First Place Victors Will Go Into State Meet; Visitors At Contest Here Exceeded 1,750 With 700 Contesting

LUBBOCK became champion of district No. 2 of the Interscholastic League, Saturday, replacing Brownfield and Lockney, last year's joint-title holders. Local contestants amassed 75 points, almost doubling the second placers.

Littlefield and Ralls tied with 45 points each for second place, with Brownfield's 39 1-2 points placing her schools fourth. Lockney was fifth with 30, Olton sixth with 27 1-2 and Plainview seventh with 26.

Girl Debaters Win

Misses Wildring, B. Sherrod and Frances Simmons of Lubbock were girls' debate champions, and Darrell Branton and Carl Hyatt of Ralls were boys' title-holder. Misses Sue Brannon and Lois Lair of Littlefield and Russell Wilkinson and Alton Hankins of Lubbock were defeated in finals yesterday morning.

Yesterday afternoon saw the students leaving for their homes, some contestants carrying medals, others ribbons and nearly all pleasant memories of the two-day annual meet. First place winners already were looking forward to the state finals at Austin.

Many See Olton Win

Chief drawing cards Saturday were track and field finals on Matador Field. An estimated 1,000 persons saw Olton win first, with Lubbock placing second.

Total attendance for the two-day meet probably exceeded 1,750, including 700 public school students who registered for contests. Scores of students and patrons flocked through an annual engineering show at Texas Technological college. They saw cotton like that which many of them picked last fall made into cloth, nervously watched manmade lighting flash from the Tesla coil, viewed the fire-breathing dragon, saw a beam of light ring a bell, and enjoyed the scores of other displays in the show.

Enrollment In Reforestation Likely To Start In Dallas This Week But Won't Begin Until Federal OK Comes

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, April 15.—Enrollment in the Roosevelt Reforestation project probably will begin in Dallas the latter part of next week, Lawrence Westbrook, Texas relief director, said here tonight.

Relief directors from Southern states, none of which have yet received authorization to go ahead with enrollment, will meet in Washington Tuesday night to receive instructions, he said.

Authority Held Back

It will be after that meeting before authority will be given any of the Southern states to accept applications.

Westbrook, who has been to Washington, said he has his instructions but will not carry them out until he receives authority from the capital. Between 11,000 and 12,000 men will be the quota from Texas.

Every county in the state is to have an agency qualified to receive applications and to certify them.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson is expected to issue a statement relative to the work as soon as enlistment is authorized from Washington, Westbrook said.

Easter Praise Will Sound In Lubbock Today; Jerusalem Service Is Striking

Overflow Crowds Are Expected At Local Church Programs

CLEAR skies and balmy weather were forecast last night to make pleasant Lubbock's observance today of the 1900th anniversary of Christ's resurrection.

In music, sermons and reverence, Lubbockites will commemorate Easter. Special services have been arranged at virtually all churches. Baptism of infants and reception of church members will feature programs.

Parade Is Expected

The Easter parade of wearing apparel is expected, with weather conditions apparently favorable. Parents and friends will be remembered today with flowers, candies and other Easter-tide gifts.

The observance began at sunrise this morning, with a traditional service in cloisters of Texas Technological college's administration building and services in First Christian and St. Paul's Episcopal churches.

Wilderness To Hide 'Walk To Calvary' Today By Penitentes

Blood To Splash On Jagged Rocks In New Mexico As Cult Observes Easter

By SHELBY THOMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

DENVER, Colo., April 15 (AP) The holy zeal of the Penitentes will be splashed in blood on the jagged rocks in the wilderness of southern Colorado and northern New Mexico tomorrow as their weird lenten ceremonies are climaxed.

When Easter's sun strikes glory to the towering Sangre de Cristo Rockies, this strange cult that has kept a foothold among the Indians in the western United States for 350 years will conclude forty days of sanguinary worship in secret mountain fastnesses.

Have Rude Altars

Known as the "Association of the Blood of Our Christ," the men of the Penitentes meet every other Friday during the 40 days of lent in an isolated spot or in a sequestered adobe hut. There, before rude altars, prayers are said and offerings of miniature images of saints are brought.

STRIPPED bare to the waist and wearing only cotton trunks the men whip themselves unmercifully with flails made from fine-cut blades of the soapweed. Often they gouge their backs with broken glass before beginning flagellations.

On these Fridays they march in procession to a cross, set on a hill hundreds of yards away. They make three steps, kneel and whip themselves three times, repeating until they arrive at their goal. There they kneel again and pray before returning to the original spot in the same manner.

ON GOOD FRIDAY the strange Christians choose the holiest of their number to carry a heavy cross to a designated site. He represents the Saviour.

Bearing the cross and wearing a crown of prickly-pear cactus, his feet hampered by heavy chains, the "favored" brother starts his tortuous journey to the selected Calvary.

Enacts Christ's March

He fails three times before reaching the destination and is scourged each time until he rises.

When the trip is concluded, the bearer of the cross is hoisted to his recent burden and tied there with heavy ropes. In the past these men were left "crucified" for hours, sometimes to die. Now they are removed after a short time and revived.

Throngs See Ancient Rites In Holy City On Saturday

(By The Associated Press)

JERUSALEM, April 15.—A colorful scene of religious fervor took place from noon onward here today as with pomp and splendor the Greek orthodox community celebrated the ceremony of holy fire, most spectacular of Eastertide observances.

Almost every christian country sent representatives to attend the rite. Jerusalem was crowded with pilgrims. Thousands began gathering at sunrise at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre to witness the ceremony of the holy fire. The edifice was jammed and the overflow crowd filled the courtyard.

Seats Are Sold

Many worshippers purchased seats on specially-constructed platforms. Some of them took up their stations three days ago, paying high prices.

It was a tensely expectant throng which was awaiting when the acting Greek patriarch at one o'clock thrust his hand into an orifice of the sepulcnre and withdrew a flaming mass of material.

At almost the same moment a great bell pealed out and exclamations of amazement arose from the vast crowd of witnesses.

The worshippers then rushed with candles to obtain a light from the holy fire.

East, West Join Hands

Owing to a coincidence this year in the Gregorian and Julian calendars, both the western and eastern churches are celebrating Easter simultaneously.

Especially large Catholic parties have been attracted here because of the observance of the holy year.

In St. George's cathedral today there were five distinct holy communion services, as well as matins and a sermon.

Religious Week Ends

Easter-tide observances began a week ago when the Latins held services in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre on Palm Saturday afternoon.

The Latin patriarch, Monsignor Louis Barlassina, entered the portals of the church leading, with

Readhimers Seek High Court Writ

Appeal to the state court of criminal appeals at Austin for a writ of habeas corpus to secure their release, has been filed by J. R. Readhimer and his son V. A. Readhimer, Floyd county farmers, following refusal of Judge Kenneth Bain, of 110th district court, to grant a similar writ. The two men are charged with murder for the alleged slaying of Stokes Campbell, 18, Floydada high school student.

Judge Bain at Floydada last Thursday refused to release the father and son on bail. At the same time the Floyd county grand jury was called to meet April 17 at Floydada to review testimony in the case. The shooting occurred April 6 at Floydada.

The case probably will be submitted and argued before the court on Wednesday of this week, Associated Press dispatches said Saturday.

FDR IS CRITICIZED

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—A declaration that President Roosevelt wants the Tennessee Valley development bill so framed that it will force some southern power companies to take "water out of their stocks" late today climaxed the house military affairs committee's public study of the measure.

Cotton Prices On Upgrade In Recent Weeks

Dollar Per Bale Increase In Past Week Is Noted; Three Dollar Hike Seen In Last Three Weeks' Trading

Demand Increased

May Future Contracts Are Up 27 To 31 Points; Trade Is Watching Farm Relief Plan Of Administration

By FRANK I. WELLER
Associated Press Farm Editor

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The last week added another $1 a bale to the value of cotton for a new advance of $3 in two weeks. The average price of middling 7-8 inch rose to 6.70 cents a pound compared with 6.2 the week before and 6.06 on the same date last year.

May future contracts gained 27 to 31 points, ranging from 6.72 cents at New Orleans to 6.84 at Chicago.

"Better Feeling" Seen

Government reports said there was a "better feeling" in the market with almost all grades of cotton inquired, for while holders of the staple continued to be indifferent sellers at price levels which are higher than for several months.

The advance in raw cotton was brought about by increased outside demand, covering the trade and lack of contracts sufficient to meet the demand. Some observers said prices might go even higher before values are readjusted.

Profit-Taking Aggressive

As a normal course of events a reaction would seem imminent, if for nothing more than to strengthen the technical position, but profit-taking has been aggressive on the way up. It has checked violent advances and may have stabilized the market.

Meanwhile, the trade still wants to see what Washington is going to do about farm relief, currency inflation and tariff revision.

Fire Near Tyler Fatal For Youth

TYLER, April 15. (AP)—Glenn Hopper, 15, was burned fatally and his brother, Albert, 19, was injured seriously late today when a can of kerosene exploded as they were attempting to start a fire in a stove. Their home was consumed by the fire which followed. They lived 10 miles west of Tyler.

Albert was burned as he dashed into the room where his brother lay, his clothes in flames, and attempted to smother the fire with a quilt and drag him outside.

Glenn died in a hospital here.

Mrs. L. F. Hopper, mother of the boys, collapsed from grief at the hospital.

Two Suspects Are Held In Looting Of Knox City Bank

KNOX CITY, April 15. (AP) — Two suspects in the $15,000 robbery of the Citizens State bank at Knox City last March 30 were in custody tonight.

One, arrested in Fort Worth, left there this afternoon in custody of a ranger, presumably en route here.

The second was held in Benjamin, county seat. Officers declined to amplify the bare announcement of the second suspect's arrest.

The bank was robbed by three men, who kidnaped the town marshal.

Blonde Slayer Acts Part For Sanity Jurors

Winnie Ruth Judd Breaks Out In Hysterical Laughter As Trial Goes On; Calls Jury "Gangsters—All Of Them!"

(By The Associated Press)

FLORENCE, Ariz., April 15.—Hysterical outbursts, laughter and tears came from 28-year-old Winnie Ruth Judd today as her sanity hearing progressed slowly—with little more than five days left before the time set for her hanging.

At one time, the blonde confessed slayer of Agnes Ann Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson proposed that she throw herself out of the court-room window, two stories up.

Before that, she half rose from her chair and said of the 12 jurymen, "They're gangsters — all of them."

Hanging Set Friday

Unless they decide she is insane, she is to be hanged at the state prison at dawn next Friday on conviction of murdering Mrs. Leroi. If the hearing is not completed by then, she will have to hang, anyway, as calling of the hearing at request of the prison warden does not constitute a reprieve.

The sanity jury was completed this morning, but after one witness, a prison matron, had told of strange acts and moods of Mrs. Judd, testimony was held up by an argument over a request of the state that two alienists be allowed to examine the condemned woman without presence of her lawyers.

Would "Jump Out Window"

During this argument, Mrs. Judd said to her husband, Dr. William C. Judd: "Let me throw myself out of that window."

Dr. Judd and a matron finally quieted her after she had given vent for several minutes to convulsive laughter and tears.

Banks Come To Aid Of Board And Make Loans; Deficit At End Of Year To Be $100,000

Trustees Disappointed With Collections Of Past Two Weeks But Make Arrangements To Keep Schools Open; Unexpected Payment Of $10,880 In State Funds Helps Situation

By CHARLES W. RATLIFF
Of The Avalanche-Journal Staff

WITH Lubbock bankers stepping into the breach and guaranteeing payment of outstanding warrants to April 1 and the unexpected receipt of $10,880 in state funds, members of the Lubbock Independent school board last night announced that the local schools would continue through this year's session.

The board had previously announced that the schools would close this week if delinquent taxes totaling approximately $100,000 were not collected.

Executives of two local banks agreed to carry $35,000 in loans for the board until collections would be made later in the year. Teachers will be given warrants bearing six per cent interest for April and May salaries also to be paid when delinquent taxes are collected.

STATEMENT ISSUED BY BOARD

After a meeting last night at which the entire situation was fully discussed, the board made the following statement:

"After canvassing the results of the collections of the past two weeks, conferring with local bankers and considering the attitude they are taking in assisting in the situation as well as the interest shown by the citizenship at large and the willingness of the teachers to co-operate, the board has decided that the community could best be served by continuing the schools the remainder of the term even though they will close the year with a heavy deficit.

"The board wishes to impress upon the citizenship that the threat of closing the schools was not a false alarm and that it was only through the cooperation of delinquent taxpayers and local banks that the closing was averted.

THANKS ARE ISSUED

"The board wishes to express its thanks to every citizen who has taken an active part in the campaign just closed and especially the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, members of the Lubbock Loyalty Council and the Avalanche-Journal.

"The board wishes to point out that the financial condition of the schools is still at a low ebb and delinquent taxes must be paid before beginning the 1933-34 session to assure schools' opening and continuance through a regular term. With state funds cut more than half during the next year, the board will be forced to collect more than a usual amount of taxes in order to keep the schools open.

TAX PAYMENTS ARE URGED

"Members of the board desire to urge citizens to continue payment of delinquent taxes in order that the present deficit can be reduced as quickly as possible. The board is continuing the schools under heavy obligations and was forced to pledge tax payments and state funds in order to have enough cash to pay teachers' warrants up to April. April and May warrants will have to be carried by the teachers until sufficient tax collections are made to retire them."

Collections in a campaign conducted after the board's announcement two weeks ago totaled approximately $17,000, a check-up at the school office revealed last night.

Heavy Deficit Remains

Under the board's action, the schools will close the session with a deficit of approximately $100,000, the majority of which will be in loans to banks and warrants to teachers. Interest and sinking funds to be paid by July 1 total $32,446.50, less $10,703.53 in the fund now.

Officials of two banks, the Lubbock National and the Citizens National, came to the aid of the board last night by pledging to carry approximately $35,000 in loans until tax collections began to come in and the remainder of the state apportionment is received. Executives of the First National bank, although unable to attend last night's meeting of the board, had also expresed a willingness to aid in the situation.

