RED CROSS DRIVE SET

The Wheeler Red Cross Chapter today opens a month long campaign whose success is vitally important not only to every family in the Wheeler area, but also to people across this nation and around the world.

The campaign is the Chapter's annual appeal for the funds needed to carry on local, national and international Red Cross health and emergency welfare programs.

"The Red Cross belongs to all people," said Mr. Bill Owens the volunteer chairman of the fund drive. "It serves all the people and depends entirely upon their voluntary support for its funds.

"Our money goal this year is $472.00," he said. "This averages a very small sum per population of the Wheeler area, and we hope that at least one person in every family will become a Red Cross member by contributing funds for this month

The campaign slogan is "Always There....With Your Help."

The Wheeler Chapter's fund goal, Mr. Owen explained, is set after careful consideration by volunteer leaders of local and national Red Cross Needs.

These funds aid our servicemen and their dependents at home, across the country and around the world;

PARELLEL TERRAC

New terracing techniques are being introduced to farmers in the Texas Panhandle. Many farmers who need to terrace their land because of erosion or water loss will be interested in some new terrace layout and construction methods offered by technicians of the Soil Conservation Service.

A system of terraces run parallel to each other is fast gaining popularity among farmers who have seen them in operation. While these parallel terraces are fairly new to the Texas Panhandle they have been thoroughly tried and proven in other parts of the State.

Parallel terraces have many advantages. For one thing, they eliminate point rows. This is a big advantage to High Plains farmers who use 6 and 8 row equipment. Crop damage is greatly minimized when all turning is done on turn rows at the end of the field. Another big advantage is that it facilitates supplemental irrigation between terraces. When all rows run the entire length of the irrigation run, furrow irrigation can be accomplished by laying gated pipe along the ends of the terraces. Each row can then be expected to carry the furrow stream all the way through.

In general, when parallel teraces are installed, a waterway must be provided in all significant depressions across the slope. This provides for excess water disposal at points where water would normally collect and break across the rows. In some cases farmers have gone to the expense of eliminating some minor depressions by filling them in before the terraces are laid out. In more extreme cases they have even gone so far as to level land between parallel terraces. Often this expense is well justified. Leveling between terraces on land with 0.5 to 2.0 percent slopes greatly improves moisture distribution and penetration. More timely tillage practices are possible and crop growth is more uniform as a result of uniform field drying.

Points on Treating Seed

BY CHARLES D. JACKSON

A new pre-emergence sorghum herbicide for grain grown for feed or seed will be ready for farm use in the Plains this season. The herbicide, propazine will eliminate cultivation under certain conditions, reports M.C. Wiese, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Agronomist, Stratford, Texas. Until late in 1963 the herbicide was approved for use only in grain sorghum grown for seed.

Where were propazine will be most useful is irrigated fields where weeds have been difficult to control by mechanical means. The herbicide also will be beneficial to farmers in the Blacklands and Gulf Coast regions.

Propazine is a wettable powder and must be applied in 20 to 40 gallons of water per treated acre. Considerable agitation is required or the material will settle to the bottom of the spray tank. A pump with a return capacity of 10 gallons per minute is satisfactory for agitation with a four-row rig.

Application must be made to the soil immediately after planting. Rain then washes it into the root zone. If rainfall occurs before chemical application, weeds may germinate and grow through the propazine in the soil surface.

The biggest advantage of propazine is it controls both grasses and broadleaf weeds. A second advantage is even if chemical unit occurs during application it is not toxic to crops. Propazine is dependable. Wiese continues, because it will work well even if rain does not follow soon after application.

This residual action is also the biggest disadvantage of propazine. Susceptible crops cannot be grown for 18 months after application of the herbicide. The only crops which can be grown successfully the year following propazine applications are corn and sorghum.

Because of the long residual periods, propazine use is not allowed in dryland fields in west and northwest Texas.

Research with propazine in the High Plains was initiated by Wiese in 1955. Since then about 25 chemicals have been tested as possible sorghum pre-emergence herbicides. Nine have proved to be effective in programs. Because of favorable results in test plots, propazine has been applied to field-size plots on two farms each year since 1961. Average yields of grain were 4894, 3830 and 5620 pounds per acre for acres receiving 1.25 and 2 pounds per acre of propazine. Where cultivation alone was used for weed control, yields averaged 3710 pounds per acre.

Suggested rates of propazine application for the High Plains area are two pounds per acre on the silty clay loam soils for control of both grasses and broadleaf weeds, says Extension Agronomist Billy Gaston. If cutleaf weed or pigweed are the only weeds present, one pound per acre broadcast is sufficient for season-long control. Coarse textured soils will not be controlled with one pound per acre. In fields where the soil type is fine sandy loam or coarser, Gaston says, one pound per acre should be maximum rate applied. It is not advisable to use propazine on fields of pure sand because serious injury to the crop may result.

