

Tahoka Welcomes Wagon Train

The Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train will roll into Tahoka today (Thursday) including more than 50 wagons, auxiliary vehicles and horseback riders, and a good crowd of Tahoka and

Lynn County residents is expected to turn out to welcome the group. School will turn out at noon and students are expected to join the crowd for the historical event as the wagon train moves by the courthouse and then circles back to the campground east of Tahoka about 12:30 p.m. today.

Mayor Jim Solomon, former mayor Mel Leslie and Lynn County pioneer Belton Howell, who will be 100 this year, are expected to ride in the lead wagon coming into town, after getting on board as the entourage comes in from the south.

The wagon train was to spend Wednesday night in O'Donnell, where several activities were scheduled in honor of the event. Activities also are planned throughout the day in Tahoka, including playing of the McMurry College calliope on the courthouse lawn, to be played by Gary White. As the wagon train winds through the downtown area, Sesquicentennial items will be sold by the local committees and hot dogs and other items by the Tahoka Chamberettes.

Twenty Tahoka merchants have donated items to be placed in bags which will be presented as gifts to wagon train participants.

Persons who plan to drive downtown to see the procession today should be in place by noon or earlier, since police will block off the streets to prevent traffic from crossing the path of the wagon train downtown. After the wagon train goes through town, it will proceed to the campsite east of town, where a few activities are planned in the afternoon. Hamburger plates will be sold at $3.50 per plate beginning at 5 p.m. and a program is scheduled beginning at 7 p.m., according to wagon train committeemen. The wagon train plans no stop downtown at noon today.

Route of the train through town as the group comes from the south is detailed on a map which is shown on the welcome advertising ad on pages 6 and 7 of this issue, sponsored by merchants and individuals.

The wagon train will exit U.S. 87 at the first Tahoka exit and then will be headed north on the east access road. At the first overpass south, the procession will cross to the west access road and then go north to S. 1st St., where it will turn west, going in front of the courthouse. At Main, the wagons will turn south briefly for a block, then continue west on S. 2nd to the postoffice, where they will turn north again, going down Ave. K to U.S. 380. From there they will go east out to the campsite.

A schedule of the evening's activities is listed elsewhere on this page.

Artwork by students in connection with the Sesquicentennial will be on display all day today at the former Anthony's-Marrier Furniture building.

When the dusty travellers reach Tahoka today, those who have been with the group since it started Jan. 2 will have completed 2070 miles of the scheduled 3028 miles when it reaches the Fort Worth stockyards July 3. From here the train will go to Lubbock.

In Lubbock Monday Wagon Train representative Eugene Bonds told the Avalanche-Journal that members of the wagon train include not only farmers and ranchers, but doctors, teachers, accountants, attorneys and people from other professions. He said 24 wagons have made the trip from its start in Sulphur Springs.

"We never know how many wagons and riders we will have until the night before the ride," he said, noting that the train picks up several new registered riders along the road as several others drop out.

Test Of New Tornado Warning Set Friday

When the sirens sound in Tahoka at noon Friday, citizens won't need to take cover, but they will need to listen, because this is a new tornado warning sound which will be tested at noon Friday and the following Friday, also at noon. And any other time the new warning sound is heard, it means a tornado has been sighted, and everyone should take cover.

The City of Tahoka has just installed a new control system which allows the siren to sound a continuous, but wavering tone, which now will be used to signal a tornado alert, instead of the old system which has been four short blasts. The only time the wavering tone will be used is for the tornado alert, said City Manager Carl Reynolds.

Two short blasts after the wavering tone has sent everyone to the cellars will be the all-clear signal, Reynolds said. He added that three short blasts still will be the fire practice signal and that one long continuous tone still will be the fire alarm.

No test will be made at noon Friday if it is cloudy, he said. But if the weather is clear, the test will be made. "This way people can hear it and will know what it sounds like," Reynolds said.

Barnes, Edwards Win Vote Battles

H.W. (Sam) Edwards won a narrow 16-vote victory over incumbent Justice of the Peace Ed Hamilton JP Precinct 1 of Lynn County last Saturday, as Edwards polled 336 votes to 320 for Hamilton in the three voting boxes allowed to vote on the race in the county.

Incumbent County Precinct 2 commissioner Boyd Barnes of Draw withstood the challenge of former commissioner J.C. Gandy, winning 250 to 172. In South Tahoka, Gandy won 158 to 156, but Barnes won 42-4 at Draw and 38-2 at Grassland, and 14-8 in absentee.

