A little item in the paper the other day caught the eye of Glen Polk of KSNY. The two-paragraph blurb called attention to the fact that it is illegal to hunt doves from a vehicle because, although they are native birds, doves are classified as migratory birds.

This hunting regulation was cleared up, Polk said, "thanks to an in-depth study by the Wildman from the Northland to the tune of $27.50."

Wonder what he meant by that!

It is not unusual these days to see people walking, jogging or excercising in various other methods, and in many cases, possibly a majority, they are adults of middle-age or older. They probaby are on the right track toward improved health, according to findings of a couple of Texas Tech University professors.

Charles L. Burford, industrial engineering professor, and A. Eugene Coleman, physical education and recreation professor, have evaluated their findings from a research project and concluded that "the effects of sedentary living and age can be balanced or delayed with regular physical activity."

Their "guinea pigs" were 78 male members of the Texas Tech faculty whom they described as "relatively sedentary."

Their graphs showed a slower deterioration with age for the more active subjects — those who are active more than six hours per week in such things as tennis, golf, gardening, lawnwork, horseback riding or jogging. Those who engaged in less physical activity showed a rapid decrease in physical work capacity with age.

Six hours a week seems to be a reasonable allocation for physical activity. Of course the two Tech professors did not include in their research any statistics on people who are physically active for 40 hours per week or more. Guinea pigs of that breed may be hard to find these days.

Dr. Robert L. Clinton says Western Texas College is receiving inquiries regularly from people who are anxious to tour the college's newest buildings—the student center and the physical education center. An open house is being planned for these two structures, but a definite date has not been set because some work remains to be completed in the physical education building. They are shooting at Sept. 30 as a possible open house date, but will not rush it if all work is not completed. So, it could be on down in October.—WACIL NcNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Sept. 13, the 256th day of 1973. There are 109 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1788, the U.S. Constitutional Convention authorized the first national election, to be held the first Wednesday in January 1789.

On this date—

In 1759, during the French and Indian War, the British defeated the French on the Plains of Abraham overlooking Quebec.

In 1814, Francis Scott Key was detained aboard a British warship bombarding Fort McHenry near Baltimore, Md. The next morning he wrote "The Star Spangled Banner."

In 1943, Chiang Kai-shek became president of China.

In 1955, the Soviet Union and West Germany established diplomatic relations.

In 1960, Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon said the American people should accept John Kennedy's Roman Catholic faith without any further questioning.

In 1971, New York state police stormed Attica prison and put down a four-day rebellion, which ended with nine hostages and 28 convicts killed.

Ten years ago: Communist China accused Russia of "flagrant violation" of the 1950 Chinese-Soviet treaty of friendship and alliance.

Five years ago: Czechoslovakia imposed press censorship under pressure from Soviet occupation forces.

One year ago: Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger completed talks with Kremlin leaders.

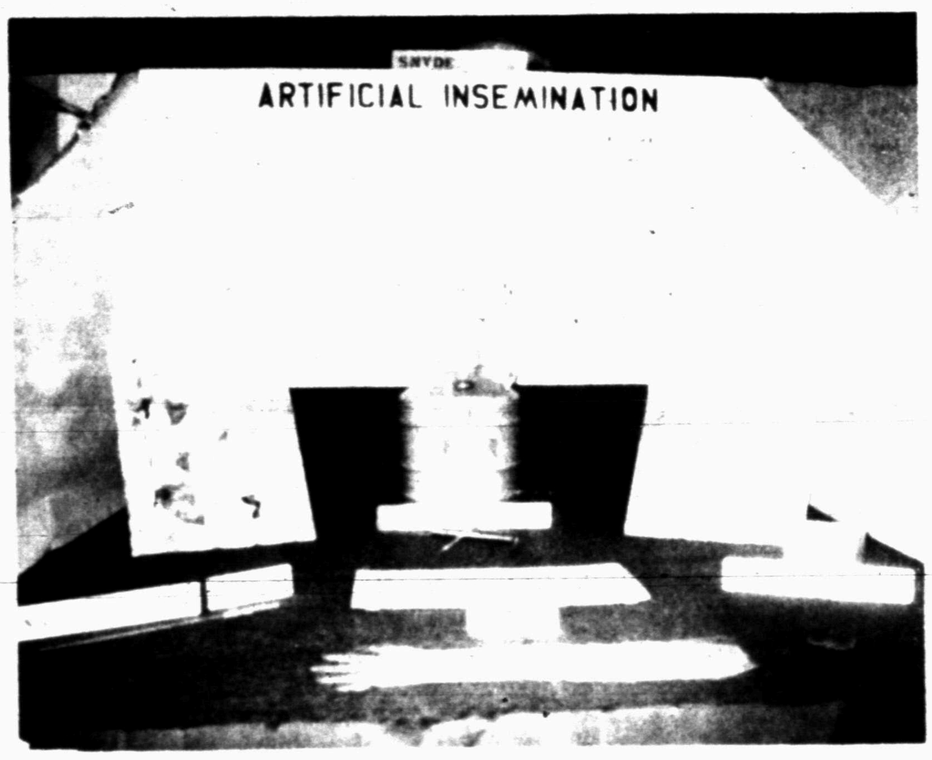
LADIES AGRICULTURE — The Good Neighbor Home Demonstration Club won a blue ribbon in the Ladies Home and Agriculture division of educational exhibits and won the co-grand championship with this exhibit of "Love Is.." According to the Club, love is remembering the past, planning for the future, and appreciating the present.



BOYS' AGRICULTURE—The Snyder FFA won a blue ribbon in the High School Boys' Agriculture division of educational booths and was co-grand champion with this exhibit of artificial insemination.

Two Booths Share Top Honors At Scurry Fair

Two exhibits shared the grand championship of educational and community booth exhibits at the annual Scurry County Fair.

The winners are the Snyder FFA, which won first place in the High School Boys' Agriculture division of educational booths with an exhibit on artificial insemination, and the Good Neighbor Home Demonstration Club, which won first place in the Ladies Home and Agriculture division of educational booths with an exhibit on "Love Is..."

Judges of the booths were F.J. McCaulley, agriculture teacher at Welch; Janice Choate, county extension agent of Mitchell County; Mrs. Alice Ballinger, extension agent at Roby; and Mrs. Von Kleibrink of Snyder.

There were only two entries in community booths with the Hermleigh Community placing second behind Dunn, which had an exhibit dedicated to community churches.

Complete results of the booths judging:

EDUCATIONAL BOOTHS

Adult non-agriculture—1. Cancer society, 2. Scurry County Retired Teachers Association, 3. American Field Service.

High School boys' agriculture—1. Snyder FFA (also won co-grand championship), 2. Ira FFA, 3. Fluvanna FFA, 4. Hermleigh FFA.

High School non-agriculture—1. Snyder High Arts and Crafts, 2. Junior Study Club, 3. Snyder High School.

Ladies Home and Agriculture—1. Good Neighbor Home Demonstration Club (also won co-grand championship), 2. Ira FHA, 3. Snyder FHA.

Miscellaneous class—1. Travis FHA, 2. Child Day Care, 3. Travis Arts and Crafts.

Boys and Girls—1. Boys' Club, 2. Girl Scouts, 3. 4-H Club.

COMMUNITY BOOTHS

1. Dunn, 2. Hermleigh.

The fair will be open until 10 o'clock tonight and entertainment in the coliseum will be presented this evening under direction of Mrs. Jerry Baird of Western Texas College.

The fair will be open Friday and Saturday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 10 p.m.

A schedule of demonstrations was to begin this afternoon.

At 2 p.m. today, there was to be a program on drugs, aimed at parents and other adults, with the Scurry County Sheriff's Office and Snyder Police Dept. cooperating.

Demonstrations Friday will include a demonstration in watercolor painting by C. Warren Cullar of Western Texas College at 10 a.m.; a demonstration titled "Stretch Your Food Collar with TAP," by Mrs. Jean Watson of the Texas Department of Agriculture, at 2 p.m.; and a demonstration on preserving plants for dried arrangements by Snyder Garden Clubs at 4 p.m.

On Saturday, food demonstrations by Mrs. Katherine Berry of Furr's, Inc., have been set for 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Drive For Quake Victims Continues

Members of the LULAC organization are continuing to seek contributions here to aid victims of the Aug. 28 earthquake in Mexico.

Contributions may be submitted to any member of the local LULAC chapter, or they may be turned in at the Snyder Sound Center. Those who wish to have their contributions picked up may call 573-8790.

Networks Undecided On Watergate

NEW YORK (AP) — The three commercial television networks say they haven't decided yet whether to provide live coverage of the second round of Senate Watergate committee hearings.

Israel Downs 13 Syrian Planes In Dogfight

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli air force jets shot down 13 Syrian MIG21 fighters in a dogfight today over the Mediterranean, the military command reported. One Israeli plane was hit but the pilot was rescued from the sea unharmed.

It was the biggest air battle in the Middle East since the 1967 war.

The military command said one Syrian pilot also bailed out into the Mediterranean after his Soviet-built jet was hit, but was picked up by an Israeli rescue helicopter.

The Israeli command made no mention of raiding ground targets inside Syria, as reported earlier in Beirut. The air action appeared to have been confined to the dogfight swirling from the Syrian cease-fire line out over the sea.

The Israelis said the air battle was a chance encounter with Syrian warplanes that scrambled into the air to intercept an Israeli reconnaissance patrol along the Syrian border.