Officials of the Lubbock National bank agreed to carry a loan of $20,000 made on warrants in January until later in the year while the Citizens National agreed to advance $15,000 to aid in paying off the

Bank Robbers Near Capture

Muleshoe Bandits Trailed By Officers From Plainview To Portales; No Traces Found Of "Get-Away" Auto

(By The Associated Press)

CLOVIS, N. M., April 15.—Search for two bandits who held up the Muleshoe State bank at Muleshoe, Texas, last Thursday centered in this region today as Texas officers sought to trace the flight of the bandit car.

Officers were firm in their belief that the bandits were in the region of Plainview, Wednesday night and left there soon after the robbery Thursday for Eastern New Mexico. The automobile in which they fled has not been located.

Bob Poindexter, deputy sheriff of Roosevelt county, New Mexico, said Texas officers had been in Portales on two occasions during the past 24 hours but said no arrests had been made.

Scholastic Fund Will Not Be Cut

AUSTIN, April 15 (AP) — L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction today announced that the $16 per capita scholastic apportionment allotted to schools for the 1932-33 school year would be paid in full.

Woods said there had been some misunderstanding of a quesetionnaire sent out by the department of education and that school authorities had construed the questionnaire to indicate all of the apportionment would not be paid. The questionnaire had asked how long the schools could operate on an apportionment of $8 per student.

"I cannot tell when it will be paid for it may be December or January before the revenue comes into the state treasury, but every dollar promised will be given to the schools," Woods stated.

Revenue Rolls In As Beer Kegs Roll Out In First Week Of Legal Brew; 5,000 Jobless Join Employed

By R. H. HIPPELHEUSER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP) — The first week of 3.2 beer poured millions of dollars into the coffers of government, and enhanced the nation's commerce.

Beer production was clogged with unfilled orders.

As the kegs rolled out, the revenue rolled in.

A survey of states permitting beer sales showed the federal government in the first week collected upwards of $4,000,000 from barrel taxes and licenses.

The congestion in a few states prevented federal collectors from computing revenues.

The revenue to state governments was put at more than $2,000,000 by officials. However, some states allowed sales albiet they had not yet set up licensing and taxing methods.

The bulk of the week's revenue went to the municipalities.

Labor departments were unable to tally up fast enough the thousands returned to work.

Hotels and restaurant associations noted appreciable business pickups.

Horwath and Horwath, nationwide accountants specializing in the hotel field, put the increase at from 5 to 10 per cent.

Speaking for the United States Brewers' association, C. D. Williams, its secretary, said the return of beer "brought with it a tremendous upturn in business not only in the brewery industry but in allied trades."

Railroads quickly felt the increase in commerce. The Chica-

Legislators Pat Selves On Back Over Easy Hurdle Of Beer Problem

Senate Likely To Give OK To Plan Of House

Everybody's Happy, Drys And Wets Alike, In Austin And Solons Look Forward To A Busy Ten Days Ahead

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—Legislators stood surprised with themselves this week-end as members of the Texas house of representatives contemplated how neatly they had disposed of the proposition of legalization of beer.

It was probable the entire prohibition program will have been consummated and forgotten, until the time rolls around to discuss the issues before the electorate, by the end of next week.

An agreement between the two houses on how best to get an expression from the voters on repeal of the Eighteenth amendment is regarded as likely the early part of next week.

Vote Date August 26

The senate amended the house proposal on setting up machinery to get Texas' sentiment about striking prohibition from the nation's fundamental law to hold the election on next August 26. The house wanted to postpone a referendum until the general election of November, 1934.

Should the house concur in the Senate's amendment, then Texans will vote the same day on whether to repeal the eighteenth amendment and whether the state constitution shall be altered to permit sale of 3.2 per cent beer. Some legislators were opposed to voting the same day on the propositions. There were mingled feelings on both sides, beer advocates not sure they wanted to mix the two proposals and proponents of strict prohibition unable to assure themselves it was the best thing to do.

People To Decide

The date when the state and federal beer amendments should be voted on was virtually the only point at issue, it was believed. Of course, the senate had not yet voted on submission of the state beer constitutional amendment and the accompanying bill setting up regulations governing sales, levying taxes and imposing licenses in event the amendment carries. But it was considered assured it would accept the two, passing the final decision to the people.

The easy manner in which beer and no-beer factions adjusted their differences and joined hands in kindred proposals to let the electorate decide surprised everyone, even those handling the legislation.

Election Plan Explained

Under the plan to refer the Eighteenth amendment, voters would choose delegates from the state at large to a convention that would formally cast the state's vote in the premises. Thirty-one delegates would be chosen, the candidates to be grouped on the ballots under "repeal" and "against repeal" headings. The state convention would be held on November 24 next, if the senate bill is acceptable to the house. The house bill would have postponed that convention until December following the 1934 general election.

The house was expected to dispose of the income tax bill, so ably handled to engrossment there by its author, Representative Sarah Hughes of Dallas. It would levy a tax of from two to seven per cent on incomes of individuals and corporations, after certain exemptions are deducted. Mrs. Hughes estimated it would raise $12,000,000 in revenue each year.

The house also had engrossed a bill to levy a graduated production tax on oil, ranging from one cent a barrel to twenty cents per barrel for each barrel in excess of 250 barrels taken daily from any one well.

It was estimated this tax would realize to the state from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 annually. The present two per cent levy on the value of oil sold brings the state approximately $5,000,000 annually.

Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, chairman of the senate finance committee, estimated that not more than $5,000,000 in new revenue was required to "balance the budget."

Satisfactory progress had been made by both houses with the appropriation bills. The bill providing for support of the judiciary already had been signed by the governor. The senate had cleared its docket of the other money bills, educational, departmental and eleemosynary, and the house had passed out all save the educational bill. There were differences between the houses to be considered in conference.

Women Urge Continuance Of Public School Efficiency

DALLAS, April 15. (AP)—Mrs. A. S. Lewis, president of the second district of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, today sent a telegram to Austin to the conference for education, headed by Rep. Ray Holder of Lancaster, urging that efficiency of the Texas public school system be maintained.

The telegram was drafted after the convention closed its annual session yesterday at Denton.

APPOINTMENTS CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP) — The nomination of John Dickinson, of Pennsylvania, to be assistant secretary of commerce, was approved today by the senate. The nomination of Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, as governor general of the Philippine Islands also was approved. Frank T. Bell, of Washington, also was confirmed as commissioner of fisheries.

Easter, Holiest Day Of Church, Has Played Big Part In World's History

Major Events Dotted Through Centuries On Easter Sunday

By ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer

EASTER Sunday, the most sacred date in the calendar of the Christian church, also has played an important part in the world's history.

The story of centuries is dotted with major events that have occurred on this day—events far removed from those of a religious nature.

It was on Easter Sunday in the year 1513 that Ponce de Leon, Spanish explorer, discovered Florida while searching for the fabled "fountain of eternal youth." He named this balmy and flowering area from the Spanish, Pascua florida, or "Easter flower."

Easter Island, one of the quaint Polynesian group in the far off South Seas, gets its name from the fact that it was discovered by the Dutch Admiral Roggeveen on Easter Sunday in 1722. This island has aroused the wonder of the scientific world because of the finding there of traces of an ancient race that erected huge stone monuments and towers, remote from quarries, in a manner that never has been explained.

THE fall of Napoleon dates from Easter Sunday of 1814. Returning from his disastrous invasion of Russia, the emperor found his empire crumbling about him. England, Prussia, Russia and Austria joined in a great effort against his rule. On Easter Sunday, April 10, Wellington defeated the last French army under Marshal Sault. The next day the fallen master of Europe formally abdicated at Fountainebleu and went into his first exile on the Island of Elba.

Almost the last action of the Civil War—several days after Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox—took place on Easter Sunday in 1865. The city of Columbus, Ga., an important Confederate supply base and surpassed only by Richmond as a manufacturing center for the Confederate army, was occupied by federal troops on that day.

IT was on Easter Sunday, 1916, that the revolt against British rule began in Ireland, amid much bloodshed and the burning of many public buildings in Dublin. The execution of Sir Roger Casement, numerous Irish patriots and the proclaiming of an Irish republic were sequels to this uprising. Eamonn de Valera, then a young Irish school teacher and now president of the Irish Free State, took a leading part in the street fighting of that day and thereafter rose steadily in importance as a leader of the cause for Ireland's freedom.

On March 31, 1918—which was Easter Sunday—the 97 victims who were killed in the Church of St. Gervais when Paris was bombarded by a German long-range gun on Good Friday, March 29, were buried. Fifty-four of those killed were women, five being Americans. A shell from the German gun, 70 miles away, struck the church in such a way as to cause a portion of it to collapse and fall upon the worshippers.

EASTER of the following year was chosen by the Irish for a new uprising against British rule. There was an organized series of incendiary fires lighted by masked men in Dublin, Cork, Limerick and other places. More than 200 police barracks were burned.

On Easter Sunday, 1924, three of the four United States army airplanes that were making the first airplane flight around the world arrived at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, after a flight from Chignik.

History affecting both politics and the Catholic church was made on Easter Sunday in 1927 when Gov. Al Smith of New York, then a potential candidate for president, made public his lengthy reply to an open letter by Charles C. Marshall, who had demanded whether, in an issue, Smith would stand by the Catholic church or the Constitution. Smith replied: "I recognize no power in the institution of my church to interfere with the operations of the Constitution of the United States or the enforcement of the law of the land."

IT was on Easter Sunday in 1929—March 31 — that the airplane Southern Cross, carrying Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and three companions, left Australia for England on the voyage in which they were forced in the Australian desert where they were lost, amid hardships, until April 12. Two other aviators, forced down in the search, perished.

More aviation history was written on Easter Sunday of 1930 when

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh set a new speed record for a flight across the United States, breakfasting in Los Angeles and having dinner in New York. Their flying time was 14 hours and 23 minutes, or an average of 180 miles an hour.

On Easter Sunday two years later—March 27—the search for the kidnaped Lindbergh baby, stolen on the night of March 1, 1932, was at its height.

NEWS BRIEFS

Some of the criminal cases on the docket of the 72nd district court will probably be transferred to the 99th district court, now in session, Charles B. Metcalfe, district court clerk, indicated. The 72nd district court will not convene until May 22 in Lubbock county. Cases that may be disposed of before the opening of the term, will be transferred.

Clyde L. Backenstoss, Lamesa, court reporter for the 106th district, was in Lubbock yesterday taking testimony in a case in county court. Mr. Backenstoss was formerly a court reporter here but is now associated with Judge Gordon B. McGuire's court.

Frank Reeves, field correspondent for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, is making Lubbock his headquarters over the week-end while in this territory. Mr. Reeves came up last week to attend the Panhandle-Plains dairy show. He has been visiting a number of counties since then. From Lubbock he plans to go to Levelland, Whiteface and Brownfield and then to return by way of Big Spring.

A heavy demand for Acala and Half and Half cotton seed by farmers, is reported by E. A. Patterson, local seed broker. Nearness of planting time has caused an increase in demand for seed, Mr. Patterson said.

One drunk appearing before Justice of the Peace J. S. Connell Saturday, was fined $1 and costs on his plea of guilty.

Jack Reeves, state motorcycle highway patrolman, who recently returned to semi-duty after being confined on account of a broken leg bone, expects to be able to ride his motorcycle in about 60 days, he said yesterday. At present he is getting around on crutches.

A gain in scholastics for the Lubbock Independent School district is predicted by P. F. Brown, who has been taking the census. Last year there were about 5,450 schclastics enumerated and this year it is believed the total will exceed 5,700. Final check has not been made on the enrollment, Mr. Brown said.

No arrests were made by members of the night city police force either Thursday or Friday nights, it was said Saturday by Randolph Rampy, day desk sergeant.

Judge Homer L. Pharr of the 72nd district court, will hold court this week in Cochran county, closing April 22. He opens the spring term in Crosby county at Crosbyton April 24 and it lasts until May 20. Two days later Judge Pharr opens 72nd district court here that will last until late in June.

Welton Winn, Lubbock man, announced Saturday the opportunity of South Plains people to hear an Easter address by Judge Rutherford, International Bible School leader Sunday night from 6 to 7 p. m. over a Chicago station.

Strange Sounds Come From Dens Of Boys These Days; It Is Hiking Time And They're Preparing For Scout Camps

In the barn, on the backporch, in the boy's den are strange sounds these days. From one comes the shrill of an ax as it comes to edge on a grind stone; from another the squeak of a leather strap drawn taut across a Boy Scout pack.

Hiking days are here, and already South Plains scouts are anticipating days in an area camp. When Boy Scouts go to camp it is a migration, as they are the largest camping group in the world.

Premium On Camping

A premium will be placed upon troop camping at an annual South Plains Area council camp this summer near Post, a bulletin Friday from D. T. Jennings, area executive, to scout leaders indicated.

"Last year we promised that troops that went to camp with their own leadership would select their own camp site, camp as a troop and carrying out their own program insofar as practicable," Executive Jennings wrote.

Results Are Better

"It was an experiment but the results were so much better than we expected that it has been decided to make troop camping worth working for."

The bulletin further stated:

The camp is to open Wednesday, June 14, and close Tuesday, June 20. The individual fee is $7. Each troop attending camp under its own leadership—with scoutmaster, assistant scoutmaster, or troop committeeman—and with at least 60 per cent of its registered membership will receive $1 per boy refund. Each troop having at least 50 per cent of its registered membership in camp will receive a pennant.

Refund Is Promised

The first troop to register 75 per cent of its membership for camp, with at least one adult leader, will receive 50 cents per scout refund, providing the applications and fees are received at scout headquarters in City hall not later than June 1.

Each scout who attends camp will be given a camp emblem to wear on his merit badge sash.

A pioneer camp with pack horses is being planned.

Hollywood Marionettes Will Be Seen Here April 27; Free Gift Announced

A marionette will be given free to a child in the audience at each performance of the Monro Hollywood marionettes in Lubbock High school auditorium the afternoon and night of April 27, a representative of the sponsor announced Saturday.

The Texas Technological college speech department is sponsoring presentation of the marionettes here, at a 4 p. m. matinee and at 8 p. m. Ticket sales are underway.

To Present Cinderella

"Cinderella" will be presented at the matinee. Headed by a portrait marionette of Ann Harding as the heroine, the fairy tale will be presented in a colorful Spanish setting. Marie Dressler, represented by a portrait marionette, will have the role of the step-mother, and Don Jose Mojica's portrait marionette will enact the role of Prince Charming.

