TWO WOMEN DIE IN GOODNIGHT CAR COLLISION

Charles M. Schwab Predicts Prosperity And Warns Of Danger In Merging

VETERAN STEEL MAGNATE SEES GROWTH AHEAD

New Strides in Economic Progress Discernible To Bethlehem Head

PLEADS BIG SALARY

Adequate Rewards Needed To Stimulate Personal Interest in Trade

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—A message of hope and a warning to industry were voiced tonight by Charles M. Schwab, veteran steel magnate.

Describing himself as an optimist, the chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel corporation said the years just ahead will see new strides in the direction of economic progress.

But he said industry "must stimulate the personal interest of management and men through adequate rewards."

Occasional Bumper Crops

Mr. Schwab spoke at the 10th annual dinner of the bureau of advertising, American Newspaper Publishers association. After comparing the state of primitive man with modern civilization, he concluded with the words:

"Business follows the trend of planting and harvest, with occasional bumper crops. The coming 10 years are going to see the rehabilitation and improvement of properties. Electrification will receive new impetus. Prices will become better stabilized. Home building will gain. The automobile industry will reach new high levels. Advertising will make increased strides. In short the American family will continue to enjoy a well-rounded progressive existence, conducive to business prosperity and progress."

The dangerous feature in the present situation, he said, was not the lack of prosperity but the over-prosperity of pre-depression times which "led to many changes in our ways of doing business."

Danger in Mergers

In this connection, he touched upon mergers.

"I am a believer," he said, "in carefully thought out mergers to

MINIATURE
MONKEY GOLF

TO MAKE play difficult is the chief aim in miniature golf. The London courses have adopted a monkey hazard. The ball must pass through a cage without a monkey intercepting it. Few players get by because the monkey has a great time seizing balls. He protests when the attendant recovers a quart or two of balls from him daily. Other English courses are cluttered with sea-serpent and howitzer holes. The serpent is wound about a tree and the player must drive his ball into the serpent's mouth and then around the tree. Many tournaments are staged on these miniature courses. All types of affairs are brought to the public's interest through the miscellaneous notice classification of The Daily Times-Record News Classified Want-Ad section. Outdoor events, lodge meetings, and various other social gatherings are announced through this indispensable medium.

San Diego Strangler Kills Again

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 23. (US)—Another feminine victim of a strangler was found late today!

For the third time an atrocious baffling killer has horrified San Diego by stealthily murdering without leaving a single tangible clue.

Although garrotted with a towel about a week ago after being struck over the head, the pajama-clad body of Mrs. W. B. Bibbens, wealthy and middle aged, was not found in her home until this late date.

Those who preceded Mrs. Bibbens into the shadowland of death at the hands of a fiendish slayer—slayings that have baffled the foremost criminoligists of the state—were:

Louise Teuber, 17, whose body was found hanging from a tree here last Sunday. Only today medical experts had announced she had been strangled to death before being hanged. There is not the slightest clue to the identity of her assassin.

Virginia Brooks, 10-year-old model school girl. She vanished on Feb. 11 while en route to school. On March 10 her body was found in a clump of bushes on an isolated part of Camp Kearney mesa.

Because of the condition of the child's body, from mutilation and exposure to the elements, the cause of death was never determined.

In view of this latest killing by a

AUSTIN-WACO ROW IN HOUSE

Removal of Highway Offices Proposed

AUSTIN, April 23. (UP)—Senator John W. Hornsby and Representatives T. H. McGregor and Eugene Giles, the capital county's members of the Texas legislature, all announced tonight that they will not be whipped into voting for a $212,000,000 state bond issue by a proposal to move the state highway department from Austin to Waco.

Hornsby voted against the bond issue in the senate. McGregor has organized the house fight against a bond issue and Giles has voted against the bonds.

That such a movement was under way was admitted by Representative R. M. Hubbard of Bowie county, who has been floor leader for the bond advocates in the house. Representative H. B. Steward of Teague will propose the removal to Waco, Hubbard said, by an amendment to a pending bill for erection of a highway department building in Austin. Hubbard said 75 members are pledged to vote for the removal.

"Such tactics will win nothing," was Senator Hornsby's comment.

"I will suggest that they add the

1,600 Hear Legion National Commander Speak At Auditorium

PREPAREDNESS URGED

Texas and Oklahoma Heads Attend Banquet And Meeting Here

Before about 1,600 members and friends of the American Legion from this section of Texas at the Memorial auditorium Thursday night, Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander of the organization, deplored charges that the adjusted compensation loan act passed this spring by congress is the chief cause of an anticipated deficit in the national treasury, and declared that this legislation merely provided partial and tardy payment to world war veterans of money already belonging to them, and held in trust for several years by the government.

Objects to Name

"This bill has been erroneously and maliciously called 'the bonus bill,'" declared Mr. O'Neil. "It was adopted by congress after four others calling for appropriations had been rejected. It was the fifth and last choice; it was passed over the president's veto; it was approved by the American Legion's national committee only on condition that it would not interfere with the program of relief for disabled veterans, and that it would not impose a burden upon the national government. It did not call for the appropriation of one time, except the small amount required to dispatch the routine work of making the loans, and to provide supervision for the work."

The speaker further asserted that a remarkable improvement in general business and industrial conditions in many sections had been brought about almost solely by the financial relief given by loans under the Patman act. Ninety-five per cent of those receiving loans, he said, were shown by painstaking investigation to be actually in need of help, and to have used judiciously the money obtained.

Methodists to Open Bids April 29 On Three-Story Education Building

Bids on the educational building of the First Methodist church soon to be erected at Travis and Eleventh streets will be opened in the basement of the church next Wednesday morning, April 29, at 10 o'clock, with the expectation that the contracts will be awarded without delay, according to information given The Record News Thursday.

Plans drawn by Ray C. Arnhold, local architect, have been in the hands of numerous contractors for some time and a large number of bids is anticipated. Three contracts are provided for in the specifications furnished. One general contract will call for construction of the building. Heating and plumbing will be covered by the second contract and the third will be on electrical wiring.

Designed to match the Travis street elevation of the recently completed church building in height, color and architectural tone, the educational building will make of the combined units one of the most imposing edifices in this section of the country. It will present a cathedral like entrance on Tenth street, an elevation on Travis street almost 300 feet in length, but broken by arch-surmounted entrances, and an attractive facade three stories high on Eleventh street. The entire plant will occupy one-half of the block, while the other half, fronting on Lamar avenue, is to be occupied by the new United States postoffice building.

On the higher ground, adjoining Travis street, the educational build-

Wire Hoax Heightens Anguish Of Kidnaped Doctor's Heiress-Wife In St. Louis Mansion

ST. LOUIS, April 23. (UP)—A mysterious telegram which the heiress wife of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley Jr., missing physician, thought might reveal the whereabouts of her husband, apparently had turned tonight into a cruel hoax.

While Mrs. Kelley, who inherited several million dollars, remained in her Portland Place mansion ready to "pay almost any ransom" for return of her husband and 50 picked detectives searched for clues, police in Chicago received the following message from New York:

"Dr. Morrison D. Kelley, kidnaped St. Louis, seen second floor Morrison hotel 115 feet south and 95 feet west of Morrison northeast corner. "C. G. D."

Hotel Is Searched

Police immediately went to the skyscraper hotel in Chicago and searched it from top to bottom, without finding any trace of the physician. Although the telegram purported to come from New York police, authorities there disclaimed any knowledge of it.

Dr. Kelley disappeared from his home during a heavy rainstorm at 10 p. m. Monday when he was called on a false emergency case. His Lincoln coupe was found on a St. Louis county road the next day. In it were his medicine case and a diamond ring, indicating he had not been robbed. On the floor of the machine were oily footprints of two men.

After being forced to release six gangster suspects when no evidence was obtainable against them, police were reduced to checking possible hideaways or freshly oiled roads about the city.

It was pointed out, however, that if Kelley had been kidnaped, his captors easily could have taken him several thousand miles away from St. Louis by now.

Although Mrs. Kelley insisted hysterically that her husband had been kidnaped and authorities said they were inclined to agree with her, she has received no ransom demands.

His disappearance, incidentally, proved exceedingly disconcerting to his numerous patients, all of whom had to go to other physicians to continue the treatment that Dr. Kelley, distinguished eye, ear and nose specialist, had started. He had planned to perform an important operation on Tuesday, but it was necessary to delay it inasmuch as no other doctor was familiar with the case.

Complaints Bring Probe Of Bonding Company

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—The justice department today laid plans for a general investigation of the American Bond and Mortgage company, characterized as a $100,000,000 concern with activities in half a dozen of the largest cities.

Word came from federal officials recently that incidental inquiry had been made into the concern's activities. It was said authoritatively today, however, that due to a new "flood of complaints" from stockholders there "undoubtedly will be a general investigation."

Honduras Rebels Driven Back in Fierce Fray

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, April 23. (AP)—Federal troops turned back the Rebel forces today in a desperate battle at Chamelecon, driving the enemy out of the area and saving the railhead at San Pedro Sula, not far away.

In the past two days that sector has seen the most vicious fighting since the rebellion began. The rebels attacked once, were repulsed; attacked again and were driven off, then spent all they had in the battle today.

Woman Wins Damages For Attack by Goose

WASHINGTON, April 23. (INS)—Mrs. Amelia Facteau was awarded $500 damages by a jury in District of Columbia supreme court today for injuries suffered when attacked by a goose. She had sued Mrs. Rose Gegland, owner of the fowl, for $10,000.

Mrs. Facteau testified she walked by Mrs. Regland's home March 25, 1928, and the goose flew at her, bit and scratched her and caused her to fall.

Hoovers Share 24 Cent Dinner at Scout House

WASHINGTON, April 23. (US)—Eight distinguished guests, including President and Mrs. Hoover, today ate a dinner that cost just $1.89, or less than 24 cents for each of them.

The dinner was served in the national Girl Scouts' "Little House" to open the celebration of better homes in America week.

The menu included split pea soup, Melba toast, meat loaf with brown sauce, potatoes on the half shell, cabbage and carrot salad with French dressing, lemon bread pudding, tea and graham muffins.

Dr. Isaac Kelley, one of St. Louis' most wealthy and prominent physicians, believed to be held by kidnapers who lured him from his home on a fake emergency case, is shown above with his wife. Mrs. Kelley, society leader and daughter of the late W. T. McBride, multimillionaire oil man, offered to "pay almost any ransom" for her husband's safe return. Kelley is descended through his mother from Jean Sale Lejoie, who accompanied La Clede, the French explorer, on the voyage up the Mississippi that resulted in the founding of St. Louis in 1764.

Child Victim of Multiple Stabbing Buried While Officers Push Search

Doctor's Examination Shows Girl, 11, Not Attacked By Slayer; Young Mexican Under Suspicion

SAN ANTONIO, April 23. (AP)—While officers of San Antonio and other South Texas communities were conducting an intensive search for the slayer, believed to have been a young Mexican wood chopper, the body of little Edna Merle Springer, 11-year-old victim of the attacker's brutal fury, was laid to rest in a San Antonio cemetery after simple services at the home of her grandmother near Leming.

The girl was waylaid shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday while on her way home from school. The spot where her body, pierced in 27 places with a small knife, was found, is less than 100 yards from the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Alice Dickey.

Signs of Struggle

Footprints and blood stains beside the path are silent signs of the struggle which preceded the stabbing of the girl. Officers believe that the slayer had planned to attack the girl but that her cries or an approaching automobile on the road not 100 feet away frightened him and that he then killed her and threw her body into a ravine so that she could not give the alarm.

Dr. C. C. Shotts of Pleasanton, who examined the girl's body, said that she had not been attacked. He said that all the stab wounds except one were in the breast, only two piercing her heart, evidence that the knife blade was short. The girl also had received one cut on the leg. The doctor discovered no evidence that the girl had been choked, although a bruise on her mouth indicated that the attacker had stilled her cries with his hand.

Mexican Accused

Sheriff Tom Lott of Atascosa county, some of his deputies and San Antonio officers believe that the slayer is a Mexican youth, 19 years old, that he caught a ride to San Antonio on a truck at 8 p. m. Wednesday and that he is now

CHAIR CLAIMS 'MONK' TWITTY

Gray County Attacker Dies For Harming Child

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, April 24. (AP)—Moncus Twitty, 30, of Gray county, was electrocuted in the state prison here early today for attacking a 3-year-old child.

"Moncus Twitty, I pronounce you dead," said the official physician at 12:18 a. m.

Twitty walked into the death chamber in company with a priest. There was unusual difficulty in adjusting the straps of the chair and the guards whispered as they went about their work.

The condemned man meanwhile had mumbled "I have made myself ready to go."

At 10:40 p. m., less than an hour and a half before he died, Twitty was sleeping, or feigning sleep, when newspaper men went to his cell to interview him.

He muttered he "couldn't say," on what date the crime was committed, nor where his wife was. Likewise he insisted he did not know what he used to do for a living.

All day he sat on his bunk absorbed in a glassy stare. For a month after his death sentence Twitty did not speak a word.

Twitty was convicted in Gray county for assaulting the infant daughter of his own sister, while the girl and her brother were left in his care.

The family lived in a tent, near Lefors. The child's mother, who had been attending a carnival at Pampa, returned and found the girl injured. Twitty told her the child had fallen and hurt herself.

This remark sealed his doom. A jury declared that he was sane because he knew enough to attempt to cover his deed with such a remark.

Troy, N. Y., Officers To Get McAlester Suspect

TROY, N. Y., April 23. (UP)—A squad of state troopers left today for McAlester, Okla., to bring back Stanley Chero, accused as the slayer of State Police Sergeant John E. Frey. Chero's companion, William Schmenitzer, was brought back several weeks ago.

RAINS BENEFIT GRAIN CROPS

Light Downpours Soak Wichita Area

Heading wheat and oat crops through Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma drank in a gentle, beneficial rain Wednesday night and Thursday. Lingering clouds promised that the needed downpours would be continued. The rains were chill, but temperatures generally stayed well above the low marks earlier in the week.

In Wichita Falls proper, .22 inch fell through the night Wednesday and at intervals Thursday. The mercury slipped to a minimum of 48 degrees. G. C. McGown, county farm agent, said the moisture was especially opportune for heading wheat and oats, for barley and for garden crops, nipped and bruised by the cold wind Tuesday.

Oklahoma Showers

Dispatchers for the Fort Worth and Denver reported light, slow rains from Kinrkland to Henrietta, and similar reports came from the Panhandle area. South of Henrietta only sprinkles were reported. Temperatures ranged from 50 to 58 degrees.

Similar beneficial showers soaked into the fields of Oklahoma, Katy dispatchers reporting precipitation all along the lines with the mercury staying in the fifties as far north as Woodward. Skies at dusk were everywhere cloudy and more rain was expected.

British Aero Expert Dies as Planes Crash

LONDON, April 23. (INS)—Air Vice Marshal Felton Vegey Holt, an outstanding British aeronautical expert, and his pilot were killed today in a crash between two military planes at Seahurst Park, Sussex.

Death of Holt was a severe blow to the ranks of British air experts. Already decimated by the loss of 48 lives in the crash of the dirigible R-101 in France last year.

Holt had a distinguished war record, serving from 1914 to 1919 in the royal air force. He was made air commodore in 1925 and recently appointed vice marshal.

Hawks Streaks Across Channel To Add Another Speed Record

HESTON, England, April 23. (AP)—Finishing what he started yesterday, Capt. Frank M. Hawks brought his record breaking monoplane to earth here today with the distinction of having flown from London to Rome and from Paris to London faster than any human.

The speed ace of the American air lanes sped across the channel from Le Bourget airdrome in 59 minutes, clipping 37 minutes from the previous high mark of Commander Glen Kidston. The distance is 229 miles. He had streaked there from Poilly Les Glen, 87 miles to the south, in 24 minutes on an interrupted return flight from Rome.

