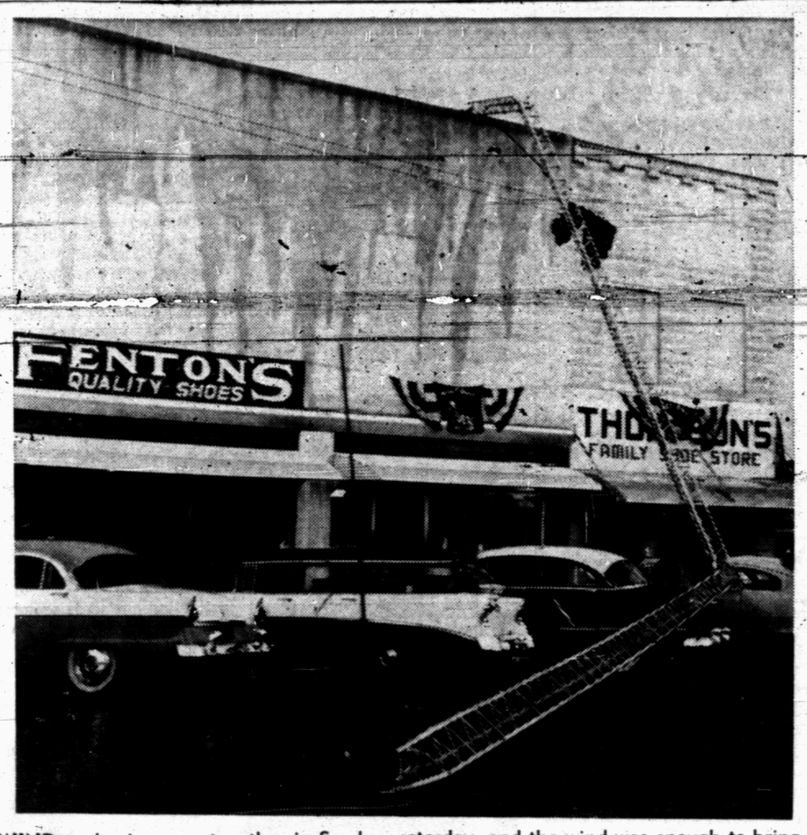
Panel Calls For Speed-Up In Atomic Plant Building



WIND and rain came together in Snyder yesterday, and the wind was enough to bring down this 120-foot radio tower used by Midwest Electric Cooperative on the east side of the courthouse square. There was much wind damage in parts of town. Official rainfall measurement was 1.88. (Lee Watson photograph)

Wind, Rain Hit City; County Remains Dry

Yesterday's rainfall may help the cotton crops of some farmers, but it couldn't help many, since practically all the rain fell right on Snyder.

While Snyder was getting amounts ranging from .2 of an inch to 2.5 inches, most of the county got none. The measurement in the official guage of David Strayhorn, weather observer, read 1.88.

For most of the county, it was the same as was summed up for the Ira area by Roy Sallee, school superintendent: "If you gathered up all the rain in this whole area it wouldn't dissolve a tablespoon full of sugar."

Practically all the southwest part of the county missed out on the rain. The Sun Oil Camp, eight miles southwest, probably got the most of that part of the county with about half an inch. At Lake J. B. Thomas, 18 miles southwest, there was none, and no water was running into the lake.

The story was the same at Fluvanna, Camp Springs, Hermleigh, China Grove, Dunn, and most other areas in the county — nothing.

Spotted areas did get some rainfall. At Winston Field southwest of town, the railfall was .2. Some areas northeast of Snyder got as much as 1.5 inches, but there were reports northeast, northwest, southeast, and southwest of town of only .2 to .3 of an inch.

In Snyder, water was up in the creeks, and Deep Creek was running slightly for the first time in quite a while. On east Twenty-fifth Street, near Avenue L, water was running over the small bridge.

Wind caused considerable damage in some parts of town, while some hail fell in parts of Snyder.

The wind blew at a steady 45 miles per hour, with gusts up to 60, at the county airport, but it was apparently heavier from the center of town east.

On the east side of the courthouse square, the 120-foot radio tower of Midwest Electric Cooperative blew from the top of the building and caused slight damage to three cars parked on the street. There was considerable damage to the roof of the building there.

There was damage to buildings in several blocks of an area running from Avenue R east, with plate glass windows damaged in two or three buildings.

Television towers and antennas were twisted and blown down in that area.

Cotton crops in most of the county are still badly in need of rain. Some are already burning. It is generally considered that, while the county is losing bales of cotton daily because of dry weather, the cotton can still make some crop if there is rainfall within the next two to three weeks.

This was the first July rainfall for Snyder. There was a total of .45 of an inch in June, 2.5 in May, 2.97 in April, none in March, .11 in February, and .19 in January.

Total rainfall for the year so far here is 8.1 inches.

March Into Swamp Said Not Unusual

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—A senior Marine drill instructor said today it was not unusual to march recruits into the marshes and waters of this training base for disciplinary purposes.

The testimony came from S. Sgt. Edward A. Huff of Chicago in the court-martial of S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon.

McKeon, 31, of Worcester, Mass., is on trial for marching a 74-man recruit platoon into a tide swept creek "to teach them discipline." Six drowned.

In the course of his testimony, Huff, who was McKeon's superior in the training of the ill-fated platoon in connection with their lack of discipline that "If you don't snap out of it I'll take you down to the swamp."

Huff, who has been relieved of his duties as drill instructor replied: "I did."

Huff's evidence came immediately after the law officer, Capt. Irving N. Klein of New York City, ruled that the training methods of Marines will be admitted as evidence.

Whether those methods had any bearing on McKeon's conduct in leading a 74-man recruit platoon into marsh - bordered Ribbon Creek in which six drowned has become a sharp issue in the trial.

For the 31-year-old former drill instructor's attorney, Emile Zola Berman of New York City, it was a major victory.

In his ruling the court's law officer, Navy Capt. Irving N. Klein of New York City, said the evidence would be admitted to indicate whether McKeon was acting in a reasonable or unreasonable manner when he led the march.

Huff, asked by the defense to evaluate McKeon's performance as a junior drill instructor, replied, "Sgt. McKeon is to me an outstanding drill instructor."

Shepperd Should Act, Solon Says

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Chronicle quoted Rep. Wade Spilman today as saying a broad inquiry can be launched at once into alleged voting abuses in five South Texas counties if Atty. Gen. Shepperd "is as interested in the matter as he has said."

Spilman is chairman of the House Investigating Committee which three Webb County (Laredo) candidates have asked to make the investigation.

The House group has tentatively decided to sidestep the inquiry, Spilman said. The counties in question are Webb, Duval, Jim Hogg, Starr and Zapata.

"However, if the attorney general doesn't do anything we will have to consider taking action," the McAllen man said.

Shepperd was under treatment at a Temple clinic.

"I am getting thousands of telegrams because people think we (the committee) are not doing anything," Spilman said, "but I think if a state agency has the power, it should do the job."

Spilman contended Article 9.02 of the Texas Election Code gives the attorney general full subpoena powers and the right to punish for contempt by making application to a district court.

"Shepperd could start this in motion today by filing the necessary papers in the district court in Austin," Spilman said.

The same article, Spilman said, makes it mandatory for the attorney general to investigate and develop evidence relating to any alleged violation of election laws involving two or more counties when allegations are made by two or more reputable citizens.

The candidates who asked the House committee investigation and other members of the Reform Party or Webb County have filed their complaints with the attorney general's office.

Two Webb County men, A. A. Gates and George Byfield, visited Shepperds office twice Thursday in Austin in an effort to get him to start an investigation.

They and the candidates are opposing the Independent Club whose candidates who have won all but one city and county offices in the past 60 years.

South Plains Area Receives Downpours

By The Associated Press

Welcome light rain fell today in parts of North and East Texas.

Downpours up to 3 or 4 inches struck the South Plains during the night. Lightning killed a man, hail wiped out some crops and violent thunderstorms crackled over the South Plains.

Early Friday .12 inches of rain was reported at Dallas, .17 at Abilene, .28 at Fort Worth, .05 at Lubbock, .06 at Wichita Falls, .08 at Corpus Christi, and .01 at Mineral Wells.

A severe weather forecast had been in effect early Thursday evening for the extreme northeast corner of Texas, but it passed without any violent weather reported in that area.

Aguirre Compos, 20, Mexican farm worker, was killed by a bolt near Littlefield.

Hailstones up to an inch in diameter in places covered the ground 5 to 8 inches deep. The hail battered cotton in a strip 2 miles wide and 8 to 10 miles long in the Littlefield area.

From 3 to 4 inches of rain fell around Littlefield. Rains up to an inch and a half fell in the Lubbock area.

New Steel Wage Proposal Denied

PITTSBURGH (AP)—News reports that steel negotiators have before them an industry proposal for a three-year agreement with an improved money package encountered denials today from the United Steelworkers and a steel company spokesman.

Industry and union representatives arranged another bargaining session today and, like all the others since the nationwide strike began July 1, it will be held behind closed doors. It has been the consistent pattern for both sides to emerge from these meetings with only the noncommittal summary for reporters that they have been discussing "the issues."

But something of what has been going on was overheard by reporters late yesterday during a loud-talking session between the union negotiators and federal mediators. It was clear from what was overheard that:

The union is cool to a three-year proposal, argues this is no "concession" because the union has never before signed a contract longer than two years, with a wage-reopening clause; and

The union has been reluctant to discuss what wage increase it demands because to set a figure would only be giving management negotiators "something to chisel."

Within minutes after these matters were reported last night, a union spokesman was seeking out reporters to give them a statement that the reports are "absolutely untrue."

There was no immediate comment volunteered by the companies, and none could be obtained until this morning when a steel company spokesman told newsmen that no new offer has been made by management negotiators.

A steel industry spokesman said today that no new offer has been made by management negotiators. The report of such an offer, he said, is not true.

Director Joseph F. Finnegan of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service declined any comment or information on the negotiations or the reports he had received. He referred all reporters' questions to the negotiators, pointing out that the service was not participating in the bargaining sessions.

Finnegan declined even to tell newsmen he was "encouraged or discouraged" with the status of negotiations.

US Doctors Plan Visit

BOSTON (AP) —Dr. Paul Dudley White, President Eisenhower's heart consultant, announced today he and a few other physicians will visit Russia for 8 to 10 days early in September to confer with Russian doctors.

The purpose of the visit is to confer on two subjects "concerning which we would like to get their advice and cooperation." The announcement added:

"The first of these subjects is: Medical rehabilitation with particular reference to cardiovascular diseases which include heart disease, cerebral vascular disease, diseases of the pulmonary circulation and peripheral vascular disease.

"The second subject we are particularly interested in is what we call cardiovascular and epidemiological research, which includes the relationship or effect of the various ways of life on the heart and blood vessels with particular reference to rheumatic heart disease, high blood pressure and coronary heart attacks."

