afforded an ideal place for such an entertainment, and was lighted with Jack o'Lanterns and festooned with black and yellow garlands, while the walls and tables were draped with yellow and black, black cats, witches, pumpkin heads, skeletons, etc. The costumes worn were original and varied, maids of 1865, Gypsies, witches, ghosts, red devils, black cats, etc.. Games, contests and ghost stories furnished the main diversions after a ghostly revel was held through the basement, with Mrs. W. C. Ashford playing the marches.

First prize for the best costume worn at the affair was awarded Rev. W. C. Ashford, who was dressed as a red devil. Thomas E. Barnes won first prize for guessing most of the masqueraders. At a late hour pop corn balls, apples and individual pumpkin pies were served to the following members and guests: Messrs. and Mesdames W. C. Ashford, Thomas E. Barnes, H. M. Young and F. S. Rigsby; Misses Mollie Lorance, Angie Frazier, Janie Lee George, Minnie Covington, Bura McCurley, Ethel Covington, Florence McNeill, Maggie Covington, Juanita Hammersley, Blanche Perry, Ruth Morgan, Elsie Lee, Georgia Roark, Lena Reeves, Lucille Ashford, Dolly Hull, Opal Hill of Bowie, Ruth Beggs, Gene Stengel, Lucille Davis, Essie Davis, Anna Morris and Beulah Ashford; Messrs. Two interesting papers were given, "Rebecca West, a New Type of Adventuress," and "The Condition of Rebecca West's Mind," were read by Mrs. Guy Rogers. "The Symbolism of the Master Builder," and the "Strangeness of Hilda Waegel" were discussed by Mrs. Shapard. An interesting and helpful discussion followed. "The Mikado" to Be at Wichita Theater on November 8-9

The next road attraction which the Wichita theatre has scheduled is Gilbert and Sullivan's world famous comic opera, "The Mikado," which will appear at the local playhouse for two nights, Monday and Tuesday, November 8 and 9.

The mere mention of the composer's name is enough to insure a great production, for William S. Gilbert and Sir Arthur Sullivan are known wherever music is known, and their fame is great as is that of "The Lost Chord" and "Onward Christian Soldiers," two of their finest compositions.

"The Mikado" has been translated into all languages of continental Europe and has been sung in every tongue and in every clime. Its universal appeal is enhanced because it is clean and wholesome, giving fun and comedy without a trace of questionable entertainment. Gilbert and Sullivan were not the men to cater to public favor by depending upon suggestive and degrading incidents in their productions, and because of this their works have attained heights of fame and eminence that no other theatrical productions have ever approached.

But all this has not detracted one iota from "The Mikado" and its popularity. Its humor is as delightful today as at the operas priemere. Its delicious satire on Japanese social customs and British political institutions is the most distinctly clever piece of dramatic writing known to the English tongue, while the catching, tuneful and beautiful melodies that are found in abundance throughout the production will live forever, as will the great sacred hymn which these two men gave to the world, namely "Onward Christian Soldiers."

If any more recommendations are needed for "The Mikado" they can be furnished by the fact that the company to appear in Wichita Falls was assembled, trained and is now under the direction of Ralph Dunbar, the man who was responsible for the delightful production "Robin Hood," which played to packed houses at the Wichita two weeks ago. Mr. Dunbar has assembled another remarkable cast for "The Mikado" and gives assurance that this production is to be even better than "Robin Hood."

Further announcements will be made as to seat sales and details of the appearance of "The Mikado" here.

"THE LOVE FLOWER" TO BE FEATURED AT THE OLYMPIC

Everyone seems to agree that next to perfection in production, the chief requisite for a perfect motion picture is a real honest-to-goodness story. It's that type of a dramatic tale that David W. Griffith has based his latest photodrama on for United Artists' release, and this wonderfully dramatic production, "The Love Flower," will be a feature at the Olympic Theatre beginning Monday.

The story has to do with Stella Bevan, whose father returns from serving an undeserved sentence in prison to find himself a social alien in his home town and the breach between him and his unsympathetic wife is widened by Bevan's affection, and his wife's hatred for his daughter by his first wife.

Bevan meets the man, Crane, who sent him "up" and Bevan and his daughter decide to go away and start over again. On their way Bevan is informed of his wife's infidelity and goes back to prove the charge. During a quarrel, the man in the case is shot. Crane immediately determines it a murder and intercepts the daughter on her way to the boat, but Bevan coming up from the rear makes a captive of the detective, until he and his daughter have embarked. They land on a South Sea uncharted island, where Stella meets a young chap on his way to the port from which she and her father had fled. In the knowledge of the mutual attraction which springs up between them, this boy does not understand her terror for him, but yields to her unexplained entreaties to go away.

The boy, Sanders, arrives at the port and Crane, who has heard rumors of a man and a girl living on a deserted island arranges passage back with the unsuspecting Sanders on his cargo vessel. On their arrival at the island, Stella, seeing Crane, refuses to talk to Sanders, believing that he has brought Crane there deliberately. She sinks Sander's boat and attempts by various means to murder either Crane or both Crane and Sanders, planning such undoings to the extreme of including herself, so as to save her father from being taken back to the mainland and tried for murder.