In what was termed a light turnout for a primary, 1069 persons voted in the Democratic Primary and a record high 242 persons voted in the Republican Primary, for a total Lynn County vote of 1311. County Clerk C.W. Roberts said this was low, considering there are 4263 registered voters in the county. He also compared the Democratic turnout of 1069 to the 1984 Democratic primary, when 1618 voted.

The GOP primary total of 242 was easily a county record turnout, since most Republican primaries in the past here have had only 25 or 30 voters. The reason was Kent Hance, who was seeking the GOP nomination for governor and opposed on the primary ballot by former Governor Bill Clements and Tom Loeffler. Clements easily won the nomination statewide, getting 60 per cent of the GOP vote total, but in Lynn County, as throughout the South Plains, Hance was a heavy favorite. Hance had 203 votes to 33 for Clements and 5 for Loeffler in Lynn County. Seventy-one persons voted in the Republican primary at O'Donnell (Boxes 3, 5 and 10) and 171 voted in Tahoka for the rest of the voting boxes in the county.

In the JP race, Hamilton won the South Tahoka box 213 to 113. But Edwards won 82-44 in North Tahoka, 114 to 42 in West Tahoka and 27-21 in absentee. Justice of the Peace precincts are not the same as commissioner precincts in Lynn County, and although the JP Pct. 1 officeholder serves New Home and Wilson, those residents were not given a chance to vote in the race.

County and district officials anopposed on the Democratic ballot and who have no GOP opponents in November were given new terms. They included JP Ben Morrison with 118 votes, Pct. 4 Commissioner J.T. Miller with 111. Treasurer Cynthia Bryan with 899, County Clerk Roberts with 907, District Clerk Joy Laws 904, County Judge J.F. Brandon 914, District Judge George Hansard 775.

Lynn County Democrats voted heavily for current Dist. 78 State Rep. Steve Carriker of Roby, who easily won the nomination with a district-wide total of 10,794 to 5,350 for challenger Danny Hunter. Lynn County gave Carriker a margin of 686 to 179. He has no Republican challenger in November.

Democrats gave Mark White 376 votes in the county, to 261 for Andrew Briscoe, 115 for Don Crowder, 37 for Locke, 29 for Slover and 31 to Bilyeu.

U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, unopposed, had 692 votes.

Bill Hobby won 636-238 over David Young; Ag Commissioner Jim Hightower polled 692 to 267 for Noel Cowling. For RR Commissioner, John Sharp led in Lynn with 298, P.S. Ervin had 234, McNaughton 145 and Poulard 72.

For Supreme Court Justice Place 1, Lynn County gave Oscar Mauzy 354, Sears McGee 221, Shirley Butts 208 and Hugo Touchy 33.

For place 2, Jim Brady had 335, Robert Campbell 267, Ted Akin 106 and Kaufman 55. For place 4, Raul Gonzales had 319, Jay Gibson 228, John Humphreys 221 and David Ivy 69. For criminal appeals court, place 1, Rusty Duncan had 251, George Martinez 193, Preston Dial 178 and Paul Reagan 168.

MOTHERS always love all their children, no matter how lousy they may be, and most of us love our mothers. But that doesn't mean that we love all mothers, just our own. Of course, even other people's mothers are lovable when they are being kind and motherly, but when they start trying to get publicity for their offspring, they tend to be more than a little bit biased.

Hell hath no fury like that of a mother (or grandmother) whose little darling has been wronged in some way. Of course, there's nothing wrong with that; mothers are supposed to take up for their kids.

My own mother always thinks I do great things. I'm not about to tell her the truth, either. Everybody ought to have a mother so that he or she will have somebody who is always on their side. (Of course, some teenagers think their mothers are mostly on their children's backs instead of their sides).

Anyway, it's appropriate that we have a day to honor mothers. Remember, the hand that adjusts the car seat rules the world.

Problem Of Junk Cars In City Eyed

An increasing number of junk vehicles on public and private property in Tahoka was the subject of a lengthy discussion by Tahoka City Council with Police Chief Gary Morrison at the council's regular meeting Monday.

"There are people in town who have several junk vehicles in their yards or parked in front of their homes, or in back alleys, and we'd like to encourage them to get rid of these vehicles," said Mayor Jim Solomon.

It was noted that the city has an ordinance prohibiting junk cars. Except for licensed junk car dealers, such vehicles not currently registered either on public or private property are supposed to be screened from public view. The ordinance carries a fine of up to $200.

Doyle Webb, who will take over as manager of the Tahoka office of Southwestern Public Service appeared before the council to pledge his cooperation with the city in any way.

Four applications for housing assistance under the Community Development Block Grant program were approved.