Earlier reports from Beirut said Syrian authorities notified Beirut airport that Israeli planes were staging an air attack somewhere in Syria, and that Syrian air space had been closed to all aircraft.

Informants in Beirut said the Beirut airport was closed to all commercial traffic along with the Damascus airport.

Beirut airport sources said they understood Israeli planes were raiding at or near Tartous, Syria's second largest port city on the Mediterannean. Tartous is about 70 miles north of Beirut.

Israeli and Syrian warplanes last clashed Jan. 8 when the Israeli command claimed its pilots shot down six Syrian MIG 21s — part of the arms shipments to Damascus from the Soviet Union.

Today's battle brought to 59 the number of Syrian planes downed by Israel since the 1967 six-day war, Israeli military figures show. Israel has lost four to the Syrians, including the one in today's operation.

Israel wiped out 387 Arab planes in a single day during the 1967 war, but most of them were caught on the ground by rocket fire and bombs before they could take off.

Pinochet Is Named Chile President

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The military junta formed into a working government today headed by a 55-year-old army general. It promptly broke diplomatic relations with Cuba and announced that it is lifting a state of siege for 6½ hours to permit civilians to leave their homes to obtain food and other provisions.

It was the first time in three days that the people could leave their homes. The around-the-clock curfew was to resume at 6:30 p.m.

Troops fought for the third day with armed supporters of Salvador Allende, the nation's dead Marxist president.

Allende's widow has been granted asylum in the Mexican Embassy here, the Mexican government announced.

Gen. Augusto Pinochet Marambio, an artillery officer, was named president of the four-man junta and he swore in a 10-man Cabinet composed mostly of military officers.

Rear Adm. Ismael Huerta told Cuban Ambassador Mario Garcia Inchaustegui of the decision to break relations. The ambassador, his wife and 170 members of the Cuban diplomatic delegation left almost immediately for Havana aboard a Soviet airliner.

Under Allende, deposed midway through his six-year term, Chile became the first South American country to renew diplomatic relations with Cuba, defying an embargo imposed by the Organization of American States in the 1960s.

Pinochet, a powerfully built 6-footer, also is commander in chief of the army, named by Allende to the job just two weeks before Tuesday's violent coup ending Allende's attempt to socialize Chile. The junta says the 65-year-old Allende committed suicide Tuesday afternoon as troops closed in on the presidential palace.

Newsmen downtown, unable to leave their offices and hotels because of an around-the-clock curfew, reported hearing 20 to 30 sustained gunfights during the night and this morning.

The curfew was to have been lifted at 7 a.m. Numerous professional organizations which had endorsed the coup had announced plans of their members to return to work. But apparently because of the armed resistance, the military ordered all civilians to remain off the streets. The announcement said only military vehicles could circulate.

Service For Jim Wright

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Bell-Seale Chapel here for Jim Wright, 84, of Hermleigh. Mr. Wright died at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday in Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City.

The Rev. Bob Creswell will officiate at the funeral service and burial will be in the Lone Wolf Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Little Rock, Ark., Mr. Wright was a retired farmer. He was married on Aug. 17, 1913 in Stigler, Okla., to Miss Effie Calhoun. She survives.

Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Fred Davis of Hermleigh and Mrs. Mary Ann Reeves of Danbury; four sons, Ray Wright of Hermleigh, Frank Wright of Texas City, Calvin Wright of Odessa and W.E. Wright of Andrews; 16 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Electrical Storm Booms Over Area

A booming electrical storm brought a relatively small amount of moisture to the Snyder area Wednesday afternoon and early today. The afternoon squalls that boiled up over the area pounded Big Spring with hail that ranged up to golf ball size, damaging windows in business buildings, dwellings and automobiles.

Snyder had only .18 inch of rain in the official gauge following the overnight weather activity. However there were some heavier rains in the area. Hermleigh reported .90 inch, and some farms in that area had over an inch. Two showers fell at Ira, one Wednesday afternoon and another during the night.

However, only a light shower fell at around 4:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Lake Thomas dam, producing .10 inch.

The hail storm raked Big Spring at around 4 p.m. Most of the damage apparently was in the city where scores of window panes were broken and automobiles were dented. It was accompanied by a half-inch rain. The storm moved through Big Spring on a northwest-to-southeast course.

Brilliant electrical storms accompanied some of the downpours, which in one area stretched from North Central Texas into Oklahoma.

Other belts of seething turbulence extended from around Midland in West Texas to Andrews on the north, Mineral Wells on the northeast, and Brady on the east, from Del Rio down the Rio Grande past Laredo, between Cotulla and Corpus Christi in South Texas and over the Gulf of Mexico off the Upper Texas Coast.

Hailstones an inch thick pounded Childress in the Texas Panhandle, where the wind gusted up to 63 miles per hour.

Despite the intensity of the storms in many areas, there was no report of severe damage.

By this morning, skies were at least partly cloudy everywhere in the state except for the Panhandle and far West Texas.

The unruly weather broke out as a weak low pressure center over Southwest Louisiana pulled unstable masses of warm, damp air into Texas from the Gulf of Mexico and a weak cool front came almost to a standstill along a line from Midland to Wichita Falls.

Smith Rites Set At Roby

Mrs. Roscoe Smith, 62, of Roby died at 12:35 a.m. today in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church in Roby with the Rev. Charles Whitlock of Roby and the Rev. Glenn Border of Snyder officiating. Burial will be in the Garden Of Memories in Sweetwater, under direction of Weathersbee Funeral Home of Rotan.

Mrs. Smith, the former Elena Cox, was a native of Jackson, Miss. She moved to Texas in 1928 and was married in 1934 at Eastland to Roscoe Smith. She had lived in Roby since 1934. Mr. Smith died on Oct. 6, 1970.

Mrs. Smith was a charter member of the Roby Garden Club and was a member of the First Baptist Church in Roby. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. T.R. Hayes of Snyder, and a brother, Col. Noel M. Cox of Albuquerque, N.M.

'Pained' mother seeks a 'painless' dentist

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am absolutely terrified of going to a dentist. I know I need some work done, but I can't get up the nerve to go. The only times I've ever gone to a dentist were when the pain got so bad I couldn't stand it any more.

I have made and broken so many appointments I am ashamed to make another one, but Abby, I've got to get my teeth taken care of.

I heard that it's possible to put a patient to sleep before doing any work on him. Could you please find out if there is a dentist near me who does this? I live in Beaver Dam, Wis., but I'd drive 100 miles if I could find a dentist who wouldn't hurt me.

Please, don't tell me to "grow up." I am a married woman with two small children who I'd have to take to the dentist with me, and I'm so afraid my fear will show, and rub off on them, too. Help me.

TERRIFIED IN WISCONSIN

DEAR TERRIFIED: I consulted an excellent Minneapolis dentist, Dr. William B. Nienaber, who suggests that you contact your State Dental Society in Madison. Ask them to recommend one or more dentists who use the "relative analgesia" method of sedating fearful patients with nitrous oxide and oxygen to reduce their fears.

You are to be commended for your concern about passing on your fears to your children. Not all parents are so wise and thoughtful.

DEAR ABBY: Several of us have been having an argument which we hope you can settle. Which musical instrument most closely resembles the human voice?

Some say the wind instruments. I say the strings. Will you please ask some of your experts? Thanks.

STILL ARGUING

DEAR STILL: If anyone is an authority on music and sound, it's the one and only Herb Alpert. He says, "The cello—in the hands of the right artist."

Another music master, Lawrence Welk, says, "For the female human voice, it's the violin. For the male, the cello."

Ernest Fleischmann, executive director of the Philharmonic, Hollywood Bowl: "The string instruments, of course."

The lone dissenter, Doc Severinsen, replied, "There can be only one answer. The trumpet!!"

It looks like the strings have it.

DEAR ABBY: Being a quiet, shy person, I am in somewhat of a quandary about a situation that has arisen where I work.

A divorced man, with whom I have hardly spoken, keeps sending me flowers [at the office] without signing the card.

I know he is the sender because I've checked with the florist. How can I get it across to this man that his attentions are neither wanted nor welcome? I have even told the florist that I do not want any more flowers from that party, and to please send them to one of the hospitals. But still the flowers come!

The situation has gotten entirely out of hand, and I'm tired of it.

I would appreciate your advice. UNAVAILABLE

DEAR UNAVAILABLE: If you want to nip the situation in the bud, tell the sender exactly how you feel. Don't blame the florist. He can't send flowers "to a hospital" when he's been instructed by the buyer to deliver them to you. What you do with them after they're delivered is your business. [P.S. The sender must be an idiot. Send him a bachelor button!]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Income Tax Surcharge Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is considering proposing a temporary 10 per cent income tax surcharge in a move against inflation, presidential counselor Melvin R. Laird said today.

Laird stressed at a White House news briefing that receipts from the tax increase would be refunded later when the economy cools.

He also stressed that Nixon had made no final decision but said such proposals "are being given consideration."

The President also is considering a proposal for a variable investment tax credit for corporations, Laird said. This tentative plan could give the President authority to adjust the tax credit annually at a rate ranging from 4 per cent to 15 per cent.

Rites Set For Mrs. Crowder

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Friday at the East Side Church of Christ for Mrs. R.G. (Allyne) Crowder, former Snyder resident who died at 1 p.m. Wednesday at her home in Alpine.

Henry Brigman, minister from Alpine, will officiate and burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, with Bell-Seale Funeral Home in charge of local arrangements.

A native of Roscoe, Mrs. Crowder was married in 1923 in Snyder. She had lived in Alpine for the past 19 years.

