Olympics Are Saturday

By Mozelle Trotter

Faster than a speeding bullet? Quicker than the great Jesse Owens? More agile than Kurt Thomas?

Nay, not so! The runners, hurdlers and other athletes (?) competing in the Olton Olympics boast little similarity to such acclaimed greats.

Yet no other meet has ever offered the whoopee that is promised at the Olton Olympics. The extravaganza gets underway sharply at 7 p.m. in Olton Memorial Stadium. Admission is a minimum contribution of $1 for adults; 50 cents for children under 12 with proceeds to benefit Olton Cemetery Association.

Olton Lions Club is sponsoring the event which offers competitive fun for the entire family beginning with the Tiny Tots 50-yard dash for three to six-year-olds. There is also the Old Masters 100-yard relay for 'the over 50'.

Other events include the Grandma's 440 Walk, Fat Man's Dash, Fat Man's Low Hurdles, Skinny Man's Relay, Football Widow Sweep (all women eligible, object to sweep a football 50 yards), Farmers Shovel Throw, Frisbee Throw, Softball Throw and Obstacle Race.

Also offered will be the School Boy Mile for under 20 years, School Girl 880 for under 20, and the open 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 440 run and mile run.

There will be 220 relays for women 40 and older and men 40 and older and 440 relays for women 20 to 29 and 30 to 39 and for men in the same age divisions.

For super special treats, the meet sponsors will bring in the 'horses' for races for both cowboys and cowgirls. The broomstick riders will be broken into age divisions, 25-35 and 36 and older.

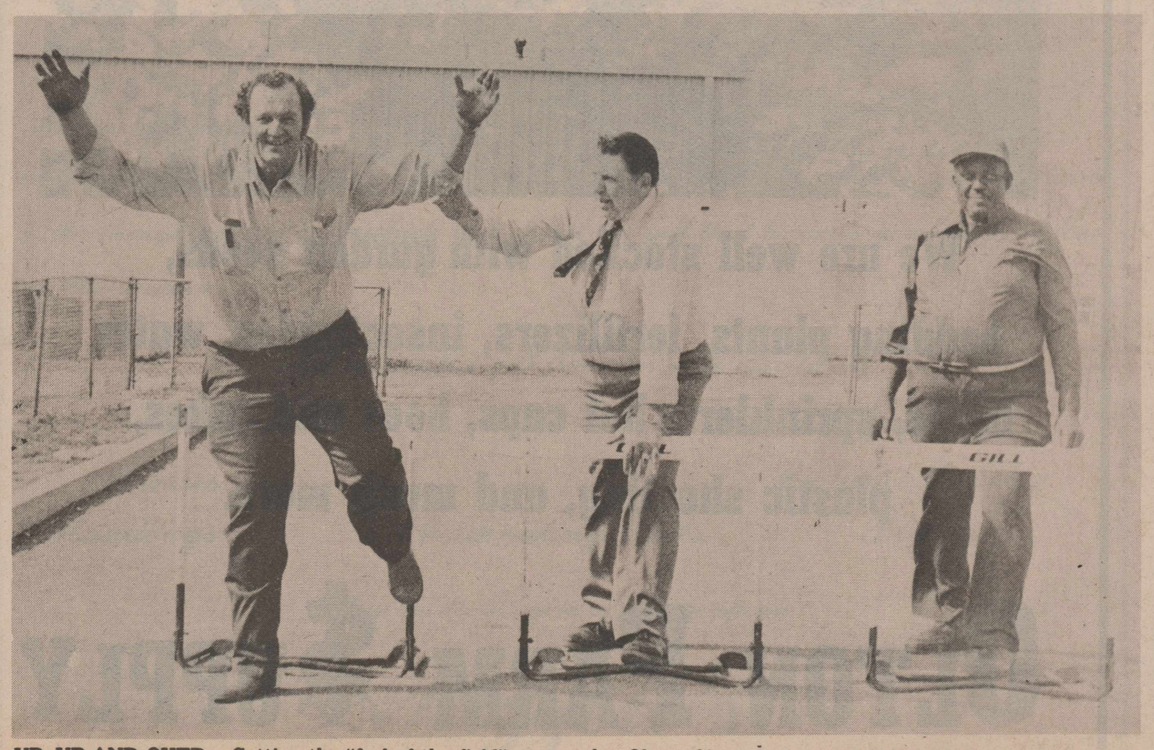

All merchants in Olton are asked to compete in the Merchants Dash, a 50-yard sprint on the cinder track.