Morrison also gave a monthly report of police department activities, including handling of our criminal mischief cases, two harassment complaints, one felony DWI arrest, two assaults, 12 incidents of domestic violence, two thefts, one suicide, three accidents, 10 traffic citations and 8 warning tickets.

Present were Mayor Solomon, City Manager Carl Reynolds and council members Dayton Parker, Wayne Tekell, Leonard Dunn, Dalton Wood and Jim Thomas.

Area Highway Resurfacing Approved

The State Highways and Public Transportation Commission recently approved a $1.3 million contract with Caprock Highway Construction Co. of Lubbock to resurface 74 miles of highway in six area counties.

The longest single section of highway to be resurfaced in the project is U.S. 180 in Gaines County from just east of Seminole east to the Dawson County line, a distance of 25.8 miles.

Other highways included in the resurfacing project include: A 9.3 mile section of U.S. 84 in north Bailey County.

A 7.8 mile section of U.S. 84 in northeast Hockley County.

A 16.3 mile section of U.S. 84 in northeast Lynn County and northwest Garza County.

And a 14.8 mile section of S.H. 137 in south Dawson County.

The resurfacing work, which should begin in July, is vital to protect taxpayer's investment in area highways, according to local highway officials.

Frontier Lifestyle Lures Young Family To Wagon Train

For Fred, Debbie, David and Teresa Shivers--and their four daughters age 5 and under -- the Texas Sesquicentennial is much more than a spectator event; they're reliving the life of the prairie pioneers who trekked to Texas 150 years ago seeking a brighter future.

The Shivers, who hail from small towns in Oklahoma, are covering 3,000 miles in a horse-and-mule-drawn caravan of covered wagons to celebrate Texas' Sesquicentennial. Circling the state on a six-month journey, the wagon train will visit more than 120 cities and towns along the way. It began its trek in Sulphur Springs on Jan. 2 and will roll into Tahoka today (Thursday).

The Shivers' adventure is being underwritten by the Morrison Milling Company of Denton. A sponsor of the Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train, the firm is celebrating a trio of anniversaries -- the Morrison family's 50th year in association with the mill, the mill's 100th anniversary and Texas' 150th birthday.

Unlike many in the six-month-long wagon train journey, the Shivers aren't being followed by a luxury motor home for nights of relative ease. "The wagon is our sole living accommodation for our family while we're on the wagon train," Fred Shivers said. "Of course we're pulling along a chuck and supply wagon, but as to having a motor home drag along behind us, that's out of the question. The wagon is our home from daylight to dark and back to daylight again come rain or snow or sunshine."

"We're looking forward to every step of this journey," Fred said just before the wagons rolled. "When Debbie and I got married in February 1976, we spent our honeymoon on the Bicentennial Wagon Train. That ride is an experience we'll never forget -- but we generally don't recommend starting off a marriage that way."

Shivers recalled that he and his new bride made the first trip by trading and dealing with other families in the wagon train. "We would fix saddles in trade for food, and we carved whatever interesting sticks we could find into Bicentennial canes and such to sell for food and supplies.

"A lot of the time we never knew where the next meal was coming from, and that's a pretty stressful way to begin a marriage," Shivers said. "But we enjoyed that ride so much that we really looked forward to the Sesquicentennial wagon train."

In addition to providing the Shivers a rolling home for more than six months, the Morrison wagon is also a full-fledged kindergarten, Shivers said. "There's a school for the kids participating in the wagon train, but because our kids are not old enough to attend, we'll make sure they don't miss what they would normally learn in kindergarten."

