Nixon Conducts Schooling Sessions of New Cabinet

Top Experts Discuss Politics and Policies

By EUGENE V. RISHER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon, quipping that he felt like a teacher, kicked off a cram course on foreign and domestic problems today for his newly designated cabinet.

Nixon stood at the head of a table in the board room of the Shoreham Hotel to open eight hours of lectures for cabinet officers and their wives by experts he has picked to play a major role in the new administration.

"I feel like a teacher," Nixon remarked as he stood in front of a raised lectern, patiently allowing photographers to snap pictures of the top men of the incoming executive department before the "school" was closed to outsiders.

The wives of the cabinet members, introduced on national television Wednesday night, were on hand at Nixon's specific request. "I want them to be there on the take-off," he said. "That could avoid a crash landing later."

The lectures, conducted by the experts who will serve on Nixon's White House staff, concerned foreign policy, economic issues, politics, public relations and other sticky problems President Johnson will pass along to his Republican successor.

Nixon chose the Shoreham Hotel and a half-hour of prime broadcast time to formally present to the nation the men who will help him in his avowed aim of putting government on a more businesslike basis and charting a long-range foreign policy designed to prevent recurrent crises.

There were no surprises. The two big posts went to former Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, who will succeed Dean Rusk as Secretary of State, and Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin who

Allied Troops Alert For New Red Attack

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops defending Saigon went on full alert today for a Communist attack marking the eighth anniversary of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front (NLF).

U.S. B52 bombers in seven flights dumped 2.5 million pounds of bombs on a 30,000-man guerrilla buildup threatening Saigon from the Cambodian frontier while allied soldiers killed 58 Reds in the same area.

Announcing the Saigon alert, South Vietnamese headquarters called it a "preventative measure." Military sources said intelligence reports indicated "some sort" of guerrilla drive was in the making.

The NLF celebrates its eighth birthday Dec. 13 looking for battlefield successes to enhance its position at the Paris talks. Its Liberation Radio urged widespread attacks to mark the celebration.

American headquarters said it knew of no imminent threat. On several recent occasions, such alerts have been called without attacks materializing, spokesmen explained.

U.S. military sources said, however, that the U.S. air base at Bien Hoa and U.S. Army headquarters at Long Binh, north and northeast of the capital, went on "yellow alert," next to "red alert" the highestt U.S. military alarm.

At the same time, Navy sources said river patrols had been doubled in the "Parrot's Beak," a Communist bivouac for assaults toward the capital from the Cambodian frontier to the northwest.

The alert came as U.S. headquarters officially announced that American combat deaths for the war had surpassed 30,000. Sources within the U.S. command made the same disclosure two days ago.

The weekly casualty report said the 192 Americans who died last week brought to 30,057 the number of U.S. servicemen killed in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961. The 1,110 wounded brought the wounded figure to 189,269 for the war.

On the U.S. dead, nearly half of them—14,258—died this year, the statistics showed.

South Vietnamese losses last week were 150 killed and 811 wounded. The 1,715 Communists reported killed pushed the guerrilla death toll for the war to 422,979 spokesmen said.

Jordan Accuses Israel of Aerial Attack on Homes

By United Press International

Israeli jets blasted Jordanian territory near the Sea of Galilee for almost a half hour today, a military communique from Amman said.

A Jerusalem military communique mentioned no air attack but said Israeli troops battled Jordanian forces in the Beisan Valley with light arms and rockets without Israeli casualties.

The spokesman in Jordan's capital said four Israeli jets destroyed a house but caused no Jordanian casualties in the 25-minute attack.

It was the fifth reported aerial attack on Jordan by Israel in 12 days and the first this week.

Today the jets roared in near the Sheikh Hussein Bridge 13 miles south of the Sea of Galilee, after a ground fight between Israeli and Jordanian forces, the communique said.

"The air attack was launched after 10 minutes of firefighting between Jordanian troops and an Israeli halftrack," the Amman announcement said. "This incident started when Israelis opened fire from the halftrack on Jordanian forces in the area of the Sheikh Hussein Bridge. Fire was returned and the Israeli vehicle destroyed."

In Amman the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) said its guerrillas fought a rocket and machine gun battle along the Jordan Monday and that all PLO commandos returned safely after indicating four Israeli casualties.

In Jerusalem Premier Levi Eshkol Wednesday suggested examining the possibility of Jewish urban settlement in the Arab lands occupied by Israel after the June, 1967 Middle East war.

"Israel might consider whether the manpower and resources were available and whether urban settlement would strengthen its position," he said.

But he said the Israeli government opposes "taking advantage of the international

U.S., Saigon Differing on Talks

PARIS (UPI—U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman conferred today with South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky in an effort to get the Vietnam War talks started with the Communist side. Diplomatic sources reported a growing U.S.-Saigon rift.

Harriman and Ky met two hours after Harriman's deputy, Cyrus Vance, met with South Vietnamese delegation leader Pham Dang Lam at the U.S. Embassy.

Diplomats said the rift stemmed from South Vietnamese fears the United States would make concessions to Communist North Vietnam in an effort to get the talks started before President Johnson leaves office Jan. 20.

The South Vietnamese were reported particularly afraid the United States might grant some sort of recognition to the Viet Cong as an equal force in the talks.

On Wednesday, Lam publicly rejected any procedural arrangement which would give the Viet Cong a status equal to that enjoyed by Saigon. The Viet Cong are represented here by the National Liberation Front (NLF), its political branch.

U.S. officials admitted the main issue holding up the talks was that of the seating arrangements but that the Americans were holding their position open. They said they had not rejected any of Hanoi's proposals but had made counter proposals of their own.

These statements also reflected the gap in U.S and South Vietnamese thinking. Saigon says simply it will not set at a table at which the guerrilla movement is treated as an equal.

The United States was reported seeking a compromise which would get Washington, Saigon, Hanoi and the Viet Cong to the conference table. But South Vietnam was said by diplomats to be unwilling to make any concessions until President-elect Richard M. Nixon takes office. They said Saigon believed he would take a harder line toward the Viet Cong.

The talks between the United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong were to have opened Nov. 6. But disputes over arrangements—even the shape of the conference table—delayed the opening and intensified so much earlier this week that some diplomats warned the talks might never begin.

The Viet Cong's naming of a negotiation team Wednesday appeared to signify the Communists believe the talks are about

School Board Considers Kindergarten Sessions

The Pampa School Board decided in their regular monthly meeting Thursday to hold a kindergarten for one semester only, in the spring of 1969, along with Dumas and West Texas State University in the Panhandle Educational Services Organization program.

Woodrow Wilson Principal Bob Parks and Mrs. Marjorie Gaut, Pampa PESO representatives, will set up the kindergarten planning session for Pampa.

Mrs. Gaut spoke to the board and suggested two sessions a day, one from 8:45 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and the other from 12:30 p.m. to 3:15 p.m.

It was also suggested that each session have no more than 16 students, four from each area, and that only the older five-year olds, ones with September and October birthdays, be in the sessions.

At the end of the school year, the sessions will be reviewed. At a kindergarten workshop at WTSU next summer, the program will be evaluated.

In routine business, the board, which was still meeting shortly before noon, approved the minutes of the last meeting and approved new bills, vouchers and financial statements.

Several persons were in attendance at this morning's session, most of them from local industries, to hear a considera-

Mailman Jobless Because of Hair

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Postal authorities Wednesday suspended without pay a mailman who hasn't had a haircut in a year.

The mailman, William E. Cain, 24, has collar-length brown hair his attorney described as "rather attractive."

But Charles Harper, chairman of the appearance board, said "no haircut, no pay" for Cain, a postal employe since Jan. 27.

Harper said he acted on the basis of an Aug. 1 post office bulletin which said carriers' hair should be neatly trimmed and clean. He said he interpreted this to mean it should be above the collar.

Cain's attorney, Ernest Besig of the American Civil Liberties Union, said there is "nothing unreasonable" about the department's regulation.

However, he said, Cain "fulfills the regulation."

"As a matter of fact, Cain's hair is rather attractive and has a wave," Besig said.

Officials Rush Flu Vaccine To Combat Epidemic

ATLANTA (UPI)—The nation's drug manufacturers today rushed to increase a vaccine supply that currently can protect only one of every 40 Americans against the spreading Hong Kong flu. One health official says the action may be too late to be effective.

"As far as Hong Kong flu is concerned, people should have gotten shots last month," said Dr. Robert A. Baratta of the Florida Health Department.

But Baratta suggested that the chronically ill and the aged get the shots as soon as possible. These two groups have priority for the approximate five million doses of Hong Kong flu vaccine now being distributed to doctors.

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association in Washington said the target production was for 17½ million doses for civilians and 2.5 million for servicemen by January 1.

Flu and respiratory ailments have been reported so far in 33 states, causing rashes of absenteeism in schools and businesses.

New Jersey, where the flu has reached epidemic proportions, received 3,500 doses of vaccine and sent it to five counties with orders for use only on "high risk patients."

At least two colleges, the Citadel at Charleston, S.C., and Hollins College near Roanoke, Va., have closed because of flu outbreaks, and a number of New York schools reported high absenteeism because of sickness.

Marshall Field, a huge Chicago department store, said it is averaging from 150 to 200 absences a day among employes "and more are being

Mrs. RFK Gives Birth to Girl, Her 11th Child

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ethel Kennedy gave birth by Caesarian section today to a girl—six months after the assassination of the child's father, Robert F. Kennedy.

The 8 pound, 4 ounce baby is Mrs. Kennedy's 11th child, and the 4th daughter. She was born at 7:40 a.m. CST at Georgetown University Hospital.