Surviving are her husband, R.G. (Buddy) Crowder of Alpine; a daughter, Mrs. Marian Kennedy of Alpine; a son, Rod L. Crowder of Fort Davis; a sister, Mrs. Iola Reeves of Colorado City; three brothers, Malcolm C. James of Snyder, Orville James of Big Spring and E.J. James of Pecos; and four grandchildren.

GI Benefits Hike Urged

By WILLIAM DICKE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asserting that Vietnam-era veterans are worse off than their fathers, an independent committee urged today that GI Bill educational benefits be increased substantially.

A gap between post-World War II and current benefits "serves to reinforce the belief of today's veteran that he fought an unpopular war and must deal with public apathy about his future," the Special Veterans' Opportunity Committee said.

The committee, chaired by Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., was formed by the National League of Cities and the U. S. Conference of Mayors. Its 39-page report was based on an eight-month study of veterans' problems, including public hearings at Newark, N. J., Cleveland and Seattle.

The committee found that "Many veterans simply cannot afford to use the G. I. Bill."

It also concluded that:

—Public reaction to the Vietnam war has been a severe obstacle for GI's trying to adjust to civilian life.

—Those who need help most are not getting it from the G. I. Bill.

—World War II veterans had more benefits and greater public acceptance.

The committee recommended that the federal government add to the basic payment of $220 a month for single veterans a voucher to pay 80 per cent of his tuition and fees.

The committee did not estimate the cost of its proposals but noted that the G. I. Bill will cost $2.5 billion this year.

Simpson Speaks To Kiwanis

Sid Simpson, athletic director at Western Texas College, discussed athletics and the physical education program at WTC at the noon luncheon meeting of the Snyder Kiwanis Club Wednesday. The meeting was held at the American Restaurant.

Introduced by program chairman Jim Tully, Simpson said he expected the college will begin using the facilities at the new physical education building by Oct. 1. The building will include a gym, a swimming pool, an exercise room and a weight room.

Simpson said there will be two night classes for adults of the community. He said the building needs a new plastic floor on the gym and some tiles around the swimming pool before it is completed.

In answer to questions, Simpson noted the Western Texas College basketball team probably will be "about 50 per cent improved" in regard to material. However, he pointed out, virtually every team in the conference also will be improved. He said Kent Horsley is recovering from hepatitis but that he expects all of the Snyder boys on the team to see a lot of action. The first basketball game is Nov. 15. The college is looking for an instructor for the golf course management course. There are only two or three schools in the country offering this course.

Guests at the luncheon included N.A. Billingsley, Harold Williams and Darrell Sanders, all of Snyder.

Doug Flynn, president, presided over the meeting.

Two Mishaps Are Reported

Minor damage resulted from two motor vehicle mishaps investigated here yesterday by City Police.

The first one occurred on the parking lot at the American Restaurant at 3:15 p.m. Involved were the 1973 Model Chevrolet of James Ronald Shields, 2216 Forty-fifth Street, and the 1964 Model Chevrolet pickup of Olen Basil Walker, 1808 Thirty-seventh Street.

The other one occurred on the East Highway at Avenue F. Involved were the 1970 Model Oldsmobile of Larry L. Grahal, 700 Twenty-eighth Street, and the 1972 Model Harley-Davidson motorcycle of Tommy Byron McKinley, 211 Thirty-fourth Street.

'Payoffs' Tape Made Public

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Speaker Price Daniel Jr. and the chairman of a House subcommittee have publicly played a tape in which a man of chlanneged credibility says he was a Dallas juke box tycoon's go-between in making payoffs to two legislators.

Daniel, amid much fanfare, made public most of the records of a 1968 House committee investigation of the coin-operated amusement machine industry.

He was accompanied by Rep. Buddy Temple, D-Diboll, whom Daniel has appointed to head a renewed inquiry into the industry and the laws regulating it.

Some of the documents and tapes in the three boxes of records were withheld, however, for a decision by Atty. Gen. John Hill on whether they can legally be released to reporters.

The Texas Department of Public Safety has held the records in secrecy since the investigation ended in 1969, subject to release by a speaker of the House.

Following the investigation by a committee chaired by former Rep. R. H. Cory, D-Victoria, legislators passed a law imposing state regulation on the juke box industry. Most lawmakers thought the bill outlawed financial ties between juke box operators and taverns, but it didn't, and the practice continues.

Late Wednesday, Temple itemized for newsmen the documents sent to Hill. Included were criminal records on certain persons, whose names were lined out; reports on prostitution; interview sheets; police notes; and arrest reports.

The tape consisted of what was labeled as testimony in secret session by Pete Martinez of Austin, a former employe of Raymond B. Williams of Dallas, one of Texas' biggest amusement machine operators and former chairman of the Texas Vending Commission.

Martinez told the Cory committee in 1968 he had paid money on Williams' behalf in the early and mid-1960s to Rep. Ben Atwell, D-DeSoto, the late Sen. George Parkhouse, D-Dallas, and Judge W. A. Morrison of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Morrison could not be reached immediately for comment.

At a news conference last week, Williams denied the payoff allegations, which had been reported without the use of names.

Williams said he had fired Martinez in 1967 because an audit showed he had embezzled funds.

Free On Bond

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Dallas man was free under $20,000 bond today after arraignment on charges of illegal interstate transportation of stolen stocks which the FBI says he tried to sell to an undercover agent.

FBI agents said the stock was part of a shipment stolen almost five years ago in Chicago from an air freight area. The man sought to sell 8,000 shares of Westinghouse Electric Corp. worth more than $270,000, the FBI stated.

The defendant, Ralph Waldo Flanders, 49, was arraigned Wednesday before a federal magistrate. Further court action was pending.

Vehicles Damaged In Highway Crash

There were no injures, but considerable damage resulted from a two-vehicle collision 2 miles east of town on U.S. 180 at 5:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Involved were a 1973 Model Chevrolet truck operated by Burton Sailer of Corrigan and a 1972 Model Kenworth truck driven by Melvin Stephney of Dallas. Investigating Highway Patrolmen said Stephney was attempting to pass the other motorist while both vehicles were travelling east. There was considerable damage to the Kenworth truck but only minor damage to the other one.

WTC Rodeo Club Elects New Officers

New officers for the Western Texas College Rodeo Club were elected at an organizational meeting Tuesday night and plans for activities during the semester were discussed.

Johnny Gass of Wilson was named president, with David McLaughlin of Saginaw, vice president. Ruth Ann Welch of Merkel was elected secretary-treasurer, Judy Fondy of Slaton reporter, and Lisa Weaver of Brady was named club representative to the Student Senate.

It was announced that the WTC rodeo team will enter its first NIRA rodeo of the semester at New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell Sept. 26-29. The team will enter the Eastern New Mexico University rodeo in Portales Oct. 4-6 and the Sul Ross rodeo in Alpine Oct. 18-21.

The Rodeo Club is open to all WTC students interested in rodeo activities, Van Rigby, club sponsor, said. The club has 35 members at present and about 70 people attended the Tuesday meeting.

OWNERS RESUME WALK

Willie Makeit II Earns Vacation

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — After clip-clopping across Europe and half of Asia with a team of American brothers hiking around the world, a Portuguese pack mule named Willie Makeit II is enjoying a six-month vacation.

The brothers, David Kunst of Waseca, Minn., and his brother Peter, of Santa Ana, Calif., took to the air today to fly to Australia. They will resume their walk at Perth, where they plan to obtain a Willie Makeit III to pull a wagon given them by the Turkish government from Perth to Canberra and then to Sydney, a distance of 2,400 miles.

Willie II was a gift from the Portuguese government to David, 33, and his 25-year-old brother John, who started to walk around the world in 1970 to drum up support for UNICEF, the U.N. Children's Fund. John was killed last October by Afghan bandits in the Khyber Pass, and after David recovered from wounds he suffered in the ambush, their brother Peter, 28, came back with him to Afghanistan to take John's place.

The Kunsts have arranged for a Calcutta social club, the Tolly Gunge Gymkhana, to look after Willie Makeit II for six months while the brothers try to arrange to get the mule into the United States.

David said they have written to the Minneapolis Rotary Club, Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Gov. W. R. Anderson of Minnesota, asking their help with U. S. restrictions on the immigration of alien mules.

If the details are worked out, the Calcutta Rotary Club and the Shipping Corp. of India will ship the mule to America, and he will join the brothers in California for the last 2,000 miles to Minnesota.

Willie's final 1,000 miles in Asia — from New Delhi to Calcutta — were among his most difficult, David Kunst said.

"We were walking about 25 miles a day, 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.," he reported. "The weather was hot and humid, and Willie Makeit II was sweating all the way.

"The other problem was people. Any place we stopped, there were people around us. Lots of them, and all sorts of faces."

The brothers expect to cross Australia in 4½ months. They will go from Australia to Hong Kong if they can get permission for a short walk in China; otherwise they will take a ship to Los Angeles to see Peter's wife and four children, then start the three-month trek to Minnesota. They hope to be there by June 28, four years after David and John set out with the first Willie Makeit, an American mule they left on the Atlantic Coast.

Three new members were enrolled in the association. They are Francis Williams, sponsored by Wilma Huffman; Mary Favor, sponsored by Ileta Hall; and Dot Jones, sponsored by Mary Fikes. New members will be installed at the next regular dinner meeting to be held September 27.

Children And Divorce

COLLEGE STATION—Children of divorced parents can learn about caring relationships [illegible] parents are truthful, according to a family life education specialist.

