Q. On a rough stretch of road, like a railroad crossing, my car bounces so badly and shimmyes so much that it sometimes is difficult to keep control, even at a relatively slow speed. What could cause this? I keep the tires correctly and evenly inflated at all times.

A. Your trouble probably is weak shock absorbers. Bounce the car heavily at each corner by pushing up and down on the bumper until the car is rocking. Your car should come immediately to the level position and stop bouncing when you stop pushing. If the car continues to bounce through two or three up-and-down strokes after you have released the bumper, the shock is weak. If you must replace one shock absorber at either the front or rear end, be sure to replace both at that end.

only a short break for lunch, the jury listened to testimony from numerous witnesses until 7:20 p.m., when closing arguments began. In chambers, before the final arguments began, Judge Carter noted the three attorneys had agreed on a set amount of time for each closing statement.

As closing arguments progressed, Browning pointed out that the alleged offense occurred Dec. 28, 1980 and charges were filed and Williamson arrested on Jan. 14, 1981.

Browning told the jury during his comments that the only is-use the state and defense did not agree on was if Williamson had destroyed the dog "Rowdy" with legal authority.

He noted that Williamson had taken the stand in his own defense and admitted shooting the dog without consulting the owner.

The City ordinance states that dogs must be tagged and it is "the duty of the officer to take up and impound any dog tagged or untagged found within the corporate limits of the City of Colorado City, that is not securely fastened by a leash or kept within a closely fenced enclosure."

The ordinance also includes a paragraph about destruction of rabid and vicious dogs, it states.

"The Humane Officer or any Police Officer of this City shall have the right to shoot or kill any rabid dog or any dog in the streets which shall manifest a disposition to bite."

Browning repeatedly referred to a picture of "Rowdy" being hugged by a little girl, which he placed prominently on the jury box. He told the jury that the testimony given indicated the dog had snapped at Dog Catcher Jim Baum, Jr., only after he and Williamson had lifted the dog off the ground by the skin of its back and a noose around the neck.

He pointed out that testimony indicated the dog had not growled, charged or attacked when the officers approached it in the garage or lifted it by the legs to carry it to the truck. It only snapped when lifted by the skin and neck noose.

"Is a dog in this situation manifesting a disposition to bite?" he asked the jury.

He asked, if a dog is completely docile and is placed in a similar situation, if it snaps, does it give the officer authority to destroy it?

He commented that he understood the desire of citizens to support the police department.

"The concept of freedom and liberty is like a giant bubble waiting to be popped. If we make an exception because he has a badge and gun, we have no liberty—we are all responsible for our actions."

McKinney addressed the jury next and reminded them of the testimony of Mrs. Powell. He said she had seen the dog the night of the incident and threw gravel at it to frighten it away. He quoted her as testifying "the dog came to me." He said, she ran to the porch, grabbed a hoe to defend herself and called her husband. The dog entered the garage and he contacted the police.

McKinney said testimony showed the dog was vicious and had bitten several persons, including children. He said under the city ordinance, if a dog is running loose and manifests a disposition to bite, it is the officer's duty to get rid of the dog.

He said what the officer did was reasonable and with lawful authority under city ordinance.

Ginzel addressed the jury next and reminded it repeatedly of what the ordinance states. He said, everybody said the dog snapped, "Isn't that what this is all about?"

John Bullock Dies By Ida Baird

John H. Bullock, 92, formerly from Mitchell County, died at 2:15 a.m., April 6 in Happy Haven Nursing Home.

Services were held at 2 p.m., April 7 in North's Memorial Chapel with Rev. Don Greenway and Rev. Bill Hillier, both of North Side Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Memorial Park.

Born Aug. 24, 1888 near Bryan, he moved, with his parents, to Scurry County at the age of nine. Two years later they moved to Mitchell County.

In his early years, ranch life was his love. He was a bronc rider and said he was paid $20 a head for breaking two year-olds and $30 for three year-olds. He worked for Bush and Tiller Ranch and told thrilling stories of cattle drives while with them. He opened a wild west show; they call them rodeos now. Though his brothers, Jessie, Sam, Arthur and Pat sought an education, he stayed with the life he loved until his marriage to Minnie Pearl Meek in 1912. They lived in Abilene and in 1919, he went to work for the Texas and Pacific Railroad and two years later was employed by the Wells Fargo Express Company in Abilene, where he worked until retiring in 1964, after 33 years as clerk and carrier for the agency.

He spent five years compiling a book of family history which was published in 1972. He, with the help of two others, traced his ancestry back to Captain Hugh Bullock who was born in 1580 in England. Captain Bullock came to Virginia and this established the Bullock family in America.

He served many years as Sunday School Superintendent of North Side Baptist Church in Abilene and held other church offices. He was a member of Woodmen of the World and the Statesman Club.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Johnnie Dickson of Abilene; a son, Conrad Bullock of Abilene; two granddaughters, Dorothy McGaughey of Brazoria and Judy Boone of Abilene; three grandchildren; a brother, former State Senator Pat Bullock of Dallas; and a sister, Mrs. J. R. Cornelius of Jefferson.