A whimsical story of the forty-niner days and a lost gold mine, "The Lost Adams' Diggin's," will be presented at night.

Monro Augur Director

Monro Augur, sculptor, who is director of the company, modeled the marionettes, many of them portraits of motion picture stars.

The average marionette is controlled by nine strings, although especially tricky marionettes may have any additional number, depending upon the particular action required. The company carries its own complete stage, lighting effects, amplifiers, and music reproducers, so that everyone in every part of the auditorium can hear distinctly advance publicity states.

Commodity Dollar Standard Is Favored By Cotton Man

DALLAS, April 15. (AP) — C. O. Moser, president of the National Cooperative council and vice president of the American Cotton Cooperative association, told the convention of the Southwestern social Science association today that the fairest of various proposals to change the monetary system in an effort to restore agricultural prices would be to fix the dollar in terms of an all-commodity price level.

The rigid gold standard, in which the value of the dollar was fixed by law at an unvariable weight, no longer is a fair value, he declared, since it has become obvious that there is one-third less gold in the world than the commerce of the world requires. He spoke before the agricultural economics section.

PRORATION UPHELD

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 15. (AP) The Oklahoma senate today killed with scant ceremony the Fischl bill to repeal all proration laws and turn state oil fields wide open.

It also killed by indefinite postponement a measure which would have empowered Governor Murray to remove any proration enforcement official.

Hope Of World For Uplift Centers On Roosevelt In Economic Sessions

President Turns His Efforts To Coming Conference; Aides To Handle Domestic Measures

Approaching Meet Of World's Leaders Causes FDR To Go Into Retirement; Problems Facing Him Are Many

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 15—Leaving his domestic program to those pressing it to maturity, President Roosevelt today began pointing decisively for his international conference to begin late next week with Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain.

On all sides, no doubt was left as to the paramount importance attached by him to moves planned for reciprocal tariff treaties, aimed at the diminishing of trade barriers and the stabilization of international exchanges.

Senate On Farm Bill

The senate meanwhile devoted another day to wordy farm bill debate while the house stood in recess. Senators and representatives in committee and in private concentrated on the Muscle Shoals, relief, securities regulation and other legislation, but advanced forward little more than for days past.

At the White House, however, there was a difference. Callers for the first day in many failed to file into the Presidential offices to suggest and talk over national planning.

Instead, Mr. Roosevelt remained away from his desk there, to make ready in the seclusion of the White House proper for the significant world discussions.

Expert At Hand

By his side for some time was one of his trusted economic advisors—Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state.

Over the luncheon table and thereafter, the President also consulted with his ambassador to Great Britain, Robert W. Bingham.

It was evident that now, with Mr. MacDonald on the high seas, the dominant administration drive would be to formulate quickly the prospective legislation empowering the President to negotiate tariff reduction agreements in the interest of resuscitating world trade.

That done, it probably will be rushed to Congress with the same emphasis to be given the railroad reconstruction legislation to be submitted early next week, and the subsequent propositions aimed to increase employment through public works and to reform banking procedure.

Argentina To Send Man

Acceptance by Argentina today of the invitation to be represented at the Washington talks completed the list of the eleven asked, the others besides Britain being France, Italy, Germany, Japan, China, Canada, Brazil, Chile and Mexico.

Secretary Hull had his first chat with the newly-arrived German ambassador, Dr. Hans Luther, who will be formally presented to the President in advance of the discussions in which he will represent the Hitler government.

Money Problems Talked

Meanwhile, experts at the treasury and state departments continued collection of data on the disordered money exchange situations; and on the war debts that are destined to be used as a bargaining means in the forthcoming discussions.

The chances are this material will provide the main fuel for concentration of the President and his most intimate counsellors through the immediate future, with he himself dwelling on the domestic aspects of his program only for formal recommendations to Congress or for smoothing out difficulties not now contemplated.

This does not mean that the domestic angles are to be neglected. Rather, signs indicate the President's confidence that Congressional and administrative collaborators are progressing satisfactorily towards the governmental economy in store, along with arrangements for relief of the destitute, the farmer and the setting up of job-making machinery.

Early Vote Missed

Determined to expedite as much action as possible in the face of recurring opposition, the senate Democratic leadership maneuvered with little success today to get early votes on both the massive farm price lifting bill and the hanging-over five day week bill.

Objections from members of his own party and from the Republican ranks as well spelled failure for an attempt by Robinson of Arkansas to get an agreement for debate limitation on the farm bill, beginning Monday. By then, however, he may have worked out another way to reach an early vote.

In the path now, anyhow, is the bill by Senator Black (D-Ala) looking toward federal assurance of a five day week. Impatient over parliamentary obstacles to reaching a vote on a pending motion to reconsider its passage, which has kept it from being sent to the house for action, the Arkansas Robinson fixed it so a showdown may be had Monday.

Gold Position Satisfies

Satifaction of the administration with this country's gold position, in view of the stringent precautions undertaken to date, was taken at the capitol to have been evidenced by authorization of two shipments of the metal to France.

A test vote on one of the several currency inflation propositions put up in the senate had been expected today, but Republican speeches of opposition and other arguments on the farm bill forced its proponents to postpone the count until next week. Opponents still asserted confidence that they could beat the expansionists.

Steagall's Power Felt

Impetus for the inflationary trend that has been attracting more discussion of late was provided by Chairman Steagall, of the house banking committee, who told reporters currency expansion would be passed by the house if it could be brought to a vote. He wants "some form" of expansion but did not commit himself on just what.

His committee has been delaying the $500,000,000 direct relief bill more than the house majority leadership likes, it being commented on today by Byrns of Tennessee in saying Congress would be still at work through July, unless more speed is shown.

Steagall spoke at some length, indicating a belief that all is not going just as he would wish and predicting no adjournment until very late in the fall.

It developed that his committee may forego hearings to report the two billion dollar plan for refinancing small home mortgages; and that he expects the bank reform bill to contain a hundred per cent guarantee on bank deposits. But he emphasizes that he was giving these views only as his own.

Former Resident Victim Of Fall

Funeral services for Miss Ila Merle Barnette, 21, of Wichita Falls and formerly a resident of Lubbock, were held in Frederick, Okla., Wednesday, friends here have been advised.

Miss Barnette was fatally injured last Monday night when she was thrown as her horse slipped on a concrete pavement. She suffered a fractured skull and died about an hour after the accident. The mishap occurred when Miss Barnette and a group of friends were ending a moonlight horseback ride and picnic at Wichita Falls.

The young woman was buried at Frederick. Her mother, Mrs. Lena Barnette, of 2422 Fourth street, Lubbock, returned here Friday after attending services. She is also survived by an aunt residing in Lubbock, Mrs. C. F. Williams.

MEETING IS SCHEDULED

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—The Texas Highway commission will hold its next meeting on April 24, Miss Magda Cuenod, secretary, announced today.

She said it was not planned to award any construction contracts at that time.

Statesmen To Confer With Him

Putting into effect his policy of "good neighborliness," President Roosevelt has invited spokesmen from leading nations to talk over with him, as a preliminary to the coming world economic conference, problems dealing with business recovery in every land. Some of the questions that may be discussed are shown in the accompanying story.

Artificial Limbs Manufactured Here

Unique Craft Is Established With Personal Fittings For Unfortunates; Owner Exhibits Product's Advantages

UNIQUE among South Plains crafts is that of Higginbotham Artificial Limb company in the Palace theater building. The nearest other such firms are in Oklahoma City, Fort Worth, and El Paso.

C. D. Higginbotham, who was a youth when in 1917 he underwent amputation of both legs below the knees as a result of falling beneath a freight train he attempted to board, began serving an apprenticeship in an artificial limb shop in St. Louis four months later. He has been in the craft since.

Activity Unrestrained

Young Higginbotham had intended to join the army when that freight train arrived in a certain town. His misfortune, however, did little to restrain his activity. He set an unofficial world record of 15 seconds—10 seconds is exceptionally fast for a man with real legs—for the 100-yard dash by a man with artificial legs. He holds a walking record.

His partner in the local firm, J. P. Hudson, said Higginbotham strides up stairs three steps at a time, runs, skips rope, uses the foot-accelerator when driving an automobile.

Here From Memphis

Higginbotham came here last October from Memphis, Tenn. He has had shops there and in Little Rock, Ark., and Springfield, Mo. He manufactured several artificial limbs in a shop at 1919 Fourteenth street, before the firm was established a month ago Saturday in the Palace theater building.

Hudson last December 2 accidentally tripped a shotgun set as a burglar-trap in a tailor shop in which he was a partner here. His left leg was amputated just below the knee, and he has an artificial limb.

Work Mostly By Hand

Work of making the artificial limbs is mostly by hand. Legs made here are of English willow, shipped from Unadilla, N. Y., have roller-bearing ankle joints, and sponge rubber feet. On a person having had an amputation below the knee, a leather corset is laced to the actual leg, and metal connections, said Hudson, permit natural knee motion. Comfort, flexibility, general ease and naturalness are the major objects, and correct fitting the most important in attaining them. Higginbotham has long experience in that.

Shunning mail order trade, the Higginbotham company requires personal fittings. South Plains residents and a man living in western New Mexico have come here. Queries have been received from elsewhere. The best leg made here costs $150. An artificial limb to be fitted below the knee, weighs only four and a half pounds.

Hudson estimated perhaps two dozen persons in the Lubbock vicinity either have or need artificial legs, arms, or hands.

BANKER TO JAIL

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 15. (AP) Frank W. Capps, former assistant cashier of the First National bank of Ponca City, today was sentenced to five years in the Leavenworth federal prison and was fined $1,000 on each of four counts of an indictment charging violation of the national banking laws through making false entries.

Judge Edgar S. Vaught directed that the sentences be served concurrently.

Discussions May Help Clear Path For Economic Recovery Of World's Leading Nations

Practical Application Of Foreign Policies Expected To Be Talked In Conferences In Capital Soon

WASHINGTON, April 15. —(AP)— Hopes of a world bogged down in an economic morass center about the dynamic personality of President Franklin D. Roosevelt as spokesmen of the great powers come to his call to talk candidly of ways and means to set the international wheels of commerce turning again.

Invitations for these meetings with America's new President went out in such fashion as left no doubt of the purpose behind them.

They prescribed no agenda; called for no mobilization of staffs of experts. They represented practical application of that foreign policy of good neighborliness which President Roosevelt declared in his brief inaugural address.

But for the pressure of America's own banking crisis which synchronized with his elevation to the presidency, they might have been almost the first act of the Roosevelt administration.

As the President's expectations are understood by his closest associates, the success of these intimate and informal talks as a preliminary to the coming world economic conference is to be tested by phychological results rather than by proposals for definite plans of world action which might be formulated.

War Debts A Topic

The whole gamut of international relationships as they bear upon the individual economic problem of each nation is within the scope of discussion Tariffs, international debts, currency standards, glutted markets for industrial or agricultural products which must find outlets beyond national borders — all these topics as well as their political reactions may be touched upon.

There is an analogy here with the Roosevelt policy that underlay creation of the conservation army to work in the national forests. That would provide useful work for men now living on public or private charity. More than that, it was calculated to clear away the deadwood of the forests and give sound trees their place in the sun and the right to develop to timber bearing size.

Hopes To Clear Path

In his conversations with Prime Minister MacDonald, of Great Britain, with former Premier Herriot, of France, with the representatives of the other nations, President Roosevelt hopes there will be presented opportunities also to clear away the weeds and dead brush accumulated since the war that choke the growth of sound policies of international economic cooperation.

At least his meetings with the visiting statesmen will be set free of impending formalities and in his expectation much may flow from frank interchanges of views now that may give to the subject economic gathering or the similar conferences on specific subjects which may parallel the general world assembly the will to find a way to solutions against all obstacles.

Results Uncertain

In such circumstances neither the President himself, his immediate advisers in or out of the cabinet, nor the distinguished visitors coming at his invitation have advance knowledge of what the meetings may bring forth.

They were conceived in the hope that a preliminary mutual first-hand understanding of the situation in which each nation finds itself, backed by a sincere desire to find a way out of the economic wilderness, would go far toward insuring success of the world conference itself.

The coming of the European statesmen or the designation of diplomatic representatives here to speak for their governments represents a wholly new approach to the economic plight of the world as well as a new thing in diplomacy.

A new era in international contacts may be dawning.

Alien Problem In Area Is Serious

With conditions in the United States better than those in Mexico, aliens from the republic on the south "come where the pickings are best," R. B. Mathews, assistant director of district 25 of the United States immigration service, said here Saturday. District headquarters are in El Paso.

Eight hundred eight aliens were arrested, and 288 others were permitted to return to their own country voluntarily last month, in district 25, which embraces most of Arizona, all of New Mexico, and the part of Texas marked off by drawing a line from San Angelo northward through the panhandle and southward to the Rio Grande. A jog, however, keeps Del Rio from this district.

The 808 arrests of aliens was the most in a month in the district's history, Mr. Mathews said.

Four border patrolman and Oscar S. Norling, United States immigrant inspector stationed here, this month have arrested more than 25 Mexican aliens.

School District Tax Work Soon To Be Well Under Way

Taking of property renditions in 13 independent school districts in the county, will be started soon by P. F. Brown, tax assessor and collector for the districts. Delay is caused by failure of trustees to report to him the rates and valuation estimates.

In three districts, Grovesville, Becton and Posey, the work has been started, Mr. Brown said. In the other districts new trustees have not reported. Unknown rendition work will follow the completion of non-resident rendition work, the assessor said.

Love Scenes Prohibit Body Odor

Permit No M. S. Either!

(MEDICINE SMELL)

New way discovered to end body odor at its source. Stale perspiration curds now reached by deep-pore cleansing and instantly removed!

Body-odor can kill romance. So can highly scented soaps that betray their purpose! A new and better way to prevent offense is by deep-pore cleansing. Here is why:

Every specialist knows that objectionable body odor does not come from fresh perspiration but from stale perspiration deep in the pores.

Stale perspiration contains calcium, salt and particles of fat. The thick and sticky lather of most ordinary toilet soaps is unsuited chemically to mix with this waste material and disperse it. Instead, it hardens into clogging curds!

