COMING SUNDAY

Jumping-off Point

In a world of acrophobes, Midlander Neil Ormond is an acrophile. In Sunday's West Texas Life, Bruce Partain offers a story with photographs about a man who jumps from cliffs — but only when the wind is right.

Different Kind of Doctor

Most doctors don't expect to be bitten by their patients. But for Dr. Bobby Boyd of Midland, that possibility exists every day. For Sunday, staff writer Bill Modisett outlines Boyd's experiences as a practicing West Texas veterinarian.

Blood spatters indicate England was shot outside

By BILL MODISETT
Staff Writer

Blood splatters found on the van driven July 18 by Army Sgt. J.B. England indicate he was shot at least once while outside the vehicle, a Midland County deputy testified today.

Capt. John Kleinhans testified eight blood drops found on the exterior of the van show England was beside the van while receiving at least one of several bullet wounds.

Kleinhans testified during the second day of testimony in the murder trial of 17-year-old Kelly Joe Chambliss of Midland in 238th District Court here.

Earlier testimony had established that England, 39, of Marion, N.C., was inside the van when the first shot fired that night shattered the passenger's side window of the vehicle.

But Kleinhans said this morning in court that the sergeant also was wounded once while outside the van. That determination was made by the blood droplets found on the exterior of the van and smeared blood found on the van's body, he claimed.

Defense attorney Eddie Garza attacked Kleinhans' testimony, attempting to show that England could have exited the van and that the droplets of blood found on the van's exterior may have resulted from England's movement of his already wounded right arm.

But the captain maintained under questioning by Assistant District Attorney Charles Seltzer that the blood drops were concentrated in one area of the van in such a manner as to indicate they had been caused by an exit wound.

Kleinhans also said he would expect such blood droplets to have been created by an exit wound from a gunshot.

As Garza attempted to show England may have been wounded previously and may have stepped out of the van shortly after that, Kleinhans said, "The victim didn't have an arm wound — that was bleeding."

Subsequent testimony revealed Kleinhans saw England's small arm wound only after the arm had been cleaned at the hospital.

Testimony earlier in the trial described the Army sergeant as having been wounded three times in the face and once in the right arm. Testimony also indicated he was shot at a location 10 miles east of Midland on Interstate 20.

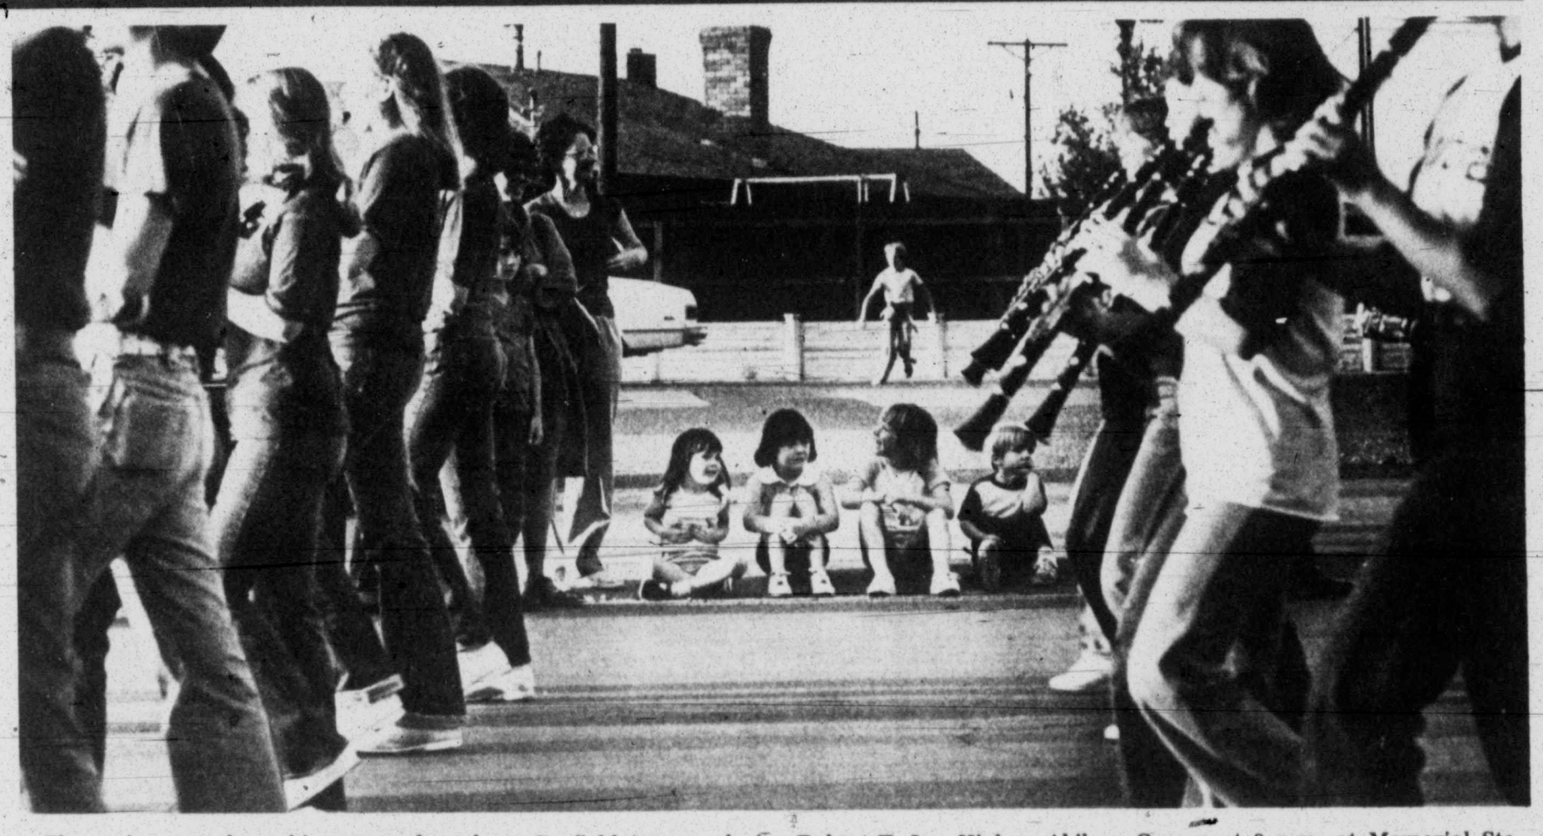

England died later that morning at Midland Memorial Hospital.

Another deputy, Sgt. Pat Fuller, testified Thursday afternoon concerning the arrests of Chambliss and co-defendant Raymond Wesley Mathis, 20. During Fuller's testimony, defense attorney Allen McFall raised a question about whether a passenger was riding in the van being driven by England at the time the sergeant's suffered the fatal wounds.

Chambliss' co-defendant, Mathis, was convicted of murder in the case in September and was assessed a 99-year prison sentence. That conviction now is on appeal.

Fuller, of the Midland County Sheriff's Department, testified at length Thursday, detailing the arrests of Mathis in Ward County on July 18 and of Chambliss at a residence on Griffin Street in Midland either shortly be-

Clements raps state's lawsuit

Says neither he nor SEDCO is to blame

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements doesn't think much of Attorney General Mark White's federal court suit against SEDCO Inc. and Permargo, a Mexican drilling company, for the Mexican oil spill.

"I don't think his suit is any good against anybody," the Republican governor commented after the Democratic attorney general filed the legal action Thursday in Houston.

"I think it is politically motivated," Clements commented, repeating a charge he has made frequently in his long feud with White over who should pay for oil spill damages to the Texas coast.

Clements was founder of SEDCO, a worldwide drilling firm, but, since becoming governor, has put all his stock in a blind trust. He says neither he nor SEDCO had anything to do with the June 3 oil well blowout in the Bay of Campeche.

White's suit claims that the Mexican oil spill has caused more than $10 million damage to the state's economy and environment.

However, White told a news conference there would be no legal action against Pemex, the Mexican oil monopoly, "until it is certain that all negotiations by the U.S. Department of State for damages from Mexico in regard to the oil spill have been exhausted."

White stressed the state might ask more than $10 million when the full impact is known of oil washing ashore on Texas beaches. He asked an additional civil penalty of $1,000 a day since the oil from Ixtoc I entered Texas waters about Aug. 1.

White said more than 2.4 million barrels of crude oil has poured out of the uncapped well.

Three spill-related damage suits totaling more than $355 million were filed previously against SEDCO, Pemex and Permargo by Texas fishermen, shrimpers and businessmen affected along the coast.

SEDCO filed a federal court suit in Houston asking that its liability be limited to $300,000 under maritime law. The Houston court set an Oct. 23 deadline for any other damage suits against SEDCO.

White's suit alleges that under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, SEDCO and Permargo are liable for the cost "removal of oil, including cost of restoration or replacement of natural resources damaged or destroyed as a result of the discharge of oil."

City of Midland now considering applying for development funds

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
Staff Writer

After a span of four years, the Midland City Council is taking steps to consider applying for Community Development funds.

The change of heart, according to one council member, is the result of a change in leadership at the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

A public hearing on the issue has yet to be set, however. City Manager James Brown said his staff is preparing a schedule which will include deadlines for the funds application.

Richard Hennessy, director of planning and community development for the city, said Thursday his office is "developing a schedule" for the council.

That schedule wasn't ready as of early Thursday, he said.

The issue of CD funds likely will surface at the council's Nov. 13 session, since the material apparently won't be ready for the council's next session Tuesday. The application would be for the 1980-81 fiscal year.

The City Council last year — after two lengthy sessions before crowded council chambers — slapped down the proposal to submit an application for CD funds on a tie vote of 3-3.

Primary reason for denial, councilmen said, was HUD's requirement to attach a plan for rental subsidy under Section 8 of HUD.

Since that stipulation was instituted in 1977, the council has voiced its opposition to rental subsidy and has refused to apply for the other CD funds.

That refusal has meant a loss of about $1 million in funds for the city each year.

HUD's requirement that each CD application include a Section 8 rental subsidy program isn't part of the federal government's law, claims Gordon G. Marcum II, a council member.

"It was just a personal requirment of Patricia Harris" that was adopted by each HUD office on the ladder of rank, he said. That explains why the Dallas office strictly enforced that requirement, Marcum added.

— "We understand the new head (of HUD) has committed himself to changing policies of passing out the money," he said.

Even so, there has been no word out of Washington that CD applications won't need the Section 8 addition. But Marcum said the City Council felt it should give it a try.

If the council decides to pursue the funds, the city is required under the law to hold a public hearing before the council actually takes a vote on a resolution to proceed with the application.

"A majority of the council wanted to go ahead and file the application,"

Texans who saved gasoline may be responsible for hike in state gas tax

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans who curtailed their driving because of rising fuel prices may force a hike in the state's nickel-a-gallon gasoline tax, several top state officials say.

An assistant state comptroller Thursday said revenue from the tax — the lowest in the nation — has fallen $7 million below the projected figures.

"The $7 million is a result of the gas shortage and people buying less gas and obviously driving fewer miles," Robert Spellings said.

The Highway Cost Index Committee this week voted to transfer $31.5 million from general revenue funds into the highway fund. Spellings said $24 million of that money was a result of a lag in vehicle registration fees. That delay was caused by a switch to a staggered registration system.

Spellings said that money will be recovered.

State officials are worried, however, about the decreased gasoline tax income. Gov. Bill Clements has said he will ask the next regular session of the Legislature to raise the tax.

"It's the only thing that makes sense," he said.

The governor has also talked about switching the tax to a percent basis. He said such a system would allow the revenues to increase as the price of gasoline increased. The recent Legislature took no action on that proposal.

Man in Oswald's grave may be an imposter

DALLAS (AP) — Enough doubt has been cast on the identity of the body buried in assassin Lee Harvey Oswald's grave that the remains should be dug up to see if President John F. Kennedy was killed by an impostor, say Dallas County medical officials.

The Dallas County officials point to discrepancies found by their own check of records and to others alleged by a British author who says Oswald may have been impersonated by a Soviet agent.

But officials in adjacent Tarrant County, where Oswald's grave is located in Rose Hill Cemetery, have resisted the proposed exhumation. They say they will do so only if ordered by a court.

Oswald, named as Kennedy's lone assassin by the Warren Commission, was shot to death while in police custody two days after Kennedy's assassination in 1963.

Earlier this year, the House Assassinations Committee said there was a possibility the Warren Commission was wrong in concluding that Oswald acted alone, but said it had no solid evidence.

The assassination spawned many theories, including some that Oswald was part of a conspiracy, that Cuban President Fidel Castro or organized crime played a role in the murder or that Oswald himself was a Soviet agent.

"Somebody has raised the question as to who is in that grave. The easiest way to find out is to...run some tests," Dallas County Medical Examiner Charles S. Petty said Thursday.

"We said to Tarrant County, if you exhume him we'll test him. We have more capability along that line than they do," Petty said. "If there's a question and a reasonable question that science can resolve, then that's our business."

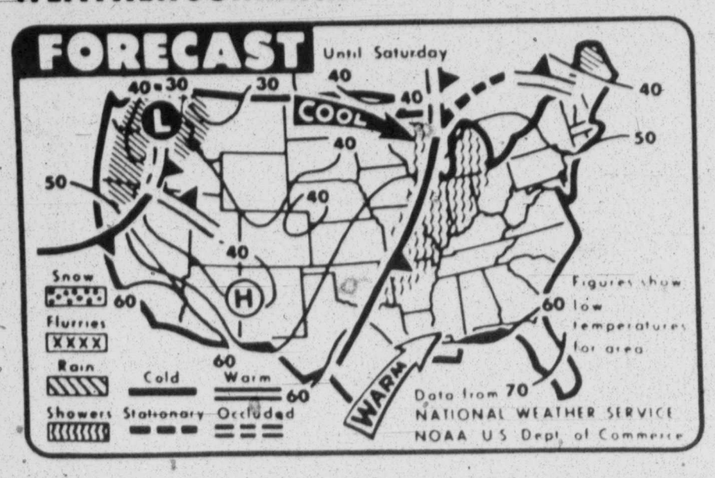

Petty's office was approached in August by an attorney representing British author Michael Eddowes, whose book "The Oswald File" suggests a Soviet agent took Oswald's place while Oswald was in Russia, came to the United States, killed Kennedy and is buried in Oswald's grave.

Eddowes says he has evidence indicating that Lee Harvey Oswald, who defected to the Soviet Union in 1959, was not the man who returned to the United States in 1962 with a Soviet wife and represented himself as Oswald.

Oswald's wife, Marina, who has since remarried, could not immediately be reached for comment.

Economy shows 2.4 percent growth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. economy rebounded from a second-quarter slump to grow at an annual rate of 2.4 percent from July through September, the government reported today.

The figure from the Commerce Department was stronger than expected and threw doubt on whether the nation's seventh recession since World War II was under way.

Much of the growth was attributed to a surge in sales, which had suffered from April through June because gasoline lines inhibited shopping and a shortage of crude oil depressed trade, said a Commerce analyst who asked not to be identified.

The third-quarter growth, which some analysts say could be a temporary plateau before the nation's output again turns down, followed a second-quarter decline of 2.3 percent at an annual rate.

HAD THE THIRD-quarter figure also shown a drop, the statistics would have lined up well with the traditional definition of a recession: two consecutive quarters of declining output.

The third-quarter growth figure was the strongest so far this year, though still weaker than the 3.5 percent expansion in the third quarter of 1978.

And it occurred, in good part, because Americans saved a mere 4.1 percent of their earnings — the lowest savings rate in more than 25 years, Commerce analyst Adren Cooper said.

Is the economy in recession?

"We don't know from this," Cooper said. "If you look at the figures, gross national product is back almost to the level of the first quarter."

GROSS NATIONAL product adjusted for inflation stood at an annual rate of $1.43 trillion, about $2 million higher than the first quarter level, the report showed.

Consumer purchases from July through September rose 1.1 percent to an annual rate of $924.8 billion, more than recovering from the 0.7 percent decline of the previous quarter, the report indicated.

Trade surged 47 percent to $19.4 billion at an annual rate, again more than making up for the 22 percent drop in the second quarter.

An annual rate figure is computed by extending the activity of a single quarter over the span of a full year.

Although the report indicates that inflation slowed from an annual rate of 9.3 percent in the first two quarters of the year to 8.4 percent in the third quarter, the income of Americans suffered.

INCOME ADJUSTED for both inflation and taxes was down 0.3 percent in the third quarter to $990.3 billion. It had fallen 0.4 percent in the preceding quarter.

"Real income is down, yet there's a strong recovery in consumer spending," Cooper noted. "Consumers didn't save. They just spent most of their money."

Before adjustment for inflation, the value of the nation's goods and services stood at an annual $2.39 trillion in the third quarter, up at an 11 percent annual rate from the second quarter.

The statistics are likely to heighten, rather than depress, debate over whether there is a recession.

Many experts, including Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, argue that the July-September data is a "false signal" and that the economy remains in "a recessionary mode."

OTHERS, INCLUDING Walter E. Hoadley, chief economist of the nation's largest bank, the Bank of America, say the real decline may still be ahead.

Hoadley told a gathering Thursday that, "If the third quarter is positive, we're not in it (a recession) and haven't been in it but we have been doing a lot of worrying about it."

But pinpointing the start of a recession is an academic nicety.

There is little debate among analysts that the nation is in for its seventh recession since World War II.

Whether it started in March or in October, analysts in and out of government say that by the end of the year business activity will have slowed dramatically.

The Carter administration forecasts that nearly 1 million Americans will lose their jobs by the end of next year.

DATA RESOURCES Inc., of Lexington, Mass., the nation's largest private forecasting firm, believes the downturn will take an even worse employment toll, especially in the wake of the Federal Reserve Board's action Oct. 6 to sharply tighten credit.

Robert Gough, director of the firm's forecasting operwtion, said Data Resources is predicting an unemployment peak of 7.8 percent late next year. That's 2 percentage points — or 2 million people — higher than the current 5.8 percent unemployment rate.

Wayne County unable to pay employees; IOUs rejected

DETROIT (AP) — Financially strapped Wayne County was unable to pay its employees today and a judge rejected a plan to use redeemable IOUs instead of real money.

The county, the nation's third most populous with 2.7 million people in Detroit and some of its suburbs, has $330,000 in its general fund, or 25 percent of the $1.6 million needed to pay its employees, said Treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz.

The impending chaos is complicated by the facts that no one is sure how many employees the county has (estimates run from 5,300 to 9,000), state auditors gave up trying to decipher the county's books, and no one is in charge.

Gov. William Milliken has barred state help unless county officials reorganize to put an executive in charge, saying the lack of a county executive is the main reason for the financial mess.

"What you've got is a $350 million-dollar-a-year operation with no one in charge," said Robert Berg, Milliken's executive assistant for public affairs. "You have all these elected officials (27) charging off and worrying about their own little department, and nobody's in charge."

Meanwhile, Council 25 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees filed suit Thursday in Wayne County Circuit Court demanding that county officials be arrested for violating Michigan labor law.

The suit asks that no money be spent by the county until the payroll is met, that the county pay interest on the back wages it now owes, and that state officials investigate Wayne's finances.

The union also asked Circuit Judge Irwin H. Burdick to order the county to meet the $2 million payroll. Burdick refused but called for a hearing on the issue Tuesday. He did bar the use of scrip in place of cashable checks.

Storm drops half-inch of rain, hail on Permian Basin area

A sudden, short-lived storm dropped up to half an inch of rain and some heavy hail on parts of the Permian Basin Thursday, but the weatherman said no more rain is expected for the weekend.

The National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport reported .37 inch of rain and marble-sized hail from Thursday's downpour, while golf-ball sized chunks were reported south of Odessa and near Rankin.

Forecast for Saturday calls for partly cloudy skies and warm afternoons. High should be in the mid-80s, with the overnight low expected to be in the upper 50s.

Southwesterly winds should be decreasing to 5-10 mph by tonight, the weatherman said.

Residents in north Midland got about a half-inch soaking in the shower, while rain gauges in west Midland recorded only about a tenth of a inch.

Greenwood, 10 miles east of the city, received only about a quarter of an inch, while Midkiff recorded no rain at all.

The shower upped the monthly rainfall total to .91 inch and the annual accumulation to 13.19 inches.

Thursday's high temperature was recorded at 85 degrees, and the overnight low reached 59.

Neither mark approached the record temperatures for the dates of 90 degrees set in 1936 or 35 degrees set in 1966.

In other parts of the state, fog was once again being reported along the upper Texas coast northward into the piney woods of East Texas. The areas around Houston and Lufkin reported visibilities near a mile because of the fog.

Predawn temperatures over Texas continued mild for this time of year. Early morning readings were mostly in the 60s and 70s, except for temperatures in the 50s over the Panhandle and mountains of West Texas.

Extremes at 4 a.m. ranged from 46 at Marfa to 78 at Brownsville.

The National Weather Service said skies probably would continue partly cloudy today over most sections of the state. Temperatures were expected to be rather warm again with afternoon highs in the 80s over the entire state.

Blood spatters indicate England was shot at least once outside van

fore or after midnight that same day.

Under questioning by McFall, one of a defense team that also includes Garza, Fuller testified he does not know if a passenger was riding in the van with England when he was shot.

"I'm reasonably sure at this time that there was not," Fuller testified, although admitting he could not positively say another person was not in the van.

McFall also brought out the fact that although officers found .22-caliber, .25-caliber and .38-caliber ammunition in the car being driven by Mathis, the co-defendant, when he was arrested in Ward County, they did not find weapons capable of firing all three calibers of ammunition.

What they did find, Fuller testified, were two .22-caliber semi-automatic rifles in the trunk of the vehicle and a .22-caliber magnum rifle in the passenger compartment of the vehicle.

Still under cross-examination by McFall, Fuller admitted it probably would have been easier for a left-handed person to have fired at England from the passenger's seat of a vehicle passing the van than a right-handed person.

Earlier, Fuller had testified he arrested Chambliss at the address on Griffin Street, read the defendant his rights and took him to jail.

Fuller said he had been told Chambliss was attempting to leave for Canada.

He also said a man named Bob Crane, about 20 and believed to be from Waco, was present with Mathis when he was arrested.

Crane was not arrested, Fuller testified, but he said that since the shooting, efforts to contact the man as a potential witness in the case have been unsuccessful.

Testimony earlier Thursday showed officers were called to the scene of the shooting about 4:30 a.m. July 18.

According to Deputy Benny Fishback, first officer to arrive at the scene, he found Sgt. England sitting with his back against his van, his shirt and the top part of his pants soaked in his own blood.

Two couples were attempting to aid the sergeant when Fishback arrived, he said. One of the women told Fishback she was a nurse and that person, testified the deputy, was treating England for shock and trying to keep him from choking on his own blood.

Fishback said officers who searched the scene found $214 in cash in England's wallet and an Army identification card.

A search of the van also revealed pools of blood, mounds of broken glass from the shattered passenger's side window and a fired bullet.

Although England was unable to speak, Fishback said England indicated by way of sign language that he had been shot about 20 minutes before Fishback's arrival.

Testimony during the Mathis trial in September revealed England was on his way to Fort Bliss at El Paso from Marion, N.C., when he was shot in the early morning hours of July 18.

Racial violence eases in Boston schools

BOSTON (AP) — About 75 white students marched out of Madison Park High School and went to City Hall today to complain of alleged mistreatment by blacks, but the school system was peaceful after three days of racial violence.

Similar demands about security were voiced by hundreds of other protesting white students during a week of violence and disruption stemming from tension over the city's 5-year-old court-ordered desegregation plan.

Today's demonstration was peaceful, and no problems were reported at South Boston High School, the scene of racial fights on Tuesday and Wednesday, and East Boston High, the scene of violence Thursday.

The Madison Park students left City Hall when ordered out by police. Their school is in Roxbury, a black neighborhood of the city.

After Thursday's trouble, school Superintendent Robert Wood predicted less strife today at the East Boston and South Boston high schools.

