U. S. Officer Released By FALN Reds

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Col. James K. Chenault of Sherman, Tex., kidnaped by pro-Communist terrorists eight days ago, was released today.

Chenault, 47, was unharmed. He is deputy chief of the U.S. military mission in Venezuela.

The pro - Communist Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN) kidnaped him in front of his home last Wednesday in an attempt to focus international headlines on its campaign to sabotage the presidential elections last Sunday.

The terrorist campaign was a failure. A record number of Venezuelans turned out to vote.

The FALN in telephone calls to Caracas newspapers had said it would not harm the American officer and would release him on Saturday, the day before the election. But it continued to hold him after the voting.

WALKED HOME

The U.S. Embassy said Chenault's kidnapers took him to a point a few blocks from his home and he walked from there. He reached home at 6 a.m. and telephoned embassy officials at once.

Chanault breakfasted with his wife and three children and then went to the U.S. Embassy for talks with security officials. Both U.S. and Venezuelan authorities had questions. Since the military mission is attached to the Venezuelan army, the matter is basically Venezuelan.

A physician examined the colonel and reported his condition good, "but he has not been eating well and he appears tired."

The FALN widened its campaign of violence to include British targets. Previously the terrorists had concentrated on U.S. interests and Venezuelan government installations.

The terrorists machine-gunned the residence of the British ambassador Wednesday and bombed a British automobile agency.

NONE INJURED

No one was injured in either attack. Ambassador Sir Douglas Busk was away when the attack occurred. The motor company's store front was shattered and several automobiles damaged.

The FALN gave no reason for its anti-British campaign, but it is believed to be a reprisal against Trinidad's release to Venezuelan authorities last week of six FALN members who hijacked a Venezuelan airliner and flew it to Port of Spain. Trinidad is a member of the British Commonwealth.

Meanwhile, the Supreme Electoral Council continued its slow count of ballots and said it expected to announce the official results of the presidential election on Sunday. All indications are that Raul Leoni, candidate of President Romulo Betancourt's Democratic Action party, will be the winner.

Santa Due Here Today

Santa Claus was scheduled to arrive in Big Spring at 2 p.m. today.

To save his reindeer for the Christmas run, he was to arrive at the Texas & Pacific Railway station and board a miniature train for his pre-Christmas run to the courthouse square to talk to children and distribute candy.

The Borden Co. made its engine and train available for Santa's use in the ride to the square. Mead's Bakery donated a big supply of suckers for distribution by members of the ABClub. The jolly old fellow was to be followed by a Pollard Chevrolet Co. truck loaded with packages and a Christmas tree.

New Four-Party Coalition Cabinet Installed In Italy

ROME (AP) — Premier Aldo Moro and his new center-left Cabinet were sworn in today, giving Italy a four-party coalition government, including Socialists for the first time in 16 years.

It was Italy's 25th post-Fascist government.

As the premier took the oath before President Antonio Segni, there was speculation whether the uneasy alliance patched together with such difficulty could stand much strain.

Formation of the four-party coalition ended a political crisis that began in April when the ruling Christian Democrats suffered a setback and the Communists gained a million votes in the election of a new Parliament.

CENTER-LEFT

For 13 months before the election, Christian Democratic Premier Amintore Fanfani headed a center-left government supported by the Socialists, but the latter stayed out of the Cabinet. The election results strengthened a Socialist faction that wanted the party to return to its traditional alliance with Italy's big Communist party. But, Socialist leader Pietro Nenni finally brought the party back into alliance with the Christian Democrats.

Other parties in the coalition are Giuseppe Saragat's Democratic Socialists and the Republicans. They were the other two members of Fanfani's coalition.

The new government is pledged to support the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in foreign affairs and to begin new economic planning.

CONFIDENCE VOTE

Moro, a 47-year-old law professor and Christian Democratic leader, is expected to survive his first parliamentary test when he seeks a vote of confidence next week.

The four parties hold 385 of the 629 seats in the Chamber of Deputies, a majority of 141. But Socialist defections may reduce the majority.

The Christian Democrats — Italy's largest party—dominate the 26-member Cabinet with 16 posts, including the premiership. The Socialists have six members, the Democratic Socialists three and the Republicans one.

Nenni, who returned his Stalin Peace Prize to the Russians after they crushed the 1956 Hungarian revolt, was named deputy premier.

One key economic post, budget minister, went to Socialist Antonio Giolitti, a former Communist party functionary.

Herbert Lehman, Ex-Solon, Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert H. Lehman, 85, four times governor of New York and also a former senator, died today.

Lehman, a leader in his later years in a reform movement against the Democratic organization in New York, suffered a heart attack in his home at 820 Park Ave.

Cape Doesn't Like New Name

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The city of Cape Canaveral and the Greater Cocoa Chamber of Commerce don't like the idea of renaming this cape on the Florida east coast, and President Johnson is going to hear about it.

The town council and the chamber adopted similar resolutions Wednesday opposing the change. Copies went to the President, Florida's congressional delegation, Gov. Farris Bryant and Florida Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin.

It's all right to designate the missile center in honor of the late President, the council said, but it doesn't want the Cape renamed.

Johnson Asks Support For Stalled Bills

Business, Labor Backing Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has asked labor and industry to back his drive for enactment of legislation proposed by President Kennedy and now stalled in Congress.

"I am the President, but I can do nothing without the people," Johnson told the AFL-CIO Executive Committee Wednesday. "You represent the people. I need you and I want you by my side."

Less than an hour later he went before the Business Advisory Council with this pledge:

"This administration wants to help you. We are not pro-labor, or pro-business or pro-any special sector. We are pro what is best for America."

60 LEADERS

"I am the only President you have," Johnson told some 60 business leaders, Cabinet members and economic advisers. "If you would have me fail, then you fail, for the country fails."

Johnson's speeches to union and industry leaders climaxed a busy White House day during which he also:

—Ordered tariff boosts of $23.9 million a year on five commodities in retaliation for increased import levies on U.S. poultry shipped to member nations of the European Economic Community.

WITH PEARSON

—Announced he will confer Jan. 22 with Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada.

—Slipped out of the White House to spend a half hour at a Capitol luncheon of the Texas congressional delegation.

Coatless despite the December chill, Johnson went to the White House rose garden to tell some 40 union leaders and government officials:

"The No. 1 priority today and tomorrow is more jobs and the goal of this administration is 75 million jobs in America." That would be an increase of 5 million jobs. Johnson set no target date for that goal.

"This is our dominant, relentless domestic problem and we have to face it head on," Johnson said. "The tax cut bill now languishing in Congress is the most massive single attack we can make on this problem."

ABRASION

Johnson said with the civil rights bill denied a hearing by the House Rules Committee "the endless abrasion of delay, neglect and indifference have rubbed raw the national conscience."

"We've talked too long, done too little, and all of it too late," Johnson told the AFL-CIO officials.

Johnson also spoke of the Kennedy plan for medical care for the aged financed by Social Security. He said it "cries out for enactment."

AFL - CIO President George Meany called the Johnson speech "a good constructive statement."

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, promised "the President will have our unqualified and wholehearted support in his effort to get America moving forward."

Dead Kennedy Infants Now Beside Father

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two infant children of President Kennedy who preceded him in death now lie beside their father in Arlington National Cemetery.

The bodies of the infants were flown to Washington Wednesday aboard the family plane Caroline and reinterred on either side of the late President's grave Wednesday night — presumably by decision of his widow, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

The children are Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, who was born prematurely Aug. 7 and died within 40 hours, and a baby girl born dead in 1956. The boy had been buried at Brookline, Mass., and the girl at Newport, R.I.

Mrs. Kennedy and the late President's brothers, Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, D-Mass., and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, attended the brief graveside rites.

Sen. Kennedy accompanied the bodies on the flight to Washington. Mrs. Kennedy and her children, Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, returned to the White House Sunday night after spending Thanksgiving with other members of the Kennedy family at Hyannis Port, Mass.

The burial service was held between 8:45 and 9 p.m., long after the ceremtery had closed for the night and visitors to the President's grave had departed.

Bishop Philip Hannan, auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Washington, presided. He had delivered a tribute to the President at Kennedy's funeral service Nov. 25.

Announcement of the reinterment was made by Pierre Salinger, who said he acted as a representative of the Kennedy family rather than as White House press secretary.

Salinger said that some three acres of the cemetery—which is reserved for American servicemen, their wives and their children—had been "turned over to the Kennedy family."

Jury Ponders Steward Data

Fate of James Monroe Steward, 37 - year - old convict, charged with murder with malice, was in the hands of an all-male jury today. The jury has been pondering its verdict since 9 p.m. Wednesday and had reached no decision at noon today.

The jurors are to decide if the state has proved that Steward shot and killed Travis Hicks, an itinerant electrician, sometime between Nov. 26 and Nov. 30, 1961. The state has presented one witness who testified she saw the shot fired.

NO TESTIMONY

Steward offered no testimony in his own behalf and did not take the stand. He depended solely on cross examination of state witnesses to offset the prosecution story of what happened to Hicks.

The jury is composed of Floyd McIntyre, C. W. Campbell, A. M. Wiggins, Marvin M. Lamb, Walter L. Nichols, Robert Carlile, Charles Hedgcoth, M. D. Johnson, Marion Newton Treadaway, W. H. Crenshaw and C. M. Steen.

STATE CASE

The state alleges in its case against Steward that a skeleton found in a Martin County pasture Sept. 1, 1962 was Hicks. It also contends that Hicks was shot to death in a cabin at the Big Spring Court on Nov. 26 or soon thereafter. The State charges that Steward fired the shot which killed Hicks. The skelton was identified by markings on dentures found nearby.

Steward, later arrested and convicted on a burglary charge in another county, was sent to the state penitentiary. He was indicted here for the shooting of Hicks and was brought from the state prison for trial.

Wednesday afternoon's session in court was relatively

Gov. Connally Leaves Hospital

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. John Connally prepared to fly home to Austin today to continue his recovery from wounds suffered during the assassination of President Kennedy. He said he does not yet know if he will regain full use of his right hand and wrist.

Before leaving Parkland hospital, Connally told a crowd of doctors and nurses "I literally owe my life to you here at Parkland."

Connally was wounded at the time President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas Nov. 22. He was hit by one shot that passed through his chest, through his right wrist and lodged in a thigh.

"I wanted to take this opportunity to tell all of you we are eternally grateful. Although you have been wonderful to us, I am ready to go home."

The governor spoke in the cafeteria at Parkland, the hospital where Kennedy died of two bullets from an assassin.

Connally was in a wheel chair dressed in a grey suit. His right arm was in a sling.

The governor said he did not anticipate returning to his office at the Capitol this month. He said doctors told him his chest was in excellent shape.

"However, my wrist looks like it will be a long, suffering thing. It will be in a cast for 90 days and it will be six months before it will be finally determined whether I will have full use of my right hand and wrist."

Answering questions from newsmen, Connally said that a court of inquiry proposed by Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr "can and perhaps will shed great light on many details now unknown to the public."

The governor said he still does not know if he will call a special session of the legislature to redistrict the state's congressional boundary lines. He made no further comment on that point.

"We need a political atmosphere that would permit people who want to unselfishly give of their time and talents a means or forum to express themselves," said the governor.

"Unfortunately, in times of stress and strain the voices of extremists are heard the loudest," Connally added.

Mrs. Connally said, "I want to thank Texas, the nation and the world for the beautiful messages and letters we have received while John has been in the hospital."

Connally's general appearance was good. Other than the use of the wheel chair and the arm in a cast, the only noticeable difference from the time before he was shot was that his voice seemed more husky.

Trial To Begin For Trio Held For Mercy Killings

LIMBURG, Germany (AP)—Schoolboys shouted "murder boxes" when the gray buses made their way through this medieval town during the first years of World War II.

With drawn curtains screening the doomed passengers, the buses became a familiar sight to Limburg residents. The passengers were reduced to ashes in the crematorium of the insane asylum at nearby Hadamar. Billowing clouds of smoke from the chimney signaled that the Nazi "mercy killing" program was in full swing.

Now, more than 20 years later, a mastermind of the program faces trial here. He is Prof. Werner Heyde, former SS—Elite Guard—colonel and head of the office which supervised operations. Heyde, 61, is charged with murder in the death of 100,000 mental patients and concentration inmates.

DEFENDANTS

Two one-time collaborators, Dr. Hans Hefelmann and Friedrich Tillmann, will be codefendants. A fourth defendant, Dr. Gerhard Bohne, has vanished. He is now believed in South America haven of numerous Nazi officials fearing prosecution in Germany.

Another ex-collaborator of Heyde, Reinhold Vorberg, fled to Spain in 1961. Spanish authorities turned him over last March. He will be tried separately.

Heyde also tried to slip out of the country. The state attorney general said a recent search of his cell in Limburg produced evidence that he was preparing to break jail.

1947 FLIGHT

His first experience in getaways was in 1947 when he fled from a transport of war crimes suspects. Using the alias "Dr. Sawade", he rose to the position of chief medical adviser to a state welfare court which handles disputes over pension claims.

In 1959, Heyde was denounced to police but vanished again. Finally he surrendered after a large-scale search for him was organized.

The trial of Heyde and his helpers is expected to provide the first full picture of the "mercy killing" program, often referred to as euthanasia. In the official Nazi jargon, the goal was "destruction of life unworthy of life."

PET IDEA

It was one of Adolf Hitler's pet ideas. Vague references to it are contained in his "Mein Kampf". In 1935, Hitler told the head of the Nazi doctors' association that he would put his thoughts into practice during the next war.

In October 1939, Hitler signed a secret order which set the wheels into motion. By 1940 thousands were killed every month.

The camouflage name was T-4 because the operation was directed from an office of the fuehrer's chancellory at 4 Tiergartenstrasse, Berlin. Heyde was in charge of a committee for nursing homes which supervised selection of victims. Funds for the program came from the Nazi party. Buses and trucks were provided by the Mutually Beneficial Transport Corp., another camouflage name.

DIAGNOSIS

In the first stage, selections were made rather painstakingly following a careful diagnosis. Late in 1940, however, one single doctor was able to review more than 2,000 case histories in two weeks to give his opinion on whether they should be "accorded the mercy death."

Rumors spread after newspapers carried rows of death notices announcing the "sudden and unexpected death" of mental patients.

Dr. Antonius Hilfrich, Roman Catholic bishop of Limburg, appealed to Nazi authorities to "prevent further transgression of the Fifth Commandment." The bishop of Muenster, Count Clemens August von Galen, later cardinal, condemned the murders in a sermon that stirred worldwide attention.

For once, Hitler yielded to public opinion. In August 1941, he ordered the operation stopped. About one-third of all mental asylum inmates were already dead by then.

New Health Officer Named

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa City Council Monday appointed a city health officer and resolved a long-standing rural fire protection issue for at least two years.

Council named Dr. Norman W. Staker to succeed newly appointed councilman Dr. Douglas B. Black to the city health post. Black resigned because he was unable to hold both municipal positions.

Meeting with the Dawson County commissioner's court, the council agreed to renew a rural fire protection contract under present rates. The pact was a source of controversy a couple of years ago, but the two bodies set the rate at $100 per rural call or $6,400—whichever is greater—per year.

The Lamesa Fire Department has made only 31 rural calls this year.

In other action, the council approved on first reading an ordinance annexing the site of the clubhouse of Lamesa Boys' Club of America. Construction of the clubhouse is nearing completion.

Council also purchased three new pickup trucks on low bids, aired possible purchase of a voice warning system and heard a request from volunteer firemen for "more responsibility" in fighting business and residential fires.

Crews Begin Work On Birdwell Lane

City work crews Wednesday began smoothing the road surface on Birdwell Lane between Third and Fourth streets. Director of Public Works Ernest Lillard said the city would begin work this week on the installation of a six inch sewer line on Clanton Street, south 800 feet from Roemer Street.

Lillard said the sewer line would be installed before paving of the street would begin. The Phase Four paving project includes Clanton Street from the south property line of Thorpe Street to the north property line of Tract No. 5, Kennebeck Heights Subdivision. Birdwell Lane also will be paved from the south property line of Third Street to the north property line of Fourth Street.

DEAR ABBY

Just Stay Out Of It

DEAR ABBY: After being married for quite a few years my husband and I got a divorce. I have been happily remarried for a year. I see my ex-husband periodically as he comes to visit the child we had. A few weeks ago he told me that he had gotten remarried. I've never met the woman, but he said she didn't have much style, and would I mind giving her some tips on how to dress and fix her hair and make up, etc. I don't feel animosity toward her, but I cannot imagine a man bringing his second wife to his first wife to be "made over." How would you handle this?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: I'd be tempted to thank him for the compliment, but decline the assignment.

DEAR ABBY: I have wanted a pet monkey ever since I can remember. People who have had them say they make good pets. Are they hard to train? Do they require much care? I am an adult.