A-Bomb Test Is Launched

By The Associated Press

Sirens wailed throughout Texas Friday as men, women and children scurried for safety in a nationwide A-bomb test.

The A-bomb attack by an unnamed enemy was make-believe but if it had been the real thing an estimated 1,750,000 Texans would have died.

Five Texas areas actually were "bombed" but many others took precautions against the fall our of nuclear material and helped handle evacuees from other cities.

At 7 a.m. Friday a sabotage alert was sounded at Strategic Air Force bases to warn that enemy action of some sort was expected.

At 9:16 a.m. the "yellow alert" was sounded, the signal that "unidentified aircraft" had entered the air defense zone.

Immediately the State Defense and Disaster Relief Organization set up a state control center at the Department of Public Safety in the Austin area.

"We're underground and everything is working out fine," a rushed radio operator reported a few minutes later.

Some 2,000 military dependents, wives and children of Air Force personnel began an evacuation of Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin to an area near Bastrop.

EDEN'S REGIME GETS APPROVAL

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden's Conservative Government today had a solid parliamentary stamp of approval on its policy for strife-riddled Cyprus.

By a 319-246 vote, the House of Commons last night rejected a Labor motion to censure Eden's handling of the Cyprus dispute. Greek Cypriots on the Mediterranean island colony are waging a campaign to end British rule and join Cyprus with Greece. British forces have replied with stern measures to an underground campaign of violence.

RODEO IS HELD OUTSIDE ARENA

Rodeoing has not all been confined to the arena at the Scurry County Rodeo grounds this year.

About 11 o'clock last night the city police department and city animal officer got in on the act—as did a florist here.

A stray horse ran through the window of the City Florist at Thirtieth Street and Avenue S.

Officer Clyde Thomas of the police department captured the horse wandering around inside the flower shop.

E. D. Allen, city animal officer, took custody of the badly lacerated animal and doctored it for about two dozen cuts.

First Go-Round Leaders Are Told

Winners in the first go-round of the 20th annual Scurry County Rodeo were determined last night with the second performance of the rodeo.

The rodeo will continue through Saturday. Second go-round winners will be determined after Saturday's performance and averages will be figured for the entire show.

The third performance of the rodeo will open tonight at 8 p.m.

More than 100 contestants performed before a crowd of some 1,500 spectators last night. The performance was held despite showers earlier in the afternoon. High winds that were unseasonably cool also accounted for a smaller crowd that dwindled to about half before the rodeo had ended.

Jack Kirkpatrick, Post, held on to the fastest time posted in the calf roping event, 13.1, to win first go-round.

Sherry Price, Addington, Okla., was the first go-round winner in the girls barrel race event. Miss Price, who rode the first night, posted a time of 18.2. In the yearling tie-down race, Bill Phensy, Lamesa, was declared first go-round winner with a time of 16.2

Saddle bronc go-round winner was Riley Miller, Justiceburg. Bare-back bronc contestant Jim Sealy, Snyder, won the go-round in that event. The go-round in the bull riding contest was won by Sidney Johnson, Snyder.

Go-round winner in the cutting horse contest was Poco Stampede, ridden by Jack Newton, Abilene.

Other top contestants in the first go-round of the girls barrel race were Janet Dudley, Perryton, 18.2; Becky Summerlin, Roby, 18.4; Mildred Farris, Iowa Park, 18.5; and Marie Voss, Snyder, 18.5.

Other places in the first calf roping go-round went to Jimmy Bird, Post, 13.3; Wade Parmerlly, View, 13.5; Kenneth Thompson, Big Spring, 13.4; and Dick Thompson, 13.6.

Finishing in second place in the yearling tie-down contest was Junior Parker, with a time of 17. Splitting third and fourth places were Weldon Pierson, 18.6, and J. D. Armstrong, 18.6.

Go-round winners in the saddle bronc contest were Joe Collier, Wichita Falls, second; John Farris, Iowa Park, third; and Cecil Sanders, Breckenridge, fourth.

Placing in the first go-round of the bareback bronc event were Jimmy Moore, Post, second; and Johnny Williams, Snyder, and Charles Rushing, Abilene, splitting third and fourth.

Places in the first go-round of the bull riding contest went to Cotton Barrington, Lubbock, second; with Judy Reid, Petrolia, Don Workman, Olton, and Delbert Hataway, Snyder, splitting third, fourth and fifth places.

Winners in the timed events Thursday night were Kenneth Thompson, calf roping, 13.6; Becky Summerlin, girls barrel race, 18.4; and J. D. Armstrong, yearling tie-down, 18.6.

Harve Tatum, Snyder, won the wild mare race last night. The junior goat sacking event was won by Sammy Miller, Snyder, with Sue Herring, Snyder, placing second. Bill Herring took the Middle Age Spread roping contest.

Clayton Stoker, Snyder, and Sonny Harrell, Snyder, both completed rides in the junior steer riding event. No time was posted by any of the five contestants in the junior ribbon roping event.

Cross Is Burned Before Negro's Home

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A 5-foot wooden cross was burned last night in front of the home of a Negro family that recently moved into a predominantly white neighborhood.

The blazing cross brought police and firemen to the home of Malvin Burns, 33, who bought the house May 26 from a white resident.

Burns said he had received no threats since moving in but "the white people in the neighborhood have resented my living here."

Burns is the second Negro to buy a house in the neighborhood. Andrew Tucker, who bought his house eight months ago, said he had never received any threats.

Standolind Announces Price Cut For Crude

TULSA (AP)— Stanolind Oil Purchasing Co. said yesterday a 7-cent-a-barrel price cut for West Central Texas crude will go into effect tomorrow.

The new price will be $2.83 per barrel for 40-degree and above gravity crude, decreasing 2 cents per degree to $4.41 for below 20-degree gravity.

SITTING TIGHT—The saddle broncs proved pretty tough last night with only three out of seven contestants completing their rides. The first go-round in the saddle bronc event was won by Riley Miller, Justiceburg cowboy, who rode a horse called Blue Bell Wrangler last night.

AEC Shakeup Is Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over administration opposition, the House Appropriations Committee today called on the Atomic Energy Commission to speed up construction of government atomic power plants.

The committee majority demanded a shakeup in the commission. It said the United States is "bogged down in inexcusable stagnation" in the race to develop commercial atomic power and singled out AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss for special castigation as the man primarily responsible.

The views were embodied in a stinging report accompanying a bill financing the AEC. The report was drafted by Chairman Cannon (D-Mo). It was expected to draw a quick rebuttal from Republican members.

It asserted that the United States is behind Russia and Great Britain in atomic power and said "the Russians and the British are going to have atomic electric power sooner than this country."

The committee moved squarely into the middle of a hot congressional fight by recommending 400 million dollars to put into effect a program of government construction of atomic power plants. The program—but not the financing—was approved 49-40 last week in the Senate and cleared the House Rules Committee this week by a 5-4 count.

The committee took cognizance of claims that private industry is able and willing to keep this country ahead in the atomic field. It said none of the atomic reactors now in use have been built by private electric companies and said the evidence "overwhelmingly forecloses any suggestion that the time is ripe for private industry to take up the task."

"A mere statement of the attendant risks defeats any such proposition," he said. "This transcends any issue of private power vs. public power. Neither group is in a position to undertake the risk of insolvency. The operation and construction of commercial plants (by the government) will thus provide information that can be obtained in no other way."

The committee said "the inherent dangers" in the operation of an atomic power plant "are awesome to consider," and no one can say that an atomic plant "will not get out of control."

No private operator "dares take such a chance," it added.

"The problem goes way beyond the possibility of explosion, as industrial explosions are known to us. The problem is the escape of radioactive gases or waters into the surrounding terrain. This deterrent alone is of such magnitude that only the government itself is in a position to go ahead with the vital problem at hand."

163 Absentee Votes Cast

One hundred sixty-three absentee ballots for the July 28 Democratic primary have been received in the county clerk's office as of today. Sixty-seven ballots are still in the mail.

Absentee balloting will continue through Tuesday. Balloting began July 9.

All persons wishing to vote absentee in the election must make written application with the county clerk's office. Persons who will be out of town during the election or who are ill and will not be able to go to the polls can vote absentee.

The ballot can either be sent out to voters by mail, or the voters can cast their ballots in the county clerk's office. If the voting is not done in the office, the ballots must be sent in by mail.

Those who vote absentee must leave their poll tax receipts with the county clerk until after the election.

Hoffman Gets Confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today brushed aside protests by a small group of Republicans and confirmed overwhelmingly Paul G. Hoffman's nomination as a U.S. delegate to the United Nations. The vote was 64-22.

Casting oposition votes were 16 Republicans and 6 Democrats.

One of those criticizing President Eisenhower's choice of Hoffman for the U.N. post was Sen. Bridges (NH), chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

Bridges told the Senate that some of Hoffman's actions and statements led him to question the wisdom of Hoffman's representing this country at the United Nations "in this vital period."

The nomination came under sharp attack yesterday from Sens. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Jenner (R-Ind).

Chiefs Pour Into Panama

PANAMA (AP)—The chiefs of state of virtually all America's 21 republics were arriving in Panama today to sign a declaration of hemispheric unity, implied opposition to communism and hope for general prosperity.

The executives who govern some 350 million people will affix their signatures to the document Sunday, climaxing a hemisphere parley commemorating the first Pan-American Conference 130 years ago.

The document reportedly warns that the world is threatened by totalitarian forces and calls for greater inter-American cooperation.

Already here are Presidents Alfredo Stroessner of Paraguay and Carlos Ibanez del Campo of Chile. President-elect Manuel Prado of Peru is also on hand. Scheduled to arrive today and tomorrow are the chief executives of all the other Latin-American states but Colombia, Honduras and the Dominican Republic.

President Eisenhower's arrival tomorrow will complete the roster.

The conference atmosphere was lightened by the sudden flight to Nicaragua last night of Juan D. Peron, fallen dictator of Argentina, who is living in exile here. He was expected to stay away until Tuesday, while Panama is host to the presidents who include one of the leaders of the rebellion against him, Argentine Provisional President Pedro Aramburu.

Reading Plan Demonstrated

Dr. Clyde Dawson and Dr. Jack Nesbitt, Snyder optometrists, yesterday presented a program to the Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon on the psychology of vision and the difference between slight and vision.

The two demonstrated how a person can increase his reading speed and comprehension through visual training.

During the program, the optometrists announced a speed reading course which will be offered in Snyder beginning next month.

The club inaugurated a new attendance program, with those who miss meetings without making up becoming eligible to keep a goat for a one-week period. Herman Doak and Bob Duggar were awarded the goats at yesterday's meeting.

Two Taking Navy Training

Two Snyder men enlisted in the Navy early this month and are now at San Diego, Cal., where they are taking boot training.