"Most psychiatrists agree that divorce itself doesn't necessarily cause psychiatric problems to develop in children," Dorthy Taylor with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, noted.

"In fact, the child living with unhappily married parents more often gets into emotional difficulty than the one whose mismatched parents have been healthy and strong enough to sever their troubled relationship," she explained.

"Disturbances which children of divorced parents do suffer result from the fact that parents aren't appropriately truthful with their children about the divorce.

"Parents often make this mistake with the best intentions—even supported by professional authority," Miss Taylor countered.

"Parents have a tendency to hide from their children things which they have a right to know—things that would be psychologically beneficial.

"Such information is usually withheld because parents think it would be detrimental to their children.

"Children are far less fragile in this regard than most parents realize. They're much more capable of accepting painful realities than is generally appreciated," the specialist said.

She added that anxieties associated with ignorance and parental secrecy are more difficult for children to handle, because in these cases fantasy runs free, and the children's worst anticipations can't be confirmed or refuted.

"Half-truths produce confusion and distruct.

"Truth—even if it's painful—engenders trust and gives the child the security of knowing exactly where he stands.

"He is then better equipped to handle situations effectively."

Miss Taylor cited "two myths that often aggravate rather than alleviate a child's difficulties related to divorce."

One "myth" says to impress continuously upon the child that the absent parent (most often the father) still loves him despite the fact that he has left the home, the specialist remarked.

"It is important for the child to feel loved by the absent parent—but if the father has abandoned the family for years or the mother ran off and left the children, should these children be told that parent still loves them?" the specialist challenged.

"A child who is told such a person still loves him can't really believe it and loses trust in the parent who tells him what he knows is untrue.

"If a parent can allegedly love a child and yet never wish to see him again, the child then becomes confused about what love really is."

The second "myth" tells divorced parents not to criticize each other to the child.

"Rationale here is that it's important for the child to respect and admire both parents.

"Again, distrust and confusion are created.

"The child knows quite well that each of his parents believes the other to have serious personality flaws—for why else would they be divorced?

"The child's picture of the praised person is further distorted when he observes his parents in everyday situations."

Miss Taylor termed the "healthiest approach" to divorce as "giving the child an accurate picture of his parents and what they really are—their assets and liabilities, their strengths and weaknesses.

"He learns that like all humans, his parents are not perfect—and they earn his respect," she concluded.

SCURRY HISTORY BOOK EMERGES—Hooper Shelton, seated, shows some interested observers what his book, "From Buffalo...To Oil," will look like. Standing are officials of the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee, from left, Mrs. Jess Everett, Mrs. Wayne Boren and Hugh Boren Jr., all of whom had a hand in assembling material for the book, which is a history of Scurry County. Pre-publication orders for copies of the book are being accepted at a booth at the Scurry County Fair and will be available next week at a desk in the courthouse. Publication date of the book is set for Oct. 3.

Remember Those Home Remedies?

AMERICAN FOLK MEDICINE. By Clarence Meyer. Crowell 296 Pages. $8.95.

While we're being nostalgic, let's remember that the current fads in organic foods, herb medicines, and nature remedies have an ancient if dubious lineage.

Clarence Meyer, who has been studying medicinal plants since he was sent as a child to the fields to gather them for his family, has selected and set down with humor and charm some of the more zany recommendations from the past. A prudent brief note at the start emphasizes the collection "does not represent an endorsement of any recipe, nor does the author or publisher vouch for any claims made for them."

Let's take a look at some of the specimens, arranged in alphabetic order of the ailments they were supposed to cure or alleviate:

Asthma — "Get a muskrat skin and wear it over the lungs, with the fur side next to the body."

Hayfever — "Rub the ears briskly when there is the slightest indication of fullness in the nose."

Intoxication — "To remove the effects produced by an excess of wine, etc., drink a wineglassful of olive oil. It will prevent the hurtful fumes from rising."

Well?

Murphy Home May Be Restored

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A small frame house near Greenville which the late Audie Murphy once called "the only home I've ever loved" may become Texas' newest historical monument.

Greenville civic leaders say they plan to raise $60,000 dollars to restore the deteriorating "cotton picking shack." The group also plans to build a museum near the house and to build an access road from nearby State Highway 69.

"It's going to take a lot of money and a lot of heel work," said Herbert Byers, head of the restoration committee, "but we can do it with everybody's help."

And help so far has been forthcoming. The Barnhart-Boles Memorial Home which now owns the property agreed to donate the house and "three or four acres" to the memorial free of charge on a permanent lease basis.

A county commissioner said he would build the access road with no cost to the committee. Groups from all over the Southwest have promised assistance in the restoration.

Murphy, a freckled-faced infantryman believed to be the most decorated U.S. soldier in World War II, died in a plane crash on Memorial Day, 1971.

After World War II, Murphy left Texas for Hollywood. He made his last visit to the old home near Greenville before making the movie, "To Hell and Back."

No matter how many screwdrivers you have around the house, the time always comes when you need one of a size or type you don't have.

While the average household cannot be expected to have on hand the dozens of available kinds on the market, it nevertheless should have at least three or four and, if there is a home workshop, about seven or eight.

If properly taken care of, a set of good screwdrivers can be expected to last for many years, in many cases what is loosely called a lifetime. The reason they seldom last more than a year or two is because they often are used more as substitutes for other tools than as screwdrivers. Among such uses are prying up metal staples, unsticking windows, loosening the lids of cans, punching holes in metal and dozens of other quickie projects for which the screwdriver was never intended.

To use a screwdriver properly, assuming you are right-handed, hold the handle in the palm of your right hand with the thumb and forefinger grasping the handle near the ferrule. Steady the tip of the screwdriver with the left hand and turn with the right until the screw has taken hold. Be sure the screwdriver is in a direct, straight line with the screw. You won't have to think about the individual actions after you have done it properly a few times.

A screwdriver which is not the right size can cause trouble. If the tip of the blade is too small for the slot in the screw, it will damage the screw and often prevent it from being driven all the way. It then has to be removed, sometimes with great difficulty, and a new screw started. If the tip of the blade is too wide or if it is rounded or beveled, it will slip out of the slot, which can mean a damaged work surface or an injured hand.

When the tip is rounded or beveled, a flat file can be used to restore it to usefulness. Place the handle of the screwdriver in a vise, with the tip of the blade upwards. File the tip straight across at right angles to the shank. While an emery wheel can be used to get the same result, be sure the blade is not held against the wheel too long or the tip will become soft as it heats up. Whether filing or using an emery wheel, dip the tip of the screwdriver into cold water frequently.

Use an awl to make a pilot hole in wood before driving home the screw. This is especially important when inserting a screw into hard wood.

Among the types of screwdrivers available are the Phillips, the ratchet, the spiral and the offset. You might hold off buying the latter three until you have need for them, but the regular and Phillips screwdrivers should be in the home workshop in several sizes.

TI Chief Criticizes Extension

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of Texas International Airlines says Southwest Airlines' request for an extension of routes to the Rio Grande Valley would "destroy the delicate balance underlying the state's transportation system."

TI president Francisco A. Lorenzo told a Houston Chamber of Commerce meeting Wednesday that Southwest is trying to move into TI's profitable routes without supply services to unprofitable points.

Service eliminations and curtailments at many points would be necessary, he said, if Southwest is granted the routes by the Texas Aeronautics Commission. Hearings of the Southwest request are slated to begin next month in Austin.

Lamar Muse, president of Southwest Airlines, declined to comment on Lorenzo's charges.

"I will answer Mr. Lorenzo fully and explicitly at the TAC hearing," he said. "We are not going to try the case in the newspapers."

Texas International now serves several cities in the Rio Grande Valley. Southwest has asked for routes to the Valley from Dallas through Houston and Harlingen.

Lorenzo said Southwest "plans nothing but cherry-picking in the orchards of this state's transportation system."

"Southwest has no interest in, nor public service obligation to provide service at the unprofitable smaller cities, and wants only to carve out a profitable intrastate route system from already developed markets large enough to sustain their jet aircraft and high operating costs," Lorenzo said.

AT SAN ANTONIO TRADE FAIR

US Businessmen Praise Mexican Craftmanship

By JOHN LUMPKIN
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — You used to hire your own "coyote", some businessmen say, to ferret out deals in Mexico but now Mexico is bringing its business to the United States.

This week, American businessman representing concerns as big as J.C. Penney and as small as a West Texas trading post have examined Mexican products on display at an exhibition hall here.

"If the average guy off the street walked in, he would be astonished at the complexities here," said Don Quimby of Dallas, who was looking for products to promote for himself and a company he represents.

Quimby was attracted to porcelain toilet fixtures, in which he said there is a world black market now; leather soccer balls, which he said were only available here from Denmark and Germany, and replacement ignition switches for autos.

What would one expect if the corner gas station put an ignition his car which said, "Made in Mexico"?

"You'd expect exactly what you would expect in American parts or better," said Quimby, who said Mexican craftmanship was at least as good as that in the United States.

"The American people have got to stop thinking of the Mexican manufacturer as the siesta type leaned up against the wall with the moustache," said Quimby.

The Mexican products which interested Quimby were made by three of the 250 firms represented at the first Mexican Trade Fair, which the Mexican government says is the largest foreign trade venture of its kind in the country's history.

The government wishes to help its trade balance situation and its representatives here tell American businessmen about the tie of the peso to the dollar, about Mexico's half century of political stability and about its abundant and inexpensive supply of skilled labor.