MAD FOR MONKEYS IN IOWA

DEAR MAD: Monkeys make wonderful pets. (I had a pair, David and Bathsheba.) They are impossible to train (if you mean "housebreak"), and require no more care than a dog or cat. You will need either a heated cage or a warm, dry place inside for the little creature. Iowa winters are nothing to monkey with.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Recently I accepted an engagement ring from a young man I have known only three months. I am sure I have made the right choice. My former boy friend is out of the city and will be gone for some time. He is on an assignment, serving his church. I went with him for two years and, during that time, he gave me several gifts and some pictures of himself. Should I take the gifts and pictures to his parents? I don't want them around.

OFFICERS

"Baptists recognize only two scripturally authorized church officers — pastors and deacons — although in an increasingly complex church life multiple officers are elected to assist these two who were set apart from the beginning to lead the churches."

Yes, these two are the only Scripturally authorized church officers; and there were always a plurality of each in the congregation (Acts 14:23; Acts 20:17, 28; Phil. 1:1; Eph. 4:11; etc.). The one-man pastor system is not Biblical.

Pastors, elders and Bishops are different names for the same officers.

Notice: This official tract of the Southern Baptists admits that they have unscriptural organization. While only pastors and deacons are scripturally authorized, yet "multiple officers are elected."

Thus we plead with Baptists and all others to return to the Bible, and to believe that God's ways will work.

Santa To Send Cards (And Plug) This Year

DEAR BOSS:

You will be happy to know that your humble servant's conduct for the past year has been checked out by Santa Claus and that I have been classified as a good boy. Apparently Mr. Claus may be slightly confused. He seems to be under the impression that I have already written him a letter this Christmas. I have not written the letter; I have not decided on just what gifts I want.

Nevertheless, I have a postal card from Mr. Claus postmarked North Pole Branch, U.S. Post Office. On one side, as you can plainly see, is a picture of Santa in his sled along with his reindeer. A third character is also in the sled—apparently doing the driving. This, I have discovered, is a postal type known as Mr. Zip. I think his last name is Code.

I took the matter up with Elmer Boatler, the local postmaster. "How come," I demanded, "I get this postal card from Santa when I ain't written him a letter yet?" Elmer sort of hemmed snd hawed. "Perhaps," he said, "Santa thinks you intend to write and just wanted to make you feel good."

I gave Elmer the third degree and with little trouble at all, elicited the following facts:

1. Every post office each year gets hundreds of letters from tiny tots addressed to Santa Claus. In most post offices, these letters are turned over to the local newspapers. In some cases, the postal officials read the mail and where some particularly pathetic little story is unearthed, such letters are sent to a charitable organization and presumably the little tykes who wrote them are remembered at Christmas.

2. This year, things will be a little different. Post office brass has realized that a lot of youngsters who drop their Santa Claus letters in the post office slot are disappointed when no reply is heard from the Jolly Old Saint. Therefore, the post office department has supplied each office with a quantity of cards like the one I got. Each Santa Claus letter received at the post office will be opened and, if the writer's address can be determined, he will get a personal reply from old St. Nick himself — postmarked at the North Pole. Everyone of course knows that Santa lives at the North Pole.

3. Realizing this will be additional work for the post office staff, the big brass cannily decided to make the postal card do double duty, so to speak. In addition to bringing Christmas cheer from Santa to the kids, there will be a little plug included to encourage the wider use of the recently introduced Zip Code. You will notice, Boss, that the address on my card includes the numerals 79721? Well, that's my Zip Code number and if I put it on all the mail I send out, things will move faster mailwise, or so the post office says.

However all of this is beside the point. What I wanted to get across to you, Boss, is that your reporter is a real fine fellow and is listed in Santa's big book as a good boy.

Hoping you are the same.

Agents Fine With Co-Eds In UT Dorm

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—What do 780 co-eds living in Kinsolving Dormitory think of Lynda Bird's Secret Service guard?

Well, you might say, "They just love those guys."

The agents giving their full attention to protecting the daughter of President Johnson also are getting some attention themselves.

The girls already have dubbed them the "men in the fishbowl."

The girls feel very natural and friendly toward the Secret Service men.

GLASS OFFICE

Three girls leaving the dorm together smiled and waved at the three agents in the glass enclosed "office" at the entrance of the dormitory.

Turning to her two friends a pert brunette said, "Gosh, we have the best protected dorm on the campus. What if the others get jealous?"

The girls, being girls, feel free to joke with the agents. But the agents, being agents, maintain their dignity—as well as men can around girls.

One boy stopped his girl friend just before they passed the counseling office.

TO REPORT

"You can't just whiz past there," he said, "you have to report to those Secret Service agents."

With a surprised and startled expression the co-ed entered the office. "I have come to report to you, sir, that I am here," she said timidly.

"Sit down, please," the agent said sternly, playing his part of the game. It was not until he laughed that the co-ed realized she had been tricked by her date.

"It is just good to have a man around this place," one co-ed said.

The girls, however, do not exactly envy Lynda.

"I wouldn't want to be shadowed," one co-ed remarked. "That would drive me wild, especially on dates. What fun could that be?"

KEEPS BUSY

Lynda seems to be making the most of the agents' company. She keeps them busy. On her first day of classes with the new protection she rushed into the lobby with just enough time to make her class.

"Come on, sir," she said to the Secret Service agent on duty. "We are late."

The Kinsolving residents have some adjustments to make themselves. They have been accustomed to slipping down to the soft drink machine in the late hours.

One embarrassed co-ed shrieked when she realized she had made her appearance before the Secret Service men in nightrobe and hair curlers.

Hampshire Primary Waits For Nod From Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Norris Cotton said today he is delaying New Hampshire presidential primary campaign plans until Sen. Barry Goldwater indicates whether he is willing to run.

Cotton, New Hampshire Republican heading up a committee to put Goldwater's name on the March 10 preferential ballot, said in an interview he has had no conversation with the Arizona Republican since President Kennedy was assassinated.

Possibly reflecting indecision about political matters, Goldwater has declined to talk to newsmen since he announced shortly after Kennedy's death that he was canceling all political appearances for the 30-day period of mourning.

Cotton said that immediately after death removed Kennedy as Goldwater's chief political target and elevated Lyndon B. Johnson, a Texan, to the presidency, he felt the Arizona senator's chances for the nomination had skidded sharply.

But he said he subsequently has altered his opinion that Johnson might cut into Goldwater's stronghold of support in the South. He noted Johnson's endorsement of civil rights and other key provisions of Kennedy's legislative program.

"Every pronouncement the new President makes has been putting Goldwater back in business," Cotton said. "He certainly has gone far beyond what was required to honor the memory of his predecessor."

The Goldwater people have had to stand by fuming while supporters of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller have been blanketing the state on a town-by-town basis drumming up support for their announced candidate for the nomination.

Supporters of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon also are reported stirring in the state.

Laos Intelligence Chief Assassinated At Home

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's intelligence chief, Col. Leuang, was assassinated early today as he arrived at his home on the outskirts of Vientiane.

The unknown assassins reportedly escaped in the dark.

Leuang was the chief of the Deuxieme (second) Bureau, the coalition government's intelligence section. Like Prince Souvanna, he was a member of the neutralist faction which in theory governs Laos in coalition with the right wing and the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

There was no immediate indication of the motive for the slaying.

The assassins reportedly opened fire on Leuang's automobile with at least three automatic weapons. Leuang apparently was killed instantly.

The killers fired about 100 yards away from the colonel's house, which is in an isolated area overlooking rice fields.

O'Brien Quits Interior Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jerome O'Brien said Wednesday he is resigning, effective Dec. 31, as director of the Interior Department's oil and gas office.

O'Brien was a vice president in the Monterey division, Midcontinent region, for Humble Oil & Refining Co. at Midland, Tex., before joining the department in 1961. He said he wants to follow his profession as a petroleum engineer and plans to live in Los Angeles.

Selassie Calling For Africa World Power

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP)—From this ancient land, a voice is calling on Africa to unite and become a world power.

The voice is that of Emperor Haile Selassie I, 71, ruler of Ethiopia for 33 years.

The bearded little monarch with the coal black eyes has challenged the African continent to its greatest task — to build unity in the face of the powerful, developed and rich outside world.

WORLD PEACE

"A united Africa will not only win her deserved place in world councils, but will also contribute remarkably to world peace and security," says Haile Selassie.

Last May he saw the first fruit of his idea—the heads of state of independent Africa signed the charter of African unity in Addis Ababa and created the Organization of African Unity.

Although political and economic unity of the continent and its 250 million inhabitants is still a dream, the signers hope the nucleus of the future power has been created.

BE WITH US

The emperor's voice trembled when he told the assembled chiefs of state: "May this convention of union last many thousands of years. May God be with us in all our undertakings."

In his own country, Haile Selassie is virtually a god. He is the titular head of the ancient Coptic Church of the world's oldest Christian nation. His name means "the instrument and power of the Trinity."

Critics say he devotes more time to outside, comparatively distant political problems than to his own land, still gripped by feudal backwardness and poverty. They accuse him of despotism and absolute rule over his 20 million subjects.

KEY CITIES

Although his achievements are not spectacular, the 20th century has been brought into the country's key cities and even some rural areas.

Some five years ago, he began playing a leading role in the struggle for African unity. Only eight African nations were independent then and their heads gathered in Ghana's capital of Accra to listen to him.

Other African conferences followed, the community of African nations growing steadily as the old colonial empires gave way to sweeping desires for independence.

RESOURCES

"The colonialists stripped the Africans of their freedom and natural right and used their resources for the benefit and prosperity of their own countries," says Haile Selassie. "Yet today, colonial masters speak derogatorily of the Africans by exaggerating their poverty in the press. Africans are also blamed for the use made of the aid they receive, as if such aid could completely fulfill all the needs of their people overnight."

HAILE SELASSIE
. . . ruler for 33 years

October's border conflict that pitted Algeria against Morocco threatened the root of unity. The emperor visited both nations and was responsible for the Bamako agreement which resulted in a cease - fire along the ill-defined Sahara border.

COMMITTEE

Two weeks later, the foreign ministers of independent Africa gathered in his capital and named a seven-nation committee to investigate the dispute and recommend a solution.

Haile Selassie was born July 23, 1892 at Harar as Lij Tafari Makonnen, son of a relative of Emperor Menelik II, then in power.

The Solomonic line of the dynasty, according to Ethiopian sources, was established about 980 B.C.

Haile Selassie is the 225th ruler of the line.

EMPEROR

In 1930, after the death of Empress Zauditu, he was crowned emperor as Haile Selassie I. He had been her adviser and regent. The nation's Parliament has mainly advisory powers, the real power lying with the emperor.

His rule has been challenged seriously only once. In December 1960 when he was in Brazil, a part of the imperial guard revolted and installed Crown Prince Merid Azmatch Asfa Wosen briefly on the throne.

TRIUMPH

The bulk of the army and the air force remained loyal to the emperor, who rushed back and entered Addis Ababa in triumph acclaimed by the population.

Traditionalism and the country's veneration of monarchy are the emperor's main strength. Yet there is a general feeling that Haile Selassie will be the last crowned ruler of Ethiopia. The government will likely go to a group of power - conscious general officers, scions of Ethiopia's noble families.

First elected in 1954, Mayfield is finishing his third term. He was elected to a 2-year and consecutive 4-year terms here.

Disabled Vets Reporting Due

This year's income reporting time began on Dec. 1 for 7,195 disabled veterans and the dependents of some 5,590 deceased veterans receiving VA pensions in West Texas, Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Lubbock explained.

Along with Nov. 30 checks, all VA pension recipients were to receive enclosed tabulating cards. On these cards beneficiaries must report all income received during 1963 and that expected in 1964. Income means everything including Social Security payments except, of course, the VA pension payments themselves.

Law requires the VA to use the reports to determine continued eligibility of pensioners and in some cases to make adjustments on the basis of increase or decreased outside income.

Warm, Historic Home For Jackie

WASHINGTON (AP)—A home with a history and a warmth, filled with the art she loves, will greet Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy when she walks into her borrowed Georgetown residence Friday.

The new address for the former First Lady—3038 N St.—is a three-story red brick dwelling with plenty of room. Undersecretary of State and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman, who own the house, have turned it over to the former First Lady and her children and have moved into a hotel.

From the entrance hallway, with etchings by Picasso and Matisse in the stairwell, to the picturesque dormered third floor bedrooms, it is furnished for elegant and comfortable living.

The dining room seats up to 18 comfortably.

There are fireplaces in all but one room and the house contains a collection of French, English and Chinese lacquer furniture and Lowestoft china. And the art collection would be the pride of a museum.

In the rear is a spacious, block-long walled and terraced garden, with boxwood and magnificent magnolia trees and a swimming pool.

As she walks over the two Iranian rugs (gift of the shah) in the entrance hallway, past a Louis XV console with a big carved mirror of the same period of France's grandeur, Mrs. Kennedy will be in an atmosphere not unlike what she created in the White House.

The history books of Georgetown indicate this house dates back to the same period as the mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. which Mrs. Kennedy is vacating after almost three years.

It is said to have been built in 1800, the same year President John Adams moved into the unfinished White House.

The Harrimans, who once occupied the governor's mansion in Albany, N.Y., bought the Georgetown home last spring.

Tippit Fund Continues To Swell

C. F. Craig, assistant city auditor, left, back to camera, opens letter containing a donation for the J. D. # Medical Parallels In JFK, Lincoln Outlined

WASHINGTON (AP) — "His wound is mortal; it is impossible for him to recover."

These were the words of the first doctor to reach Abraham Lincoln's side after an assassin's bullet crashed into the back of his head almost a century ago.

Ironically, they were almost echoed by Dr. Malcolm Perry of Parkland Hospital in Dallas where President Kennedy was rushed after he was shot by an assassin Nov. 22.

"We never had any hope of saving his life," Dr. Perry told newsmen within a few hours after Kennedy's death was announced.

1954 REPORT

Another medical parallel between the two tragedies is to be found in a report written in 1954 by Col. Hugh R. Gilmore Jr., a former curator of the medical museum of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology.

Summarizing various records of Lincoln's case, Col. Gilmore had this to say about the medical care given Lincoln immediately after the shooting, while the mortally wounded President still was in the box at Ford Theater:

"Three Army doctors in the audience rushed to the box...the wound was located and artificial respiration applied, for the patient was pulseless and his breathing was hardly evident."

HEART FAILED

Dr. Perry, who attended President Kennedy, said that shortly after he reached the President's side in the emergency room, the chief executive's heart action failed and "there was no palpable pulse beat."

"Nevertheless, he and a team of other doctors administered all the various emergency procedures in the futile attempt to save the President's life.

President Lincoln, according to Gilmore's account, "responded somewhat" to the first aid given him in the theater box, "and about fifteen miinutes after the shooting he was carried to a house across the street...he was given a little brandy which he swallowed, but later attempts to give brandy were unsuccessful.

MODERN SURGERY

Could the best modern brain surgery have saved Lincoln's life?

A couple of years ago, Col. George J. Hayes, chief neurosurgeon of Walter Reed Army Hospital, and a close student of the Lincoln medical history, said in a lecture that even with such surgery, Lincoln would have had no better than a 50-50 chance of surviving.

"With the type of injuries he had...I don't think we (modern brain surgeons) really would have done much better..." he added.

There was another sad parallel between the lives and deaths of the two Presidents.

The chair Lincoln was sitting in when he was shot was one which had been especially placed in the theater box for him.

It was a rocking chair.

Drouth Died 30 Years Ago

NEW YORK (AP) — If you want to drink to something today, how about the 30th anniversary of the 21st Amendment?

Nearly 14 years of prohibition ended Dec. 5, 1933, when Utah became the 36th state to ratify the amendment.

As the gavel fell in Salt Lake City, customers were lined up four deep at bars across the country.

The 21st Amendment returned control of alcoholic beverages to the states. Today Mississippi is the only one which forbids liquor sales.

Sound Is Theme For Pack 28 Cub Meeting

"The World of Sound" was the theme of the monthly meeting of Cub Scout Pack 29, held Tuesday night at Forsan. The Pack comprises Scouts from Forsan and Elbow.

The Scouts demonstrated the use of musical instruments made from combs, glassware, jars, knives and coffee cans. One group presented an array of shoebox radios, aluminum foil horns, coffee can drums, and bells. A talk on the importance to the world of sound of each of these items was given. The program included a brief history of sound.

Dens 1, 2 and 3 participated in the program, and they led the scouts in singing four songs.

Presented awards were: Lion Badge — Rodney Hammack; Wolf Badge—Ricky Khlar, Mike Murphy, Robert Wash, Lyndal Fletcher, Dale Griffith, Ralph Hammock, Blake Patton and Danell Richardson; arrow points—Ricky Khlar, Mike Murphy and Robert Wash.

The next pack meeting will be held Dec. 23 at the Forsan-Elbow Junior High School in Elbow.

Fish-Eaters Draw Crowds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The fish life at remodeled Steinhart Aquarium has drawn more than two million visitors in five months, astonished officials reported today.