"I met with student representatives of all 18 high schools this afternoon," Wood said in a telephone interview Thursday night. "Their basic concern besides better guidance counseling was that people stop characterizing them as white, black and other minorities and start thinking of them as human beings."

Wood, as he has done in the past, blamed this week's violence on the "ripple effect" of racial prejudice from the adult community. He singled out the attitude of antibusing advocates in South Boston, which he said has "spilled over to the students."

However, most of Thursday's trouble was in Italian-American East Boston, where school buses and police cars were stoned and white students demanded protection from attacks.

Four white pupils were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct, police said, but there were no serious injuries.

The violence — the third straight day of racial unrest in Boston schools — apparently was touched off by a stabbing in East Boston High School on Wednesday.

At the height of Thursday's violence, 150 students marched out of the school and walked to a subway station to carry their protest to City Hall. On the way, witnesses said, they overturned three cars and smashed windows in two police cars.

Earlier, buses loaded with black students on their way to other schools were stoned, school officials said.

At City Hall, the students demanded to see Mayor Kevin H. White, but instead met with school Deputy Superintendent Robert Donahue.

During the meeting, they demanded that metal detectors be installed at East Boston High to keep out weapons.

City may apply for funds from HUD

Marcum noted.

"Right now, we're just looking at applying. It takes such a long, formal procedure that our staff needs to gear up and do what is necessary," he said.

"I'm hopeful that the atmosphere in Washington and HUD has changed to let communities like Midland participate without the government getting too involved in it," Marcum added.

If HUD rejects that application because the rental subsidy has been deleted, Marcum said it probably will come back to the City Council.

"We'll have to have another big vote," he said, referring to the November 1978 tug-of-war session.

Marcum said the CD funds primarily are used for rehabilitating houses of the elderly and handicapped citizens, for paving and rebuilding streets and for relieving drainage problems.

Midland last applied for CD funds in 1977. The money then was to be used for rehabilitating homes, paving and curbing streets, building a senior citizens center and making park improvements.

That application, though, was denied in Washington because there was no rental subsidy program included.

One dies in Marine base explosion

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon winds toppled a gasoline storage tank today, triggering an explosion and fire that raced through the barracks area of a U.S. Marine Corps camp. One Marine was killed and at least 46 others persons were injured, seven critically.

American officials, hampered by storm-disrupted communications, had trouble assembling details of the incident. But they said most of the victims were Americans.

Those injured were treated at five Japanese hospitals in the area. The most severe burn victims were to be evacuated later to U.S. military hospitals, spokesmen said.

The freakish incident occurred as the fierce storm, which struck southern Japan earlier in the day, surged northward toward the Tokyo region packing torrential rains and winds upwards of 55 miles an hour. At least four Japanese were reported killed in the storm.

Japanese news reports said that 14 quonset huts and a camp laundry were destroyed in the fire that burned for almost four hours after the blast.

Master Gunnery Sgt. Bob Green, the Marine spokesman, said he did not know the cause of the explosion and that no information was available immediately on the identity of the victims.

The storm hit the Shizuoka area, where the camp is located, shortly before reaching Tokyo. The fuel fire occurred about 1:30 p.m., when the storm was at its peak in the area.

Auto consulting service matches cars, owners

BY GALE TOLLIN

BROOKLYN PARK, Minn. (AP) — Mike Fitzgibbons, a former car salesman, says he lacked the killer instinct some auto dealers seek in their salesman. That's why he started an automotive consulting service to help match buyers with the right buggies.

"What I try to do is get a deal where the dealer makes a fair profit, the salesman gets a fair commission and the buyer gets the car he wants for a fair price," he said.

Fitzgibbons, 39, says his recently established Automotive Consulting Service charges 10 percent of whatever it can save a car or truck buyer.

The minimum fee is $25 and the maximum is $100 — but Fitzgibbons says he scales down the charge for a retiree "who already has paid his dues and is trying to live on a fixed income. If I don't save him anything, I don't charge anything."

When a prospective buyer comes to him, Fitzgibbons first counsels on what car to buy. Many people know only what they want — not what they need, he says. They also discuss the options the car should have, and what the client's trade-in vehicle should bring.

The customer then goes shopping and returns to Fitzgibbons to report on the "best deal" he found. Fitzgibbons then tries to better the deal.

That's where his expertise and "connections" become important, Fitzgibbons says. He knows dealers' costs, including that of options, "right down to the cigarette lighter," and also is aware of manufacturer rebates to dealers and which dealers are "short of money."

Fitzgibbon examines the deal and tells the customer what to offer when he returns to the dealer. If the dealer won't accept the offer, Fitzgibbons finds one who will.

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Gagging Your Partner

By Alfred Sheinwold

"What this country needs is a gag for bridge partners," a reader suggests. "They could write out their bids, but they'd have to keep quiet during the play."

East took the ace of clubs and returned a club to the queen. When South then led the ace of spades West said "You caught it!" as he dropped the jack.

South might have played West for the J-10 or J-10-9, but after West's remark South said "Thank you very much" and proceeded to make his slam.

RUFFS HEARTS

South led a heart to the king and returned a spade. East put up the nine, and South won with the king, noting West's discard. South got to dummy twice in diamonds to ruff hearts and then led a club to the king.

Declarer now led dummy's ace of hearts. When East ruffed, South overruffed. If East discarded on the ace of hearts, South would discard the queen of diamonds and continue hearts. South would then overruff East to take the last two tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids one diamond, and the next player doubles. You hold: ♠ 10 9 7 4 ♡ Q 10 6 3 ◇ 10 4 ♣ A 5 3. What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. You would bid one heart if the opponent had passed, but you should not speak after the double. Perhaps the next player will bid hearts if you pass. You would bid with a better hand or a better suit, but it's a good rule to say nothing when you have nothing to say.

Compounded confusion

Civil libertarians can only be heartened by the U.S. Supreme Court's decision to hear a new case involving the right of trial judges to close judicial proceedings to the press and public.

The court's shocking 5-4 ruling last July granted judges virtual carte blanche to close preliminary hearings, where it is said that fully 90 percent of all criminal cases are resolved.

In short order, the ruling led to more than 50 instances in which judges acted to close their courtrooms during criminal case proceedings. Most of these actions were taken at the preliminary hearing stage. But the ambiguous wording of the court's July decision left some local and state judges with the impression that a precedent had been established for conducting whole trials behind closed doors.

It was just such a case involving a closed murder trial in Virginia that prompted lawyers for two Richmond newspaper reporters barred from the courtroom to appeal to the Supreme Court.

The court is to hear arguments in the Virginia case next January, after which it will decide whether to clarify, or perhaps reverse, its July decision. Those who value a free press, the public's right to know, and the obvious virtues of an open criminal-justice system, favor a clean reversal of the court's prior ruling. We most certainly join in this hope.

But short of that, the Supreme Court should at least define and clarify its position. As it is, even the court itself is in doubt over whether its decision applied only to preliminary hearings or to trials as well.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger has said the decision affected only preliminary hearings. Justice Harry A. Blackmun, who dissented from that ruling, believes the decision also granted judges the right to close trials.

No wonder lower court judges are confused. And this sort of confusion can only serve to compound the damage already done to First and Sixth Amendment rights that, to our way of thinking, require a judicial system free of secrecy and the abuse of justice which secrecy encourages.

And in addition to this, the court's July ruling is but another infringement on the public's right to know.

Protesters violate law

The actions of the demonstrators at Seabrook, protesting the construction of the nuclear plant near the small New Hampshire community, are clearly in violation of tresspass and vandalism laws.

In their attempt to seize the plant, they tore down chain-link fences, disrupted the flow of traffic and stormed the gates of the Seabrook plant, itself.

The demonstrators did all this at no little expense to public coffers, which stood the expense for state police and National Guard troops.

The confrontation resulted in several injuries — mostly to the protestors. Several were arrested and others were treated for eye and skin irritation from Mace and tear gas.

The anti-Seabrook demonstrations have been going on for five years but this was the first time that the groups opposing nuclear power plants had attempted to seize one of them. And at least one leader of the Coalition for Direct Action marks the action as a milestone, "a new approach."

Since the beginning, approximately 1,800 persons have been arrested for law violations which took place during demonstrations.

And if the most recent action really was "a new approach," then it would appear that the number of those arrested will increase materially in the future. And it is likely that more and more demonstrators will be injured in the confrontations. Plants of this nature and public property in general simply must be protected from those vandals who would seize and destroy.

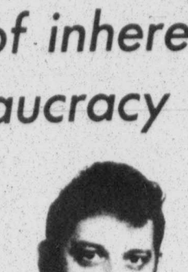

These plants are needed to carry this nation through the century. Those who oppose nuclear energy certainly have a right to protest, but they should keep their actions within the perimeters of the law.

CHARLEY REESE

Certain result of inherent nature of bureaucracy told

By CHARLEY REESE
Sun Belt Syndicate

Charley Reese

ORLANDO, Fla. — At Ft. Jackson, S.C., in the 1950s when I was a "boot," we had to buy a complete kit — razor, tooth brush, etc. — which was used only for inspections.

That was stupid naturally since it defeated the purpose of an inspection which is to train a soldier to maintain his equipment. It was the equivalent of buying a car for the sole purpose of using it once a year to pass the vehicle safety inspection.

I cite it as an example of a function designed to accomplish an objective which became an objective itself. Passing the inspection became the objective; training the troops to maintain their equipment was forgotten.

This is a common phenomenon in government. It is illustrated by the bureaucrat who insists on following the rules and the form even if to do so defeats the purpose the rules and the forms were designed to achieve in the first place.

Thus, a police department can become obsessed with answering calls instead of enforcing the law and making the community a safer place to live. Judges can become obsessed with caseloads instead of with justice. Educators can become engrossed in numbers of pupils matriculated.

Akin to this is the urge to quantify everything, a tendency directly related to the budgeting process. Some things, unfortunately for budget builders, cannot be quantified.

Add to this the rule of thumb that the bureaucrat's pay is usually dependent on the number of bodies he supervises and you have all the ingredients for big, inefficient government.

Frankly, I can't think of an area where government has a good record. It's important to remember, though, that government foul-ups are neither accidental nor conspiratorial but are instead a certain result of the inherent nature of bureaucracy.

Anybody who has worked in government can tell you that the individual government employee, with some exceptions, is just as sincere, just as concientious and just as hard-working as his counterpart in the private sector.

Nor is the private sector immune from creating bureaucracy and inefficiency. Still, the private sector has several saving graces which government does not have.

One, it is forced, since it can exist only so long as it succeeds, to focus on the purpose for which it was created. A government school to educate blind people can continue to exist even if it doesn't educate blind people because its existence is dependent on legislative action. A car dealership which does not sell cars, however, folds immediately.

It's second saving grace is that private sector managers can usually do a better job of motivating their employees. In short, they can fire them for incompetence. The government manager can almost never fire an employee for incompetence. Too often, he will promote the incompetent to make room for a better worker.

A third saving grace is that in the private sector power generally goes only to those who have demonstrated the judgment and competence to use it. By contrast, power in government is usually allotted on the basis of politics, a practice which often produces the misery caused by people who have more power than brains or maturity.

My peference for less government is purely pragmatic. I am not opposed to government just for the sake of being opposed to it nor am I opposed to most of the objectives bureaucracies are created to obtain. It's that government is by its very nature the most expensive, least efficient way to do anything.

Government is necessary, but we should limit it to very few jobs. Even those, it will foul up, but we can afford some inefficiency in exchange for some benefits like not having to rely on mercenaries for defense.

The only way to cure the cyncism toward government is to make our expectations more relistic. It is not the Messiah.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Murder of two nuns hushed up (?)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing is already in "la soupe" over charges that he accepted diamonds from "Emperor" Bokassa I, the deposed bloody-handed dictator of what is once again the Central African Republic.

What may get d'Estaing even deeper in the bouillabaisse is his friendly relationship with another dictatorship, however. There is disturbing evidence that the French president has been covering up the murder of two French nuns by the secret police of the military junta that rules Argentina.

Our sources tell us that d'Estaing was personally informed by a high Argentine official last June that the two nuns, who were arrested by Argentina security agents almost two years ago, were in fact dead. Yet d'Estaing never made this information public, despite the fact that the nuns' disappearance was a "cause celebre" in the French press.

The nuns, Sisters Alice Domon and Leonie Duquet, were kidnapped in December 1977, for taking part in activities protesting the human rights abuses of the Argentine military dictatorship, which has systematically kidnapped, tortured and murdered thousands of Argentinians suspected of opposing the autocratic regime.

Sister Alice was seized in Buenos Aires on Dec. 8, 1977, along with a group of Argentinian women who had met to discuss placing a newspaper ad about their missing sons and daughters. Two days later, Sister Leonie was abducted.

Despite repeated inquiries from Catholic Church authorities and the French government, there was no word from the Argentine government on the missing nuns. Our sources claim they were murdered by the junta's security agents — and the Argentine official's admission to d'Estaing lends credence to this belief.

Yet the French president has said nothing about the Argentine official's admission that the nuns were dead.

One reason for his silence may be that he is reportedly planning an official visit to Argentina, and the revelation that the nuns were dead would undoubtedly cause such a public outcry in France that d'Estaing might have to call off his trip.

The sordid root of d'Estaing's reluctance to displease the junta and risk damage to Franco-Argentine relations, apparently is money. French investment in Argentina has been booming since the military siezed control of the unhappy country in 1976. Even more importantly, France has become probably the biggest source of armaments for the South American dictatorship, according to the Washington-based Council on Hemispheric Affairs (COHA).

Napoleon referred contemptuously to the English as a nation of shopkeepers, but the French have proven themselves no slouches when it comes to turning a franc. After the United States cut off arms shipments to Argentina because of the dictatorship's atrocious record on human rights, France moved in with true Gallic elan.

Official government records show that from 1968 to 1977, France sold only $30 million in military equipment to Argentina. But from early 1977 to early 1979, French munitions makers sold a whopping $400 million worth of armements to Argentina.

Footnote: A French Embassy spokesman in Washington told our associate Gary Cohn that a high Argentine source did indeed inform the French government — unofficially — that the two nuns were probably dead. But he insisted that no hard evidence was provided, so there is still a slim hope that the nuns are still alive. The embassy spokesman explained that the best way to protect French citizens in Argentina is to stay on good terms with the Argentine government — a haunting echo of the attitude that led to the humiliation of France by another dictatorship four decades ago.

DANGEROUS DUST: For seven years, shipyard workers on the Gulf Coast of Louisiana served as unwitting guinea pigs for two Tulane University doctors, who sat by and took notes on men inhaling dangerous silica dust instead of trying to prevent them from developing deadly silicosis.

The study, by Drs. Morton Ziskind and Hans Weill of Tulane's medical school, was funded by the federal government.

Dr. John Froines, deputy director of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health, called the $174,847 federal grant to study "poorly protected sandblasters" as the Tulane doctors candidly called their subjects — "one of the saddest chapters of the agency."

Froines told us, "Instead of taking the position that exposure to silica dust should be controlled, they were performing experiments on the men."

Froines said, "we had ethical problems with that study," and the agency cut off the doctors' funds in 1974. Much of the credit for the cutoff belongs to Dr. William Johnson, who was acting deputy director of the agency's field studies in 1973.

Johnson found that sandblasters and other shipyard workers were exposed to dust that exceeded federal safety standards by 142 times. And it was no ordinary dust: The content of "free silica" — the agent that causes silicosis — was a sky-high 90 percent.

Johnson alerted Louisiana health officials to the danger. Their reply was that they hoped the Tulane study would find a solution "protective of the workers without the sacrifice of important industrial operations."

Incredibly, when NIOSH cut off its funding, the Tulane team was able to continue its study with a grant from the National Heart and Lung and Blood Institute.

INSIDE REPORT:

Maryland Republicans hear Reagan-Kemp 'taxonomics' story

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

Evans

Novak

HUNT VALLEY, Md. — When Ronald Reagan told the Maryland Republican dinner here about tax-cutting ideas of "a young congressman from New York — Jack Kemp," he signalled a campaign strategy change of profound potential consequences in presidential politics.

That morning at a Hopkinsville, Ky., rally, Reagan plugged Rep. Kemp. The night before at a black-tie $500-a-plate dinner on a Kentucky bluegrass horse farm, he did the same. The night before that, Reagan praised the congressman (seated beside him) at a dinner in his Buffalo constituency. Indeed, since summer's end, Jack Kemp has replaced the notorious "welfare queen" of 1976 as a stock character in Reagan's stump oratory.

More importantly, pushing tax relief for blue-collar workers has replaced flogging welfare recipients. Alone among Republican presidential hopefuls, front-runner Reagan ardently pressed a huge across-the-board tex reduction. While the Reagan of early summer still played to Main Street merchants by castigating federal regulation, he now seeks to sway broader audiences from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy by preaching economic hope through tax cuts instead of austerity through reduced growth.

This has reforged the old but recently diminished relationship between Reagan and Kemp. Reagan's embrace of Kemp's view of tax-cutting as anti-inflationary has moved Kemp within a step of joining the Reagan-for-president organization (perhaps as national chairman or co-chairman). That would rule out Kemp's candidacy for the Senate but suggests bigger things ahead — possibly, predicts one senior Reagan staffer, a Reagan-Kemp ticket.

On or off the ticket, Kemp within the Reagan campaign would fight a sunbelt strategy and insist on appealing to blue-collar workers in the Northeast. Reagan would advocate what neither Democrats nor most businessmen support: broad-based tax cuts to combat inflationary destruction of the workers' standard of living.

None of this seemed possible earlier this year when Reagan talked as one dedicated to the deep root canal school of economics: If it hurts you, it must be good for you. In private, he endorsed recession as the antidote to inflation.

Wooing Reagan away from this conventional Republicanism, no easy struggle, turned on two advisers: Dr. Martin Anderson, Reagan's policy chief in Los Angeles, and Richard J. Whalen, a Washington-based consultant. Anderson and Whalen are both proteges of Dr. Arthur Burns, high priest of the deep root canal school. Before convincing their candidate, Anderson and Whalen had to disagree with their mentor and change their own minds.

All this was unknown to Kemp just one month ago. Discouraged by lack of interest in tax reduction by all Republican presidential hopefuls, Kemp was pondering a secret overture from California tax-cut crusader Howard Jarvis proposing a Kemp-for-president campaign. It was then that Kemp was shown a preliminary draft of Reagan's Nov. 13 speech in which he will announce his candidacy; it included an emphatic call for tax cuts.

Reagan has been giving previews of Nov. 13 daily. At the Hunt Valley speech in suburban Baltimore County, he devoted 14 minutes to tax reduction, rejecting two dogmas: that prosperity means inflation and that the balanced budget is inviolate.

"Anybody can balance the budget by raising taxes, and inflation is a tax," said Reagan, calling present inflation-hiked tax rates "a penalty imposed on working men and women." He commended tax reduction as "another way to balance the budget and another way to end the inflation." In words lifted from Kemp's speech book, Reagan declared: "I do not believe inflation is caused by too many people working."

While all Reagan's presidential rivals give lip service to tax reduction, all seem truly committed to the deep root canal school. Neither George Bush nor John Connally endorsed the 1978 Kemp-Roth tax-cut bill and seldom bring up tax reduction today. Neither does Sen. Howard Baker. While reaffirming support of Kemp-Roth on NBC's Meet the Press Oct. 7 (following months of silence), Baker declared Treasury Secretary G. William Miller was correct at the World Bank meeting in Belgrade when he called for "austerity" by Americans.

Asked the same question by us, Reagan dropped out of the deep root canal school: "He (Miller) is voicing that old-fashioned economics that the choice is between inflation and recession." In his Kentucky and Maryland speeches, Reagan criticized world financial leaders in Belgrade for advocating U.S. recession to stop inflation.

Those comments followed a half-hour private economic discussion in Buffalo between Reagan and Kemp. Four days later, Kemp conferred in Washington with Reagan campaign manager John Sears. All that seems lacking for Kemp to board the Reagan bandwagon is assurance the Nov. 13 speech will reflect his economic views. In view of Reagan's largely ignored current stump speaking, it is almost a certainty that Mr. Conservative will take a position that frightens corporate boardrooms but combats Ted Kennedy's welfarism on factory assembly lines.

Mark Russell says

You've heard of welfare cheaters and at the new Department of Education, they're learning to spot the education cheater. He's usually the one who quit school after the seventh grade and is now the president of his own consulting firm.

Education and poverty go hand in hand. By that I mean a lot of people have a poor education. All they have is a liberal arts degree.

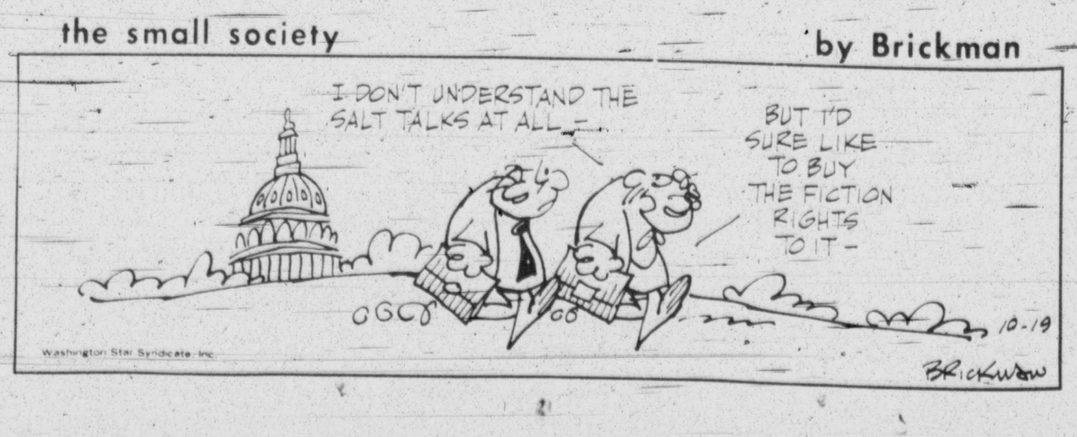

The best education can be had at the school of Hard Knocks. I think it's in Knocksville, Tenn.

Even though we now have a Department of Education, remember the old saying — "The educated will always be with us."

Carter's ratings up 5 percent

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter's standing with the American public strengthened a bit from its historic lows after a month of high interest rates, Soviet troops in Cuba and speculation about the 1980 primaries, an Associated Press-NBC News poll says.

The five-percentage-point rise in Carter's rating is the largest positive surge in his ratings since the 16-point jump that occurred after the Mideast summit at Camp David in September 1978.

In the five weeks since the last AP-NBC News poll, Carter has talked to the nation about the Soviet brigade in Cuba; the Federal Reserve Board kicked interest rates to their highest levels ever; and the first pseudo-confrontation between non-candidates Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy took place in Florida.

Although the latest poll shows a jump for Carter, his job rating is still extremely depressed compared to other presidents.

Twenty-four percent of those interviewed Monday and Tuesday rated Carter's work good or excellent. Fifty percent said his work is only fair and another 24 percent rated his work as poor. Two percent of the 1,600 adults interviewed nationwide by telephone were not sure.

In September, only 19 percent gave Carter good or excellent marks, while 49 percent said his efforts had been only fair. Thirty percent called his work poor. Two percent were not sure.

The 19 percent rating was the lowest ever found for a president since this question was first asked in the 1950s.

Last month's poll was taken Sept. 10 and 11, shortly after the furor erupted over the Soviet brigade in Cuba and after Kennedy indicated he was seriously considering a primary challenge to Carter.

Carter's job ratings in several specific areas edged up in the most recent survey, suggesting there was no single major event responsible for the turnaround, only a general strengthening of support for the incumbent.

After a tumultuous month of economic developments, 13 percent gave Carter high marks for his work on the economy, up from 10 percent last month. Thirty-nine percent rated his work only fair, no change from the 40 percent of last month.

Forty-four percent said his economic efforts were poor, compared to 47 percent in the previous poll. The remainder were not sure.