Millions of dollars in deals already have been made, say officials of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, which cosponsored the fair with a Mexican government foreign trade office.

There are many booths with the traditionally exportable Mexican handicraft items, but there are also exhibits for Mexican manufacturers of industrial chemicals, hydraulic presses, motorcycles, auto ornaments, industrial coffee machines, electrical accessories and agricultural equipment.

There is also a Mexican bus manufacturer with two huge buses on display, who says he is ready to sell to small travel agencies, cities and towns and even Greyhound and Trailways. He says his luxury model is at least $14,000 cheaper than the comparable model made in the United States.

Ask Jury To Consider Indictments

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Robie Hudden has requested that a special grand jury be convened by U.S. Dist. Court Judge William Wayne Justice to consider possible indictments in the kidnaping of a Columbus, Ga., stockbroker.

James Otto Hoover, 55, was forced to drive from his business in Columbus Friday afternoon and Saturday was found shot seven times with a small caliber pistol at a chicken farm near Tyler.

Tyler hospital officials reported Hoover in satisfactory condition Wednesday night.

Late Saturday, police arrested three Columbus, Ga., men at Colorado City in West Texas in connection with the robbery of Hoover. They were in his automobile and carried his credit cards.

Wayne W. Barfield, 22, Larry Fate Fortune, 20, and Peter Kaiser, 19, were named in state charges of assault to murder and robbery.

SEC Extends Suspension

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Suspension of trading in Coastal States Gas Corp. securities will continue until at least Sept. 22, under an Securities and Exchange Commssion ordered reported here.

The Washington bureau of the San Antonio News said the SEC extended the suspension Wednesday for another 10 days. Portions of the suspension order have been in effect since June 5.

Wednesday's extension followed by one day the disclosure of a consent decree settlement by Coastal and the SEC. Officials said they hoped the settlement would mean a early return to trading for Coastal.

TO PROTECT CONSUMERS

Senate Approves Warranty Bill

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move aimed at protecting the consumer, the Senate has passed a bill requiring manufacturers to spell out the meaning of any written warranty that accompanies a product.

Under its terms, a seller who issues a "full warranty" on, say, sale of an electric mixer, car or a suit of clothes would have to make clear he will replace the product or repair any malfunction or defect within a reasonable time without charge.

The bill provides that the consumer would be allowed to sue for damages if the seller reneges on his written commitment.

The bill, passed Wednesday, now goes to the House, which previously killed two similar measures. Senate Commerce Committee Chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., said he expects the House to pass the bill this time.

"It seems to me that some anger is expectable when purchasers of consumer products discover that the warranty of that product may cover a 25-cent part but not the $100 labor charge, or that there is full coverage on a piano so long as it is shipped at the purchaser's expense to the factory," Magnuson said.

The bill, hailed by cosponsor Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, as the finest piece of consumer-protection legislation ever passed by the Senate, was approved without dissent by voice vote.

The bill also expands the powers of the Federal Trade Commission in consumer-protection areas.

It allows the FTC to go to court to recover money for defrauded or deceived consumers and authorizes the agency to seek injunctions and pursue other actions to stop deceptive practices, even when products do not cross state lines.

The measure would give the seller of a product worth more than $5 the option of issuing a warranty. If he decides to give one, he is required to stipulate the type and describe its terms in layman's language.

San Antonio Fire Damage Heavy

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A four-alarm fire caused an estimated $325,000 in damage late Wednesday to the Gateway Plaza Apartments under construction near Lackland Air Force Base.

Investigators blamed hot tar falling on a wood frame for the blaze, which required 75 firemen and 17 pieces of equipment to extinguish.

TI Chief Criticizes Extension

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of Texas International Airlines says Southwest Airlines' request for an extension of routes to the Rio Grande Valley would "destroy the delicate balance underlying the state's transportation system."

TI president Francisco A. Lorenzo told a Houston Chamber of Commerce meeting Wednesday that Southwest is trying to move into TI's profitable routes without supply services to unprofitable points.

Service eliminations and curtailments at many points would be necessary, he said, if Southwest is granted the routes by the Texas Aeronautics Commission. Hearings of the Southwest request are slated to begin next month in Austin.

Lamar Muse, president of Southwest Airlines, declined to comment on Lorenzo's charges.

"I will answer Mr. Lorenzo fully and explicitly at the TAC hearing," he said. "We are not going to try the case in the newspapers."

Texas International now serves several cities in the Rio Grande Valley. Southwest has asked for routes to the Valley from Dallas through Houston and Harlingen.

Lorenzo said Southwest "plans nothing but cherry-picking in the orchards of this state's transportation system."

"Southwest has no interest in, nor public service obligation to provide service at the unprofitable smaller cities, and wants only to carve out a profitable intrastate route system from already developed markets large enough to sustain their jet aircraft and high operating costs," Lorenzo said.

AT SAN ANTONIO TRADE FAIR

US Businessmen Praise Mexican Craftmanship

By JOHN LUMPKIN
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — You used to hire your own "coyote", some businessmen say, to ferret out deals in Mexico but now Mexico is bringing its business to the United States.

This week, American businessman representing concerns as big as J.C. Penney and as small as a West Texas trading post have examined Mexican products on display at an exhibition hall here.

"If the average guy off the street walked in, he would be astonished at the complexities here," said Don Quimby of Dallas, who was looking for products to promote for himself and a company he represents.

Quimby was attracted to porcelain toilet fixtures, in which he said there is a world black market now; leather soccer balls, which he said were only available here from Denmark and Germany, and replacement ignition switches for autos.

What would one expect if the corner gas station put an ignition his car which said, "Made in Mexico"?

"You'd expect exactly what you would expect in American parts or better," said Quimby, who said Mexican craftmanship was at least as good as that in the United States.

"The American people have got to stop thinking of the Mexican manufacturer as the siesta type leaned up against the wall with the moustache," said Quimby.

The Mexican products which interested Quimby were made by three of the 250 firms represented at the first Mexican Trade Fair, which the Mexican government says is the largest foreign trade venture of its kind in the country's history.

The government wishes to help its trade balance situation and its representatives here tell American businessmen about the tie of the peso to the dollar, about Mexico's half century of political stability and about its abundant and inexpensive supply of skilled labor.

Millions of dollars in deals already have been made, say officials of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, which cosponsored the fair with a Mexican government foreign trade office.

There are many booths with the traditionally exportable Mexican handicraft items, but there are also exhibits for Mexican manufacturers of industrial chemicals, hydraulic presses, motorcycles, auto ornaments, industrial coffee machines, electrical accessories and agricultural equipment.

There is also a Mexican bus manufacturer with two huge buses on display, who says he is ready to sell to small travel agencies, cities and towns and even Greyhound and Trailways. He says his luxury model is at least $14,000 cheaper than the comparable model made in the United States.

Ask Jury To Consider Indictments

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Robie Hadden has requested that a special grand jury be convened by U.S. Dist. Court Judge William Wayne Justice to consider possible indictments in the kidnaping of a Columbus, Ga., stockbroker.

James Otto Hoover, 55, was forced to drive from his business in Columbus Friday afternoon and Saturday was found shot seven times with a small caliber pistol at a chicken farm near Tyler.

Tyler hospital officials reported Hoover in satisfactory condition Wednesday night.

Late Saturday, police arrested three Columbus, Ga., men at Colorado City in West Texas in connection with the robbery of Hoover. They were in his automobile and carried his credit cards.

Wayne W. Barfield, 22, Larry Fate Fortune, 20, and Peter Kaiser, 19, were named in state charges of assault to murder and robbery.

SEC Extends Suspension

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Suspension of trading in Coastal States Gas Corp. securities will continue until at least Sept. 22, under an Securities and Exchange Commssion ordered reported here.

The Washington bureau of the San Antonio News said the SEC extended the suspension Wednesday for another 10 days. Portions of the suspension order have been in effect since June 5.

Wednesday's extension followed by one day the disclosure of a consent decree settlement by Coastal and the SEC. Officials said they hoped the settlement would mean a early return to trading for Coastal.

TO PROTECT CONSUMERS

Senate Approves Warranty Bill

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move aimed at protecting the consumer, the Senate has passed a bill requiring manufacturers to spell out the meaning of any written warranty that accompanies a product.

Under its terms, a seller who issues a "full warranty" on, say, sale of an electric mixer, car or a suit of clothes would have to make clear he will replace the product or repair any malfunction or defect within a reasonable time without charge.

The bill provides that the consumer would be allowed to sue for damages if the seller reneges on his written commitment.

The bill, passed Wednesday, now goes to the House, which previously killed two similar measures. Senate Commerce Committee Chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., said he expects the House to pass the bill this time.

"It seems to me that some anger is expectable when purchasers of consumer products discover that the warranty of that product may cover a 25-cent part but not the $100 labor charge, or that there is full coverage on a piano so long as it is shipped at the purchaser's expense to the factory," Magnuson said.

The bill, hailed by cosponsor Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, as the finest piece of consumer-protection legislation ever passed by the Senate, was approved without dissent by voice vote.

The bill also expands the powers of the Federal Trade Commission in consumer-protection areas.

It allows the FTC to go to court to recover money for defrauded or deceived consumers and authorizes the agency to seek injunctions and pursue other actions to stop deceptive practices, even when products do not cross state lines.

The measure would give the seller of a product worth more than $5 the option of issuing a warranty. If he decides to give one, he is required to stipulate the type and describe its terms in layman's language.