During the time the three men and this girl are marooned on the island, a complete understanding is reached between Stella and Sanders, and together they plot to save her father. No end of excitement is created when Crane attracts the attention of his assistants on the faraway mainland. But in a tremendous battle, Crane believes he has killed his man by casting him over a cliff. Bevan saves himself and with the detective the happy pair sail away, only to return later as man and wife to join him on the island.

This story is filled with an endless amount of action and suspense and is conceded to be one of the most dramatic stories that has ever been produced by Mr. Griffith. The story was exceedingly popular when it was run in Collier's Weekly, it being from the pen of Ralph Stock.

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN STARS IN "POINT OF VIEW"

An ambitious young violinist, a self-sacrificing sister, an uncouth westerner with a heart of gold, a family of aristocratic ne'er-do-wells—these are the principal factors in the story of "The Point of View," a Selznic picture starring Elaine Hammerstein, which is to be shown at the Plaza Monday night.

Dramatically presented and excellently directed, this picture depicts the trials of a family obsessed by aristocratic traditions without having the requisite wealth to maintain them. The girl, Marjorie, played by Miss Hammerstein, wants to see her ambitious violinist brother attain his goal of fame, but the family is too penurious to send him to Europe for completion of his musical education, so she contracts a loveless marriage with an uncultured westerner, wealthy and good-hearted, but uncouth in the extreme, in order to further her relatives' ambition.

The violinist does no succeed, other plans do not materialize and then a situation arises which brings serious possibilities into view. It is one of those big crises which win through their sheer naturalness and it serves as a fitting climax to the best photoplay that Miss Hammerstein has ever made.

Midnight Matinee Hallowe'en Feature Olympic Theater

A novel midnight matinee is to be given by the Olympic theatre at 12 o'clock Sunday night and will incorporate a decidedly Hallowe'en atmosphere in addition to the regular pictures to be shown.

Manager H. S. Ford of the Olympic and Publicity Manager Robert Sparks have been busy for weeks past in preparing decorations, stage settings and various other items which will go to make up an attractive and pleasing evening.

The whole theatre is to be decorated with Hallowe'en symbols, witches, black cats, ghosts, pumpkins and all the other useful and useless things that crop out around Hallowe'en time. A special stage setting is being arranged for by Mr. Sparks, which he promises will be the best that the Olympic has ever presented.

A novelty dancing act, "The Spirit of Hallowe'en," is to be presented by Dorothy and Fred Thompson of the Arcadia Dancing academy, and following this David Wark Griffith's latest film masterpiece, "The Love Flower," will be shown.

ANOTHER EXCELLENT STORY OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST

Another excellent story of the Canadian Northwest is to be featured at the Majestic on Monday and Tuesday of this week when George H. Melford's production, "Behold My Wife," is shown.

The story was written by Sir Gilbert Parker and has been screened for Paramount exhibitors company.

"Behold My Wife" is a story of drunken malice and misguided romance which is regenerated into decency by the efforts of a crippled gentleman. According to the plot, Frank Armour, scion of a wealthy and aristocratic British family, has taken a position with the Hudson Bay Co. and has been sent to the uncharted vastness of northern Canada for service. While there he receives word that his fiancee, a famed English noblewoman, has jilted him and married another, largely because of his family raising objections to her.

In a fit of drunken rage Armour marries an Indian girl and sends her home to England to become a permanent humiliation to his family. He then goes into an endless spree of dissipation and which threatens to sink him into complete oblivion, but he is finally rescued and straightened out by an old friend who finds and recognizes him.

Meanwhile the Indian bride has been received coldly by the boy's family, and on learning the cause of their attitude sets herself to acquire an education. Aided by the crippled brother of her husband she eventually becomes an educated, refined and cultured woman of great beauty and popularity. Thus it comes about that when Armour finally returns home he finds instead of the ignorant bride he had sent away one of the best known and most sought after women in England.

Events such as these will very likely never happen except in the movies but the treatment which Mr. Melford has given the play is enough to clothe the production with an air of possibility.

An all-star cast, headed by Mabel Juliene Scott in the role of Lilali, the Indian girl, has been secured for this picture and gives an excellent interpretation of the events chronicled by the author. Milton Sills as Frank Armour and Elliott Dexter as his crippled brother have splendid parts and handle them in masterful fashion. Helen Dunbar, Mark Fenton and Fred Huntly also appear in the play.

LEW CODY TO BE FEATURED IN "THE BELOVED CHEATER"

Coles-Robertson's latest feature offering, with Lew Cody in the title role, has been named "The Beloved Cheater" and is to appear at the Empress theater as the main attraction on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Cody is an actor with a peculiar appeal which no one has been able to explain as yet. Certainly the type of pictures in which he plays is not one that finds a great deal of favor with the masculine portion of the movie species, yet they flock to see all of his productions. Perhaps it is the satisfaction to be derived from watching a woman become completely subjugated and controlled by a mere man, or again it may be the pleasure of imagining what they would do under similar circumstances that makes Cody's parts attractive, but at any rate his pictures are popular and that is all that is required of any movie film.

In "The Beloved Cheater" he has another of the social "Butterfly man" roles in which he assails the hearts of the fair sex in a way that to them is irresistible. Strangely enough he is also in great favor with the men of his set and circle, and there are those, so the tale goes, that even come to him for advice in their love affairs. This is a moving picture remember.