This finding suggests that the public reaction to the Federal Reserve's recent moves to slow down inflation — and Carter's support for those actions — is not negative at this time.

The board moved earlier this month to sharply slow the growth of the money supply through record high interest rates and new regulations on banks. Critics say the moves could plunge the nation into a deep recession and throw millions more out of work.

On Oct. 1, Carter told the nation of the steps he was taking to strengthen the U.S. presence in the Caribbean in response to the Soviet troop presence in Cuba.

While those specific actions did not draw positive responses from the public, his excellent or good rating on foreign policy stood at 24 percent this month, compared to 22 percent last month. Forty-three percent said his work is only fair and 28 percent called his international efforts poor. Five percent were not sure.

On energy, 17 percent rated Carter's work good or excellent, while 35 percent said it has been only fair. Forty-five percent said it has been poor and 3 percent were not sure.

Those figures reflect virtually no change from last month, when 16 percent gave his energy efforts top marks.

The rebound for Carter also showed up in another way on a question on whether the respondent would like to see Carter try for another term. The public at large split on whether he should run for re-election: 43 percent favored a Carter bid and 47 percent opposed one. Ten percent were not sure.

But 50 percent of the Democrats said they favor a Carter try for another term — an 11-point surge compared to last month. Forty-one percent of the Democrats opposed a Carter bid and 9 percent were not sure.

In the September AP-NBC News poll, only 39 percent of the Democrats favored a Carter re-election try. Fifty-four percent were opposed and the rest not sure.

As with every sample survey, the results of the AP-NBC News poll can vary from the opinions of all those with telephones across the country because of chance variations in the sample.

For polls with 1,600 interviews, the results should vary no more than 3 percentage points either way simply because of sample error. That is, if one could talk to all adults in the country, there is only one chance out of 20 that the results would vary from the findings of this poll by more than 3 percentage points.

Kennedy supporters suffer 3-1 setback in Dade County

MIAMI (AP) — Backers of a move to draft Sen. Edward Kennedy as a presidential candidate have suffered a 3-1 loss in the Democratic caucuses in Dade County, once considered a Kennedy stronghold.

Results released early today gave President Carter a 147-41 victory over the Massachusetts Democrat Edward Kennedy in balloting for delegates to the Florida Democratic Convention in November.

Kennedy forces disputed several delegates, but not enough to change the dimensions of the Carter win.

Carter will have a 525-275 edge over Kennedy if Broward County results turn out in the expected 115-1 split for Carter. It was uncertain when tabulation of Broward's ballots would be completed.

Statewide, AFL-CIO slates took 51 delegates and 27 were uncommitted.

"A month ago, we were being urged to write off Dade County and not even campaign here," said Jay Hakes, Carter's campaign coordinator. "I think that what this shows is that when we start competing for the real delegates, that we've got a lot of strength in a big state that's going to be crucial."

Delegates chosen in the county caucuses will be joined at the convention in Petersburg on Nov. 16-18 by 839 other delegates who are picked by party leaders and elected officials and are expected to favor Carter.

Call for Kennedy movement waiting for 'real campaign'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The key money raisers for the Kennedy draft movement say things are going so well they are cutting back their activities until Edward M. Kennedy announces his candidacy and begins the "real campaign" against President Carter.

Officials of the National Call for Kennedy group say they are so confident the Massachusetts senator will decide to challenge Carter for the Democratic nomination that their draft campaign is becoming unnecessary.

"We were prepared to mail as many as 2 million pieces by the first of January in this campaign, but that isn't going to happen because the draft Kennedy movement is rapidly becoming moot," said Tom Mathews, a partner in the mailing firm directing the drive.

Mathews says the National Call's direct mail efforts have been so successful a Kennedy candidacy could put the Democratic Party on easy street after years of debt.

Meanwhile, Carter campaign chairman Evan Dobelle said his committee's fundraising has picked up since Carter bested the Kennedy draft forces in voting at party caucuses in Florida last weekend.

Carter hopes to raise $5 million by the end of the year and so far his campaign has received about half its goal. The president is expected to officially announce his candidacy for re-election on Dec. 4.

A new Associated Press-NBC poll shows a 5-percentage-point rise in Carter's standing with the American public after his rating had reached a historic low last month.

Kennedy has not authorized any of the political committees operating in his name, but he could benefit from their ground-laying efforts if he becomes a candidate later.

Kennedy has said he is thinking about entering the race, and a spokesman said Thursday an "exploratory" presidential campaign committee will be formed, possibly as early as next week.

Mathews said the Call, a committee of labor leaders and political activists formed to persuade Kennedy to challenge Carter, will soon complete a mailing of 300,000 letters.

"It now appears that what will result is between 6,000 and 7,000 contributors who will give between $100,000 and $125,000," Mathews said. "This mailing contains about twice as many people as that who say they will want to work for him or will give money once he's a declared candidate."

The Call has been soliciting money with a letter signed by Machinists Union President William Winpisinger asking Kennedy sympathizers to send in expressions of support and only enough money to pay for mailing more letters. Sponsors said any left-over money would be refunded or contributed to the John F. Kennedy presidential library.

But the mailing operation has built up a list of potential contributors that could be used to raise money in time for the New Hampshire primary, Mathews said.

Although Mathews would not make a firm prediction, it is expected the names accumulated could raise as much as $5 million to $6 million in small donations for the nomination campaign.

Benefits of debates debatable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon looked haggard. Lines circled his eyes. He sweated heavily. Years later, some Nixon partisans wondered whether the television makeup man had been a Democratic plant.

President Gerald R. Ford misspoke. He said Eastern Europe was not under the thumb of Moscow. "There is no Soviet domination of Eastern Europe and there never will be under a Ford Administration," he said.

Both instances occurred during televised campaign debates. Both occurred in elections whose outcomes were so close that the debates may have been decisive.

No one remembered what Nixon said — just how he looked. Ford later had to say he had "made a slip" on Eastern Europe. The admission helped rival Jimmy Carter portray Ford as inept.

With proposals already before Congress to make possible televised debates in the 1980 election, two veteran observers of the news media debated Thursday whether such high-stake and tense events help voters pick the best man.

David Halberstam, author of "The Powers That Be," a book about news organizations, said debating served to reveal candidates.

Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, professor of government at Georgetown University, said debates reveal nothing about what kind of president a candidate will make and "contribute to the perversion of our standards for judging candidates."

The issue arose during a National Town Meeting discussion at the Kennedy Center on the power of the news media.

"Presidents don't make decisions like television debaters do," Mrs. Kirkpatrick said. "Presidents have advisers. They consult. They study. They deliberate. And then presumably they make a very judicious decision."

Halberstam said, "I think debating is a way of sizing up the two candidates over an extended hour, which is valuable, watching them a little bit in the pressure cooker."

Jesse Bishop is one of 559 on the states' Death Rows

By The Associated Press

As convicted murderer Jesse Bishop faces the gas chamber in Nevada on Monday, he is one of 559 men and six women on Death Rows across the country.

A check of all 50 states by The Associated Press shows that about four-fifths of the men and women under death sentence in America today are in states in the Deep South.

But actual executions remain quite rare, and a check with prison officials failed to turn up anyone on Death Row — besides Bishop — whose sentence is likely to be carried out soon.

Bishop, 46, has said he will refuse to appeal his death sentence, even though it is considered probable that he could be granted a stay of execution if he requested it.

Thirty-five states have the death penalty, but only two men have actually been executed in the last 12 years, during which time the U.S. Supreme Court first ruled against the death penalty, and then ruled favorably on rewritten state death penalty laws.

Gary Gilmore, a convicted murderer, faced a firing squad in Utah on Jan. 17, 1977, and John Spenkelink, a convicted killer, died in the Florida electric chair last May 25.

Florida has the nation's largest Death Row population: 139 men and one woman. Texas follows with 119 men and one woman, Georgia with 71 men and one woman, Alabama with 45 men and one woman, Arizona with 34 men, California with 23 men, and Oklahoma with 19 men.

Other states with persons on Death Row include: Mississippi, 13 men; Tennessee and Illinois, 11 men each; South Carolina, 10 men; North Carolina, eight men and two women; Arkansas, nine men; Virginia, Utah and Nevada, seven men each; Indiana, Delaware, Nebraska and Washington, four men each; Kentucky and Montana, three men each; and Louisiana, Idaho, Pennsylvania and Wyoming, one man each.

Very few of the Death Row population have had execution dates fixed, and prison officials say all of those dates are likely to be stayed by court appeals and stays.

In Georgia, five convicted murderers have execution dates: James Lee Spencer on Tuesday; Bob Redd on Wednesday; Van Roosevelt Solomon on Oct. 26; Terry Lee Godwin, Nov. 16, and Wilbur May, Nov. 30. But state prisons spokeswoman Sara Passmore said she believes Georgia's next execution "is still a year away."

In Wyoming, convicted killer Mark Hopkinson, 29, is scheduled to die on Oct. 25 but is expected to get a stay pending an appeal.

Larry Ransom has an execution date in Tennessee on Nov. 27, but state prison authorities say a postponement is almost certain.

The method of execution in 16 states is the electric chair. Nine states have gas chambers, four use hanging, four states — Texas, New Mexico, Idaho and Oklahoma — call for lethal injections, and Utah offers the choice of hanging or the firing squad.

Oregon reinstated the death penalty in November 1978, but the method of execution was never decided.

Attempts to save Bishop to go on

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Attempts to keep Nevada Death Row inmate Jesse Bishop from being executed Monday were expected to continue even though a U.S. Supreme Court justice refused to delay execution.

U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Rehnquist issued a brief opinion Thursday in which he refused to delay the execution of Bishop, who insists he does not want anyone interfering with the execution schedule.

Lawyers for the NAACP Legal Defense Fund asked that the same emergency request be submitted to Justice William J. Brennan Jr.

The full Supreme Court voted 7-2 on Oct. 1 to reject the arguments of two public defenders seeking to keep Bishop alive. Brennan and Justice Thurgood Marshall, opposed to capital punishment, cast the dissenting votes.

Besides the NAACP action, the American Civil Liberties Union was expected to file a petition with the sentencing judge, Clark County District Court Judge Paul Goldman of Las Vegas.

But Goldman, who as a result of previous appeals has resentenced Bishop to death twice since his original sentencing, said any petition would be rejected.

Bishop, 46, was reported in good spirits by state Prison Director Charles Wolff Jr. after he received a visit Thursday from an ex-wife whose name prison officials will not release.

His mood contrasted with bitter remarks made the day before in a telephone interview during which Bishop said the "system" wanted him dead and that he'd be executed in the gas chamber eventually even if he sought a stay pending appeal.

Bishop was sentenced to death for killing newlywed David Ballard of Baltimore, Md., during a December 1977 casino holdup in Las Vegas.

Bishop said Wednesday he could handle on-again, off-again delays in his execution even if it meant years on Death Row, but "it gets harder on the people who love you each time."

High court rejects effort to avoid death sentence

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Efforts by a Las Vegas man to avoid his death sentence for the beating and strangulation slaying death of a Texas woman have been rejected by the state Supreme Court.

The high court's ruling Thursday against Henry Deutscher cited in part its recent ruling which allowed the execution of convicted killer Jesse Bishop, facing death in the gas chamber on Monday.

The decision against Deutscher was written by Justice Noel Manoukian. In unusual separate comments, the other four high court justices said they either concurred or concurred only with the result. That indicates there was at least some disagreement over Manoukian's legal reasoning in reaching the decision.

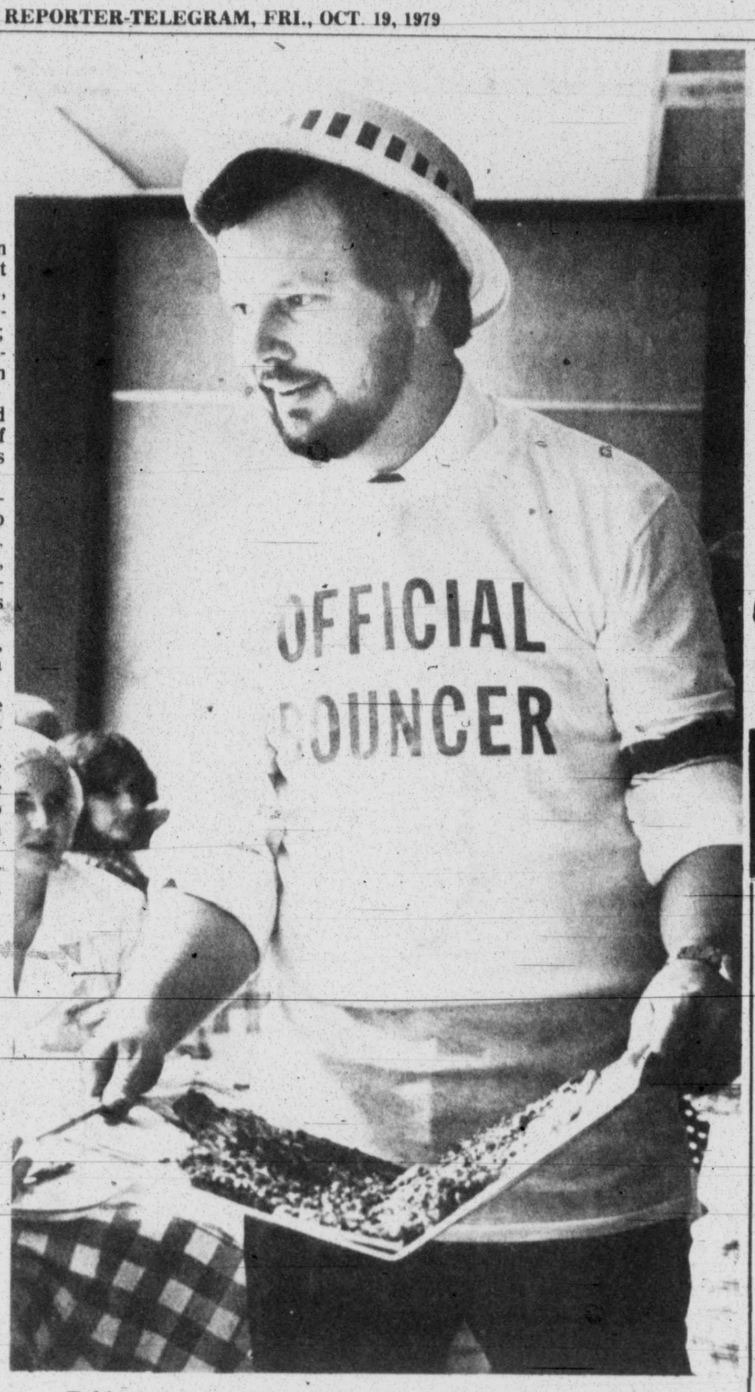

Deutscher, 38, was convicted in the August 1977 death of Darlene Joyce Miller, 37, of Canyon Lake, Texas, who was visiting Las Vegas and had been seen leaving a bar with him a few hours before her body was found.

The woman's head had been beaten with a rock, and there were teeth marks on her body. One of the key prosecution witnesses was a dentist who showed that the teeth marks on the body matched Deutscher's bite.

Deutscher still has an opportunity to appeal his death sentence in the federal court system. It was not known immediately whether he would make such an appeal.

Deutscher claimed that Nevada's capital punishment law is unconstitutional and that the trial court gave faulty instructions. He also said pre-arraignment statements he made were improperly admitted.

The convicted killer also alleged prosecutorial misconduct and lack of probable cause to arrest him. But Justice Manoukian said there was "no reversible error" despite the various issues raised by the inmate's public defenders who represented him.

Taking over as a pizza server and chief bouncer in the Midland Memorial Hospital cafeteria Thursday is Bill Owens, who generally heads the respiratory care department at the hospital. Hospital visitors and employees went through more than 800 slices of pizza and gallons of root beer at the all-you-can eat special, replete with old movies and live entertainment. (Staff Photo)

Resentencing of three former officers Oct. 30

HOUSTON (AP) — The resentencing of three former Houston police officers ordered by an appeals court on their convictions in the drowning of Joe Campos Torres is set for Oct. 30.

U.S. District Judge Ross N. Sterling must resentence Terry Wayne Denson, Stephen Orlando and Joseph James Janish. He originally gave them 10-year suspended sentences with five years probation.

They were convicted 1½ years ago of a violation of Torres' civil rights resulting in his death following a three-week trial. But the Justice Department appealed the sentences on grounds that an offense carrying a possible life term was not subject to probation.

The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals sent Sterling an order on Oct. 4 to resentence the men.

Torres, 23, drowned in Buffalo Bayou in May 1977 after the defendants allegedly beat him while he was handcuffed and in their custody.

Official denies rumor that Brezhnev is dead

MOSCOW (AP) — "With rumors like that, he should live for 100 years," says a Communist Party official who denied a new torrent of Western reports that Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev had died.

Moscow's morning newscasts today made no mention of the foreign rumors or the denial, made to The Associated Press Thursday by a party official, who declined to be identified.

The broadcasts headlined an account of the visit to Budapest, Hungary of Andrei P. Kirilenko, a close Brezhnev aide, and reports of a Syrian-Soviet communique following President Hafez Assad's visit to Moscow.

Western diplomats noted that it was unlikely Kirilenko would have left Moscow if a crisis was imminent.

Earlier this week, the Kremlin acknowledged that Brezhnev, who turns 73 on Dec. 19, has been forced to bed by an unspecified illness. Word of the ailment surfaced when Brezhnev failed to meet with Assad, the Soviet Union's closest Arab ally, during the Syrian's four-day arms-shopping spree that ended Thursday. Arab diplomats said Kremlin officials told them Brezhnev was ill and had not intended to slight the Arab leader.

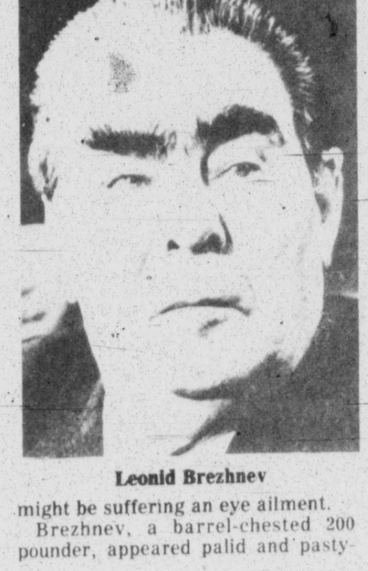

Brezhnev was last seen in public Oct. 8 when he returned from a visit to East Berlin.

Unconfirmed reports of his death or serious illness began turning up Thursday in New York, Washington, Rome and Helsinki. They were the latest in a long series of such reports that have recurred with growing frequency over the past five years.

"We have heard the rumor," spokesman Hodding Carter told reporters. "We have checked with Moscow and we have no information to substantiate it."

The latest question about Brezhnev's health appeared to be linked in part to a report from Baltimore that three eye specialists from Johns Hopkins hospital had gone to Moscow for "possible treatment" of an unidentified Russian patient. Moscow sources said the patient was a top Soviet leader who underwent surgery last Sunday.

The sources would not name the patient, buf said he was a member of the 13-man ruling Politburo. There has been no firm word that Brezhnev might be suffering an eye ailment.

Brezhnev, a barrel-chested 200 pounder, appeared palid and pasty-faced during his visit to Berlin, marking the 30th anniversary of East Germany's Communist regime. As has been the case in numerous recent speeches, Brezhnev slurred his words as he announced plans to pull 20,000 Soviet troops out of East Germany in a bid for similar NATO restraints.

Although his exact condition remains a tightly guarded Kremlin secret, Brezhnev has been reported over the past five years to be suffering a variety of chronic ailments including heart disease, emphysema, gout and cancer of the jaw. He reportedly has had anywhere from three to seven heart attacks, including one as early as 1961.

The effects of his varied illnesses are visible, according to diplomats who have met with him. He wears a hearing aid and a heart pacemaker and receives injections of an anti-coagulant drug to thin his blood, according to Western reports.

Government files appeal aimed at overturning Taiwan decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today filed a court appeal aimed at overturning a judge's ruling that President Carter could not end a mutual defense treaty with Taiwan without congressional approval.

In a legal brief filed by the Justice Department, Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher said that unless Wednesday's ruling by U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch is promptly reversed, it "would have an adverse effect on the developing relationship between the United States and the PRC (People's Republic of China) and cause serious damage to United States foreign relations interests."

The Justice Department asked that all nine members of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia expedite a review of Gasch's decision so that there would be a ruling before the treaty with Taiwan expires on Dec. 31.

In an affidavit accompanying the government's legal arguments, Christopher said "a normalized political relationship with the PRC is of great significance to the strategic interests of the United States in achieving a careful balance of relationships in Asia and in the world."

He said that if Gasch's ruling is permitted to stand, there is "the risk that the PRC will feel obliged to reconsider the entire relationship and a reversal of steps already taken is a distinct possibility."

Christopher added: "The consequences could be serious indeed and of long-lasting disadvantage to the United States."

Next week declared Crime Prevention Week in Midland

Representatives for the city of Midland and Midland County this morning read proclamations declaring next week to be Crime Prevention Week in Midland.

In a special ceremony at 9 a.m. in Midland County Commissioners' Court the proclamations were read by City Councilman Gordon Marcum II and County Commissioner Durward Wright.

Both men urged participation by Midland residents in the observance which they said will help the community in the fight against crime.

Ruth Story, president of Midland's Crime Prevention Commission, briefly detailed plans for the week which will be highlighted Oct. 24 with a noon address by Texas Atty. Gen. Mark White.

White will hold a news conference at 10:30 a.m. that day at the Girl Scout Service Center, 901 W. Dengar Ave.

Ms. Story said the purpose of Crime Prevention Week is to educate the citizenry about crime prevention and the work of the Midland Police Department's Crime Prevention Unit.

A series of workshops will be held Oct. 24 at the Girl Scout Service Center, covering such topics as drugs, home security, rape and alcohol prevention.

Speakers during the week will include White, State Rep. Tom Craddick of Midland, Midland Police Chief Wayne Gideon and Midland County Sheriff Dallas Smith.

The Crime Prevention Unit was represented at this morning's meeting by Officers Steve Otto and Tommy Wilkins.

Also present for this morning's ceremony was Kim Modisett of the Human Relations Council, who is assisting the Crime Prevention Commission in coordination of the week's events.

About Student Parking At Midland High...

Some who are opposed to the school bond election have said that land to be acquired for needed expansion of the Midland High Campus will be used for student parking areas. That is absolutely untrue. The BOND ISSUE TO BE VOTED OCTOBER 23RD DOES NOT CONTAIN ONE SINGLE DOLLAR FOR ADDITIONAL PARKING AREAS AT MIDLAND HIGH! A small area to be used for parking has already been bought and paid for and is not included. It does, however, provide $122,000 for an additional parking area at Lee High School, which is badly needed.

Here Are The Facts:

What Will Be Done at Midland High School

- A new library and learning center adequate to meet the needs of 1,8000 students
- A new physical education plant to replace the present inadequate, out-of-date gymnasuim facilities
- A badly-needed new roof
- Paving and walks-but NOT for parking
- Remodeling classrooms, offices and science laboratories
- Enlargement of the totally inadequate Band Hall
- Replacement of windows, floortile, lockers and inadequate lighting
- Badly-needed repairs to the auditorium, and other facilities

Campus Area

The Midland High Campus is the smallest high school campus in West Texas. Its 13 acres is of similar size or smaller than 8 elementary schools and both of our freshman schools in Midland! To expand this campus to make it comparable to Lee High (which has 40 acres-more than 3 times the area of Midland High), additional property is required...and some of it has already been obtained. The area is fast becoming commercial-and waiting longer to obtain the needed land would cost taxpayers 2 to 3 times more.

Compensation To Property Owners

Every property owner in the expansion area of Midland has been or will be more than adequately compensated for land used for this purpose. Our School Board recognizes-and the law recognizes-that any landowner whose property is taken for public purposes must be compensated at fair market value of his property. This is just...it is fair...it is reasonable. Yet this expansion will cost taxpayers far, far less than building a new high school in another location. This is the economical way to get the job done.