Taking breakfast in London yesterday morning, Captain Hawks flung himself across the Alps—rising to 23,000 feet at one time in foggy weather—and set his plane down in the Eternal city in time for lunch. He paced the 875 miles in 5 hours and 20 minutes, less than half the time required by Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith. On the return trip, he ran out of fuel and came down in the little French village to spend the night.

When he climbed out of his red racing ship today quite a crowd of Americans, mostly Texans, were there to pat him on the back. He estimated that his flying time for the round trip was 10 hours and 51 minutes over an airplane distance of 1,789 miles. Regretful that he missed dinner here last night, he said he would try again for a dawn to dusk one-stop round trip flight between the two cities.

FOUR OTHERS INJURED AS AUTOS MEET

CHILDREN HURT

Tulia Driver Near Death In Hospital At Amarillo

GOODNIGHT, Texas, April 23. (AP)—Two persons were killed and four others injured, two perhaps fatally, when cars traveling in opposite directions skidded on a muddy road then crashed head-on, on state highway No. 5, two miles west of this city late today.

The dead are Mrs. Katie Harper, 57, of Clarendon, and her daughter, Mrs. Eva Braswell, 25, of Plainview.

George Stratton of Tulia, driver of the car in which Mrs. Harper and Mrs. Braswell were riding, was believed fatally injured. He suffered a broken leg, a crushed chest and a bad scalp wound.

Childress People Hurt

Mrs. George Klutts of Childress and her two children, Charles, 3, and Georgie, 4, occupants of the other car, all received serious injuries and the latter may die, hospital attendants said. He suffered internal injuries, besides a fractured jaw and scalp wounds. Mrs. Klutts had both legs broken. The younger child was probably in less danger than any of the injured.

Each of the injured was carried to Amarillo hospitals by different motorists, and only meager details of the crash were known two hours after the tragedy. Georgie Klutts was not received at the hospital until almost an hour after his mother had been treated, and it was reported that he had wandered away from the scene of the collision.

Wichitan at Scene

T. F. Bruton, Wichita Falls salesman, was one of the first to reach the scene. He found Mrs. Braswell dead and her mother dying. Mrs. Harper was dead before an ambulance arrived from Clarendon.

Bruton said the cars were smashed together, the motor of one embedded in the other, apparently having skidded at the same time and then headed into each other. He said a mist that was falling might have obscured the view.

Mrs. Klutts was en route to Amarillo to visit her sister, and Stratton and Mrs. Harper and her daughter were driving toward Clarendon.

Mrs. Harper was the wife of Jacob Harper, Clarendon pioneer, now an invalid. Mrs. Braswell was divorced. Her former husband, Leonard Braswell, is said to live in Brownwood.

Stratton's father, J. M. Stratton, lives in Lubbock.

Wheat Group Withdraws From Minneapolis C-C

GRAND FORKS, N. D., April 23. (AP)—Membership of the North Dakota-Montana Wheat Growers association in the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce has been cancelled, George E. Duis, president of the growers, said today.

The announcement came a day after Duis has stated his association had severed its connection with the farm board.

The president branded the move a part of a campaign he charged grain interests had inaugurated to destroy cooperative marketing and the right of the farmers in the Northwest to control sale of their products. He said the cancellation would be contested in court.

Gas Price Cut Follows Amarillo City Contract

AMARILLO, Texas, April 23. (AP)—"If the people of Amarillo want cheap gas, all they've got to do is stand by the city commission," was the only comment of Mayor Ernest O. Thompson tonight in the face of an announcement by the Amarillo Gas company of a sharp cut in domestic and commercial rates, the second within a few months.

The new schedule, which fixed the top price to domestic users at 27 cents a thousand cubic feet, a reduction of 30 per cent, followed a contract signed by the city for gas to be delivered to the city limits, and subsequent steps toward the construction of a municipal system. The new rates range down to 8 cents for big commercial users.

BARBER READY FOR 'MEDICINE'

Accused Slayer of Wife To Face Trial

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 23. (UP)—Although he pleaded not guilty to first degree murder charges, Norman J. Smith, 40, today was "ready to take my medicine" for the fatal shooting of his wife as they struggled for possession of a revolver.

Mrs. Smith, 39, was killed in their automobile around midnight Tuesday. Her husband reported to police that bandits held them up, and one of them shot her when she slapped him.

Discrepancies in his story caused officers to subject him to several hours questioning yesterday. They had found a pistol buried in the sand near the scene of the slaying. Later in the day he was shown the weapon.

"That's hers," he shouted hysterically. "We were on our way home. We quarreled and finally she stopped the car and turned to me. 'Your time has come,' she said. 'There's a man coming out here and we're going to kill you.' She got the gun out and we fought over it and it went off.

"I'll take my medicine. I'm ready to go. But what's the use of telling anything? The people and jury won't believe me."

Smith, a barber, fainted once during the questioning.

Perliminary hearing was set for May 1. Bond was denied. He declined to see visitors at his cell. His spirit was broken by 12 hours of questioning and by the ordeal of confession.

Neighbors told officers the two had been quarreling recently and divorce action had been threatened. The Smiths had been married eight years. Until the American First National Bank and Trust company was merged last October, Mrs. Smith had been an employe there for 13 years. Fellow workers said she was hot tempered but well liked.

Demobilization of units and movement of troops to carry out the reorganization will begin immediately.

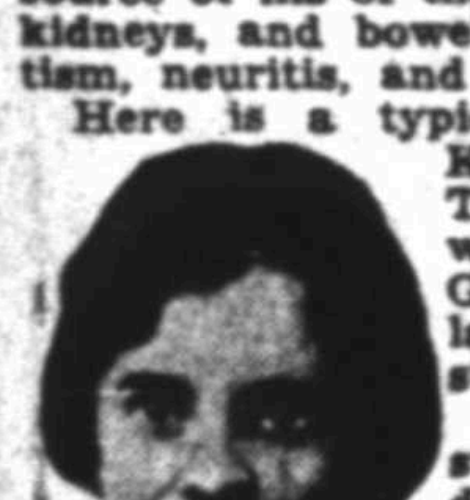
KONJOLA GOES RIGHT TO WORK

One Does Not Have to Wait Long For Results—Read These Fine Experiences

Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results. Konjola, all of its 29 ingredients working together, goes right to the source of ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness.

Here is a typical example of Konjola at work. Think over these words from Mrs. Georgia May Nolan, 308 E. Fifth street, Ft. Worth:



Mrs. Georgia May Nolan

"For years I suffered with indigestion, with a burning sensation in my stomach. My limbs were weak and I was generally run down. Konjola proved just the medicine, for five bottles ended all my ailments. I feel fifteen years younger."

And Mr. W. E. Bates, 523 James street, Waco, declares: "For 30 years I had kidney disorders, and Konjola did me more good than any other medicine I tried. I had to get up as often as eight times a night. My stomach became affected, and I was so nervous that I could not hold a paper and read it. I had spent over $3,000 for medicines and treatments, and then Konjola gave me my first relief. I can sleep all night; digestion is fine, and I feel better than in years."

Mr. W. E. Bates

"I had about abandoned hope for relief, and then Konjola gave me the surprise of my life," says Mrs. Edna Foscue, 619 Hemphill street, Fort Worth: "The greater part of my life I suffered from indigestion. I could not eat a meal without misery afterwards. My limbs were afflicted with rheumatism; my kidneys were disordered, and I had back pains and night-risings. But at the end of six weeks on Konjola I did not have a bit of stomach trouble; rheumatism bothered me less than in years, and kidney disorders were corrected."

So it goes victory after victory when Konjola is given a chance to show why seven million bottles were used in two years. Buy Konjola in any good drug store. Demand Konjola, and do not accept a substitute.—Adv.

Village Inhabited Entirely by Blind Persons Described

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—A village of 900 people, all totally or partially blind, who never venture from their homes until after sundown was described by Dr. Miguel Bustamente, Mexican delegate, to the second Pan-American conference of directors of health.

The village is Tiltepec, in the state of Oaxaca, Mexico. Hidden away in the mountains it is reached only by a few horse trails and has almost no contact with the outside.

The malady which blinded the inhabitants is known in the medical world as onchocercosis.

Two Brothers Convicted For Resisting Officers

LAREDO, Texas, April 23. (AP)—Jose and Maximino Ramos, brothers, were convicted by a jury in federal court here on charges of resisting officers in violation of the national prohibition act. Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly reserved sentence.

The two brothers were in an automobile at the time a third brother, Gregorio Ramos, was killed in a gun fight with Customs Inspector Ted Oden and Deputy Sheriff W. S. Barfield of Jim Hogg county on a highway near Hebronville Feb. 16. Maximino Ramos was seriously wounded but recovered. The officers escaped unhurt.

BANK ROBBERY SUSPECT HELD

Olan Bourns Taken After Exciting Chase

HUGO, Okla., April 23. (UP)—Olan Bourns, 23, was brought to the county jail today by Deputy Sheriff Frank Osborn who had captured the bank robbery suspect after a chase throughout eastern Choctaw county that was climaxed in a gun battle.

Osborn said Bourns had confessed to a charge of complicity in the robbery of the bank of Tuskahoma Feb. 26, in which $2,700 was taken by three bandits.

The charge of complicity in the bank robbery was filed today by County Attorney O. A. Brewer.

Osborn told of an exciting chase for the suspect that began three days ago when the officer received information that the three suspects were in this vicinity.

Osborn came upon Bourns and another man late yesterday near Fort Townsend, 12 miles east of here. He called upon the men to halt. They started to drive away and Osborn opened fire but failed to stop the fugitives.

He chased them across eastern Choctaw county and found the abandoned car, scarred by several bullets, four miles southwest of Fort Townsend.

Soon he came upon Bourns, armed with a .45 caliber pistol, but "covered" him with his gun before he fired. Osborn arrested Bourns' companion, who gave two names, Johnson and Petty.

Bourns' companion denied complicity in the robbery.

Search was continued today for the other two suspects reported in this vicinity.

Winners Selected In Dress Contest

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, April 23.—The home economics class of Memphis High school held a contest to select the winners to go to the state clothing contest to be held at Lubbock from April 30 to May 2.

The winners in the first year class (school dresses) were Tommie Mae Boren, linen, first; Vallie Harrel, linen, second; and Nell Walker, prints, third.

The winners in the third year class (afternoon dresses) were Nell Grant, first, and Almeda Jarrell, second.

The second year is not entering dresses this year but one from the class will go as a judge for the contest. Katherene Barber won this place from the second year girls. Judging papers were written and handed in to the judges, the one making the highest grade was the one selected.

The judges for the contest here were Miss Snyder of Estelline and Mrs. Harry Delaney, former home economic teacher of Memphis.

Prosecutor and Judge Trade Statements

DETROIT, April 23. (UP)—Charges of courtroom "hostility" and threats of contempt proceedings against Prosecutor Harry S. Toy and assignment of a police guard for the prosecutor, were the aftermath today of the Jerry Buckley murder trial.

A jury Tuesday night freed Angelo Livecchi, Ted Pizzino and Joe Bommarito, charged with the radio commentator's murder. Buckley was killed last summer just after Mayor Charles Bowles was recalled at a special election.

Prosecutor Toy, whose months of grand jury investigation and eight weeks of trial went for naught, issued a statement, saying:

"The verdict of this jury does not detract in my opinion from the efficacy of the grand jury but rather shows the need of it as a permanent institution.

"We of the prosecution staff gave all we had, despite the hostility shown us in the courtroom."

Judge Edward J. Jeffries who presided at the trial, bristled when he was told of the prosecutor's statement. "I bore no hostility toward either side," he said. "I was interested only in seeing each side get a square deal. Mr. Toy need not be afraid to make specific criticisms, but if any of them are contemptuous I will certainly bring him in for contempt of court.

"The trouble with Mr. Toy is that he's a bad loser. He's like a bear with a sore paw. If he's looking for a fight I'll give him one."

The first census taken in England was in 1801.

JAPAN TO RECOGNIZE SPAIN

Itching Ends When Zemo Touches Skin

—thousands say. It's wonderful the way soothing, cooling Zemo brings relief to skin which itches and burns. Even in most severe cases, itching disappears almost as soon as Zemo touches the tender and inflamed surface. To draw out local infection and help to clear away unsightly blemishes, we know of nothing better than invisible Zemo. Always keep this family antiseptic on hand. Use it freely. Church at Electra Acquires Cottage

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, April 23.—The revival now in progress at the Assembly of God church has created wide interest and large crowds are attending the services held each evening at 7:45. Rev. Earl E. Pendergrass of Roswell, N. M., assisted by Rev. E. B. Crump, local pastor, is in charge of the services. H. T. Westbrook of the local congregation is in charge of the song services.

The interest in the Sunday school work has grown so in the past few months, according to Reverend Crump, that it has become necessary to buy a two-room cottage for the Sunday school. This cottage will be moved on the church lot this week and part of the Sunday school classes will be held in it.

Lions Entertain Graduating Class In Iowa Park Fete

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, April 23.—The outstanding social event of the year was held at the basement of the First Baptist church in Iowa Park Tuesday night when Iowa Park Lions were host to the 1931 high school graduating class and their parents with a banquet served by the Missionary society of the church. More than 100 were present.

James A. Griffin, Lions club president, was assisted by Toastmaster Earl Knox. The singing of "America," with Joe H. Stumpp at the piano, was followed by invocation by Curtis Sewell after which Superintendent W. R. Bradford introduced class members individually, adding a touch of humor to the introductions by reference to some individual trait.

Rev. Daniel Barron, assistant minister of the First Methodist church of Wichita Falls, brought an after dinner speech in a happy vein of humor, supplemented with sound advice for the graduates.

At the conclusion of the program J. C. Cobb, class president, and Mrs. O. L. Woodall, representing the parents, extended thanks for the courtesy of the Lions in this entertainment.

Music for the occasion was furnished by Joe H. Stumpp, Miss Anna Mary Bevill, Mrs. C. W. Coppock, and A. C. Golden, who led in club singsongs.

Local Council Of Camp Fire Girls Elects New Officers

Officers were elected in the local council of Camp Fire Girls at the semi-annual meeting and luncheon held Wednesday at local headquarters. Edwin A. Bebb, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate which was unanimously elected; President, Mrs. T. H. Lawson; first vice president, Dr. Wallace Masters; second vice president, Edwin A. Bebb; treasurer, Lester Jones, and secretary, Miss Mary McIlheran. Directors include Mesdames R. E. Davis, C. H. Clark and R. R. Clark, Messrs. W. A. Franklin, J. W. Culbertson, J. M. Spoonts and T. A. Bradley.

Edwin A. Bebb, first vice president, conducted the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. T. H. Lawson. W. A. Franklin, chairman of the constitution committee, presented the revised constitution, which was adopted after a few minor changes.

The camp committee reported that the land on Red river which they had been trying to secure for a permanent camp site is now available as a lease for some 10 years. The committee was authorized to make necessary negotiations to secure the land and if possible to make plans to hold the summer camp on the new site. Much interest was manifested in the possibility of a permanent camp established for Camp Fire Girls and appreciation was expressed for Mr. Bebb's untiring efforts on this committee.

Birthday Theme Featured

In keeping with the 1931 birthday theme of "International Friendship," or "Camp Fire Girls Join Hands Around the World," all members were given paper, paste and scissors and told to make a miniature flag representing the country from which one of their ancestors came. Frank Creighton, who was busy getting others to make their flags, turned out to be a man without a country.

The room was decorated with the Camp Fire Girls' banner and with flags of many nations made by the different groups in town. A large bowl of bluebonnets and wild hyacinths from Cross Plains, Texas, made an attractive center and in the center of the flowers was a tiny world with paper doll Camp Fire Girls holding hands around the globe.