A prime attraction at the aquarium are the tidepool tanks, filled with unusual forms of non-vertebrate life. Included are huge sea anemones that catch unwary fish and devour them as spectators watch.

TEACHER TELLS OF OSWALD

'Pleasant Boy Gave Me A Puppy'

FORT WORTH (AP)—To Mrs. Clyde Livingston, Lee Harvey Oswald will always be a "pleasant little boy" who once gave her a puppy at Christmas.

He was 10 years old at the time, back in 1949, and one of her pupils in the fourth grade at Ridglea West Elementary School in Fort Worth. Oswald attended the school in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

That was before wanderings that led him to schools in New York's Bronx, in New Orleans and back to Fort Worth. Behind he left records picturing him a lone, introspective boy and youth, living in a world of fantasy, a middling student, laughed at by fellow students, a truant, and apparently in need of psychiatric help.

That was long before he was charged with assassinating President Kennedy.

UNCOMBED

In the living room of her comfortable home Mrs. Livingston, an attractive mother of three, pointed to a picture of Oswald and his home room classmates taken 14 years ago. His shirt was unbuttoned and his wavy hair uncombed. He is smiling.

"That's the way I remember him," she said, "a tousle-haired pleasant little boy."

Mrs. Livingston said she worked after school hours with Oswald in an effort to improve his spelling.

"He might spell cat 'x-y-z' or just anyway," she said.

AFTER SCHOOL

"Sometimes after school, not every day, and sometimes just for minutes he would come by and I would help him. With the right attitude you can accomplish a whole lot in a few minutes.

"I had the feeling toward the end of the year he had found himself. His grades had improved. He seemed on the right track."

His gift of a black and white spotted dog of indeterminate breed shortly before Christmas and came as a surprise.

"Lee had a mother dog which he loved," she recalled. "I am certain he loved that dog. When Christmas time came he just brought the puppy in a box to me at school

NAMED SPOT

"Why he gave me the puppy I don't know. We named him Spot—a good intelligent name.

"I can't remember what happened to him. We often thought of giving him away but then we knew we couldn't and besides, it was another way of getting close to a little boy you are trying to help."

At that time Oswald was something "special" to Mrs. Livingston, she said, "in the sense that he had no daddy, his mother worked and apparently she did not help him with his school work at night.

"As a teacher I felt necessity for helping the rest of the students because they were going to get help at home, if they needed it. Everyone else had a mother and daddy who were interested. They had someone to depend on. Lee apparently did not."

Halfway House To Change Location; Needs Furniture

The board of directors of the Big Spring Halfway House Wednesday voted to move the residents to a new location.

Since April, 1962, the House has been located at Fifth and Lancaster. The move, to be made on Dec. 15, when the present lease expires, will be to 200 Scurry, at the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Read.

Primary reasons for the change are lower rental and more space. The present site, with a capacity of 10 residents, costs the group $150 a month. The new house, which can accommodate 16 persons, will cost $100 a month. The group will lease for one year with a two-year option.

NEED FURNITURE

The change will present a few problems, however. Much of the furniture in the present building does not belong to the men of the Halfway House and several items will have to be acquired before Dec. 15.

Members of the board are now seeking donations of a kitchen range, refrigerator, several single beds and chairs. Persons wishing to donate such articles are urged to contact Bennett Brooke at AM 4-7122 or members of the Halfway House at AM 3-4816. Arrangements can be made for transportation of the donations.

The Halfway House has not been in debt since it became a charitable organization in April of this year, but no funds have been accumulated to purchase these and other needed items. The Halfway House is a rehabilitation project for former patients of the Big Spring State Hospital. It allows them to earn their own livings while making the transition from hospital life to normal living.

MORE RESIDENTS

Residents of the House hope to benefit another way from the move. With more men in the house, expenses of each person should drop somewhat. Also, when an average of 10 tenants is reached, the group will be eligible to receive surplus food, cutting their living expenses by perhaps $100 a month.

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, County Home Demonstration agent, told directors Wednesda, that this was apparently the only requirement which was not now being met.

Mrs. Crawford, who has acted as a consultant for the board for many months, was officially added to the board of directors at the Wednesday meeting. Her specialized knowledge of food and the home will help the directors in decisions on these aspects of the Halfway House.

D. M. McKinney reported that the Rotary Club has offered to provide gifts for a Christmas party for residents of the Halfway House. The party is slated at 2 p.m., Dec. 22.

Thirst Lands Man In Jail

A need for more drinking money landed a thirsty Abilene man in a Big Spring jail Wednesday night.

Police said the man took $10 from F. B. Estep, operator of the Golden West Motel, after threatening him with a broken beer bottle.

Officers arrested the 22-year-old man outside Gil's Lounge at 301 N. Lancaster. He signed a statement admitting the robbery, detectives said. A charge of robbery by assault will be filed.

Burglars forced entry through a window on the west side of the Ace of Clubs, US 80 west, early Wednesday morning and took $142.95 worth of merchandise. Items taken in the burglary included 28 cases of beer, a soldering iron and an electric drill. Officers said the burglars knocked an amplifier onto a guitar, causing $450 damage to the musical instrument.

Someone took a pair of women's house shoes from the Buy Rite Shoes firm, 1709 Gregg, between 9:30-9:40 a.m. Thursday. Police said an employe of the store told them she saw five suspects drive away.

Police Thursday also were looking for the driver of a late model car who sped away after crashing into a parking meter at Third and Main. The suspect drove away in a different car after hitting the meter. The car which struck the meter was impounded.

STEWARD

brief. Mrs. Dorothy Marie Hayes, 24, Burneyville, Okla., who had testified earlier to seeing Hicks shot down in a motel cabin and had fingered Steward as the man with the gun, was called back to the stand for cross examination.

R. H. Weaver and Lannie Hamby, defense attorneys, evoked from the woman an admission that she had once denied the statement she made to the state investigators in which she recited substantially the same story that she told on the witness stand Wednesday morning. They also attacked her statement that she met Steward Nov. 26 as the defendant was drinking beer in a cafe where she worked.

The defense attorneys demonstrated that Nov. 26—the tentative date for the shooting as set forth in the indictment—was a Sunday. No beer can be sold on Sunday, the attorneys emphasized. The state has countered with the statement that Mrs. Hayes did not recall the exact date and that the possibility is the slaying of Hicks could have occurred on any date between Nov. 26 and Dec. 1, 1961.

HICKS ALIVE

Actually, there is evidence that Hicks was alive on Nov. 28. A paycheck given him by Seth Lacy, who had been his employer, is dated Nov. 28. Hicks cashed this check and another either on that date or soon after. The checks cleared the bank Nov. 30.

Gil Jones, district attorney, rested his case with Mrs. Hayes testimony.

NO WITNESSES

The defense offered no witnesses. A calendar for 1961 showing that Nov. 26 was a Sunday was introduced, as was a stipulation by the state that Paul Hansen, hand writing expert, had gone through the Big Spring Court register for all of the days from Nov. 26 through Dec. 30 and had found no other signature that he could ascribe to the mysterious "Bill Smith" who occupied Room 17 on the night of Nov. 26. It is the state expert's testimony that the man who wrote "Bill Smith" on the register that night was James Monroe Steward. It is also the handwriting expert's contention that the man who signed a receipt for the purchase of a .22 calibre derringer pistol at Fox's Pawn Shop and used the name "H. O. Smith" was Steward.

A night session was called by Judge Caton to complete the case. Arguments terminated around 9 p.m. and the jury began its deliberations. At 10:20 p.m. the judge was informed that jurors planned to go to bed and court recessed until today.

BACK TO WORK

This morning the jurors had an early breakfast and immediately retired to their quarters to resume work. At 9:30 a.m. they sent a note to the court asking if it was within their authority to assess a penalty against the defendant of from 2 to 5 years. They were instructed to follow the court's charge.

Another development of Wednesday was the statement by Ralph Fox, pawnbroker, that the .22 calibre derringer the state alleges was the death weapon was bought by his store sometime between January and July 1961 and that inventory showed it in stock on July 30. It was then shown that the same pistol was no longer in stock when an inventory was made Nov. 14.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest appreciation and thanks to all who were so kind with their words of sympathy, flowers and other courtesies during our recent bereavement in the loss of dear one, H. N. Smith.

Mr. & Mrs. Ronnie Smith
Mr. & Mrs. W. E. Smith

Mo-Pac Okays T&P Merger

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Missouri-Pacific Railroad, one of the nation's largest, approved a plan today which would merge it with the Texas and Pacific Railway.

The new company would be called the Texas and Missouri Pacific Railroad. Mo-Pac directors approved the plan at a board meeting in St. Louis.

Spokesman for Mo-Pac said the Texas and Missouri Pacific was incorporated in Delaware Tuesday. Missouri-Pacific now controls Texas and Pacific through ownership of 82.86 per cent of the company's stock.

'ANGELS' ON FRIDAY NIGHT

"My Three Angels," the second of four presentations by the Big Spring Little Theatre, is slated for opening at 8:15 p.m. Friday at the Municipal Auditorium.

Final touches are being put on the effort today with dress rehearsal at the auditorium.

"My Three Angels" is a Christmas comedy of three convicts on a French Penal Colony who step into a private affair to prevent footloose villains from bilking their friends. Their ways to bring about justice are indeed hilarious.

Steers Try Devine In South San Meet

The Big Spring Steers have departed for San Antonio, where at 8 o'clock tonight they open play in the silver anniversary edition of the South San Antonio High School tournament.

Big Spring's first round foe is Devine, a Class AA high school coached by Marvin Gustafson. Devine has always been a rugged competitor and should give the Steers all they can handle.

The Longhorns will be quartered at the El Tejas Motel during their stay in the Alamo City.

Team from all over the state are entered in the three-day tournament.

Complete pairings, listed in order of draw:

Lampasas vs. San Antonio Central, 2 p.m., Thursday; Devine vs. Big Spring, 8 p.m., Thursday; Marshall vs. Killeen, 3:20 p.m., Thursday; Weslaco vs. Baytown, 6:30 p.m., Thursday; Floresville vs. Austin McCollum, 11 a.m., Thursday; Uvalde vs. Brownsville, 5 p.m., Thursday; Beeville vs. SA Edgewood, 12:30 p.m., Thursday; Pleasanton vs. South San Antonio, 9 a.m. Thursday.

A Steer victory would send the locals back into action at 2:30 p.m. Friday against the Lampasas-SA Central survivor. A loss would find them playing at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Consolation finals are ticketed to start at 6:45 p.m. Saturday, the championship finals at 8:15 p.m.

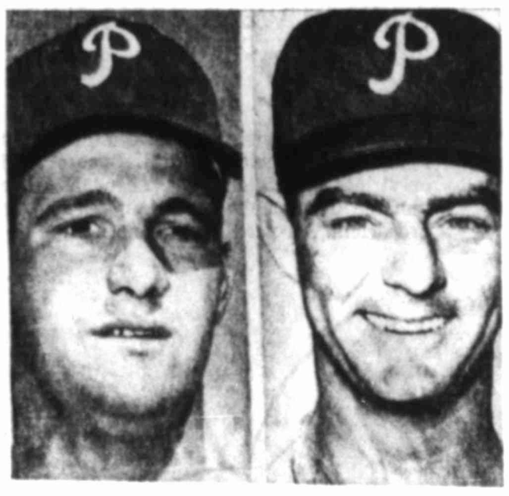

Probable starters for Big Spring tonight include Albert Fierro, DeeRoby Gartman, Charley West, Ronnie Banks and Mike Peters.

The Steers carry a 1-1 won-lost record south with them. The coach Delnor Poss passed up the Del Rio tournament this year to take his squad to San Antonio. The Steers were defending champions at Del Rio.

The Longhorns are scheduled to play in Snyder Tuesday night, then return to Snyder next weekend to take part in the Canyon Reef tournament. Big Spring has drawn Brownfield as a first round opponent at Snyder.

JIM BUNNING — GUS TRIANDOS

JACK HAMILTON — DON DEMETER

Tigers, Phils Involved In Interleague Trade

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Right-hander Jim Bunning, who had fallen into disfavor in Detroit, was traded to the Philadelphia Phillies today in a four-player deal—the first interleague transaction of the year.

The Tigers got outfielder Don Demeter and right-hander Jack Hamilton and sent catcher Gus Triandos to Philadelphia along with Bunning.

It was the fourth trade of the winter baseball meetings and the second for the Tigers in recent weeks. They traded outfielder Rocky Colavito and pitcher Bob Anderson to the Kansas City Athletics last month for second baseman Jerry Lumpe and pitchers Dave Wickersham and Ed Rakow.

Detroit Manager Charlie Dressen said he'll put Demeter in centerfield and move 34-year-old Bill Bruton from center to left. Al Kaline, of course, will be in right.

Triandos, a right-handed hitter, is expected to play behind Clay Dalrymple, who bats left-handed.

Bunning, who won 20 games in 1957, and pitched a no-hitter against Boston in 1958, lost 13 of his 25 decisions last season. It was only his second losing season in the last eight years. His career record is 118-87.

Bunning, 32, admitted last summer he and Dressen didn't see eye to eye. Dressen said before the season ended that Bunning and Colavito might be traded.

The Detroit-Philadelphia deal came off just a day after the Cleveland Indians traded outfielder Willie Kirkland to Baltimore for outfielder Al Smith.

Two Dodgers Lower Boom On Owners

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two outspoken Dodgers, Don Drysdale and Lee Walls, accused major league club owners of short-sightedness today because of their failure to give wholehearted support to the players' plea to lengthen the big league careers of veterans.

The star right-hander and veteran utility player also tore into the controversial first year player rule which they charged was hurting attendance in particular and baseball in general.

They gave their views about the same time that the Detroit Tigers traded pitcher Jim Bunning and catcher Gus Triandos to the Philadelphia Phillies for outfielder Don Demeter and pitcher Jack Hamilton.

"The first year player rule, which clogs up the big league rosters with inexperienced, unproven kids not only deprives proven veteran players of their livelihood but is unfair to the baseball loving fans," declared Walls, the Dodgers' player representative and a member of the player-owner executive council.

Drysdale, a top flight star only 26 years of age who has no fear of losing his job, was equally vehement against the rule which shunts veterans to the minors in favor of kids.

"It's a harmful rule," he said. 'It helps nobody and hurts everybody. It hurts the veterans, the kids, the owners, the public. But most of all, it hurts baseball."

The athletes' complaints were issued following the player representatives meeting with the owners Wednesday in which they urged their bosses to give their eight-year veterans a break.

In a formal resolution, they asked that clubs increase their 25-player roster to 26, the extra player being at least an eight-year veteran.

This, the players felt would give more protection to some of the older players who have been shipped to the minors to make room for the one-year rookies who must be kept on the big league roster because of the first-year player rule.

"The owners told us they would consider it," said Walls, "but the indication was clear, at least to me, they weren't in a mood to go along with us. They are opposed to it because it would cost them a total of around $320,000 more in salary by keeping an additional 20 players."

Liston-Clay Bout May Go To Miami

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Is there a chance that the projected Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay fight may not be held in Las Vegas after all? Could it be that Miami is under serious consideration?

Las Vegas backers, who might be called unofficial exponents of positive thinking, profess to see no such threat.

Jack Nilon, advisor of heavyweight champion Liston, flew to Miami from Philadelphia to meet today or Friday with Bill MacDonald. MacDonald, who sponsored the last Floyd Patterson - Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight, reportedly has offered a $625,000 guaranteed gate if the Liston-Clay fight is held in Miami.

But Ash Resnick, Las Vegas hotel executive and friend of Liston, showed no apparent concern. He said Nilon was just "doing Miami the courtesy of looking at its offer." He added: "I still feel we'll get the fight."

Resnick said Jackie Gaughan, an owner of the El Cortez Hotel here, could personally back a $400,000 guarantee.

"A $400,000 guarantee here is better than $625,000 in Miami," Resnick argued. His reference was to the fact the Miami area would have to be blacked out for television if the Florida city got the fight.

MacDonald, reached Wednesday night at his Miami Beach home, was also fairly confident.

"I think we have a good chance to land the fight," he said. "We can give it the promotion that will add prestige to the boxing business.

"We have the best possible Convention Hall, parking, hotels, housing, police protection and transportation. Our atmosphere is clean—the very best."

And at Louisville, Ky., Bill Faversham, Clay's manager, maintained that no site had been selected. "Nothing has been settled," he said.

Vikings Winning War For College Talent

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Minnesota's Vikings never got out of the trenches the last time, but they're winning this year's checkbook war for the nation's top college football talent.

The vengeful Vikings, who had their top two 1962 draft picks intercepted by the American Football League, have turned the tables this time while pulling the National Football League out front in the early roundup of the country's outstanding players.

The Vikings signed their seventh and eighth selections Wednesday — Arkansas tackle Wes Bryant and fullback Bill McWatters of North Texas State. The Vikings previously had grabbed off their Nos. 1 and 2 picks—tackle Carl Eller of Minnesota and Southern California end Hal Bedsole.