That's why deep-pore cleansing is needed to remove the objectionable curds—and it is a scientific fact that there is only one way to accomplish this. Kirk's Coco Castile—being a 100% pure vegetable oil soap—mixes with the particles of perspiration curds, loosens them, then rinses out completely. Thus it ends the cause of body odor instantly.

Ordinary toilet soaps—even though laden with offensive M. S. (medicine smell)—can merely hide the body odor; they cannot end it.

Try Kirk's Coco Castile today. Feel the invigorating effect of its deep-pore cleansing action. Experience the thrill of a clean, odorless body. The cake is half again larger, half again heavier than average toilet soaps—an exceptional bargain. Be sure to ask for Kirk's by name.

Olton Takes District Two Track And Field Meet; Lubbock Is Second

Brownfield In Tie For Third With Lamesans

Westerners Take Second Place With 18 1-4 Points; Olton's Ledbetter Is High Point Man With 14; One Record Falls

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

There was a district high school track and field meet in which only one new record was established—and the weather was as nice as any South Plainsman would desire.

It happened yesterday at the Texas Tech field. Carter of Littlefield stepped around the quarter-mile oval in 52.5 seconds to eclipse the former record set by Norris of Lamesa last year of 53.1 seconds for the 440.

Olton High school's team, paced by Ledbetter, won the championship of District 2 of the Texas Interscholastic league, with 22 points, replacing Plainview as the leader. Ledbetter lacked 2 1-4 points of attaining the individual mark set by Norris of Lamesa last year, but his 14 points yesterday were enough to clinch high point honors.

Westerners Climb Higher

Coach Weldon Chapman's Lubbock High school Westerners climbed from last year's fifth place to second place yesterday, gathering 18 1-4 points.

As the result of a technicality which made Brownfield lose its place in the mile relay, in which Marlin Hayhurst's team tied with Lamesa for third and fourth places, one and a half points were substracted from the Brownfield total, lowering it to 17 points to tie Lamesa and give Lubbock undisputed possession of second place.

Except for slightly cold breezes that whisked over the layout, the weather couldn't have been much better, Director Dell Morgan and his corps of assistants conducted a fast, smooth meet, running off the events strictly according to schedule. Nothing went haywire and a crowd of more than a thousand spectators were orderly in the grandstand.

Plenty Of Competition

Competition was hot and heavy, with a field of more than a hundred athletes taking part in the fourteen events.

Twenty-six teams figured in the meet, and the scoring was close. The teams, according to total points, finished as follows:

Olton first, 22 points.
Lubbock second, 18 1-4 points.
Brownfield and Lamesa tied third, 17 points each.
Crosbyton fourth, 12 points.
Floydada fifth, 10 points.
Pleasant Valley sixth, 9 points.
McCarty seventh, 7 1-8 points.
Littlefield eighth, 7 points.
Tahoka, Plainview, Bula and Spade tied tenth, 3 points.
Newlynn eleventh, 2 1-8 points.
Whitharral, Slaton and Shallowater tied twelfth, 2 points.
Sudan and Ralls tied thirteenth, 1 1-8 points.
Union, Close City and Spade tied fourteenth, 1 point each.
Spur and Dumont tied fifteenth, 1-8 point each.

Too Much Neill

Lamesa gained a tie with Brownfield for third place when it was discovered that Neill of Brownfield had entered four track events. Interscholastic league rules limit the individual to three track events. Olton, which ran fifth in the mile relay, stepped up to fourth when Brownfield's entry was declared ineligible.

Plainview, which won the 1932 meet with 31 points, concentrated on only one event yesterday—and won that. It was the mile relay, a thrilling race which saw Lubbock lead the middle laps of the second heat and Rufus Ryan take the baton a trifle ahead of Plainview's Wester. But Wester stretched himself and came in ahead by about three feet.

Gamblin Sprints Mile

The one-mile run proved thrilling enough when Gamblin of Floydada, after running fifth and sixth for almost three laps, sprinted into the lead and made a great finish to win the event. Graham Stanfill of Lubbock paced the field of about 25 milers until the last lap.

Although only one new record was established, in comparison with seven made here last year, four events yesterday were faster than 1932 time. Johnson of McCarty ripped off the century dash in 10 flat, breasting the tape about five yards ahead of Olton's Ledbetter. Gamblin's time for the mile, 4 minutes, 49.7 seconds, beat his own time of 4 minutes, 50.2 seconds set last year.

Short of Tahoka tossed the discus 112 feet, 3 inches to beat the 1932 mark of 108 feet, 11 inches made by Stoddard of Lamesa.

Cowan Goes High

Maurice Cowan of Lubbock took pole in hand and propelled himself over the cross bar for 11 feet, 6 inches to better the 10 feet, 11 inches vaulted by Woody of Littlefield a year ago.

The 1932 shot put record was beaten by Stockton of Crosbyton, who tossed the 12-pound ball 45 feet, 6 1-2 inches yesterday.

District tennis honors were well distributed in the finals yesterday.

Littlefield's team of Bill Wells and Bernard Lambert defeated Lubbock for first place in the boys' doubles. Plainview and Spur tied for third place, Lubbock taking second.

The Wilson team of girls doubles won that department, Leona Crews and Jerene Shaw defeating the Ralls duet. Amherst and Pep schools tied for third place.

Iona Baker of Wellman won the girls' singles, and Albert Symes of Lubbock took the boys' singles. Ralls was second and Post third in the girls' singles, while Olton took second and Hale Center and Levelland divided honors for third place in the boys' singles.

Lockney's girls volleyball team defeated Spade in the final game to win the championship in that department of the district athletic meet. Ralls was awarded third place.

Abilene High Wins District 8 Meet

ABILENE, April 15. (AP)—Abilene High school scored thirty points this afternoon to regain the championship in the annual District 8 track and field meet. Rotan's fourth place in the mile relay, final event, nosed Snyder, defending champion, out of the runner-up position, 20 to 19.

Long "Cy" Reid of Big Spring made a smashing finish in the mile for a new record of 4:42.8, the feature performance of the day. Two other records fell. A. D. Porter, Rotan, and Osborne Little, Putnam, tied in the high jump for a new mark of 6 feet, 3-4 inch. With only one member of last year's state and national championship club in the lineup, the Abilene mile relay team ran its race in 3:36, shaving more than a second from the old record. The team today was composed of Gogdell, Wyatt, Green and Baldwin. Willard Moser, Abilene's ace quarter miler, who won that contest, also ran in the 100 and 220, and was not eligible to take a lap of the relay.

Little Bedford McClinton, veteran Snyder star, carried away the high point medal. He won the low hurdles by a wide margin, broke the tape inches ahead of Moser in the century, and nosed out Cogdell of Abilene in a close 220.

FORT WORTH, April 15.—On the impetus of a home run and a double delivered by pinch hitters Dallas Warren and Art McHenry, Fort Worth put on a flaming four run rally in the last half of the ninth inning here today but it lacked just a little of washing away previous diamond sins and Dallas ended up an 8 to 7 winner. It was a regular old time Fort Worth-Dallas game, with Bean Balls, arguments, ragged play, doubtful umpiring and a one run difference in the score.

Medal For 440 Lost 16 Years Ago Is Found

LITTLEFIELD, Apr. 15. (Spcl.) Sixteen years ago Pat Boone, son of an early day Southwestern rancher, was attending high school in New Mexico and at a state high school interscholastic meet won the 440-yard dash record with a time of 53 1-5 seconds. For this he received a medal which he proudly displayed for two years.

In 1919, while at work at a dipping vat corral at Kenna, N. M., he lost the medal, which he was wearing as a watch fob. Mr. Boone offered a $25 reward but never heard of the medal.

Two weeks ago a man living near the site of the corral found the medal. It bore the footprints of many cattle and apparently had been tramped on by innumerable cattle at the vat. It is now again in the possession of Mr. Boone, now a city commissioner here, and is valued more highly than ever.

Lubbock Cyclists To Wichita Falls For "Polo" Game

Captain Wade Anthony's Lubbock motorcycle polo team opens its season today at Wichita Falls against the allegedly powerful lineup of that city. The game is scheduled for this afternoon.

Long afternoons of practice for the past two weeks have helped to put the local team, which defeated Wichita Falls last year, into shape for the gruelling game, one of the newest and most thrilling of outdoor sports.

Football and Polo

Governed by a combination of football and polo rules, motorcycle polo provides the thrills that go with football, the quick action of polo and the hazardous feat of keeping astride a fast machine.

The Lubbock team is affiliated with the American Motorcycle association, and the Easter game tomorrow will be under A.M.A. regulations, with officials of that organization running the game.

About nine men will make the trip to Wichita Falls. The probable starting lineup is composed of Stewart Champlin, Robert Howard, Manlin Karnes, J. T. Ross and Captain Wade Anthony. Substitutes are Al Cobb, Otto Flynn, Pat Davis, and Bill White.

Federal Guards Necessary At Buenos Aires Soccer Games

BUENOS AIRES, April 15. (AP) — Federal supervision of professional soccer games in Buenos Aires to prevent disorders such as occurred last Sunday when spectators hurled missiles and fired shots at the players and even attempted to burn one stadium, will be imposed for the balance of the season, the government announced today.

Soccer, the leading sport of most South American countries, has been marked by many disorders both here and in Europe, especially in France. Several players were killed in France last year, bringing a ban on the sport for a time.

Signs such as the following are familiar in South America cafes: "Prohibido Discussion Futbul El Politico."

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

WELDON CHAPMAN will head Lubbock High school's athletic department another year. He affixed his John Henry to a contract last week which calls for his services as head coach and athletic director for the 1933-34 school year.

Burl Huffman, Swede McMurry, E. J. Lowrey, Mule Davis and Lovic Liston also are signed to coach and assist in the school system another year, meaning that no changes are contemplated, either by the coaches or school board.

Chapman, as the others, signed at a considerably reduced figure, the head coach's salary for next year being several hundred dollars less than the present contract allows. The head man, however, who directed Lubbock's 1932 football team, his first, to the first district and bi-district championships ever won by the Westerners, does not bear any ill will toward the contract makers and is not severely disappointed.

Another new team must be developed. It is in the developing process now, with Burl Huffman having charge of spring training while Chapman heads the track team. The eight-semester rule will bar most of the 1932 gridsters, who still will be in school, eligible for the debate or declamation teams, band or glee club, but not for athletics.

While it is to be regretted that a coach so equipped with fundamental coaching knowledge and the knack of putting out the goods to his athletes as Weldon Chapman must accept a severe "cut," it is highly gratifying to know that he will be the man in charge of Lubbock High school's lads another year. In our opinion, there are few high school coaches today capable of doing as good a job as Chapman turns out.

And in Burl Huffman, Chapman has the kind of assistant that makes champions. No one realizes better than Chapman the value of a first class assistant—and Chapman chooses Huffman.

DATE for the Texas Tech-West Texas Teachers dual track and field meet has been postponed one day. Instead of Thursday night of this week, it will be Friday night that the athletic field lights are focused on the track and field where the collegiate thinly clads do their stuff.

It will be Tech's first track meet in three years, and the first night meet ever held here. There's something appealing in the nocturnal note that promises a different kind of entertainment. Few fans in this section, we make bold to suggest, have ever seen a night track and field meet.

Coach Pinkey Lowrey, drafted from Lubbock High school this spring to minister unto the Tech track and field athletes, has been accorded much cooperation and enthusiasm by upwards of half a hundred college athletes who aspire to develop callouses on their chests from breaking the tape. It is predicted by closer observers that Lowrey will be able to put a fairly fast and well-trained team through the paces Friday night.

IN CONNECTION with other high-class athletic entertainment in store for Lubbock and South Plains fans this month, the Texas Tech-West Texas Teachers football game a week from Friday night is not to be overlooked.

It's to be a regular, 60-minute game, played under the arcs and along the lines generally accepted by the national football rules committee. The only difference between this game and an autumnal affair is the time of year. And it probably will be chilly enough next week to provide a good substitution for fall elements.

Tickets for the professional wrestling show Tuesday night are reported going fast. They're on sale—while they last—at the Hilton and Lubbock hotel drug stores, and are going for 40 cents a piece. The show will be worth every bit of that. It's going to be rough and tough, and you're going to see just about everything that goes with professional wrestling. Dutch Mantell himself can provide that.

Luther college of Decorah, Ia., has a 10-year baseball record of .805, compiled from 116 wins, 28 losses and six ties in 150 games.

Tech Golfers Beat Amarillo College Squad

Billy Holmes Shoots 3 Under Par But Is Defeated; Rest Of Five-Man Team Wins All Of First College Matches

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, April 15. — Texas Tech's golf team won four out of five matches from the Amarillo College team at River Drive here today.

Cecil Cantrell beat Joy Wagner, 4 and 3.

Doyce Clark downed Tom Lumpkin, 4 and 3.

South Plains Team Managers To Convene Here Monday Night To Discuss Organization South Of Plains League

A meeting of baseball team managers or delegates or both of South Plains towns has been called for tomorrow night at Hotel Lubbock to hear plans for the organization of a South Plains Baseball league.

The league, if formed, will be based on independent principles and will follow a schedule calling for week-end and holiday games.

Ed Hambright, former minor league player and former manager of a Lubbock team, will act as chairman at tomorrow night's meeting. It is scheduled for 8 o'clock, in room 207 at the hotel.

Several team managers have written Hambright of their desire to affiliate with a South Plains league, something on the order of previous leagues. It is understood that plans call for a regular schedule and a set of regulations which shall govern the league season.

Among the teams due to be represented at tomorrow night's session are Tahoka, Amherst, Littlefield, Brownfield, Petersburg, Slaton, Enochs, Wolfforth and Plainview. The league, if organized, will be limited to eight clubs.

Special Oklahoma Session On Funds

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 15. (AP) Seekers of new revenue for keeping schools open for full terms rested their hopes today on nebulous prospects for a special session of the legislature as the 14th Oklahoma assembly prepared to adjourn next Wednesday without enacting a sales tax.

Schools bore the brunt of the blow as the house turned upon its own two per cent general sales tax levy yesterday and killed the measure, 62 to 30, despite pleas that the tax, designed to raise $10,000,000 a year for support of common schools, was needed as the final step for restoring the state's credit.