Mrs. Kennedy was taken to the delivery room at 6:45 a.m. by Dr. John W. Walsh who performed the Caesarian operation.

Frank Mankiewicz, press secretary to the late senator, made the announcement of the birth. He said both mother and child were "in excellent condition.

Mrs. Kennedy's brother-in-law Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., arrived at the hospital shortly after 7 a.m. with his wife, Joan.

Mankiewicz said the senator was with Ethel during the delivery.

Mrs. Kennedy's husband was assassinated June 5 in Los Angeles where the New York senator was campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination.

At the time of his death, the Kennedy's were the parents of 10 children—seven sons and three daughters.

The 40-year-old widow entered Georgetown Hospital at 7:10 a.m. CST Wednesday, accompanied by her brother-in-law, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Joining Mrs. Kennedy on the trip from her Hickory Hill home in suburban Virginia was Louella Hennessey, the veteran family nurse who has been at hand for the delivery of all but one of the grandchildren of Joseph P. Kennedy Sr., patriarch of the Kennedy clan.

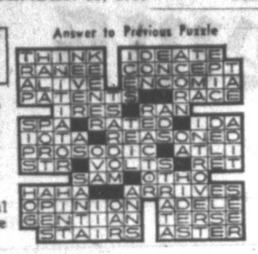

A family spokesman said that Sen. Kennedy planned to stay with his sister-in-law most of Thursday. The spokeman added that Mrs. Kennedy probably would remain in the hospital for a week to 10 days following delivery of her 11th child.

Her last child, Douglas Harriman Kennedy, was born prematurely March 24, 1967. During the current pregnancy she went to the hospital on Oct. 19 but returned home after an overnight stay.

Since the assassination, Mrs. Kennedy, a vivacious, athletic woman, quietly picked up the pieces of her life. She spent most of the summer at the Kennedy family compound at Hyannis Port, Mass., swimming, sailing and sunbathing.

How's Business?

Surtax Has Not Created Any Economic Slowdown

By The Babson Staff

Earlier in the year, and particularly immediately after the surtax was enacted, it was anticipated that by the fourth quarter of this year the economy would be in the initial phase of a business downturn. The expectation was that it would take about six months for the effects of the surtax to take hold.

Furthermore, it was felt that steel industry operations would be hamstrung by the burdensome inventories built up in anticipation of a labor tie-up at midyear.

Instead, the economy has continued to roll along in high gear. It is true that a good deal of the upward impetus evident during the first half of the year has evaporated; but, over all, business has not yet shown any tendency to sag significantly.

This has been due to the combination of sustained high consumer spending, brisk activity in the building field, and a faster-than-envisioned work-off of steel inventories.

Nevertheless, latest available business statistics do show a tough tug of war between the major economic forces. On the favorable side, the pickup in business capital expenditures and the early revival in steel production are providing some uplift to the economy.

Moreover, a number of industrial sectors continue to evidence good strength. The strong revival in manufactuers' new orders, the promising reawakening in demand for machine tools, and the mid-November resurgence of automobile purchases augment basic upside business forces.

On the other hand, retail trade, new housing starts, and output of new automobiles are no longer trending strongly upward. Moreover, the vital earned income and employment sectors are also less vibrant.

It is obvious, therefore, that there are strong crosscurrents now at work in the economy. At the moment, these conflicting forces are in close balance, and neither side appears to have a clear-cut advantage. Hence, while business should hold up well over the next few months, it is incontrovertible the upward forces have moderated noticeably.

BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Reynaldo Pacheco and Jose Rodriguez, jailed for stealing a bus from its terminal, told police they just wanted "something to pawn so we could buy a drink."

Police observed they apparently already had enough to drink, since the bus was filled with passengers when they began driving it off to the pawnshop. The owner of the busline saw the theft and caught up with them.

Police Working On New Leads In Robbery Case

Positive identity could not be made yesterday of two suspects in the Tuesday night armed robbery of Ward's Minit Mart, but Pampa police are working on new leads today.

Chief Jim Conner said the two persons in the store at the time of the robbery did not think the two suspects were the ones who took an estimated $492 at gun point and tied them up in the back of the store.

Doris Kelley, 1017 Duncan, the cashier, and Velda Huddleston, 1513 N. Christy, a customer, were the only two persons in the food convenience store at the time of the robbery, which occurred shortly before 11 p.m.

Conners said today that the police department has sent off for photographs of other suspects in an attempt to establish the identity of the robbers.

One of the men was described as white, 23-25 years of age, 5' 8" and of slender build with brown hair and a ruddy complexion. The other man was described as 25-28 years of age, about six feet tall, of slender build.

One of the men had on a long white coat, the type butchers wear, and both had tin construction-type helmets on when they ran from the store.

One of the robbers came in about 10:50 Tuesday night, went behind a counter and put on a nylon stocking as a mask, police said.

He then told the cashier, "Don't do anything and you won't get hurt." The woman was then taken to a back room where her hands and mouth were taped.

The robber was coming back to the front of the store when Mrs. Huddleston walked in. He surprised her and took her to the back room, where she was also taped up.

Mrs. Huddleston's husband was sitting in front of the store when he saw two men emerge and start running. He went next door to a service station and called police.

Both men were armed with nickel-plated revolvers and were last seen going east on foot.

Grass Fire Reported

Firemen answered an alarm at 7:53 a.m. today for a grass fire in an alley at 2530 Aspen, but no damage was reported. Fire officials said cause of the blaze was unknown.

will take over the Pentagon from Clark Clifford.

There were three governors, two businessmen, two members of the academic community, two Nixon campaign aides, one congressman and two members of the former Eisenhower administration. It also was an all-Republican group.

But Ron Ziegler, Nixon's press spokesman, said the president-elect would soon name a Democrat as ambassador to the United Nations, a post most often menioned in connection with Sargent Shriver, a Kennedy brother-in-law now serving as U.S. ambassador to France.

The new cabinet also included no women, no Negroes and no one under 43. But Nixon said that in all 12 men he had discerned that "extra dimension which is the difference between good leadership and great leadership." And he said the nation needed great leadership.

Nixon's choices won prompt praise from congressional leaders, including the men in a position to cause them the most headaches — the Democratic chairmen of the House and Senate committees which have jurisdiction over their departments.

Senate Praise

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the senate foreign relations committee and a sharp critic of Rusk's Far East policies, said he had "the highest regard" for Rogers. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who turned down the defense job, praised Laird.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., the senior Democratic senator who will head the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee next year, said all of Nixon's selections were "men of outstanding ability and unquestioned devotion to our country."

Nixon, whose decision to announce his cabinet all at once was unprecedented in modern political history, took the occasion to give special praise to Secretary Rusk, whose policies the president-elect sharply criticized during the campaign.

Nixon, his wife and daughter, were to visit the Johnsons at the White House at 3 p.m., their second such visit since the election.

Twenty-eight Los Angeles County schools reported more than 10 per cent of their students ill, and Sioux Falls, S.C., health officials said there was an epidemic of respiratory illnesses in that city.

Florida Health Officer Wilson Sowder said the situation could make for a bleak Christmas in many homes.

"There's really very little a healthy person can do to ward it off if he gets the bug," he said.

In Cairo, the El Fatah Arab guerrilla organization warned today it could not guarantee the safety of the thousands of worshippers and tourists who annually flock to Jerusalem for Christmas.

"Due to the Nazi-like Zionist occupation of our Holy Land of Palestine and popular resistence to this Fascist occupation, El Fatah . . . will be unable to be responsible for tourists or foreigners."

to open, the diplomats said.

The Viet Cong, the Communist guerrillas whose activities led to the international conflict in South Vietnam, named as chief negotiator Tra Bauu Kiem, their foreign minister.

One of his two deputies will be Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, who had been leading the Viet Cong delegation in Paris the past month. She is a member of the central commitee of the Viet Cong's political arm, the National Liberation Front (NLF).

The other deputy to Kiem will be Tran Hoai Nam, Viet Cong representative in Algeria.

Kiem, 48, has served North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh since 1940. He has worked in the cities, in the underground, in jungles and in both North and South Vietnam in the Communist cause.

Five other dedicated party members were also named to the Viet Cong delegation.

Despite the optimism generated by the announcement of the Viet Cong delegation, no solution to the conflict over procedural arrangements for the talks appeared in sight.

½ to 1 teaspoon ground ginger
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 cup margarine
2 eggs, slightly beaten. .

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and spices into mixing bowl. Cut in margarine until mixture resembles fine crumbs. Stir in eggs and extract until smooth dough forms. Chill.

A thought for the day: American humorist Henry Wheeler Shaw said, "It is better to know nothing than to know what ain't so."

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How come there are laws against stealing chickens, horses, and automobiles, but there aren't any laws against stealing a man's most precious possession—his wife.

I'll bet if there were a penalty of 10 years in the pen for wife stealing, there wouldn't be so many divorces, and poor little innocent children the victims of broken homes.

DENISON, TEX.

DEAR DENISON: Chickens, horses, and automobiles, the possession of which is protected by chattel law, can neither give nor withhold consent to be stolen, right?

A wife? She could be "kidnaped," but if she goes willingly, she's not stolen. Besides, she's no chattel.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 17½ and she is in her last year of high school. She has fallen in love with a 50-year-old man, and Abby, we are about out of our minds.

They want to marry when she is 18. They claim they are "in love" and are miserable when they are apart.