Entry deadline has been extended to Wednesday, May 7, and entry blanks may be left at the Enterprise, Olton State Bank, Southwestern Public Service, Chamber of Commerce Office or Givens Texaco.

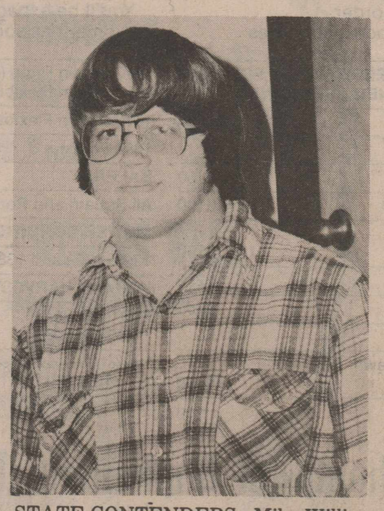

Participation fees of $2.50 entitle the contestant to enter up to three running events and one field event. A special fee of $5 entitles entire families to participate.

A concession stand will also be provided, offering cold drinks, pop corn, snow cones, candy, sandwiches, doughnuts and other goodies.

In the event of rain, the meet will be postponed to Saturday, May 17.

UP, UP AND OVER -- Getting the "feel of the field" are these Olympics hopefuls who are set to enter the Fat Man's Hurdles. Their's is just one of the fun events included in the Olton Olympics which gets underway at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 10.

Common Sense Tips

Hints For Homeowners

REFRIGERATORS

An efficiently operating refrigerator can expand the life of many foods, help cut down on spoilage and food waste, and help you save money. Some older models may not keep foods as cold as they should be in some areas...especially in the door or at the bottom of the unit.

According to home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, a good way to determine if your refrigerator is maintaining proper temperatures is to check the milk. If the milk is chilled to your liking the refrigerator section is just about right. But don't check just one spot...move the milk around to be sure. If you have any doubts, place a glass of water in the refrigerator for 24 hours and then test with a thermometer. The recommended refrigerator temperature should be no higher than 40 degrees.

Most refrigerators have adjustable coldness settings, but this varies by brand. If you need to change the temperature of your refrigerator check your owner's manual for instructions.

The Olton Welcome Wagon made its first call this week. Our new citizens are Judy and Steve Lee and their son, Eric, a fifth grade student and their daughter, Holly, a high school freshman. The Lees moved here recently from Cotton Center where Steve is engaged in farming. Judy enjoys reading, playing the organ and piano, and most any sports with the kids. Steve coaches a Little Dribbler team and Judy plans to coach in the future. They have one pet, a cat named Persia.

The Lees are members of Main Street Church of Christ.

I would like to run a summer job service for teenagers. If anyone needs some special work done this summer - lawn work, garages cleaned out, windows washed, baby sitting, house plant sitting, errands run, etc - please call the Chamber office with your request. In turn, if you are a student who would like to do these types of jobs, please call me and tell me what you can do. I will try to get the two of you together.

This week's public service award goes to Mr. Scheller who goes once a week to clean the cemetery. He works hard at a much needed service and he well deserves a little recognition.

Saturday is our primary election and everyone should get out and vote. The ballot is a responsibility as well as a privilege and those who do not exercise it are saying they do not care about who gets into office. These are usually the people who complain loudest when the government doesn't suit them.