Members present were Mesdames R. E. Davis, C. H. Clark, R. R. Clark, Frank W. Michaux, Messrs. Edwin A. Bebb, W. A. Franklin, Frank Creighton, T. A. Bradley, Rev. Nat F. Grafton, Dr. Wallace Masters and Misses Ida Moore and Mary McIlheran, executive.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

There's many a club woman who went to the first district federation at Graham who will never forget Tuesday afternoon. Graham put on an entertainment program unique in the annals of the district.

A drive out to Lake Eddleman came first; a drive toward the sunset with a golden path shining down in the silvery sheet of water. There were blue hills scalloped against the sky and woods that were dark with winter clothing and a tender green in spring garments.

The lake drive has not yet been officially opened; the levee drive has not quite been completed, but it is already a thing of beauty. It will always be a picture in the district's memory.

Then the chuck wagon supper when car followed car out to the park where live oaks and mesquite bordered the road to the country club. Long tables had been laid with blue cloths and there were great bowls of buffalo flowers to emphasize the western decorative features. A grandfather mesquite stood at the corner of the little house, where inside, there were cozy chairs before a great log fire. (And this in April).

There were platters filled with pickles and peppers, onions and potato chips on the long tables and nothing more. Then all at once, with a clatter and a bang a chuck-wagon drawn by mules, with the requisite pails and jugs hanging beneath, came dashing over the hill. With it rode about a dozen cowboys, all of them shooting into the air just to prove their bravado to a bunch of women.

The women lined up for pans and tin cups and there was barbecue by the bushel, barbecued by a real cowboy cook. There were gallons and gallons of coffee, and there were women who ate like ranch hands.

Rob Casburn was chief fiddler of the cowboy musicians. His father used to fiddle for the Graham dances when Mrs. Carrie Joline came down in her girlhood for parties. Mrs. Ola Hamlin and Mrs. J. C. A. Guest considered persuading Mrs. Joline to dance for the convention, but she could not be found.

A bunch of the cowboys hobbled their horses and ate on the ground, then "shot craps." One cowboy was a fine looking young minister who will soon be in Wichita Falls. He chatted through the games.

And there was a square dance. The fiddler fiddled and another cowboy called the figures and two of the clubwomen who went swirling through the pretty oldtime frolic were Mrs. R. E. Buchanan of Fort Worth, life member of the district, and Mrs. T. A. Hicks, one of Wichita's prides.

Answering letters is as always one of the things urged in federation work. Mrs. Buchanan rose on the floor Tuesday to say, "Madame Chairman, I notice that club said they had answered all letters, and I suppose they are truthful—but oh my!"

And oh yes, I heard a woman say "I told you so." She had warned the women of Graham it would turn cold, because it thundered on the 20th day of February. It seems that whenever it thunders on a February day, it almost freezes on the corresponding day in April. Why in heck did it thunder this February and this writer forget to bring a coat to the federation?

Beside being the home of Mrs. Buchanan and a few dozen other splendid clubwomen, Fort Worth deserves the laurels for a composer like May Kendall Wilhoit. Mrs. W. D. Smith sang a group of her songs, (the composer accompanying) Monday night that were exquisite things.

Then Tuesday night, "16 Rue Pigalle," with Charles Kiker and Pearl Calhoun Davis of Wichita Falls and Helen Gertrude Sparks of Fort Worth starring, was treat enough to repay clubwomen for their longest journey.

Local Writer Featured In Poetry Society

Mrs. J. Truman Stevens, president, presided during the business session when members of the Poetry society of Wichita Falls met in the clubroom at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday morning. Following the business meeting, the program was turned over to Mrs. Ira Cain, program chairman.

An interesting feature was the question box conducted by Mrs. J. W. Akin. Questions asked at the previous meeting were answered and led to animated discussion.

Mrs. Akin read a resume of the work done by the president of the society, Mrs. Stevens, after which the poems submitted were read by Mrs. Ann Barker and voted on with the result that "Inspiration," by Mrs. Stevens, won first place; "The Two Houses," by Mrs. O. P. Maricle, second, and "Tulips," by Mrs. G. A. McWhirter, third.

Members present included Mesdames M. Shain, Houston Rogers, J. W. Akin, Ira Cain, G. A. McWhirter, O. P. Maricle, Bonnie D. Wilkins, J. Truman Stevens and Ann Barker.

COATED TONGUE, BAD TASTE

"I suffered from heartburn and indigestion. My tongue would get coated, and I would have a bad taste in my mouth. I had gas pains, and if I belched it would be right bitter. My mother told me to try Black-Draught, which I did. After I had taken a few doses, I felt much better. The gas pains would stop, my mouth would feel clean, and my food would taste much better. I know that Black-Draught helped me."—Hubert Bailey, Gainesboro, Georgia.

Many Interesting Quilts Offered for Forum Show

Women of the city and of the country are showing much interest in the quilt exhibit to be given by the Woman's Forum which will open Monday, April 27, on Saul's balcony. One rural exhibitor will have 40 quilts on display and 53 individual specimens are already offered in Wichita Falls where many women will also have exhibits of from two to five quilts.

Eevry woman wishing to enter a quilt is urged to bring it to Saul's balcony Friday or Saturday, where there will be some one to receive entries.

There are separate entries and prizes offered for bed coverings in all classes; pieced, appliqued, the oldest, the most unique, the best quilt made by the oldest woman and by the youngest child, will each be awarded prizes.

Women who have crocheted bed spreads and hand-woven coverlets are requested to enter them. The entry price is 10 cents for each exhibit. An exchange of ideas for quilts will feature the week, even if each entry does not win a prize.

Members of the forum will serve as hostesses during each day of the exhibit. Indications point to its being the most interesting show of the kind for many years. The quilting fashion has spread from north to south and east to west. There will be new quilts and quilts with interesting histories shown in the forum exhibit.

Scalloped Stuffed Eggs

Hard-cook the required number of eggs and immerse them in cold water to chill. Then remove the shells; cut the eggs in halves, lengthwise, and remove the yolks. Mash the yolks well and moisten with melted butter or cream; and add a tablespoonful or two of finely minced ham or other savory meat for each egg; season to taste with salt, mustard, paprika and Worcestershire sauce. Refill the cavities of the whites with this mixture and press the two halves together. For six eggs make a well seasoned white sauce, using 1 cupful of milk and half as much cream, 3 tablespoonfuls of butter, 3 tablespoonfuls of flour, 1-3 teaspoonful salt and a dash of pepper. In a buttered baking dish place part of the sauce; on this lay the stuffed eggs and pour the remainder of the sauce over all. Sprinkle with grated cheese or buttered crumbs or both and bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes.

Ginger Waffles

One cupful dark molasses.
One-half cupful buttermilk.
One-half teaspoonful cinnamon.
One-half cupful butter or substitute.
One teaspoonful ginger.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
One teaspoonful baking powder.
Two cupfuls flour.
One-half teaspoonful nutmeg.
One teaspoonful soda.
One egg.

Mix the butter and molasses, and let come to a boil. Beat the egg, yolk and white separately, and add. Add the flour sifted with the soda, baking powder, salt and spices three times. Mix all together and beat thoroughly. The batter should be quite thin. Have the waffle iron hot and well greased before pouring in the batter. These waffles may be baked at the table and served as a dessert with whipped cream, sweet apple sauce or chocolate sauce. They may be served as after-theater refreshments with coffee and are especially good on a cool night.

Anchovy Canapes

Cut plan pastry into ovals and on half of each place an anchovy, drained of its oil. Moisten the edge of the pastry with water, fold the other half over and press the edges firmly together. Fry in deep hot fat—390 degrees F.—to a delicate brown, drain on paper and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese while hot. Cool and serve on a lettuce leaf.

Cottage Ham with Horseradish Sauce

Four pounds cottage ham.
One-fourth cupful brown sugar.
Ten whole cloves.
One-half cupful boiling water.

Rub the cottage ham with the brown sugar, and insert the cloves over the surface of the meat. Arrange on a rack in a roasting pan with the water and bake in a hot oven of 450 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Then reduce the heat to 275 degrees F. and continue baking for three hours. Serve with horseradish sauce made as follows:

Three tablespoonfuls prepared horseradish.
One-half cupful double cream.

Fold the horseradish and salt into

O'NEIL LAUDS SOLDIER BONUS

National Legion Commander Speaks Here

sult from the bonus loan legislation have failed to materialize, the speaker said. He added that the loans thus made available have been nothing less than a godsend to drouth-stricken farming areas. He insisted upon "a military and naval policy which will discourage covetous hearts and which will enable us to enjoy on this continent institutions and liberty handed down by past generations."

Needy Given Help

Importance of the passage of the hospitalization bill by congress was stressed by the national commander. Six thousand veterans who were entitled to hospitalization during the past year could not receive such service, he said, because there were no beds for them.

Referring again to the adjusted service certificate loans, he declared that most of the money loaned thus far under the measure recently passed was to veterans who were greatly in need. The money has gone to pay doctors' bills, long overdue rent, for clothing and food for children and sick wives, he added. He pointed out that there had been no appropriation by congress for these loans, but that they were "made from the veterans reserve fund, which is an asset belonging to the veterans and held in trust for them by the treasury department.

"Those who warned against the bonus loan law warned that the government would be required to pay exorbitant interest rates, due to the disrupted financial condition which would result. Yet, since the passage of this legislation," the commander said, "the government has been able to obtain money at the interest rates of approximately 2 per cent and at the lowest rates in history."

Further provisions for relief for wives and children of men who are lying ill in government hospitals was urged by Mr. O'Neil.

Defining the attitude of the American Legion toward the question of preparedness and world peace, Mr. O'Neil said:

Preparedness Urged

"Our organization is the greatest peace-loving organization in the world. The men who comprise our membership know what war is. They have seen the real thing at its worst. We want no more war. Those of us who have sons know what the next war might mean to them in suffering and anguish. But we know also what it means to go into a war without adequate preparation. We did that 14 years ago. It cost us thousands of lives. It cost billions of dollars. We believe in preparedness because we want to protect our country from any avaricious influence which might take away from us our inherited institutions of freedom and liberty; so that we may have sufficient and necessary prestige to lead the way among the world's nations towards a lasting world peace. We want no militaristic system; we want no biggest army, nor largest navy; but we do want parity with other countries. We believe that pacifism is a short-cut to war."

Citing the fact that the Texas department of the American Legion now has 32,000 members, the largest membership in its history, Mr. O'Neil predicted that the national organization will show a membership of much more than 1,000,000 men when the 1931 annual convention is held in Detroit in September. He stated that a wire received Thursday night revealed a present membership of 836,000, a figure far in excess of any ever shown by the organization before at this stage of the fiscal year, which began Dec. 1, 1930.

Largest Post Here

Pat Carrigan post of Wichita Falls was heralded by State Adjutant Robert A. Whitaker of Austin as the largest in the state, and the first to reach a membership of 1,000. The local post qualified with that enrollment on March 7, he announced, and won the "Bob Whitaker Cup" for the ensuing year. The cup, standing about 30 inches, was displayed on the speakers' table. It will be presented officially to the Pat Carrigan post at the state convention at El Paso in August, it was announced. In introducing Mr. Whitaker, the local post adjutant, J. F. Friberg, turned over a sheaf of 46 memberships, bringing the post's total to an even 1,200 members. Milton J. Gaines, Tom Martin, V. V. Music, Mr. Friberg and E. S. Cooke were presented by Dr. Austin F. Leach, post commander, and complimented upon having obtained more than 100 members each during the membership drive this spring.

Short talks were made by Oklahoma department commander Moody Nicholson of Frederick and Texas Department Commander Hal Brennan of Laredo before Mr. O'Neil address.

State Commander Speaks

"The American Legion is unquestionably the leader among service men's organizations of the world," declared Mr. Brennan. "It's influence is both national and international. It is the stabilizer between religion and politics; between capital and labor; between peace and war. It recognizes that war is a great industrial system, which can be terminated by taking the profit out of it."

In presenting the national commander, Mr. Brennan declared that "some day within the near future a president of the United States will be chosen from the past national commanders of the American Legion. Look this man over; for from such men as this that president will be chosen."

The meeting opened with a singsong of familiar war time songs of the soldiers, led by Leo M. Underwood. A concert was given at the auditorium before the meeting by the Lions Club boys' band, directed by Mr. Underwood. Recognition was given by Doctor Leach, who presided, to a large band of Boy Scouts present. Out of town persons present numbered more than 300, it was estimated.

More than 100 men attended the dinner given in honor of the visiting party at the Wichita club. Aside from the national commander, Oklahoma state department commander Rev. Moody Nicholson of Frederick; Texas state department commander Hal Brennan of Laredo, and state adjutant Bob Whitaker of Austin, were introduced. Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. made a brief address of welcome. Dr. A. F. Leach, local post commander, presided. Considerable delegations from practically every city in this section of the country were present.

The national commander's party was met at 6 o'clock by the drum and bugle corps of the local American Legion post, which escorted the visitors on a parade through the business section of the city.

The public meeting addressed by Mr. O'Neil was held in the Memorial auditorium, dedicated to ex-service men of this community.

Radio Studio Reveals Hoover's 'Thin Air' Talk

WASHINGTON, April 23. (US)—President Hoover recently talked into a "dead" microphone for two minutes, believing he was still "on the air," it was revealed at the Columbia Broadcasting system studios today.

It was on the occasion of his Lincoln day speech. Clyde Hunt, handling the controls, followed the president's address from a manuscript copy. When the president finished his set speech, he continued extemporaneously.

But Hunt had flashed the "sign off" signal and the president talked to thin air and himself.

DEATHS

WILLIAM H. SARGENT

William H. Sargent, 48, of Ennis, Texas, died at a hospital here early Thursday night after a brief illness. The body is to be forwarded by the Hines mortuary at 3 o'clock Friday morning to Ennis, where funeral services will be held. Mr. Sargent was the brother of Mrs. T. H. Brown, 2805 Avenue I.

COAST KILLER SLAYS THIRD

Woman Believed Victim Of Strangler

strangler, authorities tonight were inclining to the theory that little Virgina, too, may have been slowly suffocated by the garrot of a fiend such as medical experts declare Edward Hickman, "the fox" kidnaper of young Marian Parker of Los Angeles would have developed into if he had not been captured through a stroke of fortune and brought to justice on the gallows.

She was last seen a week ago. Crumpled on the bed beside Mrs. Bibbens was a newspaper dated April 16. This convinced police that she was killed either last Thursday or Friday.

In this latest crime, detectives believe that the victim may have been robbed. Mrs. Bibbens was said by friends to have had several costly diamonds in her home. A preliminary search failed to reveal them.

Search, too, is being made for a man said to have been a close friend of the woman and who has been missing for several days.

But what aroused investigators was the fact that within a comparatively few days a girl and a woman were victims of an uncommon form of murder—and realization that little Virginia Brooks probably died in the same manner.

LOUISE TEUBER CHOKED TO DEATH

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 23. (US)—Positive proof that Louise Teuber, 17-year-old good time girl, came to her death by strangulation and that she was dead before her body was hanged to a tree sometime Saturday night, near the base of Black mountain, was established late today when the coroner's office released the autopsy report of Dr. F. E. Toomey.

That Miss Teuber's arms followed closely the contour of the body, despite the fact that the body was hanging at an angle, with the heels of her slippers touching the ground, was the chief basis for this conclusion.

Deputy sheriffs investigating the case today reconstructed the crime from the beginning with hope of finding some untouched lead or clue which might lead to a solution. But they found nothing, and so far have been unable to advance a motive for the slaying.

The investigation virtually is at a standstill, and although several asserted suspects have been questioned none has been held.

Kilgore Permits Second Derrick Within City

KILGORE, Texas, April 23. (UP)—The city commission today granted a permit for erection of another oil derrick in the city limits, to the Humble Oil and Refining company, on the Knowles tract. The Oriental Oil company's No. 1 Alexander was completed Sunday for the first producer in town.