San Antonio Fire Damage Heavy

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A four-alarm fire caused an estimated $325,000 in damage late Wednesday to the Gateway Plaza Apartments under construction near Lackland Air Force Base.

Investigators blamed hot tar falling on a wood frame for the blaze, which required 75 firemen and 17 pieces of equipment to extinguish.

DEFIES SUPPLY AND DEMAND LAW

Market To Up Prices Because Business Bad

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Again defying the law of supply and demand, as it has for so many years, the securities industry will be raising prices this fall because business is so bad.

So bad that it is losing millions of dollars a month, is laying off help, is closing up some shops. Customers who once were put on hold by their very busy broker now decline to accept his call.

After pleading their case before the Securities and Exchange Commission, the brokers and stock market officials have won the right to raise commissions 10 per cent on orders up to $5,000, and to 15 per cent on bigger orders.

This means a customer who buys 100 shares of a $20 stock will soon be paying $41.80 rather than $38 on the New York Stock Exchange. If he buys 200 shares of a $37.50 stock he will pay $116.73 instead of $101.50.

Such increases aren't likely to solve the problems of this industry, but they might buy time, and time is badly needed. The industry is in a period of transition and is adjusting badly.

The chief shock to members of the old fraternity is the concerted efforts of the SEC and the Justice Department to eliminate the final vestiges of the private club atmosphere that dominated exchanges for years.

The outstanding characteristic of those years was the restriction of competition, especially in regard to commissions, that help nurture firms that might not have made a go of it in a completely free enterprise society.

Now, declares the SEC, those days of fixed commissions are over. By April 1975, it declared, brokers will have to fight each other for business by offering better prices as well as superior service.

The increase just granted by the SEC is, therefore, perhaps the final increase to be permitted before the pricing mechanism is turned over to the marketplace, where supply and demand are said to dictate prices.

By that time there will be other changes too. The individuality of the various exchanges will be less pronounced — less clubby too — as the SEC presses for one vast central marketplace for all stocks.

More realism also should be noticeable by then also. The commission you pay today, for example, is considered payment not only for the transaction but for a cluster of other services that are claimed to be included.

You might not be aware of it, for example, but you now pay for advice, for research, for custodial services and the like. In the future there will likely be a trend toward unbundling of services.

The effect of this will be to relieve brokers as well as customers. Some smaller houses cannot compete in the area of research, and they will not have to make that presumption in the future; many customers don't seek advice, and will not have to pay for or listen to it.

Relieved of the burden of posing as both adviser and salesman, an obviously conflicting role, the broker of the future will have an identity that both he and the customer can more easily live with.

You're An Old-Timer If. . . .

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — You may not be quite ready to answer that roll call up yonder yet, but there's no hiding the fact that you're an old-timer if:

You still keep in your clothes closet an old outer coat or sport jacket you wore before Pearl Harbor.

Common sense is the virtue you value most highly because you see it so seldom in people.

Cocktail parties make you sleepy, and you no longer go up and talk to strange blondes at them.

As a matter of fact, you rarely speak to any woman at all, including your wife, unless she speaks to you first.

You've quit taking exercises to pep you up because they tire you out.

The barber hasn't tried to sell you a bottle of hair lotion for 10 years.

You'd rather take a quiet walk in a country cemetery and look for unusual epitaphs on tombstones than go to an expensive night club and gawk at the celebrities.

There are now more things in your life that make you yawn than make you laugh.

It amuses you to see a small child pick its nose, and it doesn't occur to you at all to tell the kid to stop it.

Somewhere in your desk is a tentative draft of the epitaph you have written for yourself, but you doubt it will ever be carved in stone, as it is 40 words longer than Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

You never chewed bubble gum in your youth because it hadn't appeared on the scene yet.

If you had to, you could probably still strum 'Sweet Adeline" on a mandolin. Certainly you're the only one on your block who remembers all the words to the tune.

You are not as afraid of death itself as you are afraid of dying.

The doctor and you share an unspoken secret — the knowledge that there is no real cure for what ails you: the simple erosion of time.

But you go right on taking a patent medicine the doctor didn't prescribe and doesn't know about.

When you see three male teen-agers approaching, you cross to the other side of the street. Better be safe than sorry.

Yep, old-timer, there's no doubt it — you're an old-timer.

Musicians Are Popping Eardrums

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP) — Musicians in Trinidad's famous steel bands are going deaf, an ear-nose-and-throat specialist here has determined.

Dr. Mohammed Aziz said the high frequency sound of steel band music permanently damages the players' ears, especially those of the drummers, called panmen.

Junior Editors' Quiz on HAILSTONES

QUESTION: What are hailstones?

* * *

ANSWER: Hailstorms usually occur in warm weather and are associated with thunder, lightning and rain. Hail forms as frozen raindrops high in the clouds and may appear in many shapes and sizes. They may be angular, pyramidal or star-shaped and vary in hardness, some like small pellets and some as large as walnuts. Sometimes hailstones like golf balls or baseballs are reported. Occasionally giant hailstones build up to 3 or 4 inches in diameter and weigh as much as a pound.

Perhaps the largest hailstones came down in Potter, Neb., July 6, 1928. They were 5.4 inches in diameter, 17 inches circumference and weighed 1.5 pounds. Much heavier hailstones are sometimes reported, but they usually are not single, but a group joined together. Hail comes down with such force, it has ruined crops, stripped trees, cracked the glass in windows and damaged the roofs of houses. It has also killed animals and humans.

Mansfield To Press Cutback

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield is planning to press for a 50 per cent cutback in U.S. overseas forces when the Senate takes up vital military procurement legislation next week, Senate sources say.

However, the sources add that the anticipated Mansfield amendment, broadened from his original proposal to cut half of the U.S. troops in Europe, faces an uphill Senate battle. Thus, it seems unlikely to pose the threat to congressional adjournment feared by some House leaders, they said.

The Mansfield amendment was one reason Wednesday's meeting of Senate and House Democratic leaders listed defense and foreign aid as "the principal legislative complication for the remainder of this session."

They again declared their intention of pushing for adjournment of Congress in October, but dropped any mention of the old Oct. 15 target date.

Later Wednesday, the House demonstrated what could prove to be another barrier to adjournment when it failed by five votes to override President Nixon's veto of a health services bill.

The vote of 273 to 144 marked the fifth time this year that Congress has sustained a presidential veto, possibly indicating that Nixon retains sufficient congressional strength to also block efforts to slash defense spending.

But the Democratic-controlled Congress seems determined to do just that while increasing domestic spending, posing the threat of another executive-legislative battle later this year over appropriations bills. The fight could force the session to drag on.

Congressional adoption of the Mansfield amendment, or anything resembling it, could prompt a veto by Nixon of the $20.4 billion procurement bill.

Sources said the amendment seems likely to fall about 10 votes short of adoption in the Senate. It is believed to have an even slimmer chance of adoption in the House.

When the proposal was first presented in 1971, it failed by a 61-36 vote in May, and a 54-39 vote in November. Mansfield has since expanded the amendment to apply to the 606,000 troops stationed around the world, instead of just the 300,000 in Europe.

In its present form, it would reduce the worldwide total in half over a three-year period.

Colson Dropped As Witness

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles W. Colson, once the Watergate figure the most anxious to publicly defend the Nixon administration, has been excused from testifying before the Senate Watergate committee after his attorney said Colson expects to be indicted, Senate sources say.

The sources said the lawyer, David I. Shapiro told committee chief counsel Samuel Dash that Colson thought he would be indicted by a federal grand jury probing the break-in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office. The sources said Colson was dropped as a witness at his request.

Shapiro would neither confirm nor deny the report Wednesday night and said his client's constitutional rights had been threatened by the leak of the information to the news media. "Whoever it was — senator or staff member — who leaked that story to the press today is the most vicious bastard since the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy," he said.

"I defy the committee in the opening of its public hearings to put each senator and staff member under oath before 20 million television viewers in an effort to find out who it was so blatantly violated Mr. Colson's constitutional rights," Shapiro said.

Shapiro was reported to have told the committee that Colson wanted to make every effort to avoid any pretrial publicity in the event that charges were filed against his client.

The Watergate committee met Wednesday in closed session, its first meeting since the summer recess, and voted to resume its public hearings on Sept. 24. The committee agreed to hold three hearings a week and to try to wrap up the hearings by Nov. 1.

Predicts Mortgage Rates Will Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal banking official predicts that mortgage rates will level off in a few months, despite a report that they continued to rise in August.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported that interest on mortgages for new homes averaged 7.94 per cent in August, up .07 per cent from July.

And it said that mortgage interest for previously occupied homes rose to 8.01 per cent during the month.

School Marm Now Bricklayer

DALLAS (AP) — Five-foot-2 Alana Steele tired of school teaching—so she took up bricklaying.

And the switch had nothing to do with women's lib, the 23-year-old brunette declared while taking a breather on a construct on job Wednesday.

"I graduated with a degree in education and have taught English in the past, but frankly it doesn't pay enough money," said Mrs. Steele.

She telephoned a contracting firm to ask who trained their bricklayers, and the people there referred her to the bricklayers' union Local No. 5.

Her husband, a student in law school, told her the union men would laugh her out of the place, she recalled. She checked further, however, and learned that a journeyman bricklayer earns $8.33 per hour. That made up her mind.

"The men at the union were great," she recalled. "They never once made fun of me. I went into a 30-hour training course last August."

Now, while serving out a three-year apprenticeship, she still must attend night classes.

Anthony Coppolo, foreman on the job where Mrs. Steele is working said, "I heard of her. I told her to come and talk to me, and I hired her.

