Brazil's Congress May Declare Martial Law, State Of Seige

Ag Work Council Formed

Details on organization of an agricultural workers council for four counties in this area were worked out yesterday in a meeting held in Colorado City.

Meeting were Grady Elder, Snyder Chamber of Commerce manager; Max West, chairman of the chamber agriculture committee; representatives from there, Raymond Perdue and Jack Burkhalter; and A. C. Bishop, manager of the Sweetwater Board of City Development and an agriculture representative, Randal Reeves. Those men represented three of the four counties, Scurry, Mitchell, and Nolan. The fourth county, Fisher, has no Chamber of Commerce, but agriculture workers there will be contacted.

An agriculture workers council such as is proposed by this committee is one which will attempt to co-ordinate thinking of agriculture workers to enable all those workers to give farmers and ranchers generally, the same answer on any particular problem, West said. It will acquaint each agency with all other agencies' functions. There is no other organization here which is composed of all agriculture workers.

Workers to be invited to participate will include those in the Soil Conservation Service, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation ervice, Farmers Home Administration, Extension Service, federal land banks, production credit associations, Farm Bureau, junior livestock associations and other similar organizations, as well as Future Farmers of America advisors, ginners, feed and seed dealers, implement dealers, agriculture representatives of banks, and agriculture committees of chambers of commerce.

Although chamber officials have begun organizational work of the council, the panel will be operated individually and apart from any chamber of commerce.

The first meeting, which will be the kickoff meeting, has been scheduled for 7 a.m. Dec. 13 at the Bluebonnet Hotel at Sweetwater. The council will meet monthly with each meeting at 7 a.m., and meeting places will be alternated among the participating counties.

Scheduled for the first meeting will be election of a president, vice-president, secretary, and program chairman. J. S. Birdwell and J. C. Porter, both of Wichita Falls, will be present at the meeting. The two were organizers of the state's first agriculture workers council. There are now about four such organizations in the state.

The council will have no constitution and no by-laws. It will have the simplest type of organization. Meetings will never last more than one hour.

37 Rescued From Tower

BOSTON (AP)—Today was Thanksgiving for 37 happy refugees from a week of storm aboard the world's first man-made radar island, 110 miles out in the North Atlantic.

The 37, including Navy brass from Washington and two Associated Press staff members, were snatched last night—along with 15 workmen and others—from the giant tripod-supported platform—first of a group of such air raid-warning radar islands. The 52 leaped ashore in Boston this morning.

A doughty Aleutian Island Indian tug skipper, Patrick Carlough, gambled against time and a wind-whipped adverse tide, to nose his big tug El Sol close to the strange structure. It was a sort of 37th birthday celebration for him, yesterday, as the 52 refugees from the tower were lowered in small groups in a basket some 60 feet from the tower deck to the tug, heaving amid 25-foot waves below.

Only perfect timing between Carlough and a giant crane operator, Tom Barrett, made the daring removal possible in such seas. The 6 feet 4 New Yorker, suffering from an injured leg, left the tower's sick bay to handle the crane. Controls — requiring both hands and feet.

Carlough, assigned to remove the visitors who went to the tower a week ago for a four-hour inspection trip, had gone sleepless for four days.

Gales—at times reaching hurricane violence—and high seas had made earlier removal impossible. On Sunday, one giant wave hit the tower deck, 61 feet above normal sea level. And on that day, even some of the most courageous aboard, were worried.

For the storm tore loose two of the three giant 80-ton doughnut shaped bumpers—designed to safeguard the tripod legs from ship collisions. And wind and sea pounded the heavy bumpers to pieces against the supporting legs.

Indians Riot In New Delhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A mob protesting against states reorganization broke into the legislative assembly of Vindhya Pradesh State in Rewa City today and attacked the state's chief minister and finance minister.

Reports reaching here from Rewa, 300 miles southeast of New Delhi, said the mob was composed of factions opposing a proposed merger of Vindhya Pradesh with the present Madhya Pradesh State.

The riot was the second in three days resulting from the Indian government's plan to revise the map of India.

On Monday 12 persons were killed in Bombay when Communist-led demonstrators demanded Bombay City be merged with a proposed Marathi-speaking state instead of becoming a separate state. But Communists were not prominent among the Rewa demonstrators, who were mainly Socialists and rightists.

Reports from Rewa said about 100 persons burst through police cordons into the Assembly as it discussed the state's reorganization. The reports said Finance Minister S. Manav was badly beaten and Chief Minister Pandit Shukla was the target of files, stones and shoes thrown by the rioters.

The Assembly was forced to adjourn before police could restore order.

Texas To Get Warm Weather

By The Associated Press

Fair and slightly warmer was forecast for Texas for Thanksgiving day after a mild cool front swept into the state late Tuesday.

The front, which early Wednesday lay on a line fom Houston to Laredo, set off showers in northeast Texas and dropped the temperature below the freezing mark in the Panhandle.

The front followed unseasonably warm weather in north central Texas and blowing dust in West Texas Tuesday. At Dallas the mercury reached 87 degrees, shattering by 7 degrees a record set in 1933. High winds with gusts up to 52 miles an hour kicked up dust to cut visibility to less than 3 miles at El Paso and parts of the Panhandle.

Early morning temperature Wednesday ranged from 25 at Amarillo to 73 at Brownsville. Skies were clear except for some high cloudiness in the Plains and low clouds along the upper Gulf Coast.

The forecast called for fair and cool weather Wednesday and fair skies with a warm-up in the state Thursday.

Kefauver, Johnson Go On Deer Hunt

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Two gleeful senators, Estes Kefauver and Lyndon Johnson returned from a successful deer hunt this morning prior to a scheduled chat about politics.

Johnson, host for the hunt, said that Kefauver's deer was the biggest shot in this area this season. It was a 10-point, 90-pound buck shot 14 minutes after they left Johnson's ranch home on the Perdernales River.

"Estes hit it right in the heart," Johnson bragged of his hunting partner.

Johnson did not get a deer himself.

Prior to the hunt, Johnson and Kefauver took a brief pre-dawn swim in the heated swimming pool in front of the ranch house.

"Estes, come on down," Johnson yelled from the edge of his swimming pool while a 60-degree north wind rippled the water.

Oh, no," Kefauver moaned but he got into his swimming trunks and plunged in for a quick dip.

Then Johnson, Kefauver and Washington newsman Leslie Carpenter, another longtime friend of Johnson's, put on hunting clothes and went to try their luck at getting a deer.

The hunt delayed a news conference requested by reporters and scheduled for 10:30 a.m.

Kefauver, who flew in by plane yesterday, signed in Johnson's guest book "Estes Kefauver—Chattanooga, Tenn.—sure good to be with wonderful old friends."

A team of students of vocational agriculture department of Fluvanna High School took second place in a district junior chapter conducting contest held this week at Colorado City.

In the contest the teams from the different schools demonstrated their ability to conduct chapter activities in parliamentary procedure.

The contest was one of several Lone Wolf district of the Future Farmers of America, which covers Scurry, Mitchell, Nolan and part of Fisher Counties.

Members of the team from Fluvanna were: Leslie Burrow, Bobby Lemons, Vernon Browning, Don Wills, Delbert Hataway, and Roy J. Ball.

An FFA team from Roscoe high school won first place in the contest, and a Sweetwater team took third place.

Most Property Taxes Paid In Scurry County

More than 95 per cent of Scurry County property taxes have been paid since the tax collection year began in October, according to Jim Ikard, county tax assessor-collector.

During the month of October, a total of 94.42 per cent of the taxes were paid. Gerald Greene, deputy collector, said that January will be the next big collection month.

Total gross collections amounted to 1,597,381.58. Discounts allowed were $47,861.26, leaving net collections at $1,549,520.32.

Total expected collections for the year is 98 per cent, which is a much larger percentage than is expected in many Texas counties.

Guards Fire Shots At Indiana Plant

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP)—Strike-plagued Perfect Circle Corp. said a guard fired shots over the heads of six or eight men who threw stones and broke ten windows in the firm's foundry here early today.

Two more nonstrikers also reported shotgun blasts were fired into their homes besides five other such incidents reported earlier this week.

'Finders-Keepers' Rule Is Rejected

AUSTIN (AP)—A majority of the State Supreme Court today ruled that the ancient treasure trove or "finders keepers" doctrine of law does not hold in Texas.

The court awarded possession of $1,000 found buried in a jar under a garage in Coryell County to the man who now owns the property, rather than to the workman who found it.

In some ways the case parallels the dispute between a Corsicana Negro and a Dallas property owner over possession of approximately $45,000 found by the Negro in a jug while working under a house. Possession of the money is now in a federal court dispute.

Associate Justice Robert W. Calvert and Associate Justices Ruel Walker, and Will Wilson and Chief Justice J. E. Hickman agreed with the finding of the majority, but wrote two separate opinions disagreeing with the majority's reasoning.

Calvert, Walker and Hickman said that the majority in rejecting the treasure trove principle has succeeded only in confusing the law applying to found property.

In the Coryell County case, neither party claimed to be the "true owner". A. M. Couch, the workman who dug it up, claimed he had the right to possession because he had discovered it. The present owner of the land near Hamilton, Jack A. Schley Sr., claimed the right to possess the money until the unknown "true owner" might appear and claim it.

The record shows no one knows for sure who buried the $1,000 in bills.

Couch dug up the money while excavating under the garage preparatory to laying a concrete floor. A trial court jury awarded the money to Schley, but the Waco Court of Civil Appeals held that Couch owned it. The Supreme Court's ruling made Schley the proper possessor.

The majority opinion by Associate Justice Meade F. Griffin said, the property was actually not "lost" property, but was "mislaid" by the original owner.

Fight Flares Over Birth Of Catholic Child

BOSTON (AP)—Should 4-year-old Hildy McCoy, born a Catholic, be taken from her foster parents because they are Jewish?

That question was raised in the Massachusetts Supreme Court today as Mr. and Mrs. Melvin B. Ellis of Brookline began a new effort to keep Hildy.

For nearly five months the Elises have been in hiding to avoid complying with a lower court order to surrender the child. Whether they would appear in court and risk arrest remained problematical until the last moment.

A week ago a New York Post reporter quoted Ellis as saying: "There's fear hanging over us all the time. We feel hunted and haunted."