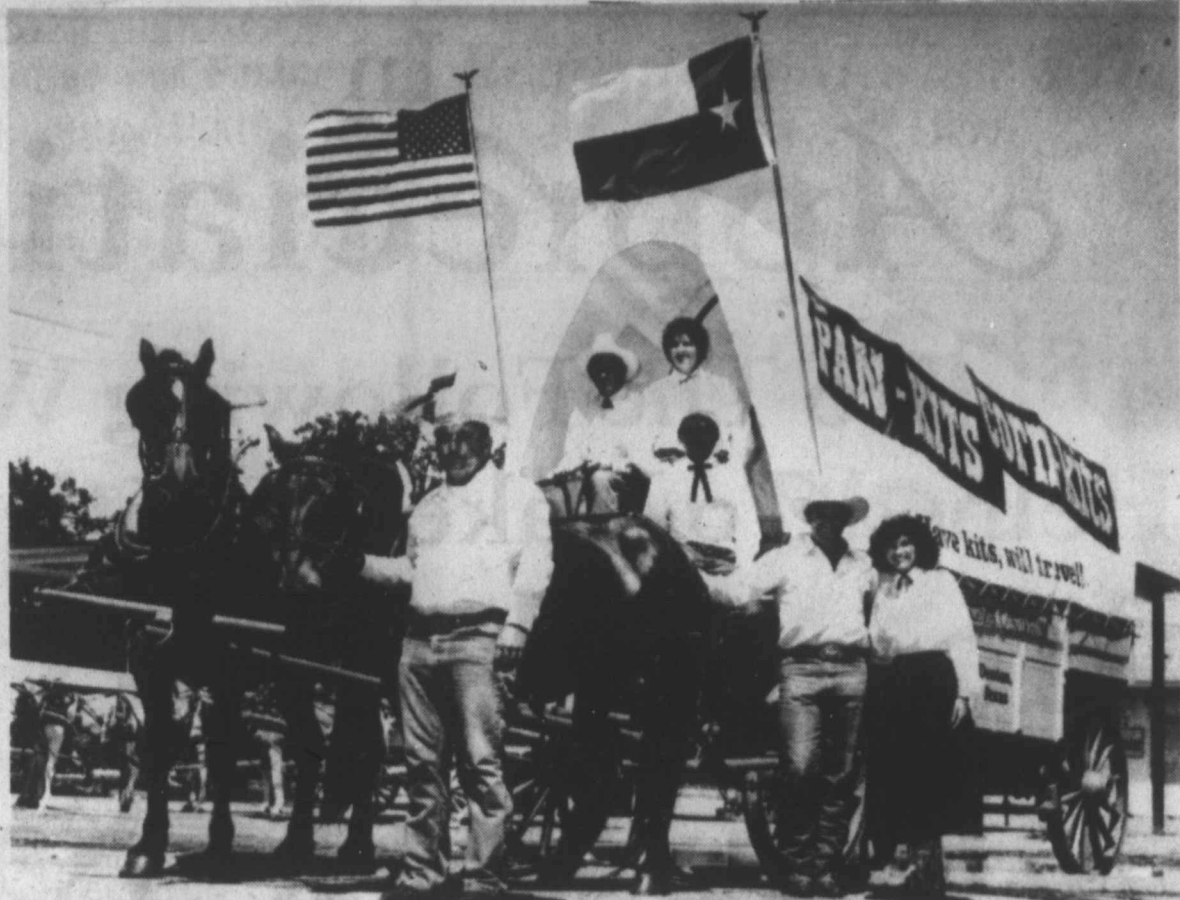

"My sister-in-law, Teresa, is an elementary school teacher, and she's worked out what the kids will be studying on the trip," Shivers said. "This trip will give our girls an experience they'll remember for the rest of their lives."

Fred and Debbie's daughters are Tracy, age 5, Karrie Lynn, 3 1/2, and Kristie Lynn, 15 months. David and Teresa's daughter, Abbra, is two-years-old. "We think Kristie is the youngest child on the wagon train," Fred said. "At least, she's the youngest we've seen."

The Morrison entry in the Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train has several historical links to the north Texas mill. The main wagon was originally sold by the Fowler Brothers to a farming family in Krum, Texas, just west of Denton, home of The Morrison Milling Co. Used in the early 1900s to haul grain to the mill, the wagon was retired to storage when gasoline-powered vehicles became popular.

When Morrison decided to join the Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train to help celebrate the Mill's 100th birthday and their 50th anniversary with it, Sonny Morrison, president of the company, and Joe Shelton, supervisor of fleet maintenance, took on the task of coordinating the project. They launched a wide-ranging search for just right vehicle, only to find it in the mill's back yard in Krum.

A typical farm tool from the turn of the century, it is a McCormick-Deering wagon, 11x38, built by International Harvester. It needed only minor repairs, a paint job and a new canvas to be ready to roll.

We couldn't let Mothers Day go by without adding our salute to Mothers. We see mothers every day in our pharmacy. We see them when they are worried and bringing in prescriptions for a sick child. Gift Bags Ready For Wagon Train Several area merchants have donated items to put into gift bags to give to the people in each wagon as the Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train arrives in Tahoka Thursday, May 8. Thirteen businesses in Tahoka have donated several varieties of items, and five New Home businesses have items in the bags.

Tahoka Chamberettes published a story in the Lynn County News several weeks ago, asking area businesses to donate items for the bags "which we thought was a nice gesture to the folks who will be traveling on the Wagon Train, and maybe they will remember us after they are gone," said Chamberette President Juanell Jones. "We approached no one personally for this project, because we wanted it to be strictly volunteer for this type of donation, and we are very pleased with the response of the business men and women in the area," she added. "And the Chamber of Commerce supported this project wholeheartedly, volunteering to purchase the bags for the items. Heritage Furniture also wanted their name on the bags, so they split the cost of purchasing the bags."