SPANISH ELECTION SET

MADRID, April 23. (AP)—The cabinet of the new Spanish republic announced tonight that general elections will be held June 21 to elect a constituent cortes (parliament).

TEXAS SCHOOL CALLS ALUMNI

Southwestern University Plans Meeting

By FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

GEORGETOWN, Texas, April 23.—From its very beginning, 91 years ago, Southwestern university has been officially linked with the history of education in Texas under Methodist patronage. In 1840, long before the Texas conference was organized, the Methodists established Rutherford college, which grew to become the Southwestern university of Georgetown, in 1873.

At that time the faculty consisted of Dr. F. A. Mood, as regent, two professors and 33 students. There was but one building—a commodious stone affair consisting of six rooms.

Many Alumni

During the intervening 58 years Southwestern has grown to become one of the South's largest educational institutions, with an alumni group of some 25,000. The faculty now consist of 50 professors and a score of assistant instructors. Its buildings are valued in excess of a million dollars, not counting fixtures and furnishings. It has the most extensive library of any college in the state. Students during the current year numbered in excess of 1,000, including the fine arts school, summer schools scholars and those students of the correspondence school department.

Southwestern university is one Texas educational institution that has been built without benefit of generous land bequests which have proven to be rich in deposits of oil —as have several other Texas universities. And while Southwestern has no ambition to become one of the tremendously large institutions of the country, it necessarily must increase facilities, and expansion needs at this time are great and pressing. They are not needs occasioned by failure, but occasioned by success and the growing demand for higher education. The alma mater of so many Texans is an old lady who has simply outgrown her clothes. Her bed is too short to afford her a healthy stretch. Her athletes are making worthy records, but for the perfecting of physical culture she needs greater gymnastic facilities. Ways and means of meeting these requirements is the purpose of a national Southwestern alumni conference which is now being planned.

Near State's Center

Situated in the center of the state and not far distant from the capital of Texas, the locale is ideal for Southwestern's statewide scope. Although a great many miles from Wichita Falls, there are approximately half a hundred Southwestern alumni among its population, including Judge J. W. Akin, Walter Nelson, Merle Waggoner, Walter Robbins, John King, John Kilgore, Dr. G. K. Wilson, Mrs. R. A. Sanders and Mrs. J. J. Perkins.

In the list of student loan funds, endowed for the purpose of financing deserving students through the university, is the Lois Perkins fund for women and the J. J. Perkins fund for men.

Wichitan in Hospital After Attack Here

Jim Bankston of Wichita Falls was at the Wichita General hospital suffering from bruises, cuts and sprains of both ankles after he had been attacked and beaten by a second man late Thursday night near the ball park. Although he was painfully injured, attendants at the hospital said that his hurts were not serious.

The man and his assailant, Tom Poe and Ed McDonald, city officers who investigated, said, had troubled before.

KING'S AUNT DIES

PARIS, April 23. (AP)—Infanta Marie Isabella Grancoise, aunt of King Alfonso of Spain, died here today of a heart attack, three days after she entered France as an exile. She was 79 years old.

Darrow Blames Lawyers

NEW YORK, April 23. (US)—The conditions that breed crime and the system of punishments that follow it were attacked by Clarence Darrow in an address today to 1,800 students of City college. He asserted:

"There will be crime as long as people haven't enough to provide them with necessities of life. No man is so foolish that he will starve rather than steal. If we had 10 manual training schools for every ordinary school and people were taught trades at which they could earn a living, there would be less crime.

"This country has the cruelist punishments of any nation. The most brutal things in the world today are happening in prisons under such laws as the Baumes law. The fact that a man is convicted three times probably means only that he had three poor lawyers."

CREDIT GRANTORS MEET

Credit problems of importance were discussed at the Thursday night meeting of the Wichita Falls Retail Credit Grantors association. Forgeries, hot check artists, delinquent accounts and repossessions of merchandise were the important matters receiving the attention of the approximately 50 members who attended the meeting. Delinquent accounts of the letters K and L were mentioned. Past due accounts of the letters T and U will be discussed at the meeting scheduled for Thursday, April 30.

LOOSE DANDRUFF

what it is—how to remove it

how to treat scalps that itch and burn

Great dermatologists declare that a normal, healthy scalp is extremely rare. Some go as far as to say that there is no scalp that is not troubled in some way, to some degree. The most common—and humiliating—condition is loose dandruff.

Infection makes fat glands overactive

Dandruff is caused by overactivity of the fat glands of the scalp—which expel a greasy, whitish substance known as sebum. This overactivity is the result of infection, many dermatologists claim. They advise immediate treatment. Whatever the cause, this activity should be checked lest the condition continue and cause eczema, falling hair, and baldness.

Why Listerine checks dandruff

Frequent shampoo, vigorous massage, and the use of an antiseptic constitute effective treatment for ordinary cases of loose dandruff.

The success of Listerine in combating this condition is due to certain unusual qualities.

Since it is a safe though powerful germicide, Listerine combats any irritation that may be present on the scalp.

It dissolves and removes incrustations of sebum from the hair and scalp, assuring antiseptic cleanliness.

It produces on the scalp an astringent effect, exhilarates and invigorates the tissue around the hair roots.

It allays itching, and soothes inflammation and eruption frequently associated with dandruff.

Results achieved quickly

You simply use Listerine as a part of the shampoo, or independent of it. Douse it on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously. Keep the treatment up, using a little olive oil if the scalp is excessively dry. You will be delighted to see how quickly you get results. Frequently loose dandruff disappears after one or two treatments. Sometimes however, if the case is stubborn, a week or two and perhaps more will be required. The End of 'Joe the Boss' There Will Be Another One Bad Policeman Hopeful Alfonso

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Death came this week not to an archbishop but to a master racketeer in New York. It came in the person of three "pals" who thought "Joe the Boss" had ruled long enough. The pals were probably right. A Coney Island speakeasy was the picturesque scene of the murder. Twenty shots did the job and sent into oblivion one of the most dangerous characters of New York's underworld. Presumably he will be buried in the traditional $10,000 silver confin and all the prayers that go with it.

"Joe the Boss" was a henchman of Mr. "Scarface" Capone and a regional lord over liquor, gambling and other lucrative rackets. It is whispered that even Mr. Capone was afraid of him. But Joe was afraid of everybody else, too, for he rode around in an armored steel car equipped with bullet proof glass an inch thick. He was one of the most shot-at men in the underworld. Laides known as "molls" in modern America must have had many a thrill sitting beside this bravado in his tours collecting tribute.

Now he is dead and there will be much weeping and photograph-kissing among the bereft ones, to whom love without a thrill must be like spaghetti without a sauce. One by one these gangster chiefs are "put on the spot" by their own pals with their own weapons. But the ranks of the underworld are not being depleted. For every leader that goes down a dozen spring up. To hope that they will shoot themselves out of existence is pitiful. But the law will not exterminate them until honest policemen start to do some shooting.

Commissioner Mulrooney, who tells church people that crime movies and newspaper editors who print crime news have a bad influence, will be pained to read about one of his policemen who while off duty, lined up 15 hotel restaurant workers against a wall with his police pistol. While he was robbing them an honest policeman stepped in and shot the crooked policeman. Movies and newspaper editors didn't make a crook out of that bad policeman.

Now it appears that Alfonso has not abdicated but has merely left Spain to preserve peace "until the storm of republicanism blows over." But Alfonso may have a long time to wait. The Spanish people are in no mood to recall any one whom they have taken years to oust. Marseilles, whither the king has fled, may not be far from Madrid but in a political sense it is as far away as Vladovostok.

If Alfonso were a second Napoleon he might try a return from Elba. But that only lasted a hundred days. And Alfonso is not even a third Napoleon. No matter what happens to the provisional republic there will be no overtures from the people for another king. "I have lost the love of my people," Alfonso says. It is not that Spain loved Alfonso less but that it loves a republic more.

"Stupidity of the people" is another of the hundred causes to which the present depression is attributed and it is offered by "General" Coxey, of "Coxey's Army" fame. Thirty-seven years ago this zero-hour commander of the unemployed led his tattered troops on Washington. Only a few reached the capital.

Coxey is not satisfied merely to explain the cause of depression as "stupidity of the people," but goes on to give the cause of stupidity itself. He ascribes it to "letting the preacher think for people when they're young, the politician when they grow up, and the banker when they are in their dotage."

Perhaps Coxey is right. Perhaps people would be happier without religion, politics, or finance. But in the world we live in these seem to be necessary, and most of us would probably rather fight about God than not have any; live in society and under some sort of government than in a state of isolation or anarchy, and amass wealth even though it entail suffering rather than remain poor and content.

Walter Hampden, stage star, called New York critics shortsighted when they gave unfavorable reviews of his performance. That's not the way to act, Walter.

"Let's make toupee," as the bald-headed man said to the wigmaker.

The Cause of Crime

NO MORE pictures dealing with the underworld will be produced by the Paramount-Publix corporation. S. R. Kent, vice president in charge of distribution, made this announcement the other day—taking pains, at the same time, to deny emphatically that gangster movies have been responsible for crime waves.

This action came only a few days after Police Commissioner Mulrooney of New York had charged that motion pictures and tabloid newspapers were chiefly responsible for the increase of crime among city youths.

Mr. Kent, explaining his company's action, said simply that crime pictures have been overdone and that the public is tired of them. Thus, while he does not accept Commissioner Mulrooney's criticism, he at least takes an action that ought to help make the commissioner happy.

The general public probably will welcome a diminution in the number of gangster movies. The general public also is at least partially in agreement with the New York police commissioner; and the whole business needs a little more intelligent consideration than it usually gets.

An impressive youngster may, now and then, be led into crime by a lurid movie; but in general it is safe to say that blaming the movies for the gang wars of the big cities is nothing but an easy way out of a perplexing situation.

As long as we can soothe our conscience by an "explanation" of that kind we shall continue to have crime waves. Indeed, one of the big reasons for bad crime conditions in American cities is the fact that all of us are content to find some obvious scapegoat like the moving picture.

We blame the movie and the tabloid and conveniently forget about the bad housing conditions that provide crime with its best spawning ground.

We blame the movie and the tabloid and overlook the fact that half a dozen good playgrounds, properly placed and rightly directed, would do more to keep city children from going astray than all the uplift in the world.

We blame the movie and the tabloid and shut our eyes to the fact that every one of us who buys a pint of gin helps to pay for the upkeep of the army of professional gunmen.

We overlook the social and economic conditions that produce big city gangs—because fixing those conditions so that they would no longer produce gangs would be altogether too much trouble. Being lazy, we prefer to put up with the gangs. Why not blame them on the movies and the newspapers? It's so much easier.

It's just about time that we gave up these cheap excuses. The roots of organized crime today go right to the foundations of American society. Cheap movies have no more to do with it than the price of bustles in Afghanistan.

Mr. Hampden and the Critics

THE Dreiser-Lewis face-slapping episode, which aroused the literary world recently, has found its parallel in the theatrical realm. Walter Hampden, the actor, on the one hand, and a formidable group of New York critics on the other, have engaged in a verbal fisticuffing that has helped enliven an ordinary dull season.

The critics, it seems, provoked Mr. Hampden by their cool reception toward the current production of Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton." They disliked particularly Mr. Hampden's performance in it. They found his characterization old-fashioned, heavy, outmoded.

In the tradition of the wounded actor, Mr. Hampden showed his temperament in a biting retaliation. He told interviewers that "the dramatic reviewers of today . . . have lost all sense of public trust and obligations to the theater. The stock in trade of most of them seems to be not opinions but a knack of phrase-making. They are too enamored of their own wit to be of any use."

Mr. Hampden undoubtedly will find many sympathizers, especially because he is one against many. But his charges against the critics can hardly stand. Show reviewers today profess to be no William Winters. They know that this generation has neither the time nor inclination to absorb scholarly analysis of the drama. They write their reviews divertingly, with wit, to be sure, because the age demands that sort. But to say the reviewers devote their energies to scintillating phrases at the expense of honest opinion is to declare an untruth. Eessentially they are reporters and are held to a high standard of fairness.

JILTED —By Margaret Widdemeyer

SYNOPSIS

Helen Heather, living in the little Pennsylvania town of Kingsway, becomes engaged to Tommy Delamater, son of the president of the bank in which Helen works. Tommy takes another job in Wisconsin, and unceremoniously breaks off the engagement. Half sick, Helen wanders into the Kingsway grounds, not knowing Ethan Kingsway, a former sweetheart of Nina Higginson, Helen's cousin, has returned from Europe. Ethan and his little charge, Patricia, sit on a bench near Helen. In trying to get away, Helen strikes the limb of a tree and is stunned. The Kingsways take care of her, and in the course of events, she becomes Patricia's governess. Nina, who had followed Ethan to Europe in the hopes of recapturing his affections, returns. Ethan betrays a growing interest in Helen.

INSTALLMENT XVIII

Helen made herself and Patricia ready for the party at Doris', with excitement. It was the first time she had seen the group, except for an occasional encounter in the street with Patricia by her side, or occasionally Marietta, since it had happened. She dressed with more care than usual. She had a little new dress, a soft ivory satin evening frock, long-waisted, full-skirted, ankle-length, quaint and charming. She had bought the satin and made it herself in some of the time she always seemed to have such quantities of now; made it with Patricia looking on, and helping run seams excitedly whenever Helen let her. Patricia's valiantly set uneven stitches, over-and-overing the selvage inside, were the whole length of two breadths, and Helen smiled, thinking of them. She had bought red high-heeled shoes to wear with all the whiteness. It was a little too much dressing for a party where half the girls would come in long-sleeved frocks, but Helen felt she needed all the courage her loveliest dress woudl give her. She stared at the Helen in the long shabby mirror Marietta had inherited from the big house, and saw that they could not say she was worn and unhappy because of Tommy. Indeed, as she leaned to the glass, the girl she saw there was more lovely and alive that she had ever been. What Doris called her "conqueringness" was back. She felt alive. The golden-brown eyes, the darkly-colored curls, the slim graceful lines of her body were charged with more than the vitality she had had before anything had happened. If only . . . well, she'd cross that bridge when she came to it—going home by herself, while they remembered how Tommy used to march her consciously off. Patricia, bless her little loyal fierce heart, would be a comfort! Would it be so dreadful, she wondered, to keep Patricia till she herself went home, instead of having Andrew come for her at 9 in the Ford, as they had arranged? . . . No; she mustn't be a coward . . .

As the two—Patricia dancing with all the excitement Helen was trying not to show—came down the steps of the gatehouse, they saw the Ford waiting for them. But it was not Andrew who was at the wheel. That soft hat and that loose gray English overcoat was Ethan's.

He stepped from the car and came to meet her, his eyes dancing. There was a conqueringness about Ethan, too, tonight!

"I'm taking you," he said, "and I'll come for you. We musn't tire poor old Andrew."

Helen turned to him with frank delight. One of the great comforts about Ethan Kingsway was that she didn't have to pretend to him. That first day when she had, in her franticness and illness, cried out on him and reproached men for what Tommy had done made a sort of little island of understanding sometimes where they were together . . . and now that he trusted her!

"Oh, Ethan, you don't know how happy it will make me," she said like a child. "I'h hated so seeing the crowd alone, and—and especially leaving alone."

"And I'm coming for you, if I may. I would even ask to be allowed to stay and watch the Gay Young Oysterman live by the riverside (you see you can't expect to keep anything from me that Patricia knows) if I wasn't being a city father. But there's something that will go through tonight if I don't squash it."

He would always be lord of the manor, Ethan, whether he admitted it or not!

"What is it?"

"Are you really interested?"

"Of course. Please don't go on acting as if I were an orange flapper."

