JOSEPH P. KENNEDY

FAMILY GATHERS

Father Of JFK Near Death

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, father of an American political dynasty, was reported near death today at his seaside home in the Kennedy compound on Cape Cod.

His sole surviving son, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was at his bedside.

His condition was described as "very low" by his son-in-law, Ambassador Sargent Shriver, shortly before 8 a.m.

"The end is only a matter of hours away," Shriver told a newsman after attending early morning Mass at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church in Hyannis.

Kennedy, father of the late President John F. Kennedy, is 81 and has been in poor health for eight years.

Suffers Heart Attack

He suffered what a doctor said was a minor heart attack over the weekend.

Shriver said the former ambassador has been unable to eat for several days.

Shriver and his wife, Eunice, Kennedy's eldest daughter, flew here Sunday from Paris. Shriver is U.S. ambassador to France.

Mrs. Rose Kennedy, matriarch of the Kennedy clan, also attended Mass this morning at St. Francis Xavier's, though not with Shriver. She entered the tiny church quickly, and remained inside for several minutes after the service was over.

There was no word on whether Kennedy was conscious, but one unofficial source said he was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church Sunday.

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, a long-time family friend, said Sunday that he had received a telephone call from the family "advising me that he had a very serious setback, and it seems that the good Lord is about to take him in the foreseeable future."

One Of The Wealthiest

Besides Edward and his family and the Shriver, other members of the family at the compound included Patricia Kennedy Lawford and Jean Kennedy Smith, whose husband Stephen also was there.

Jacqueline Onassis, widow of the late president, was en route back to the Cape from Europe.

And a family spokesman said Ethel Kennedy, widow of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, had been notified of the elder Kennedy's condition and might return to the Cape also.

Kennedy, a financier and one of the nation's wealthiest men, was U.S. ambassador to Great Britain from 1938 to 1940.

He suffered through the loss of three of his four sons—Joseph P. Jr., his eldest, in a plane crash during World War II; John, felled by an assassin's bullet in 1963; and Robert, also killed by an assassin in Los Angeles in 1968.

Supermarkets To Be Petitioned

Big Spring supermarkets were to be petitioned this afternoon to abstain from the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Sunday, about 2,000 signatures were gathered in some 25 city churches, representing most denominations, by Citizens for a Better Howard County, of which Dr. H. M. Jarratt is president. The Rev. Pat Bullock, pastor of Crestview Baptist Church, and the Rev. James Puckett, pastor of Baptist Temple, helped distribute the petitions.

The petitions signed Sunday stated "We respectfully petition the supermarkets of Big Spring to abstain from the sale of alcoholic beverages in their stores because of the great damage done to individuals, families, and the institutions of our society."

Protesters Leave Behind Huge Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The demonstrators who jammed the capital for the biggest peace demonstration in history have gone home, leaving behind a dispute over whether the mass protest against the Vietnam war was peaceful, as they had promised, or violent, as the government had warned.

"I do not believe that over-all, the gathering here can be characterized as peaceful," Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said Sunday of the massive gathering that brought at least a quarter-million war protesters to Washington.

He accused the organizing New Mobilization Committee of failing to heed Justice Department warnings of potential violence.

'THAT'S A LIE'

"That's a lie," New Mobe project director Ron Young retorted when told of Mitchell's statement. "Yesterday, thousands of people were gassed in Washington by this government. Yesterday, hundreds of people were killed in Vietnam by this government. Yesterday, villages were destroyed in Vietnam by this government."

"Eight hundred thousand came and left this city with only 150 arrests and very few injuries."

Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson had estimated 250,000 demonstrators turned out Saturday. But he said that estimate was modest.

Herbert G. Klein, who speaks for President Nixon, said although the demonstration "again proves that this is a country which allows people to express themselves, I don't think there's a value in trying to form policy for the United States government, or any government, from crowds on the street."

NOTHING TO SAY

Nixon himself had nothing to say publicly about the demonstration. He went to a football game Sunday after having spent the day in the White House, conducting official business and watching a televised football match.

Mitchell, contending the gathering had not been peaceful, pointed to two clashes between police and a militant fringe group of the antiwar protesters. Near the South Vietnamese Embassy Friday night, and at the Justice Department Saturday after the rally, the police used tear gas to rout the several thousand militants.

A total of about 130 persons were arrested in the two days—only two in connection with the main march and rally. Most were charged with disorderly conduct and released on posting collateral. No serious injuries were reported, and damage appeared limited to several dozen broken windows.

Mitchell, in a statement delivered to news offices as the last stragglers were hitching rides out of the capital and workmen were cleaning up Sunday, said he was "pleased that the great majority of participants obeyed the law."

DAMAGE

"Unfortunately, the planned demonstrations were marred by such extensive physical injury, property damage and street confrontations that I do not believe that, over-all, the gathering here can be characterized as peaceful," he said.

The department had hesitated for weeks in granting a parade permit for the main march down Pennsylvania Avenue. Intelligence reports, it said, told of impending violence by militant groups that endangered the capital.

U.S. Strikes In Cambodia Second Time

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers crossed the Cambodian border today for the second day of strikes against North Vietnamese artillery pounding the Bu Prang Special Forces camp on the South Vietnamese side of the border.

The U.S. Command said the air and artillery strikes against the gun positions inside Cambodia, which began Sunday, were "an inherent right of self-defense against enemy attacks."

The American bombers returned to Cambodia's skies after a two-hour North Vietnamese artillery bombardment early today against a South Vietnamese task force headquarters a mile southeast of Bu Prang.

NINE KILLED

Ten South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded, but the results of the retaliatory air strike were not immediately reported.

South Vietnamese infantrymen clashed twice later in the day with North Vietnamese soldiers southeast of Bu Prang. Nine enemy soldiers were killed, and there were no South Vietnamese casualties, spokesmen said.

On Sunday, American fighter-bombers streaked across the border near Bu Prang to attack 85mm and 105mm artillery and 37mm antiaircraft guns.

The U.S. Command said the artillery had fired more than 100 rounds at the camp, 110 miles northeast of Saigon, while the antiaircraft guns had forced down a small American observation plane.

The command said the raiders destroyed two North Vietnamese guns and silenced the others.

EXPLOSIONS

During the night, about 20 B52 bombers dropped some 600 tons of bombs on other North Vietnamese targets less than two miles inside South Vietnam between Bu Prang and Duc Lap, another Special Forces camp 25 miles to the north.

U.S. officials did not say whether Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian chief of state, had given permission to bomb within his frontiers.

Sihanouk has often charged U.S. and South Vietnamese forces with attacking Cambodian villages along the border, but he has acknowledged that large numbers of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are operating inside his country, and he can't do anything about them.

Find Two Sets Of Fingerprints

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives pressing the hunt for three armed men who made off with $1.4 million from a Wells Fargo truck in Queens last week have found two sets of fingerprints on the getaway car, a 1968 gold Chevrolet.

HOMES DESTROYED, VILLAGERS MOWED DOWN BY YANKEE GUNMEN

GIs Implicated In Slaying Of 567 Civilians

SAIGON (AP) — The province chief of Quang Ngai province said today that villagers told him 400 Vietnamese civilians were killed during an American military operation in March 1968, but he said he had no firm evidence they were executed by American troops.

Two soldiers, a lieutenant and a staff sergeant, have been arrested in connection with the alleged massacre on March 16, 1968, at Song My village, six miles northeast of Quang Ngai city.

OPENED FIRE

Newsweek magazine and the New York Times reported Sunday, however, that eyewitnesses said 50 or more soldiers were involved. They said the villagers were herded together, their homes destroyed, and then they were mowed down by GI gunmen.

The province chief, Col. Ton That Khien, said in a telephone interview that three months after the operation by the U.S. American Division, villagers "cried that the Americans killed them when they went through the village and made contact with the Viet Cong and they opened fire."

Asked if he believed the villagers were telling the truth, he said: "I think there is some truth but there is also an exten-

AMY AND FRIEND — Amy Sue Bean, 6, plays with a neighborhood dog as she waits for the school bus near her home today. Amy's dad, Apollo 12 Lunar Module Pilot Alan L. Bean and his space partners, Richard F. Gordon Jr., and Charles "Pete" Conrad, are speeding toward the moon for man's second landing on the satellite.

Astro Conrad's Parking Area Is 400 Feet Wide

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 12 commander Charles Conrad's parking lot on the Ocean of Storms is 400 feet wide. On the moon, that's a pin-point.

If Conrad and Alan L. Bean can ride their lunar lander Intrepid to this site, they will assure future safe landings in rugged moon terrain where a small error could ruin the mission.

MUCH ROUGHER

Just landing Apollo 11 safely in July was good enough. But geologists want future missions to go to the more interesting, but much rougher, lunar highlands.

Future astronauts and guidance systems must bring each lunar module to a precise landing or else abort the mission to avoid damage to the spacecraft.

Apollo 11 missed its mark by almost four miles. Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. accomplished a safe landing of their craft, Eagle, after assuming manual control and steering away from a rock-filled crater.

After studying Apollo 11 data, engineers said a combination of factors, when added together, caused the down-range landing. Apollo 12's descent and landing procedures have been modified to eliminate the factors.

A point about 1,000 feet from Surveyor 3, which landed April 19, 1967, was the original target for Intrepid, but space officials announced last week the site had been changed to the Surveyor 3 location to give Conrad a better view of the landing area during the final seconds of descent.

Conrad hopes to park Intrepid in a smooth, level spot near the unmanned spacecraft, which is squatting on the side of a 600-foot wide crater.

MORE FUEL

The Apollo 12 landing site is farther west than Tranquility Base, which means the spacecraft will be in contact with earth longer before entering the final critical moments of descent. Mission Control will have time to send up the latest information about Intrepid's exact position for Conrad and Bean to punch into the guidance computer.

As Intrepid nears the lunar surface, the spacecraft computer will tell Conrad where to look for landmarks. When the lander reaches an altitude of 500 feet, Conrad, while watching the lunar surface, can begin guiding the spacecraft manually.

Hurtles Through 'Twilight Zone'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — America's Apollo 12 explorers swept into the grip of lunar gravity today as the good ship Yankee Clipper hurtled unerringly toward a Monday night orbit of the moon.

Their target, a shimmering silver crescent, loomed larger and larger as their home planet shrank in the distance.

At 8:38 a.m., astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean zipped through a so-called "twilight zone" in which the gravitational influence of the earth and moon is equal.

FASTER, FASTER

Once across this invisible line, lunar gravity took hold and Apollo 12's speed accelerated after slowing to about 1,500 miles an hour on the long outward coast. The ship was 211,322 miles from earth and 38,933 miles from the moon.

The speed will increase to about 5,700 miles an hour as the astronauts loop behind the moon's backside tonight. At 10:47 p.m. they are to fire Yankee Clipper's big engine to whip into lunar orbit.

The spacemen were asleep as they entered the lunar sphere of influence. They retired at 7:15 a.m. for a 10-hour rest period after Conrad and Bean inspected the cabin of the lunar landing craft for 45 minutes and reported it in excellent condition. A was extended to 10 hours when was extended to 10 hours when the near-perfect flight allowed an afternoon midcourse change to be canceled.

COLOR PICTURES

They will attempt to steer the lander, called Intrepid, to a pinpoint landing in a 400-foot-wide circle on the moon's Ocean of Storms early Wednesday to open a new era of discovery, the first detailed exploration of the lunar surface.

Conrad and Bean carried along a television camera to transmit live color pictures of their transfer through a three-foot connecting tunnel into the cabin of the fragile, four-legged vehicle.

As Conrad and Bean checked Intrepid's systems, Apollo 12 raced toward a so-called "twilight zone" in which the gravitational influence of the earth and moon is about equal.