They are William Edgar Carter, Jr.; son of Mrs. Margaret Smith, 706 Twenty-sixth Street, and Delbert Wayne Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett J. Holt of Snyder.

Carter, after recruit training, will go to electronic school at San Francisco, while Holt will attend one of the Navy's other specialty schools.

Both are 1956 graduates of Snyder High School. They enlisted under the Navy's high school graduprogram, which guarantees a technical school after completion of recruit training.

Firemen On False Alarm

During the height of yesterday afternoon's rainstorm here, city firemen were called twice to the location of a false alarm.

The supposed fire was at 3201 Avenue J.

Durward A. Porter, fire chief, said that occupants of the house were in a storm cellar, and that neighbors reported seeing smoke coming from the house.

When firemen checked, no fire was found however. Later the neighbors called in a second alarm, and fire fighting equipment returned to the scene, only to find no fire the second time.

"The false alarm was unintentional, and the neighbors actually thought smoke was coming out of the house," Porter said.

Shrimpers In Texas Face Mexico Guns

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Texas shrimpers said yesterday some of their numbers are threatening to take up arms against "acts of piracy" by Mexican gunboats on the high seas.

In telegrams to president Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and Texas congressmen, the Texas Shrimp Assn. said:

"Some of our members are threatening to arm and protect themselves. The situation is rapidly getting out of hand and bloodshed is feared."

Two Texas shrimp boats, the Ann Carinhas and Green's Pride, were boarded about 60 miles south of here Wednesday by Mexican gunboat crews and escorted into Mexican harbors.

Two shrimper captains who were in the area said they heard three bursts of machinegun fire over their radios at the time of the boardings.

The owner of Green's Pride, Frank Green, said his captain told him shortly before his boat was boarded that the vessel had been fired upon and that the Mexican gunboats had cut the boats' nets in an apparent effort to ram them.

The two captains also said they heard a Coast Guard report from the cutter U.S. Boutwell out of Brownsville saying location of nets and buoys indicated the boats were 14 miles out to sea when boarded.

Dam Hearing Continues

AUSTIN (AP)— Guadalupe Blanco River Authority Board Chairman Edgar Engelke of Seguin was cross examined today in the State Water Board's hearing on Canyon Dam waters.

Engelke, who termed the hearing as a fight for the life of the GBRA, said:

"If anyone else other than the GBRA owned the conservation storage in Canyon Dam, it would totally destroy the authority and our source of water."

His statement was directed at San Antonio's application to pipe 100,000 acre feet of water annually from the reservoir to be built near New Braunfels. The city opposes the GBRA's project which would impound 366,000 acre feet.

GBRA and others on the Guadalupe oppose the city application.

San Antonio attorney John Wheeler asked whether the city's plan to increase the size of Canyon Dam would be desirable since water expert Robert Lowry said 38,000 acre feet of additional water would be available for downstream users.

"I find myself unable to answer directly," said Houston engineer M. A. Dillingham. "A system of dams would furnish more water than just one large dam."

Symington Warns Of Red Air Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unless "radical and sweeping changes" are made in defense policies, says Sen. Symington (D-Mo), Russia eventually "will pass us in the air."

Without such changes, he said, "it is only a question of time before the Communists pass us in the quality of airpower as they have passed us in quantities."

Symington is chairman of a special Senate subcommittee studying relative U.S.-Soviet airpower. His comment came after more than three hours of closed - door testimony by Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, and two of his experts on their recent inspection by invitation of some Russian facilities.

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert E. Lee, 50, of San Antonio was arrested yesterday in the lobby of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel on a charge of stealing an auto.

FBI agents arrested Lee even who was wearing a white sombrero, a beige shirt with a floral design, jodphurs and sandals. Lee had 65 cents in his pocket when he registered at the hotel but said he figured "nobody would question a Texan at the Waldorf."

Lee wore sandals because he had pawned his cowboy boots.

The FBI said Lee was wanted for walking into an auto showroom and asking to try out a car. The car was later found in Muskegee, Okla., without gas.

Authority Says American Girls Slump And Giggle

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Most American girls do not know how to walk, dance or sit down, says Eveline McCullagh, authority on court etiquette. She's co-producer of the National Baby and Children's Show Aug. 4 to 12.

Miss McCullagh's business, among other things, is to train debutantes for presentation at court. She says:

"It's appalling how ignorant American girls are about the rudiments of carriage and department. They slump. They giggle. They speak a strange patois of their own. They comb their hair in public. Most of them do not even know how to make a proper curtsy, for goodness sake!"

This decorative lady, who is given to large picture hats and flashing jewelry, was born in England of Irish parentage. She studied as a concert pianist in her childhood and took up the teaching of ballroom dancing and court etiquette when the family fortunes wavered.

Between tours of the United States, Miss McCullagh teaches the finer points of ballroom dancing to assorted royalty and financial moguls in the 60-room family home in England, which includes a 100-foot ballroom. Among her pupils have been such notables as the Duke of Kent, King Alphonso of Spain, King Farouk, the King of Siam, the Maharajah and Maharanee of Patiala, India, and some of the better known American movie stars, such as Bob Hope, Van Johnson, Ingrid Bergman and Charles Boyer.

"Despite all these other interests, or perhaps because of them," says she, "I always have been interested in the proper training of children. I think if children were taught manners as soon as they learn, there would be an end to juvenile delinquency."

Dallas Man Named Moderator Nominee

DALLAS (AP)—The Texas Synod of the Presbyterian Church U.S. named Toddie Lee Wynne, Dallas oilman and an elder in the Highland Park Presbyterian Church, as moderator nominee yesterday.

Wynne is leader of a multimillion dollar fund campaign for the synod. He also is a trustee of Austin College in Sherman, a Presbyterian school.

His election is tantamount to election at the 1957 session of the synod in Houston May 21-23.

Reports showed that communicants in the synod increased 4,093 during the year with the total Dec. 31 at 100,980. The number of churches was 261, up three.

Texan In Squabble In New York Club

NEW YORK (AP)—A dispute between a husky Texas businessman and the Copacabana night club ended yesterday with both parties dropping court charges against each other.

Clyde Orms of Dallas accused Paul Pappas, a Copacabana headwaiter, of "holding, pushing and punching" him with the aid of three other employes during an argument over a table.

The club had charged that Orms created a disturbance and kicked out a $185 plate glass door.

Custards, cream-filled pastries and cakes, stuffed eggs and egg salad are all subject to rapid spoilage if they are kept in a warm place. Don't take them out of the refrigerator until you are ready to serve them. Take them to picnics in insulated containers.

Hair Interest Shifts To Back Of The Head

By VIVIAN BROWN

HAIR INTEREST goes to the back of the head.

Every conceivable type of chignon from the tiny Swiss roll variety to the large Danish pastry type is being worn. Short-haried girls merely add hair pieces to accomplish this end. Long-haried girls sweep back the hair and twist it into a little bun to suit their hair length.

Newest twist to the idea is the tinted chignon to match summer clothes and accessories. Mix and match chignons in two-toned tinted hair are the trend. The chignon is worn in a double bun looped and braided in complementary and contrasting colors. Fashion-wise types, may choose from 14 hair tints ranging from canary diamond and carrot-top hues to gleaming bronze and jet black.

Such combinations a pastel blue and black are chic for summer. Ditto yellow and white. Two shades of green suggest the cool look of a limeade.

The interesting point about the return to chignon hair fashions is that it is a spontaneous choice of the girls themselves. There has been no promotion by hairdressers even though the idea is catching on like wildfire. The new tinted chignon should create even more excitement.

Hair accessories are taking on important airs now that the chignon is with us again. From the islands come delightful native hair gimmicks. Long Japanese hairpins with jeweled tops that are worn criss-crossed are very popular. Hawaiian tourists bring back hair accessories that resemble oversized chop sticks. These are made of wood as well as other materials.

TWO - TONE CHIGNON—Tint your hair to match your ensemble. That's the newest wrinkle in the beauty world. This chignon was designed by Doris Fleischer.

For Quicker FBI Action

The kidnaping of the Weinberger infant in Westbury, N.Y., found an echo in Congress Tuesday when the House Judiciary Committee approved a bill to let the FBI move in sooner on kidnaping cases. The bill had been introduced more than a year ago by Rep. Keating (R-NY).

Under existing law, adopted as a result of the Lindbergh kidnaping of the 1930s, the FBI had to wait seven days before moving in on such cases. Of course, if there had been definite proof that the infant had been carried across a state line, the FBI could move in at once, but in the Weinberger and a good many other cases there was no such evidence.

The Lindbergh anti-kidnaping law prescribes: "Failure to release the victim witthin seven days after he shall have been unlawfully seized. . .shall create a rebuttable presumption that such a person has been transported in interstate or foreign commerce." Another provision adopted at the same time sanctions the death penalty if a jury recommends and if the victim has not been returned unharmed.

Kidnaping became a major crime in the early years of the great depression, when gangsters took it up for the profits involved. By 1931 kidnapings for ransom numbered two or three thousand, and there was an increase in 1932. Until then the apprehension and punishment of such criminals was left largely to the states, in respect to their inherent police powers. But failure of some local authorities to move promptly and effectively created a demand for a federal statute — as so often happens when local government leaves a vacuum.

But the federal law gave lip-service to local self-government, by allowing a seven-day leeway before presumption of interstate commerce became automatic. The bill approved by the committee this week reduced that waiting period to 24 hours is timely in view of what appears at this distance to have been a muddled situation at Westbury. Had the FBI moved in after a lapse of 24 hours only, things might have been different. Some of the disgraceful episodes in that case might have been avoided.

From The Wide World

On the wires all over the world:

In Los Angeles the wife of a mathematical scientist got a divorce because the only way he could stop working calculus problems in his head was to pound on African drums. The drums made "a terrible noise," she complained. She got her freedon and he kept his drums. . .

Forty years ago a farm woman near Legal, Alta, Canada, lost her gold wedding band. Since then the farmhouse was demolished, the ground cleared, a new house built and a lawn planted. Other day a grand-daughter in law was raking the farmyard and the long-lost ring was speared by the rake. It was identified by the inscription. . . .

The Swiss Alpine Club felt pretty good after totting up the fatalities among climbers and skiers for the year ending April 30. Only 73, the third lowest since 1943. . .

In case you're wondering what countries have the most suicides, the World Health Organization in Geneva comes up with the answer: Japan, Denmark, Austria and Switzerland have the highest death rates from that source. Lowest suicide rate among the nations: Ireland, Northern Ireland, Chile, Scotland and Spain. . .

The broad, modern, palm-lined main street in Rabat, Morocco, long known as Cours Lyautey in honor of the French marshal who conquered the country, has a new name—Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef, renamed by that worthy in honor of himself. . . .

Radio Warsaw announced that Poles who wish to visit Russia must have a good excuse for doing so, like joining a delegation or having close relatives in the Soviet Union. Otherwise, entry permits are refused . . .