"I didn't know—there's such lots to learn about you, Helen. It's about the village green, as a matter of fact. One or two idiots want to abolish it, and by the rule that the people who are most interested in a thing can always put it over when the rest aren't looking, they'll get their way unless somebody stops them."

"What do they want to do that for? The lovely golden-green grass and the spacious feeling!"

"Well, it's complicated, but there would be some money in it for a couple of the selectmen in a roundabout way."

"And you're going to be the somebody who stops them."

"They aren't going to get away with doing a thing like that to the community while I have any capacity for fighting," said Ethan quietly. Then, more lightly, "Let me see the ivory satin dress that Patricia made such lots and lots of! . . . . She's a talented dressmaker. You're lovely in it."

She twirled on the porch, slipping her coat off and tossing it on a bench for the moment.

"You look like a Velesquez infanta. I didn't know girls wore dresses like that."

"For evening they do. An infanta—why that was the king of Spain's daughter, wasn't it?" She gave a little light laugh. "We're all of us haunted with your mother's nursery rhyme, aren't we? I can't forget it either." She pulled her coat on with his help and crossed the road with him, getting into his car. He spoke, behind her, as they began to go.

"I don't want to." She heard his voice, deep and moved, through the dark . . . in the moving car. "Helen . . . you are that to me. The king of Spain's daughter. I've fought it ever since I've seen you—and told myself I was glad when they said you were marrying young Delamater, because I thought Helen Heather must be like Nina Heather. . . . At least Helen, I've loved you when I haven't trusted you. And now . ."

"But suppose you didn't trust me now," Helen said, her voice breaking.

"Don't suppose anything like that."

"The Kingsways aren't very trusting," she quoted Patricia with a note of tremulous laughter.

"I suppose that's true. We have a helpless way of giving so much. All faith, all loyalty, Helen."

She knew, suddenly, how true this was; understanding Ethan more completely than she had ever done. Underneath all the quietude—that was control, not lack of intensity—there was a nature with a few of the modern shades, the modern hesitancies or tolerances. Giving royally, he had found the best he had to give being counted nothing at all—poor Nina, who would never understand that there were more wonderful things than diamond rings in the world—and he had taken it harder than if he had been a light giver. And he was 35 now, not a boy; the love he gave was a man's, not a boy's.

He was silent. She was a little frightened. All faith—all loyalty—

"Helen!"

She laid her bare hand lightly on his knee, and his own dropped from the wheel to cover it. There was not time for more; Doris was waving to them from her lighted doorway.

Ethan turned suddenly in the light to the Ethan Helen had known long ago.

He greeted Doris, who was overcome to the point of giving a small squeak instead of a polite greeting, and whose terror made her aunt give her a frown and sail forward with a greeting, as Helen said naughtily afterward, like a mayor's speech of welcome. He stood there, courteous and a little aloof, the Ethan Helen had been afraid of, though his face was a little wistful, as he saw men little younger than he calling out to Helen, coming about her as to a contemporary, and greeting himself with the respect they would have given an older man than themselves. "But you have to go and save the village green for them," she whispered to him, half laughingly, half tenderly.

"How did you know I wanted to stay?" he said in the same undertone. "You're so understanding, Helen."

And then Miss Louisa was back again, with her "Oh, you must come in, Mr. Kingsway—" and so he took himself off promptly, only saying, "I'll probably be here before you are through, Helen. Wait for me."

He made his adieux to Miss Louisa, who gave him in earnest the respect as the social head of the village about which Helen had teased him, was gone. He would rather have stayed.

Helen, slim and princess-like in her soft white satin, forgot to be anything but excited with delight at being back with her crowd again. Having seen Patricia safely making friends—in what it must be confessed was a rather possessive way—with Doris' cousin Lucy, she swept the crowd around her.

"We have to run those pictures first," she said. "Somebody watch the time."

All her old executive capacity at work, she soon had the complicated affair of lighting, setting, running, arranging, in full blast. As she was everywhere, the satin frock pinned up under a smock and forgotten in the necessity of driving her helpers through it all, it occurred to her, dimly, yet with a little shock of surprise to be thought over later, that it must have been she, not Tommy, who really ran things. Why, she knew how to do everything. Only she could do it herself now, instead of having to make Tommy feel he was doing it while she really was back of him. She laughed at herself secretly. She'd scarcely known it was that way. Hadn't she been an idiot!

It was halfway through one of the scenes where Doris was prominent that they found at one and the same time that they had to have a retake; and that Doris was vanished from the scene of action, contrary to her habit of being tremulously alert for any moment when anyone might want her, as if for fear of being scolded.

"Doris—where's Doris?" demanded Allen Rainsford, who played opposite her.

"Run the next sequence, and I'll go hunt her. I'm not in it and the rest of you are. Anybody else may be needed, Helen commanded, and made her way out of the darkened room, between the boys and girls on cushions all over the floor; catching a glimpse of Patricia in the hall with plump little Dutch-bobbed, dark Lucy, evidently being told all the child-gossip of the town by the rapt attitude of the two.

Doris was not in any of the rooms Helen explored. Could she have gone out for a breath of the cold crisp night air, the room being overheated with all the people and the necessity of closed windows and doors? Helen threw her coat around her and slipped out the side door, not unwilling to breathe the outdoor coolness herself.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The answers to questions printed here each day are specimens picked from the mass of inquiries handled by our great Information Bureau maintained in Washington, D. C. This valuable service is for the free use of the public. Ask any question of fact you may want to know and you will get an immediate reply. Write plainly, enclose two cents in coin or stamps for return postage, and address the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Does hamburger contain pork?—O. Y.

A.—True hamburger consists of ground beef. It should not be mixed with ground pork.

Q.—What is meant by Sokol?—J. N. H.

A.—It is the name of a great gymnastic organization in Czechoslovakia.

Q.—Why aren't English skylarks imported into this country?—E. M. G.

A.—Permits are not issued by this country allowing the importation of the English skylark, since it is considered an undesirable bird. The habits of the skylark are similar to those of the starling.

Q.—In "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which character is the fiend?—E. F. D.

A.—Mr. Hyde is the character that represents the bad in man in contrast to the good.

Q.—How are oilskins made?—E. D. P.

A.—The material should be fine twilled calico. It is dipped in bullock's blood and dried in a current of air. Afterward two or three coats of raw linseed oil with a little litharge in the proportion of about one ounce to one pint of oil should be applied. Each coat should be allowed to dry before the next is applied.

Q.—Was Christ born on Christmas day?—M. E. E.

A.—There are no data which would prove conclusively at precisely what time of the year Jesus Christ was born. Many are of the opinion that the birth occurred in March or October. The fact that at the season observed as Christmas now a great Roman feast was held which had been held for centuries, probably influenced the early Christians to celebrate the birth of Christ at this period.

Q.—To what part of the western world was the name, America, first applied?—M. H. R.

A.—It was originally used only for Central Brazil, and was applied in honor of the Italian, Amerigo Vespucci, who claimed he had discovered it. It was first employed for the entire western world by Mercator in 1541.

Q.—Did Abraham Lincoln, upon seeing Walt Whitman, say "He looks like a man."?—D. A.

A.—This remark has been attributed to Lincoln but his biographers do not credit it. Dr. W. E. Barton says: "Lincoln did not say it or know how Whitman looked."

Q.—What is the weight of the skeleton of an individual of average height and mature age?—H. C. W.

A.—The weight of an adult male skeleton is usually from 10 to 12 pounds. A skeleton with light bones would weigh a pound less; a skeleton with heavy bones would weigh a pound more.

Q.—Where were Hitchcock chairs made?—W. E. H.

A.—Lambert Hitchcock was the best known of all the men who devoted themselves to fancy chairmaking in the early days. He was born in Cheshire, but later lived in Hitchcockville, Conn. In 1818 he left his native town and settled on the Farmington river, two miles west of Winstead. The Hitchcock factory and joint house are still standing. Since 1866 the town has been called Riverton.

Q.—What are the young of fish called?—M. H.

A.—Young fish are called fry while the yolk sac upon which they first feed lasts, which is usually 30 days. When a fish passes out of this stage it is called a fingerling. When a fish is a year old it is called a yearling. When it reaches the age of two years it is called a 2-year-old, 3 years a 3-year-old.

Q.—What is angelology?—R. M.

A.—It refers to a discourse on angels, or a body of doctrines in regard to angels.

Q.—How much money is paid in one year to the owners of race horses for winning races?—S. G.

A.—In 1930, the purse distributions in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba was estimated at $14,200,000.

Q.—When serving a food which requires a spoon and fork, in which hand should the fork be held?—H. J.

A.—It is customary to hold the fork in the right hand and spoon in the left.

Q.—When did Portugal decline as a colony-holding power?—R. K.

A.—Portugal first lost her hold in the colonies about 1580 because of difficulties in the home country. Some of the colonies were recovered in 1640 but because of political troubles Portuguese colonial history since then has not been important.

MENUS GIVEN FOR MAY DAY

Hostess Provided With Many Recipes

the whipped cream. Serve with baked ham. Serves six or eight.

Casserole of Green Peas and Asparagus

Cut six slices of bacon in small pieces and brown in a skillet. Prepare two cupfuls well seasoned thin white sauce. (The proportions for the sauce are two cupfuls milk, two tablespoonfuls butter, two tablespoonfuls flour, one-half teaspoonful salt and a dash of pepper). In a greased casserole arrange in alternate layers one and one-half cupfuls fresh, cooked asparagus (one bunch) cut in pieces, and one and one-half cupfuls fresh, cooked peas. Add the browned bacon and two tablespoonfuls bacon fat to the white sauce and pour it over the vegetables. Cover top with seasoned mashed potatoes and bake for 20 minutes at 400 degrees F. Serves six.

Cheese Crisps

Use fresh bread. Butter two slices of bread and sprinkle with grated cheese that has been seasoned with salt and paprika. Place two slices together; trim off the crusts and cut in two triangles. Toast on both sides. These little hot sandwiches may be made and set aside to be toasted just before serving.

Meringue Whip

Beat the whites of six eggs to a partial froth, then add half a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and continue beating until stiff and dry. Add one cupful of granulated sugar and beat again until mixture will hold its shape when the beater is lifted from it. Then add gradually another cupful of sugar, beating only lightly this time. Flavor delicately with vanilla or almond, or with juice from an orange; spread in two large layer cake pans, buttered lightly and floured. Bake in a very slow oven—the meringues should rather dry out than bake, and should be but tinged with brown when finished. It will require 35 to 50 minutes to bake the cakes properly. When done remove them carefully from the pans, and cool them. They may be made a day or even two days before they are to be used, as they keep nicely. When ready to serve, whip a pint of cream to a solid froth, sweeten and flavor it to taste, and spread between and over the top of the cakes. Decorate with candied or maraschino cherries, or halved nuts, or preserved or candied pineapple cut in strips or in fancy forms with little vegetable cutters. If it is desired to make the meringue very beautiful, the stiffly whipped cream may be forced through a pastry tube about the top in fanciful borders or rosettes.

Wall Street Sandwich

Mix one cupful grated American cheese, one-fourth cup ground ham, two teaspoonfuls prepared mustard and one teaspoonful Worchestershire sauce. Spread filling one-fourth inch thick on thin slices of bread that have been toasted and buttered on one side and cover with the second slice of bread toasted and butttered on one side. Toast the outside of sandwich as under the gas flame or in a lightly greased frying pan or on top of the stove or use an electric grid. Lettuce and a thin slice of tomato may be inserted before serving, if desired. Cheese and ham mixture may be seasoned with thousand isle or mayonnaise dressing instead of mustard and Worchestershire, if desired.

Another intriguing filling for hot sandwiches is bacon and thin slices of raw bananas. A split sardine with bone and skin removed and covered with chili sauce is simple and delicious.

Golden Glow Ice Cream

Two quarts milk.
One tablespoonful flour.
One quart can apricots.
One cupful grated pineapple.
Two cupfuls sugar.
One cupful hot water.
Two oranges.

Boil the sugar and water together for five minutes. Add the grated pineapple, apricots cut fine with juice, and juice and pulp of the oranges. Scald the milk, add the flour moistened with two tablespoonfuls milk, and cook two minutes. Blend the milk and fruit mixture, cool and freeze, using eight parts of ice to one part of salt. This recipe makes one gallon.

Piccadilly Prune Cake

Soak one-half pound prunes and steam until tender, cool, pit and chop coarsely. For the batter, the following ingredients will be needed:

Two and one-half cupfuls flour
One and one-half teaspoonfuls baking powder
One-fourth teaspoonful soda
One-fourth teaspoonful salt
One-half teaspoonful nutmeg
One-half teaspoonful cinnamon
One and one-fourth cupfuls sugar
Two eggs
One-fourth cupful soft butter.

Sift the first six ingredients together, then add the prunes and sugar to them and mix well; stir in the sour cream and the eggs well beaten; finally add the butter which should be almost melted, but not hot. Pour into a greased square pan and bake in a moderate over (375 degrees F.) for an hour or longer. When nearly finished sprinkle the surface with granulated sugar and place at the top of the oven to glaze. This cake is delicious cut when still warm for afternoon tea or served with whipped cream as dessert.

May-day Suggestions

May-day with its festive traditions makes a charming occasion for entertaining. As sunshine and flowers are always associated with the day natural lighting is recommended for most affairs. A breakfast bridge, luncheon, noon-day dinner or afternoon might be planned.

Because of the profusion of garden flowers at this time of year, most charming centerpieces may be developed. For instance a silver basket filled with a variety of garden flowers and silver peacocks, whose tails serve as bonbon trays, make an interesting old English garden scene.

Baskets of mixed flowers or sweet peas may be grouped in the center of the table or smaller baskets filled with flowers to be used as favors may be placed at the individual plates with one large basket in the center of the table.

A may-pole with daintily dressed dolls at the end of ribbon streamers makes an appropriate table decoration for such an occasion.

Crepe paper butterflies may be placed on handles of baskets or on some of the flowers. The bodies of the butterflies may conceal dainty gifts that may be rolled such as handkerchiefs.

Fluffy tulle bows or favors wrapped in tulle make a light springlike setting for a May-day party.

Many foods may be arranged to resemble flowers and may be used for their decorative effect. A few suggestions that might be included on such a menu follow:

RECIPES

Red Apple Flower Salad

One package cherry jell-o
One and three-fourths cupfuls boiling water
One-fourth cupful lemon juice
Four red apples.

Dissolve jell-o in boiling water. Add lemon juice. Cool. Cut a slice off top of each apple and remove the pulp, leaving only a thin shell. Pour jell-o into apple shells. Chill until firm. Cut apples into sections, using a sharp knife, dipped in hot water. Arrange on crisp lettuce on individual plates, arranging sections in the shape of a flower. Pile mayonnaise in the center and garnish with a cherry if desired. Serves from four to six.

Black-eyed Susan Salad

Divide oranges or tangerines, after peeling them and removing all white skin, into sections and arrange on lettuce leaves in the form of daisies. Fill the centers with chopped pecans mixed with French dressing and serve with French dressing made with orange or lemon juice in place of vinegar.

Tomato Daisy Salad

This salad may be made by filling medium sized tomatoes with any desired salad mixture. The tomato is then rolled in aspic or gelatin and ornamented with a flower design as follows: Place a ball of seasoned egg-yolk over the opening and egg-whites cut in petal shape around it. Sprays of parsley or watercress are then dipped in the aspic and applied to the sides of the tomato. Serve on crisp lettuce garnished with sprigs of parsley or watercress.

Tulip Salad

Cut cucumbers or pears in the form of tulips. Arrange an individual serving of three on a plate and fill each one with a different kind of salad, mixing each salad with a different kind of dressing. Garnish by placing three tulip leaves or similar leaves in the center and one between each two of the cups.