The Vikings' signings account for one-third of the 12 draft selections signed by the NFL.

The Kansas City Chiefs of the AFL outbid Detroit of the NFL for their chief choice, quarterback Pete Beathard of Southern California. Beathard was the third quarterback the Lions have lost to the AFL in three years. Detroit previously was outbid for John Hadl, now with San Diego, and Eddie Wilson, now with the Chiefs.

Besides Minnesota, Dallas and St. Louis in the NFL each have signed four players.

The Cowboys have inked Georgia Tech quarterback Billy Lothridge, their No. 6 pick, No. 12 Johnny Ray Norman, a flanker from Northwest Louisiana and two free agents from Tennessee—tailback Mallon Faircloth and end Buddy Fisher.

The Cardinals have contracts from No. 2 Hershel Turner, Kentucky tackle; Syracuse end Dick Bowman, their No. 6 pick, and two futures picked last year—Kansas State fullback Willie Crenshaw and Arkansas tackle Bob Clay.

Baltimore, Chicago and Los Angeles have signed their top selections, the Colts getting Indiana back Marv Woodson, the Bears grabbing Tennessee tackle Dick Evey and the Rams coming up with Utah State quarterback Bill Munson.

Los Angeles also has signed Occidental quarterback Bill Redell, a free agent. Pittsburgh has signed Jackson State tackle Ben McGee, No. 4.

Besides Beathard, the Chiefs have signed two futures—New Mexico State back Preacher Pilot and Georgia Tech back Joe Auer. Oakland's AFL entry has nailed its fourth and ninth selections, Boston U. linebacker Bill Budness and John Williamson, Louisiana Tech guard.

Elsewhere in the AFL, Buffalo has signed Boston U. halfback George Byrd, Tulsa end J. B. Simmons and a free agent—halfback Bob Curington of North Carolina College; Houston has signed No. 5 pick Texas A&I halfback Sid Blanks, and Denver has signed No. 7 Ray Kubala, Texas A&M tackle.

Cadets Worrying Over Navy Tricks

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Coach Paul Dietzel and his Army football team might be excused for tossing around in their bunks these nights, wondering aloud:

"What is Navy going to pull this time?"

In recent years the Midshipmen haven't been content just to show up with apparently superior personnel. (They've won the last four games). They inevitably come up with a gimmick that seems to toss the Cadets for a loop.

It could happen again Saturday when the Middies from Annapolis and the Black Knights from West Point clash in their 64th meeting at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium.

Wayne Hardin, the red-haired Navy coach, seems to get a puckish delight out of springing nerve-jarring tricks which are kept in closest secrecy until just before the kickoff.

In 1959, the game that started the current streak, Hardin installed a brand-new formation for the Army game — a formation calling for wide flankers and plays not used all year.

Score: Navy 43, Army 12.

The next year — 1960 — Army was expecting some more of the same skullduggery. The Knights were ready for anything — and were waiting for it. Hardin suspected this, so he didn't change a play. The other shoe didn't drop.

Score: Navy 17, Army 12.

In 1961, Navy warmed up in regular attire. Then, just before the kickoff, the Middies loped onto the field with their "Flaming Mamie" helmets. If the Army team was stunned, the 100,000 spectators were half-blinded. The helmets were painted with luminous aircraft paint — a garish orange color. On the sleeves of their jerseys, Navy men had inscribed: "Beat Army."

Score: Navy 13, Army 7.

Last year, the Middies had an answer for Army's celebrated Chinese Bandits, the defensive unit plan which Dietzel had employed so effectively at Louisiana State.

On the front of every Navy helmet were inscribed the words: "Jolly Roger." On one side was written the word "Beat" and on the other the word "Army."

Nothing very tricky about that except the words were inscribed in Chinese.

Score: Navy 34, Army 14.

Warming Up For Battle

Bob Taylor practices up on his three-pointer, while Dupree Johnson holds. Chago Lopez, in dark jersey, poses as the opposition and tries for a block—which apparently succeeded. The boys perform for the 331st FIS football team, which meets the Police Department club in a benefit game at Memorial Stadium Saturday night.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Until they tired late in the third period, the Big Spring Steers gave the Plainview Bulldogs all they could handle on the basketball court the other night.

Plainview ranks not only as the District 3-AAAA favorite but as one of the outstanding quintets in the state. The Bulldogs have been working out as a unit all fall. If the truth were known, the Plainview boys probably spent much of their summer in the basketball gym.

Some of the Steers had been hard at it for several weeks but three of the regulars (Albert Fierro, DeeRoby Gartman and Charley West) had changed from football moleskins to basketball togs less than a week previously.

Bob Clendaniel, the Plainview mentor, was very impressed with Big Spring's potential. He remarked that the Steers looked better against his Bulldogs than did Midland Lee in a previous scrimmage, although the Midlanders played Plainview a closer game than did Big Spring.

The Plainview club has a great ball player in 6-feet-9 Ronnie Peret. One veteran observer said Peret was capable of playing SWC ball right now.

Delnor Poss, the Steer mentor, is cheered over the prospects here but could stand a bit of back-slapping himself. Bigger crowds would help, that and a few kind words from the fans occasionally.

"We can be good if we run our patterns," Poss said following the game.

• • • •

Poss also had a good word for his sophomores, who could be the best class ever to come along here.

Delnor says the boys are farther along than were the sophs of two years ago and Albert Fierro and DeeRoby Gartman were in that group.

• • • •

The clock used in the Big Spring-Plainview game the other night is a disgrace to the school and the team here.

Surely the school is not so broke that it can't afford a few bulbs for part of the mechanism which keeps the spectators posted on the running score.

An up-to-date clock has been needed in the gym for years. The one now in use has been ridiculed by visiting teams and fans for years.

Here's the way the playoff games and remaining college contests look to this writer:

SAN ANGELO 22, Amarillo Tascosa 8. It'll take more than a nifty quarterback to topple the revved-up Bobcats.

FORT WORTH PASCHAL 14, Garland 7.

PASADENA 13, Spring Branch 8. Judging off Pasadena's show against Port Arthur.

CORPUS CHRISTI MILLER 27, San Antonio Lee 14. Assuming that Miller has come a long way since the Permian defeat.

DUMAS 15, Graham 7. More poise in the playoffs.

DALHART 8, Crane 6. Crane has been living on borrowed time.

PETERSBURG 20, Merkel 14. Petersburg was rated lower in the Panhandle most of the season than was Seagraves, which fell to Merkel. The team has performed well in recent games, however.

BAYLOR 24, SMU 8. Three touchdowns is about right for Don Trull, unless he decides he wants to really go to work.

RICE 16, TCU 13. The Owls blew too many chances in the Baylor game. They won't do it again this week.

NAVY 21, ARMY 14. The Middies pour more salt into the wounds of the Cadets and earn a trip to the Cotton Bowl.

Steer B Quintet In Snyder Meet

Truett Newell, newly named B basketball team coach at the local high school, takes the Shorthorns to Snyder this weekend for the second annual Snyder B Team tournament.

The Dogies see action for the first time Friday at 4:30 p.m., at which time they oppose Hamlin.

The Big Springers will probably not be as strong as usual, due to the fact that several of the boys who ordinarily perform for the squad will be with the A team in San Antonio.

Other pairings:

Snyder vs. Stamford, 1:30 p.m.; Lubbock vs. Brownfield, 3 p.m.; Seminole vs. Lubbock Monterey, 6 p.m., all games Friday.

If the Dogies win their opening test, they return to play against the Seminole-Monterey winner at 11 a.m. Saturday. Should they lose to Hamlin, they are booked to play again at 8 a.m. Saturday.

All eight places in the tournament are due to be decided, so the Shorthorns are assured of playing three games.

Consolation finals start at 4:30 p.m. Saturday. Third place will be decided in a game starting at 6 p.m. The title goes on the line at 7:30 p.m. The seventh place contest starts at 3 p.m. Saturday.

331st Fields New Lineup

Art Andrews, the big 220 pound linesman and defensive coach for the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron's 1963 grid team, is expected to carry the battle strategy against a formidable eleven to be fielded by the Big Spring Police Department in their annual charity grid game, on Saturday night at Memorial Stadium in Big Spring.

Art is the only man on the team who played against the police last year. Last year the Police Department defeated the Webb eleven in rough and tumble battle that exhausted the resources of both squads.

Probable starting lineup, offensively was announced today, by Jack Poole, Webb head coach: QB, Sonny Swangstu, 185, Stroughton, Wis.; FB, Bill Polk, 190, Houston, Tex.; RHB, Irving Thomas, 180, Bronx, N. Y.; LHB, Dupree Johnson, 147, Spartenburg, S. C.; C, Travis Sellers, 170, Gilberton, Ala.; RT, Oscar Guiterrez, 245, Houston, Tex.; RG, Bob Duncan, 175, Columbus Junction, Iowa; LT, Steve McConnell, 208, Carthage, Mo.; RE, Buba Teal, 185, Guntersville, Ala.; LE, Chago Lopez, 230, Rio Grande City, Tex.; LG, Sid Anderson, 165, Charleston, S.C.

McConnell, Guiterrez, and Lopez are expected to remain in the lineup when the defensive lineup moves into position.

Chiefs Reward Pete Beathard

DETROIT (AP)—Kansas City snagged the Detroit Lions' top National Football League draft choice because the bidding was too rich — even for millionaire owner William Clay Ford.

"Lamar Hunt (oil millionaire owner of the American Football League franchise at Kansas City) apparently was prepared to go first cabin all the way," Ford said Wednesday. He made the comment after Kansas City landed quarterback Pete Beathard of Southern California.

"But he's welcome to the boy," Ford added. "It's good riddance for us at those prices."

Admittedly stunned by the deal Beathard made for himself, Ford said he "wouldn't dare match an offer" like Kansas City's. He described it as "exorbitant and unrealistic."

According to Ford, the rival AFL club beat out the Lions by handing Beathard:

1. A bonus in excess of $15,000 for signing.
2. A no-cut contract calling for more than $20,000 a year.
3. A paid-up life insurance policy.
4. Option on shares of stock in a West Coast pay-TV corporation, cost of which would be financed by Kansas City.
5. A new car.
6. Free rent in an apartment for an unspecified duration, but presumably for no less than a year.

The Lions reportedly went as high as a $20,000 contract offer in their attempts to land Beathard, their No. 1 choice in last Monday's NFL draft and Kansas City's top pick in the AFL draft last Saturday.

Bork Will Play In Corpus Game

They were the first players to be named to the National All-Stars squad, made up of players from over the nation.

Parilli Named Player Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Babe Parilli heard the boo birds Sunday in the first half. He also must have seen the writing on the wall with the morning papers headlining the news that the Boston Patriots had drafted young Jack Concannon of Boston College for 1964.

With the fans yelling "We want (Tom) Yewcik," Parilli gathered the Patriots together and led them to a 17-7 victory over the Buffalo Bills that boosted Boston into a tie for the lead in the Eastern Division of the American Football League.

On the strength of that second half comeback, Parilli was named today Associated Press Player of the Week in the American Football League.

Minnesota Star Honored In Poll

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL Ron VanderKelen, Minnesota Vikings sub quarterback who had his biggest day in pro football last Sunday, said today he was "obviously surprised" at being named The Associated Press Player of The Week in the National Football League.

Civil Defense Council Will Meet Here Saturday

W. D. Berry, director of civil defense for Big Spring and Howard County, will give a committee report on federal assistance at a meeting of the West Texas-New Mexico Civil Defense Council to be held Dec. 7, at the Holiday Inn.

Berry was elected assistant vice president of Region 5 last June in New Orleans. He is chairman of the region's Federal Assistance Committee. His committee report will be made at 3:15 p.m.

The West Texas-New Mexico Civil Defense Council was organized in September at a meeting held in Carlsbad, N. M. Member cities include all cities in New Mexico and several cities in West Texas.

Registration for the second quarterly meeting will be held from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. in the lobby of the Holiday Inn. N. W. (Norm) Stiver, Carlsbad, president of the Council and director of civil defense for Eddy County, N. M., will convene the conference at 9:30 a.m.

Featured speakers at the morning sessions will be C. O. Layne, deputy director of the state office of defense and disaster relief, and Maj. Al Snyder, president of Region 5, U. S. Civil Defense Committee. Layne will speak on the state's role in civil defense, and Snyder will discuss the part of industry in civil defense.

Invocation will be given by Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Big Spring, and a member of the Howard County Civil Defense Advisory Council. Capt. William H. Thomas, Big Spring Salvation Army Commander, will give the Pledge of Allegiance, and introductions will be made by Berry.

Mayor George J. Zachariah will welcome guests, and greetings will be given by County Judge Lee Porter and State Rep. Ed Carpenter. Stiver will give the response.

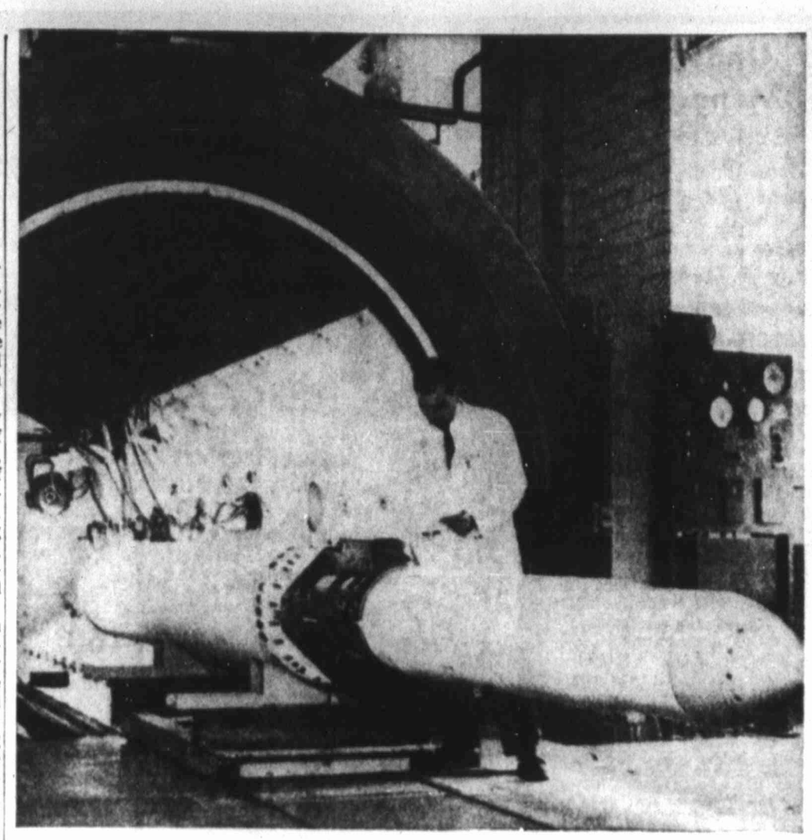

Also included on the morning program is Big Spring Police Chief Jay Banks, who will discuss the auxiliary role played by police in civil defense.

Bill Parker, director of the Region 5 civil defense office in Denton, will discuss Region 5 plans for fiscal 1963-64 at 1:30 p.m., and he will bring the main address following a dinner in the Sirloin Room at 7:30 p.m.

Heading the afternoon sessions will be a panel discussion, "State Your Problem," moderated by Stiver and participated in by Parker, Layne and Berry.

Other participants in the panel discussion will be Frank Cox, state communications officer, Austin, and Gaines West, director of training and education and public affairs officer for the Region 5 civil defense office in Denton. Both will speak on aspects of civil defense during the afternoon sessions.

The program also includes a business session at 4:45 p.m.

NEW SUBROC ANTI-SUB MISSILE SHOWN BY NAVY
Missile can be fired underwater for long-range defense

Navy Unveils Long-Range Anti-Submarine Missile

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy unveiled today a new submarine weapon for blasting enemy submarines — at long range. It looks like a torpedo. But it works like a flying fish.

Called "Subroc," the missile is launched under water, then takes off above surface, speeds to the target area and plunges back into the deep to its target.

It carries a nuclear warhead. Its range was not disclosed, but was termed greater than any antisubmarine weapon, except aircraft.

Unofficial speculation put the range at 20 to 30 miles.

Adm. W.T. Hines, deputy chief of the Navy Bureau of Weapons, said the missile "promises to be of the utmost importance" in combatting one of the major menaces in wartime — the hostile submarine.

The underwater-to-air-to - underwater missile was displayed at a joint news conference held by the Navy and the prime contractor, Goodyear Aerospace Corp.

The 4,000 - pound cylindrical missile is launched through a conventional torpedo tube. Then a solid-fuel rocket motor ignites.

At a predetermned range, the rocket motor separates from the bomb, which continues on its trajectory, steered by its guidance system to its target.

E. J. Thomas, Goodyear board chairman, said the new missile would enable Navy subs to pinpoint "a nuclear payload on a submerged enemy submarine many miles away."