Events of the story begin to come to a point when one trembling Romeo comes to the cheater with the information that he is in trouble, great trouble, and that he desires the cheater to help him out of the difficulty. Always ready to oblige the "beloved cheater" immediately offers his assistance, and from then on things begin to happen.

The Romeo's request necessitated a course of instruction to him and his fiance, and in short order said fiancee was completely enamoured of the instructor. This turn of events led to complications which were cleared up at the very end of the film and which, in the unravelling, make an exceedingly surprising and interesting story.

Reel Chatter

By JEAN DARNELL

The three Talmadges—Constance, Norma and Natalie, returned from Europe aboard the Imperator last week. Work will be begun at once on new productions for both Connie and Norma.

Robert Edeson, the well-known stage star, will become a Metro director at West Coast studios.

Virginia Madison, the mother in Goldwyn's Edgar series, is a real home lover. She puts up her own fruit and bakes cakes and cookies and even bread.

Petite, blonde Winifred Westover, who has been making pictures the past few months in Sweden, has finished the last of her series and will return shortly to the United States. Miss Westover has appeared opposite nearly all of our male stars.

Will Rogers and company of Goldwyn players left today for Jackson, California, where they will spend about three weeks making scenes for Rogers' next picture "Boys Will Be Boys." Clarence G. Badger is directing.

Beautiful Hazel Dawn, star of musical comedy stage returns to the screen in "What is Love," the first of the Bimberg productions.

David Powell, who plays opposite Mae Murray in "On With the Dance," and "Idols of Clay," has sailed for London to appear in "The Mysterious Road," from the story by E. Phillips Oppenheim, which is to be produced in London.

Katherine MacDonald, noted for her rare beauty, has decided that from now on she will appear only in human interest stories. Nothing frivolous any more. Congratulations Katherine!

Cullen Landis, Goldwyn juvenile leading man, says he hopes to look old enough someday to be the father of his child. At present people mistake him for its big brother.

Thomas Meighan, the champion transcontinental commuter, has finished his latest picture in California and arrived in New York to begin work on a new photoplay.

Marion Davies, star of "Restless Sex" has had her feet insured for $300,000.

Irene Rich, appearing in Goldwyn pictures, likes her bathing suits better than any other article of her wearing apparel. She has about a dozen and designs them herself.

Rudyard Kipling, the most noted of English writers, has arranged with Paul Brunet, president of Pathe, to have his works produced on the screen.

President Wilson, at the White House in Washington, was shown "The Wonder Man," Georges Carpentier's starring vehicle. Georges is the French warrior puglist.

During the past two weeks Ida May Park, the noted woman director has been writing the continuity of "Red Potage," her first independent film production. Miss Park has found that she can best do her writing out of doors, and so with an automobile and a portable typewriter she seeks out shady nooks and obtains an unusual combination of work and play.

Pauline Frederick has about completed her first Robertson-Cole feature adapted from the play "Iris," by Sir Arthur Wong Pinero.

Justine Johnstone, the largest star in the Realart Constellation, will be seen shortly in "Black Birds."

Helen Gardner, who was one of the original Vitagraph players, is returning to the screen after couple years retirement in "The Devil's Angel." Many Helen Gardner fans will welcome her with open arms.

Will Rogers, Goldwyn star, has returned from a week's visit to Sierra Blanca, Texas. While there he helped his friend Joe Gardner' brand three thousand calves. The one week of strenuous roping took off all the superfluous flesh and he arrived in town about ten pounds lighter than when he left.

A New Job.

Katherine MacDonald will hereafter assist in selecting the musical score for her productions. This arrangement was completed this week between Miss MacDonald and associated First National officials. Her first work in arranging a musical score for a picture was done in connection with "The Notorious Miss Lisle," just released, and her next will be in connection with "Curtain." Miss MacDonald is now in the midst of production of "The Second Latchkey," with Edwin Carewe directing.

WICHITA FALLS QUALITY STORE

KRUGER JEWELRY CO. MOVES TO HANDSOME NEW BUSINESS HOME

The Kruger Jewelry Company has moved into its new home in the building formerly occupied by the National Bank of Commerce, at the corner of Eighth and Ohio, now the property of Bob Waggoner.

In its new location the Kruger company has one of the finest jewelry stores in Texas, and one that will compare favorably with any in the United States. Some little incidentals yet remain to make it perfect, but these are being taken care of, and by the time the firm is ready to make its bow for a formal opening it will be well nigh perfect.

The location for a jewelry store is the best possible. On a prominent corner, situated to give advantage for splendid display on two sides, its possibilities have been used to the best advantage, so that the street fronts are a mirror of plate glass that reflect the beauties of the merchandise being offered—25 feet on Ohio avenue and 100 feet on Eighth street is a panorama of glittering diamonds, matchless gold, sterling silver and beautiful cut glass.

And the windows are but a miniature replica of the interior. The fixtures of the store are done in solid mahogany and heavy plate glass. The floor is of tile and the walls of light gray, with curtains in tan to harmonize the gray and mahogany. The main show case is in horse shoe design of heavy plate. In front of this in one corner is a circular room equipped especially for purchasers of diamonds, with every improvement provided for the convenience of customers. Across from this is the watch department, where a selection of more than 200 watches of every make are shown. Along the south wall is a case of silver, both sterling and plated, showing the newest patterns from the most famous makers of the world. In the rear is the cut glass case, containing many new patterns of the Hawkes make. Adjoining the cut glass room is the watchmakers benches, and back of this a special optical department has been fitted with every modern equipment for caring for eye troubles.