DOG. From Page 5 the address drew chuckles from the spectators who had filled the court room to capacity throughout the trial. At one point he commented, "I feel like a hen at a hawk's convention," referring to his past service as DA. At other times, he recited "be there a man with soul so dead," and came back with, "this dog was not normal and never had been,"—"humans come before dogs."

After being reminded three times that his time for rebuttal had ended, Ginzler thanked the court and took his seat.

The jury retired to consider a verdict which, if guilty, could result in up to a $2,000 fine, up to a year in jail, or both, for Williamson.

At 9:12 p.m., the jury returned with the not guilty verdict.

Cost to the County for the trial is estimated at only $270 for jury fees and $100 for special prosecutor's expenses. There was no fee for his services.

Renewed Commitments On Principles Of Resource Conservation Needed

Farmers and ranchers were called on by the nation's soil conservation chief to make a renewed commitment to the principles of resource conservation.

"The application of new and improved techniques of conservation in response to new farming methods is a never ending task," said Norman A. Berg, chief of USDA's Soil Conservation Service. "Continuously increasing demands are placed on our farmland today to produce food and fiber for expanding domestic and foreign markets."

Berg emphasized the importance of producing the agricultural products the world needs without damaging the land through soil erosion. The answer, he said, is more conservation, including conservation tillage, terracing, and other soil and water management practices. He warned that soil losses in many areas today are critical.

Van Mills, district conservationist for SCS, said he agreed with Berg's assessment.

"Losses of 5-10 tons of soil per acre on untraced land are not uncommon today in the local Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District," Mills said. "And on some unprotected farms, as much as 10-20 tons of soil may wash away in a single season."

"Most farmers are interested in expanding exports to foreign countries in order to get a better price for their products," Mills continued. "But all-out production without regards to protecting the soil means excessive erosion. I am afraid we are, in effect, exporting our soil along with our wheat, grain sorghum and cotton."

Berg feels that farmers should aim for the highest production consistent with the use of the soil on a sustained basis. "When our topsoil is gone, our capacity to produce goes with it," he said.

COLUMN. From Page 1 they would have to start 60 days later repaying their loan with interest. However, a student can put off repayment until six months after graduation, and the government pays all interest on the loan until repayment begins.

To qualify for the loans, a student must show a financial need to be eligible to receive this benefit.

"Cotton dust has long been recognized as a major industrial health hazard," said Assistant Secretary of Labor Thorne G. Auchter, who also heads OSHA. "The provision that cotton dust be controlled solely by engineering and work practice methods is not scheduled to go into effect until 1984," stated Auchter.

Auchter stated that the agency is asking for comments on the extent to which cost-benefit analysis should be used in setting worker health standards, as well as information necessary to conduct a comprehensive analysis of the cotton dust rule.

The agency also will accept comments on the need to consider enforcement issues involving the current standard.

Comments should be submitted by May 15 to the Docket Officer, OSHA, Docket No. H-52B Room S6212, Frances Perkins Labor Department Building, Third St., and Constitution Ave., N. Washington, D.C. 20210 (Phone 202-523-7892.)

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,
I read in the paper about the Centennial Program they are having at home. I love my home town. She stands out in full color in front of my eyes. She is history big and strong. She has been known as the Mother City of the West. I am proud to see someone taking an interest we shouldn't let her die.

I would like to put a write up in the paper about my Grandparents. I think they should have a part in this.

"A Tribute To My Grandparents"

They moved to West Texas back in 1919. In a covered wagon. My grandmother was named Lula Ezell. She was 13 years of age when she married. My granddad was William Hiram Ezell better known as W. H. Ezell. They bought land out in the Buford Community. He went back to East Texas and cut all the lumber and brought it back to build his home and barns. His first big nice barn burned, but that didn't stop him, he went right back and cut more lumber and built another. He also built a log cabin for the Methodist Church out at Buford. It still stands there today.

They celebrated their 50th anniversary with many friends. Most of them are gone now.

My granddad owned one of the old Buick cars. He was sure proud of that thing and kept it polished.

My grandmother said her first table was an orange carton. Their first bed was a straw bed. When they made their first cotton crop, my grandmother made their first cotton mattress. They were truly wonderful people and I loved them dearly. I would just love for them to be remembered in the program.

Griffin Gives Presentation On Making Candy Easter Eggs During Meeting

The Westbrook Extension Homemakers Study Club met April 3 at 1:30 p.m. in the Westbrook Tax Office Community Room with Drucella Board hosting.

Candice Griffin was the guest speaker with a presentation on "Making And Decorating Sugar Eggs For Easter." She supplied a recipe and instruction to making the eggs with finished samples on display.

Prior to the presentation by Mrs. Griffin, Billie Sweek, president, opened the meeting and seven members answered the roll call.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and a brief treasurer's report was given.

The club voted to start a flower and gift fund. Members agreed to help with the Mitchell County centennial celebration on a local level.

Phyllis Tucker and Joyce Chambers were appointed to notify the school of the Westbrook Baptist Women's Social to be held on May 7 and the clubs plans to get involved.

Club members were reminded of a luncheon slated for May 1st meeting at noon. They were encouraged to attend and bring a covered dish and their favorite recipe for exchanging.