At 8:38 a.m. EST today, the moon will win the gravitational tug-of-war and the astronauts for the first time will be in the grasp of lunar gravity.

The spaceship's speed then begins increasing as Apollo 12 sweeps toward a loop around the backside of the moon. At 10:47 p.m., the astronauts are to fire Yankee Clipper's big engine to zip into lunar orbit.

ACTIONS TAPED

As Conrad and Bean moved into the lunar module for the familiarization check, the camera watched.

Inside the lander cabin, the astronauts beamed pictures of the control panels, the back packs they'll wear on the moon, window markings that will help them land on the moon and dust particles floating in weightlessness.

Through one window they showed the receding earth, about three-quarters in darkness. And through another they pictured the moon, a thin sliver of light.

Because of the early hour, television networks taped the show for later broadcast.

Conrad and Bean made two earlier unscheduled trips into the landing craft after their launching Friday to search for possible damage from an electrical surge that momentarily knocked out some systems in the Yankee Clipper. The power dropout occurred as the Saturn 5 pushed Apollo 12 into space through a driving rainstorm. But experts do not believe the problem was associated with the storm.

NO TROUBLES

The astronauts reported no troubles as they approached their tantalizing target. They were on such a perfect course that the mission control center cancelled a course correction engine firing that had been scheduled Sunday night.

The only advice they sought from the ground was whether they could eat tuna fish salad from a can that had been opened the day before.

After consulting doctors and others, mission control told them: "The majority says throw it away. There's a minority report that says everybody can eat it except Dick Gordon."

The trio slept most of Sunday, adjusting their sleep cycle to prepare for the lunar surface activities, most of which are to occur in the early morning hours.

Lobo Must Not Be Police Dog

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Patrolman Armand W. Robinson's dog wasn't too upset early Sunday when burglars looted the Robinson home.

But Robinson had to lock the dog up later to keep him from attacking detectives investigating the burglary.

Robinson's gun belt, service revolver, chemical mace and handcuffs were among about $500 worth of items taken.

The patrolman said he found no evidence that his dog, Lobo, had struggled with the burglars.

UF Trickles

Contributions trickled into the United Fund during the weekend to raise its total to $102,731.69. The employees of Texas & Pacific Railway Co. reported in with 100 per cent increase over last year.

the Newsweek report.

The U.S. Command in Saigon, in a report issued March 16, 1968, said two companies of the American Division's 11th Infantry Brigade killed 128 enemy soldiers at a coastal village six miles northeast of Quang Ngai City.

Asked if the Viet Cong still control the village, he said, "No, sir, there's only snipers."

The colonel said villagers told him that 370 civilians were killed in one hamlet called Tu Cung and another 90 were killed in the hamlet of My Hoi. Both are part of Song My village.

Khien said he could not confirm the number of dead, that "is the village chief's report." Asked if he believed the village chief's report, Khien replied: "No, because he was not there."

ACCIDENT?

Khien said he had not spoken to any witnesses to the killings.

The colonel added: "I think that these incidents happen easily because some of the fighting is in strong Viet Cong-held villages and people get killed along with the Viet Cong by the bombing and the artillery."

"I operate with the American Division and never do they deliberately kill the population. If they kill civilians, it's an accident."

A LOVELIER YOU Anti-Perspirants Timed For Release

By MARY SUE MILLER
Regardless of the season, the normal skin brings forth two quarts of perspiration daily. Thus the protection of an anti-perspirant has no small significance.
Still there is a good deal of fuzzy thinking on the subject. Anti-perspirants and deodorants get confused. The purpose of an anti-perspirant is to inhibit underarm moisture and odor-forming bacteria.
It seems that an increasing number of busy, active women have found a need for an anti-perspirant with longer lasting qualities. Admittedly, renewing effectiveness during a long day is not often possible.
As always, what milady wants milady gets. Like so, Aerosol anti-perspirant with a "time release." An application reacts when you react, a renew protection fresh as required. Sorta like a spansule capsule.

In addition to anti-perspirants a store of simple odor neutralizing deodorants boosts confidence. Soap, body and foot powders in shakers of aerosols, and shampoo are included in the category. Some have accumulative effects. Habitual use increases their time span.
Seems as if a woman could hardly have too many of these grooming aids. When appreciation is lacking, it can usually be put down to some old wives' tale. Such as, "checking underarm perspiration offends nature." Who's that again?
YOUR GROOMING
Put aside your grooming doubts and worries! Send today for "Your Grooming - A to Z," a booklet that covers every step in achieving smooth looks. It tells how to manicure and pedicure, use deodorants and depilatories, bathe for beauty, tend feet, hands, teeth and eyes, polish skin and hair, care for clothes, apply perfume, overcome personal posers. Moslem Religion Studied By Chapter Of Epsilon Sigma Alpha

Mrs. Rogers said Moslem comes from the Arabic word, "Muslin," meaning one who submits to God. There are 460 million Moslems throughout the world, and there are between 10,000 and 30,000 Moslems in the United States.
"The prophet Mohammed was born about 570 A.D. and grew up in Mecca, now the Holy City of the Moslem religion," said Mrs. Rogers. MR. AND MRS. CHARLIE MASON (Ralph Beene Studio)

The Charlie Masons Married 61 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mason, long-time residents of Big Spring who celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary Nov. 14, remember with pleasure the early days of their life here.
"You hit high center when you drove in the ruts with your Model T," Charlie and Cordie, his wife, recall. "That was 45 years ago, long before we had pavement." With haircuts outrageously priced at 35 cents and eggs going for 25 cents per dozen, things moved fast in Big Spring. The year was 1924. Charlie and Cordie had been married 15 years, and had just moved here.

Charlie worked for the railroad, while Cordie kept house and raised her family. She recalls doing her grocery shopping at Pool and Reed's Grocery Store "somewhere near the Ritz Theater." Flour sold for $4 per hundred while sugar went for about $5 per hundred. When a new shipment of flour came in, word spread fast. The wives rushed to the store to hunt for the smartest and latest designs on the flour sacks so the men could have a pretty new shirt. Poke bonnets were high on the list, and feed sacks furnished the material for these too.

On days off, the Mason family would pile into their Model T touring sedan and head for the Concho River at Water Valley for a day of swimming and picnicking.
Those were good times, with no wars and low taxes. Then the depression hit. Charlie and his family were by now farming 10 miles out of town, and decided to move back into Big Spring.
He opened a blacksmith shop, and with his son, Cecil, to help, they prospered. Charlie recalls using special coal called "Briar-creek Coal" from the Oklahoma strip mines to make the best fires. His shop was located at 301 NW Scurry.
"I did a lot of rabbit and bird hunting in the open fields that are now filled with homes, including my own at 1202 Ridge-road," he says. "Before the cattle industry grew to its present size, the pastures all around Big Spring were heavily wooded. Things have a way of changing." He also recalls an abundance of coyotes.
"I really loved to hear them howl. Their numbers, have thinned, too."
In those days you could buy shotgun shells for 50 cents a box and 22's for 15 cents a box or two for a quarter. "I always kept a double barrel shotgun and a 22 rifle around."

Charlie also recalls that touring sedan he bought second hand for $125 with no speedometer, a leaky radiator, and a gas tank that held only 10 gallons of gas. He could cruise along at 20 to 30 miles per hour, roads permitting. Gasoline was 10 cents a gallon and the car made 18 miles per gallon. "This was plenty to get us where we were going."

MODEL T

On days off, the Mason family would pile into their Model T touring sedan and head for the Concho River at Water Valley for a day of swimming and picnicking.

MANY CHILDREN

Charlie and his wife raised two sons and one daughter, as well as 12 homeless children whom they took into their home and cared for as their own. Today Charlie helps his son, Cecil, run his used car lot.

ANNIVERSARY

The Mason's other son is Ocey Mason of Big Spring, and their daughter is Mrs. Thelma Shepherd, also of Big Spring.
"I guess you might say my favorite pastime now is fishing, and Cordie still loves to bake homemade bread. We've had a wonderful life together, and I still recall the preacher's words 'for better or for worse.' Seems to me it's 'the better' that I can recall."

Auxiliary, Cantons Hold Joint Session

The Ladies Auxiliary of IOOF Patriarch Militant held a joint meeting Saturday with the Cantons in the IOOF Hall.
Guests were Mrs. C. M. Yeats of San Angelo, district inspection officer; Fred Davis, also of San Angelo, Texas inspection officer for the Cantons; C. M. Yeats, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bilberry, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Armstrong and Mrs. Hettie Lee Barton, all of San Angelo.
A drill inspection was held, and members donated money to the Eye Bank of Texas. Plans were made for a Christmas party, Dec. 13, in the IOOF Hall.
A Thanksgiving dinner was served. Tables were laid with white cloths, and the head table was centered with a fall floral arrangement.

Gavel Club Meets At Spanish Inn

The Past Matrons Gavel Club, Laura B. Hart Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, held a dinner Thursday at the Spanish Inn with hostesses being Mrs. Lloyd Duncan and Mrs. Bill Smelser. Mrs. Bill Griese presided, and the devotion was given by Mrs. Audrey Wright. The Thanksgiving theme was used in table decorations. All members will be considered hostesses for a Christmas salad supper. The date and place will be announced.

PROTECTED DEPARTURE — Japan's Prime Minister Eisaku Sato (arrow) is surrounded by security guards and riot police as he leaves a room at Tokyo's International Airport Monday morning to board a special jetliner for a trip to Washington. An estimated 700,000 persons throughout Japan demonstrated against Sato's trip.

Sato Washington Bound Despite Demonstrations

TOKYO (AP) — While an estimated 700,000 leftist students and workers demonstrated throughout Japan against his trip, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato left for Washington today for talks with President Nixon on the return of Okinawa to Japan.

The biggest police turnout in memory kept the leftists from making good on their threat to prevent Sato's departure.

Some 22,000 riot police and plainclothesmen guarded the roads to Tokyo's international airport. Another 3,000 men were deployed throughout the terminal building.

Police reported no incidents at the rainswept airport.

But at Kamata, site of a railway station 1½ miles from the airport, riot police fired tear gas and battled briefly with an estimated 2,500 students trying to reach the airport. Police arrested 168 of the students, including eight girls.

Sunday night, thousands of radicals had hurled gasoline bombs and battled police in riots near the airport and other sections of Tokyo. Police arrested 1,690 of those leftists.

Sato, Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi and other officials took helicopters to the airport to escape the demonstrators.

Japanese Foreign Ministry officials said Sato and Nixon would deal chiefly with the storage of nuclear weapons at U.S. bases on Okinawa and with use of the base by B52 bombers after the island is returned to Japan.

The United States reportedly has already agreed to return Okinawa and the other islands

Women, Four Children Kidnapped In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Police followed slim clues today in their hunt for two men who abducted two women and four children and later released them.

The men held Mrs. Florence Ocker, her four children, and a neighbor Mrs. Betty Ann Robbins, for several hours at gunpoint Saturday night while driving around the city.

During that time, Joe Ray Ocker, 38, Mrs. Ocker's husband and manager of a supermarket, was leaving about $1,500 for a ransom.

The six were kidnapped in southwest Houston and driven to the northern section where Ocker's supermarket was, police said the ransom drop zone was not far from the supermarket.

Police were tipped early in the plot and had the ransom offer under surveillance.

However, no one ever showed up to collect the money after the six hostages were released.

Mrs. Ocker said the two men came to her house and told her that her husband had won a tape recorder in a raffle. She said she had one of the children attempt to call her husband at work but the line was busy.

The two left the recorder with her and she called Mrs. Robbins over to see the prize. The men returned with a gun and a rope, she told police. They tied up all six captives.