Enrollment Marks Gains

After a severe drop of 35 during the week ending Nov. 22, enrollment in Big Spring public schools edged upward again Friday to 7,567, a gain of 12 during the week.

Elementary grades picked up eight students, for a total of 4,399, secondary grades remained unchanged at 3,015 students and special education picked up for 153.

By school, enrollments were Airport 497, down five; Bauer 527, up one; Boydstun 491, up four; Cedar Crest 297, no change; College Heights 448, up one; Gay Hill 121, no change; Kate Morrison 238, no change; Kentwood 113, no change; Lakeview 200, up three; Marcy 526, no change; Park Hill 251, no change; Washington 690, up four;

Goliad 804, down one; Lakeview Junior High 69, up one; Runnels 857, down one; and Senior High 1,285, up one.

Yaters To Be On Ford Show

Local friends and relations of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Yater have been advised that the couple will appear on the Tennessee Ernie Ford nationally televised show next Tuesday morning.

The show was taped recently. Mr. and Mrs. Yater are shown talking over the telephone to her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Rush.

The Yaters recently moved from Big Spring to Santa Clara, Calif.

Phosphate Plant Grows

DALLAS (AP) — Lone Star Producing Co.'s chemical division will add a $5 million ammonium phosphate plant to its chemical fertilizer Trinity River plant complex now under construction near Kerens in Navarro County, the company announced today.

The producing company is a wholly owned subsidiary of Lone Star Gas Co.

The additional $5 million increases Lone Star's planned investment in the chemical fertilizer business to about $25 million, said L. T. Potter, Lone Star president.

The ammonium phosphate plant will be completed in March 1965. It will be erected adjacent to and be a part of the previously announced Trinity River plant complex. The first phase of the complex, scheduled for completion in late 1964, will be a nitrogen plant.

Construction of the nitrogen plant is under way and the ammonium phosphate plant will be started in the spring of 1964, Potter said.

Tax Meeting Slated Friday

A meeting to provide farmers, ranchers and others interested in agriculture with late information on how to properly fill out income tax reports will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Building.

The meeting is being arranged by the County Farm Agents office.

Herb Helbig, county agent, said the Internal Revenue Service will assign men to attend the meeting and advise farmers and others on specialized problems farmers have to cope with in filing income tax reports.

He said that John Seibert, extension farm management specialist from Lubbock, will also be on hand at the meeting.

Pioneers Fly To Paraguay

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A group of 76 American men, women and children — most of them former Baptists — left Brownsville this morning to live in the back country of Paraguay.

The heavily laden chartered Paraguayan airliner lifted off at 7 a.m., two hours behind schedule.

The group expects to reach Ascencion, Paraguay, before noon tomorrow after stops in Panama City, Lima, Peru and Santiago, Chile.

The Rev. James A. St. John, 41, an ordained Baptist minister, former missionary, and one time Bloomington, Tex., rancher, is the leader of the group. St. John and the other men are always referred to among the 76 as brother, and the women are called sister.

DRUG ADDICT

Rev. Jack Wood, 35, is the second in command. Wood claims to be a reformed drug addict who became a Christian in Long Beach, Calif. He later was pastor of the Birdsall Baptist Church in Houston.

"We're just going because the Lord spoke to our hearts," Wood explains. "I think most of the men here have just pastored churches where people didn't want to hear except at a convenient time until they've just gotten sick of it.

"They want to go now and teach the Gospel. We can also live the Gospel for them (natives) to see and teach the Scriptures. There is no education among the natives where we are going."

FARM HANDS

The group includes three bulldozer operators, a ship's captain, an airplane pilot, and an Indian who was a paratrooper. The remainder of the men are cowboys or former farm hands.

For the past two weeks, the group has anxiously awaited a chartered airliner to take them to Ascension, the only city in Paraguay with a large airport. From there, they will use boats and light airplanes to move 400 miles into the jungle.

A series of repairs and adjustments kept the airliner in Miami, Fla., until Tuesday when it flew into Brownsville. A fuel pump malfunction then grounded the plane here until a new pump could be flown in.

Log cabins, a church and a rough school have been erected on a 250,000 acre ranch owned by Pan-Western Enterprises, Inc., which is supplying the land for the group to live on.

MILE WIDE

The settlement is on the Paraguay River at a point where the huge stream is a mile wide and 60 feet deep. The area is just south of the Brazilian border and near the eastern border of Bolivia.

Plans for the massive undertaking were formulated more than a year ago at a missionary training and boys camp in Coalmont, Tenn., which St. John operated. The camp's 1,000 acre ranch and 100 cattle were sold to help finance the expedition.

Since last June the pioneers have lived on a six-acre farm west of Harlingen, about 35 miles west of Brownsville.

Jim McRoberts of New Orleans, president of Pan-Western, says the settlement men will work on the huge ranch his firm owns, helping with the cattle.

The ex-paratrooper is Larry Murray, a member of the Otoe Indian tribe. Murray, from Ponca City, Okla., is taking along his two children, Franklin, 3, and Jacqueline, 4. He and his wife are divorced. He will work as a wrangler.

ONLY INDIANS

"We're the only Indians going down," Murray said, "but I understand there'll be some other Indians (Paraguayan natives) down there."

The group has spent almost $30,000 shipping 400 tons of equipment. The load included six tractors, three power plants, farm equipment, sawmill, road maintainers, a 70 foot boat, a 20 footer, four bulldozers, three printing presses, food, clothing and other personal belongings.

"We're taking 30 different kinds of seeds with us, like celery, beans, watermelons, and stuff, so we can live," Woods said.

Banks Gets $50 Fine

Jessie Banks, the county jail prisoner who welched on his promise to return a pair of jail coveralls loaned him last February, has pleaded guilty in Howard County court to theft of the garment. Judge Lee Porter sentenced him to pay a fine of $50 and costs.

Banks, in jail last February, came up for release on a particularly cold day. Sheriff Miller Harris, feeling sorry for the prisoner, who was short on weather-proof clothing, allowed him to wear a new pair of jail coveralls home—on his pledge to return the garment promptly. He never returned the coveralls. Earlier this week, Harris met him in the courthouse and arrested him for theft.

RONNIE WOOD

O'Donnell Lad Named Winner

A seventeen-year-old Texas youth, who aims to build a herd of meat type hogs as near perfect as possible, has been named a national winner in the 4-H Swine program.

Ronnie Wood, Rt. 3, O'Donnell, is one of six winners who received $500 scholarships from Moorman Mfg. Co., donor of awards in the National 4-H Swine program. Presentation was made at the 42nd National 4-H Club Congress held in Chicago, Dec. 1-5.

A 4-H member for eight years, Wood started his swine project in 1957 with two Chester White gilts, a Poland China gilt and a Poland China boar. During seven years of swine projects he has worked with more than 180 animals and has settled on the Hampshire breed for his projects.

The national winner resides with his parents, the J. M. Woods, on a 450-acre farm in Lynn County. He has built 12 hog houses and sheds, and fenced the surrounding area. Young Wood also has been a Junior Leader in the swine subject matter group of his club five years, showing younger 4-H'ers how to show and groom swine and beef cattle.

The O'Donnell high school senior has ranked second or third in his class during the first three years in classes averaging 42 pupils. He plans to attend college and major in agriculture, and hopes "one day to be asked to be a swine judge in some of the shows in which I am now exhibiting."

Young Wood also has won numerous awards including grand championships on his market barrows.

Drunks Often Jail Guests

City Police have made 1,609 drunk arrests since January 1.

Arrests increased each month from January until July, when they hit a peak of 206. The number declined in August and September, but started rising again in October. The second highest number of arrests, 201, was made last month.

Assistant Police Chief Leo Hull said the 1,609 figure for total arrests does not accurately reflect the number of persons who drink excessively, for many are repeaters.

Hull said the number does not necessarily indicate a high incidence of alcoholism in Big Spring.

Arrests for drunkenness averaged 4.67 per day during the past 11 months.

Santa To Make Stanton Arrival In Posse Wagon

STANTON — Santa Claus will borrow the Martin County sheriff's posse chuck wagon to make his trip here at 2:45 p.m. Dec. 13. He will parade down the main street of the city to a roped-off block on St. Ann Street, between St. Peter and St. Joseph Streets, where he will distribute candy, and talk to the kiddies.

The Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the arrival of Santa, hopes to arrange for the Stanton High School band to lead the parade.

DECORATIONS

Stanton's streets have been lighted with strings of colored lights laced between utility poles. They were turned on last weekend. Lights around the courthouse are strung from the top of the building to the sides of the square.

Downtown utility poles are being ornamented with evergreen boughs of cedar and cypress and other decorations. Individual merchants in groups of two or three are placing decorations on poles in front of their places of business along the main streets.

The decorations will be judged and certificates of merit given to winners of the top three places.

CONTEST

A home-lighting contest will also be sponsored, with three prizes to be donated by merchants. All lighting will be judged on the basis of originality, lighting techniques and artistic achievement. All judging will be done Dec. 20. Persons entering the contest must have completed application blanks at the Chamber of Commerce office by Dec. 16, Mrs. Maurine Varnadore, chamber manager, said.

Council To Meet Tuesday

STANTON — A mayor and councilman elected here in a special election Tuesday may take the oath of office at a called meeting of the Stanton city council at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday, according to City Secretary Harvey White.

"There is also the possibility that Stanton's new police chief will be chosen at the meeting," he said.

White said he did not have any definite information when S. W. Wheeler, new mayor, and councilman A. A. Johnson would take office. Wheeler was named mayor by write-in votes. Johnson was the lone candidate for councilman.

Seven applicants for the chief of police position were interviewed more than a week ago and investigation is being made before the new officer is named.

White said at least three promising applicants were included.

Clinton To Attend State Conference

STANTON—Supt. B. D. Clinton will represent Martin County schools at the annual state conference on Teacher Education and Professional Standards in Dallas Friday and Saturday.

The conference is a part of the program of the Texas State Teachers Association. It will be held at the Adolphus Hotel.

Each unit sends delegates to the conference, and the Martin County unit of the TSTA elected Clinton.

Laundering Advised For Rubber Pillows

Dear Folks:

We have had so many complaints from readers who have foam rubber pillows which need laundering, that some sweet gentleman who knows (and is with one of the biggest foam manufacturers in America) writes the following for us:

Dear Heloise:

Foam rubber pillows should never be hung in the sunlight because the ultraviolet rays in sunlight are enemies of foam rubber and cause it to crumble.

HELOISE

Actually, foam rubber itself has no odor and this problem is very seldom encountered. However, of course, it can pick up odors from hair oils, babies, etc. when this happens the best thing to do is to wash the pillow by hand in lukewarm water, with a mild soap. Excess water should be squeezed out. Then let the pillow or other article dry in a cool place, out of direct sunlight. Foam rubber should never be dried in an automatic dryer.

Some people may not have genuine foam rubber, but instead have pillows of urethane foam, a synthetic plastic substitute for foam rubber. This product sometimes has an unpleasant, chemical-like odor. In any case, sunlight is also damaging to urethane, making it age prematurely and turn a rather ugly yellow.—John D. Doherty Jr.

Dear Heloise:

Just a thought to pass along to our other coffee pals who might be interested in enclosing a Heloise dishrag with their Christmas cards. The postage will cost no more as this "Heloise" weighs nothing!

I enclosed this poem along with each Heloise net dish rag.

"Enclosed is a dishrag named 'Heloise.'
"Take her and love her; she works with ease.
"T'won't sour nor smell, and boy is it swell,
"And when you use her, think of me . . .
"She may be a bag, but she is my 'rag.'
"She'll never get tattered and torn.
"Scrub all pots and pans, whatever you can.
"Remember me when you use 'Heloise.'"

—Evelyn Ritchie

Dear Gals:

Heloise dishrags can be made for practically nothing and can be tucked in along with any gift. Buy nylon net (72 inches wide) at your dime or department store. Cut it into 18 inch squares. Won't ravel or tear so just use plain scissors.

One yard of net will make eight dish cloths. Each gift will cost you less than five cents. And they are wonderful. It is something that one will use every day and remember you by. Net comes in a multitude of colors.

These Heloise dish "rags" may be stitched along the edges with yarn, crocheted, etc. Real cute when stitched with mercerized colored thread on your sewing machine. But just to cut them up with a pair of scissors . . . suffices.

Your Happy "Rag"
Heloise

Dear Heloise:

We have some answers to the "tile" question when people write you that black "goo" comes up between the tiles.

The tile which has been laid was probably placed in the adhesive too quickly after the adhesive was spread. The air dries this material, and since the tile covered the adhesive immediately, the adhesive has remained a little moist, because of lack of air. This is fairly common, however, and a dehumidifier in the room will help alleviate the condition.

In the interim, the "black cement" can be removed from the tile face with steel wool, moistened with water.—Chester Miller, supervisor of a tile company.

Also she said that holly could be preserved in a solution of brown sugar and water, using one cup of sugar to a quart of water. Evergreens and berries from the yards were recommended for making holiday arrangements.

Members brought arrangements to be delivered to local rest homes.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. T. Hall Jan. 8.

Hyperions Hear Talk By Mrs. Morehead

Venice, Rome and the Holy Land were described by Mrs. G. G. Morehead, guest speaker at the annual Christmas meeting of the 1955 Hyperion Club. The group met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Jimmie Morehead where Mrs. J. B. Apple and Mrs. Walter Wheat assisted as hostesses.

Mrs. Morehead showed colored slides taken on a recent trip to the Holy Land, as well as pictures taken in the European cities which she visited. She described beautiful works of art seen in the Vatican.

Welcomed as new members were Mrs. Carroll Davidson, Mrs. R. S. Boyd and Mrs. Richard Gibson. The club voted to donate $10 each to the Christmas seal campaign and the Cheer Fund.

Twenty - four members exchanged gifts around a pink tree. Refreshments were served from a table centered with an antique brass kerosene lamp filled with Christmas ornaments. Pine boughs surrounded the lamp and a Santa Claus figure.

Gifts Exchanged At Dinner Party

Gifts were exchanged by about 25 members of Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, and their husbands at a Christmas buffet dinner Tuesday evening. The group met in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. where the door prize was given to J. D. Kendrick. The next meeting will be with Mrs. L. V. Misek, 2307 Lynn, Jan. 7.

Birthday Noted At Party

Miss Beverly Womack was honored on her 17th birthday Monday with a surprise Coke party held in the home of Mrs. J. L. Stevens. Sherry Stevens was hostess to the 12 guests attending. Following an afternoon of visiting, tea sandwiches and soft drinks were served.

Handle Carefully

Broken Christmas tree ornaments are a holiday hazard and should never be picked up with the unprotected fingers. Sweep up the larger pieces with a broom and dustpan. To pick up smaller splinters dampen an absorbent paper towel with water and wipe up the splinters with a patting motion. The bits will adhere to the damp paper towel.

Splendor Of Winter Created In Ballroom

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

The splendor of winter was created in ballroom gowns and decor at the Cosden Country Club Wednesday evening. The season's first formal ball was attended by a host of guests and was given by Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Champ Rainwater and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Whipkey.

Hurricane lamps in varigated colors were based in holly to form centerpieces for the tables. The hors d'oeuvre table was marked with candles flanking a holiday arrangement on a green Christmas cloth.

Music was provided by Clyde McCoy whose "Sugar Blues" and hits from the '30s kept the couples on the dance floor throughout the evening.

HOSTESSES

As guests arrived they were received by the hostesses whose gowns set the pace for pre-Christmas fashion formality. The long and the short of it is, you can be at ease in Victorian elegance or in the short sheathed finery. Mrs. Jones chose the latter, wearing a cocktail sheath of champagne brocade. Mrs. Rainwater was radiant in a short, full-skirted green satin dress, while Mrs. Whipkey's regal gown was black and ankle length.

Embroidered in rhinestones and pearls, the bodice of Mrs. Horace Garrett's toast-toned gown was complemented with soft folds of the short, full skirt. Another resplendent gown was the yellow, sequined sheath worn by Mrs. A. K. Halverson. Mrs. Bill Currie's black, sequined lace and silk dress was in elegant contrast to her auburn coif. Mrs. Raymond Tollett's beaded sheath was delicately tinted. Also in black, Mrs. Lloyd Wasson's after-five dress featured a latticed yoke detail. Swathed in black chiffon, Mrs. Ed Swift chose a just-right, rhinestone shoulder pin.

JEWELED BANDS

A white evening coat, marked with jeweled sleeve bands, drew admiration to Mrs. A. Swartz' attire when she arrived at the club. Mrs. R. J. O'Leary was lovely in a cocktail suit of silk brocade; Mrs. Morris Patterson, in a white silk sheath belted in rhinestones; Mrs. George Franks, in a brown sheath fashioned of the new blistered brocade; and Mrs. Tommy Jordan in winter white sheath.