This man has plenty of money, drives a big Cadillac, and he is a snappy dresser. He does not look his age. He's very peppy and a wonderful dancer. (So is she.) He's promised her a Hawaiian honeymoon and a whole new dream world. Our daughter says it's not the money. She'd love him if he were poor. Can this be?

Should we try to break them up? What do you say, Abby? Do you think they could be happy together?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Those May-December marriages are usually wildly happy as long as they last, but they seldom last long. If you try to break them up, you might hasten the marriage. Try to persuade your daughter to wait a while. If you fail, she will be stuck with a man who can give her everything she wants now, but she'll have to take her chances on what's in store later.

DEAR ABBY: I passed a Jewish cemetery recently and noticed that the tombstones were very tall and close together. A friend of mine told me that it's an old custom of the Jewish people to bury their dead with caskets upright. Was my friend right? No offense, dear.

S.A.S. IN CLEVELAND

DEAR S.A.S.: No. The Jewish people bury their dead horizontally, same as Christians.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to the girl who thinks "It is the dumbest thing she ever heard" that a girl at school does not attend the dances because it is against her religion, I would like to quote some men of widely different faiths who have spoken out on this subject.

A Jewish rabbi writes, "Modern dancing is popular, not because of its grace, but because of its appeal to our lower nature."

A Presbyterian preacher says, "Dancing, balls, and partying lead to forgetfulness of God."

Clovis Chappel, noted Methodist evangelist, states, "60,000 girls enter the underworld every year, and three-fourths of them by the dance floor."

A Roman Catholic confessional reveals that 19 out of every 20 young women who go wrong attribute it to the dance.

These are only a few of many examples. By the way, I am not a member of any of the above-mentioned religious organizations. I'm a 16-year-old Christian boy who prefers not to add to the strifes of life by partaking in the dance. I don't think it is "dumb" and I don't think I've missed a thing. Actually, I think I've gained a lot by not dancing.

CONTENT, BUT NOT DANCING, IN CHEYENNE, WYO.

Everybody has a problem. What is yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 69700 Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fragrance is easily the most popular Christmas gift. Shown here are two new ideas on the subject. Satin pouff of scent (left) is a froth of fragrance that lasts and soothes the skin at the same time. To be surrounded by a holiday aroma apply the room essence (right) to a vaporizing ring, place the ring on a lightbulb, turn on the light and enjoy a Christmas-spirited green fragrance. These are created by Houbigant.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR CHRISTMAS

Los Angeles:—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FRIDAY, DEC. 13 ....

YOUR BIRTHDAY today: Your coming year will be crowded with freak circumstancess, reversals, and gain or loss unrelated to your efforts. Most of these quirks straighten out after a few weeks, so enjoy the effects. The one chance you should not take is in regard to personal hazzard. Today's natives tend to be keen judges of human nature.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): This is one Friday the 13th that promises to live up to dramatic tradition associating it with violent or drastic events. Use every precaution against fire and accident!

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Adjust to changes likely to greet you on arrival today. Romantic interests move up to the fore in your life now. . . and thrive.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You are strongly attracted by new artistic people. Home and family conditions are rather upset. Restraint turns out to be essential; rise to the occcasion.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Strange, surprising, or shocking turns bring you excitement. Go slowly as haste would set up error for later trouble. You have the chance to really enjoy romantic enterprises, but be EXTRA discreet.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Paradoxically mixed good and bad influences pound in. Some matters are just wonderful, some disastrous. Forced rearrangement will finally be for the better.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Seldom are extremes so closely coupled. Love and money can both blossom profusely or collapse, according to subtle factors of your prior choices— and your luck.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Excitement causes exertion. Vigorous emotional experience occurs, in a surprising turn of events. The result range from good to excellent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Reactions of others must remain a puzzle since nothing they do matches with logic. Avoid haste, confusion.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Stay with safety-first habits. Impulsive moves are the big temptation. Romance offers lovely promises (toward an undefined future).

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Checking (and double-checking) are essential. Unsettled conditions cloud the future. Romance comes in strong and clear.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): New attractions and brilliant ideas flash! And blink from odd sources! Romantic interests are full of stress. Patience will work it out.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Marital stresses get worse. Joint finances thrive by some not intended quirk. Stick with your regular duties; this helps in your private life beyond anything you could plan.

Deluge of Extra-Curriccular Chores Swamp American Girl Fridays

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Take a memo, Miss Jones.

Help!

Rescue me from the deluge of mail that followed a column in which bosses told what's wrong with secretaries. These executives were sharply critical, accusing many of the estimated 2.5 million Girl Fridays in the country of laziness, clock-watching, inefficiency, lack of interest, ad infinitum.

The executives first started this thing in Today's Secretary. All I did was excerpt from the article, with permission of its author, Patricia Van Olinda, a secretary before she became an editor.

But I added a final paragraph, offering "equal time" to all the Miss Joneses. Just let me hear.

And I heard! I heard in letters flawlessly typed single space, flawlessly spelled, flawless in grammar and in terms that pinned the bosses and me to the bulletin board above the water cooler.

Some of the secretaries said they'd give up their coffee breaks for time to reply. One chronicled her chores as secretary which included baby-sitting for the boss's grandchildren and arguing with his wife's hairdresser "over making a new appointment." Her letter ended, "besides all of the above I have taken all of my lunch hour writing this letter and today I'll have to go without lunch."

I received letters defending the secretary from as diverse parts of the nation as Warren, R.I. to Palm Springs, Calif., from Seekong, Mass. to Los Angeles, from Bellmawr, N.J., to Photnix, Ariz.

Equal time? Sorry I promised that. For to give it, I'd have write a book. But I'll do the best I can in the space allotted.

There's the letter from Mrs. Edythe Parker, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who had read the original column in the Cincinnati Post & Times Star under the catchy headline, "What's Rong With Us, Boss?"

Mrs. Parker contends—and many of the other letters were of the same tenor—that if a boss has an inefficient secretary, it's because he's hiring the under-25 girl who's just working until she nabs a man.

"There is a great, untapped reservoir of thoroughly experienced and dedicated secretaries in the over-35 age bracket," says Mrs. Parker, "either career women or women who have financial responsibilities to meet and who must work in order to meet them."

"Their prime interest is in doing a good job," she continues. Forget about the age barrier, she says to bosses—"we are waiting at your door—why don't yiu open it and let us in?"

Glamour, not skills, is the concern of today's Mr. Executive, writes Mrs. Cynthia Tierney, of Seekong, Mass. "In many cases it's getting to be a case of which executive has the best looking secretary. I am not saying that all glamourous secretaries are ineficient, but I do know that they can get away with much more if they want to."

Capture Holiday Spirit in 'Flakes'

THIS GATE separates Communist-governed Cuba from the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay. Each day 380 "commuter" Cubans troop in through the fence for nine hours of freedom before returning to rationing and harassment on the other side.

A thought for the day: American author Washington Irving said, "Whenever a man's friends begin to compliment him about looking young, he may be sure that they think he is growing old."

The Family Lawyer

Bill Collector in Action

One way for a bill collector to prod a lagging debtor is to punch him in the nose. Obviously, that way is illegal. It is assault and battery, for which the bill collector could be fined or even put in jail.

Another way is to send the debtor a polite letter reminding him that he may have overlooked his payment. Obviously, that would be perfectly legal.

But what about collection techniques that fall somewhere in between? How rough can the bill collector get before he is overstepping his legal rights?

To start with, assuming the debt is a legitimate one, the law is on the side of the collector. Obligations are to be said, when a debtor compained that a bill collector was annoying him:

"The right of a creditor to inflict some worry upon a debtor by reasonable means is necessary to the very existence of the credit system."

However, the law is taking an increasingly stern view of harsh tactics. Not only may a collector run afoul of criminal statutes but he may also have to pay damages to the debtor.

That may happen, for example, if the unfairly exposes the debtor to public disgrace. In one case, a collector sent dunning letters in envelopes marked "WE COLLECT BAD DEBTS." The debtor sued the collector and won damages. The court said the phrase "bad debts" carried the implication that the debtor was not delinquent (which was true) but also dishonest (which was false).

What about the common collection practice of telephoning a debtor to demand payment? Within reasonable limits, such calls are perfectly proper. But here too the law draws a line.

One collector, telephoning a woman about a debt, used such violent and abusive language that she became seriously ill. Later, she sued for damages, and the court held the collector liable. Said the judge:

"Neither beating a debtor nor purposely worrying him sick in a permissible way of collecting a debt."

FOR THE BIRDS

MARION, Ill. (UPI)—Pheasant under glass was available recently for anybody who wanted it, though the cleaning job would be a problem.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—President-elect Richard Nixon's introduction of his cabinet in a prime time television program Wednesday night had a good deal of practical video sense behind it.

Never mind the fact that the broadcast, about ahalf hour in length, wasn't particularly intellectual or sophisticated or stylish. Never mind the fact that Mr. Nixon, who did all of the talking, is frankly not much of a phrase-maker in the classic sense, and used plenty of standard political rhetoric.

What was most obvious, and made clear and simple sense, was the fact that the next president of the United States indicated—at least for the present—that he is going to use television to make the citizenry feel closer to the White House and its decision-makers. One hopes this initial gesture was not merely a flash in the pan.

Not Questioned

It is true that there were no questions from newsmen, or anything like that, so that the broadcats—seen on all three commercial networks starting at 10 p.m. EST—sometimes resembled a sales meeting more than a governmental function. But this is the new administration's time of high optimism and "team-making," so the pep talk atmosphere is at least understandable.

While intellectuals might well make sport of Nixon's introduction of his cabinet in this way—on television—there is another point to be considered. For far too many months, we have had virtual nobodies absurdly catapulated into undeserved social and political fame because of their astute use of television—and the medium's occasional tendency, now mostly corrected, to go overboard on some of these types.