"They wanted money from the store," Mrs. Robbins said. "They joked about stealing a better car next time."

The kidnapper's stolen stationwagon developed mechanical trouble and had to be fixed at a service station during a ride with the hostages.

Mrs. Ocker said the men wanted $30,000, but her husband reported that an armored car had just picked up the day's receipts and only about $1,500 was left.

The kidnapers at one point discussed putting the children out on a road in the northern part of the county, Mrs. Ocker said.

However, the children started crying because there were cows nearby and they were afraid of cows.

They then drove to a pay telephone where Mrs. Ocker gave her husband instructions on where to leave the money, she said.

Ocker put it in a trash can in a field picked by the two men. During the ride, one of the men carried on a friendly conversation with Gerald Ray Ocker, 12, the oldest child.

"He said this was his profession just like my dad's was managing a store," the boy said. "And he said that he has ulcers."

SNPA Takes Close Look At President

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — The Nixon administration—its credits and debits—was the prime topic of discussion as the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association opened its 66th annual meeting Sunday.

"The President is getting stronger all the time," said Jim Strupp, business manager of the Bluefield, W. Va., Daily Telegraph.

Holt McPherson, editor of the High Point, N.C., Enterprise, said Nixon has embarked on a tremendous gamble to unite the American people and resolve the Vietnam War.

"If he loses, it will be tragic for him, and worse for the country," the NSPA director said. "It will be tragic if we are forced to pull out and leave our Vietnamese allies to the mercy of the enemy. The Communists are committed to driving us out of that part of the world."

However, Hugh Patterson, of the Little Rock, Ark., Gazette, said Nixon has consistently understood the mark.

SNPA President Joe M. Dealley said he supports the Nixon Vietnam policy completely, and praised the President's attack on inflation.

Jury Selection Begins For Conspiracy Trial

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Jury selection begins today in the conspiracy trial of Albert Fuentes Jr., former special aide in the Small Business Administration, and his friend Edward Montez.

Testimony is expected to open in federal court as early as Tuesday. Jury selection was set for 2 p.m. today.

Attorneys have said their list of witnesses may include such political figures as Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., and Fuentes' former boss, SBA Administrator Hilary Sandoval of El Paso. Montez once worked as an assistant to Gonzalez. He also has served as president of a local school district board and as a salesman for a jail equipment firm.

$100,000 LOAN
Fuentes and Montez, both 39, are charged with conspiracy to obtain 49 per cent of a San Antonio businessman's ornamental metal firm in exchange for a $100,000 SBA loan. They are free on bond.

The two were indicted May 26, one month after Gonzalez called a news conference and accused Fuentes of mishandling an SBA loan.

The San Antonio congressman also mentioned Montez in connection with the matter. He called for Fuentes' suspension pending an investigation.

Fuentes, a special assistant to Sandoval, later was discharged from his $19,700 post for firing back at Gonzalez in a news conference of his own despite Sandoval's orders to stay out of the dispute.

Fuentes called Gonzalez "an unmitigated liar" and said he was "completely, unequivocally and definitely innocent."

'FINDER'S FEE'
Montez soon called a news conference and said he — not Fuentes — sought 49 per cent of Emanuel Salaiz's business as a "finder's fee" and for work he would perform to expand the company. Fuentes did not try for any part of the firm, he said. Salaiz, 37, is owner of the E and S Sales Co. here.

In preliminary federal court proceedings, the defense made an unsuccessful bid to quash the case on grounds that Montez had served on the grand jury that returned the indictments against him and Fuentes. Montez was disqualified from the grand jury when it deliberated the case.

In another court session, Mon-tez's lawyer, Bert Smith of Andrews, Tex., claimed the charges leveled against Fuentes involved a power struggle within the Republican party.

FRAMED?

U. S. Dist. Judge Adrian Spears retorted, "Let's get down, now, to the nitty gritty. Are you telling me in a round about way that your clients were framed?"

Smith: "Yes, sir."

Spears: "You think they were framed by some opposing segment—"

Smith: "Yes, sir."

Spears: "—of the Republican Party—"

Smith: "Yes, sir."

Spears: "—who was dealing through a Democratic congressman?"

Smith: "Yes, sir, and I think further, your honor, that the Democratic congressman — foreseeing perhaps a formidable opponent, certainly was not reluctant to seize upon the opportunity to at least bring to light these things, irrespective of the truth of the matters contained in them."

He served as southwestern director of the Viva Nixon organization last year.

Deseg Hearing Involving 15 Cases Starts

HOUSTON (AP) — The full court of the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals meets today for a hearing involving 15 cases of school desegregation in six Southern states.

The court, headquartered in New Orleans, is hearing testimony on four cases in Louisiana, three each in Georgia and Alabama, two each in Mississippi and Florida and one in Texas.

Chief Judge John Brown said the court ruled in October to hear all the cases at one hearing rather than separately. It gave no reason for the single hearing, but it was said to be standard procedure.

Residents, students or parents brought 14 of the cases, most of which involved lower court rulings. The appellants maintain the school districts are still operating under dual systems through the freedom-of-choice plan which allows a student to attend the school of his choice as long as there's room for him. They also say the courts have not ordered the districts to move fast enough in desegregation.

The NAACP Legal Defense Fund has filed their suits in five cases and the U.S. Justice Department is involved in four.

What makes a man leave the people he knows, the home he made, even the language he speaks, to come here?

A better way to live. Where an ordinary man can do the things he thought were just for others.

Where a man can own his own home. Maybe with a backyard and a fence.

Where a man can give his children an education. A good one at that.

This is American living. And there are waiting lists, ten feet tall, of immigrant families waiting to come here.

Most of us know about the good things around here. Although sometimes we forget.

So what are we supposed to do? Well, for one thing, we can invest in our country. Not everyone can boast that.

Invest in U.S. Savings Bonds. They help make America economically strong.

And there's nothing wrong with a little old American pride.

For another thing, Bonds help you.

They grow at a guaranteed rate, so you'll have a nice bundle for some rainy day.

What's more, Savings Bonds are easy to buy.

You can pick them up where you work in a Payroll Savings Plan. (Someone else does the paper work.)

Or you can buy Bonds where you bank.

When a family leaves behind an old familiar way of life to start a new one, there are some reasons.

Reasons you might like to invest in.

If they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace 'em

CHURCH EVICTED — What in creation is going on here? At first glance, it would appear that the church has lost its lease and was being evicted. Not so, however. The pews at the Church of God in Winber, Pa., were placed outside while the church was being cleaned. A young miss whose mother was helping with the fall cleaning decided to do some reading in one of the pews.

Queen Sends Money Back

LONDON (AP) — Money to help Queen Elizabeth II make ends meet is pouring into Buckingham Palace and British Embassies around the world, but she is sending it all back.

The money is coming from people upset by Prince Philip's remarks in an American television interview that the royal family would be going into the red next year.

His remarks caused a storm of controversy, much of it because he made them in America and on television. But palace officials said that along with the condemnations from newspapers and politicians' donations have flooded in.

Cat Burglar Loots Church

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A cat burglar hid in the cupola of St. Peter's Basilica Sunday night, looted a souvenir and jewelry shop on the cathedral's roof and escaped through a side door early today.

The Vatican said he got away with $8,000 to $9,600 in gold and religious objects and cash. A small part of loot was money, said the Vatican press spokesman, Msgr. Fausto Vainalli, adding that none of the Vatican treasures were missing.

Italian police were called into the investigation of the burglary, which was discovered after a gendarme found a door of the basilica open at 6 a.m. It was a side door known as the Door of the Dead.

Vatican sources said the thief apparently entered the church with the Sunday crowds and hid on scaffolding inside the cupola, which is being restored. After the cathedral closed for the night, he presumably went through the door leading out to the roof and went to the shop at the base of the dome.

After the theft, he apparently came down an interior stairway, found a set of keys and let himself out through the door.

Punchboards Alert in Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin warned Texans today to look for lottery punchboards he said are being mailed into the state.

Martin said numerous Texans have received letters containing lottery punchboards from a Chicago company.

These letters attempt to induce Texans to sell chances on the punchboards to win merchandise, usually in the form of toys for children, he said.

Martin said selling chances on these lottery punchboards is a violation of the Texas lottery law. He asked persons who receive these materials to send them to Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert Owen here.

Greek Regime Reveals New Press Regulations

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek regime announced today new press regulations that include penalties ranging from three months in jail to confiscation of an offending publication.

The military-controlled government also ordered the end of tax privileges for the nation's newspapers, thus putting them on the same tax scale as other Greek businesses.

Both acts take effect Jan. 1.

The 101-article press law introduces what is described as the principle of individual responsibility of the publisher, editor in chief, editors and cartoonists for the accuracy of what is published. Another section of the law, dealing with journalists and their professional responsibilities, is to be published at a later date.

Among the type of articles deemed illegal are those that insult the king and members of the royal family, tend to incite revolutionary action and overthrow of the regime, expose military or state secrets, revive old political passions, distort official documents, shake public confidence in the economy and

Muskie Reviews 'Silent Majority'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Edmund Muskie says President Nixon's "silent majority" is a "mythical" creation, and that the average American is troubled about the President's Vietnam war policies.

"The passions and the doubts the war has raised are too strong and basic to be dispelled by presidential command," the Maine Democrat said in a speech Sunday night at a $100-a-plate Democratic party fund raising dinner.

"I wish the President were prepared to listen to the voices of the people," Muskie told an audience of about 750, "not just the strident voices but to the many quiet voices whose doubts, uncertainty, loyalty and moderation I think he has mistaken for silence."

support outlawed parties or organizations.

Ioannis Agathangelou, alternate minister to Premier George Papadopoulos, said Saturday that the new law was intended to "protect the nation from elements that corrupt the soul and abuse press freedom and to eliminate bribery or illegal business dealings."

Greek publishers so far have declined comment on the new regulations, saying they want to study them further.

Violence Takes At Least 41

By The Associated Press
Forty-one persons died of varied forms of violence over the Texas weekend and incidents involving children were particularly tragic.
Two small children were left family-less from a traffic accident that killed six; a grandfather ran over his 18-month-old grandson as the toddler attempted to retrieve a football, and a baby girl was born after an accident involving her parents, but died later.

Of the 41 killed, 30 were traffic fatalities. Nine were fatally shot and two died in fires; another apparently drowned.
The Associated Press weekend violence count began at 6 p.m. Friday and continued until midnight Sunday.

SWEETHEART CRASH
Louis Ramirez, 4, and Tammy Witt, 2, were the lone survivors of a head-on crash of two cars near Lampasas Sunday that killed both children's parents, Louis' infant brother, and a soldier. Dead from the two-car head-on on rain-slick U.S. 281 were Alberto Ramirez, 33, of Crystal City, his wife Balderas, 35, and their son Juan, 7 months; Thomas Witt, 24, of Lampasas, his wife Eunice, 29, and Ft. Hood soldier Herbert W. McCoy, 26, of Gentry, Okla. The two survivors were listed in fair condition.

HIT-AND-RUN
A Washington, D.C., man was killed Saturday night near Midland where he attempted to cross a busy street and was struck by a hit-and-run auto. Officers said later a suspect was taken into custody. Dead is Arthur Juliano, 39.

Officers said John Daniels, 26, of Kingsville, and Jack Daniels, 16, of Gilmer, were critically injured in the crash.
Robin Cormier, 6, of Port Arthur, was shot to death while on a family outing near Woodville in Tyler County. The shooting was ruled accidental.
A shooting incident in Bexar County Sunday left two persons dead and another wounded. Dead were Roy Freeman, 49, of San Antonio, and Dorothy Moore, 29, of Columbus, Tex. Police arrested a man in connection with the case.

