Library Tea Set for April 12

Members of the United Methodist Church and their friends are invited to a Library Tea at United Methodist Fellowship Hall on Sunday, April 12 from 3 to 6 p.m. This is the beginning of National Library Week, the theme of which is "Reading It for Everyone."

The Library Committee, composed of Mrs. Pat Mixon, Mrs. Barbara Rogers, Mrs. John Haynes and Mrs. Jack Horton, chairman, has arranged to have books recently purchased for the new church library on exhibit, free pamphlets for distribution and refreshments.

Appropriate books will be given in honor of someone or as memorials. Gifts of money will be used to buy more books. The library will be expanded as finances permit.

Music will be furnished by the children and youth of the church.

Mrs. Pat Mixon will be church librarian and with the assistance of others hopes to have the library in operation by September.

Zambrano Wins Alderman Race

Joe "Pepe" Zambrano was re-elected alderman from Ward 1 in the city election last Saturday. He received 128 votes while his opponent Bob Stroot, got 42. Mayor Delmar R. Hiller and Alderman Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden of Ward 2 were unopposed for re-election. Hiller received 163 votes and Mrs. Harden 49.

In the school trustee election, Dr. H. F. Elliot from the Rockport area and Francis Rouquette from the Fulton area were unopposed for re-election.

In the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District election, Jack McDavid and Bill Sprigg were unopposed for re-election as directors.

Donna Smith Wins Honor

Donna Smith, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, was second place winner in the girls' division in collecting funds for the Cerebral Palsy Telephone which covered all cities in this area.

Her picture was taken by a photographer from KZTV when she was presented with a prize of a transistor radio at the Cerebral Palsy Office in Corpus Christi. Her photo was used on a Channel 10 news telecast.

Donna and her 11-year-old sister, Susan, wish to thank everyone who contributed to this worthwhile cause. They collected $75. First place was won by three teen-age girls from Beeville who collected $80.

'New Life Singers' Program April 22

The "New Life Singers," a new local singing group, will present their first public performance Wednesday, April 22, at the First Baptist Church. The program will be titled, "God Today in the U.S.A.," which is a folk song musical about God. They will be singing about the "now" generation, hoping to relate a message from God to their listeners.

The "New Life Singers" will hold a bake sale Saturday, April 11, in front of H.E.B. Family Center, starting at 9 a.m. The money will go toward uniforms and other stage equipment needed by the "New Life Singers."

With the Aransas County-Rockport Centennial Celebration scheduled for June 13-21, all local residents are urged to acquire a wardrobe of clothes that will be appropriate for the occasion.

And, more than that, they are asked to get ready to wear garments and hats reminiscent of the good old days every Friday, beginning April 17.

The plan is to enlist the support and enthusiasm of all couples in this community so that, beginning April 24, ladies and gentlemen attired in old-fashioned garb will stroll down the main street in a promenade, nodding to one another and stopping to chat.

The idea is for every Friday to be Dress-up Day and every Friday evening to have a promenade.

All business establishments are being urged to have their employees dress Centennial style every Friday. A number of local firms already have ordered appropriate wearing apparel for their personnel. Such items may be purchased at Centennial Headquarters at 105 S. Austin and at some local stores.

For the ladies, there are 19th century type dresses, bonnets, swim suits, single and four hoop petticoats and garters. For the men, there are gray and black top hats, black derbies, fancy bow ties, colorful vests and sleeve holders.

So, get with it folks, and plan to have some old-fashioned fun.

Seminars on Export Development Offered

John R. Kinsey, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reported today that James H. Harvey, director of Export Development, and A. Frank Alagna, Export Consultant, of the Texas Industrial Commission's Office of Export Development are available to meet with and conduct seminars for Texas manufacturers in this area who are interested in expansion into foreign export markets.

Schedules of upcoming international trade fairs and shows, lists of experts in the field of exporting, and freight and tariff information are other services provided by the Office of Export Development.

Kinsey said that local manufacturers wishing to meet with or to set up seminars may obtain further information about any of the services provided by the Texas Industrial Commission's Office of Export Development through the local Chamber of Commerce.

Quit Calling Me 'Baldy'

Five years from now there will be virtually no bald men, according to Bob Kelly, Corpus Christi men's hair stylist who spoke at the luncheon meeting of Rotary Club Wednesday at Corky's Restaurant. He said that most men will be wearing hairpieces which cost $300 to $700 each. Last year men spent more than $50 million for them, he added.

Kelly traced the history of barbering from 500 B.C., pointing out that the Macedonians were the first to recognize it as a profession.

Later, barbering was associated with both medicine and religion. Barbers pulled teeth, let blood and dressed wounds as late as the 19th century, Kelly said.

He said that the profession has made more progress in the past 10 years than during its previous history. He foresees the time when hair cuts will cost a minimum of $5 and will range in price up to $50 and more.

Jerry Iles, Rockport hair stylist, introduced Kelly.

Rabies Vaccination Dates Scheduled

Dr. Thomas J. Skinner, Aransas Pass veterinarian, will be at the Rockport Fire Station on April 18 and at the Fulton Fire Station on April 25 to vaccinate dogs against rabies.

The city requires that owners of dogs purchase license tags at the City Hall. To buy a tag, a person must present a certificate showing that his pet has been vaccinated.

After May 1, a dog catcher will begin picking up stray dogs that do not have license tags, according to city officials.