As a jewelry store it would seem to be complete, and one in which even the most lavish buyer could find all that the heart could desire. And the stock is equal to the surroundings. Of the best makers the best has been purchased until the ensemble presents an array of beauty and wealth irresistible to the lover of good jewels. More than $200,000 worth of diamonds and nearly $100,000 worth of silver and gold are now shown, in patterns and designs equal to the best in the world.

In moving into the new home, with all its beauty, there is for Mr. Kruger and those who know him best a mingling of sentiment and finance. Mr. Kruger came to Wichita Falls about eight years ago. With a handful of merchandise he located in a small room on Ohio avenue. Later on he moved into the store at 725 Ohio avenue with a larger stock and a very creditable display, and always his goods were exactly what he said they were until it became a universal opinion that when Kruger gave his guarantee on an article it was as good as gold. Today he is the recipient of congratulations from a host of friends, and of a special letter of congratulation from the chamber of commerce, all of which tend to a feeling of pride in achievement, and a determination for even better things for the future. That guarantee built up his business. When the boom came to Wichita county his business boomed with the rest, and when rich oil men and women wanted the best in the jewelry line they knew they would get it at Kruger's. Keeping faith with the public has always been a motto of the firm, and one that has never been violated, so that in going into the new store the firm goes into new expense and new enterprises with a feeling of confidence that the outcome will be successful.

The public is invited to call at the new store any time and every courtesy will be extended to show goods. Announcement of a formal opening will be made as soon as some few details of finishing can be completed, and the public will then be invited to inspect the complete lines.

VOTERS REQUESTED NOT TO PASS UP THE SCHOOL AMENDMENT

The state campaign committee which is working for better schools for Texas year that the school tax amendment which is to be voted on at the November election will lose a large number of votes because of its inconspicuous position on the official ballots. In view of this the committee has sent out a letter to the school authorities in each city of the state urging that they make announcements to the public as to where the amendment issue may be found on the ballot. The letter, in part, follows:

"The school amendment will be found at the bottom of the official ballot in between the other two amendments. It reads and should be marked as follows:

"'For an amendment to section 3 of article VII of the constitution of the state of Texas providing that the limitation upon the amount of the school district tax of one dollar on the $100 valuation shall not apply to independent or common school districts created by general or special law.'

"'Against an amendment to section 3 of article VII of the constitution of the state of Texas, providing that the limitation of the school district tax of one dollar on the $100 valuation shall not apply to independent or common school districts created by general or special law.'

"Remember that in spite of the wording of the amendment, the present limit is fifty cents."

The letter is signed by Annie Webb Blanton, chairman of the state committee. The local authorities are taking a final plea to the voters of the city to give this matter careful attention and to plainly mark their ballots in favor of the new proposed amendment.

TEMPLE WHITE WELL CONTINUES PRINCIPAL TOPIC IN OIL CIRCLES

SEEMS PRACTICALLY CERTAIN THE WELL IS GOOD FOR 250 BARRELS.

OTHER DRILLING PLANNED RESULT OF DEVELOPMENT

Number Of Leases Are Acquired In Vicinity By Well Known Local Operators.

The Temple White well on the Mattie Parker tract continued to be the principal topic of conversation among the local oil operators last week. From the time the well went on the pump no change has been noted in the production and it seems practically certain the well is good for 250 barrels.

Since the well was brought in C. P. Morgan and F. P. Kellogg, members of the Tillicum Oil Association which drilled the well, closed a deal for a half interest in a 40-acre tract nearby and will start drilling operations immediately. The Bill Rowe Oil company and the General Oil company also purchased acreage in this territory and plan to spud in right away.

The Cline Oil company has purchased a 20-acre lease in the same territory and operations will be begun by them at once.

The latest purchase in that territory was made by S. L. McDowell and J. M. Franklin, local operators, who bought a 20-acre lease in the southwest corner of block 12 of the Mattie Parker lands.

The recent rains held up other completions and several weels are reported as on the sand and ready to come in any day next week.

Electra Has New Well.

One new producing well in the Electra field was reported for this week. The Buffalo Texas company brought in the No. 9 Douglass at a depth of about 1,078 feet, producing about 50 barrels.

The International Oil company abandoned the No. 1 Douglas at a depth of 1,275 feet and the Texas Superior Oil company's No. 2 Burnett was dry and abandoned at a depth of 1,407 feet.

Five wells were reported as dry and abandoned in Wilbarger county. They are: Byers Farm Oil company, No. 1 Byers, 3,000 feet; Farmers Valley Oil company, No. 1 Wells, 2,500 feet; Sure Pop Oil company, No. 1 Scott, 2,040 feet; G. Waggoner Oil Co., No. 1 Waggoner, 2,360 feet; Waggoner Colony Oil Co., No. 1 Taylor, 1,930 feet.

In the Iowa Park district a 75-barrel well was brought in by the Block 41 Oil company on the No. 4 Kemp and Kemper at a depth of 1,770 feet. A large producer reported was that of the W. T. Willis et al on the Lewis tract, which was reported yesterday as making about 150 barrels.