Today's action before Justice John V. Spalding was based on a petition by the Elises for a high court review of proceedings in Norfolk County Probate Court, where the Ellises last June were ordered to surrender Hildy to the Catholic Charitable Bureau in Boston.

At the heart of the matter is the Massachusetts adoption law which requires that, "where practicable," a probate judge must give a child in adoption only to foster parents of the same religious faith.

The law says that for this purpose the child's religion is presumed to be that of its parents. If they have different faiths, then the mother's religion governs.

The Hildy story goes back many months.

Ike Is Given Good Report

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower got another glowing report from his doctors today after a 50-minute Thanksgiving Eve checkup.

They said he continues to progress satisfactorily in his recovery from his Sept. 24 heart attack and shows "no symptoms or evidence of fatigue from the activities of his office or at the farm."

"The President is sleeping, relaxing and resting well," said an announcement by the physicians, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, and Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, chief heart specialist at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

Two Prices Proposal For Cotton Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Gathings D—Ark) suggested today a two price system for cotton might be the answer to problems besetting that industry.

Gathings, chairman of a house agriculture subcommittee on cotton, said such a proposal may be considered next year as one of several possible approaches to new farm legislation.

A two price system generally involves a federally guaranteed price for each farmer's share of the domestic market. The rest of his production would be sold for whatever it might bring on the export market.

A cotton farmer now grows as much as he can on his acreage allotment and receives support on the entire output if market prices are below levels set by the government.

In recent years U. S. cotton production has been increasing despite acreage cuts. The result is an increasing surplus.

Under a two price plan, Gathings told a reporter, a cotton farmer would be alloted his share of the domestic market of around nine million bales.

"Then if he believed he could compete with cotton growers of Egypt or Iran or Pakistan he could grow more cotton," Gathings said. "If he finds he can't compete then he'll voluntarily cut back his production."

Gathings said such a plan could be complicated and would need much study. But, he said, some such plan should help this country increase its cotton exports. In addition, he said, the government would be out of the cotton business since it would be up to the individual grower to handle and store his production in excess of his domestic allotment.

Gathings said he hopes to have the house agriculture ecmmittee study a two price system for cotton and other crops, including rice.

Airport Bid Is Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has turned down a Fort Worth bid to make its Amon Carter airfield the principal airport for both Fort Worth and Dallas.

Fort Worth had raised the issue, contending it was receiving an inadequate volume of service, particularly to the northeast, because of the practice of airlines in dividing schedules between Love Field at Dallas and Amon Carter field.

The board, in its decision in the southwest - northeast air service case made public yesterday, authorized additional service between Fort Worth and the northeast.

"We think that where we are dealing with nonsubsidized operations that we can and should rely competition to solvet this type of problem," the board said in discussing the Fort Worth - Dallas issue.

"Accordingly we do not believe that we should reopen the record in this proceeding as requested by Fort Worth."

Those killed included airman apprentice Paul G. Collins, Houston.

Ruling Given On Handling Passport Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge Luther W. Youngdahl has ruled out use by the State Department of confidential information in passing upon passport applications.

Decisions of the department's passport office "must be substantiated by evidence contained in the record," Youngdahl said yesterday in the most far-reaching opinion on the subject so far from any federal court.

"When the basis of action by any branch of the government remains hidden from scrutiny and beyond practical review, the seeds of arbitrary and irresponsible government are sown," Youngdahl said.

"More and more the courts have become aware of the irreparable damage which may be, has been, and is, wrought by the secret informer and the faceless talebearer whose identity and testimony remain locked in confidential files."

In several cases here in recent months, courts have said persons denied passports are entitled to a "quasijudicial hearing," but never said just what that meant. Youngdahl did. It means, he said, "due process of law."

Youngdahl ruled in a suit brought by Leonard B. Boudin, New York attorney, who was advised that he was ineligible "for further passport facilities' under Passport Regulation 51.135. This regulation, among other things, rules out passports for:

"Persons who are members of the Communist party or who have recently terminated such membership under circumstances as to warrant the conclusion — not otherwise rebutted by the evidence — that they continue to act in furtherance of the interests and under the discipline of the Communist party."

Boudin once signed an affidavit saying he was not a member of the party or a person who had recently terminated membership.

"Fair play requires that one have the opportunity to challenge the basis of, and reasons for, a denial under this section directly and specifically," Youngdahl said, and added:

"The right to a quasijudicial hearing must mean more than the right to permit an applicant to testify and present evidence. It must include the right to know that the decision will be reached upon evidence of which he is aware and can refute directly."

Youngdahl ordered the State Department to give Boudin a hearing within 20 days. If it takes place, it will be the first quasijudicial passport hearing ever conducted under court order.

House Of Former President Guarded

By JIMMIE PAYNE

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazil's Congress prepared today to vote a state of siege imposing modified martial law on the nation and blocking any supreme court action to reinstate Joao Cafe Filho in the presidency.

But members of the House of Deputies, who had been in session through most of the last two nights were slow in arriving in the chamber this morning and it appeared unlikely that a quorum would be present until afternoon.

The army this morning removed troops who have surrounded Cafe's home, but a 30-man riot squad of federal police remained on guard at the apartment house in the Copacabana district.

The Senate and Chamber of Deputies, by sizable majorities, yesterday rejected Cafe's bid to resume the presidency from which he took a leave of absence Nov. 8 after a slight heart attack.

After Congress barred Cafe's return to power, his attorneys petitioned the Supreme Court for an injunction to restore him to office. Ramos promptly countered with his message asking the lawmakers to decree a stage of siege.

This would nullify in advance any ruling by the court supporting Cafe's claim. A stage of siege frees the President, Cabinet and Congress from complying with any writs of habeas corpus or injunctions the courts may issue.

Cafe, his "disability" from office extended until Congress takes further action, remained under virtual house arrest with police and troops surrounding his home and his phone cut off. A special guard also shielded Ramos in the presidential palace.

The determined fight against Cafe's return to office — waged by the congressional majority and high army leaders under the "strong man" war minister, Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott — stemmed from their suspicions Cafe is plotting with opponents of President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek.

Congressional and army leaders feared a coup to prevent Kubitschek, political heir of the late President Getulio Vargas, from taking office next Jan. 31.

When Cafe stepped down he turned the presidency over to Carlos Coimbra da Luz, president of the Chamber of Deputies. Lott and his associates, suspecting Luz of being a party to the alleged plot against Kubitschek, carried out a swift, bloodless coup which removed Luz and made Ramos, then president of the Senate, provisional president of the country.

The army, navy, and air force ministers issued a joint statement pledging their support to Ramos.

The initial limit on a state of siege is only 30 days. But it could be extended for similar periods until the end of the presidential term in January. Cafe had been expected to serve until then when he moved up from the vice presidency after Vargas committed suicide Aug. 24, 1954.

The executor of a state of siege can oblige any individual to remain in a determined location or detain him in any building not used for common criminals. This could keep Cafe incommunicado in his home until Kubitschek is safely in office.

Fund Drive Nears Goal

The Scurry County United Fund drive was nearing its goal today, but a number of workers have not yet finished and turned in reports.

Stanley Noah, general campaign chairman, today urged all UF workers to finish their work and get reports in right away so the United Fund office can be closed by Dec. 1.

The drive was approaching the $29,500 goal, Noah said, adding that it appears it might go over the goal slightly.

None of the drives are completed, but the advance gifts drive is almost finished. Workers in some drives were still making contacts today.

Kleberg Jury Recesses On Worden Case

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The Kleberg County Grand Jury will reconvene Dec. 12 to decide what disposition it will make of the murder charge facing Mrs. Sunny Canales Worden, accused of shooting her husband to death on Padre Island.

Yesterday the grand jury recessed after deciding that at the present time it did not have enough evidence to either indict or free Mrs. Worden.

The grand jury, which was called Monday to consider the case, yesterday presumably heard the 42-year-old woman tell how she shot and killed Don Worden, 43, San Antonio real estate man, Oct. 22.

Worden's body was found Oct. 2 in a shallow, sandy grave on the lonely island just off the Texas coast. Several days later Mrs. Worden told Texas Rangers she killed her husband after he had made her dig the grave and then told her he was going to force her to kill her five-year-old daughter and herself.

Mrs. Worden, stylishly dressed in black, entered the grand jury room at 10:30 a.m. yesterday and left at 3:50 p.m.

The last person to appear before the grand jury before it reported to Judge Paul Martineau was Mrs. Worden's former Husband, Prexides Canales, wealthy rancher-oilman of Premont. He was considered a surprise witness.

Other witnesses heard yesterday included County Atty. Royce Johnston and Dist. Atty. Sam Jones.

Administration Is Denounced By Harriman

MILWAUKIE, Ore. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York denounced the Eisenhower administration yesterday for what he termed its "partnership with big business."

He told a Democratic rally that this "partnership" must be broken up in next year's election and that returning Sen. Morse (D-Ore) to the Senate would help.

He concentrated most of his fire on Republican conservation and power policies, but other domestic programs also came under attack.

He said "partnership between big business and government" had resulted in "plowing farmers under at a time when corporations are making record profits" and he accused the administration of "utter neglect of agriculture."

Republicans were responsible for a tax cut "under which 80 per cent of the people received only 9 per cent of the benefits," and they have failed to deal with the problem of insecurity caused by sickness and disability, he said.

He also accused Republicans of a lack of concern about the country's "education crisis" and of fighting against a "reasonable minimum wage."

Discussing the Pacific Northwest's two major hydroelectric controversies, Harriman repeated the Democratic charge of "giveaway."

"Nothing so symbolizes the giveaway philosophy as the deal at Hells Canyon," he said.

Democrats generally are critical of the Federal Power Commission's construction permit to Idaho Power Co. for three low dams at the Hells Canyon site on the Oregon-Idaho border instead of a single high federal dam.

"If they succeed, this great resource which could produce an outpouring of low-priced power will yield instead to a much smaller amoung of high-priced power . . ." he said.

Of the Republican bill for "partnership" construction of the Columbia River's John Day Dam, Harriman said: "I can see no conceivable reason in the public interest why John Day Dam, already authorized as a federal project, should be turned over to private power companies to milk for 50 years."

The bill provides for federal and private financing for construction of the dam.