What Inflation Has Done

The rapidly-increasing cost of public education is a subject which every school district in the nation must face and solve. Inflation affects schools just like it affects families and businesses. Costs have risen at an astronomical rate, and all forecasts say they will continue to soar. We cannot afford to postpone the essential repairs and improvements which are badly needed throughout our school system-or they will cost us much, much more. Let's do it NOW: We can't afford to wait-and neither can our children.

Names in the news

ATLANTA (AP) — There were 10 hands on the shovel when ground was broken for a library to house the archives of slain civil rights leader the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

King's widow, Coretta Scott King, and his father, the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., joined Vice President Walter Mondale, industrialist Henry Ford II and former U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young in turning the earth with a five-handled shovel.

They turned the earth at the site of Freedom Hall, the final building planned in the Center for Social Change.

Besides housing the King Library and Archives, Freedom Hall will provide space for the center's Institute on Nonviolence, Scholars Internship Program and Institute for Policy Research.

It is to be erected on Auburn Avenue near King's burial site and the Ebenezer Baptist Church, where King and his father shared the pulpit.

PARIS (AP) — Yvonne de Gaulle, widow of the late French president, is in the hospital for the second time this year, sources said.

The 79-year-old widow underwent surgery in July, then spent a month in Val de Grace military hospital in Paris, sources close to her said Thursday. No reason was given for her readmission to Val de Grace.

Mrs. De Gaulle lives at a Paris retirement home run by nuns. She rarely has been seen in public since her husband died in 1970.

DESTIN, Fla. (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope's first foray into deep-sea fishing landed him a whopper of a marlin and, he says, probably a whopper of a fish story.

"I'll have that kid mounted, and I'll have a 40-minute story about it to boot," Hope said after hauling in a 70-pound, eight-ounce white marlin Thursday off the northwestern Florida Gulf Coast.

Hope's catch put him at the top of the billfish division in the month-long Destin Deep-Sea Fishing Rodeo. First prize is $500.

"If I win the $500, I may buy a boat tomorrow," he joked.

Hope entered the contest after playing a few holes in Wednesday's Pensacola Open golf tournament Pro-Am competition.

He said he had "a lot of help" in making the catch, "but they let me reel it in. Let me tell you, it's a tough job."

LONDON, Ontario (AP) — Singer Della Reese was listed in stable condition at University Hospital after undergoing five hours of neurosurgery, hospital officials said.

Miss Reese, 47, who collapsed two weeks ago during a television appearance, was admitted to the neurosurgical unit late Wednesday.

JFK library finally completed

BOSTON (AP) — John F. Kennedy's library took as long to build as he spent as congressman, senator and president. But finally the nation is getting a monument to its 35th president.

On Saturday, the Kennedy family officially turns over the Kennedy Library to the federal government, which will operate it for an expected 1 million visitors a year. President Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., plan to speak at the ceremony.

The modern concrete and glass building sits now on the edge of Boston Harbor after a 16-year search for a home.

The family wanted it built in Cambridge at Kennedy's alma mater, 343-year-old Harvard University. He chose the exact spot — near his old dorm — on his last trip to Boston before he was assassinated.

What the family finally settled for, however, was Columbia Point in Boston's Dorchester section, on a peninsula the new building shares with a 5-year-old commuter campus of the University of Massachusetts. It is six miles and a world away from Harvard Square.

Yet David Powers, Kennedy's best friend and closest aide, says he thinks JFK would have approved of Columbia Point's ocean view as well as its blue-collar surroundings of wooden row houses.

"He was a man of the sea," recalled Powers, library curator. "His mother was from Dorchester, and he always got a good vote here."

The ideal location at first seemed to be a subway repair yard on the edge of Harvard Square. But it took four years for the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority to find a new site for its tracks.

But the move was slow, and the library plans were not unveiled until 1973. This set off a new round of bickering.

Harvard professors and nearby store owners denounced architect I.M. Pei's model of the project, a crescent-shaped building dominated by a flat-topped glass pyramid. People said it would clash with Harvard's Georgian brick.

Pei scaled down the drawings and abandoned the pyramid. But by then, a neighborhood pressure group had formed to fight the library, arguing that it would attract too many tourists to an area already mobbed with students and traffic.

In 1975, opponents threatened to fight the library's environmental impact statement in court. For the Kennedy family, this was the last straw. They decided to look elsewhere for a place to build.

After considering several other possible sites, including Hyannis, the Charlestown Navy Yard and the Kennedy Center in Washington, they picked Columbia Point.

When construction finally began two years ago, Powers sighed, "I was praying I'd be alive for it."

Carter aide steps down from post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter's liaison with the Jewish community says he is returning to California where he will work for the president's re-election effort.

Ed Sanders, a senior presidential adviser, said Thursday night he is stepping down from the post he has held for more than a year to return to his private law practice in California.

Sanders said he had no quarrels with the president's policies. But he added he and Carter felt his work for the president would be more effective outside the White House.

While saying he would have no formal role in Carter's re-election drive, Sanders asserted, "I'm going to try and do everything I can in his re-election."

Mark Siegel had previously held the liaison position on a part-time basis. He left the White House out of frustration with Carter's policies toward Israel and is now active in efforts in Florida to draft Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to challenge Carter for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination.

California has been politically troublesome for Carter because its governor, Edmund G. Brown Jr., is a likely challenger for the presidential nomination. The state also is a center of anti-Carter activists trying to draft Kennedy for the nomination.

United Way drive at 54.8 percent

Midland's United Way campaign for 1980 fell short of its objective for this week, with a total of $557,260, or 54.8 percent of goal, being reported as of noon Thursday.

This week's objective was 70 percent of the $1,017,000 goal, campaign chairman W.F. "Bill" Ortloff said.

Ortloff said he appreciated all the hard work which had gone into the campaign, but he encouraged all volunteers to renew their commitment to and efforts for the campaign in order to successfully end the campaign by Nov. 8.

The next volunteer report meeting is scheduled for Oct. 25 at noon in the Texas Electric Service Co. Reddy Room. The objective for the meeting is 90 percent of goal.

Reputed organized crime figure to appear

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A reputed New England organized crime figure wants a federal grand jury to know he had nothing to do with the May 29 assassination of a federal judge, but refuses to answer any other questions, according to his attorneys.

U.S. District Judge Adrian Spears has ordered Salvatore Michael Caruana, 38, of Boston to appear before the grand jury investigating the sniper slaying of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. and the attempted assassination last year of a federal prosecutor.

"He (Caruana) didn't have anything to do with the Judge Wood assassination and doesn't know who did it," attorney Gerald Goldstein said Thursday. "He's willing to tell that to the grand jury. Anything more than that is not properly before this grand jury anyway."

"Mike Caruana didn't kill Judge Wood. He had nothing to do with it. I put my honor as a man and my license as an attorney on that," said Boston attorney Martin Weinberg.

Caruana, under investigation by another federal grand jury in Boston, is scheduled to go before this panel today. His attorneys said they feel any other questions here could be aimed at incriminating Caruana in the Boston investigation and have advised Caruana to invoke his Fifth Amendment privileges.

Salvatore Caruana

The panel here is hearing this week from more than 30 witnesses, including Caruana, convicted "hit man" Charles V. Harrelson and members of the Bandidos Motorcycle Club.

The subpoenas do not necessarily mean the witnesses are targets of the investigations.

Harrelson, 41, who served a prison sentence for the 1968 murder-for-hire of a Hearne businessman, is also due back today after Spears refused on Wednesday to quash subpoenas against Harrelson and his wife, Joan Starr Harrelson. Harrelson's attorney objected that the panel is on "a fishing expedition."

More than a dozen Bandidos appeared before the panel Thursday amid increased security at the courthouse that may soon bear the name of the assassinated judge.

Some Bandidos wore their "colors" — club insignias — emblazoned on leather jackets and roared up on black motorcycles. But at least two others arrived in elegant, late-model Lincoln-Continentals.

All courthouse visitors were screened for weapons by sensitive metal detectors and armed federal marshals and FBI agents were stationed throughout the circular building.

Hidalgo County DA faces suspension or disbarment

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — Hidalgo County District Attorney Oscar McInnis faces possible suspension or disbarment today after losing a civil suit filed against him by the State Bar of Texas.

The jury in the civil case last week ruled in favor of the state bar, which accused McInnis of four counts of lying to a grand jury and one count of participating in a plot to kill Noe Villanueve.

The bar contended McInnis asked county jail inmate Daniel Rodriguez to arrange the murder of Villanueve, the former husband of a friend of McInnis.

State District Judge Joe B. Evins heard witnesses Thursday and said he would announce what action he will take against McInnis later today.

McInnis faces five years' suspension for each of the five counts. If suspended, he would have to go through Evins' court to have the suspension lifted.

If disbarred, the prosecutor could ask for reinstatement after five years. His request would have to go through the same court that disbarred him, and ultimately through the Texas Supreme Court.

Evins limited himself to the two options Thursday when he announced he would not reprimand the 63-year-old prosecutor.

McInnis' defense attorneys, however, tried to convince the judge otherwise as they paraded about 20 character witnesses to the stand Thursday.

One of them, Hidalgo County Commissioner Charlie Curtis, told Evins that McInnis should not be deprived of his livelihood.

"Everybody is entitled to a few mistakes," he said.

But Ruben Cardenas, chairman of the bar's grievance committee, told the judge McInnis should be disbarred.

Cardenas conceded McInnis had been a "great" prosecutor, but added he felt "a lawyer has a responsibility to his profession ... to his community."

Evins said he did not believe McInnis had lied or solicited murder until he heard tape-recorded conversations between McInnis and Rodriguez.

"I would never believe that Oscar McInnis did what he was accused of doing up until this trial," the judge said. "I would not believe it."

Rich pornographer's trial goes to the jury

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Millionaire pornographer Michael Thevis' trial on racketeering and conspiracy has gone to the jury after nine weeks of testimony.

A federal indictment charges Thevis with racketeering, conspiracy to racketeer and murder conspiracy in the death of his former associate, Roger Dean Underhill.

One of Thevis' pornography businesses, Global Industries Inc., is also charged in the two racketeering indictments. Thevis' long-time friend Jeanette Evans of Marietta, Ga., and her cousin, Bart Hood of Summerville, S.C., also are charged in the murder conspiracy count.

According to federal law, racketeering is committed when a person or group commits a series of related crimes with the common purpose of furthering a particular enterprise.

In this case, Thevis and Global Industries are charged with engaging "in a pattern of racketeering activity" that allegedly included four murders and two arsons in a bid to seize nationwide control of the lucrative pornography industry.

A key factor in the case was whether the jury would convict Thevis, Miss Evans and Hood of conspiring to kill Underhill.

Shrimpers in troubled waters

SEABROOK, Texas (AP) — Heavy rains that sent young shrimp in search of saltier seas also have left Texas shrimpers in troubled financial waters.

About 40 percent of the shrimp population was killed during heavy rains in July and September, and those that survived went farther into the Gulf of Mexico in search of salt.

Shrimping in Galveston Bay is so slow the federal government stepped in this week and declared the area a disaster.

"This is the worst I can remember it being," said Tony Kriss, 65, who has been shrimping since he was 8. "Many of these guys are coming in with catches that don't even pay for fuel."

"We might as well forget about this year and start looking forward to next season," said Guy Brummerhop, 25.

The disaster declaration does have one silver lining — it makes shrimpers who fish year round eligible for Small Business Administration loans.

Shrimpers who can prove economic losses can apply for long-term, low-interest loans, said SBA spokesman Bill Powers.

Chrysler head encouraged

Response to federal loan bid favorable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the Chrysler Corp. says he is encouraged by the Carter administration's first response to the automobile maker's bid for $750 million in federal loan guarantees.

Lee A. Iacocca, chairman of the board of Chrysler, talked to reporters during a recess as a House banking subcommittee opened hearings Thursday on proposals to assist the nation's third-largest auto manufacturer.

The hearings were continuing today with Douglas Fraser, president of the United Automobile Workers, at the witness table.

Chrysler submitted a scaled-down version of its original request for $1.2 billion in loan guarantees to the Treasury Department late Wednesday. Treasury Secretary G. William Miller had said the original request was too high.

Rep. James Blanchard, D-Mich., sponsor of a bill to authorize an unspecified amount on loans or guarantees to Chrysler, read a letter he had received from Deputy Secretary of the Treasury Robert Carswell regarding the modified request.

"On its face, the plan appears to meet one of the key standards set by the secretary on Aug. 9, namely, that federal aid be limited to loan guarantees in amounts substantially less than $1 billion," Carswell wrote.

"I was heartened by the letter," Iacocca said. Asked if he thought he changed any minds on the subcommittee with his opening day testimony, he said: "We will have to wait to see. The only way you know if you have changed minds is when the votes come in."

Despite hostile questioning by some members of the panel, a Chrysler representative who asked not to be identified, predicted a "comfortable majority" would support loan guarantees.

Blanchard, however, predicted "a long, hard-fought battle."

"I think we will turn it around, but it is going to take time," he said. "I hope by the end of the year."

Iacocca told the committee he "would feel better" if Chrysler received its original request for $1.2 billion because the lower guarantee would involve "substantial risks."

To get by with the $750 million, he said, the company would have to raise $450 million more from other sources than it had originally proposed.

To do this, he said, Chrysler might have to sell some assets that "it might not be good business" to dispose of. He said these could include part or all of Chrysler Financing, a subsidiary which loans money to dealers, and New Process Gear, which manufactures transmissions and four-wheel-drive units in Syracuse, N.Y.

More men than women voted in '78 election

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas men, following the national pattern, voted in a higher proportion than Texas women did in the November 1978 election.

The turnout for both sexes in Texas, however, was considerably less than the national average.

A new Census Bureau report said 35.3 percent of eligible males voted in Texas and 33.5 percent of eligible females.

The national averages in the study, released Thursday, showed that 46.6 percent of eligible males and 45.3 percent of eligible females voted.

The study said 55.8 percent of the eligible men in Texas were registered to vote and 55.1 percent of the women.

The 45 to 64-year-old age group was the most active at the polls in Texas, the study showed.

That category listed 68.8 percent registered and 48 percent voted.

The next highest age group in Texas was the 65 and older, where 64.9 percent registered and 43.4 percent voted.

Trailing were the 25 to 44-year-old category with 52.3 percent registered and 30.3 percent voting, and the 18 to 24-year-old group with 36.3 percent registered and 17.1 percent voting.

UAW warns it will bend, but not break for Chrysler

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — The United Auto Workers union has given Chrysler Corp. a tough warning: It won't roll over and play dead and local strikes are possible.

One day after the union presented its package of so-far undisclosed concessions to the company, something it has never done for a Big Three producer, UAW President Douglas A. Fraser accused Chrysler of "not bargaining in good faith" on Canadian issues.

Fraser spoke on his return Thursday from a trip to Windsor, Ontario, just across the border from Detroit, to visit officials of the six Canadian locals.

"They feel they're being taken advantage of," Fraser said.

Like the other major companies, Chrysler bargains for both company-wide and local contracts. Unlike the other companies, the 10,000 Canadian UAW members come under the same contract as their 100,000 Chrysler colleagues in the United States.

Under a 1965 treaty, cars and components to build them cross the U.S.-Canadian border freely, without duty. Some Chrysler models are made only in Canadian plants, and a single local strike would be a bigger blow to the company than a similar one at General Motors Corp. or Ford Motor Co.

Local Canadian negotiations are making no progress on work-rules issues, Fraser said.

He said he would take up the issue immediately with executives he said were "guilty, I believe, of not bargaining in good faith in Canada."

"Chrysler cannot bargain with the attitude they're absolutely immune from strikes and therefore they don't have to do anything. If they do we're headed for trouble," Fraser said.

The company said it would have no comment on Fraser's remarks.

Canadian workers, Fraser said, believe the company's Canadian subsidiary is profitable and are therefore resisting concessions to the company.

"I pointed out that we're so interdependent that we can't separate one from the other," he said.

Chrysler does not publish separate financial results for its Canadian subsidiary.

New hospital director sworn in Thursday

Thomas P. Ingram was sworn in as a director of the Midland County Hospital District board of directors at the directors' regular meeting Thursday.

Ingram, who was administered the oath of office by 142nd District Judge Perry Pickett, will replace Scott Shelton, who resigned Oct. 9 when he moved to Odessa.

Shelton was elected to a two-year term on the board in April, and Ingram will complete his unexpired term.

Ingram is the second new director in as many months. Pat Estes was sworn in as a replacement for Dr. Michael Burleson at the September meeting. Dr. Burleson moved his practice to California.

Mrs. Estes was chosen to take Shelton's place as secretary of the board Thursday.

Directors also approved a revised reciprocal agreement with the board of manager of Odessa's Medical Center Hospital for payment for medical care given to indigent patients.

Under the agreement, the Midland hospital district will pay the Odessa hospital for care given to Midland County residents who are medically indigent, and the Odessa hospital will do the same for Ector County residents in Midland.

The agreement notes, however, that patients will be transferred to the home counties for treatment, when the best medical judgement makes that possible.

The agreement is expected to be approved by the Ector County Commissioner's Court Monday, directors were told.

Directors appointed Walter B. Holton, a former member of the county board of equalization and a long-time Midlander, to represent the hospital district on the county tax appraisal board.

West Texans, Isle of Man residents compared

By MIKE SLATON
Staff Writer

Nestled in the Irish Sea between England and Ireland, the Isle of Man appears an unlikey entity for comparison with West Texas.

But for Walter Gilbey, a resident of the 32-by-13½ mile island and recent visitor to the Tall City, the comparisons exist.

While the damp, windy hills and small farms of the tiny Isle of Man bear no physical resemblance to the dry, flat plains and sprawling cattle ranches of West Texas, both environments have produced inhabitants of a similar nature, Gilbey said.

While visiting Midland as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Evetts Haley, Gilbey has noted that nature's hardships have produced a common bond between the people of the island and the people of the plains.

"Both (peoples have joined in a) fight against nature, but nature of a different kind," said Gilbey.

In West Texas the people fought elements of dust, heat and drought to survive, said Gilbey.

On the Isle of Man, nature challenged the people with cold, wind, rain and 30-foot waves, he said.

"Good, hard-working people" are the product of such challenging environments, Gilbey remarked.

Gilbey also pointed out kindness and good manners as attributes common to both cultures.

Gilbey is director of the Isle of Man's oldest company, the Isle of Man Steam Packet Co., a ferry line. He is also an investment banker, chairman of the board of Manning Trust Bank, Ltd. and a beef and dairy farmer.

Cattle industry on the Isle of Man is "quite different" from the West Texas variety, observed Gilbey.

Differences in climate allow a stocking rate of one to 1¾ head per acre on the island compared to about one head per 40 acre common in West Texas area, said Gilbey.

Farms on the island are necessarily small, said Gilbey.

There are no feed lots on the island, Gilbey observed. Because of the lush grasslands farmers take the animals right through to market.

Besides, said Gilbey, with the heavy rains the island experiences, any feed lot there would be unlike a Texan operation.

"They would need roofs on the feed lots or they would soon be a quagmire," he said.

Study says agencies misuse, 'steal' federal grant money

In a statement prepared for today's Government Affairs subcommittee hearing, Chiles, D-Fla., said he asked the General Accounting Office for the report "after hearing numerous complaints about how federal dollars were being misused in city after city."

Community service agencies, which supervise educational, nutritional and other social service projects, spend about $3 billion in federal money each year, Chiles said.

Besides blatant misuse of money, he said, the GAO report also "points up case after case of favoritism and strange business practices, all at the expense of the American taxpayer."

Herpetologist back on job with just a written rebuke

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bureaucratic snake that bit government herpetologist Kenneth Dodd has been defanged. He won't be fired, after all, for asking a French restauranteur to remove from his menu a dish cooked with a threatened rattlesnake.

The Interior Department says the 29-year-old biologist, who was notified last week that he would be terminated in 30 days, will be given a written rebuke and nothing more.

"The proposed punishment did not fit the offense," announced Assistant Interior Secretary Robert L. Herbst. "Dr. Dodd is a useful employee of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and he has suffered enough."

"I feel relieved and glad to have my job back," Dodd said of the decision. He added that he was "going to try to avoid French restaurants for a while."

Dodd's offense was to write a letter on Interior Department stationery to Dominique D'Ermo, owner of Dominque's restaurant, a favorite luncheon place of Interior Secretary Cecil B. Andrus.

He told D'Ermo the Pennsylvania timber rattlers he was serving were a nearly extinct species.

D'Ermo said he would serve Texas diamondback rattlers instead.

Diamondbacks are by no means endangered.

The restaurateur showed the letter to Andrus. Andrus, angry, apologized for the letter. Then the ax fell.

Interior Department spokesman Harmon Kalman declined to say Thursday whether Andrus personally had ordered that Dodd be dismissed.

"Everybody has been in a big hurry to tie Andrus to this," he said. "We're not saying, one way or another. We can't get into who did what to whom."

Midwives delivering more babies and officials' concern is growing

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The increasing number of babies being delivered by lay midwives in Texas has caused concern in some areas of the state about the quality of care these midwives give.

Statistics compiled by State Rep. Hector Uribe's staff show at last 8,000 babies were delivered by law midwives in Texas during 1977 while the state has few statutes controlling midwives activities.

Presently, state laws require only that lay midwives report births or stillbirths, and that they put drops in the babies eyes to prevent blindness.

Questions over competency of lay widwives prompted Brownsville to pass an ordinance requiring midwives be licensed after they pass an examination and deliver 10 babies under supervison. However, the effectiveness of this ordinance has decreased because most midwives in Brownsville moved out of the city limits.

The recent death of a woman following the delivery of her baby by a midwive in El Paso has spurred the city council there to consider a similar ordinance.

Many of the babies being delivered by lay midwives "are being delivered by people who may have no training, may not be skilled or may be incompetent," said Tony Grigsby of Uribe's staff.

Currently anyone can "hang a shingle" and start delivering babies, Grigsby said. To illustrate that point, three El Paso city councilmen registered with the El Paso County Clerk as midwives. None have any training as midwives.

A large portion of the midwife deliveries in Texas occur in the border counties, Grigsby said. Many of the families are of low income and cannot afford a doctor's services. Midwife fees usually do not exceed $400, wile doctors' fees are at least $600 plus hosital costs, Grigsby said.

Grigsby described the lack of "adequate" state laws controlling midwifery "alarming".

A bill Uribe sponsored during the 66th Legislature would have placed some controls on lay midwives but the bill, which passed the senate and the house, was vetoed by Gov. Bill Clements.

The bill would have required all midwives to register with the state health department. It also would have set up voluntary training courses for midwives and require midwives to tell prospective clients whether or not they had any training.

In Clements' veto of the bill, the governor claimed the measure would have given midwives credibility they might not deserve.

Dr. Walter Peter Jr. of the Texas Department of Health said that agency is aware of the problems with midwives, but, he added, it has no jurisdiction over midwifery because of the lack of state laws.

Dave Olski, director of Medical Ethics of the Texas Medical Association said TMA has recently reaffirmed its stance against midwifery. That policy states that lay midwives will not deliver high quality service, Olski said.

Olski said the recent incident in El Paso is not an isolated case. TMA recently received a letter from a Galveston doctor concerned with the number of cases in which a midwife is involved in that area that result in severe complications.

"There is no medical back up in that type of situatin," Olski said.

Grigsby said Uribe's bill would also have prevented midwives from handling deliveries where there is a high possibility of complications. That bill would have restricted midwives to what Grigsby termed "catch and cut" deliveries.

Grigsby said the health department supported the vetoed bill, but the TMA gave the measure only a "lukewarm endorsement".

Olski said the TMA supports registration of midwives for the purpose of identifying who the midwivdes are but are opposed to licensing midwives.

The TMA also supports the training of "certified nurse" midwifes under the supervision of a physician. A certified nurse midwive is a registered nurse who has received additional training in child birth.