Wildlife Refuge Open House Set

Gordon H. Hansen, refuge manager, Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, invites residents of this area to participate in National Wildlife Refuge Open House Week, April 13-19.

"During this week," Hansen said, "Aransas National Wildlife Refuge will provide an increased effort to make the refuge and its staff available to the visiting public."

The fee charge will be removed during Open House Week and guided tours will be provided on Friday, April 17 at 3 p.m., and on Saturday, April 18 at 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The purpose of the Open House is two-fold, Hansen explained. "First, it will bring attention to the Bureau's concern for the status of our environment and the role that the National Wildlife Refuge plays in the subject of current critical concern," he said, adding:

"Secondly, this occasion will serve as the introduction of Bureau plans to study the establishment of 'Ecological Classrooms' on certain National Wildlife Refuges for educational purposes."

Don't Pay For Census Help

Mary A. Bodger of Corpus Christi, district manager of the Bureau of Census, reports: "It has been called to our attention that several individuals, not employed by the Bureau of the Census, are charging a fee for filling out a census form."

"The Census Bureau has not authorized anyone other than the official enumerator who has taken an oath of confidentiality to assist in filling out the census questionnaire. "Any assistance given by the enumerator is given free of charge as part of her job. If you need all assistance needed."

The Allegro Club of Key Allegro Isle will sponsor a rummage sale May 1st at the Community Center.

Centennial Booklet Seeks Sponsors

Would you like your name inscribed for posterity in the Aransas County - Rockport Centennial Souvenir historical booklet?

The Revenue Committee has announced that individuals, as well as business and organizations, may become sponsors and have their name listed in the sponsor list for $15.00.

If you wish to sponsor a full page and have your name appear by itself at the bottom of a page, the price is $100.00.

If you wish to sponsor a page jointly with another individual, the price is $65.00 each—or with 3 others, it's $35.00 each.

The committee is still appealing to local businesses and organizations to send in their sponsorship preferences.

To eliminate any confusion, the sponsorship in this 80-page booklet will be as follows: At the bottom of each page the sponsor or sponsors will appear.

For example: Full page $100.00, The John Doe Co.; Half page, $65.00, the John Doe Co.; Sam Jones, Inc.; Quarter page, $35.00, four names will appear as sponsors.

There will be no advertising as such, except for the name of the individual business, or organization. This booklet will be one of the most valued souvenirs of the Centennial, a truly treasured possession—to be given to friends and relatives and to be kept by those who were here when we celebrated our 100th birthday.

The previously announced deadline for sponsorships has been extended to permit everyone to participate.

Inside and outside back covers and the inside front cover are still available at higher costs than inside pages.

Sponsorship preferences and checks may be sent to Bob Mosier, Mary Taylor, or the Rev. Lester Hill, who is in charge of the booklet.

Artmobile Last Showing

Today and tonight (April 9) will be the last chance for local people to go through the Artmobile, parked next to the Rockport Art Association Gallery at 105 S. Austin, and see 15 paintings by world famous artists. Visiting hours are 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

A good many adults and students already have taken the opportunity to see these magnificent paintings and hear a 20-minute lecture by George Herrell, graduate student at Texas A&I University at Kingsville.

The showing here was made possible by the Art Museum of South Texas in Corpus Christi. The Artmobile was a gift to the people of South Texas from the Dougherty - Carr Foundation, which also is financing the traveling showings.

The Board of Navigation and Canal Commissioners met April 1 at the District's office, with Chairman Matthew W. Scott presiding. Present were Commissioners Ted R. Little and Richard J. Fox; Attorney Ellis L. Clark and Harbor-master B. C. DeForest. Hubert Johnson was a visitor.

Minutes of the March 4 regular meeting and March 17 special meeting were read and approved. The Treasurer's report was reviewed and placed on file. Bills payable were approved and checks signed.

Hubert Johnson appeared before the Board to discuss converting present docks No. 1 and 2, Rockport Harbor, into one larger dock in order to accommodate party boat he plans to have ready for operation in a month or two. He agreed to pay for cost of moving the present dock, in addition to $20 monthly dock rental. This was agreeable to Commissioners, provided satisfactory dockage can be found for boats now occupying Docks 1 and 2.

The Woman's Club of Aransas County was honored at the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce in the Colony Room at the Sandollar Motor Hotel last Saturday night.

In a well kept secret, the Woman's Club was named recipient of a special award for outstanding community service. The award was a beautiful gavel made by Philip D. Baldwin, head of the industrial art department at Rockport-Fulton High School.

In making the presentation to Mrs. Joe Slocum, president of the Woman's Club, Mrs. Juanita Wagley, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said:

"This award is being made primarily on the basis of the Woman's Club's hospitality for winter tourist ladies, a program which has been in progress for a number of years. The Woman's Club ladies provide refreshments and weekly card parties from November through March each year."

"This is one of the most successful local hospitality programs the area offers for these visitors," Mrs. Wagley said. "Not only are the parties well attended, but lasting friendships are formed and the ladies look forward from year to year to getting back to Rockport for this hospitality."