Average annual milk production per cow has increased from 3,960 to 6,080 pounds in Indiana during the last 20 years.

AIRLINE STEWARDESS SHOT TO DEATH—Miss Sally Shedd, 25, above, United Air Lines stewardess was shot four times as she stood in the doorway of a plane readying to take off in Seattle, Wash. Miss Shedd was killed by the shots which King County Sheriff's officers said were fired by Robert Clendenin, Salt Lake City, who then shot himself. Miss Shedd was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Shedd, San Francisco. Clendenin died three hours later in a hospital of gunshot, apparently self inflicted. (AP Wirephoto)

Hagler Case Ruling Given

SULPHUR, Okla. (AP)—David Fred Hagler Jr. of Fort Worth was held without bond today after surrendering to state officers yesterday.

He was wanted in the year-old torch slaying of an unidentified man near Sulphur.

Hagler was arraigned before Justice of the Peace V. . Hodges who set his preliminary hearing for Dec. 14. Hagler's surprise surrender came one day prior to the Texas Criminal Court of Appeals scheduled extradition suit.

Charged with murdering an unidentified man Oct. 10, 1954, Hagler was at one time charged with attempting to pass the victim off as himself in order to reap insurance benefits.

He had fought extradition attempts, remaining free on $15,000 cond in Fort Worth. The Texas high court was expected to render a decision today.

Oklahoma officials plan to press the murder charge although they have been unable to identify the body. There was a possibility the body was that of European displaced person, police said. A dental plate of a foreign make was found at the scene of the crime.

Texas Tech Teams Wins Judging Event

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A Texas Tech team scored 5,133.8 points out of a possible 5,400 points here yesterday to win the national collegiate grain judging contest. It is the fifth consecutive time Tech has won the title.

Each member of the Texas team, coached by Cecil Ayers, was awarded a gold medal and the college received a trophy.

Oklahoma A&M was second.

Big Spring Drive-In Theater Is Planned

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The headquarters of All-State Theaters Inc. announced here today that a new 1,500-car drive-in theater, with two screens, would be built at Big Spring, Tex.

The firm, headed by Tom Griffin of Abilene, Tex., said the theater would cost about $250,000 and would be the largest drive-in in the Southwest.

Pasture Feed Getting Short

AUSTIN (AP)—Dry range and pasture feed is getting shorter over most of Texas, the U.S Department of Agriculture said yesterday in its weekly crop and range report.

Growth of wheat, oats and barley was held to a standstill by dry winds and low temperatures over most of the state the past week.

Considerable cotton was still in the field in the plains country, and picking continued active in the Trans-Pecos area.

Farmers were dusting in their remaining allotted wheat acreage in some northern high plains counties although germination was improbable without rain.

Lack of moisture was thinning stands in the southern low rolling plains, Edwards plateau, cross timbers and eastward. Oat pasture was making satisfactory growth in South Texas, and a fall sorghum crop was maturing in the lower valley and coastal bend counties.

Despite early season delays in planting in the lower valley, a light cutting of cabbage and lettuce has started, and a light volume of carrots will be available early in started, and a light volume of carrots will be available early in December.

Stock were forced to hunt shelter last week as freezing temperatures further dried soils and grass. Irrigated wheat on the high plains was supplying fair to good feed, but grazing on dryland acreage was very short.

Gunmen Invade Tavern Today

CHICAGO (AP)—Five gunmen invaded a near South Side restaurant and tavern early today, shot one detective, slugged another and then disarmed them and two other detectives before fleeing with $400.

A customer fired a dozen shots at the fleeing gunmen, forcing them to abandon their car because of a flat tire. Ten bullet holes were found in the rear of the car. Later police seized a man who was carrying one of the detective's guns and a police star.

The four policemen were in plain clothes and two were off duty when the holdup men entered the Shrimp House at 444 W. Cermak Rd. When detective Clyde Winn, 49, heard the gunmen shout "stick up," he drew his gun and was shot in the right thumb.

One of the robbers shouted to his companions, "They're policemen, kill them!" as he fired at Winn. Stephen Heskin, 36, an off duty detective, was slugged as he attempted to draw his gun.

Police also arrested a wounded man, McKinley Powell, 21, who, they said, admitted taking part in the robbery. He was wounded in the right thigh and was taken to the Bridewell (city jail) Hospital.

Jury Acquits Mrs. Goricki

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—A jury of men acquitted a former woman Marine sergeant of murder last night in the slaying of her Marine lieutenant husband after they argued over how she should cook pork chops for their dinner.

Mrs. Elizabeth Goricki, 42, wept when the jury returned its verdict after deliberating six hours. She had testified that Lt. Edward Goricki, 40, was shot accidentally while they scuffled after the pork chop argument May 22.

The prosecution had insisted this wasn't so, that she had threatened she would kill her husband if he "ever laid hand on her" and that she had admitted to police she had done the shooting.

Mrs. Goricki in her testimony disputed the prosecution's claim that the couple was drunk at the time of the shooting.

She said her husband had beat, slapped and kicked her at various times during their marriage but that "we were the happiest people in Arlington."

Thanksgiving Day

In the words of O. Henry—"There is one day that is purely American—Thanksgiving Day." And, this one day is set aside to give thanks for our long-standing heritage of liberty—that is also purely American.

Let us then re-dedicate this day in the purest spirit of Thanks Giving! A free people, with dignity in their plenty and in their peace, must pause to give thanks to God, from whom these blessings flow . . .

In Freedom to Worship as we please . . .

SNYDER NATIONAL BANK

British Drug Ban Criticized

LONDON (AP)—A revolt of British doctors is brewing over a government decision to ban the manufacture and sale of heroin, the pain-killing drug used in the last stages of disease.

Many of the nation's famous hospitals are openly stockpiling enough heroin to last for years. Thousands of physicians have protested that the order condemns countless sufferers to months of unnecessary agony.

The ban takes effect Dec. 31. It was ordered in line with a U.N. campaign to wipe out illegal traffic in the drug. Britain already bans both its import and export.

A spokesman for the British Medical Assn. declared: "We are determined to fight to the last ditch against the ban, which cuts across the freedom of the doctor to prescribe what he thinks necessary for his patients."

Some doctors have claimed the move is like taking a sledgehammer to crack an egg. The last government count put the number of registered heroin addicts in this country at 52. Doctors say the ban could open a lucrative black market in the drug and lead to more addiction.

Prohibition of the drug in the United States, said the association spokesman, "only drove it underground and made it fashionable for people to 'carry a shot.'"

Health Minister Iain Macleod has said that substitute drugs which will not lead to addiction are available for use as pain killers.

Many doctors dispute this.

"There is no substitute," one London doctor commented. "Heroin is the perfect pain reliever."

A spokesman for Guy's Hospital, London, one of the nation's top teaching and research hospitals, reported: "We have built up a stock for several years and it can be assumed that everyone else is doing the same."

United Nations Disarmament Talks Resume

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Disarmament Commission launched new talks today on the stalemated question of arms reductions and preventing a nuclear war.

Few delegates felt the new round would produce real results in view of the breakdown of the Big Four foreign ministers' Geneva meeting.

Diplomats were curious whether Soviet delegate Arkady Sobolev, who presides over the 12-nation commission this month, would echo the sentiments of Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at Geneva. Molotov gave the Western ministers no encouragement their tentative program for a fresh approach to global disarmament would ever get anywhere.

Veteran observers predicted the commission would run through the annual report of its five-nation subcommittee, then dump the whole controversial question into the lap of the General Assembly.

About the only common view the Western Big Three and Russia held was the general feeling that armaments should be reduced and the danger of atomic war eliminated.

The United States insists that the only practical way to make a start towards disarmament is to adopt Eisenhower's plan for reciprocal U.S.-Soviet inspection and exchange of military blueprints.

The Russians concede that inspection is vital, but they have made clear they have no intention of supporting the Eisenhower plan unless it is made to suit Soviet demands for abolition of atomic weapons and step-by-step arms inspection.

Ike Accepts Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has accepted a week earlier than expected the resignation of Lothair Teetor as assistant secretary of commerce and has named Frederick H. Mueller, 62, Grand Rapids, Mich., furniture manufacturer, as his successor.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks said last month that Teetor, former head of the Perfect Circle Corp., piston ring manufacturers, intended to leave government service Nov. 30.

There was no explanation why Teetor, a target of attack by the CIO for more than a year, resigned earlier than the date mentioned by Weeks.

Perfect Circle's New Castle, Ind., foundry is currently involved in a strike marked by acts of violence.

Eisenhower, also named Clifford Cook Furnas, chancellor of the University of Buffalo, to be assistant secretary of defense for research and development. He succeeds Donald A. Quarles, now secretary of the Air Force.

Mueller and Furnas will serve under recess appointments until the Senate acts on their confirmation after Congress convenes in January.

Teetor, 58, has served in the Commerce Department since October 1953. He resigned at that time as board chairman of Perfect Circle but continued as a board member.

Senate Probers Study Plans For Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators sought today to find out whether Pentagon loyalty-security programs have been too tough.

Jerome D. Fenton, director of the Defense Department's security system, was called before the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights.

The subcommittee is trying to determine whether individual liberties guaranteed by the Constitution have been abridged.

During yesterday's hearing, Josh L. Rauh Jr., Washington lawyer for the CIO United Auto Workers, used the World War II membership of Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) in the National Council for American-Soviet Friendship to illustrate his criticism of a security test he said the Defense Department proposed last year for defense plant workers. He said the department later dropped the idea.

Rauh said the department proposed that no defense worker be given security clearance unless he certified that he never knowingly had associated with anyone who had belonged to an organization on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

Under this requirement, Rauh said, no fellow senator of Saltonstall's could have passed the proposed test.

Through his office here Saltonstall said he had joined the organization during the war "for the purpose of helping to provide clothing and other necessities to those in need in Russia, which was then our ally . . ." He said he resigned from the council "when at war's end it was indicated clearly this organization might be used for other and undesirable purposes."

PRIEST TALKS TO WOULD-BE JUMPER—A young man identified by police as Amando Escalante, about 30, wearing light topcoat, turns to listen to a Catholic priest as he sits on the 11th floor parapet of the Veterans Administration building in San Francisco, Calif. Escalante, who police said threatened to jump from his lofty perch, was pulled to safety by firemen when he was offered a bottle of whiskey. No reason was given for his action.