Resplendent long formals were particularly outstanding. Mrs. Howard Withycombe's blue satin was styled with deep pleats, sculptured bodice and tiny rhinestone straps. Deep red satin and multi-colored velvet formed the skirt and bodice in the gown worn by Mrs. Kent Morgan. It was regally styled with high-cut neckline and bracelet - length sleeves. Mrs. Lee Rogers' lovely red silk gown featured a draped neckline and a slightly draped effect at the waist. Another red gown was the sheer chiffon worn by Mrs. Arch Carson, Mrs. Tom Nelson, too, was elegant in a cranberry red, brocade and jersey gown. Black lace over pink, fitted with a pink satin cummerbund, was the beautiful formal worn by Mrs. Willard Mason.

A discussion of Judism was led by Mrs. Ezzell and Mrs. James Denny discussed Jordan, its religion and Southern Baptist work in the area. The group was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Roy Spivey.

VIOLET ORR CIRCLE

Mrs. T. W. Blewett, 710 Creighton, was hostess to the Violet Orr Circle which received its call to prayer from Mrs. Don Williams. Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Blewett led the group in prayer, and Mrs. H. D. Brown introduced the program.

After Mrs. Brown presented pictures on life of the Arab people, Mrs. Wilbur Pope gave excerpts from the junior mission study book, "The Big Difference."

Presbyterian Women Note Holiday Season

The Christmas season began Monday evening for Women of St. Paul Presbyterian Church. A program was presented and the annual party held in the home of the James Capes, Allendale Addition. Mrs. Carroll Davidson, president, conducted a brief business session at which time Mrs. Al Seddon voiced a Christmas prayer.

The group divided into circles with the circle chairmen, Mrs. Birt Allison and Mrs. Bill Gibson, in charge. Mrs. Marshall Fields, chairman of annuities and relief, announced the Joy Gift program to be presented at the church Friday, Dec. 20.

CHRISTMAS STORY

A story, "The Christmas Handkerchief" by Mrs. L. C. Barrington, was read by Mrs. Jerry Jenkins. Mrs. John Arnold, contralto, sang "Cantique de Noel" by Adolphe Adam. She was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. L. B. Edwards. Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Edwards directed the group in singing new and favorite carols.

The Bible study from the Psalms, with the topic for the evening being "The Royal Psalms," was moderated by Mrs. Seddon. She was assisted by Mrs. Fields, Mrs. Allison and Mrs. Arnold.

During the social hour members tied gifts on a money tree to be used to purchase new toys for the church nursery. Mrs. John Fariss and Mrs. Cape were assisted in hostess duties by members of the Evans-Moffett Circle.

SOCIAL PERIOD

Red, silver and gold were featured in seasonal decorations throughout the Cape home. The refreshment table was centered with a glittering arrangement of red, silver and gold. Mrs. Carroll Davidson presided at the coffee service, serving 23 members and a guest, Mrs. Peggy Yoakum of San Antonio.

An executive board meeting was announced for Jan. 2 at the church.

Methodist Heritage Discussed

"Our Methodist Heritage" was given in four parts Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Herbert Johnson was hostess to the Mary Zinn Circle, First Methodist Church. The lesson was led by Mrs. H. H. Stephens.

Speakers and their topics were Mrs. W. A. Miller, "How Methodism Came to Be"; Mrs. Felton Smith, "Mark of Methodists"; and Mrs. S. R. Nobles, "Wesley Methodism." A poster was used by Mrs. Stephens to illustrate her talk, "World Missions of Methodists."

Mrs. S. R. Nobles presided, with Mrs. W. A. Miller wording the opening prayer and closing with the covenant. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Johnson.

Mrs. Stephens will be hostess Dec. 17.

HOME FOR HOLIDAYS

Family Plans Quiet Christmas

By JO BRIGHT

When Santa comes calling at 2716 Carol Drive, the gifts he takes from his bag will be soft, sweet things that little girls love. His list will show that this is the home of two lovely little girls—Joy, 4, and Melanie, 2. Their parents are Capt. and Mrs. Lewis G. Vale, who plan to spend the Christmas holiday at home with their children and friends.

MRS. LEWIS VALE, MELANIE AND JOY

Mrs. Vale, who is probably always described as a petite brunette, also has the energy and vivaciousness that most small people are gifted with. Christmas shopping? She's finished it, of course. Presents are already in the mail and on their way to Kentucky where the children's grandparents, the Rev. and Mrs. Virgil Yohe, and Mrs. Alma Vale, live.

However, Mrs. Vale has not finished all the things she intends to do for the holiday season. There are still cakes to bake and cookies to decorate. It shouldn't take long.

"I'm a lazy cook, so I use the shortest methods," she explained. "Truthfully, I resent spending over 30 minutes to get dinner ready." With an efficient attitude like that, she will probably make short work of the baking — unless she gets help from the girls. Then it might take a little longer.

"For daily meals, I depend very much on a pressure cooker," continued Mrs. Vale. "Swiss steak is one of our favorite meats and the cooker saves so much time. Too, I use it for roasts, liver or most anything else that won't fall apart under pressure."

It's evident that Mrs. Vale is not one to be bothered by a bit of pressure. She seems to thrive on it. At Webb Air Force Base where her husband is on the standardization board, she serves as special activities chairman for the Officers Wives' Club and is president of the club's bowling league. Also, she is secretary of Tall Talkers Toastmistress Club.

While overseas, they acquired a liking for Danish furniture and Dutch cheese. Their home is completely furnished with teakwood pieces of modern design, and there are accents of copper and silver to lend a cosmopolitan air. The camel saddles have been relegated to the playroom.

"I do most of my shopping at the base commisary," said Mrs. Vale, "but I buy various cheeses at a store in town." She uses a lot of cheese in cooking and also serves it plain as a snack, often with fruit. The Vale family eats few sweets, one reason being that Capt. Vale watches his weight so she doesn't tempt him with rich desserts. They have a big breakfast about 6 o'clock. He skips lunch, and they have a light evening meal. The girls will eat anything that is set before them — but are grateful if it's chocolate.

SWEDISH DESSERT

First part: Pour 1 cup orange juice over 1½ cups dark brown sugar. Stir well and let stand.

Second part:
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup buttermilk
½ tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
½ cup shortening
2 cups flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1 cup raisins, ground
Grated rind of 1 orange

Heat food chopper in hot water so raisins will go through. Sift dry ingredients and sprinkle one-fourth of it over the raisins as soon as ground.

Cream sugar and shortening, add eggs. Alternate in adding dry ingredients and buttermilk. Add vanilla, orange rind and floured raisins. Bake in greased and floured large pyrex dish (square or loaf) at 300 degrees for 20 minutes and at 325 degrees for 20 minutes.

Remove from the oven and spoon Part one over very slowly. Keep in the dish in which baked. Will stay moist several days.

TOFFEE BARS

½ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
1 cup shortening
2 tsps. vanilla
2 eggs
1 cup flour
½ tsp. salt
1 cup uncooked oats
2 pkgs. chocolate chips
½ cup chopped walnuts
½ cup shredded coconut

Cream shortening and sugars, add eggs and vanilla and beat. Gradually add dry ingredients and oats and mix well. Pour into greased 8x12 square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes and cool. Melt chips in double boiler and ice cake. Sprinkle iced cake with nuts and coconut in alternating stripes and cut into bar size pieces.

ITALIAN NUT WAFERS

5 tbsps. powdered sugar
½ lb. butter
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 tsp. vanilla
1½ cups flour

Cream butter, add sugar, flour, vanilla and nuts. Shape into small balls then flatten with a glass. Bake 8-10 minutes at 400 degrees. Dip while hot in powdered sugar.

PINEAPPLE COOKIES

1 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs
2 tsps. vanilla
1 can crushed pineapple, well drained
4 cups flour
3 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
1 cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening and sugars; add eggs, vanilla and pineapple. Sift dry ingredients and add gradually; then nuts. Drop on greased cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees until crusty brown.

HOLIDAY CAKE
A batch of lusciously smooth chocolate fondants

Make Festive Fondant Once—You Will Again

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

If you are seriously interested in cooking you should make a perfect batch of chocolate fondant at least once in your life. Its fabulously smooth quality will delight your friends, confound your foes and surround you with awe.

Because I made my perfect batch of fondant when I was about 12 years old and took my first cooking lessons, I am now exempt. So when I wanted to try the following fondant recipe in my kitchen, I asked my helper—who had never made the candy—to try the rule. We found it excellent.

At the end of the recipe there are some suggestions for using the fondant, but you'll probably enjoy creating some of your own.

CHOCOLATE FONDANT

2 cups sugar
Dash of salt
1¼ cups water
2 tbsps. light corn syrup
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 tsp. vanilla
4 squares (4 ozs.) semi-sweet chocolate, melted

Turn the sugar, salt, water and corn syrup into a saucepan. Cook and stir constantly over low heat until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils; cover and boil 3 minutes. Remove cover and continue boiling without stirring. Wipe down sides of pan occasionally with a damp cloth wrapped around fork tines or small spatula. Cook until a small amount of the syrup forms a soft ball in cold water or to a temperature of 238 degrees.

Remove from heat. Add butter; do not stir. Pour out onto cold wet platter, porcelain tabletop or other suitable greased surface. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees). Work with a wooden paddle or spatula until white and creamy. Add vanilla and knead until smooth. Shape into a ball; make an indentation in the top and pour about one-fourth of the melted chocolate into it. Knead until chocolate is blended. Repeat until all chocolate is blended.

Store in a tightly covered jar to ripen for several days before using. If fondant begins to dry out, cover with a damp cloth. Makes about 1⅛ pounds.

Here are three ways to use the ripened fondant. Knead and shape it into small balls and roll in packaged toasted coconut. Knead coarsely chopped walnuts into it; shape into 1-inch thick rolls; wrap in waxed paper and chill; when firm cut in ¼-inch thick slices.

Shape the fondant into small balls and garnish each with a blanched almond pressed into the top.

The Vales Like English Toffee

1 large bar milk chocolate
1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 cup walnuts

Grate the chocolate bar, then use ½ of it to cover the bottom of a buttered 10x10 pan. Melt butter in a heavy skillet and add sugar; boil and stir continuously until it reaches 305 degrees. Pour over the grated chocolate; let cool momentarily then cover with the remaining grated chocolate. Cool in the refrigerator. If cut into pieces before it is entirely hard it will break into pieces easier.

POMANDER BALLS

Pomander Balls For Giving

The sweetest, most personal Christmas gifts are made in your own kitchen with juicy oranges, and at a minimum cost.

Pomander balls, the clove-studded oranges, are one of the oldest and most treasured of all sachets, imparting a delightful, spicy fragrance to clothes and linen closets for years. Orange-flavored nut bread, garnished with flowers of Brazil nut petals, is welcome any time of day.

POMANDER BALLS

Large firm oranges
Whole cloves
Powdered orrisroot ( buy in pharmacy)
Ground cinnamon

Select large firm oranges for making pomanders. Stick whole cloves into the peel of the orange until completely covered with cloves. The cloves may be inserted into the orange peel more easily if the holes have been made with the tines of a fork, or a very sharp pencil point. Roll in a mixture of equal parts of orrisroot and ground cinnamon. Use about 1½ tablespoons of the combined spices for each orange. Pat in as much of the powdered mixture as will adhere to the orange.

Wrap the pomander in tissue or cellophane paper. As pomander dries and shrinks, it develops its spicy fragrance. Remove from paper, shake off any loose powder and the pomander is ready for use in linen and clothes closets. To hang in closet, tie the pomander with a piece of ribbon ending in a loop.

Pomanders keep their fragrance for many years and make pretty and inexpensive gifts.

ORANGE BREAD

¾ cup orange rind, slivered, (about 4 oranges)
1½ cups sugar
1-3 cup water
3 tbsps. butter
1 1-3 cups orange juice
3 eggs, well beaten
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. soda
2 tsps. salt

Remove the thin orange rind and cut into very thin slivers. Combine sugar and water; add rind, stir constantly over heat until sugar is dissolved; cook slowly 5 minutes. (The peel and syrup should measure 1 1-3 cups). Add butter; sit until melted; add orange juice and beaten eggs. Sift dry ingredients together into mixing bowl. Add orange mixture and mix just enough to moisten ingredients. (Batter should be lumpy). Bake in greased and lined loaf pan 9 x 5 x 3 inches, in slow oven (325 degrees F.) 1 hour 15 minutes. Turn out on rack to cool. Yield: 1 loaf.

FAVORITE HOLIDAY SALAD

Mold Crunchy Salad For Party Buffet

Molded salads have a party air. Crunchy Pineapple Cranberry Ring is perfect for holiday buffet meals featuring turkey or baked ham. It is distinguished by a subtle blending of canned crushed pineapple with tart canned cranberry sauce and nuts. Make the salad in advance for leisurely serving.

CRUNCHY PINEAPPLE CRANBERRY MOLD

1 (1 lb. 4½-oz.) can crushed pineapple
1 (6-oz.) package lemon flavored gelatin
½ cup lemon juice
3 tbsps. shredded or chopped orange peel
2 (1 lb.) cans whole cranberry sauce
1-3 cup chopped walnuts

Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with pineapple slices, crisp greens and holly, if desired. Served with Easy Fluffy Dressing. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

EASY FLUFFY DRESSING

FAST FRUIT CAKE

Start With Box Mix To Save Fruitcake Time

Making goodies is a wonderful way to Christmas-shop at home. And, happily for the time-limits of the season, there's nothing old-fashioned about this fruitcake except the flavor. Start with Date Bread Mix, finish soon after with a home-made loaf that's perfect for giving—or serving.

You can turn out individual Miniature Fruitcakes or a Fruitcake Ring for a buffet—both are just as speedily made as the traditional loaf. All are wonderfully delicious ways to say, "Happy Holidays."

DATE FRUITCAKE

1 pkg. date bread mix
1½ cups chopped candied fruit
1 cup chopped nuts
½ cup raisins

Prepare date bread mix adding candied fruit, nuts and raisins with the dry mix. Turn into 8x4 or 9x5-inch loaf pan, greased and floured on bottom only. Bake at 350 degrees for 70 to 80 minutes. Glaze with warm corn syrup and garnish with candied fruit. Cool thoroughly before slicing.

Miniature Fruitcakes: Bake in 24 paper-lined or greased muffin cups for 30 to 35 minutes.

Fruitcake Ring: Bake in 9 or 10-inch tube pan, greased and floured on bottom only for 55 to 65 minutes.

Spectacular Holiday Pie Uses Chocolate Chips

Whatever the dessert at holiday dinner, it must be of a spectacular nature—and one of the handsomest is Christmas Chocolate Pie. The chocolate chiffon goes into a crust of mellow corn flake crumbs.

The pie derives its chocolate flavor from semi-sweet chocolate morsels, the same candy-like pieces the children love for out-of-hand nibbling. And thanks to the presence of reliable unflavored gelatine, the filling requires little cooking—only the few minutes necessary to dissolve the unflavored gelatine and melt the chocolate morsels. For the rest, Christmas Chocolate Pie simply chills until ready for serving.

CHRISTMAS CHOCOLATE PIE

Crumb Crust:
4 cups corn flakes, crushed, or 1 cup corn flake crumbs
2 tbsps. sugar
1-3 cup butter or margarine

Put corn flake crumbs, sugar, and butter in a 9-inch pie pan. Place in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 5 minutes or until butter melts; remove. Mix well and press mixture evenly and firmly around sides and on bottom of pie pan. Chill.

Filling:
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup sugar
⅛ tsp. salt
1½ cups milk
1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix together unflavored gelatine, sugar and salt in saucepan. Stir in milk and semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Place over medium heat, stirring constantly, until morsels are melted, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; beat with a rotary beater until chocolate is blended. Stir in vanilla. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon, about 15 minutes. Fold in whipped cream.

Turn into prepared pie shell. Chill until firm. If desired, make wreath on top of pie with circle of additional whipped cream; garnish with pieces of candied cherries and citron. Yield: 1 9-inch pie.

Pecan Bourbon Cake

Requests come from lady cooks, urged on by their husbands, for a recipe for Pecan Bourbon Cake.

This is the Kentucky nut and raisin cake, made with bourbon whiskey, that is so pupular around holiday time. Even people who say they "don't like fruit cake" relish this version.

The base of the following Pecan Bourbon Cake is the same as the one we used last year, but the proportions of the sugar, nuts, raisins, candied fruit and nutmeg have had a slight switch. There's also a change in the method of baking—the present direction, suggested by a good cook, results in a less crumbly cake than resulted hitherto.

PECAN BOURBON CAKE

3 cups sifted flour
2 tsps. baking powder
2 tsps. nutmeg
2 cups sugar
1 cup (2 sticks) butter or margarine
6 eggs, separated
1 lb. pecan nutmeats, coarsely chopped
1 pound golden raisins
1 jar (4 ounces) diced candied fruit, finely chopped
1 cup bourbon whiskey

PECAN BOURBON CAKE

Grease the bottom and sides of a 10-inch angelfood cake pan; line entire inner surface with brown paper; grease paper.