With this the case, it might well be argued, why in the world shouldn't the government—which has real and significant power affecting the lives of all of us—exploit television intelligently on a personal level too? Why should it take a back seat that overpublicized nobodies and, as a result, make it seem have as much responsibility and power as elected officials and those appointed by the white house?

I confess that I wasn't impressed on election even when both Hubert Humphrey and Nixon had two-hour commercials promoting themselves on nationwide television, because I don't like the concept of presidential candidates advertising for the job on video.

But Wednesday night's Nixon concept, while admittedly in rough from (he forgot to mention the name of his Secretary of Commerce), has exciting possibilities—providing the press has a more integral part in future proceedings, that is, in the form of questions.

For too long, the public has felt far removed from the White House as massive and complex social developments combined to make us ever more distant from seats of power. The Vietnam War, furthermore, has caused added strains and raised questions of credibility. Television offers any president the simple and direct opportunity to create something of a national Town Hall of the Air. Any president who indicates he may use it in this sense, and who doesn't overdo it for personal benefit, is to be encouraged.

SECRET ACCOUNTS

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI)—The Swiss Banking Association announced Wednesday it has ordered its members to stop accepting secret American accounts which, it said, are a method of evading U.S. taxes. U.S. officials had urged such action.

HEART PATIENT UNSATISFACTORY

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Petrus S. Smith, South Africa's third heart transplant patient, underwent tests today in the sterile ward of Groote Schuur Hospital. A hospital spokesman said testing so far had "proved unsatisfactory" although Smith's body was not rejecting the new heart.

Railroad Merger Creates Largest Transport Union

CHICAGO (UPI)—The presidents of four railroad workers' unions have announced a merger which they said will create the nation's largest single transportation workers' union.

The merger will bring together the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and the Switchmen of North America.

The new union, to be known as the United Transportation Union, will have a combined membership of 280,000 in the United States and Canada, the announcement said.

The merger is scheduled to became effective Jan. 1.

The new union will be the 17th largest in the AFL-CIO, the statement said, and the nation's largest single transportation workers union.

Mahan--King of The Cowboys

By LEE MUELLER
NEA Sports Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY (NEA) — The King of the Cowboys is not Roy Rogers, podner. His name is Larry Mahan and he'll take an airplane over Trigger any day.

King of the Cowboys is 25 years old, drinks Gatorade for kicks, thinks Aretha Franklin is out of site, man, and likes to talk about the Stock Market, not the stockyards, with his mother.

The King of the Cowboys is a little guy. At 5-foot-7 and 152 pounds, he does not fulfill any images of Pecos Bill but he is as ruggedly handsome as you can be at 5-7. "He looks like a scaled down Arnold Palmer," one writer has observed.

On this particular day, the King stomped on the gas pedal and the coffee-colored station wagon shot onto Interstate 40 toward the fairgrounds arena and the National Finals Rodeo.

"I guess it comes fairly easy for me," he said, leaning forward to click a stereo tape cartridge into the dashboard. "Maybe it's because I started early. I mean if I had started at 20 instead of 12, it would have been tougher."

In rodeo—an activity in which the distance between participant and earth is a vital factor — beginners literally start from the ground up. "At 20, I wouldn't even have gotten to start on calves, when I began as a kid," he said, grinning.

Maybe the reason Larry Mahan has won three straight All Around championships is that he learned early. Maybe. There are those, however, who will tell you it's because Larry Mahan learns quickly.

"It's a little maddening," says Rodeo Cowboy Assn. publicist Skipper Lofting. "I took Larry up in my airplane the other day to teach him a little about instrument flying. By the time we came down, he was better at it than a lot of men who have been flying for years."

Rodeo people are fond of Larry Mahan. His skill and friendly dedication have earned their respect. Now, fame is finding him, albeit slowly. Mahan has something for everybody.

In the East where cash makes the impression, they appreciate the fact that Larry had banked more than $40,000 for three straight years.

Here in the West, oldtimers gawk at the specter of Mahan qualifying for the NFR in THREE events — bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding. No one — not even Jim Shoulders or Casey Tibbs — had managed more than two.

So, as Aretha wound into her "Lady Soul" recording, the station wagon sped on and Mahan delved into the psychological aspect of riding a bull that does not want to be ridden.

"I got to thinking about my old mask," he said, "and I felt the chicken feathers in the gas tank."

That means that the bull Mahan failed to ride the night before had him psyched. Bucking stock, like people, have reputations and the bull had a reputation for butting cowboys in the face after throwing them off.

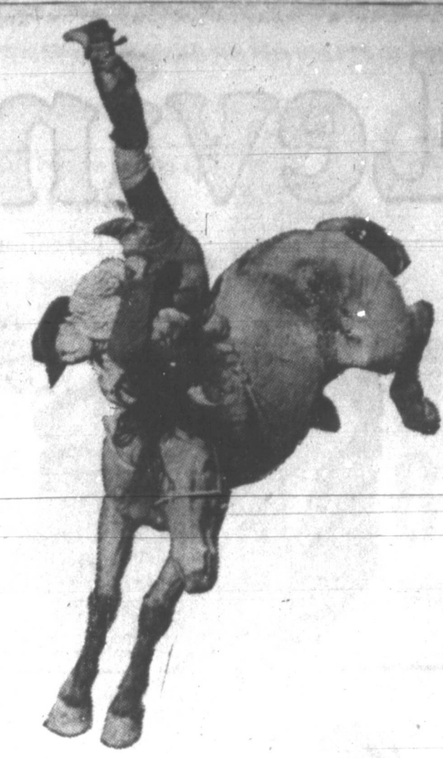

"That," Larry says, is tough on the grinners."

About one-half of riding is psychological conditioning, Mahan said. The other half is staying aboard. "Timing and co-ordination are the most important factors," he adds.

Practice also helps. In the old days, at least four years ago, Mahan dragged an old practice horse around with him wherever he went.

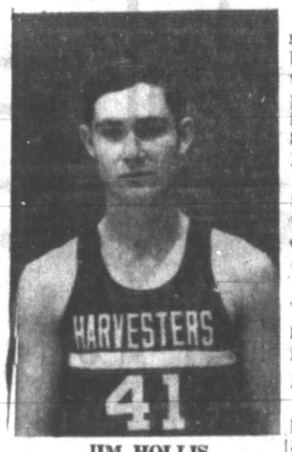

Then, in 1965, he won the world bullriding championship. "I've seen a lot of hands work," says 48-year-old Freckles Brown, a former bullriding champ himself, "and I've seen them try three riding event, too, but I've never seen anybody work as well in all three as Larry. He's a hell of a hand."

KING OF THE COWBOYS — Larry Mahan, three time winner of All-Around championships in the National Finals Rodeo, is the only All-Around cowboy to every qualify in the National Finals in three events.

Plainview Next for Harvesters

. . . leading scorer

Plainview, who fought Pampa right down to the District 4-4A basketball wire last season, and who, like the Harvesters, are playing it green this season, roll into town Friday night for an 8 p.m. league game against Pampa.

The Bulldogs, now 8-5 and 0-1 in district competition, found themselves with one starter and one letterman back this season, and he was both.

Jerry Sizemore, a 6-4 senior who averaged 10.2 points a game in a 26-9 Bulldog season in 1967-68, is doing it again this year.

But coach Bill Phillips has had to hunt and hunt to find four more players who can make the Bulldogs winners.

He thought he'd found them until Tuesday night when Plainview met another squad of Bulldogs, from Borger, who made off with an easy, 58-48 decision.

Phillips had tried several lineups and settled on Sizemore, 6-2 senior Less Clary, 6-4 senior Johnny Hodel, 6-0 senior Larry Dove and 6-6 senior Lynn Sanders.

Sanders and Sizemore are averaging in double figures and Sanders carried a 10-6 average on the 'Dogs JV last season.

Clary had a 6.0 mark on the JV, Dove 8.0 and Hodel also averaged just over eight points per game for the junior varsity.

Plainview is tall but everybody other than Sizemore played on the JV's or B team. A total of 10 seniors dot the Bulldogs roster.

Besides the starting five Phillips plays 6-4 sophomore Charles Bassett, who carried a 16.3 mark on the B team, 6-0 junior Paul Cypert, who averaged 12.3, 6-0 junior Gary Ott, who carried a 10.7 mark, 6-4 sophomore Randall Roberts, 6-2 junior Kenny Smith and 5-9 senior Greg Sandlin, who averaged 14-0 for the JV's.

Tascosa, downed Lubbock, 61-51; Palo Duro edged Pampa, 55-53; Tascosa thrashed Caprock, 68-48; Monterey edged Coronado, 52-49.

For the season Tascosa is 6-3; Plainview, 8-5; Amarillo, 8-2; Pampa, 3-2; Palo Duro, 6-4; Borger, 4-4; Coronado, 7-6; Caprock, 3-7; and Lubbock, 0-10.

In other district games Friday night Caprock plays at Lubbock; Tascosa hosts Palo Duro; Borger is at Monterey and Coronado at Amarillo.

Pampa, for the first time this season had three players in double figures, the district's leading scorer, Jim Hollis plus Johnny Epperson and Billy Thomas.

The Harvesters also played well on defense but mistakes, plus some questionable officiating, cost them a hair-raiser.

Pampa was back at practice Wednesday and the squad went through a rough workout trying to correct the many turnovers that cost them the football-type contest at Palo Duro.