Man Convicted In NY Death

MAYVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—A State Supreme Court jury yesterday found Joseph E. Reade Jr. guilty of first-degree murder in the rape-killing of his sister-in-law and her baby daughter.

There was no recommendation for leniency, so the death penalty is mandatory. Sentencing was set Dec. 2.

Reade, a 20-year-old former taxi driver, showed no emotion as the jury of eight men and four women returned their verdict after deliberating 2½ hours.

Reade was accused of raping, beating and strangling Mrs. Beverly Reade, 26, and her 19-month-old daughter Cheryl Lynn in the Reade's Jamestown apartment July 11. Beverly was the wife of Reade's brother Francis, who was away at work the night of the slayings.

Defense attorney Willard W. Cass had asked for acquittal by reason of insanity.

A purported confession was introduced in which Reade admitted raping and killing the mother and her baby, but he insisted he did not know why he did it.

College Student Gets Ashville Mayor Post

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The new part-time mayor-elect of nearby Ashville is a 24-year-old student who commutes to Ohio State University.

Richard B. Bozman, a freshman majoring in engineering, was named mayor after a recount of ballots. A write-in candidate in the Nov. 8 election, Bozman beat attorney Harry L. Margulis by 18 votes. In the first count he was 30 votes behind.

The mayor of Ashville, a town of 1,300 population, gets $250 a year salary.

Bozman, a four-year Navy veteran, said his first municipal job "shouldn't realy take up a whole lot of time." It won't interfere with his studies, either, he said.

Filling A Vacancy

Three months after he was sworn in as vice president and ex officio president of the Senate in 1944 "a load of hay" fell on Harry S. Truman, to use his own bucolic but expressive term. Five weeks later Mr. Truman made some proposals to Congress respecting the role of the vice president in the American scheme of government.

Among his proposals was this: "No matter who succeeds to the presidency after the death of the elected President and vice president . . . he should not serve any longer than until the congressional election or until a special election is called for the purpose of electing a new President and vice president."

Congress rejected this feature of the Truman vice presidential reform, but approved his suggestion for presidential succession; namely, that the Speaker of the House and the president pro tempore of the Senate be placed in that order next in line for the presidency should there be no vice president.

What worried Mr. Truman and Congress itself was that should a vice-president-come President die in office, the succession would go to a man who did not hold office as the pleasure of the people, but as a mere member of the president's cabinet—that is, the secretary of State, and after him the Secretary of the Treasury, and so on down the line. The Speaker and the presiding officer of the Senate could qualify as having received their office by popular vote.

Once more the vice presidency may be up for consideration of the Congress at its January session. Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has suggested a special election to fill the office of President should a vice president succeed during the first two years of a presidential term. This is a variation of Mr. Truman's 1945 proposal rejected by Congress on the ground of unconstitutionality. The Butler plan would meet with the same objection, insofar as it would apply to a man elected in 1956. The Constitution says a vice president "shall hold his office during a term of four years." Since the possibility that he might become president is inherent in his office, he could not be deprived of it as the Constitution now reads.

The Holiday Season

The question of Thanksgiving overlapping Christmas is not a new one. In one of his gay, offhand decisions Franklin D. Roosevelt stirred up a hornet's nest by moving Thanksgiving forward a week, allegedly at the request of retail merchants anxious to prolong the Christmas shopping season. The loudest squawk came from football schedulers whose tradition Thanksgiving Day bookings were upset.

Actually, the third-Thursday Thanksgiving made a good deal of sense, and still does, and it does no violence to the theme at all. But it became prime political stuff in FDR's day, so the fourth Thursday is now officially set aside for the occasion.

There are no national holidays in the United States. The President and Congress designate such days for the District of Columbia and for federal employes only. Each state is a law unto itself as to what holidays it will observe, but in the case of Thanksgiving and some others observance is unanimous on the same day.

We have heard some complaints because Christmas decorations were put up on downtown streets a week or ten days before Thanksgiving, on the ground that Thanksgiving is an important day unto itself and should not be visually interefered with. But it takes quite a while to get these decorations up, and there isn't time between Thanksgiving Day and the opening of the Christmas shopping season to get it done.

Eventually, perhaps, the original FDR third-Thursday proclamation will come to seem less controversial, and to the relief of everybody—retailers and shoppers alike—a greater stretch of time will separate the two holidays.

Chip Off Old Block

OMAHA (AP)—An eighth grade teacher summoned one of her pupils to her desk to tell him his essay was good but his penmanship terrible.

The next day the boy brought a postcard sent him by his father, who was away from home, and pointed out "I write as good as he does."

The teacher suggested he not follow too closely in his father's footsteps.

Scientists Of 40 Nations Are Preparing To Use Entire World As Big Laboratory

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Scientists of 40 nations are quietly preparing to use the world as their laboratory in mankind's greatest single quest for knowledge.

Before they are through they will have redrawn the shape of the globe, searched for clues as to what goes on in the earth's core, probed into space, taken the earth's temperature, examined the sun and plumbed the oceans.

This gigantic effort by 5,000 scientists scattered from the arctic to the Antarctic and around the equator will reach a peak in 1957-58, designated the International Geophysical Year.

The quest represents nothing less than man's effort to bend the forces of the universe to his advantage.

For all practical purposes the world will become a single state for the scientists. In the exchange of information there will be no political subdivisions, no iron curtains. Russia and the United States will work on the same continent—Antarctica—and swap notes.

The bits and pieces of the puzzle which make up this world will be assembled and correlated at so-called world data centers, which are yet to be designated.

Meanwhile, the staggering job of coordinating the world effort is being carried out at Brussels by the special committee for the International Geophysical Year established by the International Council of Scientific Unions.

Never before has man undertaken such an ambitious project. The scientists believe the data they assemble will be not only of immediate practical use but will form the foundations of studies for the next 100 years.

What are the puzzles they are seeking to answer?

The Gulf Stream shifts and abruptly the cold water cod flee farther out into the Atlantic. The expenses of Norwegian fishermen go up. So does the price of cod in Scandinavia and England.

Something mysterious happens to the currents of the Atlantic and suddenly 10 trillion tons of subarctic water are dumped into the tropics. Terrific storms are spawned in the clash of cold and warm air.

A man stands on his porch in Seattle awed by the glittering beauty of the Aurora Borealis — the northern lights— while far out over the Atlantic a pilot discovers his radio and radar are blacked out and he is flying "by compass and by God."

In the cabin of a freighter a puzzled captain examines and re-examines his charts. By all calculations he should be coasting along with a favoring current yet he is bucking a two-knot counter current.

A yachtsman cruising the Mediterranean comes upon an island a mile from its supposed location on his maps.

An engineer resurveying a lot after 20 years takes a reading on his compass and discovers there has been a minute variation westward in the direction of magnetic north.

For the million or so years man has been on earth he has been at the mercy of ice, floods, earthquakes and storms. Continents have risen and disappeared. Millions of fertile acres have turned to desert. Civilizations have been displaced.

The scientists know these things. Their eternal question is why? What is happening to the earth? They know that ice ages have come and gone, that forms of life have risen, flourished and become extinct. Is the earth spinning into a new cycle? Can the changes which affect mankind be predicted? Controlled?

Man can measure the intensity of an earthquake and can even locate its origin from shock waves which reverberate down into the earth's core. Suppose he could forecast its probability?

Somewhere down in the Antarctic, near where Marie Byrd Land meets the Ellsworth Plateau, something happens weatherwise which affects the air currents en the scientists are working in the place of storms?

It is toward such answers that circling the globe. Is this the birth-International Geophysical Year.

'Color' Is Large Word In Sarnoff Dictionary

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Today's success story:

One of Robert W. Sarnoff's hobbies is collecting dictionaries. And to him the most important word in any dictionary right now is the word "color."

At 37 Bob, son of Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, head of the RCA communications empire, has risen to the post of executive vice president of the National Broadcasting Co.

The job wasn't handed to him on a platter. He worked his way up in the company, and had to take his lumps along the way.

To the younger Sarnof has fallen many of the chores of supervising the spending of 12-million-dollars within the next year in NBC's gigantic expansion of its color telecasting facilities. This will bring to more than 75 million the amount spent by RCA and NBC to promote color television.

"The 12 million is only a drop in the bucket to what NBC will spend on color TV in the next few years," said Bob. "We believe television will be an all-color industry in less than 10 years—and it could be a lot sooner than that."

Young Sarnoff doesn't regard color television as a gamble. He looks on video's rainbow future as a sure investment, an inevitable step that has to be taken.

He is impatient of critics who feel color is being rushed.

"The mass production of color sets will put them within reach of the mass buying public," he said, adding:

"A 21-inch color set today is relatively no more expensive than a 10-inch black and white set was less than 10 years ago. There are already between 30,000 and 50,000 color sets in use, and one firm alone is now turning them out at the rate of 1,000 a week."

Color is only one of the headaches the young executive has to deal with. Across his busy desk pour the problems of hundreds of radio and TV network stations, the queries of sponsors, the complaints of high-priced stars.

Sarnoff believes that in another decade television will be even more important than it is now.

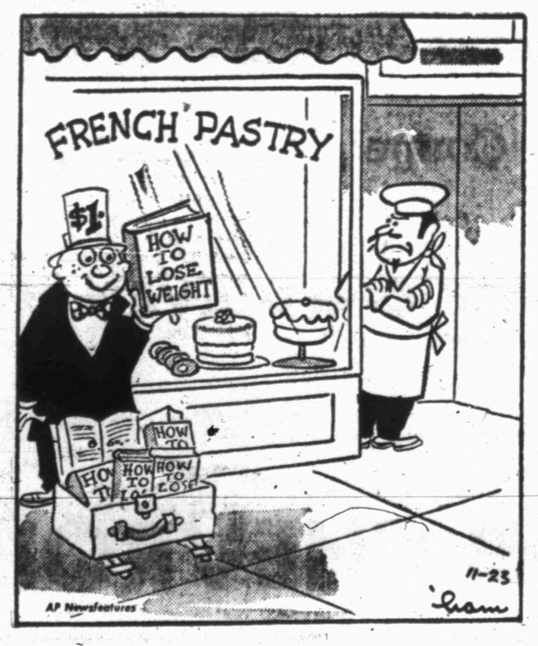

It will have become the actual fountainhead of most creative effort in America," he predicted.