Robbery
Mrs. Vera Lynn Pappas, 23, died Sunday in a two-car collision in Houston. John Henry Howard, the driver of the other car, was charged with murder by auto in Justice of the Peace Jack Treadway's court.
Reuben Slater, 53, was found shot to death Sunday in a Houston yard. Police said he was apparently the victim of a robbery.
A one-car accident just west of Friona Saturday night left one teen-ager dead and another in serious condition. Killed was Becky Broyles, 14, of Friona. In serious condition was William Thomas Rushing, 15, also of Friona. Officers said the pair's auto overturned on Farm Road 1731.

A baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wier after that couple was involved in a traffic accident near Southmayd in Grayson County Saturday, but the infant died Sunday. The accident sent eight persons including the Wiers to hospitals. Leon Armor, 12, of Galveston was killed Sunday when struck by a car as he was crossing Gulf Freeway in Galveston.

Warm Rain In Texas Due

By The Associated Press

Eastern and central portions of Texas were due more rain and thundershowers this evening, while clear to partly cloudy skies were forecast for the remainder of the state.

Rain extended across central sections into East Texas early today with occasionally heavy downpours in the Fort Worth-Dallas area.

Rain also fell over portions of West and Southwest Texas during the night and early morning, but amounts were light.

Rather strong southerly winds produced warmer temperatures this morning ranging from the 60s and 50s across the Panhandle and West Texas to the 60s elsewhere and the 70s in the South and on the Coastal Plains. The Weather Bureau said warm humid temperatures would continue to accompany southerly winds across the state today, with most sections turning cooler tonight and Tuesday.

Bourgeois Black Doesn't Need Aid

NEW YORK (AP) — A Negro official in the Nixon administration says he would like to "simply drop the business of integration and put the emphasis on poor people."

Ben Holman, director of the Justice Department's Community Relations Service, said Sunday. "The bourgeois black can take care of himself." He proposed that federal subsidies be directed to slum areas to help all the poor, black and white.

He appeared on the WNBC-TV program "Open Circuit."

Snow Spreads In Rockies

By The Associated Press
A series of complex low pressure systems has made this a blustery and wintry Monday across most of the nation.

Throughout the early morning hours, snow spread across the northern and central Rockies and onto the Western Plains pushing rain ahead of it.

Travelers warnings were in effect for expected blowing and drifting snow over an area from Wyoming to Kansas. Two to three inches of new snow fell across parts of southern Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Utah.

The U.S. Weather Bureau was warning of heavy snows for northwestern New Mexico. Light rain was falling from Texas to Minnesota as well as along the Pacific Coast and in parts of the Southwest.

The Reaction? 'Total Shock'

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Deborah Susan Patton has begun her first week of reign as Miss Teenage America after receiving the title here Saturday night.

Deborah, 17, said her first reaction when announced as the winner was: "What will my life be like from this moment on?" She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Patton of Odessa, Tex., and is a senior at Odessa Permian High School. She said she plans to use the $10,000 four-year scholarship she won at a Southwest Conference school.

Named first runner-up during the nationally televised pageant was Nancy Meek of Indianapolis, Ind.; second runner-up was Christiana Coleman of Jacksonville, Fla. and third runner-up was Sylvia Stockwell of Colorado Springs, Colo.

For her talent presentation Miss Patton played her own arrangement of Grieg's Concerto and "Sunny," a number she calls "Sunny's Concerto." "That was the easiest part of the competition," said Miss Patton. "I've played under stress so many times before and the audience was so warm."
Miss Patton's parents and her brother Mike and sister Cathy were on hand at Tarrant County Convention Center to see her accept the official Miss Teenage America medallion.

The family's first reaction? "Total shock," said Mrs. Patton. "It was just like a bolt of lightning had struck me," said the proud father.

Bridge Test

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, the dealer, you hold: ♠88642 ♥Q7 ♦A1042 ♣AJ

What is your opening bid?
A.—Pass. While this hand certainly contains 13 points, enough for an optional opening, flaws are present in the form of the unguarded queen of hearts and the ace-jack doubleton in clubs. There is the further consideration that no convenient rebid will be available if partner responds with two hearts over a one spade opening.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠K ♥63 ♦KQJ432 ♣KQ43
Your partner opens with two no trump. What is your response?
A.—Four clubs. This is the type of holding that calls for use of the Gerber convention. All your problems can be solved by ascertaining the number of partner's aces. If he responds with four diamonds, showing all four, you can confidently bid seven no trump and be prepared to spread your hand after the lead.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠73 ♥AQ642 ♦AQ1087 ♣K
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass 2♦ Pass 3♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Partner's three diamond bid is highly restrictive since your rebid was not forcing on responder. Game aspirations should, therefore, be entertained and our choice is for a bid of four diamonds. If responder happens to have a hand containing three small hearts, he will have the opportunity to try four hearts over four diamonds.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠K3 ♥87 ♦A10865 ♣J92
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass 1NT Pass Pass Dble. Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. We have not lost sight of partner's previous pass, but in view of the fact that he was willing to double the no trump bid he must be just under an opening bid himself. This means that West will show up with a practically trickless dummy and East will have to operate completely from his own hand.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠KQ107 ♥7 ♦AKJ32 ♣K63
The bidding has proceeded: East South 1♠ ?
What do you bid?
A.—Pass. Don't crowd a fellow who might be working for you. Give him plenty of elbow space. Any action by you that tends to impede the opposition is bound to prove to your material detriment.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold: ♠A832 ♥K43 ♦AKQ95 ♣6
The bidding has proceeded: East South West North 1♠ Dble. Pass 1♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Inasmuch as partner has been forced to bid and may have only scant values, a jump is not in order. The best strategy calls for a bid of only two diamonds. If partner has any values he should make a further bid. If he happens to hold hearts you may then go on to game in that suit. One should be reluctant to give an immediate raise with only three trumps where partner has been forced to bid.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠AKQJ6 ♥AK5 ♦AJ97 ♣4
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 2♠ Pass 2NT 3♠ ?
What do you bid now?
A.—A forcing pass is indicated at this point. Your opening two bid was slightly shaded. Partner should be given the opportunity to double three clubs if he finds it to be to his taste. Furthermore, he might be able to bid three no trump which could conceivably be the only safe game contract. In any event partner is obliged to act.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold: ♠J1084 ♥3 ♦K552 ♣QJ73
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass Pass 1♥ Dble. ?
What do you bid now?
A.—With this mediocre hand we recommend no action whatsoever. It is good policy to make it easy for the opponents to take this reposition off your hands. The fear that one heart doubled would be left in is unfounded. It rarely happens and then you must presume that partner can take care of himself.

Mayor Welch Wins Again

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Houston Mayor Louie Welch whose campaign stressed his experienced management of the nation's sixth largest city, won the right Saturday to manage that city for at least two more years.

Welch, 51, carried 53 per cent of the vote to win his fourth straight term as head of Houston's city government. The biggest threat of his five opponents was State Rep. Curtis Graves, 31.

Graves polled 31 per cent of the vote as the first Negro in modern times to run for the mayor's office. Racism was not made an issue in the low-keyed campaigns.

Welch had said throughout his campaign that he feared voter apathy. However, a record 189,488 voters — about 48 per cent of the electorate — went to the polls. It broke the 1952 city election turnout of 181,270.

Welch said Sunday his first order of business would be to pass a bond issue, hopefully around $105 million, to cover a three-year period. The funds would implement a communications system for the police and fire departments and possibly build a parking lot under a proposed downtown park, Welch said. The proposed site would be called Tranquility Park after the Apollo 11 moon flight.

The mayor said he also hopes to get a mass transportation system off paper and onto the streets, extend the canal system and complete an area lake as a source of drinking water.

Boyd Celebrates With New Heart

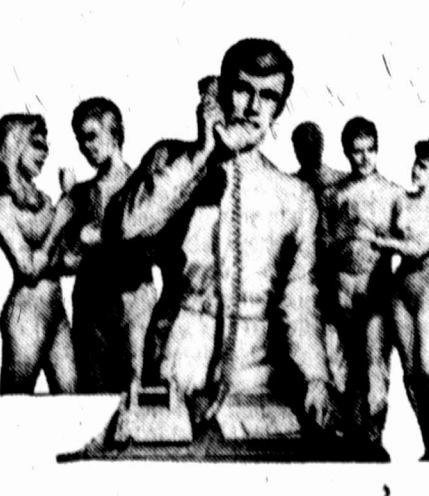

HOUSTON (AP) — Leo Allen Boyd, 51, a retired railroad yardmaster from Chippawa, Ont., celebrated his first anniversary Sunday after receiving a new heart a year ago.

Boyd had a party with his wife and staff at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital. Dr. Denton Cooley, who heads the transplant team at the hospital, attended.

The Potters are expecting a very important phone call.

In the years ahead, you'll be able to preset your telephone to transfer calls to the number where you're visiting. Electronic switching—using a sophisticated computer system—will make this and many other new services possible. For example, your phone will have a memory. By dialing just two digits of a frequently called number, you'll activate that memory, then the phone will dial the remaining digits automatically. Electronic switching is fact, not fiction. It's part of our program to plan today for tomorrow's communications needs. We may be the only phone company in town, but we try not to act like it. Southwestern Bell

Significant Contribution

Today marks the anniversary of the decision by Howard County voters in 1945 to create a junior college. It is not only a testimonial to the vision of the people to take this step, particularly at the time young men were returning home from World War II and seriously getting at the business of training to make a living, but it also is to the credit of the people that they determined to have a first class two-year college.

Howard County Junior College long since has been fully accredited so that its work is transferrable in field to any college or university. Its staff and its facilities are first rate, and any notion that students somehow get a lesser educational opportunity here than they would during the first two years of a four-year college is wrong. In fact, in many respects, because of a close, personal interest by instructors, they get a better shake at HCCJ in launching their college careers.

We have no accurate statistics, but we would estimate that upward of 15,000 individuals have been served by the college during its first 24 years, perhaps more. Conservatively, the college keeps at least $1,500,000 a year in the local economy over what costs would be in sending our people away to college, and from this point the institution has been worth $20 or more million over the years.

But none of these is the real contribution of the college. This lies in the fact that several thousand young people have college degrees when otherwise they could never have gone to college, or who could not have seen their way clear to take the step had they been unable to take the first two years of college at home. And equal to this is the contribution in academic and vocational-technical training which the college has made to our community life for those who never went to senior college but used it for their own advancement and cultural enrichment.

Spectre Of Income Tax

Even before the shock of new taxation has worn off, talk of additional state taxation is being heard.

According to estimates prepared by Gov. Preston Smith's budget experts, the 1971 Legislature will have to raise only $100 million to $150 million in new taxes. But the Texas Research League estimates that from $270 million to $400 million may be needed for the 1971-73 biennium.

Where is that kind of money coming from?

A hint has been provided by Jim McGrew, the league's tax expert, who will become executive director Jan. 1 of the governmental research organization. In his talk to the annual meeting of the league, McGrew noted that the state sales tax in most parts of the state has reached 4.25 per cent. "Looking at the level that sales taxes have reached in other states, it may be that we are approaching the political limitation of that tax,"

McGrew said.

In some states the sales tax is over five per cent. This is the figure generally agreed as near the practical limit of sales taxation. After that, as a practical political matter, states have moved to corporation and personal income taxation.

McGrew did not mention a corporation income tax. This was mentioned a number of times during this year's session of the Legislature, if Smith's estimates are correct, an income tax can be avoided in 1971. But if the league's estimates are more realistic, then the income tax itself will raise its head again.