Mix 2 tablespoons of the flour with the pecans and candied fruit; reserve. Sift the remaining flour with the baking powder and nutmeg. Cream butter and sugar; thoroughly beat in 1 egg yolk at a time. Beat in sifted dry ingredients alternately with the bourbon; if necessary continue to beat until batter is very smooth. Stir in pecan and fruit mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into batter so there are no blobs of white left. Turn into the prepared pan.

Bake in a very slow (250 degrees) oven for 4 hours or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Place a shallow pan of water on top shelf of oven during the first 2½ hours of baking. Place cake in pan on wire rack to cool for 30 minutes; turn out; remove brown paper; cool completely.

To store cake, dip a double piece of cheesecloth in bourbon and wrap cake in it; wrap again in transparent plastic wrapping and store in an airtight metal container. Cake slices well shortly after baking.

A Devotional For The Day

Arise, shine: for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee. (Isaiah 60:1.)

PRAYER: Our merciful Father, lead us to the conviction that the Christ whom Thou didst promise and for whom man waited has come. Forgive us for not accepting Him, for we have sinned and need Him to redeem us. We pray in the name of the Light of the world, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Right-To-Work Issue

The unanimous decision of the United States Supreme Court this week in ruling that state courts have the right to enforce bans on agency shops may have a stimulating effect on the right-to-work law movement.

Under the agency contract, employes may not be compelled to join a union as a condition of employment, but they must make payments equal to dues, fees, etc. Florida, from whence the test case came, held through its supreme court that the agency shop was contrary to its right-to-work laws and that the state court had the right of remedy to this situation. The U. S. high court concurred in this position.

Subsequent rulings on other facets of this and similar litigation may shed more light, but one immediate possibility is that new force will accrue to the right-to-work laws movement. By the same token, this would mean stepped-up opposition by organized labor to the movement, and thus this could become a major issue.

Since the right-to-work movement was launched on a national basis in 1955, four states (Utah, Indiana, Kansas and Wyoming) have outlawed union membership as a condition of employment in a union shop. On the other hand, New Hampshire, Maine, Delaware, Louisiana and Hawaii have repealed such laws (Louisiana in part). In all there are now 20 states with right-to-work laws.

The National Right to Work Committee describes them as "the freedom of the individual worker," but AFL-CIO regards them as "evil anti-unionism." And, says the National Council for Industrial Peace, "the government at any level should stay out of it." The stage is now set for this hot potato to get hotter.

The Big Budget Problem

One of the big problems with which President Johnson must wrestle immediately is that of a proposed budget for next year. Reports indicate that the final asking total may range somewhere between 98 and 103 billion dollars. Split the difference and the budget would still, for the first time in our peacetime history, top $100 billion.

The President appears determined to cut many departmental budgetary requests sharply, and one source conjectured that these slashes might add up to as much as $3 billion. The only catch is that no figure has been announced from whence the cut would start. Speculation has it that the original departmental requests presented to the late President Kennedy had aggregated between $108 and $110 billion.

There are two things worth remembering: One, that departments normally submit their asking figure above the level of their firm expectations, and two, that the President then whittles down this estimate and presents his own to Congress, which likewise is under no final compulsion to take the executive's proposals.

It is to be hoped that President Johnson will be able to cut back the asking figure not only under the $100-billion mark, but substantially under it. Even a slight increase over this year's outlay would represent a per capita reduction, but the lengthened life span raises the question of whether a per productive capita measuring stick might not be more realistic. At any rate, the President is well aware that a budget which lends itself to cuts or to holding the line is indispensable to hopes of resurrecting the proposed tax cut.

We Do, Indeed, Look To God

WASHINGTON—For several months now, the American people have been puzzled as to whether anyone in the government of the United States may, on a formal or official occasion, ask people to pray to God. In fact, ever since the Supreme Court's decision which ruled that public-school teachers could not be directed by state or local government authorities to use a particular prayer in the classroom, there has been a question as to what mention of the Supreme Being would be permissible in official functions.

IT IS KNOWN, of course, that atheists have been insisting that there should be no semblance of religious worship in the public schools, but many citizens who do believe in God have assumed that the Supreme Court sooner or later would clarify its position and permit voluntary prayers in public chools.

It was, therefore, rather significant to note the frequent references to prayers to God which have been made in public speeches these last few days.

In the address, for instance, which President Lyndon Johnson delivered before the joint session of Congress on November 27, he said:

"ON THIS Thanksgiving eve, as we gather together to ask the Lord's blessing and give Him our thanks, let us unite in those familiar and cherished words: 'America, America, God shed His grace on thee, and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.' "

In the Thanksgiving proclamation which had been issued on November 4 to the American people, the late President Kennedy said:

"On that day (November 28) let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that he will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice and understanding among all men and all nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist."

ON THANKSGIVING Day, President Johnson spoke over radio and television to the American people. He referred to Mr. Kennedy's proclamation and said:

"Tonight, on this Thanksgiving, I come before you to ask your help, to ask your strength, to ask your prayers that God may guard this republic and guide my every labor . . .

"On this Thanksgiving Day, as we gather in the warmth of our families, in the mutual love and respect which we have for one another, and as we bow our heads in submission to Divine Providence, let us also thank God for the years that He gave us inspiration through His servant, John F. Kennedy.

"LET US TODAY renew our dedication to the ideals that are American. Let us pray for His divine wisdom in banishing from our land any injustice or intolerance or oppression to any of our fellow Americans, whatever their opinion, whatever the color of their skins—for God made all of us, not some of us, in His image. All of us, not just some of us, are His children.

"And, finally, to you as your President, I ask that you remember your country and remember me each day in your prayers, and I pledge to you the best within me to work for a new American greatness, a new day when peace is more secure, when justice is more universal, when freedom is more strong in every home of all mankind."

THESE NUMEROUS references to prayer and to the diety, coming as they do from the highest official in the government of the United States, are bound to be regarded by many people as proof that to mention God or to refer in public speeches to prayer is not to be construed as "an establishment of religion" in the sense in which the Constitution uses the phrase.

Chief Justice Warren, in his comment on the assassination of President Kennedy, declared it was "a result of the hatred and bitterness that has been injected into the life of our nation by bigots." And he said in conclusion, "May God protect our nation in this hour of crisis."

BUT WHILE people generally will wish to see hatred and bigotry eliminated from community life, they will also recognize that such a Utopian mood will not come about unless school children, as well as grown-ups, are more deeply imbued with the Golden Rule mentioned in the Bible and the spirit of conciliation which is so necessary to solve the troublous problems of a free republic.

New Ticket

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Motorists in suburban Florrissant sometimes find the long arm of the law extending theater tickets instead of traffic tickets.

The theater tickets are part of a new driving courtesy program of the Florissant Police Department. The local Junior Chamber of Commerce developed the idea.

When a policeman stops a well-mannered driver, he issues him two tickets to a local theater. The courtesy citation is canceled by the theater and returned to the driver as a souvenir.

Creating Jobs Problem Of All Presidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has just butted heads with a dilemma which haunted his predecessors in the White House. They couldn't solve it except in wartime.

It's how to create more jobs for people, or at least enough people are employed and another 3.5 million are out of jobs. And the population keeps on growing every year.

Johnson, meeting with labor and business leaders Wednesday, set as a goal a 5 million increase in jobs. He didn't set a date, which was probably wise since unemployment has a habit of going up as well as down.

IN SHORT, Johnson is talking of 75 million jobs. There will be that many in time, unless the economy collapses, but by then there may be so many more people in the labor market that millions may still be unemployed.

No one is reported to have blinked at Johnson's goal, which can be understood as meaning it is now taken for granted, although it has never been a secret, that the population is going up.

YET, BACK in the 1940s when Henry A. Wallace, former vice president, talked of a post-war goal of 60 million jobs, there seemed to be some who thought he had a hole in his head.

Shortly after he took office April 12, 1945, with the war coming to an end, which meant reconversion to peacetime and millions of soldiers coming home for jobs, President Truman said: "I am for full employment."

And after the Japanese surrender he asked Congress Sept. 6, 1945 for full employment legislation. But Congress was skittish about putting that kind of label on a law.

IT FINALLY passed on—called the Employment Act of 1946—which said the government had a responsibility for the general welfare but stopped a long way short of guaranteeing everyone a job.

When Truman signed it Feb. 20, 1946, he said:

"It is not the government's duty to supplant the efforts of private enterprise to find markets, or of individuals to find jobs.

"The people do, however, expect the government to create and maintain conditions in which the individual businessman and the individual job-seeker have a chance to succeed by their own efforts . . .

"THAT IS the objective of the Employment Act of 1946 . . . the Congress has placed on the President the duty of formulating programs designed to accomplish the purpose of the act."

To help him out, Congress created a Council of Economic Advisers. And that's the way it has been ever since. And there hasn't been full employment since.

When President Eisenhower took office Jan. 20, 1953, the employed were 61.5 million and the unemployed 1,398,000. The years passed, the population grew, the number of jobs increased. So did the number of people holding jobs and the number of unemployed.

IN THE 1960 presidential campaign, John F. Kennedy said: "One and a half million people will come into the labor movement every year in the 1960s and are going to have to find a job. And they come into the labor market at the very same time when automation is revolutionizing employment."

Then when he became President, he counted the score in his first State of the Union message to Congress Jan. 30, 1961. Here is what Eisenhower found when he took office in 1953 and what Kennedy found as he took over in 1961:

EISENHOWER: 61.5 million employed, 1,398,000 unemployed. Kennedy: 64,452,000 employed, 5.5 million unemployed.

At the time of Kennedy's death two years and 10 months later, this was the score: About 70 million employed, 3.5 million unemployed. And these are the people and the figures Johnson inherited.

Since 3.5 million people are unemployed now, there is need for 73.5 million jobs, plus another 1.5 million to come.

Cats Rarely Reveal Age

NEW YORK (AP)—Cats, like women, rarely reveal teir age.

They wouldn't tell the truth even if you put their paw on the Bible.

So it is I don't know for certain how old Lady Dottie is. She was in an advanced stage of kittenhood when she adopted our family some years back, and began to rule us with her iron whims.

I would guess she is now in the equivalent of early middle age. Certainly she acts more like a spinster every day.

SHE HAS developed a bad case of xenophobia, or fear of strangers. Unlike a spinster, she doesn't look under her bed for strange men before retiring. She merely runs and hides under the sofa when a strange man enters the apartment, and usually stays there until he leaves.

Formerly she liked to escort me into the hall when I went to work, and stand there gravely waiting until the elevator had whisked me down. Looking at her I sometimes had the eerie feeling she was a kind of fur-covered, four-footed wife, silently telling me, "Now work hard all day like a nice little husband, earn me a good living, and be sure to get home early."

LATELY, however, Lady Dottie has declined to go into the hall. She merely follows me to the door, gives a farewell rub against my legs and walks away.

Apparently she has lost nearly all curiosity about the outside world. Now and then she is stirred to a tail-lashing jungle excitement when an impertinent sparrow perches on our window-sill. But for the most part she seems content to be an indoor cat, taking our apartment as her placid place of empire.

SHE USED to reach out and bat or bite our daughter, Tracy Ann, or the two children down the hall if they teased her or tried to fondle her too much. Now she puts up with their petting with a regal air of resignation.

Most cat lovers like to brag about their pets' tricks. The only trick Lady Dottie ever learned was, when accidentally shut into the bathroom, to leap up on the washstand and turn the doorknob with both paws, sometimes opening it.

When we try to get her to do this trick for friends, however, she merely stands behind the door and plaintively meows for release. Cats, like children, never show off when you want them to.

MY WIFE, Frances, sometimes wearies of preparing Lady Dottie's meals.

"I must have cut up and warmed enough beef kidney and frozen codfish for that cat to fill a freight car," she says.

But when I remark that cats are more trouble than husbands Frances replies: "Yes, in some ways. But on the other hand, they are more intelligent conversationalists. When I talk to Lady Dottie, I at least know she hears me. That's more than I can say for some husbands."

I guess she must have been referring to one of the neighbors. I hear that guy never listens to his wife.

Tic A Physical Reaction To Nervous Tension

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My eight-year-old boy has developed a tic, blinking his eyes and jerking his neck muscles. The doctor says the only cure is plenty of rest and no activities. This is impossible unless I tie him in bed, as he is very highstrung. How long does a tic last? — MRS. P.B.

Assuming that no physical or neurological defect is involved, a tic is a nervous habit, a physical reaction to tension.

A tic, unless overcome, can be lifelong. Or it may disappear as (or if) tension subsides.

I suspect that you and your doctor may be talking at cross purposes, or that something may have been mis-stated or misunderstood. For getting plenty of rest is one thing; "no activities" is quite another.

Yes, always see that the boy gets a good night's sleep. Perhaps in addition he can have a period in the afternoon of doing something quietly by himself, a relaxing hour or so. But he also needs a certain amount of exercise to consume excess energy.

I wonder if there could be a mixup between "activities" and "activity." Boys, even high-strung and nervous ones, need activity. (And they also need plenty of rest.)

But 'activities" can imply something else—clubs, or Little League teams or what have you. While these are good, they may not necessarily be good for every boy. There is such a thing as being overstimulated by "activities," and that may be what your doctor is driving at, so I suggest that you talk it over with him again.

Humor—The Human Touch

Although the presidency of the United States carries as much dignity as the several monarchs and rulers of other nations, the holder of that office more often than not shows his human qualities through a sense of humor. And so it was with John F. Kennedy.

IN THE HISTORY of the Republic, its presidents and lawmakers have been a constant source of amusement to the people and many of these leaders have gone along with the fun. In fact, the best of them have joined in the laughs.

Listening again to the record imitating the late President's voice along with his family, this point is made clear. The President obviously enjoyed the record as much as the many people who bought it. He said as much during an interview.

HIS VOICE was perfect for a mimic, and the record was prepared in good taste. I suspect that it was responsible in some degree for the closeness in which many Americans felt for the holder of that awesome office.

In many foreign countries, it would be unthinkable that such a record would be prepared concerning the ruling monarch, prime minister or whatever. And if it were, it would certainly be by the leader's enemies, hopeful it would drag him from his pinnacle.

NOT SO HERE, of course. It is almost an American tradition to spoof the No. 1 Citizen and to spotlight every move he makes. And such action is made by his friends as well as his enemies.

For on this record, the humor turned on such points as the President consulting all the legislative leaders for opinions before making a play in a table game; dividing up the bathtub toys for his children, keeping one for himself; refusing a big purchase because the firm did not give trading stamps; and many others. One even took a poke at the current President.

IT'S DOUBTFUL that anyone hearing the record could find malice there. Certainly the Republicans enjoyed the record immensely, but I doubt any more so than the Democrats. For here, the President was doing things that all of us do, and he was made more real-life than all of the official speeches about matters of state and fiscal problems.

A sense of humor is easy to demonstrate when the joke is on someone else; it can be trying when on one's self. The late President on many occasions demonstrated his sense of humor right through the final public speech he made. But perhaps on no other occasion did his good humor show through as it did following the release of that "First Family" record.

Ida (Or Cider) Ain't The Same Girl

Ida, Ida, sweet as apple cider, isn't the same girl who married dear old dad. The modern Ida is still sweet, all right. But that's about the only characteristic she still shares with the Ida who inspired that song in the sweet long ago.

Today's Ida, based on the cider simile, is a sweet, bland girl, colorless and, to be honest, insipid. A nice girl, all right, but characterless. "Blah" is probably the word that best describes the updated Ida, based on her updated cider counterpart.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED to country cider in recent years is what happened much earlier to homemade-bread - just - like - mother - used - to - make. Commercialization, that's what happened to cider and to Ida who was sweet as.

Cider, at least the cider we city folk buy, has been pasteurized and homogenized, and a preservative added. In all probability it's the preservative that has tamed cider and taken the flavor out of it, just as a comparable preservative has extended the life of a loaf of bread while extracting its old-time texture and savor.

NOW, BY NO stretch of the imagination am I referring to hard cider. What I am hymning is the old-time delicious but innocuous drink of autumn, innocent of any or all alcoholic content. In my salad days, when cider started to age, it had two ways in which to go: it either wound up as cider vinegar or as hard cider, or applejack or apple brandy.

The cider we traditionally drank with Thanksgiving dinner ended as cider vinegar, if it was not drunk within a reasonable length of time.

FRESH, innocent cider required an entirely different treatment if it was to end up as hard cider or applejack. The menfolks in the family tended to that, and if I remember rightly it required a stout wooden keg and certain abracadabra of which I have no knowledge.

But the cider we drank with Thanksgiving dinner was as pure as Carrie Nation. It was a lovely, golden drink that turned the goblets to topaz and matched the chrysanthemums in the center of the table. It was a noble drink, worthy of the turkey and the pumpkin pie, with a little bubble or two in the glass, a tang on the tongue and a tickle as it went down the throat.