"Operas are already coming out of it. Movies and plays will spring from it, too. It will create the stars of tomorrow as it already is creating new writers.

"In another 10 years live international TV will become commonplace. This should cut down much misunderstanding between nations, as people really see first hand how the peoples of other lands live."

Television mushroomed in a few short years into a billion-dollars-a-year industry. It still is growing so rapidly its executives find difficulty keeping up with it.

Stevenson, Without Saying So, Singled Out No. 1 Problem Facing Party In '56

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson himself, without saying so, put his finger on the No. 1 problem facing the Democrats in trying to persuade the voters to throw the Republicans out in 1956.

"America," he said in a speech Saturday night, "is well and strong above all nations in all times. We are the luckiest people in the world and we know it."

If that's the case, the voters might ask, why should they take a chance on changing administrations in next November's election? Stevenson's reasons seemed to add up to this: "We can do everything better."

He was very vague on how. That can't be held against him at this time. This was his first speech after announcing he wanted to be president. It was just a general outline of what he'll say later.

It was also pretty much the outline of what the Democratic party will be saying. There were no surprises. It was pretty much along the lines on which the Democrats already have indicated they will attack the Republicans.

It was just enough of an outline to show there are no fundamental differences between the two parties and that the differences which do exist are matters of degree more than of kind.

Stevenson attacked the Eisenhower administration's farm program. On this subject he seems unusually hazy and, if he has a solution, he has kept it to himself.

He was critical of the administration's foreign policy but did not indicate specifically what was wrong with it except to complain there was too much tough talk and backing away from it.

And—there was no surprise about this—he accused the Republicans of being the party of "special interest," meaning it was too cozy toward big business. This has been a steady complaint of the Democrats for generations.

Stevenson complained — or seemed to be complaining — that this country was not giving enough foreign aid to nations outside the Communist bloc.

If he pursues this line he may suffer some embarrassment in 1956 because it is almost certain his own Democrats will try to ram through a tax cut in the election year.

Cutting taxes means cutting revenue. It is hard to see how the Democrats could logically call for a boost in foreign aid if the government has less tax money to spend on it.

Stevenson took pains to describe his views as "moderate," although anyone who listened to him in the 1952 campaign must already have reached that conclusion about him anyway.

Since President Eisenhower is considered a moderate, and is popular in that role, Stevenson could hardly make himself unpopular following the same line, which also happens to be his natural one anyway.

Lot Of Idealist Is Not Happiness, Murray Finds

BY INEZ ROBB

An idealist's lot is not a happy one in the mid-20th Century, as Thomas E. Murray of the Atomic Energy Commission is discovering. His proposal for a world meeting at the "atomic summut" is that of a man of good will. But short shrift is the lot of such men today.

Mr. Murray would invite representatives of all the peoples on the globe to attend the detonation of a hydrogen bomb by the United States. He would unveil to all the hideous and deadly power of such a bomb.

From the point of view of a man of good will, such a demonstration should accomplish two things: (1) reveal the awful futility of atomic war and (2) inspire the world's people with a determination to control and outlaw atomic war (as the United States keeps urging).

But men of good will are not in control of the world today, and sometimes it even seems they are devoid of good sense. If the United States, in good faith, were to hold such a demonstration, she would not be credited with an attempt to woo peace by demonstrating the horrors of nuclear war.

On the contrary, such a demonstration would inevitably bring down on the head of the United States charges that Uncle Sam is a big, brutal bully flexing his muscles for the sole purpose of intimidating the neighborhood kids. He would be accused not of frightening them into a will for peace for all, but of scaring them into supine submission to any demands he might make.

Such a demonstration, no matter how pure its intent, would be grist for the Communist propaganda mills, no less than for those of the so-called neutralist bloc, led by India. Turn these character assassins loose on Uncle Sam, and in 24 hours not even the devil would associate with the old gentleman.

With all respect to Mr. Murray, the horrors of the atom and hydrogen bombs are no secret to the world at large. The world, for instance, as well as the United States, has been flatly warned by Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson that there is no safety for the city dweller against such bombs except flight to the country.

But the world now lives in a snake pit of its own devising, and nothing demonstrates it more clearly than the sudden and insane enmity of Greece and Turkey over Cyprus, and the frouble in the Middle East, where both fractions are equally intransigent and determined to have all or nothing at all.

Mr. Murray's heart is in the right place. His trouble is that he is trying to instill sense in a world that apparently derives its chief pleasure from seeing how close to the powder barrel it can toss lighted matches.

The way of the peacemaker is hard, and Mr. Murray has only to count his own black-and blue spots, acquired since he made his goodwill suggestion, to prove that fact.

Hollywood Today

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The biggest gambler in show business is not a Las Vegas plunger but a man who boasts that he has been called "a one-man United Nations."

He's impresario Sol Hurok, who has done more to raise American cultural taste than any single person. For more than 30 years, he has been scouring the world for attractions he feels will entertain and elevate Americans. Sometimes his choices have failed. More often they have succeeded—to the enrichment of American culture and, incidentally S. Hurok.

At present he is shepherding one of his most succesful gambles through the United States. He is here with the Sadlers Wells Ballet company, which has drawn millions of dollars from ballet fans in this country during tours for Hurok.

The talent finder was glowing over one of his recent triumphs, the Scottish Guards.

"I was working on this deal for several years," he reported. "Finally I arranged with the British army to bring them over. I had hoped they would provide planes, but it didn't work out. That meant it would cost $300,000 to bring them here.

"I carried the contract around in my pocket for two months, afraid to show it to my staff. They would have thought I was crazy, spending so much on an attraction that had never been proven."

He booked the bagpipers, dancers and marchers into Madison Square Garden for one night. It was a $40,000 sell-out. The garden's Ned Irish offered to move a boxing date so the Scotsmen could return in December. Three more Garden dates have been set, and Hurok said they'll all sell out.

"The attraction is now doing virtual capacity business on tour," he reported. "I expect to gross over a million dollars."

Other current and upcoming Hurok gambles: the Comedie Francaise, now scoring a hit in New York; the Spanish Ballet, recently seen on Omnibus; the Kabuki dancers of Japan, opening in New York Dec. 27; the Santa Cecilia Choir, 300-year-old organization on its first journey away from Rome; London's Old Vic, which will tour the United States starting next fall.

Hurok is now dipping into TV. He'll present the full-length "Sleeping Beauty" by the Sadlers Wells on NBC Dec. 12 and a collection of his concert stars on Music for Millions Jan. 30.

One More Battle Fought In New Social Revolution

WASHINGTON (AP) — One more battle in America's most sensational social revolution — the effort to wipe out racial segregation —has been fought and won.

The Supreme Court recently ordered an end to segregation in public parks and public playgrounds in Maryland and on public golf courses in Georgia.

While this action was less spectacular than the court's ruling in May 1954 — when it said segregation in public schools must end— it was far-reaching nevertheless.

The court now apparently has said — although it didn't use this exact language — that segregation in the United States must end in any place or facility that is paid for by the public, that is, paid for with tax money.

The court ruling did not say Negroes cannot be excluded from a recreational area or any other facility — like a beach, or playground, or golf course — that is privately owned and operated by an individual or limited group of individuals.

It seems certain that in the end the new decision in the Maryland and Georgia cases will have to apply to all states and cities. The classic example of this kind of thing was in the high court's ban on segretation in public schools.

In that case the court ruled directly against only a handful of states but it soon became clear the decision applied to all states, although not all states have yet complied.

The court has consistently been following this principle in cases involving facilities that are supported by public tax money; That "separate but equal" arrangements for Negroes are no longer enough and are unconstitutional.

The fight against other forms of segregation is going forward. Some years ago the Supreme Court banned segregation on interstate buses — those crossing state lines.

Now Negroes are fighting against segregation on buses which operate entirely within a city or state. A test case was made against segregation on buses operated by a utility company in Columbia, S. C.

The U. S. Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va., with jurisdiction over South Carolina, ordered segregation banned on the Columbia buses. In doing so the appellate court was following the lead of the Supreme Court in the school case.

It said that even though accommodations for Negroes on the buses—where they had to ride separate from the whites — were equal to those of the whites, they were not enough.

That case is now being appealed to the Supreme Court which, if it upholds the Appellate Court in the Columbia case, will in effect be wiping out segregation on buses in all states and cities.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER. By Walter Lord. Holt.

At 11:40 Sunday night, April 14, 1912, a lookout on the White Star liner Titanic spotted an iceberg dead ahead. Less than a minute later, the 66,000-ton luxury liner, on her maiden voyage to New York, had swung of and avoided a head-on collision, but the berg ripped a 300-foot gash deep under water.

It was a rumbling, a scraping sound, crewmen and passengers thought, and went on playing cards, drinking, getting ready for bed. The Titanic was popularly called unsinkable, so why worry? For some time no one did. But emergency doors were closed, and one by one, though slowly, the people heard of an iceberg.

Water poured in, and before many minutes passengers were alerted and came on deck in a fantastic combination of finery and lifebelts; and with women and children — mostly — going first, got into lifeboats, dropped to the water and in freezing weather rowed away. The ship sank at 2:20 a.m. The Cunarder Carpathia picked up 675 survivors; and leaving a sea strewn with tables, chairs, boxes, and floating ice, and covering the bodies of more than 1,500 dead, sailed back to New York.

Lord wisely lets this exciting story tell itself. Facts are piled on facts; there is little elaboration of them but they are endlesly fascinating: It was an Episcopal hymn, "Autumn," not "Nearer my God to Thee," that the band was playing as the ship sank. Death-rate was much higher in steerage than first class. There were lifeboats for only half the people aboard, whose names were Astor, Butt, Widener, Straus and the like. The Titanic sent the first SOS in history. The captain ignored six separate warnings of ice ahead wirelessed to him that very day.

The musical part of the program was furnished by Miss Louise Crook, sophomore at Texas Tech, Lubbock, and Miss Beverly Meador, sophomore at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene. Miss Crook sang, "Sweetheart, Sweetheart" and "If You Were The Only Girl" accompanied on the piano by Miss Meador, who also played other selections.