"The night before she started, I couldn't sleep. I don't think there is an other woman who is a union bricklayer. I thought, 'What have I done? Suppose it doesn't turn out!'"

Men on the construction project accepted her without grumbling, although some of them didn't expect Mrs. Steele to last.

Coppolo said she's a good worker and his qualms long since vanished.

He wasn't surprised, either, to learn she had trained to teach school

"I was a school teacher myself back in New York," he confessed. "I got out for the same reason—no money."

Jennie Making Progress

ROCKAWAY TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Jan Ann Westerink, a spunky sixth-grader, is back at school this month — and is an inch taller than she was a few months ago. Big deal!

This might not sound like a "big deal" for a normal child, but Jan Ann, whose parents call her "Jennie," is not a normal child.

Most of her intestines have been removed and replaced with a plastic substitute, and for the past several months she was afflicted with a calcium disorder that caused her to actually shrink two inches.

But now doctors say she appears to be winning her battle against the calcium problem, thanks to treatment she received last month in Richmond, Va.

Most of Jennie's intestines were removed a year ago after a bout with gangrene, and after that she was placed on a special formula to fight the affliction.

But doctors say something in the formula caused her to lose calcium between the bones of her spine, keeping the bones from touching. As a result, she began experiencing severe pain in her back.

Examination revealed she had shrunk two inches.

Since her trip to Richmond two weeks ago, where she was under the care of Dr. Neil Hutcher, an intestine specialist, she has grown an inch. Hutcher says the calcium is being restored as quickly as possible, and even though X-rays do not show it yet, the doctors are confident of her recovery from the calcium disorder.

For Jennie, her victory over the calcium ailment came the hard way.

Auto Fuel Tank Standards Urged

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House committee overseeing automobile safety says the Department of Transportation is endangering thousands of motorists' lives by delaying standards for better fuel tanks.

Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., said the principal defect in fuel tanks, which makes cars a death trap in event of rear-end collisions, won't be corrected until late 1977 under the DOT timetable.

"Fires in traffic accidents account for between 2,000 and 3,500 deaths annually," Moss wrote DOT Secretary Claude Brinegar.

"Many of these, according to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, result from rear end collisions, when fuel tanks rupture, gasoline leaks and ignites, burning to death trapped occupants who otherwise could walk away from such mishaps," Moss said.

Moss noted that Congress gave the DOT power to correct the fuel tank situation in 1966. The department announced in 1967 it would issue effective corrective standards.

Moss held hearings on the rear-end collision risks last spring before his Commerce and Finance subcommittee, which has jurisdiction over motor vehicle safety. He reminded Brinegar twice this summer that the standards were long overdue.

In August, the department announced proposed standards and effective dates.

Moss said it was too little and too late.

The first standard won't apply to motor vehicles until Sept. 1, 1975, and then affect only autos in frontal collisions. A second standard would begin Sept. 1, 1976, limiting fuel loss, and by a year later in 1977 the department would limit fuel loss to one ounce per minute in a rear collision at 30 miles per hour.

Stewardesses Plan To Strike

DALLAS (AP) — Braniff flight attendant leaders have announced they "definitely" will strike when a cooling off period ends Sept. 23 if their contract dispute is not settled by then.

John Bradley, contract manager for the Air Line Pilots Association Braniff group, Wednesday backed the attendants, saying "If there's no girls on those airplanes, those airplanes won't go anywhere."

Negotiations have been in a "cooling off" period for several weeks. The labor dispute has been in progress for nine months.

"We want to settle this," Bradley said, "but the company won't cooperate with any proposals on wages, hours of service and working conditions."

A Braniff spokesman denied the company had been uncooperative and predicted the conflicts will be resolved before the Sept. 23 date.

Bradley predicted federal mediators will call both parties to negotiate again because of recent developments and the impending deadline.

Bentsen, Tower Against Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D—Tex., joined his Republican colleague, Sen. John Tower of Texas Tuesday in voting against an amendment to make next year's scheduled 5.9 per cent Social Security benefit effective immediately.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D—Minn., sponsored the measure, defeated 58-31 by the Senate on a roll call vote.

Island, Harem Change Jiggs

BEAR ISLAND, Ga. (AP) — Roaming at will on a tiny coastal island with a harem of females transformed Jiggs the chimpanzee from a whimperer into a dominant, aggressive male.

But disappointed scientists say the big ape has yet to produce an offspring, although one of his consorts was pregnant when she died last January after eating some toxic plants that brought on a miscarriage.

Jiggs was placed on Bear Island, part of the Ossabaw chain, in June 1972 when an experimental chimpanzee colony was begun.

Despite realizing many a male's wildest dreams, the 150-pound chimp crawled away from his three female chimpanzees and back into his cage, whimpering for the human companionship he'd been used to.

"Today, Jiggs is a much more independent, rugged and dominating type of animal," said Dr. Michael Keeling of the Yerkes Regional Primate Research Center at Emory University in Atlanta.

"He's very striking compared to what he looked like as an animal in laboratory captivity."

Another of the females died last October of a gastrointestinal ailment, but Yerkes scientists say the homesteading experiment has accomplished part of their goal — proving "the feasibility of chimps living in a semi-free environment."

At first, the apes slept in their cages. Then they began freely roaming the island swinging through trees or foraging for food, catching crabs and small rodents.

"They've built nests all over the 100-acre island," Keeling said. "And they have their favorite little spots."

Jiggs and his harem even survived Hurricane Agnes, whose winds hit the Georgia coast in June 1972.

As part of their larger effort to show that the chimps, who are threatened with extinction in their native habitat, can breed and sustain themselves on the island, the scientists plan to add three more females to Jiggs' harem soon.

The apes are visited every third day by the Emory scientists, who give them water and a supplemental chow made of cereal, grass, grain and cod liver oil.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. My state has a lottery. If I should win one of the cash prizes, do I have to pay federal income tax on it?

A. Yes, proceeds from lotteries are gambling winnings and must be included in your income. However, if you itemize your deductions, you can deduct your gambling losses, such as the cost of losing lottery tickets, from your total gambling winnings, up to the extent of your winnings. If you have no winnings, you can't deduct your gambling losses.

If you should win a valuable prize in a lottery, it might be to your advantage to "income average." This permits an unusually large amount of income obtained in one year to be taxed in the lower brackets of your previous tax years. More details are available in IRS Publication 506, "Computing Your Tax Under the Income Averaging Method." Write your nearest IRS office for a free copy.

Q. The local police boys club is sponsoring a benefit showing of a movie. Tickets are $10. Can I deduct the ticket price as a charitable contribution?

A. A portion of the ticket price is deductible, namely, that portion that exceeds the fair market value of the showing. For example, if the regular price of the movie is $3, your deduction would be $7.

Q. I understand that the IRS winds up with thousands of undelivered refunds each year. How can this happen?

A. The great majority of refund checks go astray because taxpayers moved and left no forwarding address with the Postal Service. Still other taxpayers neglected to correct the label attached to their tax return. This includes, for example, changing a label to show a new address or name resulting from marriage.

Errors or omissions in tax returns have delayed refunds to some taxpayers. They should follow the instructions provided with the notification they received from the IRS to help speed their refund.

Taxpayers contacting the IRS about their refund should be able to give the name and address as it appeared on the return, the present name and address, social security number and the type of form filed.

Often, IRS employees can find out almost immediately what happened to a refund check through a computer system available in many IRS offices. The system indicates, for example, when the Postal Service has returned a check.

Undelivered refund checks can be remailed almost immediately to the new address. After October 1, however, all undelivered refund checks are cancelled. Issuing checks in response to inquiries received after that date takes considerably more time because special processing is required.

As for refund checks lost or stolen in transit, those who have information on these checks should contact their nearest Internal Revnue Office immediately.

Tigers Seek 2nd Win At Midland Lee Friday

What stacks up as an evenly matched game will get underway at 8 o'clock Friday night in Memorial Stadium in Midland when the Midland Lee Rebels host Snyder's Tigers in a Class AAAA non-district gridiron tussle.

Lee is not as strong as last season when they were one of the top teams in District 4-AAAA, and the Tigers are stronger than they were last year when they finished 2-8 in District 4-AAAA. Last year, the Rebs defeated the Tigers 16-0 and Coach Maurice (Mo) Hodges crew will be out to even the score.

"They (Lee) have more finesse than Dunbar—they are a tremendous team," declared Coach Hodges. The Rebels have one of the finest passers in District 5-AAAA in quarterback Mark Cappadonna, 180-pound senior. He completed 8 of 9 tosses in the Rebs' 13-7 victory over Lubbock High last week.

Snyder also opened the season on a winning note, turning back Lubbock Dunbar 21-3. So this will be a battle between unbeaten teams, and you can bet neither Coach Jim Acree of Lee nor Hodges of Snyder wants to be the first one to lose.

Although Cappadonna throws the ball a lot, most of his completions are under 10 yards. He's averaging just 6.7 yards per completion. The Rebs also have an outstanding fullback in Milton Jones, 195-pound senior. Other backfield starters are wingback Blain Murray, 150, junior, and tailback Jim O'Neal, 160, senior. Midland Lee operates from a slot I attack and employes a "52" defense with more stunting than Snyder employs.

Snyder probably will go with essentially the same starting unit it used last week. However, Tim Jones, 150, senior, will be the starting safety in place of Dennis Young, 155-pound junior, who sustained a hairline fracture of the ankle last week. Young will be out for about two weeks.