Grigsby said Uribe's bill may have led the way to licensing of midwives if the voluntary training sections had been successful.

Under the bill, if the quality of care provided by midwives increased, the training could have been made mandatory, Grigsby said. If the quality did not increase, the program could have been scrapped.

Grigsby expects the bill to be introduced again in the next session of the legislature and he expects it to be passed and sent to the governor again.

But, Grigsby added, "We probably won't amend it to satisfy the governor.

Tech Museum displays early patterns

LUBBOCK — The linsey-woolsey described in history books, a goffering iron like the one the first Queen Elizabeth's dressmakers must have used for her neck ruffs, and patterns for the elegant dresses of an earlier America are on display at The Museum of Texas Tech University.

"Pins, Patterns and People" is an exhibit of early dressmaking tools, materials and patterns, but the exhibit also demonstrates dressmaking methods. A progression of sewing machines, showing one of the earliest models along with a modern computer model, is on display.

Early handmade pins, treasured by seamstresses because of their cost, are included in the exhibit. The half-muslins in the exhibit were constructed by students of clothing and textiles in Texas Tech University's College of Home Economics. Half-muslins are half of a garment made of cheap muslin fabric. Before patterns were standardized, women cut patterns from old garments and constructed half a garment of cheap fabric to be sure the pattern would fit. Once sure that the pattern was correct, it would be used on the silk or other finer fabric that the woman intended to wear.

The history of the sewing machine also is chronicled in the exhibit. It was invented by Barthelemy Thimonier of France in 1830, but workers who feared it would steal jobs destroyed his equipment. The American, Elias Howe, improved on Thimonier's design in 1846. Isaac Singer patented refinements on their inventions, and his machine became famous. It was not common for home use, however, until after the American Civil War.

Patterns for men's garments came before patterns for women's wear. Betty Mills, curator of costumes and textiles at The Museum, explained that so many men served in the military and sizing was necessary for supplying uniforms, so men's sizes were standardized early. Women's dimensions were less well known.

Ebenezer Butterick, however, is credited with developing the first sized patterns for women, and these were introduced in 1863. The idea caught on and magazines, like Harper's Bazar," published pattern supplements in each issue. These were large pages of intermingled lines. The dressmaker would have to decide on one of the numbered lines, trace the pattern and then construct the garment.

The earliest patterns commonly used for women's clothing were simply shaped blocks of paper. Some sophistication was added for shaping in the period from 1830 to 1860. In the exhibit, "Pins, Patterns and People," at The Museum of Texas Tech University the tools as well as the patterns and garments of various periods are on display. The clock reel for winding yarn and the spinning wheel were common in the 19th Century. For an earlier period linsey woolsey is displayed. At left is a half-muslin, used to test a pattern. The 1850 silk taffeta dress of woven satin stripe is from the museum collection.

Admission to museum exhibits are free. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 1 to 4:30 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

DEAR ABBY

Her kisses tell — on him

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm a man, over 70. My wife died suddenly several months ago, and I found out that I just couldn't get along without female companship.

As a young man I suppose I had the usual number of girlfriends, but I haven't courted for 50 years, and am rather rusty.

I recently asked a woman in my age group to accompany me to a variety of social engagements. She was most agreeable. She turned out to be a warm, lively, affectionate companion, and I must admit that I am crazy about her!

The problem: Her kisses. Abby, this woman's kisses shake me from top to toe. I don't know why. I hate to call it "technique" or suggest that she has developed her kissing purposely, but she must be conscious of the effect her kissing has on males. (She is a widow.) I can't learn from her because I don't know what she is doing. I only know that this woman's kisses drive me crazy. All the kisses I have had before are just not in the same league. She is gentle. She is loving, but I am glad that not all women kiss the way she does. There must be a happy medium. — OVERWHELMED

DEAR OVER: Are you complaining? While kissing is basically natural, techniques are developed. This woman is giving you a message. She's probably crazy about you, too, so don't dismiss it as a routine "tongue-in-cheek" matter.

DEAR ABBY: ASKING IN ALASKA says, "Kids who live together before marriage don't deserve wedding presents, so they shouldn't be sent any." And you replied, "It won't work. Most parents (and relatives) are so glad that the kids finally made it legal, they send gifts anyway."

Well, here's how I handle it: Out of respect to the parents, I send a gift. I buy the first low-priced, ugly, useless piece of junk I see, have it gift-wrapped and sent. (If there's a shower, I do the same.)

I figure the gift is as appropriate as the wedding. And if Mr. and Mrs. Sleazy Morals have any perception at all, they will get the message that their wedding is no more meaningful to me than it is to them. — REALISTIC IN MASS.

DEAR REALISTIC: Since you send a gift "ouf of respect to the parents," how much "respect" do you think a "low-priced, ugly, useless piece of junk" will convey?

You'd be ahead to save your time, money and "respect," and send nothing.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter about the man marrying a girl who was six months pregnant with another man's child: that's my son you are talking about, and I am so very proud of him.

He was engaged to this girl, and her brother-in-law took advantage of her. My son went ahead and married her, advancing the wedding date so he could take care of her.

He's claiming the child as his own, and as far as I'm concerned, that child will be treated exactly like all my other grandchildren! — PROUD GRANDPA

DEAR GRANDPA: Congratulations — for more reasons than one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO B. Mc I IN GARDEN CITY, N.Y.: Precious little thanks are due me, but I do owe a great deal to my top-notch advisers: "If a man knows where to get good advice, it as though he could supply it himself." (Goethe)

The teen years are the questioning years. Abby has the answer to all your questions in her booklet, "What Teenagers Want to Know." Write Abby in care of this newspaper and enclose $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope.

California wants surgery for boy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California is taking to the U.S. Supreme Court the fate of Phillip Becker, a retarded 13-year-old whose parents refuse to permit heart surgery for the boy because he might then outlive them with only a bleak future.

The parents testified in state court hearings that they feel responsible for their son and fear "artificial extension" of his life might leave him "warehoused" and miserable in a home reserved for older mentally retarded persons.

The state, citing 14th Amendment rights to equal protection under the law, wants Phillip, estimated to have the mental development of a 3-year-old, to have the operation. Warren and Patricia Becker of Los Altos, say surgery is not in Phillip's best interests.

Becker, an attorney, and his wife are in their 40s and have two normal sons, aged 10 and 15.

A source close to the family said the Beckers have been tormented over what they perceive as their parental and humanitarian duty, and are torn that they had to make the decision they did.

Phillip, who lives in a San Jose nursery, suffers from Down's syndrome or mongolism. He has never lived at home, court records show. He has a hole between two chambers of his heart, and several years ago corrective heart surgery was advised as a measure to possibly extend Phillip's life.

A Santa Clara County juvenile court hearing in April 1978 supported the parents. At that time, Superior Court Judge Eugene Premo said, "Who are they (operation proponents) and who am I to say they (the parents) can't make the right decision? They have made the right decision."

The case was taken to the state Court of Appeal, which this year backed the lower court ruling and supported the right of the parents to make the decision.

"It is fundamental that parental autonomy is constitutionally protected," said the justices, adding that court was keeping clear of the issue of "quality of life."

The state appealed the decision to the state Supreme Court, which refused a hearing. The clerk of the U.S. Supreme Court was mailed a request for a writ of certiorari this week.

Court records show that the Beckers, as well as being concerned over surgical risks, felt that if Phillip's life expectancy were "artificially extended he would would likely outlive them and therefore be without guaranteed financial support or supervision of his environment."

Should Phillip's life be extended by "drastic medical means he would eventually be warehoused in a type of institution in which older retarded people are forced to live," they said.

During the initial hearing on the case, brought by the Santa Clara County Juvenile Probation Department, the father was asked his reasons for not authorizing the operation.

Said Becker, "We felt it wasn't in Phillip's best interests. We felt we are responsible for Phillip."

Becker was asked if he had "examined his feelings" about wishes that it were best "that Phillip be dead, or best for his survivors that he be dead?"

Said the father, "I think it would be best for everyone, including Phillip and the survivors ... but it's a funny question."

'Kissing disease' closer

NEW YORK (AP) — An important step towards making a vaccine to fight infectious mononucleosis — the so-called "kissing disease" among teen-agers — has been reported by a Harvard Medical School researcher.

Scientists are anxious for such a vaccine because the virus which causes mononucleosis may also be the cause of two types of cancer.

Dr. David Thorley-Lawson of the Sidney Farber Cancer Institute said Thursday he has purified a vaccine-like substance that makes rabbits produce antibodies against the virus that causes the disease, a lingering illness of teen-agers and young adults.

Thorley-Lawson, a biochemist, said the rabbit antibodies neutralize the virus when it is grown in human cells in a test tube.

If further tests succeed, the substance would become a strong candidate for a human vaccine for the widespread ailment.

Mononucleosis is caused by a germ called the Epstein-Barr virus, named for the two British scientists who isolated it in 1964.

Besides causing mononucleosis, it is also believed to help cause two kinds of cancer which are widespread in underdeveloped countries.

One of these is Burkitt's lymphoma, the most common childhood cancer in central Africa. The other is nasopharyngeal carcinoma, a nose cancer common in southern China that kills 65 percent of its victims within five years.

Scientists believe almost every member of the human race — including those in developed countries like the United States — becomes infected with Epstein-Barr virus at some time in life.

Children who get it usually don't show any symptoms. But teen-agers and young adults get a fever, sore throat and general malaise that hangs on for weeks.

Once a person gets Epstein-Barr virus, he carries small but measurable amounts of it in his body for the rest of his life. But he is protected against further flareups by his own immune system.

The hope is that a vaccine would stimulate the immune system to make antibodies in advance of infection.

In an article in the British scientific journal Nature, Thorley-Lawson said he purified the potential vaccine from Burkitt's lymphoma cells. It contains no virus, meaning there would be no threat of accidental infection, as with some antiviral vaccines.

Thorley-Lawson plans next to test it on marmosets, a small monkey.

'Tis a pious puzzlement, nuns who kick the habit

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — After my travels with John Paul II in Mexico, Poland, Ireland and the United States, the subject of nuns and their habits troubles the mind, as it must the Holy Father's.

'Tis a pious puzzlement.

In officially anti-clerical Mexico, where the constitution forbids the wearing of religious garb in public, a few nuns turned out in the habit of their orders on the day the pope arrived. They were probably from the United States or Canada and didn't know the law of the land.

But the next day, emboldened by the presence of their pontiff, hundreds of Mexican sisters ventured outside their convents in the proud uniform of their lifelong vows, some for the first time ever.

Mulligan's Stew

By the time the pope got to Guadalajara, there were thousands of priests, brothers and sisters joyously flaunting their religious roses in silent defiance of of the government, which wasn't going to do anything anyway to embarrass so distinguished a visitor and, in fact was shutting a benign eye at such unconstitutional behavior.

BUT FOR THE sisters it was a golden, giddy day. I can still see the look of sheer ecstasy shining out of those wimpled faces at the unauthorized joy of meeting a pope in the distinctive garments of their chosen vocations.

In Ireland and Poland, both strongholds of traditional Catholicism after centuries of persecution, nuns in their flowing skirts and starched bibs were everywhere, flocking across the squares and parks like pigeons to catch a pontifical blessing or swell a papal procession.

Then came the Immaculate Conception Shrine in Washington, D.C. and the press section view of Sister Theresa Kane standing there at the lectern in a brown tailored business suit earnestly and respectfully lecturing the pope on women's rights in the church.

Although Pope John Paul II has several times implored nuns everywhere to retain a distinctive religious mode of dress, nearly one-third of the 4,000 American sisters who thronged the church to hear the address were in civilians clothes. Some 50 nuns, although only a handful at first, stood up in silent, sedate protest when he said again, as he had in Philadelphia a few days before, that women were not called by Christ to his priesthood and that Mary had not asked for a place at the Last Supper.

IN PHILADELPHIA some of the younger nuns, not many, sat on their hands and refrained from applause at the end of the papal homily. This time, some of those rising to their feet during his talk wore a uniform of sorts, a blue arm band, the color of Mary, to whom the pope has great devotion, in a new ritual of defiance against his traditional stand.

I thought of the Mexican nuns and their defiant pride of habit and was more confused than ever. But the whole scene, especially Sister Theresa Kane's polite little feminist speech and her suit angered to the point of profanity an Irish Catholic friend of mine.

"If she wants to dress like a librarian, why didn't she become a librarian," he blurted out, which really wasn't quite fair. None of the librarians I know in Danbury or Ridgefield, Conn., dress so somberly.

It reminded me of novelist Walker Percy's line in "Lancelot," his recent best seller:

"What nuns don't realize is that they look better in nun clothes than in J.C. Penney pantsuits." Percy is a practicing Catholic much concerned in the savage Swiftian humor of his writing with probing what's left of public morality in a behavorists' world that excuses all evil as a matter of genes and geography.

I noticed that her short cropped hair was turning gray.

Back in St. Patrick's school, just across the Queensboro Bridge from Manhattan, it never occurred to us that the Sisters of St. Joseph were growing gray under their long black veils and white starched wimples. We never thought of nuns getting fat or old or sick, although some had plumper, rosier cheeks than others.

As Rumer Godden writes in her new novel, "Five for Sorrow, Ten for Joy":

"All alike, the sisters stood in their white tunics and black veils, no difference between them."

BUT A NUN did die once, "from consumption," they told us. We all went to see her laid out in the dreaded highly waxed convent parlor, where you waited nervously with your mother in those high backed chairs when your report card or your conduct in the schoolyard wasn't too good. It didn't seem like a real funeral, even to us altar boys. There was no hearse and Nick Blazes (that was his name), the undertaker, wasn't there, and besides she was going right to heaven anyway.

I have been trying to imagine what Sister Miriam Louse and Sister Eugenia and Sister Mary Lawrence would look like in brown tailored business suits. In my mind's eye I only envision the silent grace with which they moved in those gaberdine habits down the long school corrdidors, they always seemed cool on the hottest days and stood fast with black shawls around them when wintry blasts blew across the school yard from the East River.

Most nurses, I suppose, want to trade in their crisp white uniforms for a surgeon's green smock. Air stewardesses, no doubt, would prefer the pay that goes with pilot's stripes. Role changing there involves swapping uniforms.

But I wonder if the nuns who want to be priests will disdain the collar for the bright ties and three piece double knots of the mod Jesuits. 'Tis a puzzlement.

Submarine probing depths of Lake Tahoe

TAHOE CITY, Calif. (AP) — As choppy, wind-blown waves battered the surface of Lake Tahoe, a tiny submarine carrying a three-man crew dropped 1,000 feet into the lake's chill depths, the deepest dive ever made at Tahoe.

The descent, a one-hour, 20-minute venture into the two-mile-long Crystal Bay Canyon, came Wednesday on the third day of the first-ever investigation of the lake, one of the nation's deepest.

The dive was planned to reach 1,200 feet, the maximum for the 17-foot sub. But strong winds and accompanying waves cut the investigation short, preventing the immediate removal of the crew because 3-to-5-foot waves swept over the sub's hatch.

"We came up in severe sea conditions," said Dr. Charles R. Goldman, a University of California-Davis lake expert who heads the Tahoe Research Center. Goldman, who was one of three men aboard the white-and-red 12,000-poind craft Wednesday, is leader of the expedition financed by more than $30,000 from the San Jose Mercury.

"We had to stay in (the sub) about one hour while being towed, rocking back and forth violently" said Goldman, an expert on the physical, biological and chemical properties of fresh water.

AUSTIN — Calvin W. Presley, convicted of possession of marijuana in Midland County Oct. 10, 1978, has been paroled by Gov. Bill Clements on a recommendation of the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Four other persons have had their paroles revoked.

Presley was paroled to Midland County after serving and earning two years of a two-year sentence.

Herman R. Bryant, convicted of three counts of burglary and theft over $50 in Ector and Navarro counties in 1972, had his parole revoked for unsatisfactory adjustment. Bryant had been on parole since Aug. 12, 1977.

Ricky Harris, convicted of theft over $200 in Midland County in 1978, had his parole revoked for unsatisfactory adjustment. Harris had been on parole since Feb. 15, 1979.

George H. Pierce, convicted of robbery by assault in Ector County in 1958, had his parole revoked for unsatisfactory adjustment. Pierce had been on parole since Oct. 4, 1967.

John E. Williams, convicted of burglary of a habitation with intent to commit theft in Midland County in 1977, had his parole revoked because of a new conviction. Williams had been on parole since Feb. 17, 1978.

PSAT-National Merit test registration now under way

Registration for the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test is under way at both high schools and will continue until the limited number of tests have been reserved.

High school counselors recommend all juniors take the test. The test also will be available to a limited number of sophomores.

The PSAT measures verbal and mathematical aptitude — two abilities important in doing college work — and gives students a chance to find out what the Scholastic Aptitude Test is like.

The test will be administered at Midland High School Tuesday evening.

Lee High School students will take the test the morning of Oct. 27.

Both high schools will have a limited number of tests available, and students must register to insure having a place in the testing session. No fee is required at registration, but a charge of $4 is required at the time of the test.

Addition information on reporting time, location and length of test time will be available when students register.

Goddard teacher honored

Goddard Junior High School speech and drama teacher Freida Attaway was named "Speech Teacher of the Year" at a recent convention of the Texas Speech Communications Association.

The 500-member organization which is composed of speech teachers from elementary schools through the university level met in Corpus Christi for their annual convention.

Three other teachers across the state also were chosen for the award.

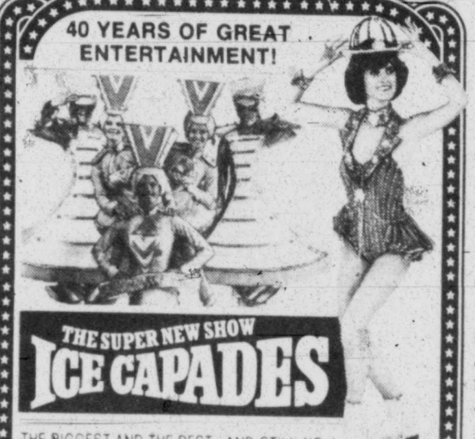

"I really feel honored," Mrs. Attaway said. "I have much less experience than the others who were nominated."

Mrs. Attaway has been with the school district seven years.

Holly's parents file lawsuit

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The parents of late rock singer Buddy Holly have filed a lawsuit accusing the company that initiated filming of "The Buddy Holly Story" of withholding payments and presenting a distorted picture of the singer's family relationships.

The $300,000 suit was filed Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. L.O. Holley of Lubbock, who accused Innovisions, Inc. of breach of contract.

The Holleys said in their suit that Innovisions violated an Oct. 15, 1975, contract which provided for the company's purchase of the rights to their son's life story.

The Holleys say that contract promised them 3 percent of the film's net profits annually. But the suit contends, "except for some initial lump-sum payments," the Holleys have not received any payments from Innovisions.

The singer's parents said they have been told the film has earned at least $6.5 million since its release. The suit asks District Judge Robert Wright to conduct an accounting using records kept by Innovisions and Columbia Pictures Industries, Inc., a co-defendant.

El Salvador's junta to establish diplomatic relations with Cuba

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — El Salvador's new military-civilian junta announced it will establish diplomatic relations with Cuba and appealed to all citizens to refrain from violence and "accept the rules of the game."

But guerrillas and other leftists still planned a protest march Saturday, claiming the new regime was just a continuation of the old one and responsible for the deaths of at least 20 protesters since coming to power.

Civilian junta member Guillermo Manuel Ungo announced the plans to establish ties with communist Cuba and told reporters Thursday it was part of an effort by "El Salvador to improve its international position. fundamentally with Latin America."

Ungo and the other junta members, including the two colonels who ousted Gen. Carlos Humberto Romero's right-wing regime in a coup Monday, also announced a relaxation of the martial law and security measures imposed earlier in the week to stamp out sporadic attacks by leftist guerrilla groups.

They said demonstrations will be permitted so long as they remain peaceful, and reduced by two hours a nightly curfew imposed Tuesday. A martial law decree had banned meetings of more than three people and imposed a 10 p.m.-to-5 a.m. curfew. The new curfew begins at midnight.

"Within three days we have started to recover the confidence of the people," Col. Arnoldo Adolfo Majano, one of the two colonels said in announcing the reduction in curfew hours.

He said the situation under Romero's fiercely anti-communist regime "had turned intolerable" and repeated earlier junta promises to carry out social and economic reforms, redistribute the country's wealth and eventually hold elections.

El Salvador's biggest leftist groups have rejected a junta invitation for talks on ways to solve the country's problems, however, claiming the new regime has no intention of ending 47 years of military rule and returning the country to democracy.

"We have a new government that has broken with the past and respects human life," Ungo said. "We must make these radical groups understand they are fighting a government that is not their enemy and hope that sooner than later they adopt a positive attitude — even one of criticism."

Although Ungo said it would be "premature" to announce a date for elections, Mario Antonio Andino, another civilian junta member, said they will be held before 1982. Romero was elected in 1977 amid accusations of ballot-stuffing and fraud. His term was to end in 1981.

Ungo and the others also defended the junta's action Tuesday and Wednesday in ordering troops to break up attempts by guerrilla groups to seize three towns on the outskirts of San Salvador. At least 20 persons were killed and 70 wounded in gun battles between soldiers and the protesters.

"Our intention is to solve political problems in political terms — not military ones," Ungo said. "But the state also has the legitimate right of self-defense. One thing is political dissent and another is delinquency."

Mayor killed in community where it's 'almost unthinkable'

PHOENIX, Ill. (AP) — Some people in this poor, blue-collar community say it's almost unthinkable that someone in town could have murdered their mayor. But investigators are looking at recent controversies — including a police strike — for possible motives.

Village President William Hawkins Sr., known among the 4,000 residents of the south Chicago suburb as the mayor, died Thursday from gunshot wounds in the right kidney, left arm and left thigh.

Hawkins, 57, was ambushed late Tuesday night as he stepped from his car after returning from his job at a nearby steel plant. The gunman opened fire with a semi-automatic, military-type weapon, police said.

"You don't have to worry about locking your doors at night, many of the people are interrelated and have a lot of family here, and while you disagree with someone, it never has come to this kind of hate," said Village Clerk Benita Griffis. "Obviously he must have had an enemy — but not around here."

But investigators, who report they have no suspects and are reluctant to discuss any leads in detail, say they have not ruled out a possible connection between a four-day police strike earlier this month and Hawkins' death.

A few hours after the shooting, authorities say another member of the village board — the chairman of the police and fire committee — received a telephone threat that: "I just shot the mayor and if you don't resign, you're next."

The strike of the 21-man police force began with dismissal of several village employees, including six policemen, when the federal funds used to pay them expired. It ended when the village agreed to rehire the dismissed officers, give all policemen $1-an-hour raises and take no reprisals against strikers.

The village clerk said Hawkins had received telephone death threats during the strike and shots were fired at his house.

In addition, a county sheriff's spokesman said investigators are trying to find out if the ambush could be linked to Hawkin's plan to clean up vice and gambling in the community.

And steelworkers were being questioned Thursday at the mill where Hawkins was a union officer.

Carter's 'open' nature sometimes irksome, evasive

By BROOKS JACKSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter claims that he is the most open president in history, despite his decision to cut back sharply on news conferences.

Although Carter has a habit of exaggerating his boasts, there is at least a grain of truth in this one. Scarcely a week passes in which the president is not questioned publicly on current issues.

It irks a good many Washington-based reporters that the questioning is being done increasingly not by them, but by non-Washington journalists and broadcasters or ordinary citizens.

Nevertheless, it is hard to imagine a newsworthy subject on which Carter has not recently been questioned in public by someone.

IT IS TRUE Carter sometimes evades questions put to him by non-journalists. But Carter easily glides by pointed questions from Washington-based reporters, too. No matter how persistent the cross-examination, Carter seldom if ever allows himself to be nailed down when he doesn't want to be.