The very thought of an income tax, personal or corporate, is anathema to most Texans, nurtured in a passing era of rugged individualism. But Texas has cut about all the corners it can and still meet the needs of its people without some new sources of revenue.

Agnew Stands Up To Anarchy

WASHINGTON—The last Russian Czar was caught by surprise when the revolution broke out, and Vice President Agnew doesn't intend to let it happen here.

Anarchy, says Agnew, is not readily evaluated, and this country may be closer to a crack-up than is generally known. The October moratorium and the November mobilization turned him on. He burst into whip-lash speeches at New Orleans and Harrisburg. In public he inveighs against the impudent snobs, the pseudo-intellectuals, the political hustlers who are leading American youth to its own destruction.

"I JUST HOPE I didn't wait past the danger point," the Vice President told me. "What's my grand design? It's to denounce what I believe to be an unhealthy philosophy and to strengthen the resolve of other

Billy Graham

I don't understand the verse which reads: "He that findeth his life shall lose it; and he that loseth his life for My sake shall find it." Will you please clarify it for me? K.B.

This is one of the many truths in the Bible which seem to be paradoxical but which actually contain a fact of the greatest importance. First of all, let us realize that God's perspective and man's perspective are entirely different. God looks at everything in the light of truth and of eternity. Man looks at things from the standpoint of this perishing world and its warped ideas. In the verse you refer to, God is telling us that we may spend all of our lives getting the things we think most important—money, position, friends, influence, popularity, power, material possessions—only to wake up some day (possibly too late) to realize that we have lost all of them and our eternal soul too. On the other hand, when we put God first in our lives and ask Him to work out His holy will for us, people around us may think we are very foolish. But, some day we will find that we not only gained eternal life but received the best out of this life too.

Jesus tells us: "For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Ask God to help you look at this world and your own life with His perspective of eternity. It means the difference between day and night, life and death."

national leaders to speak out."

He flipped a leaf of paper on the desk. It showed a letter count of the two weeks which followed his New Orleans speech. The figures read 7122, con-1587. He wasn't gloating; his mood was castigation. He next flipped a pro-Agnew column by his visitor, and he zeroed in on the only derogatory phrase in it. I had written that Agnew had "thin experience" at the time of his nomination.

HE DISPUTED THAT. He'd been top executive in his county and state. He'd dealt with governmental problems that legislators can hide from, but which executives can't. He said he'd never felt any impediment on his experience to handle the job.

This is the man. He burns with patriotic concern over his country's internal plight. He is resentful of petty criticism, enraged at his rotten treatment by the hostile press. He is proud of his self-made success, and he's touched when his efforts are appreciated.

HOW MANY who ridicule his ardor for the country have what it takes to make a combat company commander? Which of those who feel superior have put themselves through law school and been a law school teacher for seven years? Did those who treated him since the Miami Convention as the upstart opportunist from a min-state bother to acquaint themselves with his gubernatorial record? It is one that jumped him into the top flight of the National Governors Conference.

NONE OF THESE achievements are mentioned in the typical coverage of Agnew's activities. He is pictured as a moneymaker and a malaprop. If these descriptions can't be sustained in context, there are sure to be the snide familiar flashbacks. Agnew once called a Japanese a Jap, and a Pole a Polack; ergo, he's a race-baiter and a fool.

Any man of spirit would lash out at his character-assassins. Agnew loathes and distrusts, curses and bypasses those reporters whose publications have done him wrong. The man's got intellectual muscle, and he's got the moxie, and we are lucky to have him around.

Japan's Amazing Economic Growth

NEW YORK (AP) — One hundred and one years ago the Japanese emperor issued an advisory to his people to "discard misguided practices of the past." He encouraged them to "seek new knowledge from the rest of the world."

Thus ended three centuries of isolation. And thus also were laid the beginnings of an economic story that some observers feel is as significant to world affairs as was the growth to world leadership of the U.S. economy.

The Japanese economy is growing at an amazing rate, somewhere around 13 or 14 per cent in real dollars. And the way Japanese manufacturers are plowing money back into expanded facilities, that rate may continue for years.

Match this against a rate of 5 or 6 per cent which most nations would be happy to achieve but seldom do. Japan's rate is twice that of its competitors.

Rising from economic devastation following World War II, this island nation that is physically smaller than California, achieved by 1955 a production rate equal to that of its immediate pre-war years. But even faster growth was ahead, and Japan is now the third largest industrial power behind the United States and the Soviet Union.

It leads the world in shipbuilding, production of cotton yarn, motorcycles, cameras, sewing machines, watches and radios. It is the second largest producer of automobiles, turbine generators, artificial fibers and television sets. And it is third in steel, paper, cement and oil refinery products.

With such an abundant output, Japanese businessmen are scurrying about the world selling their products and, in many instances, scaring the daylight out of domestic companies.

There is a reason for the zeal with which Japanese businessmen approach foreign sales. Japan must export or perish. If its goods are not bought abroad, the nation could not afford to import its basic foods and raw materials.

This situation makes the Japanese story all the more amazing. Barren of raw materials, Japan depends on imports for her oil, iron, wheat, coal, timber and a long list of other products that Americans take for granted.

One of its most important imports has been technology. Starting from scratch in many areas of production, the Japanese swiftly built up their capabilities by using ideas and methods developed in other countries, adding improvements of their own.

One result is that now the Japanese production plant is more modern than that of the United States. More than 60 per cent of its machine tools are less than 10 years old, for example, compared with 39 per cent in the United States.

Whether or not Japan can continue to capitalize on the implementation of technology is a cause for concern in that nation. Japanese economists feel that their country now must invest in its own research and depend less on that of others.

Cycle Terror In Saigon

By CARL D. ROBINSON

(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

SAIGON (AP) — They're not the Hell's Angels, but Saigon's cycle-borne "Cowboys" are striking a new kind of terror into the war-dulled residents of this capital.

Ranging in age from 15 to 25, hundreds of the cowboys nightly find excitement in the traffic along the building-lined boulevards of downtown Saigon aboard their shiny Japanese motorcycles. These machines have been brought in under generous import programs, and quickly soaked up by an inflation-prone economy. Nearly one million are currently in use in Saigon. Prices range from 35,000 to 50,000 piasters, or roughly $175 to $250—wages for a month or two.

The cowboys are students, mechanics or dropouts. Many have draft deferments from military service. By U.S. standards their hair is relatively short, barely hanging over their ears. They wear tight pants, colorful shirts, and simple rubber sandals. The sportier ones wear peace medallions and beads. All suffer from boredom and find Saigon traffic at night a diversion.

The cowboys also have their "birds"—teenie-boppers dressed in French-style miniskirts and jerseys, or bellbottoms and lace blouses. They often have their own motorbikes, or join a group of four or five cowboys. In three years, the motorcycle has completely replaced the bicycle in Saigon. Even the Mekong Delta peasant saves his money for a motorcycle to speed his goods to the Saigon market.

In many hospitals, motorcycle casualties outnumber those from the war. One Saigon woman has attended three funerals for relatives killed on motorcycles in the past two months. A Vietnamese servant, who lost a son on a motorcycle, used compensation money to buy his daughter a new motorbike.

So the Cowboy with his daredevil driving is often condemned.

Traveling in packs is done for excitement, such as racing, and for protection, for they have to keep an eye open for the "law". The cowboys have the advantage of sheer numbers—and maneuverability. Because of their light weight, the 50cc bikes can dash quickly down side streets and split up, leaving the police with only one or two hapless cowboys on their hands.

Recently John F. Kennedy Square has been the site of nightly police clampdowns, complete with waiting vans to haul away the young cowboys, bikes and all, to the police station. This is a piecemeal effort, however, and by the time one van is full hundreds more swarm around.

Pemphigus, A Less Serious Hazard Now

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Surely there must be someone besides me who's interested in what you know about pemphigus vulgaris. — J.S.

P.V. is a serious disorder, of unknown cause, but the outlook is far better today than it was not so many years ago.

There are several varieties of the disease, but the main feature is the formation of blisters which ultimately break and dry, becoming encrusted and odorous. These heal very slowly. Almost any area of the skin or surface membrane (mouth, genital tract) may be involved.

It is not commonly seen until after age 50. In past years the outlook was very gloomy, patients often dying of malnutrition and/or severe infection. Since the advent of steroid (cortisone) treatment, the picture has changed very much for the better. ACTH, cortisone, or a derivative is used, with large doses at first, then gradually reduced to a small "maintenance level."

The disorder has the feature of continuing over many years, with alternate periods of improvement and worsening, but at least considerable control is now possible, whereas before cortisone there was nothing effective to do.

One important precaution is to guard against infection in the blib areas.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a practical and convenient way for single girls to stop odor problems and stay dainty without messy douching? — Miss

A.M. Yes. Baths. I don't recommend routine douching, as it is not necessary and may even be harmful. Using a douche for medical purposes is another matter.

Normally the organs cleanse themselves effectively. If there is odor, then I would suspect a mild infection of some sort, and recommend medical examination.

To learn of the many factors that can be involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia, which concerns the esophagus, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

The Things That Happen At Night

One thing and another: Our 24-hour day generally apportions about half that time to daylight and the other half to darkness but I think you'll agree more whacky things happen under the cover of night.

The cats snooze all day and then get adventurous when night comes on. Sometimes they romance each other directly under my window and that calls for a well-directed shoe. Under such circumstances, it's even better if you rustle the underbrush and can sound like a barking dog.

THE PLUMBING invariably goes out at night, or on weekends when all the plumbers are off fishing. The children get sick when the doctor feels he has earned his rest and is at home curled up with a good book.

The worst of the storms occur at night, when you can't see the direction the clouds are moving but you get a glimpse of everything occasionally in an unholy light during flashes of lightning.

IF YOUR electricity goes on the blink and threatens to spoil everything in your refrigerator, chances are the gremlins wait until the witching hours to start their mischief.

Morpheus may promise you the chance to sleep at night but chances are he does his cat-napping during the day. There is too much organized resistance to the sleeping arrangement at the appointed times.

IF COWS only knew what milk was selling for these days, they wouldn't be contented — they'd be picketing for better working conditions and more hay.

THERE ARE NOW 200 million Americans, give or take a few thousand.

Of that group, 102 million are females, 98 million are males. The under five-year segment totals 19 million. Another 19 million are over 65. The Caucasian population totals 175 million while 25 million are members of ethnic groups.

THERE ARE 91 million married people among us while 11 million others were married but have now lost their mates. The voting potential is a remarkable 120 million. Six million people are enrolled in college, 50 million others in schools of some kind. White collar workers total 33 million, blue collar workers 27 million.

Of those who call the U.S. home, nine million were born in other lands. City dwellers total 125 million. There are 33 million home owners and 123 million church members.

And that's our statistical lesson for today. —TOMMY HART

The Matter Of Imports

WASHINGTON — If we owned the only automobile and we were the only driver, it would make no difference on which side of the street we drove. We could take our choice of the left or the right or the middle and no one else would have his rights violated.

Since, however, there is more than one automobile and more than one driver, the law requires that we stay on the right-hand side. As there are more people and more complications in living, more law and regulations are required.

WE HAVE ALWAYS had to worry about foreign imports. Since the beginning of our government there has been the question of quotas and tariffs. As other countries have developed the capability of supplying this country with goods in competition with our own, the problems become acute.

At first blush, the consumers of foreign goods say that they should have the opportunity to buy the cheapest possible and that our door should be open to imports. The trouble is that if our own producers are put out of business by the competition of more cheaply produced foreign goods and commodities, people will lose jobs and finally, when dependent upon the foreign source, no doubt prices will increase.