Vonnetta Elkins Stockham Assists Missionary Project

Vonnetta (Mrs. D.W.) Stockham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.G. Elkins, has been involved with members of First Baptist Church of Tequesta, Fla., and other Baptist churches and individuals in that county in making ready a home for missionaries.

The Nettie Young Clark home along the Loxahatchee River in Tequesta will be home for Southern Baptist missionaries on leaves. The first family, the Tim Owings and baby, will stay only two months before leaving for work in Brazil. Next residents of the home will be on six months furlough from Kenya and will be followed by a missionary family who will stay two years.

Nettie Young Clark was the daughter of early area pioneers who homesteaded some 66 acres surrounding the site of the home. Mrs. Clark died in 1977, bequeathing her property to the Southern Baptist Florida State Convention.

Boy Scouts cleared brush and debris from Hurricane David from the yard of the home that had been abandoned more than two years. Other volunteers did carpentry, electrical and plumbing work in addition to other improvements.

Mrs. Stockham and the group she worked with made draperies, bedspreads and other accessories and purchased new furniture at a wholesale price to furnish the home.

'To Have and Too Old'

The bride with white hair is stooped over her cane,
Her faltering footsteps need guiding,
While down the church aisle with a wan toothless smile,
The groom in a wheelchair comes riding.
And who is that elderly couple you ask?
You'll find when you've closely explored it,
That here is that rare, most conservative pair,
Who waited until they could afford it.

'Good morning, God'
You are ushering in another day
Untouched and freshly new
So here I come to ask you, God
If you'll renew me, too.
Forgive the many errors
That I made yesterday
And let me try again, Dear God,
To walk closer in thy way.
But, Father, I am well aware
I can't make it on my own
So take my hand and hold it tight
For I can't walk alone!

NAOMI COONER

B.C. COONER

Naomi Bowden Cooner traces her origin back to Great Brittain, by way of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Comanche County, Texas.

She became interested in genealogy some 15 years ago and found it fascinating to delve through records... wherever they were to be found. She says one of the most informative and interesting trips she has made was to Salt Lake City. There, because of their extensive research, they have more information than is available any other place in the nation. In the late 1960's Naomi spent a week at this center, and came away better informed about her 'family tree'. She has in her possession copies of several wills of ancestors who lived in Virginia, and has proof of 12 generations of her family, whose French spelling of the name was "Baudowyn or Bowdoin". Her great-great grandfather, William Bowden of Virginia Cavalry fought in the Revolutionary War.

Naomi lacks only a few steps in being eligible as candidate for membership in the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR). But following her husband's death, she has not felt a desire to pursue the matter.

B. C. Cooner held membership in the SAR (Sons of the American Revolution) Lubbock Chapter. His family came to America from Switzerland and Germany. His name is derived from the original spelling "Kuhner".

Mrs. Cooner was reared in Knox County where her father was a farmer. She was graduated from Munday High School.

Her first employment, following graduation, was a summer job of carrying the mail, for which she earned $135 per month, more money than she was able to earn monthly as a teacher for the next 15 years.

Her mail route was some 28 or 30 miles in length. Her mode of transportation was with horse and buggy. She remembers that she left home each morning quite early and arrived back home after dark. During one particularly heavy rain she recalls the mail stacked up and it was very difficult to get it all delivered. Delivering in a German settlement, she found the people along the route most kind and helpful. When she dropped letters off at the wrong address, they delivered them to the proper addressee.

Her most harrowing experience during the summer was the day she backed her buggy off into a creek...and had to be pulled out to safety.

With a great desire for education, Naomi went to North Texas State College at Denton. She started teaching with one year of schooling. She continued by correspondence and summer study to better qualify herself as a teacher.

Her first school, which was of seven months duration, paid $100. per month. Her next was at $90. A nine-year teaching experience in Wichita Falls was very rewarding. She was paid $122.22 for elementary classroom teaching, and extension classes from her alma mater was allowed as residence work toward her degree.