IT HAD NOTHING in common with today's insipid cider. The truth is that we as a nation have gotten too sanitary for our own good. Probably the apples at a modern cider plant are sterilized before being pressed or dipped in a sterile solution of something or other.

There was none of this nonsense when I was a child. Apples were just dumped into the press. There was even a general feeling that any worms in the fruit lent the liquid either a meaty or a nutty flavor. There were two schools of thought on this problem!

WHAT MATTERED was the end result—delicious, foamy and packed full of flavor. Who needed vitamins? Or antiseptic seals of approval? The product tasted good and that was what counted.

Doubtless if one had time to gumshoe through the country, he could still find an old-fashioned cider press operated by a farmer more intent on flavor than sterility. And today's colorless Ida would, for the moment, become the sweet, sparkling, lively girl of yesteryear.

Congressional Pressure Or Presence?

Perhaps you were as puzzled as I by the standing ovation given by the House of Representatives to Congressman John W. Byrnes (R.-Wis.) when he finished his self-defense of the purchase of stock at a "good price" in a company he had helped in a tax case. Since when do we applaud mistakes?

TO EVALUATE the ovation and to be fair to Rep. Byrnes, it's well to get the chronology, as he, himself, gave it. In December, 1959, Paul J. Rogan, executive vice president of the Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corp., of Milwaukee, and a "very close and good friend" asked Rep. Byrnes for help. His company, said Rogan, was being improperly taxed on its premium reserves.

Byrnes consulted with the Treasury which had twice refused relief. He then consulted with the staff of the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation of which Byrnes is a member. The staff said that relief seemed to be in order. Byrnes then introduced a bill in the House to this purpose. This was on March 10, 1960.

ON MARCH 25, 1960, the Treasury advised that the bill was not necessary. The issue could be handled administratively. Relief was granted.

In September, 1960, Rogan telephoned Byrnes and said that stock in his company was available "at a good price." The Congressman acquired 100 shares in MGIC and a subsidiary, the Guaranty Insurance Agency, for $2,300.

AT THE TIME, this was below the private market, but Byrnes assured his Congressional peers that he was not aware of this. Today, the stock is worth about $26,000 by his own statement. So he has a paper profit of $23,700.

To purge his error, the Congressman now offers to give all the profit away to charity. But, under our tax laws, he could use the charitable deduction to reduce his own taxes, and in that way derive a benefit. Presumably, he does not intend to avail himself of this.

In his speech, Rep. Byrnes rebuked the New York Times, the Washington Post, the Milwaukee Journal, and the Madison Capital Times for implying that he had put pressure on the Treasury.

IF HE DIDN'T use pressure, he used his presence. And got results. He did introduce a bill in Congress. And the Treasury did change its ruling.

This implies no impropriety. A Congressman should fight for what he thinks is right—on and off the floor. But acceptance of the offer of stock " at a good price" suggests that the mortgage company was mindful of value received, of service rendered.

Could Congressmen, in giving Byrnes a standing ovation, have been identifying with him: "There but for the grace of God go we."

Billy Graham

I have tried and tried to have faith, but I just simply can't seem to muster the faith that some people seem to come by so easily. What can I do?

J. N.

Stop trying, and trust!

Too many of us live a life of conflict with ourselves, setting up inner stresses where none need exist. As Christ said, to floundering Paul: "It is hard for thee to kick against the pricks." When Paul surrendered, stopped fighting, and trying, then the peace of Christ flooded his soul, and he became an instrument of usefulness.

A leading psychiatrist has said; "To get to the heart of one's problem, one must relax, surrender, and stop trying."

Centuries ago David said; "Be still and know that I am God." Faith doesn't come in the confusion of frenzied self - effort, and vain striving—it comes when we stop struggling, when we let go . . . and rely on God.

Faith comes naturally and easily when all the obstacles to it are removed. If guilt, remorse, and a wilful spirit have short-circuited your life, say with Paul: "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do," and He will take you by the hand and show you the bright pathway to a life of faith and believing.

Webb Graduates 39 In Class 64-D

Thirty-nine students who complete pilot training this week at Webb AFB will receive certificates of graduation and silver wings in a formal graduation ceremony in the academics auditorium at 2 p.m. Dec. 9.

There are 32 USAF officers and seven German Air Force students in the class, which entered training at Webb Nov. 16, 1962. Students completed primary training in the T-37 June 26 of this year and entered the basic phase on the T-38, the following day.

GEN. N. D. VAN SICKLE

Brig. Gen. Neil D. Van Sickle, Deputy Chief of Staff for Air Training Command with headquarters at Randolph AFB, will address the class. Prior to his assignment to ATC, he served as commander of the 3535 Navigator Training Wing at Mather AFB, Calif.

Gen. Van Sickle began his military career 31 years ago when he enlisted in the North Dakota National Guard. In 1933, he received an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy. Commissioned a second lieutenant in 1938 on graduation from the Academy, he was assigned to a cavalry unit at Ft. Meade, South Dakota.

The general completed his flying training at Kelly Field in 1941. During the war years he served with the Air Force Antisubmarine Command in the North Atlantic. In 1944, he was sent to the Far East where he served on the staff of the 73rd Wing on Saipan.

At the close of the war he was deputy commander of the 497th Bombardment Group. He was named to the U.S. delegation of the military staff committee of the United Nations; later went to the Alaskan Air Command, and then to USAF Headquarters.

Gen. Van Sickle commanded the 28th Bombardment Wing from 1955 to 1957 at Elsworth AFB, South Dakota; then he went to the U.S.-Taiwan Defense Command as Assistant Chief of Staff, and in October, 1958, was named Chief of Staff. A month later he was promoted to Brigadier General.

From Taiwan he went to Hawaii as Assistant Chief of Staff for Operations, Pacific Air Force Headquarters. He returned to the U.S. in 1961 to command the Navigator Training Wing at Mather.

Zoning Board Slates Meeting

The Zoning Board of Adjustment will consider two requests for variances at a 4 p.m. meeting Thursday.

College Baptist Church has requested a front yard setback of 20 feet for a sanctuary facing on Eleventh Place, according to Tom Newton, city building inspector. Affected property is lots 2, 3 and 4 in Block 1 of the Monticello Addition in the 1700 block of Eleventh Place.

The minimum front yard setback permitted by the zoning ordinance is 30 feet. However, houses in the immediate vicinity have setbacks of 35 feet, Newton said.

Mrs. K. L. Click, owner of Lot 2, Block 79 of the Original Township has requested a rear yard setback of seven feet, six inches for an addition to a business building at 302-306 E. 9th. The ordinance permits a minimum setback of 10 feet.

Owners of property located within 200 feet of some portion of the affected property have been notified of the hearing.

Nylon Chemical Plant Mapped

BAY CITY (AP)— The Celanese Chemical Co. has announced it will build a new multi-million-dollar plant here for the production of chemicals used in the manufacture of nylon 66 fibers.

Officials said Wednesday it will be built adjacent to the company's present facility, first put into operation in May, 1962.

This will double the size of the Celanese facility. More than 110 new employes will be required.

The new plant will produce hezamethylenediamine and adipic acid, the raw materials of nylon.

Christine Goes On Trial For Perjury, Conspiracy

LONDON (AP) — Christine Keeler, 21, the leading woman in the Profumo scandal, went on trial with three other persons today, accused of trying to frame one of her Negro ex-lovers.

It was Miss Keeler's fourth appearance before a judge in London's Old Bailey, the central criminal court, but her first as a defendant. She could get 28 years in prison if convicted.

On trial with Miss Keeler are her apartment mate, Paula Hamilton-Marshall, 23; their housekeeper, Mrs. Olive Brooker, 56, and Rudolph Fenton, 39, a West Indian.

The three women are charged with committing perjury during the trial of Jamaican jazz singer Aloysius (Lucky) Gordon and with conspiring to subvert the course of justice. Fenton is charged only with conspiracy.

All four have pleaded innocent.

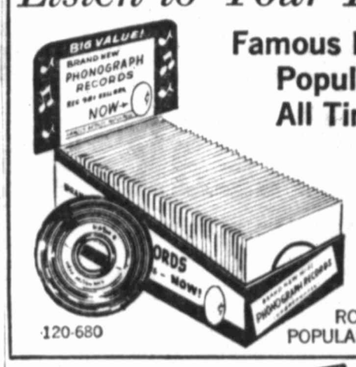

Her last appearance at Old Bailey was as a star witness against Dr. Stephen Ward, society osteopath and artist who introduced her to War Minister John Profumo. Ward was convicted of living off proceeds of her prostitution, but committed suicide before he was sentenced.

The current case is not expected to arouse the avid public interest that earlier chapters in the Profumo scandal engendered. Profumo, who resigned from Parliament and the government, has faded into obscurity. And neither the Ward trial nor Lord Denning's investigation of the scandal implicated major political figures it had been rumored they would.

Firemen Still Short Of Toys For Repairing

A few toys began trickling in Tuesday but the stock of parts and old toys has dwindled to its lowest point in several years.

This was the report Wednesday from city firemen who are conducting their 34th toy repair campaign. Each year, the firemen repair old toys for distribution to needy children.

"The more toys we have, the more work we get done," said Fire Chief H. V. Crocker. He said toys urgently are needed at each of the city's four fire stations to guarantee a happier Christmas for the city's needy children. Metal toys of every type and spare parts for bicycles are needed.

The chief also said donations of old dolls will be appreciated. "We are making arrangements for doll dressers to repair old dolls," Crocker said, "and we have a shortage of dolls as well as other toys."

Anyone wishing to participate in the campaign may turn in old metal toys or dolls at any of the city fire stations. "If you can't make delivery yourself, we'll be glad to pick them up," Crocker said. "Just call us at AM 4-6083."

Budget Trip For Oswald

MEXICO CITY (AP)—It may have cost Lee H. Oswald, the accused assassin of President Kennedy, no more than $30 to make a trip here in the fall, government investigators report.

This and other information was made public by the Interior Ministry, which found that Oswald crossed the border Sept. 26 at Nuevo Laredo and stayed in Mexico until Oct. 3.

Describing the cooperation of the Mexican government as "excellent in all respects," U.S. Ambassador Thomas Mann said here that all the details about Oswald's visit are being turned over to the United States.

These were among details given by the government:

Oswald entered Mexico alone and traveled by bus. He arrived here Sept. 27 and he checked into a cheap hotel near the bus terminal. The next day he went to the Cuban consulate to obtain a visa to visit Russia by way of Cuba.

Told that obtaining a visa would take several weeks, he left the consulate in anger. Later Oswald tried to get a Soviet visa, and again was told there would be a delay of probably several weeks.

The government report due to be turned over to Mann shortly lists the prices of Oswald's bus tickets, hotel room and food. This led to speculation he might have made the trip for as little as $30.

Bus fare for the 750-mile ride from Nuevo Laredo to Mexico City came to $5.71 and the round trip is about $11.50.

The Hotel Comercio is humble but neat, and he apparently took a room there for 16 pesos ($1.28) a day. For the five days he stayed, this would have cost around $6.40 without tips, food or extras.

The desk clerk said he was alone and had no visitors. He spoke to few employes, and then in broken Spanish.

Near the hotel is a lunchroom called La Esperanza, where he is known to have eaten at least once. Meals at La Esperanza cost as little as 25 cents. Some believe he may have spent no more than $10 on meals while here, not counting tips.

The 50 cents he spent for a tourist card, $11.50 bus fare, $6.40 for a hotel and $10 for meals come to only $28.40.

Added to this could be tips, entertainment (movies are only 32 cents), transportation within the city, drinks and souvenirs, plus possible bus fares in Texas to and from the border.

Pastor Strikes At 'Whittlers'

Life is unfortunately full of whittlers—those individuals who aimlessly fritter away their time and talents, the Rev. James Puckett said in an impromptu talk to the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday at the Settles.

One of the most tragic things in life, said the Baptist Temple pastor, is to see misapplied ability and energy. Equally as tragic are those who play it safe by doing nothing.

One of the reasons Lions International has grown into the world's largest service orbanization, he said, was because of a commitment to serving others. Reports from clubs last year reflected over 300,000 good deeds by clubs.

Young Nurse Gets New Vision From Eye Bank

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sight, says Esterina Lione, is a blessing. She knows. She was blind.

"Seeing again is like what happens after a soft rain falls—everything is clean and wonderful," says Miss Lione, a nurse dedicated to helping others to regain vision.

Ten years ago Esterina began to lose her sight and gradually to withdraw from the everyday world. Two years ago she went blind.

Now she has 20-20 vision, thanks to the Delaware Valley Eye Bank, which collects human eyes after donors die and distributes them to hospitals for operations.

TWO DONORS

Miss Lione's new eyes came from two donors. The comely nurse is the first to admit she once was a hermit. "As a teenager I hardly ever went out, or in my later years."

That's all changed now, she says. "I've got two boy friends now and I'm going to have some fun out of life."

The first time she was able to enjoy her regained sight, Miss Lione says, was last spring—about a year after the second of two successful operations.

ALL FLOWERS

"I took the roundabout way to work," she explained. "I looked at all the flowers, and I even saw the veins on leaves. Imagine that?"

She had a malady opthamologists called a kerataconus. It causes the corneas, or windows of the eye, to come to a point, diffusing the picture the eyes receive. For Esterina, it was like looking through a crumpled wax ball.

The world began to grow dark for Miss Lione about 10 years ago after she left Newark, N.J., and came to Hahnemann Hospital here as a surgical nurse. She didn't realize she was going blind, however, until five years later.

GETTING DULLER

"Everything was dull and getting duller week by week," she recalls. "I couldn't figure out why.

Finally, she went to an eye specialist at Wills Eye Hospital. They said her sight could be restored through a transplant.

Troubled, she found comfort in Philadelphia neighbors—the Samuel Wentzels across the street.

"My mother was dead, and my father was sick," she recalled. "The Wentzels took me in and cared for me as if I were their own child."

The first of her two operations was scheduled for the spring of 1961. At the time she was virtually blind.

HAD FAITH

"It was wonderful that a person would give his eyes for me," she said, her own dark eyes aglow. "I had faith in God, faith in my doctor, faith in the world. I just knew I was going to see again—I had to."

Frequent word came from Newark, from her twin brother, Thomas, and her father. The Wentzels never missed a visiting day.

It was a worrisome four weeks in the hospital, plagued with some doubtful days and a few cheerless nights, she recalls.

The Wentzels finally took her home.

Each morning for two weeks she awoke with hope. One day she opened her eyes and saw the clock in her room, 15 feet away. She cried for joy.

COULD SEE

"Everything was still a little blurry," she recalled. "But I could see! I could see! I could see!"

She went back to work at Hahnemann and awaited the second operation—on her right eye—it was performed successfully about a year later.

"After that, I felt a physical bind to Wills Eye Hospital," says Esterina. "It was part of me. I knew I couldn't work anywhere else after those operations."

She came to work at Wills last September and hopes in four months to get a certificate as a surgical eye nurse.

"I feel I must help others," she said. "I don't think I'm doing enough for everybody. After all, if it wasn't for those two people who gave their eyes for me."

Opening lead: Four of ◇

Failure to take a finesse in trumps cost declarer a vulnerable game contract in today's hand. Altho South felt that losing to the queen of hearts might cost him control of the hand, the finesse would have served as a safety play to assure the success of his contract.

When South's one heart response was raised to two, he showed his club support by bidding three of that suit. This is a one round force, the common sense of the situation is this, if South were not interested in going on, he would have passed two hearts. When North returned to three hearts, South carried on to game.

West opened the four of diamonds, East played the ace and continued with the queen forcing South to ruff. A small heart was led to the king and a heart returned. Declarer was tempted to put in the jack for a finesse, but he feared that, if this lost to the queen, another diamond lead would oblige him to use up his ace of hearts in order to win the trick.

If the adverse trumps were divided three-two, however, he saw that a finesse would not be required. After playing the ace of hearts, if the queen did not drop, he could abandon trumps and proceed to run the clubs. One of the defenders could ruff in with the queen eventually and cash a second diamond, but that would be all. Dummy's two losing spades would go on the long clubs.

Declarer went up with the ace of hearts but, when West showed out, there was no way to avoid giving up two hearts, and South subsequently suffered a one trick setback.

South had failed to give the situation a complete analysis. If his worst fears are realized and the trump finesse loses to the queen, when a third diamond comes back, he is under no compulsion to trump with his ace of hearts. Since he has lost only two tricks so far, he can afford to discard a spade from his hand, this would be a loser in any event. A fourth round of diamonds can now be ruffed in the dummy and the ace of hearts retained to draw the last trump. His club suit will take care of North's remaining losers.

Had South taken the heart finesse, the hand would have been placed beyond danger's reach. When the jack holds and West shows out, trumps are temporarily abandoned and the club suit run. East can ruff in whenever he likes, but there is no way that he can establish a setting trick for the defense.