Hollis leads the district in scoring with a 21.8 average. The Harvester's smooth jumping Edward Moultrie continues to lead the club in rebounds with an average of just over eight per contest.

The Shockers, now 1-1 for the season will try and get back on the winning track with a 6:15 p.m. game against the Plainview Junior Varsity.

Hawks Blitz Hall, Blues For 6-3 Win

The Chicago Black Hawks waited for a goalie of their choice before snapping the best streak ever put together by a National Hockey League expansion team.

Chicago blitzed veteran Glenn Hall, the third St. Louis goaltender of the game, for three goals within a 55-second span of the second period Wednesday night to beat the Blues 6-3. It was the first loss for St. Louis in 13 games, a streak encompassing five victories and seven ties since Nov. 10.

The East Division leaders made no headway Wednesday night as the pacesetting Montreal Canadiens played to a 4-4 tie with Toronto and the New York Rangers and Boston Bruins remained deadlocked for second following a 2-2 standoff.

In other games, the Pittsburgh Penguins beat the Minnesota North Stars 4-2 and the Los Angeles Kings topped the Detroit Red Wings 6-3

Jacques Plante started in the St. Louis net at Chicago but suffered a 15-stitch cut when hit in the forehead by a Stan Mikita shot at 16:11 of the first period. Gary Edwards replaced Plante for the remainder of the session and Hall came on for the second period.

But he was greeted by goals from Dennis Hull, Doug Mohns and Kenny Wharram that helped Chicago overcome a 2-1 deficit for a 4-2 lead. Dennis hull and Wharram each scored twice for the Hawks and Bobby Hull collected his 20th goal.

John Ferguson scored his 100th NHL goal at 14:15 of the final period to give the Canadiens a draw at Toronto. Leaf captain George Armstrong, who came out of his second retirement only last week, opened the scoring with his first goal of the season.

Ken Hodge accounted for the tie at New York as he scored at 2:57 of the final period to bring the Bruins even. Fred Stanfield scored the first Boston goal and Vic Hadfield and Bob Nevin tallied for the Rangers.

Pittsburgh moved into a fourth-place tie with the North Stars in the West as Charlie Burns scored the winning goal early in the third period and Bill Flett scored three goals to lead the Los Angeles attack.

Football Viewers Missed Rams, Refs Miss Down

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sunday is a good day to catch up on some sleep.

Apparently a lot of people in the country did last Sunday because a horrible mistake was made in Los Angeles and more than nine million persons witnessed it clearly but not a single one was aware of what he had seen.

Norm Schachter and his officiating crew needn't feel badly about missing that all-important down which maybe cost the Los Angeles Rams last Sunday's game with the Chicago Bears. Schachter and his five crewmen had a lot of company.

CBS televised the contest and reports approximately nine million viewed it on their screens.

CBS further reports it didn't receive a SINGLE call asking about or protesting action of the game officials, who ruled incorrectly it was second down instead of first down again for the Rams after they were penalized 15 yards for holding following an incompleted pass.

Everybody, it seems, was asleep Sunday.

Among those nine million TV viewers were some of the highest officials in the NFL and not one of them noticed the mistake, either.

The eye-witnesses on the scene were just as bad. Maybe worse.

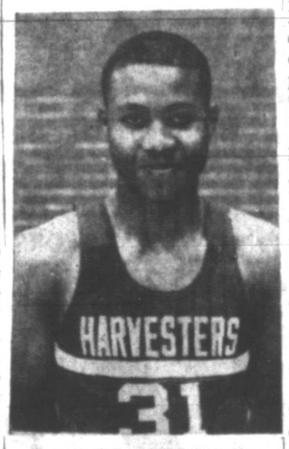

There were 66,368 fans in the Memorial Coliseum in Los Angeles, a vast majority presumably partial to the Rams, but not one sent any word to their bench pointing out the officials owed them another down.

George Allen, head coach of the Rams, wasn't aware of the error nor was any member of his coaching staff.

Roman Gabriel, the Rams' quarterback, didn't notice the boo-boo nor did any other Los Angeles player either on the field or on the bench. The Chicago players, of course, have to be exempt from inquiry because even had they been aware of the error they could hardly be expected to run up to the referee and tell him about it. That would be like calling back the telephone operator after finishing your call and telling her she just made a mistake and returned your dime.

To his credit, Pete Rozelle, pro football's Commissioner, saw his duty and he did it.

It was a painful duty but he realized Schachter and his crew, ordinarily one of the finest around, had made an obvious error and something had to be done about it. So Rozelle ruled they would receive no further assignments this season.

Cowboys Face Giants With Nothing Much But Pride Going

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Cowboys can all but taste an eastern Division Championship this year-so much so that they are not doing much thinking about their game this weekend against the New York Giants, a team that beat them 27-21 already this season.

Coach Tom Landry said at a Cowboy luncheon Wednesday the coaches should have the championship game plans completed by Saturday, the day before the New York game and more than a week before the big one with Cleveland.

As for last week Landry said the Cowboys played as well against Pittsburgh "as any time during the year. But we didn't play the run well. We will have to correct that against Cleveland."

Pittsburgh Ran Hard

Pittsburgh, in the face of a stiff pass rush, gained more than 200 yards on the ground against the Cowboys.

Dallas can take the week easy because it is assured a place in the playoffs because Cleveland knocked off New York during Thanksgivino.

Landry said a few of the Cowboys were disappointed because there is no chance they will meet the Green Bay Packers in the Super Bowl. The Packers have been eliminated in their division.

Winner for Baltimore

Landry predicted the winner of the Dallas-Cleveland game will meet the Baltimore Colts. He called the Colts the most consistent team the NFL has seen since the Paul Hornung, Jim Taylor Green Bay years of 1962 and 1963.

"I just hope we are there to play them on December 29th," Landry said.

He said his team is "doing a lot of things awfully good in all phases," but they are not as consistent as Baltimore. "We want to bring it all together," he said.

In spite of all the crystal balling about the future games Landry said the Cowboys would be ready for the Giants Sunday.

"It's always important to win because it takes something out of a team when they lose," he said.

PLAGER HURT

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Defenseman Bob Plager of the St. Louis Blues will be out of action at least three months due to a ligament tear in his left knee.

Hirsch Among 65 Hall of Fame Finalist

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dickie Moegle, Johnny Vaught, Elroy "Crazy Legs" Hirsch and Chuck Bednarik are among the 56 finalists for one of eight places to be granted in the National Football Hall of Fame in 1969.

Harvey Harman, executive director of the Hall Of Fame, disclosed the names Wednesday in an elimination from an original list of 131 nominees forwarded by members of 107 Hall of Fame chapters across the nation. Each chapter nominated players who performed or now live in its area.

Achievement in the field is of prime consideration, but the candidate's contributions as a citizen after leaving football also is considered.

Moegle is the former Rice halfback who was attacked by a player coming off the bench during a Cotton Bowl game; Vaught now is head football coach at Mississippi; Hirsch starred at Wisconsin, Michigan and the National Football League's Los Angeles Rams; and Bednarik was a lineman for Pennsylvania and for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Balanced Attack Gives Bullets Eastern Lead

By United Press International

Six members of the Baltimore Bullets agree that they're leading the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association because "for the first time in our history we've got a balanced attack."

Earl Monroe, Kevin Loughery, Gus Johnson, Wes Unseld, Ray Scott and Jack Marin—each of whom is averaging in double figures this season—pointed out that the Bullets are (1) getting the inside rebounds (2) using an effective running game and (3) getting big point totals from many different players.

Johnson and Unseld each had 22 points, Loughery had 20, Monroe 18 and Scott 10 Wednesday night when the Bullets beat the New York Knicks 118-110. The victory kept the Bullets one game ahead of the Boston Celtics, who scored a 108-106 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

The Philadelphia 76ers beat the Phoenix Suns 143-123, the Cincinnati Royals defeated the San Diego Rockets 116-110 and the Milwaukee Bucks topped the San Francisco Warriors 106-96 in other games.

The Bullets, who led 68-57 at halftime, had their lead narrowed to 106-101 with four minutes left. But Monroe's three-point play halted the comeback and the Bullets spurted to a 111-101 lead. Willis Reed had 22 points for the Knicks.

Jim Barnes came off the bench to score a three-point play with 70 seconds remaining to give the Celtics their victory after the Pistons overcame a 16-point deficit to go ahead 104-103. Larry Siegfried had 27 points and John Havlicek 26 for the Celtics while Jimmy Walker had 28 for Detroit.

Billy Cunningham scored 23 points in leading the 76ers to their 15th victory in 18 games despite Gail Goodrich's 19 points for Phoenix.

Schoendienst Top Manager

NEW YORK (UPI) — Red Schoendienst had his share of thrills as a player—the amazing comeback from a bout with tuberculosis and the 14th inning homer that gave the National League a 4-3 victory in the 1950 All-Star game.

Schoendienst's tenacity and ability carried over to the manager's side of baseball as he masterminded the St. Louis Cardinals to consecutive National League pennants in 1967-68. His second flag earned Schoendianst the National League Manager of the Year honors today by United Press International.

While the Mexico City Oympics and pro football cut into baseball's share of the sports headlines, Schoendienst valiently tried for back-to-back world championships. Detroit denied him the satisfaction gained when Schoendy beat Boston in the series the previous year.

But it was the effort leading up to the pennant that sports writers recognized as Schoendienst drew 13 of the 23 votes cast. Gil Hodges, who lifted the New York Mets into ninth place collected three votes. Dave Bristol was named on the same number of ballots for bringing Cincinnati a fourth-place finish for the second straight year.