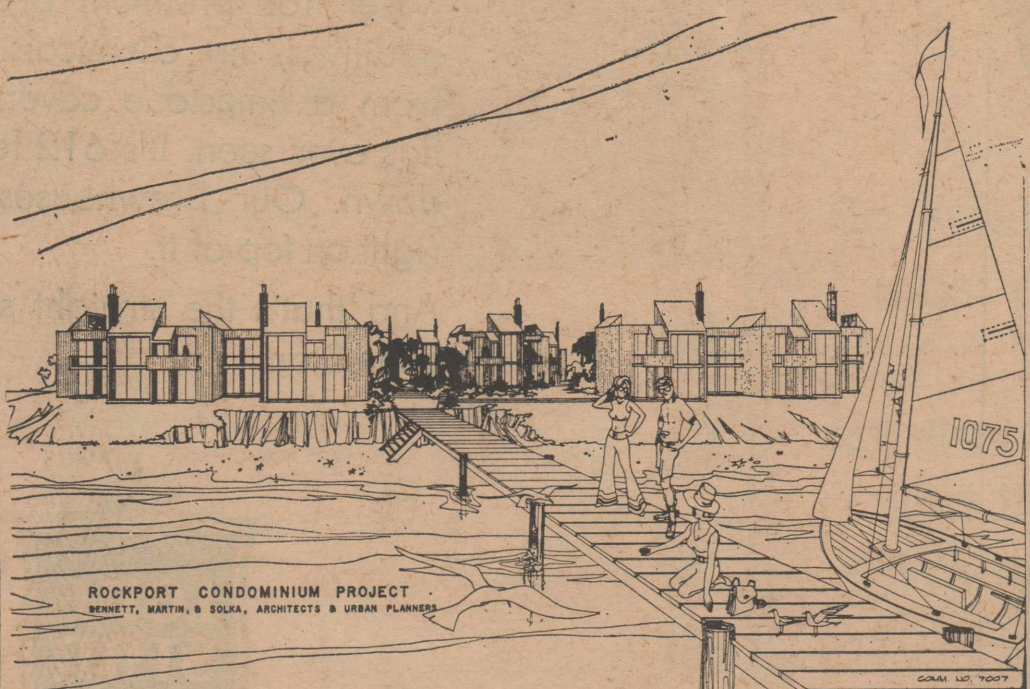

Another continuing program of the Woman's Club has been support of the Aransas County Library which was established in 1956 under the sponsorship of this group.

Mrs. Slocum was president of the Woman's Club when the library was established. She gives much credit to Mrs. Everal L. West "for the mechanics of setting up the initial library operation."

The award to the Woman's Club was the first in a new recognition program initiated by the Chamber of Commerce, and in future years special awards will be presented to other local civic organizations for outstanding community service.

The principal speaker at the banquet was Dr. Walter Kerr of Tyler, Texas, executive director of the National Youth Foundation, who combined (Continued on Page 8)

The game's only run came in the third inning when Glyn Landrum walked, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Mark Wright.

Rockport managed only four hits off starter Randall Jones and Joe Jimenez, who took over for Ingleside in the third inning and was charged with the loss.

Steve Arispe was the leading batter for Rockport with two singles in three tries.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

WRONG ROAD

Russia is on the wrong road. Ever since she covered her real fears of the Czechoslovakia political reforms with imaginary dangers, she has made mistake after mistake.

By her last warning to West Germany, she has brought about something that would have seemed impossible a short time ago — a united stand by Britain, the United States and France. These results must surely be closer to some men in the Kremlin. — London Times.

CAVED IT ALL

Rep. Albert Watson of the House un-American Activities Subcommittee wants to find out where the organizers of the demonstrations at the Chicago convention got their money.

It's no mystery. Pictures of the demonstrators indicate they've saved enough on soap, clothes and haircuts to finance several rebellions. — Norfolk (Neb.) Daily News.

WHY MOSQUITOES LIKE YOU

The researchers plan to put their results to use in testing lures to draw mosquitoes to traps. They might also have suggested moving slowly when mosquitoes are about, to keep down perspiration. — Milwaukee Journal.

IF MEXICANS LIKE OUR CHILI...

Although the persistent worry over the balance of payments has by now pressed permanent little furrows into the brows of the economists, there is now and then a heartening development. Such as the news recently that the U. S. is exporting chili into Mexico.

To anyone who has sampled genuine Mexican chili sauce, that isn't too surprising. While our neighbors south of the border all have an unbelievable tolerance for hot sauce, they may be running out of spoons, the stuff probably dissolves them. Better to import milder sauce than stronger silverware?

For whatever reason American sauce is proving popular in Mexico, however, the fact that it is in demand there should encourage American food packers to look for other new markets elsewhere.

Who knows, maybe boxed pizza makings would be a big hit in Italy. American sukiyaki sauce might sell by the gallon in Tokyo. Heavens, if we could just get the Scots and the Irish to drink Kentucky bourbon, the trade deficit might be a thing of the past. — Phoenix Gazette.

SHORT AS THEY COME

All young men and women who have studied journalism or worked on the school paper had one thing pounded into them—they must write short sentences.

Particularly at the start of a story. The "lead" sentence has to be short, so as to catch the reader's eye.

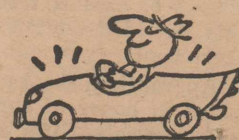

Sometimes this can be overdone. At least the late James Thurber thought so, because when he worked on the New York Post as a young man his editor was constantly jumping him about short lead sentences.

Thurber finally stopped this with a page one story that began:

"Dead.

"That's what killed Joe Ottovellio was when police found him in an alley yesterday." — Kentucky Irish American.