The Kemp, Munger, Allen-Sibley Drilling company is reported as having brought in a well estimated at about 175 barrels on the Munger tract while the No. 5 of the Emerich, Dancigar and Underwood company on the Roller is reported as having come in making about 250 barrels.

CHILD HEALTH CENTERS WILL BE OPENED SOON

Child health centers will be opened up in the near future in Iowa Park and Electra by the all time health officer, Dr. West, according to plans made known Saturday. This has been under consideration for some time and plans have practically been perfected towards the realization of this plan.

The county health officer and his assistant have been busily engaged the entire week in the further examination of school children. The examination took place and the number examined as follows: Howard No. 1, 18; Cashion, 59; Bacon, 11; Serane on the Thimbls Oil company lease, 31; and Fairview No. 3, 29.

Construction work was ordered by the health officer at the Serene school, he finding that present facilities were inadequate and dangerous to the health of the children.

During the examination of the school children no serious contagious diseases were found. Several cases of acute trachoma were discovered and the children and parents notified.

The work is progressing nicely and the health officer reports that all teachers have willingly lent their assistance in the handling of the work expeditiously.

A Wonderful Persian Rug

"Antique Princess Kashan"

On Exhibit for a Short Time with Many Others Comprising an Unusual Collection of Genuine ORIENTAL RUGS

The "Princess Kashan" is not a royal lady, but a Rug of exquisite color and design, a perfect gem of Oriental skill, and reflects in its rich beatuy the many years of patient toil expended in the weaving of it.

The remarkable Rug contains fourteen hundred knots to the square inch, and when it is considered that seventy-five knots per hour is a fair average for a skilled weaver, one may calculate what a great space of years were necessary to its completion. The changing color and beautiful sheen of the "Princess Kashan" are due to the secret dyes used, and also to the fact that the materials are pure Persian Lamb, a quality of wool most prized by the native rug makers.

Although an antique which has seen use ever since it was finished, time and service have but contributed to mellow its tones and emphasize its extraordinary beauty.

JUDGE MONTGOMERY URGES IMPORTANCE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT AS TO SALARIES

Editor Times:

At the election to be held on next Tuesday a constitutional amendment will be submitted, which, if adopted, will permit the legislature to fix the salaries of the governor, attorney-general, land commissioner, state treasurer, comptroller, and secretary of state.

The necessity for this amendment arises out of the fact that the present constitution fixes the salary of the governor at $4,000 a year; the land commissioner, treasurer and comptroller at $2,500 per year, and the secretary of state at $2,000 per year, and the legislature is without power to increase these salaries. On account of this condition it is becoming more difficult each year to obtain the services of competent men to fill these positions. Under present conditions it is almost impossible for a man to live upon these salaries. The salaries of all other officers are not fixed by the constitution, and the legislature not only has the power but has in fact increased their compensation.

In the interest of the public service I desire to call the attention of the voters to this amendment, and trust that it will receive the support of all those who vote at the election. No argument is necessary to prove the inadequacy of these salaries and the propose amendment permits the legislature to change and adjust the salaries as conditions may require.

I will be very grateful if you will give this communication space in your paper. Yours very truly,

J. T. MONTGOMERY.

SIGNIFICANT FACTS IN PROBLEM OF SUPPLY OF CRUDE PETROLEUM AND EVER INCREASING DEMANDS

(Address delivered by J. O. Lewis, chief petroleum technologist, United States bureau of mines, before the Independent Oil Men's association convention, City auditorium, Denver, Colo., recently.)

The significant facts in the problem of the relation between the production of crude petroleum and the ever-increasing demand for petroleum products are that, in spite of continually increasing production, improvement in methods of refining and utilization, and heavy increases in imports, demands grow still more rapidly and we seem always faced with a shortage at hand or just ahead. On the other hand, our foremost authorities warn us of entirely inadequate domestic reserves. Looking abroad, we find some large fields and many of speculative promise, but the situation is complicated by international relations and demands by other countries which promise to be even more insistent than ours. This is the situation then: We cannot rely upon our own crude production to meet the ever-increasing demand for petroleum products.

I wish to follow this somewhat alarming statement by saying at once that the bureau of mines is not pessimistic in facing this situation. To my mind, those who discuss the oil situation may be placed in three catagories: the pessimists, the optimists and the super-optimists. The pessimists I call those who see darkly and will concede no possibility of solution. According to them a few years will see the autcmobiles piled up in windows of delapidated junk. I have no sympathy with this point of view and deem it vicious and entirely unwarranted.

The optimists I term those who believe that there is a solution and that we shall be able to meet all of our reasonable requirements for as far into the future as can be foreseen, yet who recognizes that this desired end can not be attained without provision and energetic effort.

The super-optimists are those who will say to you, "There is nothing to this talk of shortage, whenever we have needed oil we have always found it and always will." To these gentlemen the possibility of an inadequate supply of oil is as incomprehensible as the possibility of the extinction of the passenger pigeon was to the early settlers who saw flocks that hid the sun for days during their passage. The passenger pigeon disappeared within two generations thereafter, and I deem this point of view as perhaps more vicious than that of the extreme pessimist. It seems to me it is nothing less than improvidence lulling is into a false sense of security. There is an old proverb to the effect that "The Lord helps him who helps himself." I believe that we shall solve the oil problem, but I do not think it will be solved by vague optimism. It is going to call for our most energetic efforts and I believe we shall have to do a lot of "helping ourselves."