She was teaching in Munday when a friend introduced her to a cousin, Bunyan C. Cooner of O'Brien...who had come calling, bringing a watermelon.

Cooner was farming at the time on his home place in O'Brien. He had worked a few years in his hometown bank, and at another time in a Knox City bank. In the meantime, when his father died, he had moved home with his mother to take over farm operations.

Attracted to each other, this courtship ended in the Cooner-Bowden marriage, with vows pledged in the Chapel of First Baptist Church, Wichita Falls in 1937.

The Cooners made their home in O'Brien for nine years following the marriage. Naomi did not teach the first year, but at the end of that time she placed her application with Rochester School, only five miles away. She applied for a position teaching math, but because of her handwriting...was offered a place teaching penmanship and spelling.

At this time she was still a bit short of earning her degree, and she had to secure further training through the Denton College...this time to obtain a permanent certificate in penmanship. During the War Years, Mrs. Cooner was shifted to serve as elementary principal.

The Cooners had lived, originally, with his mother as they farmed the 'home place.' Always a lover of Shorthorn cattle, Cooner had some registered animals before their marriage, and he continued to raise them most of the rest of his life.

The couple soon felt they should start buying their own place. In successive years they had beautiful crops growing...only to have them stunted by drought. She laments, "It was hard to make ends meet."

In 1948 Cooner made a trip to the high plains country, to look at land and prospects. He found a farm, northwest of this city, owned by a Fred Cooper. Equipped with one irrigation well, to counteract seasons of drought, and it so appealed to Cooner that he bought it that very day.

"When he came home...I have never seen him so thrilled," she relates. "So at Christmas of that year we made the big change. We came to the place by way of Fieldton. As we drove through the sandhills toward the farm I was very discouraged, but I didn't say anything. When we approached the south edge of the farm I was a little dismayed to see a lake. . .I secretly hoped for something better. But, when we came to the north side I was greatly pleased to see that beautiful level land.

"I immediately liked everything, especially the climate. It was much cooler in the summer, and I had not like the place we had left. We raised good crops and were very thrilled about this. We had little hail, and never a complete failure. Neither of us were ever sorry about making the change."

Olton schools were in need of teachers and Mrs. Cooner was assigned to Social Studies. She later followed Mrs. Bailey in the math department of junior high, and taught for 12 years. She still feels a particular affinity to those students she has been able to follow in their later lives.

As an Olton teacher she had to drive thirteen and one-half miles daily to school, about half of it was unpaved. But she held a unique record of missing only one day...for weather related cause. A big rain filled a low place along the road from 'fence post to fence post' and left a bridge in a questionable state, so she and her husband abandoned trying to go in to school that day.

The farm they bought had an adequate house upon it, but Naomi worked through the years updating it, remodeling and beautifying. They greatly enjoyed their farm life together.

One episode that stands out in her memory was a three month period when Andre Knoll, a 22-year-old Hollander, stayed in their home as an exchange student. An unusually nice young man, with a master's degree, he was in the country to learn all that he could about agriculture. He worked alongside Mr. Cooner during his stay. They tried to introduce him to as many American customs and people as possible. Evidently he liked all that he saw for he now lives in this country, having married an American girl from New York who had served as interpreter for his exchange student group. Andre has returned twice to visit the Cooners since his initial visit.

After an illness was suffered by her husband, the Cooners moved into the city in the early 1960's and developed the home in which she still lives. One of their chief enjoyments of the new home was his yard and flower garden.

She comments, "We had a nice retirement together. He had his bees (a source of intensive study and great enjoyment), his flowers, and his 4-H boys in whom he was very interested. We enjoyed visiting people and had several couples with whom we spent many pleasant hours playing forty-two, canasta and other games. He kept busy with activity on the Co-operative board. We had a lot of nice trips together, and he made exciting fishing trips with friends. He was a 50-year member of the Masonic Order and was a Shriner."