Miss Mary Alice Richardson and Miss Jane DeWald, both sophomores at Texas Tech, were home for the tea and wedding. They will attend the bride, acting as bridesmaids. They assisted at the tea with Miss Richardson presiding at the guest book and Miss DeWald pouring coffee. Mrs. Ray Herring and Mrs. Ed Kerley alternated serving cake.

Mrs. Gordon Smith, Mrs. J. W. Rader, Miss Sammie Rader, Mrs. E. M. Inman and Mrs. Helen Rader welcomed the guests. All wore corsages of yellow and bronze shaded button mums with the exception of the bride-elect who wore a white corsage of cushion mums. Miss Rader's dress was of pink antique taffeta, fashioned with a boat neck and had three-quarter length sleeves. The full skirt was offset at the waist by a rhinestone pin.

The wedding will take place on Thanksgiving Day in the First Baptist Church at 8 p.m. with the Rev. G. M. Cole officiating.

Mrs. Zeck Gives Talk On Indians

Under the leadership of Mrs. Ted Zeck, the WSCS of the Trinity Methodist Church is studying the American Indian. One Monday, in the 3rd meeting on this topic, Mrs. Zeck discussed problems that the Indian faces.

Some of the main ones are adjusting to "standard American life," after living on a reservation in a tribal manner; dealing with prejudice from the whites; learning English; getting adequate education in other lines, as well as learning the value of money, and acquiring a sense of the importance of time in our sense of following a schedule.

Mrs. Zeck also pointed out that as a race the Indians are noted for their keen sense of balance and coordination which has made them adept at working on the construction of skyscrapers. She also said that our baseball was derived from a game the Indians have played for many centuries.

The group has decided to contribute their offerings to the Methodist School for Indians in Farmington, N. M.

They further decided that for their Christmas party, instead of exchanging gifts, they would give them all to Soon Ai Lee, a Korean student who attends Abilene Christian College, and who spoke before the Women's Council of Churches about a month ago.

Sugar adds flavor to yeast bread and gives the crust a good color. It also provides food for the yeast to produce the leavening gas. Use the amount of sugar called for in a good recipe; adding sugar indiscriminately is not a good idea. Too much sugar will retard yeast.

'Know America' Is Topic Of Thanksgiving Program

The Twentieth Century Club had a Thanksgiving program on Tuesday, with Mrs. James Walker acting as leader.

After a covered dish luncheon, at the home of Mrs. Bernard Bartels, on the Roby Highway, the group heard a talk by Mrs. Fred L. Beaty on "Know America." She reviewed our Bill of Rights, showed our Bill of Rights, slides showing the variety of scenery in America, and then told the story of two exchange students, both who were seniors in high school. The American girl went to Germany to live in the home of a German family. The German girl came to this country and did likewise.

When the year of study ended in Novermber, 1954 both girls felt they had gained greatly in understanding by the experience.

The American girl was particularly impressed by the thrift of the Germans, not only in material matters, but in the use of their time. She thought Americans would do well to emulate the Germans in making the most of every moment of life.

The German girl was greatly impressed by the abundance in this country—as manifested in our educational system where there is a choice of courses as well as in our super-markets. "When I get home my people are going to want to know if America is a country with great national feeling—I shall tell them it is."

Mrs. Bill Ballard and Mrs. Bob Dupree were guests of the club. Mrs. Ballard sang a ballad from the Netherlands entitled, "A Prayer of Thanksgiving." She was accompanied by Mrs. James Walker.

Mrs. Bryan Jordan, Sr. gave some thoughts for Thanksgiving and as a further indication of thankfulness for the abundance they enjoy, the group is giving a turkey to go into the Thanksgiving basket of a local family.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Wayne Boren on 32nd Street, with Mrs. I. W. Boren as hostess.

Cancer Clinic Sues Medical Association

DALLAS (AP)—Harry M. Hoxsey, owner of the Hoxsey cancer clinic, yesterday sued the American Medical Assn. and state medical examiners, asking 10 million dollars damages.

The suit charges that Hoxsey since 1936 has been the target of a "relentless course of ridicule and persecution."

The action of the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners in revoking the licenses of seven staff doctors of the clinic also was cited.

The doctors appealed the board's decision to Dist. Judge W. L. Thornton's court. Restraining orders stayed the cancellations pending a hearing of the appeal.

Hoxsey asks 5 million dollars actual damages and 5 million punitive damages.

Men Getting More Facials

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A facial make-up consultant to many movie stars today disclosed that she does a brisk business in cosmetics for men.

"It's not what you think," said French-born Aida Grey." These are virile men, some of them husbands of famous movie stars. Others are famous stars themselves."

She disclosed no names but told how she got started on the unusual sideline in her salon.

Miss Grey said face powders in such bizarre shades as green, orchid and blue are now on the market to revitalize Cinderellas under night lights.

"Blue powder will give brunettes a pink look while green will give a creamy cast to redheads and brownettes. The orchid cast is right for silver blondes. All the shades will bring cinderella back to life at midnight."

If you use less than one to 1¼ teaspoons of tea to a cup of water you won't have a good strong bracing beverage. And be sure to let the tea steep for five minutes.

Harvey Berin has an uninhibited talent for making clothes that give the wearer assurance of being well dressed. His unobtrusive styling, flattering use of detail and distinctive body lines, all contribute to the success of his designs. This pattern is a case in point. Cut on a modified princess silhouette, the entire front consists of only two pieces with figure molding achieved by lengthened midriff darts. The V neckline is converted into a heart shape with tacked on bows that pull it to the sides. In back, the dress is a real conversation piece. Here the full length gores open out into three deep pleats that sway prettily when in motion. Choose peau de soie, satin, brocade, taffeta or faille for an afternoon into evening dress in town. If you're off for sunny places, consider silk prints, linen, novelty cotton or shantung. This pattern is cut to Designer Measurements, not Standard Pattern Measurements. Size 12 requires 7½ yards of 39-inch material for dress and ¼ yard of 39-inch material for interfacing. To order Pattern No. 1239, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P.O. Box 535, Dept. S-13, New York 1, N.Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25c extra. New 144 page Pattern Booklet XII available for 50c. If paying by check, make it payable to Spadea Syndicate, Inc., and add 4c for handling.

SPORTS

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

AS MANY OF YOU PERHAPS know by now, there's a drive underway at present by some of Snyder's most ardent sports fans to induce local merchants to close up Dec. 3 when the Tigers are scheduled to do battle with Garland Owls in a bi-district game at Garland.

I, for one, hope this drive is a success.

The Tigers are going to need every bit of fan support we can give them and unless the merchants close up Dec. 3, the Bengals may not get the kind of support they need.

The Tigers will be playing on a football field 300 miles or so from home Dec. 3. This is fartherest some of the boys on the Tiger roster have ever been away from home.

The morale of the squad will get a tremendous boost if some 2,500 Snyder fans show up at Garland.

But, unless the merchants cooperate in this "close down movement," it's doubtfull that half of this amount will be able to make the trip to Garland.

And it won't be because the fans don't want to go. If the businesses don't close, then there'll be plenty of loyal Tiger fans who would have to stay because they couldn't get off work.

Long Time Between Titles

Snyder has waited a long time for the honor that is now her's—a district football champion. To be exact, it's been 19 years.

To our knowledge, Snyder has never won a state championship in any sport.

This year we've got a football team that is capable of going all the way. The Tigers have already brought much publicity to the city of Snyder this fall. They've been ranked in the Top 10 in the state in Triple-A all season. Week after week newspapers throughout the state have printed the weekly football polls with Snyder always listed among the Top 10.

This is the kind of publicity you can't buy.

If the Tigers should be fortunate enough to go and win the state title, then the publicity our city would receive would be immeasurable.

All of the playoff games will be broadcast on a statewide hook-up which will mean the Tiger playoff game will be heard across this big state of ours.

However, most of the stations will be carrying games of interest in their respective regions until the state finals.

Then virtually all stations will be carrying the title game.

Well, we're kinda getting the cart ahead of the horse but what we're trying to put over is the amount of recognition Snyder would receive by going "all the way."

It will mean a lot to these boys to win state. Winning the district title meant a lot to the boys not to mention the many fans we have.

We just can't let these boys down now. So, Mr. Merchant, won't you please go along on this drive and close down Dec. 3.

It's true you may sacrifice a dollar or two by closing up Dec. 3, but before you make your decision, think of the sacrifice the football players have made this fall in bringing the district title to Snyder.

These boys have worked out daily since Sept. 1, risking broken bones, burises and other injuries. And not only that, these boys have been following rigid training rules during this time which has knocked out some "good times" they could have had otherwise.

Sure, these boys get some fun out of playing footbal but all of it isn't fun. There's plenty of hard work attached to it.

I just don't see how any of our loyal Snyder citizens could let the Tigers down now.

Bear Worried About Aggie Spirit

Bear Bryant is doing a wonderful job at Texas A&M but you can sure tell he hasn't been around long.

He made a statement this week to the extent that he was afraid his boys were going to be down for the Texas game tomorrow.

Can you imagine the Aggies being "down" for a game against Texas?

A&M holds only one win in the past 14 years over Texas which should be reason enough alone to want to clip the Longhorns.

But, regardless of the past games, the Aggies and the Longhorns, too, would rather beat the other than any game they play all year long.

No, Bear, I don't believe you have to worry about the Aggies being "down" for Texas tomorrow.

Abilene High School may or may not be benefitted by San Angelo defeating Odessa last Saturday. If Odessa had won the game Abilene would have been the champs and wouldn't need to defeat San Angelo tomorrow.

As it is, the winner of the Abilene-San Angelo game tomorrow will represent 1-AAAA in the playoffs.

But where Abilene may benefit by San Angelo beating Odessa is that tomorrow's game now is more vitally important and will naturally draw a much better crowd. If the Eagles proceed to beat Angelo, then they can be happy that San Angelo defeated Odessa.

Tomorrow's A&M-Texas game will ruin a lot of high school football crowds over the state since the game is to be televised.

However, the high school Turkey Day games will draw the "real" football fans. A real fan had much rather see an actual game than to watch one over television.

Cards Begin Cage Workouts

Basketball workouts started at Hermleigh High School Monday, with more than a dozen prospects for the boys varsity team and about 25 for the girls team.