Claims to Be Optimist.

It hardly needs saying that I class myself among the optimists and this view I hold after carefully facing the facts that have presented themselves. I consider that it is the function of the bureau of mines to search out the facts, face the situations which present themselves, and endeavor to aid in working out the solutions. To constructive ends the bureau is now directing the work of its petroleum division and each experiment and investigation taken up must fit itself into the plan carefully devised for solving the problem. The bureau is endeavoring to do those things which are most worth doing and to avoid investigations, the results of which hafe no important relation to the main problem.

The problem involves a consideration of both future demands and future supplies. These may be said to be identical, for as far as can be foreseen now, the growth in consumption will apparently be limited only to what there is to use. Although this is a generalization and, like all generalizations is subject to qualifications, I think it can be accepted as essentially true, therefore the problem reduces itself to locating the sources of the raw material and of discovering the means for turning the raw material into finished products at rates and prices commensurate with our reasonable needs. In speaking of petroleum products, I am speaking broadly and include products derived from other sources than crude petroleum that can satisfactorily replace the main products of the refinery. The problem is essentially a search for more crude, greater benefits from petroleum products, and for raw materials from which satisfactory substitutes may be derived.

Reserves Inadequate.

The reserves in our oil fields, as estimated by the United States geological survey, which is undoubtedly our best authority, are generally conceded to be entirely inadequate and were these estimates but a half or a fourth of the real quantity, the situation would still be unsatisfactory. The discover of new fields but hastens the rate of exhaustion and brings nearer the day when production starts on the long curve of decline which the older fields of Pennsylvania and Illinois have followed for many years past. Yet our oil fields contain much raw material upon which we have not reckoned in the past. I refer to the oil left underground after the usual production methods now in vogue (upon which the geological survey have based their estimates) have brought the wells to so-called exhaustion.

For a number of years the bureau of mines has studied both in the field and in the laboratory this most vital problem of the unrecovered oil. I believe that the evidence now before me is such that I dare claim that after we have brought our wells to the point of abandonment we shall be able to go back and get from them half and possibly as much again more oil than they had produced previously. This means that the five billion barrels already produced and the seven billion estimated in our reserves, another six to twelve billion barrels are to be added.

Instances Are Cited.

I dare say this both because of the many scientific facts and deductions now before me, many of which have not been published, and because the doubling of recovery has already been done. In the Bradford field, Pennsylvania, old properties have produced as much oil again by water flooding. On many old properties in the eastern fields the Smith-Dunn compressed air process has increased the recovery from 50 to 100 per cent. At Bradford the water flooding has brought properties to their ultimate end and we know the final result. With the Smith-Dunn process the end is yet to be reached and we do not yet know what it may be. If it proves true, as seems the case, that only 10 to 20 per cent of our oil is now being recovered there is no telling how much more oil may be brought to the surface by our American resourcefulness.

Let us hasten to add that important as this latent resource is, it alone cannot solve our problem. I do not think this additional oil can be recovered fast enough to keep up our present yearly increase of production. The effect of applying better recovery methods is more likely to be shown in slowing up the rate of decline after production has reached its peak and in extending the life of fields far beyond the future estimated for them. It will be an important contribution to the solution of the problem, and one that will add tremendously to the wealth of the oil industry, but more is needed.

Possibilities of Imports.

The possibilities of imports have been briefly mentioned. Undoubtedly the undeveloped areas of the world contain fields of vast potentialities but how much of their production will become available to us? There are both international and commercial problems. Other nations have barely started in the use of petroleum and they are developing appetites which must be appeased. In any event it is more desirable to be self-sustaining and it would hardly be satisfactory to be more dependent than we are today upon foreign countries for our needs. Would reliance upon foreign resources constitute any real solution of the problem? We can only guess what the resources are, we cannot be assured that we shall get our share, and we cannot contemplate loss of autonomy with satisfaction.

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A. C. Gilbrath, 703 Reed Street, Erie, Pa.

I'd rather get a letter like that, says Peterson of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow man.

For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 60 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered.

It stops chafing in five minutes and for scalds and burns it is simply wonderful. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y. Wilford Harrison or Sansbury Drug store will supply you.

our growing needs can hardly be nsidered as assured by any one willg to face the facts. Future supplies ay prove unexpectedly large but ain they may prove to be unexctedly small. Domestic production s not met our needs and there is no couragement for thinking it can in e future. We are requiring from exico some hundred millions of barls for this year of 1920, without hich we would indeed be in uncomrtable straits and yet political conitions in Mexico might cut off this argin of imports at any time and nfront us with most unpleasant alrnatives. Without question it is deirable to investigate other domestic sources than our oil fields and to velop those resources which promise ost in providing petroleum or petroum substitutes at home.

Search for Other Sources.

The search for other sources of supply is primarily a search for raw materials, from which the various products may be derived in quantity, quality, and costs equal to our needs. There are two kinds: plant materials, which grow on the surface of the land; and coal, oil shales, and bituminous sands which are a part of our rock formations. Plant growths continually renew themselves and are a permanent source of supply, but the carbonaceous materials of our rock formations are wasting assets that are not being replaced by nature. The production of alcohol, ether, and vegetable lubricants, from plants appeals to the popular imagination, but on considering the enormous quantities necessary to meet even our present needs the magnitude of the problem is seen to be appalling. This year's corn crop would make some seven billion gallons of alcohol or about t o billion more than our gasoline needs, but obviously it would not be to the public interest to divert this amount of corn from its present uses, nor even the lands on which to grow such a crop in order to meet our motor fuel requirements. Food is beyond question our first necessity and as time goes on our needs for devoting the oil primarily to good production will become more and more vital.