Naomi's brother was with them a few years before his death in 1973. Mrs. Cooner did a bit of substitute teaching after her retirement, but after his death in 1974 she has had no desire to return to the school room.

She has no relatives in Olton but she says "I love this place". She feels very much at home here with friends of many years. She keeps busy with attendance at First Baptist Church, membership in Olton Garden Club and Eastern Star. A member of the Order for many years, she has served in all offices, having been Worthy Matron during the mid-fifties. She was charter member of Delta Kappa Gamma while in Wichita Falls, but never did transfer her membership after moving to the Olton area.

Naomi explains that she was an "in-between kid". In her family there were four children older than she, and three younger. This left her always too big for the special consideration given the little ones...and too young to have the privileges given to the older ones.

Death of her brothers and sisters has left her without close kin. Her nearest relatives are two nieces and a nephew, who is instructor in Sul Ross University at Alpine. She has sisters-in-law in Andrews and White Face. And she enjoys association with Mr. Cooner's three sisters, two in Littlefield and one in Lubbock.

She has few possessions retained from her own parents household, but among them is a clock now about 98 years old. She treasurers it very much, along with drawers filled with handwork given to her through the years by nimble-fingered relatives. She has little interest in handwork of any kind but loves, instead, to read. And, she loves "just being at home" where she feels very comfortable.

As a teacher Mrs. Cooner was a strict disciplinarian, contending "You can't teach children if they are not listening. I still love the boys and girls I have taught, and take pride in their achievements in later life. I'm sure I take more interest in them than they take in me. Perhaps I was too strict as I taught...I was always afraid I might lose control...but I did my best, I tried."

This veteran teacher of 40 years lives by the philosophy that one should do unto others as he would be done by. She reflects, "I wish I were more outgoing. I think lots of thoughts that I never share with others. I love the people here and am glad to make it my home."

Chief among her memories are those happy ones she holds of her late husband of whom she says, "You'd just have to know him well, personally, to know what a gentleman he was."

Five Boy Scouts Attend Camp-A-Ree

A spring Camp-A-Ree, planned and directed through the Lubbock office of Boy Scouts of America, was held at Lake Mackenzie during the weekend.

Five local Scouts were among the approximately 120 campers from all of Haynes Distric who attended. Scouts Tony Ratliff, Tony Rando, Henry Garza, Henry Valasquez and Abraham Masso were accompanied by adults Dee Mynatt and Dub Ratliff.

The local boys won second place in activities. Mynatt returned early in order to bring Scout Rando back for another commitment.

Another such Camp-A-Ree is planned for October.

agri-facts

One of the greatest problems our farmers face is of their own making. They have done their jobs too well. They are super-producers. Super-farmers. American farmers and ranchers have been efficient enough to cut the required farm population to just over 4 million . . . for every farmer there are 56 other Americans. All are consumers. Therein lies the problem. Do politicians want one vote or 56? All of us who want a healthy agricultural economy should do our part to make clear that these two groups . . . consumers and farmers . . . are not opposed. Efficiency of our producers makes possible the world's best foods at the lowest prices (as a portion of spendable income). There's only one reason that situation might change. We'll look at that situation next week.

ELECTRICITY FROM COAL...

It's good to know there's something we can depend on.

Almost all of us depend on electricity in our homes, factories, and offices to provide for more jobs. . .greater productivity. . .and a higher standard of living. Yes, electricity plays a big roll in the scientific and technological developments that make these things possible.

The constant striving for these innovative and advanced ideas and achievements of tomorrow means we will need more electricity. That's why Southwestern Public Service is continuing the building program of new electric generating plants that use coal as fuel. Because it's good to know there's something we can depend on.

Big Brother/Big Sister

By Rodney Dickenson
Juvenile Probation

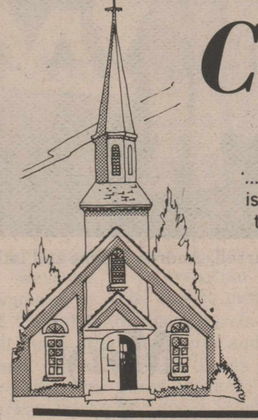

As we saw last week, money-wise, Big Brother/Big Sister of America is very cost efficient. Let's look at another definition of cost efficiency, do we receive the most goods, products or services possible for our investment?