OIL PRODUCED in this country can not compete on an equal footing with oil produced in the Middle East. Our producers of anything must pay higher wages, take the chance of exploration and pay higher prices for equipment.

At this time, there are pressure groups which want our government to ease up on restrictions on foreign beef imports. There is complaint from the housewife that beef prices are too high and many are inclined to blame the cattle raiser for prices over the counter. The fact is the cattle raiser finds very little relationship to what he gets for beef sold on the hoof and the price of a steak or roast over the counter.

ANOTHER FACTOR is added when quality is considered. The Department of Agriculture constantly inspects American produced beef and some way or other it is all added into the final price. There is considerable red tape to it but we don't want billy goat, donkey or mule meat to be falsely labeled.

Just a few years ago, tons of kangaroo meat were sold in Pennsylvania labeled as American beef. After the violators were apprehended and prosecuted, there was a story in the press entitled "Are You Jumpy Today?" A congressman from Pennsylvania replied out of his shock that the whole thing made him "hopping mad."

THE LIST OF imported items which seriously affect the domestic industry is almost endless. In some parts of the country, 50 per cent of all industrial jobs are in the textile industry. Workers receive the minimum wage or more but the goods must compete with textiles from Hong Kong, where employees are paid 25 cents per hour and Japan, where the wage is 35 cents, and in other areas where as little as 10 cents an hour is paid.

Of course, we need a market for our raw products such as cotton, wool and mohair. This means we can not completely cut off our imports and make it a one-way street. It does mean that we must constantly look at the situation to determine what is best for our country's industry and those employed in it. The best arrangement is voluntary agreements, limiting exports and imports, with all these things a part of the consideration, plus our balance of payments. Our whole economic structure depends on these arrangements.

Too Much Haste On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON — The story of the pending tax bill contains a significant example of how cumbersome and harmful to the public interest the legislative process in Congress at times can be.

THE HOUSE passed a "tax reform" bill very quickly, and the Senate has been holding hearings. More than 280 witnesses have appeared and each was given at least ten minutes for oral testimony and then permitted to file lengthy statements. All this material has been printed by the Senate Finance Committee. But how much of these hundreds of thousands of words will be read by every member of the committee? How much of it, indeed, will ever be studied by the other members of the United States Senate?

Yet the tax problem involves billions of dollars. It affects the financial condition of our country. It can make a difference between stability and instability in the national economy.

IT IS EVIDENT to almost everybody that the first major revision of a tax bill in 30 years should not be rushed through Congress. But certain parts of the tax bill are deemed to be vote-getters, and hence it is important for political reasons to get action on the bill soon. Some senators are saying that only a few provisions of the bill will be passed this month and the remainder will go over to the January session for exhaustive study. Congress might agree to extend the sunset until June 30 next, repeal the seven per cent investment credit now given to business, and continue the present excise taxes on communications and autos for a year.

THE EFFECT of the legislation could be far-reaching. It is estimated, for instance, that if the personal exemption is raised by $300, this will cost the government three and a half billion dollars. The repeal of the investment credit and continuance of the excise taxes, as well as the extension of the surtax, would, however, increase the revenues of the U.S. Treasury.

What is perhaps most perplexing about the proposed bill are the numerous provisions dealing with technical changes in the law. Is the objective merely to obtain additional revenue or to correct inequities? Should it not be primarily concerned with providing incentives for the growth and expansion of business?

SOME OF THE changes include accelerated depreciation, capital gains for corporations and individuals, casualty losses, charitable contributions to private foundations, corporate mergers, depletion allowances, and foreign tax credits. All of these points raise dozens of problems in individual as well as business life.

Plainly, there is need for more time to consider all of the ramifications when tax laws are to be extensively revised. The plan that is gaining support calls for selecting the three or four major points in the House bill, pushing these through this month, and deferring until the January session of Congress a comprehensive study of tax revision.

CERTAINLY MORE study is needed, and members of Congress should at least have an opportunity to read carefully the testimony that has been printed about the proposed changes. This can hardly be done if the tax bill passed by the House is amended only here and there in the next few weeks.

Vocational Banquet Set

JOE B. NEELY

An area vocational banquet set for Tuesday at Big Spring High School's cafeteria, was originally planned as a session to acquaint area vocational personnel with new and pertinent legislation affecting the vocational field. But now it has turned into more of a homecoming for Joe B. Neely, director of Program Development, Vocational Division, Texas Education Agency, Austin, who will be the principal speaker. The banquet starts at 7 p.m. with registration and conducted tours of vocational programs from 6 to 7 p.m.

Neely is regarded by the school administration, as a local boy who made good, because from 1946 to 1959 he served Big Spring as a public school teacher, civil service training analyst at Webb AFB, a member of the board of education, and an area supervisor in the Big Spring office. In 1959 he moved to Austin as assistant director, Technical Industrial Education, Texas Education Association, and he served there until he became director of Program Development and assistant state director for Vocational Education in 1964.

Supt. S. M. Anderson said it now appears that Neely will become Deputy Associate Commissioner of Occupational Educational Education and Technology Dec. 1. Neely will be talking to nearly 300 persons expected to attend the banquet, about the Texas Vocational and Technical Bill, recently passed by the Texas Legislature, which has opened new vistas for the vocational and technical programs in Texas schools. The bill becomes effective in September, 1970, and vocational leaders all over Texas are working to adapt their vocational programs to it.

The bill encourages a high level of vocational education services as an emergency and imperative public necessity.

Vocational goals reaffirmed by the Council on Vocational Education in 1968 were: "that vocational education cannot be meaningfully limited to the skills necessary for a particular occupation. It is more appropriately defined as all of those aspects of educational experience which help a person to discover his talents, to relate them to the world of work to choose an occupation, and to refine his talents and use them successfully in employment."

On the right are Jackie Wrightsil, David Hilario, Adrian Brown, and Louis Evans.

13 PROGRAMS OFFERED

Nearly 1,000 Students Study Vocational Courses

By TERRY HOPKINS

Thirteen vocational programs at Big Spring High School train nearly 1,000 students in the skills and knowledge for gainful employment right after high school graduation. The newest of these programs, laundry and dry-cleaning, is a pilot program and the only one of its kind in Texas.

Initiated Nov. 3, the pilot project is paid for by the state for three years. The basic purpose of the program, in addition to training students in the laundry field, is to explore new ways to create a bridge between school and earning a living. About 45 students are presently involved in the program and receive instruction in three-hour blocks. Half of the students meet in the morning for academics, and half in the afternoon. The other half day is spent in actual practice in the laundry facilities at Lakeview school.

Vocational agriculture has 73 boys enrolled in the three-year program.

Rural leadership, actual farming enterprises supervised by the instructors, and a knowledge of keeping accurate records are just some of the points touched on in the programs. Others include a program to create love for country, knowledge of friendly, sportsmanlike competition, basic farm shop skills, and a study of agricultural jobs that will be available to the students after high school graduation.

The cooperative vocational academic education is a four-year program leading toward graduation. Its purpose is to provide a learning situation where academic success is possible for those students who have found the demands of regular school work too difficult. Students in the program may enter on-job training during their junior and senior years to help them develop a trade or salable skill by the time they graduate. Thirty-two students are enrolled in the program.

The upholstery program trains students in upholstering and the repair of furniture and is offered in three two-hour programs. Again, the purpose is to give the student training and practical experience in the shop that will give him a salable or skilled trade. Students are taught the safety of tools, machines, and the difference in good and inferior materials.

A two-year course designed to prepare students for gainful employment in the field of mechanics is general mechanics. First year students learn welding, basic drafting, spray painting, basic electricity and shop safety. In the second year, students learn maintenance and overhaul of gasoline engines. After completing two years of training, students can get employment in welding, paint shop, service stations, as a mechanic apprentice, or in small gasoline engine maintenance.

Industrial cooperative training is an instructional program operated with a written plan of training agreed upon between the teacher-coordinator, selected businesses and individual establishments in the community. Its purpose is to provide education and training opportunities in a variety of approved industrial occupations. There are presently 25 boys and 12 girls in the program, working at 21 different trade skills.

A program of classroom instruction combined with on-the-job training in marketing, merchandising, and distribution of goods and services, is distributive education. An all-time high of 83 students is currently enrolled in the program and they attend regular academic classes in the morning and train in local businesses in the afternoon. Instruction emphasizes America's system of competition and private enterprise. Students are taught that self help is a primary goal in life. Many of the local DE students remain on their training stations and pay a major portion of their expenses through two years at Howard County Junior College.

Vocational office education is designed for senior students only and students have a curriculum that combines on-the-job training with classroom units of work. One hour per day is spent in the VOE classroom and the student is enrolled in other academic classes to meet graduation requirements. On-the-job training consists of 15 to 25 hours per week, with pay, in an approved and supervised training station.

Classroom instruction covers 10-key and full-keyboard adding machines, printing calculators, a Friden calculator, a posting machine, dictation and transcription machines, duplicating machines, and a variety of electric typewriters.

More than 400 students are enrolled in the vocational homemaking program and the program is taught by seven teachers at four levels of learning. Units of study offered are home and family living, child care and development, housing and home furnishing, and consumer education.

Home and family living is offered to both girls and boys at the junior and senior level. The study includes personality development and all aspects of housing in relation to values, goals and income.

Metal trades is a vocational program that trains a student for four semesters, three hours a day, for gainful employment and useful citizenship in an industrial society. In the machine shop phase, students learn to run the engine lathe, drill press, milling machine and tool grinder. They learn to read and use precision shop tools and mechanical blue prints. Students also learn skills in the welding shop, forging, heat treating, hand tool grinding, and some sheet steel and metal procedures.

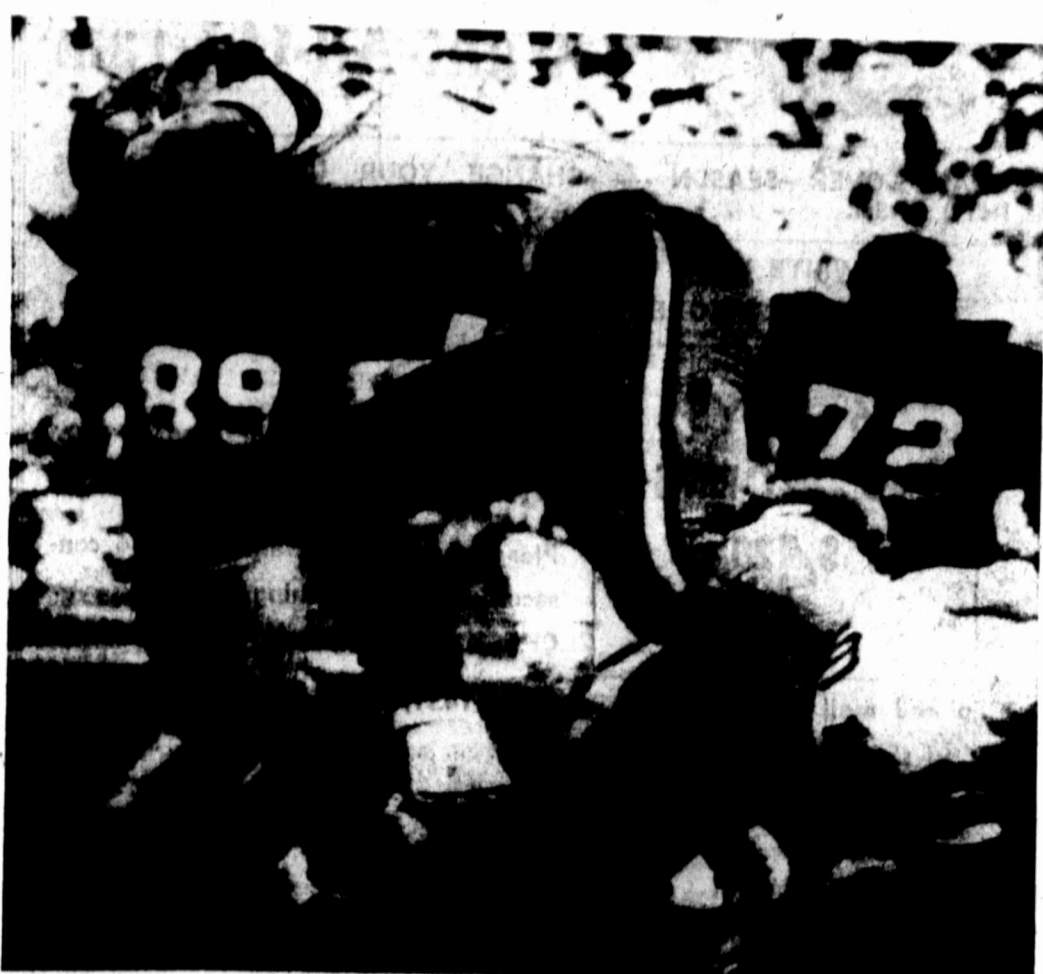

A two-year program, offering students a wide choice in the fields of basic electricity and electronics, is electrical appliance repair. The object of the course is to prepare a student with a salable skill. He learns repair of small and large appliances, basic refrigeration and air conditioning.