Hold Your Census '70 Questionnaire

District manager, Mary Bodger reports good progress in this area of the 1970 Census Population and Housing. Census takers started the house-to-house canvass April to pick up the filled-out questionnaire distributed earlier by the Post Office.

The district manager pointed out that residents can speed up the big count by having their questionnaires filled out and ready for the census takers. This action will save time for both the householder and the census taker, the district manager said.

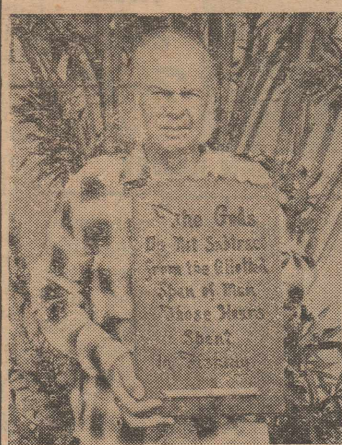

Answers should be made in pencil so that if a mistake is made, it can be erased. Most answers are to be made by blacking in a tiny circle beside the right answer. This makes a black dot which can be read by an electronic device at the Census Bureau, which will, in turn, speed up the processing of the information.

At every fifth household, the census taker asks additional questions covering population and housing characteristics which are being asked of a 20 percent sample of the population.

The district manager emphasized that all information about individuals and their homes furnished to the Census Bureau is held in absolute confidence under federal law. It is used only to provide summary figures such as totals, averages, and percentages. The information about individuals cannot be examined by any one other than census employees who are sworn to secrecy, and thus cannot be used for investigation, taxation, or regulation.

Michigan Man Wins Fish Prize

Douglas Sias, 3225 Isabella Road, Midland, Mich., recently won weekly and monthly prizes in the redfish category of the fishing tournament sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce for winter visitors.

Sias, a retired noise consultant for Dow Chemical Company, caught an eight-pound redfish in Aransas Pass, south of Rockport. The tournament ended March 31. This was Sias' first vacation in Rockport, but he said he plans to come back and win more fishing prizes next winter.

His prizes included a fish-trip on the Whooping Crane motor vessel which operates out of the Sea Gun Sports Inn, and a gift certificate from Roatan Drug Store.

Library News

National Library Week is here again from April 12 through 18. Senator Ralph Yarborough is the state chairman for this program with the dual themes, "Reading is for Everyone," and "Read-Listen in your Library."

This is an established, continuing yearly program to stimulate and improve the use of libraries of all kinds. Thousands of libraries, publishers, editors, broadcasters, business, religious, and professional leaders spend countless hours and money for the success of this program.

It is clearly in the public interest to improve and encourage the reading habit, and the greater distribution of books. The President of the United States and four previous Presidents have joined other government officials to remind Americans that the freedom to read is the privilege and responsibility of members of a free, democratic society.

How does your own library stack up, and what can you do about it? Your own library has shown definite growth each year, and there is a growing realization of its value to the community. Two years ago, the per capita was as low as 22 cents, last year it rose to 20 cents and the this year there has been a jump to 50 cents per capita which is still far below what it should be.

During the month of March, library cards were issued. The 33 adult and 41 juvenile new book circulation increased to 1867 for the month, and the count of visitors was 1598, a daily average of 76 persons visited the library.

Gifts of books have been recently received from Mrs. Charles Roe, Sr., Hazek Washko, Susan Ballard, Bobby Taylor and Paula Rogers. Several memorials contributions were made by Mrs. Byron Bushart. Rotary birthday donations were made by Fred Bracht, Arlo Hansen, the Rev. Lester Hill, Vernon Kleypas, R. L. McNally, L. D. Nuckles, Robert Stroot, and the Rev. Robert Ullrich.

Make an effort to visit your library especially during the week of April 12-18, and remember "Reading is for Everyone," so "Read-Listen in your Library."

With the weather wonderful, the spring flowers beautiful, the birds singing their melodious songs, and just about everyone smiling and being friendly, this is a great time to be living in the Rockport area.

Would that I had the ability to put into words the joy that I believe most people feel when they take walks or leisurely drive, or just look out the windows of their homes.

Spring is sprouting out all over. Even some of the weeds are pretty. And it would take a point to capture in words the splendor of the bluebonnets and the other varieties of wild flowers that you see everywhere.

And what a privilege it is to have the opportunity to escort a visitor on a tour of this area, a pleasure I have had several times during the past couple of weeks.

As you head north on Broadway and the Ski Basin comes in view, the visitor generally exclaims about the view toward the Bay and he also comments about the carpet of bluebonnets and other wild flowers decorating the ground in that park-like area that divides Highway 35 into two one-way drives for several hundred feet.

And as you take Fulton Beach Road, you and the visitor enjoy the serene beauty of Little Bay, the graceful shorebirds, the beautiful homes, and many well-manicured lawns outlined with colorful flower beds.

Other things which attract the attention of the visitor are shrimp boats docked at the Turning Basin and at Fulton Harbor, and the ever-present sight of people fishing—and catching fish.

The tour generally proceeds north on Highway 35, across Copano Causeway, through Goose Island State Park and the Lamar area and then through Aransas National Wildlife Refuge where nature's handiwork is everywhere. In addition to seeing deer and other animals, the visitor takes time to climb the tower and focus his binoculars on the whooping cranes.