No self-respecting reporter would flatter the president in public in the way some non-journalist questioners do, as when a Kentucky man told him during a radio broadcast Oct. 13: "I love you very much. I am praying for you and my friends are praying for you."

Still, non-journalists occasionally ask questions that are at least as tough as those posed by the Washington press corps. Another questioner on the same radio broadcast reminded Carter of his campaign pledge to cut military spending and asked why he was proposing spending for an MX mobile missile system. "Why don't you try to stop inflation by stopping this unnecessary military spending to put that money to work in the economy?" he asked.

IT WAS LAST JULY, after his mountaintop "domestic summit," that Carter formally reneged on his old promise to hold two news conferences per month.

"I have nothing against the White House press corps nor the Washington press," he said at a news conference July 25. "I will continue to have interviews with the White House press corps, as we are doing tonight, but not twice a month. ... My decision is to go to different places around the country."

An analysis

This has produced muttered accusations by some of the forsaken Washington reporters, who feel the president is "hiding out" or "drawing the wagons in a circle" or otherwise behaving like the reclusive Richard Nixon.

And in fact the president has held only one news conference, on Oct. 9, in the 12 weeks or so since then.

BUT CARTER has been far from reclusive.

He held five "town hall meetings" to answer questions from citizens in Burlinton, Iowa; Tampa, Fla.; Steubenville, Ohio; Queens, New York, and Dolton, Ill.

Each was roughly twice as long as the standard half-hour Washington news conference.

The president also took questions from non-Washington editors and broadcasters at seven different half-hour sessions, six of them in the White House and another in Tampa, Fla.

He chatted informally, sometimes off the record and sometimes for quotation, with reporters who accompanied him on a steamboat trip down the Upper Mississippi.

During that trip he also played host on a radio talk show in Davenport, Iowa., taking questions from listeners.

THEN ON OCT. 13 in the White House he answered questions from 28 persons on a similar show carried over about 200 radio stations affiliated with National Public Radio.

In addition, Carter sometimes takes questions from audiences, as he did at a gathering of retired persons in Hartford, Conn., on Sept. 12.

"I would guess that in its totality my relationship with the public has been more (open) than any other previous president," Carter told a group of out-of-town editors at the White House on Oct. 11.

"I have not tried to withdraw into a shell. I think that I have been more open maybe in the last few months than ever before."

Parents may view films

Films and other audio-visual materials available to the public schools through the Region 18 Education Service Center may be requested for preview by parents and other interested adults during a one-day review session scheduled Oct. 26.

The session is scheduled from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the center on LaForce Boulevard at Midland Regional Airport.

Parents and other citizens interested in seeing particular films from the collection should notify the center at least 10 days in advance so the staff will have time to check on the avilability of the films and set up preview rooms. Alternate dates will be set up for previewing films not available Oct. 26.

Drama class has program

The students interspersed excerpts from popular songs and television commercials with observations on student life at Goddard.

The script was written by previous classes of Mrs. Attaway's and revised by her current seventh- and eighth-grade students.

All class members participated in the production.

The students wore red and white T-shirts emblazoned with the words "Attaway's Army," while Mrs. Attaway's shirt bore five stars.

Gasoline price climbs

HOUSTON (AP) — The price of gasoline in Texas has slipped over the dollar mark for the first time, but the American Automobile Association says the overall price rise has been moderate.

And availability of the fuel has improved sharply during the past month, the AAA said Thursday.

The association's monthly survey showed premium unleaded gasoline now is selling at full-service pumps for an average of 100.2 cents a gallon, compared with 98.9 cents last month.

The average cost of all grades increased 0.3 cents per week, the AAA said, far less than the weekly one-cent-a-gallon boosts recorded throughout the summer months.

The survey showed that more stations were pumping on Sunday than since the days of early May.

Congress in hurry to help poor with winter fuel bills

WASHINGTON (AP)– Suddenly, members of Congress sound like they can't move fast enough to spend more than $1 billion helping the poor pay their heating bills this winter.

"The important thing is to get the dough out before people freeze to death," said Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., sponsor of a $1.2 billion emergency fuel assistance provision that received final Senate approval Wednesday.

His sense of urgency was seconded by House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, who made an unprecedented appearance before a House panel to make a pitch for $1.35 billion in aid.

"The first session of the 96th Congress faces no higher priority than providing low-income fuel assistance to meet this winter's needs," he said. "I do not believe we can afford to adjourn without adressing this problem."

O'Neill, who emphasized he was speaking "as the elected constitutional head of the House of Representatives," said disagreements about details of the program should not delay its approval. "Prompt action is a national imperative," he concluded.

"This matter will be handled in an expedited manner," promised Rep. William Natcher, D-Ky., chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that listened to the speaker.

Natcher did not indicate immediately when he would reconvene the panel for a vote. Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass., suggested the House meet in special session Saturday to approve the money, but O'Neill didn't respond.

Meanwhile, the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee arranged to meet today to debate precisely how to distribute the money senators have agreed to spend. An aide to Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., the committee chairman, said it was possible the panel could complete work on the measure by the end of the day.

What is prompting the swift action in Congress is sharply higher prices for home heating fuels. In the case of heating oil, prices have risen by more than 50 percent since the end of last winter and now stand at over 80 cents a gallon in some parts of the country.

The Carter administration has asked Congress to spend a total of $1.6 billion for emergency fuel assistance this winter, including $400 million in an existing program that can make cash grants or provide space heaters or other goods in emergency situation. The other $1.2 billion is a new program that would supplement checks received by people living below or slightly above the poverty line.

Overcharge notices reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has filed "notices of probable violation" against Atlantic Richfield, Exxon USA, Conoco and Amoco in connection with an estimated $100 million in overcharges after the 1973-74 Arab oil embargo.

The Energy Department said Thursday that none of the allegations "involves ... willful wrongdoing." The charges are the latest in a two-year investigation of 15 oil companies. It has led the government to allege overcharges of about $5 billion in dozens of separate actions. Oil companies are contesting most of the claims.

Lines, numbers decorate city in marathon mania

NEW YORK (AP) — A bright blue line snakes through all five New York City boroughs. Big numbers — 23, 24, 25, 26 — are painted on Central Park's winding roads.

It's marathon mania time again.

On Sunday, 14,000 men, women and children will group on the Staten Island side of the Verrazano Narrows Bridge, eager to put their bodies through agony to run 26 miles and 385 yards through the streets of Brooklyn, Queens, the Bronx and Manhattan.

Before the starting gun, the competitors will seem to merge into one mass, blending into a sea of multi-colored T-shirts and tank tops.

But the 10th annual New York City Marathon calls for the supreme individual effort. Each runner — consumed for weeks ahead of time with preparation — faces the grueling event alone, trying to pass his or her private endurance test.

Ed Haggerty, 37, a seasoned athlete who plays rugby union, has already run two marathons, but he says he would never recommend that someone take up running.

"It becomes obsessive," Haggerty says. "It's a time drain and a mental drain. I get up in the morning and I think about the marathon."

Drew Melton, a 35-year-old bond trader and veteran marathoner, took a week off work to train, ran too much and caught a cold. He realizes his chances to beat his previous time are slim, but he'll be running Sunday. "The more time you think about it the more anxious you get about it. I've just started to think about it," he says.

And Bert Berliner, a photo editor and first time marathoner who used to call runners "fanatics," now admits he's one. Berliner, 35, says the race is his personal odyssey: "I can't think of any other goal that is so important to me. When I picture what the Verrazano Bridge is going to look like, I'm just overwhelmed."

Haggerty and Melton say they're running to beat their best marathon times, coincidentally identical marks of 3 hours and 6 minutes.

"I know I can run 26 miles. That's a piece of cake," says Haggerty, who owns and edits Rugby Magazine. "To me it's just a question of am I going to run better than 3:06 or not? If I break my time, then all the training is worth it."

Illegitimate children point of landmark case

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court has ruled in a landmark Dallas paternity case that illegitimate children born before Sept. 1, 1975, have until their 22nd birthday to establish the identity of their fathers.

"This brings joy to my heart," said Bill J. Ballard, a Wichita Falls specialist in paternity law. "It's time for rejoicing for many kiddies whose parents neglected to get married."

The opinion in the Dallas case was written by the civil appeals court there. The Supreme Court upheld the ruling Wednesday.

The Texas Department of Human Resources, formerly the welfare department, sued on behalf of the child's mother to compel Edward Charles Delley of Dallas to support an illegitimate child born in 1968. Both parents were 17 at the time.

The ruling is important to the state because child support could erase the need for state welfare payments in many cases.

Before the Delley suit was filed, the appeals court said, Delley signed a sworn statement, witnessed by two people, acknowledging he was the father.

The Dallas trial court dismissed the suit. It held the statute of limitations barred the suit, because the child had been born more than four years prior to the time it was filed.

However, the Dallas appeals court ruled the four-year limitation for illegimate children born prior to Sept. 1, 1975, does not start to run until the child reaches 18 years of age.

Ballard said in a telephone interview the Supreme Court ruling Wednesday "gives hope" that even those children will have a year after reaching 18 to sue.

"As a matter of public policy," the Dallas appeals court said, "we doubt that fathers of illegitimate children should be absolved from the duty of paying child support because a paternity suit has not been filed within four years of the birth of the child."

Nationalist guerrillas drop objections to constitution

LONDON (AP) — Black nationalist guerrillas, buoyed by assurances they will not have to foot the bill for white-owned land they expropriate, dropped their objections to a proposed constitution for Zimbabwe Rhodesia and opened the way for negotiations on a transition government.

Patriotic Front guerrilla leaders Robert Mugabe and Joshua Nkomo said Thursday "there will not be need to revert to discussion of the constitution," provided transition arrangements are agreed to.

They said British and U.S. assurances of contributions to a fund to compensate white farmers for land nationalized by a new Zimbabwe Rhodesian government in which they will participate went a "long way" to allay their concerns.

The guerrillas sent their message to Lord Carrington, the British foreign secretary and chairman of the six-week-old talks, and British sources said he welcomed the Front's "unambiguous" announcement and was "happy and content" to begin discussions of the transition.

Mugabe and Nkomo had been eclipsed from the talks since Monday for refusing to accept Britain's stipulation in the draft constitution that any new Zimbabwe Rhodesian government compensate white settlers for expropriated land.

The guerrillas, who have been battling for control of Rhodesia for seven years, took the position that there should be no compensation from them because the white minority in the rich African nation originally seized the land from the black majority.

As a result, both Britain and the United States gave clear signs they would contribute to an international fund to compensate the white settlers in the breakaway British colony.

But Britain is still sticking to its proposal that a British governor take over and supervise new elections in Zimbabwe Rhodesia, and that the vote be supervised by the currently white-led army.

Hospital staff attend meeting

McGee presented videotapes of heart scans done at MMH, demonstrating examples of all types of heart disease. The program was designed for all physicians with particular emphasis on the usefullness of this diagnostic procedure for family and general practitioners.

McGee, who is board certified in both radiology and nuclear medicine, said Midland Memorial Hospital has one of the considerable experiences in nuclear cardiology and that original research currently is being conducted here.

Fake FDIC representative may be on most-wanted list

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — He was "soft spoken, very cool," and seemed to be what he said he was — a federal bank official, the bank president, said.

But the man whipped out a gun, announced he was Earl Edwin Austin, a man on the FBI's most-wanted list, and made off with an estimated $250,000 from the Arapahoe National Bank.

"He identified himself as a representative of the FDIC (Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation) and wanted to speak to me about a private matter," Darrell Brubaker, bank president, said after the robbery Thursday.

"We went into my office, he said it was confidential and asked me to close the door. He handed me a note and it stated he was there to take money from the bank and that he had accomplices outside who were armed with hand grenades and were prepared to back him up," the bank president said.

"He showed me a gun. He never took it out of the holster," Brubaker said of the man dressed in sport clothes and a hat.

"He stated to me he was wanted by the FBI, that he was one of the 10 Most Wanted Men and he gave me the name of Earl Austin," he said. "He was soft spoken, very cool, very collected, a lot cooler than I was."

The FBI said they had an all points bulletin out for Austin, 38, in connection with Thursday's robbery.

Judge gives choice of fine, jail, soap

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — A city judge who believes mouth washing helps defendants clean up their language says he may abandon the unusual sentences if police are reluctant to carry them out.

City Court Judge Lynn P. Dorset offered the punishment as a substitute for a $50 fine or 10 days in jail to a local youth for shouting obscenities at police early last month outside of a Cortland tavern.

Thomas South, 20, agreed to have his mouth washed out with soap in the first floor washroom at the city's police department. The sentence was to be carried out tonight by arresting officers Christopher Kabat and James Rice.

"I doubt if I'm going to do it," Kabat said. "I doubt if the other officer will, either. We don't want to be liable if the soap makes him sick."

Dorset says the unusual sentences could be halted because of the policemen's hesitancy to enforce them.

"It's the first time anyone's ever said anything to me about it, and probably I won't have it (the soap punishment) anymore if that's the way they feel about it," Dorset said.

Dorset said he gives defendants the mouth-washing punishment about once a month. "I know my mother did it to me, and once was enough," he said. "I use it just if somebody badmouths a police officer who really has no comeback."

Dorset said some who choose the fine seem to "come back time after time. But with the soap, I've never seen him or her back in my court again."

Bicyclist injured when hit by cars

A 24-year-old Midland bicyclist was injured about 7:15 a.m. today when he was struck by two separate vehicles at the intersection of M Street and Texas Avenue.

According to Midland police, Michael Yusas, 4303 Andrews Highway, was riding his bicycle in the pre-dawn dark when a car pulled out in front of him. Yusas' bicycle struck the car and overturned, reports indicated.

Another vehicle then came along and struck Yusas, who was lying in the street, police said.

Yusas was taken to Midland Memorial Hospital, where officials this morning said an initial examination revealed possible internal injuries.

WHY WAIT UNTIL 1981 TO PURCHASE YOUR DREAM HOME?
New Federally imposed mortgage rates will soon make it very difficult to obtain a mortgage, and in 1980, it may be impossible. In 1981 your new home could cost 20 to 25% more than it does today.

INFLATION IN THE HOME BUILDING INDUSTRY WILL NOT BE CONTROLLED BY THE PRESENT ACTION OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE.

Skilled construction workers and material suppliers are already taking advantage of long-term apartment, commercial and Federal contracts. Federal controls on timber harvesting are limiting the available supply of timber, thereby driving up the price of lumber materials.

WE STILL HAVE MORTGAGE MONEY AVAILABLE FOR OUR FINE NEW HOMES.
No down payment to vets on most homes.

Rebels face No. 1 Cooper tonight

By BOB DILLON
Sports Writer

Coach Gil Bartosh sends his Rebels against the No. 1-ranked Class AAAA team in the state in the Abilene Cooper Cougars in a big District 5-4A shootout.

Last year, Lee traveled to Abilene and downed Coach Ray Overton's Cougars, 28-25 in a real thriller and in that one the Key City team was celebrating homecoming.

Well, this time around, it will be the Rebels who will be showing off in front of their homecoming crowd, taking the No. 9 ranking into the game of unbeaten AAAA outfits.

Senior quarterback Gary Butler ...ready to guide Lee against Cooper

LEE WILL be trying to keep a three-game winning streak going against the Cougars, who before 1976, had won 10 in a row. In 1976, the last time the Rebels wore the 5-4A crown, Lee took a 13-7 decision and then in 1977 it was 16-13 in favor of the Tall City team and then of course last year's dandy.

So the two rivals have been evenly-matched for the past three years and even though the Cougars have rolled past five opponents, scoring 206 points to 21, the Rebel defense, tops in 5-4A won't take a back seat to anybody, not even the mighty Cougars.

"WE NEED to play super defense and not make any errors in order to make it close with Cooper," said Bartosh who still has plenty of concern over six starters that missed last week's San Angelo game. Five of those six will be playing tonight and even though that is a plus for the Rebels, the fact that four of them have hardly had much contact, could hurt Lee's chances tonight.

Radio Station KCRS will do the play-by-play with the kickoff set for 8 p.m. and a crowd of more than 11,000 is expected in Memorial Stadium for this one.

WHILE BARTOSH is concerned over some of his injured players, Overton, too, may only have limited duty from 229-pound fullback Terry Orr, who has a bruised shoulder. "Terry only carried the ball two times last week against Odessa and he helps our offense go," said Overton.

Bartosh agrees that the big senior does give the Cougars a more powerful weapon when in the lineup. "He runs well, blocks well and catches the ball very well too," quipped Bartosh.

While Lee boasts of the No. 1 defense in the league, Cooper comes into tonight's confrontation with the top offense. "They (Cooper) go along not doing very much and then suddenly make the big play on you," said Bartosh.

While Bartosh is impressed with the Cougar offense, Overton is highly impressed with the rugged Rebel defense. Lee has only given up 321 yards pn the ground and an amazing five through the airways in its first two games, so the Cougars are bound to put the ball into the air and they have two gifted quarterbacks in John Slaughter and Lanny Dycus.

DYCUS LEADS the league in passing. The 185-pound junior has connected on six of 12 passes for 152 yards and one touchdown while Slaughter, an 180-pound senior, has six of eight passes, good for 81 yards and one TD. The two have combined for a total of 233 yards passing.

With 233 yards through the airways, the potent Cougar ground attack has racked up 498 yards for a total offense of 731 yards in two games in 5-4A play.

Lee, meanwhile, has given up only those 326 yards in two league outings and that is what it will have to rely upon in order to give the Cougs a stern test.

Orr is doubtful and if he isn't able to start at fullback, Steve Moake, a 200-pounder, will start there on offense and at a defensive tackle on defense, according to Overton.

Cooper has plenty of speed and size in the forward wall with the likes of Paul Mergenhagen (215), Alvin Jenkins (210), Steve Hill (200) and David Johnson (220) in the enterior line. Orr also starts at linebacker and is joined by middle linebacker Greg Berry, a 190-pound senior who Bartosh calls "Super".

"THEY CAN hurt you so many different ways and also have a strong kicking game in Kyle Stuard," commented Bartosh. Stuard is the leading punter in the league with a 45.0 average, but then the Rebels can counter with Barry Corley who has been averaging 41.1 per punt.

"The kicking game and mistakes will play a very important part in tonight's game," added Bartosh. Overton agrees and also feels like Lee has a very strong outfit. "Lee is well coached and doesn't make too many mistakes and we feel like we will have our hands full," said Overton.

Lee's attack is led by senior quarterback Gary Butler and senior tailback Steve Waldron, but Mark Thompson, 190-pound senior fullback, is a key for the Rebels tonight. "We need Mark in there blocking and carrying the ball and we just hope he can play the whole game for us. He is very important to our attack."

Cooper ranks third in team defense while Lee has the third best offense after two league games.

Joining Butler, Thompson and Waldron in the Rebel backfield will be two players alternating at flanker in Wade Cartwright and Joe Windsor. Bartosh alternates those two to bring in plays from the sidelines.

Texas-Arkansas shootout heads big SWC slate

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

Asked the other day if he knew Lou Holtz was unbeaten in Little Rock, Fred Akers replied: "Arkansas is unbeaten in a lot of places."

But the oddsmakers don't figure Holtz and the Razorbacks will be unbeaten at sundown Saturday.

Holtz loves to play in Little Rock. And his players have picked up the vibes.

However, a Holtz-coached Arkansas team has yet to beat Texas. And the Razorbacks are picking a tough time to try again.

TEXAS IS riding the euphoria of a 16-7 victory over Oklahoma. The Akers-coached Longhorns are No. 2 in the nation. Arkansas is No. 10.

The oddsmakers say it's Texas by four and one-half points.

"We are better than I thought we would be but we're not real solid team," says Holtz. "I have confidence in this team. But I'm concerned our team may not have the confidence it needs."

Akers said the Texas defense will face a stern test.

"Arkansas' offense will be the best balanced we have faced this year," said Akers. "They hit a remarkable number of passes and they have a good offensive line. They get your attention because they have great big-play potential."

Kickoff for the regionally televised game is 3:10 p.m. with a sellout crowd of 53,555 fans on hand in War Memorial Stadium.

IN OTHER SWC action, Houston is a 12-point nod over Southern Methodist in the Astrodome, Texas Tech is a 21-point selection over Rice in Lubbock, Baylor is a 13-point pick over Army at West Point, and Tulsa is a four-point favorite over Texas Christian in Tulsa.

Arkansas and Houston lead the SWC race with 2-0 ledgers. Texas is 1-0 followed by Baylor 3-1, SMU 2-1 and Texas Tech and TCU, each 1-2.

Mustang Mania is also crippled going into the meeting with the Cougars. Freshman Mike Fisher of Waco Richfield will start at quarterback for the injured Jim Bob Taylor.

"Houston is an outstanding team and we are really beat up," said SMU Coach Ron Meyer.

All-America wide receiver Emanuel Tolbert and linebackers Eric Ferguson and Clarence Bennett are expected to miss the game against the unbeaten Cougars.

The Houston-SMU series has a weird statistic. Neither team has ever won at home.

THE SWC can boost its 15-8-1 edge against outside competition if Baylor and TCU come through.

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff warned against downplaying Army.

"I do know they beat a fine Stanford team that tied the No. 1 team in the nation, USC," said Teaff.

Bullpups win short game, 7-0

The Midland High Bullpups downed the Abilene junior varsity, 7-0 in the rain Thursday night in Memorial Stadium in a game that only lasted one quarter.

Lightning and rain hit the stadium with Midland on top, 7-0, going into the second period and Athletic Director Sam Cox called the game off when lightning and rain hit.

The Bullpups now stand 4-2 on the year and Abilene is 3-3 with the loss.

Midland's touchdown was scored by quarterback Scott Sears on a two-yard run with 3:33 left in the first period.

Dallas, St. Louis to tangle Sunday

DALLAS (AP) — It's been a long time since Ottis Anderson exploded onto the National Football League scene with a 193-yard rushing performance ... a very, very long time for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Anderson, the Cardinals' No.1 draft choice out of Miami, has done just about everything expected of him. He's third in the National Conference in rushing with 663 yards and has added 21 receptions for 150 additional yards.

BUT DESPITE his performance, starting with that near-record yardage against Dallas — the Cowboys won the game 22-21 on a late field goal — St. Louis has failed to become the NFC East contenders that so many fans figured they'd be. They're 2-5, rattling around the division basement along with the New York Giants, four games behind co-leaders Dallas and Philadelphia — and they play the Cowboys in Dallas this Sunday.

Sunday's other games are Philadelphia at Washington, the Giants at Kansas City, Atlanta at San Francisco, Baltimore at Buffalo, Cincinnati at Cleveland, Green Bay at Tampa Bay, Oakland at the New York Jets, Miami at New England, Chicago at Minnesota, Detroit at New Orleans, Houston at Seattle and San Diego at Los Angeles. On Monday night it's Denver at Pittsburgh.

AFTER BEING chewed up so royally by Anderson, who came within one yard of Alan Ameche's first pro game record, the Cowboys began reestablishing their Doomsday Defense, to the point that it is now the conference's best against the rush.

They take a 6-1 record into the game and are rated roughly 10-point favorites to beat the Cardinals — but Cowboys Coach Tom Landry, never one to take matters lightly, observes: "O.J is still running well. It's not going to be an easy day." Anderson gained 73 yards in St. Louis' 24-20 loss to Philadelphia last Sunday.

As if facing Dallas' defense wasn't enough, the Cards must also try to prep their own defense (second in the NFC against the rush but ninth against the pass) for an onslaught by Roger Staubach.

THE COWBOYS' quarterback is No.1 among conference passers and has thrown 11 touchdowns while being intercepted only three times. Last Sunday night against Los Angeles he completed 13 of 18 passes for 176 yards and three TDs. He now owns the Cowboys' TD passing record of 137, having passed Don Meredith's 135 during the 30-6 victory over the Rams.

Considering all of that, St. Louis Coach Bud Wilkinson was asked what the Cardinals would have to do to defeat Dallas.

"Be very lucky," he said.