When the special session will be called rests with Governor Murray, who has indicated it may not be until late fall. Speaker Anglin and majority Floor Leader Batson of the house have favored a call within 60 to 90 days in the expectation of developing a program for schools before fall.

Stephens Trial In Robbery Of Bank Opens On Saturday

HILLSBORO, April 15. (AP)—Testimony intended to connect J. B. Stephens with the $3,800 robbery of the Covington State bank two months ago was introduced by the state at his trial today on a charge of robbery with firearms.

M. T. Davis, president, and Mrs. T. B. Willis, of the bank gave details of the robbery, their testimony being practically the same as that which they gave in the trial of David Cates, who was sentenced to 75 years by a district court jury on a similar charge.

Mrs. J. L. Holt, 1918 Avenue N, has gone to Caldwell to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simpson, for several weeks.

Mitchell's Trial Date Set For April 24; Lawyer Kicks

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP) — Charles E. Mitchell, resigned chairman of the National City bank, was ordered today to stand trial April 24 on two indictments charging income tax evasion in 1929 and 1930 although Max D. Steuer protested against "being crowded into an early trial."

Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman set the date when Mitchell pleaded not guilty to the indictment involving his 1930 income which was returned yesterday.

Tom Connally's A Lecturer Now

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP) —In good sportsmanship, Senator Connally of Texas, told his colleagues today, more senators should stay on the floor to "take their punishment along with the rest of us and not go out to the golf courses and ball games."

He won loud applause from the crowded galleries and many titters from the senators when he broke into a speech by Senator Trammell (D., La.) with his remark.

Hastily he disclaimed referring to the Trammell oratory when he spoke of "punishment," but he only got more titters. He explained he was objecting to the senatorial practice of running in to make a speech and then disappearing.

There Might Be A Future "Great" In This Group

You are looking at a quartet of the year's most highly touted rookie talent. Perhaps there's a Cobb or a Mathewson in the lot. Rowe was a sensation with Beaumont last year, while Beck won 27 games for Memphis. They are the cream of the freshmen pitchers. Finney and Medwick, outfielders both, starred for Portland and Houston, respectively, until they were roped in by the big league scouts.

South Plains Farm Women Are Ready To Fight For Schools, Home Agents

Farm women of five South Plains counties have gone on record as opposing drastic cuts in state appropriations for state colleges and universities and also extension work The women are reported aroused and ready for "a showdown" in connection with legislative appropriation measures.

During the past week women in Lubbock, Hale, Lamb, Floyd and Hockley counties, have acted through their home demonstration councils. Resolutions have been passed and delegates named for a meeting in Austin, scheduled for Tuesday, April 18, to protest the cut. The women are demanding a hearing on proposals and also a chance to appear before the legislature and tell their stories.

Lubbock Council Acts

The Lubbock county council acted Tuesday. They pointed out 2,186 farms were served by extension work and that the work was worth $83,493.78. Mrs. F. F. Revier, Mrs. G. K. Horton and Mrs. G. L. Stell, signed the resolution.

Mrs. F. C. Ripley, as president and Mrs. M. S. Hudson as secretary, signed the Hale county resolution. It pointed out 14 clubs of the county opposed the serious cuts mentioned.

Mrs. I. V. Fent, Mrs. George F. Bohner and Mrs. Violet E. Honea signed the Lamb county resolution. Four delegates were named: Mrs. H. A. Sheffield, Mrs. W. C. Squires, Mrs. Fent and Mrs. B. J. McGee, to go to Austin. They will present their side of the case.

Against Drastic Action

Hockley county women adopted resolutions, signed by Mrs. H. Heck, chairman and Mrs. J. C. Cunningham, secretary. They said they realized the necessity of a cut but declared the figures announced were too drastic.

Mrs. S. M. Lester of Floyd county was named delegate and Mrs. W. E. Miller, alternate, for the state meeting. A committee on resolutions was composed of: Mrs. W. B. Jordan, Mrs. D. D. Shipley and Mrs. Will Poole.

The Panhandle-Plains Dairy association likewise took a stand against the proposed drastic cuts Wednesday night at Plainview.

Man Is Victim Meanest Thief

Gags, songs, instrumental music and clever tap dancing presented by Tech students at the third annual Double-T club show at Senior High school auditorium Saturday evening brought heavy applause but small returns. Plans were underway soon after the final curtain for another presentation in the near future.

Bo Williams, manager, attributed the small audience of about 500 persons to the staging of the Engineering show, interscholastic meet and other attractions. Of the $86 taken in at the boxoffice, all except $10 will go toward defraying expenses.

GO TO CHURCH EASTER

Today Is The Most Reverent Of All Days In Churches Throughout The World

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

There is no better day than today, to start on that sacred program that you have been putting off from time to time.

Today is the time for you to start in and partake of the comfort of your church, where old songs are sung, and the truths of the Bible are told.

Today is a day for you to observe, as the time when Christ gave up His life on the Cross so that His teaching might be known throughout the world, that others following in your footsteps may likewise help to carry to future generations the story.

DRUGS OR SURGERY IS INDICATED IN YOUR CASE YOU DON'T NEED A CHIROPRACTOR

We believe that all methods of merit have their place in the healing art.

Your Chiropractor should be qualified by proper training and experience, that he may be able to recognize conditions requiring medical or surgical care and broad minded enough to advise you accordingly.

We have for more than thirty (30) years tried to build andmaintain our reputation upon the above principles and we hope to continue serving you in the future on a basis of Honesty and Efficiency.

Big Spring School Conference Airs State Problems

Tax Questions Get Attention

Representatives From Score Of Counties Hear Officers Of State And Teachers In Speeches On Education

(By The Associated Press)

BIG SPRING, April 15.—Representatives of 21 counties in conference on public school financial problems, called here today by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, split into two factions in voting on the resolutions committee report.

School teachers, constituting a heavy majority, favored the report, while business men and others opposed it principally because of the item recommending additional taxation as a temporary emergency relief. A luxury sales tax and a graduated income tax was suggested in the report.

Seek Tax Payments

Other recommendations were that special emphasis be placed on collection of taxes already assessed, with definite steps to make evasion more difficult; that suspension of penalties on delinquent taxes be revoked; that $17.50 per capita apportionment be maintained, even at the sacrifice temporarily of other state departments; that larger economic units for public school administration be set up, "increasing efficiency without additional taxation"; that six-year-old children be left on the roll as of scholastic age; and that per capita apportionment be based on enrollment instead of scholastic census.

Addresses of the day were marked by divergent views of Rep. Penrose Metcalfe of this district and those of State Superintendent L. A. Woods and H. W. Stillwell, president of the Texas State Teachers association.

Woods and Stillwell declared the proposition was "more taxes and schools, or no more taxes and no schools." Metcalfe said proper legislation against tax evasion and economy in appropriations for other departments would provide sufficient revenue for normal school sessions in 1933-34.

Other speakers included Senators Julian P. Greer and A. P. Duggan, the latter representing this district. Duggan urged a constitutional amendment to allow apportionment per capita of funds on a basis of enrollment, instead of scholastic census enumeration and declared that the distribution of rural aid was unequal. West Texas pays much more to state school funds than it receives, while other sections receive much more than they pay, he said. Senator Greer agreed in general with Woods and Stillwell.

go and Northwestern, serving the Chicago-Milwaukee twin-cities area, said it was carrying 30 to 50 carloads of beer daily, with an increase in grain shipments also noted.

Other lines said it was difficult to compute pickups within the week but that traffic gains had resulted from beer's return.

A survey of the national capital showed approximately 5,000 jobs created by the return of beer, 500 of them in breweries.

Two Southern states and one midwestern state during the week joined the "beer-selling" list.

In Louisiana, approximately 500,000 gallons on tap was exhausted within 10 hours after selling started Thursday noon.

Beer was legalized Friday in South Carolina. Selling was allowed immediately.

In Iowa the governor today signed a beer bill.

This made beer legal in 23 states and the District of Columbia.

Another Southern state, Tennessee, legalized beer on Friday, effective May 1.

In at least four other states beer bills are in the legislative mills. The Florida house has acted favorably on such a measure; in Texas the beer question would go to voters at a referendum, Aug. 26 under a bill passed by the house; in Delaware a bill is pending before the legislature; in Nebraska house leaders have predicted the passage of a beer bill next week.

Alabama killed all hope of beer advocates for a bill adding that state to the list when the senate in the closing hours of a special session voted against such a measure.

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Wild gyrations of the dollar exchange provided the chief interest in week-end financial markets today.

Stocks bobbed about irregularly and actively, net advances being limited largely to the commodity classifications. However, financial gains and losses showed a rather even distribution. Demand for most leaders appeared to have held up well, especially those representing production of metals, oil and other staples.

Gold Shipments Announced

A sweeping advance in foreign exchange terminated shortly before noon when it was learned that two licenses had been granted for gold shipments from this country, in addition to yesterday's exportation to Holland. This news brought a swift reversal in trend and some rates dropped just as precipitantly as they had risen. The market was very thin by reason of European holidays, but it was evident, both from the action of exchanges and of certain stocks, that speculators were being influenced by an inflationary psychology.

American Telephone, breaking nearly 4 points net, made the poorest appearance among the so-called pivotal issues.

Sales totaled 958,610 shares.

Carloadings figures for the first week of April represented a loss of 7,292 cars from the previous week, approximating a normal decline. Most of the loss occurred in movements of fuel which begins to taper off at this season.

Milk-Fed Easter Lambs Are Bringing In A Good Income

By Staff Correspondent

SLATON, April 15.—E. E. Wilson, early day farmer living just outside the city limits, has made a good thing out of raising milk-fed Easter lambs for the Eastern markets.

This spring's sale was to Frank Bledsoe, who paid 5.5 cents a pound for 82 animals that averaged 74 pounds each. Mr. Wilson and his sons Harold and Ray, operated a dairy farm until recently. The price of milk dropped so low they decided to quit retailing it.

Mr. Wilson has been here for 17 years and has made a crop every year. He keeps a small herd of dairy cows as well as sheep.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, April 15. (AP)—Cattle trade this week was featured by a fairly broad demand for the better grades of fed steers and long yearlings with most markets reporting price upturns of 15 to 5. The lower grades of steers opened the week on a stronger basis but at several markets such offerings on the close carried a weaker trend. Light heifers and mixed yearlings also finished the week at steady to easier rates and at some points difficulty was experienced in maintaining steady values on slaughter cows. Chicago had a week's top of 7.00 on long yearlings and secured 6.00 for best heavy steers.

Fair Demand For Stockers

There was a fair country demand for stocker and feeder classes at steady to strong prices. Aggregate receipts at eleven markets for the week totaled around 147,000 as compared with 142,177 last week and 165,617 the corresponding period a year ago.

Curtailed hog supplies this week failed to stimulate demand to any material extent and current quotations are only steady to 15 higher as compared with a week ago. Shipping demand was rather narrow on most all sessions. Chicago had a closing top of 3.90. Total offerings of around 322,000 were 49,000 less than last week and 91,000 short of a year ago.

Fat lambs and yearlings are unevenly steady to 5 higher for the week while slaughter ewes held about steady. The week's supply approximated 328,000 against 360,523 last week and 399,994 the same week a year ago.

Grains

GRAIN SOARS AT CHICAGO

BY JOHN F. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, April 15. (AP)—Soaring anew, largely because of inflation talk, wheat went about 2 cents a bushel higher today, and outdid the season's previous top for September contracts.

At today's maximum, wheat showed 20 cents advance in 3 1-2 months, but heavy profit-taking sales toward the last wiped out part of the gain. Higher quotations on the British pound sterling were interpreted by many wheat traders as indicative of a possible monetary agreement with this country.

Wheat Closes Nervous

Wheat closed nervous, 7-8 to 1 1-8 above Thursday's finish, corn 1-8 to 1-4 up, oats 3-8 to 1-2 advanced and provisions at a rise of 5 to 12 cents.

Washington reports that relief measures so far undertaken would obligate federal government to expend more than five billion dollars attracted special notice among wheat traders. This was connected with other supposed evidence of tendencies toward inflation. Persistent dearth of rain in drought districts of domestic winter wheat territory acted also as a stimulus to upturns in prices.

Small Crop Seen

Some trade authorities asserted that the outlook for a sensationally small United States winter crop this season, together with uncertainty as to spring wheat prospects, would preclude any important price downturns. These authorities contended also that the market would work higher on the motive power already furnished, and would boil over in the event of any setback to this country's spring wheat prospects or to those of Europe. Most of today's buying came in comparatively small individual orders, but in the aggregate formed an almost irresistable volume.

Corn and oats borrowed strength from wheat.

Rye was an exception to the trend of other grain, and averaged lower as a result of selling that appeared to originate northwest.

Provisions were responsive to inflation talk.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May 89 3-4 @7-8, 92 1-2, July 61@61 1-8, 64@64 1-8, Sept. 92 3-8, 95 1-2@3-8 Corn—May 31 1-2, 33 1-4; July 33 7-8@34, 35 3-8@1-2, Sept. 35 3-4, 37 1-8.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, April 15. (AP)—Excellent demand, especially for wheat, was reported today on the Fort Worth cash grain market. Estimated receipts were heavier than recently, shipments being attracted by the higher values and included:

Wheat 25 cars, corn 19; sorghums 28, and cane seed 3.

Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to destination, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points:

Wheat No. 1 hard 70 1-2@71 1-2. Barley No. 2 nominally 40@42; No. 3 nominally 38@40. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 78@82; No. 3 milo 75@80. No. 2 kaffir 70@72; No. 3 kaffir 69@70.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn, No. 2 mixed 51 1-2@52 1-2; No. 2 white 53@54; No. 2 yellow 69@70.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats No. 2 red 31@32; No. 3 red 30@31.

Teachers Adopt New Theme Song

CHICAGO, April 15. (AP)—Teachers and students of Chicago public schools marched today in protest against payless paydays.

Loop traffic was at a standstill as a procession many blocks long, pedagogues, pupils and groups representing parent-teachers' associations, trudged through the streets.

Their theme song, emblazoned on banners, was:

"They promised to pay us, but oh how they lied."