Luman Harris of Atlanta had two votes and one each went Leo Durocher of Chicago and Herman Franks of San Francisco.

Schoendienst's manipulation of a strong bench was the vital factor in the Cardinals winning the pennant by nine games. Bob Gibson of course, was his season-long fixture with a final 1.12 earned run average and a league leading 268 strikeouts.

Close Victories Come in Second

By United Press International

Spencer Haywood, the Olympic standout, had already scored 35 points when he got the basketball just before the buzzer and went up for a lay-up Wednesday night in Detroit's game with Eastern Michigan, and the game tied 72-all.

So you'd expect it to fall in, just like the others, and bring Detroit its fifth straight win of the season.

He didn't score. The ball rolled off the rim, but teammate Jerry Swartzfager was there and put it back in for a 74-72 victory for the 17th-ranked Titans.

Seventh-ranked Notre Dame and Richmond were among other teams that took victories in the closing second Wednesday night. Jim Hewitt sank a free throw with one second left to give Richard an 80-79 triumph over West Virginia University and Tom Sinnott hit from the free throw line with 10 seconds remaining then stole the ball with one second left to give Notre Dame a 57-56 win over Wisconsin.

Besides Notre Dame and Detroit, the only other members of the nation's top 20 in action Wednesday night were New Mexico State, Dayton and Duke.

Sam Lacey's 28 points led the 16th-ranked New Mexico State Aggies to a 78-72 decision over Arizona, in a game marked by a successful stall in the final two and one-half minutes. Arizona battled back six times to tie the game from deficits as large as 12 points. Virginia rallied behind Tony Kinn's 29 points out of a halftime tie and to an 81-75 upset of 12th-ranked Duke.

Dayton, the No. 18 team, trounced Miami (Ohio) 83-55 to tie UCLA for the nation's longest winning streak — 19 games over two seasons. Jim Gottschall scored 20 points to lead the Flyers, who hit a torrid 60.7 per cent of their field goal attempts.

In other major games Wednesday, All-America Calvin Murphy scored 44 points and stole the ball six times to bring Niagara an 89-63 victory over Cornell.

Authur's 36 Pushes Tulane Past Texas

By United Press International

Johnny Arthurs scored 36 points to push Tulane to a 108-95 swamp of Texas Wednesday night.

Arthurs hit on 18 of 30 field goal tries and marked the highest output of his career.

Tulane hit 60 per cent of its shots from the floor in the first half and led by 15 points at intermission. Texas got no closer than 9 points in the second half.

The 108 point total for Tulane was the third highest score by a Texas opponent in Longhorn history.

High man for Texas was junior center Bruce Motley with 25 points. Wayne Doyal and Kurt Papp backed him up with 20 and 19.

Texas is 1-3 for the season while Tulane is 3-1.

Louisville whipped SMU 79-73 but was not the easiest game in the world as Butch Beard had to play the last 17 minutes with four personal fouls to carry the Cardinals to victory. Beard hit 22 points while Mike Grosso hit 21.

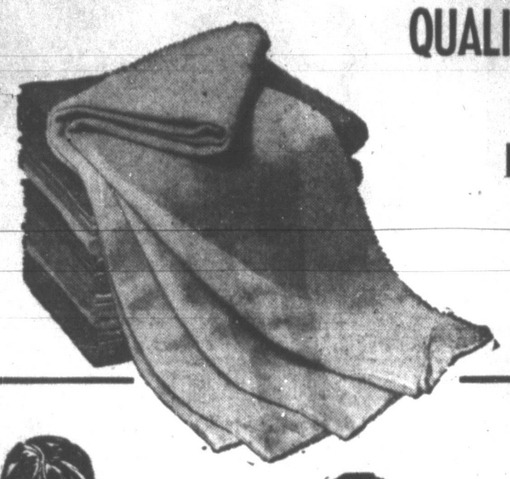

The Cardinals led by five points halfway through their fourth straight win and built a 13-point margin in the second half.

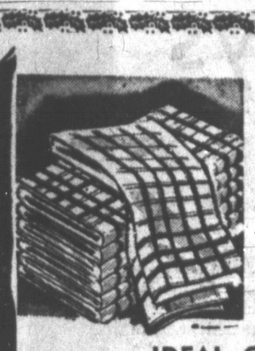

SMU sophomore Gene Phillips led a second half comeback with 14 points but it was not enough. SMU lost its fourth game in five starts.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistant with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Gangs Terrorize China

The weight of evidence is overwhelming. Socialism, a criminal ideology, encourages criminality.

And it seems to make little difference what country may be involved. The pattern is plain. To the degree that property is socialized, to the same degree criminal activity is found to be on the increase.

Reports from Red China, for example, tell of gangs of roving hooligans who intercept railway trains, seize arms and materials destined for Vietnam.

Some of this material they plunder for their own use. Some items — like "dozens of military radar units" — they destroy.

They beat up "volunteers" returning from Vietnam.

Gangs roam the countryside, attacking farmers, wantonly destroying crops, using knives to slash whole fields of melons, insulting women, stealing state property, committing armed robberies.

They steal, burn, loot, pick pockets, attack persons, carry out gang wars. They run their own underground radio stations.

They are armed with leather straps, slings, clubs, spears and an assortment of firearms.

The problem is nationwide, in major cities such as Shanghai, Peking and Canton, and in the countryside.

In parts of the country, public security officials have virtually lost control.

Residents in some areas have felt compelled to form mutual protection groups.

Young people have created a serious problem in Canton. Attacks on public transportation by gangs of armed youths resulted in the cancellation of almost all bus services. For a considerable period, attempts to restart the bus runs failed because drivers refused to chance being beaten up by the gangs.

Young people, claiming to be searching for "bad elements," have broken into the homes of people thought to be relatively well-off, stolen food, clothing and anything which could be sold in the black markets.

There are occasional reports of arrest. But in many cases local people deal with the problem themselves. Having faced the harshness of Red Guard attacks in the early days of the so-called cultural revolution, their reaction is often bitter and directed indiscriminately against all outsiders.

This decline of respect for persons and property and continued purges in the police, the army and government offices, have lessened Red China's ability to aid Hanoi and interfered with Russian shipments as well.

Thus, we see the same tactics used by the government against the people now being used by the people, turned criminal, against the government itself.

There is, as of now, no way to estimate how much these Red Chinese difficulties affect Hanoi's confidence in its ability to carry on a full-scale war. But it makes interesting speculation.

Backdoor Gun Registration

Those who believe they are governed by laws passed by their legislators got another rude awakening when the federal bureaucracy announced the way it was going to put into effect the new gun law.

Starting Dec. 16, when anyone buys a gun or ammunition, he is going to have to fill out elaborate forms and in effect go through government registration.

Members of Congress rejected proposals this year to require registration of firearms and owners. The rejection came after there was a vast groundswell of opposition to the dictatorial proposal. Even some of the most radical "liberals" in the Senate and House found they had to back off from gun registration because of opposition by the people. It was not organized opposition, but a general rejection of the idea that to own a gun for hunting or for selfprotection one must register with some political agency.

But the Internal Revenue Service, which will have charge of enforcing the new legislation, has gone far beyond the intent of Congress. Under the law anyone buying a gun will have to list his name and address and sign that he is legally eligible to purchase the weapon.

But, the IRS form will also require the individual to list his height, weight, race and place of birth. Robert C. Zimmer, representing Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers Institute, also said the form was so complex and confused that the average person probably would be unable to fill it out correctly. The paper work also will discourage small dealers from continuing to handle guns, said Zimmer.

But that does not concern the bureaucratic IRS. Creating confusing and complex forms for the people is a specialty of that tax-collecting agency. With more of those complex forms required of the people, the IRS will be able to demand that it be given more bureaucratic personnel to process the forms and to trip up persons who inadvertently make an error in filling them out.

But individuals who believe in freedom can't but feel that they are being dragged into an unconstitutional gun registration regulation through the back door. While those who already have guns are not now being dragged in for registration, every individual who buys a gun will be put on the list for the bureaucrats to see. And when he buys ammunition, he will be subjected to the same — or similar—limitations.

As has been pointed out many times, restrictions on guns do not affect criminals, who find it easy to obtain weapons. They only discourage the honest citizen who uses his gun for hunting, target shooting or for defense.

While most Americans believed they had beaten back another assault on their individual liberty when Congress rejected outright registration they now find they have a partial registration law — thanks to the bureaucrats who never let legality or illegality get in their way.

Not Merry For Mailmen

And now a good word for the mailman.

Estimates are that some 10 billion pieces of Christmas mail will have been delivered on time and reasonably intact by the overburdened couriers by the time the holiday season comes to its merciful end. That is as much mail as a major country such as France moves in an entire year. Put another way, it is 50 gifts, cards and letters for every man, woman and toddler in the nation.

This may be the season to be merry for the rest of us, but for the mailman it's a month of the miseries.

Pull Up A Chair

By JOHN KEASLER

No luck again this year. And I certainly am tired of no fatigues.

The "fashion forecast" in the men's magazine had the usual run of men's styles predicted for next season. But no fatigues.

Just the usual run of stuff you see in men's magazines. In the fashion forecasts, I mean. Edwardian suits that make everybody look like Bob Cratchit shrunk, neckties two inches wider than George Raft, trousers you have to put on with a shoehorn. But no fatigues.

Velvet Bermuda shorts, turtleneck berets, double-breasted blazers, purple sweatshirts — the usual run of stuff.

But another year is shot without some canny designer of men's wear bringing back one of the few styles of men's clothing that ever made the slightest bit of sense: The one-piece overalls called army fatigues.