THE REDSKINS, 5-2, will have to contain him if they are to stay in the East Division race. They didn't do it very well in Philadelphia two weeks ago, when Montgomery scored all four touchdowns in the Eagles' 28-17 triumph.

Andrews will remain unbeaten

There's no doubt as to tonight's top game. It has to be the Andrews-Pecos battle, which incidentally is the District 2-AAA opener for both outfits.

Trying to select a stock that goes up in price is an easier proposition than offering a prognostication about this tilt.

But the fearsome forecast must continue.

AFTER PURSUING the statistics, it's obvious these two teams are as closely matched as twins. Each possesses the ability to strike quickly while on the other hand, both defenses are downright tough.

To date, Andrews really hasn't broken a sweat in running up a 6-0 mark although they've faced a couple of good teams — Seminole and Kermit — during the last three weeks. Pecos, though, has played mostly patsies and was extended to a 3-0 decision over Snyder last week to remain 6-0.

The logical choice would be to predict a tie, but that, as has often been said before, isn't much fun.

So, with nothing but a gut feeling, the nod goes to Andrews to cop a 21-12 decision over the Eagles.

IF ANDREWS and Pecos are the two best teams hooking-up Friday night, then Lamesa and Sweetwater have to be two of the worst.

And that means their District 3-AAA opener should be — if not well played — at least exciting.

Basically, they're evenly matched, the Golden Tornadoes struggling to a 0-6 reading while the Mustangs have been lackluster enroute to a 1-5 log. Yawn.

For strictly personal reasons and the desire to see Julian Bush's hard-working kids finally notch a victory, I'm going out on a very shaky limb and predicting the Tors to defeat the Ponies 14-7.

Stanton coach Steve Park is concerned about his Buffaloes' trip to Plains and the head man does have a point. Stanton will have to be on top of their game each and every week if they hope to have a chance for the District 5-A crown.

Still, if the Buffs muster just half of what they laid on Shallowater last week, it could be a cakewalk for Stanton, a team that owns two straight whitewash jobs.

Sure, Plains is over .500 at 3-2 and shares the same league mark (2-0) as the Buffs. But Park's senior-dominated crew looks like they'll bag a 28-6 victory over the Cowboys.

DOWN IN Big Lake, coach Melvin Burns is probably a little more than wary of his Owls' District 9-A opener with Menard, 3-2. The Owls, 4-1, have had but one real letdown this year and it resulted in their only loss. Menard, however, has been victim of the roller-coaster syndrome.

Figuring that Menard will be on the downward cycle this week after upseting Rankin a week ago, I'll give Mickey Tom Owens, Mark Burleson and the rest of their Reagan County

Laney captures Enduro crown

John Laney, 20, of 31 Lavera Dr., won the 200 cc. class "B" and overall class "B" divisions at the 20th Annual Mile High Enduro, in Cloudcroft, N.M., which is an American Motorcycle Association sanctioned National Championship Event. Points won count toward a national Enduro championship. The event was held Oct. 14.

The 102 mile course included seven timed-checkpoints to determine the score. Of a possible 1,000 points, Laney scored 987 points, a comfortable win, he said.

Riders from all over the country competed in the event, bringing the number of entrants to more than 250. Laney said approximately 80 riders were entered in the Class "B" division.

This is Laney's first victory in an AMA nationallhy sanctioned event.

He has competed in Motorcross for a number of years, but this is his first attempt at Enduro, which is timed competition.

Rebel-Cougar shootout

is the No. 4 rusher in the league. He has 158 yards in 23 carries while Slaughter and Dycus are next. Slaughter has 91 yards in 19 carries and Dycus is averaging 9.7 yards per carry with 88 yards in only nine carries. Next comes Orr with 86 yards in 18 cracks into the line, but the big blockbuster fullback, only carried two times for five yards against Odessa last week in the Cougars' 21-0 victory over the Bronchos.

While you have to be impressed with the credentials of Dycus and Slaughter in the passing department, the Rebels have a fine signal-caller too-in Butler, who has hit 12 of 17 passes for 138 yards and one TD and is the No. 2 thrower in the league behind Dycus.

Butler's favorite targets have been Larry Linne and Windsor. Linne has four catches for 56 yards and Windsor three for 37 while Cooper's top receivers have been Pantalion (Tops in the league), Orr and Steve Malpass. Pantalion has latched on to three passes for 94 yards and one TD and is averaing 31.3 yards per reception while Orr has three for 53 and Malpass two for 48. Jenkins has three for 32 yards and a TD.

Waldron has gained 134 yards in 32 carries to be the leading rusher for the Rebs in district warfare to date.

ASU drills in private

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Armed security officers stood by Thursday as the Arizona State University football team closed its practice to all outsiders in the wake of the firing of coach Frank Kush.

Asked to comment on reports of murder threats, Campus Security Chief George Bays said, "I don't want to give details on the type of threats because it's an inducement to every kind of nut. There have been quite a variety."

Coach Bob Owens said the players asked that the practice be closed until after Saturday's Pacific-10 game here with Washington State. "We have had far to many distractions," Owens said.

Lee heads NL All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Lee, an injury-plagued American Leaguer for the past few seasons, was among those named today to The Associated Press' National League All-Star baseball team for 1979.

Lee, selected as the left-handed pitcher on the AP's NL team, reversed his field this year by winning 16 games for the Montreal Expos and compiling a 3.04 earned run average in 222 innings.

The victory total was the most that Lee had compiled since winning 17 games for the Boston Red Sox in 1975. In the three subsequent seasons for Boston, Lee had amassed a total of just 24 triumphs while suffering through an assortment of hurts that included a bad pitching arm.

Lee polled 95 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters to win the berth over Philadelphia's Steve Carlton, who had 76. Joe Niekro, a 21-game winner with the Houston Astros, was the choice as the right-handed pitcher over teammate J.R. Richard. The voting margin there was 120-83.

Bruce Sutter, who posted a league-leading 37 saves for the Chicago Cubs, was the runaway choice as the NL's All-Star relief pitcher, collecting 196 votes.

San Diego's Dave Winfield, with 34 homers, 118 RBI and a .308 batting average, was the leading vote-getter with 216 for one of the outfield berths. The rest of the NL's All-Star outfield included Dave Kingman of the Chicago Cubs with 199 votes and Dave Parker of the Pittsburgh Pirates with 152, both easy winners over their nearest competitor, Cincinnati's George Foster.

Kingman led the NL in homers with 48 and drove in 118 runs. Parker had a .310 batting average, 25 homers and 94 RBI.

The remainder of the team included three players from the St. Louis Cardinals — first baseman Keith Hernandez (176 votes), shortstop Garry Templeton (129) and catcher Ted Simmons (114) — along with second baseman Dave Lopes of the Los Angeles Dodgers (158) and third baseman Mike Schmidt of the Philadelphia Phillies (109).

Ponies get nod

A pair of District 6-A teams will begin loop play and either matchup — on paper — appears to be as spectacular as watching a test pattern.

McCamey coach Larry Nabors, whose team comes in 4-1-1, was quoted as saying his Badgers put it all together for the first time last week.

If that's true, it means bad news for the Iraan Braves, 1-4. Plus, Nabors is finally getting some healthy players.

What it all means is that McCamey — barring nuclear holocaust or a plague — should stomp the Braves 32-7.

THE OTHER 6-A affair pits Clint, 1-2, and Marfa, 3-3. The rap against Clint is they play a less than challenging nonconference slate while the Shorthorns, as their record indicates, can be great one week and horrible the next.

My feeling is that Clint — suffering from two straight defeats including a 69-0 blowout last week — will regroup to take a 17-9 victory.

One other 6-A club, Rankin, will be involved in a nonconference assingment against Wink.

RED DEVIL coach Dwayne Turner couldn't have been pleased with last week's 26-19 loss to Menard that snapped Rankin's three-game win streak.

Will the Golden Cranes finally consistently figure the way to the goalline? I think so to the tune of 32-15.

ROUND THE REGION — Fort Stockton 21, Odessa Ector 19; Kermit 15, Fabens 9 (this could be a dilly); Ozona 22, Alpine 12; Sonora 34, Cathedral 11; Seagraves 49, Anton 3; Shallowater 7, Forsan 0; Ropes 6, O'Donnell 5; Mason 21, Eldorado 6; Junction 30, Wall 14.

WILD ONE OF THE WEEK — This could be one of the wildest wild ones to come down the pipe in some time. Snyder's Tigers go to San Angelo for a 3-AAA collision with the eighth-rated Lake View Chiefs. Looking at the records (Snyder 3-3, Lake View 5-1), one might think this can't be much of a game. But Snyder seems to be gathering a little momentum as evidenced by their 3-0 loss to Pecos a week ago. And how much longer can the Chiefs keep working their magic? I like Snyder by 17-15.

5-4A moves into 3rd week of competition

District 5-4A moves into its third week of play tonight with the clash of unbeaten, No. 1 ranked Abilene Cooper against equally unbeaten Midland Lee at Midland's Memorial Stadium.

Midland High, meanwhile, will be seeking to make it five wins in six starts at Abilene. In other games, Odessa Permian figures to remain unbeaten in district play against Big Spring and Odessa will be favored over San Angelo.

LEE IS 5-0 and ranked ninth in the state Class AAAA poll. Lee won a 28-25 thriller over the Cougars last year, but the Rebels trail in the weries 11-6-1. However, Lee has won the last three in a row. The Rebels snapped an 11-year Coope winning streak with a 13-7 win in 1976.

Abilene holds a 27-12 bulge over Midland in its series, but the Bulldogs have won five of the last seven.

ODESSA OUTSCORED San Angelo, 37-34 in a wild scoring duel last year, but the Bobcats lead the series, 15-12. Permian has a 17-3 series edge over Big Spring and has won the last 14 in a row. Big Spring's last win came in 1964, 7-6.

Ben Crenshaw leading Open

MARBLE FALLS, Texas (AP) — Ben Crenshaw birdied the last hole to take a share of the lead with Bobby Walzel in the $40,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament Thursday after three rounds of play.

Crenshaw, who won the tournament in 1975, shot a 2-under-par 70 and Walzel, the 1977 champ, fired a 71, giving both golfers a three-day total of 210.

Crenshaw opened the day with birdies on his first three holes, but then cooled off and needed the birdie on No. 18 to tie Walzel.

Randy Petri of Austin, who led after the first two rounds, bogied holes 16, 17 and 18 for a third round 76, and fell into a tie for fourth place at 212 on the Horseshoe Bay Country Club course.

Walzel, of Houston, has not been playing golf regularly for the past two months because he suffered a torn rib cage in a previous tournament. He said his driving was on target but he was not happy with his putting.

Longhorns impressive

One fan wanted to know if the lone touchdown Oklahoma scored against Texas last week shouldn't belong to the Longhorns' offense, "After all, they were handling the ball."

Actually, Johnnie Johnson was catching a punt, fumbled and the Sooners recovered for the gimmie shot to avert a shutout. Since Johnson is listed as a safety, it would be an injustice to the offense to charge 'em with this one.

Nevertheless, the fan asserted that if he were Texas Coach Fred Akers, "I'd punt on first down and get the defense back in there so it could score."

THAT'S NOT only grossly unfair to the Texas offense, but unrealistic as well. After all, the offensive players have mothers and daddies, just like the defense, and they like to see them play, too. Besides, the defense has to catch its breath sometime.

Despite the bad raps, Texas' attack isn't that bad. It only suffers in comparison with the defense, which has put guys on the bench who were the defensive stars of the 1977 team that went into the Cotton Bowl the unchallenged No. 1 in the nation.

The Longhorns moved the ball pretty good, gaining 376 yards against an Oklahoma defense that had intimidated folks until last Saturday. And Jam Jones gained 127 yards, which is 54 yards more than Heisman Trophy winner Billy Sims could muster, but then, of course, Jones didn't have that Texas defense to contend with, unless he goofed up.

TED PATTLES BATTLE SCENE

Really, about the only fault with the Texas attack against Oklahoma was that after crossing the opposition's 20, everybody started jumping up and down, and slapping helmets the way some teams do when they cross the goalline. They knew, you see, that Rick Goodson was on the way in and while three points may not be as many as seven, it's a lot easier and they do mount up.

ONE WRITER described the Texas offense as being a Joey Maxim in shoulder pads. Joey was the old lightheavyweight, the kind they refer to as a cutey. He wouldn't hurt a fly...fact of the matter was he couldn't, even with his Sunday punch...and his sole objective seemed to be to keep from getting killed. He was so good at it, he made his frustrated opponent look incredibly inept.

That's unfair, although admittedly Saturday against Oklahoma, it seemed that they must have worked all week on ways not to score a touchdown, a six-pointer seemed so imminent and unavoidable at times. Once quarterback Donnie Little and Jam Jones played volleyball, using the five-yard line as a net, on a sweep.

Perhaps for the pro minded quarterback, life's biggest disappointment is to have a recruiter from Texas or Oklahoma tap him on the shoulder and say, "We want you. You're our type."

Back in the summer former Longhorn punter Russell Erxleben said he'd like a shot at playing quarterback in the NFL. Everybody laughed, including Akers', who said, "Erxleben couldn't play quarterback for us at Texas, so how could he play in the pros." It was the highest recommendation Erxleben could have received.

TEXAS HASN'T had a pro prospect

MC netters on road this week

The Midland College tennis players are on the road again this weekend, this time heading for the West Texas Open Tournament in San Angelo Saturday and Sunday.

Coach Brian Gilley was pleased with the results his players compiled during last weekend's Midland Coca-Cola Major Zone Tournament, conducted by Midland College.

Freshman Sam Rivera stunned the strong field by taking the championship men's singles title. He did it by knocking off Kim Kettelson of San Angelo, the No. 1 seed, in the quarterfinals and then taking out two older brothers. Sam defeated oldest brother Armando in the semifinals and then edged older brother Jose to the finals.

In the championship women's division, MC freshman Teresa Landry played well in the singles while freshmen Linda Hankins and Leslie Towry had a good tournament in the doubles.

Sports in brief

By The Associated Press

BASEBALL

NEW YORK (AP) — Four members of the California Angels and two from the American League champion Baltimore Orioles highlighted The Associated Press' 1979 American League All-Star team.

Orioles honored

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles kindled the spirit of their fans to new heights during the 1979 baseball season and the enthusiasm never died, even in defeat.

"The city is probably going to be depressed when we lost after having a 3-1 lead," said Scott McGregor, the losing pitcher in Wednesday night's deciding seventh game.

But his concern was unnecessary. The fans, who had taken the come-from-behind Birds to their bosom during the season, flocked to the streets for a parade in their honor Thursday.

Mayor William Donald Schaefer, who may have been a little prejudiced in his view, estimated the gathering at 250,000. Still, there was no disputing the enormity of the turnout, including about 7,000 in City Hall Plaza where the parade ended.

Manager Earl Weaver and his players spoke in glowing terms about the size of the crowd and made promises to bring the world championship to Baltimore in 1980.

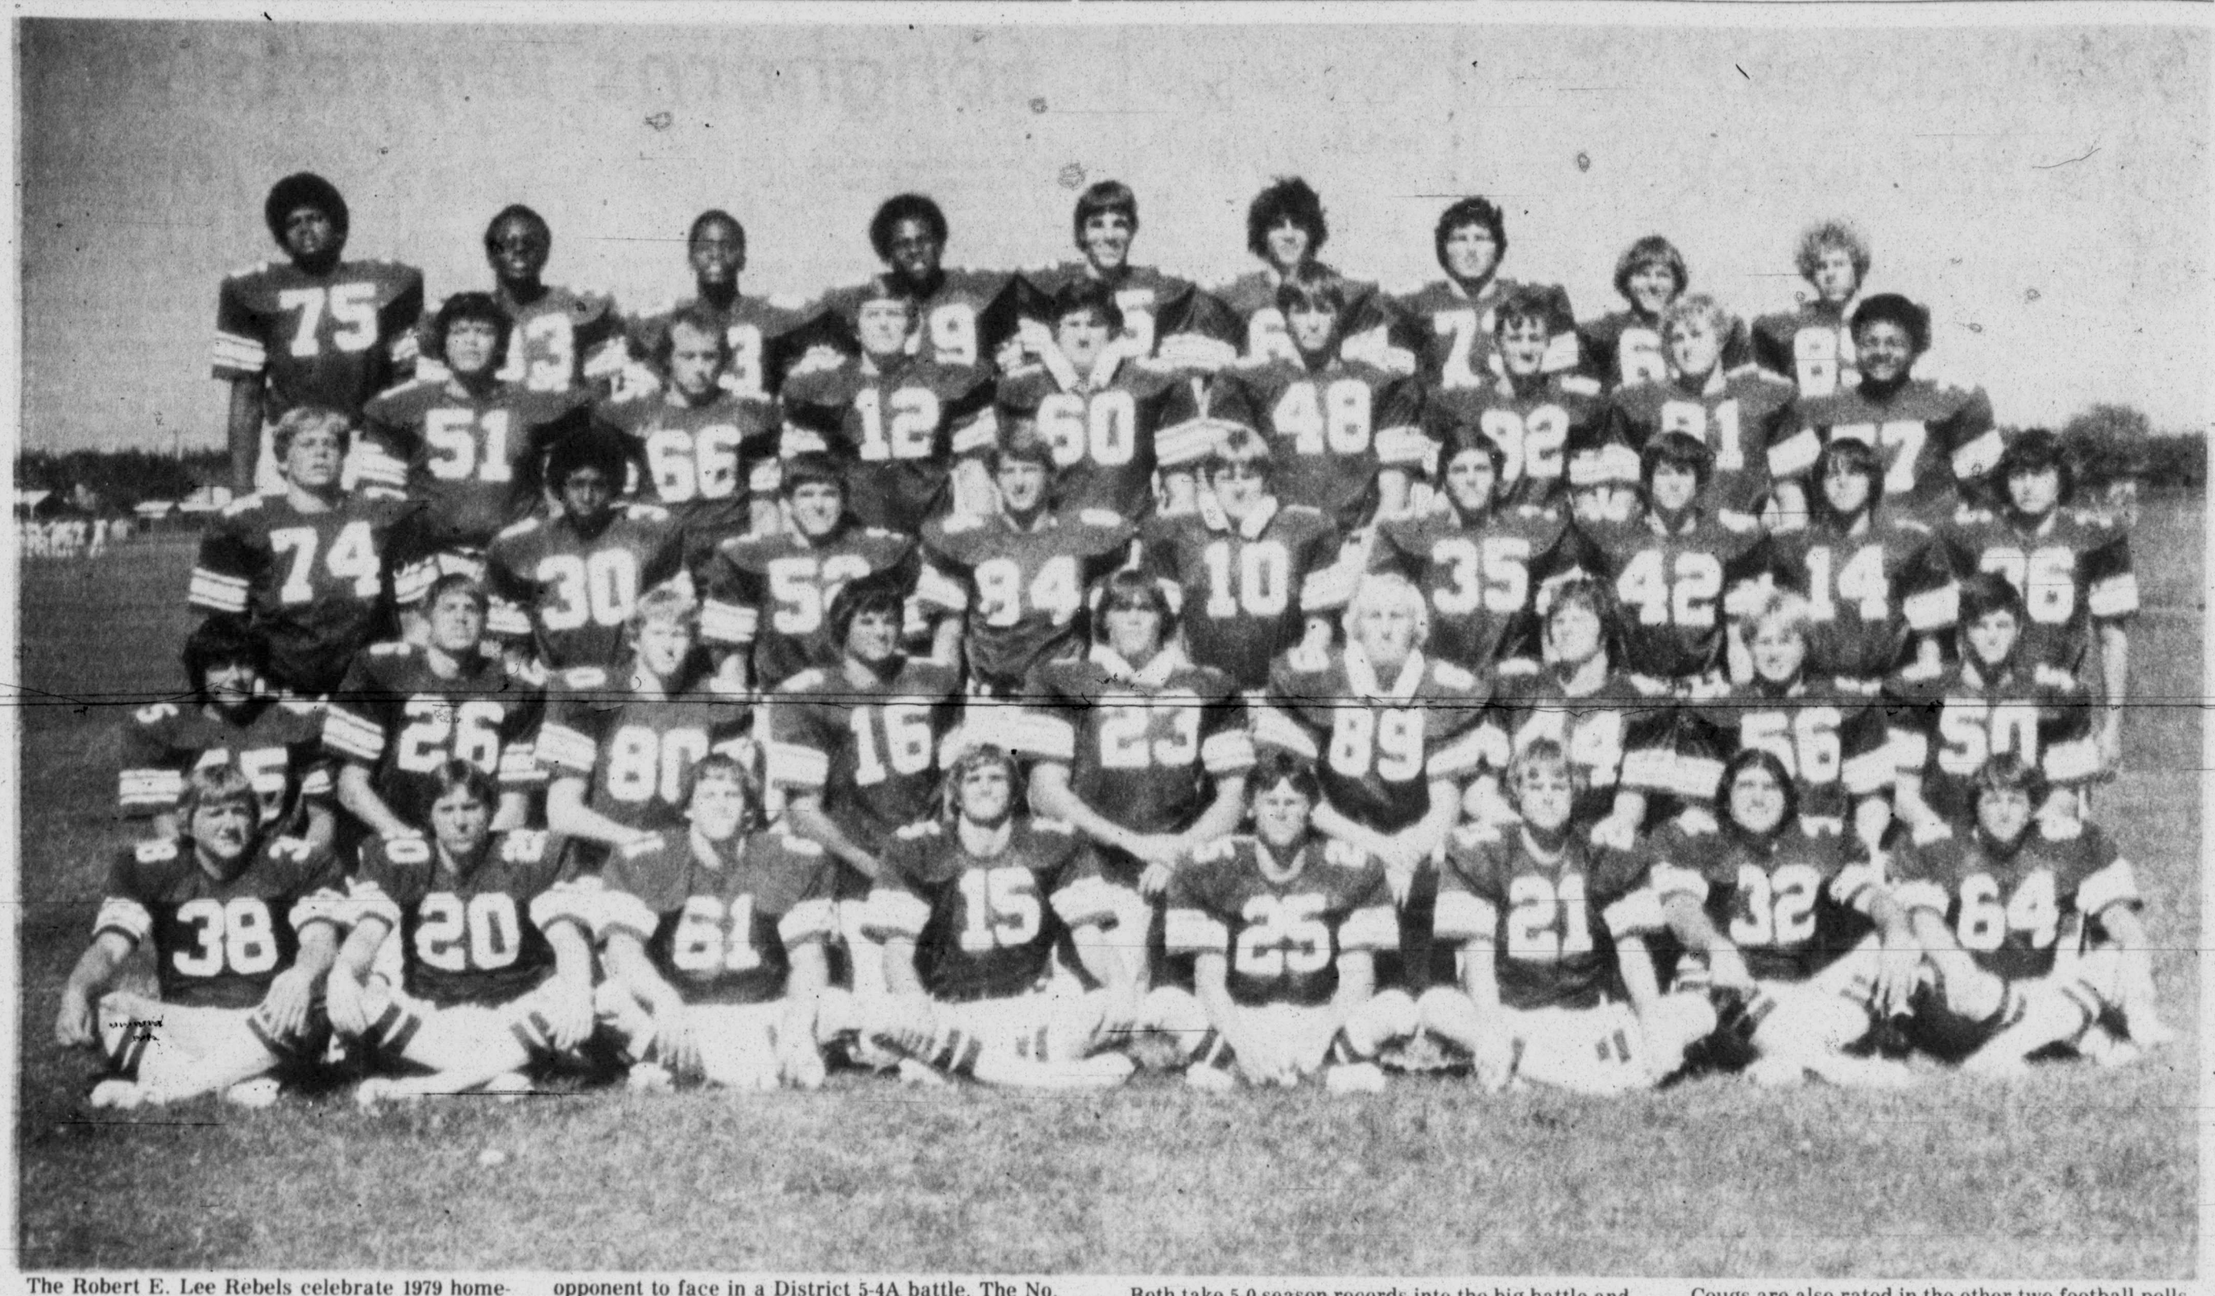

In the season just ended, the Orioles won more games than any other team in baseball, but they fell one game short after taking a supposedly overwhelming 3-1 lead over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"Except for one game, we reached our full potential," said Weaver. "We won 108 games, but you can throw the last three in the waste basket. The first 102 made us division champs and we can count the next three because 105 made us the American League champs. But the next three don't amount to nothing."