Comparing the two less costly agencies from last week, Juvenile Probation and Big Brother/Big Sister, there are three areas that are common when evaluating the success of these agencies. A) the number of youth who satisfactorily complete the supervision period by the agency, B) the number of youth that reappear before the law enforcement departments, (recidivism), C) the number of youth institutionalized. National statistics for juvenile crime and probation services show a decrease in the satisfactory completion of supervision and a increase in the recidivism and institutionalization. There are many contributing factors for this regression, but these same factors have increased the caseload for Big Brother/Big Sister through increasing the single parent population. Bib Brother/Big Sister is trying to answer the call through improvements in the existing agencies.

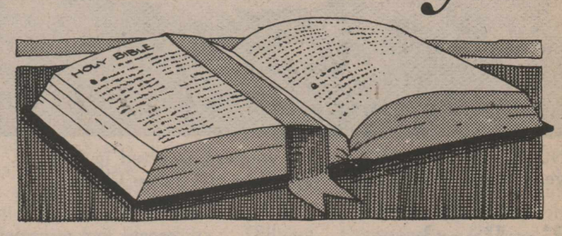

Extensive evaluations of agencies nation wide have yielded strong supporting statistics. A study was made in Cleveland, Ohio, with the cooperation of the Big Brothers of Greater Cleveland and the Juvenile Court of Cuyahoga County during 1970 and 1973. A group of boys were referred by the Juvenile Court and divided into two smaller groups with one being given Big Brother supervision and the other none. The results of the three year study revealed that in the Big Brother supervised group, recidivism was reduced by 40½ and institutionalization reduced by 26½.

In May 1977, 396 single parents who had been referred to Big Brother/Big Sister in Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb Counties, Michigan, were sent questionaires to determine the effectiveness of Big Brother/Big Sister services. The information gathered showed:

94.4% felt BB/BS was helpful to the child

76.3% reported academic improvement

79.8% reported school attendance improved

82.1% reported child-teacher relations had improved

85.6% reported child getting along better at home

91.5% reported child feels better about himself

89.7% reported child is getting along better with siblings

94.3% reported child has new interests and experiences

78.6% reported child has been less involved with police

An evaluative study of the impact of big brothers on boys was completed in February 1972 with the cooperation of the Big Brother Association of Boston by Powell Associates Consultants of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

"When the Big Brother service is not present, the natural growth process is stunted and deterioration occurs. In many cases, the reasons for the difference between the boys with Big Brothers and boys without Big Brothers was that the Little Brother made some improvement over the year while unassigned youngsters made no progress of deterioration. The differences were the function of a normal growth in the Little Brothers and the substantially less growth among the boys without Big Brothers. Big Brother service fosters development along specific dimensions, consistent with normal maturation."

Next week, "Can we have a Bib Brother/Big Sister of America Agency in Lamb County?"

There will be a Bib Brother/Big Sister organizational meeting on May 12 at 7 p.m. in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas building, 7th and XIT Drive, Littlefield.

COKER 19

Vigorous, Early Corn Thrives On Thick Planting!

Coker 19 is our highest yielding early corn. Plant it thick and reap the reward. And you can expect an additional yield-pop with irrigation.

Coker 19 starts off fast, matures early and dries down in the field faster than any other Coker corn. It's a great yellow corn for early feed or the early cash market.

Coker 19 averaged 179.4 bu/A last year in Experiment Station tests at Farwell..... nearly 75 bu/A more than the statewide farm yield average

In official tests in the North High Plains at Etter, Coker 19 produced 163.8 bu/A last year.

Coker 19 is the two-year average yield leader in Texas' official tests at Halfway.