Auto mechanics is another two-year program to train students for gainful employment and they spend a half day in academic preparation and the other half in a shop situation. After two years, the student with higher mechanical ability is able to become an apprentice mechanic and enter some related occupation such as parts, automobile salesman, or shop foreman. Each shop period is operated for three hours daily, one hour for theory and two hours for shop practice.

The building trades vocational program is a two-year course which teaches basic technical studies and tool identification. It is a practical application class with actual tool usage on "live" jobs. The course is designed to give a general knowledge and basic skill in the various building trades. With normal participation in the program, a student should be able to start a career with a high apprentice level.

The school system often uses the resources from this program, for concrete work, building book cases, adapting existing buildings for new purposes, and other general repair. The program has also constructed two libraries for elementary schools, and a large store house for the athletic department.

HILL CLIMB — Dallas rookie Calvin Hill climbs over a mountain of Redskins in the third quarter yesterday for seven yards and his second touchdown of the game. Hill carried 27 times for 150 yards as the Cowboys beat Washington at RFK Stadium, 41-28.

More Praise Heaped On Hill As Dallas Dumps Redskins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comparing Dallas rookie Calvin Hill to former all-pro Jim Brown has become a prime subject of conversation around the National Football League. And after his latest performance, no wonder.

Hill, who played his collegiate football at Yale in the Ivy League, carried 27 times for 150 yards and two touchdowns of three and seven yards Sunday as the Cowboys defeated the Washington Redskins 41-28.

It was his most single game yardage this year, setting a Dallas record, and the third time he has gained more than 100 yards.

"I won't compare him with Brown," said Dallas coach Tom Landry, "but he has the potential. He's one of the best I've seen."

Coach Vince Lombardi of the Redskins also declined to compare Hill with Brown, the former running back of the Cleveland Browns.

"GOOD RUNNER" — "He's a good runner... he's big," said Lombardi. "He's a good rookie. But I can't compare him to Brown, they have different styles. And you have to remember, Brown was around for 10 years."

Hill, a 6-foot-3, 230-pounder who was the first draft choice of the Cowboys, said he was still learning the subtleties of running in pro football.

"Unless you're a natural like Gale Sayers, you learn each year," he said. "I'm learning to run inside. I'm cutting better. But, like I say, it's a learning process. I don't know when it will ever be complete."

The Dallas victory virtually clinched the Capitol Division championship for the Cowboys, who now have a record of eight victories and one loss for a three-game edge over the second-place Redskins, 4-3-2.

It took two Dallas interceptions in the fourth quarter, however, to nail down the victory as the Redskins threatened to overcome the early lead built up by the Cowboys.

Mel Renfro and Chuck Howley each intercepted passes thrown by Sonny Jurgensen who had completed 24 of 35 for 338 yards and four touchdowns in the game.

TURNING POINT — With the Cowboys leading 34-28, Renfro's interception came on the Dallas eight and Howley's at the 11. Both were intended for receiver Bob Long.

"I thought the big play of the game was Howley's interception," said Landry. "That turned

QUARTERBACK CLUB MEETING MOVED UP TO THIS EVENING

The weekly meeting of the Big Spring Quarterback Club is being moved up to 7:30 p.m. in room 142 at Senior High today.

The meeting, which will be the wrap-up for the football season, was advanced one day because the regular meeting place was being used Tuesday evening. Kimball Guthrie, co-captain, urged a large turnout for the meeting.

Steers Outpace '69 Opposition

Although the Big Spring Steers finished against a tough defense that whittled off some of the season's margin, they still closed the 1969 football campaign ahead of the combined enemy.

The 6-4 victory record is indicative of the way things went. The Steers had a 10 per cent bulge in first downs, were 14 per cent ahead in total gains. They outtrashed the opposition by 406 yards during the season, but they surrendered 26 more yards through the air. Their passing completions stood at nearly 40 per cent, while the enemy connected 43 per cent of the time.

The Steers were more alert in picking off enemy tosses, yet on the other hand they lost more fumbles than the enemy. Punting was virtually even.

The 2,701 yards gained during the season was an impressive figure considering the calibre of opposition which the Steers faced all year long.

Rick Peurifoy had a good closing night and finished as the leading ground gainer with 673 yards, an average of 6.6 He also led in touchdowns, piling up eight. Gary Hinds, who carried the balls 10 times more than Peurifoy, averaged 3.2 yards and scored three TDs. John Hilario and Gary Hughes, who saw limited action, had averages of 5.5 yards per carry. Hinds threw all but eight of the 146 passes, completing 52

Taylor, Jets Both Had Same Pain

By The Associated Press
"I had a pain out there today," said Otis Taylor, nursing his self-inflicted punctured ribs. The New York Jets also had a pain Sunday—Taylor.

The burly Kansas City receiver shook off the agony of those punctured ribs to haul in two Len Dawson touchdown passes—he already had one TD reception before his accident—as the Chiefs stomped past the Super Bowl champions 34-16 before a record American Football League crowd of 63,849 at Shea Stadium.

The seventh straight triumph for the Chiefs, now 9-1, enabled them to maintain their half-game lead over Oakland, which rallied late to escape San Diego 21-16, heading into next Sunday's showdown between the Western Division powers.

Boston turned back Cincinnati 25-14. Buffalo routed Miami 28-3 and Denver tied Houston 20-20 in other AFL activity.

Quarterback Joe Namath managed to complete 24 of 50 passes for 327 yards against the stern Chief defense—best in the AFL—but was intercepted three times. Dawson picked up 298 yards in the air, hitting 22 of 37 passes.

Daryle Lamonica's 81-yard touchdown pass to Warren Wells with just 5:41 left enabled Oakland to pull it out against the stubborn Chargers.

The Chargers, now 8-1, had taken a 14-7 halftime lead, but San Diego wiped that out on Dennis Partee's kicks of 18, 31 and 14 yards.

Boston forced Cincinnati into a bevy of mistakes, picking off three of rookie quarterback Greg Cook's passes, in picking up only its second victory in 10 games.

Rookie O. J. Simpson caught two touchdown passes and returned the game-opening kickoff 73 yards to set up his first TD as Buffalo's anemic offense suddenly came to life against Miami.

Miami, forced to go with second-string quarterback Rick Norton because of Bob Griese's knee injury, threatened only twice, one resulting in Karl Kremser's 21-yard field goal.

Roy Gerela's 19-yard goal with just three seconds left enabled Houston to climax a furious rally and tie Denver. The Oilers trailed 20-3 early in the final quarter when defensive tackle Tom Domes scooped up a fumble and ran 38 yards to score. Four minutes later, quarterback Pete Beathard teamed with Jerry Levas on an 86-yard TD bomb to pull within range.

BOWL BIDS SHAPE TODAY

Irish In Cotton Bowl

By The Associated Press
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame accepted a bid Monday to play either Texas or Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas on New Year's Day.

The decision, reversing Notre Dame's policy against post-season football, sends the Irish to their first bowl appearance since the fabled Four Horsemen team defeated Stanford and Ernie Nevers 27-10 in the 1925 Rose Bowl.

The announcement was made by the Rev. Edmund Joyce, executive vice president of the university and chairman of the faculty board.

Father Joyce said "the crucial consideration" involved an urgent need by Notre Dame for funds to finance minority students' academic programs and scholarships.

Notre Dame's share of the Cotton Bowl receipts is guessed to be $250,000 to $300,000.

No. 5, put on its most impressive performance, a 48-0 rout of Maryland with Charlie Pittman scoring three TDs.

Garden City Lad Fighting To Survive Broken Neck

GARDEN CITY — Kenneth Chandler, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chandler of the Houston Oilers, Hopkins was hit hard by Charlie Greer of the Broncos causing the ball to squirt loose and into the arms of a surprised Cavness. Cavness ran the ball back 20 yards, Houston behind 20-3 with six minutes left surged back with 17 points to tie the game at 20-20.

Lubbock, he was under intensive care Monday. J. Jerry Gibbs, high school principal, talked with the attending specialist Monday. There were some indications that Kenneth might be regaining some feeling in his arms. It will be several days, at best, before surgery can be attempted to see if pressure can be relieved.

Kenneth has a marvelous spirit, said his coach, Jack Woodley. Throughout his ordeal, he retained consciousness and never once complained.

The mishap occurred in the second quarter. Wellman had jumped to a 24-0 lead on the strength of three TDs, but Garden City got its passing game going and quickly retaliated with two TDs. A short kick was attempted in hopes of a Garden City recovery to keep the momentum going. Kenneth was going for the receiver when he was blocked at right angles.

This naturally put a pall on the Bearcats, who fought on doggedly. Except for two fumbles which stopped possible scoring drives, they would have stayed in the game. Although Wellman won 56-26, the game was more closely played than the count indicated.

Kenneth, a popular young man, was regarded as one of the finest athletic prospects in the school.

Tough Foe For Copper

Abilene Cooper in Class AAAA, Lufkin Dunbar in Class AA and White Oak in Class A, take their No. 1 rankings into the Texas schoolboy football bi-district playoffs this week.

But Houston Elmore, ranked No. 1 in Dallas Morning News Schoolboy football Poll for Class AAA, must first contend with Brenham for the Dist. 10-AAA title before advancing.

Abilene Cooper will get stiff opposition in its first playoff game against Amarillo Palo Duro, the state's third-ranked Class AAAA team. The pair meet Saturday at 2 p.m. in Amarillo.

Lufkin Dunbar, the season-long No. 1 choice in Class AA, plays its bi-district round at Dayton Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Defense Was Potent Offense

DENVER (AP) — Some of the most potent offense was defense when Denver and Houston fought to a 20-20 American Football League tie Sunday.

Consider rookie defensive back Bill Thompson of Denver. Thompson's 34-yard punt return near the end of the third quarter set up a field goal.

A short time later, he picked off a pass from Houston's Pete Beathard and ran 57 yards for a touchdown and pushed Denver to a 20-3 lead well into the fourth period.

There were many other defensive stars including defensive tackle Tom Domes of Houston who caught a Denver fumble in the air and ran 38 yards for the fourth-quarter touchdown that gave the Oilers new hope.

Domes' spectacular play, with six minutes 13 seconds left in the game, reversed the course of Houston's apparent defeat.