Poppy Salad

The petals are cooked beets marinated in French dressing and pressed into small rounds of seasoned cream cheese covered with mayonnaise. Use about four slices of beets for each poppy and arrange about three poppies on each plate. Place a ring of finely fringed truffles or green capers over the cheese center. Chicory leaves are lovely for the foliage but cress or parsley may be used. Put mayonnaise in a lemon cup on one side of the plate. The beets should stand up slightly around the cheese.

Stuffed Apple Salad

Cut a slice off the top of each apple and remove the pulp, leaving only a thin shell. Fill with cream cheese mixed with mayonnaise, crystallized ginger, orange peel and chopped nut meats. Dip the apples in lemon jelly; chill and slice and place about five slices in flower fashion on individual plates. Serve with honey dressing colored pink or rose, in the center put on with a pastry tube. Garnish with sprigs of parsley.

Water Lily Salad

Place crisp lettuce on individual salad plates; arrange on these chicken salads. Make petals from celery and whites of hard cooked eggs cut in lengthwise strips. In the center put one egg which has its ends pressed together to disclose the yellow center, which is uncut; the white part is split at regular intervals. Stick a number of the petals up in the chicken salad around the egg center.

FALSE TEETH
Can Not Embarrass

Most wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their teeth dropped or slipped at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little Fasteeth on your plates. Makes false teeth stay in place and feel comfortable. Sweetens breath. Get Fasteeth at Allison Drug Store or any other good drug store.—Adv.

JOHNNY BAKER

Death Claims Veteran Rifle Expert And Mountaineer

DENVER, Colo., April 23. (AP)—Johnny Baker is dead. To men who like the crack of a rifle or the flush of a sunset from Lookout mountain, that will mean a lot.

Johnny Baker, 62, was the foster-son of the old plainsman, Buffalo Bill, whose real name was William F. Cody. For many years after Buffalo Bill's death, Baker operated a sightseer's tepee within a stone's throw of the Indian fighter's grave on the top of a mountain only a few miles west of Denver.

Once acclaimed as the world's champion rifle shot, Johnny Baker's hero worship for the fighter, buffalo hunter and showman never wavered.

General Rains Benefit Grain

over the Wichita Falls territory Thursday afternoon were reported to The Record News as follows:

MEMPIS.—Cold, drizzling rain sent the temperature here down again Thursday to the 35 degree mark, after the cold wave earlier in the week had damaged garden produce.

CHILDRESS.—Wheat and early planted feed crops were benefited by the light rain which fell over Childress county Wednesday night and Thursday. The precipitation amounted to one-half inch. The thermometer in the early afternoon stood at 50 degrees.

DALHART.—The extreme northern Panhandle received more valuable mosture Wednesday night and Thursday. The downfall, slow and soaking, measured between a quarter and a half inch.

QUANAH.—Light rain fell over Hardeman county Wednesday night and Thursday and heavy clouds at dusk promised further precipitation. The temperature dropped to 44 degrees after the chill downpour.

OLNEY.—Beneficial rains soaked into Young county Wednesday night and Thursday. Indications were for more Thursday night. The moisture is welcomed for wheat and early feed crops.

STAMFORD.—A slow rain started in Stamford Thursday morning about 6 o'clock and continued the greater portion of the day. The rain has been very beneficial to the grain crop, also makes pastures better and provides stock water.

Removal of Highway Offices Proposed

capitol and the university, if they make such a move," said Representative McGregor.

"My opposition to the bond issue was announced six weeks before the primary election. If the people did not approve it they had ample time to bring out another candidate," said Giles.

The bond proposal has already been voted upon favorably by the Texas senate. It lacked 20 votes of enough for submission by the house when brought up there. A final vote was set for Wednesday of this week but has been postponed until next Wednesday.

Hubbard said that the proposed removal to Waco is justifiable, aside from its effect on bond legislation. It is nearer the center of the state, he said, and will be more convenient for the many officials and contractors who have to attend highway commission sessions and transact business with the department. The department now is divided. Part is on the new state land office and part in rented quarters. Waco will offer a site, Hubbard said.

The house today passed a bill to put into effect permanently the plan of permitting divided payment of taxes, which has already been adopted for this one year as a drouth and depression relief measure. It amends a senate bill and must go back for senate concurrence.

The first general appropriation bill of the session was agreed upon between senate and house conferees. It provides $5,329,879 for operation of the state courts for two years. Both house and senate approved the agreement.

School districts consolidated between 1917 and 1922 were made eligible for $800 school bus aid this year under a bill passed after long debate. Schools consolidated since 1922 already have been allowed the amount. Advocates said the maximum number eligible would be 95.

The senate tonight apparently had completed its amendment of a house bill placing motor transportation utilities under railroad commission control. A vote on the amended measure had been called for when the senate recessed until tomorrow.

As amended, railroad commission control over motor line terminals was dropped from the bill. Provison was made for special permits and rules for operation of contract carriers of livestock, household goods and oil field machinery.

An attempt to increase the number of continuous hours a truck driver may work from 12 to 16, failed.

The senate passed a bill increasing the time University of Texas land may be leased for oil prospecting, from three to five years.

Senator Oneal prepared a statement saying he voted against a five-year renewal amendment to the university leasing bill "because this policy is wholly at variance with sound public policy, will tend to tie up the oil and gas leases and ultimately delay development.

"The result of this policy if followed, by any lease board in future, will tend to let speculators get title of leases on university land and hold them for speculative purposes to the great financial loss of the University of Texas."

meet specific situations, but the hazard of the merger, the drawback to our modern corporate practice, lies in its tendency to curtail opportunity."

The old time country store, he said, had "the energy and force of personal ownership," but management of most large industrial enterprises must be entrusted to individuals who in most instances have a relatively small financial interest in the business.

The whole future of any corporation, he said, depends upon having good management and "go get good management you have got to pay for it."

Urges Bonus System

This reasoning, he indicated, led him to introduce the Bethlehem Steel bonus system, under which $36,000,000 has been paid to a comparatively few officials since 1911. Mr. Schwab's administration of the system was recently approved by stockholders.

"If we are going to curtail the opportunity of industrial geniuses to earn rewards in line with their abilities," he said, "perhaps we shall become a nation of jobholders, interested solely in doing as little work as possible for the day's pay. But I do not think that is part of the American temperament. America loves a winner."

Speaking of wages, he said "we have learned the lesson that purchasing power must be maintained if there are to be markets for our goods" and pointed out that many large corporations have maintained their payroll forces and wage rates even though obliged to adopt part-time operation.

either in hiding in this city or has gone toward the border.

The young Mexican had been chopping wood and pulling stumps in the vicinity of the Dickey farm, in company with his father and 9-year-old brother, for the past two weeks. Their camp, which consisted only of blankets and a few pots and pans, is about 25 feet from the path which the little girl traveled to and from school. The camp was abandoned Wednesday night. Searchers found a bloodstained pair of overalls and jumper nearby Thursday morning.

J. B. Martin of Pleasanton told a deputy sheriff Thursday morning that about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon he drove by the Mexican camp and saw the girl walking along the path. He said he also noticed the young Mexican cutting across in her direction from his camp.

Bailey Morris, who drives a milk truck for a dairy near Pleasanton, told the officers Thursday morning that he picked up a young Mexican, who met the description of the alleged slayer, and a Mexican boy at Thelma, which is about 12 miles from Leming toward San Antonio. He said the pair rode with him until they reached the outskirts of San Antonio, where they got off the truck.

NOTED LABORATORY FINDS WAY TO END "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

You can never be certain that you are not one of the 10 million people in America today who are victims of "Athlete's Foot" infection—an unpleasant, annoying form of ringworm.

That is because of the infection's comparative mildness when first contracted, and its several peculiar ways of showing itself. You may notice tiny, itching blisters between your toes. Or the skin may become moist and thickened. It may turn either red or white, or even develop a scaly dryness.

If you discover any one of these symptoms, don't wait for complications. Follow the advice of authorities and douse ABSORBINE JR. on your feet twice daily.

For it was proved by actual tests in a famous New York laboratory that wherever this mild, yet powerful, antiseptic penetrates, it not only curbs but kills the tinea trichophyton, which causes "Athlete's Foot."

So after every exposure to wet surfaces—in public places and even in your own bathroom—play safe by using ABSORBINE JR. on your feet. For the tiny parasites breed and lurk simply everywhere, and are always ready to attack. All druggists, $1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

Health and Diet Advice

The Weekly Menus

Many readers write in and ask me to outline a well balanced diet for them. All that they need to do in order to find a well balanced, wholesome diet is to use the weekly menus which appear every Friday in this health column.

I will answer today some of the most common questions which I receive about the menus. One woman wants to know: "When are we supposed to use bread and butter with your menus? Am I to take it for granted that these are added to each meal?"

Bread is not to be added to each meal. The breakfast menus usually call for white bread in the form of Melba toast, and this is to be buttered. A small amount of bread may occasionally be taken with the lunch menus by those in good health. But no bread is to be added to the dinner menu when meat is used, as this is not a good combination. Children may add more of the starchy foods than adults.

Another frequent question is this: "What kind of fruits are to be used with the menus? Is it all right to use the fresh fruit for breakfast?"

About the best way to use the fresh acid fruits is to make a meal of them, adding nothing else but milk. This makes a good lunch. If you desire fresh fruits while on an ordinary menu, then I would advise you to eat the fruit all by itself during the middle of the afternoon, or just before going to bed. In this way you will get the fruit, with no bad consequences. The acid of fruit does not mix well with starch, and for this reason fruit should not be added to every meal. The dried fruits are used at breakfast and as a dessert at dinner.

Another questions which comes in is this: "Is it all right to change the meal around, taking dinner at lunch?" Yes, it is all right to change the meals in this way. Simply use the lunch at night.

A question which I see about five times a day is this: "I do not see any beverages in the menus. Why?" The only drink I recommend at meal time is plain water.

Those who live where the fresh vegetables are not available may use the canned. Those who cannot get the fresh orange juice may substitute the canned grapefruit juice or the canned tomato juice.

Usually, I recommend that the menus be used exactly as given to get the best results, but it is always possible to substitute one meat for another, if the one you wish to use is wholesome. You may change around with the non-starchy vegetables, using carrots instead of beets, etc.

The weekly menus are well balanced and the meals which they give you are the result of what has been found best after studying thousands of patients. The menus offer sufficient food value for anyone doing a moderate amount of work.

The food combinations as given in the menus are correct. These menus are worked out for you to be a practical, concrete guide for you to follow in preparing better meals. Use them and watch your health improve.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Pain in Chest

Question: A. R. W. asks: "Will you please advise me what would cause a pain when I draw in my chest? I have had tonsils removed, also lungs examined and teeth x-rayed, finding both in good condition. Smoke about 10 cigarets a day."

Answer—It would be difficult for me to tell you what is causing the pain in your chest without being able to examine you. This might be due to adhesions which have formed, and which are limiting the action of the chest in breathing. It might be due to an old case of pleurisy. It might also be due either to gas pressure or to an injury.

Baked Ground Beets

Question — Mrs. L. asks: "Will you please tell me how to prepare the baked ground beets?"

Answer—Select small tender beets and scrub thoroughly with a vegetable brush. Without peeling cut into small pieces and run through the food chopper. Place in a dry flat pan to a depth of two or three inches and bake tightly covered for 15 or 20 minutes. Remove cover and place under the broiler flame until slightly browned on top. Serve with butter.

Anesthetic

Question — Mrs. L. J. O. asks: "When all the teeth must be extracted, what is the safest anesthetic for the person who has a heart leakage?"

Answer — The type of anesthetic to be used would have to be left to the discretion of your dentist. Sometimes it is advisable to use a local anesthetic to the teeth rather than gas when there is trouble with the heart.

SPUDDERS WIN 10-INNING BATTLE WITH DALLAS STEERS, 7-5

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Garland Orr is still playing for, if not with, the Spudders. His four hits in four times up last night paved the way for San Antonio's defeat of Houston, and Houston's defeat meant that the Spudders, for the first time this season, entered the first division.

And Chubby Orr's bat put us there!

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's white-haired commissioner of baseball, will come to this state next week to pay his first official visit to the Texas league. Monday, April 28, he will be present at the dedication of Stuart stadium in Beaumont, with Galveston being the visiting club; and the following day he will be the guest of honor at Galveston's dedication of Moody stadium, with the Exporters meeting the Buccaneers in the dedicatory tilt.

League President Gardner this week received confirmation that the baseball czar will attend the two ceremonies. President Gardner will accompany Landis at both the dedications.

While Commissioner Landis is in Texas the Rambler would like for him to pay a visit to Chillicothe and get a look at the right field that is being discussed so heatedly at present. According to Crowell fans, the dedication of the Chillicothe field couldn't be accomplished without some barbed wire scissors.

Steering back to the subject, President Gardner feels that the Texas league will be greatly honored by the commissioner's visit. "It may be construed," he said, "as a fine compliment for the league that baseball's highest authority should attend the dedication of two of our stadiums, and it is my opinion the league deserves the compliment, for the Beaumont and Galveston stadiums are two of the finest in the country. Including the parks, each was erected at a cost of approximately $175,000, and these two cities, like Wichita Falls, now have a permanent baseball plant that cannot but excite admiration."

Facts and Figures

A total of 56,505 fans crowded into Texas league parks for opening day games in the eight cities this season, according to figures released Thursday by Milton Price, secretary of the league. That was only 6,508 less than the total attendance of 1930 opening days, when 63,014 people passed through the trunstiles.

Houston, of course, won the opening day attendance contest among the four larger cities with an attendance of 10,504. Fort Worth ran second with 10,341; Dallas third with 9,287; and San Antonio fourth with 2,836.

In walking off with the class B attendance prize, Galveston amassed an attendance of 7,971 opening day. Beaumont was second with 6,209; Shreveport was third with 4,762; and Wichita Falls last with 4,569.

The Morning Mail

Up around Chillicothe and Crowell they're organizing a Pen and Ink league. An answer to a Crowell fan's letter printed Thursday morning came in the mail today, as follows:

Dear Rambler:

Well All I know is what I read in the papers, (with apoligy to Will Rogers) and I want to say that I shore am glad that we have news papers, because if it had not been for The Record News we never would have known what the Crowell boys thought about the game over here.

Why do I say that, for this reason. I know that the Manager of the Cubs went around and shook hands with as many of the Crowell Men as he could see when the game was over and they were very quite and peaceful like. Course now you gist cant blame them for that because they had not had time to get over the shock of Johnsons home run. And I want to say for the Crowell Boys that they are a fine Bunch of fellows and there was never one single squak out of them during the game and I want to say this for the benifit of any team that is planning on playing them, that they have a good club and that Personaly I dont believe that there is a Club in this part of the country that can loaf in a game and beat them.

Now about the barbed wire in right field. The fence is on the north line of the ball park. We have just been down to the park and measured the right field fence and by a brand new steel tape it is two hundred and eighty three feet from the back corner of home plate to the fence line. The Ball that Mr. Johnson hit went a good fifty feet over in the cotton patch. Okey; Just use your own judgment.

Now speaking of popups going for home runs into right field. Crowell has three left hand batters and not a one of them got one of those popups in fact there were only two extra base hits in the game Canifax for Chillicothe got a double and Johnson a home run.

As for Mr. Rawsberry if you are in Boston or just Rasberry if you are in Good old CHILLICOTHE being a cast off from Ft. Worth. He should be. Now Mr. Rawsberry (in Boston) Rasberry in Chillicothe, dont feel hurt at Mr. Johnson, because he plays no favorites he does that to everybody.

Crowell has one good ball player but was not in Sunday, L. Sloan.

This Writer has taken time out and tried to find some one here that could remember a game that Crowell won from Chillicothe in the last few years but none could be found, However this should be taken with a little salt because it is possible that memories were just a little rusty but all I can say is that NONE COULD BE FOUND.

A SPUDDER FAN AND A CUB SUPPORTER.