There are of course waste materials on the farm, in the lumber camps, that total to vast amounts and from them much alcohol and ether is or may be economically derived. The quantity now being used as motor fuel is, however, negligible in comparison with our needs. What may be derived in the future is a matter largely of technical and economical development but in my opinion the quantity available for some time to come must be of itself of minor importance. The chief obstacle, one commonly overlooked, is that the waste materials are widely scattered, making the problem of collecting workable quantities beyond economic development at anywhere near the present scale of prices for motor fuels.

An Economic Problem.

If all of the soft coal and lignite consumed in this country was reported and the volatile constituents recovered —our supply of liquid hydrocarbon would be materially added to but would by no means fill our needs. The recovery of the liquid hydrocarbons from coal is more an economic than a technologic problem and depends mostly upon satisfactory marketing of the residue coke or semi-coke. Doubtless the problems will be gradually solved and the recovery of motor fuels and other petroleum substitutes will be extended from the coking industry, to which it is now confined, and be applied to a large proportion of the soft coal now consumed just as it comes from the mine.

The possibilities of oil shale will be so thoroughly discussed in other addresses before this convention that it will be unnecessary for me to say more than that from our oil shales we may derive a comforting sense of security as to the future through knowing that they constitute a reserve much larger than in our oil fields. Undoubtedly a considerable part of our future petroleum needs will be met from this latent resource, the development of which should be hastened by every wise means that oil from it may be available in the day of need.

Not Looking Too Far Ahead.

Reviewing the various resources from which our ever-increasing demands might be met leaves me with the conviction that reliance cannot be placed on any single one of them; yet the cumulative effect from the vigorous development of all would, in my opinion, meet reasonable future needs so far as they can be anticipated. I, frankly, do not believe in endeavoring to look too far into the future, for with the progress of human invention we can not foretell from one generation to the next whether the vital necessities of today may become a dead issue through the discovery of something far better. The limited supply of whales was a vital problem in illumination before kerosene came into general use. This optimism should not be abused and degenerated into mere improvidence, but we should vigorously attack the problems confronting us today and prepare ourselves to confront the problems of tomorrow. I have recorded myself as believing our future needs will be met, yet this statement must be qualified in that only by the energetic development of every resource will there be a sufficiency of petroleum products and that there will probably be recurrent periods of undersupply because of the inherent nature of the oil industry.

Necessary to Drill New Wells.

Few realize that were no more wells drilled for a year our production would drop off 25 to 35 per cent. Each year it is necessary to drill new wells and to find new fields. Next year's supply is dependent upon oil from fields whose existence is not now known. In the past we have always been fortunate and new fields have been found at the opportune time, yet there is no blinking at the fact that Dame Fortune may not always favor us, and we may at any time suddenly find ourselves with uncomfortable or even declining production. Such periods of shortage will prove uncomfortable and disconcerting but should not shake faith in the future, for immediately efforts will be directed to developing other resources which have merely awaited the day of necessity.

I have reserved one of the points that appeal to me as being most practical and important, to the last. I refer to conservation, conservation not only in production but also in use. The producers of petroleum and its products should examine critically and minutely every stage in the production, transportation and refining of the oil. Recently an investigation of this bureau, carried on in a comprehensive manner in co-operation with a number of large companies, disclosed large losses by evaporation from crude oil in storage. The data indicates that a 20 per cent loss of the gasoline content is probably conservative and that at least half of this may be economically saved. Now that it is known, such conditions should be corrected as soon as possible and all similar leaks should be stopped.

The consumer has an equal responsibility placed upon him. Our automobiles are needlessly extravagant and inefficient. No one knows how much the consumption per car might be reduced by improved construction and operation. Petroleum products should be put into their most essential and irreplacable uses. The use of fuel oil, which in a broad way might be defined as a solution of asphalts and waxes in lubricants, should be diverted from use in steam raising as soon as practicable and used in internal combustion engines or wherever it will yield more power or is not replacable by coal or other materials of greater abundance. Cracking heavy oil into gasoline is an economic loss which should be tolerated only until the problem of a satisfactory automotive engine for consuming the heavy oils can be solved. In cracking there is both a loss of material and a loss because of manufacturing costs, yet the gasoline resulting yields hardly half the power in the automotive engine of today that the original heavy oil would in the Diesel type of engine.

This is but a sample of the responsibilities of the consumer in solving the problem of meeting the ever-increasing demands for petroleum products. There is needed the sympathetic co-operation of dependent industries, principally the automotive, and the public with the oil industry. Understanding and help should replace investigations and interference, but in arriving at this understanding the great body of upright oil men should insist that every oil company play square with the public. For the public and the dependent industries to follow out destructive and not constructive policies toward the oil industry would, in my humble opinion, be unmitigated folly. The key is understanding and in building up this understanding the bureau of mines, which is in perhaps a better position than any other government agency to interpret the problems of the oil industry to the people and to the government, is endeavoring to play a constructive part.