Many of the teachers chose to join the demonstrators instead of calling at their schools where checks for $1,700,000 awaited them—checks representing their pay for the last week of June, 1932.

President Sends Five Names To Senate; Capital Looks For Postoffice Selections To Come Up In Few Days

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 15. — Two important posts in the national government—solicitor general of the United States and commissioner of Indian affairs—were filled today by President Roosevelt in the administration's drive to bring an early ending to patronage worries.

The President sent to the senate the nomination of James Crawford Biggs of North Carolina to represent the government in cases before the Supreme court and the name of John Collier of California to manage the nation's Indian wards.

Others Are Selected

At the same time, he nominated James A. Donohoe to be federal judge for Nebraska, Clifton Mathews to be federal attorney for Arizona, and Rear-Admiral Christian J. Peoples, now stationed at the Brooklyn Navy yard, to be paymaster general of the Navy.

In addition, he formally withdrew the nomination of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston to be ambassador to Poland. Curley had declined the appointment, saying he thought he could be of greater service to Boston and the nation by remaining in th's country.

The administration plans within a few days to start nominating postmasters. Considerable pressure has been brought to bear from house members for this action. There are approximately 2,500 vacancies.

Arrangements will be made within the next few days to take up February and March warrants now outstanding on teachers' salaries, it was said in the meeting.

The remainder of the state funds due the schools which will be paid during the summer and fall totals $48,960.

Several taxpayers made payments as late as 10 o'clock last night and Collector A. C. Jackson said he expected to receive a number of checks through the mail Monday.

Ends Apprehensive Period

A large number of citizens had shown apprehension over the threatened closing of the schools since the board's announcement and a series of meetings were held by various leaders the past week including two mass meetings by the Lubbock Loyalty Council. Speakers expressed themselves as determined to see that the schools continue and citizens conducted "missionary work" among neighbors and friends in support of tax collections.

Babson Says Readjustment Of Debts Must Be Voluntary If Prosperity Is Expected To Return; Causes Scored

Advisor Says Force Is Wrong Method On Debts

BABSON PARK, Florida, April 15. —Reckless going into debt was one of the primary causes of the depression.

It follows that getting out of debt is necessary to recovery. If the purpose of the National Bankruptcy Bill and the Farm Mortgage Bill is to facilitate voluntary adjustment of interest and debts to a basis of reality, I favor it; but we should not be too hasty about arbitrarily relieving debtors of their obligations to pay interest and taxes on their agreed contracts. If the debtor is made to feel that all he has to do is to call on the government when in a pinch and the government will force the creditor to sacrifice for his benefit, then we have established a dangerous precedent. It would undermine the intergrity of the people and encourage free and easy practice of going into debt, which, as I have said, was the cause of this depression.

Roger Babson

Readjustment Must Be Voluntary

In 1929 total debt of this country, public and private, was $154,600,000,000 an increase of 34 per cent since 1922. It was divided as follows: farms, $12,200,000,000; railroads $12,700, 000,000; federal, state, and local, $30,100,000,000; corporations, $74,600,000,000; and individuals $25,000,000,000. When our national income was $80,000,000,000 a year we were able to get by for a time with this staggering load, but when income dropped to $30,000,000,000, as present, the charges became too heavy to meet. We, however, can never build prosperity on repudiation. Voluntary readjustments, yes! —but to force creditors, either by arbitrary or unlawful means, to give up their claims against their will is wrong in principle and harmful to business.

No Clear Cut Distinction

Exponents of partial or total debt cancellation talk as if there were a clear division between debtors and creditors, that the creditors were all rich people and the debtors all poor people. Nothing could be farther from the truth. There is no clear-cut distinction between debtor and creditor classes.

Every holder of a savings bank pass-book, every life insurance policyholder, every widow or orphan dependent on an annuity, or on support from endowed charities whose funds are invested in bonds and mortgages, is a creditor, and it is these creditors who would be harmed most of all if compulsory or confiscatory abrogation of contracts should be allowed. Furthermore, you cannot expect to obtain the necessary credit for business expansion if lenders have no assurance that their contracts will be held valid.

Changing Value No Excuse

Much is heard from debtors about dishonest dollars — dollars that have increased in value since they borrowed the money and hence force them to pay back in high valued money what they borrowed in low valued money. It is true that the value of the dollar in its purchasing power for commodities has increased to $1.33 compared with 1929. This is an advantage to the creditor but it is no excuse for cancellation of debts.

Suppose the shoe were on the other foot! Suppose a man borrows a thousand dollars today—dollars of high purchasing power. If commodity prices rise and the purchasing power decreases to, let us say, 66 cents, as it did in 1920, then the lender will receive only 66 cents on the dollar, or $660 in purchasing power for the $1,000 he loaned. We never hear any propaganda for increasing the face value of a loan when prices rise, but we now hear a great deal about decreasing the face value of a loan because prices have fallen. It is a poor rule that won't work both ways!

Credit Abbuses Responsible

Of course, the ideal situation would be a dollar of stable purchasin power, but if an until the wide fluctuations of the business cycle are some day ironed out, the value of the dollar will continue to fluctuate. The scandalous pyramiding of debts was one of the primary reasons for the financial collapse, the decline in prices, and the stagnation of business. Excessive greed, extravagance, reckless speculation were responsible for piling up this debt mountain. If we could eliminate the abuses of credit, we could not only reduce the losses during a depression, but—what is vastly more important— we could prevent undue previous inflation and hence greatly prevent conditions such as now exist. It is dangerous to encourage this national habit of excessive borrowing by making it easy for borrowers to repudiate debts when the day of reckoning arrives.

Signs Of Improvement

Signs of business improvement are already here. The composite of pig iron prices recently advanced for the first time since May 1929. Motor car production is now showing a better than seasonal increase. Lumber orders in recent weeks are the best so far this year. Freight car loading are sowly moving upward. Steel operations have advanced and electricity output is making the best comparable showing for more than a year. I am optimistic on business provided this debt problam is handled justly, but we can never build permanent prosperity on the principle of repudiation. Furthermore, I would advise business men to be very careful about future borrowing. A good rule is: Never borrow more than your average annual net earnings for a truly representative period. Keep your borrowing within an amount that you can pay for within a year. Avoid borrowing for fixed capital or speculation; and always be entirely out of debt at your bank for at least three months of each year.

Business, as registered by the Babsonchart, now stands at 11 per cent below a year ago.

J. K. Wester, chairman, Saturday asked that Democrats who can donate $1 or more. The quota was fixed on a basis of 10 cents for each of the 5,330 Democratic votes cast in the county in the last national election.

Women Asked To Help

A committee of women, asked to assist in the drive, as announced by Chairman Wester, is composed of Mrs. W. O. Stevens, Mrs. J. S. Johnson, Mrs. R. M. Chitwood, Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson, Mrs. James H. Goodman and Miss Delia Wilkinson.

Mexicans Rendering Their Property For Local Taxes

More than 50 Mexicans are property owners in Lubbock and they are making renditions on their homes, W. H. Meador, county tax assessor, states.

In several blocks in the north part of town, where the Mexican quarter is located, nearly all of the lots are owned by Mexicans, Mr. Meador said. In one block an American owns two lots and a house, with a Mexican occupying the house. He is paying on the property according to the assessor.

"The Mexicans all have papers showing they have title to the house and lot and if they are asked about ownership, they will dig down in their trunk or box and get the papers," Mr. Meador said.

At Expenditure Of $15 Each, Women Reside In Tech Co-Op Residence For A Month; Small Profit Is Indicated

A lot of planning, some work, considerable pencil work and Casa Linda, cooperative house for Tech students, has eighteen cents marked down on the credit side of the books this month.

For, in spite of the extra expenses of starting a house keeping establishment, women living in the house managed to eat, to have laundry done and to meet the incidental costs of the house on a total of $15 each, and then check up at the end of the month to discover that there was yet eighteen cents in the house treasury.

Casa Linda was opened a month ago, at the beginning of the spring term of school, by the Quarterly club, of which Mrs. Mary W. Doak is the president. Faculty women are in this club and the house was arranged to provide a non-profit place of residence with high standards for a group of women students.

The faculty women's committee that directs the house and its activities includes Misses Mabel Erwin, Johnnye Gilkerson, Mayme Twyford, Dorothy Pray and Mrs. R. M. Chitwood.

Is An Experiment

Casa Linda is an experiment. If it remains self-supporting and if there is satisfaction among student residents and faculty women, it will be continued. The house is at 2211 Main street.

There are now 14 women students and a faculty woman, Miss Ruth Potter, residing in the house. There are accommodations for 17, including the instructor.

Although several faculty women had dreamed of a co-op house for a long time, it was not until this winter that definite action was taken to get one. The house was hurriedly prepared for opening at the end of the winter term of school at the college.

Some furnishings in the house were rented with the establishment. Others have been gifts from individuals or from college non-social clubs, or loans or have been bought outright from the fund created by the residents. Although the establishment is running, there are many more "needs" that have been listed.

It costs $7.50 to board each one living in the house for a month. The other $7.50 is used for laundry, house rent, utilities and general expenses.

Before the opening of the house, two faculty women, Misses Twyford and Pray, worked out a nutrition chart that included all food needs for an individual for a month and estimated that one could eat for that length of time for $7.50. Later this chart was checked by nutrition classes at the college. When the house was opened, this chart was used as a basis for meal planning and food buying. Now at the end of the month, those living in the house find that they have lived well on the food and that some students living there have gained weight.

Each One Works

Since this is a cooperative house, students residing there cook the meals and keep the house. Each one is scheduled to contribute approximately two hours of work daily and the household duties are done in shifts, a rotating plan having been arranged. At the end of the month, a check showed that each one needed to work only a little more than an hour daily to manage the house.

There are eight bedrooms in the house. Each of eight Tech clubs completed the furnishing of one room. Several students residing in the house belong to organizations and live in the rooms their clubs have furnished. The eight organi-

Lula Cone Among University Girls Chosen For Revue

AUSTIN, April 15 —Miss Lula Cone of Lubbock will be honored at the Southwest Sweethearts' Revue and semi-centennial ball at the University of Texas on the evening of April 28, announces Professor Read Granberry, executive chairman of the fourth annual round-up (homecoming) April 28-29-30.

Miss Cone is one of 122 candidates for the pages of the Cactus, student yearbook, and automatically becomes a member of the central cast for the stage show which precedes the ball. The two-fold event is this year the chief social affair of the University calendar, but it has an added significance in that it is the social high-light also of semi-centennial week, during which the University celebrates its fiftieth birthday.

Has Part In Show

Following an elaborately costumed stage show which will be devoted to ensemble dancing—the choreography of which was designed and is being directed by Janet Collett of Broadway, there will be a costume revue presenting Miss Cone and her companion candidates. In the group also will be the girl who will be elected sweetheart of the University of Texas, and the sweethearts of the six other schools of the Southwest conference.

Miss Cone, a member of Delta Zeta sorority, is the daughter of Mrs. Jesse Cone, 2702 Twenty-Second street.

Program Given For Club Meet On Three Days

Hereford Is Ready For Club Visitors; Local Women To Participate In Conference Of Federated Clubs

BY MRS. T. V. REEVES
Publicity Chairman

CANYON, April 15. —(Special) — Clubdom's outstanding event of the year takes place this week when Hereford will be host to the officers of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, the officers of the seventh district, and the delegates from 137 clubs which make up the district. For months the little city of Hereford has been planning and working so that its hospitality on April 19, 20 and 21 may be characterized by the ease which has always been associated with true western entertainment.

Every organization in Deaf Smith County has contributed to the plans for making the convention a success. Months ago house holders planted hundreds of tulips that their color might add a festive air to the town for the occasion to which it has so long looked forward.

Easter Egg Hunts Entertain Children During The Week-End

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

AGAIN, this column is urging people with pre-school children to take them to the parent-teacher clinic on Wednesday.

The pre-school child, in this instance, is the one who will enter school next fall for the first time in his life. The clinic is being conducted this spring in a general parent-teacher program to have every child enter school as free from physical defects as it is possible for him to be. This clinic initiates a summer round-up program that is fostered annually. The purpose is to discover the defects early in order that they may be treated and, if possible, cured during the summer months.

If you realize how much easier it is to work when you are absolutely well, you can realize the importance of starting a child to school in good physical condition.

Beginning school is a high adventure for the six year old youngster—how important it is you may have forgotten. But it will, in all probability, be the most important thing that will happen to him until he graduates from high school or enters college. This marks a crisis in his life that he recognizes.

Frequently children have some trouble hearing or some eye trouble of which their parents are unaware. Unless these difficulties are corrected, the youngsters will be retarded in their advancement in school. Often what appears to be a minor defect now may lead to major difficulties. The correction may be a simple matter now that he is so young. Later, the difficulty may become incurable.

Those statements are general. Since I have no scientific knowledge of diseases and troubles of children they can't be much more specific. Naturally, my information came from the school nurses, teachers and parent-teacher workers with whom I have talked.

Those in charge of the clinic are not seeking to promote business for doctors. They get nothing out of this except work and the doctors who will examine the children are donating their services. You won't be expected to go to any of them to have your child's troubles alleviated.

But, because it is human nature to put things off until tomorrow, a period has been set for these clinics. Most parents want to give their children every opportunity, yet until a physical examination is given they may not be cognizant of the needs.

This plan of the parent-teacher association is in keeping with the general feeling concerning health today—that is prevention rather than cure. Nowadays, people pay doctors to keep them well and to prevent disease rather than waiting until they are in trouble before seeking assistance. The clinic Wednesday offers parents an opportunity to discover how their pre-school children stand physically.

VISIT THE HOUSE

IF you did not attend the open house at Casa Linda Saturday, make it a point to go out some time and have some member of the Quarterly club to show you around. A trip through should be interesting to every house wife who is attempting to run a home efficiently and to serve good meals on a minimum amount of money.

The house managers follow a general nutrition chart that was worked out by two home economics teachers and yet they are able to feed the young women for an average of $7.50 each per month. If you are feeding your family the things they should have and are not doing it for that amount of money, here is something to attempt to duplicate.

Of course, it may not be necessary for you to feed your family for so little. You may be able to afford more of the food luxuries, yet there are plenty of housewives who do need to feed their families on a minimum amount of money and everyone needs to have the proper nutrition.