P. S.

I think the Crowell writter is just a little peeved about having to wear patches. He will get use to them. This writer is wearing so many patches on his trousers and other clothing that the Cross Word puzzle fans follow him around. Oh; Well. Tut. Tut. Tut.

LESTER WHITE STARS IN BOX

Timely Blows by Stanton And Gullic Count

Special to The Record News.

DALLAS, April 23.—Led by the timely hitting of Buck Stanton and Ted Gullic, coupled with a masterful exhibition of pitching by Lester White with the exception of one inning, the Wichita Falls Spudders defeated the Dallas Steers, 7 to 5, here Thursday in 10 innings opening their two-game series. The triumph enabled the fast-stepping Williamsmen to pull within a game and one-half of the league leadership and dragged the Steers back into a tie with Fort Worth and Beaumont for the top rung. It was Dallas' second defeat of the league season, the other one having been administered by Fort Worth there Tuesday.

Buck Drives in Four

Stanton singled to drive home the first run of the game in the first inning and doubled to transport three more mates across the plate in the fifth.

Gullic's triple scored Stanton with the second run in the initial chapter and he came through with a pinch two-bagger to score the winning runs in the 10th.

White held the Steers to three hits up to the eighth inning, when they bunched five for three runs to tie the count. He was wild in spots, however, and issued four walks two of which came in the first inning and coupled with an error let Dallas score twice.

Oscar Fuhr, veteran left-hander acquired last winter from the New Orleans club, started on the mound for Dallas and was removed for a pinch hitter after seven innings. During his term he registered seven strike-outs, fanning Gullic and Badgro twice and Garms, Bryant and White each once. Wilbur Wehde, a young curve-ball right-hander from the Mississippi Valley league, finished for the locals. He hurled two and one-third innings of beautiful ball but a temporary let-up in the 10th proved enough to bring his downfall.

Packed With Thrills

The game, witnessed by a shivering crowd of only about 500 people, was packed with thrills and brilliant fielding plays, especially by the Spudders' inner defense. Although he made a pair of two-base over-throws, Debs Garms turned in a couple of almost impossible plays, once to get Langford on a slow bounder behind the mound in the fourth and once to force Cotter on Blakesley's roller in the 10th on a similar play. Geygan and Scharein also had a big day, handling 20 chances between them. Herb Kelly covered a vast amount of territory in center. Happ Morse's play at second featured for the locals.

The Spudders got away to a two-run lead opening the game. Garms led off with a single to right. Fuhr had him picked off the bag but he was safe at second when Cotter threw badly to Harrell. Kelly fanned but Stanton came through with a smash to center, scoring Garms and himself counted when Gullic flailed a triple down the right field line.

Garms' two-base overthrow on Bennett's bounder paved the way for two unearned runs that let Dallas tie the count in the home half. Urban reached second while Bennett was being trapped and run down on his roller. Cotter walked and both moved up on a wild pitch. Blakesley walked to fill the bases and Urban scored from third while Langford was forcing Blakesley. Morse's single scored Cotter.

Scoop Starts Rally

Scharein beat out a swinging bunt down the first base line to start a three-run rally in the fifth. He galloped to third when Bryant singled to center. White popped and Garms walked. Kelly forced Scharein at the plate and Stanton crashed a double down the left field line, scoring Bryant, Garms and Kelly.

Dallas tied it up in the eighth, which Bennettt started with a single to right. Urban lofted to Badgro and Cotter got a scratch hit when his grounder took a bad hop to Stanton. Blakesley lofted to Kelly but Langford singled to left and Bennett scored when White intercepted what looked like a successful throw home by Badgro. Cotter stopped at second but scored a moment later on Morse's long single over short, Langford stopping at second. Herb Kelly barely missed a heroic try for a shoestring catch on Francis Kelly's Texas leaguer, scoring Langford.

After one was out in the tenth, Herb Kelly started the winning rally with a single to left. Stanton walked and Gullic brought them both in with a double that hit just inside the line beyond third and bounced to the fence.

Penn Relays Opening Today to Reveal Olympic Strength

PHILADELPHIA, April 23. (AP)—America will start taking inventory of its Olympic material when 3,000 athletes from high and prep schools and colleges compete in the 37th annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival at Franklin field here April 24 and 25.

In keeping with a policy of aiding in the development of athletes for the quadrennial games, the carnival management has from year to year added standard Olympic events.

The 3,000 meter steeplechase, in which the United States has been woefully weak in the Olympics; the decathlon, won only once by this country, and the 400-meter hurdle race are three events on the relay program that attract a host of college athletes intent on preparing for the international games.

More than 500 colleges and schools from many sections of the country will participate in the 100-event program of relay races and special events. They will represent the Middle West and every section of the Atlantic seaboard.

The decathlon championship will find Pennsylvania's great-all around performer, Bernard Berlinger, defending his title against a strong field of contestants.

Both the American and carnival records are in jeopardy because of Berlinger's spectacular performances during the past indoor season.

At least 12 college athletes who will run on relay teams or participate in the special events are regarded by track and field authorities as Olympic possibilities.

They are Joseph McCluskey, Fordham, 3,000-meter steeplechase; Carl Coan, one mile; Bernard Berlinger, decathlon, and William Carr, 440 yards, of Pennsylvania; Everett Colyer, Cornell, and Oscar Sutermeister, Harvard, pole vault; Donald Fleet, Boston college, and Dale Letts, Chicago university, 880 yards; Paul Rekers, Penn State, and George Bullwinkle, City college of New York, one mile; Eugene Record, Harvard, 120-yard hurdles, and Aloysius Kelly, Georgetown, 100 yards.

Here are three potential members of America's 1932 Olympic team who'll demonstrate why in the Penn relays, April 24 and 25, at Philadelphia: Barney Berlinger, Penn decathlon champ; Carl Coan, sensational miler, also of Penn, and Joe McCluskey, Fordham two-miler, entered in the 3,000 meter steeplechase.

Chillicothe Cubs Whip Wolves, 13-3

Special to The Record News.

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, April 23.—The growl of the Cubs is getting louder every time some other team comes near them.

The Farmers Valley Wolves came here Wednesday afternoon and they found that the Cubs had grown some new teeth since they were here the first time. The Cubs put 13 big red scratches on the Wolves while they were getting three little nips. The score was 13 to 3.

Pete Francis hurled a good game all the way and never really opened up. Several times the Wolves had men on bases but Francis would let them pop up or roll an easy grounder to the infield. Francis is a rookie southpaw.

Friday Elm Grove will be here, Saturday the Cubs go to O'Dell and Sunday to Thalia.

The manager of the Cubs announced that he is ready for any team within 100 miles or more on a 60-40 basis.

He also said that he would like to get about six games lined up for a road trip and would like to hear from Olney, Archer City, and other towns in that part of the country.

Drake Relays Open At Des Moines Today

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 23. (AP)—Three thousand athletes from universities, colleges and high schools of the country were gathering here tonight for the opening of the 22nd annual Drake relays tomorrow. Weather forecasts indicated tomorrow would be chilly with a possibility of rain or snow to hamper the athletes in record breaking attempts.

Should weather conditions improve by Saturday there appeared excellent chances for new meet records in the 120-yard high hurdles, two-mile run, broad jump and shot put, while previous performances of relay teams in both the college and university sections indicated possible shattering of a half dozen or more of these marks.

RUTH STILL IN HOSPITAL

X-Ray 'Camera' Reveals No Serious Injury

By BILL KING

BOSTON, April 23. (AP)—No matter where he is Babe Ruth can not escape the camera. Baseball's sultan of swat, laid low with a severely bruised hip, spent most of today posing his injuries before the X-ray camera here at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital.

Dr. Francis Newton, the attending physician, used up scores of plates, almost as many as the news photographers devote to the Babe when he is cavorting on the diamond, and the late afternoon's supply revealed the Babe's muscle and nerve injuries were becoming less marked.

The physician, a specialist on bone structure, has advised Ruth to remain in the hospital five days more and then rest several weeks. Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yankees, has ordered the Babe to remain idle until his injury was completely healed.

Ruth was in splendid shape before he collided with Catcher Charley Berry on a dash to home plate and suffered the bruises that caused his leg to buckle under him while chasing a fly during the Red Sox's turn at bat.

"That's what you get for trying to avoid hurting another player," Ruth said today. "Fifteen years ago I would have slid spikes-first into any catcher that tried to block me from the plate and I'd cut him to pieces if he didn't get out of my way."

Canzoneri And Berg Mix Tonight

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, April 23. (AP)—Two championships or none at all!

That is the ambition of Tony Canzoneri, the game cock lightweight champion of the world, and Jack (Kid) Berg, Great Britain's fistic pride and holder of the world junior lightweight title. Their ambitions will be realized, one way or the other, when they toss their respective boxing crowns into the Chicago stadium ring tomorrow night.

Canzoneri's lightweight championship will be at stake and so will Berg's title, a minor championship, recognized by the National Boxing association. The titles will be involved as both warriors will be under the light weight division limit of 135 pounds. Canzoneri scaled 132 pounds today after going through a brisk warming up workout, while Berg tipped the beam at 135.

Outstanding lightweight youngsters will tangle in bouts supporting the title event. Tony Herrera, fast punching Mexican lightweight, will engage Steve Halaiko, Buffalo, N. Y., in the eight-round semi-windup at 135 pounds. Lud Abella, Madrid, Spain, will collide with Barney Ross, Chicago, in another eight, while Harry Dublinsky, clever young Chicagoan, will attempt to retrieve a recent loss to Roger Bernard, Detroit, in a third eight-round bout.

Ferrell Turns Back Chisox, 8-2

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—An early advance in cotton on trade buying and covering was followed by reactions under a renewal of liquidation coupled with some commission house or local and Wall street selling which appeared to be stimulated by the early afternoon decline in stocks. July contracts closed at 10.31. The general market closed steady net 1 point higher to 2 points lower.

There was further criticism of low temperatures reported in the South, but on the whole the weather news was considered a little more favorable than it was yesterday, and seemed to be without much effect either way on the market.

Liverpool cables said that covering and continental buying in that market had been supplied by liquidation and Alexandria selling, and reported a poor demand for cotton cloths from India and China. Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria were unchanged to 23 points higher while the Indian spot quotation was 4 points lower. A private crop report issued here this morning, pointing to a decrease of 11.9 per cent was without apparent effect on the immediate market.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 23. (AP)—There was a little more activity in the cotton market here today, but prices were erratic and developed no particular trend being largely influenced by fluctuations in stocks. With Liverpool about as due the market opened 3 points up but promptly lost this gain, only to rally 8 points a little later on unfavorable weather prospects and a steadier opening of the stock market. During the second half of the morning prices eased off with stocks and by the time the offerings were absorbed they showed losses of 12 points from the early highs. There was a rally of 5 to 6 points around noon but it did not hold. For a time prices hovered near the lows but in the late trading the market improved and became more active with a steadier stock trend and more demand for cotton goods rallying 5 to 6 points. The close was steady and the general market showed net unchanged to 4 points up for the day.

Stock Values Climb Back Up After Dipping Into New Low Ground

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 23. (US)—Stock prices dipped into new low ground for the entire bear market today, but rallied from the bottom and, for the majority of stocks, closed net higher for the day.

The improvement, however, was insufficient to offset early weakness in the railroad department, suggesting that pressure against this group was from liquidation rather than bear raiding. Various individual weak spots were uncovered, though most of these represented continuation of selling already noticeable for many weeks past.

Public Utilities were able to close the day virtually unchanged in price compared with the previous session. Volume again expanded, totalling a million shares above the preceding day's turnover of 2,700,000 shares.

This in itself suggested an early termination of the present phase of the downturn. The market displayed far more impressive resistance to selling than in any day for many weeks.

The Steel Common, for example, dipped into the lowest price area for several years emphasized more than anything else that the long-predicted price of 125 had been violated. This alone seemingly would satisfy many bears, for their immediate objective has been scored. Short covering therefore developed on sizeable scale in this issue and throughout the list.

The buying of steel and other stocks was certainly of better character than the selling, since the market at the low of the day was at the lowest level in several years. This factor alone induced rather substantial buying on the theory that at least a good-sized recovery in prices is fully warranted by technical conditions exclusive of all other influences. Then, too, there was evidence of important scale-buying taking place in many leading stocks with the result that offerings were steadily absorbed and when sales dried up prices recovered with a vigor which suggested continuation of the immediate uptrend.

Weakness in the railroad group obviously reflected large-scale liquidation for distress accounts and in this section of the market the disposition among best-informed investors was to purchase only on sizeable reactions. The market was faced from the start with the usual news, the Westinghouse deficit of $2,800,000 for the first quarter, General Motors' first quarter statement showing 61 cents a share earned, or less than the 75-cent dividend; estimates of Steel Corporation first quarter returns which were hardly cheering.

The picture painted by the day's external deevlopments was no different from that existent for months, but internally the market was in far different shape. The short interest has been growing and is of size comparabel to the early days of this year.

Times innumerable, an overcrowded short account as furnished the only basis for price rallies which sometimes run into sizeable proportions, especially from the viewpoint of the speculator.

Further sharp decline in Fox Film and affiliated shares unsettled the entire market for a time, but the most important interests recognize their action as a reflection of an isolated affair having little to do with the general industrial structure.

The Fox dividend is certain to be lowered or omitted and the selling apparently reflected dumping for accounts placed in jeopardy by the continued slump in prices.

General Theaters equipment, as owner of a huge amount of Fox, naturally responded to the weakness in Fox, and the G. T. E. bonds broke very sharply.

Notwithstanding the continued pressure against various special issues or groups, there is a disposition in informed circles to regard the present time as dangerous for the extension of short commitments until the rally is tested for its lasting qualities.

Throughout the day the forecast was made that the rediscount rate of the New York Federal Reserve bank would be lowered, an expectation which was not fulfilled when the bank's directors voted, after the market's close, to maintain the 2 per cent rate.

It is recognized, however, that at current level a lower rate can hardly have such influence.

Reduction of $5,000,000 in broker's loans the past week while small in itself might signify an improvement in character of buying. Incidentally, industrial activity in March throughout the United States increased more than the seasonal amount, the federal reserve board announces.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 23. (AP)—Many grain traders took their cue from the stock market today and all cereals went lower, with corn and oats hitting new bottom price records. Selling pressure enlarged in the late dealings, and the close was at virtually the day's lowest level. Overseas demand for North American wheat was meager, total purchases being estimated at barely 400,000 bushels.

Wheat closed heavy, ⅛@1⅜c lower, corn ⅝@1¼c down, oats ⅛@⅜c off, and provisions at 5 to 45c setback.

Aside from the bearish effects of unsteadiness of securities, wheat gave indications of good rallying power, and at one stage scored net gains. The combination of a week stock market and of Liverpool wheat quotations lower than expected, however, proved too much of a burden to be withstood.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May, 82¼c. Offers, July 61⅝@61⅝c, 63½@63⅝c; Sept. 63⅛@63¼c; Dec. 64⅜@66½c. Corn, May 57⅜@57⅝c, 59@59¼c; July 60@61¼c; 61⅝c; Sept. 59⅜c@60½c; Dec. 52½@52⅝c, 53⅝c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, April 23. (US)—Late wires from Winnipeg were to the effect that the trade there expected substantial export business might be put through on the break. If worked, this would probably show up in figures on business overnight.

Charters for 40,000 bushels of grain to go out by lake were reported after the close. They may have some effectt on coarse grains, where much of the recent bearishness has been due to expectations for a tight storage situation which might cause carlot deliveries in May.

Cables indicate Germany is to consider the reduction of import duties on wheat. At the same time it is thought likely that a further upward revision in the French milling quota will be made shortly.