Do You Pay Your Bills?

Being the fourth and Continuation of a Series of Talks on Bills and the Prompt Payment of them.

Don't Kick

When you get a statement of your account on the first of the month—DON'T KICK.

When the collector comes around to see you after your bill has run sixty or ninety days—DON'T KICK.

After you, figuratively speaking, "cuss out" the collector, ignore statements time after time, then get a letter sort of perking you up—DON'T KICK.

Remember, it was your duty to pay that bill on the first—and every day you let it run after that you are imposing upon the merchant who trusted you to take his goods out of his house.

It was your duty to pay. It was an honor agreement to which you and the merchant were parties.

He did his part when he let you have the goods. It was up to you to do your part on the first of the month.

BUT YOU FAILED.

Then you got "red under the collar" when he called your atention to your part of the agreement.

He didn't say you were dishonorable—but you were.

BE HONORABLE—PAY UP—DON'T KICK

Remember, he has to pay his bills—and can't unless you pay yours.

Pay Up

Make it a point on the first of the coming month to PAY UP.

If you can't settle ALL your obligations—DO YOUR BEST.

Your credit is made by your paying or failure to pay your bills.

If you pay, your credit is good. If you fail to pay your credit is bad.

If your credit is bad today—you can make it good. If you are slipping into the "dead beat" mire and you have a desire within you to start anew—to once again place yourself upon the plane of "honor"—you can.

Begin today to square off your old obligations and take care of your new ones as they fall due. Show that you are in earnest and every merchant in the city will be for you and will help you.

PAY UP!

It's easy if you will just make up your mind.

If for some reason—sickness, out of work, or something like that—you find you are unable to pay—drop around and see the merchants you owe. They'll gladly take care of you—and it will save them some expense.

Times Change

It's not like it used to be.

THE DEAD BEAT HAS BEEN NAILED.

A person of "careless credit" can no longer "beat" every merchant in the city.

In unity there is strength—and practically every retail merchant in the city of Wichita Falls belongs to the newly-established clearing house that "clears credits."

If you do not pay your bill with one merchant —every other merchant knows it.

YOU MUST PAY AS YOU GO—or quit going.

The day of systematically beating the man who trusts you with his goods is gone.

If you are HONORABLE and pay your bills —your credit grows. If you are DISHONORABLE and don't pay your bills—your credit is nipped in the bud.

TIMES CHANGE, and invariably for the better.

PAY UP! Credit is too valuable an asset to lose.

OCTOBER HOLDS THE RECORD FOR AMOUNT OF FINES COLLECTED

Figures obtained Saturday from the city hall show that the month of October has been a banner period in the matter of fines assessed in the city police court. According to Captain Jules Ehlere, over $5,000 has been taken in from those who have been unfortunate enough to be haled before the municipal bar of justice.

This amount is far greater than that collected during the same month in 1919 and it is also larger than the receipts from any month thus far this year. During the early months of 1920 when the boom was at its height it was not uncommon to consider $3,000 for a month as being a large amount, but fines have been steadily increasing since that time.

The main reason for the large total in October is ascribed to the enforcement of the new traffic ordinance known as "310," which prohibits parking on Eighth street for over one hour. At noon Saturday exactly 227 motorists, had been haled before the court to answer to a charge of this nature, and 95 per cent of these paid the $5 fine which accompanies a conviction of this sort. Other traffic violations, speeding, wrong parking, driving without a license or seal and other minor offenses accounted for a large number of cases which enriched the city treasury.

Fines from vagrancy charges were not as heavy nor as many as those imposed in September, but the avowed intention of the police department to open a campaign to rid the city of vags will no doubt swell the November total of these fines.

KATY IS GRADUALLY IMPROVING SERVICE OVER ALL ITS LINES

The railway lines are gradually improving their service and bringing it toward its pre-war efficiency, notwithstanding the fact that at this time of year the heaviest strain is laid upon them because of the movement of the crops to the market centers.

Early in the year the receiver of the M. K. & T. ordered 50 new locomotives and the last of these have just been delivered to the road. Of these, 10 are of the large Pacific type equipped for burning oil, for passenger service, 20 are heavy freight engines of the Mikado type, and 20 are switch engines. Three hundred fifteen Katy engines in Texas that have heretofore been coal burners have been equipped for burning oil, and officials of the company state that because of these improvements in the condition of the company's motive power the service in Texas will be much better than it has been since the beginning of the war.

Statistics tabulated by the company's officials show that for a five-month period beginning in April and ending in September, 92 per cent of all passenger trains on the system have made scheduled running time, and they say that in order to accomplish an on-time trip of one of the Katy's heavy through passenger trains from St. Louis to San Antonio, more than 3,000 employes must function with a precision which amounts almost to perfection.

The records show that every day during last August the south-bound "Katy Limited" ended its 1,000-mile performance by pulling into the station at San Antonio on time, and that the "Texas Special" in a four-months' period, finished its 790 miles from San Antonio to Kansas City on time 117 out of the 123 times.

The road's perfomances in the freight service, which is less spectacular but certainly not less important to the public, than the passenger service, is equally gratifying, and in September the Katy's local loading of cars was six per cent heavier than in September 1919, and the road moved nine per cent more cars in September, 1920, than in September, 1919.