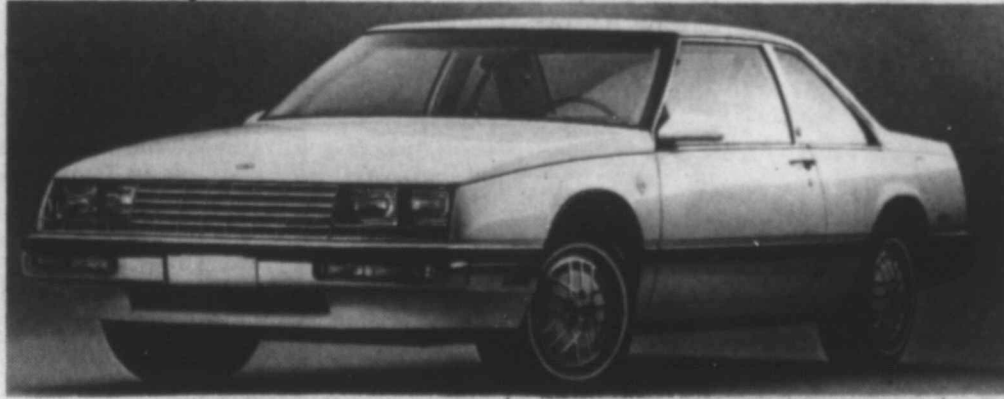

Chamber of Commerce President Weldon Self will distribute the bags to the Wagon Train visitors, with assistance from D.R. and Jean Adamson.

Donating items for the bags were: Chamberettes, pencils and 10 free Millionaire games; Tahoka Daisy, pens; Tahoka Drug, candy; Whitaker Hardware, rulers; Tahoka Garden Club, welcome postcards, pens and Tahoka Daisy lapel buttons; Eddins Walcher Co. in New

Mrs. J. Hernandez of Wilson has volunteered to help in the Leukemia Society of America's "Our Town" campaign May 1-30.

She will be visiting with you in the coming weeks about leukemia-the number one child-killing disease. She will have educational materials to familiarize the community with early warning signs of the disease.

Members of the WHS class of 1981 are planning a five year class reunion on May 24 beginning with a dinner at the Red Lobster restaurant in Lubbock at 7 p.m. Members planning to attend should contact Rick Schwertner at (915) 573-3395, Dawn Shipley, (915) 573-2554, or Jay Ross, 998-4434 by May 17 to make dinner reservations. Since no class funds are available, each member will be required to pay for their own dinner. The group also plans to attend Cowboys following dinner.

The Wilson FFA Club held their annual banquet Tuesday night in the elementary gymnasium with 100 in attendance. Gary Moore was named Honorary Chapter Farmer for his work and support of the Wilson FFA. Speaker was Greg Oldham of Texas Tech School of Agriculture.

Cheerleader tryouts were being held Wednesday afternoon at Wilson, with 14 girls signed up for the high school competition and nine for the junior high.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs.

Barry Poth on the death of her sister-in-law in Houston Saturday. Funeral services were held Tuesday.

Mrs. Malcolm Chancy and Channing returned Sunday from a visit in Waxahachie with her father, Floyd Bartley. She also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Bartley and family and Mr. and Mrs. Jim McKenzie and family of Lake Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Rob Fielder of Arlington.

Devotional

By Rev. Hazel House

SCRIPTURE:
St. Matthew 6:20-21
Exodus 20:12
St. John 19:26-27

Next Sunday has been designated a special day in honor of mothers. So I write as a "mother" hoping that I am worthy of the name, yet knowing I fall far short of the ideal which the name implies.

As a mother with children now grown, I see many ways, many things which I would do differently if I were to start anew in their training. But my joy in the love of my children always makes me appreciate more the love we "shared" in our home that was and is our most important family possession. I'm glad we knew that, and I know it was "not by accident."

However, I realize that in being a mother, as in many other phases of living, there are times when one hangs on almost grimly, determined to keep faith in God and goodness — or else one gives up and stops being a "mother" (or Christian) when the going gets rough.

My mother was not very big physically, but whenever I think of her I think of the verses of scripture: "But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven where neither moth nor rust does corrupt ... for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." I think of the riches which she has stored up in heaven, and I am reminded that she gathered that treasure here on earth serving others. She not only prayed for and served her own family, but also her neighbors and their children. The results of her prayers witness for her as an effectual follower of Jesus Christ.