The most profitable use of propazine on the High Plains will be for weed control in narrow-row sorghum. Sorghum planted in 40-inch rows is difficult to weed mechanically but will produce up to 1,000 pounds per acre more than sorghum planted in 40-inch rows.

LIBRARY NEWS

A very interesting little book was given to us by Bill Nelson for our shelf of western history. It was written by his father, W.B. Nelson and is called "Cleve's Last Fight."

Since January 1st, Wheeler Public Library has had cash donations from Five Dogs, of Mobeetie, Progressive Study Club and Wheeler P.T.A.'s.

The Club Scouts gave us 47 books to celebrate Birthday Week.

We certainly appreciate these donations.

MOBEETIE NEWS

Elsie Johnson was hostess to the Mobeetie Toys Square Shooters Monday, March 9th, in the Mobeetie Lions Hut. Monday was the day every one got measured. The figures were counted as well as pounds. Velma D'Spain was guest for the week. Club members lost twenty pounds for the past week.

Margaret Trout read an article on "Friends." It is the friendly concern one for another, that really makes the Toys program work.

Margaret also told how beauty had affected history. Napoleon might not have lost the battle of Waterloo had he not have been too fat. We might not have gained our independence from England when we did if George III had not been so fat, and had been more alert and energetic. Eldene Walker told club members to be ever with the alibis for overeating. The only thing that takes anybody fat is food.

Members present for the meeting were Inez Dunn, Irene Rogers, Nelda Davis, Eldene Walker, Nanie Childress, Mae Nelson, Elsie Johnson, Margaret Trout, Jewel Lennart, Willene Rogers, Doris Harrison, Maggie Meadows, Florence Rogers, Velma D'Spain, Goldie Gordon, and Lottie Ella Dennis.

Food for the Wildlife

CHARLES D. JACKSON

ow is the time to begin plying quail food for next ter, suggests County nt Charles D. Jackson. y people don't think ut supplying winter food quail and other game s until the cold weather ves; then it is too late. ring spring and summer ths there is an ample ply of food for the birds. nts are producing seeds fruit which are used as l. These are supplemen- by green plant material insects. Following the t killing frost, these ls begin to diminish and r animals compete with l for the summer's seed . Under normal conditions, this food supply will reach a critical point during February and March. However, under drouth conditions the critical point will be reached much earlier, comments, the county agent.

The cheapest and easiest way to supply winter food for game birds is to disk small strips or plots around existing cover. Disking will usually bring good stands of dove weed, partridge pea or other suitable food plants.

Disking about ½ acre of range for each covey is sufficient. However, new ground should be used each year, because old strips will continue to provide food for at least two years. When grass starts to suppress the food plants, it's time to rework the old strips, the county agent said.

Fertilization is necessary only on very poor land and fencing is usually not needed since cattle rarely eat plants used as food sources for game birds, Jackson said.

Man Charged With Rustling

Charges of cattle theft from a sale ring near Shamrock were filed today by County Attorney Guy Hardin against one of two men held in a six- county theft ring.

M.J. Rogers, Sr., 47, of Amarillo, who is being held in the Potter County Jail there, was charged with unlawfully taking seven head of cattle from the sale ring north of Shamrock on the night of Feb. 4.

Rogers faces charges in Potter, Stephens, Hansford, Brown and Commanche counties along with Thomas Jordon, 63 year old self-styled cowboy who is known by police as "Rattlesnake Red."

The two men are being held in the theft of a total of 107 head of cattle in the six counties at a total value of more than $16,000.

Jordan is not believed involved in the Wheeler County theft, but Sheriff Bus Dorman said he planned to travel to Amarillo to question both men.

"If he is, we'll sure file on him," he said.

District Attorney Bill Waters of Pampa, who has been investigating the case since the arrest of the two men in Oklahoma Tuesday, said he would call a special grand jury meeting in Wheeler to present the charges against Rogers.

Soil Tests Recommended

Progressive farmers, who are also good managers, have demonstrated that more net income can be made from a soil improving system of farming than from one that depletes soil fertility. Soils are depleted to a degree every time plant food nutrients or organic matter is removed by cropping or erosion; and not replaced.

Average yields and income in most sections of Texas are too low to give a good return from land, capital and management. Low yields also permit erosion and encourage soil depletion. In 1963, cotton and cottonseed returned growers $822,216,000 from 5,375,000 harvested acres (379 lbs. lint) or $139.05 per acre. Grain Sorghum- $250,216,000 from 5,772,000 acres (2,380 lbs. grain) or $43.34 per acre; Wheat- $79,205,000 from 2,321,000 acres(17.5 bushels) or $34.12 per acre; and hay- $57,148,000 from 1,980,000 acres or $28.86 per acre.