Coach Ray Isaacs will hand both teams.

Returning lettermen on the boys team are Morris Ligat, Robby Robinson, and Billy Mac Davidson. The girls team has as returning letter holders Violet Davis, Viola Roemisch, and Ethel Hundsnurcher.

No games are yet scheduled for the teams.

The boys team last year went through district round robing play undefeated but lost to Westbrook in the finals of the district tournament.

Claassen Picks Ags, Navy, Baylor, TCU

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—This is the week you can have football with your turkey drumstick on Thursday and football with your turkey hash on Saturday.

This closes out the 1955 season of pigskin picking. Right now the season's figures are 332 correct picks and 121 losers for .729, including 30 winners and 11 losers last week.

The final choices:

Navy over Army: In the belief that Navy has come up with a pair of running halfbacks while Army's passing won't be up to the usual Cadet standard. The lines about on a par. The game is Saturday at Philadelphia.

Penn over Cornell: Penn hasn't won in two season's under Coach Steve Sebo but this is it. The Quakers' determinatoin will cut down Cornell's vaunted speed. A Thursday game.

Oklahoma over Oklahoma A&M: The Sooners have won 28 in a row and with Tom McDonald healthy should make it 29 with relative ease. A Saturday contest.

Texas A&M over Texas: The Aggies complete an unprecedented season. They finished in the cellar a year ago, are conference champs this time. A Thursday game.

Notre Dame over Southern California: It will be close. Perhaps one of Paul Hornung's field goals will decide this Saturday struggle.

THURSDAY

Colgate over Brown, Denver over Wyoming, Utah over Utah State, Virginia Tech over Virginia Military, Wichita over Tulsa, Richmond over William and Mary, Miami (Ohio) over Cincinnati.

FRIDAY

West Virginia over North Carolina State, Texas Western over Trinity.

SATURDAY

East: Boston College over Holy Cross.

Midwest: None.

South: Auburn over Alabama, Clemson over Furman, Georgia Tech over Georgia, Miami (Fla.) over Florida, Louisiana State over Tulane, Mississippi over Mississippi State, Tennessee over Vanderbilt, Virginia over South Carolina.

Southwest: Baylor over Rice, Texas Christian over Southern Methodist, Texas Tech over Hardin-Simmons.

Far West: Colorado over Colorado A&M, New Mexico over Brigham Young, Tempe, Ariz., State over Arizona, Hawaii over Fresno.

SUNDAY

Dayton over Villanova.

George Munger, slated to return to the major leagues with the Pittsburgh Pirates next season, pitched his first victory in the majors in 1943 with the St. Louis Cardinals.

2 Tigers May Miss Lamesa Tilt

McNew, Berry Suffer Injuries

Two workout mishaps may force two Tigers to the sidelines for tomorrow's Turkey Day tilt against the Lamesa Tornadoes at Tiger Stadium.

End Don McNew and quarterback Powell Berry have suffered injuries the past two days. McNew came up with a twisted knee and Berry with a badly sprained ankle.

Whether either will see action against Lamesa tomorrow depends on how the injuries respond to treatment.

Both McNew and Berry are "full duty" men. McNew plays offensive end and defensive tackle while Berry plays quarterback on offense and halfback on defense.

The Tigers, otherwise, are expected to take the field against Lamesa in good physical condition.

In the Tornadoes, the Tigers will be facing a team with one of the finest backfields in the district. The Tors have two speed merchants in Dwayne Powell and John Middleton, both halfbacks. Powell weighs 163 pounds to 146 for Middleton.

The Tornado backfield only averages 13 pounds per man but the Tornadoes depend entirely on speed for ground gaining. The Lamesans also can take to the air with good success with Doyle Chapman handling the aerial works.

The Lamesa line averages 177 pounds per man, just two pounds per man under the Tiger forward wall.

The Tornadoes have a lot of weight to plug the middle of the line. The two guards are Don Beck, 190, and Charles Hatchett, 174; while at tackles, Gordon Gray weighs in at 184 and Joe Hamilton at 199. The average weight of these four boys is 187 pounds.

Tomorrow's game will be the 11th meeting between Snyder and Lamesa. The Tornadoes hold a distinct edge in the first 10 games with eight wins against two Tiger wins.

The two Tiger victories came in 1928, 18-12, and 1954, 7-6. Two of the Lamesa wins were by 6-0 with another by 7-6.

Kickoff time tomorrow will be 2:30 p.m.

Following is the Tiger - Lamesa series results:

1926—Snyder 0, Lamesa 30.
1927—Snyder 6, Lamesa 13.
1928—Snyder 18, Lamesa 12.
1934—Snyder 6, Lamesa 7.

Three 4A Titles Still Undecided

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Three remaining places for the state playoff in Class AAAA will be filled Thursday and that will round out the entire championship schedule in the four divisions of Texas schoolboy football.

Mighty Abilene, undefeated, untied and unpressed; embattled Fort Worth Paschal and unbeaten, untied Corpus Christi Miller are expected to get the three spots that will send Class AAAA into the big push for the championship.

Abilene, defending state king, can win its district title by beating San Angelo at Abilene. A San Angelo upset, however, would throw the Bobcats into the playoffs.

Paschal is mixed in a 3-way tie for first in the Fort Worth district. Fort Worth Arlington Heights and Fort Worth North Side are the other principals. Paschal plays North Side Thursday night and if it wins will get the playoff spot. A North Side victory would put it off a night because in that event Arlington Heights could take the decision by beating Fort Worth Poly Friday.

Miller and Corpus Christi Ray fight it out for the District 6 championship. This is a grudge game and it isn't certain that Miller can win it although it has a better season record than Ray.

There are 14 games in the Class AAAA division as the schools wind up the regular schedule to move into the playoffs next week. El Paso High, Dallas Sunset, Tyler, Houston Reagan and Baytown already are in the playoffs. El Paso will meet the District 1 winner, Sunset will play the Fort Worth champion, Tyler will engage the Miller-Ray victor and Houston and Baytown will tangle.

Class AAA also has 14 games this week but none of them mean anything because all eight district representatives already have been determined. They are Snyder, Garland, Gainesvile, Texarkana, Temple, Port Neches, Victoria and Alice.

While the upper classes are winding up the schedule Classes AA and A will be playing the first round in the state title fights.

Defending champion Phillips of Class AA is a strong favorite to beat Olton in its bi-district game.

In Class A, Deer Park, the defending state champion, engages Sealy, a team with an 8-2 record. Deer Park is undefeated but has been tied. The Deer will be easy favorites to glide by Sealy.

Major favorites in Class AA are Philips, Stamford, Breckenridge, Killeen and Nederland. Stamford plays Burkburnett, a 3-time loser; Breckenridge plays Ballinger; Killeen gets once-beaten, once-tied Lavega, and Nederland runs into a bitter rival, LaMarque, which has lost only one game. Breckenridge isn't undefeated but its losses were to such powers as Abilene and Wichita Falls.

The feature game of Class A pits Lewisville, the state's highest scoring team, against Chillicothe, which also is undefeated and untied. Lewisville has rolled up 515 points, Chillicothe 333.

Here's how they look in the opening round of the state playoffs:

Class AA—

Thursday: Stamford over Burkburnett at Stamford, Olney over Grapevine at Olney, Spur over Crane at Spur. Friday: Phillips over Olton at Olton, Breckenridge over Ballinger, Terrell over Athens at Tyler, Bonham over DeKalb at Commerce, New London over Jasper at Jasper, Killeen over Lavega at Killeen; Lockhart over Brenham at Brenham, Refugio over Bay City at Refugio, Nederland over LaMarque at Nederland, Eagle Pass over Floresville at Eagle Pass, Weslaco over Sinton at Robstown. Saturday: Hillsboro over Smiley at Houston.

Georgetown is a district champion of Class AA but has a bye in the opening round.

Class A—

Thursday: Albany over Ranger at Ranger, Van Alstyne over Talco at Commerce, Deer Park over Sealy at Deer Park, Vanderbilt Industrial over Bandera at Vanderbilt. Friday: Sundown over Hale Center at Levelland, Lewisville over Chillicothe at Wichita Falls, Glen Rose over Rockwall at Grand Prairie, Lindale over Leverett's Chapel at Kilgore, Alto over Joaquin at Center, Crosby over Woodville at Livingston, Franklin over Granger at Taylor, Luling over Burnet at San Marcos, Hondo over Three Rivers at Hondo, Rio Hondo over Hebbronville at Falfurrias. Saturday: Stinnett over Springlake at Amarillo, Ozona over McCamey at McCamey.

Non-Title Bout Set

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Bantamweight Champion Henry Miramontes of Dallas will meet Pat McCarty of Amarillo in a non-title 10-round bout here Dec. 1.

Tiger Quint Opens Drills; 40 Report

About 40 boys reported for the initial Snyder Tiger basketball workout for the 1955-56 season yesterday at Tiger Gym.

Missing, however, from the workout was all five returning lettermen who are still out for football. The returning lettermen are Jack Spikes, Alan Snead, Jerry Taylor, Don McNew and Milton Ham.

Also the other two returning squadmen off last year's team that finished in a two-way tie for second place with Lamesa are out for football. They are Robert Dabbs and Powell Berry.

Yesterday's turnout included boys who'll be aspiring for places on the freshman, "B" and varsity teams.

The most promising for the varsity squad are Dwayne Prince, 6-5; Earl Rhodes, 5-11; and Bob Coffee, 5-9. Prince is a junior while Rhodes and Coffee are both seniors.

J. P. Ward is starting his second year as the head Tiger cage mentor. Verlan Shearburn will coach the "B" team and Hal Battle the freshman team. Battle, the Tiger line coach in football, will not be able to take over until the grid season has been completed.

Ward has released a 20-game scheudule plus two tournaments for the 1955-56 campaign. The Bengal five will participate in the Canyon Reef Tournament here and the Howard Payne Invitational Tournament at Brownwood.

The Tigers were originally scheduled to enter the Plainview invitational tournament next week but had to withdraw because of the extended football season.

Sixteen of the regular 20-game schedule will be District 1-AAA contests. In addition to the 16 conference games, the Tigers will meet Abilene and Stamford twice each and the Howard County Junior College "B" team once.