One mother has said she believed a great help in keeping children from becoming a "delinquent" would be to have a home where material things were not put first as being the most important, but faith in Jesus and love and respect were in first place (she could have added Obedience, for Christians need that lesson!). Parents, by listening to us talk and watching where our first thoughts and allegiance are given, what does our children judge most important to us — and therefore to them?

Are you the kind of mother (or parent) today who says "Regardless of all other things I would personally enjoy, I will first be true to the privilege and responsibility which God has given me to help care for and influence a child to grow up to be its best spiritually, mentally and physically, with His help?" He who makes all things possible to those who trust and believe in Him.

Are we remembering that we all must give an account of our stewardship in whatever place we are right now? May the Lord, in our weaknesses, have mercy and forgiveness and give strength to help us to become more and more like Jesus.

Fifth Graders Honored At Baptist Church

Tahoka Elementary fifth grade students were honored with a reception Tuesday, April 29, at the fellowship hall of First Baptist Church.

The serving table carried out a Sesquicentennial theme with fresh flowers arranged in a red boot.

Speakers for the occasion were Libby Williams, Texas Tech cheerleader, and Jerrel Key, who was the masked rider for Texas Tech. They both stressed the importance of good manners and setting goals in life.

Class Presidents Seth Prince, Jayson Boydston and Jason Belew introduced the speakers and presented gifts from the class.

Also included in the occasion was a welcome by Dr. George Ray, pastor of First Baptist Church, and remarks by principal Jerry Lancaster, Jim Solomon, mayor; Carroll Rhodes, minister of music and youth at First Baptist Church was also present and included in the receiving line.

Mrs. Wesley Boone was in charge of arrangements for the serving table and was assisted by the several fifth grade mothers: Leah Taylor, Sandy Lamp, Janie Isbell, Eva DeLeon, Doey Greer, Glenda Whitley, June Brooks, Carolyn Boydston, Charlotte Mulanax, Glenda Williams and Mary Belew.

The reception has become an annual affair for the classes of Nan Adams as a part of the activities of a unit on good manners and character building.

May Is Electrical Safety Awareness Month

Anyone working outside around the home this time of year should be careful to stay clear of power lines, says Hermilo Martinez, manager of safety for Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS).

It's appropriate that May is National Electrical Safety Awareness Month, Martinez says, because people are spending more time outside, near power lines and electrical facilities.

"The slightest touch of a power line can be enough to seriously injure or kill," Martinez says. "Sometimes people forget to think about those lines when they're trimming trees, moving a ladder or putting up a rooftop antenna."

Those who live in neighborhoods with underground electrical distribution lines should

May Designated As 'Action For Foster Children Month'

Gov. Mark White has declared the month of May as "Action for Foster Children Month". In connection with the Governor's memorandum, Lynn County Judge J.F. Brandon has proclaimed the month of May as 'Foster Care Month' for Lynn County.

Local foster homes are needed for children who are in the custody of the Department of Human Services. Many of the children in foster care have previously been abused or neglected by their parents. As a result, the children are in need of a secure and emotionally stable home.

Foster parents are needed to provide placements for children of all ages, handicapped children, and children with special medical problems. There is a demand for Hispanic and Black foster homes as well as Anglo foster homes.

Training is provided for prospective foster parents. For information about future training sessions or the foster care program, please call Camille Hinchliffe, Dept. of Human Services, 806-762-8922 or your local Department of Human Services office, 998-4552.

Paymaster & Lankart are the #1 brands in Texas & Oklahoma.

It pays to plant Paymaster & Lankart certified seed!*

For example: say your average yield is

500 lbs. per acre

Could be 15%

x 10% potential yield gain with Paymaster/Lankart certified seed

50 lbs. more lint per acre

x 55¢ per lb. for your lint

= $27.50 more income per acre with Paymaster certified seed

- 8.00 additional cost for certified seed per acre

= $19.50 potential per acre more in your pocket

Plus a cash discount. Paymaster certified seed means certified for varietal purity and genetic identity by U.S.D.A. State inspected and Vitavax treated.