On the return trip to Rockport, it is interesting and enjoyable to turn west on FM 1781, just this side of Copano Causeway and take in the sights along Copano Bay. One thrill is to spot a group of sandhill cranes, park your car and (as Connie Hagar says) just look, look, look.

'Patriotic Belles' Are Formed

Following the VFW Auxiliary Tuesday night the Centennial Belle meeting was held to organize and elect officers. The name selected was the "Patriotic Belles."

Other members are Mrs. Cleo Smith, Mrs. Rose Lee Mullinax, Mrs. Ruth Peters, Mrs. Genevieve Hunt, Mrs. Nina Garrett, Mrs. G. H. Eller, Mrs. Alma Hunt, Miss Lillie Fahr, Mrs. Archie Lewis, Mrs. Henry Batton, Mrs. Carl Hardin, Mrs. Mamie Swank, Mrs. Myra Allen, Mrs. Mary Manship and Mrs. Mary Alice Gray.

'Pioneer Belles' Form Chapter

A group of Centennial Belles met at the home of Mrs. Byron Bushart on March 15 for the purpose of forming an organization, or chapter. The group will be known as "The Pioneer Belles of Rockport and Aransas County."

Mrs. Bushart was elected president, Mrs. Charles Gibson secretary, Miss Genevieve Bracht, treasurer and Mrs. Fred Bracht, sheriff.

This chapter will remain a permanent organization, whose members and the second and third generation of pioneer families in this area, also wives of such descendants.

Those present were very enthusiastic over the Centennial Celebration, and interesting plans are under way for participation in the gala affairs.

World's smallest and oldest republic is San Marino, dating from 350 A.D. and covering 23.4 miles. It is completely surrounded by Italian territory.

T. Jeremiah Beam. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Son of the famous Col. Jim Beam, T. Jeremiah is the fifth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795. As a matter of fact, 1970 marks the 175th anniversary of the year that Jacob Beam, founder of the Beam clan, sold his first barrel of Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey.

That's a mighty long time for one family to make one product, according to one formula.

So the next time you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

The altar setting was baskets of white gladioli, accented by leather leaf. Mrs. Joe H. Livingston, cousin of the bride, played the traditional wedding music, accompanied by Mrs. Bromie Hollman, aunt of the bride who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." At the closing of the ceremony Mrs. Hollan sang the "Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of silk organza. The bride's A-line gown had an empire waist with a sash, neckline, and full cuffed sleeves with chantilly lace embroidered with pearls.

The wattleau train, held at the shoulders with a bow, had appliques of chantilly lace embroidered with pearls to the hemline. Petals etched in pearls held in the bride's tiered veil of illusion. The bride carried a cascade of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Connie Christine Littleton was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a floor length, empire waisted moss rose peau de soie gown. Her headpiece was a matching bow and she carried a nosegay of pink carnations with pink tulle and pink satin streamers.

After a wedding trip to Mexico the couple will reside in Houston.

The bride is a graduate of Sam Houston High School, Houston. The groom is a graduate of Sam Houston High School, receiving his bachelor of science degree at Sam Houston State University.

After the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was laid with white net over taffeta. Silver belly with silver leaf ivy formed the table top. A large white memory candle, entwined with lemon leaf and lily of valley, centered the bride's table with the maid of honor and bride's bouquet flanking the candle. ice and snow on the streets in New York. On the following Thursday, along the highways to Rockport we saw the ground covered with bluebonnets and other spring flowers.

"My wife and I enjoyed your cordial friendliness here in Texas. We were thrilled by the beauty of the whole Rockport, Fulton Beach and Lamar area. Others appreciated it too, for there was many an artist's easle set up catching the shrimp boats, yachts, windblown trees, beautiful beaches and birds.

"Speaking of birds, both Edwin Way Teale and Maine-born Olin Sewall Pettingill, Jr., rightly consider Rockport, Texas the mecca for birders in the United States.

"As they point out, it on a magnificently crowded flyway; a wintering ground for many, many species; and is near tremendous breeding colonies of water birds. Audubon himself estimated that two-thirds of the species of the birds in the United States could be found here, an estimate proven by ornithologists to be amazingly accurate today."

Being enthusiastic and well versed birdwatchers, Mr. and Mrs. Smith were well aware of Rockport's Connie Hagar and her recognition throughout the United States as a knowledgeable ornithologist and they had the opportunity to visit with her. Mrs. Hagar's checklist shows well over 300 species of birds that can be seen in Texas during the year.

Smith said, "Of course, we were most eager to catch a glimpse of the almost extinct whooping cranes. Captain F. M. Brown of the Sea Gun Sports Inn's Whooping Crane Boat took us to within easy viewing distance of 17 of these birds. The next day, from the tower at Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, we watched seven more fly by; thus we saw 24 of the 52 existing whooping cranes.

"The seafood here has been perfect. Our sincere hope is that a lot of you Rockport, Texas folk can come up to Rockport, Maine this summer or fall and enjoy our steamed clams and famous Maine lobsters."