Argentine shipments fell of considerably and the already small Russian shipments of wheat shrunk still further. The South American country sent out 3,124,000 bushels this week, according to Broomhall's estimate, while Russian clearances were only 376,000 bushels.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—Cotton goods remained easy in the unfinished goods division today, with a fair amount of sales reported. Finished cloths continued to move steadily, largely on past orders, but with some filling in business coming forward constantly. Rayons were in moderate call. Burlaps were steady. Business in fall wool goods has been fair to date. Silk was weak.

THREE WELLS IN GREGG FLOW

Proven Territory Records New Producers

LONGVIEW, Texas, April 23. (AP)—Three new oil wells brought in near Longview today, bringing the number of producers in the Lathrop area to 36 and in the county to 42. All were in proven territory.

Wells completed were the H. W. Lampton No. 1 Elmira chapel, south offset of the Eslick producer; the Harry Moss No. 1 Tenery, north offset of the Magnolia No. 4 Rodden producer; and the Yount Lee Oil company No. 1-B Lathrop.

Considerable alarm was aroused when oil in the slush pit of the Yount Lee well caught fire, badly burning one side of the derrick and consuming all woodwork about the slush pit before it was extinguished. No one was injured. It was estimated flowing at the rate of 12,000 barrels daily.

No gauging had been made of the Lampton well but officials believed it was good for 14,000 barrels daily. The Harry Moss No. 1 Tenery was estimated as good for 1,000 barrels daily. Production was turned into tanks. Pipe line connections were to be made later.

Another Gregg county test, the MacMillan No. 1 Fenton, was ready to be completed late today. It was located three-quarters of a mile west of the Eslick producer. Tubing was run early today.

The Republic Production company's No. 1 Fisher, west offset of the East Texas Refining company No. 2 Fisher producer, was ready to be brought in.

City Makes Tests Of Store Scales

A warning has been issued by Dr. J. M. Farrell, chief city sanitary inspector, to housewives and purchasers of food against buying food that is weighed on scales that have not been recently inspected and tested.

This warning was issued following an investigation of scales weighing up to and including 30 pounds, being used by several grocery stores and meat markets. A number of scales were found to be far overweight, weighing as much as one-half pound too much.

Scales that are not up to standard will be tagged with a green marker, saying "out of order" while those that have been properly inspected and found to be absolutely correct will bear a small green sticker with the name of the person who tested the scales and the date of inspection, it was said.

Persons operating incorrect scales will be given 30 days in which to have them corrected, Mr. Farrell said.

Auction Bridge

Lesson No. 70

DISCARDING (c't'd.)

IN Auction Bridge, when both partners are compelled to discard, they should discard different suits, so that each may retain a protected suit. A declarer must watch discards carefully, as they will inform him as to the strength in opponent's hands, and enable him to plan necessary finesses. When partner has opened a suit at No Trump, a card of that suit should be retained, to lead back later.

ELECTRAN HURT IN PLANT FIRE

Waggoner Refinery Worker Scalded

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, April 23.—A. G. Bailey was badly scalded about the face and eyes Thursday afternoon when the steam hose he was playing upon a fire in the Waggoner Refinery near here slipped from his hand and the hot steam caught him squarely in the face. He was taken to the Parmley-Ogden hospital where physicians said his eyesight would be saved.

The fire at the refinery started in the tube still room early in the afternoon and was quickly brought under control. W. T. Waggoner Jr., manager, said the financial loss would be negligible and the plant continued in operation.

Friberg News

Special to The Record News.

FRIBERG, Texas, April 23.—Freezing weather here Tuesday night climaxing the cold wave that visited this section with wind and rain Monday, did considerable damage to spring garden, potato and corn crops. The young corn just breaking the ground and in some fields several inches high suffered most. Millet, sudan and row crops were also damaged considerably. Fields of fall oats that have been heading out during the past week were injured by the heavy freeze to a certain extent. Wheat and oat crops in this section are making rapid strides despite the late season.

During the regular meeting of troop 25 of the Boy Scouts Monday afternoon at the Methodist church, with the scoutmaster, Rev. A. F. Heusel, acting as chairman, plans were arranged for an overnight hike Friday afternoon to the favorite camping spot on the Wichita river. At this time the scouts will be taught several new phases of camp life, chief among which will be the making of "twist," a species of palatable bread the concoction of which is included in the requirements of second class scouts. The troop will also practice certain stunts that will feature the scout jamboree to be held at the Memorial auditorium in Wichita Falls some time early in May. Scoutmaster Heusel reports that all of the scouts are making rapid strides and with the exception of one, have received their second class badges.

A pathetic little story is told of one of the younger scouts who came to grief and tears recently, when his mother washed a pair of his overalls, the pocket of which (snugly buttoned) contained his precious scout book. The overalls had reached the ironing board and were in the act of being ironed when the mother discovered the little book, a total wreck, which occasioned the owner several hours of grief and tears.

An all-day quilting was enjoyed Wednesday by members of the Friendship club at the Methodist parsonage with Mrs. A. F. Heusel acting as hostess. The club members, mothers and the older ladies of the community, were guests of the girls and did most of the quilting. Two quilts were completely finished, one for Mrs. Troy Herdt and the other for little Miss Ethel Francis Lamb. Luncheon was served cafeteria style at the noon hour, the financial return of which will go into the club treasury.

A pre-school clinic for children who will enter school at the beginning of next term will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the schoolhouse, according to an announcement by the P.-T. A.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Allen of Wichita Falls, Mesdames S. A. Davis, Oscar Hurdt and R. E. Dishman and Miss Alma Hurdt were in Fort Worth Sunday, making the trip in Mr. and Mrs. Allen's car.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Lamb and daughter and Mrs. Ethel Bryan and family visited relatives in Wichita Falls Sunday afternoon.

10:30-10:30 p. m.—Louise Hungry Five.
11:00-11:30 p. m.—Ted Weems and his orchestra.
11:30-12:30 a. m.—Coon Sanders orchestra; Verne Buck's Drake Hotel orchestra.

The "Smokers' Rebellion"

One of the many funny anecdotes in Irving's "Knickerbocker's History of New York" tells of one Wilhelmus Kreft, Dutch governor of New York, who, thinking that the people talked politics too much and that smoking was the direct cause of it, issued an order prohibiting smoking entirely. Immediately the smokers, with long pipes and plenty of tobacco, gathered before the governor's house, and the "smokers' rebellion" was soon "in full blast." The rebels won. Literally they "smoked the governor out." So, too, do the Daily Times and Record News Want Ads "smoke out" buyers for most any offer made through them. CHURCH GIVES BUILDING PLAN

Imposing Structure Ordered By Methodists

ing will have three floors, which will front on Eleventh street to a depth of about 90 feet. Another unit, fronting on Eleventh street on the remaining 47 feet to the alley, will be of one story construction and will extend northward along the alley about 129 feet. Between this one-story unit and the L formed by the two wings of the three-story structure will be an open court, measuring approximately 50x90 feet. This feature not only assures ample outside lighting for every room in the building, but provides an outdoor playground for children effectively shut off from the street.

The same type of face brick used in the construction of the church edifice will be used for facing the educational unit, and the entire new structure will utilize the English Gothic style of architecture. Modified arches found above the doors in the main church building will be repeated above the entrances of the addition soon to be erected.

Memorial Windows

Memories of the old First Methodist church building at Tenth and Lamar, razed during the past month, will be kept vividly alive to members of the church in the educational building by use of many of the memorial windows preserved from the old structure. The entire outside elevation of the one-story wing of the new plant will be furnished with these dedicated colored windows presented to the church during the past 25 years. Above a stairway also, which will lead both from the Travis street entrance and from the interior open court, will be one or more of the preserved art windows.

Interiors of the new building will consist of hardwood floors, plastered walls, pressed-board composition ceilings and a dark-pine stained woodwork. Ceiling materials have been so stipulated as to assure the best possible acoustical properties. All partitions will be of steel panels, metal lath and plaster, providing fireproof construction.

On both Eleventh and Travis streets, the new building will be given a trim of white stone identical in tone with that used in the church building. Aside from the arches surmounting the entrances, the transoms will be embellished with wood tracery. Steel casement windows will be used throughout the plant, save where the memorial windows from the old building have been provided.

The first floor of the wing fronting on Travis street will be set apart for the junior adult, beginners and the cradle roll departments. A large assembly room will be provided for the junior adult group, as well as three large classrooms with a capacity of from 60 to 75 persons each. Two large classrooms, capable of taking care of about 50 children each, are being planned for the beginners; while a large room equipped with a separate nursery room for babies will be provided for the cradle roll of the Sunday school.

Banquet Hall Planned

Junior and senior departments of the Sunday school will be assigned to the second floor. For the junior division, 14 recitation rooms are to be built, each having seats for from 12 to 17 pupils. For the senior enrollment, there is to be a large assembly room and seven classrooms with seating capacity similar to that of junior classrooms.

On the third floor will be quarters for the junior high department and the young people's section. The former will have the use of 14 individual classrooms and a large assembly hall. For the young people, not only six classrooms and an assembly room is planned, but also a kitchenet with all modern equipment. The department will be equipped to provide all conveniences for extensive social activities.

On the ground floor—the one-story structure adjoining the alley between Travis and Lamar—one of the outstanding features will be a banquet hall capable of seating a crowd of more than 400 persons. Connecting therewith will be a large kitchen with every detail of modern equipment. There will also be on this level five large classrooms for the senior adult classes and the boiler room. The building will be heated with a low-pressure operating steam plant.

All rooms designed for assembly purposes will be wired for the use of stereopticon machines, etc., and all rooms are to be equipped with electric fans and "white light" fixtures for electric lighting.

Approximately $65,000 will be expended in the construction of the educational building, according to members of the building committee of the First Methodist church.

An anonymous letter will help fill up this column today. Here it is:

"Will you kindly inform us why the manager of the picture shows here won't show Greta Garbo in 'Romance.' It has been shown in all the towns in the state except here. It has been released a year."

The theater managers make what seems to be a very fair reply—that all pictures cannot be brought here on release date, and that there is a noticeable lack of appreciation when that happens anyhow.

For example, take "Skippy." It opens in Dallas this week, just three weeks later than it opened here. "Skippy" is acknowledged by all critics to be a wonderful picture, playing to packed houses in all the bigger cities. If it had not been booked in here ahead of those large cities, everybody would be clamoring for it.

But the Majestic manager succeeded in getting it here before its popularity had gained momentum everywhere else, and it was as miserable flop on box office returns as has ever been shown. "After this, I don't want them ahead of the rest of them," he said, "I'll wait until somebody wants to see them."

Can anybody blame him? Even theater managers must live.

P. S. "Romance" will probably be booked at the Gem some time.

Many Entries in Flower Growing And Home Improvement Contests

Progress of a clean-up and paint-up campaign now being conducted by the civic improvements committee of the Junior chamber of commerce will be discussed at a luncheon when the committee meets Friday noon at the Holt hotel, it was announced Thursday by A. L. Hecht, chairman.

A total of $50 in prizes will be awarded contestants showing the greatest improvement in the appearance of their homes.

A flower planting contest sponsored in conjunction with the clean-up, paint-up program is creating great interest, it was announced. Two contests of flower planting are being held, one for the home, the other for schools. School children are eligible for entry in both. Several hundred students have already signed up for the contests. Several schools are yet to be heard from, Mr. Hecht said, and when entries from all schools are in several hundred names are expected to be added.

Later in the season judges will view flower gardens and pick the winners.

Little Theater To Repeat April Play

Announcement was made by directors of the Little Theater that the April play, "Why Marry," by Jesse Lynch Williams, is to be repeated on next Monday and Tuesday nights as a result of requests voiced by many of those who saw the play during the past week.

Competing with numerous other attractions in the city, and with an active beginning of the many studio and school activities which crowd the end of the school year, it was said that the performances of "Why Marry" already given were not witnessed by many regular patrons of the Little Theater who wish to see it.

Belief that the two return performances of the scintillating critique on marriage will be favored with capacity houses, according to those in charge, is based upon the declarations of those who saw it in performance from April 13 to 18, inclusive. It was generally heralded as the finest performance of the current season, and as one of the most timely and interesting plays thus far chosen by the local Little Theater for production.

The same cast, headed by Miss Avalon Rines, Woody Benner, Gerald Coffey and Harold White will present the play next Monday and Tuesday.

SHELTON TAKES PRISON TERM

Five Years' Suspended Traded for Two in Pen

Lawrence Shelton, given a five-year suspended sentence by a jury before Judge Allan D. Montgomery in the 30th district court Wednesday afternoon, was given a new trial on the original charge of forgery Thursday afternoon, entered a plea of guilty, and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The action taken Thursday was in accordance with agreement between state and defense attorneys after Clay county officers had asked Wednesday evening that Shelton be held in connection with a charge of forgery in that county. Upon the motion of District Attorney Sam B. Spence, a new trial was granted and was called immediately.

Had the five-year suspended sentence given the defendant Wednesday remained effective, it would automatically have been converted to an active sentence in the event that Shelton subsequently is convicted of a felony in Clay county, according to Mr. Spence. Shelton has not yet been indicted in the adjoining county, it was said.

Roscoe Arbuckle, charged with chicken theft, was acquitted by a jury Thursday afternoon. His defense was ownership of the poultry in question. Another charge of chicken theft is to be tried later, it was stated.

Selection of jurymen was completed Thursday afternoon preparatory to trying Tom Hardy Friday morning on a liquor charge. The defendant was arrested by Highway Officers C. L. Bradford and Noah Daves on the Iowa Park highway recently in possession of about 25 gallons of whisky, according to the district attorney's statement.

50 Members of Junior C-C Expected To Attend Convention at Dallas

Wichita Falls to Bid for 1932 State Meeting; Board Approves Program

A large number of Junior chamber of commerce members signed up to attend the state convention in Dallas May 1, 2 and 3, following the decision Thursday of the board of directors that Wichita Falls would seek the 1932 convention of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce.

More than 50 delegates are expected to attend from Wichita Falls. Those that have already indicated intention of attending are J. Will Gray, Ralph Pond, William McKemie Jr., Shadie F. Hale, C. A. Spragins Jr., Floyd Randel, Jerry Vinson, Temple Shell, Armine Gaunt, Henry Penix, Pat Hardage, P. R. Freeman, T. J. Waggoner Jr., president; Jack Jeffus, H. B. Dudley, Wilburn Page, secretary, and L. F. Hooker.

Big Delegation Sought

Mr. Hooker is in charge of arrangements for the Wichita Falls delegation and has been named to enroll a large representation. He urged that every member of the Junior chamber possible attend the convention in order to bolster Wichita Falls' chance of returning the 1932 meeting here.

The decision of the board to bid for next year's convention followed the arrival here of Howard Hayden, past president of the Dallas Junior chamber of commerce, who extended an official invitation to the local junior chamber to attend the May convention. Mr. Hayden was guest of honor during the board meeting Thursday.

The Dallas guest described plans for the convention, declaring that a most extensive program has been prepared for the meeting, which is expected to be the most successful junior chamber of commerce gathering ever held in the state. More than 200 official delegates and several hundred guest delegates from every Junior chamber in the state will attend, he said. From Wichita Falls Mr. Hayden went to Oklahoma City to extend invitations to Junior chamber members there to attend the Texas convention.

Aid Special Train

The organization here is entitled to five votes in the Texas junior chamber. T. J. Waggoner Jr., president here, said Thursday that he would name the five official delegates Friday. The board selected Ralph Pond as the local representative on the state board of directors. Mr. Pond succeeds Walter Nelson Jr., whose term of office expires with the opening of the annual convention.

The Wichita Falls delegation to the Dallas meeting will stop over in Fort Worth the night of Friday, May 1, for the purpose of assisting in the organization of a Junior chamber of commerce there. Jerry Vinson, former president of the organization here, will be in charge.

On suggestion of the senior chamber of commerce, the board Thursday voted to name a committtee to work with the senior committee to make arrangements for a special train from Wichita Falls to the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Lubbock May 14, 15 and 16.