COLLAGEN

A little-known substance, collagen, made within the body may hold the key to total health and rejuvenation. Collagen serves as a cement to hold together the cells of your body tissues. It is needed to strengthen and rejuvenate the billions of cells and tissues. Collagen also nourishes and heals bones, body organs, blood vessels and glands. Insufficient collagen creates a "missing link" in the healing chain: wounds do not heal, cells break down, tissues disintegrate, skin sags, and bones, organs, and glands start to break down. Tribute (Pat Gill, Rhonda Timmons and Julia Gill) had the opportunity to share their praise programs several times during the past week-end. Saturday morning at 10:30 they shared with the AK Teachers Sorority in New Home Baptist Church. They left for Mangum, Okla. at 12 to stay in the home of Jack and Katie Clements. At 7 p.m. Saturday the program was presented to Trinity Baptist Church. Later the same evening a song praise service was presented in the hospital room of Jack Clements, where he is recovering from a back injury he received while working his cattle. Burglars Strike In City, County

Tahoka police and Lynn County officials investigated a series of burglaries and attempted burglaries of five businesses that occurred in the early morning hours on Tuesday. Three burglaries of residences in the county also were reported during the week.

Police noticed the front door of Lynnco Automotive had been open while on patrol and as the officer went inside to investigate, he heard a noise resembling two metal objects striking together. The officer dispatched the Sheriff's office and upon arrival, they found a hammer and punch on the floor in front of the safe which had been tampered with but not opened. Reported missing was one wrench which was later found at Summitt Texaco located at Hwy. 380 and Hwy. 87. The station reported that entry was made through a garage door window and a cigarette machine had been broken into along with the cash register. Reported stolen was $90.75.

At least three other businesses reported attempts to pry open doors and locks, including D&H Tire, Ayerway Cleaners and Thriftway, however no entry was gained to these businesses. Lynn County Crime Line is offering a $200 reward per incident leading to the arrest of individuals involved in the series of burglaries and attempted burglaries.

Police arrested a Tahoka man on Tuesday for carrying a prohibited weapon and is currently in Lynn County Jail. The district attorney is also consulting the suspect about bigamy charges as the man reportedly is currently married to a Tahoka woman and also to a woman in Rosenberg, Tx.

Police investigated a stabbing incident on South 5th on Friday and advised the subject to seek advice from the county attorney for filing charges. No one was arrested in the incident. Police also investigated several family disturbance calls during the past week.

Tickets issued during the past week include one each for no proof of liability insurance and one ticket for speeding.

Crime Line also is offering rewards of $300 each for information clearing either of two burglaries in the county during the week in which expensive losses were incurred.

Glenn Akin Jr., Rt. 1, Slaton, reported his residence about four miles northwest of Wilson was burglarized between May 1 at 6:30 p.m. and the next day, Friday, at 9:30 p.m. Stolen were a color TV set, microwave oven and 30-30 rifle, plus a collection of pennies and nickels.

The other burglary spotlighted by Crime Line, 998-5145, was the residence of Emory Stevens, 4.5 miles northeast of Tahoka. Between 4 and 6 p.m. Monday someone went into the home and took eight guns and a display of knives, plus two scopes.

Another burglary reported in the county was of a vacant house owned by Ruben Sander of Slaton, located 4 miles north of Wilson, with the offense occurring Saturday night. Nothing was reported missing.

In jail during the week were one person for public intoxication and one for unlawfully carrying a weapon plus traffic violation.

Cotton Farmers Get Early Chance To Control Johnsongrass
Warm April weather which brought early emergence of rhizome johnsongrass gives area cotton producers an opportunity to apply control measures for this weed before planting, says a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Preplant herbicide treatments could greatly reduce grass competition with seedling cotton plants and help provide permanent control of this weed," said Dr. James R. Supak, Extension cotton agronomist.

In all fields heavily infested with johnsongrass, he recommended thorough incorporation of Treflan or Prowl into the soil before planting cotton. "Good control of the weed seedlings is an effective rhizome johnsongrass control program," Supak said.

Several herbicides are now available for use in controlling rhizome johnsongrass, the Extension agronomist said. Fusilade and Poast are materials that can be applied to actively growing johnsongrass during its vegetative growth stages (10-12 inches tall) and provide good rhizome control, he said.

Roundup is also an effective johnsongrass herbicide that can be sprayed on the grass or applied through a ropewick applicator. Treatments prior to the boot stage, however, tend to provide good "top-kill" but little permanent rhizome control, Supak cautioned. "Roundup applications made between the boot stage and flowering to actively growing johnsongrass are the most effective in providing permanent control of the grass," he said.

Two arsenical compounds, MSMA and DSMA, are effective in providing "top kill" and suppression of early emerging johnsongrass. MSMA tends to be more effective on the High Plains in the spring of the year because it is less sensitive to cooler temperature conditions. "Research studies conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and demonstrations conducted by county Extension agents have shown that elimination of grass competition even during the seedling stages of growth results in improved cotton yields," Supak said. Consequently, the use of herbicides such as Fusilade and Poast which are capable of providing permanent rhizome johnsongrass control will be the most effective in treating emerged johnsongrass prior to planting, he said.