The use of fertilizer is an essential step in increasing crop yields and profits. Fertilizer normally returns $3 to $10 for each dollar spent when properly used. The rewards from well fertilized soils are:

(1) Higher, more profitable yields.

(2) Better soil and water conservation.

(3) More effective utilization of water and plant food nutrients.

(4) Soil improvements-- more of each plant food nutrient and organic matter added than removed.

A crop must be grown under good management to get the most out of fertilizer. Then, it is profitable to use adequate amounts to produc the highest yield moisture and other climatic conditions permit. When soils contain sufficient organic matter to keep them in good physical condition and enough plant food is used a bale of cotton can be produced from 15 unsable inches if water, 4300 lbs. grain sorghum-25 inches; 40 bushels wheat - 20 inches; and 4 tons alfalfa 32 inches. Twice as much moisture is required to produce the above yields when soils are low in organic matter, are in poor physical condition, and no fertilizer is used. Higher yields require proportionately greater amounts of water.

Jolly Takes Part in Exercise

James L. Jolly, seaman, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Jolly of Wheeler, Texas is participating aboard the attack transport USS Okanogan in a coordinated U.S. Nationalist Chinese amphibious exercise called "Operation Backpack" being conducted off the coast of Teiwan.

Backpack is an exercise to test the amphibious capabilities and readiness of the forces of the Seventh Fleet and the Nationalist Chinese Navy. The exercise with over 40,000 men and 140 units participating will culminate in an amphibious assault on beaches of southern Taiwan, and will demonstrate the effectivness of the United States Seventh Fleet to rapidly move a significant combat force to a troubled area in order to assist an ally.

Prior to the assault, aircraft of the Seventh Fleet will soften beach defenses. In addition, support ships will conduct anti-submarine warfare exercises and the area surrounding the beachhead will be cleared of any obstructions and mines.

"Backpack" is similar to those exercises conducted periodically by units of the Seventh Fleet with SEATO and other allied nations in the Far East to improve their proficiency in coordinated amphibious warfare operations and to maintain working relationships with allied nations.

Mrs. Paul Green visited last week with her daughter Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hayes and Ricky of Sunray. Mrs. Hayes and Ricky returned home with her mother Saturday and returned to Sunray Sunday.

WHEELER SCHOOL

BY ARLING CORDELL

So many exciting and pleasing events took place last week - the P.T.A. Open-House on Monday, the rousing Hootenany on Tuesday, Church meeting on Wednesday, Thespian play on Friday - what a fine way to show our appreciation of our school and community on Texas Public Schools Week. Did you visit us then? If so, you were very welcome - if not, why not plan to be here very soon?

Our thanks to the "Times" for their suggestion that our teachers select a top student in each academic area each six-weeks. You will see them in another section of this newspaper. We are very proud of them, as we have been of our Football, Basketball, 4H., F.F.A., F.H.A., Band, and soon our track participants- everyone of our many activities entered into a broad, well-rounded school program, which is what your Board and I are striving for.

Coming soon will be the St. Patrick's Day on March 17, and a holiday- also a holiday for Easter on Monday, March 30. End of school will be Friday, May 22, and of course you already know of our District Teachers Meeting in Amarillo on Friday, when we will spend a day enjoying the fellowship and professional contacts with over a thousand others who have chosen children as their main interest in life.

Did you know that 58% of our graduates of the past four years have gone on to higher education in College and other training out of a total of 81.47 went on to try to prepare themselves for the world of work of tomorrow. Still more encouraging is the fact that out of a total of 35 Seniors this year, 30 are taking college entrance examinations, the highest per cent so far that we have had. Let's all work together to prepare for the future of our children. They are our most precious resource.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt appreciation for the many acts of kindness, cards and floral offerings received during the illness and passing of our loved one. Many, many thanks to all. Mrs. Sandford Miller, The Miller Family, The Hamilton Family, and The Garner Family.

WHEELER TOPS CLUB

Monday night March 9, The Wheeler Whittlers Tops Club met. Coffee and tomato juice were served to eleven members and a new member was welcomed. 12 pounds was the weight loss for this week.

Thurs. Review Meets at Holts

The Thursday Review Club met in the home of Mrs. R.J. Holt, Jr. for a covered dish luncheon. The program for the evening was entitled "What's On the Menu?" The program took the form of a four course meal. As an appetizer, Mrs. Bob Patterson read brief messages from Mrs. Dexter Otis Arnold, President of General Federation of Womens' Clubs and Willie Mae Rogers Director of the Good Housekeeping Institute. The main course was served up by Mrs. Don Earney and Mrs. J.T. Johnson, who discussed "New Patterns in Eating" with particular emphasis on current theories about food and food values, and their influence on diet and health. Dessert came in the form of a talk by Mrs. H.C.