In Toronto a year's safety campaign has resulted in a reduction of traffic fatalities by 16.6 percent, but Attorney General Keslo Roberts isn't satisfied. He is going after a 50 percent reduction by enlarging accident horrow pictures for display in Ontario courtrooms and may also make up horrow albums for magistrates to show motorists who are haled into court for traffic law infractions.

Russia, U.S. Still Belittle Each Other One Year After Summit Parley At Geneva

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — What has happened to the "Geneva spirit" in the 12 months since President Eisenhower had his pleasant summit meeting—it opened a year ago this week—with the Russians in Switzerland?

This much, at least: There is less fear of war. Both sides are talking of making huge cuts in their armed forces too. But the United States and Russia still stiff-arm and belittle each other.

What can't be known is this: How much better would the Geneva results be now if Eisenhower, instead of being ill for months since July, had been in a position to assert leadership and give this country a better sense of direction?

In their closing announcement at Geneva, Eisenhower and Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin laid down three main goals: German reunification; disarmament; increased trade and elimination of barriers between the United States and Russia. The result?

The two sides are as far apart as they were before Geneva on German unity. Disarmament agreement seems no nearer. Exchange of visitors has picked up. And this country has made it easier to ship nonstrategic goods to Russia.

Since Last July Eisenhower and Bulganin have exchanged several letters on disarmament. These letters only accented the distance between them. But the personal relationship, established at Geneva, may be useful in other ways later.

The Russians speak highly of Eisenhower but of practically no one else here. They haven't stopped their anti-Western attacks. But they've spaced them out more. As if to celebrate the Geneva anniversary like a pixy, this week Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev made one of his worst anti-West attacks.

The Geneva conference seemed to confirm what has become increasingly evident: that a world war was becoming more and more impossible since the United States and Russia had accumulated such terrible weapons of destruction and retaliation.

The Russians, apparently acting in the belief that with war ruled out they must turn to more peaceful and obvious means of conquest, began to do what they could to make hay in a hurry.

Bulganin and Khrushchev, acting like men of the best intention, made trips around, offered their neighbors economic help, sought without saying so to weaken American ties with other countries everywhere.

There can be no doubt the Russians have been acting shrewdly and effectively. But while they were gaining in influence with their new tactics, in this country there has been a sense of drift.

The American government—Because it seems at the moment unable to think of anything new to offset or counter the Russians — has been sticking to the old tactias which were created when war seemed much closer than now.

If Eisenhower hadn't been ill in this period, he might have offset the Russians, or even brought them into more agreement, with new ideas and bold decisions. American foreign policy has simply marked time while he was sick.

Some have been critical of the Geneva meeting, feeling that if Eisenhower hadn't gone there, the Russians wouldn't have been able to give an appearance of reason — ableness.

This sounds like stand-pattism, based on the assumption that the Russians don't have imagination and vitality to do what they did anyway. What is needed now is more American imagination and vitality.

GUIDEPOST LITERARY

THE SHADOW BOXERS. By Edith Heal. Scribner's.

A young wife named Mims is on her way back from Reno, when this novel opens, to rejoin the husband, Pete, a Frenchman, whom she has just divorced. He is not for you, she was warned after Pete, attractive and wealthy, crossed the ocean with her and eventually landed in the midwest university town where her ineffectual father taught. It was an analyst who told her what to do about Pete, herself, and life; and friends offer advice, too.

It's something she badly needs, or somebody needs. This is a novel composed of subtleties, intangibles and mystifications spun out with painstaking thought by an author who pays a lot of attention to her characters, rightly, but not enough to her readers. They get lost.

THE RED ROOM. By Francoise Mallet-Joris. Translated from French by Herma Briffault. Farrar, Straus & Cudahy.

Eighteen-year-old Helene, surrounded by boys and men and women who long for love, or enjoy it already, or are passing from one experience of it to another, wants some part of it all for herself. While her father, ambitious to become mayor, spends money lavishly to entertain the public that may vote for him, she breaks off her involvement with Tamara, who has become her stepmother, and pays court to Jean, who was trying to seduce Tamara, and she offers comfort to the rejected Max and Stani.

This is a justificable study in the appetites of the flesh, in what a girl does to them and what they do to her, and it probes deeply. However, it never in any spot escapes being dull.

America Facing Boom Of 18 Million Old People

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

If you are a middle-aged do-it-yourself fan, now is the time to start whittling a cane and making your own wheelchair.

It'll save you money later.

You'll need these items when you grow old, and by the time you do grow old they may be in short supply—for America is facing a boom in old folks.

A University of California psychiatrist said 13 million Americans were over 65 in 1950, but by 1975 there will be 18 million.

After that there will be more and more, until old people will be stepping all over each other and getting into each other's gray hairs.

As a middle-aged man myself, who will hit 65 in 1976, I find the thought of growing old depressing—for the first time in my life.

Until now I have put a great deal of store in Rabbi Ben Ezra's saying, "Grow old along with me—the best is yet to be, the last of life for which the first was made."

Now I'm not so sure. If a shady scientist stopped me and whispered, "Psst, Mac, I've got some pills here I invented that'll postpone old age"—well, darned if I don't think I'd buy a bottle of them.

It would certainly be a great temptation. For being old isn't what it used to be. Its serene advantages are being lost. In less than half a century the values and virtues of the generations have been turned upside down.

Sometimes, in our mad pursuit and idolatry of youth, it seems almost as if we really regarded growing old as a crime against nature.

But the real crime lies the other way. It is a crime against human nature to shove the old out of the way, when they still have much to offer, and treat them as calendar cripples.

President Will Have No Illusion About Whether His Health Will Be An Issue

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The decision, which the President made known to the Congressional leaders on July 10, was taken, it would appear, immediately after his operation — as soon as his doctors were staisfied that the operation had been successful and that they could expect a good and reasonably rapid recovery. The decision taken then was to consider that this second illness was accidental and incidental. It was not only unrelated to the heart attack. Not only had it no negative bearing on his general fitness. It was even likely t9 make him more fit by correcting a chronic ailment.

This was the picture given to the country at the press conference held by Mr. Hagerty and the doctors a few days after the operation. It was followed by a pause of a few weeks while the good recovery the doctors prophecied was being confirmed.

On Tuesday, feeling much recovered, the President told the Congressional leaders that he had not had to make a new decision about running again. He faced the issue last winter after his first illness, which did really raise the question of his fitness. He had not had to face the issue again because his ileitis and his operation, now that he was feeling himself again, did not affect his general health.

The President will have no illusion about whether his health is going to be an issue in the coming campaign. There may be all sorts of views as to whether, and to how, the Democrats can legitimately raise the issue. But it is the kind of issue which is already in people's minds. It will be talked about privately, whatever the politicians say publicly. It is in the nature of things the paramount issue. Who is in fact likely to exercise the powers of the Presidency during the next four years — the President in the full vigor of his capacity, the President having to spare himself and to depend on his staff, or the Vice President?

The disucssion of these things is a horrid duty. But it is a duty imposed upon public men and upon the press by the President's decision to seek another term, despite his age and his serious illnesses. To refrain from the discussion, not to try to inform the discussion and to lead it and to enlighten it, would be to engage in a sentimental conspiracy of silence. It would be to attempt to conduct a momentous national election without talking about the main issue which is in everybody's mind. The result would be to make the election turn on a vast whispering campaign.

The discussion will be a difficult test of our taste and of our common sense. No doubt, the medical profession will be heard from — so much in public pronouncements as in private by doctors talking to their patients and their friends. But there can be, it is evident, no such thing as an authoritative and conclusive medical opinion. For the question before the American people is whether Gen. Eisenhower can be counted upon to carry a burden of stress and strain which cannot now be predicted and appraised. For nobody has a right to count upon four long years in which the President is under as little stress and strain as has been Gen Eisenhower since his first illness last September.

The people will have to judge the question of health by the common sense they have acquired by experience — experience from having known about the older generation in their own family and among their friends. They will be asking themselves and they will be asking each other whether it is prudent to re-elect him, given the President's age and his medical history and the modest reserves of energy which, even before his illnesses, compelled him to work short hours. There will, of course, be a great division of opinion on whether it is prudent to re-elect him, the Republicans rating the risk as reasonably small, the Democrats as very much larger. Much will almost certainly depend on whether, once his convalescence is concluded, the President displays a convincing vigor in the conduct of his office.

Accused Should Have Right To Confront His Accuser

By INEZ ROBB

The do-nothingness of Congress with reference to controversial legislation in a presidential election year is a familiar occurrence which Americans grin and bear.

It is a foregone conclusion that neither Republicans nor Democrats in Congress will touch with a 10-foot pole at this Congressional session the sweeping recommendations for overhauling the nation's employe security-loyalty program just made public by a non-partisan committee of the New York City Bar Association.

Even though the Bar Association conservative suggestions for revision of the loyalty-security procedures take firm and careful recognition of the necessity of a security program as long as the cold war exists, timid Congressmen are terrified that any attemps to revise present security measures, even in the interests of justice, will bring the dread "soft-on Communism" cries from the opposition.

Maybe by 1957 it will be safe to consider such Bar Association recommendations as (1) appointment of a coordinator for the whole security program by the President, (2) creation of a central board in the Civil Service Commission to screen all information both derogatory and favorable, with rigorous legal tests applied in the witnesses to cross-examination under subpoena where necessary, "unless the disclosure of the identity of the witness is injurious to national security."

Amen! Particularly in reference to No. 3, or the right of the accused to confront his accuser.

This is the minimum and maximum right of any citizen of this great republic and is particularly so when the charge is as grave and as destructive to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness as that implied in loyalty-security hearings.

Yet under present procedures, no subpoena power exists in security hearings. "Confidential" informants abound, and government witnesses are rare.

The right of confrontation of the accused by his accuser is a basic concept of Anglo-Saxon law. It was a basic tenet taught in public schools throughout the United States when I was young. It was written into a magnificent document, the Bill of Rights, by the Founding Fathers in Article VI.

It is one woman's opinion that to be denied the right to face one's accusers on any issue is to be denied the right to justice. I venture to suggest that the one exception noted by the Bar Association — "unless the disclosure of the identity of the witness is injurious to national security" — would not affect five percent of security-loyalty hearings.

When Congress gets down to work in 1957, let us hope it makes the conservative recommendations of the New York City Bar Association a first order of business. We are too great and strong as a nation to need injustice as a shield.

Party-Goers' Appetites Holding Up Despite Heat

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — The heat and humidity don't seem to slacken the Washington party-goers appetite Just watch the way a whole roasted piglet is demolished at shindigs at the Cuban Embassy, where it is a characteristic dish, along with black beans over rice!

And the whole roast lamb served up at the Afghan embassy at parties given by Ambassador and Mrs Mohammed Kabir Ludin.