Proclamation

TO THE PEOPLE OF ROCKPORT

WHEREAS, the Future Homemakers of America, the national organization for home economics students in junior and senior high schools of the nation, is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year; and,

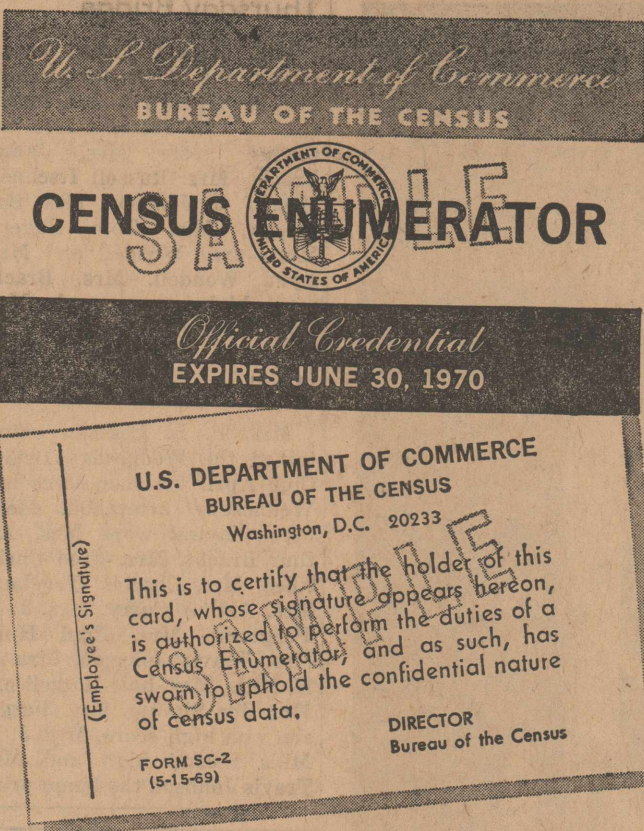

WHEREAS, the future of our Community, State, and Nation depends to a large extent upon the strength of our homes and the Future Homemakers of America is an organization concerned with building strong foundations for future homes and developing leaders for our communities; and,

WHEREAS, the week of April 5 through 11 has been designated as NATIONAL FFA WEEK to be observed by the 604,000 members of Future Homemakers of America;

NOW THEREFORE, I Delmar R. Hiller, do hereby proclaim the week beginning April 5 as FUTURE HOME-MAKERS OF AMERICA WEEK in Rockport, Texas, and urge all citizens to acquaint themselves with the activities of the Future Homemakers of America organization, to show interest in it and to give help and encouragement to the members who are working hard to achieve knowledge that will make outstanding homemakers and leaders in our communities.

Done at Rockport, Texas this 3rd day of April in the year of our Lord, 1970.

Signed: Delmar R. Hiller, Mayor.

Cancer: An "Action Gap"

The American Cancer Society has repeatedly pointed out that cancer is no longer an automatic death sentence. Far from it. It is, in fact, one of the most curable of the major diseases.

Yet the Society also points out that more than 100,000 Americans, who might have been cured, will die of cancer this year. If their disease had been diagnosed and treated in time, chances are they would be alive and well.

Why won't they be? Many—perhaps most—of them have doubtless heard of the need for early diagnosis and treatment. Thanks largely to the cooperation of the nation's press, the Society has been able to bring its life-saving message, to the attention of a big percentage of the American people. Great numbers of people know that something should—and can—be done about cancer. They have "gotten the message."

The trouble is, too often they don't act on it. It is not only the annual physical checkup which is involved, of course. Knowledge of the Seven Warning Signals, and the taking of a few elementary precautions can also be life-savers. Avoidance of cigarettes and the wearing light, protective clothing when exposed to the sun for long periods can actually prevent cancer, of the lung and skin respectively.

What is at the heart of the matter is obviously not so much a "communications gap" as an "action gap." The Society's message of sense and safety are reaching millions . . . but all too many of us aren't really listening.

The American Cancer Society needs your support to do its job: a job it is doing magnificently well—on its part. But the other half of the job is ours: to act on the knowledge given us. No one else can force us to. Saving our lives begins with us.

CAN'T STOP NOW

The American Cancer Society needs your help to continue support of cancer research in 125 universities, hospitals and institutes. Too much is at stake to stop now.

Census Takers Easy to Identify

Householders will not have any difficulty identifying enumerators for the 1970 Census of Population and Housing Manager Mary Bodger pointed out today. Enumerators, or census takers (most of whom are women), started making their rounds in the area on April 1 and are expected to complete their work in three to five weeks.

Each census taker will wear a red, white, and blue identification card. This card bears the seal of the Department of Commerce, and the words "Census Enumerator, Official Credential" are printed across its face. It bears the census taker's signature and certifies that she is authorized to perform the duties of a census enumerator and has sworn to keep confidential all census information you provide.

Persons purporting to be census takers who do not have this identification card should be reported immediately to the local police or to the census district office.

Census takers will be further identified by the portfolio containing their supplies. The portfolio is blue and bears the legend, "1970 Census." In the portfolio, the census taker carries her supplies of report forms, maps, pencils, and other tools necessary for her work.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. Ninth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—A friend of mine has told me that the President has abolished all occupational deferments. Is this true?

A—No. Occupational deferments are still being granted. The lists of currently essential activities and critical occupations issued by the Departments of Commerce and Labor were suspended. Draft boards still consider requests for occupational deferments on the merits of each individual case.

Q—Less than 30 days ago, my draft board mailed notice of my I-A classification, then ordered me to take my pre-induction physical, which I passed. Yesterday I mailed the board written notice of appeal, but today I received my induction order. Is this order valid?