This writer is glad to see a co-operative house here. It is certainly not an attempt to offer competition to boarding houses. There are many students at the college who would care nothing about living in the house but it offers an opportunity to others. And, to me, it looks like a beginning of other such houses.

In many towns there are co-operative houses for business women. Lubbock has no such house and no Y. W. C. A. or other residence where young women may stay who receive a very small wage. A place with high standards for these women is something to anticipate for the city.

Modernizing Of Out-Moded Situations Is Ticklish Task For Scenarists

BY ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—One of the ticklish tasks of today's scenarists is to imbue out-moded situations from "dated" plays with a modern spirit that will make them plausible instead of ridiculous to today's audiences.

ETHEL BARRYMORE

Back in 1919 Zoe Akins had a play on Broadway with Ethel Barrymore playing the part of a woman of high birth who is outcast because she was divorced. The play, "Declassee," was very successful and twice has been filmed, once with Corinne Griffith in the lead and again with Billie Dove.

Now it is to be a talkie, with Ann Harding starring.

Jane Murfin, who co-authored "Smilin' Through" and has been scrips on the Radio lot, has been given the job of "modernizing" a situation that was acceptable as recently as 14 years ago.

Times Have Changed

"TODAY," she says, "it would be ridiculous for us to offer our heroine as 'Declassee' simply because she was divorced. The modern audience would snicker at the idea. So we've had to go farther, and suggest more of a past that might really make her an outcast — without, however, losing audience sympathy for her."

ANN HARDING

Thus our blond Ann, who hitherto has been associated with roles of white respectability — even in "The Animal Kingdom," where she was mistress, she was wife according to the idea of the author, and in "Westward Passage," as I recall it, her marital sin was condoned—thus Ann assumes a character foreign to her type.

Changing times and manners, Miss Murfin comments, have removed from the realm of authors' expedients the "Sudden Storm" that forces hero and heroine to spend the night together and thus be "compromised" in the eyes of the world. And what a situation that used to be.

Hiers An Exception

WALTER HIERS, whose death occurred the other day, was by way of an exception to the rule that a substitute for a star, in a starring role, becomes a star himself.

Valentino took Hayakawa's place in "The Sheik." Sylvia Sidney replaced Clara Bow in "City Streets," Lee Tracy batted for Cagney in "Blessed Event." The list is impressive.

When Roscoe Arbuckle was barred from the screen, Miers took the star's roles in two films. A flood of letters protesting making an Arbuckle of Hiers was responsible in a great measure for discontinuance of the attempt to find a new Arbuckle.

Hier's fault was his great resemblance to Arbuckle.

Best At Buttling

THE story of Sidney Bracy's movie life might be entitled: "From Battling to Buttling."

BRACY

Bracy began, in 1910, as an Indian chieftain leading a band of braves against the invading whites—on a plot of ground near Fort Lee, N. J., where the first wild west thrillers were made. Now he plays comedy roles, but he is best at buttling. He says he wears sideburns well.

"I didn't look like an Indian, nor do I now," Bracy says, pointing to his round face and stubby nose.

"But because I had had quite some experience as an actor, the director decided I'd be a good Indian chief. So with the aid of a head dress of extraordinarily long feathers—to make me look taller than my 5 feet and 7 inches—a loin cloth and an aquiline nose of putty, I became head of the tribe.

"The rest of the players got $3 a day, but I got $4, probably because I was burdened with the largest putty nose on record."

Doubling In Millions

BRACY estimates that he has played in more than 400 pictures in half of them as a butler. The first time he was a butler was in 1914, when he played the lead in one of the most famous serials, "The Million Dollar Mystery." In that he had a dual role; he also was the millionaire.

Aviation, Wealth, Crime, Comedy And Sex On Theater Menu

Wide Variety Of Offerings On Schedule

"Dawn Patrol," "Sweepings," "Pick-Up" And "Sailor Be Good" Will Be Screened In Lubbock This Week

LUBBOCK theatergoers will be offered a varied entertainment menu this week, including a taste of aviation, wealth, crime, comedy and sex, not to mention a flavoring of romance and adventure.

Starting today at the Lindsey will be "Central Airport," starring Richard Barthelmess. It will continue through Tuesday. The story deals with the lives and loves of the peace-time navigators of transcontinental passenger planes. Barthelmess appears as a pilot who is "grounded" when his ship crashes with a heavy loss of lives. He goes barnstorming with an air circus and falls in love with Sally Eilers, a parachute jumper. When he loses her, he dares death with reckless abandon, providing numerous thrilling sequences.

Easter Candy Promised

Children under 12 years of age who attend the Lindsey matinee this afternoon will be given a sack of Easter candy.

Lionel Barrymore is starred in "Sweepings," which will be screened at the Lindsey Wednesday and Thursday. Taken from Lester Cohen's best-selling novel, "Sweepings" is a saga of fatherhood, telling a powerful story of a man who devotes a lifetime to building a great business and wealth for his children, only to find them good material gone to waste—like the sweepings in his department store basement.

Alan Dinehart, Gloria Stuart, William Gargan, Eric Linden, and Gregory Ratoff appear in the supporting cast.

"Pick Up" Coming

Sylvia Sidney and George Raft are cast together for the first time in "Pick Up," scheduled at the Lindsey for Friday and Saturday. It is the story of a girl, "framed" by her husband for a crime he has committed, who goes to prison with him. Released before he is, she finds herself broke, cold and wet in a rainstorm. Seeking refuge in a taxicab she convinces the driver of the genuineness of her pleas. They fall in love, but the cab driver, flattered by the attentions of a young debutante, begins paying less attention to the girl. On the day she obtains papers for annulment of her marriage, her former husband appears on the scene, fresh from an outbreak in which he has killed a guard. He is intent on revenging himself on her as well as her lover.

"Sailor Be Good"

Jack Oakie and Vivienne Osborne are co-featured in "Sailor Be Good," a riotous comedy which starts a two-day run at the Palace today. The story concerns a sailor-boxer who aspires to the Navy championship. He is addicted to gin and women until he meets a certain waterfront girl. He sickens of her rigid training and on a spree marries a society debutante. His new adventure snaps him into his senses and he returns to train and love under the supervision of the waterfront girl.

A twin bill will be offered at the Palace Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. On the stage Dr. Eugene E. Voltaires, sexologist and sex instructor, will present "Love Life," including lectures and illustrations pertaining to sex and marriage. The lecture will be illustrated with beautiful girls, featuring Miss California, "the perfect woman." Women only will be admitted to the matinees Tuesday and Wednesday, and men only will be admitted at night. The show will be for women only all day Thursday. Dr. Voltaires is scheduled to discuss birth control from both sides.

"Pleasure Cruise"

On the screen will be "Pleasure Cruise," featuring Genevieve Tobin, Roland Young, Ralph Forbes, Una O'Conner and Minna Gombell. The story concerns a spicy romance, complicated by matrimonial entanglements, on a pleasure cruise where practically everything is condoned, so long as it is in fun.

John Wayne is the star of "The Telegraph Trail," which will be screened at the Palace Friday and Saturday. The story deals the Indians' opposition to western advance of America's frontier by means of the telegraph. As a government scout, Wayne single-handed, outwits the Indians and their renegade white leader and carries the telegraph line to a successful conclusion.

"Tess of the Storm Country," the world-famous story of a poor, little river girl and her rich playboy lover, will be screened at the Lyric today, Monday and Tuesday. Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell are co-starred in the picture. Set among the hills and rivers, it is an unforgettable human interest story.

Sally Eilers in "Hat Check Girl" will be the attraction at the Lyric Wednesday and Thursday. Ben Lyon, Ginger Rogers and Arthur Pierson appear in important supporting roles. The picture was adapted from a novel by Rian James.

"Come On Danger," starring Tom Keene, the Singing Cowboy, will be offered at the Lyric Friday and Saturday. It is a western thriller. Roscoe Ates and Julie Haydon head the supporting cast.

At the THEATERS

LAMESA, April 15 (Special) — Approximately $12,000 R. F. C. funds has been spent in Dawson county since last November, according to officials in charge of this work. Many permanent projects have been completed in the county, the committee said.

Hundreds of feet of sidewalks for schools and churches have been built; the labor for building the Lions club city wading pool; the lawns of churches and schools have been terraced and sodded; many streets and county roads have been clayed and built up; water and sewer lines have been lowered; and the entire city has been cleaned of rubbish. REMOVES TEMPTATION

FORT WORTH, Texas.—A father of a son who came in drunk one morning decided that the best way to stop his son's drinking was to remove the supply of liquor. So he turned "dry agent." He went to the place where his son bought a pint of liquor and bought himself a pint. He then took the liquor to the sheriff's office for evidence. The wheels of law were set turning and in a short time Mrs. T. J. Self and her son were arrested for possession of six gallons of whisky and 200 pints of beer.

Glory, Today, In The Lord

"Praise God from whom all blessings flow,
Praise Him, all creatures here below;
Praise Him, above ye Heavenly host;
Praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost!"

"IN THE end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

"And, behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from Heaven, and came and rolled the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

"His countenance was like lightning and his raiment white as snow:

"And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

"And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear ye not: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

"He is not here: for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

"And go quickly, and tell His disciples that He is risen from the dead; and, behold, He goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye seen Him: lo, I have told you.

"And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring His disciples word.

"And as they went to tell His disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held Him by the feet, and worshiped Him." St. Matthew 28: Verses 1 through 9.

THEREFORE, let us upon this holiest of holy days, remember Psalm 100, an exhortation to praise God:

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands.

"Serve the Lord with gladness: come before His presence with singing.

"Know ye that the Lord He is God: it is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are His people and the sheep of His pasture.

"Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise: be thankful unto Him, and bless His name.

"For the Lord is good: His mercy is everlasting; and His truth endureth to all generations."

"Christ, the Lord, is risen today; Glory, alleluiah!"

NOT ALL IS WAR

It is a refreshing relief to read a dispatch from China not dealing with wars, bandits, floods or famine. It is seldom that such an item reaches the outside world, but a really constructive undertaking or accomplishment occasionally is reported from the far eastern republic which seems to have more than its share of ills.

Some months ago there came the news, in an announcement by the national government, that the country's budget had been balanced. Now from Shanghai is reported an undertaking of a constructive nature and one which if carried out successfully promises large industrial and other benefits. It contemplates the reclamation of 300,000 acres of land in Kiangsu province north of the Yangtse river. This land has not been cultivated because of the lack of drainage and dyking.

The reclamation project is to be undertaken by the provisional government with the assistance of the national government. The reclaimed area will be planted to cotton, with the expectation that it will produce enough to wipe out China's deficit in this commodity.

An important phase of the development is that it will provide profitable farming land for a large number of families. It is the plan of the committee having the work in charge to cut up the land into small farms of five acres each.

There is a great deal of similar work possible in China, if conditions ever become settled. That such projects are being undertaken now shows an encouraging trend of thought among officials of the so-called government. Rapid industrial and social development no doubt would mark any prolonged period of tranquility.

If American women would stop patronizing beauty parlors the money they spend there would pay the public debt of Greece and liquidate the budget of Puerto Rico. Maybe, but as we have to go on living in America, we'll say it's just as well as it is.

More than 1000 inhabitants in a Montenegran village near Cetinje have the same name, Vlahovitch. Understand they have petitioned the government for relief.

The world's population will double in 60 years, it is estimated, which is bad news because it will mean twice as much human nature.

Trouble Seen In Labor Bill

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Speaker Henry T. Rainey's view that "there is a lot of dynamite" in the proposal to increase employment by a law-enforced shortening of working hours is not the popular position for a public man to take in the face of present industrial conditions.

Chas. P. Stewart.

Superficially the plan seems workable and not many folk, in considering it, look beneath the surface.

To recognize flaws in it is to be called a rank reactionary.

The idea, as advanced by its proponents, is that production has been so accelerated by machinery that there are not now enough jobs to go around, and that the only way to make enough of them is by scaling down working time sufficiently to absorb the present labor surplus. If pay is cut proportionately, there will be a lowering of the living standard, which naturally it is desired to avoid; hence the assumption that wages are to stay up, or be advanced, preferably.

Stewart's View

The easiest thing for a politician to do is to shut his eyes and accept this program unquestioningly. He certainly has to shut his eyes, however, in order to do so, if he knows much about economics.

Ostensibly, the scheme's purpose is to compel employers to curtail the length of their workers' shifts. In fact, however, it equally restricts the number of hours daily that a worker may put in at his job. If he exceeds the limit, his product is barred from interstate commerce. Perhaps he will get the same pay as previously or perhaps he will even get the advance that he hopes for, but indisputably he is held down in any effort he may make to earn still more by prolonging his diurnal stint. That is he, as well as his employer, is restricted.

It is not assured that, on the reduced basis, he will get his old pay, either. He may, supposing that his employer has been underpaying him previously and can stand what amounts to a wage increase. It is a safe bet that he will not get it if the employer's previous margin of profit was very narrow, for even the law cannot compel an employer to operate indefinitely at a loss; he will go bankrupt instead.

A Further Obstacle

Besides, account must be taken of the likelihood that the products of foreign labor, working maybe 48 hours weekly, as against 30 to 36 hours here, will begin to compete successfully, in the American market, with domestic products, as soon as the American curtailment is effected. True, this possibility has been foreseen and there is talk of barring out long-hour imports—but it is not a pleasant prospect to contemplate, with Secretary of State Hull, at this very moment, moving heaven and earth to break down international trade barriers.

Moreover, the entire scheme is of extremely doubtful constitutionality.

Its supporters realize that it is, and, for that reason, they are suggesting it only as an emergency measure, for a two-year period. They argue that, with a two-year limit on it, it will not damage the constitution irreparably. But Senator Borah, perhaps the foremost constitutionalist in congress, disputes its permissibility for any period whatever. Based on such an argument, he says the habeas corpus, trial by jury or freedom of speech and the press might be suspended for a two-year period.

Briefly, the intentions of the advocates of the shortened day are admirable. That they are adopting the proper means to attain their ends is gravely questionable.