"The fumble recovery was the turning point," said Houston Coach Wally Lemm.

Quarterback Pete Beathard's fourth-quarter bombardment helped the Oilers rally to pull even. Beathard hit Jerry Levas for an 86-yard touchdown.

His 42-yard toss to Mac Haik then set up the tying field goal by Roy Gerela from the 20.

Queens Lose Out In Second Round

The HCJC Queens started off like a house afire in the North Texas State University women's volleyball tourney Saturday, then cooled and fell out of the running.

In the first round, the Queens whitewashed Dallas University, 15-0, 15-0, with Linda Halfmann serving 7 points and Christ Price 13.

Continuing the streak, the Queens measured Stephen F. Austin 15-9 in the second round, then fell back 12-14 and 5-15. Linda Halfmann was high point server with 6, 5, and 4 points. The Queens go to Odessa at 7 p.m. Tuesday. They are 14-6 for the season.

COAHOMA SETS QB MEET TODAY

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Quarterback Club has moved its meeting up to 7:45 p.m. today in the high school cafeteria, Earnest Richters, club captain, announced. The change in date was due to a basketball game being scheduled Tuesday evening.

First Limits On Jet Noise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's first limits on jet airplane noise go into effect Dec. 1, but it probably will be many months before the public notices any less whine in the sky.

Initially the limits are aimed at the four-engine Boeing 747, first of the jumbo jets, a 360-passenger flying hotel lobby scheduled to enter airline service late in February.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the new rules will not be applied strictly at the start because the 747 engines will come close to, but will not actually meet, the standards.

In addition to the 747, the standards, announced by the FAA Nov. 12, will apply to the three-engine Lockheed L1011 and Douglas DC10 air-bus giants, scheduled for delivery to the airlines late in 1971 or in 1972.

New Trucks Flunk

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two of Buffalo's new salt-carrier trucks flunked their first road tests Sunday. They overturned as snow squalls dumped up to 18 inches of snow on sections of the city.

TV Network Reform Asked By Nixon Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of network television news coverage, raises "a legitimate question," but one that should be debated within the industry, says a spokesman for President Nixon.

But should the industry fail to scrutinize itself, said Herbert G. Klein, "you do invite the government to come in. I'd like not to see that happen."

Klein, a former newspaper editor and now Nixon's director of communications, appeared on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation." Meanwhile, a top Republican leader was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said Agnew's Des Moines, Iowa, speech last Thursday "brought out the issue that to a degree television isn't always objective. 'You aren't. And it isn't your role to be,' Scott told his interviewers. 'I think he has asked everybody in the country to look at television and compare it with the press and say to television that we hope you will give us the straight news ... but when you're editorializing say so.'"

Scott also said he would oppose any attempt by government to censor the news.

The vice president was accused by some network officials of advocating news censorship when he said: "Perhaps it is time that the networks were made more responsible to the views of the nation and more responsible to the people they serve."

Agnew, however, said he was not proposing government censorship.

NBC board chairman Walter D. Scott said in New York Sunday he did not interpret Agnew's speech as a call for censorship, but for "restrictions we don't agree with."

"Implicit in the vice president's speech was a call for restrictions on the ability to conduct journalistic enterprise," the NBC chief said.

Klein said Agnew's speech was his own, but acknowledged the Nixon administration is concerned about television news coverage of its activities.

"I think that there's concern," he said. "It's a concern among all the American people as is evidenced by response to the vice president's comments, which was a tremendous outpouring."

"I feel in general that the coverage has been fair. But when you see times that it is not or you feel that it is not, I think we ought to have the right and you should speak out ..."

DEAR ABBY: An ugly rumor has been circulating all over town about my 16-year-old daughter, and I want to know what can be done to combat it. Here are the facts: Late last May, the day after school recessed, the children and I went to Texas to spend our summer vacation. (My parents have a 60-acre ranch there.) I was in my sixth month of pregnancy at the time but very few knew it because I hardly showed. My eldest girl is 16, and I have three younger children, 14, 12, and 11.

Well, I had the baby ahead of schedule in Texas, and we all returned home with the new baby about a week before school resumed.

Now it's all over town that the baby is my DAUGHTER'S — not MINE! Abby, my daughter is a "nice" girl, and we can't imagine how this rotten lie ever got started! She has heard it from her friends at school, and I have heard it from many of my friends and neighbors. How can a person kill such a rumor or prove it false — short of putting an ad in the newspaper?

TALKED ABOUT DEAR TALKED: One can't. And one shouldn't try. The people who KNOW you and your daughter won't believe it. And those who would spread such a vicious rumor don't count. And the less said about it the better.

DEAR ABBY: I received two invitations this week, one to a 50th wedding celebration and another to a birthday party. Both of these invitations said, "NO GIFTS, PLEASE." This is the first time I ever saw that on an invitation and am wondering what I should do about it. I would hate to come empty-handed if others come with a gift. I'll be looking for your answer. NO CHEAPSKATE DEAR NO: If the invitation requests "NO GIFTS" — bring no gift. (A suggestion: Send a contribution to charity in the name of your host or hostess.) Guests who come with a pretty package in hand when the invitation says "no gifts" should feel embarrassed, not the empty-handed ones.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "Hank's Wife" struck me as being somewhat stupid. (Hank hated to get up in the morning so he took the night shift.) You said Hank's reason for working nights was childish, and he should get on a more "civilized" shift.

I have worked the night shift for 18 years, and I assure you I am as "civilized" as anyone who works the day shift. I find better working conditions on the night shift and the hours suit me fine, so if the night shift is "uncivilized," let us close the hospitals at 4 p.m., and maybe our boys should quit fighting for us at 4 p.m., and let's not run our power plants after the hour of "civilization."

I think you are a smart aleck for not appreciating those night shift workers who provide you not only with the luxuries, but also the necessities of life. Yet you criticized Hank when an ungrateful wife should have been criticized.

If you can admit you're wrong, why not print this and give a word of praise to those of us who prefer to work nights in this "uncivilized" world.

Egyptian Frogmen Attack Two Ships

By The Associated Press

Israeli newspapers today angrily demanded swift retribution for an attack by Egyptian frogmen on Israeli ships in the southern Israeli port of Eilat.

Cairo indicated the frogmen look off from the Jordanian port of Aqaba, which faces Eilat across three miles of the Gulf of Aqaba.

"Jordan is responsible for the acts committed from its territory, and it could not have been unaware of plans for this one," said the semiofficial paper Davar.

The last time Eilat was hit by Arab rockets seven months ago—Israel retaliated with an air raid on Aqaba.

"Aqaba, Jordan's only sea outlet, could be completely paralyzed without a single Israeli soldier crossing the frontier," said the English-language Jerusalem Post, "and there is nothing the Jordanians could do to prevent this from happening."

"It is unthinkable that Israel will not repay the attackers with a strong hand," commented Haaretz.

The papers mentioned the "gentleman's agreement" between Israel and Jordan whereby the two ports are off limits to attack because of their mutual vulnerability.

Israel's cabinet planned a special session today, presumably to approve plans for retaliatory action.

Israeli military authorities at first thought Sunday's raid was staged by Arab guerrillas based in Jordan. But Cairo took the credit, claiming the "destruction and sinking" of three ships. Cairo spokesmen said the frogmen were Egyptian regulars dropped near the port by aircraft Sunday morning, and that they returned safely to Egyptian territory after accomplishing "their heroic mission successfully."

Israeli officials said five football-sized holes were blown in the hulls of two ships, the beaching of one being needed to keep it from sinking.

Spokesmen in Tel Aviv said the ships were the 1,800-ton coaster Hey Daroma and the 13,700-ton freighter Dalia.

The Cairo statement claimed that "the targets were enemy vessels which took part in the recent assault against our Suez Gulf position. Those ships were equipped to be used for military operations ... These ships had carried enemy troops to attack our coastal positions."

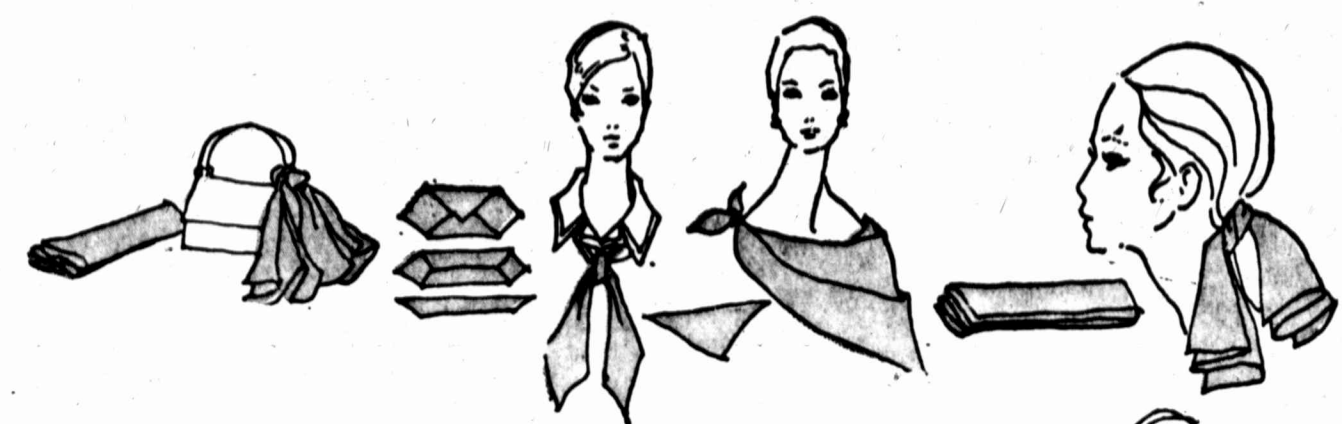

Israeli spokesmen said the Hey Daroma was sometimes used to carry military supplies.

Israeli naval vessels made a search for the frogmen, but Tel Aviv spokesmen said they escaped.

On other fronts, Israeli jets penetrated three miles into Jordanian territory to bomb and strafe Jordanian army positions along the Jordan River. Military sources said the air raid followed two artillery duels across the river. Spokesmen in Amman said eight civilians were wounded.

In Gaza City, security forces reported they arrested an Arab guerrilla who threw a grenade at Lt. Col. Benny Melitv, the military governor of the occupied Gaza Strip. Melitv was not hurt.

The Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram today quoted Libyan defense minister Col. Adam Hawwaz as saying that Libya has banned the flight of all but supply planes from Wheelus Air Force Base.

Resolutions Urging Curbs On Nuclear Arms Expected

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly's annual disarmament debate, opening today, is expected to produce resolutions in favor of stopping the nuclear arms race, keeping nuclear weapons off the ocean floor and curbing gas and germ warfare.

U.S. Chief Delegate Charles W. Yost and Soviet disarmament negotiator Aleksei A. Koshchin were listed as the first two speakers before the assembly's main political committee.

The 126-nation committee has four items on its agenda—general disarmament, chemical and biological disarmament, suspension of underground nuclear tests, and nuclear aid for non-nuclear countries. It plans a general debate on all four items, then will consider resolutions on each of them in turn.

Documents to be studied include a treaty against planting nuclear weapons on the ocean floor, proposed by the United States and the Soviet Union during the Geneva disarmament talks; a convention against biological warfare, proposed by Britain in Geneva; a rival convention against both biological and chemical weapons, proposed by nine Communist countries; and a report from Secretary-General U Thant on the possible effects of such weapons.

The committee debate could lead to private negotiations designed to keep the ocean floor free of nuclear arms and prohibit gas and germ warfare.

The committee is also likely to give some words on encouragement to the U.S. and Soviet diplomats beginning talks today, to arrange negotiations to limit the production of nuclear arms.