Two whole roast stuffed lambs, mushroom stew, okra stew, hamos (chickpeas with sesame dressing) and cucumbers in yogurt were offered—and devoured—at a recent clambake at the Libyan embassy.

A buffet supper served recently at the South African embassy featured 'bobotie,' 'a dish of curried lamb and rice originally brought to South Africa by Dutch traders stopping off from Malaya.

Vodka is currently running competition with champagne, scotch and bourbon as a thirst-quencher, tongue-loosener and picker-upper on the cocktail circuit. Vodka, the favorite firewater of the Russians, is being promoted by vodka interests in our own United States. Our household recently received not one but three identical telegrams inviting us to a vodka-tasting party at a midtown hotel.

The invitation, which came from a Detroit, Mich., liqueur firm, intrigued us, if for no other reason, with the following come-on: "We have invited representatives of the Russian embassy to bring samples of the best Russian vodka for comparison with the best American vodka. It should be interesting." Everyone showed up but the Russians

Another vodka outfit promoted a bout at another downtown hotel. This time the gimmick was to show off a collection of silver samovars which the party-promoters claimed was insured for $300,000. Free — loaders attending paid little mind to the samovars. They indulged in sampling martinis, screwdrivers or just plain vodka. There was also penty of bourbon or scotch for those who said they came to look at the samovars but weren't vodka drinkers.

Modern Cheops Is Cairo Lawyer With A New Car

By DAVID HINNAWI

CAIRO (AP)—Cheops was the man who built the Great Pyramid. He is also a Cairo lawyer who drives a 1956 automobile.

Many Egyptians today carry over the names their ancestors of 5,000 years ago. Nefrettiti, Amenophis and Tut Ankh Amen are just as common names as Tom, Dick or Harry in the West.

A retired Egyptian general calls his sons, Hutmos, Cenephro, Amenhotep and Ahmes.

Ancient Customs, however, survive most strongly today among the Egyptian peasants, especially when it comes to medicine and burial.

Almost every village has its "spitting doctor" who claims to heal the sting of a venemous insect by spitting on the inflicted part. In ancient Egypt the god Thot was said to cure serpent bites or other injuries by spitting on the sufferer.

In Talkha village, in the Nile delta, the family of a sick person places a loaftsent to drive away the evil spirits. This custom is mentioned as far back as the 5th Dynasty and occurs in the famous Pyramid texts.

On the famous statute, in the Cairo Museum, of Zed-Her, a noted healer, are inscribed formulaes for different illnesses. This is followed by the note: "If you are suffering of an illness, you have only to pour water over my statute. The water will run into the writing and thus will have healing power. Let the sick person drink this water and he will be cured."

The power of the written word as healer prevails today. In some villages, sick persons wear around their neck a prescription prepared by the holy man of the village which is suposed to cure them from their illness.

Ancient Egyptians embalmed their dead. Today in upper Egypt, where the ancient customs survive more strongly, some peasants wrap their dead in 70 meters of cloth. Such a practice is contrary to Moslem teaching which forbids the use of decorative or costly shrouds. The Prophet Mohammed, was buried wrapped in his own mantle.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Every engineering device conceivable by man is ever on hand to prevent mechanical failure in a live television program. But no one can invent anything to prevent occasional sudden human-failure.

Any live television program can be as risky as a tightrope walk across Niagara. To actors like Ralph Bunker a live dramatic program is a routine, casual feat. It doesn't seem possible to them that the rope could break. Yet other professionals consider the rope too frail ever to attempt a role in live TV. The tension is too great, they say.

Bunker, a relaxed and pleasant veteran of more than 30 years in the theater, movies and television, had a character role last Monday evening in She Robert Montgomery Show. In "Day of Grace," a fantasy directed by Ira Cirker, he played Mr. Angell, editor of a religious publishing house.

"Mr. Angell was more or less Edwardian," says Bunder, "but he wanted to be hep. He was very gentle, very sensitive. I liked the role immensely and I felt Ira Cirker's direction was really great."

Cirker, in turn, thought Bunker was doing a great job in rehearsals. So did other leading members of the cast—John Gibson, Jan Miner, Mary K. Wells, Charles Drake.

On Monday the technical rehearsal of "Day of Grace" went off flawlessly. The cast took a short break. During the break Bunker ate a tuna salad sandwich and drank a cup of black coffee. The cast returned and went through dress rehearsal with every line, every bit of stage business perfect.

When the program went on "I began to feel dizzy," said Bunker. "I had no nausea, but everything around me seemed to be growing darker and darker. I scarcely knew where I was. I couldn't remember a line. I didn't even know my own name.

"My scene was with Gibson, a wonderful actor with a great future. I didn't know what I was saying, but I remember seeing the stage manager mouthing lines to me—but I couldn't understand what he was saying. I knew John was covering for me, doing everything he could for me, and then I was off. In my second scene near the end of the play it was the same way."

Afterwards he was rushed to a doctor. Ptomaine caused by that tuna salad sandwich, said the doctor, and went to work with a stomach pump. Such a blackout is comonplace with ptomaine, the doctor said, and told Bunker not to worry about it.

It would be tragic indeed if the career of Ralph Bunker, who has appeared in a score of Broadway shows, should be in any way damaged by a tuna sandwich. It's one of the hazards of live TV.

TWINS SEPARATED—Surgeons and assistants locate the nerve connection between the Hutchens' Siamese twins in the operating room of a San Diego, Calif., hospital. One nerve was found in the spinal channel connecting Gary Neil and Larry Dale Hutchens and the twins, 17 days old, were separated by surgery. This picture was taken by Aren-Sshon, medical photographers.

Three Demo Hopfuls Head West On Hunt For Delegates

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The three top contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination headed West today on final delegate hunts after joining in praising retiring Sen. Walter George of Georgia for "saving" the Eisenhower administration from foreign policy blunders.

Adlai Stevenson, one of the featured speakers at a $100-a-plate party dinner in George's honor, last night called George the Democrats' "voice of peace."

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), Stevenson's chief rivals for the Democratic nomination, echoed his sentiments at the testimonial gathering attended by nearly 1,400 Democrats. The dinner took on the aspect of a party harmony session. Most of the proceeds were earmarked to help Democrats win or hold Senate seats this fall.

Stevenson coupled his praise of George's role in the nation's foreign affairs with a blast at the Republican administration which Stevenson said has "stubbornly" clung to inflexible foreign policies in the face of Russia's shift in tactics.

Stevenson's contention was challenged by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that George now heads.

Smith said in an interview away from the dinner that the Eisenhower administration "consistently has been willing to have constant reappraisal of our position." Headed that "flexibility is one of the keys to our policy."

At the dinner, George — retiring next January at the age of 78 after 34 years in the Senate — avoided mention of the coming convention battle in his speech to the Democrats who had come to honor him.

Instead, he spoke of peace and the need to be militarily ready to defend it.

"If we want peace we have got to be willing to fight for it and nothing will suffice but adequate military appropriations," he said. "We have got to be ready because we will not be able to get ready to meet another world emergency if that arises quickly."

George has been named President Eisenhower's personal ambassadror to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Nearly every walk of Democratic life was represented at the dinner. Former President Harry S. Truman couldn't be there, but he sent his best wishes.

Harriman said George had "saved the country from the benighted opposition of this man's (Eisenhowers) own party."

Kefuver said that every "good thing" about the Eisenhower foreign policy was initiated by George.

Stevenson credited George with exerting major influence to unbend what he said was Eisenhower's "obstinately inflexible" foreign policy.

All of this, plus tributes by Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, another avowed presidential candidate, added up to a Democratic love-feast that has not been equaled here since Truman was president.

Afterward, the three top aspirants for the party nomination headed for Colorado. All were scheduled for speeches at that state's Democratic convention.

Morocco Has Five Armies On Its Soil

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—A newly independent country of nine million, Morocco has five separate armies on its soil and no apparent enemies.

There are Spanish troops in the North, French troops almost everywhere else, the U. S. Air Force at four big bases, the official royal sherifian army, and an "Army of Liberation."

Sultan Mohammed ben Youssef would like to get rid of all the foreigners except the Americans, from whom he hopes to collect a whopping rent. He wants to merge the liberation army with the green-bereted royal forces, most of them transferred by unit from the French. He seems to be making progress.

The liberation army at its peak may have had 12,000 men. It first appeared last October. On the very day the French removed the unpopular Sultan Mohammed ben Houlay Arafa, its guerrillas swooped out of the Riff Mountains to show they wanted Ben Youssef returned from exile.

Soon the French yielded to pressure and brought Ben Youssef back. The liberation army was pleased. Its leaders, though, decided to keep their own arms and organization—possibly with a view to supporting fellow Moslems of neighboring Algeria against the French.

It now looks as if Ben Youssef and his son Prince Hassan will be able to unify the country under their authority. That would mean the end of the Army of Liberation.

Texan Tries To Steal Kids

SUSANVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Bystanders and airport workers prevented a wealthy Texan yesterday from stealing his children from his estranged wife and taking them away in a private plane.

James Pardee, Lassen County district attorney, said Thomas Moran, 33, of Dumas, struck his wife, Barbara, 28, and her mother, Mrs. Ben Hazeltine, while attempting to grab the children. Moran was jailed.

The children are Daniel, 2, and Jana, 1.

Mrs. Moran had sued for divorce in Reno, asking custody. Moran told that court a judge in Texas had granted him a divorce and custody. He asked the Nevada court to recognize the Texas decision.

Pardee said Moran had lured the family to the airport by saying he wanted to pick up a brief case before they all went to Reno. Mrs. Moran told the Reno court he was worth $478,486, owned three airplanes, a cattle ranch and a wheat ranch and was president of a prospecting firm at Albuquerque.

Judge Obliges Man With A New Term

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP) — A man telephoned district court judge Charles F. Gadsby and asked for an appointment.

A short while later he appeared in person and stated his case:

"I just got out of the house of correction after serving 17 days of a 30-day sentence and I liked it down there so I want to go back," he said.

The judge obliged with a 10-day sentence for drunkenness.

Drought Is Popular Topic In Campaign

By The Associated Press

The drought, monopoly, and streamlined government were campaign topics this weekend of candidates for state offices.

Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, seeking reelection, said at Wichita Falls "The farmers and ranchers in many parts of Texas are taking a beating."

"I will not be a party to a tax program that will include them. They need and want a state government free of burdensome taxation and as a candidate or as lieutenant governor, I am not going to promise any group during this campaign that I favor a program which would spend this state into debt.

"It will be my continued policy as lieutenant governor to use the influence of that office to keep Texas services progressive and commensurate with the needs on a pay-as-you-go basis. Such a policy has proven to be the best state government for all Texans."

C. T. Johnson, also a candidate for lieutenant governor, criticized Ramsey and another opponent, Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris for what he said was their failure to take action against the drought.