The Robert E. Lee Rebels celebrate 1979 homecoming tonight in Memorial Stadium and Coach Gil Bartosh and his staff have chosen a mighty tough opponent to face in a District 5-4A battle. The No. 1-ranked Abilene Cooper Cougars will be here for the 8 p.m. kickoff in a game of unbeaten teams. Both take 5-0 season records into the big battle and 2-0 5-4A marks. The Cougars are No. 1 and Lee No. 9 in the AP schoolboy football poll. The Rebs and Cougs are also rated in the other two football polls. Bartosh is in his second season at the helm of the Rebels. # Port Arthur combination paying off this season

By The Associated Press

For a coach in a rebuilding situation, Port Arthur Jefferson's Ron Thompson couldn't find two better cornerstones than quarterback Todd Dodge and receiver Brent Duhon.

The pair worked together as sophomores last season but the special chemistry between them didn't ignite until last spring after honing their pass-catch skills for a season.

So far this season, they definitely have been the most volatile mixture any opponent would want to test and last week's 31-6 victory over Nederland was no exception.

Dodge completed 17 of 27 passes for 253 yards and had touchdown passes of 4, 19, and 7 yards, all to Duhon of course. Duhon contributed seven receptions for 77 yards to the victory.

"We've got other receivers who can catch the ball too but their (Dodge and Duhon's) chemistry ignited first," Thompson said.

"Brent plays like he came right out of the Louisiana Tech (college) program. He moves well, jumps high and catches the ball in a crowd and works the sidelines exceptionally well.

"Todd is probably a better runner but he does so well at reading and throwing. We've got a spectator offense with a lot of different looks. We can't just run over people and then laugh at them. And Todd fits right in with our offense."

Duhon is far ahead of his sophomore pace with 41 catches this season for 636 yards and five touchdowns. He was the second leading receiver in the district last year with 21 catches. Dodge has completed 79 of 138 passes for 1,239 yards and 11 touchdowns and has been intercepted four times.

San Antonio Sam Houston fullback Ronnie Price won a running dueling in leading his team to a 27-14 victory over San Antonio Burbank. Price rushed 347 yards on 30 carries and scored on runs of 6, 67 and 17 yards to tie a city Class 4A rushing record.

Price and Sam Houston got their first victory of the season despite 204 yards rushing on 24 carries by Burbank's Fred Rodriguez, who scored on runs of 10 and 38 yards. The 38-yard TD came on a fake punt.

Expert picks Pokes

By The Associated Press

Now that the World Series is history, fans in Baltimore and Pittsburgh can begin concentrating on the Colts and Steelers instead of the Orioles and Pirates.

The Pro Picker, preoccupied by baseball, continued with midseason blahs, posting an 8-6 record last week. The season's log is 63-34 for .649.

The Picks:

Buffalo 28, Baltimore 17: It's time for the Bills' high-powered offense to start pouring out points again.

Pittsburgh 20, Denver 10 (Monday night): Want to bet the Steelers don't make 10 turnovers this week?

San Diego 24, Los Angeles 21: Upset Special. The Rams have too many key players licking wounds.

Oakland 31, N.Y. Jets 14: Kenny Stabler should have a picnic.

N.Y. Giants 24, Kansas City 20: The recovery continues under Dr. Phil Simms and a defense that has found a purpose at last.

Cleveland 16, Cincinnati 13: If they don't play giveaway, the way the Steelers did, the Browns should handle the Bengals.

Philadelphia 20, Washington 17: Wilbert Montgomery, Harold Carmichael & Co. are legitimate NFC East contenders.

New England 27, Miami 17: The home field is a major edge for the Pats. The Dolphins miss the Orange Bowl when they hit the road.

Dallas 17, St. Louis 14: The Cardinals always play the Cowboys tough. But without Jim Hart to worry about, the Dallas defense should prevail.

Lee to upset Cougars

Tonight is a very big night for the Midland Lee Rebels as they entertain the Abilene Cooper Cougars in Memorial Stadium in the District 5-4A headliner.

Both teams are state ranked and it shapes up as a great battle.

Last week the record was 50 correct and 10 incorrect for a percentage of .833 or 83.3 and on the year, it stands 206 right and 37 wrong for an 85.1 percentage.

There were some real shockers, but then in schoolboy football there always are, especially as the season nears the halfway mark.

Turning now to this weekend's battles tonight and Saturday:

MIDLAND LEE throws its rugged defense at the powerful Cooper offense tonight as the Rebels hope to celebrate homecoming. Terry Orr is doubtful for Cooper and I still feel like the Reb defense will shut down some of the things that Ray Overton's Cougars have been getting away with. Anyway, whether or not Orr plays, got to pick the upset of the season as the Rebels will celebrate tonight after polishing off Cooper, 14-10 in a real head-knocker. Both teams better lace on their shoes tightly tonight for there's boud to be a whole lot of hitting going on.

MIDLAND HIGH, fresh from an easy 31-0 victory over Big Spring travels to Abilene to take on a pretty good Abilene High football team in P.E. Shotwell Stadium. Midland is back on the track and takes a 4-1 seasn record and 1-1 District 5-4A mark into the game and despite the fact that tailback Billy Applin won't play, Michael Feldt, Jeff Robnett, Jerry Zachery and Rick Ankerholz will have enough to post a 20-14 victory.

ODESSA HIGH'S Bronchos still have a very fine team and after two tough losses in 5-4A, will take out their wrath against the San Angelo Central Bobcats in W.T. Barrett Stadium tonight. Quarterback Billy Rumbaugh may return to the lineup after missing the Lee and Cooper games. Going to go with the Red Hosses to post a 27-0 victory over the punchless Bobcats.

ODESSA PERMIAN takes on the Big Spring Steers in Big Spring and Mojo still has had some tough games there. Tailback Ricky Reynolds, the No. 2 rusher behind Midland's Jeff Robnett is out, but it won't make much difference as he rests to get ready for Cooper next week. Mojo to take a 35-0 victory over the Steers to remain undefeated in district play.

Texas tough,

quarterback since Bobby Layne and he was actually a single wing tailback in college. Most of the Texas passing records date back to Layne or Paul Clements, who followed Layne. With the kind of material Texas gets, that's really not too surprising. Why should they waste their time finessing folks when they're built to outmuscle 'em.

It's a lesson Woody Hayes learned early in his career at Ohio State. Most folks forget that Hayes' had Johnny Borton his first year at Columbus and the Buckeyes were a throwing team, at least for that era, but they were also a team that barely made it to the .500 mark. Hayes quickly decided that the pass for a team that outmanpowered its rivals was just an invitation to disaster.

Still, Little may be the best passer at Texas since the early 1950s, although that is not necessarily to be interpreted as praise. Most Texas quarterbacks throw the football like it's a 16-pound shot. Little throws it like a javelin. And honest, he might be pretty good, but nobody will ever know. The Longhorns don't recruit receivers, which was obvious against OU.

But, then, with that the defense, who's gonna notice or really care.

Bulldogs gain fast 5-4A start; Rebels fall to Odessa High

The Midland High volleyball team got off to a fast start Thursday as the second half District 5-4A volleyball race got underway with a hard fought, 15-9, 11-14, 15-3, victory over Odessa Permian.

MHS lost to Permian in the first half and finished with a 4-3 record. Now MHS is 1-0 in the second half and Permian 0-1.

Midland Lee, on the other hand, lost to Odessa High in their first second round bout, in straight games 15-7, 15-2. Lee, 3-4 in the first half, now is 0-1 in the second half while OHS is 1-0.

The Lee junior varsity lost to OHS, 13-15, 15-7, 15-9 while the MHS junior varsity defeated Permian. No scores were available, however.

Lee travels to first half champion San Angelo Tuesday while Midland High will host second place Big Spring. Junior varsity games begin at 6 p.m. and the varsities follow.

Greenwood rips MHS sophs

By BOB DILLON
Sports Writer

The Greenwood Rangers stormed to their fifth victory in seven outings Thursday afternoon in posting a 31-0 victory over the outmanned Midland High sophomore unit at Memorial Stadium.

The Rangers, now 5-2, scored 25 points in the first half and added six more in the second half. It was their second win over the MHS sophs this year, having won 20-6 in the first meeting some two weeks ago.

Quarterback Tommy Somers got the Rangers on the scoreboard in the first period by going nine yards for the first score of the afternoon. The kick failed, making it 6-0 with 9:36 left in the opening period.

Greenwood added another score in the same period when tailback Joe Mobley scooted 17 yards for the TD. This time, the run for the two-point conversion failed, making it 12-0 with 5:12 left in the first period.

Fullback Rex Evans, an 183-pound junior, scored for the Rangers in the second period, going over from eight yards out and once again, the run failed to bring the score to 18-0 with 9:23 left in the first half.

Mobley scored his second touchdown of the afternoon late in the second period when he took a 12-yard pass from Somers for the score. Somers booted the PAt for a 25-0 lead at halftime.

The Rangers put a little icing on the cake in the final period when Vondell Woolfolk scampered 52 yards for the final score of the afternoon. The extra point was blocked by Midland's Bobby Gotovac.

Midland spent a frustrating afternoon in having four passes picked off by the alert Ranger secondary.

Greenwood also reccovered one fumble by Midland to take advantage of five big turnovers.

George Garnett, Gotovac, Danny Rider and Ray DeLeon stood out for the Midland sophomore unit on defense while Russ Padgett and Tommy Pyle were all over the place on defense for the Rangers along with Somers, Homer Lopez and Clay Coscon.

Woolfolk and Mobley led the rushing attack for the Rangers which wound up with 316 yards via the infantry route, with 139 and 131 yards, respectively.

Greenwood has an open date until Oct. 26 when the Rangers entertain Lubbock Christian at home.

Bryant worried about Tennessee

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — This is "cigar week" for the top-ranked Alabama football team, but Coach Bear Bryant said today he is worried that Tennessee will keep the Crimson Tide from lighting up.

"They are getting mighty hungry to beat us," said Bryant. "No team wants to beat us more than them."

Each time Alabama defeats longtime rival Tennessee, Bryant enlivens the locker room celebration by handing out cigars to his players. They have been able to light up for eight straight years.

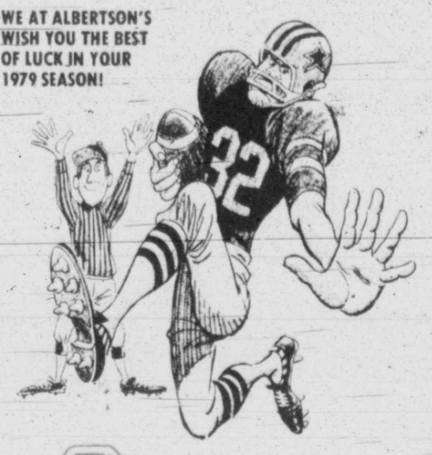

Coach Johnny Majors, brought back to his alma mater in 1977 to, among other things, halt the Tide's domination, said he knows what it will take for his 4-1 Vols, ranked 18th in the nation, to turn back the Tide Saturday.

"You must have poise, emotion, ability and a few breaks to play with a team like Alabama," he said. "This is probably the best team we have faced in the three years I have been at Tennessee."

Alabama statistics tend to bear that out. The Tide leads the nation in seven categories, including the ones that count, scoring offense and scoring defense. The Tide has swamped its five opponents by an average victory margin of 42 points, while giving up only 1.8 a game.

Man picks up pieces of dream

By GORDON MOTT

MEXICO CITY (AP) — For three years, the tallest building in Latin America — the 45-story Hotel de Mexico — has stood an almost-vacant landmark on this city's skyline, the paralyzed dream of an 84-year-old millionaire who ran out of funds.

Now, with a tourist boom causing a terrific shortage of hotel accomodations, the millionaire's son and two U.S. business concerns are trying to put together the $30 million needed to complete it.

The structure of metal, glass and concrete was conceived and started in 1971 by Manuel Suarez, one of Mexico's wealthiest businessmen. It was to have 1,508 rooms, 7 restaurants, 10 bars and discotheques, a swimming pool, 8 scenic outside elevators and convention space for 30,000 people.

An economic crisis in 1976 caught Suarez short of cash, with the structure up but the inside uncompleted. However, he refused to seek outside financial help, saying at the time: "This is my child. I would never sell it. I could not sell my soul."

His son, Alfredo Suarez, who trained in hotel-management in the United States, has quietly taken over and started talks with Hyatt International Hotels and the Bank of America to raise the $30 million.

"We could start finishing the hotel right now with Don Manuel's money — selling some of the old man's vast holdings — but it would take at least three years," the son said in an interview with The Associated Press.

He said that with Hyatt-Bank of America cash financing, the hotel could be completed in a year.

"On behalf of Hyatt, we are prepared to make available the funds in conjunction with the bank," said Allan Turner, a Chicago lawyer representing Hyatt, a major U.S. hotel chain. "It's terrific for Mexico City and the people of Mexico City. It will be a great source of revenue."

The number of tourists visiting the Mexican capital doubled to 3.7 million in 1978 over the previous year, according to the government's tourist bureau and is definitely much higher this year.

Of the visitors last year, 1.7 million were foreigners — mostly Americans.

Occupancy rates jumped similarly to 86 percent and 98 percent in the better hotels — a worldwide record, hoteliers say. Bookings of 60 percent to 65 percent on a month's average is considered very good by most of the world's top hotel keepers.

Tourist bureau officials say there are a total of 16,573 deluxe and first-class hotel rooms in the city, and once the Hotel de Mexico goes into business it will increase the capital's capacity to house visitors by close to 10 percent.

Child abuse can be detected

Dear Dr. Solomon: I recently underwent a colostomy. Is it possible for me to take a bath or shower without wearing the appliance? — Max

Dear Max: It may even be easier to bathe or shower without the appliance. Soap and water cannot enter the opening. Just make certain to adjust the showerhead so that the water does not hit the stoma directly. If you decide to wear the appliance, try taping the edges so that water cannot enter.

If you go swimming, see that the appliance seal is watertight; and if you wear a belt with your pouch, use a rubber one.

Dear Dr. Solomon: A little boy in the town in which I live is in the hospital because he was severely beaten by his parents. What makes this especially tragic is that he was in the hospital three months ago with a broken arm, but no one realized he was the victim of child abuse. Certainly, doctors ought to be able to recognize such abuse before a child is killed. — Mrs. J.L.M.

Dear Mrs. M.: The physician who treats a child in the emergency room, to which most child-abuse victims are brought, often is unable to distinguish an accidental injury from one deliberately inflicted. In many cases, all he can do is accept the parents' explanation for it.

Dr. Judianne Densen-Gerber, president and founder of Odyssey Institute, Inc., in New York, points out that child abuse occurs in families from all socioeconomic backgrounds, and that the emergency room physician should be appropriately suspicious in all cases that conceivably might involve abuse.

According to Dr. Densen-Gerber, about two million children a year are threatened by their parents with either a knife or gun. About 4.2 million children are in the custody of heroin addicts, and an additional 2.8 million children are cared for by prostitutes.

Dr. Michael M. Baden, New York City's former chief medical examiner, says physicians should be able to identify many kinds of injuries as resulting from child abuse. The injuries generally are worse than indicated by the parents' stories of how they occured. In addition, the type of injury may provide a clue. A bite mark, for example, had to be inflicted. Injuries of this kind should be reported to the appropriate legal authorities. Doctors should not be deceived into thinking that middle-class families never have battered children.

Society has many reasons for trying to put an end to child abuse. There is, of course, concern for the child. There may also be concern for the parents, who often are emotionally disturbed and in need of psychiatric treatment. But additionally, battered children often fail to adjust, and, Dr. Baden points out, in New York City gangs of 10- to 12-year-old children are terrorizing people and in some cases even murdering. Apparently child abuse results in abusive children.

Firefighters rolling out red carpet for ailing Massachusetts comrade

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — Firefighters in Palo Alto will meet Massachusetts fireman Fred Kelley in a silver Rolls-Royce when he arrives in California for a heart transplant.

The Rolls is for the 30-mile trip from San Francisco to the Holiday Inn near Stanford University Medical School.

When Kelley and his wife, Evelyn, 38, arrive at the hotel, they will find their rooms already paid, compliments of California residents.

"This is a great relief for us," Kelley said Thursday. "We were going to try to find an apartment because we knew we couldn't afford a hotel for my wife while I was confined."

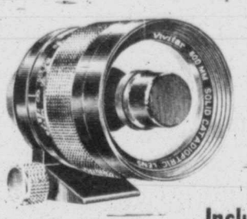

Kelley is scheduled to enter the hospital Oct. 29 for a heart transplant that doctors say is the 39-year-old firefighter's only hope of survival.

In an unprecedented town meeting last Wednesday, residents of Framingham voted to allocate $60,000 to pay for Kelley's operation.

Kelley, a father of five, had to retire after he suffered two heart attacks while on duty. He asked the town for help when Massachusetts Blue Cross-Blue Shield refused to pay for the surgery because it considers heart transplants experimental.

City successfully flushing lines after pesticide was found in water

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The pesticide contaminating a portion of Roanoke's municipal water system is successfully being flushed from water lines, city officials say.

Water tests taken in homes on Autumn Lane in the northwest Roanoke neighborhood have showed levels of the pesticide chlordane as high as five times the amount considered safe.

City workmen tapped into the water main at two points along the street Thursday to continue flushing the pesticide out of the pipes.

Roanoke City Attorney Wilburn Dibling said Thursday night that the city lines in the area were clearing up. "We are encouraged with the readings that were taken," he said. "The situation with the city pipes is looking very good."

City officials warned neighborhood residents Wednesday not to drink or bathe in the city water, after at least six and possibly a dozen residents suffered attacks of vomiting, headaches, urinary distress and flu-like symptoms caused by the pesticide. None was hospitalized.

Earlier this week, the city had advised the neighborhood that residents only needed to flush the chlordane-contaminated water from their pipes. The pesticide, often used to kill termites, accidentally got into the water mains in the area Friday.

Tests made in area homes Thursday showed the chlordane level in hot water was higher than that in cold water. Samples of hot water showed two to five times more than the maximum considered safe by state health officials.

Dibling said the cold water levels in the homes indicated that the city lines were clearing.

K.B. Kiser, city utilities director, said that before Thursday only cold water was tested.

The maximum amount of chlordane allowed in water is three parts per billion parts of water. In one home the amount in the hot water Thursday was 16 parts and the cold water contained seven parts.

Chlordane levels got as high as 17 parts per billion, according to tests made on water samples taken Monday.

The city opened the locker rooms at a nearby school for residents to bathe, and drinking water was trucked in from a fire station.

The city said the water was contaminated Friday when about three gallons of chlordane was sucked into the water system while an exterminating company was working at a neighborhood house.

Ag officials lift quarantine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has removed most of a federal quarantine on the out-of-state movement of throughbred breeding horses from Kentucky.

The quarantine was imposed more than two years ago.

WASHINGTON (AP) — New cattle feedlot statistics by the Agriculture Department show the crunch on beef supplies will continue relatively tight at least through the winter.

The number of cattle being fattened for the slaughter market — the source of most supermarket cuts of beef — totaled 9.93 million head on Oct. 1, a drop of 13 percent from a year ago, the department said Thursday in a quarterly report.

About 5.95 million head of new cattle were placed in feedlots in July, August and September. That was down 19 percent from the same period of last year and was the smallest since the summer of 1976.

Those cattle, called "placements," represent animals that will be sent to slaughter this fall and winter.

Cattle producers reduced their herds severely since 1975 as market prices dropped. Although market prices have generally recovered in the last year, it will be at least several more years before breeding herds can be expanded enough to boost beef output.

The report covered 23 states, which produce about 95 percent of the nation's beef.

Steers in feedlots totaled about 6.69 million head on Oct. 1, down 11 percent from a year ago, the report said. Heifers being fed for the slaughter market were estimated at 3.2 million head, down 16 percent from a year earlier. Older cows and "other" stock accounted for the remainder.

Marketings of feedlot cattle in the third quarter were a four-year low of 5.98 million head, down 8 percent from July-September of last year, the report said.

Looking at possibilities this fall, the report said feedlot marketings may total 5.98 million head during the last quarter of 1979, down 11 percent from a year ago.

Cattle prices slumped in the summer from record peaks last spring but since have improved. Another factor that tended to reduce feedlot placements has been generally good pasture feed conditions, enabling producers to graze animals instead of having to ship them to feedlots.

Choice steer prices on the Omaha, Neb., market averaged $72.51 per 100 pounds in the second quarter before slumping sharply in the summer, at some points around $55 per 100 pounds.

Recently, according to USDA figures, Omaha steer prices have been around $66 or better.

The report showed Oct. 1, feedlot inventories in the 23 states and their percentage of a year ago as:

Arizona, 340,000 on feed on Oct. 1, and 77 percent of a year ago; California, 765,000 and 91; Colorado, 840,000 and 90; Idaho, 217,000 and 99; Illinois, 340,000 and 85; Indiana, 180,000 and 95; Iowa, 1,100,000 and 88; Kansas, 1,190,000 and 85; Michigan, 130,000 and 84; Minnesota, 265,000 and 95; Missouri, 85,000 and 68; Montana, 32,000 and 107; and Nebraska, 1,400,000 and 85.

Also, New Mexico, 187,000 and 97; North Dakota, 30,000 and 111; Ohio, 115,000 and 74; Oklahoma, 298,000 and 84; Oregon, 59,000 and 87; Pennsylvania, 50,000 and 86; South Dakota, 265,000 and 106; Texas, 1,780,000 and 88; Washington, 165,000 and 82; and Wisconsin, 95,000 and 95.

UAW, Deere in agreement; Now union eyes Caterpillar

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The United Auto Workers union, having reached agreement on a new three-year contract with Deere & Co., turned its attention to the Caterpillar Tractor Co. where about 23,000 workers are on strike.

Pat Greathouse, UAW vice president and chief bargainer, called the tentative contract with Heere "one of the best agreements in the UAW." He predicted that about 31,000 workers at Deere plants nationwide would be back on the job by Monday morning after ratification votes over the weekend.

Members of UAW Local 974 have been on strike in the Peoria area since Oct. 1, when the union's contracts with the Big Three farm and heavy equipment makers — Caterpillar, Deere and International Harvester — expired.

A spokesman for Caterpillar said the company bargainers would be prepared to resume contract talks which broke off earlier this week, but only if "the union is prepared to bargain seriously."

Bob Davidson, Local 974 president, said Thursday the union will have its central bargaining committee ready to resume talks and blamed the company for dragging its feet. Negotiations between the union and Caterpillar began Aug. 8 and with Deere the following day.

About 31,000 UAW workers have been on strike at Deere plants nationwide, mostly in Illinois and Iowa, since Oct. 1. Deere has seven strike-bound plants in Iowa.

THE CONTINENTAL SHORTCUT.

FOUR WAYS CONTINENTAL CUTS THE TIME TO NEW YORK.

1. Continental has found the fastest way into New York. With service to Newark Airport. Newark's fifteen minutes less flying time than if you head into JFK. It's also in a different traffic pattern. You'll avoid those stackups that happen so often over JFK.

2. You save time on the ground, too. Newark serves about 15,000,000 fewer passengers a year than JFK. So you still have a good chance of getting your baggage in a reasonable amount of time, without the frustrating delays.

3. Because Newark is modern and well laid-out — people are able to come and go without the huge jams you get at most International airports. You can get through the terminal without the shoving, crowding and delays that cut into your time.

4. You can get into Manhattan about 45 minutes faster from Newark than from JFK. That's according to the Official Airline Guide.