My suspicion is that a plot lies beneath the suspicious refusal to introduce fatigues in the style-setting market and the motivation behind the plot is that if they ever sold fatigues men would wear nothing else and garment interests would cry havoc.

The only garment that ever made almost as much sense as fatigues was the Roman toga, which had disadvantages on windy days. Fatigues have no disadvantages. All other clothing has nothing but disadvantages.

I was thinking of this only this morning while trying to button my shirt collar down in the back. I don't particularly even want my shirt collar buttoned down in the back. Or the front. But that is the style.

In the time I spent buttoning down my shirt collar, glumly, I could be fully and stylishly dressed in fatigues — if they were in style.

This does not include the time trying to put on my narrow pants I inadvertently bought. The cuffs are so narrow my feet swell. They're the only pants I ever had where you sprain your ankle getting your pants on. But they are the style.

The old Army fatigues I'm talking about were blue. At first. They were of a stiff material. At first. (Cotton with interwoven strands of barbed wire, I believe.) A couple of washings, however, and the iron fell out — they turned a pleasant shade of light blue. I don't know the technical term. (Washed-out blue). And they became soft and pliable — and they never wore out.

Never. The guys in my pre-World War II outfit who had blue fatigues in 1939 were wearing the same ones in 1945 and may still be wearing them.

They were a cherished status symbol. I gave my fatigues to a friend when, on a mistaken impulse, I decided not to be a 30-year-man but to seek my fortune in civilian life. I not only failed to find my fortune; I lost the only decent clothing I ever had.

Right before and during World War II they started changing fatigue design around, making two-piece sets and those things with huge pockets which were supposed to hold hand grenades, but pockets which were impossible to get your hand into. Also they turned Khaki or olive drab for some reason. (Washed-out blue has gone to war?)

And I wish somebody would bring them back. Winston Churchill used to wear a variation, called a siren suit, but it had a zipper. Fatigues as I knew them did not have zippers. They had reliable, and trustworthy, buttons. Steel buttons which would not come off.

And the most treasured thing about one-piece fatigues is you could dress without waking up. People don't realize how much of the annoyance involved in trying to face another day lies in the silly details of getting dressed. Life is complicated enough without having to button your shirt in the back or inhale so your trousers will button.

In the good old days you could dress without waking up. In fact, a rude definition of a soldier back then was a guy who could leap out of a second story and put on his fatigues before he hit the ground.

Furthermore, come to think of it, they looked good. And every year I see the new styles, they look better by comparison. Even the pockets worked.

There's millions in it, designers. Even if you have to follow your usual trend. . . Pink fatigues would be better than no fatigues at all.

"That Takes Care of the Cabinet. Now What We Need Is Some of Those 'Now It Can Be Told' Authors."

The American Way

By D. R. SEGAL

An acquaintance the other day asked: "What sort of books do you read?" I am not sure if it was an inquiry or an accusation, but it set me to wondering just what kind of books have I been reading anyway? I can't honestly remember many of them; but I have the feeling that I've read almost everything at least once and now I'm on the second time around. If I were a literary critic, I think I would put the first item of criteria on length. Most authors, after they have written the title, have told you about all they know. From there on it's downhill all the way. Book editors, I've noticed, are impressed and intimidated by such criteria as length (weight) of a book, obscurity of reference, and even the name of the persons who drew the pictures or wrote the preface.

For all-around best reading, I can't say too much for cook books. Now, I'm not a cooker, but I'm without peer as an appreciator of cooking. TIME, Inc., through some fancy pants subsidiary, puts out a wonderful collection of full-color cook books. Since TIME is the publisher, I can't swear as to the accuracy of the recipes, but the pictures are enough for me. I can get indigestion just looking at the snails in garlic sauce and the fine fish soups from France. I sometimes read these cook books early in the morning when the troubles of the day just past and the one just begun collide in mid-dream and drive sleep out of the window.

Christmas is the Big Season for book publishers, especially those who put out supercalifragelistic - expialidoches editions of Great Novels out of copyright, translations of obscure lady poets and works of art from the Vatican and Kremlin. If the publisher does not have to pay royalties, he can upgrade the quality of the binding and the paper. DeLuxe editions are followed by Super DeLuxe editions, capped only by the Collectors Edition of genuine imitation morocco with 24 karat gold leaf lettering. (Allow three weeks for initials.) When Gallup and Roper recover from the election I'd like to see them try to find out what percentage of WAR AND PEACE owners are WAR AND PEACE readers. W&P does fill a nice hole on the shelf, but have you ever tried reading it?

Before you blame the book publishers for selling covers rather than content, you might consider the two major political parties (and the other ones as well). They have been selling covers for years. There is about as much content to a party platform as you could jam into a thimble. When Mars strikes back and sends an astronaut to earth, I hope he reads the two 1968 platforms and lets me have his reaction. I suspect he'll wonder how we could tell which outfit we were voting for. We'll have to explain that nobody but nobody pays any attention to what's inside; it's the cover that counts. If you're a Democrat, you have the Democratic Party platform to stand on; and if you are a Republican, you have the Republican platform. There are no collectors editions available. Who'd want to collect anything like that?

"I Never Flew To China—But I caught the Hong-Kong Flu" is the latest hit song going around. Getting the H.K.F. is the newest status symbol and if you don't catch it you are a social outcussed.

I see little groups standing around in a huddle and looking over at me like I was growing horns. I know what it is — I have remained healthy all through the epidemic and I don't talk their language.

I hear them saying "It affected my ear-drums" or "I had the chills" and all I can offer is — "I had Rocky-Mountain Spotted Fever once." But they won't listen.

Conformity has reached the point in this country where, if you get shut out of a epidemic you become suspect. Anybody who can walk around for weeks without succumbing must either be a communist or affiliated with the SDS.

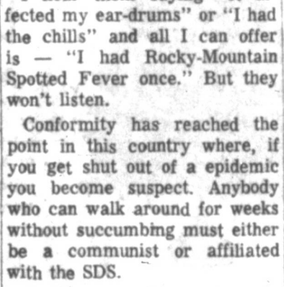

-O, there are plenty of people who are certain that the commies have started a new germ warfare upon the U.S. and are importing the H.K. Flu in China Dolls that you wind up. Then when you push a button they spew germs for 15 feet in every direction.

It got so bad down at our place I finally called up the doctor — "What have you got for this new epidemic, Hong-Kong Flu?" I asked.

"You don't sound as though you had the flu," he replies.

"I didn't say I had it," I tell him. "I asked what you had for it. I have got to get hold of some flu germs, and quick. If I don't come down with the flu by next week I am going to be drummed out of the office."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Why Indiana is called the Hoosier state is uncertain, The World Almanac says. One explanation is that Indianians were so inquisitive they were unable to pass a house without asking: "Who's here?" Another equally unlikely story, this by the Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley, says fierce Indiana pioneers bit off the ears of enemies, and seeing an ear on the floor was so common that one merely asked: "Whose ear?"

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G BRANSTADT

No Simple Treatment For Phlebitis Cases

Q—What is the difference between phlebitis and a blood clot? What caused it and what can be done for it?

A—Phlebitis is an infection of a vein. It is often associated with clotting in the vein, in which case it is. Called thrombophlebitis. It may be caused by an infection or by abnormal slowing of the circulation through the vein. It often follows an operation or childbirth.

There is no simple treatment for this disease. After the acute stage, during which bed rest is advisable, you should wear an elastic bandage if the phlebitis is in the leg. When sitting, keep your legs elevated on a foot-stool. When not using the footstool, do not cross your legs.

When sitting or standing for a long time, you should wiggle your toes frequently to keep the blood circulating in your legs.

Put eight-inch props under the foot of your bed to facilitate return flow of blood from your legs. You should avoid tobacco but alcohol in moderation dilates the blood vessels and improves the circulation. Don't wear circular garters. A diet high in the saturated fats (chiefly fats of animal origin) favors the clotting within the veins and should be avoided.

In some cases, doctors give a course of anticoagulants. Dextran slows the clotting process and other drugs have been found to dissolve newly formed clots. These include streptokinase, urokinase and Arvin, a pit viper venom. If these measures fail, it may be possible to restore the circulation by surgical removal of the clot.

Q—Following a hysterectomy, I developed phlebitis in my left leg. After five months, my leg is still swollen. My doctor says it will go down in time. How much longer will it take and where will the blood clot go?

A—It may take several months to recover from a severe phlebitis. The treatments mentioned in the preceding answer should help to speed the process. A blood clot that has remained in place for four or five months gradually becomes replaced by scar tissue. New circulatory pathways that bypass the clot may be established to help restore the circulation.

A—A friend says that a hard, blue mark on her arm is a blood clot. Can a clot be seen from the outside?

A—Yes, when it lies in a superficial vein.

Wit and Whimsy

A mother had just sent her four children back to class after a three-day snow recess when it began to snow again. In desperation, she called the local radio station and asked:

Mrs. Jones — If the snow continues will you please announce there won't be any home today?

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

Unity! Ain't It Wenderful!

The theme song of the Nixon Administration will be unity. According to my dictionary, unity means: "Continuitywithout deviation or change (as in purpose or action); the quality or state of being made one."

Unity! Ain't it wonderful! And the lion and the lamb shall lie down together. Stokely Carmichael and George Wallace. Carl McIntyre and Bishop Pike. Hippies and anybody. Now all of us can join the twentieth century, together! No need now to stop the world and let anybody off.

No more "extremist aginners" like the bar fly who fell asleep in his chair. Another drunk rubbed a little Limburger cheese in his mustache. The Limburger Lad awoke, staggered up to the bartender and whispered:

"Ain't it awful?"