"They should have sensed the oncoming drought and should have introduced legislation for relief," Johnson said in Dallas. "Texas has become a desert, ready to explode for lack of water."

Aikin spoke in Temple Thursday and planned to be in the Beeville area Friday.

Texas school laws need to be simplified and streamlined to eliminate undue handicaps on the state and local levels, Will Wilson candidate for attorney general, said at Sherman.

Wilson advocated recodification and streamlining of state school laws to spell out their spirit and meaning more clearly, and further to safeguard rights of local school districts.

Speaking at Conroe, Tom Moore Jr. of Waco, also a candidate for attorney general, said "We must protect our small businessman from the ever present danger of monopoly, and the only way to do this, is to make the anti-trust department a vital and active arm in state government."

Moore spent Thursday night in Lufkin and planned "handshaking tours" of Lufkin, Livingston, Woodville, Jasper and San Augustine Friday.

Jim Barber, seeking to unseat John White as commissioner of agriculture, said in Dallas White was using the office as a stepping stone to a higher political office.

"The Department of Agriculture, under the present commissioner, is today reduced to its lowest state of efficiency and service," Barber, a former employe of the department, charged.

Land Commissioner Earl Rudder said that under the revamped veterans land program "there is no posibility of slick land deals such as those that shocked the state not so long ago." Rudder appeared at a luncheon in Paris Friday.

Met May Open Again If Singers Available

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera's voices of silver and gold will ring out again this year if the Met can get back its star singers.

A labor dispute which caused cancellation of the 1956-57 season Tuesday was virtually ironed out. Met officials said the only problem now is the availability of the key singers, some of whom might have made other arrangements in Europe.

The labor trouble stemmed from a dual labor-management role of Robert Herman, a Met employe. The American Guild of Musical Artists, representing most of the Met's singers and dancers, objected to Herman's management function.

Visit Not Certain

LONDON (AP) — A Buckingham Palace press spokesman, commenting on reports that Princess Margaret may visit the United States in the fall, said today, "I have heard no news of such a projected visit."

Circus Still Going Strong In Europe

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The circus has run into trouble in Europe, but generally it's still going strong.

The one-ring show is the usual thing, in contrast to the three-ring circus under the big top that is ending in the United States. Distances in Europe are less and it costs less to keep a show on the road.

The renowned Carl Hagenbeck Circus of Hamburg went out of business three years ago rather than increase a 12-cent admission charge for children. With such rates the show lost money.

A spokesman for West Germany's biggest tented show, the Zirkus Krone, says:

"The circus in Germany today can live, but it is no longer a real business. The shows are too expensive. People have other interests—cars, radio and TV. But the circus still does well in rural areas."

That is a pretty general theme. In big cities, the shows are doing well mostly in permanent auditoriums. France, Germany, Belgium, Austria and Yugoslavia all have small traveling circuses that are big hits. It costs little to operare these shows. More often than not, entertainers pass the hat to pay their costs.

Benson Will Attend Republican Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson plans to attend the Republican national convention at San Francisco next month, his office said today.

Party officials said that doubtless the convention's platform committee would want to confer with the secretary in drafting a farm plank.

The platform is expected to endorse the flexible farm price support system congress wrote in the law in 1954 and a new $1,200,000,000 (b) annual soil bank program enacted in May, both on recommendation of President Eisenhower.

Texas Postmasters

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has sent to the Senate these postmaster nominations for Texas: Hal Anderson, Gatesville; Neda Holt, Pyote; Elton Mueller, Richmond; Aubrey Dunwody, Anson; Clinton Spragins, Martindale; Harry Muenzler, New Ulm; Martha Marie Miller, Shelbyville.

Tokyo Subway Opens Today

TOKYO (AP)—Tokyo's first postwar subway, with red and white trains speeding alongside walls in pastel colors, is opening today.

It has taken five years and 25 million dollars to build the 5¾-mile underground railway. The main terminal is under the central station plaza. From downtown the four-car trains run at three- or four-minute intervals to a center in the northwestern suburbs called Ikebukuro.

With seven stops en route, it it takes 16 minutes, half as long as the present over-crowded, roundabout elevated railroad.

The fare of 20 yen (7.2 cents) is the same as on Tokyo's only other subway, the nine-mile Ginza line. Built from 1924 to 1942, it has many dark, gloomy stations and standing room only from dawn to midnight.

The Beaumont man, 44, stopped policeman Paul Collins and said he was a parole violater. He asked to be arrested. At headquarters he told this story:

He was recently paroled four months before his five year sentence for forgery was completed. The Parole Board told him to return to his wife in Beaumont and stay there.

"She made me so mad I could [illegible] my temper, I'll end up in the death house. My probation officer won't let me leave town to get away from her."

He said he deliberately violated his parole by riding a freight train to Dallas, and asked to be arrested.

"The easiest way to get away from her is to go back to prison and serve that four months," he said.

USDA Okays Drought Talks

AUSTIN (AP)—U.S. Department of Agriculture officials have agreed to talk with the Texas emergency drought committee. A date has not been set.

Agriculture Commissioner John White said yesterday he was going to recommend that the Washington officials be asked to meet with the committee probably Monday "to prevent any more delay."

The commissioner showed a telegram from K. L. Scott, director of agricultural credit services, congratulating Texas for organizing the emergency committee.

Scott said he had informed Gov. Shivers "We are agreeing to set a date for the Texas meeting shortly after our receipt of the Texas plan for a hay program."

"We need more than hay," White said.

Referring to GOP Committeeman Jack Porter's drought program, White said "No one knows what is in Jack Porter's secret drought relief program."

"I think we better get these Washington officials down here to talk with out committee. I'm afraid some eof the people in Washington don't realize now serious the situation is," he said.

Porter submitted a program for added relief for drought stricken areas in Texas. He did not give details.

Shepperd Urges Klan Revival Be Stopped

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Atty. Gen. Shepperd said yesterday a reported revival of the Ku Klux Klan here should be stamped out as soon as possible.

Shepperd told Dist. Atty. Hubert Green Jr., he should "get to the bottom of these reports and stop proposed demonstrations to fan racial or religious hatred."

Green said his office would investigate the Tuesday night cross burning incident. The Klan is reported to have burned a six-foot cross near a highway.

"I want any local organizers to know there is no room in Bexar County for such an organization," Green said.

New Selling Season Looks Good For Wool

NEW YORK (AP) — Increasing demand for wool has absorbed expanded production and prospects are good for the new selling season that opens in September, the Wool Bureau reported yesterday.

The private trade organization said wool consumption rose 10 per cent in the first three months of 1956, compared to the same period in 1955, in 11 major countries. It added the U.S. rise was 16 per cent and was exceeded only by a 28 per cent increase in Japan.

Says Soviets Put On Spot

MOSCOW (AP)—A Western source said today withdrawal of the American offer to help Egypt build the Aswan Dam "puts the Soviet government on the spot."

The Soviet government, he added, "will have to come forward with concrete proposals matching the magnitude of the American offer or stand exposed."

The Soviet press has not reported yet the withdrawal of the U. S. offer, but it is not unusual for such reports to be withheld until a line of reaction has been prepared by the government.

Some Western observers expressed belief the Soviet government, which has been openly wooing Middle East countries for some time, would welcome the American action and might make a public bid soon to help build the $1,300,000,000 Nile River dam.

Child May Have Fourth Operation

CLEVELAND (AP)—An examination here next Tuesday will determine whether a 6-year-old Willard, Ohio, boy must undergo a fourth operation in his struggle against cancer.

Terry Terveen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Terveen, already has given up both his eyes in the fight to live. He also underwent an operation in April 1955 for removal of a cancerous growth from his sinus area.

His father, a telephone company inspector, said the examination at Cleveland Clinic Tuesday will determine whether another operation similar to the one in 1955 is necessary.

Like 4-year-old Mike Sibole of Orlando, Fla., the boy suffers from retino blastoma. His parents learned of his plight when a physician friend visited in their home five years ago.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

TELEVISION IS PROVING one thing to Minor League baseball fans — that these "sensational" catches the radio broadcasters have been having the major leaguers doing day after day aren't so sensational, after all.

The broadcasters for the TV games can't dramatize each defensive play as much as the radiomen do, simply because the fans can see what's going on.

The radio casters, of course, are paid to dramatize a game as much as possible but it certainly doesn't help minor league club owners for them to do this.

Routine fly balls, we feel sure, are made to sound like the "impossible" by the play - by - play broadcasters.

Since watching games on television each Saturday, there are no more sensational plays executed in these major games as there are in a normal minor league game.

Before going any further, we're not saying the minor leagues rate on even par with the majors. Defensively, though, there isn't much difference.

Bat Ability Separates "Men From Boys"

What separates the majors and minors, mainly, is in hitting. There have been fellows in the minors who could put many major leaguers in the shade in fielding but they never made it to the big time because of their hitting.

Prior to this summer, we watched activity in the West Texas-New Mexico League almost nightly for the past 8-10 years. In almost every game there were some fine defensive plays but the fans just took 'em as a matter of course. The fans, to be sure, appreciated the fine fielding plays but their main observation was:

"They're paid to catch these balls. If they can't catch 'em, then send 'em back to picking cotton."

But the guys who handle the broadcasts of the "game of the day" over radio make almost every defensive play sound "out of this world" when all the time they are the same type plays that are made in minor league games nightly.

Where this hurts minor league attendance is that the fans get to thinking they never get to see such "sensational" plays and consequently they gradually lose interest in minor league baseball.

LL Pairings Suit Locals Better

The District Little League tournament, so far as the schedule is concerned, is far more satisfying to our local leagues this year than it was a year ago.

You'll recall that last year our two all-star teams here had to meet each other in the first round of the first level of tournament play.

This year, however, the two teams won't have to meet each other until the finals if both are fortunate enough to get that far.

The district Tournament will be run off next week at Big Spring, Monday through Friday.

The McNew brothers, Don and Charles, would probably form a pretty good brother-battery if they had the opportunity.

Don, as you know, did a bangup job for the Tigers at catching last spring. In addition to his fine back - stopping Don compiled a season batting average of .444 and .611 in District 4-AA play.

Don's brother, Charles, is in the Army and currently is one of the chief members of the Webb Air Force Base pitching staff.

Just recently Charles turned in a no-hit performance.

We don't know if Don and Charles ever played on the same team or not but their records sorta proves that they could form a pretty potent battery.

Seek Pacts With Major Loop Clubs

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—Southwestern League officials will try harder next year for major league working agreements.

Plans of the baseball circuit were made by officials here yesterday. They adopted a resolution saying all members should agree to comply with national association rules in 1957 and not to exceed salary limits.

The 10 teams, most of which reported they were ready to operate with a little help next season, said they desired full working agreements with the majors. They said if the league changed its player limit to include less veterans and more young players, major league teams would not hesitate to make working agreements.