A—No. Draft regulations provide that a local board must not issue an induction order to a man either during the period afforded to take an appeal, or during the period an appeal is pending. Your order, therefore, is ineffective and must be cancelled by the local board.

Q—I'm 27 years old. Earlier, I had my liability extended to age 35. Is there a chance of my being inducted?

A—If more men are needed, you may be called. At present, with the exception of physicians, only men who have not reached age 26 are being ordered for induction.

EMPLOYMENT AT REYNOLDS?

MY ANSWER IS NO!

As I visit with voters in Aransas, LaSalle, Live Oak, McMullen and San Patricio Counties, the question most frequently asked of me is:

If elected as State Representative, will you accept employment of any type from Reynolds Metals Company?

This is not only fair but also a timely question. People are concerned about constant reports of conflict of interest. They feel that no man can serve two masters — that any man offering for public office should serve ONLY the people of his district.

I agree — totally and completely. I think it is morally wrong for a man to hold an elective office, and at the same time, accept employment from a special interest whose political objectives are contrary to those of the people.

For these reasons — and because the question has been asked so often — I take this means to make known to all my position: If you honor me by election as your State Representative, I will serve ONLY you. I will under no circumstances accept employment during my term of office with Reynolds Metals Company — or any other large corporation.

As an honorable man, I could pledge no more. As an interested citizen, you should accept no less.

Letter to the Editor

It is 9:15 a.m., Tuesday, Mar. 31 and I have just spent two hours picking up litter out of our yard at Magnolia and Market. For 9 1/2 years, on garbage pick up days, Tuesday and Friday, that has been a necessity. This is a kind of self defense letter because I'm like the lady who has two much month left over at the end of the money. I have too much litter left in the yard at the end of my energy.

Here is an idea that might be used in connection with the Centennial celebration. The mayor could declare open season on litter bugs. A litter bug caught in the act could be fined one cent by anyone, children collecting fines could keep the money and adults collecting fines could donate it to Centennial if they wished to. No organizing or records to bother with. Everything should be kept on a friendly basis and litter bug or fine collector should cheerfully pick up litter and put it in proper containers.

This arrangement could be in effect until after Centennial and then have a vote, children and all, to see if we want to continue keeping Rockport neat and clean. If we do, the children might take over and we'd all benefit.

Sincerely,
 Eva Henderson.

P.S. One get-rich-quick location is the post office, where cigarette butts are thrown wholesale into those well kept pretty flower beds. A pottery container of sand outside at the doorway could reform a lot of litter bugs.

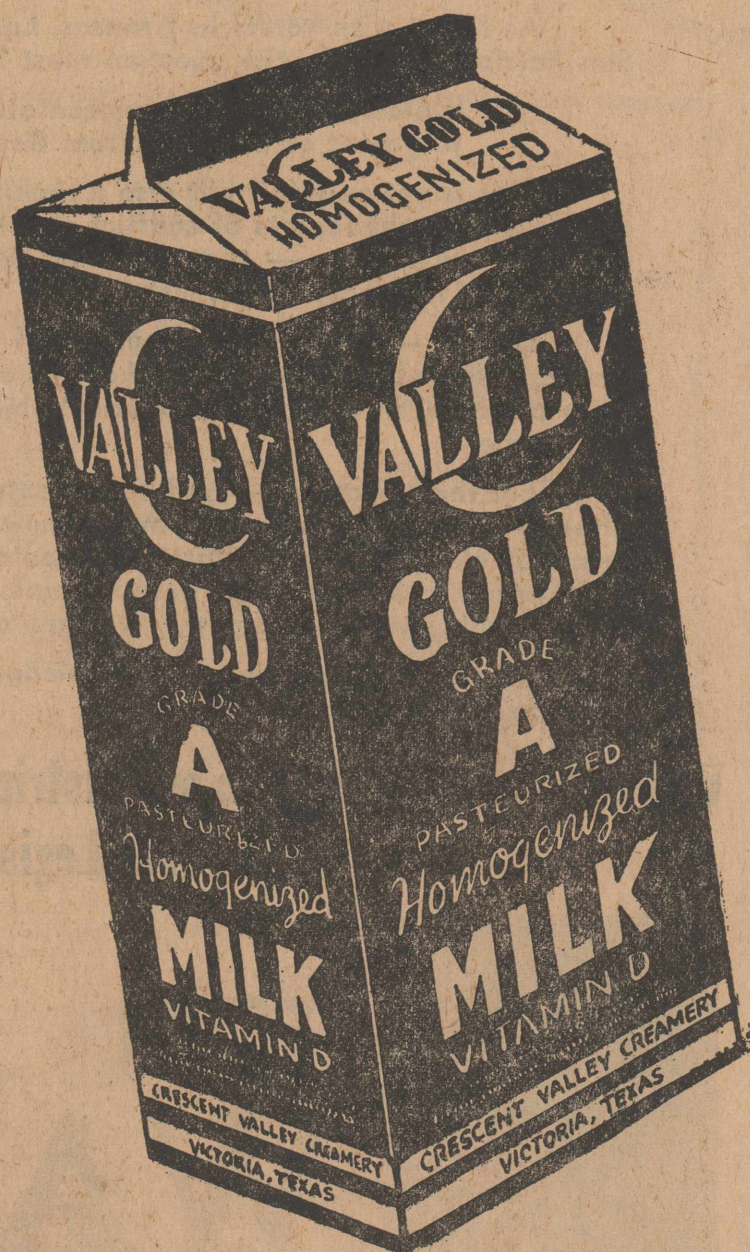

Big Fish

Rex Standifer of Edmond, Okla., caught a nine pound four ounce trout in the Ski Basin on April 3. If he had caught it during the fishing tournament sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce for winter visitors, he undoubtedly would have won a prize. The C of C tournament ended March 31.