LIQUOR PRICES DOWN

Bootleggers seem disposed to hang on, in competition with 3.2 beer, on the testimony of prohibition bureau agents, who say that prices of "hard licker" are being cut, however, to or below pre-war figures.

MOSES, THE REPORTER

George H. Moses, as the senate's president pro tem, was chiefly instrumental in depriving all reporters of the privileges of the "floor." Now, consequently, back in the press gallery, he is the only Washington correspondent who enjoys the floor privilege—as an ex-senator.

EXCHANGE RULES ABROAD

Stock market witnesses before the senate banking committee quite generally express themselves as horrified at the proposed new restrictions on security-selling. Asked, however, whether they are stricter than European exchanges' rules, they invariably admit that rules in London, Paris and Berlin are far severer.

BLOWN TO PIECES

All testimony concerning the Akron disaster simmers down to the conclusion that the airship simply was blown to pieces—no favorable advertisement for that type of craft, many experts are saying, since it indicates that big dirigibles cannot possibly be built of adequate strength for their vast size.

HOOVER HOLDOVER

Solicitor Green H. Hackworth of the state department is revealed as author of the much-denounced censorship bill, now "hung up" in the senate—which is mentioned as "just another case" of a holdover Hoover official getting the present administration into trouble. Under whose orders Hackworth drafted the measure still is a mystery, however.

THE NEW BOOKS

* * * * * * * * * *

"Looking Forward" Indicates We Have Man In White House Who Has Something To Say And Knows How To Say It

PUBLICATION of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's new book, "Looking Forward," indicates that we now have in the White House a man who has something to say and knows how to say it.

This book is largely a collection of the president's campaign speeches, revised and brought up to date with the addition of a good deal of new material; and it is far more forthright, direct and outspoken than is ordinarily the case with this kind of book.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

For you get, as you read it, the feeling that these papers are something more than the preserved outpourings of a politician who was looking for votes. Instead you feel that you are listening to a man who has been trying to think his way out of situation of vast complexity—a man who has brought a keen mind to bear on the problems of the day and who is not in the least afraid to venture on new paths if it seems advisable.

Mr. Roosevelt seems to consider himself the spiritual heir of Woodrow Wilson. The great reform program that Wilson began in his first term and that was halted by the war is uppermost in the president's mind. This "new deal" of which we have heard so much is in large part Wilson's "new freedom" brought up to date.

All in all—with its boldness, its readiness to reassert and rephrase the old principles of freedom and democracy in a moment like the present—it is a vastly encouraging book.

Published by the John Day Co., it sells for $2.50.

THE publishers of "Tunchi," (Century Co.) struggling to find a classification into which their book would fit, finally gave up and put down simply "? ? ? ? ?."

Their bewilderment is understandable, for the book seems to be the first known ethnological romance.

The head-hunting Shuari Indians of eastern Ecuador, whose knack for shrinking human heads to the size of an orange was developing into a thriving souvenir business when Ecuadorian authorities stopped it, are the subject of the ethnological study.

And a love affair between a girl of the tribe and the New Yorker emissary of a chemical fertilizer company provides the romance. This material, lived by Carl Liddle and put into words by David Thibault, makes a book sometimes unexpectedly touching.

There Is Romance There

A FEW years ago an inquiring young man named Hassoldt Davis set out to see the world—to see, more specifically, the South Sea Islands. He had heard much about the romance, beauty, charm, loveliness and what-not of those places, and he figured this sort of talk was largely baloney; so he went to find out for himself.

Out of this little excursion has blossomed a book, "Islands Under the Wind." In it Mr. Davis tells where he went, what he did and what he learned.

Was Disillusioned

He started out by going to Tahiti, and after an extended stay he went on, with stops here and there, to the fabulous isle of Bali. And at first he thought that his preconceived notions were justified. The romance of Papeete seemed pretty tawdry, the thrills seemed to be mostly faked, the charming natives seemed about as unspoiled as so many medicine show Indians.

And then, bit by bit, he learned that the tall tales are true, after all. Tahiti is what they say it is, once you get your vision focused properly. Bali is like no other place on earth. Life in those places can be, in sober truth, freer, easier, more satisfying than elsewhere.

And The Island Girls?

And the island girls? asks the breathless reader. Well, says Mr. Davis, don't go looking for love, because you won't find it—not the romantic, deathless kind of occidental fiction. But there is a very fine substitute available, and once acclimated you get so you think the world of it.

Entertaining and instructive, this book is retailed by Longmans, Green and Co. at $2.50.

Literary Chatter

IF anyone is to be forgiven a book of literary chatter it is Cosmo Hamilton. Mr. Hamilton writes, himself, which is no news. He is the brother of Sir Philip and A. Hamilton Gibbs, and the friend of countless writers on both sides of the Atlantic.

Therein is the justification of his "People Worth Talking About," (Robt. M. McBride & Co.) which is a set of 29 brief sketches of his relatives and his friends. Not all the material, particularly that about Wells and Shaw, is new, but most of it is entertaining.

Glamor Still Alive

THE glamor of the West is not dead as long as writers have such men as "Lucky" Baldwin to exhume, in a literary sense.

C. B. Glasscock has done a good deal of that sort of thing and done it well. Baldwin's career obviously provides most rewarding material, and if in detailing the incredible course of this man he also sketches the development of California through its most picturesque period, the reader is doubly lucky.

He does. Baldwin did everything a sportsman could do, it appears from the record. His amours were well known and occasionally accompanied by gun play. His business deals were of all ethical complexions, and also occasionally punctuated by bullets.

His too-splendid hotel and theater in San Francisco are legendary, as is his string of race horses. His ranches covered thousands of acres and the acres covered millions of gallons of oil. He was in on the Comstock, and a Klondiker at the age of 72 years.

"Lucky Baldwin" (Bobbs-Merrill) is the sort of book one should read and muse over, and store away for future reference.

Dairying Industry Playing Important Part In Development Of Territory

rea Now One Of Leaders In Cream, Butter

terest Shown In Panhandle-Plains Dairy Association's Show Is Proof Of Hold Industry Has On Section

BY J. SAM LEWIS
valanche-Journal Staff Writer

mportance of the part that the dairy industry is playing in the velopment of the South Plains d West Texas, was emphasized re than ever at the sixth annual nhandle-Plains Dairy show, held past week in Plainview.

When such an authority as Joe Ridgeway, vice-president of the stletoe Creameries and former iry department head at Texas A. d M. will characterize the show "the best Jersey show I have en in Texas this year," most men ll admit he knows what he is king about.

Other Features Noted

side from the great stride made r previous shows in quality of imals exhibited, there were sev- other outstanding features that icated the trend of dairy mat- s on the Plains.

First, the intense interest by ners and breeders in testing of mals for production. C. N. Shepson, head of the department of rying at Texas A. and M. talkfor an hour Wednesday noon to to 75 dairymen on testing. He plained the trend in testing, from animal to the herd. Breeders farmers expressed a desire for work in this section.

Seek Information

econd, the desire on the part of more mature farmers, men of n 35 to 55, to inquire about es on cows with production recs behind them. These men were rested in knowing whether r cattle were from high producdams and sires and in the fue purchases will be on this basmore than ever.

hird, the interest of this group the decisions of the judge of the w on placing animals. Judge igeway gave his reasons, over the id speaker, for his selections. ch time there was the closest of tention.

Another hopeful sign was the aprent interest of breeders in sendg their best animals to the Dallas ate Fair's Jersey show next fall. is likely there will be a number head from this section in the w. E. W. Hester, O'Donnell; Os- L. Stansell, Floydada, to mentwo, are possibilities.

eading Butter Producing Area

he South Plains area is now one the leading butter producing tions of the state. Last year, it is timated 10,000,000 pounds of but- representing a business of more an a million dollars, were churnd in the area. The three Lubbock ants, Swift, Lubbock Poultry and g and Borden's Mistletoe, churnd in excess of 5,000,000 pounds. he Plains Cooperative, Inc., at lainview, churned 1,232,000, ounds; the Hereford creamery er 1,000,000 pounds; the Mistle- e at Amarillo around 600,000 unds; a plant at Panhandle, 700,- 0 pounds; another at Floydada 0,000 pounds; the West Texas airy Products plant at Lamesa er 400,000 pounds; the new Tulia reamery 50,000 a month for the o months in operation and about 0,000 pounds from a plant at lovis, N. M. In addition there is new plant at Pampa. Figures on e Spur plant are not available.

The Struve Cheese factory at bernathy, increased its daily pro- u c tion of "Swift's Abernathy heese," from around 1,000 pounds r day to 2,000 pounds or better. his plant is now consuming 18,- 0 to 20,000 pounds of raw, whole ilk, daily with prospects of anher unit being added if demand ntinues.

Lamesa Plant Busy

At Lamesa the West Texas plant akes powdered milk in several rms. Its production has been eady and with improved condi- ns in the larger centers in the king and confectionery lines, increases may be expected.

During the year the usual shipents of cream to outside the state ints has been normal. How much is is, no one estimates, other than state that it is a big factor in ady cash for farmers.

Levelland and Lockney are reorted discussing plans for a cheese ant. The new Tulia creamery, opned last year, bids fair to be a facor in the upbuilding of Swisher unty. Slowly the Abernathy facry, the Cooperative creamery of lainview and several others, are panding. Growth is healthy and eady, and not of a promotional ature.

Increase Noted In Cows

An increase in the number of iry cattle is seen the past several years. Growth has been largely cal, almost no dairy cattle in the lains area being shipped out to her sections and sold. On the her hand, several areas have increased dairy herds by the purchase herd animals from over the ate.

There has been a great exchange cattle by breeders with farmers. uch men as Oscar Stansell of loydada; R. W. Smith of Lockney; om Shepard of Lubbock; E. W. Hester of O'Donnell; Jim Rigler of Plainview; L. M. Rankin of Abernathy; Joe Vaughn and Dave Wood and others of Tulia; the McSpadden of Canyon and the Hales, have placed many splendid animals with farmers. There have been other sales, of course, for the above list is only a small part of the breeders. Such men as T. L. Casseaux of Meadow, who says little, ranks some of his best ones as register of merit animals. Dr. Smith J. Underwood, Hale Center, is another.

D. T. Simon, the genial secretary of the Texas Jersey Cattle club begs that breeders exhibit at Dallas next fall and attend the meeting of his club in Lubbock next spring.

(By Staff Correspondent)

"We have some very good wheat around Claude and Goodnight, on the main line, and around Quanah," Mr. Oates said. "On the South Plains lines the best wheat is between Plainview and Dimmitt, and around Lockney, Turkey and on down through Petersburg to Becton and Lubbock."

The railroad expects to handle around 2,000 to 2,500 cars of wheat this year. Last year it handled under that figure. Conditions have shown marked improvement in the past 30 days.

Garden That Keeps Up With Calendar Assures Table Well Supplied During Summer; Data Is Given On Vegetables

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—A half-acre garden plot may raise all the vegetables necessary for a family of five during the summer with plenty left over to can for the winter, according to state extension workers of the department of agriculture.

And just to spur the ambition, is a record made by a South Carolina garden last year. It produced 20 kinds of vegetables from 75 plantings in all, planting some kinds every few days to insure a long season supply. There was enough for a family of 14 through the year, yielding enough for 400 quarts of canned vegetables and a lot for market.

Recommendation Offered

A recommendation offered by the extension service of the University of Illinois suggests the following quantities to be multiplied by the number of members in the family:

Tomatoes: For six serving per person a week, or 312 during the year, put out 15 tomato plants.

Cabbage, lettuce, spinach: for six serving per person a week, set out 18 cabbage plants in the spring and 18 more in the fall; plant nine feet of lettuce in the spring, six feet in the fall; 15 feet of spinach in the spring and the same in the fall.

Carrots, turnips, beets, parsnips, onions: for six servings weekly plant 13 feet of carrots spring and fall; 10 feet of turnips in the spring, 15 feet in the fall; 10 feet of beets spring and fall; six feet of parsnips; 20 feet of onions.

String beans, asparagus, cauliflower, celery; for at least one serving weekly, plant 36 feet of string beans, eight crowns of asparagus; four plants of cauliflower spring and fall, eight plants of celery.

Potatoes (white), potatoes (sweet) squash: for seven servings per week, plant 200 feet of white potatoes; 50 feet of sweet potatoes; one squash plant in the spring, three in the fall.

It is not necessary to plant all the suggested vegetables for a balanced diet.

To get the most out of a garden keep the ground working all of the time, advises W. R. Beattie, of the department of agriculture.

"For a constant supply of peas," he says, "I plant three rows, each 100 feet long, planting one row at a time a week apart. Make two plantings of beets and carrots, one for summer use and one, later, for storage."

Showed Girls How

Kenneth Benson, high school student of Winchester, Mass., is shown with some of the preserves that won him first honors in a State-wide canning contest. Kenneth was the lone male entrant and he gained the victory over a field of 35 girls. He was awarded a scholarship as a result of his triumph.

With such optimists as would-be radio entertainers and movie stars the list statistics concerning occupations chosen by the English students in Lubbock high school have been compiled.

Aviation wins the popularity contest with forty boys designating it their future work, but medical work and civil engineering follow close behind with thirty-five and twenty-five, respectively.

Old Time Dresses Are Shown In Fashion Parade Staged By Home Economics Department

Dresses that are family treasures were featured Thursday afternoon in Assembly, when the Home Economics department gave its annual program.

Dame Fashion, played by Frances Campbell, showed the fads and fashions of by-gone days by calling forth the hooped skirts, bustles, leg o' mutton sleeves, hobble skirts, basques, and the flapper dress.

The dress that was of most interest was a wine colored taffeta, with a bustle, which was worn by Jean Eaton. The dress swept the floor, had a small train, and was trimmed with pleated ruffles and lace. The dress was first worn by Mrs. Sara Brown about 1880.

There were other wedding dresses among the group, having a great variety of colors and styles. Some of the oldest dresses were loaned to the department by Mesdames T. A. Bates, H. N. King, R. H. McCrummen, E. D. Reaves, C. D. Thompson, D. F. Eaton, S. A. Brown, Herd Jones, and E. M. Merrell.

Tailored dresses, sports suits, and party dresses of other times were displayed.

Two other skits, "Mar No Name," and "Bachelor' Dilemma," were also presented.