First action for the Tigers will be against Howard County there, Dec. 6.

The Tigers are due to play three 1-AAA games before Christmas but Ward will try to get these games postponed until a later date if the Tigers defeat Garland next week in bi-district football.

The Bengal quint is scheduled to open its conference slate Dec. 16 against Sweetwater here. Then they're slated to go to Plainview, Dec. 17, and to Levelland, Dec. 20, for conference games.

Story Of Woodward Death To Be Aired

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Ann Woodward is expected to go before a special session of the Nassau County grand jury Friday to tell how she killed her millionaire sportsman husband with a shotgun blast.

Her lawyer, Murray Gurfein of New York City, says the 39-year-old widow will exercise her right to testify before the grand jury about the killing of her husband, Wiliam Woodward Jr.

The Duchess of Windsor may be a witness before the jury.

Mrs. Woodward has told authorities that she shot into a dark hallway of her home at a noise she thought was caused by a prowler. Her 35-year-old husband, who was at the door of his bedroom across the hall, was hit in the head and died almost instantly.

To appear before the grand jury, Mrs. Woodward must waive immunity—meaning that anything she says could be used against her in any possible prosecution.

The state is not calling Mrs. Woodward as a witness, which would be an unusual procedure.

County authorities, who have questioned the widow in detail, have not challenged her story that the shooting was a tragic accident.

Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta said yesterday he had not confirmed through Mrs. Woodward's lawyer that she will appear before the jury. "We certainly hope to have her among those present," Gulotta said. "But her appearance seems to be pretty much up to her attorney and her physician."

Gulotta said he has 25 to 30 witnesses on tap for the grand jury session.

The Woodwards attended a Long Island party in honor of the duchess of Windsor the night before the fatal shooting at their Oyster Bay, N.Y., home early on the morning of Oct. 30.

Cold Weather Heading West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Western and Midwest areas appeared in line for a fresh snap of cold weather today.

The cold air from western Canada continued to filter south in southeastward, dropping temperatures in the central and southern plains, the central and southern Rockies and as far south as the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma.

Readings were from 10 to 20 degrees lower this morning than 24 hours ago. The 4 below at Glasgow, Mont., compared to yesterday morning's 24 above.

East of the cold air, strong southerly winds brought much warmer weather to the eastern Great Lakes region southward through the Ohio Valley, the lower Mississippi Valley and the Gulf states. Biggest gains in temperatures were in the Ohio Valley and Alabama, with rises of 20 degrees and more.

It was a little cooler in the New England states. Southern Texas reported summerlike weather yesterday with the nation's high of 90 at Mineral Wells.

NEW SECRETARY OF STATE —Tom Reavley, of Jasper, has been named by Governor Shivers as Secretary of State, succeeding A. M. Muldrow. Reavley, an attorney, took over the $15,000-a-year position November 1.

Special Education Survey Made Here

A special committee working with schoolmen here figures that a large percentage of residents here have something they can share with school students, and the committee is now making preparations to catalog information on those here who have hobbies, are widely traveled, know some area of the U. S. or were born somewhere foreign to here, or who can in any way help in supplementary education work.

It is the human resources committee appointed by the city council of the Parent - Teacher Associations here. Clois Henry heads the panel.

The committee will be contacting a number of residents during the next several days to determine whether those who do fall into present, if they are called upon by classroom teachers, programs or supplementary teaching. Once the information is in catalog form, it will be available to all teachers in the school system, was well as to civic clubs and women's organizations.

Mainly, here's what the committee is looking for: Those who have collections, have traveled in or lived in foreign countries, those with interesting hobbies, those in civil government, those who have interesting pictures or movies which would add to the instructional program, those with special talent and skills, those who could give programs on various parts of the U. S., those in science and industry, residents who could add to health and safety instruction, and persons in various occupations. Also to be listed are various industries, business, and places of historical or other interest which could be sites for field trips.

The committee has asked that all persons who have something which might be of interest in the insturctional program contact a member of the committee. Practically any type occupation, hobby, talent, or collection might be of use at some time, as would talks on almost any place in the U. S. or world.

In gathering this information, committee members will need such data as the person's occupation, business address and phone, home address and phone, place of birth, countries in which he has traveled, whether the committee can call on the person for programs or supplementary teaching, whether the program would be better suited for primary, elementary, junior high, high school, study clubs, or civic clubs; or a combination of any of these; approximate length of program, hours of day or night the person is available, and amount of advance notice needed.

A few of the categories have been assigned to individual committee members, while the entire committee is working on several of them. Those who would be available to the schools in such a plan have been asked to contact the following committee members: collections, Mrs. Fred Kizer; hobbies, Mrs. Elmo Crowder; civil government, Dale Walton; talent and skills, Mrs. Elmo Crowder; science and industry, Harold Brown; health and safety, Clois Henry. All committee members are working on the remainder of the categories, which include foreign countries, pictures and movies, places in the U.S.A., and occupations, as well as field trips. Other committee members are Mrs. Searcy Orr, Mrs. Bill Fisher, Mrs. Forrest Beavers, and Mrs. Amon Weaver.

Furor Stirred Up By Change For Typewriter

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The secretaries' reaction to a radical change in typewriter keyboards ranged today from cries of horror to the comment:

"Well that's one way to get a new typewriter from the boss."

One secretary, Miss Barbara Henley, doesn't see anything new in the keyboard on which the government has started tests in hopes of improving the efficiency of its thousands of typists.

She began using the revised keyboard 17 years ago in an experiment.

"The ease of typing and accuracy are astounding," she said. "And it only took me about three weeks to switch over in 1938."

She uses a specially built typewriter. In speed tests, she said she reached 138 words a minute on a standard model equipped with a the revised, or Dvorak, keyboard compared with 50 words and many inaccuracies on a regular machine. On an electric typewriter with the special keyboard, she hit 150 words a minute.

Miss Henley's comment may bring hope to other gals who look on a possible change with pessimism.

"My first reaction was to think of all the girls over 25," said Miss Ruth Ruth, secretary an an electric company "What will they do? Helf would need to go back to school."

In general, the typewriter keyboard hasn't been changed in more than 80 years. The revised system, devised by August Dvorak of the University of Washington, puts the vowels on the second row where a typist's fingers normally rest. Other letters most frequently used also are changed.

Mrs. W. A. Dorrance and other secretaries at an insurance company agreed the present keyboard is like an old friend and they wouldn't like to see a change.

Miss Ethel Hoehn, who heads a local chapter of the National Secretaries Assn., commented: "There is room for progress. Anything that lessens work for the secretary gives her more time to other tasks in the office."

HITLER'S PRIVATE LIFE

British Invasion Is Discouraged

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in the series on the private life of Adolf Hitler as told by his personal valet who has just been released after 11 years in a Russian concentration camp.)

BY HEINZ LINGE
Hitler's Personal Valet
(WORLD COPYRIGHT 1955)

BERLIN — I know there has been much speculation over the reason why Hitler made no move to invade England, particularly after Dunkirk. I think that answer lies in the Fuehrer's whole viewpoint about the British people. As I look back over the years when I was so close to him, it seems to me there was a thread running through all the remarks I heard him make on the subject, showing that he grossly underestimated the British will to resist.

Even when war came, Hitler never seemed to consider that any engagement with Britain would be long-standing or serious. While we were invading Poland he told me: "Germany can never eat up all the British Empire. Only our musical engenies can do that."

He clung to a belief that Britain would come to terms; clung to it until well after the day I saw him standing on the beaches at Dunkirk looking at the smashed guns, the shattered tanks, and the wrecks of ships that had been bombed during the evacuation of the British Army.

Indeed, as he stood there at that time I am certain the thought was in his mind that Britain would never fight again.

He began to talk of the large part of the British Expeditionary Force that had got away. He told me he had deliverately ordered the slowing-up of the pursuit in the last days because he wanted most of the British Army to get back home.

"It is always good to let a broken army return home to show the civilian population what a beating they have had," he said. "The morale of these men has been destroyed. They will not regain it for a very long time, if ever.

"The army which was broken here was Britain's best and when that was broken there was nothing left."

A little later, as we drove along the French coast, he added: "We must stay on the North coast of France for a long time. We must sit on the foot of England and from there we can always control her."

Time passed and Britain remained steady in her purpose, but Hitler still seemed to think that terms could and would be enforced.

"It may be six to eight or even 10 years," he told me once. "But all that time we will be ready for them. I have picked up the gauntlet. The challenge has been accepted."

And of the time to come when, as he thought, Britain would be forced to surrender, he said: "I will be generous. I do not want to destroy the British Empire, but I shall demand the return of our colonies. I do not want to take her lands away from Britain, though."

As I have said, Hitler spoke no other language than German and did not listen in to foreign broadcasts but he had the speeches of Churchill translated and typed so that he could read them immediately after they were made.

Sometimes he would show anger as he read by tearing at the pages or by throwing them down on the table before him, but on the whole he had a kind of admiration for Churchill.

"I feel that he is the man for Britain," he would say, "but I'm the man for Germany."

And still as the months passed Hitler waited for some sign that Britain might sue for peace; then as no news came he gave Goering permission to go ahead with his plans to bomb Britain into submission. Goering had assured him that his Luftwaffe would reduce the ports to rubble so that Britain would be forced to surrender.

At that time there was no thought of invasion. The Fuehrer told me it was only a matter of time before Britain gave in. And it was part of the plan to bomb working-class districts in the hope that the people would revolt against their leaders.

So confident was Hitler then that Britain would crack that the subject of terms was often discussed. I remember that Raeder, in command of the fleet, came up with the suggestion that Britain should be made to hand over a percentage of her fleet.

But Hitler was angry at this. "I will not ask for one ship from Britain," he said. "That would make her fight to the end. If Britain is ready for peace I will give her a good-bargain.

Raeder was later to take charge of the combined forces — ships, sailors, airmen — which continually practiced Operation Sealion, a projected invasion of Britain, in the canals and harbors of Holland.

But even as this force was training Hitler seemed half-hearted about it.

"Any attempt to land in Britain would be very different from the Norway landings," I heard him say once. "We could not hope to surprise Britain."

I am sure that invasion was never the predominant thought with him.

"I am much more concerned," he told me, "with locking all the back doors before I go ahead."