Coach Hodges also said he will start Buddy Mayes, 155-pound senior, at cornerback and V.T. Roberson, 160-pound senior, at halfback on defense.

The Tiger winged T attack probably will be guided by Richard Gorman, 185, senior, who will be starting his second game at quarterback. Gorman, making the transition from fullback last year, completed 3 of 6 tosses for 56 yards in the opener. At tailback will be Hubert Crayton, 165, senior, who netted 117 yards on 11 carries. Tommy Welsh, 205, senior, who scored two touchdowns, will be at fullback, and Ralph Lewis, 180, senior, will be at halfback.

Also ready to lend a hand with the running chores will be tailback Welton Cobb, 190, junior; David Mayes, 170, junior halfback; and, Ricky Howell, 160, junior, fullback. Cobb gained 65 yards on 12 carries last week. With 9.6 speed, he has the potential to go all the way.

The Tigers moved the ball well last week. However, they fumbled the ball six times. But, it was a wet field and they probably will fare better on dry turf.

The Snyder "Oklahoma 5" defense looked exceptional against Dunbar. Rover Roy Carter, 170-pound junior, blocked a punt, and defensive left end Wilbert Thompson, 165, senior, scooped up the ball and scored a touchdown.

The defense also had a magnificent goal line stand to keep its goal uncrossed this season. Standouts in the defense against Dunbar, along with Carter, were middle guard Willie Smith, 230, senior, linebackers Cobb and Jerry Fore, 170, senior; and tackles Grant Knipe, 245, senior, and Mickey Gonzales, 235, senior. Also a starter on defense is right end David Yearwood, 170, senior.

In the offensive line for the Tigers will be ends Steve Grimmett, 160, senior, and Doak Witherspoon, 200, senior, and Willie Smith; and, David Yearwood at center.

Joey Hardin, 155, junior, is the backup pivotman, and he also plays end on defense. Tim Sonnier, 200, junior, can give Gonzales a rest at defensive left tackle while Nicky Neves, 155, senior, spells Willie Smith at middle guard. John Boren, 160, senior, is a top notch reserve at rover. He's also the team punter. He averaged 40.2 yards on three punts last week.

Tim Jones or Widgeon Emerson, 145, senior, can backup Gorman at quarterback.

Kerry Smith, 155, senior, and Boren also spell Lewis at halfback.

Other Tigers ready for action are Eicke Perry, 165, senior guard; George Willis, 170, junior, tackle; Mack Dishman, 165, senior tackle; and, Doug Nall, 140, senior, end.

It shapes up as a close, hard-fought contest, but give the Tigers a 7-0 edge on account of their superior defense.

Probable starter:

Martin Likes Farm System

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Before Billy Martin was fired as manager of the Minnesota Twins and then by the Detroit Tigers, comments criticizing both teams' farm systems were attributed to him.

As manager of the lowly Texas Rangers, Martin speaks only with the praise of that club's development program. No wonder—the Texas system came through with four first place finishes.

Martin used some of that youth Wednesday night as the Rangers whipped the Minnesota Twins and rookie lefthander Eddie Bane 5-2.

"We're going to surprise an awful lot of people next year," said Martin, now 3-2 as the Rangers' manager.

Rick Henninger, a 6-foot-7 righthander who was 13-7 with Pacific Coast League champion Spokane, pitched his first major league victory in relief of rookie David Clyde, who was forced from the game in the third with a blister on his pitching hand.

Henninger scattered six of Minnesota's nine hits in 6 2-3 innings, working out of a two-on, one-out jam after he relieved Clyde with a 2-2 count on Harmon Killebrew.

Killebrew, who hit his first home run since a knee injury June 25 that required surgery, walked to load the bases before Henninger struck out Craig Kusick and ended the threat by drawing a flyout from Bob Darwin.

Tom Grieve, another Texas youngster, swatted his fifth homer of the season with a man on to give Henninger a 5-1 lead in the sixth off Bane, a bonus rookie who now is 0-5.

The first three Texas runs were unearned. A sacrifice fly by Jeff Burroughs scored Dave Nelson in the first inning after Joe Lis dropped the ball on a throw to first.

Cowboys Chosen 3rd In East Loop

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A Grade-A quarterback can mean the difference between cream and skimmed milk in the National Football League.

Or can it?

Or is it the defense that really counts the most?

Just look at the Minnesota Vikings and the Green Bay Packers.

A year ago, with Fran Tarkenton back at the helm of the Viking offense, Minnesota was supposed to be unbeatable. The Vikings piled up lots of offensive yardage with the scrambling Tarkenton having one of his best NFL seasons.

So what happened to the Vikings?

Their Purple Gang defense gave up points like Santa Claus handing out toys at an orphanage, and the Vikings failed to make the playoffs.

The Packers? Well, they had one of the best defensive records in the National Football Conference, but the quarterbacking of Scott Hunter was not outstanding. But the Packers won the NFC's Central Division title and went to the playoffs.

With this in mind, how do you figure the Central Division race for the 1973 campaign, keeping in mind that the Vikings had a perfect exhibition season?

The Central Division picture may be the toughest to figure but that doesn't mean that the others are easy—except possibly for the East, where Washington should win the title if...

That's IF Roger Staubach remains healthy and the Dallas Cowboys can overcome their internal problems.

The San Francisco 49ers and Atlanta Falcons will slug it out in the NFC West and, as coaches repeatedly say, the schedule and injuries will have a lot to do with the final outcome.

Here's the way this forecaster sees the races, by divisions:

EAST
Washington Redskins
New York Giants
Dallas Cowboys
Philadelphia Eagles
St. Louis Cardinals

They call the Redskins the Over-The-Hill Gang, but agewise the Cowboys have an edge on Washington.

Washington's George Allen has the coaching knack of getting that little something extra out of his players. Dallas' Tom Landry is too mechanical and methodical in his coaching, relying on cold, hard logic.

Duane Thomas, who incidentally appears to have found his niche with the Redskins, once called Landry "plastic man." Allen has been called many things, but never a "plastic man."

Allen's coaching spark, a fine Washington defense, plus quarterback Billy Kilmer, who may be the one of the best over-all field generals in the NFL even though he won't win any prizes for his passing technique, running the Redskin offense appear to add up to an unbeatable combination.

CENTRAL
Green Bay Packers
Minnesota Vikings
Detroit Lions
Chicago Bears

The Pack will be back in the playoffs again this year. Scott Hunter's quarterbacking is suspect, but Coach Dan Devine should muster enough offense for Green Bay to go with a standout defense.

The Packers appear to have the edge, schedule-wise, in this very tough division, and that's probably what will make the difference between first place and third place.

The Vikings, even with a tougher schedule, might put it all together again. Defensive stalwarts like Allan Page can't be overlooked. And the tragic accident to Karl Kassulke—paralyzed as a result of a motorcyle mishap just prior to training camp—could be the catalyst that Coach Bud Grant's crew needs.

Don McCafferty has won the Super Bowl once—at Baltimore. He has excellent material at Detroit this year, his first with the Lions. But one of the toughest schedules in the league won't make it any easier for a first-year regime. Watch out for the Lions in 1974, however.

WEST
San Francisco 49ers
Atlanta Falcons
Los Angeles Rams
New Orleans Saints

Atlanta Coach Norm Van Brocklin probably would love to have John Brodie and Steve Spurrier—the two quarterbacks that the 49ers' Dick Nolan has. On the other hand, Nolan would give his eye teeth to trade schedules with the Falcons.

San Francisco's schedule lists, among others, the Miami Dolphins, the Washington Redskins, the Green Bay Packers and the Pittsburgh Steelers. Falcon foes this fall do not include any of those teams.

Nevertheless, the 49ers should squeak into the West Division title. The 49ers have good quarterbacking, a good defense and a good coach. The Falcons have a good defense and good coaching. With Dick Shiner or Pat Sullivan at quarterback, that position is suspect.

The Rams have a new coach in Chuck Knox, a new quarterback in John Hadl and an untested defensive secondary—probably enough to win more than they lose.

Galveston Grand Jury Indicts 3

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Three persons, including former Galveston Ball High School football coach Joe Woolley, have been indicted by a grand jury on charges of altering transcripts of former Ball High pupils.

Others indicted on the misdemeanor charge Wednesday were former Ball High principal Richard Streiff and former Ball assistant principal Lynn Nix.

They were accused of altering official academic records, as covered under article 429 of the Texas Education Code.

Woolley and Nix have admitted involvement in the altering of the transcripts of Kerry Jackson and Michael Phillips, former Ball High football players who went to the University of Oklahoma on football scholarships. Streiff has denied any involvement.

Oklahoma revealed the alterations and announced it was forfeiting eight of last year's football victories, including its Sugar Bowl victory over Penn State. Oklahoma later was placed on two years probation by the Big Eight Conference.

Trial of Woolley, Nix and Streiff will be in a Galveston County court. Conviction could mean a fine of $1,000 or a year in jail, or both.

All three have resigned from the school district and Woolley has been hired as an assistant coach responsible for quality control with the Houston Oilers of the National Football League.

Blues Win Texas League

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Memphis Blues took the 1973 Texas Leage championship Wednesday night with a 3-2 victory over San Antonio's Brewers that gave them a 3-2 edge in the best-of-5 playoffs.

Solo home runs by Benny Ayala and Rich Puig were the big difference.

Ayala's first inning solo homer was followed in the fourth by a second score behind solid hitting and three singles by Tom Hallums, Ron Piggle and Ike Hampton.