LL SLATE WASHED OUT; SEASON CLOSES TONIGHT

A late afternoon rain caused postponement of last night's Little League games

Officials called off activity because of wet grounds.

The regular Little League season will close tonight with the Trinity Methodist White Sox and West Texas State Bank Athletics meeting in the first game and the Lions Club Cubs and Kiwanis Club Braves clashing in the nightcap.

Last night's postponed games were the Legion Yankees and Holder Construction Indians in the American League and the Rotary Club Cardinals and Quarterback Club Giants in the National League.

No definate announcement has been made on whether or not the postponed games will be made up or not.

Ray Thonn, Illinois first baseman, handed 107 chances without an error during the 1956 big Ten baseball race.

Shreveport Plans To Stay In Texas Loop

DALLAS (AP) —Shreveport plans to stay in the Texas League despite a law in Louisiana that forbids interracial sports and the Texas League independent clubs, including Shreveport, are mad at the chains because of "discrimination."

Those were about the only definite things to come out of the meeting of league directors here yesterday on the occasion of the All-Star game.

Bonneau Peters, president of the Shreveport club, said he would not consider moving his franchise, that he would not be forced out of the league and that the only way a club coming to Shreveport next year could play would be to eliminate any Negro players it might have in its lineup.

But League President Dick Butler said the league could not vote on an all-white League because then it would be collusion.

The trouble arose when Louisiana passed the interracial law to become effective Oct. 15. Other Texas League clubs have Negro players and couldn't use them in Louisiana without violating the law.

Obviously all are hopeful that the law will be tested as to its constitutionality. Peters said the Sugar Bowlor Loyola University of New Orleans might do it as they are affected by the law. But Butler said the Texas League would not because it would cost too much money.

The shot at the major leagues was fired by the Independents — Shreveport, Dallas, Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Austin—in a resolution against which the three major league owned clubs —Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio —voted, as the aftermath of rump session.

The Independents charged that the "entire system under which we operate, including the diverse ownership of clubs within our league, has resulted in a basic, incompatible situation." They said baseball legislation is overwhelmingly discriminatory against the independent national association (minor leagues) operators. They asked for quick and remedial legislative relief.

Snyder Pony Stars Nip Rotan In Exhibition Finale, 5-3

Locals Finish Unbeaten In Practice Tilts

The Snyder Pony League All-Stars wound up their exhibition schedule last night with a 5-3 victory over the Rotan Pony Stars at Towle Memorial Park.

It was the sixth win in seven practice starts for the local all-stars. The Snyder nine thus went unbeaten in exhibition play since their other game ended in a tie.

The locals will now rest until next Monday when they open their district series with Colorado City sub-district series with Colorado here. The entire series with C-City will be played here. The second game is scheduled for Tuesday with the third game, if necessary, will be played Thursday.

Effective pitching brought the Snyder team its triumph over Rotan last night. Three Snyder pitchers combined to limit Rotan to only one hit.

Tim Roberts started for Snyder and pitched three innings. Roberts struck out nine of the 10 batsmen he faced. He walked the other.

Terry Lee hurled the fourth and fifth innings, giving up the lone Rotan hit and one run. Norman Gladson came on and tossed the sixth and seventh innings, giving up two runs but no hits. Wildness led to Rotan's two runs off Gladson.

Snyder managed only four hits off Lopez who went the distance for the visitors.

The four Snyder hits were divided among Billy DuBose, John Weaver, Richard Mahan, and Ronie Jones.

Snyder broke a 1-1 tie in the bottom of the fourth with a single tally and then iced the game with three markers in the sixth.

Dallas Wins All-Star Game

DALLAS (AP) -- Dallas was conceded to have equal pitching yet no one ever dreamed the Eagles could outslug that awesome array they faced in the sixteenth Texas League All-Star Game last night.

But the league leaders did, hammering the All-Stars into a humiliating 7-1 defeat before an overflow crowd of 9,966.

Home runs by Bob Schmidt and Joe Macko, a screaming triple by Wilcy Moore and a bases-loaded single by Andre Rodgers brought the tallies. Pitching by six members of the Eagle staff limited the heralded all-star clouters to four hits, only one—a homer by Shreveport's Ken Guettler being for extra bases.

SHAKE AND MAKE UP—Duke Snider, left, Brooklyn Dodger centerfielder, and Ralph Baumel, 33, of Mason, Ohio, an ardent Cincinnati Redleg fan, shake hands in a Cincinnati police court. With an assist by Judge Clarence Denning, they dropped charges of assault and battery against each other, brought about as a result of an exchange of punches after a game between Brooklyn and Cincinnati.

WITH BIG BAT

Adcock Keeps Braves In Lead

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Cincinnati's robust Redlegs, for all their power hitters, are two games behind National League-leading Milwaukee and one big reason is Joe Adcock — the one-man gang Cincy traded away to the Braves.

Figure it from last week's All-Star Game. Cincinnati's fabulous five—Wally Post and All-Stars Gus Bell, Frank Robinson, Ted Kluszewski and Ed Bailey—have hit nine home runs and driven in 26 runs among them while the Redlegs have lost four of nine and blown a 1½-game lead.

Adcock, the 28-year-old first baseman overlooked when the NL All-Stars were selected, has done almost as well all by himself. He's walloped seven homers and driven in 21 runs while the Braves have won 9 of 10.

Adcock, who went to the Braves in a complicated seven-man, four-club swap in 1953, really warmed up yesterday as Milwaukee clobbered the Giants 13-3. He socked his 18th and 19th home runs, one a grand-slammer, a double and a single to become the first to drive home eight runs in one game this season in the majors.

Cincinnati managed to keep pace by beating third-place Brooklyn 7-2 as Bell unloaded his 18th homer with a man on. Chicago's Cubs, with three homers, beat Philadelphia 4-3 in 10 innings on Dee Fondy's fifth home run of the year in the only other game scheduled.

In the American, New York's Yankees returned to normal, beating Detroit 7-3. Cleveland slipped 10½ games behind once more, losing to Washington 5-4 on Eddie Yost's ninth-inning homer, his second of the game. Kansas City cooled off third-place Boston 8-4 and the Chicago White Sox finally ended their slump, defeating Baltimore 3-2 after 11 straight defeats.

Adcock smacked his second bases-loaded home run in seven games during a five-run first inning against loser Jim Hearn. Later he singled home a run and homered with two on.

Gil Hodges' 20th home run gave Brooklyn, now six games back, a 2-1 lead in the sixth inning, but before the frame was over Bell wiped it out with his shot off Sal Maglie. Four runs in the seventh put it away. Hal Jeffcoat won his second.

Jim King and Walt Moryn also homered for the Cubs. Moryn's Gran Hamner had given the Phils a 3-2 lead in the top of the ninth had tied it 3-all in the ninth after with his third homer.

Billy Pierce perked up the White Sox with a six-hitter for his 14th victory—matching Yankee Johnny Kucks for the major league lead. He struck out nine, walked two. Singles by Nellie Fox, Ron Northey, Dave Philley and Fred Hatfield got the final two Chicago runs home in the third. Mike Fornieles was the loser.

Cleveland ran up a 4-0 lead on Hal Griggs, but Bunky Stewart shut them off with two hits in 7 1-3 relief innings for his fourth victory. Yost's breakup homer was off reliefer Cal McLish. The Nats had tied it off Mike Garcia in the eighth on a walk and Clint Courtney's triple.

Hank Bauer's ground-rule double with the bases loaded triggered a four-run sixth inning that broke a 3-all tie for the Yankees. Tommy Byrne won his fifth, but when three singles loaded the bases with two out in the ninth Tom Morgan came on to get Al Kaline to hit into a forceout. Duke Maas lost it.

Boston was stopped by Wally Burnette, a recent Yankee farmhand, who tossed a six-hitter. Harry Simpson drove in four runs and Vic Power three to beat Dave won it with a three-run homer in Sisler. Power, back in the lineup after a bout with tooth trouble, the seventh. Ted Williams and Jim Piersall homered for the Red Sox.

Don Heinrich, former University of Washington quarterback, scored two touchdowns for the New York Giants in 1955. Both were on keeper plays. He also passed for two touchdowns.

Record Number Teams Set For Texas Schoolboy Football

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
The Associated Press

Like Dan Patch, the great pacing horse of the long ago who ran out of competition and could only break his own record, Texas schoolboy football again will be the biggest in the world and the biggest in Texas history.

In 40 days 730 schoolboy teams will start practice. Four days later 173 more will play.

The total this year is 903, or 3 more than the record set in 1955. Some major changes have been made. No more will schools like Denton, Denison Grand Prarie, Lufkin, Harlingen, et al, be in the next highest class. They'll be back competing for the grand prize as they did a decade ago. They'll be in Class AAAA, which this year ups its enrollment minimum from 845 to 1,200.

Class AAA will be 550 to 1,200 instead of 370 to 845, Class AA from 225 to 550 instead of 300 to 370, Class A from 125 to 225 instead of 120 to 200, Class B 124 and under instead of 119 and under and 6-man football the same — less than 100.

There will be 16 districts in both the upper classes instead of 8. AAAA will hace 86 schools, AAA 87, AA 165, A 187, B 230 and 6-man 148.

Breckenridge, which played in AAA for several years although it did not have the required enrollment and was knocked back to Class AA last year, returns to AAA. Fifty - six schools were brought up from AA to AAA under the reclassification program while 29 schools moved up from AAA to AAAA.

Dallas and Houston will have two districts in AAAA instead of one, San Antonio has been split into two AAAA districts including some "brought up" schools. Dallas has a new district member—Thomas Jefferson High School—but it won't compete for the championship, merely playing an informal schedule its first year. Dallas lost Forest, which becomes a Negro school.

Two coaches will be seeking to tie the all-time record for consecutive state championships. One will be Chuck Moser of Abilene, whose team has won two AAAA titles in a row and now has a 23-game winning streak. The other is Travis Hughes of Deer Park who also has won two in a row and whose teams have gone through 20 games without defeat. There is one tie on the record. Deer Park is the winningest team in Texas, having taken 54, lost 3 and tied 2 over a 4-year period.

Paul Tysop at Waco in 1925-26-27 won three state titles in a row. Blair Cherry tied this at Amarillo in 1934-35-36. There have been a number of 2 - championship streaks, including Joe Goding at Wichita Falls, Pat Patison at Lubbock and Joe Kerbel at Breckenridge.

Moster has a 12-year record of 94 victories against 24 losses. At Lexington, Mo., he lost only one game in 2 years. At McAllen he had one bad year, losing 7 out of 10, but he lost only 5 in his last three years there and since coming to Abilene in 1953 has lost only three.

Moster has 19 lettermen from last year's team, one that many consider the best in Texas schoolboy history. He doesn't think he will be as strong because he lost eight starters. He still has that fine halfback, Glynn Gregory, and a flock of boys who played plenty of football on the second and third teams.