"Ain't what awful?"

"The whole world stinks!"

In the United States of America, kooks will no longer see Communists hiding under every bed. Communists will be in bed, just like everybody else. Unity will merge Communism into Socialism and Capitalism into Socialism, in a one-world, non-profit, unified brotherhood under the United Nations.

Henceforth we must try to evaluate all peoples in their proper lights. Like the wife who reported to the psychiatrist: "My husband has a terrible delusion. He thinks he's a refrigerator!"

"Oh, well, that won't hurt him." replied the headshrinker.

"But it hurts me!" the woman answered. "He sleeps with his mouth open and the light keeps me awake!"

Have you got unity? Reminds me of the letter sent to a newspaper medical column: "Dear Doctor: Please send me the name of a good book on personal hygiene. I think I've got it."

An American reporter in Moscow asked a Russian recently: "Why don't you make known your displeasure when your leaders are wrong?"

The Russian replied: "They never are wrong!"

See? That's the real spirit of unity!

As Mark Twain wrote in Huckleberry Finn. "Dammit, we got all the fools in town on our side! And ain't that a big enough majority in any town"

Before I became unified, a newspaper publisher named Wolcott suggested editorially that many people think I am mentally sick. Which reminds me of the two psychiatrists walking down a hospital corridor. When a man walking past smiled and said, "Hi", one of the psychiatrists turned to the other and asked, "What do you suppose he meant by that?"

Of course, I've got to admit that I was a little irritated to note that the perfectly sane publisher who declares me cracked says I called the hierarchy of the National Council of Churches, Communists. I did no such thing. Even before I was saved by unity, I never called anybody a Communist who has not confessed the fact or been so identified under oath in a competent investigation. And let me state here for the record, there may not be any Communiss in the hierarchy of the National Council of Churches—but, if there aren't there most certainly are some who are cheating the Communists out of their dues.

When attacked publicity for one's sanity and superpatriotism by an important publisher, one feels so defenseless, so alone. I seek solace in this timeless classic:

A young chizophrenic
named Struther
When told of the death of his mother,
Said, "Yes, it's too bad,
"But I can't feel too sad
"After all, I still have each other."

Branch Head Bill Says:

By BILL KENNEDY

I asked my Pappy, now 81, how they used to settle arguments and disagreements way back yonder before there was a lawyer representing everybody in everything he does except go to the bathroom.

He described several different ways, varying from fist fights, ball bats, single trees and well tackle to sometimes rifles and shotguns. He said sometimes they even sat down and reasoned together when everything else failed.

In the first place, there wasn't enough lawyers in the business to handle every dispute in those days. And in the second place most folks didn't figure they could afford the cost of a lawyer to tell them when to spit.

When you really need a lawyer, that's something else But today, it's different. A fellow scrubs your fender in a parking lot and you report it to your insurance company and they bring in a battery of lawyers. He tells his insurance agent and his lawyer takes it up. The first thing you know some lawyer gets the other guy scared and he calls his own lawyer. You tell a friend about it and he says, "You better get yourself a lawyer. They may be fixing to take you for a ride. Now, if they see you mean business, you may be able to collect . . ."

He's right. When it all winds up, you get your fender fixed. But you have paid more in legal fees than the fender cost. You look around and you see that the only ones who really benefited from the law were the lawyers.

Get in a land line dispute and the same thing happens. The lawyers win. Both sides. But nobody else. A fellow and his wife can't even split the blanket without at least a couple of lawyers getting a slice of their joint property. Used to, a man could beat his wife a little, but now you are lucky if you can get away with spanking one of your own young'uns without having to hire a lawyer to defend your right to do it.

Break a traffic law and you don't just pay your fine anymore; it's so much "and court costs"—whether there was any court or not. Same thing if you shoot a bird too early, or late. There are always "court costs."

And did you ever know anybody to go to court without a lawyer? I knew a fellow once . . . He will be getting out on parole soon, provided he can scrape up enough money to pay a lawyer to arrange it for him.

It's lawyers, lawyers, lawyers. If you are lucky, you can get born without one; but if you ever try to prove you were born, you'll sure have to have one. And you'd certainly better not die without one (wills, administrators, etc., etc.). They even got a law now that you have to have a lawyer to explain to the police how you didn't commit a crime—or even to admit that you did.

Now my old man has got a theory about all this: He says the reason it has been fixed so that lawyers get a piece of the action everytime you move is because it is lawyers who are making all the laws. He said in the olden days they used to send all kinds of folks to the state legislature and to congress. But not anymore, just lawyers. I got to thinking about it, and he is right.

A fellow gets out of law school and finds he can't make it as a shister (too many lawyers); so he runs for office. And what do we do? We elect him, and reelect him, and the first thing you know we have spawned another professional politician. And he goes on helping to pass more laws to make it necessary for more people to use more lawyers.

So I guess it's all our own fault.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A country with as little faith as any in the outcome of Paris peace talks over Vietnam is Thailand.

The Thais, like many high-echelon South Vietnamese, fear a U.S. sell-out in Vietnam and fear that if the Communists succeed in taking over Vietnam, their country will be next.

Meanwhile, Thailand's commitment in South Vietnam is total. Its army and naval forces fight in South Vietnam alongside the United States. U.S fighter-bombers take off from Thai bases to attack North Vietnam transports along the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos, and, before the bombing halt, against North Vietnam itself.

Which is by way of pointing up the complexities facing U.S. negotiators in Paris.

These are not the peace talks which concluded the armistice in Korea 15 years ago. Those talks dealt specifically with Korea and with the North Koreans and Red Chinese.

In Paris, the negotiators must consider not only Vietnam but Laos and Thailand as well. Eventually they must have a voice.

In the military viewpoint, Vietnam, Laos and Thailand always have been considered one war theater.

In Vietnam, the North Vietnamese openly support the Viet Cong but deny participation in the South by their own troops.

In Laos, it is the Pathet Lao, again with denial that some 40,000 NVN troops are in Laos in violation of Laotian neutrality.

And in Thailand, it is the Thailand Patriotic Front which is supported by North Vietnam, separated at one point from Thailand by only 55 miles.

Giving point to Thailand fears, a recent report of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) listed five Southeast Asia nations suffering from increased Communist insurgency.

They were Thailand, Laos, Cambodia, Malaysia and Burma.

The Thais are firm believers in the domino theory and are convinced that within moments of a Communist takeover in Vietnam they would become the next target. Laos, they believe, would fall as a straw house in a windstorm.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Harris, Upham advises staying with the present post-election year-end rally a long as the uptrend rate, which has been in force since the August low, is not broken. The firm sees an encouraging sign in the past record of year-end seasonal rallies. In the past 40 years the market has rallied 35 times during the week between Christmas and New Year's, it says.

Bache & Co. believes "we are mostly likely to be in for a new syndrome of nervous Thursdays . . . in which traders look apprenhensively to the 4 p.m. announcement of weekly monetary statistics." Although doubtful that the Federal Reserve will choose the time between national administrations to enact significant monetary revisions, the firm thinks investors recently have been more aware that the type of inflation causing a stampede into common tock i an unuetaoinhrdlhhh mon tocks Is an unsustainable condition.

Goodbody & Co. cautions that a number of factors could contribute to putting a damper on the general market after year-end rally and reinvestment demand factors run their course. They are the prospect of some slowdown in the growth of the economy next year, intensifying monetary problems, both domestic and international, and the continued drag in Vietnam peace negotiations.

Graduate Victimized By Blasphemy Report

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A college graduate, victimized by a "blasphemy report," in the files of the Retail Credit Co., was blackballed by the insurance industry and forced to eke out a living as a store detective, Senate credit investigators were told Wednesday.

James T. Baker, who worked as a claims adjuster for Allstate Insurance Co., and the General Adjustment Bureau, found no opening in the insurance field once the report went into credit bureau files.

Baker, who lives in Norfolk, Va., testified that the "brand" was removed from the files only after he successfully sued Allstate and its office manager, John T. Young, who allegedly provided the information to retail credit.

Despite the court vindication, Baker told the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, he could not find employment in his chosen field, insurance. "The 11th commandment is thou shalt not sue a former employer," he said.

Testifying as the subcommittee contiues its inquiry into the practices of credit bureaus, Baker said that when he left periods of joblessness he was earning $2 an hour as a department store security man although he has completed his law studies and has taken the Virginia bar exam.

Baker said that when he left Allstate his former employers informed the Retail Credit Co. that he was dismissed for violating company policy by referring claimants to certain lawyers. He resorted to the law suit after he could not get derogatory information out of his record.

Robert W. Biccum, general counsel for the Retail Credit Co., testified after Baker left the stand and said the information came to the credit bureau from an Allstate agent.

"This was what retail was told although the agent denies having done this," Biccum added. "There are indications that this agent also gave the ployers (of Baker's)."

information to prospective em-

The general counsel said that since the law suit, the information has not been provided to anyone and the last report given on Baker in May "was entirely favorable."

Under questioning, Bicum acknowledged that Retail Credit did not check into the allegations about Baker. He said Retail Credit accepted the information on the basis that the agent who provided it was reputable.

Baker said "Retail Credit didn't want to remove this blasphemy report. This information was there, irresponsible, unverified, and gotten over the phone."

SHAPING UP and shipping out, too, is Miami Boat Show Queen Karen Reznicki (37-24-36). Karen was named queen of the Florida exposition at which some 300 exhibitors will display $20 million worth of marine products. The show is scheduled for Feb. 21-26 at Miami Beach.