Chamber Happenings

The highly successful Chamber of Commerce fishing tournament for winter visitors came to a close March 31. Scores of fishermen entered the contest during the winter months, submitting their entries at Morrison's Sportsman's Center in Rockport and Wilson & Son in Fulton, weighing stations.

Weekly, monthly and grand prizes provided by Chamber of Commerce members were awarded in the trout, redfish and flounder categories. The competing visitors commented many times that they enjoyed the fun, the rivalry, the hospitality of C of C people, and the prizes.

Not only was the event publicized with pictures and articles in the Rockport Pilot, but in addition photos and articles were sent to the home town newspapers of all winners and in this way the Rockport area received nationwide publicity.

The three grand prize winners had returned to their homes before March 31, so no pictures could be taken, but checks for $20 were sent to:

Alfred Rinehart, Waterloo, Iowa, who caught the largest redfish;

W. W. Russell, Pampa, Tex., largest flounder; and George Pifer, Elkhart, largest trout.

Harper Real Estate is providing the refreshments this week for the hospitality program for visitors at the Chamber of Commerce Building. Cookies, fruit juice and coffee are offered to all visitors.

Importation of fish and wildlife has reached tremendous proportions in the United States.

In one year alone (1967) we received from the other countries 28 million live fish and more than 800,000 animals. These are figures released by the Department of Interior.

Usually we consider importations mostly in the exotics which are now showing up in hunting pastures across Texas. Actually these imports do not reach the pastures for shooting. Large mammals are consigned to zoos and landowners are only able to acquire their offspring.

At first ranchers imported all foreign game introduced on their property. Today, however, they are able to buy from other landowners who are raising them much as they would fine cattle.

Among our fish importation, were 30,157 shellfish. Balance were mostly tropical fish for home aquariums. Shellfish were obtained for replanting the New England tidal flats, much as Texas is attempting to replant its oyster beds.

Those who worry about snakes may also be interested to know that 405,134 reptiles were imported into this country in 1967. They, too, were shipped to zoos and for experimental purposes. And these do not include the little snakes that sometimes slip in to this country in bunches of bananas.

Other imports included 203,189 birds, 137,697 amphibians and 64,304 mammals. Regulations do not place limits on exotic or rare species. Among these 1967 imports were steppe eagles, pigmy hippos and giant tortoises.

You might say a lot of monkey business is involved in this heavy importation, and you are right. Of the mammals, 62,526 were primates, and more than half of those were rhesus monkeys from southeast Asia. Many of them are used in medical research as well as for pets.

Ports of New York, Miami, Los Angeles and San Francisco handle most of these imports, which must all pass through quarantine inspection before they can be released or sold.

It is strange commentary but in some instances exotics, which have been imported by the United States are now getting in scarce supply in their native land. The black-buck antelope is a typical example. It has been estimated that there are now more blackbucks on Texas ranches than are found in their homeland of Pakistan.

Texas ranchers have been able to raise these fleet-footed animals with great success. They are now a much sought-after species of wildlife. It costs around $300 to shoot blackbuck antelope on a Texas ranch, but much more than that in Asia or India.

Biologists are closely watching the growth of the exotic business in the state. They have not as yet come around to the belief that exotics are competitors for food for native game.

At the present time they are introducing pheasants and other upland game into the state. This game has done real well in some of the mid-western areas. Perhaps some day we will have them in real shootable quantities in Texas.

Mrs. Stan Heath, Mrs. A. D. King, Mrs. M. D. Oliver and Mrs. Leonard Hensley were hostesses to 17 tables of bridge at the Sandollar, April 6. Mrs. June Johnson won high, Mrs. Ed Frenzel and Mrs. C. C. Welhausen tied for second high, and consolation prize went to Mrs. D. T. Adams.

Impala '400' Sale.

You save when you buy it. You save when you drive it.

When you buy any Impala V8 model during our "400" Sale, here's how you can get two popular extras at no extra charge.

You order your Impala equipped with a Turbo Hydra-matic transmission, radio, Comfortilt steering wheel, front and rear bumper guards and white stripe tires. Items you'd probably order anyway.

Then we add our big 400-cubic-inch V8 at 265 hp that runs on regular gas, along with dual exhausts—both at no charge. (The manufacturer's suggested retail price including Federal excise tax for the regular fuel 400 V8 and dual exhausts is $93.75.)

But that's only the beginning. Because your Chevrolet dealer is really anxious to deal these days.

And the Impala you're buying, of course, got to be America's No. 1 car, because of all the value features built right in. Features like flush-and-dry rocker panels that fight rust. Inner fenders to protect the outer fenders. Long lasting bias belted ply tires, steel guard beams in every door for added protection, an acrylic lacquer finish over its solid Body by Fisher.

All of which contributes to Impala's traditionally high resale value, too.

You're getting America's No. 1 car on sale. The car more people buy—year after year after year.

How can you beat that?

Putting you first, keeps us first.