Hughes had virtually a senior team at Deer Park last year and he may not be quite as strong. Deer Park still will be one of the favorites.

N. Mexico Duo Takes Odessa Pro-Am Lead

ODESSA [illegible]—Teams of professional and amateur golfers from over the Southwest moved out in the second day of the four-day Odessa Pro-Am Golf Tournament today to take a crack at the leading nine-under-par 63 fired yesterday by two New Mexico golfers.

Professional Keeneth Wright of Clovis and Amateur George Addison of Jal took the one-shot lead in the $7,500 tourney. The two were five under par on the front and four under on the back.

Three teams tied for second with scores of 64.

Vern Farquhar, Amarillo pro, scored a hole-in-one on the par three third hole and was awarded a gold watch.

Bunched at second were the teams of Fred Atkins, Carlsbad, N.M., and Ray Ferguson, Breckenridge; Ernie Vossler, Midland, and Rex Baxter, Amarillo; and Bobby Cupit and Frank Wharton, both of Dallas.

Grouped at 65 were Ben Chandler and Bob Sherman, both of Sherman; Don January, Lampasas, and Dick Jennings, Lubbock; J. T. Hammett and Don Kaplain, both of Phillips; Jack Mann, Brownfield, and Frank Redman, El Paso.

At 66 were Bo Wininger and Bobby French, both of Odessa; Jimmie Adams and Frank Freer, both of Lamesa; J. C. Hardwicke, Houston, and John Garrison, Galveston; Bill Reid and Dan Jenkins, both of Fort Worth; Hervey Parvino and Richard Parvino, both Greggton; J. D. Taylor, Santa Fe, N.M., and Ted White, Roswell, N.M.; Buster Cupit, Ruston, La. and Jackie Cupit, Greggton, and Labron Harris, Stillwater, Okla., and Bobby Goetz, Arlington.

West All-Stars Win In Southwestern Tilt

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—The heralde home run hitters of the East All Stars were throttled last night as the higher batting averages and classy pitching of the West paid off to the tune of an 8-3 victory in the first annual Southwestern League All Star Game.

The West got to the possessor of the league's top pitching record, Bill Bagwell of San Angelo, for four runs in the first inning on two walks and three hits.

Richard Jack picked up the win for the West on the basis of a perfect record in two innings which he worked. Jack faced only six men and allowed none to get on base.

NEW MISS U.S.A. AND RUNNERS-UP—The new Miss United States of America, Carol Morris of Ottemwa, Iowa, is flanked by the four other finalists after she won the American beauty crown in Long Beach, Calif. The winner, who is 20 years old, 5 feet 7 and weighs 129, is a junior at Drake UUniversity and a minister's daughter. She came to the contest as Miss Iowa, and as Miss U.S.A. will compete against 29 foreign girls for the world beauty crown. Left to right: Shari Lewis, Miss Nebraska, who was fourth; Betty Cherry, South Carolina, second; Miss U.S.A.; Nancy McCollum, Arkansas, third; and Jo Dodson, Texas, fifth.

15 Still In Race For Miss Universe

By JOHN BECKLER

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Fifteen beautiful girls from as many different countries compete tonight for the honor of being named Miss Universe of 1957.

Seeking the highest prize in this annual international beauty contest will be alluring representatives of Europe, South America, Latin America, Scandanavia, the Middle East and the United States.

The 15 beauties were selected last night from a field of 30 to set the stage for the crowning of the queen tonight.

Carrying America's hopes in the contest is lovely Carol Morris, of Ottumwa, Iowa, whose classic beauty lead to her selection as Miss United States over 42 other girls in the first phase of the pageant.

She will match her charms tonight with the following other finalists:

Ileana Carre, 19, a brown-haired beauty from Buenos Aires, Argentina; Lucienne Auquier, 19, Belgium; Queenly Maria Cardoso, 21, Porto Alegre, Brazil; the sparkling Marcia Rodriguez, 19, Havana, Cuba; Iris Waller, 19, a stately girl from Gateshead, England; blonde Anita Treyens, 18, the pride of Paris.

Marina Orschel, 19, Miss Germany from Berlin; Margaret Gouma, 20, an Athens beauty in the classic Grecian mold; Sara Tal, 22, a green-eyed temptress from Tel Aviv, Israel; red-haired Rosanna Galli, 21, of Italy; Erna Bauman, 18, a striking blonde from Mexico City.

Lola Sabogal, 21, Lima, Peru; Ingrid Goude, 19, statuesque blonde from Sweden, and Blanquita Heredia, 22, a raven-haired bewitcher from Caracas, Venezuela.

Soviet Claim Is Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has told the Russians they were "in error" in complaining about alleged flights by American bombers over Soviet territory.

Rejecting the Russian charge of 10 days ago, the State Department last night informed the Soviet government that after a "thorough inquiry" it had been determined that no U.S. military planes in or around the European area at the time of the alleged overflights "could possibly have strayed" into Russian air space.

"Therefore, the statement of the government of the Soviet Union is in error," the State Department said in a note delivered to the Soviet Embassy.

On July 10, Russian Ambassador Georgi Zarubin protested to Secretary of State Dulles that on three previous days twin-engine U.S. medium bombers had flown into Soviet territory east of Poland, penetrating as deep as 200 miles.

The Russians said the planes came from Germany and they noted the alleged flights came about the time Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force, was visiting in Germany on his way home from Moscow. The American note rapped Russia's knuckles for "insinuating" that the alleged flights might have been arranged by Twining.

Scientist May Have Found Control For Atomic Fall-Out

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — American atomic scientists may have found the secret of how to blast an intended H-bomb target without spreading radioactivity to other areas.

This possibility was suggested last night when Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission announced that current nuclear tests in the Pacific have shown progress toward "achievement of maximum effect in the immediate area of a target with minimum widespread fall-out hazard."

Strauss said the tests have shown "real progress" toward limiting the danger of radioactive fall-out—the fearsome by-product of nuclear explosions—and in development of a variety of nuclear weapons, including those intended for use in defense against air attack.

The AEC statement was worded in general terms, giving no specific information on either the fall-out or weapons aspects of the tests. AEC spokesmen refused to amplify it.

But from Strauss' phraseology, it would appear that the scientists may be on the trail of a method to confine the destructive effects of giant hydrogen bombs to target areas, and to prevent radioactive clouds from drifting far and wide.

"It has been confirmed," Strauss said, "that there are many factors . . . which do make it possible to localize to an extent not heretofore appreciated the fall-out effect of nuclear explosions."

He said, "We are convinced that mass hazard from fall-out is not a necessary complement to the use of large nuclear weapons."

The AEC announcement may serve to quiet concern in various parts of the world — including countries allied with the United States—that the detonation of H-bombs, although far from their borders, could mean danger to them in the form of radioactive fall-out.

This concern has been mounting ever since this country began testing hydrogen weapons several years ago. It has been fed by various official and unofficial reports picturing fall-out clouds from hydrogen blasts as covering vast areas and engulfing millions of persons.

It has been suggested in some of these reports that even if an H-bomb were dropped, say on Russia in the event of an East-West war, such American allies as the Philippines or nations in Western Europe might fall under radioactivity drifting in their direction.

After Strauss' statement came out, a scientist not connected with the AEC expressed the opinion in an interview that the only ways to localize fall-out would be to explode nuclear bombs below or very close to the earth's surface. This scientist declined use of his name.

At about the same time, the House Appropriations Committee released the transcript of secret testimony it took recently from the AEC chairman and other witnesses from his agency.

Strauss and his aides told the 2,000 Japanese persons affected by radiation from World War II atomic bombs have not disclosed any significantly greater number of abnormalities than among the offspring of parents who were not exposed to radiation.

Auditor May Be Linked To Missing Funds

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Investigators tracing some $900,000 in missing Illinois state funds will seek to establish whether there was any link between resigned State Auditor Orville E Hodge reputed southern Illinois rackets figures.

State's Atty. George P. Coutrakon made the disclosure yesterday after the St. Louis Post-Dispatch said it learned Hodge had business connections with Frank (Buster) Wortman, reputed East St. Louis, Ill., rackets boss.

In a copyrighted story, the Post-Dispatch also said Hodge had business dealings with Elmer (Du..ch) Dowling, an associate of Wortman and Thomas Berry, former Belleville, Ill., slot machine operator.

The newspaper said the information had been gathered by federal agents.

Coutrakon said he would subpoena Wortman, Dowling and Berry after he has finished with the Hodge phase of the investigation "to see if any state money went to those fellows."

Meanwhile, Hodge's right-hand man Edward A. Epping has been labeled only "a messenger boy" in the financial scandal.

This characterization was made by Epping's attorney Hugh Dobbs between two sessions with Coutrakon.

Epping himself refused to speak with newsmen.

Russian Gives Reasons For Poznan Riots

LONDON (AP) — Edward Ochab, Poland's Communist party boss, said today bureaucratic indifference and inequitable taxes helped trigger the recent Poznan workers' riots.

He told a party conference the party now "will ruthlessly combat bureaucratic habits and bureaucratic indifference toward working people."

In his speech, broadcast by the Warsaw radio, Ochab said "the party has called to order those 'big shots' in the administrative and economic apparatus who have cotton wool in their ears and forget their duties."

Warsaw has officially announced that 53 persons were killed and 300 wounded in the riots three weeks ago. Estimates from returning travelers have put the tolls much higher.

Poland's Communist government has admitted making some mistakes in its handling of the workers but claims the mistakes were exploited by foreign agents to stir up trouble.

In his appraisal of the uprising, Ochab, first secretary of the Polish Communist party, said it it would be "erroneous to concentrate attention above all on the machinations of provocateurs and imperialist agents."

"It is necessary to look first of all for the social roots of these incidents which have become for the whole of our party a signal of warning," Ochab said.

He said the income tax for workers was estimated at too high a level and added:

"This error was corrected in November, 1955, but the reimbursement of the sums due was delayed and it was only on the eve of the incidents that the matter was settled and the workers informed about it."

Margaret Mitchell's novel, "Gone With the Wind" has sold more than 8 million copies in more than 27 languages.

Folding Bed Throws Occupant Into Wall

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—William D. Duckwell didn't have time to duck — result, a lawsuit filed against an apartment house because the mechanism of a folding bed failed.

Duckwall's suit contends he suffered a sprain in his right shoulder, bursitis, a torn ligament and a dislocated joint and asks relief to the tune of $15,000.

The suit said Duckwell was "thrown into various parts of the wall" after the bed mechanism failed.

Woman Catches Fish Beside Her Mailbox

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Mrs. Orville Stanka was exhibiting a 2½-pound carp while relating a new fish story.

The Oklahoma City woman said she plucked the carp out of a ditch in front of her home following heavy morning rains. She explained she caught the fish by hand after noticing it thrashing in the water near her mail box.