Preplant applications of Roundup and MSMA are not likely to provide much permanent control of rhizome johnsongrass but will help reduce soil moisture losses and early season competition with the crop.

"Treatments with these herbicides usually inhibit regrowth for longer periods than tillage methods such as cultivation, without the moisture loss and disruption of seed beds incurred with tillage," he said.

To be effective, Fusilade and Poast must be applied at the rates recommended for rhizome johnsongrass control, Supak cautioned. The herbicides can be applied as broadcast spray applications in heavily infested fields or as spot spray applications in fields with scattered infestations.

Surfactants or crop oil concentrates are essential for efficacy with these herbicides. Also, experience has shown that these chemicals are most effective if applied during periods when relative humidities are high and temperatures are mild. In contrast, control tends to be poor when the materials are applied under hot, low humidity conditions when the grass is under some moisture stress, the Extension agronomist advised.

Tillage seven to ten days following the applications of Fusilade or Poast greatly enhances permanent rhizome johnsongrass control. Mechanical tillage operations are recommended when evidence of herbicide activity, such as blackened tissue around nodes, is visible in the rhizomes. Rodweeding, knife or other operations typically performed prior to or at planting should provide sufficient disruption of treated johnsongrass plants to aid control.

"In all likelihood, a sequential treatment of these herbicides will be required to control johnsongrass escapes after cotton emerges," Supak said. Both Fusilade and Poast can be applied over-the-top on emerged cotton. Treatments should be delayed until the grass is 10-12 inches tall to insure essential complete emergence of all overwintering rhizomes.

"Applications should be made when the grass is actively growing during periods of warm, humid weather conditions," the Extension agronomist stressed.

Applicants Sought For Conservation Awards

Farmers and ranchers with practical soil and water conservation methods in their operations are encouraged to compete in an awards program sponsored nationally by the National Endowment for Soil and Water Conservation and the DuPont Co.

The winner for Texas will receive an award certificate and compete for national honors. Ten national finalists and spouses will receive an expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. to attend a White House awards ceremony. From that group of ten, three national winners will receive a $1,000 cash award.

TFU county nominating committees have until May 10 to submit applications for designations as "state nominee" in the program to the Texas Farmers Union state office in Waco.

TEXAS CROP ACREAGE, FARM INCOME TO BE DOWN-
Both crop acreage as well as farm income should be down in Texas this year, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Rice and soybean acreage is expected to be about one-third less than in 1985, the sorghum crop should be down 16 percent, cotton acreage should be 12 percent less, hay production should drop 9 percent, and the corn and peanut crops should be off 3 percent. With market prices expected to fall below variable costs of production, most farmers will comply with the farm program for target price protection and use of the regular farm loan. This means net farm income in Texas could fall 10 to 15 percent below the depressed $1.4 billion level estimated in 1985.

OUT OF THE WOODS

By Juanell (Wood) Jones

IT'S MOTHER'S DAY this coming Sunday, and I certainly qualify for that! There are days when I feel that we moms should either get the booby prize for being crazy enough to have children, or the Best of Show prize for having the smartest and cutest kids.

This week my husband and I celebrated our eighth wedding anniversary (isn't this great — I get all this attention in one week for anniversary and Mother's Day!) and for the last four of those years we have raised children. For the life of me I can't figure out what we did in those first four years.

I mean, we must have had all that free time just floating around, waiting for us to have children to fill up that time. I seem to remember seeing a couple of movies at the theater back then, and we might have even played some miniature golf. Oh, and we used to buy things like record albums and new furniture back then, too.

Now I buy new clothes and shoes for the kids every few months, and spot remover to clean up the old furniture and carpet. For entertainment we watch the NBC Saturday Night Movie or go out and pull weeds in the back yard (or paint the fence).

Yes, my day is much fuller now — but also richer, I'm sure. There is no other feeling in the world like that of having a child's arms around your neck, saying "I love you mommy" and in the next breath saying, "Can we make some cookies?" How can a mother refuse such a request?

And surely no one else's children can compare when our own first learn to walk, or talk, or (heaven forbid) learn the words "How come, mommy?"

I remember once saying to my sister (she's single) how nice it must be to come home from work and not have to worry about cooking supper, washing clothes and dishes, and getting everybody ready for bed by 9 o'clock. You know what she said to me? "Oh, it's okay, but I think how nice it would be to have all these people who love you waiting for you when you get home."

The grass is always greener on the other side, I guess. And yes, now that I am a mother I wouldn't have it any other way.

By the way, Mom, Happy Mother's Day — you are the best!
